

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

VOLUME THIRTY-SEVEN.

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 12, 1932.

NUMBER FIFTY-TWO

RURAL SCHOOL AID

Miss Selby Attwell, rural school supervisor from the state department of education, has been in the county this week investigating the schools applying for rural aid and has recommended a large increase for the county over former allowances. It is not absolutely certain that these allowances will be made by the state board, but they are very likely to be approved.

Following list of schools have been recommended for the amounts named:

Goldthwaite	$ 2118.00
Priddy	1330.00
Mullin	1172.00
Star	932.00
Center City	828.00
Big Valley	775.00
Ebony	724.00
Center Point	706.00
Pompey Mountain	653.00
Prairie	641.00
Pecan Wells	601.00
Wash Board	569.00
Pleasant Grove	463.00
Ridge	452.00
Lake Merritt	408.00
South Bennett	364.00
Pompey Creek	320.00
Mount Olive	267.00
Midway	267.00
Head	265.00

Total $13,855.00

In addition to these allowances, Center City will get $100 industrial allowance, Prairie gets the same amount, while Big Valley will be given a truck allowance.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Joe Morgan, aged 26, a stranger here, was instantly killed Wednesday afternoon, when he attempted to board a freight train in the northern portion of the city, near the signal tower, between Evans and First streets. He arrived in the city, with a traveling companion, Wednesday morning at an early hour and went to the home of H. P. Privett, where he remained until after noon, when he announced the intention of going to Temple. One of the Privett boys and his traveling companion accompanied him to the railroad, where they awaited the coming of a freight train from the west. When they heard the train coming he got out of the car and stood by the side of the railroad track and attempted to catch on to the train as it passed, according to the report given the Eagle. He missed his hold and fell beneath the train and was horribly mangled. His remains were taken in charge by the Fairman Co. to prepare for burial.

Morgan was a son-in-law of H. P. Privett and leaves a wife and four step-children, who were at Temple at the time of the fatal accident. The family lived in Arizona for a number of years, but came to Texas some weeks ago to attend the trial of Mrs. Morgan's brother at Eastland. After the trial was postponed they went to Temple to remain until the next trial of the case. He is supposed to have been in search of employment when he came here Wednesday.

The remains were to be shipped to Temple last night for burial, the railroad company paying all burial expenses.

TUESDAY STUDY CLUB

The Club held its regular program at the home of Mrs. Frank Taylor, with Mrs. Lester Berry as hostess and Mrs. Earl Summy leader.

The subject for discussion was "John Galsworthy." Interesting papers were read by Mmes. R. L. Steen, Jr., Elmo Littlepage, Earl Summy and Miss Myrna Miller. After the program a very pretty ice course was served to members.

The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Ellen Archer and Mrs. Frank Taylor will be leader.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

County Clerk L. B. Porter issued marriage license since last report to Medford Roberts and Miss Trudy Etheridge, both of Star.

COMMISSIONERS COURT

Commissioners court was in session Monday and Tuesday and transacted a large amount of business, most of which was of a routine nature.

The work of Commissioner Duren in straightening and improving the Mullin and Comanche road was approved by the court.

The price for all road work in the county was fixed at $1.50 per day for day labor, not more than $3.50 for engineers and other skilled labor, $4 per day for man and 4-horse team, $3 per day for man and 2-horse team. The delinquent tax record was examined and approved.

Official reports were approved and accounts against the county were examined and ordered paid.

Highway money for the month was divided to the various precincts in accordance with collections from such precincts. No. 1 received $277.66; No. 2, $103.80; No. 3, $166.65; No. 4, $40.70.

BRIDGE PARTY

On Wednesday afternoon at 2:45, Mrs. L. E. Miller entertained a group of friends in her lovely home with a Saint Patrick bridge party.

As the ladies arrived they were greeted by the hostess, who told each one to draw tally cards from the card tray. These tally cards featured clover leaves and shy Irish maidens.

Two hours were pleasantly spent in a spirited game. Green glass nappies of green and white candies were placed on each table during the game. When scores were counted Mrs. Kelly Saylor held high, so was awarded an attractive green glass vase. Miss Adeline Little received the low score trophy, a dainty green flower bowl.

The refreshment plate carried out the green and white color scheme in green pineapple ice, topped with green whipped cream, accompanied by squares of white cake, frosted with green. The St. Patrick motif was further carried out by tiny green candy pigs, high top hats and green mint roses. The living room was ornamented by green and white carnations with fern, while the dining room gave Easter lilies as the decorative note.

A very delightful afternoon was spent in this pleasant home with the charming hostess.

A GUEST.

T. E. L. CLASS SOCIAL

Mmes. Chas. Rudd and J. D. Priddy were hostesses to the T. E. L. Class Tuesday, 3 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. Chas. Rudd.

The meeting was called to order by our president, Mrs. W. E. Miller, all business transacted in a spiritual way. It was agreed to set aside each first Sunday for the home coming of the class. On this day we hope to be 100 per cent.

After the business session, a most enjoyable program was rendered, led by Mrs. J. M. Campbell.

Delicious refreshment was served.

Mmes. C. C. Bledsoe and J. M. Campbell will be hostess in Mrs. Bledsoe's home the third Tuesday in April.

GOVERNMENT LOAN

TO FARMERS

Farmers desiring to make application for crop production loans are advised that Mr. S. F. Clark, district manager, will be in Goldthwaite every Friday to assist in making out applications for loans.

Inasmuch as Mr. Clark must pass on the applications before they go to the Dallas office, it is suggested that those desiring to make application meet him in the county agent's office on Fridays.

A waiver must be secured from landlord or other holders, and cotton crop cut to 65 per cent of the 1931 acreage. An allowance of $1 an acre will be allowed for supplies other than feed and seed. W. P. WEAVER, Co. Agt.

THE ART AND CIVIC CLUB

The Art and Civic Club met at the home of Mrs. M. Y. Stokes on last Friday afternoon. The program "Texas" was led by Mrs. Homer C. DeWolfe. Roll call was responded to by Texas heroes and heroines.

Mrs. C. A. Eacott gave a very interesting paper on the life and works of Mrs. Pennybacker. A poem "Texas"—Lexie Dean Robertson, was read by Mrs. Marvin Hodges. Mrs. DeWolfe gave a book review, "The Raven"—Marquis James.

Mrs. Harry Allen displayed eight very beautiful art sketches the work of Mrs. Ella Mewhiny Koepke—a Texas artist.

A very pretty musical program was rendered. Mrs. Sam Sullivan, with Mrs. John Berry at the piano, sang "My Wild Irish Rose." Mrs. F. E. Martin, playing her own accompaniment sang "Texas in the Springtime." And a piano solo by Miss Dickerson.

Mrs. Mayfield and Lawrence and Buddy Stokes gave readings. Tea was served in the dining room, which was attractively decorated in colors suggestive of St. Patrick's Day. The club members and quite a number of guests enjoyed the hospitality.

REPORTER.

MERRY WIVES CLUB

The Merry Wives club met with Mrs. D. A. Trent Tuesday, March 8. In bridge high score went to Mrs. Kelly Saylor for club member and Mrs. L. E. Miller for guest.

A dainty ice course was served to club members and Mmes. Holland Frizzell, L. E. Miller, Claude Eacott, Frank Taylor, Miss Adeline Little, Neta Cockrum and Lucille Conro.

GOLDFISH PUT TO SLEEP

At Chicago Wednesday twelve goldfish took naps for the benefit of science. They weren't suffering from toothache, but Dr. Charles W. Freeman, associate professor of oral surgery at Northwestern University, submerged them in a new type of anesthetic to demonstrate the rapidity with which the solution would put nerves to "sleep."

And the goldfish began to doze off in less than a minute, while a quarter of an hour was required in some other solutions. The new solution differs from the others in that an alkali is added.

THE ENTERTAINMENT BY THE ORPHANS

The people of Goldthwaite probably never had a more enjoyable entertainment than that given by the orchestra from the Methodist home at Waco last Saturday evening.

When the house was well filled, waiting for the program to begin Mr. Barnett, the superintendent, came to announce that the bus, in which the children were conveyed had broken down near Lometa, eighteen miles away. In less than a minute cars were on their way to bring the stranded orchestra in. Patiently the audience waited until half past nine o'clock for the program to begin, knowing that they were to be well paid for their patience.

The company consisted of twenty-eight children, each well trained to his part. There was not a poor number rendered, and the talent exhibited was of a high character. There were violins, wind instruments of almost every kind, recitations, duets, quartets, solos. In fact, everything to please the large audience.

At the close of the program at eleven o'clock the people took the children to their homes and entertained them for the night. This was done regardless of denominational lines, with a friendly rivalry as to who should have the pleasure of entertaining them.

A freewill offering, unsolicited, was given the home, amounting to seventy-nine dollars.

Mr. Saylor and his people of the Chevrolet garage have the thanks of the home and the citizenship of Goldthwaite for his magnanimous act. He went out and brought in the crippled bus and he and his men spent the night getting it ready, so that the children could reach Brownwood for a Sunday morning engagement, and then would take no pay for his trouble. Our hats are off to Mr. Saylor and his helpers.

Goldthwaite people, always among the most loyal to the home, were delighted with the visit of the orphans and trust that they may come again.

WELL WISHER.

TRIGGER MOUNTAIN

We had Sunday school, but no B.Y.P.U., as the young people did not have any lights.

Miss Inez Calloway spent Sunday with the Vaughan girls.

Part of the characters in the play, "The Girl Who Forgot," met and practiced Saturday night.

While repairing his windmill late Monday afternoon, John Kennedy fell from the top of the tower striking the ground. He was rushed to a Brownwood hospital. He suffered a broken collarbone, lacerations about the head and face and possibly other injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bryant visited Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cunningham Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dellis spent Sunday with Clifford Dellis and family.

It seems some of the afflictions we must suffer these days are poverty, cold weather and candidates.

George Lively of Lampasas visited in the R. E. Davis home Sunday.

J. C. Bramblett and wife of Prairie visited in this community Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Vaughan and Jewel sat until bedtime with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vaughan and family Sunday night.

Most everything in the garden was killed and all the fruit that had bloomed out here.

We wrote a letter all proper and right to the Eagle last week, but on perusing the paper we did not see it. On questioning the young scion we learned that it reposed at school in a geography book.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Kennedy are the proud parents of a fine baby girl, which arrived early Wednesday morning. We will tell you later what they call her. She weighed nine pounds.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

BAPTIST CHURCH

My wife says unless I make my notes brief and cut my sermons off on top and bottom, that she is going to quit reading what I have to write and stop hearing what I have to say. What a blessed thing is a wife.

L. J. Gartman and Charlie Frizzell are talking about making their habitation in another state. They claim that the home brew they get here is too strong; that there is a state that is going to allow just three per cent and they feel that they will be better off with three per cent than twenty per cent. However, we spoke to the wife of one of these gentlemen and from the information we could gather it is not likely they will move.

Jim Rudd has hibernated. He has been a regular Sunday school man now for many years, but has missed the last two Sundays. Someone said he has killed hogs. That must be a false alarm, for we did not get a ham. We will give him and Bruce Burnett until Sunday to show up and if they fail to be on hand we will drive over and take dinner with Jim and supper with Bruce.

The sheriff reported to us Monday morning that he was ill Sunday and that was the reason for him being absent, and as a result of his illness he did not have to build fires Monday morning. Just one way that I can get out of building fires and that is have the doctor.

We heard a gentleman say that the women's hats were responsible for weather conditions. We will not give his name, as he is a married man and works right next door to the ladies hat shop, but his suggestion leads us to say something about hats—that is ladies hats—and we do not want to be unjust because Fred Martin sells ladies hats and he helps pay the preacher and the more hats he sells the more he pays the preacher.

Hats may not have anything to do with the weather, but they have something to do with women going to church. A little information to the ladies might not be out of place. You are not supposed to wear spring hats in the winter or summer hats in the spring, or fall hats in the summer or winter hats in the fall. You are supposed to wear spring hats in spring and winter hats in winter and so spring has not started yet and if you want to keep up with the seasons you must still wear your winter hat.

But why talk about spring and winter hats, when there is not one person in a dozen that can tell the difference. Now listen: When spring begins and you have not gotten a new hat just take your winter hat and turn it around, and those that notice new hats will tell you that your new one becomes you better than any one you ever had. Last spring my wife put on one she had worn for two years, went down town and most every one she would meet would say, "That is a beautiful hat. It becomes you better than any I have seen on you." As a matter of fact, she had put it on "hind part before" and everybody thought she had a new hat. Now understand, I am not saying one unkind word about those who buy new hats. That is the right thing to do if you have the money, but there is what I am insisting on you doing, go to church hat or no hat.

I will tell you what is the matter with most of us. We think we have to keep up with the fashion and fads of the day, and as a matter of fact, as a result of that, many people forget God. We wonder what is wrong with our country. Here it is: Men, who belong to churches, many of them at least, have left God out of their program. We try to keep up with everything but the church. We wish we could appeal to the minds, hearts and consciences of men, and get them as interested in the Lord's work as they are things that are not eternal, but it looks like that some will not become concerned.

PASTOR.

CENTER CITY

We are having spring days again, after the freeze of last week. Vegetation shows the effect of continued cold weather of last week. We hope that all the fruit is not killed.

Sunday was Bro. Mayfield's day at the Baptist church. A large crowd was present Sunday morning. There were no services at night on account of cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Miller visited her mother and sister, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Brock McCasland, this week.

Prof. Carr and son, Eldridge, were meeting old friends here Tuesday. He taught a singing school here some 12 years ago and is kindly remembered by many.

School is progressing nicely. Eliminations in the declamation contests were held Monday night. There were sixteen contestants in the three groups. Sister Phillips, Miss Myrna Miller and Miss Love Gatlin of Goldthwaite were the judges. Maxine Geeslin won first place and Wilma Lee second place with the junior girls. Al Truman Langford won first place and Dalpha Head second place with the junior boys. On account of too many first place winners with the seven senior girls the judges did not agree. Each sent in different names giving three first places and thus another contest was held Tuesday night for these senior girls. Bro. Ivins, Mrs. Lewis Gartman and Mrs. Homer DeWolfe were secured as judges. Following a plan of selecting first, second, third and fourth places, it showed Naomi Langford held first place, Navee Lee, second; Leone Wright, third, and Yvonne Welch fourth. All agreed it was the hardest contest to judge we have ever had. All did so well with hardly any difference that Eula Bell Chapell, Olivia Simpson and Geneva Sparkman, the other contestants, rank along with the winners also. They are a fine lot of young girls and are worthy of much praise. Sometimes the best winners are those who do their best, then meet defeat bravely, as these girls did. Miss Keese is given credit for her work in coaching the declaimers and for her overtime work and untiring interest in each child.

A number from here attended the show at Goldthwaite the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Keese of Goldthwaite attended the exercises here Monday and Tuesday nights.

P. T. A. meets Friday night with Bro. Sparkman in charge of the program. The last meeting was held in honor of all contestants in our school. We were delighted to have so many visitors from other communities and especially Miss Coston and her Glee Club from Star. They furnished three excellent musical numbers for us. Also Bro. Ivins from Goldthwaite delivered a fine address in an educational line and much advice was given to parents in the way they should direct their children to take the best place in the home, in the school and in life. We always welcome him to our community.

Misses Gladys Casbeer and Lois Blackwell visited homefolks last week end.

Hollis Blackwell and Talmage Head visited homefolks last week end.

Mrs. Stacy McCasland and children visited her sister, Mrs. Thos. Atchinson, and family Sunday. Robt. Lee and family also visited in that home.

Mrs. Hubert Geeslin visited her sister, Mrs. Martin McCasland, Sunday.

SCHOOL PAGEANT

The Goldthwaite school will present a pageant-play "In the Hearts of His Countrymen," in honor of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington on Friday night, 8 p. m., at Junior high school auditorium. No Admission charge. The public is cordially invited.

MIDWAY

We only had two services over the week end on account of bad weather.

DeWard Reynolds returned home, after a ten day trip to Longview.

Laura Jackson has been missing school on account of sickness.

Kate Petsick visited Grandmother Denton Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Page visited in the F. M. Anderson home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Petsick and little daughter visited Mrs. F. M. Anderson Sunday afternoon.

Eugene Gray and Andrew Anderson attended the entertainment at the Methodist church Saturday night and report a splendid program.

The inspector visited school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Denman went to Brownwood Sunday to see Bruce Perry, who is in a hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Anderson were quite ill with the flu Sunday. We hope for their speedy recovery.

BIG VALLEY

The cold wave did a lot of damage. That may be the reason the items are short.

Mrs. Jim Hays has been a flu victim the past week.

Miss Cleota Swim is home from a two weeks stay with friends in Lampasas county.

Monday, Big Valley school held their declamation test. The students did credit to their teachers, who are untiring in their efforts. The honors fell to Valley Fay Kerby, junior girl; Ogal Kerby, junior boy. Honorable mention should be given Ruth Hale and Charles Peck, who won second places.

No negroes live in Mills county, yet one will be in Big Valley Friday, March 25.

Don't fail to see Vance Cockrell and Howard Weaver in the play at Big Valley school Friday night, March 25. Could tell you some more, but must "keep it dark."

Anna Bell and Virginia Long were sick with flu last week.

Notwithstanding snow and cold, a group of neighborhood girls by invitation from Sarah Howard, met with her Saturday afternoon for tea. The time was spent in talking as they sat by a good fire. Each learned her fortune—if it just comes true.

H. A. Sykes is recovering from a fall sustained last week.

FARMER.

LAKE MERRITT

Spring is here again at this writing, but winter may come again, too.

Most everyone got their garden stuff killed that was up.

The "Countdown Millionaire," which was presented last Friday night, was very successful. It showed the ones taking part were interested in their work and also showed lots of practice.

Mrs. H. E. Jones returned to her home at Turnersville, after a ten day visit with her daughter, Mrs. C. J. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fallon and children from Center Point community dined in the N. T. Waddell home Sunday.

Miss Cassie Ryan has been on the sick list.

Most everyone who has been seriously sick, is better at this writing.

A few enjoyed a party at the Sanderson home Saturday night. W. L. Stuck visited with Mr. Brown awhile Saturday morning.

Clarence Geeslin from North Bennett called in our community, Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Price spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Price.

Mrs. F. D. Waddell spent Sunday night with the Fallon girls at Center Point.

Tom Fuller called in the Book-home Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Leverett and baby visited with his brother, H. B. Leverett, Sunday.

MICKY.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

J. T. Helm and wife visited relatives at Weatherford Saturday night and Sunday.

Wade Croy of Mullin looked after business in this city the early part of the week.

If you know a local item tell the Eagle. Your friends will appreciate it.

R. R. Bynum of the neighborhood of Center City looked after business in the city Monday.

B. F. Mahan of Center Point community was an appreciated caller at the Eagle office Saturday.

J. C. Blackwell, one of the good men of Center City section, had business in the city Saturday.

Miss Mary Bell Timmins of Zephyr visited in the Bourland home in this city the first of the week.

Those who send communications to the Eagle should be sure to let the editor know their identity, else the communication can not be published.

Mrs. G. H. Frizzell and Miss Georgia visited relatives in Weatherford last week end, returning home Sunday.

Mrs. F. D. Waddell of Lake Merritt community was in the city shopping Monday and made the Eagle a pleasant call.

Supt. Henry of the Prairie school and W. T. Smith of the same community looked after business in this city Saturday.

The recent severe cold spell caused some loss to sheep and goat owners, but the loss was not nearly so heavy as might have been expected.

W. H. Oglesby of Big Valley, one of the Eagle's old time friends and one of the county's best men, transacted business in the city this week.

Those who read the advertisements are always well posted on merchandise and prices and are able to save money on what they buy.

Judge and Mrs. J. C. Darroch were visitors from Brownwood the first of the week and he spent some time at his ranch south of town, looking after his livestock and other interests.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Arrowood and four daughters, also J. S. Elliott of Payne Gap community, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Insall of Big Valley. Mr. Arrowood is a brother to Mrs. Insall.

Elder I. A. Dyches, who now lives in Trigger Mountain section, was a visitor to this city the early part of the week and stated he would preach in the Primitive church at Mullin next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on the subject of the second coming of Christ.

The low price of a made-to-measure suit will surprise you. Ask Burch.

Relatives here of Carvill Lowrie and family have been notified that he has been made manager of the McCrory store at Brownsville. He has already moved to the border city and he and his family are well pleased. They lived in Dallas a good many years prior to moving to Brownsville.

Barton Keese returned Sunday from Oklahoma, where he spent several weeks in a hospital being treated for the injury to his back, resulting from a fall from a pecan tree. He is able to get about as usual, although he has to wear a steel brace about the upper part of his body.

The Eagle can offer inducements in clubbing rates for the next few weeks. The Eagle and Star-Telegram, daily and Sunday, until December for $5.50; without Sunday $4.75. This is a short time offer.

Amos Hawkins, Dixie Webb and Wayne Featherston were in town Monday.

Clyde Featherston and Ben Casbeer went to Jim Cort's the first of the week.

ROSEBUD.

WANTED—A NAME

Wanted—A name for a kidnaper. I had rather be a yellow dog baying the moon, a stick tight flea sapping the life blood from the gills of a Rhode Island Red rooster, a louse on the back of a mangy coon, a blue bug hiding in the cracks of a negro's hen roost, a coyote howling at midnight on the bald prairie than a kidnaper, who would steal a mother's baby and hold it for ransom. To say such a creature is the son of a four legged animal that scratches fleas from behind her ears with her hind leg would be putting it too mild. I cannot think of a punishment that would be too great for such a cur. He ought to be tarred and feathered, whipped naked through the world with a cowhide, the thongs of which are stinging scorpions. He ought to be fried alive on a bed of primrose. The states of this land ought to pass a law punishing such cattle with death penalty. Where a kidnaper crosses a state's borders, society must stamp this kind out by some means. He is a white elephant on our hands. We cannot bury him in the ground, because his putrefaction would pollute our water supply. We cannot hang him in the air like Mahomet comet, lest he contaminate the air with a foul stench that would kill every living thing. In a name for this beast. Put on your think cap and send Yours truly,

T. E. HAMILTON,
Star, Texas.

SQUIRREL DOG FOOLS HUNTER—TREES BEAR
Clyde Speary and his shepherd dog went hunting for squirrels near Canton, Pa. Speary sat down to wait for one to appear. He noticed his dog was excited. The dog picked up a scent and tailed it over the top of a ridge. Speary followed. The dog had treed a bear. Speary and his dog went home with a bear instead of a squirrel.

LEGION CONVENTION

Legionnaires and their wives from 33 American Legion posts in the 17th district are expected to attend the district convention to be held in Brownwood Saturday and Sunday, March 19 and 20. The convention, which was to have been held in February, was postponed at that time because of bad roads and a great deal of sickness.

State Commander V. Earl Earp of Sweetwater and Reed Johnson of the Veterans Bureau at Dallas have already sent word that they will attend the meeting. Both will have parts on the final business program Sunday afternoon. —Brownwood Bulletin.

ROCK SPRINGS

As it was cold, there was not any church Saturday night, Sunday being warmer, there was a nice crowd all night and Sunday night the B. Y. P. U. program was fine.

The W. M. U. met with Mrs. Nickols Monday afternoon with twelve ladies and four children present. The meeting was opened by singing "Jesus Calls Us." Mrs. McClary led in prayer. Mrs. Homer Doggett favored us with a special song, "Take Time To Be Holy." The next meeting will be with Mrs. Daniel and Mrs. Davis as leader.

We were disappointed because the Center Point people disappointed us Sunday by not coming and spending the day.

This month came in like a lamb, but last week felt like a refrigerator. We are wishing now for more sunshiny days and no March wind, especially on our wash days.

Sherrill Roberson spent Sunday in Lampasas with his friend, Miss Joy Doak, who teaches school at Briggs.

Mesdames Traylor, Dunkle and Roush went to town shopping Monday afternoon.

Abbie and Leverne Hunt from town attended church Sunday night.

Beryl Turner and wife visited J. M. Traylor and family Saturday and Sunday.

Shirley Nickols from town ate dinner at the church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Davis from Brownwood attended church and singing Sunday.

Miss Waldine Traylor's friend, Mr. Thornbloom, from San Saba attended church Sunday night.

August Kauhs from Bulls Creek, Ethel McClary, Nellie D. Cooke and Dwight Nickols and wife from town sat until bed time in the Nickols home Wednesday night.

Mrs. Lillian Miller spent the week end in Coleman with her son.

Ethel McClary and Nellie D. Cooke helped Mrs. Nickols quilt last Friday.

Miss Oleta Daniel returned home last week from Fort Worth, where she visited Bud Wilsford and wife.

Eugene McNutt from Trigger Mountain spent Monday night with Herbert Cooke. After supper they sat with the Nickols family until bed time. Claud Laird and wife are the proud parents of a little daughter.

Mrs. Mary Faulkner is caring for her granddaughter in the Laird home this week.

It is cloudy again. It might rain. We hope it doesn't turn too cold. BUSY BEE.

BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts of the Comanche Trail Council have set out to raise $7,000 to carry on the work through the coming year and to pay off some accumulated debts. The new council is made up of the following counties: Stephens, Eastland, Erath, Brown, Comanche, Mills, San Saba and Lampasas.

It is entirely probable that the Boy Scouts will raise the money. There is no question as to the fact that it is about the best investment the citizen and business man can make. You may invest in land, in stocks, in bonds. Yet none of these investments can be compared to the investment in the growing boy. Here truly you have invested in good citizenship, in improved community morals, in character. Nothing can bring returns to a community that can compare with the new generation of fine, unstanding, right thinking, right acting citizens. And this is what you are investing in when you contribute to the Boy Scouts.

The Boy Scouts organization, with its well planned program of useful activities and under the leadership of men of character, is a great power of good. It reaches the boy in a way that will be difficult to reach him otherwise. And through the boy it reaches the whole family.

The Boy Scouts have something to sell the people of Goldthwaite, something of vital importance—good citizenship. SCOUT.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Organization of the Comanche Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America is well under way. A program is being prepared that will include regular court of honors, district rallies, at several points over the area, leaders training course and a two weeks summer camp.

The council will maintain its office at Brownwood and will give prompt service to Scouts and leaders in the way of supplies, handcrafts, helps, records and registrations.

G. N. Quirk, scout executive, will have charge of the work and will make regular visits to all towns in the area giving leadership to the program. The local Scout work is under the direction of Rev. H. H. Dare and R. H. Mayfield.

THE KIDNAPED CHILD

The anxiety of the world over the fate of a single child, the universal sympathy for the parents and the eager hope for its restoration to their care, reveal that humanity is, after all, one at heart. Wars and rumors of wars, political policies and economic plans are secondary for the moment to the common concern for an infant around whom Heaven lies more consciously in man's view than in all other stages of life. The prophecy that "a little child shall lead them" has confirming promise of fulfillment in mankind's devotion to childhood.—New York Times.

JUDGE HELPED HIM OUT

At Cleveland, Ohio, taking a dare of his companions to enter a police station and ask to be sent to the workhouse, Otto Knauss, 19, made the request of a desk sergeant and was promptly arrested on a charge of intoxication. He was able to convince the judge, however, that he didn't mean what he said, and was placed on probation for a year.

This Woman Lost 64 Pounds of Fat

Mrs. H. Price of Woodside, L.L., writes: "A year ago I weighed 190 lbs. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life and what's more, I look more like 20 years old than the mother of 2 children, one 19 and the other 18. Every one of my friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — don't miss a morning—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but do not take chances—be sure it's Kruschen — your health comes first—get it at Hudson Bros. or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

1,000,000 DOG SKINS ARE SHIPPED TO U. S. MARKET

American women are putting on much "dog" these days and Manchurian dog at that. Fur report statistics show that more than one million dog skins were shipped to America from Northern China in the last year. American women wear these dog "furs" as coats, collars, cuffs and other trimmings under the name of "Manchurian wolf," but it is just plain Manchurian dog.

The more money that is spent in Goldthwaite, the more Mills County people will benefit.

When the stream of money in a community only runs in one direction, it doesn't take long for it to play out. If all the money that comes to Goldthwaite should be sent out of town to out of town merchants, it wouldn't be long until the town would play out.

with the CRANKCASE DRY to prove the PENETRATION of Germ Processed Oil and Value of the "Hidden Quart"

"Hokey!" jeered one of the bystanders in a Muskogee, Oklahoma, filling station when F. J. Morgan told how the "Hidden Quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Oil had protected many cars from harm when run with the crankcase empty.

To prove his point, Mr. Morgan had the Germ Processed Oil drained from his crankcase and, accompanied by the doubter, started for Checotah, 27 miles away.

A crowd met the car at Checotah, but Mr. Morgan drove on to Eufaula, 14 miles farther, 41.6 miles from Muskogee. Chevrolet mechanics tore down the motor and pronounced it undamaged. The doubters became believers!

The oil that protects a motor under such conditions will give you better, safer lubrication in every-day driving! Conoco Germ Processed Oil is the only oil that actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. That's why a "Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. It cuts down costly starting wear, saves gas, gives your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills.

Change to Conoco Germ Processed Oil for safer, surer lubrication.

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage.

Thirteen convicts serving time for almost every crime from murder to chicken theft were paroled last week by Governor Sterling.

The gas company serving Waco is up against a tough proposition. The city is suing it for more taxes, claiming the present assessment too low. If the gas company wins, then the citizens of Waco will win too, because rates will have to be reduced in keeping with the lower valuation.

Chang Hseuh-Liang, who was Chinese governor of Manchuria until the Japanese took it away from him last fall, is only 34. His father left him $30,000,000 in gold bars as well as much property. He has many unofficial wives and two big tri-motored American airplanes. The Japanese captured 100 planes from him in Manchuria.

When Leon Trotsky, famous Jew leader of the Russian revolution, left New York in 1917, he didn't trouble to complete the payments on his installment plan furniture. As soon as he had become famous, the dealer, who had taken back the furniture put a sign on it reading: "This furniture belonged to Comrade Trotsky." Sympathizers with the revolution soon bought it all at fancy prices as souvenirs.

A negro was arrested for robbery in New Orleans last week. Objecting to a beating with a rubber hose, he grabbed a policeman's pistol and killed two policemen and wounded a policeman and a trusty and then held off over 100 policemen who sought to take him. Finally shot and overpowered, he was carried to a hospital for treatment. On the way back to his cell, his guards shot and killed him in self defense.

BENEFIT FROM GOOD ROADS

The public at large probably gets more value from money spent in road building and improvement than from any other kind of government expenditure.

As a spokesman for the American Association of State Highway Officials recently said, every dollar spent in road betterment makes the automobile worth more. When needed road work goes undone the utility of the automobile, and, consequently, its value to its owner is reduced. And there are now some twenty-odd million automobiles in use.

Road building last year furnished employment to about 750,000 men. Without this work, these men and their families would, for the most part, have been forced to endure a year of want and despair. Thus the good roads movement has been immensely valuable as an alleviator of unemployment—and relief measures of this kind are very different from such propositions as the sale of the federal bond issues, inasmuch as the money is legitimately spent and benefits all.

Modern materials plus modern construction technique, have made it possible to build full-width, weatherproof, long-wearing roads of the asphaltic type, at but a fraction of the cost of "high type" highways. Such roads are eminently suitable to rural localities—and, indeed, all localities, where traffic is not excessively heavy—and make the road dollar do many times the work it did a few years ago.

WHY FREEZING KILLS PLANTS

How cold kills plants is explained by a botany student as follows:

When plant tissues freeze, water is withdrawn from the cells of the plant to form ice crystals in the intercellular spaces. These crystals injure the cell walls. The removal of the water causes a greater concentration of salts inside the cells, and brings about precipitations of proteins. Proteins in this state have been rendered insoluble, and consequently are useless to the plant as food. Many plants develop water-inhibiting substances, or colloids, to resist the outward movement of water. Young growing tissues usually have a high moisture content and the cells contain but little of the water-holding materials. For this reason they are very susceptible to freezing injuries.

TEACH FIRE PREVENTION

Chief Frank C. McAuliffe of the Chicago Fire Insurance Patrol, recently advanced the opinion that fire prevention should be more widely taught in schools. Fire prevention in the home, he pointed out, is purely a problem of instruction, and by putting the subject into the school curriculum children will grow up with an innate knowledge of fire hazards and dangers and the ways to offset them. The young mind is much more receptive than the old one—and the generation which really understands the fire menace will be the generation that will conquer it.

This is a wise suggestion, worthy of the broadest consideration. It is generally known what safety education in the schools has accomplished in the past few years. Vivid, timely lessons in the fundamentals of accident prevention have been responsible for lowering the death and injury rate among children of school age during a time when accidents to adults and children of other ages have steadily increased.

Fire prevention lessons on a similar scale would unquestionably produce equally valuable results. The reason our national fire loss is so disgracefully high is that so great a part of the population is not only careless in its habits, but does not understand the simple ABC's of fire prevention. Too many adult minds present a strange resistance to the influx of knowledge. Making fire prevention a subject in our schools will not solve the problem today—but it is the best insurance we could obtain, for lowering fire loss ten or twenty years hence.

TEEMING MILLIONS

When America was almost empty of population, naturally immigration flowed in. In the '60's, in the United States, even the Chinese by treaty were invited to come freely. This was the land of liberty, with wide open doors into which "the oppressed of all nations" were gladly welcomed. But during the last fifty years conditions have changed. Immigration from our shores is greater than permitted immigration.

Naturally overpopulated nations object to these restrictions and demand a "place in the sun" for their excess population, asserting their right to migrate freely. Italy's expanding population, now over 42,000,000, wants more room; Japan's 65,000,000, hemmed in by its island area, wishes land for expansion and offers that as one reason for its seizure of Manchuria. Germany has a similar population and desires an eastward expansion of territory and overseas colonies besides. India has 350,000,000 closely packed into its borders. China's 400,000,000 are breaking over its frontiers, filling in the lands to the south and to the north.

A real international problem is inherent in this situation. Japan by force of arms seizes lands from weaker neighbors—China and Korea—and perhaps in due time may attempt to gain Eastern Siberia. May it be assumed that Italy and Germany also, when powerful enough, rightly may seize additional territory by warring against weaker neighbors? Or that, when the teeming millions of China and India develop war strength, as did Japan, these also may push their way into adjoining territory on the ground that their expanding populations must have additional lands?

Such a principle implies continuous racial struggles. In these days when there are demands for world peace and world leagues, it must be assumed that each nation must adjust its population to its own territories. Rising standards of living and birth control movements will tend to keep a population stationary or with a slight increase only, as in France, Japan, China and India must get rid of the notion that a crowded earth is eager for their teeming millions of underfed population. No nation has the right to permit excess population within its borders under the plea that the world owes them a place. That is the path to endless wars. Peace demands a regulated population of high living standards. —Dallas News.

THIS CRAZY WORLD

An old song that was popular 50 years ago had the refrain: "But if it suits you it is nothing to me; Still these are some things That I don't like to see."

Here are some things the writer doesn't like to see. Aliens, who have entered America illegally, are subject to deportation to their native country and the most dangerous alien revolutionists are Russians, but Russians can't be deported because the U. S. has no diplomatic relations with Russia. In consequence of this absurd condition, many aliens who never saw Russia are now claiming to have been born in that country and immigration inspectors have to release them.

Grasshopper Relief

Senator McKellar pointed out in the senate the other day that $1,450,000 is to be appropriated by congress to pay for a grasshopper investigation, although the country is two billion dollars in debt and millions of men are out of work. To investigate the married life of various insects, the government will spend $235,000 this year.

An Expensive Elevator

Secretary of Commerce Lamont has a private elevator to his office in the new million dollar commerce building in Washington. He has a guard stationed outside the elevator to keep the commonalty from entering it, and two elevator operators take turn about in running it. Three government employees paid to keep the high-salaried employee bossing them from having to rub elbows with the people who are paying his salary. Yet we call this a democratic country!

Bunk About Hoarding

A few years ago high government officials were proclaiming prosperity around the corner and urging everybody to "spend until it hurt" in order to reach the corner quicker. Now the same crowd is shedding tears over the amount of money that is being hoarded and demanding that it be put back in circulation. The truth is that where the banks are managed by experienced bankers whom the people have confidence in, as in Goldthwaite, there is no hoarding. If the government had required all banks to live up to the law as carefully as our local banks have done voluntarily, there wouldn't be any hoarding problem.

It's For Your Good

The census bureau at Washington has to keep busy between census years, so it is forever sending out blanks to be filled in and returned so the clerks in its office can check them up and send them back if they don't suit. A census bureau form letter says this is required "primarily for the benefit of the businessmen themselves." In other words it hurts them worse than it does you. But they get paid for it, and you get fined if you don't.

Big Hearted Al Capone

Cooped up in the Chicago jail and guarded from all visitors, gangdom's big shot leader, Al Capone, has solved the Lindbergh kidnaping. All that is necessary is to release him on bond, and he'll produce the child. Of course if the baby were found during his freedom, he would take credit for it, and a million maddin admirers would stave the petitions for his release as a great public benefactor. Since this kidnaping is an outgrowth of deeds proved profitable by the Capone gang, the gangster ought to have his 11 year sentence doubled. But he hasn't started serving the original one yet.

Crazy But Lucky

Over in Cincinnati a foreign born monster murdered a little seven year old girl under the most revolting circumstances. He admitted the crime. The penalty is death. But this man is crazy, some doctors say, so he'll merely be confined in a hospital for life—or until he escapes or is pavoled by some big-hearted politician who needs some money. If he is crazy and irresponsible, why should the state of Ohio support him in idleness the rest of his life in a comfortable state hospital? To the man from Mass, his insanity would be the final proof of the necessity of the state's executing him.

BEST REPORTERS ARE NOT DRINKERS

The hard drinking reporter has been beglamoured by fiction, the stage and screen—a reputed symbol of a sentimentality toward drinking in the newspaper shops. A standard dose from this phantasmagoria of romance is that the drunken writer turns out the most brilliant copy while in his cups, says O. O. McIntyre in the Waco News-Tribune.

With rare exceptions this has never been true. Henry L. Mencken, a robust defender of was-sail, recently admitted: "As a city editor my views of the traditional drinking genius soon changed. I was to discover that the best copy was turned out by sober men."

In my somewhat varied and migratory experiences in print shops I do not recall a single boozier, who beat boozing. Some lusher rose to momentary pinnacles, but dropped like plums. Final chapters were a record of suicides, strait-jackets in psychopathic wards and wooden crosses in potter fields.

While there are still irrationalisms from drink in editorial rooms they have been generally ironed out. Newspaper publishers have learned no matter how brilliant the reporter, he is a dangerous experiment in emergencies if drinking.

I know drinking members of the guild fairly well, having years ago been one of them. Many of the inkstained sots were unpurchasable, but were also unreliable. And unless they cut away from drinking they rarely amounted to much at the finish line. Their fervor was false.

Reporters, graduating to high editorial posts, to playwriting or authoring best selling novels may have had flings, but they tapered off before they went to responsible posts. I can count eleven whose inebriety brought professional oblivion.

Twenty years ago the sober reporter was in the minority on staffs of newspapers. On one paper in the middle west was only one teetotaler and he was regarded as a trifle effeminate. Today the picture is reversed. I do not know a single forthright reporter, who is a souse.

EFFECT OF TAXATION

For 1931, according to the bureau of the internal revenue, the United States collected on tobacco taxes approximately $21,500,000 less than in 1930. The appreciable loss was in revenue from the cigarette tax, which yielded $18,000,000 less in 1931 than in 1930. Part of the decreased consumption is charged to increases in state taxes on the article.

Statistics are available recording plainly that as the state taxes on gasoline rise in amount not only is there a usual decrease in relative year-to-year enlargement of consumption, but in some cases an actual loss in gasoline sales.

Any additional tax on any commodity must necessarily raise the price to the consumer. At some given level, the consumer quits buying. Consequently in figuring, as the house is now doing, on raising additional revenue from commodity taxes, the revenue that will be received can not be based on present volume of sales, but on the estimated volume of what the sales will be when the added tax increases the price.

That takes the motor car manufacturer to Washington to protest against returning a federal tax on his product, fully aware that another $25 or even $10 will deprive him of some customers. The gasoline industry has held up fairly well in spite of state taxes, but is skeptical of an additional federal 2c a gallon impost. So it goes through the whole line of articles listed for taxation.

Some of these will be taxed, for when a government must raise revenue it can only do so through taxation. Increased taxation by congress may serve at last to remind the majority of citizens who pay no direct federal taxes that they pay indirectly, nevertheless, sometimes in foregoing the use of articles whose cost rises beyond their reach, more often in the increased cost of commodities they do or must use. —Dallas News.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas, County of Mills:

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain writ of execution issued out of the honorable justice court of Precinct No. 1, of San Saba county, of the 20th day of February, 1932, by H. Clyde Smith, justice of the peace of said precinct No. 1 of said county, for the sum of one hundred, fifty-eight and no/100 dollars and costs of suit, under a certain judgment, in favor of The City National Bank of San Saba, Texas, a corporation, in a certain cause in said court, No. 1738, and styled The City National bank of San Saba, Texas, a corporation, vs. John Privett, J. M. Churchwell and J. M. Fox and, placed in my hands for service, I, C. D. Bledsoe, as sheriff of Mills county, Texas, did on the 24th day of February, 1932, levy on certain real estate, situated in Mills county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: An undivided one-half interest, being all the right, title, interest and estate of J. M. Churchwell in and to 640 acres of land located about 22 miles southwest from the town of Goldthwaite, out of sur. No. 11, B.B.B. & C. Ry. Co., the 200 acres of said land now occupied by the said J. M. Churchwell as a homestead being excepted from and not included herein, and levied upon as the property of J. M. Churchwell, and that on the first Tuesday in April, 1932, the same being the 5th day of said month, at the court house door of Mills county, in the town of Goldthwaite, Texas, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said execution, I will sell above described real estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said J. M. Churchwell.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Goldthwaite Eagle, a newspaper published in Mills county.

Witness my hand, this 24th day of February, 1932.

Sheriff of Mills, Co., Tex.

BETTER YIELDS AND LOWER COSTS

At this season each farmer has to decide how much fertilizer he can afford to use under each crop, or how much he can afford to do without, in view of the conditions which exist for him. On this point the following timely advice is offered by the Progressive Farmer-Ruralist:

The prices, then, of crops and fertilizers must generally determine whether to use or not to use commercial fertilizers, but on some crops and on many soils the question is changed by the fact that unless the farmer uses fertilizers he had better not plant the crop at all. For instance, if the purchase costs of fertilizers and the selling prices of cotton, in the Southeastern states, for instance, are such that the farmer concludes he cannot afford to use fertilizers, he had usually better go a step further and decide not to plant cotton at all on a large proportion of the soils of those states.

It is often said that cotton growers should cut out fertilizers, as a means of reducing the national crop and raising the price. That is not the way to reduce the crop. Nor should the size of the crop or surplus have any bearing on whether or not to use fertilizers. It should, however, determine how much to plant or whether to plant cotton at all. The size of the crop should be, as far as possible, determined by the acreage. At least, the only way that it is profitable for the farmer to reduce his cotton crop is by reducing his acreage. The problem which the farmer has to decide in considering the use of fertilizers is, "will or will not the using of fertilizers reduce the net cost of producing the crop?" If he concludes that the use of fertilizer will not lessen the net cost of producing a pound of cotton or a bushel of corn or a unit of any other crop, then he should not use the fertilizer, but he must be extremely careful in reaching such a conclusion, for as a rule the intelligent use of fertilizers, or fertilizers as generally used, lessens the cost of producing nearly all crops on nearly all soils one year with another.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Four young bandits, who robbed
the City National Bank at Clinton, Iowa, of $100,000 were arrested three hours afterwards
Tuesday and the loot recovered.

Lawyers have almost a monopoly of the seats in Congress. Of the 435 representatives, 263 are lawyers. Of 96 senators, 61 are lawyers. It's no wonder there are so many laws.

Mrs. Ida E. Wood, 93, lived alone for 18 years in a hotel room in New York. A search of the room last Summer revealed a million dollars in cash, jewels and securities. She was moved against her will into better quarters. She died of pneumonia Saturday.

After vigorous protests had been received, the French government has modified its sweeping embargo against American fruit. Trade of $10,000,000 was involved. Now fruit that can be shown to be free of scale can be admitted under certain conditions.

Germany with only sixty-two million people cast over thirty-seven million ballots in the recent election, many more than the United States, with almost twice the population, cast in 1928. Twenty-one million women and nineteen million men have the right to vote in Germany.

A number of states are holding presidential primaries for the purpose of instructing delegates to the national conventions. In New Hampshire last week Al Smith ran a poor second to Governor Franklin D.
Roosevelt. This week Roosevelt took the lead in a race with Governor Murray of Oklahoma in the North Dakota primaries.

Two suicides caused a temporary disturbance in the world of big business early this week. Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king and internationally known financier, took his life in Paris Saturday
just before a scheduled meeting of one of his companies. On Monday George Eastman, inventor of the kodak and head of the company bearing his name, shot himself to death, after writing a note saying: "To My Friends:
My work is done. Why wait?"
Mr. Eastman was 77 and in poor health. He is said to have given away seventy-five million dollars during his lifetime.

THE WAR IN CHINA

Japan announced this week that she was returning 12,000 of her troops to Japan, as they were not needed in China. The armies of the two nations are still facing each other west of Shanghai, however, prepared to resume the battle at any moment.

Meanwhile Shanghai foreign businessmen have put up their guns and gone back to work, after doing patrol duty in the foreign settlements for many weeks.

Representatives of the League of Nations arrived this week and inspected the Woosung battle front. They have already visited Japan, where they were told the Mikado's side of the affair, and are now ready to listen to China.

Coming closer home is the news that 80 members of the faculty of the University of Texas have petitioned Congress to order a boycott against Japan, thus joining similar petitions recently made by university professors
in the north and east.

Over in Manchuria, the near-sighted little dictator, Henry Pu Yi, once boy-emperor of China, has taken charge. His first order was to change the name of the Manchurian capital to Sinkiang, which means New Capital. On his way to the capital he was carefully guarded by Japanese troops. Scattered fighting by Manchurian rebels and Japanese is still going on.

CARD OF THANKS

The people of Goldthwaite and kindness and thoughtfulness for those in trouble or sorrow, and surely this reputation was well sustained by the many acts of kindness of our friends during the illness of our beloved brother, Mr. R. C. Urbach, and their helpfulness to us after his death.

We could not have asked for more care for him or sympathy for ourselves. Then, too, after he

A BALANCED BUDGET

More important than the type of tax measure voted at Washington is the decision of congressmen to balance the budget.
Unless this is done the government will be forced into the investment market to borrow funds on new issues of securities. Already so many have been sold that higher interest rates must be offered. The government is now paying as much for short time loans as it recently paid for long time money.

As these government interest rates increase, older securities bearing lower rates will automatically decline in value. This makes them of less worth as a basis for credit; and thus further credit deflation is threatened.

The money taken in by the government on security sales is money that private business needs, and for which it must compete. In other words, it must offer higher and higher rates of interest to get this capital so vitaly needed in the maintenance of industrial and commercial activities.

And probably more important than all is the piling up of the national debt, on which fixed charges must be paid throughout the coming generation. It is fixed charges which burden us so badly now, and any increase in the public debt will increase the burden.

It is for these reasons that the balancing of the federal budget is so urgently needed. The cost now in increased taxation may be painful—and it may entail
the levying of taxes which we ordinarily could not approve at all—but the greater good to the country will come in making very sure that federal income equals federal outgo.

We should all understand that that is the problem of over shadowing importance at Washington just now.

As to the best methods of meeting the need we must leave that to our representatives. Certainly most of us, having no access to all the facts and figures, and little experience in handling them, must put our faith in the men we send to Washington to do the just and reasonable thing.—Houston Chronicle.

BABY HARRIS

Monday morning about three o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Harris of Pleasant Grove made the distressing discovery that their 2-months-old baby girl had died in her sleep.

The Lord planted the little flower on earth Jan. 14, 1932,
and transplanted it home Sunday night, March 14, being only 2 months old.

Little Lola Fay was laid to rest in the Pleasant Grove cemetery to await the coming of Daddy and Mother.

Rev. H. E. Moreland, pastor of Goldthwaite circuit and a former pastor of this family, spoke the words of comfort to the lonely ones left behind. A FRIEND

LINDBERGH BABY

STILL MISSING

With the combined resources of all the police forces of New Jersey, assisted by other state and the federal government, together with the assistance of the gang world, seekers for the Lindbergh baby admitted this week that they were no nearer a solution than they were at first.

The search has been hampered by hundreds of false clues sent in by cranks and publicity seekers and by demands for ransom from persons, who had no idea of the baby's whereabouts but hoped to cash in during the excitement.

The Lindbergh nurse and her sailor friend are still being held under observation, but if they have admitted complicity in the plot, no news of it has been made public. Police and gangsters alike still maintain their positive belief that the baby is still alive and well and that the kidnapers are only waiting for the furore to quiet down before they will arrange to return the child.

MEXICAN TREASURES

A small bag filled with pearl and gold beads, some of them almost too small to handle, was added this week to the Oaxaca treasure trove, discovered in a Mixtec tomb at Monte Alban.

Prof. Alfonso Caso and his aides carefully screened the sandy dust on the floor of the tomb several weeks to add these small objects to the treasure, which was moved to Mexico City recently and was described as one of the richest archeological finds ever turned up on the American continent.

Some of the beads were so small the finest needle would not penetrate their perforations, and the excavators have been convinced many still smaller ones have been lost in the sandy floor of the tomb, which was the last resting place of a group of Mixtec chieftains. The tomb was estimated to be 300 or more years old.

CAPONE SCORNS TAX

For once at least, Al Capone apparently doesn't have to worry any more about income taxes.

He didn't even ask for a blank for 1931 and prisoners at the Cook county jail said he seemed unconcerned.

The reason is because Capone is already under an 11-year sentence for having neglected to remember the government.

Even if he is indicted for failing to file a return for 1931, the government can not prosecute him 11 years hence because by that time the statute of limitations will have outlawed the charge.

ments are always well posted

CREW OF SKELETONS

On Nov. 3, 1913, the British sailing ship "Johnston" sighted what appeared to be a boat with its sails floating in the wind,
off the coast of Punta Arenas, Chile. As the British signals seemed to elicit no response, the craft was approached. It was noticed that its masts and sails were covered with some kind of green moss and the vessel appeared to be abandoned by its crew. Upon boarding it the skeleton of a man was discovered beneath the helm. The deck was decayed to such an extent that it gave under the footsteps.

Three more skeletons were found near a panel, there were 10 skeletons in the crew's quarters and six more on the bridge. Upon the ravaged prow of the vessel the words, Marlborough, Glasgow, still could be discerned. The Marlborough had left Littleton, N. Z., in 1890 with a cargo of wool and a crew of twenty-three men, under command of Captain Hird. It disappeared from sight in the Straits of Magellan and its fate was not learned until found by the "Johnston" 23 years later. There were also a few passengers aboard and one woman. This cruise of 23 years with a crew of skeletons is one of the strangest stories of the sea.

HE WAS LINDBERGH

At Winnipeg, Manitoba, a man
sat in a parked car with a baby
on his knee.

"Better be careful or they'll run you in for having the Lindbergh baby," said a smiling policeman.

"This is the Lindbergh baby,"
the man said.
"Oh, yeah?" said the policeman as he passed on.
But it was. The man's name is Charles Lindbergh, and he's a flier in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

NEWS FLASHES

With a roar that resounded for 10 miles, the biggest commercial blast in history was set off in Manistique, Mich., Wednesday. Nearly half a million pounds of dynamite set in 5000 holes dislodged over a million tons of limestone in a quarry.

Although President Paul Von Hindenburg of Germany, 84-year-old German war hero, lacked comparatively few votes of receiving more than all four of his opponents in the German election and was seven million votes ahead of the next highest candidate, Adolf Hitler, he will have to run again in April as Hitler refuses to concede his defeat.

Los Angeles thrill seekers jammed the streets Wednesday to get a glimpse of two newly weds, Joan Bennett, actress, and Gene Markey, screen writer. Two unusual things marked the ceremony. The pair were married in Los Angeles instead of scurrying off to Nevada, Mexico or Arizona and it was the groom's very first wedding and only the second for the bride.

Everybody around the city hall at Dallas who could speak Spanish was called on Tuesday to help a Mexican woman fill out a birth certificate. One question just couldn't be answered she contended. It was how long the baby's father had been at his present occupation. He had no occupation. So they put him down as doing nothing and that for a long time.

Four policemen were shot in a riot on Chicago's busiest street Saturday. Communist sympathizers with China tried to demonstrate before the offices of the Japanese consulate in the Chicago Tribune building. Police stopped them, and the riot followed. Police on horseback and in squad cars charged the crowd and beat bystanders as well as demonstrators with their sticks.

Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee has been nominated again, after serving since 1916. One of the few socialists in public office in this country, he has built an enviable record of sound government. While many other cities are bankrupt and their employees are going unpaid, Milwaukee boasts of plenty of cash and law enforcement that sends murderers to prison before their victims are buried.

YOUNG PEOPLES REVIVAL

March 21, to April 1, has been selected as the date for the Baptist young people's revival. Services will be held each night except Saturday, March 26, and Sunday, March 27. The first week will be devoted to lectures by several prominent speakers of this section. Their speeches will be primarily to the young people, but everybody is urged to attend.

The second week is to be taken up in B. Y. P. U. study courses. There will be as many classes as are needed to take care of the enrollment. These courses will be under the direction of the Life Service Band from Howard Payne college. This band of workers are widely known over this section for their active work in services similar to this.

Following is a list of the speakers and the date they will speak: Rev. G. C. Ivins, pastor First Baptist Church, Goldthwaite, Monday night, March 21.

Rev. T. M. Parker, Calvary Baptist church, Brownwood, March 22.

Dr. M. E. Davis, professor of Bible, Howard Payne college, March 23.

Rev. Ben Milam, Howard Payne college, March 24.

Dr. A. E. Prince, First Baptist church, Brownwood, March 25.

TEACHER TRAINING

The Rev. H. M. King of Austin taught a training class at the Methodist church recently. Eight attendants received certificates and information of intrinsic value.

It was a lost opportunity to those who did not avail themselves of being a student of this splendid teacher and preacher.

OLD TIMER HONORED

The oldest citizen of Mullin celebrated his ninety-first birthday on the ninth of March.

It was J. W. Waggoner, who was in business here over thirty years ago. He has a stock of interesting reminiscences of those days back in the past.

Mr. Waggoner's health is good for one of his age and he has been making two trips to town a day from his home about three blocks from town until he had an attack of illness the first of the year. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Herwigton, Dave Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kemp. The dinner was a feast enjoyed by each and everyone.

OLDTIME CITIZEN DIES

W. P. Nicholas of Pompey died at his home in that community March 14, after a long illness. Mr. Nicholas had passed his 85th milestone. He had been a citizen of that part of Mills county for many years. He leaves a family of eight children, who mourn the loss of their father.

The body was interred in the Duren cemetery Tuesday afternoon, Rev. L. J. Vann of Mullin conducting the service.

M. Y. P. D. PROGRAM

Program for Sunday, March 20. Subject — Love, The Law of Life.

Song Scripture: Romans 13:8-10; Matt. 22:30-40.

Prayer. Leader—Francis Leinneweber.

What is Law? — Jennie Vee Wallace.

Love for God, the Greatest Law — Tootsie Hancock.

Love for Neighbor—M. E. Williams.

The Drawing Love — Holly Guthrie.

Love of Life—Teet Fletcher.

Mrs. Mary E. James is reported on the sick list.

Mrs. Katie Pyburn and son, Ted, left Sunday for a visit at Eola.

C. R. Ashton of Ridge was here Monday looking after business.

Mrs. S. J. Casey made a visit to Temple the first of the week.

Rev. T. J. Matlock of Prairie has been reported as real sick this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Guthrie visited in the home of Mrs. Claude Gandy Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Shelton of Colorado is visiting in the home of A. F. Shelton this week.

Arthur Petty has moved from the Plains country to the farm of F. E. Burkett near Mullin.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Toliver and son, Emory, of San Saba visited relatives here during the week.

J. C. Morgan, who lives a few miles west of town, was here Monday, buying supplies for his home.

W. W. Mosley, one of the good men of Pompey Creek, was in town Monday meeting with his friends.

Mrs. Chester Frazier of Goldthwaite was a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carlisle, the latter part of the week.

Paul Forsythe of Port Arthur spent Sunday night in the home of S. J. Casey. He was en route to Zephyr for a visit with his father.

Mrs. George Knowles and daughter of Big Valley were guests of her son, Lehman Knowles, and family in this city Monday.

The recent news from Miss Alice Fisher of Washington is to the effect that she has been a victim of influenza recently and has not yet entirely recovered.

Miss Vena Beshears returned home Monday from an extended visit with her grandmother Beshears, of Camberton. Miss Vena left her grandmother very much improved in health and she is now able to be up and about her room.

The many friends of Mrs. N. P. Wilson will regret to hear that she is seriously ill.

T. W. Carlisle, a genial citizen of Pompey community, was in town Saturday and renewed his subscription to the Enterprise and Semi-Weekly Farm News.

Mrs. W. T. Gilmore and Miss Nell Kirkpatrick visited their mother, Mrs. M. C. Kirkpatrick, Sunday. The ladies were en route to their homes in Brownwood, after a visit in Comanche.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kyle of Goldthwaite visited Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Buchanan Monday.

R. H. Patterson, John Burkett and Ben Kittle made a business trip to Zephyr Monday.

Mrs. M. E. Casey, Mrs. G. M. Fletcher and C. R. Wilson went to San Saba Tuesday and brought Mrs. C. R. Wilson home with them. Mrs. Wilson is gradually improving and all the neighbors are delighted that she is able to be at home again.

E. L. Burkett spent Monday in the Blanket Springs community helping some of the good farmers run terrace lines for their farms.

Wiley Henry has received the news of his brother, Zek Henry's, home at Jacksonville burning. There was no one at home at the time of the fire and the house and contents were a complete loss. Many old timers here will remember Mr. Henry, when he lived in this section in his young days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wesson and Mrs. Etta French and baby of Center Point were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Goodwin, Sunday.

Mrs. G. W. Chancellor and two younger children, Miss Katherine Kemp and Earl Fisher, went to Graham Tuesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hutchingson. Miss Kemp will remain for a longer visit with her sister. The rest of the party returned home Wednesday evening.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Senator Bankhead of Alabama was not elected last year in his race against Senator Heflin, a senate elections committee has ruled, and the seat has been declared vacant.

A conscientious autoist has sent 10c to the state highway commission at Austin in payment for half a gallon of gasoline given him by a road gang more than a year ago.

Thousands of bodies of soldiers are still being dug up every year on the battlefields of France. There are still 220,000 missing French soldiers, 150,000 British and 1,250 Americans.

Aristide Briand, best known French statesman, who for many years had been foreign minister of France, died in Paris last week. He was the originator of the idea of a United States of Europe.

When it started to snow in Houston last week so many people tried to telephone their friends about it the telephone lines were completely blocked for 20 minutes. Everybody had the same idea at the same time.

How would you like to pick your candidate from a ballot 200 names long? That is what Dallas voters are expecting. In 1930 there were 154 names on the ballot, and this year indications point to 200.

Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, has warned legislatures that if kidnapping is made a criminal offense it will result in the murder of the victims, when the kidnapers are unable to secure their reward.

Friends of President Hoover say he will journey all the way to Palo Alto, Cal., to receive the notification of his re-nomination as president by the Republican party. He is expected to be nominated in Chicago in June.

When 3000 unemployed men tried to force their way into the Ford unemployment offices near Detroit last week, a riot followed, in which four of the demonstrators were killed and over 20 men, including a Ford company official, were wounded.

Melvin Traylor, Chicago banker who once lived in Texas, told the Kentucky legislature recently that he was not a candidate for any public office. His Texas boom for his nomination for president has been punctured by the growing popularity of John Garner.

While a musical program was being broadcast from a restaurant over radio station KPCC at Houston Saturday night, prohibition officers raided the place. When they stopped the music, the announcer kept the program going by getting a guitar player to fill in. He did not announce the raid.

A free ride on a special train including an armored car was furnished a party traveling from Dallas to Kansas last week. The party will remain in Kansas for some time as guests of Uncle Sam—at Leavenworth. Included were several men convicted of fraud in connection with marriage insurance schemes.

HUDSON BROS. DRUGGISTS

SAID IN THE SENATE

Mr. Norris: I think I ought to challenge the senator from Mississippi. He has been speaking of the orations that were delivered about Mr. Hoover on Washington's birthday and Lincoln's birthday, but I want to call his attention to the fact that there is still another birthday coming which is much greater than either Lincoln's or Washington's. It is true that the Hoover spellbinders on Lincoln's birthday compared Mr. Hoover to Lincoln, and Mr. Lincoln came out at the little end of the horn, naturally. When Washington's birthday came he was compared with Washington, and of course Washington got the worst of it.

But the senator from Mississippi must not claim those two instances as the only possible victories for Mr. Hoover. There is still another birthday coming, and I think the country will wait with almost breathless interest the coming of that other birthday, when another comparison will be made and greater laurels will be laid upon Mr. Hoover's brow. Wait until the 25th of December, Christmas day, and listen to the comparisons then! (Laughter.)

Mr. Harrison: I have no doubt that will be quite true. Then I would suggest, too, that on the 1st day of April they ought to make some speeches to the American people praising Mr. Hoover. (Laughter.) —Congressional Record.

HUNGRY NEGRO TO EAT OFF COUNTY FOR NEXT 60 DAYS

An ebony defendant stood before Judge Noland G. Williams at Waco, charged with theft of three hams, a couple of pork shoulders and 60 pounds of lard.

"Why did you steal?" the court asked.

"Because I was hungry," he answered.

"You couldn't eat all that in one meal, could you?"

"Boss, I had been hungry so long that my eyes were bigger than my stomach."

The negro will eat off the county for 60 days.

BLANTON BACKS BONUS

In Congress last week when a bill providing $50 extra compensation for civilian employees of the government was proposed, Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, the representative from this district, objected. His remarks, as clipped from the Congressional Record, were as follows:

Mr. Blanton. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the right to object, for the purpose of calling attention to the fact that the Congress of the United States has not yet passed the Patman bill, being H. R. 1, which is to require this government to pay off at once, and in cash, the adjusted compensation certificates that it justly owes the ex-service men of our nation. This is a debt of honor. And it must be paid. And we who are dependable friends of the men who carried our flag to France, are not going to let this Congress adjourn until this debt is paid.

Many of these World War veterans are in dire need. Many are about to lose their homes. Many are in serious distress. The wives and little children of many are suffering. Their problem should appeal to every representative here. We must quit talking about helping them, and pass this bill to pay the debt due them, which is all they want. They are not asking for a dole. They are asking the government to pay its just debt to them that has been owing since the Armistice was signed on November 11, 1918.

This Congress supported President Hoover in his moratorium gift of $250,000,000 to foreign countries. I voted against it, because I believe in helping Americans first. This Congress supported President Hoover in his program of voting $2,000,000,000 to help "busted" railroads and "busted" big business. I voted against it, because I did not believe that it would materially help the American people, and I was unwilling to saddle upon them that additional tremendous debt.

This Congress voted to support President Hoover in giving an additional $125,000,000 to Federal Land Banks. I voted against it, because these Federal Land Banks, and joint-stock land banks, are daily demanding their pound of flesh from farmers, and are foreclosing their mortgages against farms, suing farmers hundreds of miles away from their homes, and dispossessing them, and turning their wives and little children out in the cold without a roof to cover their heads.

There is no good reason why this government should not pay this debt of honor to our veterans of the World War. The Secretary of the Treasury has just had his $900,000,000 2 per cent loan oversubscribed, which shows that we can borrow money at a low rate of interest, and we have already paid over $3,000,000,000 on our government debts ahead of our debt-payment program, and we can draw on this reserve, so to speak, in paying off these adjusted compensation certificates.

And, until decisive steps are taken to pay these certificates in cash to our ex-service men I am going to object to the passage of such bills as the one now up for consideration. It should not pass until we have paid this debt of honor to our World War veterans. Hence, Mr. Speaker, I object.

STUDENTS TO PLAY POLITICS

In Kalamazoo, Mich., a miniature national Democratic convention with all its oratory, parades, political ballyhoo and struggle for votes of delegates, is to be held by the students of Kalamazoo college. The students will convene March 19 to ballot in the meantime they will line up votes, ballyhoo their favorite candidate and argue over issues and platform planks.

YOUR PUSH

Were I a professional lecturer I would make my first and strongest appeal concerning books, with all possible emphasis on good books. A good book is a priceless book. There are thousands of instances where a book has made a human life all over again and times when a book has made a nation. William Knibb toiled and talked until he rescued Jamaica from the hideous curse of slavery and he did it by means of a book, which years before had charmed his own life.

Not long since, when we all turned our minds to colonial days, thinking of the time and the why for celebrating Washington's birthday, I heard a voice calling "come on to bed. You are not young any more. You are going to put your eyes out. Why do you read such late hours?" I replied by saying, "I am listening to Thomas Jefferson talk." What a rare opportunity indeed to open a book and hear the moving words of men such as Cicero or Cromwell or Scott or Byron or Webster, or open another book and have David or Solomon or Elijah or God draw one's mind strangely up toward things of infinity.

There is no end to the making of books. Some are not worth the making and need to be shunned as a furious enemy. The reading of the people forms ideals and shapes character and moreover decides the standard of intelligence. Anyone who has not fallen in love with good books and could know the meaning of so want a failure would sit down and weep over the misfortune.

I am more often fascinated by reading biographies of good people. Many of the greatest and best of other years have left to us rich inheritance in outlines of a well spent life. I remember in the years when most of us traveled in buggies finding myself on one occasion miles from home spending the night with a friend. Among the family books I found the autobiography of Dr. George Rankin and asked to borrow it. On my return trip the following day I jogged quietly along and read the book. At times the tears forced themselves out and down and at other time I was compelled to laugh heartily. My horse was not accustomed to noisy laughter, when I was alone and was inclined to take fright. It seemed to settle him when I compared him to some folks in that he didn't know the value of a good book well written.

Wish someone would start a campaign to popularize good books in the mind of every individual. Read books, talk books, borrow and loan books. It would take us out of much of the depression and into something better. SAM SAY

LAMPASAS

The directors of the Lampasas Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday morning for the purpose of installing the new directors recently elected.

The Catholic rectory caught fire Wednesday afternoon and considerable damage was done to two or three rooms of the house, a hole burned in the roof and the entire place was damaged with water. The fire started by a piece of wood falling from the fireplace on the floor. Rev. H. T. Schroeder was away from home when the fire started.

The state is now calling for bids on the construction of highway No. 66 through Lampasas county and it appears as if this work would be started in the near future. The highway commission agreed to build this road through Lampasas county if the county would secure the right of way and move the fences and also let the state use part of the county's road building machinery for the construction of the road.

The firemen had considerable trouble with the trucks on Wednesday, when they started to answer an alarm. It was found that someone had drained all of the gasoline out of the carburetor on one truck and had cut off the gasoline flow on the other. This caused quite a delay and one of the trucks never reached the fire. Had they been able to have gotten to the fire with the chemical truck there would have been very little damage to the building by water.—Leader.

AN ELECTRIC WATCH

George Pellaton, a former watchmaker of Geneva, has succeeded in putting on the market an ordinary-sized electric watch. Obviously, this timepiece is not a small imitation of the electric clocks that get their electricity from wires. A man, or a woman, who carries a watch can not be wired like a house, and while an automobile storage battery probably has enough power to wind any watch, the connection would be broken every time the driver parked the car and probably the watch would stop.

The electrical chronometer invented by the Swiss watchmaker, after twelve years of experimentation, has its own storage battery. A small "accumulator" fits inside the watch, the charge lasts for a year and the accumulator can be recharged with an ordinary wireless set. This would be cheaper than sending the timepiece to a battery station to get it recharged. And it would be easier than winding it.

Absent-minded persons who forget to wind their watches will be deeply indebted to Mr. Pellaton. However, this electrical watch can not be regarded as the most important of labor-saving devices. In fact, it may be doubted whether anything has been gained by the elimination of the exercise of the wrist and fingers involved in winding a watch.

But the Swiss experimenter is not satisfied. He is now trying to apply his invention to wrist watches.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

It may have been a lamb to Mary, but it was just a goat to Lewis Olsen of Portland, Ore., who stopped to pet it in the business district, where it had wandered. The goat followed him and so did a crowd. Finally Olsen walked into a police station. The goat followed him inside and it was turned over to the humane society.

THE CITIZEN'S CAMPS

Conditions in the Orient have temporarily overshadowed the efforts of those misguided pacifists, who would emasculate America's whole defensive force. But they are still at work. One of their chief aims is to destroy the Citizen's Military Training Camps, which they call "unnecessary and dangerous schools of militarism."

Calvin Coolidge, after he retired from the presidency, stated the case of the citizens' camps. He said:

One of the most interesting and encouraging developments of the last fifteen years has been the Citizens' Training Camps. At the outset they were not considered any too favorably by the government. Now they have become an institution.

While a considerable value attaches to them as centers of military instruction, their scope is much broader. They are really schools of good citizenship.

In disciplining the body and mind, in teaching practical patriotism, the camps fill an important place. They demonstrate the power of the people, with or without the approbation of government, to act in emergency and manage their own affairs.

Thousands of young Americans can testify from experience to the accuracy of this appraisal. From a defense point of view alone the camps are worth more than they cost. But as schools of good citizenship, they are invaluable.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

TAXES TAKE A FIFTH OF AVERAGE INCOME

The average person now stands to pay in taxes more than one-fifth of his income, according to calculations by the Alexander Hamilton Institute. From two billions in 1912, before the war, the total of national, state and local expenditures has jumped to 12 billions, requiring 22.1 percent of the national income to be paid in direct or indirect taxes. Says the Institute:

"One of the important factors retarding recovery from the current depression is the high cost of government. Prior to the depression in 1929 the cost of government had already reached an uncomfortably high figure. Since the depression started, government expenditures have shown a further increase. Meanwhile the income of the people of the United States has shown a sharp reduction. As a result, the cost of government has now reached very burdensome proportions. In order to meet the increase in expenditures the federal, state and local governments are now engaged in raising taxes which the people must meet out of their reduced incomes. The consequent curtailment in that part of the national income which is available for private enterprise presents a serious obstacle to business recovery."

In rough figures, the average family, with an income of $2840 in 1929 paid only $360 in taxes. Today, the average family with an income of only $1,800 stands to pay $400 in taxes.

CENTER POINT

The first snow of the season visited our section of the country last Thursday and dressed the entire surface of the earth in a beautiful dress of pure white. Some were rather proud to see it melt any so soon, while others were dissatisfied.

We did not have any Sunday school Sunday, as most of the teachers and quite a few of the pupils attended church at Rock Springs. Our community was surely well represented at singing in the afternoon. We are extremely proud of our singing class and the interest they take in the community and county singings. We feel that our class is able to compete with any other class in the county.

The farmers are all busy with their farm work since the cold wind ceased blowing and the sun is shining so warm. Woodcutting has been the occupation of the men for the past week, while the ladies have been doing various indoor tasks.

Mrs. Goodwin of Mullin visited her daughter, Mrs. Aubrey French, Saturday and helped her render out lard.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Teifferteller is not improved at this writing. We hope to be able to report him much better at next news.

We are extremely proud of our school this year, since we certainly received a large amount of state aid. More than we have ever gotten any previous year. We feel that we owe this to the good men on the school board, members of the P. T. A. and our efficient teachers. We have all worked constantly for the upbuilding of our school and community. Many pieces of playground equipment, additional library and at the present a new teacherage is being erected on the campus. All these improvements not only add to the convenience of teachers and pupils, but also to the attractiveness of the campus. The total amount of state aid received amounted to $706.00.

DR. ROBERTS' DEAD

Dr. S. F. Roberts, died at his home in the Mount Olive community at 8 o'clock Sunday night and his remains were interred in Mount Olive cemetery Monday afternoon, a large number of his neighbors and other friends attending the sad service.

Dr. Roberts was a man of high character and was universally esteemed. He came to Mills county in 1901 and located in the community where his death occurred. For a number of years he engaged in the practice of medicine, but of late years had confined his work to the ministry in the Primitive Baptist church, in which occupation he was engaged for sixty years.

A few weeks preceding his death he was stricken with apoplexy from which he never recovered, but continued to sink until the end came.

He is survived by his wife and four children, J. A. Roberts of Mount Olive, W. M. Roberts of Star, Mrs. A. B. Neal of Mount Olive, Mrs. T. J. Burkes of Indian Gap, all of whom have the sympathy of all who know of their bereavement.

Mrs. Sam Hodges of Texhoma arrived here Monday night to be at the bedside of her father, Jno. Reeves, who has been ill for some time.

Charm Whittenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egger and Mrs. Irene Reeves attended church at Ridge Sunday afternoon.

P. R. Reid and B. B. Malone made a business trip to Brownwood Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lovelace were shopping in Brownwood Tuesday.

The Ebony P. T. A. is scheduled to meet Thursday night, March 17. Inclement weather prevented the last program.

The young people of the community enjoyed a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Roberts Saturday night.

Mrs. W. M. Clements and little daughters, Ruth and Etta, visited in the Wilmeth home Sunday afternoon.

Wayne Roberts attending Mullin high school, spent the week end with homefolks.

Ralph Wilmeth, teacher in the Priddy school, spent the week end with homefolks, the first time for four weeks. Rain and freezing weather have been hard on the boys away from home, who like to see the home fires once a week. While here Ralph attended the party at Charlie Roberts.

Mrs. Jno. R. Briley has been elected primary teacher of the Ebony school to teach out the unexpired term of Mrs. Mack Reynolds, resigned.

E. O. Dwyer made a business trip to Brownwood Monday.

Suffering from the ordeal of having teeth extracted, Mrs. Wood Roberts spent the first few days of the week with her daughter, Mrs. P. R. Reid.

Ray Griffin was chopping wood last week, when he came near cutting off his big toe. He was treated at Brownwood.

Relatives have received news of the death of Mrs. Biddle Briley of Mineral Wells. Mrs. Briley was reared here and is well known to most of our citizens. She was buried at Mineral Wells last Saturday a week ago. She is survived by three children.

Percy Williams of Brownwood and his friend, Mr. Harris, are fishing on the river at the Wilmeth ranch this week.

The thermometer reached 11 degrees during our recent cold spell.

Ebony was blanketed with snow Thursday evening and Friday morning, March 10 and 11.

ROBT. URBACH DEAD

Mr. Robert C. Urbach, aged 81, died at the home of his brother, Mr. W. C. Urbach, in this city last Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, after a long illness and much suffering. He had undergone two operations in the last year and had been back to the hospital for examination and treatment several times since, but without material benefit and continued to decline until the end came.

Mr. Urbach was a long-time citizen of the town, having located here in the early days of the town's history and was engaged in the hardware business with his brother all of these years. He was a quiet, inoffensive man, who was universally respected and liked by those who knew him.

Besides his brother and family he leaves one sister at LaGrange and one sister at New Orleans and a number of other relatives.

His remains were interred in the cemetery here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. Hoover and Ivins and attended by a large number of the people of the town and country.

MANY MECHANICAL COTTON PICKERS NOW ON PLAINS

About one hundred mechanical cotton strippers and harvesters were used this season on the South Plains, as compared with only four last season, and that the machine is proving popular. The stripper requires a two-horse team for power and will cover as much as six to eight acres in one day. In sections, where the yield is approximately a bale to the acre, strippers have harvested five to six bales of cotton daily.

The harvester takes two rows at a time. It is mounted on a tractor and leaves the burrs scattered evenly on the soil as the cotton is picked. The stripper is similar to the old slot sled machine, in that the cotton passes up in a slot. Instead of having the slot made out of two pieces of metal or boards, as in the old machine, the slot is formed by two revolving rods with projecting knobs or fingers which serve to pick the cotton, leaving the stalk and leaves undisturbed.

DON'T SEND STAMPS TO KING OF ENGLAND

It was learned that a large number of American stamps are being sent to King George by American citizens. To save inconvenience and expense the Associated Press was requested to let the American public know that his majesty does not accept gifts of stamps and that the royal collection, which probably is the most valuable in the world, includes only stamps of the British Empire.

BIRD WALKS ON LEAVES

The African Jacana is equipped with enormously long toes and claws. The claw of the hind toe exceeds the toe itself in length. This equipment enables the bird to walk with ease over water lilies and other aquatic leaves which grow in ponds or marshes. The genus is represented in Africa (Metopodius) as well as in South America, Australia and Asia.
