Jap Base In The Gilberts Is Damaged

All American Planes Return From Long Bombing Mission

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A large force of army bombers, winging far north of Guadalcanal island in the South Pacific, heavily damaged Japanese installations on Nauru in the Gilbert islands Wednesday, the navy said today, and destroyed at least five Zero fighters.

All American planes returned despite stiff enemy resistance from both anti-aircraft and fighter planes.

In the North Pacific army planes bombed and strafed Jap installations on Kiska ten times Tuesday, damaging the runway and camp area of that Aleutian island. The Aleutians air force has now hit Kiska 113 times this month.

Concerning the Nauru raid, a communiqué said that on April 21 a large force of army bombers carried out a daylight bombing attack on Nauru island, in the Gilbert island group.

In spite of heavy anti-aircraft fire and defending fighter planes, United States pilots shot down five and possibly seven Zero fighters. All United States planes returned.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 22 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur's medium and heavy bombers and long range fighters attacked enemy holdings yesterday at 10 points on the island perimeter north of Australia. B-17s started fires at Ubbi on the north coast of New Britain.

Hudsons and Beaufighters, both manned by Australians, attacked the building area, fuel dumps and the float plane base at Dobo in the Aroa islands.

Large fires were set by Billy Mitchell at Lago, 10 miles east of Baucau on the north coast of Timor.

Jury Deliberating 'Lower 13' Case

ALBANY, Ore., April 22 (AP)—The fate of Robert E. Lee Folkes was locked up today with the eight women and four men considering a charge against him of murdering Mrs. Martha Virginia James, 21, Norfolk, Va., in her berth lower 13 of a crowded railroad sleeping car.

The jury deliberated a few minutes more than 13 hours yesterday, then retired for the night on beds set up in the locked jury room. Deliberations were scheduled to resume around 11 a. m. (CST).

CLEARINGS HIGH

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Bank clearings in the week ended Wednesday almost reached the $10 billion level and represented the largest turnover since 1931 in reflecting the current second war loan drive, record pre-Easter sales and sustained industrial activity, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

The concrete barge program of the San Jacinto Shipbuilding corporation, Houston, Texas, has been marked by "rapacity, greed, fraud and negligence," the Truman committee declared in a lengthy report made public yesterday.

The committee, a special senate unit investigating war production problems and dealing with the shipbuilding program, said that a detailed examination had been made into construction of concrete barges at the MacEvoy Shipbuilding corporation, Savannah, Ga., and the San Jacinto corporation.

M. H. McCloskey, III, project manager of the Houston Shipbuilding concern, declared last night that most of the faults found with concrete barge program had been eliminated and new methods of construction devised to speed up production.

The committee asserted that although the program was initiated in 1941, not a single concrete barge had been delivered. The report went on:

"From an examination thereof, the committee believes that both cases show rapacity, greed, fraud, and negligence, and both have been referred to the department of justice for appropriate action."

'Compromise' All A Mistake Battle Renewed On Pay-As-You-Go

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The house voted today for an Easter recess until May 3, and Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) announced the body would have a final showdown on that date on pay-as-you-go taxation, with another vote on a modified Ruml plan to skip an income tax year.

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Their truce attempt abandoned in failure, democrats and republicans filed back to opposing trenches today to resume firing in another "do or die" house floor battle on pay-as-you-go, with the issue again whirling around the Ruml plan and other proposals to abate varied portions of 1943 income taxes.

Regardless of which party wins the duel, if any bill at all is passed, two things appeared reasonably certain:

1. That at least $5,000,000,000, or an overall of 50 per cent, of the 1943 personal taxes would be cancelled.

2. A 20 per cent withholding levy would be imposed against the taxable parts of all pay envelopes and salary checks.

Democrats, led by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), drew up behind a proposal to collect on 1942 income at the much softer 1941 rates and exemptions, in making the transaction to a pay-as-you-go system.

Republicans fought with a double-barreled gun—one side loaded with a modified Ruml plan to skip an entire tax year, with certain safeguards against windfalls, and the other with a proposal that would mean 75 per cent abatement on 1943 liabilities for most taxpayers.

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The Germans kept up unceasing assaults in the Kuban valley of the Caucasus during the night, trying with a great weight of men, tanks and planes to crack the Red army lines from the southern shores of the Sea of Azov to the Black sea at Novorossiysk.

All their efforts failed, and in one sector, the Germans were reported to have lost upwards of 1,700 men in the last 48 hours.

The German air force, meanwhile, was being engaged in some of the vast intensive air battles of the campaign as Russian fighter planes met strong attempts to dive-bomb the Red army's ground troops into submission.

The two-day score of plane destruction in this sector was reported as 93 to 42 in the Russians' favor, and the Red army's aviation was increasing the number of its attacks on enemy ground troops.

(The German high command said in a communiqué broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press that 77 Soviet aircraft were shot down yesterday, 20 of them by Finnish fighters, while two Nazi planes were missing. Light German naval forces were said to have sunk three Soviet supply vessels off the Caucasus coast. The land front was described as "generally quiet, with local fighting activity.")

Pravda, the communist party newspaper, said that several dozen planes raided Tbilisi, East Prussian rail city, Tuesday night, swooping in on it from four directions and giving it probably its heaviest blow to date. Numerous fires and explosions were reported from the rail yards and river docks, and last fighters to bomb the city started a blaze seen 100 miles away.

Col. Myron Blalock Suffers An Attack

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Colonel Myron Blalock, Texas democratic national committeeman, suffered a severe heart attack this morning in Walter Reed hospital.

He was taken to the hospital last night after suffering a mild heart attack. Hospital attendants said he suffered a more severe attack today.

A medical center officer said the colonel's condition is critical. Friends said he had been placed under an oxygen tent.

Concrete Barge Program Assailed By Committee

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The concrete barge program of the San Jacinto Shipbuilding corporation, Houston, Texas, has been marked by "rapacity, greed, fraud and negligence," the Truman committee declared in a lengthy report made public yesterday.

The committee, a special senate unit investigating war production problems and dealing with the shipbuilding program, said that a detailed examination had been made into construction of concrete barges at the MacEvoy Shipbuilding corporation, Savannah, Ga., and the San Jacinto corporation.

M. H. McCloskey, III, project manager of the Houston Shipbuilding concern, declared last night that most of the faults found with concrete barge program had been eliminated and new methods of construction devised to speed up production.

The committee asserted that although the program was initiated in 1941, not a single concrete barge had been delivered. The report went on:

"From an examination thereof, the committee believes that both cases show rapacity, greed, fraud, and negligence, and both have been referred to the department of justice for appropriate action."

Among other things the committee said:

1. After the award of the contract, it was found that "the site selected could not be used because the barges would be too large to pass under the bridges between the proposed shipyard site and the Houston ship channel."

2. The site finally selected was not served by a railroad and was on San Jacinto way where the water was only 18 inches deep on about 35 feet of silt, while there was available on the ship channel "a large shipyard site served by railroad, highway and water and dredged to a depth of 30 feet."

3. Originally contemplated that reinforced concrete barges could be constructed "cheaply and rapidly, that unskilled and building construction labor rather than shipyard labor could be used and that available low grade steel could be used for reinforcing."

"Program has actually been appallingly expensive and extremely slow."

Changes in design, materials, necessitated use of high grade steel and employment of more experienced welders than at first believed would be needed.

4. As of Feb. 27, 1943, the market time commission records show that 1 barge was 63 per cent completed, considering plans, materials received and materials erected; 2 barges were 68 per cent completed; 3 barges were 67 per cent completed; 4 barges 85 per cent completed; 5 barges 35 per cent completed.

Must Function As Leaders, Officers Told By Bible

Commenting the men for their ability as leaders and their future action as thoroughbreds and champions, Dana X. Bible, nationally known athletic director, gave the main address at graduation exercises Thursday morning for cadet class 43-4 at the Big Spring Bomber school.

The speaker pointed out that in the training received at the post, the class had learned to subordinate the efforts of the individual to the group. He declared that as in football teams, more is expected of champions and as officers more would be expected of the men who wear the silver wings than was asked of them as cadets.

"You've had adverse winds but you've set the flag and stayed on the course... now you receive the honors you justly deserve," Bible said. "After today you will set your own course and although no one knows where it will be, you will fly it just as gloriously."

The coach also declared that there was a part for everyone to do and "although it is you men who are carrying the ball," there is but one objective for everyone—Victory.

He further stated that as leaders, "you will have to hold on when others turn loose, advance when others would retreat," and he advised, "let courage call the signals as you keep on coming back."

Although this was the first class not to receive diplomas due to the army's aim to cut down on paper work, it was explained, the hard won silver wings were awarded by Colonel Robert W. Warren, commanding officer.

Response was given by Lieut. C. G. Coyle, cadet wing commander, who declared that no woman could be as proud of her Easter suit as the newly commissioned lieutenants of Class 43-4 were proud of their new uniforms. He declared it was the happiest day of their lives but mixed with sadness, too, with the realization that today the class must say goodbye to some of "the best buddies we ever had."

He thanked instructors and pilots for "plugging us through" and pledged that the class would place faith in those left behind, meet the enemy and be a championship team.

Special mention was made of winners of the athletic, scholarship and bombardier awards. Thomas D. Wynne, son of Mrs. Agnes G. Wynne, Fordyce, Ark., and a student in the University of Arkansas from 1933-37, received the athletic award.

Theodore M. Wirth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Wirth, Nebraska City, Neb., student in the University of Nebraska from 1937-39, won the scholarship award for ground school work. Michael Borysoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam B. Borysoff, Buffalo, N. Y., and a graduate of Buffalo high school, won the outstanding bombardier award.

Chaplain Lawrence gave the invocation and Chaplain Patterson the benediction. Marcia Nell Patterson sang, "There Are Such Things" and "Daybreak," accompanied by the post orchestra. Captain Richard T. Allen administered the oath of office and the program closed by singing of the "Army Air Corps" song by Mrs. Patterson and the national anthem played by the post band.

Taylor, Others Deny Keeping Any Money

ABILENE, April 22 (AP)—Denials of wrongdoing were entered in federal district court by three of ten persons being tried on a charge of conspiracy to defraud in the construction of Avenger Field, Sweetwater.

Each of the three—Alfred Hrbacek, Sweetwater, N. K. Marshall, North Hollywood, Calif., and Elton Taylor, Big Spring, Texas—testified yesterday he had turned over all moneys above the cost of material and labor for the field to Victor Nelson, Los Angeles contractor who built the field. The latter pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to defraud and has been a government witness.

Guilt pleas in the case also were entered by Nelson's auditor, Robert J. Young, and E. T. Nelson, son of Los Angeles. Other defendants are Joe B. Plosser and Charles A. Prince, Sweetwater, operators of Avenger Field, and Charles A. Carpenter and A. L. Leaverenz, both of Los Angeles.

Former Governor Of Michigan Dies

CHARLOTTE, Mich., April 22 (AP)—Former Governor Luren D. Dickinson died today at his farm home near here at the age of 84 years. He had suffered a heart attack yesterday.

Suspects Held In Burglaries

One of four burglaries reported Tuesday night had been cleared and police were holding four suspects for investigation in connection with three others, Police Chief J. B. Bruton said Thursday.

There was strong possibility that the remaining three cases would be cracked with another day, he said.

This would mean the clearing of a total of seven burglaries which occurred here in one evening. Adam Lockridge, John Williams and David Jackson, negroes, having been charged with burglarizing the Nat Scott, Dave Bush and Sam Williams cafes in the negro section.

The four other suspects, said Bruton, were whites. Two of them might be classed as juveniles.

Two admitted entering the Crawford Storage and stealing a gun. Unsolved were the Rita theatre, McCrory store and Tracy Smith office burglaries.

Between 60 and 80 tanks and at least five battalions of German infantry (perhaps 3,000 men) struck by moonlight Tuesday night at the positions of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's First Army in the mountainous area of Medjez-Ei-Bab, itself 35 miles southwest of Tunis.

The assault forces, described here as some of the best of Marshal Erwin Rommel's men in Africa, were met by heavy fire. They suffered considerable casualties and the survivors were withdrawing at dawn, a communiqué said. Among the 27 wrecked tanks they left behind were two of the 60-ton Mark VI Tigers.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army massed artillery batteries to beat off two counterattacks against its new lines—anchored in the region of Takrouna, five miles northwest of Enfidaville, and in the area of the Djebel Garci, 10 miles inland from the coast—with a heavy loss to the axis.

"Our positions were generally improved and all gains firmly held," the communiqué said.

General Montgomery's men, who face 10 miles of extremely difficult hill country in their latest push toward Tunis, have already driven through three miles which had once resisted with mad defenses.

Observers said the axis forces were striking with all possible strength in an effort to slow their progress, regardless of the cost in troops and material.

The German command included units of the Hermann Goerring Jaeger regiment and the Goering Grenadiers in the attack on the First army and they struck on an eight mile front. Tank forces which had previously seen action in the battle of Fondouk, Kasernine Pass and Maknassy were thrown into the fray.

Twenty-seven of these tanks were destroyed and a spokesman said it was believed most of the hulks had been left behind on ground now occupied by the Allies.

The Germans struck westward at 11:30 p. m. in territory where hard fighting took place last December. Their objective apparently was to cut the road from Medjez-Ei-Bab to Goubellat, 10 miles to the southeast, and seize hills west of the road.

The British, who had not yielded a single important position, maintained contact to clear all the challenged ground by yesterday afternoon.

500 Germans Taken, Tanks Destroyed

British Holding Firm In Their New Positions

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 22 (AP)—British infantrymen, tanks and artillery have beaten back three major thrusts by Axis ground troops seeking to ease the pressure upon their Tunisian defense lines, inflicting losses which included destruction of 27 tanks and capture of 500 Germans in the Medjez-Ei-Bab sector alone, it was announced today.

Fresh British gains on the southern front were declared firmly held.

Bond Rally Is Planned

A rally, designed to be the climax in the local Second War Loan, is in the making for next week, it was announced Thursday by Drive Chairman Ted O. Grobel.

He had been in conference with officers at the Bombardier school, from which will come the band and a staff of entertainers to put on the program. The affair will be staged probably at the municipal auditorium, on a date yet to be announced.

Grobel said plans were for an outstanding patriotic and inspirational program, for which there would be no admission charge. Bonds, of course, will be sold.

The county's bond total was growing slowly, and there was still over $200,000 to be subscribed. Grobel was placing more working-kits in the hands of volunteers, with the plea that canvassing work be continued without letup.

The county still was behind the national average. Bond sales for the county as a whole amounted to $11,322,000,000 up to last night, the treasury announced. That's getting pretty close to the 13-billion dollar goal.

Japan Hints Executions Will Go On

By The Associated Press

A threat to execute every United States flier captured during a bombing of Japan was implied in propaganda broadcasts from Tokyo today and it was said that Japan would "leave nothing undone to prevent a repetition of the Allied air attack" upon the island empire last April.

"And by the way, don't forget Americans," said an English-language broadcast recorded by the federal communications commission, "make sure that every flier that comes this way has a special pass to hell and rest assured it's strictly a one-way ticket."

Tokyo broadcasts beamed specially to the United States attempted to counter the disclosure by President Roosevelt that the Japanese government had executed some of the eight American aviators captured after Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, then a lieutenant colonel, led the raiders across Japan and that a protest had been lodged.

A Domei broadcast recorded by the FCC declared "the Japanese were perfectly justified in severely punishing American fliers who were found guilty of purposely carrying out wanton attacks on innocent civilians, hospitals and schools."

Max Hill, former chief of the Tokyo bureau of the Associated Press, said a Japanese friend told him that bullets from Japanese fighter planes had killed many people. He said the war lords seized upon the raid as an unrivaled opportunity to whip their people into a frenzy of hatred against all white men.

Axis Shipping Is Taking A Beating

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The spectacular successes of Allied airmen in North Africa are destroying at least 50 per cent of axis shipping—both air and sea, Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, reported today.

At a press conference, Patterson said reports from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in North Africa, indicate that the number of ships sunk by Allied air forces and naval units has disclosed the axis supply system seriously and that the enemy is trying to make up the loss by concentration of transport airplanes.

US Fliers Called On To Avenge The 'Barbarous' Execution Of Raiders

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A new and burning challenge for revenge rode with America's air fighters in the Pacific today.

They were called on by their chief, Gen. Henry H. Arnold, to destroy the Japanese warlords who "have executed several of your brave comrades in violation of what Arnold termed 'every rule of military procedure and every concept of human decency.'"

President Roosevelt's announcement late yesterday that some of the American fliers who helped bomb military targets in Japan last year had been put to death electrified and shocked the capital.

Mingled with Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that these "diabolical crimes" would make America more determined than ever to "blot out the shameful militarism of Japan" were such comments as these:

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) of the house rules committee: "Contemptible, damnable, outrageous. I hope that when the time comes we will show no mercy."

Speaker Rayburn: "Gruesome. An American note to Japan, transmitted through Swiss diplomatic channels and made public at the White House yesterday, said the United States eventually will bring those responsible for the executions to justice."

Japan did not say how many fliers it had put to death, but informed this government through Swiss channels that it had tried those captured and sentenced them to death. The sentence was commuted for the "larger number" of them, the note added, but was carried out on the others.

Of the 80 officers and men who flew to Japan with Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle last April, the war department listed eight as prisoners and two as missing.

The White House released the news of the executions in the form of a statement by the president, received from a stop on his war camp inspection journey at Corpus Christi, Tex., and a 1,000 word note of protest from the state department.

The state department declared: "The government of the United States brands as false the charge that American aviators intentionally have attacked non-combatants anywhere."

Contract To Suggests OK'd By War Dept.

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The war department has awarded the following construction contract (with army engineers office in charge):

Less than $50,000: Suggs Construction Co., Big Spring, Tex., housing and facilities, Ward county, Tex. (Albuquerque, N. M.)

At a press conference, Patterson said reports from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in North Africa, indicate that the number of ships sunk by Allied air forces and naval units has disclosed the axis supply system seriously and that the enemy is trying to make up the loss by concentration of transport airplanes.

Miss Laneous Notes

MARY WHALEY

Talked with a man once who had a novel way of avoiding trouble via the mail that he had worked out himself after years of experimenting.

At first when he got those "Please Reply" letters and had no money to pay he would drop the firm a little note explaining his financial condition and a promise to revisit as soon as possible.

But he explained, he'd always get another letter the next month, reminding him that he'd set the date for payment but none had been received. This necessitated another letter of explanation.

Then when he'd get a letter reaming him out for some act, he'd either fire a nasty back or else try a Pollyanna that made him feel madder than the man who wrote the first letter.

Invitations to things he didn't want to attend also came in and he'd write notes of apology that sounded just about as phony as the excuses he made. Sometimes he'd write and accept the invitation and then forget to go, or worse, go and have a terrible time.

This smart man decided the best way out of his difficulties was to ignore his correspondence completely for months on end. By the time he finally read it or got ready to answer it, he claimed half the questions and demands had been taken care of automatically with the passing of time.

Of course, once he used this leave alone technique on a certain brown envelope from the bureau of internal revenue. But it isn't bad, he can have visitors twice a week, his board and room is provided and he doesn't have to worry with a ration card where he is now.

Report Nazis Plan To Use Poison Gas

LONDON, April 22. (AP)—Asserting it had received reports that "Hitler is making preparations for using poison gas against the Russian front," the British government vowed today that any use of gas by either Germany or her satellites would bring immediate reprisals in kind against military objectives "throughout the whole expanse of Germany."

The government's statement was issued by Prime Minister Churchill from 10 Downing street and newsmen were called into an extraordinary session early today to hear it.

The British Broadcasting company also quickly beamed short-wave broadcasts to Germany, directly informing the German people what they could expect if their leader orders the use of gas.

The Berlin radio, replying to the British statement, quoted German foreign office circles as saying that Germany would stand by a pledge given last year that she would use poison gas only if her enemies used it first. The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said Berlin political circles termed Churchill's declaration "provocative."

Churchill's statement said the reports of Germany's intentions had come from "several sources." A Soviet official, meanwhile, declared that "we have passed on to the British foreign office information that supplies of gas recently have been reaching the German armies on the Russian front."

The average length of life for Americans in 1938 was approximately 40 years, as against 64 years today.

New Curbs Seen On Distribution Of Information

WASHINGTON, April 22. (AP)—A freshly opened senatorial inquiry into handling of news by government agencies appeared headed today toward requests for some regulation barring them from any distribution of "opinions and arguments."

Launching an investigation into government "dissemination and control of information" with a close questioning of methods used by Elmer Davis, director of war information, members of the senate judiciary committee voiced objections to pamphlets on controversial domestic subjects.

Several committee members, however, said they regarded the OWI as a necessary clearing house to prevent what they termed issuance of conflicting reports on war information.

Davis was closeted with the committee for more than two hours yesterday after a press conference with nearly 200 reporters, conducted while the senators looked on.

Texas Mother Confident Her Son Is Alive

By The Associated Press

The mother of one Texas flier believed a prisoner of the Japanese as a result of the Tokyo raid a year ago yesterday expressed confidence her son was still alive.

Mrs. Lena Hite of Earth, Lamb county, Texas, said she had received an unconfirmed report that the voice of her son, First Lieut. Robert L. Hite, had been heard on a short-wave broadcast from Tokyo six months ago.

Another Texan who fell into the hands of the Japanese after the Tokyo raid is First Lieut. Dean E. Hallmark of Dallas, who was born in Bronte, Tex., and reared in Greenville, where he played on the high school football team.

"I feel," said Mrs. Hite, "that we soon will hear about Robert's fate, and the word will be encouraging." "While we have had no direct word from him since before the Tokyo raid, the war department informed me last October that an American short-wave operator had said he had heard Robert broadcast from Tokyo that he was well. The war department was unable to confirm the report of the pickup, the notification said."

Hite was graduated from West Texas College at Canyon, and enlisted in the army air forces in October, 1940.

Lieut. Hallmark attended Paris junior college, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and the University of Texas. He entered the army air forces in November, 1940, after spending two years in South America with an oil company.

COTTON IS SECOND ONLY TO STEEL AS THE MOST VITAL WAR MATERIAL

*Statement recently issued by the Quartermaster Corps of the United States Army.

COTTON IS A WAR CROP!

Cotton supplies five essential war materials... NO OTHER CROP SUPPLIES ALL FIVE.

Every 10 pounds of gunpowder contain about 6 pounds of cotton lint... WE NEED MORE GUNPOWDER AND MORE COTTON LINTERS.

Cottonseed oil production helps to guarantee enough food, and anti-freeze and cooling fluid for our fighting planes... WE NEED MORE ANTI-FREEZE AND MORE COTTONSEED OIL.

Cottonseed Meal and Hulls are essential for livestock production... WE NEED MORE MEAT AND MILK AND MORE COTTONSEED MEAL AND HULLS.

You help to win this war when you plant every acre of cotton permitted in 1943... when you fight weeds and insects... and when you produce every pound of cotton—WAR MATERIAL—that you can.

12 Killed In Plane Crash

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 22 (UP)—An army airplane crashed while making a landing at the Evansville municipal airport shortly before last midnight and twelve men were killed, Major F. C. Dickson, army representative at the field, reported.

Major Dickson issued this formal statement:

"An army airplane crashed at the Evansville airport at 11:26 p. m. (Central War Time) Wednesday and 12 men were reported killed. Their names are withheld, pending notification of their next of kin."

State police and local officers sent to the field said the plane burned after the crash.

Employees at the field said the plane approached from the south and lights were turned on to facilitate its landing.

They said that as it neared the control tower at a low altitude the pilot apparently decided to make another circle of the field before landing but the ship stalled and fell, rolling over and over as it hit the ground.

Flames flared up immediately. Two men were thrown clear of the ship but both were killed. Papers on one identified him as the pilot.

At Indianapolis, State Police Captain Walter Eckert said state troopers sent to the Evansville airport had reported the removal of ten bodies from the plane and the identification of five of them. Two other bodies were believed still in the wreckage, these officers informed Captain Eckert.

east of Medjer-El-Bab. The Nazi planes were forced to jettison their explosives and two P-40s of the 100th which joined in the subsequent battle were shot down.

A number of bombing and machine-gunning sweeps were carried out by Allied squadrons over Tunisia, and Malta-based Spitfires knocked down four more Junkers-88 transports. Two enemy aircraft were destroyed during the day by the North African squadrons, while four Allied planes failed to return from all operations.

American and British-manned fighter-bombers of the western desert air force attacked barges in the Gulf of Tunis, and shot down three Axis fighters which attempted to intercept them.

Spitfires shot down two Messerschmitt 109s and probably destroyed another during a dawn sweep across axis landing fields in the area of Tunis and a Polish combat squadron attached to the British also downed a Messerschmitt. Other air victories of the day were in scattered fights.

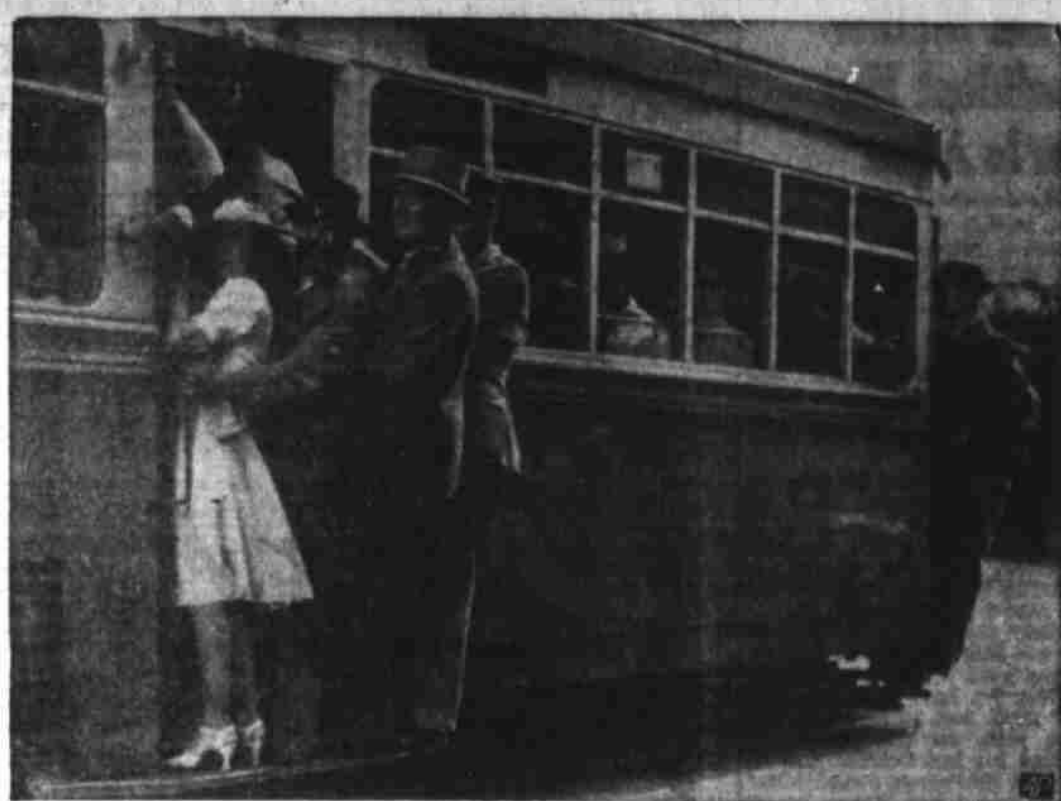

Relatedly, the communiqué reported the destruction of four additional Axis planes Tuesday night.

The preceding night, a small unit of light coastal forces, patrolling the coast near the naval base of Bizerte, encountered a number of German E-boats and attacked. One of the small enemy vessels was hit and an explosion was seen, after which the craft withdrew under a smoke screen, and other enemy ships also were hit before they retired, the communiqué said.

Tuesday night Allied naval forces sank a small enemy supply ship northwest of Sicily, the communiqué said.

More Land Brought Into Howard-Martin Conservation Dist.

Approval of 28 applications involving 46,350 acres of farm and ranch lands in Martin and Midland counties was announced at a called meeting of the board of supervisors for the Martin-Howard Conservation District in Stanton Wednesday.

At the same time, the board gave its sanction to 14 agreements for conservation practices in Howard, Martin and Midland counties. These covered 7,622 acres, mostly in farm lands.

Applications covered 26,587 acres in Martin county lands and would be handled through the staff at Stanton and the Midland county applications stood at 19,350 with the Midland staff ready to help develop the agreements.

Supervisors also authorized a revision of conservation plans to take advantage of experience during the past year. Changes mostly were variations of laying out point rows on contour furrows; of rotating crops; of strip cropping. A more general examination of the program with view of bringing it up to date was indicated.

Heavy Scoring In Ward Schoolers' Softball Games

The ward school softball league opened rather auspiciously here Wednesday afternoon.

A mere 126 runs were scored in the three games played.

East Ward "nosed" out College Heights by a 23-15 score in the closest game of the day. West Ward proved their fine condition by outscoring North Ward, 49-10, while Central Ward played cautiously to drub South Ward, 29-1.

Athletic Director John Dibrell would make no predictions on Friday afternoon games when College Heights goes to South Ward, Central goes to West Ward and North Ward goes to East Ward.

Lieut. Schwarzenbach was commissioned on April 12, and reported to his post on the same date. He received his D.V.M. degree from Texas A&M in January. Lieut. Grissam received his degree at A&M also in January, and reported for duty as a commissioned officer on April 12. They will receive "special" training in inspection of meats and dairy products procured for the army.

Labor Agency Licensed To Operate Here

An out-of-state labor recruiting agency has qualified to operate in Howard county under rigid state license, County Agent O. P. Griffin was notified Thursday.

The company is the Great Western Labor Agency with Bert Soots, San Antonio, as agent. Unofficially, it was stated that the unit was seeking unemployed farm workers, presumably for transfer to the best fields of the western and mid-western states. Free transportation reportedly was one of the inducements.

Great Western Labor Agency has qualified in 19 Texas counties, according to the state bureau of labor statistics. Among these are Howard, El Paso, Tom Green, Lubbock, Dimmitt, Hayes, Cottle and Wichita in West Texas.

While the Howard county USDA War Board has taken cognizance of a farm labor shortage, it is nevertheless true that at this time there is a surplus of ordinary farm labor. The United States Employment Service lists 54 of these unemployed workers in its last posting with the war board. As soon as cotton hoeing season opens, however, there would quickly be a disparity of labor, according to County Agent O. P. Griffin.

Any professional recruiter who makes an effort to recruit an employed person is subject to fine and imprisonment, but there is nothing to deter him from soliciting unemployed farm workers, it was pointed out.

Hence the only preventive which Griffin could foresee was the hiring of the unemployed by every farmer who can possibly use them at this time. C. Hohn, assistant state extension service director, made a suggestion to all county war boards that they in turn carry this message to neighborhood victory leaders.

England's Church Bells Ring Again

LONDON, April 22 (UP)—Amid loud laughter, Prime Minister Churchill ventured the opinion in the house of commons today that news of "anything like a serious invasion would be bound to leak out" in Britain although the ringing of churchbells has been abandoned as an invasion warning.

Churchill announced yesterday that beginning with Good Friday churchbells would be permitted to ring for the first time since 1940 for Sunday services and religious holidays.

Pension Sum Kept At $1,850,000

AUSTIN, April 22 (UP)—The senate today adopted an amendment to House Bill 9 hiking the ceiling on old age assistance payments by $100,000 a month to $1,850,000. Effect of the amendment was to defeat a proposal to set the monthly limitation at $2,000,000. The present limit is $1,750,000.

Monthly grants of $1,500,000 "not only will restore recent cuts but will give a little more to pensioners," said Sen. Jesse Martin of Fort Worth, sponsor of the amendment.

Third Body Sought In Train Wreckage

CLAREMORE, Okla., April 22 (UP)—Missouri Pacific railroad wrecking crews still were at work today, cleaning up the debris of a head-on collision between a passenger train and a freight near here yesterday.

The bodies of two of the dead, E. J. Reynolds, engineer and A. J. Hooten, fireman, of the passenger train, were recovered. Both were from Van Buren, Ark.

Workers still were seeking the body of a member of the engine crew of the freight train in the wreckage. Thirteen other persons were injured.

Boys Held Here In Taxicab Theft

Two boys of juvenile age from Lubbock and two from Big Spring were taken into custody at noon here Thursday in connection with theft of a taxi cab.

The machine, reported stolen at Lubbock, was recovered by police and was being held for Lubbock officers and the owner.

One of the Lubbock boys, who was held here a week ago as a runaway, said he had taken the car, picked up a smaller companion and the two had come together to Big Spring where they asked two local boys to join them.

Army Recruiters Visit Office Here

Lieut. Col. Marvin B. Durrette and 1st Lieut. Rose Smothers Howlett of the West Texas Recruiting & Induction headquarters at Lubbock inspected the army recruiting office here Wednesday.

Col. Durrette said that it was contemplated that a clerk-typist would be hired for the local station and that a woman with dependents and ineligible for the WAAC, of good character and well recommended for the work, and not a wife of a soldier unless he is overseas would be considered. Applications will be accepted at the office in the basement of the post-office.

Cpl. Ray Norst, recruiter in charge, said that Mrs. Lorena G. Covill, Big Spring, has been ordered to report to Lubbock on Friday to begin her WAAC training.

HD Women To Stage Food Sale Saturday

Home demonstration women of Howard county will conduct a food sale at the office of County Home Demonstration Agent Rhea Marie Boyles starting at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Many prospective buyers got dates mixed and appeared at her office last Saturday, said Miss Boyles. Offerings will include butter, eggs, chickens, cakes, pies and possibly some home canned products, (which are point-free). Proceeds will go to the HD council.

Scottish Town Hit By Nazi Bombers

LONDON, April 22 (UP)—German bombers attacked a Scottish town, identified by the Berlin radio as Aberdeen, last night and it was feared that heavy civilian casualties were suffered there, authoritative sources said today.

The Berlin broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, gave few other details concerning the raid, which the British said was one of the heaviest yet directed against the town.

Ventura bombers late yesterday followed up Tuesday night's attacks on Stettin, Rostock and Berlin by bombing the railway yards at Abbeville, France. One German fighter was destroyed and three Venturas and two British fighters were reported missing.

M'Arthur To Serve Past Retirement Age

WASHINGTON, April 22 (UP)—General Douglas MacArthur will continue his services in the field after reaching retirement age next January 24.

Undersecretary of War Patterson, telling this to a press conference today, said the service of the Southwest Pacific commander have been of "the most extraordinary value to the country."

MacArthur will be 64 next January, the age at which retirement from the armed forces ordinarily becomes effective.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, April 22 (UP)—Stocks were relatively steady today despite the market's inability to hold in full the moderate gains established in the early dealings.

Volume generally tapered after midday but total dealings again topped a million shares.

Stocks attracting a little support during most of the session included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Boeing, Douglas, Western Union, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Air Reduction, American Can, Standard Oil (NJ), and Engineers Public Service.

Shick Ends 10 Years As City's Postmaster

Nat Shick checked off 10 years in office as postmaster without ceremony here Wednesday.

It was on April 21, 1933, that he took over the office in an acting capacity. His initial commission followed on May 23, 1934.

Drastic changes have taken place in the decade, for in 1933 when the community was trying to rally from the depression low of the previous year, receipts amounted to only $42,000. The office was quartered in the building now occupied by Whites Store, just east of the Petroleum Building.

A prolonged campaign for a federal building finally bore fruit and in April of 1937 the cramped postal set-up was transferred to the modern building it now occupies at 4th and Scurry.

Today, business is at an all time peak, and receipts already twice the 1933 figure, may triple it before the year is out. Likewise the staff is more than double that of 10 years ago. Yet receipts do not tell the entire story, for it does not reflect the huge volume of free mail being handled and from men at the Big Spring Bombardier School.

Mrs. Eisenhower Awards Wings At Brooks Field

SAN ANTONIO, April 22 (UP)—Self designated as "the General Eisenhower class" and honored by the presence of Mrs. Dwight W. Eisenhower, wife of the Allied commander in chief, North African theater, as sponsor, the latest class of pilot graduates from Brooks field today passed in review before their noted visitor, Col. Stanton T. Smith, Brooks field commanding officer, and other high ranking personnel.

Mrs. Eisenhower presented graduation wings to the captain of the cadets' class, Second Lieut. Frederick C. H. Mengton of Houston, after which other graduates received wings from Lieut. Col. Howell M. Estes, Jr., director of training.

Five hundred ninety-eight United States citizens and 935 Britons have been placed in two internment camps established by the Japanese at Weihai and Chafoo, Shantung Province, China. Domai, Japanese news agency, reported in a Peiping dispatch broadcast today by the Tokyo radio.

These internees were residing in north China or Inner Mongolia when the Pacific war began, the broadcast said. Most of them presumably lived in Peiping or Tientsin or at mission stations.

In the camps are several hundred other "enemy nationals," the total being 2,108, of which 1,798 are in the Weihai camp.

During the first year of the Pacific war most United Nations citizens were permitted limited freedom in north China cities and establishment of the internment camps means a change in Japanese policy.

Sugar Allotment For Canning Up To Local Board

DALLAS, April 22. (AP)—Dates for the issuance of sugar allotments for home canning of 1943 fruit crops may be set by local war price and rationing boards, under a ruling by the regional office of price administration. Local board members were given the authority because of their familiarity with crop conditions in their areas, the OPA said yesterday, and the fixing of dates on a local basis may prevent fruit spoilage.

Sugar for home-canning will be allotted on virtually the same basis as last year, the board added, with no deduction of blue, processed point stamps from ration book No. 2 for sugar used for such a purpose.

Holy Communion At St. Mary's Part Of Holy Week Rites

There will be a service of Holy Communion at 8 p. m. today at the St. Mary's Episcopal church as the church moves nearer the climax of its Holy Week ceremonies.

The service will be in charge of the Rev. Robert J. Snell, who will lead a brief meditation for Maundy Thursday. Good Friday rites will be held Friday between 12 noon and 1 p. m., and on Sunday the Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman, Episcopal bishop for the North Texas district, will be here to lead services. He will hold the 11 a. m. worship with Holy Communion and speak on "His Mighty Resurrection." Other services will be Holy Communion at 8:30 a. m. with the rector as celebrant, and church school at 9:45 a. m.

Bishop Seaman is to deliver the community Easter Sunrise message at 7 a. m. Sunday in the city park amphitheater, speaking on "The Day Which the Lord Hath Made." Sunday evening he will be in the First Methodist pulpit.

Double Return on "Ad"

RENO, Nev. (UP)—Judge Clyde D. Stouter is marveling at the power of advertising. He lost his Great Dane dog and inserted an advertisement for its return. Not only did the Great Dane come back the next day, but it brought a Dachshund with it. Now the judge is advertising to get rid of the dachshund.

Tools May Be Had For Your Garden Work

People who are counting on food from their Victory Gardens to piece out wartime rations can blame only themselves or the weather if harvests don't match up with the pictures on seed packages. The tools are available, the war Production Board said today.

Supplies of hand tools, garden hose, fertilizers and insecticides will be adequate.

The fact that only 75, instead of 324, different types of spading forks are available is not expected to disturb the average city gardener. He may also have his choice of eight styles of rakes, 59 hoes and eight hand cultivators.

Nitrogen fertilizers will not be plentiful, but production of most commercial fertilizers in 1943 will be greater than ever before, WPA said. Victory Garden fertilizer, a balanced formula put up in bag sizes from 5 to 10 pounds, contains everything a growing plant needs—except elbow grease. Gardeners must furnish that.

Hard and fast defense lines against garden saboteurs, whether winged or many-footed, can be laid down with nicotine sulphate, available in abundance; cryolite, sulphur and arsenicals. These readily available insecticides and fungicides should be used in preference to scarcer copper, pyrethrum and rotenone.

Garden hose still is being made, the quantity produced depending on how much of their reclaimed rubber allotments manufacturers want to devote to this type of hose in comparison with industrial hose.

'Black Market' Deprives Men Of Medical Aids

WASHINGTON, April 22. (AP)—Another reason why you shouldn't buy black market meat—

The office of war information reported today that illegal butchering deprives American soldiers of potential surgical and medical aids.

By-products of slaughtering are lost by the black market butchers who work "secretly and in haste" and keeps only the readily salable cuts, throwing the rest away, OWI said.

Lost by such practices are gut thread for surgical sutures; adrenalin, used to check hemorrhage and as a heart stimulant, and insulin.

Also destroyed are gelatin needed for military photographic film, hides from leather, and rendering fats from which glycerine—basic in the production of nitroglycerine—is obtained.

Consumers themselves can make the biggest contribution toward defeating "the new saboteurs, who place profits above patriotism and personal gain over the lives of our fighting youth," OWI said, by simply refusing to pay more than ceiling prices for meat.

By-product foodstuffs and fertilizer vital to this country's effort to feed the Allies also are destroyed by the clandestine slaughterers, OWI said, and many edible parts—kidneys, hearts, tongues, liver and sweetbreads—which "would go a long way in stretching America's meat stocks," are being thrown away.

Showdown Vote Is Sought On Bill To Exempt Fathers

WASHINGTON, April 22. (AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) announced he would call for a "showdown" vote in the senate today on his proposal to exempt all pre-Pearl Harbor fathers from induction into the armed forces for the rest of this year.

Despairing, he said, of early consideration of the house-approved Kilday bill to put the drafting of fathers behind that of bachelor and childless husbands, Wheeler asserted he would attempt to "force action now to halt the breaking up of American homes."

"A move will be made to bring up a bill amending the selective service act to provide unemployment compensation benefits for conscientious objectors," Wheeler said. "If it is taken up I'm going to offer my amendment to stop drafting of fathers until January 1, 1944."

7,000 PLANES
NEW YORK, April 22. (AP)—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, says the United States rate of airplane production probably will reach 7,000 planes this month or come close to that figure.

Group Food Canning Urged To 'Cash In' On Summer's Yield

Now that America's Victory Gardens have passed the planning stage and many vegetables are taking root, farm women, together with the larger garden growers in towns and cities, are being urged to plan now for neighborhood canning centers to prevent wasting any of the 1943 harvest.

Mrs. Floy G. Sides, home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in Howard and Martin counties, believes group action by farm and town women will result in greatly increased stocks of canned food for next winter. Mrs. Sides cited the success of many community canning centers operated in various parts of the state last year, where county officials joined in the Food for Freedom enterprise by providing quarters, lights, water and fuel for the projects.

Farm women, and the larger gardeners in town, brought vegetables to the center, Mrs. Sides explained, and either canned them or left them to be canned by women who performed the work on a share basis.

Home economics classrooms of high schools, vacant schools, and vacant store buildings were given as examples of places where canning centers might be established. In one instance last year, women who brought their large coppers to centers to rent them to women who had no cookers and for use under the supervision of experienced operators.

Mrs. Sides pointed out that more farm women would be called upon to work in the fields this year while more town women would find need of circumventing a canned food shortage.

"It seems as if a community effort to sponsor a canning center in Big Spring would be directly helpful to the war effort," said Mrs. Sides. In addition to being the medium for conserving food and effecting a better distribution of it, canning centers have become the places for trading surplus products needed to complete canning budgets, she said.

Progress Made In Development Of Synthetic Foods And Spices

KANSAS CITY, April 22. (AP)—

So you can't always get cocoa, or cinnamon, or vanilla or lemon flavoring nowadays? It's easy—let George do it.

He finds them in test tubes, along with eggies eggs and nutless nuts.

It's no overnight development. George G. Young saw his job as baking pan salesman slipping away from him in 1939 when imports of bakery-needed spices withered before the spreading war.

So he bought a food-jobbing firm, and began hunting a food chemist. Within a year, G. H. Rapaport hurried his family from Vienna—he didn't like the Nazis—and reached Kansas City, jobless.

Synthetic spices and foods were an old story to Rapaport; he had been a food chemist in Europe where ersatz was a synonym for everything.

He joined Young immediately, and after Japan struck in the Pacific, bakers' reluctance to use synthetics faded swiftly. The midwestern pioneers in the new field found it no longer a problem to sell; the problem now was to fill all orders.

Few of the products are open to detailed explanation, young said. Here, though, are highlights: Rye-bread mix, which simulates the fragrance and spice of caraway seed, once imported from Holland.

Synthetic cinnamon. Like synthetic cocoa, mace and rye bread flavoring, it is made of high-protein flours, baked, granulated and sprayed with available domestic flavoring oils from such sources as lemon peel.

Synthetic nut topping for bakery products, made from a cereal base and oil-sprayed for flavor. Young and Rapaport have also developed the eggless egg. Built up in powdered form, it uses soybean protein, vegetable lecithin, carotene (from carrot seed, to make the egg yellow) and vegetable fats.

Bakers use them for cookies and sweet rolls, Young explained, reserving their natural eggs for cakes. The synthetic eggs don't fry well, however. If you like 'em scrambled, Young confesses, you'll just have to find a hen.

Increased Production Goals Detailed In County Report

Cottage Cheese Is Good To Serve On Meatless Days

Homemakers interested in preparing protein foods to alternate with meat dishes will find that cottage cheese is one of the mainstays in providing the family with tasty, nutritious dishes for meatless days. In fact, cottage cheese is about 21 per cent protein, so pound for pound it will give you just about as much protein as round steak.

Cottage cheese is good served plain, but it can be made into a hash, used in croquettes, as sandwich filling combined with chopped carrots and minced parsley, or as a salad. Cheese balls served on lettuce leaf are easy to prepare. Just moisten cottage cheese with cream, season with salt, add cut parsley or dill if available, or add a little cucumber, onion, salt and pepper. It adds to the flavor and attractiveness to roll the balls in finely chopped peanuts, pecans or parsley before chilling.

Cottage cheese and tomato combinations are tasty, and tomatoes are important for the vitamin C they contain. A quartered tomato filled with seasoned cottage cheese and garnished with paprika and parsley is a good meat substitute. Home canned or pickled beets used with cottage cheese add color to the menu. Season the cheese with finely chopped onion, minced green pepper and salt and place on lettuce leaf. Surround with sliced beets, or if you prefer, the beets may be cubed and combined with the cheese.

Fruit, such as peaches, pears, grapes, figs, pineapple, or fresh grapes, go well with cottage cheese, too. Recipes for cottage cheese combinations may be obtained from your county home demonstration agent.

Feeding Time For The Laying Hens

The afternoon is preferred by many poultrymen as the time for feeding the heavy grain ration to laying hens. Some of them start the day by feeding grain in the proportion of two pounds to one hundred hens in the forenoon. This practice, says George P. McCarthy, poultryman for the A. & M. College Extension service, is helpful if the day is cold. But the afternoon is his choice for the major grain feeding, especially for flocks of one hundred to two hundred fowls. He suggests using ten pounds to one hundred layers.

McCarthy recommends that grain be fed on top of the mash and not on the ground. Spreading it on the ground invites worm infestation. Grain is fed primarily to maintain the body weight of hens. But over-feeding is just as injurious as underfeeding. Overfeeding results in low egg production, excessively fat birds, and death in many cases. The proportion of ten pounds to one hundred hens is a good average. . . . It can be adjusted slightly up or down to fit the needs of individual flocks.

Time of feeding, however, is not the whole problem. The aim of good feeding is good production. Unless hens pay off in eggs they that Howard county farmers are planning to do their part in the battle of production.

A total cropland of 1,628,563 acres from 866 farms have been signed up by farmers showing their intentions for farming this year.

Comparing the production of 1942 with that planned for 1943, the report shows that this year farmers plan to plant on eight farms total of 90 acres of soybeans for beans while 158 farms will plant 2,347.1 acres of peanuts.

Last year 833 farms produced 56,642.4 acres of grain sorghums while this year 848 farms have declared intention of raising 67,936.2 acres. Sweet potatoes, while not planted last year will go on three farms for a total of 11.4 acres.

Dry edible beans planted on 44 farms last year for a total of 129.9 acres will go on only 38 farms this year but with an increased total acreage amounting to 240.5 acres.

Pledged acres of cotton this year will amount to 65,292.4 on 849 farms while wheat will be planted on 19 farms for a total of 1,458.7 acres.

Corn acreage will be increased from 1,099.4 acres to 2,197.1 acres this year, and oats grown on only five farms last year for a total of 59.7 acres will be put in this year on 20 farms for a total of 599.4 acres showing a big increase. Barley crops will also be increased from 496.3 acres last year to 1,715.0 acres in 1943.

Showing decreases in acreage are sorghums for all purposes, which acreage is down this year to 1,052.6 as compared with 8,333.8 in 1942, cowpeas for all purposes which is down to 239.6 acres this year as compared with 1,002.3 last year and cowpeas for peas which decreased this year to 278.4 acres as compared with 2,208.4 in 1942.

Gardens increased twice in number to 2,708.1 acres and fallow land which last year accounted for 9,922.5 acres only amounts to 2,875.7 acres this year.

With regard to livestock, the farmers show intentions of largely increasing their number of head for 1944. Inventory shows there are 80 head of goats this year while plans are to increase this to 120 in 1944. All cattle and calves amount to 20,716 while this is to be increased to 22,230 next year. Milk stock amounts to 8,967 head this year while farmers plan to increase this to 4,123 in the coming year. Sheep also show a rise from 20,233 to 23,790 in 1943.

However, the biggest jump in plans for production in livestock occurs in the farmer's intentions for raising hens and pullets in 1944. Number now on farms of hens and pullets for laying is 85,767 but next year plans are to make this 133,360.

Farmers pledged to raise spring farrows from 748 to 1,196 for 1943 and fall farrows from 503 last year to 1,076 for this year. Chickens raised last year amounted to 94,377 while for 1943 farmers intend to raise 154,545. Turkeys also show an increase from 2,610 last year to 5,194 for this year.

Gets 4 Messerschmitts
SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP)—Staff Sgt. Joseph Whelan, a 21-year-old San Jose boy, who studied here to be a Catholic priest, has just been credited with shooting down four German Messerschmitts in an aerial duel over the sea between Tunisia and Sicily. He was aboard the plane as flight engineer, but moved into the position of gunner when the enemy planes came into sight. His parents reside here.

MRS. W. B. BLAKE writes to Kate: "At our cabin at Lake Peekskill we cook on kerosene. The other day I stirred up a cake, lit the oven, and filled the pan, when suddenly the burners dimmed. The kerosene can was empty. And two miles from the nearest store!

"Well, it was two hours before I got that oven going again. Yet my cake was just as fine and light and high as any cake you ever saw. Of course, it was the Calumet Baking Powder that did it. You certainly are right when you say that Calumet cake batters can wait."

AND KATE SMITH ANSWERS: "Mrs. Blake, that's one reason so many experienced cake-makers call Calumet the dependable baking powder. Because its famous Double-Action turns out perfect cakes and hot breads every time! Even if a batter has to stand around and wait like yours did.

"I'm sending along a recipe I think is a dandy. 'Cause it's a real meat-stretcher and a mighty tasty one, too. Fixed this way one pound of liver will feed six to eight hungry people. Try it and see!"

Here it is! Liver and Vegetable Pie!

2 slices bacon
1 pound liver, cut in small pieces
1 1/2 cups sliced onions
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves
1 cup diced carrots
1 beef bouillon cube
2 teaspoons salt
3 cups boiling water
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Dash of sage
Dash of pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup cold water
3 tablespoons flour
Calumet Meat Pie Crust

Fry bacon; add liver and onions and brown lightly. Add vegetables, bouillon cube, and salt to boiling water and cook until vegetables are tender. Drain; measure liquid and add water to make 2 cups. Add to meat and vegetable mixture. Add seasonings. Mix water and flour to smooth paste, add to mixture, and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Turn into greased shallow casserole.
To make Calumet Meat Pie Crust, measure 1 1/2 cups sifted flour; add 1 1/2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt and sift. Cut in 5 tablespoons shortening. Add about 1/2 cup milk gradually, stirring until soft dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick; with sharp knife make slits for escape of steam. Fit over meat mixture in casserole. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 minutes, or until crust is browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings. (All measurements are level)

Making A Profit In Raising Hogs

By O. F. GRIFFIN
County Farm Agent

We speak of making the hog raising business profitable, because that is one way to increase pork production; and pork production must be increased to win the war. On most farms, the profit from hogs is effected by many things; but there are two that stand out above all the others. They are Nema Worm infection and failure to feed a balanced ration.

Practically all hog pens in Howard county where hogs have been kept for a long time are infected with nema worms. If sows are left to farrow in these pens the little pigs get the worm eggs from dirt and filth on the sow's udder before they are a week old.

These worm eggs hatch and pass through the walls of the digestive tract into the bloodstream. Hundreds of them may lodge in the pig's liver. Later they are carried to the lungs, crawl up the pig's windpipe and are coughed up or are swallowed. In the intestines of the pig, they live on the pig's food after it has been digested. Here they lay thousands of eggs to infest the next litter of pigs.

The way to control nema worms is to clean up the sow and move her to new quarters at farrowing time. If hogs must be raised in pens the pens should be built so they can be moved to new ground every few weeks.

Large pens are better than small ones, because the habits of hogs help to avoid nema worms in large pens. But pastures would be much better, not only to prevent nema worms but also to provide grazing for the hogs. A few farmers are making a success of the electric fence for hog pastures, by training them in the pen before placing them on pasture.

The other thing that greatly lowers the profit from hogs is incorrect feeding. Here two things are wrong on many farms. Not enough vitamins; and not the right amount of proteins and minerals. The vitamin most likely to be deficient is that found in green feeds. Where green feed cannot be had, alfalfa meal should be fed. The extra proteins hogs need can be supplied by milk, tankage, cottonseed meal, soybean meal or peanut meal. More than one of these should be used unless milk is available. A good supplement that will supply protein, minerals, and vitamin A, is tankage, cottonseed meal, and alfalfa meal—equal parts. Soybean meal may be substituted for the cottonseed meal.

But after you have the protein supplement, it is important that the hogs receive the correct amount of it. If you are using a self feeder it is best not to mix the protein supplement with the grain feed, but give the hogs free choice. If hand feeding is done and you want to mix the feed, use about one pound of the above mixture to eight pounds of grain. Or the protein supplement may be fed in alop one pound a day to each pig being fed out, after they are weaned. If tankage is not available, just soybean meal will be better than no supplement. Increase your profit from hogs by protecting them from nema worms, and feeding the right amount of proteins, minerals and vitamins.

From where I sit

by Joe Marsh

Grandma Hoskins knows a lot about history—but when we asked her where the first brewery was built in America, she wouldn't take sides.

"You see," says Grandma, "wherever the colonists settled, one of the first things they thought about was food and beer. . . . In fact, one reason why the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock was because the Mayflower was runnin' short of beer."

Well, that was a new one on us, but Grandma showed it to us

—just as it was written in the Mayflower's log.

And it seems that all through our early American history beer sort of tempered the hardships and helped to make us a tolerant, moderate people.

From where I sit, beer is the American drink of moderation and friendliness—kind of a symbol of our personal liberty.

If You're Superstitious, You See Cause Of Chicago Troubles

CHICAGO, April 22 (AP)—There's little wonder that Wrigley Field was the scene of the season's first baseball casualty in yesterday's National league opener—little wonder, that is, if one looks askance at certain numbers, say 13, or regards that "third time" as "a charm."

In the very first inning, Eddie Stanky, Chicago Cub rookie second baseman, was hit in the head by a pitched ball. He went down, but came up.

Then Pittsburgh shortstop Hugh Gentry, bothered by a pair of blistered ankles, lost his balance in completing a double play as Stanky sailed into the bag. Gentry, too, went down; also came up.

But when Cub catcher Clyde McCullough went sliding into second base in the third inning, he stayed down. He suffered a broken left ankle and will be out of the lineup some six weeks, thus becoming the major league's first casualty. Quite a coincidence, of course, was the fact that:

Pittsburgh Pitcher Trust Sewell went on to win his 13th victory in all-time competition against the Cubs.

The game marked the start of the 13th National league season for Umpire George Barr and Cub Pitcher Paul Derringer, who was knocked from the box in the eighth.

Henry Wyse, rookie from Tulsa reported, increasing the Cub pitching staff to 13.

Claude Pasanau was the Cub's original pitching choice for yesterday but he developed a cold. His number is 13.

Oh yes, total hits in the ball game were 13, but the Cubs got only three. So maybe, that's why they lost, 6-0.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—The opening-day major league scores lead us to wonder whether the 1943 model baseball really is dead, or just the hitters. . . . And what became of the idea that managers wouldn't let their prize pitchers risk their arms for more than four or five innings in the early games? Johnny Vander Meer and Mort Cooper probably will tell you they couldn't learn a thing new from Bill Cox' commando training.

BIG TIME STUFF
New York City, which always has been a bush league town when it came to providing sports for kids, finally is coming up with a first-class competitive program this spring. . . . One reason for the delay was that there wasn't any dough to buy prizes—and no prizes, no turnout. . . . Now with $10,000 that it took all winter to dig up, the dept. reports an entry of more than 20,000 boys and girls from 13 to 18 years old in 13 events, ranging from basketball and football to shuffleboard and (no kidding) horseshoe pitching.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Bill McKee, Ashland (O.) Times-Gazette: "No wonder it took a while to find Lieut. Tom Harmon. . . . I saw Ohio State try all one afternoon to locate him in a place where there wasn't a bit of jungle."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Lieut. Benny Leonard of the U.S. Maritime Service probably will referee the Pvt. Johnny Greco-Terry Young brawl at Montreal May 8. . . . And Col. A. G. White, who is handling the affair to buy sports equipment for Canadian soldiers, is trying to get Barney Ross up there to give a ringside talk boosting Canada's victory loan and U. S. war bonds.

SERVICE DEPT.
If you have any spare sports equipment lying around, the nearest army post probably could use it. Latest hints come from Fort Sheridan, Ill., where Pvt. Bill Seaman reports the boys would make good use of all the baseball equipment they can get, and from Camp Crowder, Mo., where the driving range may have to shut down because of a shortage of golf balls and clubs.

2,500 To Compete In Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA, April 22 (AP)—The elite of the cinderpath, many of them in uniform, gather tomorrow for the 49th annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival at Franklin Field.

Among 2,500 athletes from approximately 400 colleges and service organizations scheduled to compete in the two-day, 66-event program are Greg Rice, Oiler Hunter, Private Arney Ewell, Tom Todd, Private Frank Dixon, Bob Ufer and Bulace Peacock.

Every Game Chalked Up As Shutout

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

If the opening day in the major leagues was any criterion, this may be the greatest pitchers' year in baseball history.

Four games, four shutouts, two of them 1-0, one of them 11-0. Weather conditions permitted only half of the eight scheduled inaugural games to be played yesterday, and held down attendance at these contests to 85,021 fans, but classic pitching made the day worth remembering.

Looking at the day's business in complete there was a total of only 11 runs, 48 hits and just nine errors for more than one team, and up till the seventh inning there had been but three runs scored.

The most magnificent mound show was given the largest crowd, 77,709 at Cressley Field in Cincinnati, where lefty Johnny Vander Meer and Mort Cooper duelled for 11 innings before the Reds finally squeaked in front of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals 1-0.

A struggle almost as spectacular was staged for 13,487 fans in Cleveland's big municipal stadium as the Indians nosed out the Detroit Tigers, 1-0, with a run in the ninth. Jim Bagby, who had tamed the Tigers in last year's opener, again was the star. He held Detroit to three hits and drove in the winning run with a long fly.

The Pittsburgh Pirates handcuffed the Chicago Cubs, 6-0, with Truett (Rip) Sewell scattering three hits. Paul Derringer, making his debut in a Cub uniform before 9,044 fans at Wrigley Field, Chicago, restrained Pittsburgh to two runs till the eighth, when the Pirates plastered across four tallies and Manager Jimmy Wilson had to use three other hurlers to finish the game. Pittsburgh made ten hits.

At St. Louis, Lefty Al Hollingsworth pleased a small turnout of 4,421 by pitching the Browns to a 3-0 triumph over the Chicago White Sox on four hits.

The same teams were matched again today, with opening ceremonies planned at the four eastern parks which were closed yesterday. Tomorrow, Good Friday, is an open date in both leagues.

White Sox Retire Lyons' No. 16

CHICAGO, April 22 (AP)—There will be no more "16's" worn by Chicago White Sox baseball players for the duration.

The number belonged to Ted Lyons, Sox pitcher for 20 years and now a lieutenant in the marines. It will be retired in much the same manner as the famous "77" worn by Red Grange in his football days at Illinois and the "36" Tom Harmon recently carried on the gridiron for Michigan.

Sox officials said No. 16 along with the shirt worn by Lyons last season would adorn the wall of the Comiskey park clubhouse.

Catcher's Mask Won't Do In Case Of Gas Attack

LUBBOCK, April 22 (AP)—During wartime the man behind the bat needs more than just a catcher's mask for protection, members of the baseball team at South Plains Army Flying School have found.

It was "gas alert" day at the school. All personnel was supposed to wear gas masks.

Lieut. Benjamin Lowengard, chemical warfare officer supervising the alert, squirted tear gas here and there, turning a bit on the baseball diamond where Lieut. Nathan Eubank's team was practicing.

Lieut. Eubank and his men literally are crying about it.

Solons Adopt Local Bills

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—The house and senate in session last night passed 107 local and uncontested bills.

The final score: Senate 5, house 41. Both calendars included game bills, continuous term-of-court bills and insurance measures.

In the house: One member spoke in opposition to a bill providing for segregation of white and negro passengers on buses.

An unsuccessful effort was made to strike out a provision of a birth certificate bill which said that forms should not indicate illegitimacy.

Another bill would permit old age assistance recipients to work and receive pay not exceeding $200 a year without forfeiting their right to draw a pension. Sponsors of the bill said it was directed principally at obtaining seasonal agricultural labor.

The state librarian would be empowered under a house-approved bill to issue certificates of authorship for protection of unpublished works.

In the senate: Thirty-nine house bills were finally passed including one fixing the third week in April as the final filing date for candidates for state office.

Another election bill—providing for a check mark instead of striking through the names of all but the voter's choice—was finally passed.

Approved was a bill which would require members of the board of pharmacy to be actively engaged in the profession, and provide the board with authority to suspend as well as revoke licenses.

Twenty days of the general session of the 46th legislature remained today as house and senate dug into loaded calendars.

Man Named In Slaying Charge

HOUSTON, April 22 (AP)—Houston police early today filed a charge of murder against Bruce Jordan, 34, arrested at Knoxville, Tenn., Tuesday, in connection with the death of Clarence Harrison, 44, whose body was found floating in Buffalo bayou here on December 14, 1942.

Police Chief Percy F. Heard said Jordan signed a written statement in which, the chief said, Jordan admitted hitting Harrison on the head with a rock the night of Dec. 15, taking $50 out of Harrison's pocket, then rolling the unconscious man into the bayou.

Jordan was arrested in connection with the fatal shooting of his employer, Tom Dye, 40-year-old Houston poultryman. Dye disappeared after he and Jordan started for San Antonio Saturday night to buy some chickens. Dye had had $100 to buy the chickens with. His truck, the meat block, was found parked in Houston Sunday.

Tuesday morning Jordan was arrested in Knoxville. Tuesday afternoon, Dye's body was found in a slump of trees, 40 feet from the highway near Columbus. Four bullets had been fired into Dye's body and head.

Bob Hope In Golf Match At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, April 22 (AP)—Comedian Bob Hope moved into Fort Worth today for the next stop on his golfing schedule in furtherance of the war effort after helping the Dallas country club obtain bond subscriptions totaling more than $300,000.

Hope will team with Ed Dudley, president of the PGA, against professional star Ben Hogan from Tarrant Field and Col. O. E. Henderson of the flying training command. Proceeds will go to the Red Cross Motor Corps.

The corps benefitted from yesterday's exhibition at Dallas when some 5,000 golf fans turned out to see Hope and Hogan win over Dudley and Jack Mungler, Dallas amateur, in a match out to ten holes because of a late start.

Hope will play in a golf match at Shreveport April 28 and at Birmingham May 2, Dudley announced.

River Authority Claims Report Is Incorrect

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—On file with a house investigating committee today was a written statement from the lower Colorado river authority declaring the committee's report of findings "incorrect according to the evidence" on a number of points.

The committee made its report early this week and recommended restricting the scope of river authorities' operations.

Disagreeing with certain assertions in the report, the LCRA statement said:

Flood damage has been effectively controlled.

An opinion from a nationally-recognized firm of utility engineers declares LCRA to be well managed and operated.

The contracts which LCRA entered into with municipalities on rates for resale of power were mutually agreed upon.

Legal fees over an eight-year period were less than one-third of one per cent of the amount spent for construction.

Surveys for postwar levee work in the lower Colorado river valley have been undertaken at a cost of $60,000.

South Warders Buy $272.15 In Stamps

South Ward children Wednesday held their belated "observance" of Hitler's birthday by attempting to "stamp" out the axis with war stamps.

Typical sales for the day amounted to $272.15. Almost all children in the school had a part in the purchases. Children in Mrs. S. M. Smith's room led the buying parade with purchases in the amount of $175. South Ward school regularly observes stamp day each Wednesday and the average approaches $100 each time.

812th Winner In Softball

Bredemeyer outlasted Ruffolo in an exciting pitchers duel as the 812th squadron turned back the 812th, 3-1, in the Big Spring Bombarrier School softball loop Wednesday afternoon.

Ruffolo pitched one hit ball until the sixth when momentarily lost control and walked in a run. The 812th won the tilt in the seventh when Nelson singled, stole second and stayed put while Wood walked and the defense lacked up an out. Miller, however, singled to bring in Nelson.

In the course of the game, Bredemeyer struck out 11 812th batsmen. Lee (812) was outstanding at bat with a single and a smashing home run while Nelson (812) had two bingles. Barfour (812) and Marsh (812) shone afield.

Civilian Supply Agency Has The Support Of Byrnes

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes was reported taking the lead today in a backstage campaign to separate control over civilian supplies from the War Production Board.

Byrnes' advocacy of the move in chats with his former senate colleagues apparently gave new impetus to a bill vigorously opposed by WPS Chairman Donald Nelson and raised the question in some senatorial minds about Nelson's future status.

As approved by the senate banking committee, the measure would set up a separate agency outside the WPS with power equal to that of the 6-ary and navy in obtaining necessary supplies for civilians.

Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) arranged to report the bill formally to the senate today in preparation for a possible vote next week.

Rice Baseballers Whipped By Texas

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—The last-place Rice Owls, smacking from a 19-2 defeat plastered on them yesterday by the University of Texas, meet the Longhorns again today in a continuation of the Southwest conference baseball race.

Despite a steady growth in population the United States in 1940 had fewer children under 15 than it had in 1920.

US-Mexico Relations Are Cemented By Presidents

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 22 (AP)—Relations between the United States and its close neighbor across the unfortified border to the south seemed more solidly cemented than ever today in the wake of historic meetings between President Roosevelt and Mexico's President Avila Camacho.

Strengthening continental neighborliness and military solidarity, the conferences were held in both lands — amidst festive friendliness in Monterrey on Tuesday and accompanied by the constant roar of warplanes here yesterday as the naval air cadets of several American nations carried on their grim training during the unprecedented parades.

"From the point of view of continental defense and unity of purpose," President Roosevelt told the cadets as he and the Mexican chief executive luncheoned with them during an inspection of the naval air training center, "this kind of military training means a wide and long step forward in the relations of this hemisphere. Let the good work continue."

He said he was happy to greet Avila Camacho at the training center because a large number of Mexican cadets are among the youths receiving flying instruction their farewells here, no more upon United States soil "one of the great American historical meetings."

Schlitz Bowlers Maintain Lead

Schlitz Beer maintained its lead in the women's bowling league Wednesday evening by turning back second place C. N. Anthony in three straight games.

At the same time Billy Simons team won three over the Club cafe and J. & L. earned a 2-1 margin over Bliss Liquor.

High individual for game was Fern Wells with 190. Nell Rhea McGarry was top in series with 528. Schlitz set the game pace at 770 and series at 2,325.

J. & L. moved up to third place in league standings with Billy Simons and Club tied for fourth. Bliss continued to dwell in the cellar.

There's Food Enough,
If We Are Sensible

Prediction issued by the Office of War Information that our civilian population faces various shortages of food will serve to move some people to begin to move whatever it is possible to buy, and others to pay no attention whatever, because so many predictions have been made about things connected with the war have failed to come true.

News dispatches say that fifteen writers in the OWI recently resigned because they felt the food report was not strong enough or not issued soon enough—a literary version of too little and too late. Naturally when there are fifteen writers on a subject—and there were many more apparently, for the OWI is still supplied with writers—they cannot be expected to agree. The fifteen probably were of the "viewing with alarm" class, that takes a single report from the field and writes an essay in agreement with that report, but using it as a measure for the whole country.

People in United States will not starve—they will not even go hungry unless they decide to do like Gandhi and start a hunger strike because of some supposed wrong done them. The lot of them will be so thick, nor the butter so plentiful as to be largely left on the plate, but there will be enough, and there should be, and will have to be less waste. Learning new eating habits is easy, and in the long run will be to our physical and financial benefit. The assertion of John Lewis that his miners are starving is a figure of speech, for most miners are eating better than they ever did.

There will be food enough, and good enough, if everyone who can do so will grow a garden, and buy things that cannot be grown in that garden only as and when needed. Hoarders must be compelled to come up to the licklog, overloading dinner plates must be discontinued, and everybody will have all they need to keep going.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—

Plenty Of Hard Work In Making An Astaire Film

By BOBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Fred Astaire sat at the bar with his chin in his hand. He stared at a drink before him, then out a window. His face was sober. He looked very unhappy indeed.

The bartender was ringing up a sale on the cash register. Fred called to him. The man came over and Fred started to sing. The song was something about "One For My Baby and One More For the Road." It was obvious that Fred's love life was awry and that he had to talk about it.

His toes twitched as he sang, as if he wanted action. But his face remained sad.

Then someone yelled, "Cut!"

Dubbing is a difficult business. Fred had recorded the song on Monday. This was Friday. He was now going through the action for the camera alone, singing alone with a play-back record. He was trying to remember every inflection, every nuance of rhythm he had put on wax, match them exactly. Someone would later put the film and the sound track together.

It was tough, but it was only the beginning. The sequence you will ultimately see in "The Sky's the Limit" begins at the bar mentioned above, an Hawaiian affair complete with palm trees and rattan walls. Astaire and his gal have gone pfft or words to that effect, and he is on the town. He sings half the song, then the scene changes to another bar. Fred is a little drunker in this one, a little more reminiscent. Finally, the locale shifts to the bar in which he met his girl. And the tapping toes at last have their innings.

By this time, Astaire is what you'd call "tiddly-boo," so much so that he leaps on the bar, starts to dance and, in protest against all women, wrecks the joint. Bottles fly. Glassware is broken by the case. A chair is heaved through a large mirror.

The result is chaos, but Fred feels better.

This is the climax of the film. The crew has been working on it for months, planning how it can best be filmed. All told, 43 musicians have been involved, including Harold Arlen and Johnny Mercer, who wrote the tune, Phil Moore, who arranged it, and Leigh Harline, who conducted the studio orchestra and scored the picture. Freddie Black and his band have also been involved.

Astaire himself rehearsed the number for four weeks, getting at last to the point where he wasn't mangled by flying glass. Nevertheless, a doctor and a nurse are on the set when he goes into his dance.

He's pleased with the routine, as it has a connection with the plot. The fact that his gal has thrown him over is the impetus for his footwork.

"I can't just walk in and dance," he says. "That makes me a jerk. There has to be a reason."

He smiles. Someone says, "O.K., Freddie. We're ready for you."

He goes back, winds his feet around the bar stool, puts his chin in his hand, and begins staring at his drink. He doesn't look it, but Fred Astaire is a happy man.

A Story Of The Past By Bill Kellis

When Mutiny Saved Lives
Of A Company Of Rangers

This is a story written by Uncle Bill Kellis, who recently observed his 88th birthday, for his Sterling City News-Record. Remarkable because it was written out of memory of a tale heard during his boyhood it is also rich in the vivid language of Uncle Bill—Ed.

Mutiny is among the most heinous military crimes, yet, the mutiny of the late John S. Moore, an old time ranger who spent his last days in Waco, saved the lives of a whole company of men while crossing the Staked Plains between the Sand Hills and Big Spring back in the early '70's.

When I was a boy, Mr. Moore told my father in my presence this story, though I have forgotten some of the details:

"My company had been pursuing a band of Indians who had been depreeding in some of the frontier counties. The pursuit began at or near Fort Concho and the trail led up the North Concho.

Everything went well until we left the head living waters of the North Concho and camped at Big Spring. From there our guide was not certain whether we would find water until we reached the Pecos river.

"Our captain said the Indians had to have water the same as the white men. He gave orders to follow the trail. At night we came to a waterhole where the Indians had camped the night before and had left it that morning.

"The next morning at daylight, we were on the trail and camped that night at a waterhole in the Sand Hills. We kept up the pursuit until we reached some mountains in New Mexico where there were plenty of water and tall grass. The Indians had left the place only about an hour before we went into camp. Here we decided to stay for a day or two and rest up. Our horses were picketed on this nice fresh green grass.

Next morning we found every horse in the outfit sound asleep and the whole command afoot. Nothing we did could make the horses stay awake. If one could be made to stay awake long enough, he would go to stuffing himself with grass. None of us had ever heard of such a situation.

"At last, our Mexican guide remembered hearing tales of 'sleeping grass.' He said if a horse or mule ate this grass, he would go to sleep and wake up only to eat more until he died. At first the Captain didn't believe the guide, but the guide told him that he had heard the Indians often played the trick on white men by leading them where the 'sleeping grass' grew and when their horses went to sleep, they would be afoot and helpless and then they would kill them at leisure.

"The Captain ordered all the horses rounded up and moved to a place where 'sleeping grass' didn't grow. While the boys were lashing the horses to keep them awake and moving, the Indians charged them and some of them got shot before they got in range for their arrows and short range rifles.

"This went on for three days. Every day the Indians came on for a fight, but they found that our guns could reach them before they could get in reach of us and they gave up the fight, seeing that our mounts had recovered. Our Captain set us to marching home.

"After we left the waterhole in the Sand Hills, we travelled east to the waterhole where we had camped before, to our horror, we found that a herd of buffalo had been there and had drunk all the water and left only a mudhole. The canteens were empty and the men were suffering for water.

Next morning we resumed our march over the hot plains, hoping that we might get to Big Spring before we all perished for water.

"About mid-afternoon three of the men became delirious and lay down on the grass to die. I had seen fresh antelope and buffalo tracks leading south and I told the Captain about it and suggested—

Prison Inmates Are Aiding In
The War Effort

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — It's only a footnote in the history of our war effort, but to me there are few more interesting. I'm talking about the contribution of our prisoners and the men who are "beyond the pale."

Some months ago I pried out of Maury Maverick, head of the WPB division that has charge of prison war production, a few facts and figures. A lot has happened since then and you can thank Rep. Karl Stefan, of Norfolk, Neb., and also of the house appropriations committee, for making much of it public.

In one of our oldest institutions, says Mr. Stefan (why he wouldn't name it is beyond me), 90 per cent of the prisoners—all 2, 3, or 4-terms—volunteered 200 points of blood a day over several weeks' time. That means that the men who have "gone up the river" may save the lives of thousands of our boys who are fighting on our many fronts.

In the federal prisons in 1940, for each person employed in prison industries there was a total annual output equivalent to $1,500. The per capita annual output of prison industry workers today is $4,000, according to Mr. Stefan.

In one federal prison, the inmates have bought more than $74,000 worth of war bonds in spite of the fact that their earnings are infinitesimal, compared to prevailing labor wages, and their only hope of a few luxuries, in most cases, lies in what they earn.

In both federal and state prisons, the reservoir of fighting manpower has become so recognized that special Selective Service boards now are being set up to examine the men with a view to putting them into the armed forces. They will operate much the same as parole boards operate, selecting only the worthy. Although only a few have been in operation very long, it already is reported that the eagerness of prisoners to fight for their country has been proved much more than an attempt on the part of some to gain freedom.

On the actual production side, Representative Stefan has some interesting figures. Federal prisons today are producing more than 1,000 pounds of milk a day in excess of their own generously appropriated needs. In the last two years, they have produced more than 2,000,000 canvas bags, tarpaulins and tents; nearly 10,000,000 pounds of metal shelving; more than 1,000,000 pairs of army shoes; about 17,000,000 yards of heavy cotton fabrics; a half-million metal food trays; and in all a carload of war supplies every 50 minutes.

Many of the prisons are operating on three-day shifts, with inmates working up to as many as 60 hours a week at their own requests.

Mr. Stefan sums it up this way: "In a world where prisons in certain countries are a synonym for brutality, suppression, and even annihilation, it is a notable mark in the faith in democracy that federal prisons here offer to their inmates opportunity for self-development, a chance to participate in the needs of the outside world, training to meet that world on a self-respecting basis, and hope for the future."

To me, the prison war record is a little more than that. It's proof that most of the "stripers" would rather be prisoners in the U. S. A. than take their chances in a world controlled by axis gangsters. What else can you read into the record of their cooperation in the war effort?

Chapter 11
Jonas shouted Blackwater Bill and, snapping his fingers, danced a jig about him.

"I sure take off my hat to your gall," he grinned, wiping the sweat from his eyes. "Never since Noah have I heard—"

"Make no mistake," said Blackwater grimly; "we've not seen the last of that bunch by a long shot. Those five I told make pretty good stage props, but the best they can do is gain us a breather. I'd like to have that bank looked into, but it would be time wasted unless—Mmmm; might work at that, but... Nope," sighed Blackwater, shaking his head, "they'll never risk it. They'll have the whole works covered up like a toad before we could say 'Jack Robinson.'"

ed that we change our course and follow the tracks, for surely these animals were going to water, but the Captain ignored the suggestion and ordered us to move on east. "In my suffering I became desperate. I told the Captain that it was death anyway and he could shoot me if he wanted to, but I had rather die in that way than to die of thirst, so I rode off to the south, expecting to get a bullet, but it didn't come and I rode on. "Just over the ridge not a half mile away, I saw some green trees along a dry wash. My horse pricked up his ears and sniffed the air and I felt greatly encouraged. I rode to the nearest hackberry tree in the wash and found it dry. In despair, I dismounted and lay down in the shade of the tree to rest. While meditating, I drew my sheath knife and began digging in the sand. Presently moisture began to show. Encouraged, I frantically dug deeper in the sand and gravel and water came up in the excavation. Water, good cold water, that was to save me, my horse and my comrades from a horrible death. "I scooped up some of the water in my hands and drank sparingly, for I knew if I drank too much, all would be lost, for I only knew of this precious treasure and I must be up and riding to the command and take the glorious news. "After giving two handfuls of water to my horse—though he wanted more—I filled my two canteens with precious water, mounted and rode toward the command. When I got near enough, I began to yell, but the men thought I was crazy and didn't stop, but when I waved a wet canteen at them, they wheeled and charged me and started struggling for the canteens.

"Here, the Captain took the two canteens and gave a corporal and a sergeant a little to drink and then ordered them to ride back and relieve the men who had collapsed, while he ordered me to pilot the outfit to the water. Before we reached the spring I had dug, some of the men saw some willows and made for them and found a large pool of good water. Here we camped for two days. The men who had collapsed recovered. We were the happiest group of men who ever chased an Indian.

"Only for this mutiny of mine, these men would not have reached Big Spring alive."

for picking out facial details. But the near horse looked like the one Winch Face had been riding when he'd left the ranch on his fence-mending tour; and Tubac kneed Callopo forward with a hand grim-wrapped round his sixshoot-

"The man on the near brone was Winch Face all right. Just as Tubac got within hearing, Winch Face's voice said indignantly: "None—notin' doin'. When I eat a guy's salt I stick by him. I'm s'prised at you, Deckerman, tryin' to bribe an honest galoot like me!"—and then somebody's horse nickered, and both riders whirled and saw Jones.

"Set tight," warned Tubac ominously. "I got both you rannies covered like a tent, an' the first guy that blinks gets his light snuffed—savvy?" Then he urged Callopo forward.

US Sub Gets 8 Jap Ships

PEARL HARBOR, April 21 (UP)—The submarine Wahoo has returned from its second adventure in enemy waters with another eight ships sunk for a total of 13 in two successive patrols.

Naval officials said the eight bagged in the second patrol was a record number for a single patrol, but Lieut. Commander Dudley W. (Mush) Morton, skipper of the Wahoo, described the exploit as "just cut and dried sinking of ships."

"It was just sight, track, shoot and sink," said the 36-year-old Miami, Fla., officer.

Besides the eight ships, totalling 37,000 tons, the Wahoo damaged a ninth and wrecked a trawler and two sampans. The sinkings all were achieved within one week's time. For the two patrols, the first in January, the total tonnage sunk was 69,000.

Morton admitted he got a thrill one night when a Japanese tanker's five-inch shell fell close to the Wahoo's bow, forcing her to submerge. The submarine resurfaced later and sank the tanker within 45 minutes.

As soon as the Wahoo had neared combat area, the crew tuned in on the Tokyo radio.

"The Japs gave us a propaganda broadcast that the submarine menace had been erased," Morton said. "Then we got nine ships in seven days (eight sunk, one damaged)."

The ships sank so fast only four survivors were sighted. These refused to be taken prisoner.

Photography, Too, Has Taken Its Restrictions Because Of War

Rationing, mostly associated with shoes, foods, and gasoline, is also cutting into another war accelerated business—photography.

For the past few months, studios have received increasingly smaller amounts of films and folders and as a result have had to do away entirely with small, cheap pictures. Getting your likeness snapped nowadays costs at a minimum, $4.40 and runs from there up to a $10 minimum.

Where photographers used to make many different poses and gave the customer many proofs, now in addition to increased cost proofs and poses are greatly reduced in number.

The way local photographers explain the rationing of films and the subsequent larger orders and higher prices, results is that they have been cut in film deliveries as much as 25 per cent over last year. Like other rationed goods, the dealer sends the photographers only a percentage of what he ordered the year before at the same month.

The armed services in nearly every branch of their work use the supply that normally was consumed by the studios. Films made especially for service men, films of battles and actual and simulated combat use up an enormous quota of films every month.

Folders, too, are rationed now to the photographers on a percentage basis of what they used to order.

In addition, "kodaking," that favorite sport of many people on Sunday afternoons, on outings, and when visitors arrive has nearly become an extinct pastime.

Small supplies of films arrive each month but sometimes the photographers snap them up themselves and other rolls disappear to regular and faithful customers almost as soon as they are received.

War spurred the demand for pictures of sons, daughters, family and relatives, but conversely, war has also cut down on the amount of films available to supply this demand.

"Very Eggsperating"

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—When Conrad Schoen, truck driver, made an omelet of five cases of eggs on the street, he said: "I'm eggsperatingly sorry and it was eggsperating the way the folks grabbed them and ran." Schoen succeeded in retrieving a few that were still intact.

Save Your Points With Salads

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, AF Food Editor

It's spring! At least the calendar says so. And that means to most of us certain long-awaited special things to eat—as well as a new bonnet. But in this spring of 1943, with asparagus and peas selling at incredible prices, or not obtainable at all, we've got to find substitutes to give us the same lift without straining our pocket-books or the scanty supplies available. (We'll turn last year's bonnets backward, perhaps, and put on a new flower—but there's nothing to be done with last year's asparagus and peas!)

A salad is a spring-like thing to eat. It also is most nutritious, easy to prepare and inexpensive.

Vegetable-Egg Salad

2 cooked carrots, diced.
2-3 cup diced celery.
2 scallions.
2-3 cup cooked peas.
3 hard boiled eggs, sliced.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1-4 teaspoon pepper.
1 sliced tomato.
Green pepper rings.
5 or 6 radishes.
1-2 cup real mayonnaise.

Arrange vegetables and eggs on chilled lettuce or other salad green. Sprinkle with seasonings. Center with small dish of mayonnaise. Garnish with a few green pepper rings and radishes.

Any meal is complete if it contains one hearty hot dish, a salad, bread and fruit or a sweet.

The basic salad is, of course, a green one, properly served with a good French dressing. The taste and appearance of a green salad, however, are capable of many changes. Every kind of edible green thing is good in a salad. Have you ever, for instance, used raw spinach or kale in salad? Have you ever used dandelion greens or escarole? Each of these has a different green tint and a taste distinct from all the rest. Salad greens, of whatever kind, should always be washed, carefully drained and put away, covered, in the refrigerator as soon as they're brought into the house.

Many other raw vegetables are good in salads, as well as those known as "salad greens." Carrots, celery, scallions, cabbage, cauliflower, peppers, broccoli flowers, radishes and, of course, tomatoes all combine well with each other and each is good alone with green.

A cooked vegetable salad is the best way to preserve the vitamin goodness of left-over vegetables. Reheating destroys at least some of the food value. Almost all cooked vegetables combine well with each other and with raw vegetables, too. French dressing or mayonnaise is good on such salads, but the mayonnaise makes it seem, at least, a heartier dish. Or, serve a salad of raw or cooked vegetables with sour cream as dressing and a good grinding of fresh pepper over the top—delicious!

Cottage cheese, which is unrationed, is an excellent salad base. It needs a little smoothing out with thin cream, and most people like a little salt in it. It's good just with chopped chives or scallions in it.

Phone Workers To Consider Strike

HARLINGEN, April 22 (UP)—Telephone workers in the Rio Grande Valley area are scheduled to hold a mass meeting here April 28 to determine whether a strike shall be called in an effort to obtain higher wages. Frank M. Sexton, division chairman of the Southwest Telephone Workers Union, said yesterday.

If there is a walkout, Sexton added, telephone service in the area would cease, since 90 per cent of all operators, office workers and plant workers are affiliated with the union.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys are not working properly. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 quarts a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

One Death, Heavy Damage As Fire Sweeps Ennis

ENNIS, April 22 (UP)—Fire which broke out in a residence resulted in the death of one person and caused damage estimated at $50,000 when it swept through a large number of structures yesterday in a nine-block area.

Roland Rider, 17, son of W. B. Rider, president of the Ennis State Bank, was electrocuted when his wet clothing touched a high-voltage wire while he aided firemen and volunteers in battling the flames.

Eleven houses were destroyed and scores more were damaged by the blaze, which Fire Chief Ross Crumley said started in the garage apartment of Mrs. Lucy Rushing.

The fire was brought under control four hours after it broke out by Ennis, Corsicana and Waxahatchie fire departments, assisted by hundreds of volunteers.
