BOBBIE J. 'BOB' BRUMMETT

CANYON LAKE — Bobbie J. "Bob" Brummett, 68, a former Pampa resident, died Monday, Nov. 8, 1999. Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in Carmichael-Whitely Colonial Chapel in Pampa with Dr. Derrell Monday.

Mr. Brummett was born Jan. 12, 1931, at Clovis, N.M. He moved to Pampa in 1934 with his family and to Yakima, Wash., in 1944. He returned to Pampa in 1945 and graduated from Pampa High School in 1950.

He married Ernestine Phillips on July 20, 1951, at White Deer. He served in the U.S. Air Force for 21 years, joining on Oct. 11, 1950, at Pampa and retiring in 1971 as a master sergeant at McChord Air Force Base at Tacoma, Wash.

He had been a San Antonio area resident since October of 1980. He belonged to Eisenhower Baptist Church of San Antonio, Junior Odd Fellows for six years and Order of Odd Fellows for 27 years.

He was preceded in death by a son, Bobbie J. Brummett, Jr.; and by a daughter, Nova Lora Brummett.

Survivors include his wife, Ernestine, of the home; a son, Lloyd Brummett of Oklahoma City, Okla.; three daughters and two sons-in-law, Guyda and Jeff Maziariski of Bonney Lake, Wash., Ledena and Tony Mendiola of Tacoma, Wash., and Tawnya Brummett of Canyon Lake; a brother and a sister-in-law, Lloyd and Geraldine Brummett of Avant, Okla.; two sisters and a brother-in-law, Martha and Johnny Holt and Margie Moore, all of Pampa; two granddaughters, Christine Brummett of Killeen, Megan Mendiola of Tacoma; two granddaughters, Samantha Maziariski and Jennifer Maziariski; and six grandsons, Mike Webb of Warner Robbins AFB, Ga., Jason Brummett of Killeen, Jeffrey Maziariski of Auburn, Wash., Bobby J. Aragon of Tacoma, and James Brummett and Joseph Brummett, both of Tyler.

The family will be at 1153 N. Starkweather in Pampa and requests memorials be to Innovative Hospice Care in care of Vitas Healthcare Corp., 4715 Fredericksburg Rd., Suite 200, San Antonio, TX 78229.

FLOYD 'DENNY' ROAN

Floyd "Denny" Roan, 80, of Pampa, died Thursday, Nov. 11, 1999, at Amarillo. Arrangements are under the direction of Memorial Park Funeral Home of Amarillo. No services are planned.

Mr. Roan was born Feb. 20, 1919, at Chillicothe. He married Lois Roan in 1944 at Pampa; she died in 1990. A longtime Pampa resident, he served on the police force until the mid-1960s and owned-operated Roan TV Service until he retired in 1975.

He was a U.S. Army veteran, serving during World War II.

Survivors include a daughter, Apryl Weese of Follett; a brother, Harold Roan of Spokane, Wash.; three grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

The family requests memorials be to Veterans Administration Hospice.

FRANCES LOUISE COTTER TIPPS

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — Frances Louise Cotter Tipps, 81, a former Pampa resident, died Wednesday, Nov. 10, 1999. Memorial services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in Holladay Baptist Church at Salt Lake. The body was cremated and will be interred in the family plot at Elm Grove Cemetery in Alpine. Arrangements are under the direction of Holbrook Mortuary of Salt Lake City.

Through many miles she earned her spurs. Our wife, mom, sister, niece, cousin and friend, Frances Louise Cotter Tipps put up her spurs for the last time on Nov. 10 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Mrs. Tipps was born Dec. 30, 1917, into a ranch family at Alpine. Her parents were William Cotter and Eulalia Stroud. She grew up in Alpine where she had many friends and a large extended family, who she dearly loved. She was an excellent ranch hand and loved to ride horses, especially her favorite horse, Conika. Being very athletic, she earned a bachelor of science degree in physical education from Sul Ross State College, Alpine, in 1939. After graduating, she taught physical education in Seagraves.

In 1940, she married her life's companion, Thomas Olan Tipps, in a sunrise service at the Baptist Church in Alpine that her daddy had filled with bluebonnets. During World War II, she worked at various civilian jobs at Camp Hood, Camp Beale, Calif., and the Army Map Services in San Antonio. After the war, she was a homemaker and devoted mom to her children, Melanie and Betsy. She happily followed her husband to football coaching and scouting jobs in Dennison, Pampa, College Station, Seattle, Wash., and Arvada, Colo.

Because of her husband's occupation, she was a devout football fan. For luck, she wore the same hat and suit to all the 1959 football games that sent the Washington Huskies to the Rose Bowl. She and her husband moved to Salt Lake City, Utah, several years ago to be near their daughter, Betsy. She made good friends everywhere she lived and will be dearly missed by us all. She survived many illnesses in the last few years of her life through her feisty spirit and unending determination. Her courage is an inspiration to us all.

Survivors include her husband, Tom; her daughters and sons-in-law, Melanie and Roland Hall of Monterey, Calif., and Betsy and Larry Harbeck of Park City, Utah; a brother, James Cotter of Alpine; grandsons, Sean Smith of Big Sur, Calif., and Dustin Harbeck of Park City; a great-grandson, Travis Smith of San Diego, Calif.; a favorite uncle, Boyd Scott of Farmington, N.M.; and many cousins and other relatives.

ing and design, and not having a well the council said is necessary, the council voted to approach local banks in an attempt to borrow $40,000 to City Secretary Judy Williams said the city hoped to have an answer from the banks sometime next week.

Woman's character at issue in switched baby custody hearing

BUENA VISTA, Va. (AP) — Attorneys representing guardians of a girl switched at birth with another child said they would present evidence today that the girl's biological mother is not fit to raise her.

"Today is an important day for us," said Pete Robey, an attorney for the guardians of 4-year-old Rebecca Chittum. The woman who gave birth to Rebecca, Paula Johnson, is suing for custody.

"We'll have Rebecca's father and father of some of Paula's other children who will testify to her character," Robey said.

In a closed-door proceeding described as highly emotional, Miss Johnson spent two hours on the witness stand Thursday pleading for custody.

"It went very well — very hard, though," said Miss Johnson's attorney, Cynthia Johnson. The two are not related.

"It was a very emotional situation for Paula and her family and the other families," she said. "Nobody should have to go through this."

Robey described the courtroom as very tense.

"What could cause more tension than a situation like this? It's a very emotional issue," he said during a lunch break.

Juvenile and Domestic Relations Judge John Curry has barred lawyers and the families from discussing the testimony.

The Washington Post asked Curry to allow reporters into the hearing, and Curry ruled today that reporters would be allowed to hear testimony from a psychologist who has monitored Rebecca's process. Curry said testimony about how the dispute has affected the child is a matter of public interest.

Miss Johnson's attorneys called 11 witnesses and completed their presentation Thursday. Attorneys representing Rebecca's guardians plan to call about 20 witnesses.

"We'll look into parenting, Miss Johnson's past and her ability to raise the child," said Mike Groot, one of the lawyers.

The hearing follows the breakdown of a visitation agreement between Miss Johnson and Rebecca's guardians.

After giving birth at the University of Virginia Medical Center in 1995, Miss Johnson was sent home with the biological daughter of Whitney Rogers and Kevin Chittum. They were sent home with Rebecca.

The mistake was discovered last year when Miss Johnson took her former boyfriend to court to seek more child support. A paternity test revealed that the man was not the father of Callie, the girl that Miss Johnson is raising, and Miss Johnson was not Callie's mother.

Shortly after Miss Johnson learned the truth, Chittum and Miss Rogers died in a car crash without learning of the switch. The parents of Chittum and Miss Rogers have been raising Rebecca.

The families at first agreed that the girls would stay with the families that had been raising them and the biological relatives would have liberal visitation.

Miss Johnson now wants custody of Rebecca and to keep Callie, too.

When asked after Thursday's hearing about the prospects of reaching a visitation compromise with the other families, Miss Johnson relented: "There's always hope."

Investigations by state officials failed to determine how the switch occurred. Miss Johnson is suing the hospital for $31 million and is suing the makers of the identification bracelets used at the hospital to keep track of newborns.

Lady Bird may be out of hospital today

AUSTIN (AP) — Former first lady Lady Bird Johnson was expected to leave the hospital today after staying overnight following a fainting spell.

Mrs. Johnson, 86, was still in Seton Medical Center late this morning and was listed in fair condition, said hospital spokeswoman Kara Lockwood. She said Mrs. Johnson was expected to be dismissed today.

"Her family says she's doing well," Ms. Lockwood said.

"She is just doing fine," said Mrs. Johnson's executive secretary, Shirley James. "She's been much calmer than anyone else."

Mrs. Johnson was taken to hospital by ambulance Thursday afternoon. Hospital officials said she was awake and alert when she arrived but stayed overnight for observation.

Her daughter, Luci Baines Johnson, accompanied her. She said her mother had traveled a lot lately and had just returned from cataract surgery in Houston.

Luci Johnson was to stand in today at a Texas Association of Broadcasters gala honoring her mother, said Ann Arnold, TAB executive director. As part of the event, the group plans to present a scholarship in Mrs. Johnson's name.

Mrs. Johnson, the nation's oldest living former first lady, was married to former President Lyndon B. Johnson for almost 39 years. He died in 1973.

A passionate conservationist, she is the prime mover behind the Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center, created to stimulate research and education about preservation and use of wildflowers and native plants.

PAMPA — Sunny and 80 today with south-southwest winds at 5-10 mph. Tonight, clear with a low of 50 and south-west winds at 5-10 mph. Tomorrow, sunny with a high in the mid 80s and west winds at 5-10 mph. Yesterday's high was 81; the overnight low 49.

STATEWIDE — Near-record highs are expected through the start of the weekend, with little or no rain in the forecast. Some light fog was reported today at Tyler, Longview and Corsicana. Dense fog formed along the middle Texas coast from Brazoria County to around Victoria.

But visibilities were greater than five miles at Tyler and Corsicana and three-quarters of a mile in Longview.

Early-morning lows ranged from the 40s to the 70s in South Texas.

It was 39 degrees at Dalhart and Marfa, 49 at Junction, 52 at Longview, 57 at Dryden, 61 at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport and 70 at McAllen.

Winds were mostly easterly and northeasterly at less than 10 mph.

It should be clear and dry across most of the state through Sunday with afternoon highs in the mid-70s along the upper Texas coast, upper 70s elsewhere and some readings near 90 along the Big Bend of the Rio Grande.

Overnight lows should be in the lower 40s to the lower 50s, except for upper 30s in the Guadalupe Mountains.

A slight chance for showers and thunderstorms was predicted across deep South Texas.

JESUS CHRIST, THE SAME YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND FOREVER

HEBREWS 13:8

Free will isn't always good will

There is a short story, "Popular Mechanics," by Raymond Carver which rehashes the Solomonic question of what happens to a child when two adults want to possess the same baby.

In the Biblical version, two women claimed a baby as their own and Solomon advised them to slice the baby in two parts so each could be satisfied.

Of course, the real mother abandoned her claim to the child so his life might be spared thus revealing to whom the baby belonged. A mother's love triumphed.

In Carver's story, a young couple quarrels. The husband throws things into a suitcase while his wife tells him how glad she is that he is leaving. Each wants to keep their baby. They tussle over the child and pull him in half.

Carver ends the story, "Thus the issue was decided."

After reading the story, a student responded that Carver's ending could never occur and expressed his belief that God would not let anything happen to the baby and that the quarreling couple would soon reconcile and live happily ever after.

Doesn't this young man read the news?

Bad things, hurtful and unfair things happen to babies all the time. Not just babies, but old people and healthy people and random people. They get treated shabbily, they contract dire diseases, they are hit by stray bullets. Of course, God lets bad things happen to people.

Isn't that a question for the ages, where is God before - not when-tragedy strikes? What kind of God lets little people get pulled in half by their selfish parents? The same God who lets children live in filthy closets, nearly starved and regularly beaten until some sort of rescue occurs and we all watch the horror on the evening news.

While inside we rail against the injustice of evil, it can't be unilaterally halted. Evil will crop up unexpectedly, it will shock, it will cause the world's chaos because God doesn't not run the world on automatic pilot with robotic creatures instinctively being good and doing well. Instead, when God gave man free will, He shared the power to determine how the world will run. Thus our earthly ball wobbles along with people choosing and acting and reacting and inconsistently listening to the God who wants to woo them into relationship with Him.

Young man, bad things do happen to good babies. Faith in God's goodness is not a ticket to living happily ever after. Instead it is unblinkingly aware of the havoc created by free will while concurrently believing God means well for us in cooperation with Him.

The church cordially invites all to attend this special event. For more information, contact Mary Shennum at (806) 352-1210.

Baptists reject dictum of wifely submission

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Texas' Southern Baptists on Tuesday repudiated the denomination's call for women to "submit graciously" to their husbands.

The Baptist General Convention of Texas is the largest state organization (2.7 million members) within the nation's 15.7 million-member Southern Baptist Convention and sends it millions of dollars each year. But the state organization is more moderate than the national one.

It is the first state affiliate of the Southern Baptist Convention to reject the "submit graciously" stance.

"The Bible doesn't teach that the husband is the general and the wife is a private, but yet that's how it gets interpreted," said the Rev. Charles Wade, the executive director of the Texas group.

All but a couple dozen among about 2,200 delegates to the Texas group's annual meeting voted in favor of affirming the Baptist Faith and Message Statement of 1963 — without an amendment added in 1998.

Supporters of the amendment say it is based on Scripture, and some national Southern Baptist leaders sharply criticized Tuesday's decision.

"Now it is up to the churches to decide with whom they agree — with a liberal, culturally acceptable view of family and church, or with a Christ-honoring, Bible-believing perspective," Paige Patterson, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, said in a statement from his offices in Nashville, Tenn.

During a brief debate on the proposal, only two representatives spoke in favor of following the national group's lead.

Old-fashioned church bazaar Saturday

The old-fashioned tradition of an annual church bazaar continues Saturday, Nov. 13, at First Christian Church, 1633 N. Nelson, in Pampa. This year's bazaar, sponsored by the Christian Women's Fellowship, will open to the public at 8 a.m., Nov. 13, in the church's fellowship hall and will continue until 3 p.m.

Early risers will find fresh coffee and cinnamon rolls baked by the Men's Breakfast Ministry as soon as the doors open. Beginning at 11:30 a.m., homemade chili or stew will be available for lunch. Included in the lunch is fresh baked cornbread, homemade pie, tea or coffee. Carry-out plates are also available.

A country kitchen will be stocked with homemade breads, cakes, candy, pies, jellies, jams, preserves and cookies. Many handsewn items and artwork will be on display. Wood crafts of all kinds can be found on the "men's table." Each year the Boy Scouts have pecans available for sell, also.

Again this year, a giant garage sale will be taking place in the church's family life center, across the parking lot from the fellowship hall.

Proceeds from the bazaar and garage sale are used by the Christian Women's Fellowship for their outreach program and for special projects within the church.

Judge issues restraining order

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A federal judge has issued a temporary restraining order against two longtime critics of the Mormon church who had been distributing portions of a church handbook.

The Mormon church claims Jerald and Sandra Tanner violated copyright law by posting portions of the document on their Internet site.

The Tanners run Utah Lighthouse Ministry in Salt Lake City, a nonprofit organization offering books, a newsletter and a Web site that dispute teachings and practices of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Frank Talk Should End Free Ride for Freeloading Friend

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised at your response to "Used in the Northwest," whose college friend and family visited without offering to defray expenses. Your response, to charge $60 a day, seemed harsh. "Used" may lose a friend.

I would suggest a few alternatives:

1. "Used" and her family could reciprocate by visiting her college friend's family;

2. "Used" could suggest that the two families meet someplace where each would pay their own way;

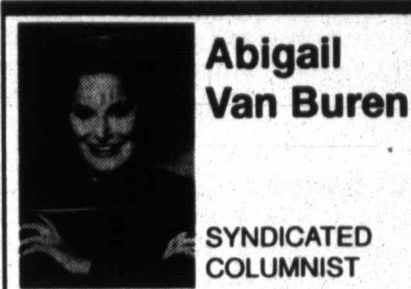

3. "Used" could level with her friend, saying that the visits had become a financial strain, but that the visits might continue if they could agree on how to resolve this.

PHYLLIS STAHL,
COLUMBUS, IND.

DEAR PHYLLIS: Your suggestions are good ones. However, "Used" stated that after 15 years, she and her husband felt taken advantage of, that the visits were no longer enjoyable, and she and her husband had dropped countless "hints" that were ignored. Therefore, I concluded that her college chum had the hide of a rhino and knew full well that she was taking advantage.

You are not the only reader who felt that my answer was too harsh. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Your suggestion that "Used" charge her friend $60 a day to "cover the cost of feeding them, the additional water, electricity and telephone charges" is guaranteed to cost her the relationship with her friend. I'm from the Southwest, and such a demand would be considered extremely rude.

Abigail Van Buren

Why didn't you suggest that "Used" simply talk to her friend? She could inform her that the annual visit makes it difficult for her family to maintain their somewhat strained weekly budget. She could suggest that, perhaps, they go grocery shopping together and then simply ask her friend to pay for part. If they run out of milk or need a video, she could ask her friend to go to the store for it. By being upfront with her friend, she may appear to be struggling financially, but her friend should appreciate her honesty. Following your advice, she will appear rude and cheap.

USED TO SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY

DEAR USED TO SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY: Please re-read my answer to Phyllis (see

DEAR ABBY: After 15 years of silently taking the abuse from her visitors, the chances of "Used" being able to say that she is going to charge them is slim to none. I suggest she send the following note to her friend:

"Dear Jane and Family: We're delighted to hear that you and your family are once again going to be in our area. As you know, our little home gets really crowded and uncomfortable with so many of us under one roof. But I'm delighted to tell you that I have found a delightful motel close by that is very reasonable and comfortable. It is the Cozy Inn on Main Street.

"We know that you'll find it to be the best place in town for only $60 a night for you and your family. Since it's so close, we'll be able to spend all the time together that you're able to give us. Looking forward to seeing you again."

JOANN MABEL,
BROOKLYN CENTER, MINN.

DEAR JOANN: I like your style. You have a deft touch.

Abby shares her favorite recipes in two booklets: "Abby's Favorite Recipes" and "Abby's More Favorite Recipes." To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 per booklet ($4.50 each in Canada) to: Dear Abby Cookbooklets I and II, P.O. BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Deal with an important friendship today, even though it might not be quite comfortable. A buddy may be ever so flaky or given to artistic whims. Allow your imagination to explore what it might be like to live his life. Join another in a favorite pastime. You might like what you find. Tonight: Smiling away.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Accept what is happening. A boss or parent could be most demanding. He might not have a concept of your needs and wants. Decide to just go along for the ride — you might like what you find out. Be more nurturing. Tonight: Get a head start on tomorrow.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Get an early start on the day — there's a lot to do! Invite a special friend along. You see life with renewed vitality. In congenial company, you loosen up. A romance could begin, if you are single and free. If attached, you bond more closely in a different atmosphere. Tonight: Come home when you want.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Build on a friendship; establish greater closeness. If single, you could have strong feelings about one particular person in your life. If attached, your feelings are heightened. Feel free to share more of yourself. Get down to basics in a discussion. Tonight: Turn down the heat!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Let go of preconceived notions; you will discover soon (if you haven't already) that they don't work. Another seems totally different than what you had thought. Are you being realistic? Speak your mind; share what you feel. Tonight: With a favorite partner, do the town!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Slow down a little and get into a comfortable, relaxed pace. Another could test your patience. Enjoy a relaxing sport, even if that means soaking in a hot tub or bubble bath! Spend some money on making your life's work better. Tonight: Make it easy and take it easy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

You might not be seeing another realistically. Do some firm thinking. Don't throw caution to the wind; otherwise, you might have a problem to contend with. Be gentle with a child who might be creative but irresponsible. Tonight: Enjoying the moment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

Build on established ground. Don't kid yourself about a loved one — he isn't what you think he is. Be more imaginative at home and in your domestic life. For a while, lose the word "impossible" from your vocabulary. Tonight: Do something for yourself at or close to home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Your ability to sense what is going on with others is heightened. Don't underestimate your abilities. Kindness toward a friend comes back in a big way. You can trust this person to make the right decision for you. Tonight: At a favorite restaurant, with good music.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

You could be deceiving yourself about a money matter, which you believe you have under control. There is more going on here than you realize. Ask a parent or trusted advisor for feedback. You gain from his wisdom. Tonight: Your treat.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

You beam in what you want, but if you are vague about what that is, it could be more trouble than before you got it! Someone at a distance expresses his caring. Make that extra effort. Consider taking a trip. You could receive a jolt from a family member. Tonight: Yours for the taking!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Listen to your sixth sense. You might need to pull back and not take action. Another clearly doesn't realize what is needed here to make a personal situation work. Caring discussions blaze a path to a warmer, better relationship. Tonight: Take the night off from the world!

PAMPA — Pampa Kids and Youth Club is having basketball signups today and Saturday at The Donut Shop, located at 1328 N. Hobart. Signup times are from 6 to 8:30 tonight and from 2 to 6 Saturday.

No tryouts will be required in order to play. A $20 fee is requested but a $5.00 scholarship will be available.

The is the third year the club is offering a basketball program for both boys and girls in kindergarten through the 12th grade.

Call Rusty Gallagher at 669-7179 for more information.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Normally, Houston might not like their chances of clinching their first winning season since 1996 against LSU. This year, the Cougars probably hit Tiger Stadium feeling pretty cocky.

"They're probably looking at all the problems we've had and thinking they're in good shape," said LSU receiver Jerel Myers. "We've given a lot of people reason to look down on us."

LSU (2-7) has lost seven straight against Southeastern Conference foes — two months that have insured the Tigers' second straight losing season and been coupled with arrests, allegations of improper contact with agents.

BOXING

LAS VEGAS (AP) — When Lennox Lewis and Evander Holyfield first met eight months ago, the boxing world anticipated a classic matchup that would finally produce an undisputed heavyweight champion.

That didn't happen, of course, when questionable judging allowed Holyfield to walk out of the ring at Madison Square Garden with a draw and his two portions of the heavyweight title.

The undisputed title will be up for grabs once again Saturday night when the two meet in a rematch. This time, though, boxing's credibility will also be at stake.

"Boxing definitely needs something," Holyfield said. "This will be a performance that may make everybody forget everything that's happened in the last year."

GOLF

TA SHEE, Taiwan (AP) — Tiger Woods struggled with his short game today, bogeying three holes, as Ernie Els and Michael Campbell shared the lead midway through the Johnnie Walker Classic.

The South African Els had a 67, while Campbell of New Zealand shot a 71 to finish tied at 7-under par 137 after the second round at the Ta Shee Golf and Country Club in northern Taiwan.

Woods finished with an even par 72 and was three strokes behind the leaders.

"I held it together but was struggling with the putter and did well to fight back to even for the day," said Woods, coming off a record-tying four consecutive tournament wins and eight victories in his last 11 appearances.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Ticket prices are changing at The Ballpark in Arlington for the first time since the stadium opened in 1994.

The Texas Rangers, who announced the "changes Thursday, will offer season ticket renewals for 25,457 seats at lower costs than in 1999.

The renewal ticket prices for about 19,000 seats will remain the same while prices for about 3,000 others will increase.

Season ticket prices range from a high of $60 per game for VIP infield seats to $3 per game in the grandstand.

For individual games, ticket prices will range from $37.50 to $5.

Pampa, Frenship meet for 4A bi-district title

PAMPA — Pampa clashes with Frenship at 7:30 tonight in a Class 4A bi-district game at Harvester Field. The Harvesters finished the regular season with a 5-5 record while the Tigers are 6-4 for the season.

With a more experienced team, Frenship will be out to avenge last year's 21-14 loss to Pampa in the bi-district round.

The Tigers pack quite an offensive punch both through the air and on the ground. Trace Vineyard, a returning starter at quarterback, has thrown for 1,306 yards and 17 touchdowns. Jorge Hernandez is another returning starter at the tailback position. Hernandez leads Tiger rushers with 1,129 yards and 10 touchdowns.

The leading receiver for Frenship is Bryan Moore with 24 receptions for 294 yards and 3 touchdowns.

Pampa will counter with an aggressive defense led by middle linebacker Jason Burklow and safety Orlando Madrid. Burklow finished as District 3-4A's second-leading tackler with 112 while Madrid collected 92 stops. Outside linebacker Nathan Arnn goes into the playoffs with 80 tackles. Nose tackle Tyson Curtis leads the Harvester linemen with 67 tackles. Cornerback J.J. Roark has 4 interceptions to go with 43 tackles.

Pampa's offense has been able to pile up the yardage, but points have been hard to come by.

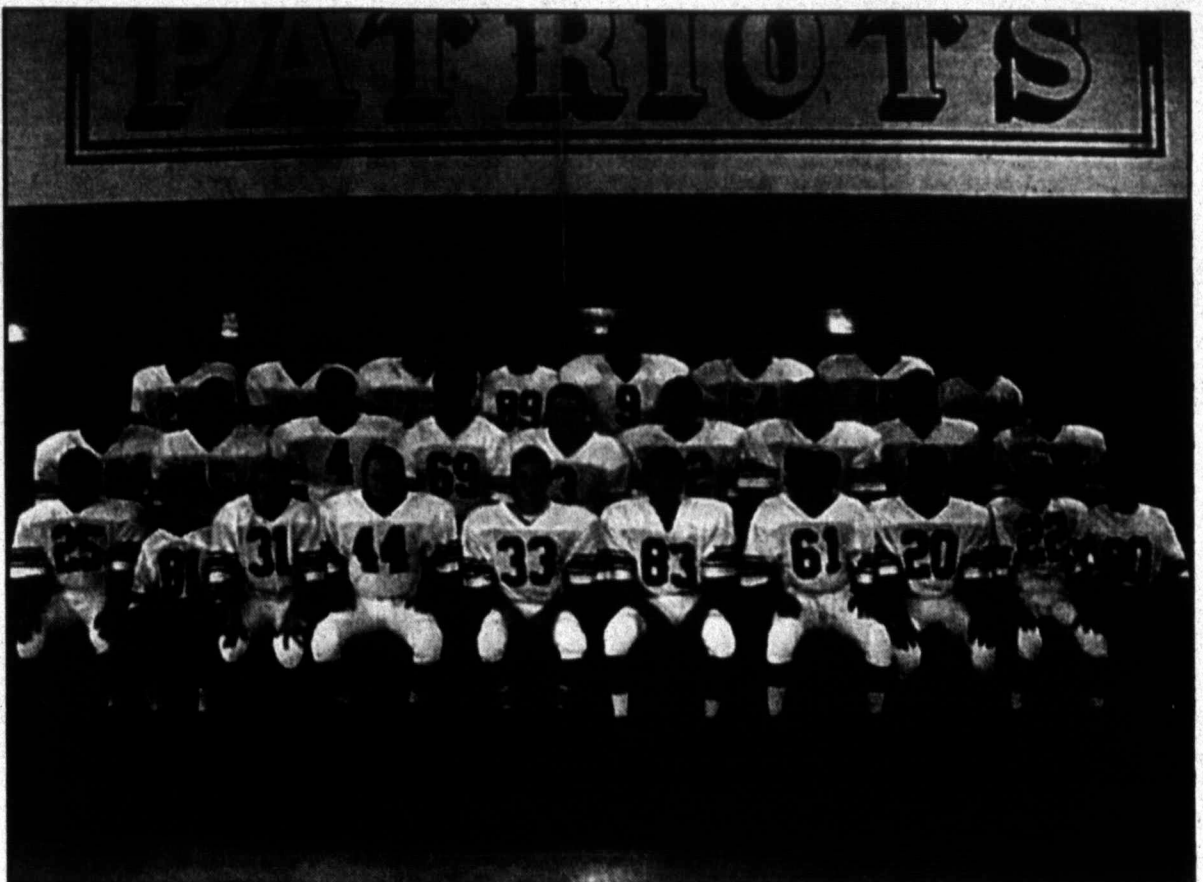

Quarterback Kaleb Snelgrooves broke the 1,000-yard mark (1,046 yards) for the season in Pampa's 21-7 loss to Borger last week. He's had 2 touchdown passes. Fullback Thomas Long out the backfield has snared 19 passes for 197 yards while tight end Justin Barnes has caught 18 passes for 284 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Barnes is also a scoring threat with his kicking accuracy. He finished the regular season as the district's second-leading kick scorer with 35 points.

Long and tailback Terrance Lemons are both capable of game-breaking runs. Long has rushed for 784 yards and 5 touchdowns while Lemons had 471 yards and 3 touchdowns.

The winner of tonight's contest goes against either San Elizario or El Paso Riverside in the area round.

Williams wins AL manager award

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Williams is a lot better at managing than he is at talking about what he does.

"I just try to listen to our kids, not talk at them or to them," he said Thursday after winning the American League Manager of the Year award for leading the Boston Red Sox into the playoffs.

"It's a two-way conversation. I let my eyes evaluate what I see."

Despite the loss of Mo Vaughn, Williams led Boston to the AL wild-card berth. For that, he received 20 of 28 first-place votes and five seconds for 115 points from the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

"As far as I'm concerned, this is a team award," Williams said. "It's pretty special."

Oakland's Art Howe was second for keeping the Athletics in contention until September despite a $25.2 million payroll, 24th among the 30 major league teams. He got five firsts, 19 seconds and three thirds for 85 points.

Texas battles Tech for Big 12 South crown

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Tech has been a mystery all season. Good one week, bad the next.

The question facing the No. 10 Texas Longhorns: Which Red Raiders team will play Saturday when the schools battle for the Big 12 South division title and a berth in the conference championship game?

Will Tech (5-4, 4-2 Big 12) bring the team that lost at home to North Texas and prompted calls for coach Spike Dykes' dismissal? Or the team that dumped Texas A&M and Colorado and could claim the division title with consecutive wins over Texas and Oklahoma?

The Longhorns (8-2, 5-1 Big 12) clinch at least a share of the division title and a spot in the Dec. 4 championship game with a victory.

"They might be Jekyll sometimes, but they're Hyde when it comes to The University of Texas," said Texas coach Mack Brown. "We won't watch the films where they played poorly because we won't see those guys this weekend."

What Texas will see is a team that has morphed week to week from a portrait of desperation to potential conference champs.

The Jekyll-and-Hyde personality started in the first game, when Heisman Trophy hopeful tailback Ricky Williams was lost for the season with a leg injury. It's been tailback by committee ever since with freshman Shaud Williams emerging lately as a budding star.

Williams, whom Brown tried hard to recruit to Texas, leads the Red Raiders with 645 yards rushing and a stout 6.1 yards per carry.

"A lot of people thought they were in bad trouble, but Shaud Williams, we knew, was one of the best (high school) players in the country last year," Brown said.

"Spike does the best job of acting like he doesn't have any talent, but they're all big and fast."

Dykes was at it again this week.

"I know our odds aren't very good, according to the experts," Dykes said. "But we're just going to go play and see what happens. Hopefully, we'll go out and play like gangbusters."

"I'm telling you, this is a really good Texas football team. I can't see where they are weak. They are ranked 10th, but I'm convinced that is at least five spots too low."

The favored Longhorns were supposed to win last year in Lubbock. The defeat knocked Texas out of contention for the Big 12 title.

Tech (5-4, 4-2) has won two straight over Texas.

"We're just going to go in there and play our hearts out," said Tech quarterback Rob Peters, who passed for 322 yards and two touchdowns against the Longhorns last year.

Staubach expects Aikman to return despite concussion

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Although Roger Staubach left the Dallas Cowboys to avoid suffering any more blows to his head, he doesn't believe Troy Aikman should retire after two concussions in eight days.

"Someone didn't tell me to retire," the Hall of Fame quarterback said Thursday. "I wanted to remember why I retired. I was 38. If I was 33, I wouldn't have retired."

Aikman, who turns 33 a week from Sunday, will miss a game because of a concussion for the first time in his career Sunday when Dallas plays Green Bay. Aikman has had seven concussions in his 11-year career.

With three Super Bowl victories, tens of millions of dollars in the bank and a wedding just months away, a case could be made for Aikman to walk away from football while he still can.

Staubach said the only way he could imagine Aikman even thinking about retiring would be if doctors say he should.

"Some people don't realize how intense Troy is," Staubach said. "He's got Michael Jordan's mentality on winning. Backing away is not going to be easy."

"Besides, he's still playing great. I think he has another Super Bowl or two in him."

Staubach was still playing well in his last year, 1979, but he was concerned by the number of concussions he'd suffered over 11 seasons. With backup Danny White capable of replacing him, Staubach did what he thought was best.

"I had one doctor who said I should and one who said there was no medical reason why I should. But I felt it was time," said Staubach, who led Dallas to four Super Bowls, winning two.

Cowboys camp could move to Rio Grande Valley

McAlLEN, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys would receive more than $1 million from two South Texas cities and a county to locate their training camp in the Rio Grande Valley for three years, according to a published report today.

The (McAllen) Monitor obtained a copy of a letter of intent involving the cities of McAllen and Mission, Hidalgo County, the Rio Grande Valley Regional Sports Authority and the Cowboys.

Under it, the team would get $350,000 per year plus perks like expensive office equipment, laundry service and snacks provided to the players each evening, according to the newspaper.

The Valley would also get to hold a new golf tournament during training camp, team owner Jerry Jones would have to visit the Valley for a speaking engagement once a year and the team would have to make VIP passes and game tickets available to the groups making the annual payments.

Officials say the four Valley entities are in the process of approving the letter of intent.

Sports Authority Chairman Randy Whittington said the agency approved the arrangement Wednesday afternoon.

The newspaper reported that Mission and McAllen will have it on their city agendas Monday and on Nov. 22, respectively.

Hidalgo County Judge Eloy Pulido said he does not expect any problems when county commissioners meet Tuesday to vote on the issue.

He said the county, which cannot pay money to a for-profit organization, will have to employ a barter system with the city of McAllen.

The barter deal will involve paying some McAllen streets by the county, Pulido said. He said the paving deal was in the works before the deal was negotiated with the Cowboys.

The training camp would be located on the Shary Plantation at Mission.

Texas roundup

Prosecutors to introduce blood evidence

JASPER, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors plan to introduce blood evidence today which will show a third white man charged with the beating and dragging death of a black East Texas man was not just the frightened bystander he claims he was.

Blood found on Shawn Allen Berry's shirt, pants and boots place the 24-year-old former movie theater manager at the remote logging road where James Byrd Jr. was beaten and chained to Berry's truck.

Berry's lawyer contends the presence of Byrd's blood on the clothes only proves what his client already has admitted — that he was there, too frightened to stop Byrd's beating and killing at the hands of the two men already convicted and sentenced to die for the crime.

"There are all kinds of different ways that blood could have gotten on there," said Berry's attorney, Joseph C. "Lum" Hawthorn. "We don't know exactly which one of the ways it is, but there are a number of other ways it could have gotten on there other than from a beating."

In Berry's case, prosecutors acknowledge they lack the clear motive they had in the previous two cases — racist hate.

The other two defendants, 25-year-old John William King and 32-year-old Lawrence Russell Brewer were both members of a white supremacist prison gang, with extensive racist tattoos and writings to prove it. Berry has none.

Texas governor cites Mexico in policy resume

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. George W. Bush points to Texas' relations with Mexico as evidence that he has the international experience needed to become president.

Dogged about his foreign policy know-how throughout the Republican presidential campaign, the two-term governor defended himself this week.

"There's a foreign policy component to being governor of Texas, and that's dealing with Mexico, South America and Central America," he said in New Hampshire.

Governor since 1995, Bush has made numerous trips to Mexico, befriended its leaders and those of other Latin American countries, supported the North American Free Trade Agreement and split sharply with some fellow Republicans on illegal immigration.

And both Bush, the front-runner for the GOP presidential nomination, and his state have reaped political and economic rewards from the ties to Mexico, experts say.

"He truly knows the relevance of Mexico to Texas and to the U.S. at large. This is a break from the past and from many other politicians in the U.S.," said Jorge Gonzalez, an associate professor of economics at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Bush campaign spokesman Scott McClellan said Bush has met with Mexican President Ernesto Zedillo at least five times and has sought to develop personal relationships with officials there and in other Latin American nations.

Warm, wacky weather helping farmers, hurting ranchers

UNDATED — For Texas agriculture, unseasonably warm temperatures and a lack of rainfall are both a blessing and a curse.

The mild fall weather will mean fresh tomatoes, peppers and other warm-season vegetables for dinner tables at Thanksgiving — perhaps even Christmas.

But ranchers who have planted winter rye and oats as forage for livestock are watching as seedlings fail to germinate. Drought conditions have returned to most of Texas for the third time in the past four years.

For some Texans sweating in near-record temperatures, the state is poised for the warmest November in history.

At Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, daily temperatures have averaged 63.6 degrees — 7.4 degrees above normal — in a month when the record average reading of 63.2 degrees was set in 1909.

Once again, blame it on La

Nina — the global climactic phenomenon that's cooling eastern Pacific waters and sending their moisture farther north, leaving the Southwest and southern states drier than normal in a summer-like weather pattern.

Bush has the generals, McCain has the foot soldiers

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Both George W. Bush and John McCain have former New Hampshire governors working for their campaigns, but that's where the similarities end.

Walter Peterson, governor from 1969 to 1973, recently was named McCain's honorary state chairman and largely has remained on the fringes of the day-to-day operations.

By contrast, Sen. Judd Gregg, governor from 1989-1993, joined Bush's campaign in April and has shadowed Bush's every move here ever since.

Their roles illustrate a key difference between the two organizations as the nation's earliest presidential primary approaches: Bush's campaign draws strength from big-name backers; McCain relies on depth at the grassroots level.

But with recent polls showing McCain, an Arizona senator and Vietnam War hero, gaining on Bush in New Hampshire and another suggesting that voters think the Texas governor is neglecting the state, there are signs that Bush's strategy could be shifting.

In town Wednesday to make his candidacy for the Feb. 1 New Hampshire primary official, Bush promised to visit more often.

Tulsa woman expresses grief to Byrd family

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Words could not express what Lahoma Smith Allen felt after hearing about the dragging death of a black East Texas man. So she turned to cloth and stitching and patched her feelings together.

More than a year later, the retired art teacher is finally ready to express her sympathy to the family of James Byrd Jr.

She has sent them a patchwork quilt, bordered in black and gold and spangled with stars and African symbols, to honor his life.

"The year I spent thinking about this quilt and the two and a half months I spent making it is nothing — nothing — compared to the impact of this deed on humanity," Ms. Allen said.

She was horrified after hearing how Byrd was beaten, chained and dragged behind a pickup truck over three miles of bumpy country road in Jasper, Texas, last summer.

Two men who wear white-supremacist tattoos have been sentenced to death for the murder of 49-year-old Byrd. The trial of a third man, Shawn Allen Berry is ongoing and the state may wrap up its case today.

Restored depot brings back memories for railroad retirees

MARSHALL, Texas (AP) — Seventy years ago, Luther Weber followed the call that woke him each morning and lulled him to sleep each night — the sound of a steam engine chugging through this far East Texas town.

The Texas and Pacific Railroad Co. was promising a college education for young men who toiled in the massive shops where the great locomotives were built and repaired.

At age 16, Weber was eager for quick money and a little adventure.

"That fall the stock market crashed," Weber said. "I never got away from the railroad."

And the railroad has never been far from the 87-year-old's heart. He retired as a mechanical supervisor after 46 years in what he calls a "rough and tumble occupation."

"It was always said that the railroad made this town," he said.

Election 2000 poll results

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political climate entering the 2000 election season is more favorable for Democrats, but a poll suggests that advantage may be of more benefit in the races for Congress than for the White House.

"The Democratic Party is in very good shape," said Andrew Kohut, director of the Pew Research Center for the People & the Press. "But its chances to win the White House are once again bedeviled by social conservatives, the so-called Reagan Democrats, who have played a role in every Democratic presidential defeat since 1968."
