Funds Asked For Senior Citizen RSVP

Application is being made for funding a Retired Senior Volunteer Program for Collingsworth and Wheeler Counties, which would bring many retired persons into the mainstream of community life through volunteer service.

Representatives of the RSVP Program, as it is more familiarly known, and of the Panhandle Community Action Corporation met here with a steering committee from the two counties recently to hear an explanation of the program.

Bob Hernandez, RSVP action program officer for Texas, explained the program and how it could benefit the many citizens 60 years of age and over.

"He explained that RSVP was a program that encourages senior citizens to be more active in their communities on a volunteer basis. It is felt that their experience and knowledge could greatly enhance the whole community," said Mrs. Jimmie Sessions, rural program specialist for TPCAC.

The funding application calls for $27,949 for the two counties for the period September 1, 1973 through July 31, 1974. The total sought for the 5-year period through August 1, 1978, is $68,232.

Mrs. Sessions said: "To give some idea of the volunteer work which these older people could give, she pointed out tutorial work with children needing help in their school work, or volunteers to do specific things for persons living in nursing homes."

Also appearing on the program were Mrs. Theda Calloway, field representative for RSVP and Mike McQueen, training and technical assistance officer for the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation.

Plans Complete for Four-H Dress Revue

Collingsworth County 4-H Club girls will hold their annual dress revue Friday, June 29, again showing the public how smartly dressed they can be in garments they have made for themselves.

The place of the dress revue has been changed, and will be in the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., building, with the revue beginning at 2:00 p.m., according to Mrs. Arla Felts, county extension agent.

Final plans for the dress revue were announced. There will be three divisions, the youngest girls 9 through 11 years, the next 12 and 13 years, and the seniors will be 14 years and over. Sixteen girls are expected to participate.

Winners will be named in each division. The girl winning in the senior division will compete in the District One 4-H Dress Revue to be held later this summer in Amarillo. Winners in the other two divisions can attend the Amarillo revue, but they will not compete.

Five girls will be chosen from District One to participate in the state dress revue.

The public is urged to attend the county revue, Mrs. Felts said.

Each girl will model a dress,

Church of Christ Will Host an Area-Wide Meeting for Youth

Wellington Church of Christ will host a meeting of area youth Thursday evening, June 28. It will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Approximately 250 boys and girls of junior high school and high school age will come from surrounding towns, Mangum, Altus, Hollis, Childress, Shamrock, Memphis and possibly others.

This is the second in a series of meetings on the overall topic of Teen Evangelism. The specific theme for the Thursday meeting will be "Jesus and Others," according to Colquitt Nash, music and youth director, who will be in charge.

The guest speaker will be Leon Dennis, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair at Southwestern College, Weatherford, Oklahoma.

Mr. Dennis has been in this position three years and formerly was preacher for the congregation in Weatherford, Church of Christ Congregation in Lawton, Oklahoma. He is known throughout southwestern Oklahoma for his special interest in young people.

Young people of the Wellington Church will assist with the program and Mr. Nash will be in charge of the singing.

Five meetings on the theme of Teen Evangelism will be held through the summer. Mangum was host to the first session and this is the second. Other meetings will be held at Hollis, Childress and Altus on a bi-weekly basis, with the series to end in August.

The meeting will be over about 9:00 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

Burial Here Thursday for Amarillo Man

Burial services for a former Wellington man, Johnny Virgul Brown, of Amarillo, will be conducted at Fairview Cemetery Thursday afternoon, June 28. The hour of the service is 2:30 p.m.

Mr. Brown died unexpectedly about 4:45 p.m. Tuesday in Amarillo. Funeral services at N.S. Griggs Funeral Chapel will be held earlier Thursday, also.

Kelso Funeral Home will be in charge of the service here.

Mr. Brown moved from Wellington in 1946 and had been a member of the Amarillo Fire Department since 1947. He was serving as president of the Amarillo Firefighters Association.

Born in Wellington, October 21, 1918, he was the son of Mrs. Nora Brown of Amarillo and the late Foster Brown. He was married to Jessie Brewer Trimble on September 6, 1946, in Amarillo.

Donor Recruitment for Bloodmobile Begins

Donor recruitment for the Tuesday, July 10 visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile will reach its peak during the next week, in a campaign that will be carried to every community of the county.

New hours have been set. The Bloodmobile will be here from 4:00 to 9:00 p.m., the first time that evening hours have been used. In co-operation with the Red River Regional Blood Center, Wichita Falls, Wellington was chosen as an experimental site to determine the use of evening hours for drawing blood. The Bloodmobile will be at Bura Handley Community Center.

"This was done especially for the convenience of our men who are now in the middle of farming operations," said Mrs. Ernest Harwell, who is heading the drive. "Many men who farm have said they want to give blood, and we do not want them to have to go back to work in the heat."

Recruitment for this drive will be handled by the Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Myra Hays will direct the scheduling of donors so that there will be no long waiting periods. Any person wishing to may call her at the Farmers Home Administration or at her home for the desired hour.

The telephone committee to contact donors will be headed by Miss Ann Smith, Mrs.

Bill Spillman, Mrs. Pat McAlister, Mrs. Rufus Sweat and Mrs. Doc Turner. Others will be added to this group.

Campaign organization has been set up in the three other communities. Richard Bentley and the Samnorwood Lions Club are in charge of the blood donor campaign for the north half of the county.

Mrs. Carl Wischkaemper and Mrs. Johnny Carson are direct-

Due to the July 4 holiday falling on Wednesday this year, The Wellington Leader will be printed on Tuesday, July 3.

The newspaper office, along with other businesses and offices in town, will then be closed on Wednesday, July 4.

Because of this, it will be necessary for all news and advertising copy to be turned in early for that issue of the paper. The co-operation of readers and advertisers is asked.

Information Asked On Film Locations

Can you see in your mind's eye motion picture companies shooting films on a Collingsworth County location? It's not impossible.

Warren Skaaren, executive director of the Texas Film Commission, has requested information concerning possible sites for film locations, research and other facts from Mrs. Clyde Drake, County Historical Survey Committee chairman. The information now being compiled by the committee will be passed on to motion picture companies for their consideration.

"The Texas Film Commission is presently inventorying the state's resources for motion picture production," Mr. Skaaren said. "The objective is to compile accurate and complete information of film-related talent, equipment services,

The two relatives had not met before.

Celia is interested in the southwestern United States and will spend most of her visit in the area, especially in the Wellington, Shamrock and Amarillo area.

Expanded Regional MHMR Work Told

The reorganization of the Amarillo Mental Health Mental Retardation Regional Board will enable it to better serve Collingsworth and all other outlying counties, Louise Evans, co-ordinator, told a three-county group in Wellington Thursday, June 21.

She was one of four representatives of the board to appear here. Present were the appointed district trustees, county judges and mayors from Collingsworth, Donley and Armstrong counties, which make up District 6 under the MHMR program.

During the district organization, Mrs. B.M. Sims was elected chairman; Dave Croslin of Clarendon, vice chairman; and Mrs. Tom Chrisitan of Claude, secretary.

Mrs. Sims and Mr. Croslin will represent the district on the Eastern Division Board of Trustees.

Miss Evans gave a slide presentation on the Amarillo Regional MHMR Center and discussed some of the expanded programs that will be available to the communities.

Joe Klueppel, director of regional programs, explained the work on investigating the needs of the various communities, and the development of plans to meet these needs.

Allen Walker, co-ordinator of the educational programs, discussed that part of the MMHR work.

In charge of the program was Bobby White, director, Amarillo Center for Human Development.

Services of the Amarillo Mental Health Mental Retardation Regional Board now includes the 9 Mental Retardation Satellite Centers, Wellington, Canadian, Borger, Pampa, Dalhart, Peryton, Hereford, Clarendon and Dumas, along with Genesis House in Pampa.

The other services it offers outside of Amarillo are Suicide Prevention-Crisis Intervention hot lines in Dumas, Borger and Pampa, along with its aftercare program for patients discharged from state and Amarillo hospitals and the Panhandle Council of Child Care Agencies.

Services available in Amarillo may also be used by the member communities and include adolescent program, alcoholism, rehabilitation program, diagnostic center for offenders, the Psychiatric Center and Hospital, Inc., and Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center.

It also includes the Amarillo State Center for Human Development, Kairos House for Youthful Drug Abusers, the Co-ordinating Council on Drug Abuse and Underwood Hall Rehabilitation Center.

Attending the meeting Thursday were:

Collingsworth County: Judge Zook Thomas, Mayor Bill Hatch, Mrs. B.M. Sims, and Mrs. Charlene Poteet; Armstrong County: Judge Forrest Bennett, Mayor Rupert C. Tucker of Claude, Mrs. Artelle Cobb, Hayden Bartley and Mrs. Christian; and Donley County: Judge Christal, Mayor H.M. Breedlove of Clarendon, Mr. Croslin, Clyde G. Martin and Warren Hardin.

facilities, props—all the information to which a producer might need access."

Mrs. Drake and her historical committee are in turn seeking information from the people of the county on such things as locations which might make unique settings for a motion picture, buildings, even old vehicles, period furniture and household items. Such a survey would also include period clothing, weapons, interesting historical collections.

Research materials including old photographs and documents setting forth the daily life of the county at various periods would be needed.

The Texas Film Commission was created by Executive Order of Governor Preston Smith on May 24, 1971, and charged with the task of attracting motion picture companies to shoot on Texas locations. During its first year of operation, the Film Commission worked with 22 companies that left over $6.5 million in the state's economy.

Many Texans are employed on both casts and crews. The image of Texas is given nationwide exposure which aids in the development of tourism. Finally, there has been an increased interest on the part of producers in the recreation of uniquely Texas stories told in accurate historical settings, Mr. Skaaren pointed out.

In working with motion picture companies, the Film Commission has relied heavily on co-operation from the county historical survey committees, as it is now doing in Collingsworth.

Farmcast

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture John C. White, Commissioner

No Doubt About It... Wheat and Diesel... Still Number One... Milk Production Dips.

If there were any doubts about it at all, a report from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will dispel them regarding cotton and Texas.

During 1972, Texas produced about a third of the nation's cotton crop. Normally, the report on Texas cotton would have been completed much earlier, but the 1972 crop harvest wasn't completed until March of 1973.

The crop for 1972 totaled 4,246,000 bales compared with only 2,579,000 bales produced during 1971.

Yield per harvested acre averaged 408 pounds compared with 263 pounds in 1971. This is the second highest yield on record, being exceeded in 1968 with 410 pounds per acre.

The 1972 upland cotton crop is valued at $446,000,000, compared with $329,000,000 in 1971.

Nationwide, a total of 13,702,100 bales was produced, which is 31 per cent above the 1971 crop. The average 1972 price is set at 26.60 cents per pound compared with 28.07 cents per pound in 1971.

WHEAT harvest continues in Texas amid reports of fuel shortages. As of the first of June, harvest was only five per cent complete compared with 25 per cent in 1971.

Fuel shortage reports continue heaviest in the wheat harvest areas. Custom combine operators apparently are having the most trouble in locating fuel supplies.

Farmers who run short or out of fuel should report that fact to their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office or the Texas Department of Agriculture.

PEACH production based on June 1 prospects for Texas is forecast at 271,000 bushels, which is less than half of the 604,000 bushels produced in 1972. Peach harvest is now active and quality is reported good to excellent.

RANGE and non-irrigated pasture conditions are six per cent better now than a month ago. Conditions are generally good to excellent throughout the northern half of the state with some exceptions.

TEXAS continues its honor as the number one cattle feeding state in the nation. As of June 1, cattle on feed in Texas totaled 2,252,000. This is 10 per cent above a year ago, and four per cent above a month ago.

Number of cattle on feed in the seven major cattle feeding states—Texas, Iowa, Arizona, California, Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas—totaled 9,455,000. This is a one per cent increase from a month ago and four per cent more than a year ago at this time.

Placements into Texas feedlots during May total 492,000 head. These placements are 12 per cent below May this year but 91 per cent above the previous month.

Marketings of fat cattle during May totaled 403,000 head, which is 12 per cent above a year ago and 14 per cent above marketings for April.

Cattle producers are continuing to expand production, contrary to some claims by some consumer groups that the cattleman is purposely holding back production in order to keep his price high.

MILK production in May in Texas is the same as May of last year, but is one per cent below a month ago. May milk production totaled 305,000,000 pounds in Texas.

Nationwide, milk production is two per cent under a year ago. Production during the first five months of this year is two per cent less than last year.

The May milk-feed ratio at 1.37 is the lowest since 1965. Huge increases in feed costs are the reasons for the decline in the ratio. It is 19 per cent below a year ago.

Exports Key To Feedgrain Future Picture

COLLEGE STATION — The export situation is the key to the long-term outlook for feedgrains.

"If export sales continue at or near current volumes, above average prices are anticipated at harvest," says Roland Smith, grain marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "However, if the U.S. returns to a low level of export marketing, prices of grains could be sharply reduced."

Massive grain purchases by the Soviet Union beginning last July are having a major impact on the current U.S. grain situation. Soviet wheat imports are projected to be four times that of 1971 and the U.S. will supply most of this trade.

U.S. exports of corn, grain sorghum and soybeans are up due to production problems in many foreign countries.

"Domestic grain usage has gone up as well," points out Smith. "Increase in livestock numbers is the primary cause. Cattle on feed last fall were up 19 percent in the Southwest — 30 percent in Texas."

Severe cold, wet weather this past winter also brought increased livestock feeding, according to the specialist, thus adding to the demand for grain.

What about the supply situation?

"Production should reach near record levels in 1973," contends Smith. "Nationwide, feed-grain acreage should increase about seven percent. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's decision to reduce the 'set-aside' acres for the feedgrain program has promoted increased plantings.

"Grain sorghum acreage in Texas should be up about 10 percent over 1972 while soybeans should show a phenomenal 56 percent increase," says Smith.

Sluggers, Bombers In World Series

The Wellington Sluggers and The Wellington Bombers played on June 19. The Wellington Sluggers won over The Wellington Bombers 3 to 0.

On Tuesday, June 19, they started their World Series at Marian Airpark. They will play 3 games in all. In the game on June 19 they played 3 innings. The Wellington Sluggers won over The Wellington Bombers 15-5. Lynn Bartlett of The Wellington Sluggers was the winning pitcher, and Eddy Pena of The Wellington Bombers was the losing pitcher. Darin Hall and Lynn Bartlett of the Sluggers made two home runs, and The Wellington Bombers made no home runs.

The other two games were on Tuesday, June 26, at 9:00 and on Thursday, June 28, at 7:30.

There were 40 fans present for the first game.

These teams are the youngest group of all those playing in the summer baseball program.

a one-time expenditure of $15 million over a two year period, with an estimated $200,000 to $400,000 funding each project," Mr. Altom explained.

If this region receives a grant, funds would be used primarily to train personnel in emergency medical communications, for the purchase base and mobile units, and, in fact, to cover all expenses of setting up a Regional Emergency Medical Communications System except for the purchase of ambulances, he said.

Mr. Melin has explained that ambulance service personnel, such as those here, would receive training through the Department of Transportation 81-hour Emergency Medical Technician/Ambulance Course or its equivalent to upgrade their handling of patients.

Central medical emergency dispatchers would have to be trained, and this also would be available for doctors, technicians and nurses.

If the project is approved for the area, the Panhandle Regional Health Council will set as its goal a net work of ambulances and health care facilities that would assure that no person in the 26 county area will be more than 15 minutes from emergency medical care.

To make the idea more specific, Mr. Altom explained that ambulance drivers and attendants through the communications equipment would be in contact with the hospital, here or elsewhere, at all times, and it would be possible should emergency conditions arise as a patient

Be Very Gentle With the Tick

AUSTIN — What do you do when you meet a tick?

It's not a matter of etiquette. You don't have to be polite. But it doesn't pay to be too abrupt, either.

Ticks should be handled with care. Should one settle down for a feast on a tender part of your anatomy, it would be improper just to yank it off. The tick will probably retaliate by leaving its head under your skin, causing you very much misery for days.

The theory behind removing a tick is to deprive it of air, causing it to remove its head from your skin more or less voluntarily.

Since the tick breathes through its body when it is feeding, it is recommended that you cover its body with something which will inhibit it is being transported, for contact with the hospital, and through it the doctor, to be almost instantaneous.

Mr. Melin, as director of the Panhandle Regional Health Council, has made the initial application for the maximum project. He believes the Panhandle Region, with more than 5,400 miles of highways in the 26 counties has a good chance of being one of the regions to receive a grant.

its breathing.
This could be nail polish remover, alcohol or a heavy oil. It is important that the tick be given time to become distressed enough to remove its head from your skin.

Of course, the best defense against ticks is prevention. Many times ticks will wander around one's anatomy for hours before a particularly succulent spot appeals to them. This gives the potential victim time after an outing to take off his clothes and examine himself thoroughly. Of course, the clothes used for the outing should not be put back on since they could be harboring ticks.

Ticks are not to be taken for granted. Their bites can become infected easily, especially if you scratch them.

And at least one serious disease, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, is transmitted by ticks. Fifteen cases of this disease were reported in 1972, all of them in East Texas.

Scouts Win Pack Full Of Medals at Camp

Sixteen Wellington Boy Scouts attended a week's session at Camp M.K. Brown, 7 miles northwest of Wheeler June 10 through 16, under the leadership of Glenn McLain. These included Lyn Hurst, Don Lewis, David Baumgardner, Carl Taylor, Jimmy Morgan, Kevin Hall, Scott Peeks, Roger Baker, Randy McGill, Marty Warrick, Jerry Henry, Carlos Granados, Kevin Needham, Bill Havens and Steven Settle. Mr. McLain gave this report of the meeting: The unit earned a total of 42 merit badges while at camp this week and among these were Conservation of Natural Resources, Nature, Pioneering, Swimming, Canoeing, Forestry, and Life Saving. Several of the scouts completed part of their work in Indian Lore also. All of our scouts advanced at the water front. Every scout was a swimmer by the end of the week except two and they had made Beginner swimmer, one step back of swimmer.

Grain Pest Study Begun

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has launched a three-year study on grain sorghum pest management. The study will involve some 20,000 acres of grain sorghum in Hale County. It is designed to provide producers with an effective advisory service and to help them take advantage of available control methods for increasing yields without upsetting the environment.

A new county entomologist will supervise the field scouting program to determine insect populations and the need for control measures.

Eight of our scouts made the mile swim. This requires the scout to make a series of practice laps each day and then the final test on Thursday to try for the full mile. They started out the first day swimming a quarter mile and increased each day until the mile try. The following scouts attempted and completed the mile swim: Lyn Hurst, Tony Cox, Stephen Settle, Roger Baker, Bill Havens, Don Lewis, Kevin Needham, and Randy McGill.

On Friday the camp held its weekly aquatics contest with all the units from the area towns entered. Our unit with much desire took top prize with fine team work. We had each of the 16 scouts entered in the contest and everybody really worked. The annual trophy for this event is an old canoe oar labeled for this years contest. We shall hang this trophy in our scout hut.

The unit was very pleased to have so many parents up to visit with us on Wednesday night. This is our tap out camp fire for the Order of the Arrow and this year we had four scouts tapped out. They were Roger Baker, Randy McGill, Stephen Settle and David Baumgardner. These scouts will return to camp in July to complete the ordeal ceremony.

Several friends of scouting help make this summer camp a success and the unit extends its thanks. Dr. Carter made the physicals for the scouts free, Bob Sessions assisted in taking the boys to camp and furnished a camper for the leaders use, and Bob Sessions and J.D. Baker helped in the unit return Saturday. I was with the unit all week.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

Those who use a pail around the house or garden can save their hands from being cut by the thin bucket handle. Unhook one end of the handle and slip a 6- to 8-inch piece of garden hose over it.

For a newly opened catsup bottle, try inserting a drinking straw. This carries air to the bottom and permits free flowing without pounding and spurts.

Questions People Ask About the Catholic Church

Q. What is the Church's basic opposition to abortion?

A. Murder is the wanton taking of the life of an innocent human being. An unborn baby is the most innocent human being imaginable. Therefore, the taking of its life is murder. The Fifth Commandment of God states: Thou shalt not kill.

Q. What about the freedom of the mother in abortion?

A. Fine, but she must remember she is only a third of the parties involved. There are also the father and the baby. The father can decide for himself, but who speaks for the baby?

Home Management

Ready-to-eat canned meats stretch family "meat dollars" while offering nutritious, appealing menu variety. These meats furnish as much nutritional value as home prepared meats. A three-ounce serving furnishes more than one-third of the daily protein needs of an adult. A 12-ounce can makes a satisfying, economical main dish for four persons.

Serve these meats hot or cold - in casseroles, sandwich fillings, creamed sauces or salads. Combined with pasta, rice, legumes, cheese or eggs, serving size can be reduced and still provide an abundance of high-quality nutrients.

Canned meats also represent additional advantages or conveniences. For one, they need no refrigeration until opened - making them ideal for summer picnicking and camping.

In addition, there's little or no shrinkage in home preparation - canned meats consist of select pork or beef, completely cooked in the canning process.

These products contain government inspected meats - carefully trimmed and boned before processing.

Another advantage - since all ingredients are listed on the container, consumers know what they are getting. For example, chopped beef contains

The Dodson Home Demonstration Club met Monday, June 25, at Nellie's Dining room in Dodson. Mrs. C.E. Hightower, president, conducted a short business meeting. The roll call was a statement of a self-improvement that each member would like to make. Mrs. Wayne Reynolds presented the Home Demonstration council report.

Mrs. Sherry Walker, Field Representative for the American Red Cross, presented a film, "Innovations in Blood Component Therapy." After the presentation of the film, Mrs. Walker gave a talk concerning the uses of blood other than for transfusions.

During the discussion that followed, Mrs. Walker stated that the demand for blood use 100 per cent finely chopped beef - chopped ham, 100 per cent cured chopped ham.

They usually represent best buys on a cost-per-serving basis, as does luncheon meat, which is mainly pork shoulder meat - sometimes with beef or ham added.

has increased in our region during the last year. The blood donated for transfusions must be used within twenty-one days. Any blood kept beyond this date is referred to as outdated blood.

This blood may not be used for transfusions but may be used for its component parts. Mrs. Walker stated that the outdated rate for our region is only 6% compared to a national rate of 17-18%. The blood bank for this region serves thirty-three hospitals an average of 250 units each week.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Walker, Mrs. B.B. Martin, Blood Mobile Chairman for Dodson, Christine Kutch, Mrs. Gilbert Hunt, Mrs. Truett Holland, Mrs. A.V. Lowrie, Mrs. Hightower, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Hugh Painter, Mrs. Thurman Crownover, King Bowen, projectionist, and Mrs. Arla Felts, County Extension Agent.

Fiddlers Hit Summer Contests, Win Some

By Mrs. Bill King

We have three very wonderful fiddle contests to report on and it would be hard to say which one was the best, for we thoroughly enjoyed them all.

On Saturday, April 28, we got off early to Turkey to the Big Bob Wills celebration and fiddle contest. Of course we wanted to see the parade and it was a joy. The float of San Antonio Rose was so beautiful! We took Goldie Barnett with us and we three had much to talk and laugh about.

We had about 23 fiddlers and started off the contest before lunch and the high school gym was full of friendly, applauding friends.

After lunch everyone gathered in downtown Turkey to honor Bob Wills, hear some of his wonderful kind of music, and see the unveiling of the beautiful monument.

We resumed the contest and the winners were: Vernon Riddle, first; Bartow Riley, second; Bill King, third; Shorty Loter, fourth; Joe Storey, fifth; Son Duffy, sixth; R.C. Burkhalter seventh; Wes Nevins eighth; Pat Wall, ninth, and Warren Rhea, tenth.

After the contest, we, along with most of the fiddling group, went on to Chidress to the Bartow Rileys for much food and fiddling.

Our next contest was at Spearman on May 12. We all gathered at the Dale Hendricks home for a good fiddling and visiting session before the contest. We had a very good time and the contest winners were R.C. Burkhalter, first; Bobby Scrugs, second; Bill King, third; Dale Hendricks, fourth; and Dean Yadon, fifth.

After this contest we went home with our kids, Bill and Kay King, for some barbecued steaks and Mother's Day gifts.

And now for this very special contest!

On Saturday, June 9, we set our alarm for 2:30 a.m. and at 15 till 4 we headed South with the Ducks going to San Angelo for the great Fiesta Del Concho and what a time we did have!

This was our first time to visit San Angelo and it is such a beautiful city with the Concho River right inside like it had come to town on Saturday!

We rolled into town about 9 o'clock with enough time to visit a while with kin folks, the John Sexton family and the Charles Wolff family.

The fiddle contest was to begin at 11:00 a.m. so we were careful to be at the old fort on time to get all signed up, and right near the stage was the Radio KPEP wagon and Ray Villandry in charge - big as life and twice as loud! Betty and Ray Villandry aren't really kin folks, but we call them "kissin' kin." They are former Shamrock residents and very special to us.

The Glen Wardlaws of Hale Center were there and the Sleepy Johnson's of Ft. Worth, and we met quite a few new fiddlers.

The fiddle contest was divided into two age brackets and the winners in the older group were Bill King, first (I like that song); Sleepy Johnson, second; Parvin Hoffman, third; and O.T. Sutton, fourth.

In the younger group, the winners were J.C. Hounshell, first; Ingersol Manning, second; Lewis Wimberly, third; Ray Adams, fourth; Johnny Hemphill, fifth; Bill McMinn sixth, and J. Norwood, seventh.

If the old fort, parade grounds and army barracks could think, I'll bet they would have thought time had turned backwards with so many people, horses and even a covered wagon.

Two different blue grass bands kept good music going on the sound stage all the time the fiddlers weren't using it.

Everyone was so nice and friendly to us that we sure hope we can go back again.

I guess our next fiddle contest will be in Bowie on June 30, followed by the big Cow Punchers Roundup and fiddle contest in Stamford on July 4

INDEPENDENCE DAY JULY 4, 1973

Psalms 33: 12-22 from The LIVING BIBLE

Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord, whose people he has chosen as his own. The Lord gazes down upon mankind from heaven where he lives. He has made their hearts and closely watches everything they do. The best-equipped army cannot save a king—for great strength is not enough to save anyone. A war horse is a poor risk for winning victories—it is strong but it cannot save. But the eyes of the Lord are watching over those who fear him, who rely upon his steady love. He will keep them from death even in times of famine! We depend upon the Lord alone to save us. Only he can help us; he protects us like a shield. No wonder we are happy in the Lord! For we are trusting him. We trust his holy name. Yes, Lord, let your constant love surround us, for our hopes are in you alone.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Dear Deck:

How well I remember the sandstorm you refer to. I was delivering mail on rural route 4. Riding a motorcycle. Left the postoffice on time that morning. Made it to Rolla Smith's corner, 13 miles from town in fair order, but choked with dust a bit. Turned back east here and made it to Buck Creek. There was no bridge on this crossing at that time, I had to plow through the sand. Halfway across my carburetor choked up with the sand blowing into the open port where she got her air. I could not get the motor started again, and was so blinded that I could not do any work on it in the middle of the old dry creek. I was struck, and for good.

Unstrapped the leather pouch in which I carried my mail from the handle bars, hung it on my shoulder and started east on foot. It was not too hard walking to Beggs' corner where I had to turn north. But it was four miles from there to the edge of town. Like you I used the barb wire fence as a guide. Had goggles, and a pull down cap, but that dust got inside those goggles just the same. It was a "Shore-nuff" pull to make any headway, as you well know.

I made it past Bill Ike Smith's place, then the farm on the right, then Kennedy's. Was sorely tempted to turn in there and rest a bit, but kept going. By the time I was even with J.O. Wood, the Postmaster's farm I was just about ready to call it quits, lie down and kick off. But I remembered that there was an old shed just a few yards from the gate out in the field, that would give some shelter if I could reach it. I followed the wire fence until I found the gate. Could dimly discern the bulk of the old shed. The south side had a large open door in it, and soon I was inside, with a half dozen horses and some cows that had been grazing in the stalk field.

I lay down in the corner of the shed amongst the other animals. It is a wonder I was not trampled, but I guess Divine Providence told them to be careful of me. Anyway, after about an hour, I cleaned out my goggles, and eyes the best I could and resumed my journey. Past Stuckey's and Starkeys, and on another mile to the town section. Got to the postoffice, unloaded my bag and learned that I was the only carrier that had gotten in. The rest of them had sense enough to stop over with farmer friends and wait out the storm, coming in the next morning.

I will have to confess that it was not a sense of duty to the postoffice department, and my patrons, that made me finish the route that day. I had left my two small daughters in the home of Mrs. Hugh Longino. My wife had died a few months previous to this and I had to have someone look after my children while I was on the mail route. We had spent the previous night with the Longinos. I had to pick up my children and get to my own place where I had a cow to milk and some pigs to feed. So by carrying the smallest, and leading the other, we followed the railroad and got home.

The next morning, the weather

UT Teaches Blind to Type

AUSTIN, (Spl.) - A University of Texas teacher has devised a new way of teaching blind students to type 60 to 70 words per minute, with accuracy.

A method developed by Associate Prof. Faborn Etier involves the tape recording of basic typing lessons plus electronically paced dictation which students can repeat in order to build up skill.

Back to the postoffice, the other carriers had arrived. We worked our mail and served our routes as usual. But I will never forget that ordeal. I still shudder when I think of it. Though I had other hair-raisers on that same route after, and before that. Still dream of them, but thankful that I was young enough to take it, and survive.

Disabled Widows May Receive Medicare Pay

Widows who have been getting survivors payments from social security but who have been severely disabled for the last 2 years may be eligible for Medicare starting July 1—"but they must file a disability claim," according to Travis C. Briggs, social security district manager in Amarillo.

Medicare has been available only to people 65 and over. Starting in July, the Government health care insurance will be extended automatically to all disabled people under 65 if they've received monthly social security disability payments for 2 years or more.

"But some severely disabled widows 50 and over have never applied for disability payments," Briggs said. "Generally they've been getting social security survivors benefits because they're 60 or over or they've been getting benefits as widowed mothers who have young or disabled children in their care."

To get Medicare, these widows must file a claim for disability payments. As soon as possible, they should call, write, or visit any social security office. If a widow is unable to make the contact, a friend or relative may help. If necessary, arrangements can be made for a social security representative to visit her.

The Amarillo social security office is at 317 East Third Street. The phone number is 376-5151.

Hearings Show Gravity of Trying To Change State Constitution

As the Constitutional Revision Commission continues to hold hearings to find out what the people believe the new constitution should contain, the monumental task of writing a new constitution looms larger and larger. The gravity and importance and even the danger of rewriting the fundamental law becomes more apparent.

Thus far the hearings have brought forth no great nor clear calls for principles of justice and equity for all citizens and all groups of the state. Instead there has been a repetition by special interests of provisions they want included. Such items should be taken care of by legislation and not written into the basic law of the state. A constitution should consist of broad principles of law clearly stated and specifically defined.

For some reason we tend to think of special interests as railroads, utilities, oil companies, insurance, banks, etc. Special interests can also be teachers, preachers, editors, doctors, lawyers, farmers, ranchers, unions, farm organizations welfare groups, race groups and a thousand other classifications.

A constitution cannot be written in fairness, and equity providing designated rights for each and every one of these diverse interests. It must be written for their rights as individuals and as citizens of a state.

For these and other reasons, Texans are becoming increasingly cautious about changing the constitution in the manner now being attempted.

The legislators and the people together have been rewriting the constitution of The State of Texas for decades by voting amendments. It has worked fairly well thus far. Critics call it a patchwork to the obvious dangers of changing the constitution.

Danger Noted

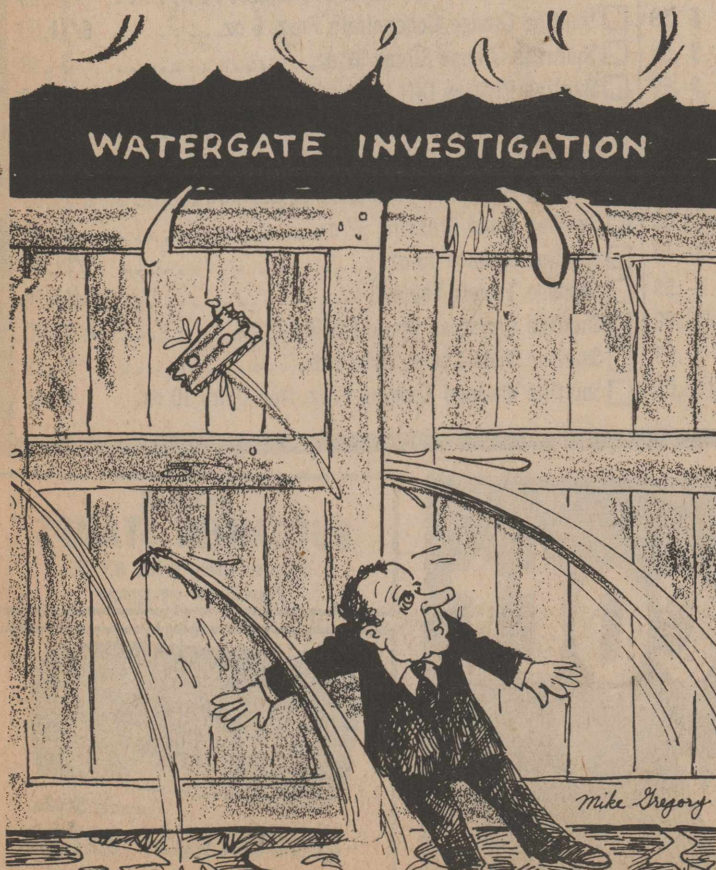

Reports of gasoline shortages in some sections of the nation have created a serious safety problem. The American Automobile Association says it has found that some motorists are carrying extra cans of gas in their car trunks as insurance against running out of fuel on the highway. This has brought an urgent danger warning.

In case of an accident, what might ordinarily be a minor mishap could become disastrous under these conditions, says AAA. And if a chain reaction highway accident occurred, the result could be a holocaust.

Gasoline stored in cans inside a hot car trunk can expand and overflow, increasing the risk of ignition by sparks from a crash or from a lighted cigarette.

The AAA stresses it knows of no instance in which a motorist has been stranded because he could not obtain gasoline supplies. And even if such an incident should occur, the inconvenience could not be compared to the casualties that could result from cars carrying extra fuel.

— Wichita Falls Record News

AUSTIN, TEX. — Experts offer little hope for an early easing of the energy crisis, and Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon warns a lot more oil and gas is being used than is being found.

A House committee studying the crisis heard a national authority's grim opinion that "there is no way out."

Dr. John McKetta, past chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, said President Nixon should declare a national emergency, since it's too late for problem studies in the area.

Langdon told the same committee legislative efforts to cope with the problem will be frustrating because solutions must be sought at the national level.

Although the state regulatory agency has been permitting 100 per cent production for more than a year, Langdon said Texas producers are still falling short of demand for oil by 400,000 barrels a day, or roughly 10 per cent.

Atty. Gen. John Hill termed the situation "extremely critical," and said no other matter should receive more attention today.

As the commission set the July oil allowable at 100 per cent for the 16th straight month (with buyers seeking a record 3.8 million barrels a day), Langdon issued a new warning that only nine million barrels of oil a month are being added to Texas supplies while 105 million barrels are consumed in the same period.

"Unless this trend is reversed, the Texas oil and gas industry is in the process of self-liquidation," said Langdon.

Texas crude oil stocks as of June 8 were 94.7 million barrels, a decline of 7.2 million from 1972.

Langdon asked for reports at the July commission meeting on the amount of oil companies discovered in 1972, and "somewhere along the line," he said, he will want to know "what it will take to find more" — and whether the industry will really be "able to stay in business."

FUTURE HIGHWAY NEEDS
— Mass transit needs should be financed from its own funds, not from highway funds, Roy D. Chapin Jr., Board Chairman of American Motors Corporation, told Texas Good Roads Association members and the Texas Highway Users Conference here last week.

"Highway construction and maintenance needs during the next 20 years will be $600,000,000,000 in the United States," he explained. "Mass transit needs will total $50,000,000,000 for rail construction and development and $13,000,000,000 for bus transportation."

"Highways are still the basic answers for urban transportation needs. The Department of Transportation says by 1990 that 92 per cent of transportation will be on roads and streets — with only eight per cent on bus and railroad facilities."

Chapin, who is chairman of the board of the National Highway Users Federation, spoke to a partisan audience, but his statistics impressed neutral observers about the need for political unity in the current struggle between eastern states and the rest of the nation for current highway user funds.

"HUD says that population density will continue to drop in urban areas," Chapin concluded. "Travel patterns will be from suburban jobs, buses and car pools can start lowering congestion — but highways are still important to those methods of transportation."

He spoke against "crisis" legislation because of the "current misunderstanding and misinformation on the so-called energy crisis. Some restrictive actions may be taken in the name of crisis, increased tax on gas, excise taxes and personal property taxes on automobiles, Chapin added.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED — Nine proposed constitutional amendments will appear on the November 6 general election ballot — just a couple of months before the Legislature sits as a constitutional convention.

The amendments for the November ballot are:

SJR 8 — proposing a $15,000 a year salary for legislators and annual legislative sessions.

SJR 13 — extending the $3,000 property tax exemption to homesteads of unmarried adults.

SJR 29 — authorizing cities to levy ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the principle and interest on general obligation bonds.

HJR 6 — providing an additional $100 million for the Veterans Land Program.

SJR 1 — establishing new requirements for conservation and reclamation districts.

SJR 25 — exempting water supply cooperative property from taxes.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where Mr. Klassen, our head postmaster, is aiming at increasing letter postage to 10 cents at a little later point in time.

Which should enable the P.O. "Service" to hire two or three dozen more Planners. Planners, of course, are people who think up things like higher rates and new holiday gimmicks to frustrate the peon postal patron class.

In the past, increased postage rates have generally brought slower service. But it may take a 25-cent rate to guarantee that the letters we mail will never be seen or heard of again.

No fifths this Fourth.

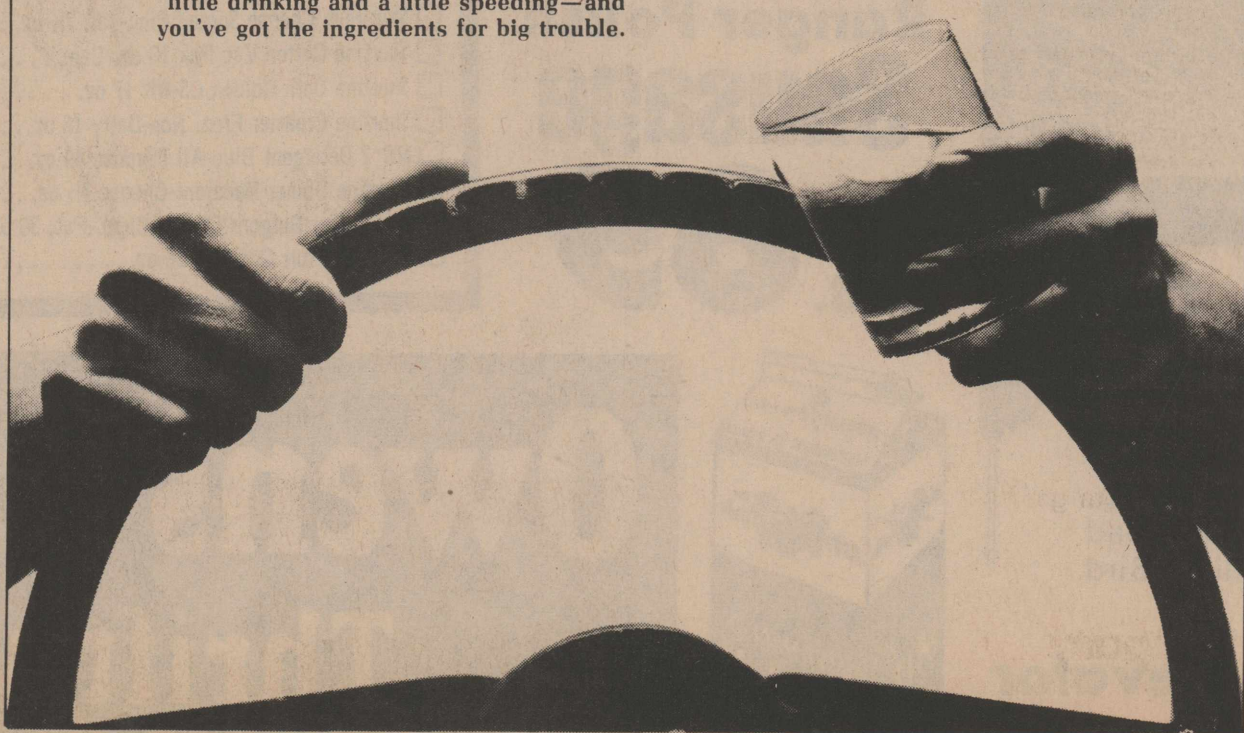

There used to be a saying at Fourth of July picnics that fireworks and firewater don't mix. Well, neighborhood fireworks are pretty much a thing of the past. So this year let's keep in mind that driving, drinking and speeding don't mix either.

That's what we mean by "No fifths this Fourth." All it takes is a little driving, a little drinking and a little speeding — and you've got the ingredients for big trouble.

This Fourth if you want to drink, get somebody else to drive. And take your time. That's DRIVING FRIENDLY.

Ear's a Deer Trivia Item

AUSTIN — How long is a mule deer's ear?
Depends on the individual deer? Wrong.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have discovered a universal truth, to wit: every desert mule deer buck over two years of age examined on the Black Gap Wildlife Management Area has had ears exactly 11 inches long.

This news may not revolutionize mule deer management practices, but it may furnish sharp-eyed hunters with a point of reference when studying a scope-sighted rifle.

WT Eliminates Physical Exams

AMARILLO, — West Texas State University has eliminated its physical examination requirement for incoming students, Dr. T. Paige Carruth, vice president of student affairs, says.

Under new regulations adopted by the Board of Regents, only a record of a student's immunization are required for admission.

Mrs. Louise Mitchell of the University Health Center says, "In the past, a student would go to a doctor for a physical examination and the doctor would give him several tests that were not required by the university, such as chest x-ray, blood tests. This practice was very expensive for the student."

Carruth says the university's only medical requirement now is that students must have had the oral polio and the combination tetanus-diphtheria immunization within the last 10 years.

"Last semester we gave more than 375 shots in one day because students had not gotten their shots or did not realize they had to have them," Mrs. Mitchell said.

Full House Greeted Opening of "Texas"

A standing ovation from a full house greeted the cast of the "TEXAS" production at the close of the gala opening of the eighth season last night. New touches in the setting included a stove fireplace in Uncle Henry's house, flashing new costumes for the fire ballet, and a photographer taking pictures of the arrivals on the new train.

Several prizes were given to the half-millionth person to view a "TEXAS" production. He was Paul Utterback of Rockport, Texas, the 242nd person to enter the theatre.

Quince Fulton, principal of William Monnig Middle School, Ft. Worth, is again principal of one of the foreign study groups in which students study as well as travel in Europe.

He, along with his wife, Norman, and daughter Jeanie, left Ft. Worth and will return on August 3.

Sponsored by the American Institute for Foreign Study, this year's course is Comparative Cultures and Arts. It will be conducted by tutors of London University in Rome, Madrid, Paris, Amsterdam and London.

The group's first stop, June 29 to July 4, will be in Rome, with an optional excursion to Pompeii and Sorrento.

Summer School in Madrid July 6 to 11, will also include a trip to Toledo and to a Bull Fight for the students. In each city, they live in a designated residence, rather than in hotels.

Late on the afternoon of July 13, Mr. Fulton and his students will arrive in Paris for six days of study, with an optional excursion to Fontainebleau and Chartres.

En route to their next summer school in Amsterdam, they will stop in Brussels for sightseeing. En route to their last stop, the group will drive to the Hook of Holland to board an early morning ferry to Harwich, then continue by bus to London.

A sightseeing tour and free afternoon will precede their study at Richmond College, London, with an optional trip to Stratford-upon-Avon.

Area Jehovah's Witnesses to Attend Meeting

One of the largest series of religious conventions in history will be staged this year by Jehovah's Witnesses.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society in New York has revealed completion of plans for 69 "Divine Victory" international assemblies in 46 countries around the world.

One of these will be at the Astrodome in Houston July 4 to 8. Attending from this area will be Robert Mikesell of Memphis, presiding preacher, Mrs. Mikesell, and from Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Dement and Mrs. Lucy Roland. Others will go from Clarendon and Hedley.

Mr. Mikesell will be in a major position at the convention, working principally with the volunteer services department.

Charles Molohan, international travel director and tour coordinator, said in New York that hundreds of thousands of delegates are preparing to attend these giant meetings.

"For example," he said, "a total of 16,000 persons will be traveling to 43 different countries in Central and South America, Africa, Europe, the South Pacific, the Mideast and the Far East."

"All those on tour will be going by regular commercial flights," Molohan said. "Twenty-three planes are chartered for Hawaii with 5,600 delegates involved. Twelve planes are set for Puerto Rico with 4,100 scheduled to participate and sixteen planes to Europe with 2,800 traveling abroad."

"Additionally, there are thirty-three aircraft scheduled to come to the U.S. from Europe to attend twelve different conventions this summer," he said.

Mikesell made it clear that the conventions are not affiliated with any other religious movement. "The objective of these meetings and the purpose of convening is not remotely related to any other campaign planned for 1973."

Quoting Christianity Today, Mikesell cited Key 73's goal is to "try and give every person in the United States and Canada a real chance to say yes to Jesus Christ and to become a dependable member of his church."

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Taylor were their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Roberts, and Michael from Big Spring; and Mr. Taylor's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Taylor from Crowell. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts also visited with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Francis Roberts. Neal Roberts is a pharmacist with the Denton Pharmacy in Big Spring.

Rural and Urban Transportation In Texas Studied

AUSTIN, Tex. (Spl.) - A multi-disciplinary research project into Texas transportation has been funded at The University of Texas.

The U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) awarded the UT Austin Council for Advanced Transportation Studies (CATS) a $342,000 contract with options for extensions through a second and third year for the study. The entire grant will total $1,576,000.

CATS was established at UT Austin last year and currently involves 69 faculty members from 25 academic disciplines in nine colleges and schools, also drawing on the research capabilities of 17 other cooperating agencies at the University such as the Bureau of Economic Geology and the Population Research Center.

The council is under the direction of Prof. Lymon C. Reese, College of Engineering associate dean for program planning.

A major concern of the study will be the relationship between urban and rural transportation needs and problems.

During the first year of the project, Texas researchers hope to:

- Evaluate transportation problems related to providing essential services to rural and urban dwellers.

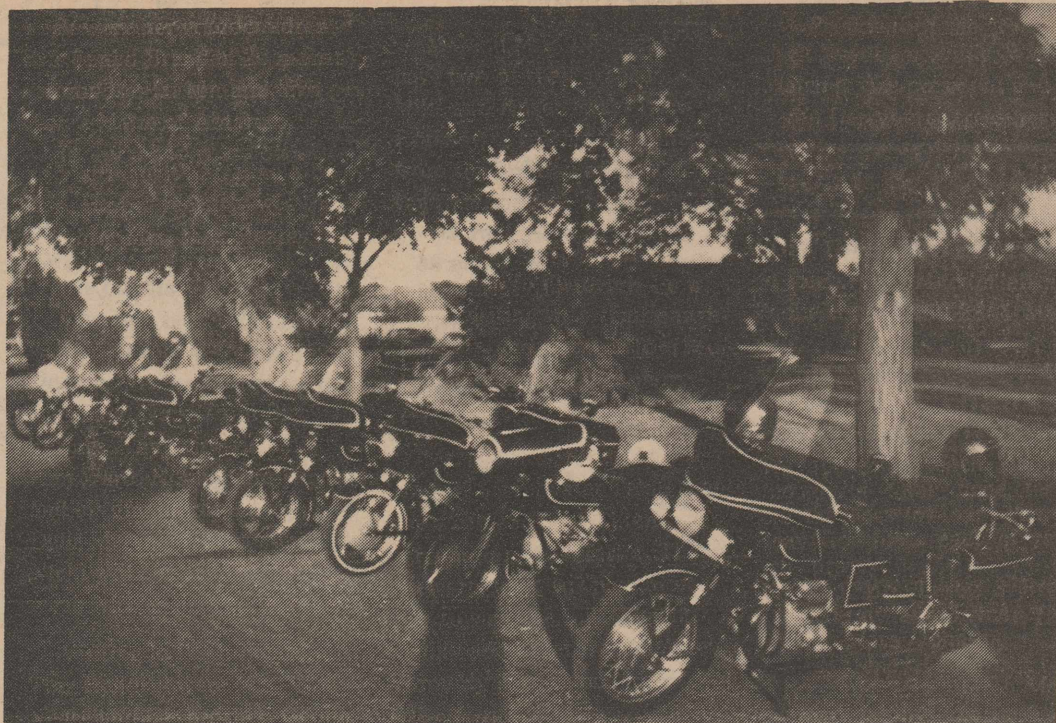

- Study the effect of inter-urban transportation systems on the rural environment, and the development or retardation of small rural towns.

- Analyze the movement of goods and freight in the Southwest by all modes, including the impact of the new Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, now under construction.

- Develop methods for evaluating human response to the quality of ride and service, in developing criteria for the various possible transportation modes in both urban and rural areas.

- Study human response as a major factor in evaluating possible choices of types of transportation.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

WE ARE approaching the Fourth of July. It is the birthday of the greatest and what is still the best nation on earth. Fly your flag proudly.

AS THE birthday of our nation approaches, it is a shame, a deplorable shame, that the attention of our people has been diverted to Watergate and so little to Skylab.

SKYLAB was not as perfect mechanically as some of our trips to the moon. It seemed about to fail. Heroic men were sent into space to repair the damage and as a result the United States launched and completed the work of this manned space laboratory. It was heroic, high adventure and great achievement in the best and highest tradition of mankind. Let us keep this bright and shining achievement in mind as we fly our flags this Fourth of July.

IT HAS been some time since we have heard from anyone who quit smoking, so I will regale you with a tale about Judge Zook Thomas. This was a good many years ago. He was an inhaler and a heavy smoker. One morning he felt a great pain in his chest.

AFTER a checkup, he gathered all his cigarettes and gave them away. Some months later he felt an intense desire to smoke, bought a pack, opened it and took a deep draw. It hit him like a blow on the head and made him sick at his stomach. He has not smoked since.

THE American Cancer Society says: "Those once smoking a pack or more a day, who have given up smoking for at least one year, have a death rate less than half those who continued smoking."

GLENN WARRICK has gone to Reno, Nevada. Don't start lifting your eyebrows. He has departed for Reno to see about buying, selling a car. Glenn is the owner of two 1956 Chevrolts called Nomads.

THE 56 NOMAD is something like a station wagon but different. For some reason or other, General Motors made only a few of this model. Therefore the Nomad became a collectors item among old car fanciers. There is an elite organization of people who own 1956 Chevrolet Nomads. This summer they are holding a convention in Reno just like bottle collectors, doll collectors and art dealers. They meet and admire each others highly polished and refurbished cars. Velman Warrick says these pampered cars have prices like Cadillacs.

MR. AND MRS. Robert H. Boyer of Mariposa, California were interested visitors at The Leader this week. She is the granddaughter of W.D. Collins, who was the second county clerk of Collingsworth County. (J.W. Anderson, the father of Frank Anderson, was the first.) Mr. Collins served as county clerk from 1898 to 1906. He was also a school teacher and ran a general merchandise store in Wellington. Mrs. Boyer's mother, Gertrude Collins, was born in Wellington in 1906. Mrs. Boyer was trying to find out where the old W.D. Collins home was located.

THERE are a number of old houses still standing in Wellington such as the Boverie home. Probably the oldest is the house north of the Gulf Station where Homer Holton lived for many years. It was once used as a school building. The other day I drove by 909 Dalhart which was the old A. Buerger home that was later sold to Bert Starkey.

Church Youth Go to Boiling Springs Camp

The First Christian Church will be taking its own young people and any other interested young people from Wellington to the Boiling Springs Christian Camp near Woodward, Oklahoma, for summer camping, Charles Waugh, minister, announced.

He also announced the weeks which the camp will be in session.

"Christian Service Camp involves Bible study, singing, came flowing back as I gazed at the familiar shape of the house and the evergreens that are over 60 years old. This was a place I passed as I walked to school each day from the northeast of the town section to the extreme southwest.

WHEN I reached the A. Buerger home on a bitter cold morning, I would remind myself that only a short distance remained before reaching the nice warm school building. On bright spring mornings there was the happy thought that quite a distance remained for enjoying the new flowers and sweet smell of the spring air.

MANY PEOPLE have mentioned my story about the early day sandstorm. Turn to page 7 and read a letter from Leon Dial. He writes of his experience as a mail carrier on what he believes was that same day.

praying and swimming every day, softball, volleyball, hiking and many more sports, plus the added benefit of fellowship with Christian young people from the Texas Panhandle and Western Oklahoma," said Mr. Waugh.

The weeks of camp are: Junior Week, fourth through sixth grades, from 4:00 p.m. Monday, July 9, through 1:00 p.m. Friday, July 13.

Senior Week: 9th through 12th grades, from 4:00 p.m. Sunday, July 15 to 10:00 a.m. Saturday, July 21.

Junior high week: seventh and eighth grades, 4:00 p.m. Sunday, July 22 to 10:00 a.m. Saturday, July 28.

The cost includes three meals a day, sleeping quarters, all camp activities and insurance. Additional information may be had from Mr. Waugh. He emphasized that any young person desiring to attend is welcome.

Cattle Futures Poor Forecasters

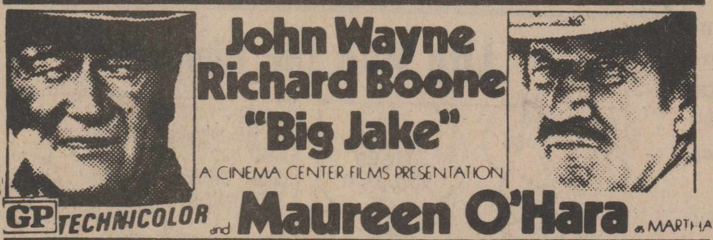

Cattle futures prices are poor forecasters, according to a Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialist. The price of a futures contract is a compromise price between two traders, each believing that the trading price is wrong. Futures prices actually mean little to the livestock producer.

Mrs. Shanks at West Tex-N.M. Florist Meet

Alliene Shanks, owner of Wellington Florist, attended the West Texas New Mexico Florist Association in Amarillo Sunday and Monday, June 24 and 25.

This was the 20th anniversary convention, and Amarillo was the city in which the organization was founded.

Highlighting the convention was the design school, featuring four instructors, Edward Salaci of Salinas, Calif.; Ron Miller of La Jolla, Calif.; Gib Cunningham of Salina, Kansas; and Dorothy Francks of Ft. Worth. Kirk Kirkpatrick of Van Nuys, Calif., was the commentator.

The designers brought out in their demonstrations the growing use of a mix of cut flowers with dried arrangements, or silk flowers with cut flowers. Colors are vivid, Mrs. Shanks reported.

Her husband, Cecil Shanks, joined her for part of the sessions, and for the Friday night barbecue, followed by their seeing "Texas" at Palo Duro Canyon.

Herbicide Fate Of Concern

COLLEGE STATION — The fate of herbicides (chemical weed killers) is of vital concern to everyone interested in protecting the environment. What happens to these materials after application?

"As soon as herbicides are applied, numerous forces in the environment begin to take action," explains Garlyn Hoffman, range brush and weed control specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER

"Decomposition begins from exposure to living organisms, other chemicals, air and sunlight. Transfer processes also occur. Herbicides may be absorbed and exuded by plants and animals and absorbed by soil particles."

According to Hoffman, the key process that determines the ultimate fate of herbicides is that of adsorption — attaching to particles of soil. Adsorption of herbicides depends on the type of soil, size of soil particles, organic matter content and numerous other soil characteristics. The rate of adsorption also depends on the particular composition of the individual herbicide, notes the specialist.

"All the various properties of herbicides are spelled out on the manufacturer's label so that agricultural producers and other users can apply them correctly without endangering the environment," points out Hoffman. "Gross misapplication and overuse are the main problems. With normal use, herbicides will break down into safe or nontoxic compounds and will not contaminate the environment."

Food Costs Less In Proportion

Food costs today actually take a smaller percentage of consumer income than they did 20 years ago. Only 16% of disposable income in the U.S. is now spent for food as compared to 23% two decades ago. In addition, today's food is of better quality, wider diversity, and safer than that anywhere else in the world.

Fresh ambergris from whales is soft, black in color and has a disagreeable odor, but when dried it develops a pleasing fragrance prized as a perfume and drug.
