Tornadoes Will Open Season Here With Slaton Tigers

Traditional Foes Will Open 1940 Season Sept. 13

The Golden Tornado-Slaton Tiger football competition will be resumed next week. Slaton high's Tigers come here on Friday night at eight p. m. to play the 1940 Golden Tornadoes.

The Tigers, from published reports, have the edge on the locals in size, age experience. The Tiger tackles weight 220 and 180. They are reported to have two ends of 180 pounds each, one of whom is a third year player, and a sensational fullback named Collier whose work paced his conference last season—Slaton being in Conference "A" can play under the 19 year, 8 semester, rule while Lamesa, being in Conference "AA" competes under the 18 year age rule; thus giving the visitors the age advantage of one year.

Report Scarcity Of Pickers As Cotton Opening

Believe it or not, Dawson County has a labor shortage! This is the information released from the County Judge's office Tuesday morning.

With cotton opening in Dawson County slightly earlier than usual, the customary trick of cotton pickers has not yet started.

Information from the labor bureau at Big Spring, however, indicates there will be plenty of pickers available at an early date. Several truck loads are expected to arrive shortly, and then there will be a steady stream of arrivals sufficient to take care of the situation.

The gins have turned out quite a few bales already and if the weather stays dry and clear, it is likely that the season will be in practically full swing within the next two or three weeks.

The consensus of opinion seems that Dawson County will produce around fifty thousand bales, with some estimates above and a few below this figure. Of course the total will depend largely on weather conditions for the next two or three months.

Many Attend The Opening Of Loan Offices Friday

The formal opening of the new offices of the Lamesa Federal Savings and Loan Association, last Friday afternoon, was well attended, according to O. H. Morris, secretary of the Association.

Visitors began arriving at two o'clock, and a steady stream of lookers and well wishers continued throughout the afternoon.

The new offices, which were only recently completed, are among the most beautiful and convenient in West Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Meyers and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Dunlop spent the past week visiting with friends in Galveston and Palacios.

More Parity Checks Arrive In This County To Bring Total To Above $50,000

Additional checks have been received in Dawson County this week to bring the total to $40,827.02, covering 268 farms. The arrival of $26,813 has been previously reported by the Courier.

These checks arrived about three weeks ahead of the schedule of 1939, according to Vernon Martin, treasurer of the Dawson County A. C. A. Office.

Applications are being mailed as rapidly as they can be made up, certified and approved.

Those who have checks coming are requested to cooperate by not calling at the office until they have been notified. This will greatly facilitate the speedy handling of these, and to call before notification merely delays and creates confusion.

It is very important, said Mr. Martin, that all interested parties such as operators, share-tenants, and landlords promptly sign parity applications as soon as notified by the County A. C. A. Office. It is also important that all parties sharing in crops be shown on the application for parity payments, Martin said.

The total amount of parity payments for the county has not been disclosed as yet, but it will total a huge sum. The total amount received at this time covers only 268 operators, for an average of $152.41 each.

Loboes Close Season Here By Walloping Hubbers Of Lubbock Twice In Row

The Lamesa Loboes closed the West Texas-New Mexico League Baseball season Monday night, in a blaze of glory, by defeating their traditional foe, the Lubbock Hubbers, twice in a row. The first game was won by the Loboes, 6 to 4, while the Hubbers were blanked in the night cap 8 to 0.

The Loboes opened the season against Lubbock, winning the opener, and closed the season against the same team with a double win. For the season, Lamesa won 12, Lubbock 8, out of the twenty games played between the two clubs.

Although the Loboes failed to land in the first division, they nevertheless wound up a very successful season, with a standing of .507. Normally this would have given them a first division berth and a position in the play-off series, but due to the fact that the leaders were so closely bunched and Oros's poor standing it allowed the Loboes to be a few games short of the coveted spot.

In the Sunday afternoon game, the Loboes lost to Lubbock, while one of the largest crowds of the season was paying their respects to genial Jodie Tate, manager of the Loboes for the past two years. He was showered with many gifts and quite a bit of cash.

It was not learned where all the Loboes will go now that the season is closed. Jodie Beeler, sensational rookie third baseman, sold to the Cincinnati Reds, left early Tuesday morning for Tucson, Arizona, where he will finish the season with the Tucson club, which is a Red Farm. Pat Patterson, who won a total of twenty-two games for the Loboes, was also sold to the Boston Red Sox, but it was not learned whether he would report this fall, or wait until Spring. Other players have returned to their homes in various parts of the county.

The cooperative credit organization established in 1917 by farmers of Dawson County and has been of service to the farmers of Dawson since that time, enabling them to secure long-time low interest rate loans on their farms, and is now serving Dawson, Borden and Gaines Counties.

New Bakery Will Open In Lamesa

Announcement is made this week by T. R. Barnhill, that he will open a new bakery in Lamesa to be known as the Mity Nice Bakery.

Mr. Barnhill operates a bakery in Midland and another at Odessa. He will open in the Skipworth Building on South First Street, where equipment is already being installed. Watch the Courier for their opening announcement.

INSPECTS SCHOOL BUILDING

Mr. Earnest Lee of Haynes and Strange, Architects, inspected the public school buildings as a part of the final check-up before the expiration of the first year since its completion or last Thursday afternoon. With very few exceptions, Mr. Lee found the building in excellent condition. There remains only a few minor repairs to be made before the expiration of the one year period.

The front will be glass tile and white oriental stucco, with a marquee finished in blue. The building has not been leased as yet, but Mr. Broughton stated by he had several who were interested in it.

J. D. Dyer Jr., Is Awarded Eagle Scout Badge

The regular Boy Scout Court of Honor was held in the District Court room last Friday evening, with C. C. Terry presiding.

After the opening ceremonies, a number of Scouts were presented with special Certificates of Awards. John Aage spoke on "What Scouting Has Meant to Me" followed by a talk on "Scouting" by G. M. Roberts.

J. D. Dyer Jr. was awarded the Eagle Scout Badge, with Henry Norris making the presentation. This is the highest award any scout can receive and J. D. is to be congratulated.

Out of the two million scouts in the United States, only 9,000 have received this award.

Besides J. D., Bob Crawley and Skeet Noret, have received this signal honor in Lamesa.

Joe N. Spikes had charge of the closing ceremonies.

A revival will be held at the B. M. A. East Side Baptist Church on 6th and Turner. Everybody is welcome. Come hear Brother Climer Evans preach the word beginning on the 16th of September.

Every baseball fan is urged to be present as there will be some matters of grave importance to be discussed and W. G. White, president of the Lamesa Baseball Club stated that they wanted the opinions and help of every fan in the territory.

Lamesa Lions Club And The Merchants Of Lamesa Will Sponsor Style Show Tues.

A city-wide style show is announced for next Tuesday night at the Palace Theatre, sponsored by the Lamesa Lions Club and the merchants of Lamesa.

Each merchant who participates will have five models to show the newest thing for fall and winter wear. Lamesa girls will be used for the models it is stated.

Here is a rare opportunity for the women of Lamesa and Dawson County to get an idea of what the better dressed will wear this fall and at the same time see a picture show that is one of the outstanding attractions of the current season, at the regular admission price of thirty cents.

The picture to be shown is "Ann of Windy Poplars" starring Ann Shirley and James Ellison.

The Lions Club's part of the proceeds will be used for equipping underprivileged school children with adequate glasses.

So remember the place, time and hour and make your plans to be at the Palace Tuesday night. You will be highly entertained and your money will be going for an excellent cause.

Every detail is complete for the big Annual Homecoming of the McCarty Community, to be held Friday afternoon of this week.

With the program details worked out and every committee functioning efficiently, indications are that this will be the biggest event in the history of the community.

The program will get under way beginning promptly at 1 P. M., at which time a two-hour play program will be held. Suitable games will be arranged for both young and old it is announced.

The afternoon program will begin at 4 p. m. Guy Ransom, McCarty School graduate, who is studying for the ministry at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky, will be the principal speaker. This follows a custom established when the first homecoming was held, that of having a McCarty boy as the main speaker at the afternoon program.

Besides the two speakers, a variety program has also been arranged for both young and old, which should prove interesting and entertaining to both young and old.

There will be suitable prizes offered to the oldest woman, the oldest man, the youngest person, and the one coming the furthest distance to the program, as well as to the citizen having the longest continuous residence in the McCarty Community.

"Juarez Corner" Enjoying Fall Building Boom

"Juarez Corner" is getting ready for the influx of cotton pickers, as temporary structures are springing up like mushrooms along North First Street and around the corner along the highway.

No less than a half a dozen of these tile structures have either been completed or are under construction at this time.

When completed they will be used for various enterprises, including eating places, fruit stands, second-hand clothing establishments, and what have you.

The change of seasons in Lamesa are clearly indicated by two good barometers. In the Spring when the mesquite trees leaf out, it is a good indication that Spring has arrived, and in the Fall when these mushroom buildings start on "Juarez Corner" you may rest assured that Fall is not far away.

Enrollment Above Any Previous Opening Day

The Lamesa Public Schools opened on Monday morning with seventy more pupils than appeared on the first day in 1939. There were 523 in the high school on the first day which is seven more than appeared the previous year. There were 916 who were enrolled in the elementary grades against 869 one year ago, and there were 43 enrolled in the colored school, as against 27 a year ago.

It will be noticed that the largest increase from the standpoint of numbers is in the elementary school where 47 more pupils appeared than last year. The colored school indicates the highest gain in the percentage column with a gain of 16 over 27 last year. The total number of pupils accounted for on the opening day was 1482. This is the largest opening day enrollment in the history of the local schools.

Local school authorities believe that the experience of former years will likely be re-enacted this year in that the schools will show a steady increase in enrollment until well along in the winter months.

The first day of school was largely taken up by the registration of pupils, the enrollments to classes and grades, the issuance of textbooks and lesson assignments. The pupils met according to schedule in the high school classes and were meeting on Tuesday in regular class schedules in all the grades. A few grades and classes showed heavy enrollments, that is, enrollments higher than is regarded advisable for class membership. These were being adjusted on Tuesday.

The high school pupils from Gall were present for their classes. The entire school from Sunset was brought in by bus and were enrolled. The pupils from these two schools number about twenty, which is some evidence that the growth of the local schools is occasioned by the presence of many children in the district.

Friday Singing To Be Resumed

Attention of all singers and lovers of good music, is again called to the fact that the regular Friday night singing at the Bryan Street Baptist Church will again be resumed this Friday evening.

These regular weekly singing classes were suspended in the late spring in deference to the large number of revival meetings held in the city and county.

With the end of summer, the singings will be resumed Friday and continue to be held each Friday evening throughout the winter, it is announced.

Those who like to sing, or merely want to come and listen, are cordially invited to attend the meetings every Friday evening.

Two-For-One Classified Price A Big Bargain

Each week sees many people of Lamesa and surrounding territory taking advantage of The Courier's two for one classified offer. In other words, you can get a classified run in the Monday and Thursday papers for the price of only one paper.

These little wonder workers have established a reputation in this territory for their strong selling ability, and it is no wonder that each week sees them gaining in popular favor.

With two ads for the price of one, they become even a greater bargain than ever before. The usual cost seldom exceeds the minimum charge of 25c, and the results that have been obtained, which have been reported, makes this the greatest investment possible for the money.

If you have something to buy, sell, rent, want to buy, or have lost something, here is the cheapest investment you ever made for the benefits you may expect.

Lewis Bakery Marketing New Loaf Of Bread

Reduction In Automobile Insurance Will Mean Saving Of Thousands Of Dollars

Highway users of Texas will be saved more than $2,000,000 annually by the reduction ordered last week in insurance rates by the State Board of Insurance Commissioners. Lynn Shaw, manager of the Texas Motor Transportation Association, declared this week following the receipt of the order from Casualty Insurance Commissioner R. G. Waters.

With a reduction of 10 per cent in rates on fire, theft and comprehensive coverage insurance for private passenger cars, a tremendous saving was given September 1, when the new rates went into effect. To all private car owners in Texas who carry insurance on their automobiles, Mr. Shaw said.

Automobile dealers' fire and theft rates were reduced 25 per cent by the order, and the owners of Texas' 335,467 trucks enjoyed reductions in various types of insurance, ranging from 10 to 25 per cent. Long-haul truckmen's bodily injury and property damage rates were reduced 10 per cent in all territories in Texas by the order.

Contributing to the saving to private and commercial truck owners which Mr. Shaw estimates at considerable in excess of $200,000, will be the elimination ordered by the Commissioners of restricted type policies, so that truck operators in the future will be provided coverage any place any where in the United States and Canada at no additional cost. Also, the order makes a reduction of approximately 25 per cent in rates on trailers and semi-trailers over 25 feet in length. On fleet operators where sufficient equipment is operated for individual experience rating, a substantial advantage has been given by elimination of the claim investigation expenses being charged against the risk along with the losses.

America's First Line of Defense is the INTELLIGENCE of its People!

WHEN you look into the faces of the men who are America it is a heartening sight—your faith in democracy, in humanity, in man and in God wells upward in spite of today's events among other people. From American faces there radiates a degree of self-respect, self-confidence and self-reliance possessed by no other men on earth and generated by 164 years of liberty such as no other men have ever enjoyed. No other people have ever been so free, or free for so long a time.

America is free and is great because plain Americans have made and have kept it so. Through their initiative and creativeness, exercised under conditions where physical and mental energies had free play, your fellow-Americans have done more to enrich themselves while enriching you than any other men who ever lived.

The men and women whose combined efforts supply electric service to you are proud to be your fellow Americans—"electric-travellers with you" in your enthusiastic belief in democracy, in representative government, in free enterprise and in your intellectual capacity to build and safeguard even greater treasures in your America of tomorrow.

As wheat planting time approaches those farmers who do not believe in waiting seed wheat by planting it in dust should be interested in finding out how deep the moisture from summer and fall rains have penetrated into the soil. Experiment stations records for many years show that normally the field of wheat is almost in direct proportion to the amount of moisture in the soil at planting time. Soil Conservation Service specialists recommend that wheat not be planted on land unless the soil is moist to a depth of 24 inches or more.

The records show that where the soil is completely dry at the time the wheat is planted the chances are about nine to one that the crop will not be worth harvesting the next spring.

On the other hand where wheat is planted on land that has moist soil to a depth of 36 inches or more the odds are almost as great that a good crop will be harvested and very seldom will a complete failure result.

It is not difficult for any farmer to tell approximately how much moisture he has in the soil. But using a soil auger or a sharp shooter spade any one can dig down and measure the distance to dry dirt.

If the soil is moist to a depth of 36 to 48 inches, it is hardly worth while to dig deeper because moisture below that depth will probably not be used to any great degree by the wheat plants.

If there is not enough moisture to justify planting of the wheat crop the soil conservationists recommend that a protective cover of stubble or straw be left on or near the surface of the land until after next winter's low season. All land that is not planted to wheat this winter almost certainly will have sufficient moisture to be planted to sorghum next spring, especially if such moisture conserving practices as terracing and contour tillage are used.

Dr. Cox Says:-

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, in a statement issued in Austin this week urged all local boards of education to pass regulations providing for exclusion from school all children not presenting certificates of vaccination against smallpox and immunization against diphtheria.

School children are exposed to so much infection during the school year that where a definite preventive against a disease is known, parents should be urged to take advantage of this knowledge. Vaccination may save a period of prolonged absence from school, doctors fees, and even life itself. It is foolhardiness not to require that all school children be rendered non-infectious from the communicable diseases, smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid, before they start to school.

this year," Dr. Cox stated.

Because of the fact that authority of school board to pass such regulations has been upheld by the courts, the Texas State Department of Health wishes to recommend that the various local school boards adopt such regulations, taking further into consideration that such action on their part may mean the difference between a successful school year and prolonged illness, failure in class work, or death.

It is desirable that parents take the child to the family physician for a physical examination before school opens. Such examinations are valuable in determining the readiness of the child for learning. A child suffering from defects is carrying an extra load, and when the weight of school problems is added, he may become ill, develop serious bad habits, or respond with character or emotional upsets.

Not Bullet-Proof But Tough Enough
To Resist Shotgun Fire at 15 Yards

TESTS to show the strength of the new laminated high test safety plate glass developed for automobile use are recorded by Prof. Harold E. Edgerton, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, inventor of the ultra-high speed photographic technique that makes possible exposures as short as 1/1,000,000th of a second. (1) Standing but 15 yards away, Dick Shaughnessy, 17-year-old champion skeet shooter, takes aim with a 12 gauge automatic shotgun at a pane of the new laminated high test safety plate glass mounted in the windshield of a Buick Special sedan. His shells are loaded with 14 ounces of No. 6 chilled shot, and contain 3 1/2 drams of smokeless powder, the heaviest duck load obtainable. (2) Triggered by the sound of the shot striking the windshield, Professor Edgerton's stroboscopic light illuminates the scene with a flash lasting 1/1,000,000th of a second and having a peak intensity that would exceed 50,000 one-hundred watt lamps if they could be concentrated in a small area. Note that the camera has caught some of the shot, traveling 100 feet per second faster than the report of the gun, in mid air. (3) Professor Edgerton, standing beside his photographic apparatus, views the result of the test. The shot has cracked the glass, but has failed to penetrate it, despite the concentration of fire and the vicious effect of the wad at short range. (4) Shaughnessy and Professor Edgerton examine the pane after its removal from the windshield. Though cracked on both sides, it still clings to the newly developed polyvinyl acetate resin, the "meat" of the laminated glass "sandwich". Safety plate glass of this type is now used in all General Motors cars, Fisher Body officials announced recently, at the same time cautioning against confusing the new product with bullet-proof glass despite the high impact-resisting qualities shown by these tests.

Cotton Classing Of Loan Cotton To Be Uniform

All cotton used as security for government loans in 1940 will be classed by official boards of cotton examiners of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Used for the first time in 1939, this system of classing cotton will avoid any inequities among producers whose loan cotton formerly was graded by warehousemen and individual licensed classers, and only slightly more time will be required for approval of the loans. Donald L. Cothran, state AAA committee man from Paris, points out.

The class placed on cotton by a board will be final, thus avoiding for the producer any expense or inconvenience for reclassing and for making deficiency payments for overclassing. In addition, the cost will be only 15 cents per bale as compared with the usual charge of 25 cents per bale under other procedures.

"The uniform and reliable classing by the boards will give the producer information of value in negotiating with buyers for the eventual sale of his equity or his cotton the state committee man said. "The increased value of such classing will more than offset any inconvenience arising from the additional time needed."

On delivery of cotton to the warehouse for the Commodity Credit Corporation loan, samples will be drawn by the warehouseman and shipped to the nearest central classing office. The samples will be classed and each bale listed on a special form signed by the board and returned to the producer. Loan values will be based on the class shown on this form. The agricultural Marketing Service predicts samples will be classed usually within 36 hours and at the longest 72 hours.

Industrial use of electric power declined 32 per cent, while commercial consumption gained 94 per cent and residential use gained 53 per cent.

Fifty Thousand Years To Grow Grass For Plains

It took fifty thousand years of natural selection to produce the drought-resistant and nutritious perennials—the buffalo grass, grama grasses, big and little bluestems—of the Southern Great Plains.

Where they have been plowed under, man is beginning to realize the gigantic task nature had in growing them.

That, according to R. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension service, will be the theme of the Grassland Conference, scheduled for Amarillo September 5 and 6.

In the scant span of a decade scientists already are showing impatience to produce the specialists said before he left here to attend the meeting of technicians and ranchmen.

In its native state, buffalo produces both male and female species, only female plants bear seed, and these will grow only when pollinated by a male plant. Scientists have already produced plants of a bisexual nature. Much progress has been made toward producing buffalo with upright seed stems—which will aid greatly in harvesting of seed.

Obtaining seed, however, is only one phase of the revegetation problem. Getting the grass started and keeping it protected while it gets the start are also problems.

KIDNEY STAGNATION IS WORSE THAN CONSTIPATION!

Because We Treat Constipation at
The Onset, While We Neglect
Our Kidneys Indefinitely

No other organ in your body is of more importance than your kidneys. For in your kidneys there are nine million tubes which must work day and night to filter the fluids and keep the system free from wastes, acids, poisons which, if permitted to remain, may cause serious kidney and bladder troubles.

It is no wonder then that Nature often calls for help to clean out the kidneys. So if you are troubled with Getting-Ups-Nights, Leg Pains, Backache, Nervous Headache, Dizziness or Loss of Energy, due to functional kidney disorders, try KIDANS, the famous kidney remedy, which aids Nature to flush out the kidneys, to filter all wastes, to prevent kidney stagnation.

KIDANS is Safe and Reliable. Thousands report entire satisfaction. Taken according to directions, KIDANS will give you rapid results. Try KIDANS. Buy it at your local drug store. If not satisfied, return unopened box and GET YOUR MONEY BACK.

If your local druggist cannot supply you, send 1.00 to The Kidans Company, Atlanta, Georgia, for two full-size boxes on a money-back guarantee! 27 124

State University Faculty Totals Five Hundred And Eighty-Four For This Term

With the creation of 23 new teaching posts at the University of Texas, the school's faculty strength will be expanded to 584 professors, instructors and tutors, this fall, Leo Haynes, secretary to the Board of Regents, has announced.

Six of the new positions are in the major brackets; two professorships in law, a professorship and an associate professorship in music, a professorship in education, and one in classical language.

All of these posts have not yet been filled, but 68 new appointments have been approved by the University's Board of Regents, most of them to fill vacancies caused by resignations.

C. T. McCormick, former dean of the University of North Carolina Law School, will head the Texas School of Law. Dr. R. L. Sutherland, former director of the American Youth Commission, Washington, D. C., will become professor of sociology and director of the University's Hogg Foundation, an endowed program for mental health work.

Kenneth C. Davis, former member of the Attorney-General's Committee on Administrative Procedure and Gus M. Hodges, Dallas attorney, become professors of law. Archie Jones and Bernard Fitzgerald both of the University of Idaho become professor and assistant professors of music; George I. Sanchez, formerly of the University of New Mexico, will be professor in educational psychology; and J. P. Montesinos, Paris, France, professor of romance languages.

July Shipments Of Cattle Are Off

Movement of livestock from Texas ranches to Fort Worth stockyards and to other state from July dropped 20.5 per cent from July, 1939. U. of T. business statisticians report.

Only 4,632 cars were shipped, consisting of 2,614 cars of cattle, 741 cars of calves, 565 cars of hogs and 712 cars of sheep. Cattle shipments were down 9 per cent, calves 43.8 per cent, hogs 125 per cent and sheep 27.8 per cent.

During the seven-month period from January 1 to August 1, 40,951 carloads of livestock were shipped, 16.8 per cent less than during the corresponding period last year. University Bureau of Business Research figures show.

Cattle movement has dropped 22.4 per cent, calves 12.5 per cent, hogs 10.1 per cent. Sheep shipments alone show a gain—3.1 per cent—over the first seven months of 1939.

Teaching School Undergoes Rapid Change In Texas

The "Three R's" must follow the road to educational progress, too.

Forward steps in classroom instruction, carefully felt out by experiments in 25 Texas schools, are being analyzed for sure footing at the University of Texas before the suggestions are passed on this fall to public school teachers, according to Dr. Hob Gray, director of a three-year experimentation in improved methods of instruction, a project sponsored by Texas Association of School Administrators.

Experimenting teachers over the state last year set up two class groups to test new methods against conventional teaching practices. Use of recordings in English classes, apprenticeship in local stores, use of typewriter in the first grade, visual aids, exclusive use of "pop" tests were tried.

Grammar can be taught more effectively by incidental learning—writing in diaries, letters, poems—than by traditional methods—studying parts of speech, verb construction, if results of one experiment can be used for a guide.

History is more effectively taught by extensive reading—studying a little from a large number of books—than by intensive experimental group.

More Than 1100 Courses Offered In State School

Among the more than 1,100 courses to be offered by the University of Texas this fall are 65 brand new courses, the registrar's office has revealed.

The new offerings will range from television engineering to musical composition, from Greek civilization to Indians of the Plains, from the history of Texas to electro-acoustics.

High Schools Of State Render Many Plays

Young high school actors of Texas last year took a University of Texas playwright to their heart and ranked him their No. 1 favorite.

Figures compiled from Interscholastic League play contests sponsored by the University for Texas high schools showed that in April and May "Sparklin'" by Dr. E. P. Conklin, University drama professor, attracted exactly one more high school cast than did Anton Chekhov's "A Marriage Proposal."

Checkhov's plays have been long-time favorites with high school dramatists, according to F. L. Winship, director of speech activities at the University's extension division. However, Conklin's play sprang to sudden popularity and carried away top honors in the finals of the contest held in Austin this spring.

Young Texans continued to show a booming interest in play production. Winship said. His drama library mailed out 25,533 plays last year as against 17,068 the year preceding. A total of 2,283 additional play titles were added to library shelves, boosting to 17,000 the number of manuscripts available for reading purposes. Cotton Bagging Program Being Pushed In South

The cotton bagging program of the Surplus Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be continued for at least another year. F. E. Lichte, cotton gin specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, has been advised.

The program is designed to encourage use of American grown cotton for cotton wrapping or bagging. A normal crop of cotton in the United States would require the use of about 135,000 bales if all were wrapped in cotton.

A maximum of a million wrappings will be used for the current year's crop and the six manufacturers who have received contracts will get payments of 25c per wrapping to offset losses from small volume.

The cotton bagging was first tried in 1938, when less than 17,500 bales were so covered. In 1939, the number of bales of Texas cotton covered with cotton patterns rose to 233,976.

Few Changes In AAA Program For 1941 Noted

Few changes of importance to Texas were made in the 1941 AAA program as approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Such changes as were included were based on the recommendations of the national conference of farmer-committeemen and ranchmen held earlier in the summer.

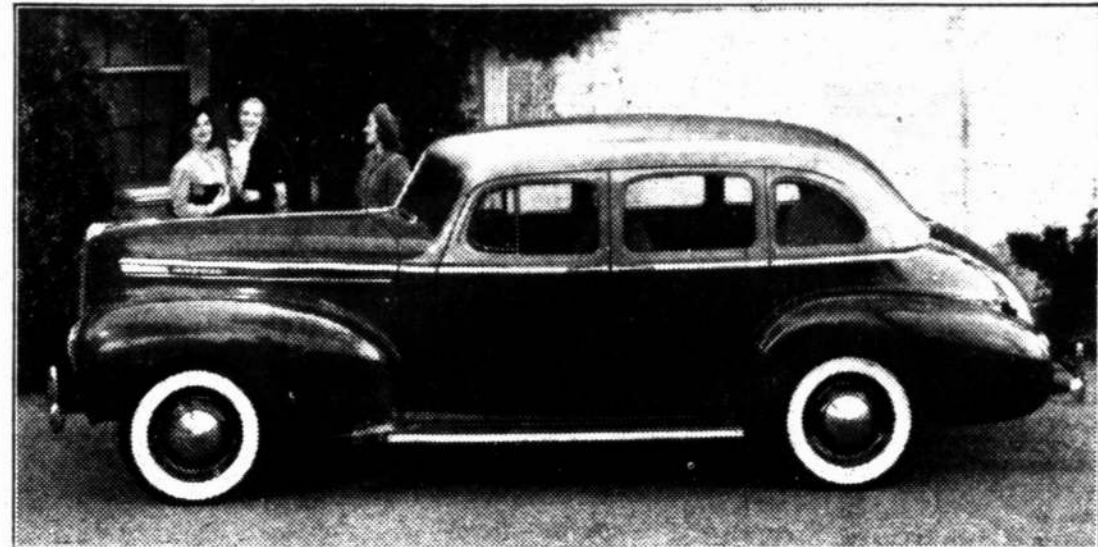

Soil conservation and maintenance of adequate food and fiber supplies continue as the basic principles of the program, George Slaughter, chairman of the Texas state committee, declares, and still more latitude has been granted the county committees for adaptation of the program to fit local needs.

The $20 minimum payment for each farm has been continued, the chairman pointed out, and an additional $15 is available for planting trees. Thus any farm can earn as much as $35 by cooperating with the 1941 program.

In addition on small farms where the maximum payment is not more than $20, any part of the soil-banking allowance may be earned in carrying out locally adapted conservation practices not included in the program where recommended by county committeemen. This provision will be applicable in designated areas only.

Encouraging feed production, the program provides that in areas where feed crops are not generally produced for market, any farmer may grow as much as 30 acres of soil-depleting crops without incurring a deduction for exceeding the county committeemen. This pro-

Thousands Of Mattresses Are Completed For Low Income Families In Texas

As many as 3,823 low income farm and ranch families in extreme West Texas are going to sleep better this winter as a result of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's plan for providing surplus cotton and ticking for mattress making.

Of the 3,823 applications for mattress materials, 3,741 were filed by white families and 83 by negro families, according to reports received today from Ruth Thompson, district agent for the A. and M. College Extension Service, who supervises home demonstration activities in 39 counties in this area known as Extension District 6. Under the program, the Extension Service is charged with training rural leadership for supervision of the community mattress making camps, while the surplus cotton and ticking are provided by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. Community supervisors do not receive pay for their services. Regulations for the program provide also that only farm or ranch families with a gross income of less than $40 in 1939 are eligible to participate in the program, and eligibility is determined by county AAA committees.

There are 61 community centers in the district where mattresses are being made since the program was inaugurated in the district this spring. 74 mattresses have been made and members of 1,327 families have worked in the centers. In the counties where there are no home demonstration agents, agricultural agents are charged with the responsibility for arranging the program's operation, while Miss Thompson directs the actual training of the community chairman in the technique of mattress making.

Reports of numerous evidences of community cooperation and neighborliness resulting from the program have reached Miss Thompson. For example, in Fisher County, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Hamlin of Sylvestre applied for mattress making materials, but when the time came for them to report to their community center for working on the mattress, Mr. Hamlin was employed away from home. Rather than see Mrs. Hamlin penalized for lack of help, a number of her neighbors volunteered their services until the mattress was completed.

Counties in District 6 and county extension agents who are assisting with local administration of the program include Matthe Phenix in Dawson County.

Odessa Meets Lubbock In First Football Game

Odessa High School Bronchos clash with the Lubbock Westerners state football champions, in Odessa on the night of Saturday, Sept. 14. The Bronco-Westerner scrap will be the first showing of the Lubbock boys since their sensational comeback against the Waco Tigers last December to capture the state title in the pigskin sport. The game is to be played Saturday night rather than Friday because of other games scheduled for Friday in the Permian Basin area.

Forty candidates reported Monday morning for the two-day workouts that will be the order until class work starts on Monday the 9th. Coach Joe Coleman faces the job of rebuilding entirely his club with the exception of three lettermen from last year, Billy Hogan, quarter, Jack Coats, center, and Ed Thomas, guard, constitutes the remnants of last year's colorful gridiron.

Meeting the Westerners from Lubbock in the opening game, the Bronchos will face one of the outstanding back in Texas high school football circles of last year, one Lee Jackson. The Odessa boys are green and inexperienced. So much so that they may not know enough to fear the champions of last football season.

The attraction here on the night of September 14th will attract the attention of all football circles in Texas. Requests for tickets ten days in advance of the kickoff exceeds of any previous year says Taylor M. Ruching, high school principal and general manager of the football affairs.

Local Polo Team Loses To Lubbock Riders Sunday

In a game played at Lubbock Sunday afternoon between the Lone Star Polo Team of Lamesa and a Lubbock team, the locals lost 5 to 3.

The Lone Star team is composed of A. C. Woodward, captain, Walter Lawrence and Lee Barron of Lamesa and Bank Stocks of Pecos.

Lawrence and Barron were unable to take part in the first part of the game, due to a blowout on their trailer, which delayed their arrival at the field. It is likely that the game would have been entirely different if the full team could have taken part in the entire game.

Better Diets For Low Income Is Promised Soon

Cooperation of governmental agencies and civic organizations toward strengthening human defenses was pledged by the Texas committee on nutrition in relation to national defense at its first meeting in Dallas last week.

Agencies, institutions, and organizations represented in the 16-member committee are the WPA, NYA, FSA, State Health Department, home economics departments of Texas State College for Women, Texas Technological College, and North Texas State Teachers College; the home economics department and the extension division of the University of Texas; State Department of Child Welfare; vocational homemaking department of the State Department of Education, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, Texas Home Demonstration Association, Texas Dietetics Association and the Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service of A. and M. College.

The committee will give special consideration toward aiding low-income groups in Texas to obtain better diets through wider distribution and use of surplus foods, increased farm home food production, operation of community gardens and canning centers, school lunch programs, and mass education in nutrition and food preparation.

Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. and M. College recently appointed the committee upon the request of Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The committee chairman, Mildred Horton, vice director and state home demonstration agent of the Extension Service, has tentatively called the committee's second meeting in Austin on October 5.

Some Foods May Not Be Frozen

Despite the remarkable adaptability of frozen food lockers for preservation of fruits and vegetables, there are five products—whole celery, lettuce, citrus fruits, cucumbers and tomatoes—which are not suited to frozen storage, warns Grace I. Neely, specialist in food preservation for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

However, both citrus and tomato juices may be frozen for storage; so may certain varieties of apricots, berries, figs, nectarines, cherries, corn snap beans, lima beans, peas, squash and greens.

Experiments carried on by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at its Lower Rio Grande Valley station reveal there are wide differences in the desirability of varieties of fruits and vegetables for freezing preservation. For example, good shipping varieties and other varieties particularly suitable for canning may not prove at all suitable for freezing.

Fruits and vegetables to be frozen should usually be harvested at the stage when they are in the best condition for immediate table use and should be processed immediately, Miss Neely says.
