There was a fairly good cross section of the professions represented among the men who signed the Declaration of Independence, which Americans celebrate today.

Generally they were divided into four principal vocations, although some of them had more than one professional title. There were 11 who devoted full time to practicing law, nine who listed themselves as judges or jurists, eight merchants and eight farmers.

However, there were lawyer - banker combinations, as well as those of lawyer-physician, judge-physician, lawyer-soldier, merchant-judge, etc.

There was only one newspaper man in the group — Benjamin Franklin. He and a couple of lawyers, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, composed the document. Jefferson drew it up and the other two then amended it.

The Declaration of Independence was presented to the Congress on June 28, but was not adopted until July 4.

★ ★ ★

However, the actual signing of the document did not take place until at least two weeks later. On July 19, the Congress passed a resolution providing that the Declaration of Independence be engrossed and signed by members of the Congress who had approved it.

By that time, Thomas McKean of Delaware was fighting with Gen. George Washington's Army. Consequently he did not sign the declaration until 1881.

The Declaration of Independence actually began to emerge on June 7 when Richard Henry Lee of Virginia introduced a resolution calling for a free America. Thus, it was adopted in just slightly over one month from the day it was "born." That would be a legislative speed record, even today, for such a far - reaching measure. — WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, July 4, Independence Day, the 186th day of 1968. There are 180 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia adopted the Declaration of Independence.

On this date: In 1802, the U.S. Military Academy opened at West Point, N.Y.

In 1826, the second and third American presidents, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, died.

In 1831, death came to another American president on Indepeandence Day — James Monroe.

In 1872, the 30th U.S. president, Calvin Coolidge, was born in Plymouth, Vt.

In 1959, the 49th star was added to the flag as Alaska was admitted to the Union.

In 1960, Hawaii became the 50th state.

Ten years ago: President Dwight D. Eisenhower was visiting Canada to try to improve U.S.-Canadian relations.

Five years ago: President John F. Kennedy was back in Washington after winning popular acclaim on a 10-day European tour.

One year ago: King Taufaahau Tupou IV was crowned on the Pacific island of Tonga.

More Rockets Are Found Near Saigon

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops found another rocket cache only six miles east of Saigon today while other American forces repelled a Fourth of July ground attack on their camp 40 miles northwest of South Vietnam's capital.

Patrolling infantrymen from the U.S. 1st Division came on five rockets ready for firing and 33 rocket fuses only 500 yards from the site where a larger cache was turned up Wednesday.

Since the firing pins were in place, there was speculation that the Viet Cong had planned a Fourth of July bombardment of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said American troops have captured 551 enemy rockets within a 16-mile radius of Saigon since March 1.

The ground attack was made before dawn on a camp of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division after the Viet Cong slammed 500 mortar and rocket rounds into the camp. The U.S. Command said a handful of enemy soldiers got to the barbed wire around the camp but were unable to break through.

The American command said 10 of the enemy and three Americans were killed and 50 Americans were wounded. It was the heaviest ground fighting in several days on an approach to Sagion.

The toll was heavier Wednesday when troops of the 9th Infantry Division, guarding another infiltration route 18 miles southwest of Saigon, locked with an estimated 40 Viet Cong. During the fight, a helicopter with 10 Americans aboard crashed into the Vam Co Dong River. Although three of the Americans swam ashore wounded or injured, the other seven men were missing.

As the ground fight developed, the Americans called in reinforcenents and boxed in the enemy. Helicopter gunships raked the trapped enemy troops, and U.S. headquarters said 24 enemy soldiers were killed and three were captured.

The U.S. Command announced that 187 Americans died in Vietnam combat last week, the second lowest weekly toll of the year, but this boosted the toll for 1968's first six months higher than that for all of 1967.

The reduction in casualies was due to a lull in the ground fighting. But the report brought to 9,557 the death toll since Jan. 1, a period which included the Viet Cong's lunar new year offensive, a second assault on Saigon and heavy fighting below the demilitarized zone.

In all of 1967, 9,419 American combat deaths were reported and 61 men were wounded in action. There were 1,928 Americans wounded last week, raising this year's total so far to 59,703.

In the 7½ years of American involvement in the Vietnam war, 25,554 GIs have been killed in action and 159,445 have been wounded.

The enemy death toll for that period reached 367,353 last week, the U.S. Command said, with 1,193 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers killed in the seven-day period that ended Saturday. This was 626 less than the week before. South Vietnamese casualties also were reduced, from 355 killed to 273 last week, and from 1,149 wounded to 856.

Senior U.S. officers feel the current lull is the result of enemy troops regrouping, resupplying and reinforcing at secret bases across the country for a new wave of attacks on Saigon and other targets.

No Fourth of July observances were scheduled for American troops, but they were on the lookout for any Viet Cong attempts to mark the day with terrorist attacks.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker held the traditional embassy reception in Saigon.

U.S. headquarters reported enemy gunners fired fewer than 10 rockets at the U.S. Marine helicopter base at Marble Mountain, near the northern city of Da Nang. It was the third shelling of the base in a week. Headquarters said no one was killed, there were only a few wounded, and there was no damage to any aircraft.

In the air war, U.S. B52 bombers continued pounding the southernmost part of North Vietnam and the northern half of the demilitarized zone in what has become their heaviest attack of the war in that sector.

Five raids Wednesday on enemy artillery sites, bunkers and storage areas brought the number of B52 raids in the area to 24 since Monday. Each mission involves 3 to 12 bombers, each carrying up to 60,000 pounds of explosives.

A U.S. spokesman said the raids have triggered 87 secondary explosions, indicating direct hits on ammunition or fuel.

The chartered American Airliner held for two days by the Soviet Union on the Kurile Islands north of Japan arrived early today at Cam Ranh Bay with its load of 214 troops.

Throngs Descend On County Park

Snyder and Scurry County area residents descended on Towle Memorial Park today for the eighth annual community Independence Day celebration.

Activity in the county park was to continue well into the evening hours, reaching its climax with the patriotic address at 9:30 p.m. and the fireworks display at 9:45 p.m.

The weather was exceptionally cool for July 4th as the dawn broke with mostly cloudy skies and a heavy dew this morning in Snyder. Weather forecasts indicated that below normal temperatures would continue during the day. There was a possibility of some light rain in some regions of West Texas, but no substantial amounts of moisture were expected.

Dr. C. L. Kay, assistant president of Lubbock Christian College, will be the speaker at the community Independence Day program at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

The fireworks display slated for 9:45 p.m. is the largest ever assembled here.

The Chamber of Commerce will award several merchandize prizes contributed by local merchants at 8 o'clock tonight in the park.

Other events scheduled during the day included a flyover of jet aircraft from Webb Air Force Base, a flag-raising ceremony and parade, baseball games, a tennis tournament, a swimming meet and a fishing rodeo.

Daley Denies Convention May Move

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley has denied that the Democratic National Convention will be moved from Chicago because of a strike of telephone workers.

Daley flew to Miami Wednesday, arousing speculation that the Democrats were looking for a new convention site.

But the mayor said he and ris wife made the trip to visit their daughter. "The convention will be held in Chicago," he said.

National Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey said "We have no intention of moving it."

The president of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. has voiced concern that the 57-day strike will prevent the utility from completing preparations for the convention.

James W. Cook, Bell president, told newsmen that installers must get into the International Amphitheatre if they are to provide the communications facilites needed for the convention, which starts Aug. 26.

Cook said Illinois Bell management personnel could install the needed equipment if they are permitted access to the Amphitheatre.

The striking members of the International Brotherhood of Electric Workers said they would picket the convention hall if the company tries to install the equipment needed for news coverage and communications.

Money is the key issue. The company has offered pay increases up to $26 a week over 18 months for top-scale workers. The union is demanding $19.50 a week for the first year and $10 more for the last six months of the contract. Top-scale workers now earn $160.50.

LBJ Takes Distinguished Guests On HemisFair Tour

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, launched on a long work-play holiday weekend, is giving this Latin-oriented southern Texas area one of its biggest July 4th fiestas.

Prefacing a summit conference in El Salvador with presidents of five Central American nations, Johnson brought some 40 ambassadors and their ladies to San Antonio Wednesday for a full round of Independence Day festivities at the city's Hemis-Fair and environs.

Johnson was to be principal speaker at the Western Hemisphere exposition today following a 50-gun salute to Independence.

On Wednesday evening, the President and Mrs. Johnson joined the ambassadors—most of them from south of the border—at the 1,400-acre ranch of Texas Gov. John Connally.

The Connally spread, near Floresville, 33 miles south of here, was opened to the Johnsons and the diplomatic visitors for an informal dinner, cocktails and an evening of Western and Spanish-American music, all served up on the back lawn under clusters of live oak trees.

Connally, a longtime political ally of Johnson's, has been mentioned as a possible Democratic nominee for vice president. And Johnson certainly did not grab the public spotlight from him during the initial hours, at least, of the holiday.

The governor, in fact, was permitted to depart from normal protocol and give a full speech introducing the President when he arrived here at Randolph Air Force Base. Usually, the pattern is to simply introduce "the President of the United States."

This, together with the prominence accorded Connally throughout the holiday schedule, led to speculation that Johnson might be as anxious to help his old friend politically.

Newsmen and photographers were welcomed at the luxurious Connally home made of field-stone and crammed with original art works—until the moment when it seemed appropriate for Johnson to say a few words. At that point they were ushered to waiting buses and driven back here.

On Saturday, Johnson flies to San Salvador, capital of El Salvador, to join in discussions with the chief executives of that country and neighboring Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras and Costa Rica.

Johnson plans to return to the United States Monday, dropping off the other presidents in their respective countries along the way.

In welcoming his diplomatic guests to San Antonio, before an airport crowd of several thousand, Johnson said they were going to "spend an old-fashioned Fourth of July with us."

Traffic Deaths Climbing Slowly

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Generally good driving conditions prevailed over most of the country today and traffic deaths mounted slowly in the early hours of the long Independence Day weekend.

The toll stood at 30 as millions of Americans headed for resorts and Fourth of July outings with friends and relatives.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 700 and 800 persons may lose their lives in traffic accidents during the four-day period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday. In a nonholiday period of equal length 553 were killed.

The council also estimated that American drivers will run up a total of 13.2 billion miles before the weekend is over.

Traffic deaths during last year's Independence Day weekend, also four days, totaled 732—a record for a Fourth of July period and for any summer holiday weekend. The lowest highway death toll for a four-day Independence Day weekend since World War II was 231 in 1946.

As a basis for comparison, The Associated Press made a survey of traffic deaths during a four-day nonholiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, June 19, to midnight Sunday, June 23. The count was 553.

No fireworks deaths were reported to The AP during Fourth of July holiday periods since 1960. Only one was reported then.

192nd Anniversary Of Independence

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans from coast to coast celebrated the 192nd anniversary of the Declaration of Independence today.

Independence Day activities included fireworks displays, political oratory, historic pageantry, picnics, swimming in the oceans or lakes and band concerts on village greens.

The forecast for most of the nation was fair weather, with the exception of thunder showers in the Southeast and parts of the West.

For the stay-at-homes there were backyard barbecues and watching special holiday programs on television.

For the sports-minded, there were baseball games, rich stakes events at a number of thoroughbred racetracks and the "Firecracker 400" stock car race at Daytona Beach, Fla.

For some, there was bumper-to-bumper traffic.

The National Safety Council in Chicago predicted 700 to 800 traffic deaths in the nation during the long holiday weekend.

President Johnson is the featured speaker at a flag-raising ceremony at the San Antonio, Tex., HemisFair.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey speaks at the traditional Independence Hall ceremonies in Philadelphia.

In the nation's capital, patriotic groups sponsored a program of speeches, music and fireworks on the grounds of the Washington Monument. It was the 38th observance since the dedication of the monument.

Civil War buffs donned blue and gray uniforms at Gettysburg, Penn. for a re-enactment one of that war's major battles.

At the reconstructed colonial village of Williamsburg, Va., a unit in colonial militia costumes fires a saluto to the original 13 states with old-time muzzle-loaders.

HARRIMAN IS STILL TRYING

N. Viet Disbelief A Problem

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — The United States is making a persistent effort in the Paris peace talks to convince North Vietnam that American forces will be withdrawn from South Vietnam as rapidly as possible after a peace settlement.

U.S. negotiators think that North Vietnamese disbelief in American military intentions is probably a major obstacle to progress in peacemaking. At the same time they are trying to draw North Vietnam into a discussion of whether it will remove its own troops from the South.

Indications of North Vietnamese views which Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other officials have received from diplomatic sources leads them to conclude that the policymakers in Hanoi cannot conceive of the United States giving up its massive investment in South Vietnam.

They are therefore inclined to deal seriously with Ambassador Xuan Thuy's charge that the United States intends to maintain military bases and "neocolonial" control over South Vietnam after the fighting stops.

The Americans also want a North Vietnamese commitment to withdraw troops to match an American pledge in any peace agreement.

"You have called for the withdrawal of foreign forces from South Vietnam," Harriman told Thuy Wednesday. "We agree.

"And I remind you that at Manila (in October 1966), the United States and other allies of the Republic of Vietnam pledged to withdraw their forces as the North Vietnamese army withdraws, infiltration ceases, and the level of violence in South Vietnam thus subsides.

"We have repeated that pledge here. Will Hanoi do the same? For I remind you that in the eyes of the vast majority of the people of South Vietnam it is your forces, too, that are foreign, that came from outside, and that should return where they came from."

Troop withdrawal, like other long-range military and political issues of a Vietnam peace, is not technically before the Paris talks at this time. But like other issues it is being discussed in connection with the continuing and repetitous argument over an end to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

The deadlock on that problem is as tight as ever after more than seven weeks of discussion. Neither side shows evidence of making a move that would lead to a break.

DEAR ABBY: Here is a hot flash for "NOT JEWISH," who had a Jewish - sounding name, looked Jewish, lived in a "restricted neighborhood," belonged to a "restricted" Country club but was suspected of being Jewish anyway. He wanted to know is he should change his name to a more Christian - sounding one.

I AM Jewish, but I don't look it, my wife doesn't look it, and my kids don't look it. I believe every Anglo-Saxon sounding name, but all my friends know we're Jewish because we wear stars of David around our necks. I have nothing against Christians, and if I were a Christian, I'd admit it, but let's get down to facts:

What should I do about it? I would have asked my grandfather, but he was awarded the distinguished service cross posthumously in World War I. Or I might have asked my Dad, but he was buried at Anzio Beachhead, and except for the "J" on his dog tags he might have been buried under a cross instead of a star, for whatever that mattered.

Maybe I should have asked the Catholic priest who held Passover services for the Jews in my division at the Iron Triangle in Korea; or the Protestant minister who led prayers for some of us in places like Dak To, Cho Chi and Bien Ho.

I might even ask some of my black, white, Christian and Jewish buddies who made it home with me, but they all learned that in the muddy battlefields we are all "dirty," be we Christian or Jew.

So by all means, "Not Jewish," stay in your "restricted" neighborhood and enjoy your country club which doesn't accept Jews, or Negroes, and probably not Catholics either. And you can change your name, son. But one day you will learn that names and looks don't make you a man. You and your friends, and particularly your parents had better sit down with you and reevaluate your thinking. Don't ask Abby what to do. Ask yourself.

DEAR ABBY: What is the maximum penalty for kidnaping a neighbor's dog just long enough to have him "debarked?"

I've heard that such an operation is a minor one and does not hurt the dog in any way. Is this true?

"UP NIGHTS" IN ENCINO

DEAR "UP": If you are considering what you are obsiously considering, you are barking up the wrong tree. Forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Re the answer you gave the mother of that 17-year-old girl whose date wanted her to stay at his house all night. The girl's mother said no, so the boy's mother telephoned the girl's mother urging her to let the girl stay, and assuring her that everything would be all right. I was glad you backed that mother up and said, "If you're square, I want to be in all four of your corners!"

I once wanted a young girl to stay at MY home all night (my parents were in Florida) so I got a friend to call up her mother, saying she was MY mother, and telling her it would be well - chaperoned, etc. Well, it worked, but how I wish it hadn't. What a night! And what a nightmare! The police broke up the party at 6 a.m. and it made all the papers.

Red Roundup In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian Army says it has rounded up nearly 200 Communists in large-scale operations in west and central Java where the Communists are apparently trying to organize a new party network.

The communique Wednesday coincided with reports from other regions of intensified political and guerrilla activity by the Communists, who were outlawed after the 1965 coup failed.

The army said at least 200 Communists were arrested in the Pekalongan district, on the northern coast of West Java last week.

Hold Woman With Heroin

BOSTON (AP) — A French woman was arrested today at Logan International Airport after customs agents said they found $4 million in uncut heroin hidden behind secret partitions.

Police identified the woman as Erika Krigers, about 45, of Paris, who had just alighted from a Pan American World Airways plane from London.

Customs officers were conducting a routine inspection of passengers' luggage when they said they spotted something peculiar about Mrs. Krigers' suitcases.

They dumped out her clothing and other personal articles, thumped the bottoms of the suitcases, then ripped them open.

Inside the agents found 13 pounds of heroin, neatly wrapped in several individual packages.

Mrs. Krigers was taken before a U.S. commissioner who ordered her held in $50,000 bail on a charge of unlawful importation of a harmful drug. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison.

Plains Indians Pushed Back

A WHISTLE IN THE WIND. By John H. Culp.

Culp's novel manages to magnify a small aspect of the history of the American West into a panoramic view of the taming of the Plains Indians.

Using the full span of a lifetime for his major characters, he begins the tale well before the Civil War and ends it long after.

The setting is a little camp on the edge of the territory of Texas, used as a way station by bands of Indians who raid the white settlements for cattle, horses and white captives.

In charge of the camp is Chafin, a white man who had been captured by a band of Comanches led by Sun Eagle. Chafin's life had been spared on condition that he work for the Indian chief, and Chafin has become a renegade white, living only for the sake of his son Frederick. He also raises an abandoned white girl, Cesre, and eventually Frederick and Cesre are married, but tragedy strikes once again.

The historical gist of the story is that the advance of settlers, soldiers and rangers gradually dooms the Indians to a retreat into the reservations.

This is no bang-bang stereotyped Western. Instead it is a rugged tale of hard life on the frontier, depicted with historical perspective and drama.

Who ever heard of frozen cheese? We did. It's true, you can freeze your cheese. If you have a firm cheese like Cheddar of Swiss or Gouda, you can store it in your 'reezer. Wrap pieces one pound or less in moisture-vapor-proof material. When you want to use the cheese, thaw it slowly in the refrigerator.

When you are making sugar syrup for cold drinks, always stir the sugar and water together over low heat until the sugar dissolves. Then boil, without stirring, for about 5 minutes.

ABWA Woman Of The Year

The Scurry Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association of Snyder, met June 27 and elected Mary Ellen Meador as "Woman of the Year." Mrs. Meador is currently President of the chapter and has served as vice president, corresponding secretary, and program chairman in past years. She is currently employed as secretary to Wayland Holt, District Attorney for Scurry and Borden County, where she has worked since 1962.

Mrs. Meador and her husband, Roy, who is sports director and announcer for KSNY, live at 2300 Avenue M in Snyder. They are parents of two daughters, Mrs. Nancy Jones, who is attending Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Oklahoma, and Valli Ann Meador, a ninth grade student at Travis Junior High School. They are active in civic and church affairs, being members of First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Meador received her crown from the 1967 "Woman of the Year," Mrs. Inez Teaff. Other local women to have won this honor, from this chapter include Mms. Vondell King, Lois Leech, Clara Carey, Lucy Dennis, Kathleen Glover and Elizabeth Herring.

School All Important

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Student Navajos may have been hardest hit of all Indians when a big blizzard swept their reservation this winter: they couldn't go to school.

The majority of Indian youth will undergo every hardship to attend public schools where their contact with non-Indians and another world brings promises, hopes, dreams.

But for most young Indians, though their lot has improved slightly, such dreams are short-lived. Full-time employment on reservations is non-existent. Part-time employment is available to few. Life expectancy is in the middle-forties.

Yet, they will travel long distances to public schools — 50 or more miles to a bus that will perhaps take them another 20 miles, points out Mary Lou Ewing, assistant director of the American Indian Program of Save the Children Foundation.

"I've seen Hopi Indians climb into cars at six in the morning to be driven 80 miles to school, the beginning of what must be a 12-hour school day," she explains.

They can attend boarding school or bordertown dormitories where public schools are located at government expense. Both arrangements have drawbacks, and they undergo great difficulties to commute to public schools.

Young Indians trying to make their school house have been found frozen.

For 10 years, about twice a month, Mrs. Ewing has been leaving family and piano students in Albuquerque to visit Indian reservations scattered over New Mexico, Arizona, South Carolina, Oklahoma in the interest of administering sponsorship of about 5,000 Indian youngsters with its self-help projects and awarding scholarships to outstanding teen-agers. She first introduced the child-family-community sponsorship with the Hopis for whom she has a special fondness.

"Young Indians going off to boarding school are likely to have their entire wardrobes on their backs," she says.

She was on the Navajo reservation when the blizzard hit. She saw livestock, their livelihood, made immobile by snow to their heads. Even in the best of circumstances, the average family income is only $750. So, she hurried to Albuquerque to help speed the shipment of 5,000 tons of clothing from their warehouse in Knoxville. The public has been responding with funds for Navajo relief to The Save the Children Federation offices in Norwalk, Conn.

Nowadays, young Indians emulate non-Indians in dress, and the breakdown in traditional clothes — most prefer levis, shorts, shoes — appalls their elders. Some still wear traditional ankle-length skirts and moccasins and all study one ceremonial dances, but hears rock and roll and other modern music now on the reservations.

The federation programs teach young girls homemaking arts — cooking, sewing, upholstering.

Young boys learn shop work, plumbing and can install bathroom facilities when the U.S. Health Dept. makes them available. Self-help scholarship aid from the SCF requires that funds be earned for school needs. Recipients pay off this debt by working in medical clinics, tribal libraries, or by sewing layettes, building remadas (shelters) or renovating houses for elderly people.

It is hospital work that helps most of all perhaps in acquainting Indians in training situations with modern practices in sanitation and health, so that they can handle problems in their own homes and communities.

And history book accounts of Indians troubles worry some young Indians. One little girl said she would like to tell her sponsor that "the Apaches don't kill any more."

Yale University spent eight years authenticating a pre-Columbian world map, drawn in brownish ink on parchment. The existing map was copied by a Swiss monk in 1440, but probably was based on much earlier documents.

Everybody loves chocolate topping on ice cream. Here's a new chocolate sauce that's really special and so easy to prepare. In a saucepan over low heat, combine 1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces and ½ cup whipping cream. Heat until chocolate melts. Stir in ½ teaspoon vanilla. This keeps in the refrigerator for at least a week.

Ever add capers (drained) to a cream sauce for fish? Good!

Laver Sweeps Into Finals At Wimbledon

By GEOFFREY MILLER

WIMBLEDON (AP) — Rod Laver, Australian tennis professional, won't be a penny the richer if he wins the first Open Wimbledon title Friday and collects the first prize of $4,800.

It will be deducted from the money guaranteed to him by his promoter, George MacCall.

'I'm guaranteed $90,000 a year for playing tennis," Laver said as he prepared to play fellow-Australian pro, Tony Roche, in the final.

Whatever prize money I win here will be paid in against the guarantee.

"But it's not money that lures you to Wimbledon. It's still the greatest tennis title in the world. Everyone who plays tennis seriously has been hoping for an open Wimbledon and hoping to win it.

"Ever since they decided to throw Wimbledon open to pros and amateurs, I've had my eyes on it. I've geared myself to win it."

Laver swept into the final by crushing Arthur Ashe of Richard, Va., 7-5, 6-2, 6-4 Wednesday.

Roche defeated another U.S. Davis Cup star, Clark Graebner of New York City, 9-7, 8-10, 6-4, 8-6.

So, the pros had the last word in a tournament in which many pros have had their reputations shattered by amateurs. Both Ashe and Graebner, leading the United States' strongest challenge at Wimbledon in years, vanquished professionals on their way to the semifinals.

Meanwhile, two American girls were in the lineup for today's semifinals of the women's singles.

Defending champion Mrs. Billie Jean King, the professional from Long Beach, Calif., faced her old rival Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain, in a replay of last year's final.

Nancy Richey, Wightman Cup amateur from San Angelo, Tex., who beat Maria Bueno of Brazil, three times champion in the last 10 years, in the quarter-finals, had to play Judy Tegart, the seventh-seeded Australian.

Cowboys Support NFL Association

DALLAS (AP)—The National Football League Players Association threat to strike if owners don't up the ante in negotiations over pensions and other benefits was backed firmly Wednesday night by several members of the Dallas Cowboys.

Star offensive lineman Ralph Neely, an All-NFL choice last season, said he was behind the Association "100 per cent." Linemen Mike Connelly and Larry Stephens expressed similar sentiments.

In Albuquerque, N.M., running back Don Perkins of the Cowboys said he had received a telegram from the association calling for a strike.

"I don't plan to go to camp unless our Association has changed their stand," he said.

Perkins said the players mainly were at odds with club owners over the pension plan.

"I think the one thing that we can't agree on is the retirement fund," he said. "We have a retirement program but don't feel there's a sufficient amount of money being put into this program."

Perkins said he didn't "really anticipate this thing going through — I think there's too much at stake for club owners not to agree to something."

Neely said he didn't look for the Teamsters or any other union to take over the players' negotiations because "the association will work out."

It was learned that telegrams were sent to players discussing the association's rejection of most of the owners' recent proposal. The telegrams urged players not to report to training camps and dealt with setting up player strike headquarters.

Ruby Wins Paul Revere

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Veteran Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., drove in front virtually all the way through early morning darkness today and easily won the second annual Paul Revere 250-mile road race.

It was such a breeze for Ruby, driving a 1967 Cougar, that he finished more than 15 miles ahead of runner-up John McComb of Hutchinson, Kan., and still failed to break the 105.033 miles an hour record Parnelli Jones set last year.

Ruby's winning speed was 103.152 m.p.h. and he won $3,675.

Indianapolis 500 champion Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., leaped from his fifth starting position into the lead before half a lap was run. But an electrical fire under the hood sidelined his 1968 Camaro before he could get credit for leading a full lap.

Jim Murphy of Falls Church, Va., made a late challenge for second place but spun on the final lap and finished fourth in a 1968 Camaro.

Peter Gregg of Jacksonville, Fla., was third in a Porsche 911. This also gave Gregg first place for cars under two liters piston displacemen.

Texas Has Cool Fourth

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most Texans will be able to start celebrating July 4 in weather considerably less torrid than usual for this season.

Light rain fell most of the night around El Paso in Far West Texas. There were scattered showers in the vicinity of Del Rio and San Antonio, and also a waning cool front which stretched in early morning from south of Laredo past Corpus Christi and across the Gulf of Mexico to near New Orleans.

Additional shower activity was expected tonight or Friday in most sections, particularly the Big Bend country of West Texas, down the Rio Grande Valley and over the coastal plains.

The rainfall measurements Wednesday included Del Rio 2.21 inches, Laredo 1.54, Alpine 1.16, Presidio .92 and Abilene .91.

Outside the moisture belt, skies were mostly clear from Northeast Texas eastward through the Panhandle and at least partly cloudy elsewhere.

Top temperatures Wednesday afternoon again held below 100 at all reporting stations, ranging from 95 degrees at Cotulla down to 72 at Alpine.

Readings near dawn today stood in the 60s to 70s.

Lady Pros Out To Prove Point

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

READING Pa. (AP) — The 16th annual U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship opened today with a group of professionals determined to prove last year's shocking upset by French amateur Catherine Lacoste was a fluke.

Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner on the women's pro tour this year, with $20,255, made it clear the 57 professionals in the field of 101 were still in a state of shock over Miss Lacoste's 1967 triumph at Hot Springs, Va. The girl from Paris was the first foreigner and amateur ever to win the Open.

"If we didn't care," said the 5-foot-8 Richardson, Tex., pro. "We'd have no pride in ourselves or our organization. I did not care for an amateur winning our prestige tournament."

Miss Lacoste, 23-year-old daughter of a French tennis great of the 1920's, is defending her title over the par 36-35—71 Moselem Springs Golf Club course. She shot par or near par in practice rounds.

There are six former winners of this tournament in the field—four-time champion Mickey Wright; Carol Mann, Sandra Spuzich, Betsy Rawls, Mary Wills and Mrs. Murle Lindstrom.

Other hopefuls in the four-day, 72-hole test include Mrs. Sue Maxwell Berning and Beth Stone, who tied for second last year two strokes behind Miss Lacoste; Sandra Post, the Canadian girl who won the lady's PGA title two weeks ago; Marilynn Smith; Barbara Romack and Donna Caponi.

Horse Of Year Races

NEW YORK (AP) — Damascus went out today seeking to become the eighth millionaire in thoroughbred history. Dr. Fager headed the opposition in the 1½-mile, $100,000-added Suburban Handicap at Aqueduct.

Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's Damascus, Horse of the Year in 1967, was assigned 133 pounds, one more than Tartan Stable's Dr. Fager.

Damascus earned $25,865 as a 2-year-old, $817,941 last year and $88,800 this year for a total of $932,606. If all six entrants start the winner's share would be $70,265. This purse would boost Damascus over the $1 million mark.

Manny Ycaza was to ride Damascus and Braulio Baeza had the mount on Dr. Fager.

Other mounts and their weights and jockeys:

Mrs. Bancroft's Hedevar, 112, Ron Turcotte; Mrs. Frances Genter's In Reality, 125, John L. Rotz; George D. Widener's Bold Hour, 116, Bill Boland, and Rokeby Stable's Amerigo Lady, 110, Helidoro Gustines.

Damascus and Dr. Fager have met twice before, both last year. Dr. Fager beat Damascus in the Gotham, then Damascus turned the table by winning the Woodward.

Minton Dies At Age 72

FORT WORTH (AP) — Roscoe Minton, once a coach at Centenary and Iowa State and a Southwest Conference sports official for 21 years, died Wednesday night at a convalescent home. He was 72.

He also had been a vice president of the old Fort Worth Cats baseball team in the Texas League.

Minton was a brother of former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton, who died in 1965.

A native of Indiana, he moved to Fort Worth with his parents and was graduated from high school and Texas Wesleyan College here.

Minton was engaged in the meat packing buisness.

Tribe's Tiant Fans 19 Twins

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

The question today for Cleveland's Luis Tiant is, obviously, what happened to the other 34 pitches?

Tiant threw 135 pitches against Minnesota Wednesday night and 101 were strikes. The other 34? "I don't have good control like I usually have," explained Tiant, whose 19 strikeouts helped him break one major league record and tie another in the Indians' 1-0 10-inning victory over the Twins.

It was the best pitching performance in the American League where Baltimore swept a doubleheader from Chicago 3-1 and 1-0, New York dropped Washington 4-1, Detroit defeated California 5-2 and Boston edged Oakland 4-3 in 11 innings.

Tiant's 19 strikeouts gave him a two-game total of 32, breaking the record held by Sandy Koufax and a three-game total of 41, tying the mark set by Koufax in 1959.

Tiant's 19 strikeouts gave him a two-game total of 32, breaking the record held by Sandy Koufax and a three-game total of 41, tying the mark set by Koufax in 1959.

Tiant's three-game total was one better than the 40 strikeouts Sam McDowell accumulated for the American League record earlier this season. His 10-inning total of 19 was two short of Tom Cheney's extra-inning record of 21 set in 1962 for Washington.

Tiant struck out the side three times—the last one in the 10th when the Twins got runners at first and third with none out. The shutout was his seventh this season and lowered his earned run average to 1.11—best in the American League.

The Indians got the game's only run in the 10th when Lou Johnson beat out an infield hit and took second on Cesar Tovar's wild throw. Joe Azcue followed with a single to right, scoring Johnson. That was enough to beat Jim Merritt, who allowed just two hits until the 10th.

Boog Powell rapped three hits including his 13th home run helping the Orioles to their first game victory over the White Sox. Jim Hardin hurled a three-hitter for his ninth victory.

In the nightcap, Tom Phoebus compiled his seventh with a five-hitter and Curt Motton's second inning homer gave him the only run he needed.

Phoebus, like Tiant, had his strikeout pitch working. He fanned 12.

Norm Cash, Willie Horton and Jack Tracewski whacked home runs, leading the high-flying Tigers past California. Cash's two-run shot broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning after he was roundly booed for a fielding lapse that helped the Angels score in the top half of the inning.

Denny McLain won his 15th game top in the American League.

Mike Andrews singled in Boston's winning run in the 11th inning as the Red Sox squeezed past the Athletics.

Jim Gosger tripled two runs home for the A's, giving Oakland the early lead.

Mel Stottlemyre won his 10th for New York beating Washington with a four-hitter. Bobby Cox tagged a tie-breaking homer in the seventh inning and the Yankees added a pair of insurance runs in the eighth on singles by Tom Tresh and Jake Gibbs.

Cloud Over Grand Blanc

GRAND BLANC, Mich. A(P) — Overcast skies and a threat of rain were forecast for early starters today in the $125,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament at the 7,001-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club course.

Defending champion Julius Boros, the veteran from Mid Pines, N.C., was seeking his first victory on the 1968 PGA tour.

Only Boros and the late Tony Lema, who won successive titles in 1964-65, have won the tournament more than once. Boros' first victory came in 1963 when he shot a tournament record 14-under-par 274. He repeated with 283 last year.

None of golf's Big Four—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player or leading PGA money winner Billy Casper—was entered. They have skipped the Buick in recent years to practice for the British Open.

Also absent was Dave Stockton, winner of last week's Cleveland Open. He returned to his San Bernadino, Calif., home last week to be with his wife who is expecting a baby.

Three other former Buick champions were among the 144 pros and amateurs who qualified for the event. They include 1959 champion Art Wall Jr., Mike Souchak, won won in 1960, and Phil Rodgers, the 1966 champion.

Kilauea Volcano in Hawaii has been active since November 1967.

Travelers Move Along

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's no accident the Arkansas Travelers are leading the Eastern Division of the Texas League. They win the close ones.

Arkansas took a 5-4 victory from Dallas-Fort Worth Wednesday in a 10-inning battle to keep the division lead at one and one-half games over second place Shreveport.

The Braves whipped Memphis 4-2 in the only other game played. Amarillo at Albuquerque and San Antonio at El Paso were postponed because of rain.

Leron Lee was the hero for Arkansas, singling with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 10th. Two intentional passes by Secundino Almonte had filled the bases for the Travelers. Joe Hamende picked up the victory in relief.

Shreveport scored all its runs on singles, sacrifices, stolen bases and wild pitches. The most bizarre run occurred when Wayne Garrett walked and circled the bases on three wild pitches. It was the Braves' 11th victory in 12 outings.

The same teams play this July 4 at Memphis, Little Rock, Albuquerque and El Paso.

Pappas, Braves Blank Giants

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Milt Pappas, who wanted all the Cincinnati Reds to travel first class, is pitching just that way for the Atlanta Braves.

Pappas, the Reds' player representative until he was traded three weeks ago, turned in another sparkling performance for the Braves Wednesday as they defeated San Francisco 2-0.

Life in Atlanta—a 3-0 record and 0.58 earned run average—certainly has been a lot more pleasant for Pappas than life in Cincinnati.

The 29-year-old right-hander was a marked man from the start of his 2½-year tenure with the Reds. He was the key player the Reds received for Frank Robinson in their trade with Baltimore.

And as player representative, he encountered various problems with management, including his fight for first-class seats on airplanes for all the players.

"It was a big relief for me when I was traded," he said after halting the Giants. "I hated every minute in Cincinnati. People there expected too much of me. There was a great mental strain and there was too much heat from the front office because I was traded for a big hitter."

Pappas, of course, never won a pennant nor Cincinnati the way Robinson did for the Orioles in 1966. After two unspectacular seasons, he compiled a 2-5 record with a 5.57 ERA before being traded last month.

Pappas expected the trade, especially after he raised a major fuss over the Reds' refusal to take a day off out of respect for the memory of Sen. Robert Kennedy. He resigned as player rep as a result.

That was only the culmination of a series of problems. The travel feud stemmed from the Reds' policy of handing first class airplane seats to front office personnel, the manager, coaches, press, radio and television people before allocating them to the players. Those players who don't make it into the first-class section go tourist.

The Braves are happy this particular tourist stopped off in Atlanta.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, St. Louis edged Los Angeles 2-1, Pittsburgh walloped New York 8-1, Philadelphia edged Chicago 3-2 and Cincinnati trimmed Houston 9-7.

Pappas allowed just six hits before retiring for a pinch runner after opening the eighth inning with a single. His seven shutout innings raised his total of consesutive scoreless innings to 21 2-3. Pappas received support from Felipe Alou's homer and Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly.

The Cardinals downed the Dodgers for the third straight time, Orlando Cepeda scoring the winning run in the eighth inning on John Edwards' sacrifice fly. Cepeda walked and went to third as Mike Shannon doubled. Nelson Briles scattered seven hits.

Home runs by Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon powered a four-run uprising in the fourth inning that carried Pittsburgh past New York. Carl Taylor ad Gene Alley added two-run singles in the sixth.

Mike Ryan's run-scoring single in the fourth turned out to be the decisive hit for Philadelphia. Larry Jackson had a 3-0 lead going into the ninth but ran into trouble and needed relief help from Chris Short. Glenn Beckert singled home the Cub runs.

Cincinnati rallied for three runs with two out in the ninth inning for its victory over Houston. Tony Perez doubled home the tying run and scored the lead run on Johnny Bench's single. The Astros scored six runs in the fifth, two on Nate Colbert's single.

LBJ Withdrawl May Have Lessened Violence Threat

By STUART J. PAHN
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson's decision to withdraw from the political scene appears to have lessened if not eliminated—threats of demonstrations of the Democratic National Convention next month.

Shortly after Chicago had been named site of the Democratic conclave, antiwar, civil rights and hippie leaders chorused that if opposition to the President's policies were to be meaningful, it would have to involve the convention at the sprawling International Amphitheatre.

Now the protest movement is in disarray.

The National Mobilization Committee, organizer of the march on the Pentagon last Oct. 21 and the largest vehicle for war protest, has canceled a program formed specifically for the convention, a program touted as "the largest in American history."

"But we no longer have those plans," said Rennie Davis of the NMC's Chicago office.

"Those plans were shaped largely around the assumption that Johnson would be running," Davis added in an interview.

The NMC still contemplates what it obscurely termed a "presence" during the convention, but Davis did not elaborate.

Lowell Rhembeimer, 20, reflects the growing uncertainty when he discusses the Chicago Area Draft Resistors, CADRE, a chapter of a national resistance organization which had plans for demonstrating the week of Aug. 25.

"After Johnson's announcement," he said, "the youths in CADRE had a tendency to relax, to breathe a sigh of relief. And they felt they could withdraw themselves from the movement."

If the peace movement plans appear loose and tentative, those of the civil rights movement are even less structured.

James Farmer, former director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said CORE will not demonstrate at the convention and added: "I hope the convention comes off, and I plan to attend."

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, has never officially adopted the promise of his predecessor, the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to demonstrate at the convention; although he, too, has mentioned the possibility of a "presence" there.

When eyes first focused on the convention site in early January, Negro comedian and civil rights activist Dick Gregory angrily denounced the Democrats' choice of Chicago, proclaiming the convention would be held only "over my dead body" and that he would spearhead a demonstration of 5,000 persons.

Three months later Gregory called everything off.

He said he feared the planned marchs would erupt into violence.

As the civil rights and antiwar threats have softened, so have those of the flower people.

The Youth International Party or Yippies has re-evaluated its plots to stage a festival of joy in Chicago during the convention of 50,000 to 500,000 bead-spangled youths.

"Yes, we had a program to come to Chicago," said Jerry Reuben of New York, a leader of the Yippies. "And officially it's still on. But the question of what to do is all up in the air."

It is so up in the air that many Yippie leaders are openly discouraging the Chicago invasion. "The drama was taken out of the situation by Johnson's decision," Reuben said.

The Yippies contend they are regularly abused by police in daily situations, and were especially forcefully dispersed during an antiwar march in April.

But city officials deny such allegations, as do officials of the Democratic party.

"Mayor (Richard J.) Daley has frequently stated that anyone who wants to can come to Chicago to carry out his right as an American to petition and demonstrate as long as he doesn't violate any laws," one city official said.

Demonstrations are highly restricted in Chicago. A city ordinance allows only one march a day, limits the size of the march to the discretion of the police superintendent. It requires that police be notified at least 24 hours in advance of the route, its points of inception and termination, and the names of the leaders.

sThe ordiance restrict marching to daylight hours, but prohibits marches during the peak traffic hours of 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

With the threats of demonstrations fading, another possible obstacle has been thrown up—the statewide strike by a telephone union.

Officials of the 11,800-man Brotherhood of Electrical Workers contend that a continuance of the strike could mean delay of installation of the complex communications network required for the convention.

Linemen, installers and repairmen have been on strike since May 8 in a dispute over wages. Negotiations have been broken off.

But Illinois Bell Telephone Co. officials insist that adequate manpower and technology is available for installation of the sophisticated equipment.

Convention coordinator John M. Meek seems unconcerned about a strike and says merely, "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

And in the midst of all this, Democratic party and Chicago city officials continue to rebuff rumors that the convention will be moved to another city—possibly Miami Beach, where the Republicans will meet earlier in August.

Meek has assured the news media almost weekly: "We never ever discussed moving the convention, or talked about it, or thought about it. We came out here to have the convention. We knew there would probably be demonstrations. There were demonstrations at the 1964 convention. Nobody was any the worse for it."

Sales Tax Yields More Than Planned

AUSTIN (AP) — First returns of the city sales tax went out Wednesday, indicating it is a better money raiser than was originally estimated by the Texas Municipal League.

Orange-colored checks signed by state Comptroller Robert S. Calvert were went to the first 14 cties to pass the tax, their 1-cent levies which took effect Jan. 1.

The collections are for the first three months of this year, which Executive Director Steve Matthews of the Texas Municipal League called "the sorriest business quarter of the year."

Calvert collects the tax for the cities, keeps 2 per cent for his services and another 4.76 per cent for refunds and guarantees against hot checks, and mails the rest to the cities.

Here are the net first quarter payments to the 14 cities, with original estimates of the amount the tax would raise in all of 1968 in parentheses:

Aransas Pass, $15,748 ($20,000); Austin, $641,003 ($1.7 million); Bracketville, $994 (no estimate); Corpus Christi, $541,765 ($1.3 million); Elgin, $4,867 ($25,000); El Paso, $709,686 ($1.3 million); Henrietta, $4,756 ($16,000); Nacogdoches 58,835 ($150,000); Orange Grove, $1,318 (no estimate); Port Aransas, $2,107 ($3,000); Taylor, $17,116 ($50,000); Texarkana, $101,765 ($225,000); Wichita Falls $236,335 ($815,000).

An additional $22,142 was collected in returns that inadvertently omitted the name of the cities. Calvert said this amount would be apportioned among the various cities.

The tax has been voted by 270 cities, including about 80 per cent of all Texas residents.

Based on initial returns, Matthews estimated a city could count on $16.18 per capita per year from the tax.

A Junior Editors Quiz About GRAPEFRUIT

QUESTION: How did grapefruit get its name?

ANSWER: The answer to this question is related to the fine bunch of grapes hanging in a heavy cluster at the upper left above. Although the grapefruit does not belong to the grape family (it grows on a tree, not a vine), the fruits do bunch into clusters. It is this resemblance which gave the grapefruit its name. These fruits are thought to have originated in the 18th century in the West Indies and to have then been taken to Florida, where at first they had only a local popularity. Northern people coming to Florida in increasing numbers discovered the tangy taste of this large member of the citrus fruit family, and then wished for it in their homes. With demand, supply usually appears. Large grapefuit trees began to be planted in ever increasing number. Soon these fruits appeared on fruit stands all over America. The lemon, like the grapefruit, also belongs to the citrus group; so do the tangerine and orange, and the tart little lime, shown at lower left.

Junior Editors Quiz on VACUUM BOTTLE

QUESTION: How does a vacuum bottle keep its contents hot or cold?

ANSWER: A vacuum bottle can keep hot liquids hot, or cold liquids cold, for about 24 hours. This is because of the construction of the bottle (upper right). There is an inner glass bottle, made with two walls, set in an outer metal container. A space between the double wall of the inner bottle is sealed so nothing can get in. The air is withdrawn from this space, creating a neat vacuum. Suppose we fill the vacuum bottle with hot soup. The idea is to prevent the heat from being transferred outside the inner bottle. When there is air, heat can be transferred from one place to another by a process called convection. But, since almost all the air has been taken out between the inner bottle's double wall, there is hardly any convection. However, heat can move through a vacuum by means of heat waves or radiation. To control this, the double walls of the glass bottle are coated with silvery aluminum. This reflects the heat and slows down the radiation; so, the soup stays hot. With a cold liquid, the vacuum bottle keeps outside heat from getting in.

THE BUY OF 1968

Large Home in Southwest Snyder, 3 bedrooms, each so spacious you get the sensation you're over the "NORTH 40" when you enter.

DEN-DINING ROOM

The beautiful woods used to panel the walls and ceiling spell ELEGANCE and all of the warmth and beauty of the natural grain is preserved—with practically no maintenance on your part. The DINING AREA is adjacent to folding doors which EXPAND the size of your entertainment area into the living room.

SPACIOUS PATIO

Walled on three sides, opens to a beautiful back yard with UNDERGROUND SPRINKLER system, SHADE TREES, and enclosed with a 6 foot TILE FENCE. If there are little ones, the PATIO is a "THREE WHEELERS", PARADISE for both mother and child and a SUMMER DINING ROOM for the whole family.

2 LARGE BATHS

Durable, ceramic tile walls and floors—shower and tub — WORLD'S of linen storage. THERE'S MUCH MORE to be said for this 2400 sq. ft. "BUY OF THE YEAR" home, which includes a utility rdom and a 2 Cadillac garage.

THAT ISN'T ALL!!

The adjoining lot goes too—it has a 14x16 BRICK & WOOD building which could be used as a GUEST HOUSE, HOBBY SHOP, or YOU NAME IT!!! IT ALL GOES for $21,500.00 . . . and, WHAT A BUY!!

June Is A Busy Month For Police

City Police investigated 18 burglaries, three cases of theft over $50, 28 cases of theft under $50 and 12 acts of vandalism during June, according to a monthly police report issued by Chief of Police Stephen Clark. Police have solved 169 of 435 offenses committed this year, and they expect to clear 167 others. Of the 435 offenses reported, 23 were discovered to be unfounded while 76 cases still are pending.

In addition, officers answered 733 calls of a miscellaneous nature, including disturbances, prowlers and traffic mishaps.

There was $735 paid into Corporation Court last month in fines for criminal offenses plus $2,002 in traffic fines or a total revenue during the month of $2,737. Police also issued 239 warning tickets during June. There were 27 collisions during the month and 54 complaints issued for speeding. Only two of the mishaps resulted in injuries.

A breakdown of traffic offenses indicates that most collisions occur between the hours of 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Fridays. Most of the offenses were committed by male drivers in the 20-24 age group.

In addition, there were 61 animals placed in the City Pound during the month.

Police vehicles traveled 15,179 miles in June.

Appeals For Spock Denied

BOSTON (AP) — Federal Judge Francis J.W. Ford has denied defense motions seeking to reverse the convictions of Dr. Benjamin Spock and three others on antidraft conspiracy charges.

The baby doctor and his three codefendants are scheduled to be sentenced July 10. They face maximum sentences of five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines.

Judge Ford made no comment Wednesday as he denied the motions.

Convicted with Spock, 65, were Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student; and Mitchell Goodman, 44, an author from Temple, Maine.

The motions sought a new trial, acquittal by the judge or an arrest of the verdict on the grounds of an imperfection in the government's indictment.

The defendants were charged with conspiring to aid, abet and counsel young men to avoid the draft in a trial before Judge Ford.

Lawyers for Spock and the three others have said they will appeal.

New Yorkers Outnumber Texans On LBJ's Staff

By PEGGY SIMPSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Yorkers outnumber Texans among President Johnson's assistants, the White House says.

Of the 43 people an aide categoried as special, staff or administrative assistant — not including secretaries — seven are Texans. Nine New Yorkers hold similar level positions.

Larry Temple, former top aide to Texas Gov. John Connally, took over many responsibilities borne by Marvin Watson before Watson's appointment as postmaster general. Temple, originally from Plainview, officially is called an appointments secretary.

George Christian, the amiable press secretary, was an administrator under Connally and Texas governors before him until Johnson summoned him to succeed Marshall native Bill Moyers.

One of Christian's assistants is Lloyd Hackler, who was born in Plow Chief, Okla., but grew up in Pettus and Normana, Tex., and worked in San Angelo and Laredo before coming here.

Mrs. Johnson's press secretary is Liz Carpenter, a native of Salado.

Harry C. McPherson Jr., formerly of Tyler, is a presidential special assistant who has long worked with Johnson.

Barefoot Sanders Jr. is the President's legislative counsel. He formerly was U.S. attorney in Dallas and was deputy U.S. attorney general.

William M. Blackburn Jr., a former Dallas attorney, was Watson's key assistant and now works closely in legislative liaison with Temple.

The President's personal secretary, Mrs. Juanita Roberts, is a native of Louisiana but she has been with LBJ so long that thinking in texas terms is first nature. Willie Day Taylor, formerly of Austin, often credited by the President with rearing his daughters, works in the press and other offices.

Three Texans hold Cabinet posts in the closing months of Johnson's administration—Ramsey Clark of Dallas as attorney general, Watson of Demgerfield as postmaster general and C. R. Smith of Dallas as secretary of commerce.

Fort Worth banker Fred Korth recently resigned as secretary of the Navy and Everett Hutchinson recently quit as undersecretary of the Transportation Department.

Former Texas Gov. Price Daniel of Liberty, Tex., is a member of the National Security Council, along with the President, vice president, secretaries of state and defense and two assistants in his capacity as director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

Dr. Bertrand Harding, a Fort Worth native who grew up in San Antonio, is acting director of the Office of Economic Opportunity following Sargent Shriver's exit to France as U.S. ambassador.

Raymond Telles, former El Paso mayor, heads the U.S.-Mexico Border Development Commission. He also was ambassador to Costa Rica.

Two Texans are among the four members of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Dr. Luther Holcomb, former head of the Council of Churches in Dallas, is vice chairman. Vicente T. Ximenes, a native of Floresville, is a member of the EEOC while also heading the cabinet-level Inter-Agency Commission on Mexican-American Affairs.

Joe Moore of Austin was hired away from his post as head of the Texas Water Development Board to become administrator this spring of the Federal Water Pollution Administration.

Charles K. Boatner of Fort Worth is assistant to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall and director of the department's information office.

Two Texans are among the associate commissioners of the Office of Education. Dr. James A. Turman of Fannin County is in charge of field services. Dr. Nolan Estes of Rio Hondo supervises elementary and secondary education but will leave this fall to become Dallas' school superintendent.

Frank Wozencraft Jr. of Houston, son of a former Dallas mayor, is assistant attorney general.

Oscar Laurel of Laredo is a member of the National Transportation Board which investigates plane crashes.

William B. Camp, Houston, is comptroller of the currency.

Among the Texans on regulatory commissions:

John H. Crooker Jr. of Houston, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board; Rear Adm. John Harllee, ret. (USN), of Dallas, chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission; Lawrence O'Connor of Houston, vice chairman of the Federal Power Commission; Willard Deason of Austin, Interstate Commerce Commission; Robert Bartley of Ladonia, Federal Communications Commission; and Richard Yarborough of Austin, Indian Claims Commission.

Texans also hold a number of important judgeships.

The dean of all resident judges is Eugene Black of Clarksville, senior judge but semi-retired from the U.S. Tax Court. He was Rep. Wright Patman's predecessor in Congress. Also recently retired is Judge Marvin Jones of Amarillo from the U.S. Court of Claims. His longtime aide, Wilson Cowan of Clifton, Tex. is now chief judge of the Court of Claims. Another member of that court is Byron Skelton of Temple.

C. Moxley of Featherston of Jayton is a Tax Court member.

Three other former members of Congress who now hold judgeships are Paul J. Kilday of Sabinal, on the Military Court of Appeals; Eugene Worley of Shamrock, chief judge of the U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals; and Lindley Beckworth of Kaufman County, U.S. Customs Court.

RAY PRICE
. . . coming July 16

Ray Price Slated For Concert Here

Ray Price, "the Soul of Country Music," is coming to Snyder on July 16 for a benefit show for the Heart of Texas Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Price will appear at the Scurry County Coliseum at 8 p.m. on the announced date.

Advance tickets will be priced at $2 each for adults and $1 for children. Tickets at the door on the evening of the performance will be priced at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Price spent almost 20 years as a top Country - Western attraction, appearing at rodeos, on personal appearance tours and in concerts and always has been a consistent chart - topper in the national record polls. All of this is on the "Country" side of the ledger.

Then along came the Ray Price version of "Danny Boy," a traditional folk song that has never worn the "Country Music" label. All at once, the rest of the world took notice and a wall between country and popular music came tumbling down. The breakthrough was complete when the "pop" public heard the rest of the "Danny Boy" album — "Pretend," Vaye Con Dios," "Greensleeves," "Across the Wide Missouri."

Over the years Ray Price has become known as the world's greatest exponent of sad love songs. He sang them as country songs and they were hits. And from the beginning he has sung with heart, with a subtle touch of blues in his powerful voice and his compassionate renditions.

Now it is called "Soul." It is not a new style developed in the past couple of years, but a new name given to some of the "pop" artists who are catching up with the stylings established many years ago by Ray Price.

Sub Probe Evidence In

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A naval court of inquiry investigating the disappearance of the submarine Scorpion has ended testimony by more than 60 witnesses and will begin Monday to review the evidence it has received since June 5.

The court will prepare findings of fact and opinion and submit recommendations to the Navy judge advocate general in Washington for review.

An Atlantic Fleet headquarters spokesman said Wednesday "there is no telling when the unclassified findings will be released to the public."

The muclear-powered submarine was declared lost with 99 crewmen aboard June 5, the same day the court was convened. A small group of ships continues the search for the Scorpion, last heard from May 21 from a position 365 miles south-southwest of the Azores. She was homeward bound from the Mediterranean.

The court heard testimony Wednesday from unidentified witnesses behind closed doors.

Shots Fired At Brother Of Sirhan

PASADENA, Calif. AP) — Saidallah Bishara Sirhan, brother of the man accused of killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, says two men fired at him as he drove on a freeway.

Sirhan, 35, told police the shots were fired from one of two cars that pulled alongside his after following him for six miles before dawn Wednesday on the Pasadena Freeway.

The first bullet struck a coat lying on the back seat of his car and the second zipped past his head and buried itself in the door beside him, he said. "If he had been sitting upright, the projectile probably would have passed through his neck," a Pasadena police officer said.

The cars turned in opposite directions after another 100 yards at the end of the freeway, Sirhan said, and he proceeded directly to the Pasadena police headquarters.

There, persistent and lengthy police questioning led some observers to speculate that police doubted some details of the account.

But police Lt. Gerald Wright said he had "no doubt at all" about the incident.

"We're taking it for a fact right now," he said.

Sirhan's 24-year-old brother, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, is in Los Angeles County jail awaiting trial on charges he shot Kennedy early June 5 at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

Second eldest of the five Sirhan brothers, Saidallah Sirhan is single and unemployed and lives in a Pasadena apartment away from the Sirhan family home.

The Sirhan home is under heavy police guard and police earlier urged him to move into it. After Wednesday's shooting, police said, Sirhan was offered protection but he said he didn't believe he needs it.

Crash Is Fatal

McKINNEY (AP) — W. C. Dorris, 41, of McKinney was killed late Wednesday when his pickup truck ran into a ditch. The accident happened on a dirt road near Princeton, east of here in Collin County.

JOHNNY SPEARS

Snyderite Top Camper

Johnny Spears, a 9th grader at Lamar Junior High School, was awarded a Gold Cup for being the honor camper at Rio Vista this summer.

He is the son of Mrs. Fay Nell Spears supervisor of Girlstown, U.S.A. near Whiteface. He presently is residing in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smyth, 2909 Thirty-fifth Street.

The 14-year-old also was named the best all-around athlete at Rio Vista, receiving a medal for this honor, and he was designated the "White Arrow" of the "Flaming Arrow" group. Johnny won 10 first place ribbons and 12 second place ribbons in the camp track meet, amassing 64 points. He also won a medal for his accomplishments with the Rio Vista tennis team.

Bill Stacy, director of the camp, asked Johnny to become a counselor trainee. This is the first time that such an invitation was extended to a boy of Johnny's age.

Youth Is Killed

SEGUIN (AP) — State police reported a car struck and killed Barry Miller, 15, of Marion, Tex., 10 miles west of here before dawn today as he walked along the edge of FM 78. A companion escaped injury.

Smith Raps War Critics

STAMFORD, Tex. (AP) — U. S. soldiers in Vietnam sometimes wonder "whether American public opinion is not an enemy more cruel than the viet Cong Communist guerrillas he fights," Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said today.

Smith, Democratic nominee for governor, spoke at the Fourth of July Texas Cowboys Reunion.

"The prayer of the Vietnam soldier would be not only for success in battle, but for greater gains in understanding by our people, critics and supporters alike," Smith said.

"The soldier might pray that even the harshest critics of the war might avoid cheapening the personal losses and sacrifices made by young men who go to fight for another country's independence . . . Let us pray that understanding brings thanks to our boys in Vietnam from people who love freedom everywhere."

Killed In Shooting

HOUSTON (AP) — A pistol bullet struck Mrs. Lee Ethel Davis, 31, in the back of the head and killed her Wednesday night, police said. They held a man, 47.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

The Kansas City Star and Miss Lain award a new Mercury portable, courtesy of the royal Typewriter Company, to Cathy Witt, Prairie Village, Kans., for her question:

"Do you think being a legal secretary would be a very good job?"

A — A good legal secretary has a lot going for her: she can almost always find a job because the demand is constant, she can work full or part-time, and she improves with age as know-how increases. (Few lawyers want mere office decorations, they want gals who can get the job done.)

Prime Marriage Bets? One law office manager contacted says most secretaries, who quit her firm, leave to become brides. She speculated that girls with legal secretarial experience are particularly attrative to men because they have acquired the talent for listening and following directions with accuracy. Fact or fun: legal work is extremely exacting. In law, "almost" right isn't good enough.

Stimulating Atmosphere. Legal secretaries work for lawyers, in one-or two-lawyer offices, medium or giant firms with dozens of attorneys. Lawyers are bright fellows and the working situation is usually pretty interesting. Sometimes the employers become judges, legislators, public officials or corporation officers.

Jobscope: If you were a legal secretary, you might work for a boss who conducted a general practice, or specialized in such fields as patent, criminal, tax, international, trial, corporate or trust and estate work. Other than expected regular skills (minimum 60 wpm typing and 120 wpm shorthand) and office duties you would have to learn such things as court structures, law practices, terminology and procedures used in the preparation of legal documents. You might take minutes of meetings, maintain corporate records, take notes and keep the lawyer's papers in order during the trial. You might even research cases for trial. You could maintain the office calendar and advise your boss of appointments, court appearances and conferences, etc., and perform other similar duties.

Spinoff Dream Jobs: What else can a legal secretary do? Here are a couple of nifty related jobs. One crack legal secretary's lawyer boss is a U.S. Congressman; she runs the home district office serving constituents' "A-Z" needs for government services. Another's employer was elected to local public office and his secretary became so fascinated with politics that she ran for county clerk and won Salary: Depends on locale, experience and employer, but a typical range now is $350-850 monthly. However, the fringe benefits aren't usually the greatest.

How to Get Into It. After high school, it helps to attend a commercial or business college, or a junior college which offers a course in legal secretarial training. You can also learn on the job.

More Information. For pamphlet, "So you want to be a legal secretary," send five cents and stamped, self - addressed, business - size envelope to the National Asociation of Legal Secretaries, Mrs. Dorthea L. Jorde, Education Chairman, P. O. Box 1000, Minot, N. Dak., 58701.
