FERGUSON CRACKS WHIP IN VAIN

Slays 3-Weeks Bride and Self

HOUSTONIAN DEAD WITH FORMER LOVE

Woman Hid In Bath Room Testifies to Tragedy

WAS "THROUGH"

HOUSTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. A. B. White of Houston, 27, a bride of three weeks, and E. F. Karmincki, above Mrs. of Galveston, are dead as the result of a shooting here Monday afternoon when Karmincki, said to be Mrs. White's former sweetheart, killed the woman and then turned the gun on himself.

Mrs. White, shot through the left cheek and heart, died instantly, Karmincki who was shot above the left ear, died in an ambulance. A .22 calibre pistol was used.

Murder and Suicide.

Justice of the Peace Campbell R. Overstreet returned a verdict of murder and suicide.

Miss Buna Stewart, about 23, formerly of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was living with Mrs. White, was an eyewitness to events preceding the double tragedy, according to a statement made to George Andrews, special investigator for District Attorney Horace Soule.

Miss Stewart said Karmincki was madly in love with Mrs. White. The two women, she said, were alone when Karmincki came to Mrs. White's home today. Fearing trouble, she said, she hid herself in the bathroom. She heard Mrs. White tell Karmincki that she was "through" and that he began to shoot.

Husband Insurance Man.

The dead woman's husband who is connected with an insurance company, told Justice Overstreet that Justice of the Peace J. M. Ray married him and Mrs. White three weeks ago. He declared that he had never seen Karmincki and knew nothing about him. Mr. White did not learn of the tragedy until an hour after it occurred.

According to letters found in Karmincki's clothing, he was employed at the Voight Machine shops, at Galveston.

Mrs. White, before her marriage, was Mrs. Pearl Allen, according to neighbors.

Kaiser Loses Again, More Property Goes

LONDON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A Cape Town dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph says former Emperor Williams' suit for restoration of the Hohenzollern property in southwest Africa was unsuccessful, the judge declining to grant the application.

The application was made to the high court at Windhoek, and the respondents were the administrator of southwest Africa and the registrar of deed of that territory. Counsel for the ex-kaiser argued that the property was registered in the name of the Hohenzoller family and that it was not affected by the confiscatory provisions of the Versailles treaty.

Jonathan Davis Holds Narrow Lead

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Official returns from all the counties of the third congressional district and a revision of returns, more nearly complete, from the seventh district, made slight difference in the standings of the leaders in the two close races of the primary election of Tuesday in Kansas.

Ex-Gov. J. M. Davis, seeking the democratic gubernatorial nomination had a lead of 738 over Lonald Muir of Anthony, 2,633 out of 2,641 precincts giving Davis 31,191 and Muir 30,453.

One Body Found In Hunt For Five

SALEM, Ky., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The body of Roy James, one of five miners trapped last Thursday in the Hudson mine of the Zinc and Spar company was recovered late this afternoon by Dewey Williams, one of the two men working in the mine at the time of the cave-in who escaped.

Williams said he found the body near the mouth of the shaft where it had been drawn by a large pump put in operation early this morning to remove water and mud and enable rescue workers to reach the cave-in.

Despite repeated failures to make appreciable headway, approximately 500 volunteers worked rapidly in their attempts to pump the water from the flooded workings and to sink another shaft to the mine level.

CHARGES IN BRALLEY CASE ARE CHANGED

State to Dismiss First Complaint and File New Ones

SHERIFF STILL SICK

The charge of aggravated assault filed in the county court at law last Tuesday naming W. G. Bralley, Wichita county juvenile officer and candidate for sheriff, will be dismissed this morning, it was learned Monday, in its stead filed another charge containing three counts, the first charging aggravated assault, the second disturbance of the peace, and the third "rude display of firearms in a public building."

Members of the defense counsel in Mr. Bralley's trial, scheduled for Wednesday, were approached Monday by officers of the county attorney's department with the request that they be allowed to write into the original charge the two additional counts. This the defense attorneys refused. The county attorney notified them then that the charge was filed Tuesday of last week would be dismissed and the new charge with the three counts filed this morning. The new charge bears the name of A. J. Berry, deputy constable as affiant, in the place of Wade Taylor, deputy constable, who signed the first complaint.

McDonal Is Retained.

C. C. McDonald, Wichita Falls attorney, has been retained by Mr. Smith to assist Wayne Somerville, county attorney, in the prosecution of the case of Mr. Bralley, it was learned from unofficial sources Monday. On the defense side of the table will be, according to previous announcement, H. F. Weldon, Guy Rogers, H. R. Wilson, J. B. Hatchett, Shields Heyser and J T. Montgomery.

Fred Smith, sheriff, was still reported ill at his residence at the county jail Monday, and his physician, Dr Allen P. Terrall, stated that he did not know whether he would be well in time for the trial or not. Mr. Smith is said to be suffering from an attack of influenza. Whether or not his absence from the court room tomorrow morning when the case is called for trial will be used by either of the parties of the case as grounds for a request for continuance was not known Monday. Mr. Bralley expressed his wish for the trial this week in order, as he said, "the facts might be laid before the public before election time."

List of Witnesses.

The list of state witnesses was handed the constable's department Monday, and subpoenes ordered issued. The list includes: Montgomery, janitor at the court house; Wade Taylor, deputy constable; W. J. Marshall, father of Charles Marshall, killed here two weeks ago in a gun battle on Taylor street; Fred Smith, sheriff; W. R. Hyer, city tax collector, and W. E. George, city attorney, both of whom were in the corridors of the court house at the time of the episode, and T. W. McHam, county treasurer.

See No End To Mexican Deadlock

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Mexican Episcopate continues firm in its stand, reiterating again today that the government can end the religious deadlock whenever it chooses by withdrawing the religious regulations "which destroy the church's rights and constitute persecution of the church."

On the other hand, the government's attitude as voiced by officials, is that the Catholic authorities can end the trouble at any time they desire by returning to the churches the priests they ordered to leave, providing these priests comply with the government's rulings.

Each side continues adamant in its refusal to give way to the other and an agreement is no more in sight than when the difficulties started, with the going into effect of the religious laws more than a week ago.

SUBMARINE SINKS; 5 LOST

Goes Down In 25 Feet of Water, Hatches Open

LONDON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The British submarine H-29 sank at its moorings in Davenport Dock yard, near Plymouth late today. Five men lost their lives, the admiralty having listed their names as missing.

Various reasons are given for the accident. One is that the submarine was inclined at too sharp an angle by the drawing of the hawsers as it was being moored. Another is that it went over too far in a tilting test, permitting the water to flow in the open hatches.

Six men on deck at the time of the accident were able to jump clear of the craft and were rescued.

The H-29 sank in 25 feet of water. Salvaging operations were immediately begun.

Dan Wears His Fighting Face As He Flings Answer To Jim

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The expected fireworks of today's state democratic executive committee meeting did not materialize until just before adjournment when Moody arose to address the committee, having been invited in a motion by B. Y. Cummings of Wichita Falls to make such statement as he desired "in order to have the record complete."

The ire of the young attorney general plainly had been drawn by a petition charging him personally with irregularities in the campaign contributions.

As he rose and came forward to the chairman's table, there were cheers, applause, and shouts, some from members of the committee, but coming principally from the spectators who stood in a fringe about the committee. The enthusiastic greeting continued for almost a full minute before Moody could speak.

"This instrument was just read in my presence and hearing," Moody began. "I would not permit such a document to be read in my presence and to remain unanswered by me one moment longer than the first opportunity to make answer presented itself.

"In the first place this instrument was not filed in good faith. I have no personal criticism of any one, but I will say that no informed lawyer in the state of Texas could honestly urge that this committee has power to consider such matters as presented by this petition.

"It was presented here for sinister political purposes. It was presented for the benefit of these newspaper reporters here. I denounce it as false and without foundation and fact.

"It is not a legal document in any sense of the word. It was not justified by a single line of law on the statute books. It was brought in here for political purposes only.

"Having denounced these accusations as false," I will file a written reply.

"I have engaged in a campaign before the people of Texas trying to present myself as a clean young man before the people of my state. I tried to maintain the campaign on a high plane. I did so, and I owe no apology to anyone or to my conscience. I entered it clean, and I have ended it clean, and I am as far above this thing (waiving the petition above his head) as the east is from the west."

Moody finished amid cheers from his supporters, and shouts of "They're dying hard," and "They're hard losers."

While Moody spoke, James E. Ferguson, husband and chief political general of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, sat directly in front of him, not more than 10 feet away. Ferguson had moved to a chair in the aisle just back of the front row of seats to confer with one of his supporters shortly before Moody began to talk, and Moody walked over to the chairman's table apparently to be in a position directly in front of Ferguson.

The two bitter political antagonists—the veteran politician and the young attorney general—thus faced each other. Their eyes appeared to meet as Moody spoke. Ferguson sat motionless.

As soon as Moody had finished, the committee adjourned.

HOTTEST SINCE '98 IN KANSAS

Aviating Mercury Breaks Long-Time Record Thru Middle West

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Scorching south winds swept the southwest again today and temperatures soared well above the 100 degree mark, setting new records for the summer and bowing only to the maximums of the hot summer of 1918. A hot weather story from Salina, Kan., where it was 111 yesterday and 112 today said a tin patch on a roof became so heated that it ignited the shingles.

The heat extended also into Texas, where temperatures ranging from 90 to 106 yesterday, were duplicated today.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Heat claimed its first casualty in Tulsa this afternoon when C. C. Simmons collapsed on a downtown street. Simmons is 50 years old and is general agent of the refining department of the Sinclair Oil company.

Ohio Glides Quietly Into Her Election

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Without even the usual flare up of eleventh hour charges, the Ohio primary campaign passed into political history tonight.

Tomorrow the voters will choose among 87 republican and democratic candidates for state office nominations; select nominees for congress, the legislature and county offices and express their sentiments on a constitutional amendment.

On the republican ticket, twelve persons, including a woman, and a negro seek the nomination for governor; four are after the domecratic nomination, but Gov. Vic Donahey generally is conceded victory.

Seven republicans oppose U. S. Sen. Frank B. Willis, for re-nomination, but it was not believed he would have much difficulty in being nominated. Charles Dick, Okron, a former U. S. senator, is among the seven.

The democratic contest for United States senator, in which Supreme Court Justice Florence E. Allen and Atlee E. Pomerene, for 12 years a democratic senator from Ohio, are the two leading candidates.

DAN READY TO HIT THE ROAD

Friends Declare They Will Roll Up 500,000 Majority

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—(AP)—After As Ferguson men receded, Moody's the democratic executive committee adjourned here this afternoon.

supporters gathered at the other side of the room for a meeting. Oscar B. Colquitt of Dallas, the former governor, jumped on a chair and called Moody's men to gather for a meeting.

This meeting organized with election of officers and voted to hold a mass meeting of Texas voters at Fair park in Dallas next Saturday, Aug. 14 at 10 a. m.

"I suggest that we hold a mass meeting to elect Dan Moody governor on Aug. 28 by 500,000 majority," shouted Colquitt. " I have called this informal meeting to start Moody's run-off primary campaign."

Moody was called forward and in a brief talk, declared that the Fergusons seemed determined to assail the principles of "free government and democracy, and I am ready to go down the line with them from the Red river to the Rio Grande. I am going to conduct a school house campaign throughout this state, and I am going into every precinct of Texas with my message. I can't do this by myself and I am going to ask my supporters to go into every nook and corner of this state."

Shouts from the audience assured him of co-operation.

Lee Satterwhite declared that insofar as he was concerned "an investigation of the Ferguson administration will be launched when the legislature convenes."

"In view of the charge of fraud in Moody's campaign read before the executive committee this afternoon, said Satterwhite, "I am in favor of making an investigation of the conduct of state affairs just to see really who has been guilty of fraud."

Moody Issues Statement.

On behalf of Dan Moody, a statement was issued tonight by C. A. Leddy, Dallas attorney, addressed to the chairman and members of the democratic state executive committee, and containing a denial of charges read to the committee Monday by A. L. Curtis, attorney for Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

In the statement, Mr. Moody denies that election laws had been violated by him during the recent primary campaign. In regard to the charge made that R. L. Bobbitt and Lee Satterwhite contributed to Mr. Moody's campaign in violation of the Texas statutes, the attorney general also denied that either of these men contributed any sum of money to his campaign.

Attached to the statement are affidavits by Satterwhite, Bobbitt, and other principals involved in Mr. Curtis' charge substantiating Mr. Moody's denial.

Moody's written denial follows his oral declaration made before the committee this afternoon to the effect he would issue a statement regarding the matter.

MOODY'S NAME ON BALLOT IN 2ND PRIMARY

Jim's Steam-Roller Fails to Heed It's Master's Voice At Dallas

MA HASN'T QUIT YET

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—The state democratic executive committee refused to jump today at the crack of the Fergusonian whip.

The steamroller which flattened all opposition at the July meeting in Wichita Falls failed to heed its master's voice when Ferguson called on it today to drop Dan Moody's name from the ballot. Dan Moody's name stays on, unless removed by court proceedings.

Refusal of the committee to bar Moody had apparently been anticipated, for the petition presented by Mrs. Ferguson's attorney stated that there was "serious doubt" whether the committee had authority to pass on the question.

The petition was apparently presented without hope of its being approved, but in order to get the matter before the public and to pave the way for legal action.

Mrs. Miriam Ferguson's unofficial statement of two weeks ago race had brought no official fruit when the committee adjourned tonight and Moody headquarters at Austin were fast coming to life after their two weeks somnelence in preparation for a runoff battle.

The committee certified the names of Mrs. Ferguson and Moody to go on the ballot for the run-off primary, August 28.

No Moody Majority.

The committee action followed shortly after an official canvas of the July primary vote by a subcommittee, which showed that Moody lacked 1,770 votes of having a majority over all candidates. Under the Texas election law the executive committee must certify the names of the two highest candidates for a run-off where the returns do not show a majority for any candidate.

No mention was made in the committee proceedings of Mrs. Ferguson's promise to retire from the race or of her announced intention to resign from her office at the close of the special legislative session she has called for September 13.

The official canvas showed that Moody had 409,732 votes and that the total of all other democratic gubernatorial candidates was 411,502. No official returns were received from two counties, Edwards and Gray, but the committee's report stated that unofficial returns from these two counties indicated that the official vote would not change the total result. The report stated the vote tabulated by the committee did not contain the returns from these counties.

An attempt to have the committee consider a petition asking that Moody be disqualified as a candidate on the ground of alleged irregularities in campaign contributions failed, when the committee chairman, Arthur Eidson of Hamilton, Texas, ruled that the matter was judicial and since the committee was not a judicial body it could not determine the questions raised by the petition. The document was received and placed on file.

Represents Mrs. Fergusosn.

The petition was read by A. L. Curtis of Belton, Texas, a close personal friend of the Fergusons, who appeared as attorney for Mrs. Ferguson.

It recited that Moody's campaign expense statement, filed with the secretary of state, showed that R. L. Bobbitt of Laredo, candidate for legislature, and Lee Satterwhite of Amarillo, former speaker and candidate to succeed himself, had contributed $250 each to Moody's campaign.

The petition alleged that this was a violation of the election law and quoted chapters of the law prohibiting candidates to contribute to the campaign funds of other candidates.

Because of this alleged violation, the petition held that Moody had forfeited his right to be a candidate because he "had assented to, connived at, and therefore was a

Sauce For The Gander

AUSTIN, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A candidate for office is listed among contributors to Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's campaign fund it was learned Monday night by The Austin American.

The name of the candidate, a county judge in a southwest Texas county, was discovered Monday on the Ferguson sworn expense statement by an interested politician. His name was not revealed here, but was given to Attorney General Dan Moody and to former Attorney General M. M. Crane at Dallas over the telephone.

The names of two candidates as contributors to Moody's fund were made the basis Monday of the Ferguson attempt to disqualify Moody from the run-off ballot.

Author of "Love Bound" "Her Man"

"If he doesn't like it, let him do something else," advised Cassie.

READ THIS FIRST:

Merry Locke, 20, falls in love with Anthony Gaines, a young lawyer. To fall in love is nothing new to Merry. She has been doing it ever since she was 16. But this time she feels sure she has found the Real Thing, in her love for Tony Gaines.

A few days after they meet each other, he asks her to run away and be married. But Merry, because she cares so much for him, tells him the truth about herself. She tells him how fickle she has always been, and about her recent "crush" on Derrick Jones, a college boy, who lives next door to her. So Tony decides to wait for six months.

Merry's father dies following a paralytic stroke, and Moms is left alone to bring up Merry and her three sisters. Cassie is the only one of them who is earning money. She is secretary to Morley Kaufman, a broker, with whom she's in love. Kaufman is a great friend of Tony Gaines, and Cassie tells Merry that Tony has a great deal of money.

Helen, the oldest of the four sisters, marries Bill Hepworth, the son of Dad's former employer, and Jinny, the youngest sister, takes over her job of helping Moms with the housework.

Merry has been expecting to leave business school and go into an office, but she falls in her course. So she gets a place in Madame Dale's beauty shop, a few blocks from home. One night when Tony's mother returns from a visit, he telephones to say he won't be over to see Merry.

Cassie tells Merry that if he really meant to marry her, he wouldn't have broken the date with her, but would have brought his mother with him to call on her. She adds that if he were serious in his attentions, he would have given her an engagement ring, too. The first doubt of Tony rises in Merry's mind, and hurt and unhappy, she lets Derrick Jones make love to her that night. Later when Tony gives her the ring that had been his mother's engagement ring she breaks down and tells him about Derrick. He passes without any word from him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII.

When Merry woke up the next morning she felt as if something dreadful were going to happen. She was heavy and depressed and unhappy —filled with a sense of foreboding.

Then suddenly she remembered. Nothing was going to happen. It had happened already! Tony had left her. He was through with her.

She sat up in bed, drowsy and dizzy staring blindly at the window with the sunshine glinting through it. Then she looked across at her own reflection in the mirror. Her face was still swollen and tearstained, and there were purplish marks under her eyes.

"Before I'd cry about any man" Jinny's shrill little voice, coming from the bed on the other side of the room, startled her. At 15, Jinny has second-sight when it came to her sister's love affairs. And she was ready to talk them over at all times, with an engaging frankness.

"How do you know I've been crying?" Merry asked, stepping out on the floor and reaching under the bed for her bedroom slippers. "You didn't see me."

"No, but I heard you," Jinny answered with an enormous yawn that showed her little pink tongue and her shining teeth. "You were snivelling in your sleep when I came home from the movies last night."

She paused and went on thoughtfully. "What I most want to know is this," she said, "if Mr. Gaines has stopped coming to see you, what are you doing with that ring that's in your top drawer?"

"I'll thank you to leave my top drawer alone, Jinny Locke!" Merry answered her coldly. She opened it and took the ring out of it.

She didn't know what to do with it. Perhaps she ought to pack it into a box and send it back to Tony. But she hated to do that. She finally decided to keep it for a day or two in the hope that he would come for it, himself. And in that hope, she tied it around her neck on a piece of black ribbon.

Cassie came into the room while she was doing it, to borrow a nail-file.

"I broke mine," she said. "The wind was rattling the window last night and I stuck the file into one side to hold it. What's that you're tying around your neck?" She came closer to see for herself what the gleam of pearl and gold was.

"A ring!" she cried, her eyes widening. "And what a beautiful old thing it is! Where on earth did you get it?"

"It was Tony Gaines' mother's ring," Merry answered. "He gave it to me."

Cassie stared. She couldn't understand this at all.

If Tony Gaines had given Merry an engagement ring, why had Merry been mooning around the house for the last day of two as she had? Also, why hadn't Merry shown the ring to anyone? And why was she wearing it around her neck instead of on the third finger of her left hand where it belonged. It was all quite beyond Cassie.

"You and Tony have had a rumpus, though, haven't you?" she asked, looking straight at her sister's unhappy little face as she spoke.

Merry nodded and slipped the pearl ring inside her kimona.

She knew that there was no use in trying to get rid of Cassie when Cassie was trying to find out something that she wanted to know.

Cassie had a way of getting almost anything she wanted, somehow. She had the largest bedroom in the house, the softest bed, the nicest clothes, the top of the cream in her morning coffee, and the "tenderloin" of the steak whenever there was steak to eat in the Lock household.

What she wanted she got by an almost fiendish persistence. And Merry knew that she would never stir from her room until she had an answer to her question.

She racked her mind for some sort of answer to give her.

"Oh," she said at last, with her head to one side, "Tony got peeved because I rode over to Helen's with Derrick Jones the other night. And he got peeved because I had paint on my face the night afterward. He's so straight-laced, Cassie."

"He looks it," Cassie answered. "Don't let him start trying to run your life for you, Merry. If he doesn't like what you do, let him do the other thing! He's not your kind, anyway."

"Perhaps not," thought Merry when she had gone back into her own room, "but I wish I were his kind of girl, instead of the kind I am."

She told herself that Tony couldn't possibly hate her the way she hated herself, these days. The very sound of Derrick Jones' automobile horn tooting in the driveway made her half sick. She wouldn't even go out on the front porch to sit, at night because she was afraid that he might see her and come over.

Thursday passed. Friday and Saturday came and went.

And still no word from Tony Gaines!

With his ring dangling from her neck by its cord, Merry went silently about her work in Lillie Dale's beauty shop.

There was always plenty of work to do in the little shop. The task of keeping it clean and making telephone appointments wasn't so easy as Lillie had described it.

But the little shop was a cheerful place with its hite chairs and curtains, tains, its glass shelves, and the steady dripping of gossip that flowed from Lillie's tongue all day.

"That woman!" she would say to Merry when a departing customer closed the screen door behind her, "that woman has been married and divorced three times! Now, let me tell you about it, if I can get it straight—" and she would tell the woman's history, so far as she knew it, from beginning to end, with colorful details.

Most of the time Merry only half listened to her, but just the sound of her voice, lilting up and down in its cheerful way, was comforting.

Sunday came. A wet, gloomy day. The rain poured down in torrents from daybreak until 5 in the afternoon. The house seemed to be wrapped in gray fog, and it was as silent as the tomb. Since Dad's death, Moms had kept the piano locked. Music, she said, gave her the "fidgets" lately.

"I'm going to burst into bitter tears if someone around this house doesn't start something pretty soon," Jinny half shouted at Merry in the middle of the morning, as they sat in the kitchen stringing beans for dinner.

Merry laughed suddenly. It was the first cheerful sound that had come from her for days. "Jinny, Jinny, I feel the same way," she said. "I could bite a plate in two or something, just for the excitement of it."

While she was speaking, the telephone in the hall rang, and she waited breathlessly while Moms answered it.

"Yes, I'll call her," she heard Moms say, and her heart gave a leap. Surely, that was Tony wanting her at last!

But it wasn't Tony. In a moment Mom's voice called up the stairs that led from the front hall: Cassie! Oh, Cassie Someone for you on the phone!"

Then came the sound of Cassie's slippered feet on the stairs.

Five minutes later she walked into kitchen.

"That was Morley Kaufman," she said in the important voice that she always used when she spoke of the Marvelous Morley, as Jinny called him.

"He wants me to drive out into the country for supper tonight," she went on, sitting on the edge of the table and nibbling a raw string bean. "He has a man friend here from out of town, and he wondered if you'd like to go along to make a foursome, Merry."

For a second Merry hesitated. Her thoughts flew to Tony Gaines. If he should come while she was gone—

"Well, hurry up and say 'yes' or 'no'!" cried Cassie impatiently. "I can't stand here all day! Morley's on the wire."

"I'll go," Merry heard herself answer breathlessly.

Afterward she wondered if she would have gone if Cassie hadn't hurried her the way she did.

She had no particular wish to go with Cassie and the two men. At best it was something to do—something to break the gray monotony of the day.

It was 3 o'clock by the time the dishes were washed and put away. Half past 3 by the time the Sunday paper was folded on the living room table, and the sofa cushions plumped up, and the house put into its usual order.

Then Merry went upstairs to get dressed. That was something to do, too. Something to keep her mind from Tony Gaines—to keep herself from wondering what he was doing, and what he was thinking.

She began to sing as she brushed her hair and dampened it with the comb to make it curl. And her singing was part of her program of keeping up her spirits, too—as a child will sing in the dark because it is afraid it will cry if it doesn't sing.

"What are you trying to wear?" asked Cassie, appearing in the bedroom door, looking like an ad for cold cream.

Merry shrugged her shoulders.

"What difference does it make?" she answered. "I'm not so thrilled by your friend Morley's party. It's nothing for me to wave flags over, you know."

Cassie looked hurt. "Merry," she said, "you're just unbearably cross lately. Ever since Tony Gaines stopped coming here, you've been acting like the Battle Cry of Freedom, or something. What ails you?"

"I suppose I'm upset because he has stopped coming here," Merry admitted the truth, quietly.

She turned suddenly to her sister, with a light in her eyes.

"Cassie, I'm not going to the party," she said. "After all, Tony may still consider himself engaged to me. I still have his ring."

"Don't be a fool," said Cassie acidly. "He's thrown you down, and thrown you down hard. Don't make any mistake about it. What do you want him to do? Throw the Stentorian building at you, to make you wake up and see what he's done. In the words of the dictionary, he's jilted you, Merry. Jilted you! Can't you get it through your head?"

'Little Sister, you sure are a dream. I don't live in your fair city, but I am sure glad I found you and will come often," said Merry's newest companion. Read tomogrow's installment. "If He Doesn't Like It, Let Him D o Something Else," Advised Cassie.

Texas Republicans Optimistic Over Future in This State

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Optimism over the future of Texas republicanism marked deliberations of the republican state executive committee which met here today to canvass returns of the July 24 primary.

Returns from 186 counties gave Colonel H. H. Haines of Houston, 11,123 votes for governor as against 4,070 for his opponent, E. P. Scott, of Corpus Christi.

For superintendent of public instruction, A. A. Lindsey of Franklin county, received 7,551 votes as against 5,914 for C. Garrett, Travis county.

Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin received 3,150 votes for nomination for congress from the 14th district, while Fred E. Knetsch of Seguin, his opponent, received 719.

Walter Kingsberry of Fort Worth was named temporary chairman and D. H. Merrill of Buffalo was the only other committeeman present. Monday morning, but Leonard Withington, secretary of the committee, held proxies for several other members. He said that since all committee members have to be here September 6, the day before the state convention, he had accepted the proxies to save the committee members the travel expense at this time.

Mr. Withington said that the July primary, the first ever held by the republican party in Texas, had proved of much benefit to the party.

"It has enabled us to learn the names of 15,000 additional republicans in the state, giving us a mailing list of 18,000 at state headquarters," he said.

Want to Hear A Meteor Talk? Then Tune in Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Radio fans will try to find out tomorrow night what sort of noise meteors make during a celestial shower of fire.

Tests will be conducted jointly by Dr. William J. Fisher of the Harvard observatory, and Radio News, a magazine, and all radio fans were today invited to participate.

In a statement today announcing the tests, Hugo Gernsbeck, editor of the radio magazine said that tomorrow has been chosen as the date because local meteoric showers occur every year on August 10, when it is believed the earth cuts the path of a disintegrated comet or planetoid.

He put forward the theory that electrical effects must be produced when these meteors strike the earth's atmosphere and catch fire and that this effect can be tuned in on by radio sets. Listeners were asked to operate their sets so that no regular program would interfere and then sitting at a window record carefully what noise is heard just at the moment that a meteor is seen streaking across the sky.

Queer Bridge Frightens Auto Driver to Ditch

Fatal Accident Near Austin Caused to Repair Work

AUSTIN, Aug. 9. — (AP) — A strangely constructed bridge which loomed before him as a huge pile of lumber, causing him to swerve into a ditch, Monday was blamed by Charles H. Alvord, director of the A. and M. college extension service, for the accident which Saturday night took the life of his wife's uncle, L. H. Childs, 78.

Mr. Childs lived with the Alvords at College Station. His body was taken to Elgin, and from there will be sent to his former home in Michigan. He was not connected with Texas A. and M.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvord, their son, Charles Alvord Jr., and daughter, Miss Mina Alvord, are in a local hospital where they are being treated for cuts and bruises suffered in the accident which occurred about 12 miles from here on the Austin-Elgin road.

Request that a warning signal of some sort be placed on the bridge that figured in the accident was made to the highway department by Jim Giles, county commissioner.

One end of a concrete bridge over a slough caved in, and a temporary wooden structure was built over it, producing a steep incline. Commissioner Giles said the bridge constituted a hazard, particularly at night.

The bridge is on state highway No. 20. Mr. Giles said the highway department officials informed him that contract had been let for a new concrete bridge, and that it is planned to complete it within a fortnight.

Mr. Alvord said the bridge was high above the level of the tarpapered road and that he swerved to the right thinking to avoid what appeared to be a large pile of lumber. He said the lights on his automobile recently had been adjusted in conformity with the state headlight law, and that he was unable to see the bridge until he was within a few feet of it.

The closed car turned turtle as it dived into the ditch filled with water, and Mr. Alvord said it was miraculous the occupants were not drowned before passing motorists gave aid.

He said Mr. Childs apparently was injured internally, as he died shortly after being taken from the car.

DENIES OSAGE INDIAN DEATH

John Ramsay On Stand In Trial at Guthrie, Okla.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 9.—(AP) John Ramsey, who with W. K. Hale is on trial here in federal court on a charge of slaying Henry Roan, Osage Indian, denied on the witness stand today that he had anything to do with the killing.

Ramsey appeared as the first defense witness. He said that he knew Roan, having met him at Hominy, in 1909. Ramsey declared that he never had a business deal with Roan.

"Did Hale give you money and buy you a car for killing Roan?" he was asked.

"Absolutely not," was his answer.

Ramsey told of being taken from his home to the federal building at Guthrie in January of this year where he was questioned by federal officers for many hours, charging him with several crimes and declaring they had information from a friend that he had killed Henry Roan and that Hale had hired him to do it, giving him an automobile and $500. They attempted to get confessions from him he said.

"I told them I did not know anything about the case. They said my family was hard up. I told them the family was managing to eat. Frank Smith then said he was a department of justice man and didn't want any of my sass. He said they would do the talking.

"They then told me they knew about the Henry Grammer cattle scrape and said that I took a sentence for Henry Grammer. I did plead guilty to receiving stolen cattle and served a year's sentence in the penitentiary. I received them in the northern part of the county and the man who sold them to me helped me drive them home. I paid for them, I did not steal them. Grammer had nothing to do with it."

NAB BANDIT IN BANK CAGE

Dallas Police Successful In Chase Through Business Section

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The teller cages of a bank proved to be an unsafe refuge for a robber discovered burglarizing rooms in the Southland hotel here Monday.

Patrolmen A. G. Denson and P. Brant saw the two men making their get away from the hotel down a fire escape early this morning and gave chase. They pocketed the robbers and captured one as he was trying to enter the City National bank. The other gained entrance to the bank and was found in one of the cages.

H. A. Pendleton of Wichita Falls, identified the two men as those he found rifling his pockets in his room when he was awakened. One of the men he said, pointed a pistol at him. They forced him back into bed and fled.

J. A. Pendleton of Farmersville, a brother of H. A. Pendleton, was awakened after the robbers had escaped.

The man cornered in the bank cage drew his pistol on the officer, but threw it from him when the patrolman threatened to kill him. He also threw a watch to the floor and broke it. When searched, three watches and $300 was found on the men. H. A. Pendleton lost a watch and $25 and his brother lost about $140. D. H. Zacharias was in the same room with the Pendleton brothers, but lost nothing.

Other guests lost more than $100.

DEMO MEET

principal in such acts of violation."

The document further said that these alleged illegal contributions contained in Moody's expense statement "operated to make all Moody's campaign expense statements filed with the secretary false."

Many votes cast for Mrs. Ferguson were counted for Moody, said the petition, and it further alleged that the laws were violated by electioneering within the polling booths, and by permitting many unqualified persons to vote.

In conclusion the petition stated that there was "serious doubt whether the committee had power to pass on the questions raised."

"There also is doubt," concluded the petition, 'as to whether quo warranto proceedings would suffice to clear up the questions involved. Therefore, we state that we will reserve the right to seek relief in the courts."

The reference to the courts was considered a prediction that the matter would be taken to the courts to have Moody disqualified.

There was a slight hesitation in the proceedings as Mr. Curtis rose to present his anti-Moody petition. Chairman Eidson did not give Curtis the floor but proceeded to put the sub-committee's recommendation of certification to a vote. Before the vote could be registered, B. Y. Cummings of Wichita Falls, a Ferguson supporter, rose to ask the chairman to recognize Curtis.

H. M. Graves, chairman of the sub-committee, interposed a point of order stating that Curtis was not a committee member. Eidson then ruled that he would recognize Curtis as Mrs. Ferguson's attorney.

The death of Henry Skaggs, committee member from Plainview, was announced by J. W. Garner of Rockdale, who nominated Pink L. Pariah, a Moody man from Lubbock. Ferguson moved his chair up behind J. R. McClellan of Gatesville, and after a whispered conversation, Mr. McClellan nominated E. L. Graham, a Ferguson supporter of Plainview. It was suggested that by a resolution passed at the last committee meeting the chairman had been empowered to fill Mr. Skaggs' place. The nominations were then withdrawn and Chairman Eidson said he would announce his appointment later.

Mrs. Wilmans Ruled Out.

A petition from Mrs. Edith Wilmans of Dallas, candidate for governor in the primary, asking a recount of the votes was ruled out by the chairman on the ground that it was not sufficient to justify the action asked. It alleged irregularities, among which were charges that guard rails had not been used to seperate the voting booths as required by law, that employees of public utility corporations acted as election officials, and asked that the Texas election bureau, a co-operative enterprise of Texas newspapers, be disbanded on the ground that its publication of returns tended to influence the vote.

Chairman Eidson said the petition failed to allege that the result would have been different in the absence of these alleged irregularities and that therefore petition was insufficient.

The committee met shortly after 10 a. m. with 29 members and proxies present. Seven proxies were accepted by the committee. C. C. Small of Plainview, and the late Henry Skaggs of Plainview were the only members recorded absent.

Dan Moody and James E. Ferguson sat among the spectators.

Chairman Eidson ruled that the committee was without authority to consider the petition, and the body thereupon adopted the report of the sub-committee which recommended that the names of both Mrs. Ferguson and Moody be certified to the counties for the run-off primary. Action of the committee was unanimous, as the law clearly makes it mandatory for the body to certify the two highest names in cases where there is not a majority.

Duty Perfunctory.

Since Mrs. Ferguson's formal withdrawal from the primary race was not withcoming the committee had only a perfunctory duty before it.

The following sub-committee tabulated the returns:

H. M. Graves, Georgetown, chairman; Dr. E. B. Blalock, Woodlawn; J. T. Larue, Athens; A. S. Moody, Houston; C. C. McDonald, Wichita Falls.

The following was reported as the official vote:

Governor: Davidson, 122,449; Ferguson, 283,482; Moody, 409,732; Johnston, 1,029; Wilmans, 1,580; Zimmerman, 2,962.

Would Force State to Wait On Orders of Federal Board

AUSTIN, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Suit to restrain the Texas railroad commission and attorney general from taking any action to compel it to rehabilitate and operate the Midland and Northwestern railroad, unless and until the interstate commerce commission enters an order, Monday was filed in the federal district court by the Texas and Pacific railway company.

The Texas commission November 10, 1924, ordered the Texas and Pacific to repair and operate the Midland and Northwestern within 90 days. The railroad has never complied with this order, but twice has sought unsuccessfully permission of the interstate commerce commission to abandon the Midland and Northwester. The petition for injunction and other relief filed Monday is signed by T. J. Freeman and T. D. Gresham for the Texas and Pacific.

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN

If You Would Be Attractive You Must Be Healthy

A beautiful woman is always admired. There are many types of beauty. But no woman can be truly beautiful unless she is healthy. Radiant vitality is always attractive however plain a woman's features may be.

Many a woman has found her health improved through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Weakness, loss of weight, and a pale complexion were a few things of which Mrs. J. C. Taylor of Box 211, Tallahassee, Florida, complained before she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "I could not even sit down and talk to a friend for any length of time," she states. "I would forget what I was talking about and felt so blue." Mrs. Taylor is so pleased with the work of the Vegetable Compound that she keeps a bottle of it in the house at all times —and when it is empty, her husband makes sure that she has a new bottle. "I have regained my strength," Mrs. Taylor writes. "I can do all my housework now and I feel just fine."

COTTON GUESS UP 1-4 MILLION

Indicated Yield 253,000 Higher Than Forecast of 2 Weeks Ago

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A gain of 253,000 bales in the prospective cotton crop this year as compared with a forcast made a fortnight ago was shown today in the government's semi-monthly cotton report which placed Indicated production at 15,621,000 bales of 500 pounds gross.

The condition of the crop declined from 70.7 per cent of normal to 69.8 per cent between July 16 and August 1, but as the decline was less than usual the indicated production showed an increase over that forecast July 16.

The improvement in prospects occurred chiefly during the last week in July and was due largely to the fact that the number of leaf hoppers decreased and the cotton began squaring and blooming much more freely, the crop reporting board announced.

Critical Stage.

"At this time the crop is in a critical stage of its development the board said, "and fruiting will be materially affected by weather conditions during the next month to six weeks. Almost everything throughout the cotton belt the crop is reported as being from a week to 10 days late, so that it will need ample time in the fall for maturing. There is menace of material damage by the boll weevil should rainy weather come during the remainder of the season."

"Weather conditions and damage caused by the hopper interferred seriously with the setting of early bolls.

"In Texas the number of bolls reported as safe averages about the same as the number reported last year and about half the number reported safe at this time two years ago. Outside of Texas the number of bolls reported as safe averaged only about half as many as were reported safe at this time last year. On the other hand the plants are in most areas larger than they were last year at this time and throughout most of the belt except in portions of the Piedmont area of South Carolina and adjoining states the plants either blooming freely or were showing an increased number of forms on the first of August.

Weevils Increase.

"Boll weevils are increasing in portions of the gulf states and Oklahoma."

The crop reporting board states the final outturn of the crop will depend on influences affecting it during the remainder of the season. Should developments be as unfavorable as during 1921, 22, 23, a total production of 14,425,000 bales might be expected, but if as favorable as during 1924-25 production might reach 17,510,000 bales.

The indicated yield per acre is placed at 158.3 pounds, compared with 155.8 pounds indicated on July 16, and 167.2 pounds produced last year.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A severe break followed the publication of the government crop report in the cotton market here today. December contracts sold off from 17.25 to 16.46 and closed at 16.65, with the general market closing at net declines of 53 to 58 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of five points. There was some selling on relatively easy Liverpool cables, but it was quite readily absorbed by covering and them arket held fairly steady during the early trading.

The government report placing the condition of the crop at 69.8 and the indicated yield at 15,621,000 bales evidently was a surprise to the trade as the private reports recently issued, on the average had pointed to a yield of only 14,864,000 bales. Selling was active and general when the market re-opened after the publication of the statement and stop loss orders were uncovered on the break which extended to 16.50 for October and 16.47 for January, or 76 to 80 points net lower on the active positions.

Trade buying developed around the 16.50 cent level which helped to steady the market and after the first rush of selling orders had been executed, prices turned steadier on covering. This was probably hastened to some extent by complaints that high temperatures were causing the plant to shed its fruit in the southwest, and by the supplemental report of the government emphasizing the lateness of the crop, the boll weevil menace, and the need of a late frost. Last prices showed rallies of some 20 to 24 points from the lowest.

With growing conditions for the balance of the season as favorable as in 1924 and 1925, today's official report pointed to a crop possibility of 17,510,000, but should conditions be as unfavorable as in 1921, 1922 and 1923, the yield might be cut to 14,425,000 bales.

Exports today 8,546, making 47,331 so far this season. Port receipts 12,103. U. S. ports stocks 665,882.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Bullish enthusiasm ran rampant in today's stock market. With Wall street literally flooded with rumors of mergers, stock split-ups and increased dividends, speculators for the advance, aided by relatively easy money rates, had little difficulty in marking up scores of issues 1 to 18 points. At the close the average of 20 leading industrial issues stood at a new high level for all time while the average of 20 leading rails was at the highest figure since 1913. Commission houses reported a marked expansion in public interest, which was reflected in total sales of well over two million shares.

General Motors common and U. S. Steel common again established new record high prices at 225⅜ and 155¼, respectively. Motors later sold down to 222, where it was up five points on the day, while U. S. Steel common closed at 154⅝, up 3¼. Directors of the General Motors corporation meet Thursday, and Wall street bears that a stock dividend of 50 or 100 per cent will be declared, together with an extra cash dividend of at least $4. Buying of steel was influenced by predictions that the July unfilled tonnage statements to be issued at noon tomorrow, would show an increase of around 200,000 tons which would be the first gain this year.

Publication of another series of semi-annual dividend statements disclosed that not all companies had shared in the widespread prosperity of the first six months. Among the companies whose earnings fell below the first half of 1925 were Foundation, Ludlum Steel, Fairbanks, International Cement and National Enameling and Stamping. On the other hand, substantial gains were reported by American Steel Foundries, Schulte Stores corporation and National Public Service corporation.

Special movements developed in a wide assortment of industrials. Air Reduction was marked up over 12 points to a new peak price at 145½ on reports of unusually large earnings in the first six months of the year. Dupont, which has large General Motors holdings, touched a new record top at 313 and then reacted back to 310½, up 5¾ net. American Railway Express, Butterick Publishing, Case Threshing Machine, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Loose-Wiles, Mack Trucks, Remington Typewriter and Union Bag and Paper all showed net gains of 3 to 6 points, several touching new peak prices for the year.

Shubert Theatres advanced to within a fraction of the year's high on reports that dividends would be inaugurated next Monday. Manhatan Electrical Supply also sold near its 1926 top on buying influenced by rumors of business expansion. American Brown Boveri touched a new peak at 50 on rumors that new interests had become identified with the corporation through the private purchase of a large block of stock. Revival of activity in Davison Chemical was predicted on the prospect of increased earnings through the sale of freight car refrigeration apparatus.

Some striking gains also were recorded in the rail group. "Big Four" soared 18 points to a new top at 250. Atchison touched the best price ever recorded at 143½ and New York Central topped all quotations for the last two decades by selling at 139¼ although it later slipped back to 138. Union Pacific, Southern Railway and Chesapeake and Ohio also reached new high ground.

FARMERS STILL BUYING

$55,000,000 More Machinery Bought Than Previous Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The farmers of America may be in the throes of a depression but last year they bought equipment worth approximately $55,000,000 more than the value of their machinery purchases of 1924, the department of commerce reported today.

Sales of agricultural equipment for domestic use in 1925 aggregated $332,845,204, as against $277,924,547, while sales for export rose from $51,988,372 in 1924 to $64,934,212 in 1925.

The total value of farm equipment manufactured in 1925 was placed at $383,736,736, an increase of 18.7 per cent as compared with $323,367,127 in 1924 and of 5.2 per cent over $364,854,106 in 1923.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Notwithstanding announcement of a record breaking increase of the United States wheat visible supply, wheat values today scored and advance. Frost reports from Canada, together with news of a revolt in Russia and of corn crop damage in Kansas, had a bullish effect. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅛ to ⅝ cent net higher, corn at ⅝ cents to 1⅜ cents advance, oats unchanged to ¼ cent up, and provisions varying from the same as Saturday's finish to a rise of 10 cents.

In view of 11,553,000 bushels increase of the wheat domestic visible supply total today, the largest increase which a single week has ever shown, the firmness of wheat prices appeared remarkable. Announcement of the increase led to augment offerings and to an immediate setback to the day's lowest quotations but the offerings were readily absorbed, and a quick rally ensued with shorts running to cover at the last.

FOR Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this sour waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Insist upon "Phillips" Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

GREATEST VOTE ON RECORD

ACCORDING to the officials of the Texas election bureau, the total vote for governor on July 24, was 821,767, a record for a primary election in Texas. These were the final figures: Moody 411,390; Ferguson 281,938; Davidson 123,025; Zimmerman 2,910, Wilmans 1,408, Johnson 1,006.

In a bulletin issued by the bureau it is stated that as the number of votes counted for governor in the two democratic primary elections of 1924 exceeded all records so also has the record established two years ago been broken. Furthermore it is stated it is interesting to compare the totals beginning with 1916, the last year of voting by men only. In 1916 the total was 421,903.

In 1918, when women voted for the first time in Texas and were allowed to vote in the primary election without paying poll taxes, the total was 678,486. In subsequent years, when now clothed with full suffrage, women were obliged to pay poll taxes in order to qualify as voters, the total number of votes for governor dropped.

It was 449,800 in 1920. But it rose again. In 1922 the total was 589,926. In 1924 at the first primary 702,190 and at the second primary 789,031. The total in the primary of July 24, 1926, was 821,767. This increase was made notwithstanding the number of qualified voters this year was less than in last year, the figures being 1,374,525 and 1,310,110 respectively.

These were the numbers at the close of the registration periods. According to the compilers of the bulletin, as the result of investigation it is estimated that they were decimated by reason of death and removal of residence, by election day and that the number of qualified voters on July 24 was 1,179,099.

It is furthermore estimated, on the basis of investigation, that 41,088 persons who voted spoiled their ballot and, therefore, that the total number of votes polled this year was 863,855 or 75 per cent of the whole number of qualified electors at election time.

If these conclusions are correct, then thousands of independent democrats must have participated in the democratic primary election on July 24. In the closing days of the campaign, Dan Moody predicted a vote of 800,000. James E. Ferguson, after his first speaking tour of the state predicted a vote of 800,000. Lynch Davidson predicted a very large vote.

As for the republicans, their state primary called out less than 15,000 republicans in the 250 counties of Texas. They polled 300,000 votes for their governor in 1924. Having failed to poll 100,000 votes this year in the primary, the republicans will not be compelled to nominate by primary election in 1928.

Their leaders have been relegated to the old convention system of making nomination. Harry M. Wurzbach is their nominee for a fourth time in the 14th district and the Creager republicans named the nominees for state offices.

Now if Wurzbach wins re-election in November he will continue to be a thorn in the side of the Creager organization. It is admitted in advance by the leader that the democratic nominee will receive many republican votes.

IN OLD VIRGINIA

Politicians were given a surprise in Old Virginia. Representative Joseph P. Deal of the second district announced for re-election as a wet. Well, the drys were furious and they ran two candidates against Deal to put him out of business and relegate him to private life. He is the representative of the aristocratic Norfolk district and he refused to padlock his tongue or renounce his moist sentence.

He declared that the prohibition amendment and the Volstead Act were failures, that enforcement was a costly farce and that some changes were necessary in the law which bears the name of the good Dr. Volstead of Minnesota. Deal won the renomination. He received almost as many votes as his two rivals combined, and now he is going back to Washington to vote for modification of the Volstead Act.

This was the only contest on the dry law in the ten congressional districts of Virginia, and Deal was the only candidate who invited the test. John Barleycorn has an India rubber frame. He is slaughtered one day and returns to life the next.

It appears to be almost impossible to conquer the great, American thirst in some districts of some states under the folds of Old Glory.

"VINDICATION" OF WALTON

ACCORDING to incomplete returns from the democratic primary election in Oklahoma, former Governor Jack Walton, candidate for "vindication" as well as for the nomination of United States senator has lost the senatorial nomination of United States senator, the senatorial nomination favoring Elmer Thomas, who will be the democratic standard bearer against J. W. Harreld, republican, who captured the nomination of his party.

Thomas has represented an Oklahoma district in the lower house of congress six terms, and is perhaps the ablest representative that the democrats of Oklahoma have sent to Washington in many years.

Democratic leaders were very ambitious to defeat Harreld and early in the campaign of the year they prevailed upon Thomas to give up a seat in the lower house and carry the senatorial standard in Oklahoma this year for the party of Thomas Jefferson. He had plain sailing until Jack Walton as a contender for the prize as well as a candidate for vindication.

However, luck appears to have favored Thomas, who has many elements of leadership, is a powerful campaigner and has never been a participant in the factional rows which have disturbed the harmony of the democrat organizations in the step daughter of Texas.

All the democratic congressmen were renominated by the voters of their respective district, but a candidate for governor said to have had backing of democrats who still cling to the klan, appears to have won the nomination.

In Oklahoma a plurality wins the prize. In Texas a majority is necessary, and a majority is just the record that Dan Moody made as a vote getter. Away back in 1913 when Oscar B. Colquitt was governor, the law was changed in Texas.

A plurality had been sufficient. Colquitt, who was a candidate for the senate, advocated the majority plan and the law was enacted.

He made the race for the senatorial nomination, had a large plurality over the next highest man and then the friends of all the defeated candidates rallied to Culberson, who was the runner-up and Colquitt went down in defeat.

This has nothing to do with Jack Walton, but if returns tell the story the famous Jack has been given another wallop by the voters and it is his American privilege to return to the oil fields of Texas or wild cat in Oklahoma.

There will be another senatorial election four years hence. If Jack happens to be in the land of the living he may bob up again asking the democrats of Oklahoma for a fifth time to give him the vindication which is so dear to his heart.

IN BLEEDING KANSAS

In Kansas three judges constitute the supreme court. These judges made an order ousting the Ku Klux Klan from the state. All three were candidates for re-nomination this year, and the leaders of the klan issued orders to the faithful to defeat the judges at the primary polling places. When the returns came in the three candidates marked for slaughter headed the balloting and their names will be on the official ballot again at the November election.

It appears that in Texas and Kansas and all the other states, a majority of the American voters cast their ballots as they see fit. They do not take orders from political bosses. They do not take orders from senators or governors. This is as it should be. The ballot is the thing and the wielder of the ballot should let his conscience be his guide.

He is a free man and should follow his own flag. He should do his own reading and his own thinking and when he does his own reading and his own thinking he does his own voting.

This is getting to be a custom in Texas. If office holders do not measure up to the standards, they should be voted out. If they do measure up to the standards they should be voted in, not for life, but for a second or third term if the conditions of the times call for it.

BUILDING ITEM

Now that the election is over, the Southern Pacific railway has driven the first stake for a million-dollar freight depot near its terminals in the city of Dallas. Building is the order of the day in Texas. Development of natural resources is another order of the day. There is a forward movement on and it is going to continue for years to come.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

During the latter half of April, Bee's spirit revived, and she drove herself with extraordinary enthusiasm. Day after day she went her job-hunting rounds. Every evening she worked briskly and brightly at the restaurant. To put to use the later nights, she set herself the new task of learning certain Shakespearean roles. Portia was her favorite. She often voiced a pet theory that the long-established custom of using "The Merchant of Venice" as a stellar vehicle for the actor who played Shylock was a monstrosity. "It's Portia's play," she would say, "and some day a producer is going to discover that little fact." She conveyed a measure of her enthusiasm to a studious young actor who had played bits in some of the Village productions, and with him worked earnestly on the casket scene, and also on the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet."

Louise watched her with interest, even with admiration. The girl was making a fight of it. She wouldn't be beaten. And while it was a question among her friends whether she could ever make real headway, handicapped by her rather small voice and by the lack of a boldly outlined personality—even by her education, many would say, for the stage is a place for the exhibition, in the main, of promitive emotions, to which work the aturally unrestrained sort of nature seems best, or at least most easily adapted. Still, her fighting spirit inspired confidence. She was the gamest little person, Lou decided, with an affectionate glow, that ever walked on two feet. She knew what she wanted, and went after it with conviction and fervor.

But a blow fell, a small blow. In May business dropped off so sharply at the Peacock Feather that Bee was let go. There would be no more free dinners, and an income of exactly nothing at all. The next morning Louise, over her coffee cup, observed that Bee was dressing for the day, flapperlike, in next to nothing at all—bloomers, a dainty slip, rolled stockings of thin silk in flesh-color, and a scanty, simple little dress. Next appeared the familiar tin make-up box, which had been purchased in considerable girlish excitement on the occasion of her first little role in a Village play, and Bee rather grimly but with a daft hand touched her cheeks with rouge, strengthened her eyebrows and applied a seldom-used lipstick.

At this, Lou, who had grown preoccupied of late, asked: "What on earth are you up to?"

Bee didn't reply at once, but moved across the room, tried a dance step, pirouetted, and then looked down at herself, smoothing her dress. She knew that her slim little body was prettily made, and hadn't the slightest self-consciousness about it. Without an attractive body a girl couldn't hope to get far in the theatre.

"I've got to get something," she finally remarked, "and pretty darn quick."

"Are you out to vamp the managers, child?"

"Not exactly. I figure there's nothing left but the summer revues and I'm going to get into one of them if I can."

"Chorus?"

"If it comes to that. Though they often have small speaking parts. I'll take anything. I may not be a Pavlowa, but I could pick up ordinary chorus steps without any trouble."

"You'd look well in tights," mused Lou.

"I'd have to," Bee answered, "if any! Tights, I understand, have rather gone out." She was still in grim mood. "And those hard-boiled gentlemen have got to know that the minute they set eyes on me, or they won't talk business at all." She made a deep curtsey, prettily. "Hence the costume."

"Well, I don't know why you shouldn't," said Lou, still very thoughtful.

"There's a living in it, as a stopgap."

"And a good many different sorts of people turn up in those choruses—though it won't be the same as our Village crowds."

"Certainly not. It'll be Broadway. But look here." Bee turned on her with more than a touch of heat: "Do you know how many of our biggest people have begun in the chorus, women and men both? I could name you twenty. More!"

"I don't doubt it." Lou rose and put on her hat. "Time to go up to the factory. By the way, I forgot to tell you I ran into Delia yesterday. At noon, uptown. She didn't look well. Rather wan, I thought."

Bee dropped down on the couch, curling her feet under her. "I'd almost forgotten her," she remarked, sobering. "What did she have to say?"

"Well—I got the impression that she did and didn't want to talk. I didn't have much time. Was on my way back from lunch. She did finally ask if I knew where Arthur was."

"You don't mean to say he never even told her before he went?"

"He hasn't gone."

"But—that's funny!"

"Theres' been some delay about the expedition. Seems to me they're sailing this week, though. Within the next few days. There was something in the paper a day or so ago."

"But didn't she see that?"

"Arthur's name hasn't appeared. And I doubt if that girl knows much about what's going on in the world. By the way, she's lost her job."

"No." Bee was distressed. "I really should have kept in touch with her. Been pretty much occupied with my own problems. Still, I don't know what I could have done."

"Not a thing. She WOULD go her own way."

"Didn't she say any more? How did she come to lose her job, anyway?"

"She only said—what was it? . . . Oh, yes—that they cleaned out all Fred's crowd when he left the concern."

"Fred out too? My word!" Bee looked more closely at Louise. It wasn't like that exact mind to forget so striking a bit of news.

"And that's all I know."

"You haven't seen Fred again?"

"No." Louise moved to the door, then paused to ask: "Where shall we eat tonight?"

"We may as well go over to the Feather. Everything's friendly enough there."

"All right." The door opened. "I'll be down there about six."

"I must say I'd like to know how—" But the door closed.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Should This Wife and Mother Work Outside the home?

Dear Miss Dix—Will you settle this question for us? My husband and I ran away and got married and started with nothing. We have worked hard, but have had a lot of sickness, and at present are badly in debt. My husband has a fairly good job now and in the future it will pay more than it does now. I have been offered a place that will pay me $120 a month, which would enable us to get out of debt and on Easy Street, but my husband doesn't want me to take it because if I do we will have to send the baby to his mother, who lives in another town, and I will have to work some of the time at night. My husband says that he doesn't feel as if he could do without finding baby and me at home every night when he comes home.

Do you think I would be doing my husband and baby a wrong by taking this job for a year?

MRS. L. O. B.

Answer:

Whether is it right or wrong for a woman to work outside of the home after marriage depends altogether upon the individual circumstances.

In many cases it is highly desirable for the wife to continue on with her job until the first baby comes. It enables many a young couple to get married who would otherwise have to wait so long to marry that all the fire and beauty and romance of their youth have worn itself out, and they would have missed the best part of life. Also, it enables many a young couple to lay up the little nest egg that gives them a start or a chance to buy a home.

Often it is even desirable for a woman to continue working after she has a child because the money she makes can give the child so much better an environment to grow up in, so much better food and better education, that it more than compensates for her lack of personal care.

But in your particular case it seems to me that your manifest duty is to keep your home fires burning, and that you had best sit tight in the job you have as wife and mother.

Your husband is of the domestic type, who finds his reward for his days' work in the sight of his baby's face against the window pane and his wife's smile welcoming him home. That is his inspiration. That puts the courage in his heart and the iron in his soul to make the very best struggle of which he is capable. With that to fight for he will win on to success.

But if you take that away from him you will break down his morale, and he will slump down and do nothing.

There are some men to whom their families are a burden that crushes out all ambition and that make them feel that there is no use in struggling on under such a load. There are other men whose wives and children are a fluttering beacon before them, luring them on to fresh efforts, greater striving, and so they put forth superhuman efforts to achieve.

It is the determination to give his wife and children everything they want that turns many a mediocre man into a great man.

So, Mrs. L. O. B., if you have a husband whom you inspire by your presence, devote yourself to doing the inspiration act instead of trying to earn money. In the end it will pay you more in dollars and cents. Also, you will keep your husband, which you wouldn't do if you left him while you were out working at night.

There are many ways of helping a husband, and one of the best of them is just by depending on him and making him feel that he must stand between you and the baby and want. If there is anything in a man that will bring it out.

LYRICS OF LIFE
By Douglas Malloch

THINGS HAVE CHANGED

Things have changed since an early day,
When Robinson's horses ran away.
He took a girl for a buggy ride,
Young Henry did, and the horses shied
And come a-tearing right down the street
With Henry hanging to reins and seat
And Mary hanging to Henry's neck,
Her arms around him, her hat a wreck.

They caught the horses at Murphy's mill,
But the whole town talked, as a whole town will,
For the whole town saw, and the whole town then
Told the story all over again:
How the horses shied at the hemlock stump
That stood just west of the village pump
And ran full-tilt for a half a mile.
And Mary hugged Henry all the while.

The whole town talked, and the scandal grew,
For the whole town saw and the whole town knew
How she threw her arms 'round the helpless youth
And hugged poor Henry, and that's the truth.
A maid, at least, should be more discreet
Than to hug like that on the public street,
Like Mary did when the horses ran,
And so they mad her marry the man.

STOLEN PATENTS

The most sensational discovery ever made by chemistry was the synthesis of dyes. Previous to the work of William Henry Perkin all dyes were of animal or plant colors, and were slow and costly in the making. It was supposed that their chemistry was a complicated process that could never be imitated. But Perkin found accidentially that cola tar can easily be converted into aniline, the chemical constituent of indigo. Soon alizarin, the source of madder, was synthesized, and before long most dyes were easily and cheaply imitated by the chemists. Perkin took out good patents in England and France to protect himself, but when he applied to Germany for a patent they first insisted on knowing his process in detail, then refused the patent, and soon one of the marvelous new German dyes we were all taught to admire Germany for, would be on the market.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. Phagocyte are minute bodies in the blood stream which digest and destroy harmful bacteria.
2. Corpuscles are free-floating cells of the blood.
3. There are more red corpuscles than white in healthy blood.
4. It takes the blood about 3 minutes to circulate in the body.
5. "Blue Blood" is sometimes loosely used to mean veinous blood, although it is more nearly black, in distinction to the red arterial blood.
6. "Bleeders" are people having poor coagulation powers of the blood, so that when a wound is made, even a very slight one, they are in danger of bleeding to death.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE.

Today's planetary aspects are favorable, and remain so until quite late in the evening. A spirit of courage and self-assurance will be sensed and these qualities will, of course, materially help forward to a successful fruition any special work or endeavor in which you may be interested. It is not so much an occasion for the initiation of any untried enterprise, but rather a propitious opportunity for the solving of some problem that has hitherto caused you worry. Lawyers and inventors will apparently be among those most favored by the prevailing influences, although their beneficent atmosphere will prove profitable to all those who may be grappling with difficulties.

Children born today will cause very little trouble, on physical grounds, during infancy. This immunity to childhood ailments should not engender indifference to proper nutrition and environment, as the outcome of the illness to which they will be in all probability subjected in their teens will very much depend on the way in which they have been reared. Their characters will be self reliant and, if left to their own devices, they will invarinbly steer a safe and a correct course. They will be earnest students, full of ambition and energy. Failure will only make them more determined to succeed and the signs denote that they will "travel far."

If today is your birthday, you have much executive ability, backed up by sound and reliable judgment. You are never satisfied to play "second fiddle" to anyone but always like to take a leading part in anything in which you are interested and are, possibly, a wee bit too fond of the limelight. Your abilities fit you to be "a big frog in a little pond," as you would never be content to be "a little frog in a big pond." You are a good talker and quite convincing in an argument. If you are competent and honest enough with yourself, to know your own limitations, you will realize that you are not destined to handle satisfactorily any large undertaking but that your success lies along more modest lines.

Your impulses are generous but never to the point of forgetting your own welfare. Your home life is harmonious, but you have many and varied outside interests.

Successful people born this date are:

Jay Cooke, financier; Horace White, journalist and author; Joseph McKenna, ex-justice of the United States supreme court; Charles E. Clark, naval officer; Hartley Manners, dramatist; Horace Fletcher, author.

A COUNTRY ROAD.
By Cliffe Bastin

What's nicer than a country road
When August days are bright?
Gray ribbon in a summer sun
A-winding out of sight.
Past houses old and tumbledown,
Past homes sedate and grand.
Past acres rolling to the hills.
Past little plots of land.

Let's travel down that country road,
The dust is inches thick!
The steuh of burning gasoline
Will make you good and sick!
The houses all keep barking dogs,
And chickens prone to roam!
What's nicer than a country road——
To read about . . . at home?

I'M THE GINK

I am the "prominent man's son." I uphold the dignity of the family. I am quite impressed with my own importance and the importance of my family. I am quite impossible, because I am not important at all, but merely make myself obnoxious with a lot of silly pride. I lack everything my father had, but I am sure that it is up to me to uphold the family dignity. That's why I am seen at all functions I consider important. I go about with a stiff neck and a high-hat attitude that fools no one but myself.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

ABSOLUTELY BORED BY THE WHOLE THING

A youth in southeastern Missouri became involved in legal proceedings as the result of the mysterious disappearance of a neighbor's mare and the upshot was that a jury went so far as to find him guilty of horse stealing and the judge gave him a sentence of five years at hard labor. A friend of his defended him at his trial.

Some months after his late client had been taken away to begin serving his sentence this friend was sitting in his office when the door opened and there entered the father of the youth, an elderly bearded hillsman.

"Hal," began the newcomer, "I come to see you to git you to do somethin' 'bout my boy, Wesley, Jr."

"Well, Uncle Wes," said the lawyer, "I don't believe there is anything I can do. You remember how hard I worked for him at his trial—how I snapped both my suspenders. But in spite of all I could say, you know as well as I do what happened. The case went against us and the judge gave Wesley five years in the state penitentiary and there he is!"

"Yas, suh Hal," said the father, Wesley, Jr., is up thar in that there penitentiary and that's jest the p'int! I got a letter frum him this mawnin'. And he told me to come to see you and to tell you to git him out of that place right-a-way—he's plum dissatisfied."

Benton Leads Attack For 9-4 Win, Jenkins Homers

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Sports celebrated their return home by dropping a 9-4 contest to the Spudders in which timely hitting of the visitors and slow fielding of the locals played a prominent part. Gleason pitched the first four and one third innings for the Sports and gave way to Thompson who withdrew from the game in the seventh for a pinch hitter and Cantrell finished on the mound. Ross went the route for the Spudders. Distel and Jenkins hit home runs.

Benton was the leading hitter of the day, touching his former team mates for three safeties out of five to the plate. Jenkins connected for a double to pair with his circuit smash.

Sports Score First

Shreveport got to Ross for a run in the first and another in the third. The Spudders charged over for three runs in the fourth, but the Sports tied the score before the inning was out. A walk to Turgeon which was followed by Jenkins' homer gave the Spudders their start. Lamb grounded out and then Benton and Metzler singled. DeFate walked. Query was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Benton home. Ross and LaFayette struck out.

Wichita Falls scored again in the fifth on another walk to Turgeon, Jenkins' double and a sacrifice fly by Lamb.

One Big Inning

The Spudders went wild in the seventh, knocking five runs across. Turgeon opened the inning with a double to right center. Jenkins was hit by a pitched ball. Lamb singled to right. Turgeon scored and Jenkins went to third on the blow. Benton hoisted to short, but Metzler singled to left, scoring Jenkins. Lamb drew up at second. DeFate grounded to short. The throw was made to second and Hoffman dropped the ball. All hands were safe. Query popped to Hoffman. Ross beat out an infield hit, scoring Lamb. LaFayette followed with a single to left that sent Metzler to the plate with DeFate on his heels. Turgeon, up his second time during the inning, retired the side with a long fly to center.

Keep Eye on Ball, Catch it On Rise and Don't Worry, Lenglen Advises Lovers of Court Game

Control, Not Wicked Service of Powerful Return, Secret of Success at Tennis.

FOURIVILLE, France, Aug. 9.—(AP)—"The night mare is over!" thus did the temperamental Suzanne Lenglen, enthusiastic over her prospective visit to the United States, greet a correspondent for The Associated Press who had come to this little seaside resort near Dieppe, where the amateur woman tennis champion of the world turned professional.

Freed from the always present thought of having to defend her title, Suzanne appeared five years younger, carefree and happy.

"Some seem to believe I am tied up hands and feet by becoming a professional," she said. "To me it is an escape from bondage and slavery. No one can order me about any longer to play tournaments for the benefit of club owners. I got great fun out of tennis for a few years after the war, but lately it had become too exacting."

Plans "Fireworks" in U. S.

"Fireworks! believe me, I will show them some fireworks in the United States. With nothing to lose and nothing to gain, I will take chances on shots I never dared take before when each point loomed up as big as Eiffel Tower and the match might depend on it."

"Who will play against me? I don't know and I don't care. I am ready to meet them all. Tell them to come on. I have done my bit to build up the tennis of France and of the world. It's about time tennis did something for me."

"Do you think you might meet Helen Wills again?"

"I sincerely hope so," Suzanne responded.

"Perhaps it can be arranged. I don't feel that I should be ostracized because I have turned professional. Maybe the United States Tennis association will permit a match between us to be staged in America. It would be the fulfillment of one of my most cherished ambitions."

"How old am I? I am not afraid to say that I am 27 years of age. I was born in 1899 and have been playing tennis for 16 years. I began when I was 11 years old.

Relieved at Freedom.

"Ouf! what a relief to be free once more! Jean Borotra summed it up in a few words when he said I was the only woman in the world that had no business to be sick, but all these cares and worries are now gone and I am feling pretty good just now."

"What was my hardest match?" Mlle Lenglen continued. She gives emphasis to questions that interest her by repeating them. "It was my match against Mrs. R. Lambert Chambers at Wimbledon in 1919, where incidentally I won my first world championship. I was a little girl, aged 20, pitted against the best player in the world.

"My advice to young players? Keep your eye on the ball; second, keep the ball in play; third, meet the ball in rise; fourth, practice your weak spots, and fifth, don't worry.

Doesn't Know Walter.

"The last is advice I never myself could follow, but don't do as I did, do as I say. Control of the ball and accuracy is the secret of tennis success. I never had a wicked service; my forehand drive is not nearly as powerful as Miss Wills' but I have always been able to place the ball within inches of where I wanted it."

"Control, control," Suzanne reiterated and the correspondent marked she was like Walter Johnson giving advise to aspiring young pitchers.

"Who is Walter Johnson?" asked Suzanne.

"You will have to brush up your American history," she was told. "It would never do over there for you to admit that you have not heard of Walter Johnson."

"I'll see that it doesn't happen again," said Suzanne meekly.

The Leaping Swede

Sten Petterssen, Sweden's champion hurdler and sprinter, is now in the U. S. to win a measure of the glory Paavo Nurmi and other foreign stars have ahead of him. He'll compete in the National A. A. U. meet at Philadelphia, July 3-4.

BERK BELL WINS AGAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—(AP)—On courts soggy with rain, which once halted play, seeded players emerged unscathed today in the first round of the National Junior and Boys singles tennis championships.

Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas, seeded number 1, in the junior drawings allowed Leon Erenberg of Oakpark, Ill., only two games in two sets.

Phils Divide Twin Bill With Redlegs

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Phillies divided a twin bill with the Cincinnati Reds today, copping the first game, 7 to 4, but losing the second 10 to 5. The locals cinched the opening fray by slapping Pete Donohue out of the box with a seven-run assault in the first inning. The Reds overcame a four-run lead with a rally in the sixth inning of the second game, and in the next inning put the game on ice with four more tallies. Roush drove in four runs and scored three in the second game, hitting a homer, single and double.

Detroit Rally Falls Run Shy, Ruth Hits Homer No. 36

DETROIT, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Koenig's muff of Tavener's easy fly in the ninth inning with two men out opened the road to a four-run Tiger rally today that fell one short of a tie, the Yanks winning, 9 to 8. Ruth and Lazzeri hit home runs. Lazzeri's blow scored two ahead of him, while Ruth found only one man on the bases when he made his 36th homer of the season. Detroit used four pitchers in an effort to check the league leaders. Smith proving effective. Score:

ATZMEN ROUT STEERS TWICE

Walkup and Wachtel Cop 7 to 1 and 13 to 1 Victories

FORT WORTH, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Skipper Jake Atz made good his farewell threat against the league leaders as far as Dallas is concerned, when the Cats took both ends of a double-header from the Steers here Monday afternoon, 7 to 1, and 13 to 1.

Jimmy Walkup let the herd down with seven hits in the first and Paul Wachtel held them all but swatless in the second, Riley getting their lone hit. Shuman had plenty of control, but little else in the first. Foster and Darrough divided the odium of the second chapter, which was worse than the preceding one. The Steers also had a practical monopoly on errors.

Great outfield catches by West and Miller and some neat play at short by Usatt spiced the frolic. Score:

A Long, Hard Pull But She Gets There

Emerging victorious from her swim of the English channel, Gertrude Ederle faces the pleasant prospect of collecting a fortune equalling that derived by Jack Dempsey from the boxing world and Babe Ruth from the baseball world. With her affairs handled properly she may even surpass these fortunes.

Ruth stands out as the greatest baseball idol and drawing card in the world. Baseball is a game of men.

Jack Dempsey is high king of the boxing game. But it too is a game for men—and men of brawn at that.

But Gertrude Ederle stands out today, not merely as the greatest woman swimmer in the world—but the greatest of all swimers in point of speed, endurance and pluck—to say nothing of actual achievement.

She surpassed the deeds of the greatest of men.

Invades Last Domain

She has excelled in the feats of men who sought and achieved the ultimate in swimming—the crossing of the English channel. She invaded man's last domain in the aquatic world and bettered his performances.

There is but one possible barrier which will prevent her from acquiring a fortune ranking with that which fame has netted Ruth and Dempsey. That is the nature of her achievement. And in this age of high powered promotion work this will be overcome. She will draw unheard of sums for appearances at the bathing centers of the world. Vaudeville tours will net her a handsome weekly income over a period of months. The movies will call—and beg for her services.

The fact that she was already a professional swimmer when she achieved the channel swim left the way clear for her to make the most of these offers. Not only that but it leaves her free to sell her services as a profession at a handsome figure.

All this at the age of 19, when most girls are content to loll upon the beach in natty suits and idolize the life guards.

One of the many exhibitions already considered for Miss Ederle is a swim down the Hudson or Schuylkill river, pitting her speed and endurance, perhaps, against two or three well known swimmers. While this would not present the conditions under which the channel swim is made—cold, choppy sea, fog, tide, etc.—it would give hundreds of thousands of persons a chance to see the way she handles herself in the water, the various strokes she uses.

She will undoubtedly derive more from her achievement in a few months than all of the five men who swam the channel, have derived together.

Capt. Webb, first successful aspirant, toured the world for years and undoubtedly made a snug little fortune—as fortunes were estimated then. Those who came later—Thomas Burgess, Henry Sullivan, S. Tiraboschi and Charley Toth, realized on their achievement but not to the extent Miss Ederle will, by many mints full.

Truly the world lies before Miss Ederle.

Veterans Win In Davis Cup Tests

Richards Cancels Match With White Due to Leg Injury

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—(AP)—America's veteran internationalists came through their first Davis cup tennis tests today, with three hard-fought victories on the turf courts of the Westside Tennis club.

A trio of youthful candidates for places on the defending team pressed R. Norris Williams, William T. Tilden and William M. Johnston, ot bring off their triumphs, but Williams was the only veteran apparently on the brink of defeat. George Lott of Chicago carried him to three sets and was leading in the final set at five games to three when the American cup team captain rallied brilliantly to save the match by winning four straight games, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Tilden also required an extra set to defeat Edward G. Chandler of California, inter-collegiate champion, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, while Johnston's terrific forehanders decided his battle with Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., 6-4, 7-5.

Tilden and Johnston then took the court as a doubles team and went down to defeat in a battle of spectacular rallies before Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams, the national champions, 6-4, 9-7. In a second doubles encounter, Chandler and Lewis N. White of Austin, Tex., vanquished Chapin and Lott 6-3, 10-8.

Vincent Richards, who reported an injury to his leg yesterday in the Southern New York State championship at Rye, N. Y., cancelled his match today against White. He a lso said he would be unable to fulfill his singles schedule in the trials of the next two days, although the Davis cup selection committee announced he had been requested to do so.

Richards complained of being "over tennised" as a result of his two weeks play in the Metropolitan and Seabright events.

Benny Leonard re-iterates his statement that he is through with the ring but adds that he can still make the lightweight limit. Figure that one

Although Benton manufactured three hits yesterday at Shreveport he lost ground to Jenkins in the 'run-getters' column. Jenkins hit a home run with Turgeon on base, orging two runs ahead of Rabbit who just naturally couldn't find anybody far enough around the paths to drive them in with his bevy of singles.

The drive covers 30 days closing August 15. The Spudders who knocks the most runs across will be awarded a gold watch. The second placer is to be given 30 iron men.

Best Matty At Aerial Game?

Romonoff Expects to Beat Jap With Flying Holds

Matty Matsuda is expected in the city today to taper off training exercises in preparation for his match with Billy Romonoff Thursday night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena.

Romonoff is due Wednesday simultaneously with the expected arival of Yaqui Joe who meets Tommy Record in a finish match on the same card, said Matchmaker A. B. Ross yesterday.

An added attraction has been lined up in th form of a couple of amateurs out of Oklahoma who will wrestle a ten-minute limit bout said Ross. Ted Scott, who claims the Canadian amateur middleweight title, and Big Boy Mitchell, a 190-pounder, are to open the program. Scott weighs 168. He is anxious to enter professional ranks. The Thursday match takes the form of a trial, so to speak.

Romonoff in letter to the the promoter, received yesterday, declares he is in perfect condition and expects "to pitch Matsuda out of the ring just as fast as he climbs back in." Billy commented on Matsuda's ability as a flying-hold exponent and declared he hoped to outsmart the Jap at the "aerial game."

Tex Rickard says he will stage the Dempsey-Tunney fight this year if he has to take it out in a desert some place. Maybe that's where it ought to be held.

Benny says Dempsey will lick Tunney. Either Benny means it or he and Jack belong to the same boxing lodge.

EARLY DAYS IN OIL GAME

Last Few Decades Have Seen Many Changes

One mile southeast of a little lumber village in western Pennsylvania there occurred an incident on August 27, 1859, which brought in a new era. Late that sultry Saturday afternoon Uncle Billy Smith and his young son drew out an iron bitt fro a well-role, and started to measure the depth, which previously had shown 69 1-2 feet. Within a few feet of the top gurgled a black, oily fluid. Using a tin pitcher pump, Uncle Billy and his son raised several barrels of oil and at sunset the old man, with a sample of the "rock oil," clambered on mule and set out posthaste over the intervening mile toward Titusville to spread the news that Drake's Folly was after all a dream come true.

Two years previous Edwin L. Drake had visited this section to determine the prospect of producting petroleum from the ground owned by the "Pennsylvania Rock Oil Company.

Drake's Primitive Apparatus

Oil seepages along Oil creek had led him to believe large quantities of petroleum lay in subterranean cavities and could be reached by digging wells through the overlaying rock. In the spring of 1859 he started digging. It was slow work and, because of rock encountered, the pick and shovel method was soon abandoned. Drake then conceived the idea of using an iron drill and driving down an iron pipe with the depth of the hole. Makeshift machinery—a steam engine for motive power, a hemp rope attached to the drill, and a crude wooden windlass—constituted the drilling equipment.

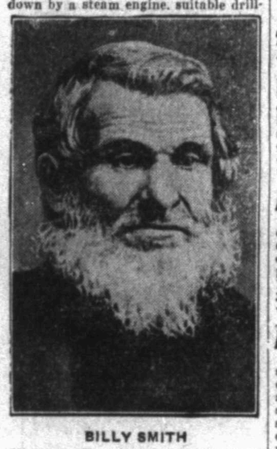

Drake's effort became the butt of all western Pennsylvania. But when Uncle Billy Smith arrived in Titusville on that momentous Saturday night, those who came to scoff remained to pray.

First Boom if Its Kind

Although Titusville was in an inaccessible region, without railroad or telegraph, the news of the discovery spread rapidly and by the following Monday the eighteen miles of Oil Creek valley was being combed for suitable oil leases by enterprising men. As the news spread yet farther it swept in a tital wave of human beings—hardy pioneers and adventurers—all seeking this new form of gold.

One week after Drake's well was discovered every farm bordering Oil Creek had been sold or leased and the back country was receiving attention. Lumbermen were getting out timbers for derricks. The demand for carpenters put their services at a premium. The incoming horde found ready employment at good wages, while many were offered shares in wells in lieu of wages by impecunious leaseholders who had invested nearly all their capital in acreage.

Although Drake's well had been put down by a steam engine, suitable drilling machinery was scarce and expensive. The popular method of driving a well was by use of a spring-hole. It was a flexible sapling with the heavier end anchored outside the derrick and the smaller end swinging free where the drilling was to be done. To this free end the drilling tools were suspended. At the unanchored end hung a stirrup into which each of the two husky men, who furnished the motive power, put a foot. When they put their weight on the stirrup, the bitt struck a blow at the bottom of the hole, and then was lifted again by the spring in the sapling. It was slow, difficult work, but many of the early drillers shoved their way to fortunes by the spring-pole method. For scores of others there was only disappointment.

BILLY SMITH
Made the Tools for the Drake Well

Although sixty-five years have elapsed since those early days, the uncertainty of finding oil still exists. True, geologists have eliminated some of the guess work by classfying the rock formations in which oil is likely or unlikely to occur. But, geologist or no geologist, one can never tell in advance whether oil or unproductive sands lie below. Take the last ten years in the United States for example: 254,000 wells drilled for oil were completed, but in 76,000 of those no oil was found. This great uncertainty is one of the important factors which have made, and probably always will make, the oil business hazardous.

Modern Industrial Wonders

Of course the spring-pole drilling methods of the Oil Creek days have gone. Modern drilling machinery is as far advanced over those days as the automobile is over the stage coach. Signal Hill, the field still leading California's crude oil production, finds her richest oil sands at depths from 3,500 to 5,000 feet. Santa Fee Springs boasts similar depths. Athens finds oil lands from 4,000 to 7,500 feet, and the bottom of these sands has not been reached.

Athens well No. 6 is the deepest producing oil well in the world, reaching a depth of 7,591 feet. It required 230 days to complete, and cost $170,423.

Last year in California 1,286 wells were completed of which one-fourth were dry. The average cost was $87,000. The depth of most wells in other producing sections of the United States range from about 1,000 to 3,500 feet, and they cost an average of about $24,000.

Perhaps it is the very uncertainty of finding oil that gives the industry its lure. The same spirit behind that first boom along famous Oil Creek still actuates men who seek oil at four corners of the earth. Romance and adventure are not dead even in this year 1926. For the motorist, its a good thing they are not, for it is calculated that since the Drake well was drilled, no less than $12,500,000,000 has gone into developing the oil fields, while not over $8,000,000,000 has been realized from the sale of their crude oil product. The figure is from Boyd's new book, "Gasoline: What Every One Should Know About It."

KENTUCKY, WHITE

The No. 1 well of the Kentucky and Marland companies in the northeast corner of block 111, A. J. White land, Harris sub-division in Archer county, and about 1,500 feet west of production in the Pandem-Thomas pool, looks like it will make 25 barrels of oil and 15 barrels of water. There is a possibility of shutting off the water as it is thought to be coming from above the oil sand. Sand was topped in the well at 1,173 feet and drilled at 1,179 feet.

EMPIRE, PARKEY

The Empire Oil and Gas company has 800 feet of oil and some water in the hole on their No. 2 Parkey, a south offset to their recent wildcat completion in the northwest corner of the west half of block 2, abstract 1233, S. P. railroad survey, six miles southwest of Holliday in north Archer county. Sand was found in No. 2 at 1,571 feet. The same company has made location for No. 1-C, Parkey to be drilled in the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of block 2. No. 1-B, Parkey, will be drilled in the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of the same block.

GULF, ARCHER COUNTY

The Gulf Production company is abandoning at 1,602 feet its No. 1 G. Baesler et al in Archer county, located 4,400 feet north and 1,844 feet east of the southwest corner of the W. E. Blount survey, abstract 13. No 2 Ikard 3,172 feet west and 1,320 feet south of the northeast corner of lot 67, Jefferson county school lands has 100 feet of salt water in the hole from sand at 1,057, pipe will be pulled and the hole drilled deeper. No. 1 H. L. Ward et al lease C, 1,818 feet north and 150 feet west of the southwest corner of the Tomlinson survey, abstract 452, will test a sand at 1,051 feet. A 4-quart shot of nitro was applied to a sand from 1,029-33 feet and a 5-quart shot to a sand from 1,030-35 feet in this hole, without results.

MOODY MEN

a reply to charges contained in the written statement submitted to your committee by Mr. A. L. Curtis, in which it is charged that during the campaign the election laws were violated. In answer to the charges so made, the following statement is submitted:

"1—It is denied that during the campaign Mr. Moody violated any of the laws regulating elections in this state.

"2—His charges that corporations contributed to Mr. Moody's campaign fund are untrue, there being no contribution received by Mr. Moody from any corporation.

"3—It is specifically denied that Mr. Moody failed to report any contribution made to his campaign fund, and the fact is that his report on file with the secretary of state shows every contribution received by him.

"4—In regard to the charge made that R. L. Bobbitt and Lee Satterwhite contributed to Mr. Moody's campaign in violation of the statutes of this state, it is denied that either of these gentlemen contributed any sum of money to his campaign. It appears in his report that each of the gentlemen contributed the sum of $250. These contributions were, in truth and in fact, made by Mr. A. B. Martin of Plainview and Mr. Marshall Hicks of San Antonio, but they were remitted to Moody's office in Austin by Mr. Bobbitt and Mr. Satterwhite, and for this reason these funds were erroneously credited to Mr. Bobbitt and Mr. Satterwhite. At the time these contributions were made Mr. Moody did not know that Mr. Bobbitt or Mr. Satterwhite had even remitted these funds. In support of this statement there is attached hereto the affidavit of Mr. A. B. Martin and Mr. Marshall Hicks, which show that each of these gentlemen contributed the sums credited to Mr. Bobbitt and Mr. Satterwhite; also the affidavit of Mr. Satterwhite to the same effect.

"On behalf of Mr. Moody each and every charge made in the statement read before your committee charging any violation of the election law is denied.

"In conclusion Mr. Moody desires to express his appreciation of the privilege of submitting this reply to the baseless charges before your committee."

Hicks Affidavit.

The affidavit of Mr. Hicks, made a part of the statement, follows:

"I, Marshall Hicks, being duly sworn, do state upon oath that I am a resident of San Antonio, Bexar county, Texas, and that I am a member of the firm of Hicks, Hicks, Dickson and Bobbitt, a law partnership composed of myself, Charles M. Dickson and R. L. Bobbitt, with offices at San Antonio, Texas, and Laredo, Texas.

"I further state upon my oath that on or about the——day of May, 1926, after Dan Moody became a candidate in the democratic primaries for the office of governor of the state of Texas, to be held on July 24, 1926, I requesttd my law partner, R. L. Bobbitt, to send as my contribution to the Dan Moody campaign the sum of two hundred and fifty ($250.00) dollars, and some days after that date, R. L. Bobbitt informed me that he had sent a check to cover said contribution as requested by me. The check was a firm check of Hicks, Hicks, Dickson and Bobbitt; the same was my personal contribution to Moody's campaign fund and no part of the same was contributed by Robert L. Bobbitt. On information and belief I further state that this item of two hundred and fifty ($250.00) dollars so contributed by me is the item of two hundred and fifty ($250.00) dollars which is listed in the report of receipts and expenditures by Dan Moody on file with the secretary of state as having been contributed by R. L. Bobbitt."

Satterwhite Affidavit.

Mr. Satterwhite's affidavit follows:

"On this, the 9th day of August, 1926, personally appeared before me Lee Satterwhite, who after being duly sworn, deposes and says:

"Sometime during the latter part of May, I think about the 22nd thereof, Judge A. B. Martin advised me that he desired to contribute $250 to Dan Moody's campaign for governor, and asked me if I would transmit to him. This I agreed to do. Judge Martin accordingly purchased a cashier's check for said sum of $250 and delivered it to me for the purpose stated. Said money was transmitted by me through my personal check to the Dan Moody headquarters in Austin, to be used as stated in the interest of Moody's campaign for governor. No part of the $250 so transmitted was contributed by me, but all of same was contributed by Judge Martin. I did not contribute directly or indirectly any of my personal funds whatever to Moody's campaign."

Mr. Martin's affidavit follows:

"I contemplated leaving the state for summer, and desiring to make a contribution to the campaign of Dan Moody for governor, I purchased a cashier's check for two hundred and fifty ($250.00) dollars at the First National bank of Plainview, Texas, dated about May 22nd, 1926, and delivered same to Lee Satterwhite, who happened to be in Plainview at the time, to use in Moody's behalf, or send to his campaign headquarters; Satterwhite at the time was working in the interest of Moody, and knowing this fact, and having known Satterwhite intimately for years, I delivered same to Satterwhite to be used in Moody's behalf and for no other purposes."

WICHITA MEN MAKE BIG BUY

Second Big Deal In Week Near Clark Well

Another big deal in the Sunshine Hill district of Wichita county was closed Monday when Bridwell, Heydrick and Jno. O'Donohoe, Wichita Falls operators, purchased three different tracts totaling 165 acres in the neighborhood of the Clark-Smith well for a consideration reported to be $114,000, $52,000 cash and the balance to be paid out of oil. One tract of 40 acres on the Saunders estate fee offsets the Clark well to the east and was bought from the Jackson-Kitzman Oil company (formerly owned by Fort Dearborn Oil company). The new owners will offset the Clark well at once. The other tracts, further away from the new well, consists of 120 acres on the Eads land, abstract 710 and five acres on the McClure land, abstract 363. The different properties now have fifteen wells producing 25 barrels daily from three different sands. The clark-Smith well which started the new boom in this old producing are is still flowing over 200 barrels from sand at 1,861 to 1,871 feet.

This is the second deal of large proportions to be pulled off in this area since the Clark-Smith well was brought in, L. P. Hammond having purchase a 40-acre offset to the Clark well the latter part of last week for a consideration of $65,000, half cash and half oil.

Langley Wires His Wife From Prison After Her Election

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Aug. 9.—(AP) John W. Langley, former congressman from the tenth Kentucky district, today telegraphed his cogratulations to his wife upon her victory in Saturday's republican congressional primary in which she won back the seat lost when Langley resigned.

"I am supremely happy," Langley wired from the Atlanta prison where he is serving a two-year sentence for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. "Even these gray prison walls seem to shine with the lustre of our beloved Cumberland and Blue Ridge. Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord. May He bless and keep always the good men and women and all our children of the Kentucky mountains. My love and greetings to the first congress woman of the old commonwealth.

Mrs. Langley's term of office begins next March 4, and she has no opposition.

DALLAS TO STATE STAND ON R. C. S. EXTENSION.

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The attitude of the Dallas chamber of commerce toward the application of the Kansas City Southern for permission to take control of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and St Louis and Southwestern railroad properties will be determined soon. Because of the expected far-reaching affect of such a change, the matter will be given very careful consideration, members of the board of directors of the chamber said.

JAIL BREAK EXPECTED BUT NOT PREVENTED.

PARIS, Texas, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Precautions taken several days ago to prevent the escape of Carl Golden and Paul Stephens from the Lamar county jail proved of no avail last night. Using pieces of a dismantled radiator, they pried bars apart and departed without leaving a forwarding address. Golden was charged with car theft and Stephens with burglary. After saws were found in their cells a few days ago they were placed in the death cell of the jail.

AVIATOR TELLS OF ESCAPE

Thrown from Cockpit of Plane While Asleep, He Says.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The aviator who saved his life by opening his parachute when he fell from a plane near Austin Sunday afternoon was Lieut. J. I. Moore of Kelly field, and not Lieut. John L. Thomas, as reported from Austin.

Lieutenant Moore, who was in charge of the expedition sent to Waco Friday, gave details of the mishap Monday. Lieut. Claude E. Duncan was operating the ship from the front cockpit, flying at an antitude of 500 feet, Moore said he fell asleep and when the plane hit a deep, rough air-bump he was thrown on the fuselage. He grasped a wire to check his slide and it gave way as his foot caught in a second wire. Jerking loose from this, he grabbed the rip cord of his parachute and cut it loose.

McKINNEY, Tex., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Charles David Feichter, 21, of Sherman, was killed and Mrs. Paul Snider of Dallas was severely injured last night near Wetzel, three miles south of McKinney, when their automobile went into a ditch.

Upsets Tradition in Drama Contests

Still another tradition has been smashed by a woman. Never before have both the prizes for Comedy and Tragedy in the annual Paris Conservatoire contests been awarded to one individual. But this year, Mlle. Marcelle Romee, already established as an actress although but 20 years old, carried off both prizes amid general and unstinted applause.

Strong Men of France Are Found In New Cabinet Formed by Poincare

The new cabinet selected by Premier Raymond Poincare to help him lead France out of the financial and economic crisis which hourly becomes more tense contains more noted and influential men of the French republic than any that has been called into service in recent years at least. In addition to Poincare as premier the cabinet has Louis Barthou as minister of justice and vice president; Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs; Albert Sarraut, minister of interior; Edouard Herriot, minister of public instruction; M. Leygues, minister of marine; Paul Painleve, minister of war; Louis Marin, minister of pensions; Maurice Bekanowski, minister of commerce; Andrew Tardieu, minister of public works; M. Perrier, minister of colonies; M. Queuille, minister of agriculture; Andre Fallieres, minister of labor.

Terrell Interprets Democratic Vote

AUSTIN, Aug. 9.—(AP)—His leading of the ticket in the democratic primary is proof that the voters favor "consolidation of the agricultural administrative work with the department of agriculture and the abolishment of unnecessary boards and commissions in the interest of efficiency and economy," George B. Terrell, agricultural commissioner, said Monday.

Mr. Terrell said the primary demonstrated the voters discriminate fairly well, and that "no man can be elected simply because his name is Terrell or Davidson."

FINED FOR FISHLESS FISHING

DETROIT, Aug. 9. — (AP) — George Herman Ruth the slugger, had three strikes called on him today without lifting his bat from his shoulder when Caleb Collett, Brighton, Mich., justice of the peace, fined him $15 for fishing in Michigan without a license last June. Ruth paid $50, the additional $35 being the fine against his companion, Paddy Sexton, Detroit real estate man.

"I engineered the whole party," Sexton told the court. "And I caught all the fish. Ruth isn't guilty, he isn't a good enough fisherman."

"I didn't catch any fish," quoth Ruth, "but I was fishing, so I guess I'm guilty."

BOY SCOUTS INCREASE FAST

Twenty-Five Troops by November 1 Is Forecast Of Creighton

Scouting in Wichita Falls for 1926-27 looms bright, according to Scout Executive, Frank B. Creighton, yesterday when he announced a training school to be held in October. "It looks now that by November 1, we will have 25 active troops in the city," he said.

Plans are under way for the third summer camp for the boys to be held this year. The camp will be at Craterville Park, Okla., and efforts are being made at this time to move the camp dates up in order that the scouts may be there at the time of the Indian festival to be held August 26, 27 and 28, Mr. Creighton said.

Overnight Party

As a reward to boys who have done good work in scouting, one lad from each troop was entertained Monday night at Lake Wichita when Lester Jones, scout councilman, and Mr. Creighton, took the boys in Mr. Jones' motor boat for a ride over the lake. They returned to the pier where they spent the night.

Negroes Organize

Troop No. 30 is the negro troop of Wichita Falls which is organized and functioning with a group of boys taking part. A special uniform for these lads has been ordered and is expected to be here within the next ten days. The uniform consists of blue wool trousers sailor fashion, white middy and white cap.

Council Approves Paving Stretches

Four public hearings in paving projects occupied the attention of the city council at its meeting Monday night. The hearings were closed and the paving authorized on two of the stretches represented; on a third the hearing was postponed for another month, and on a fourth for another week.

Paving was authorized on Hayes street, Ozark to Cumberland, and on Fourth street, Ohio to Scott. The hearing on Fillmore, Avenue M to the Wichita Valley tracks was set forward a month, and that on the 11th street "skips" set forward a week.

The paving of L. E. Whitham on Broad, 18th to 24th street, was accepted by the council, as was that of the Plains Paving company, Avenue J to Avenue M.

The petition of residents on Fillmore, Avenue K to M, for paving, was received and accepted.

Hatcher Will Go On Road for Dan

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—(AP)—"From now on until August 28, I shall make as vigorous a campaign for the nomination of Dan Moody for governor as I do for myself," declared State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher after he attended the state democratic committing meeting here Monday.

Hatcher said that James E. Ferguson in entering his wife's name in the second primary as a candidate for governor, after having stated that he would not do so, "was adding one more to the list of promises made and broken by Jim since his wife became governor," and to this extent was running "true to form."

Hatcher received 215,000 votes in the July primary, but because of the fact there was six other candidates in the race for state treasurer he did not receive a majority, he will be forced to make the race in the August primary with J. R. Ball, the Ferguson Forum candidate, who received 140,000 votes.

Mr. Hatcher said that Jim Ferguson in the first primary had denounced him, Moody and Marrs and called them "the wicked three" and that Marrs having received a majority in the first primary would not have to make a second campaign, and that he was now asking the people of Texas to elect him and Moody, so that the "wicked three" would be remembered, but not in the way that Ferguson had requested.

Why Pay U.S.? Tips Show France We're Millionaires

Reasons why the French people have taken the attitude they have regarding the debt to the United States is largely because the average American does not consider a franc a franc, but the exchange value, Joseph Huckins, III., told members of the Kiwanis club Monday at the regular luncheon at the Kemp Hotel. He has recently returned from a tour made by the American Hotel association through Europe.

Mr. Huckins showed how the average American in France thought of the franc as worth so much American money, and in tipping waiters, and in place of giving what is usually a fair sum, two or three pennies, he thinks of the money in American terms, and gives what is usually customary in this country. So, the French believe there is no need to collect the debt, that Americans are rolling in money.

Rebuild Fast.

France is rebuilding fast. The area devastated by war is almost completely restored. Belgium has also recovered quickly from the effects of the war.

When the party with which Mr. Huckins was traveling reached Genoa, Italy, the city was preparing for a visit from Mussolini, prime minister of that country, and things took on a gala appearance—everything was in readiness to receive the guest. "Mussolini is all powerful in Italy," and instances of the constructive work of his regime were enumerated.

"The facisti of Italy is organized on a certain military basis," the speaker said. "They have their legions, their centurions, their senators. They use the old Roman salute of extending the right arm forward. Their uniform is that of the regular Italian army and a black shirt. The uniforms are always worn on Sundays. It gives the psychological effect that they have a large standing army."

Other Travels.

Mr. Huckins spoke briefly of his visit in England, France, of Belgium where King Albert, the queen and his family received the hotel association; of Holland, its tulip farms; of Austria, which is still suffering from the war; of Bavaria and Germany.

He was introduced by Walter Nelson, Jr., chairman of the program committee, who also introduced the guests of the day.

D. M. Bernard, chairman of the publicity committee to make arrangements for the regalia to be worn at the district convention at Muskogee, Okla., in September, made a report.

Wants Help To Turn Loose Her Wild Husband

For rough and wooly husbands the wild, wild west is passe, says in effect a divorce petition filed with the district clerk Monday.

The plaintiff, a lady if you please, sir, affirms that they are not to be compared with the species captured in South Africa. "He, a native of South Africa, was rough and uncouth, and was not a person of refinement," the petition alleges.

Among the acts of "excessive cruelty" alleged in the petition is the abduction of two minor children, aged 5 and 7, on January 8 of this year. The mother states in the petition that she does not to this day know where either father or offsprings are.

The marriage between the two was consummated in Albuquerque, New Mexico, in 1917.

CLINK OF BEADS FOOLS YOUTH

Boy Evangelist Says Incorrect Valuation Misleads Many

"God never sends more temptations to a youth than he can resist," Burroughs A. Waltrip, young evangelist told a large crowd of young people Monday evening, "and our job is to find out how to best resist them.

"Four of the greatest temptations that face modern youth are wrong valuation, wherein we think too much of the clinking china beads of the world and too little of the pearls of God's love; self indulgence with its poisons of conceit and selfishness; wrong associations whereby we become cowardly, losing our good judgment and high ideals; and the last and biggest one, procrastination—putting Jesus off—the sin that has blighted more lives than all others put together. If you'll conquer this last sin, you'll conquer the other three, for by living close to God, you'll find a sure way out of all temptation."

Mrs. George Miller of Waco, chalk talk artist, illustrated "Rock of Ages" and "For You I Am Praying." Thos. F. Glosup, gospel singer, singing the latter.—Miss Josephine Fisk sang the offertory, "I Am Sure That He Loves Even Me."
