By Tom Jay Goss II

Jon Millington brought a photograph into the RECORD office this week. It depicts eight men and a white dog near a tent. The background has completely faded and might be anywhere from Omar the tent maker's factory to Sin City, USA.

At the bottom of the print, scrawled in crude letters are the words, "Ranger Camp Near Colorado". At the top in neat Spencerian lettering are the words, "Texas Ranger Camp, 1880-1883, near Colorado, Texas - on Lone Wolf Creek".

If indeed, the picture was that of the Lone Wolf camp, I can tell you where it was. It is at the east end of Sixth Street, where 6th drops off into the bed of Lone Wolf Creek.

The city has recently extended Sixth street completely to the creek bank, and has been pushing discarded building materials (such as chunks of concrete) over the edge. You can drive to the spot. Not too far or The Blue Knight will have to get you out.

In 1880, the Texas Rangers made regular excursions through the area, keeping a watchful eye on bad men and Indians. Of which, at that point in time, there were more of the former than the latter. The Rangers camped along the streams in the area and gave Sweetwater Creek its name. "Why, this is sweet water," exclaimed one Ranger. We don't know who gave Lone Wolf Creek its name. We wish we did. It may have been named after legendary Kiowa Chief Lone Wolf, who did pass through the county.

The late J. Lee Jones devoted considerable time and research into proving that Kiowa Chief Lone Wolf was in the county in or around 1880 or thereabouts.

An interesting thing about the Lone Wolf campsite is that a couple lived on the East bank of the creek, about 300 yards away. There may still be an iron pipe sticking out of the ground where the home used to be. It is about a five or six inch well pipe. Legend has it that the old couple are buried nearby. Two tall pecans grow in the ravine nearby. The pecans are at least sixty years old and may be more than a hundred.

Further to the south (possibly two hundred yards) are the ruins of an old home. This home burned about sixty-five years ago. It was Les Terry's old home.

All of this territory, by the way is now part of Ruddick Park.

The sign in the yard has been replaced by one over the carport. Otherwise Nanny's house looks the same.

Mothers and fathers who are sometimes children themselves, leave their kids with Nanny. Have been for years.

I wish we'd been different in the late sixties, but we weren't. Like so many others, we were two children trying to raise a child in a marriage that wasn't about to work.

That Nanny thought, and because of it our daughter got a better start in life than she should have.

I'd taken a bittersweet journey around some old neighborhoods while waiting to meet an old friend.

The same blue '69 Chevrolet Biscayne was parked in the driveway. Nanny's husband, J. B., a kind but frugal man, had purchased the car shortly before his death.

He had circulatory problems in his legs but appeared to be in good health. Not good enough to hold down a regular job, but good enough to help Nanny with the children and to cook a huge container of soup every morning.

But then he died suddenly and Nanny was forced to learn to drive a car. I'd almost bet that Biscayne still has less than 40,000 miles on it.

Neither Nanny or J. B. ever preached, or lectured to the children. They trained quietly, providing a library of books and games.

Every morning, a row of little red chairs made a semi-circle around the television. Captain Kangaroo would do his teaching from the other side of the screen while the kids sipped on Vitamin C.

Nanny and J. B. watched the kids intake of sugar, made sure they got in their naps and watched them intently while they played on the rides in the back yard.

If an extra hug was needed, Nanny provided it. She mended small wounds, too - both external and internal.

Sometimes the parents didn't arrive on time to pick up the kids. Nanny had a right to be angry, but if she was, she hid it well, never failing to consider the little ones.

You hear horror stories about daycare centers, and no one can be too careful in selecting one.

Child parents don't screen much of anything, though. To find Nanny we drove around the block and saw the little sign in the yard. We were lucky.

It's not that young parents don't care. But sometimes they don't think and small children invariably have to pick up the tab.

At any rate, I sat in my car on this day in front of the nursery. I was going to show Nanny a picture of a 21-year-old girl she'd helped me to raise 16 years earlier.

There were no pictures, though.

I'd taken them out of my billfold, along with several other items, six weeks earlier when I went to Mexico City. Since then, I'd been preoccupied with less important things and hadn't put them back.

It doesn't take much to make a parent feel guilty and that's probably a good thing. I knew Nanny would want to see a picture, and I'd have to confess I didn't have one. I'd feel like a lousy father.

So I drove away.

A few days later I saw my daughter in Dallas. We got to talking and she brought up Nanny. I told her I'd been on a trip and had gone by her house just a few days before. "You should have stopped and talked to her," she said.

"Maybe next time!" I told her.

When you get right down to it, I suppose I wanted Nanny to see my grown up daughter's grown up father, too.

Perhaps, with a little more time and shame...

Motorists alertness urged

It is nearly back-to-school time, and those big yellow school buses will soon be taking to the streets and highways once again.

With the increase in the number of vehicles on our highways, it is more important than ever that motorists be alert for the return of the school buses. Motorists have had a summer vacation of sorts, too, and are not accustomed to seeing the school buses pulling onto the highways or stopping to let schoolchildren on and off.

State law requires drivers to stop when meeting or overtaking a school bus from either direction, on highways not separated by a median, when the school bus has stopped and is displaying a visual signal. The driver shall not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or the bus driver signals to proceed. This does not apply when the driver and the school bus are on separate roadways and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadways.

In an effort to increase school bus safety, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation sponsors special schools for bus drivers and even for student riders. A typical region trains upward of 215 drivers in safe bus driving operations each year.

"RIGGER'S"

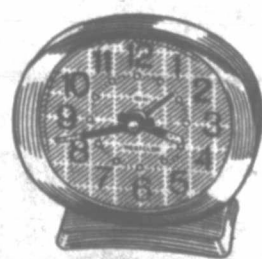

One day several years ago my wife and I were visiting with our friends Curtis and Rhea McCartney when Rhea used an expression that was new to me some unpleasant event that I no longer remember had happened that day and Rhea said that she had nearly had a "rigger." I suppose that she really said "rigger" but I heard it that day as "rigger" and so it is to this day, I always wanted to see a "rigger." When my daughter was about 5 I saw a really good temper tantrum. I saw my wife have a terrific fit when the dog ate the curtains. In fact, it was almost a wall-eyed fit. One of my teen-age patients told me that her mother was going to have a cow because she lost another contact lens. Although I didn't actually see the event I had no reason to doubt the young lady. But I never did get to see a "rigger" until this summer. Seems that one of my patients was all packed for a wonderful vacation and while she was totin' her 5 pairs of shoes, 7 dresses, 6 pants, 12 blouses, 2 purses and 3 swimsuits to the car she dropped and stepped on her ONE pair of glasses. She had a "rigger." So, if you really, really, really depend on your glasses or contact lenses don't you think a wise investment would be a back-up pair? It might save your entire family from fits, tantrums, cows and especially - "riggers."

TESCO may pay refunds

Texas Utilities Electric Company Friday filed its application with the Public Utility Commission asking authorization to refund to its customers about $64.8 million that has been saved because of lowered fuel-costs. The PUC is being asked to authorize the refund at the earliest possible date, which probably would be in October, through a credit to customers' bills. Under the company's proposal, the residential customer with an average October usage of 1,000 kilowatt-hours would receive a refund of about $10.50.

Clothes "budget stretching" tips help parents

COLLEGE STATION—For many Texas families the economic downturn means beginning a new school year with less money to outfit the kids. But a number of alternatives are there for stretching the family's back-to-school clothes budget, says clothing specialist

Alma Fonseca. Start by going through the childrens' clothes to see what is worn out, what is outgrown and what can be "restyled," advises the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist. A clothing exchange with relatives, friends and neighbors can help everyone get more wear out of outgrown, but not outworn, childrens' clothing, she says. Garage sales and re-sale shops are also a source of inexpensive clothing in good condition. If you have the time and sewing skills, try altering some dressess, jumpers and other items, suggests Fonseca. Look for deep hems in skirts, pants and sleeves that can be lengthened. Decorative stitching, trim, or a fabric insert will hide marks from the old hem. Tucks in bodices, skirts, pant legs and sleeves may also be released to add length.

"When you shop for school clothing, look for durable clothing that can "grow" with the child throughout the school year," says the specialist. She points out that discount and outlet stores carry less-expensive clothing, but it may also be less durable.

Before buying, inspect clothes for wide seams that won't ravel or pull out, and on knits, narrow seams that are stitched and overcast. Double stitched seams or tape inserted in seams that receive the most stress, such as pants crotch or armhole seams is another sign of durability.

If the style, fabric, fit and price are right, you can always add needed reinforcements on your home sewing machine to make less durable clothing last longer.

"When you shop for new clothing, keep in mind the specific features that will allow for the child's growth," advises the specialist. Some of these features include deep hems, adjustable straps and waistbands, raglan sleeves, and stretchy fabrics.

Two piece clothes usually provide more room for growth than one piece items, and dresses without a definite waistline can be worn longer than those with fitted waists, Fonseca adds.

"In general, you'll do best to spend the most money on those clothes that are worn most often, receive the hardest wear and are laundered frequently," the clothing specialist says.

MATHEMATICS

RULES FOR MULTIPLYING AND DIVIDING SIGNED NUMBERS AND TERMS.

- Like signs multiplied or divided have positive answers
a) $-6 \times \text{times} -2 = +12$
b) $-15 \times \text{divided by} -3 = -15 \div -3 = +5$
- Unlike signs multiplied or divided have negative answers
a) $-6 \times \text{times} +3 = -18$
b) $+9 \div \text{divided by} -3 = +9 \div -3 = -3$

PROBLEMS

- $1-7 \times +3 =$
 $2 + 81 \div -9 =$
 $3 -4 \times -7 =$
 $4 100 \div -25 =$
 $5 -3(6) =$
6. Are both sides of this equation equal in value?
 $-4 \text{ times} -5 = 40 \div (+2)$

COMBINING OF LIKE TERMS

A term is one of the parts of an algebraic expression such as $4x$, $2y$, etc. When solving an equation, combine all like terms. Solve this equation for x

- Combine like terms:
 $3x + 7x = 50$
 $3x + 7x = 50$
 $10x = 50$
- Get the x alone by dividing both sides of the equation by 10.

$$\frac{10x}{10} = \frac{50}{10}$$

$$x = 5$$

PROBLEM 1.

Solve for x , $5x - 2x = 30$

PROBLEM 2.

Solve for b , $2b + 3 = 75$

PARENTHESES

A parenthesis is used to indicate that several items are to be treated as one term. When there is a number in front of a parenthesis it means to multiply everything inside the parenthesis separately by that number. The parenthesis is removed after the multiplication has been completed.

Examples

- $4(3) = 12$
- $2(4a) = 4a$
- $3(4a) = 12a$
- $4(3a + 3b) = 12a + 12b$

Always remove the parenthesis before combining like terms.

Example:

- $5x + 3y + 4(x + 2y)$
 $5x + 3y + 4x + 8y$
 $9x + 11y$

PROBLEM 1.

Remove the parenthesis and combine terms.
 $3(x + 4) = 20$
 $3x + 12 = 20$

SETTING UP NEW EQUATIONS

It is possible now to solve word problems by making an equation, removing parentheses if necessary, combining terms and solving for the unknown. Jerry has 3 times as much money as Pat. Together they have $12.80. How much money does each one have?

THINK:

- How much money does Pat have? (x)
- If Jerry has 3 times that of Pat, Jerry has 3 times x , or $3x$
- Together they have $12.80. That means the amounts have been added.
 $x + 3x = $12.80$
- Combine terms $4x = $12.80$
- Solve for x by dividing both sides of the equation by 4.

$$\frac{4x}{4} = \frac{$12.80}{4}$$

$$x = $3.20$$

6. Pat has $3.20
Jerry has $3 \times $3.20$, or $9.60

PROBLEM 1.

Nancy is 3 years older than Diane. Their ages added together equal 75. How old is each girl?

THINK:

Diane is y
Nancy is $y + 3$

PROBLEM 2.

Dorothy and Jane have $8.40 together. Jane has five times the amount that Dorothy has. How much money does each have?

PROBLEM 3.

I am thinking of a number. Five times the number equals 240. What is the number?

EXPONENTS AND SQUARE ROOTS

An exponent is a small number written at the upper right-hand corner of another number. It is mathematical shorthand to indicate the number of times you have to multiply the number by itself. For example:

$$3^3 = 3 \times 3 \times 3 = 27$$

$$10^4 = 10 \times 10 \times 10 \times 10 = 10,000$$

To square a number you multiply it by itself once. For example: 5 squared (5^2) is 5×5 or 25 and 25 is the perfect square (the square of a whole number).

The sign $\sqrt{\quad}$ indicates the "square root of". To find their square root of a number, find the number that when multiplied by itself gives you the original number. For example:

$$\sqrt{16} = 4 \text{ because } 4^2 = 16$$

$$\sqrt{100} = 10 \text{ because } 10^2 = 100$$

WRITING SKILLS

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES AND ADVERBS

Adjectives and adverbs are often used to compare things with one another.

Add -er or -est to short adjectives and adverbs (one or two syllables) when expressing comparison. Use "more" or "most" with longer adjectives and adverbs (more than two syllables).

Examples:

Her brother is stronger than mine.
Her brother is the strongest in his class.
This exercise is more difficult than the other one.

This exercise is the most difficult of all.
A few adjectives and adverbs use different forms when expressing comparison.

For example:

good (well)	better	best
little	less	least
bad	worse	worst
many	more	most

PROBLEMS

Write the correct form of the adjective or adverb in these sentences.

- (changeable) The weather seems _____ than it seemed yesterday.
- (quick) Lester seems to be the _____ of all the players.
- (fast) Donny is the _____ runner of the two boys.
- (little) Mary has _____ money than Jack.

DOUBLE NEGATIVES

Negative adverbs such as "not," "never," "hardly," and "scarcely," should not be used with other negatives such as "no," "nothing," or "none." It is incorrect to say "We couldn't see nothing." Change this sentence to read either "We could see nothing." or "We couldn't see anything."

PROBLEMS

Change these sentences to read correctly by eliminating one of the negative words.

- We don't have no water pressure.
- I haven't solved none of my problems in today's lessons.
- Don't give me no presents.
- I can't hardly wait for Friday night.
- You never get nothing done.

PREPOSITIONS

A preposition is a word that shows a relationship between a noun and another word in a sentence. "The book is on the table," the word "on" is the preposition. It shows the relationship of the book and the table. A few prepositions are: about, above, among, at, in, on, of, to, by, for, over. Here are a few clues for troublesome prepositions.

- One agrees to a thing and with a person. (We agreed with Fred. We agreed to his suggestion.)
- One may be angry at a thing and with a person. (He is angry at his car and with me.)
- Between refers to two; among refers to more than two. (The money was divided between the two girls. The answers were among the students.)
- Into means an action of entering; in means that the action has stopped. (We went into the building. While in the building, we looked for him.)

- Beside means next to; besides is an adverb and means in addition to.
- One parts from a person and with a thing. (When the little boy parts from his mother, he cannot part with his teddy bear.)

PROBLEMS

Underline each preposition in these sentences.

- Birds, flying toward the Southland, darkened the sky.
- The jury was given instructions by the judge.
- We were surprised by the applause that came from the crowd.
- Mr. Findley was the choice of all of the people in the village.
- Because of the storms, we could not go to camp.
- In the afternoon we all worked in the hospital for several hours.
- Beyond the hills the sun set in a blaze of color.
- He arose at dawn and rang the bell in the tower.
- All of us except Ralph were sent to the old camp in the mountains.
- Explain the operation of this machine to the new men.
- Both of us told our stories to the policeman.
- The old man stood near the door and smiled at the approaching group.

THE EIGHT PARTS OF SPEECH

By Mrs. Carrie Stegall

A noun's the name of anything.
A man, a lake, a thought, a game.

A pronoun only takes noun's place.
As he for man and it for face.

A verb must act or merely be.
As is and are or run and see.

Adjectives paint pronoun and noun.
As "it was short" and "Balls are round."

Adverb paints itself and others:
So fast, not strong, and quietly hovers.

The prepositions now you see
Upon, beyond, around a tree.

Conjunctions join one to some more.
Not girls or boys but house and store.

An interjection may exclaim,
As Ah! in wisdom or Ouch! in pain.

As surely as you learn this rhyme,
The parts of speech will fall in line.

Infant daycare offered

Day care facilities are available for children ages six weeks to five years at the Mitchell County Day Care Center.

Children are divided into groups according to age and there is one adult supervising each class.

Units of special interest are taught, such as farm life, the zoo, food and nutrition, our community, occupations, the family and special holidays.

Field trips are also planned for the children.

The Mitchell County Day Care Center is a state licensed early childhood development day care facility. Because of strict enforcement of state and federal child care licensing guidelines, the number of children per group is limited.

Hours of operation are from 6:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

After school care for 12 school age children in Kelley Elementary (grades kindergarten to second) is also offered. Children are picked up from school and brought to Mitchell County Day Care Center for snacks and supervised play activities.

Location of Mitchell County Day Care Center is in the City

Community Center Building on East 10th Street.

The Mitchell County Day Care Center executive director is Ann Gregory. For more information about the center, call 728-5897. Ida Salazar is program director.

LISD coaches face challenge

With every new school year comes a new story about the coming football season. Loraine High School has given new meaning to that thought with a completely new coaching staff and a drop from class A eleven man football to sixman football.

Tommy Meredith, who joined Loraine High School for the last two months of the past school year, will be the head football coach for the Loraine Bulldogs.

For the past three years Meredith has been an assistant football coach at sixman Dawson at Welch. He was also the head girls coach.

Prior to Dawson he spent four years at sixman Weinert as an assistant football coach and head basketball coach. His last job was a one year stay at Lingleville—some ten miles from Stephenville.

Meredith graduated from Tarleton State University in Stephenville with a masters in education. The Roscoe High School graduate was born in Roscoe January 12, 1949 and says the move from eleven man to six man football left preparations for the new year in limbo during the spring off-season.

"We did not know what Loraine was going to do. We did weights but could not work on much else because we did not know if we were going to be eleven man or six man.

Because of Loraine's late move to the sixman ranks, the Bulldogs had a time of it scheduling games and will not be eligible for a district title the next two seasons.

"We can play some competitive ball and we'll play some pretty good teams. We're still working on the schedule."

"We're looking at some fifteen or sixteen out," said Meredith.

"If they can adjust pretty quick they can be pretty tough. We have a big senior class and some young kids I think that can help us."

Despite the late scheduling Loraine did manage to secure games against nearly all varsity teams including Highland, Paint Rock, Christoval and Richland Springs.

"We have two open dates we need to fill," said Meredith.

The Bulldogs travel to Southland for a scrimmage August 22 and scrimmage Amherst at Southland August 26.

Meredith's assistant will be Jim Nau, who last year was at class A Penelope.

Nau also has sixman coaching experience from jobs at Leuders-Avoca and Talpa-Centennial. The eight year coaching veteran has also coached at El Paso Vilas, where he was a junior high coach, and at Lamesa middle school.

It was the Lamesa connection that gave Nau an opportunity to meet Meredith, who at the time was coaching at nearby Dawson. Nau talked to Meredith at a coaching school.

Nau was born in San Rafael, California April 4, 1949 and attended Petaluma, California high school—graduating in 1968.

His bachelor of science degree awarded by Hardin-Simmons University qualifies him to teach health, physical science, history and speech communication.

"I wanted to coach sixman again," said Nau of his reason to come to Loraine. "I would like to help build the program here and try to develop a winning attitude in the students, both academically and athletically."

The 1976 HSU graduate has a wife Belda, who is from Jim Ned, a three-year-old daughter Stacy and three sons—ten-year-old Scott, seven-year-old Shaun and six-year-old Spencer.

Three new coaches to begin at CISD

Two rookies and a ten year veteran will be the new faces among the Colorado City coaching staff for the 1986-87 Wolves year.

Larry Hudson, whose last high school coaching job was as head coach of the Coahoma Bulldogs, brings his wealth of experience to Colorado High School where he will serve as defensive secondary coach and as a health and physical education teacher.

"I know I'll help with the track program but I don't know how exactly," said coach Hudson.

Hudson, born September 9, 1943 in Stamford, still owns a house in Coahoma and until he finds a buyer he will have to commute to work. For the same reason wife Marsha, sixteen-year-old daughter Marshella and fourteen-year-old son Curtis will remain in Coahoma.

Gina, a nineteen-year-old daughter, will be a student at Angelo State University this fall.

Hudson himself graduated from ASU in 1968 after attending high school at San Angelo Lake View—graduating in 1963.

He returned to Lake View for his first coaching job and stayed for two years, as a football and

Larry Hudson

Shelia Thompson

Edwin Wilson

track coach. From there Hudson went to a one year stint at Texhoma High School in Oklahoma.

A three year head coaching position at Robert Lee followed, then Hudson served as head coach for Medina High School for one year.

For seven years, Hudson was the head track coach at Fort Stockton and an assistant football coach working with the defensive and offensive backs.

At Coahoma, where he stayed for two years, Hudson was head coach then counselor for the Bulldogs. His last job was as a coach at Alamo junior high in the Midland school district.

Asked if he's gotten the Bulldog blood out of himself, Hudson said "Oh yeah".

"My kids will probably catch a lot of flak so the less said about it the better. I'm one hundred percent here. They've got to live their lives. My family would look forward to moving here if and when we sell that house."

Hudson, who got his masters at Southwestern State of Oklahoma in 1970, said "We're all excited and anxious for the season to get started. I'm impressed with the Wolves I've met in one week. They seem very determined to be winners."

"I think Colorado City has always been very competitive. It's always had a good program. What I can offer is experience and certainly enthusiasm, especially with all the young juniors and sophomores we have."

In contrast to Hudson's experience is new CHS volleyball coach Shelia Thompson, who will be one of the two first time coaches certainly to bring some fresh air to the Wolves.

The single Thompson, born in Plainview May 1, 1964, just recently graduated from Angelo State University in May of 1986 and while at ASU met a few people from Colorado City.

Thompson graduated from Tulla High School in 1982 where there was no volleyball program. She picked up the sport at ASU.

"Basketball and track are my things. I've always loved volleyball but have not had the opportunity to play a lot myself."

Thompson will teach biology classes at CHS and said she met head girls coach Will Gollihar at a coaching clinic in Fort Worth.

"I'm excited to be coaching with coach Gollihar because he has a lot to offer."

Thompson said she would like for the students to know her as someone that cares and is willing to do all that she can if they are willing to do the rest.

"I feel I have a lot to give. I care about young people and realize how tough it is. Being a coach you get closer because you spend so much time with them."

"I expect this year to be a really good one. We're going to work hard to improve the program. It's just whatever the girls are willing to put out."

The volleyball team will have a "Meet the Wolves" day Tuesday, August 19 at the Ruddick Park swimming pool from 8:30-10:30 p.m. Prior to the swim, the Wolves will begin the season with a scrimmage against Abilene High that afternoon.

A new coach at Colorado Middle School will be Edwin Wilson.

Wilson, born December 8, 1961 in Rankin, will also teach physical education.

It will be the first job for the December 1985 Angelo State University graduate, who will coach football.

The 1981 Highland High School graduate played six man football, basketball and track for the Hornets.

"I'm going to try to be the best influence I can. I'm going to try to establish working habits that will carry on after they get out of school. They (Wolves) have a pretty good program—right now."

Wilson has a wife Becky and a two-year-old daughter Becca.

The family has already found a house here. "My parents live in Silver. We'll stay there until we get this house livable."

"I'm proud to be here and glad."

Defensive driving course slated

A defensive driving course has been scheduled for August 12-14 at the Wallace Center in Colorado City sponsored through Western Texas College in Snyder. The classroom sessions offer pointers in preventing accidents in spite of the incorrect actions of others and adverse driving conditions.

The course will have two sessions on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 6-10 p.m. Films and other visual aids will be used to demonstrate how to improve driving skills.

Persons completing this course will be eligible for a reduction in insurance premium rates, also for possible ticket removal. The fee for person 65 and over is $15. Others will pay a fee of $22.

You may register at the Wallace Center or WTC by August 11. For more information, call 728-2392, Community Education Office in Colorado City.

Wallace offers courses for parents

As you prepare your children to return to school this year, why not consider taking a couple of classes yourself?

The Wallace Community Education Center offers an array of courses and activities for adults, as well as for children.

Classes are offered during the day and also in the evening.

According to Barbara Gray, Wallace Center coordinator, the slate of classes for the fall has not yet been finalized, but some of the activities to be offered include gymnastics, body conditioning, emergency medical technician, karate, computer classes and cake decorating.

Heat has severe effects

Texas cities have reported several deaths caused by heat particularly in the last several weeks.

The combined effects of sun, exercise, heat, and excessive perspiration can cause the loss of fluids and salts in the body. These conditions may, in turn, cause heat exhaustion, heatstroke, and sunstroke.

To prevent these serious conditions, remain in the sun and excessively hot places for only short periods of time.

While working or playing outdoors, wear loose-fitting clothes, such as cotton T-shirts, to help the body perspire and keep it cool.

Drink sufficient amounts of liquids to help replace fluids lost in perspiration.

The body's normal reaction to high temperature is to pool blood near the surface of the skin so that sweat is formed and then evaporated into the air, releasing heat. This process works very well in most instances.

However, when a person is exposed to high temperatures combined with high humidity for a long period of time, the vessels deep in the body may lack sufficient blood and heat exhaustion may occur.

The symptoms of heat exhaustion include muscle cramps and weakness. The body temperature may remain normal, but the pulse may be weak. The skin is usually cool, but pale and moist.

Treatment consists of getting the person out of the sun immediately. Slowly sipping cool (not cold) water will help cool down the body.

Heatstroke, or sunstroke, is more serious than heat exhaustion. A breakdown of the cooling system of the body which causes the body temperature to rise uncontrollably causes heatstroke. Because the sweating mechanism is not working, there is very little perspiration.

The skin is dry, red and hot. The pulse is fast and strong. There may be nausea and headaches. Collapse is possible.

As in the case of heat exhaustion, it's important to get the victim out of the sun and to lower the temperature. Sponge the person with water, especially around the head. If the person is unconscious, give no fluids. Seek treatment from a physician immediately.

Commodity distribution set

Commodity distribution will take place next week, according to Bertie Kidd, with distribution set for the Ag Barn, Colorado City, and to designated sites in Lorraine and Westbrook on Wednesday, August 13. Wallace Center distribution will be Thursday, August 14.

Mrs. Kidd says that there is a large quantity of commodities and volunteer workers should be at the Ag Barn by 7:30 a.m. Men taking commodities to other locations should be there at that time.

Persons receiving commodities should pick them up at the site where application was made.

"Bring a sturdy container," she says, "there will be butter, cheese, flour, rice, honey and dry milk."

Times for the pick up are 9 a.m. until Noon at the Ag Barn; 9 a.m.-11 a.m. and 1 p.m.-2 p.m. at Lorraine; 9 a.m. until noon at Westbrook. Time for pick up at Wallace Center on Thursday is 9 a.m.-11 a.m.

New applications will be taken the last 30 minutes of distribution at each site.

Chamber to hold meeting

The Chamber of Commerce directors meeting Monday at 5:00 p.m. in the board room, will study recommendations for replacements for two directors, who resigned recently. The two who resigned were Tom Lovell and Ronnie Aston.

The board will also hear reports from Jim Babin and Hank Hardwick on progress of the Chamber's tourism campaign.

Other items will include a financial report, an update on the rodeo and Texas Industrial Development Council.

Commissioners concerned with budget

Mitchell County Commissioners will meet at 1 p.m., Monday to adopt a budget and tax rate. The tentative budget now under consideration will increase taxes, says County Judge Bill Carter. Judge Carter says that one of the reasons for the increase is that the county is not expecting any revenue sharing money in 1987.

Other items to be discussed include the appointment of new members to the Mitchell County Library Board, approval of the payroll for the period just ended and the opening of bids on a truck for precinct 1.

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Crenshaw of Rowlett, Texas are announcing the birth of a son, Samuel Christopher Crenshaw, born August 5th, weighing 7 pounds, 11 ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rayburn of Sweetwater. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Crenshaw of Colorado City.

Club celebrates anniversary

The Westbrook Golden Age Club celebrated the 28th anniversary of the formation of the club on August 5th, with a chicken fry.

The eighty-five members and guests enjoyed the chicken as well as vegetables, salads, pickles and olives. Afterward came cakes, cobbler, coffee and tea. Nobody left hungry.

Following the meal, a group of young people from Snyder, named "Witness" provided music, singing and testimony.

The next meeting is set for September 2nd, and sponsors say, "Everyone is invited!"

4-Hers rank high in county and district contest

The Mitchell County Extension Service turned in the following report:

After many hours of laboring over those Record Books, 25 were turned in at the County Level. Scurry County judged the books and felt all deserved a blue ribbon.
