Only 18 Cases On Docket For District Court

With the opening of the Spring term of district court set for Monday, April 27, only 18 cases, not including tax suits, are now on docket, J. McBroome, district clerk, said early this week.

At the same time Mr. McBroome announced the jury list for the five weeks of court. The grand jury list includes Duard E. Scott, G. E. Hunt, Clyde Alexander, Winfield Vaughan, C. O. Hammon, W. E. Brewster, J. L. Hess, S. E. Voyles, Cecil Brown, Jim Light, John Trew, Ben Farmer, Alan Peters, E. C. LaHue, Frank Hajek and Lee Fortenberry.

Music In Patriotism Is Theme Of

Victory Festival On May 3

Music will have a part in Collingsworth County's patriotism. Especially will this be true when the all-day Victory Music Festival is held Sunday, May 3.

While this will be given in Wellington, it will be for the entire county, and more than 1,000 children, coming from schools throughout the county, will appear during the day.

This is the largest musical event ever attempted here. Plans were started last month, when it was voted to cancel all music events, along with literary activities, heretofore included in the County Interscholastic League Meet. There will be no competition for awards, but those same boys and girls who would have sung in the league meet will appear in the Victory Music Festival. This festival will also be held during National Music Week.

Ministers of churches throughout the county are cooperating by dismissing services for this event, and the morning section of the program will be given over to music and singing of a religious nature.

Chorus singing will open the afternoon program at 2 p. m. This will include boys and girls choruses from the four high schools of the county, from the ward schools and rural schools, as well as massed choruses.

Community singing will also have its part, and a portion of the afternoon will be given over to the old-fashioned community singing.

B. W. Beaird, county superintendent, is director general of the festival, while Mrs. Carl Chaudoin is chairman. Others assisting Mrs. Chaudoin are Miss Mary Katherine Hutcherson, Mrs. K. D. Tinkler and Miss Rama Camp of Wellington; Mrs Edna Burdine and Mrs. Jack Davis of Dodson; Mrs. B. F. Hooker and Mrs. B. O. Currin of Quail; Mrs. Merle White of Midway; Mrs. Alf Wynn of Cross Roads; Mrs. Ora Mae Melton of Buck Creek, and Miss Hise of Samnorwood.

Complete plans for the Victory Festival are being worked out by this group at present.

Miss Johnson Is With FSA

Miss Mary Helen Johnson of Dalhart came to Wellington recently to serve as home supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in this county.

She is a graduate of Texas Technological College, where she majored in home economics.

The local Farm Security office has been without a home supervisor for several months. Much of Miss Johnson's time is being spent in becoming acquainted with the families co-operating with Farm Security, and helping them with their farm-home problems.

Bill McCarver authorizes The Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of Constable of Precinct 1. Mr. McCarver, who has lived in this county for the past sixteen years during which time he has been engaged in farming and the filling station business, issued the following statement:

I wish to announce for Constable of Precinct 1. I would like for the people to know that, if elected, I will cooperate with the sheriff's office and all other public officials in enforcing the laws fairly and impartially. I would also like for the people to know that I am willing to lend my full assistance in any special work outside and above my normal duties that may be demanded by these critical times.

I will greatly appreciate the earnest consideration of every citizen of my candidacy.

Rev. Landreth To Conduct Revival Services

Plans were completed early this week for revival services which begin Sunday, April 12, at the Methodist Church.

Rev. E. D. Landreth, pastor of the Methodist Church at Lamesa, will be the evangelist, while Rev. Wayne Cook of Wheeler will assist by working with the young people of the church, Rev. J. E. Kirby, pastor, stated Tuesday.

Music for the occasion will be in charge of the local choir.

This revival will be one of the outstanding events of the entire year for the Methodist Church, both the pastor and those who are assisting with the plans believe.

Rev. Landreth, who gained a number of acquaintances in this county during the years that he was pastor of the churches at Shamrock, Memphis, and Clarendon, is regarded as one of the outstanding pastors of the South Plains area. In addition, he is considered by those acquainted with his work as an inspirational speaker, and outstanding for his work in revival services.

Rev. Cook has assisted in revival services here in the past and is highly regarded by the local congregation.

"All people of the community will be welcome to our church during these services, but we especially urge all Methodists to be present," Rev. Kirby said.

Three services will be conducted each day. The morning service will be held at 11 o'clock and will continue for an hour. The young people's meeting will be at 7:30 each evening, and the evening service at 8:30.

The revival will continue through Sunday, April 26.

"Bond and stamp sales have been good," Mr. Wiley reported.

"Since all the pledge cards have not yet been filed, and we can't send out notices to those who pledged to buy bonds in April, this should be a reminder to them that it's time to buy," he continued.

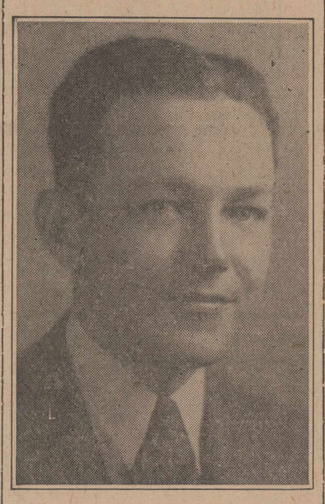
Cold Spell Gives County Inch Rain



RECEIVES COMMISSION
Dr. Elmer K. Jones Tuesday received his commission as a first lieutenant in the U. S. Army. Dr. Jones will report Friday to Fort Sam Houston.

This county's brief spell of summer weather failed to hold its own, and Tuesday the generally expected spring cold wave reached here.

Falling temperature, however, brought with it railfall which totaled approximately one inch during a three-day period, with prospects for additional moisture within the next few days.

Although there was a sharp drop in temperature, no fruit or garden damage had been reported from the cold through Wednesday at noon. The lowest temperature recording for this month to date was 42 degrees, taken at 8 a. m. Wednesday morning by Ben Hurst, Wellington lumberman. The highest early morning reading was Monday and Tuesday at 8 a. m., when 58 degrees was shown.

Reports coming from various parts of the county indicate that approximately the same amount of moisture fell throughout this section as was recorded at Wellington by J. M. Strong.

Of the rain falling in Wellington, .2 inch was recorded from Sunday night's rain, while .6 came from the slow rains that fell intermittently Tuesday, Tuesday night, and until 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Although three-quarters of an inch of rain fell two weeks ago, small grain farmers of the county have been reporting that more moisture is needed, and especially on oats and barley planted this spring.

Rainfall to date in this county totals approximately three inches, according to Mr. Strong. Of this amount, half an inch fell on February 14, one inch of moisture was received from the snow March 1, and three-fourths of an inch of rain was reported March 25.

Texas' Oldest Paper Observes Its Centennial

Texas' first newspaper centenarian, The Galveston News, will commemorate the 100th anniversary of its founding with a special edition on April 11. The News is the state's oldest newspaper, and the only one still in existence which was founded while Texas was an independent republic.

It has been published under three of the six flags that have flown over Texas—the lone star of the republic, the stars and bars of the confederacy and the stars and stripes of the union. It has reported every war in which the United States has been engaged from the Mexican war to the present conflict.

Texas and The Galveston News were born within a few years of each other and have grown up together. The News began life with a vigorous editorial campaign for annexation of Texas to the United States. Since then it has taken a leading part in every movement for the state's economic and social advancement. Its influence has been used to acquaint the world with Texas' wealth of natural resources and thus to encourage settlement; for the building of railroads, for waterway and highway improvements, for educational betterment, for scientific farming and many other enterprises whose fruition has made Texas the great empire it is today.

The News began life as a daily, but was variously issued as a weekly, a semi-weekly and a tri-weekly in the period between 1841 and 1865. During the four years of the civil war it was published at Houston because of the union naval blockade of Galveston, but retained the name of Galveston News. Its continuous publication as a daily dates from its return to Galveston after the war.

George H. French was the first editor of The News. There is considerable evidence that its co-founder was Samuel Bangs, the printer-adventurer who first came to Galveston with a filibustering expedition in 1816 and later became official printer for the Mexican states of Coahuila and Texas.

Michael Cronican and Wilbur Cherry were the next proprietors, and in 1844 Willard Richardson became editor and principal owner. Under Richardson's guidance The News became pre-eminent among Texas newspapers. For some years after the civil war it had more than twice the circulation of any other Texas newspaper.

Col. Alfred H. Belo joined the paper as a bookkeeper in 1865 and soon was admitted to partnership. After Richardson's death in 1875, Col. Belo bought out the interest of his estate, and the publishing firm of A. H. Belo & Co. was formed. It was incorporated under that name some years later. The News remained under the Belo ownership until March, 1923, when W. L. Moody, Jr., and associates, of Galveston, purchased it.

This ended a business association with the Dallas News which began in 1885 when the proprietors of the Galveston paper decided to establish a second paper to serve North Texas. While they remained under the same ownership the newspaper offices were linked by two leased telegraph wires. The simultaneous publication of The Galveston and Dallas News has been described as the beginning of chain journalism in America.

When The News was founded there was not a mile of railroad, telegraph line or improved highway in Texas. News of the outside world was obtained principally from newspapers and travelers arriving on the boat from New Orleans.

The first telephone line in Texas connected the office of The Galveston News with Col. Belo's home. Col. Belo saw Alexander Graham Bell's invention when he visited the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876. Other News innovations included the first special train regularly chartered to distribute its editions. For many years The News special left Galveston every morning at 3 o'clock with papers for Houston and other interior points. The News early availed itself of telegraphic news service, and is a charter member of the Associated Press, which Col. Belo helped organize.

Industry and trade in Texas continued a sharp upward trend in January, and indications point toward a prolongation of this tendency, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

David E. Vaughn of Eastwood, Eng., eloped with two women while posing as a clergyman, and was sent to prison.

Typhus Fever Not Only In Europe – It's In Texas

AUSTIN.—Typhus fever is fast developing into a serious health menace in Texas according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who today issued an appeal for every Texan to cooperate in the prevention of this dread disease.

"Last year, the greatest number of cases in the history of the state were reported, when there was a total of 733 cases of typhus fever in Texas. While there were only forty-six cases of typhus fever reported during the first twelve weeks of last year, during the same period of this present year, there have been 131 cases," Dr. Cox stated. "With the peak of this disease occurring in August, if the present trend is continued, we may expect serious conditions resulting from typhus by the end of summer."

The type of typhus fever occurring in Texas is known as endemic or Brill's disease, and is transmitted to human beings from infected rats, by means of the rat flea. The eradication of rats greatly reduces this health hazard, and a consistent program of rat poisoning, rat trapping, and rat proofing will materially aid in the control of typhus in Texas.

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that it is the patriotic duty of every Texan to cooperate in maintaining the highest possible health level, and the eradication of rats will promote the control of typhus among our civilian population as well as our armed forces.

BEST storekeeper I ever knew was a fellow named Sam Abernethy. Sam's specialty was to take over some run-down store that somebody else had given up as a failure. Then Sam would turn it into a gold mine.

"But the most important thing of all," he used to say, "is to remember who's Boss!"

"You may think you are Boss of your business . . . but you're not. The Public, your customers, are the real bosses . . . and you've got to run your business the way they want it."

That little statement of Sam's made a big impression on me . . . particularly since it certainly seemed to work so well in Sam's case.

And Sam isn't the only one. I see the beer industry feels the same way . . . certainly, the brewers believe in running their business the way you and I would like to see it run.

Folks like us like to see beer sold in clean, quiet, decent places.

Well . . . the brewers feel the same way about it. They don't want their beer sold in wrong surroundings. They know it doesn't pay. And they know it hurts the good name of beer.

I was reading the other day how the brewers and the beer distributors work together and cooperate with law enforcement authorities. The idea is to make careless beer retailers clean up their places and practices . . . or close up.

It's a good plan . . . and it seems to me it ought to work. I understand it is already in operation in a number of states and is being extended.

It's a mighty fine thing when a great industry has the gumption to do a job like that on its own initiative. And if Sam Abernethy was right, the brewers should be mighty successful . . . because they're running their business the way the public wants to see it run.

Pretty near "a coon's age" before you add a quart

How this oil with its modern synthetics—man-made betterments—triumphed in the Certified Death Valley Test. Why it out-mileaged five others more than 2 to 1 . . .

A PEBBLE starting an avalanche that wrecks a town can illustrate one big thing to you about getting full mileage from your oil change this Spring. (Spring change is a serious "must," all authorities warn you.)

Now folks in the hills take care not to give pebbles any start. And by changing to Conoco N*th* motor oil you are taking care not to let thickening mush get a start in your crankcase. The added modern synthetic . . . man-made Thialkene inhibitor in Conoco N*th* . . . is aimed to inhibit or ward off the very start of bad "jelling" that often drags down mileage these days.

And still another synthetic in Conoco N*th* has long been noted for its magnet-like way of attaching OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces. OIL-PLATING isn't all constantly draining down. Then instead of plain fluid-type oil film alone, which comes and goes, your engine can have this steadfast OIL-PLATING besides . . . Oil film sliding between OIL-PLATED engine parts!

What's gained in engine life and oil mileage? You can judge from the impartial Death Valley Test. Conoco N*th* ran up more than twice the mileage averaged by five big-name quality brands—each run till engine was ruined. Avoid Replanting!
TREAT COTTONSEED WITH CERESAN

Progressive planters of Texas, Oklahoma and every other cotton state have proved how successfully CERESAN seed treatment reduces seed rotting and sore-shin, generally improves stands, saves costly replanting and commonly increases yields—often 10 to 25%. Oklahoma A. & M. College reports, "Dusting the seed with Ceresan is in more general use than any other cottonseed treatment..." Temple, Texas, reports some tests in which "germination was doubled." Give your seed this protection this year! CERESAN costs only a few cents an acre; is easy to use. Get it from your dealer and treat your own seed, or buy seed marked with the Ceresan Certificate Tag.

TREAT OTHER SEEDS, TOO!

Use Semesan Jr. for corn; New Improved Ceresan for small grains; Semesan for vegetables; Semesan Bel for potatoes.

BOMBS! ... after 10 Years of Inaction

WASHINGTON is "concerned" because the country has not awakened to the danger of bombs!

And the people are concerned—nay, alarmed—because Washington has not awakened to the danger confronting the country!

For 10 years the average American has been exposed to perpetual e-motion. Each so-called "emergency" has resulted in creation of some new alphabetical bureau or agency until today he has little sympathy for the inconveniences of an over-crowded Washington.

With patience exhausted, the average citizen now is demanding something more than words, something more than cajolery to build up his morale.

He wants examples, actions, in high places.

Why*, he is asking, is his money (taxes, bonds and stamps) allowed to be wasted on non-essential activities while boys in the armed forces are dying for lack of guns, ships, tanks and planes?

He ordered fighting equipment to rain bombs on the Axis!

No other country can compare with America's potential war production. No other has the men, the machines—or the electric power.

America's electric companies, under trained and experienced business men, are supplying power for the vast wartime industries, in addition to your home and business, where it's needed when it's needed and in quantities greater than the combined total of all the enemy countries.

Last year they paid $510,000,000 in taxes—enough money to equip 2,400,000* soldiers . . . enough money to build 9,273* pursuit planes, 2,429* light bombardment planes, or 1,522* flying fortresses!

Here's a business built the American way—by local enterprise and public individual investment—and regulated by the government and dedicated to defending America's freedom and democracy until the last dictator has fallen.

*Based on War Department figures.

May your future hold as much happiness and success as your past has, Joe.

Ivor Louise Cox

Ivor Louise Cox—the queen of Wellington High School! She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Cox of Loco, Texas, and was born in Bolinger, Ala., Friday, Nov. 13, 1925. Superstitious, Louise?

Attending schools in Wellington five years and at Loco six years, Louise has entered tennis three years, baseball two years, volley ball four years, and basketball one year. Thus she has quite a career of sports behind her.

Louise plans to attend John Tarleton College in Stephenville next years, her favorite subjects being typing and speech.

Louise, your classmates wish you much happiness in the future which you will surely have, for you possess the two B's that will keep you on top—beauty and brains!

Loyde Hampton Colson

This young man of Wellington High School was born on July 28, 1922, near Wellington to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Colson and now lives on Route 1, Wellington.

He has attended school here only three years and the rest of the time was spent in Fresno a year, Houselog three years, and Midway five years. Loyde has been on the basketball and softball teams two years.

Loyde's favorite subject is vocational agriculture, and he has been a member of the FFA club two years, boys' service club one year, and the commercial club one year. Loyde is undecided about his future, but whatever he does we are sure it will be a success.

Lillie Aline Elbert

The girl chosen FFA sweetheart in 1942 is Lillie Aline Elbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Elbert of Route 5, Wellington.

Born July 12, 1925, in Childress, Texas, she has attended school here four years and at Loco seven years. Aline has played volley ball and tennis and she was the secretary of the sophomore class.

Her favorite subjects are typing, bookkeeping, and speech. She plans to attend Draughon's Business College nejt year and become a stenographer.

Born July 25, 1925, in Fort Worth, Texas, she has attended Wellington schools for eleven years.

Carolyn has participated in many activities, such as declamation two years, student council three years, glee club, junior and senior play, and tennis. She was also chosen D. A. R. girl, Exchange Editor of the Skyrocket paper last year, a member of Who's Who, the Sophomore queen nominee, FFA duchess, and Home Nursing Hostess.

Best wishes, Carolyn.

Betty Jo Fuson

Loveliest blonde in the senior class this year is Betty Jo Fuson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fuson of Wellington.

Betty was born August 7, 1925, in Wellington. She has attended school here six years and at Midway five years.

Secretary and treasurer of the Girl Scouts club, Betty can always be depended on. She is also interested in sports, having played baseball, basketball and volleyball for a year or more.

She plans to attend school in Wichita Falls next year and study to become a stenographer.

The one girl who has nothing to worry about is Betty Jo, for her personality, good looks, and integrity will see her safely through all the obstacles that may confront her.

Produce More Cotton

Because Cotton Production Is PATRIOTIC

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard has issued an appeal to the nation's cotton farmers to plant 4,000,000 acres more cotton in 1942 than in 1941—to plant the full legal acreage allotment. America and its allies need more Cottonseed Oil for food, Cotton Linters for munitions, Cottonseed Meal and Hulls for livestock feeding, and Lint Cotton of certain staples and grades for the successful prosecution of the war effort. Cotton is the ONLY crop that supplies ALL of these essentials.

Because Cotton Production Is PROFITABLE

You, from your own experience, know that cotton is a most dependable crop for this section. You know that you can count on lint cotton and cottonseed to provide ready cash; and yu know that the value of lint and seed has been very favorable in recent months. You've proved that you can grow cotton; and cotton has proved that it's a money-maker for you. It will pay you, this season, to plant every acre permitted under the AAA legal allotment; and to produce every pound lint and seed that you can on these acres.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

My cotton article is attracting comment. Papers as far away as the Arkansas Democrat at Little Rock and the San Antonio Light have reprinted parts of it and commented on it. More significant to me than any of these is the fact that Peter Molyneaux says that it is a common sense and practical idea.

As most of you remember I suggested in January of 1941 that the farmers be turned loose to pile up surpluses in essential crops. The shortage I predicted as possible is a probability now. It could become a danger before 1943, but it will be 1943 before the bureaucrats turn the farmers loose. If the threatened price ceiling is put on farm products, about all the average farmer can do about it is to look back and consider what might have been.

My suggestion on under-planted acres would have meant from half a million to a million dollars increase in gross income to this county—not to mention an increased income of from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 in this section. But I fas basing it ou the fact that our nation needs the oil and the long staple lint. It would have meant from $500 to $5,000 increase income for the individual farmer of this county. However, if my plea falls on deaf ears, you might remember that in substance it was a plea for action that would help win the war.

The actual facts happen to be that there has been a shortage of long staple cotton for some months and that the surplus in all grades and staples may be wiped out before the war is over. There is an urgent need for cottonseed oil now.

The Navy Relief campaign in Collingsworth County needs to be rejuvenated. Ernest Lewis has been on the job just as in other things but a couple of the sailors I appointed certainly fell off into the briny deep. For that reason I hereby appoint Bill Maddox of Wellington and E. J. Smith of Dodson to help out in the campaign.

Without solicitation James Doneghy sent me $25 for the Naval Relief Society. Now that sort of contribution will get the job done. I did not ask for my present task anymore than any of the rest of you did, but it is a job to be done. How about some of you well-to-do men helping to do it voluntarily? Send in your check now. Don't wait to be asked. Do like Dr. Orr did. Stop a Navy man on the street and hand him the money. That is the way a small task like this should be done. If enough of you wait too long on this suggestion, a campaign will be organized. The money will be raised, because it is a worthy cause.

The low down is that foot soldiers may have to come to the relief of the blue-jackets. George Clark turned out one day and raised more money for the fund than anyone else.

Wellington needs a clean-up campaign more than ever before. Pink Sullivan and Corbett Ford have gone to California to visit their sons who are in the army. As soon as the Mayor gets back a date for a clean-up campaign should be set.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for Lee O'Neil and some of the other politically influential men to consider the possibility of securing a camp for Japanese internees in this county? That is about all we are ever going to have the chance of securing—something that nobody else wants. Other states seem to object to them violently, but they could be taught to pick cotton and gather feed. They would live in a camp by themselves and it would be subsidized by the government.

The war plants near Amarillo will drain this town of all skilled and semi-skilled labor. There will be a great need for farm labor. Many of these people of Japanese descent are loyal American citizens. We have officials who can watch those who are not. And all the time they could be working. If other states don't want them, why don't we take them for the duration? (Probably this suggestion will raise hell. If you do not agree, the columns of this paper are open to the opposite view.)

My suggestion on this is that the Democratic County Chairman, the County Judge, the Major and other officials write to Washington and tell them that we ain't skeered of a few Japs—particularly if we see the chance of getting some work out of them and especially if we are going to get back some of our own money from the Federal Government to take care of any deficit. Most important of all in my estimation, and this is serious, we should assure them that the Americans of Japanese descent will be treated as Americans until they indicate they are otherwise. The temper of the people being what it is, this won't take much indication. Those who are unwelcome in Colorado, Arizona and Utah know this better than any of us. If they should be sent here, you might find most of them most anxious to please.

Editorial

If you're interested in cotton you may remember that before acreage was fixed by fiat, growers in West Texas often were cussed for controlling production through using, or not using, its vast areas.

Those days are gone but there comes from that same West Texas a cotton idea that, to say the least, seems practicable. Deskins Wells, editor of the Wellington Leader, Wellington, Tex., offers a suggestion in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

He says we have a war to win, vegetable oil and long staple fiber are needed. The cotton farmers of West Texas can produce that oil and are at the command of the Secretary, the editor says.

Pointing out that cotton planting in his section is later than in the Cotton Belt, he says: "Yet there are the sections in which under-planting will occur due to emphasis on soybeans, peanuts, etc. Their cotton acreage is definite when the cotton farmers of West Texas starts their planting."

The editor's idea is that the under-planted areas should be turned to the cotton farmers of West Texas. The extra acres can be allotted to them after all other cotton farmers have used as many or as few as they desire. Such a move, he says, would not increase the national cotton acreage, nor would it penalize any cotton farmer in any other section.

"Such action on the part of the Department of Agriculture would make your appeal for full planting a reality," the editor writes Secretary Wickard. "Last year over 4,000,000 acres of allotted land was not planted. As you have indicated, that is a national waste. The cotton farmer of West Texas can turn this waste into an all-out efficient production. With your permission, they can and will take up much of the slack now when the oil is needed."

No additional acreage will be required, Mr. Wickard is assured. Not one foot of sod need be plowed up. The grass is needed for cattle. Land that was planted in sudan grass, cane and sorghum and other diverted acreage crops could be used.

Peter Molyneaux, editor of Southwestern Banking Industry, who knows as much about cotton as any man in the South, calls the editor's idea a "common sense proposition." And it appears to be just that to an editor who is not so well informed but just as anxious to see our neighboring State of Texas make such a contribution to the War program.—Arkansas Democrat.

• One For All

In several sections of this country are to be found groups of people who have come to this county and settled in certain neighborhoods. Through the years they have built up prosperous settlements. The secret of their success has been the fact that they have worked together and have cooperated in each others interest. The settlement has been all for one, and one for all. What a fine thing it would be if every town could have the same spirit. If we could trade with each other instead of sending our money away to some other city to build it up at the expense of our own, our town would, like these settlements, become more prosperous because of this friendly cooperation. —Mrs. F. P. Engleman in The Tulia Herald.

• Candidates And Rubber

Candidates may have to use more newspaper advertising than usual this year on account of rubber restrictions. On the other hand, we do not see so many gyp advertising sheets making a bid for candidate advertising as in the past. Campaign expenses may be held down by the judicious use of advertising in legitimate newspapers.—T. A. Landers in The McLean News.

• Every Farmer's Right

Farmers are in a predicament. Ceilings have been placed on their products, but they are told that it is the patriotic thing to increase food production. The army takes away farm laborers, leaving the farmer with no extra help. Tire rationing will tie up harvest if no plan is devised to increase rubber for the wheat belt. Every farmer should write the President telling him they are willing to produce all the food they can during a 40-hour week, provided he will allow them price and a half on all food produced on the extra 40 or 50 hours per week they will be forced to work. This is a Democracy, and every citizen has the right to write the President and express his sentiment on prevailing problems. Write a letter to the President at once.—Clyde Warwick in The Canyon News.

• Back To Church

Now comes the opportunity for Memphis people of all creeds and degrees to prove their loyalty to Christ and His church. A movement was launched last Sunday afternoon by laymen of five churches to persuade people to "go back to the Church and God." You will hear a lot about this movement and you should pay heed to what you hear. Because you need the church a great deal more than the church needs you.—Claude Wells in The Memphis Democrat.

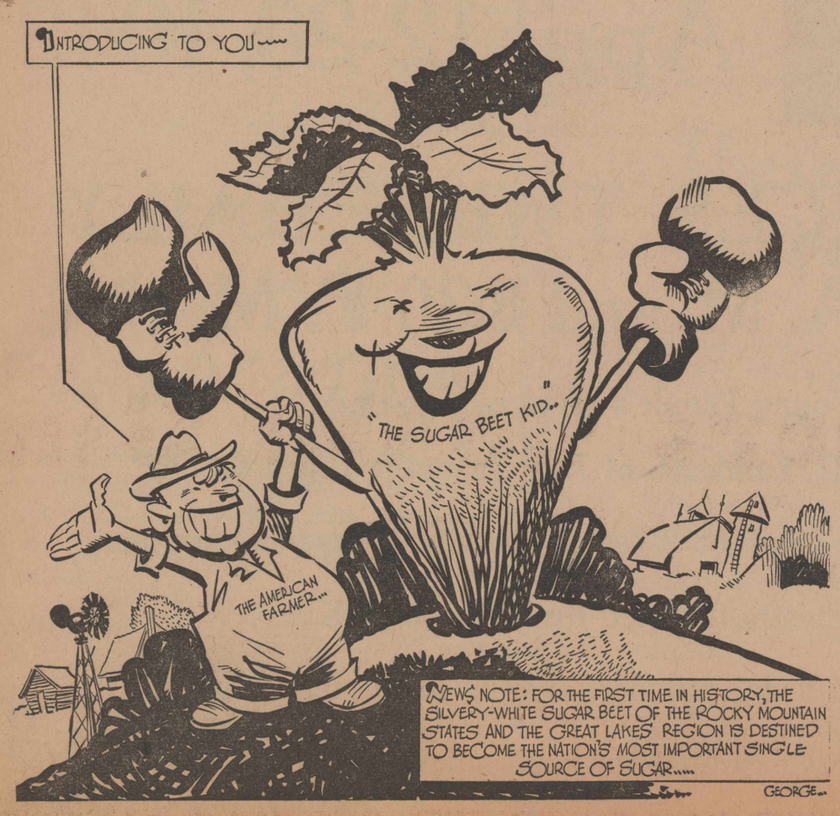
• Division Is Dangerous

In the extraordinary difficulties and dangers which our country is bedeviled at present—in addition to the unprecedented military preparedness of our ruthless aggressor enemies—we are from within, many of us, giving substantial aid and comfort to our foes. Not since the Civil War has there been a time in our country when it was more important to recall and repeat, "If a house can be divided against itself, that house cannot stand."—Harry Koch in The Quanah Tribune Chief.

The New Champ



Washington Week

By RALPH HERBERT

Americans have not yet reached the food ideal known as the nutrition yardstick, but they are well on the way. Improvement is largely due to the fact that as knowledge of vitamin-bearing vegetables grew, the American people increasingly demanded those vegetables.

In 1941 there was a big increase in vegetable production and the government is urging 10 per cent increase for 1942. This would mean 1,840,000 acres in 1942 as against 1,680,000 in 1941. Last year a large amount of vegetables were canned. Not including potatoes and sweet potatoes, 11½ million tons of vegetables were canned, or 7 per cent more than in any previous year.

Known facts about necessity for vitamin A have been the causes for heavier demands and bigger crops of various vegetables as follows: In 1921, 7,214,000 crates of lettuce were shipped to market. In 1941 this had gone up to 23,388,000. In 1921 the figures for much-derided spinach was 76,900 tons. In 1941 it was 143,277. In 1921 carrots were considered donkey food and there were no figures. In 1941, 17,747,000 bushels of the vitamin-rich vegetable went to market.

Increases are noted in vitamin C vegetables. In 1921 we marketed 81,050 tons of green snap beans; in 1941, 348,705. In 1921 there were 128,500 tons of green peas; in 1941, 465,835. In 1921, 726,900 tons of tomatoes were reported; in 1941, 3,374,600 tons, of which nearly five-sixths were either canned or converted to tomato juice. Cabbage increased from 689,500 tons in 1921 to 1,273,300 in 1941, a considerable part going into sauer-kraut which has slowly but surely increased in demand.

In 1921 there were listed only 14 vegetables that were either shipped fresh in large quantities or were processed and canned or whose juices were bottled. In 1941 this list has grown to 21: asparagus, beets, snap beans, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, corn, egg plant, celery, cucumbers, garlic, kale, lettuce, lima beans, onions, peas, green peppers, pimentos, shallots, spinach and tomatoes.

Odd Bits Of News

Quarrying is climbing rapidly as an industry in Texas, according to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. Payrolls for quarrying in December were up 55 per cent over December, 1940, while employment in the industry was up 31.3 per cent.

The largest group of Indians living in Texas at the time of the coming of the white man was the Caddo Tribe. The Caddos lived in permanent homes, tilled the soil and maintained a rather high state of culture.

The destroyer Ingraham, nearing completion at Charleston, is named for Captain Duncan N. Ingraham, who served in the Confederate Navy. Before the Civil War, however, he was in the United States Navy, and received the thanks of Congress for his handling of an international affair with Austria.

Probably the first white man to visit Texas was the Spanish explorer, Alonzo Alvarez de Pineda, who was sent on an exploring expedition in 1519 by Gov. Francis de Garay of Jamaica.

One of the most drastic criminal codes was recently made effective in Rumania. It prescribes the death penalty for drawing government cartoons, and up to 15 years at hard labor for singing political songs in the streets.

Amichel was the name first given to Texas by Alonzo Alvarez de Pineda, probably the first white man to set foot on what is now Texas soil.

Last year, through carelessness in writing addresses, 61,190 undelivered letters containing money were handled by the postal service. The total amount involved was $85,326.69, much of which was finally returned to the senders.

The first visit of white men to the Texas coast took place only 27 years after the discovery of America.

According to the most dependable records, the oldest missions in Texas were San Antonio de los Tiguas, 1682, later known as Nuestra Senora del Carmen, and San Miguel del Socorro, 1682, which was located a short distance southeast of El Paso.

THREE DOTS AND A DASH FOR VICTORY

Your Town And Mine

—By CHARLES L. ALLEN

"He fell off the wagon again, I see. Just about the same time he did last year, maybe a day or two longer, but anyhow it's a good thing New Year's comes around once a year. It keeps him sober quite a while." Judge Bailey was watching the staggering form of the town's habitual drunkard as he made his wobbly progress toward home. The judge knew Jim's walk—drunk or sober—day or night, for he had had plenty of opportunity to learn it. During the past 20 years he had seen Jim around Our Town in many different circumstances, including several visits to the judge's court. He had been friend, counselor, employer, teacher, and punisher to this man who couldn't resist imbibing too fully and frequently. If anyone in the village was interested in Jim, it was Judge Bailey.

Charlie Allen

Some of our neighbors used to get half provoked with the judge for defending Jim, when everybody knew that he had never kept his promise to the judge or to anyone else. Nevertheless, Judge Bailey always excused Jim by saying that drunkenness was a disease and that some men had no reserve of vitality in their minds and in their bodies to resist it. It was easier, according to the judge, for most people to go without food than it was for some men to go without drink. And he was very pleased when Jim would resolve firmly to "go on the wagon." It didn't seem to shake his faith because he fell off again.

New Year's Day then, as now, was the occasion for good resolves. It was the custom to make New Year's resolutions and so we did. Jim always made the same one. He swore by heaven and earth, by the day and the night, by the sea and the sky above it, by the book, by the very bottle in his hand that—starting tomorrow sunup—he would go on the wagon and stay there.

Some years he would scarcely manage to stick it out a week, but if he did not happen to run into bad company he might keep that firm resolution for two or three months. And once—only once—it was the middle of the summer before he became his old staggering self again. Every time, of course, the village had to wait until New Year's again for Jim to get back on his good behavior.

Everybody in Our Town thought that Jim was a horrible example, and almost with one accord we condemned him. He lived by himself at the edge of town and his door seldom opened for a visitor to enter. That's what made Judge Bailey's interest in Jim so hard for other people to understand because they saw no reason why the town's leading citizen should go out of his way to help the town's worst drunkard.

Maybe we have a greater understanding of the whole situation now. We know that the judge was sincerely interested in helping Jim keep that New Year's resolution because of all the people in Our Town, Jim needed the help and friendly counsel of a good man more than anyone. We know now too that a man may have many excellent qualities and still be afflicted with a disease that he cannot cure. And—when we get right down to confessing things—we know very well that none of us kept our New Year's resolution a bit better than Jim did.

BRIEF TOPICS

A bill has been introduced in the Kansas Legislature to repeal an existing law which forbids the eating of snakes at public exhibitions. Representative D. W. Stewart, author of the bill, says there have been no violations of the old law reported in many years.

The word "Texas" is thought to have originally been an Indian inter-tribal watchword, probably meaning "friendship." It's first use is dated from the expedition of De Leon and Father Massanet in 1689. Before then, the land now comprising the state of Texas was known variously as Amichel, Florida, Apacheria, (Land of Apaches), Nueva Felipinas (New Philippines) and Quivira.

President Roosevelt has given away the old gray hat he wore for luck during his three successful campaigns. It was donated to be sold at auction for the benefit of a relief fund.

To conserve dress material, British women will wear shorter skirts this spring, with lengths about 18 inches from the ground. A fashion authority states that this will be only one or two inches shorter than the American average.

The origin of the name "Alamo" is unknown. According to one legend, the Alamo took its name from a grove of trees nearby, since alamo means poplar or cottonwood. Another story tells that the Alamo was named for a group of soldiers bearing the name who were quartered there.

Marriages in the United States totaled approximately 1,368,000 during 1940, the largest number in the nation's history, and a gain of about 17 per cent over 1939. A considerable portion of this increase is attributed to those who married to escape the draft.

Utterly Different But Harmonizing Wallpaper

What goes with what is quite a problem with most women, whether it's in putting the right hat, coat, gloves and bag together or the right wallpapers in the hall, living room and dining room. But trouble and uncertainty are vanished now, for the uncertain ones by the new groups or ensembles of the most enchanting wallpapers. A blocked, floral paper is used in the hall above, with a harmonizing stripe in the living room on the right. In the dining room which does not show, a scenic wallpaper was used. Scenic papers are better for halls and dining rooms than for living rooms as one may tire of the scene if it is used in a room where we sit a good deal. But in a hall, we linger but we do not stay, while in the dining room, conversation and gay chatter is the rule and an amusing colorful background is pleasant.

ter Camp, Mrs. Ted Witcher, Mrs. Neva Lillians, Miss Estes, Peggy Jean Yarbrough, and Direne Estes.

Burial was in the Dodson cemetery by the side of Mr. Yarbrough.

Mrs. Yarbrough, who was before her marriage Sallie Monroe Estes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Estes, was born near Kansas City, Missouri, October 1, 1866. She was brought to Texas as a child, and lived near Arlington, and later in Erath and Liveoak counties.

She was married to Mr. Yarbrough on January 7, 1892, who had come to Collingsworth County several years before.

Mrs. Yarbrough often recalled that Mr. Yarbrough drove their cattle through to Collingsworth County and filed on a section of land. She followed by train to Memphis, came to Wellington on the mail hack, and then to Aberdeen in a two-wheel cart drawn by a mule.

A short time later she filed on a section of land commonly known as the Hay Camp. Later, she and Mr. Yarbrough moved north of Salt Fork River where they lived before going to Dodson to make their home. During the early years that she lived here, Mrs. Yarbrough often tended the growing herd of cattle belonging to her and Mr. Yarbrough while he was working on ranches.

She also recalled that each fall, they made a trip by wagon to Childress for their supplies; and that often on Sunday they would ride across the country to Wellington to attend church.

She was for many years a member of the Baptist Church, and was active in its work. While the years of her life in Collingsworth County centered in her home and her husband, Mrs. Yarbrough also took much interest in helping those around her, and in exercising those qualities of pioneer friendship that have made a rich tradition throughout this area.

Mrs. Yarbrough's survivors include a large number of nieces and nephews.
