Pro-Shah Mobs Take Over In Iran

Midland Discovery Completes

Magnolia Petroleum Company has completed its No. 1 Ida Mae Oldham, Northeast Midland County wildcat as a discovery from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian.

This new field opener is 10 miles east of the city of Midland, three miles southeast of Paul (Germania) and two miles northwest of the nearest production in the Germania sector of the Spraberry Trend Area. Nearest Pennsylvanian production is about 23 miles to the southwest in Central-West Midland County in the Parks field.

The wildcat pumped 126 barrels of new oil and 91 barrels of salt water in 24-hours on the completion test. The well showed a gas-oil ratio of 1,752-1, but the gas was not steady and would not flow the well.

Through Perforations

Gravity is 43.6 degrees. The casing pressure during the test was between a maximum of 50 pounds and a minimum of 15 pounds.

The production was through perforations at 10,239-246 feet; 10,258-277 feet; 10,318-323 feet; 10,332-338 feet and 10,390-400 feet. A total of 14,500 gallons of acid had been injected into the pay section.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 38, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey. The well is seven miles southwest of Stanton.

Top of the Strawn is at 10,220 feet. Elevation is 3,694 feet. Total depth is at 10,589 feet. The 7-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

Big Flow Of Oil Developed On DST In NE Lea Project

Heavy flow of oil from the Pennsylvanian has been developed at Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 2 Ward, project in the Bronco (Devonian) field of Northeast Lea County, New Mexico.

Drillstem test was taken in the section from 9,560 to 9,660 feet. Tool was open two and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in nine minutes and oil in 15 minutes. The well flowed 207.84 barrels of oil and 11.32 barrels of basic sediment and water during the last two hours and 15 minutes of the test. The flow was through a five-eighths-inch bottom and one-inch top chokes. Test tool was being pulled.

Gas volume was 1,173,000 cubic feet daily.

Previous DST

Previous drillstem test from 9,385 to 9,550 feet also developed flowing oil. Tool was open five hours and 21 minutes. Gas surfaced in 12 minutes and oil in one hour and 51 minutes. The test flowed 103.94 barrels of oil and 1.86 barrels basic sediment and water in three hours and 30 minutes. Gravity was 41.1 degrees. Operator reversed out the recovery and had 30 feet of heavily oil-cut mud and no water below circulating sub.

There is a dry streak between the two zones which flowed, both are in the Pennsylvanian.

Amerada No. 1 Ward, completed Devonian producer in the field, flowed at the rate of 45 barrels of oil per hour from the Pennsylvanian.

No. 2 Ward is one location northwest of the discovery well of the field which is in Central-West Yoakum County and 1,983 feet from south and 520 feet from east lines of section 11-13s-38e.

New Oil Is Swabbed From Fusselman In SW Midland Tester

Swabbing test on the Fusselman at Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 14 Sanders, Sweetie Peck (Multipay) field outpost in Southwest Midland County, developed 186 barrels of load oil and 122 barrels of new oil in 14 hours.

The production was from perforations in casing opposite the Fusselman at 12,500-550 feet. That set had been acidized with 1,000 gallons of mud acid and 2,000 gallons of regular acid.

After the above test the pay section was re-acidized with 6,000 gallons. Operator was swabbing out load at last report.

Ellenburger Potential

This project already has been completed as a five-eighths mile northeast extender to Ellenburger production. That formation was potential for a daily flow of 1,336 barrels of 53-gravity oil through a 30 64-inch choke and from open hole at 13,151-13,295 feet. Pay was treated with 2,000 gallons of acid.

Gas-oil ratio was 1,015-1 and

Midland Bell Workers Plan Strike Action

More than 200 members of the CIO Communications Workers of America prepared Wednesday to walk off their jobs at 6 a.m. Thursday in a strike destined to restrict communications in Midland and at least 12 other area cities.

The strike, involving 53,000 telephone workers in Texas and five other states, will take 525 Southwestern Bell Telephone Company employes off their jobs in Midland, Odessa, Seminole, McCamey, Kermit, Monahans, Pecos, Fort Stockton, Marfa, Alpine, Sanderson, Crane and Marathon. Pickets will go on duty in these cities immediately after the walkout.

"Unless a union-company agreement is reached, we'll go off the job at 6 a.m. Thursday," Fred Fullerton, president of Midland Local 6127, CWA-CIO, said Wednesday.

"We'll set up pickets near the telephone buildings at 123 South Big Spring Street and 410 West Missouri Street, and at the storeroom on South Fort Worth Street and the construction storeroom.

Seek More Money

"Naturally, we'll call off the walkout if an agreement is reached today or tonight. We'll be notified from Dallas or Fort Worth of any agreement."

The dispute with Bell, Fullerton explained, arose over demands for higher wages, better hospitalization benefits for employes and an improved pension plan.

Talks between Bell and the union have been on since June 3. Union and company officials met with federal conciliators in St. Louis Wednesday in a last-ditch effort to avert the walkout.

In Dallas, T. E. Webb, Texas director of CWA-CIO, struck a happier note by saying, "a compromise is always possible."

Directing picket activities in Midland will be C. G. Milliorn, who will compile picket schedules and han-

Total Korean Battle Casualties For U. S. Estimated At 142,277

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Defense Department Wednesday announced a preliminary battle casualty total of 142,277 Americans killed, wounded and missing for the whole Korean war.

The tentative total was given in what the Pentagon said would be the last regular weekly summary of battle casualties. It showed a net decrease of 17 from last week, reflecting the addition of 19 killed, a decrease of 23 missing and a transfer of 19 wounded to a non-battle classification.

Auditing of casualty figures will continue for months, possibly years, before a final figure can be reached to tell the full story of the cost of the Korean conflict in terms of dead, wounded and missing.

The revision process inevitably will raise the tentative death toll of 25,604, as confirmation is obtained on American deaths in enemy prison camps. The number of missing will decrease gradually as the death toll rises. The missing figure eventually will reach a theoretical zero when, after all the checks and investigations are completed, men remaining on the missing list will be declared dead.

Pete Green Now Deputy Police Chief

The promotion of Lt. Wayland D. (Pete) Green to the post of assistant chief of the Midland Police Department was announced Wednesday by Police Chief Harold Wallace.

The promotion was announced as Wallace prepared to leave on Sunday for Washington, D. C., where he will attend the three-month Police Academy sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

As assistant chief, the 36-year-old Green will direct the activities of the department during Wallace's absence.

A native of Gomez and a graduate of Levelland High School, Green was chief of police at Big Spring from 1947 to 1952, when he resigned to make an unsuccessful campaign for sheriff of Howard County.

He joined the Midland police force last January as a patrolman and was promoted to lieutenant, in charge of one of the patrol divisions, three months later.

The rest of the police department command will remain unchanged, with Capt. Jack Tranum in charge of the uniformed force and Capt. Billy Patterson heading the detective bureau.

Sgt. James Simons will take over the patrol division commanded by Green.

Weary Churchill Returns To Country

LONDON —(AP)— Prime Minister Churchill returned to his country home Wednesday after a visit to London. He looked pale and walked slowly as he left his official residence to take a car for Chartwell, his country estate.

BAPTIST BUILDING COMES DOWN—Workmen watch a corner of the Educational Building of the First Baptist Church tumble to earth in dismantling which started this week. The 12-year-old structure was damaged by fire last April. The First Baptists will have the property cleared by October 1, when Fedway Stores takes over for the erection of a modern department store.

September Crude Allowable Slashed

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Railroad Commission ordered Wednesday a 119,691 barrel cut in the Texas crude oil daily allowable flow for September. It set permissive production at 3,005,443 barrels per day.

The big slash, first since April, was set after a state-wide proration hearing. Commission Chairman Ernest Thompson called attention to what he termed excessive stocks of crude, gasoline and heating oil.

The curtailment will result from a two-day reduction in the number of state-wide producing days.

19 Days State-Wide

There will be 19 days of state-wide flow.

The big East Texas field will have a slight increase in average daily production by remaining on 18 days in the 30-day month of September.

Industry witnesses split almost evenly on whether they wanted one or two days less production.

Favoring 20 days state-wide flow, which would have been one day less than for August, were Sinclair, Texaco, Sun and Shell.

Magnolia, Gulf, Humble and Phillips recommended 19.

Thompson reviewed testimony from heads of the major companies last Spring on what they considered a desirable level for national stocks of crude. Their estimates had ranged from 255 to 274 million barrels, with an average from 265 to 270.

National stocks now stand at 279 million barrels, Thompson commented. He said gasoline stocks are at 143 million barrels, 21 million higher than the industry considers desirable at the end of the touring season.

"Heating oil is in great supply," said Thompson. "There is no shortage of crude, gasoline, or heating oils. In fact, we're up to our necks in these products."

Spraberry On 11 Days

The commission ordered continuation of the Spraberry Trend on 11 days until there is a verified showing that facilities are available to handle the extra casinghead gas that would result from increased oil production.

C. H. Perry of Texas Gas Products Company and Harry McClintock of the Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant reported wells being connected to their plants as rapidly as possible to eliminate flaring of gas in the Spraberry.

Perry said his company would be able to handle the gas resulting from 13 days of oil production in September. Thompson said the allowable would have to be based on field-wide ability to take care of the gas produced.

The Pantex Field will remain on 16 producing days, Pickton on nine.

The next hearing will be held here September 18.

Demolition Brings New Church Era

Demolition of the Educational Building of the First Baptist Church, now underway at North Main between Illinois and Ohio Streets, symbolizes a new era for the church which is carrying out a $1,250,000 building program in northwest Midland.

It also marks one of the last steps in the contract between the First Baptist Church and Fedway Stores, which will take over possession of the property October 1 to erect a modern department store.

The fire-damaged Educational Building, the parsonage and some old barracks remain on the downtown property. But church officials assure clearance by the October 1 deadline.

Fedway purchased the church property 18 months ago for $350,000. The contract permitted the church to remove the buildings. The first building to go was the large church. It was sold to Hank Avery, Midland architect, and torn down last October and November.

Parsonage Moved

H. L. Crawford, Midland contractor, bought the shell-like Educational Building. The two-story parsonage, its backyard fence and trees were sold to E. D. Fitzgerald, a retired Midland fireman, for $3,000. He expected to have the residence off the church lot Wednesday afternoon. The house is being moved intact to 2700 Delano Street.

Church authorities said Wednesday that no agreement has been reached on the settlement of fire insurance claim on the 12-year-old Educational Building. Fire loss was estimated by church officials at $150,000.

Sealed bids were being accepted by the church on remaining barracks.

The new church is under construction at Louisiana and Garfield Streets with educational units scheduled for completion this Fall.

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

WASHINGTON—(AP)—U. S. Embassy reports to the State Department late Wednesday said Royalist elements in Tehran were driving through the streets with headlights ablaze in celebration of a victory over Premier Mossadegh of Iran.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—CIO leaders bitterly attacked the Eisenhower Administration and the Republican-controlled Congress Wednesday as the organization's Political Action Committee began a campaign to elect a pro-labor House and Senate in 1954.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Negotiators for both sides reported "definite progress" Wednesday afternoon in efforts to avert a six-state strike by 53,000 CIO employes of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company scheduled to begin Thursday.

Radio Reports Aged Premier Sent Fleeing

LONDON —(AP)— The Tehran radio declared that Royaltist wrested control of the Iranian government from Premier Mohammed Mossadegh Wednesday, sent him into flight, and summoned the shah to return to his throne at once.

A proclamation was read repeatedly over the radio proclaiming Maj. Gen. Fazollah Zahedi the new premier and promising Iranians new social reform.

Cable reports were shut off, or badly delayed. There was no immediate confirmation of the dramatic radio report, which said Mossadegh's foreign minister, Hossein Fatemi, had been "torn to pieces," presumably by a mob.

The latest cable from Donald Schwind, The Associated Press correspondent in Tehran, was filed at 4:10 a.m. Texas time while the radio broadcast was at 6:28 a.m. Schwind's message said a Royalist uprising in the army and police had flared and that there were pitched battles in the center of the city.

"The first determined efforts of police and troops loyal to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi to capture central police headquarters was beaten off by a hail of shots," the dispatch said. "Hundreds of shots were fired over the heads of demonstrating mobs in Sepah Square.

"Pro-shah mobs burned at least eight buildings in the center of the city before the demonstrations crystallized into armed attacks by loyalist police and troops on key positions, such as the foreign ministry."

Iran's handsome Ruler, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, 33, fled the country with his beautiful queen, Soraya, Sunday when Mossadegh's forces crushed an attempt to oust the old premier and install the shah's choice, a pro-Western general, Fazollah Zahedi. The shah and queen reached Rome Tuesday.

The report from Tehran Wednesday said Zahedi had been installed as the premier.

Shah Urged To Return

Hawk-nosed, weepy old Mossadegh rode to power in April, 1951, on his powerful Nationalist demands for government seizure of the vast 30-million-ton-a-year oil industry from the British, who had controlled the country's life blood half a century. His refusal to compromise in his program nationalizing the $1,500,000,000 Anglo-Iranian Oil Company shut off the flow of oil to the West and caused a bitter break in diplomatic relations between Iran and Britain.

The man who read the invitation to the shah over the Tehran Radio said:

"At this time the people have been able to capture the capital. We are eagerly waiting for your return."

10-Inch Rain Puts Bronte Under Water

By The Associated Press

Downpours flooded the Bronte area in Coke County north of San Angelo and Cleburne, southeast of Fort Worth, Wednesday.

Eight to 10 inches of rain fell in Coke County. About 100 homes and numerous stores in Bronte were flooded by six to 14 inches of water.

The fire department helped residents from their homes in low parts of Cleburne after a 4.25-inch morning downpour sent water into their homes. A flash flood sent McAnear Creek out of its banks for the first time in a decade. It is on the western edge of Cleburne.

Water was car headlight deep at the highway intersection in Bronte, a city of 1,000. Minor flood damage was reported.

Rains were general throughout the San Angelo area—"the nearest thing to a drouth breaker in three or four years," the Standard Times said. The rains fell overnight and Wednesday morning.

San Angelo had amounts varying from .80 to 1.5 inches.

North in West Texas, lightning set fire to Eastland's main water pumps and put them out of commission. Reserve pumps maintained pressure. Eastland had an overnight fall of 1.75 inches.

Fort Worth, Palacios, Abilene, Austin, Denton, College Station, Mineral Wells and Del Rio also reported rain Wednesday, the Weather Bureau said. Light to heavy rains pelted virtually every section of Texas Tuesday.

The heaviest rains Tuesday were reported in North Texas and the Trinity River watershed. Garland reported 1.22 inch, Roanoke 1.0, Grand Prairie 1.0, Valley View 2.06, Pilot Point .90, Denton 1.0, Decatur 1.31. A crop duster pilot told the Weather Bureau rains in the Ennis area, 34 miles south of Dallas, ranged from four to five inches.

LONDON—(AP)— Don Schwind, Associated Press correspondent in Iran, said Wednesday night in a broadcast over the Tehran radio that forces loyal to the shah had overthrown Premier Mohammed Mossadegh "in nine hours of bloody street fighting."

Possible Showers Forecast In Midland

Possible light showers were in prospect for the Midland vicinity Wednesday afternoon, according to the weather forecasters.

Planning Group Proposes Baseball Park Worth $80,000 By Next Playing Season

A proposal for the construction of a new, modern baseball park for the City of Midland, to be completed by the Spring of 1954 at an estimated cost of $80,000, will be presented formally Thursday afternoon to the City Council.

The council will meet at 3 p.m. in the County Courtroom on the second floor of the Midland County Courthouse.

The proposal was contained in a recommendation, unanimously adopted earlier this week by the City Planning Commission, and handed Wednesday to City Manager W. H. Oswalt.

The commission urged that action be taken immediately on the proposal so that, if approved, sodding and planting can be undertaken by next month.

The recommendation of the commission was adopted after a study was launched on August 3, following the passage of a resolution describing the present stadium at Pagoda Park as "not only badly deteriorated in condition but also obsolete in every respect," and "a discredit to the citizens and the City of Midland."

The proposal, adopted Monday night at a meeting of the commission, urged two possible sites:

One—On a tract of city-owned land situationed along the north side of the paved road leading to Midland Airpark and lying immediately adjacent to Airpark.

Two—On T. S. Hogan Park, formerly known as the Wadley tract, provided direct access by paved road is made available.

The commission indicated a preference for the latter site.

The suggested plans call for 2,500 grandstand seats, 1,000 box seats and 500 bleacher seats—a total of 4,000 seats.

"The general design of the stadium," said the commission's recommendation, "should be of steel framing (either pipe or structural form) and wood seating and covering, with concrete footings, walkways, ramps and other access areas.

"It should include an adjoining or built-in box office, a small clubhouse with dormitory space and conveniences, dressing rooms and showers for players of both teams, team dugouts, water connections, and necessary concessions stands and public sanitation facilities."

All-weather parking facilities should provide for 1,500 automobiles, said the recommendations.

The commission suggested that the park could be financed from "available" funds in the city's general fund, to be repaid from the proceeds of the proposed sale of Pagoda Park.

The resolutions calling for the recommendation was presented to the commission by George Hellis. Other members voting in favor of it were Otto Deats, W. D. Henderson, J. R. Jones, F. H. McGuigan, H. E. Meadows, Ralph Troseth and Chairman R. M. Jones.

Western World Has Vital Stake In Iran Revolution

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON—(AP)— The State Department kept close watch on turbulent Iran Wednesday, keenly aware that great issues are at stake in the struggle between Premier Mossadegh and Royalist supporters.

Tehran radio broadcasts said followers of the shah had taken over the government and that Mossadegh had been replaced by Gen. Fazollah Zahedi.

It was known previously the situation in Tehran was far from calm, that mobs were roaming the streets and that a state of high excitement existed.

Authorities here were surprised by the Tehran broadcast. Since Royalists failed to seize the government from Mossadegh four days ago when the shah fled, it had been assumed their ability to act effectively probably was crippled for the time.

Ambassador Loy Henderson saw Mossadegh Tuesday and gained the impression Mossadegh was firmly in the saddle despite the great ferment among the people.

If the United States, Britain and other Western countries had a choice they undoubtedly would prefer to see the shah's people rather than Mossadegh in power. Officially their attitude so far has been one of hands-off neutrality.

Officials here and in London have felt for a long time that Mossadegh, an ailing old man and extreme Nationalist, was impossible to do business with in a rational manner.

Several attempts to settle Iran's basic economic and political problem, its paralyzing dispute with Britain over oil nationalization two years, have failed in negotiations with Mossadegh. Failures sometimes came at the last moment after it had appeared the premier had agreed substantially to all important points.

Mossadegh has also shown an alarming tendency to give rein to Iran's Tudeh (Communist) Party when it suited his own immediate political purpose.

It is the Communist threat to Iran with its rich oil resources and its strategic position between the key countries of India and Turkey which is the principal source of worry here. There has been apprehension for many months that some time Mossadegh might overplay his hand with the Reds, the country would go Communist and the Kremlin would have made another conquest extending its power into a highly important area.

Red domination of Iran would stretch the Iron Curtain from the Arctic to the Arabian Sea, cutting the world in half.

There has been no such fear with respect to the Royalists.

SHAH READY TO FLY HOME

ROME —(AP)— The shah of Iran said Wednesday he would return to his country immediately if reports of the overthrow of the Mossadegh government prove true.

The shah, 33, was eating in his hotel dining room when Tehran radio reports were brought to him. He jumped up excitedly, lit a cigarette nervously, and said:

"Please let us know more. I want confirmation. I want to fly back immediately."

Watch Child For Overweight If There's Diabetes In Family

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A question received from Mrs. Q raises a rather complicated question concerning diabetes. She writes: "I have been told that if a parent has diabetes the child or children would have diabetes also, especially if one of the parents has to receive insulin. My husband was taking insulin when we married and still is. Now we have a son two years old who seems perfectly normal. Will he have diabetes, too? Is it an inherited disease or can it be obtained only through one's diet?"

In reply to this question, it is generally considered that diabetes is an inherited disease, a family history of diabetes can be obtained in about one-quarter of all those who are known to have it.

However, the way in which diabetes is inherited probably means that on the average only about one child in four would have diabetes if one parent has the disease and the other is not carrying any tendency in that direction. If both parents have diabetes, one might expect all the children to have it also, though this is not always borne out by experience.

The question of taking insulin probably does not enter in, and quite likely there is no more chance of a child becoming diabetic if the parent is taking insulin or if he is not. Mrs. Q's son should be examined from time to time, but it will do no good to worry about his chances of developing the disease.

There are other things besides heredity which enter into the development of diabetes. Most important from the practical standpoint is that overweight greatly increases the chances of developing diabetes.

Another factor which has to do with the development of diabetes is so-called "nervestrain." The frequency of the disease is highest among persons who are under tension in their work, but perhaps this factor in the development of diabetes is overshadowed by the fact that most such people tend to overweight and come from sedentary walks of life.

Certainly, a child who has family connections and diabetes should be watched particularly carefully, and great care should be used to avoid putting on fat. Otherwise, there are probably no active steps which need to be taken.

Crooner Haymes, Wife Near Accord On Divorce Terms

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Attorneys representing crooner Dick Haymes and his estranged wife, Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes, have reached an agreement on alimony, but she has refused to divorce him in any state except California.

S. S. Hahn, Mrs. Haymes' lawyer, said he would not accede to Haymes' request that she obtain a quick divorce in Alabama or Nevada because California does not recognize the validity of such divorces.

Hahn said Mrs. Haymes had been offered a substantial cash settlement and a life income. The lawyer said the question of filing the suit in California had been referred to Bartley Crum, New York attorney for Rita Hayworth. Haymes and Miss Hayworth reportedly plan to marry as soon as the divorce is granted.

Administration Sets Multiple Resources Development Plans

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Eisenhower Administration said Tuesday its policy is to develop the nation's natural resources through cooperation of the states and local communities, private citizens and the federal government all working together.

The policy, laid down by Undersecretary of the Interior Ralph Tudor, was described as one which will not be a "monopoly by any one of these parties."

The job to be done is so tremendous that it will require the very active efforts of all of the parties if the nation is to be kept abreast of its needs," Tudor said.

From Denver where he is vacationing, President Eisenhower said about the same thing in different words.

Mrs. Esperanza Wayne had testified during a two-day trial that she was unable to meet her household expenses from the $1,100 monthly Wayne is paying her.

Summer Mummers Funds Help Community Theater

Proceeds from productions of the Summer Mummers, now in their fifth season, are used for the benefit of the Midland Community Theater.

The Mummers made about $7,500 in their first four seasons, and hope to bring the total to $10,000 by the end of August.

Among the items purchased for the Community Theater from these proceeds have been a new curtain and lighting equipment. A donation was made to help purchase a lot on Missouri Street, where the new Community Theater will be built, and the rest of the proceeds were added to the building fund.

A new scene shop has been contructed at the Missouri Street site, and Art Cole, director and technical advisor for the Community Theater, has been supervising construction of permanent sets for the Summer productions.

Since the new shop has been completed, officials explained, sets can be built and painted and stored so that they are available whenever needed.

The Summer Mummers will present "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," an American melodrama at 8:20 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the American Legion Hall. The box office is located at Albert S. Kelley, Inc., 113 North Colorado Street.

Parties Honor Miss Glass

A kitchen shower and a backyard party continued the series of prenuptial events honoring JoAnne Glass, bride-elect of Bill Davenport.

The shower was held Saturday in the home of JoAnn Montgomery, 1904 West Ohio Street, with Dorothy Wolfe as co-hostess.

Miss Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Glass, 1202 West Ohio Street, and Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Davenport, of Crystal City, will be married August 23 in the First Presbyterian Church.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue asters and yellow daisies. Approximately 30 guests called.

• • •

Mrs. Duke Jimerson was hostess at a backyard party Wednesday honoring Miss Glass.

Carolyn Glass, sister of the honoree, assisted the hostess in serving the refreshments.

Decorations carried out the bride-elect's chosen colors of yellow and blue. Centering the refreshment table was a big straw hat filled with yellow and blue pom pom mums.

The honoree wore a corsage of blue and yellow carnations.

Timbuktu was taken over by the French in 1893.

Since the arrival of the baby sitter on the American scene, a lot of couples think they have a ready-made excuse for being late to a party or leaving it early if things grow dull. Don't overwork "the baby sitter was late" and "we hate to break up the party but we promised the baby sitter we would be home early" in the belief that you've found the perfect alibi.

Blaming the baby sitter has been used so often it has become a gag.

Scissors Might Be Answer

Most Americans must greet with mixed feelings the report from Paris that women's skirts will be shorter in the new fashions.

Americans never have taken too kindly to a policy of concealment, whether in government affairs or matters more mundane. Our men like to insist that our women are the most beautiful and shapely in the world. But they've been handicapped lately in proving their case, since the long-skirt vogue has made it hard for them to offer, er, supporting evidence.

And, after all, if the American woman really does have such a dazzling figure, what sense does it make to hide its trimmest proportions behind a lot of expensive cloth? You don't shroud a statue in a gunnysack.

• • •

Well, that's one side. But there's another. A man has to think what this thing will do to his wife's wardrobe closet. If this Paris edict sticks, it will at one stroke outdate about 85 per cent of the stuff she's got hanging there.

It'll be a little like the case of the fellow marching up to the construction boss as he gazes out over a huge dam project, three-fourths built, and hollering: "You'll have to stop, Jim. The whole darned thing has been declared unconstitutional."

Why should some high and mighty chap in Paris be permitted to empty your wife's closet at a whim? You can look in there and count 20 dresses, but you know what she'll say: "I haven't a thing . . ."

• • •

Surely there ought to be some way of reconciling a man's love of feminine charm with sound household budgeting practice. But just offhand we can think of only one sensible compromise: a scissors.

And the same implement might be used to scalp the French designer who has the nerve five years hence to decree that skirts should be long again.

Fall Ahead For Indo-China

In a way it is fortunate that good fighting weather returns to wet-and-dry Indo-China in September. For we will get a chance to see just how much help the Red Chinese intend to extend the rebel Communist Viet Minh forces.

President Eisenhower has put the Chinese on notice that their professions of peace will be judged as much by what they do in Indo-China as by the truce they have negotiated in Korea.

Should Mao Tse-tung proceed to throw heavy support to the Viet Minh, we may fairly conclude he is simply exchanging one war for another and is in no real sense interested in ending unrest in turbulent Asia.

Military authorities recognize the coming test as critical for these and other reasons. The Viet Minh are stronger and better trained than ever, while the French are fagged after seven years' fighting and are not getting a really big boost from native Viet Namese troops.

In Indo-China, vital key to Southeast Asia, this Fall could be the decisive season.

It's The Recuperating That Takes Time

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc).

Drew Pearson says: Doctors warn poisonous fruit sprays menace public Health; Beg Congress for stricter control of insecticides; Census head objects to Congressional economy.

WASHINGTON—One of the many things vitally affecting the public which didn't leak out during the late lamented Congress, was a hassle over fruit sprays, which one prominent doctor warned may be slowly poisoning the American people. These poisons, inhaled while spraying or eaten as residue on fruits and vegetables, accumulate in the system and may take as much as ten years off a person's life, it was testified.

The warning was given by Dr. Robert Mobbs of Aberdeen, N. C., who told how he had spent five years intensely studying the problem after a child in his home town had died of what he was convinced was pesticide poisoning. He cited one chemical spray, benzene hexachloride, which was found in tests to produce abnormal, cancerlike cell growth. Yet it is used to spray on crops, to dust troops in Korea, and in vaporizing devices, to air out homes and restaurants.

He declared that doctors and chemists have prepared reports on 'insecticide toxicity," but added ominously: "I think that these reports have been largely ignored, minimized, and suppressed."

Testifying before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, Dr. Mobbs appealed to the congressmen to put teeth in the laws regulating pesticides and insecticides.

Instead of doing so, the committee boosted a bill, introduced by GOP Congressman A. L. Miller of Nebraska and endorsed by the insecticide companies, that would leave it up to the manufacturers to test their own pest killers and submit their findings to the government. Following this, the Food and Drug Administration would be given 60 days to decide, on the basis of the manufacturers' own report, how strong a dose could be sold to the public.

Food And Drug Objection

This bill brought this warning from Food and Drug Commissioner Charles Crawford: "Irresponsible operators might submit the sketchiest and most inadequate toxicological data." Yet the government would be forced to fix the dosage, Crawford said, and issue it "within the rather brief time limit prescribed."

"We believe it essential to public health and highly advantageous to the industry, that tests, deemed adequate by a competent and unbiased scientific body, be required of all new pesticides," the food and drug chief urged.

The real danger, he pointed out, was that "you might find yourself with a meal that contained 20 different poisons, none of which by itself would hurt you, but all of which put together might be getting into the critical zone."

Most startling testimony, however, came from Dr. Mobbs.

Perforated Stomachs

"We now know," he declared, "that many foods are contaminated by these insecticides and that human tissue itself now contains DDT and probably other insecticides and yet no one knows what the ultimate effect will be . . .

"One baby food company has tried to get away from having insecticides in those foods they are preparing for babies," he added, "yet today they are about ready to abandon that search. They just can't find foods in sufficient quantity that do not contain some insecticides, yet they do not know what the result, the ultimate result, will be."

Dr. Mobbs told how he began his investigation five years ago after an insecticide plant in his community started mixing a dust for boll weevil spraying.

"The air was constantly permeated with insecticides. Many people became ill, and virus-like illness was rampant throughout the town . . ." he related. "There was a child living in a home adjacent to this insecticide mixing plant, who died suddenly of a virus-like infection, died in convulsions. This substance was released for widespread use where it contaminated the air we had to breathe, and yet it had been untested in that medium.

"I found," he continued, "that if you fed it to an animal, it would kill the animal in convulsions. This child that died had also suffered a perforation of the stomach. Later it was found in experiments that animals suffered perforation of the stomach. So I felt that this child's death was probably due to this chemical."

The Aberdeen, N. C., physician told of another patient who "tried to use himself as a guinea pig to see what the effects of the insecticide would be. He had a coronary heart disease that seemed to be definitely aggravated by exposure to the dust, and on his death, we found DDT in his tissues."

May Produce Cancer

Dr. Mobbs was probably most "shocked," however, by the fact that "the American Cancer Society not too long ago gave a grant to the professor of biochemistry at Columbia, in which he used benzene hexachloride to produce abnormal cell formation or cancer-like changes. Yet at the same time," Dr. Mobbs warned, "we are using benzene hexachloride or lindane in a fashion in which it contaminates crops, gets into the milk supply. It is now used in many restaurants and in home vaporizing devices. It is used to dust troops and prisoners in Korea . . .

"I feel," Dr. Mobbs added, "that attempts have been made to minimize the toxicity of these things."

Note—In fairness to the insecticide manufacturers, it should be pointed out that most of them scrupulously test and label their products to safeguard the public. Without these poisonous sprays, insects and rodents would literally spoil most of the country's food supply. For example, apples alone must be protected from over 200 insects. Yet insects develop an immunity to sprays, and it constantly takes more poison to kill them. Insects which once died at a whiff of DDT now are immune to it.

Census Director Robert W. Burgess is threatening to resign because congressional economyites have stilettoed some of the most vital functions of cenus bureau. . . energetic GOP Congressman Sam McConnel of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, is quietly working on a bill to enlarge job opportunities for the physically handicapped . . . The Justice Department's register of Americans employed by foreign organizations contains some interesting evidence on the "new look" in Washington lobby circles since the GOP changeover. Former Republican Senator James Kem of Missouri gets $5,000 a year from the U. S.-Cuban Sugar Council, twice as much as the same outfit pays former Democratic Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming . . . Bea Kay, Los Angeles publicist and former WAC captain, will be the first woman to make a serious bid for president of a big veterans' group at the Amvets annual convention next year.

There wasn't very much to the play of the hand shown today. South won the opening club trick with his ace and led a trump, losing to East's ace. East took a club trick and then led a second trump to dummy's king.

South couldn't get to his own hand, but it wasn't necessary. He just led out the ace of hearts and gave up a heart trick. West won the second round of hearts and returned the nine of diamonds, but this attempt at deception was wasted. South didn't need the diamond finesse at this stage.

Declarer won the diamond return in dummy with the ace of diamonds and ruffed out the king of hearts.

He could then lead a low trump to dummy's eight, whereupon the rest of dummy's hearts gave him all the discards he needed.

South lost only a spade, a heart, and a club, but he didn't enjoy making ten easy tricks at a contract of only two spades. "Why didn't you raise me to three spades?" he complained to North. "One more push from you, and I'd have gone on to game."

"How much could I push with my hand?" North wanted to know. "I opened the bidding and reopened with a double even though you couldn't bid over two clubs. What else am I supposed to do?"

While this familiar argument rages, perhaps my readers would like to take sides. Was it juts a lucky game, with nobody to blame for missing it? Or was somebody at fault for missing the game? If so, whose fault was it?

The game was only a moderately lucky one to make, and it therefore should have been bid. The only question is: Which player was responsible for missing it?

When North reopened the bidding he showed a strong hand; for with only moderate strength he would let East play the hand at two clubs. Moreover, North who marked with good spades since otherwise North couldn't afford to make a takeout double.

With a short holding in spades but a good hand North would reopen the bidding by rebidding his hearts or by showing a biddable diamond suit.

Hence South knew that his partner had a good hand and a good fit for spades. He could well afford to jump to three spades in response to the takeout double. This wouldn't show a tremendous hand, since South had already passed over two clubs; it would show enough strength to hope for game—and North would safely and promptly raise to four spades.

Study Of Malenkov's Speech Gives Insight Into Soviet

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—When U. S. Ambassador to Russia Charles E. Bohlen was in Washington recently for consultations with the State Department, he gave some sound advice: Stop trying to speculate on Russian motives, intentions, or the meaning of propaganda statements, and stick to demonstrable facts and figures.

In spite of this counsel, on the same day President Eisenhower wrote a letter to German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in which the view was expressed that the Communist empire was bankrupt and would disintegrate.

And Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander of North Atlantic Treaty Forces in Europe, told a congressional committee that, "I do not think war is ever going to come."

Both of these statements may be schrewd opinions and turn out to be right as rain. But Washington experts on Russia have been examining Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov's latest speech to the Russian parliament more in line with the Bohlen advice—to see what facts it contained—without being led astray by political or propaganda intent.

A lot of things can be learned from this speech, just as important as Malenkov's introductory statement that, "the United States has no monopoly in the production of the hydrogen bomb, either."

Didn't Really Claim H-Bomb

Regardless of the rightness or wrongness of that statement, the speech did not come right out and say that Russian scientists had built an H-bomb or had a plane to deliver it in attacks against the United States. The Malenkov speech was as silent in this regard as have been the official statements on this subject by American authorities.

Concealed in the Russian budget paragraphs of the Malenkov speech, however, was an unaccounted 83,000,000,000 rubles for "other" expenditures than Russian defense, the national economy and social and cultural development. This "other" classification covers expenditures for such things as the MVD or secret police, building military reserves and development of atomic weapons.

Last year's allowance for these "other" expenditures was only 43,000,000,000 rubles. This year's 92 per cent increase in this item is considered most significant.

Translating these figures into dollars is difficult because of the fluctuating value of the ruble. If it is taken at the official exchange rate of four rubles to the dollar, it means Russia is spending more than $20,000,000,000 this year on unaccounted-for armaments.

If the free market value of 10 rubbles to the dollar for consumer goods is taken, this expenditure is in the nature of $8,000,000,000. U. S. expenditures for all atomic energy development this year will be only a little more than $4,000,000,000.

The Malenkov budget was tricky in other ways.

An impression was given that the defense budget was being cut from 113,000,000,000 rubles last year to 110,000,000,000 rubles for this year. Actually, the Russians spent 108,000,000,000 rubles last year. So this year's outlay will be 2,000,000,000 rubles, more for 21 per cent of the total $530,000,000,000 ruble budget.

Conceals Military Items

The whole Soviet budget is analyzed as concealing military items. Money for military hospitals is buried in social and cultural services, listed for 130,000,000,000 rubles, about 25 per cent of the total.

Operation of defense plants is included in the 192,000,000,000 rubles for national economy, or 36 per cent of the total. Building of new defense plants is carried in a capital investment account of 106,000,000,000 rubles, not included in the budget.

Adding everything in, American experts on Russia conclude at least half of the Soviet's gross national income of around 750,000,000,000 rubles, is being devoted to military purposes. This compares with about 60 per cent of the Russian income devoted to its World War II effort.

This huge outlay is taken in Washington as a clear indication that all the Soviet promises to raise the standard of living for the Russian people are meaningless.

There was little else in the Malenkov speech to indicate any change whatever in Russian intentions toward the free world. There was no reference to any high level meetings among leaders of the major powers.

Malenkov's statement that, "We firmly maintain . . . there is no disputable or outstanding question which could not be settled by peaceful ways," was hailed in some circles as a friendly gesture.

It is recalled, however, that this has been standard stuff in all Soviet official statements since 1940. Now its Malenkov, instead of Stalin who delivered it.

"NO," Avis repeated. "Giles really wasn't your type. He was so slow."

"He didn't talk much, I remember," said Lilith. "But I liked that trait of his."

"The strong silent type. He could make love. He was the dominant male and I suppose at that period in your life it was heaven to feel crushed and helpless in his arms. I used to be that way, too. But I could never stay romantic or entranced for very long and he thought I didn't appreciate him and—well, you can probably guess."

"But you weren't that way at all." She thought of Peg's telling her how sometimes, even yet, Avis cried for him.

"I didn't want him to see how much it all meant to me. But I did love him in my fashion. I wasn't serious enough for him, I guess, which was odd, for he loved fun himself. He was always at me to 'get out of pinafores and pigtails — remember you're a big girl now—' That's when we used to quarrel and, oh boy, we put on some real knockdown and drag-out hassles. We both rather enjoyed them when it wasn't so hard to make up, but after a while the peace talks ended in a bigger battle than the one we were trying to settle. Ah, those dear dead days! I can still hear the sound of shattering plates and the homely slam of doors—"

She shook her head; her eyes pensive and Lilith thought: why, she really loved it! She really regrets it all and thinks of a good domestic battle as nostalgically as some others would a tete-a-tete in the garden.

"I knew his troubles," pursued Avis. "And I could have held onto him if I'd had sense enough to tell him what it was the first time we got into a brawl. A simple thing too, which he should have doped out for himself—he didn't beat me enough. He didn't beat me at all. That was what I needed."

• • •

THEY found Joe Pascoe, the gardener, grubbing among his flowers, an old bent man with silvery hair and the priest-like face, still apple-ruddy, that old gardeners often have.

"He was gardener here in grandma's day. He's pretty deaf now," said Avis.

The old man showed them his flowers, the new daffodil which Avis had christened "Pascoe's Pride" and which she was doing a painting of.

"Nice to have a flower named after you—or to be named after one. I love flower names in girls—all except Poppy. I always think girls named Poppy should have bulgy eyes. Poppy—hey, wasn't Giles sort of mixed up with a girl named Poppy—what the deuce was it? Some kind friend wrote me about it—"

"Poppy Ewart," said Lilith. "She was pursuing him, I think. I knew her—"

"She was running after Giles and he was running away."

"Not too fast, I fear."

"Then you came along and sort of broke it up."

You might put it that way, thought Lilith. But Poppy had won. Poppy had scored her ugly little triumph and stolen the first fruits of that splendid love. And Poppy had laughed her wild, wanton laughter, flaunting herself in the very face of the girl she hated so much.

"Oh, let's not talk about her."

"Giles and his women." Avis shook her head, marveling. "He was a card, a throwback to the days when knights went jousting and poking each other with lances—all for a rose, a favor from their lady fair. He was a character from 'When Knighthood Was in Flower' living in an age when Knighthood Was in the Discard. Well, let's skip it. Sufficient unto the day—and I think your troubles are over now; with Gavin you'll have a good life, a happy one—and you seem to have it coming to you. I guess we were all pretty harsh on you. Please forgive us, won't you?"

"There's nothing to forgive. Just so you understand things. But don't condemn Giles either."

"I should be the last one on earth to do that." Avis frowned. "At the same time, you'll not mind my saying that if anyone else but you even insinuated that Giles would double-cross a woman, I'd call her a liar."

• • •

ARCHER asked her to go canoeing the first warm day and she consented eagerly and went down to the beach the day following Peg's visit—dejectedly for this was another "last time."

He was sitting on the boulder by the little canoe, puffing on his old pipe, his sweater knotted around his neck, just as she had so often seen him. He had congratulated her briefly over the phone on the success of the play. Now he said, "That was a wonderful show, Lilith. I could imagine myself back in the Empire. If anything, you were better than you used to be in those days. And I was so proud of you. I felt like hanging around the stage door and asking for your autograph. I told everyone who would listen that I'd known you for years, that I'd seen you in the big time—in short, that you and I were buddies."

The water laughed softly against the frail canoe and the evening breeze whispered, with old, lost voices, of other lovers who long ago had gone sailing on and on until they came to the timeless sea.

Later he helped her ashore and, with only a momentary hesitation, took her in his arms and looked down at her, long into her shadowed eyes. "Lilith," he said, "Oh, Lilith." And kissed her deeply there beside the Laughing Water.

And it was goodby.

Daddy Ringtail And Biter Bit

By WESLEY DAVIS

Today's story is about a very little monkey girl who lives in the Great Forest. I won't tell you her name, because her parents might be ashamed of the something she used to do.

She had a very bad habit. She was barely large enough to crawl around in the forest on her hands and knees. But she would crawl up very quietly to where a bigger monkey boy or girl was standing, maybe by a tree. Then she would take a bite of the standing someone's tail, which would be the very first that anyone knew she was anywhere around.

You can guess what happened. The someone with the bitten tail would jump up straight in the air with a loud cry of "Eeeeow!" The bite had hurt, you know. But the little girl who did the biting would laugh and laugh, because she didn't know any better than to think it was funny.

"We want to do something about it," her parents said to Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, "but we don't know what to do."

"We've even thought about biting her when she does it," her father said, "to show her how it hurts to be bitten."

"Oh no," Daddy Ringtail said. "I would never do that, if we can find a something else to do."

Daddy Ringtail thought and thought about it, but before he could think of something to do, a certain something happened. Oh, it was terrible, but still it was funny. You can decide for yourself, whether it was more funny than it was terrible.

Here's what happened: The little girl was crawling around a tree. She looked on the ground in front of her. There was the end of a monkey tail, waiting to be bitten. She couldn't see whose tail it was, because of the tree, but she didn't care, she thought. She snatched at the end of the tail and bit it hard!

"Eeeeow!" cried the little girl, because she had bitten herself, and she jumped in the air just as everyone else had done when the same thing happened to them. Well, this stopped her from biting tails any more, and that is why I call this story "The Biter Bite." It always makes a good story when someone gets caught in his own mischief. Happy day!

AFTER THE RAINS, WHAT?

Booklet Asks Ranchers To Shy From Drouth Aids

After the rains, what?

That's a mighty big question in drouth-stunted West Texas. So big that the Midland Chamber of Commerce tagged it onto their new booklet outlining the role the ranchers of this area can play in whipping the drouth's effects.

Not that the landowners can make it rain, no, but they can shy away from factors that ride hand-in-hand with drouth.

Over-grazing, for instance, can be cut down. Storage of feed can be taken care of with an eye toward the un-rainy day. And a little common sense can be mixed in to make things easier.

The Chamber of Commerce booklet now is available for all at the chamber's offices in Hotel Scharbauer.

It doesn't pretend to be a cure-all for drouth conditions. But it does give some good tips on what has happened and what may happen.

Figures Pointed Out

There was a time before the rains stopped that:

Two per cent of the rangeland in the Midland area was in excellent condition;

Thirty-three per cent was in good condition;

Fifty-three per cent was in fair condition; and

About 12 per cent was in poor condition.

These figures were compiled by the Soil Conservation Service.

But what do they mean?

Well, first of all, that two per cent of excellent land was in top condition, with 75 to 100 per cent desirable grass. The range produced near the maximum forage possible with average rainfall, and needed no special improvement practices.

The "good" 33 per cent held 50 to 75 per cent desirable grasses and produced at least three times as much forage as poor range. Properly stocked, good range, could survive drouth and respond quickly to rainfall. And, with a little boost here and there, it can be improved to excellent rating.

Fair range (53 per cent of the Midland area met this tag) has only 25 to 50 per cent desirable grasses, while brush and inferior plants are invading. It is at least twice as productive as poor range, but less than half as good as excellent. Seasonal deferment, light stocking and good conservation practices will improve it to good and excellent condition.

Inferior Plants Dominate

Finally, the poor range has less than 25 per cent desirable grasses. Brush and inferior plants predominate, and forage is short lived and of low quality and dries up quickly after rains. Productivity is less than a fourth of the potential. Enough desirable plants remain to recover under favorable conditions, but long deferments, restrictive use and maximum conservations measures are needed to improve its condition.

The Chamber of Commerce does not attempt to define the condition of each ranch and farm in this area—though most are at present in terribly poor condition production-wise—but it does give an "out" for the landowner.

Simply contact County Agent Charley Green who'll notify the nearest soil conservation man to go to the various ranches free of charge and study the different conditions.

A range conservationist from the Soil Conservation Service will help ranchers identify the living grasses, locate seed sources and otherwise analyse the condition of rangeland and its possibilities of recovery.

"The only requirement for this service," says the booklet, "is your interest in the future productivity of your range, signified by signing a working agreement with your Soil Conservation District. This agreement authorizes the district to make available to you the services of the technicians and other facilities allocated to it by the Department of Agriculture. It also entitles you to the use of special conservation equipment, such as grass drills, belonging to the district, and any other assistance that may be provided to further sound land use and conservation."

Mesquite Battle Asked

So it all boils down to this. Nobody's going to lead the rancher around to help himself—unless he shows a definite desire for aid. The help is there—but it's on the rancher's back to take advantage of it.

The Chamber of Commerce has included many tips on sorghum planting and storage and the battle against mesquite.

"Any year the grass will grow, grain sorghums will also grow," Chamber experts point out. "So, if you plant a few acres of grain sorghums, store it in a trench silo, and it will stay good for three years, sometimes even longer. Then when you have a year the land needs a rest, you feed the grain sorghums out of the reserve."

The agriculture experts have made a start. Now it's the ranchers' move.

Photographer Reports 3,000 GI's Died In Red PW Camps

Editor's Note—This is the last story by AP photographer Frank Noel on his 33 months as a Communist prisoner in North Korea.

By FRANK NOEL
As Told To Olen Clements

TOKYO —(AP)— After I received my camera in January, 1952, the Chinese let me take pictures in four of the six camps where non-Korean war prisoners were held.

In my wandering around the camps I got a pretty fair idea of how many men were in each and I estimated there were between 4,000 and 5,000 men, mostly Americans, in the hands of the Reds. Another 3,000 died in the camps and are buried in the hills around Pyoktong and Chonchong, where most of the camps were located. That would account for up to 8,000 of the 13,000 non-Korean troops estimated to be missing today.

The Chinese did not mark these camps for aerial identification during the first year of the war. When they did mark them they used Chinese characters that I was told meant "peace" rather than a prisoner camp.

One day about three months ago, I saw three wagon loads of TNT—about 60 boxes of it to the wagon—dug up and taken out of Camp 5 where 1,200 Americans, British, Filipinos, Puerto Ricans, Turks, French and Greek POW's were held. If a bomb had struck that camp accidentally the whole bunch would have been killed.

Reds Try To Cover Up

The Reds tried to cover up the great number of deaths among the POW's—sometimes as many as 48 bodies in one day were seen being moved out of the camp—by trying to force Allied doctors to say the men died of syphilis contracted before they were captured. None of the doctors would go for it and a good many of them did time in the hole as a result.

We were held right near the border of Manchuria and a Chinese leader told me one day if the Allies ever tried to liberate the prisoners the Chinese would take those they wanted to keep across the border into China. Perhaps they have done so now.

When I was captured in November, 1950, along with Marines, Army and British troops at Koto, North Korea, they walked us to Camp 5—about 700 miles over the winding route they made us take. Camp 5 then held officers and enlisted men. That was about April, 1951.

In the Summer they herded about 600 men and officers into a Korean theater and made the rest listen to loudspeakers outside while a high Chinese gave a bitter harangue against the "capitalistic warmongers".

'Indoctrination' Fails

He told the enlisted men they should have turned their guns on their officers, who were "the real warmongers in America." The lecture didn't go over very well with either the enlisted men or officers.

The Communists tried every way in the world to indoctrinate the prisoners. They succeeded in some cases but I would say the percentage was very small.

They used race against race and nationality against nationality in an effort to stir up animosity among the prisoners. On that score I was real proud to note 99 per cent of our men, regardless of race or creed, stood pat. They knew what was going on and didn't buy it.

Later on, the Reds opened up Camp 2 and moved all the officers up there. They insisted that I was a Marine captain and moved me there with the officers despite my protests that I was a civilian war correspondent.

In trying to make me admit I was a Marine captain they made me stand at attention for hours at a time out in the raw cold. Other times they made me stand with my nose pressed against a bright light for hours on end in an effort to break me down or force me to write something favorable to them. I guess that is what is wrong with my eyes now.

Some Letters Forged

Once, while they had me in the hole, they tried to force me to write letters down to my correspondent friends at Panmunjom, Munsan and Seoul telling them they were being misled by the United Nations propaganda. They also asked me to write to the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, Baltimore Sun, Kansas City Star and the Los Angeles Times, and tell them "the people's peace movement" was right and just. I refused. They even forged some of our names to letters and published them. I know of several such cases.

Actually, I've talked with some of the Chinese soldiers from time to time and they have told me that half or more of the so-called volunteers are anti-Communist and were conscripted.

Turks Staunch Allies

One day in early 1951, some of the Turks, who were pretty staunch Allied troops, heard that the New York Herald Tribune's reporter, Maggie Higgins, had been captured. They told me about it. I had known Maggie in Berlin and again in Korea. None of us liked the idea of an American woman being in the hands of the Reds so we got together a few little things we could spare for her and about 80 in American greenbacks and gave it to the Turks to get to her. We knew the Chinese were crazy for greenbacks and figured that small amount of money might help her out.

The Turks took the money and about four months later returned everything to all the donors because they had learned through the grapevine that Miss Higgins had not been captured.

I sure liked those Turks. They were good soldiers and good men. The Chinese never were able to do much with them. The Turks just shrugged their shoulders and pretended they didn't understand.

They even brought in a Turkish-speaking Russian who once had worked in the Russian Embassy at Ankara. He didn't have any luck either and may be in a Russian hole somewhere today for having failed.

Letters Held Up

The Reds told us one day that the United States government was holding up 67,000 letters to POW's. I think it was the other way around.

I know people wrote me and thanked me for making pictures of their prisoner kin. Americans do things like that. I got about 10 such letters in prison camp but I'll bet there were many more.

I had intended to write letters to those 10 or 12 people and thank them but the Communists took those letters away from me when I was freed on August 9. Now I don't have the names or addresses. I was only permitted to write two letters a month while I was in prison and of course they went to my wife.

They took away from me every address I had in writing when I left.

Plainview Phone Call Here Made Without Operator Aid

A Midland woman, Mrs. Dan Rogers, got a phone call Saturday directly from her father, Mayor Homer Looper of Plainview—without a telephone operator having a thing to do with it.

Mayor Looper was making the first long distance call from Plainview using the new key-pulsion dialing system which went into effect there Saturday.

A local operator will handle the calls normally, but there'll be no waiting for an operator at the other end of the line. No waiting, that is, if you have the telephone number.

Mayor Looper simply stepped to the new dial board in the Plainview telephone office and, using the 10 keys on the board, dialed 460 on the intercity toll system, plugged into the Dallas circuit and was then thrown into the Midland exchange. He dialed his daughter's number, 2-3065, without assistance of intervening operators.

The key-pulsion system has 10 keys which are punched, instead of the circulating dial on customers' phones.

ANYTHING TO GET ALONG

ALBUQUERQUE —(AP)— A stubborn clerk late Tuesday turned a would-be holdup man into a cash customer.

Frances Edwards, 22, said an aged man approached her park refreshment stand, displayed a gun and threatened to kill her if she didn't hand over the money in the cash drawer. She refused.

The elderly bandit ran around the stand shouting, "Let me in. Give me the money." Finally, he put up his gun, ordered three bottles of pop, paid for them, hopped in his car and drove off.

New ROK Training Command Perfected

SEOUL —(AP)— A new streamlined training command for the South Korean Army was announced Wednesday by U. S. 8th Army headquarters.

The Army labeled the battle-tested United States 10th Corps as a "group" and gave it the responsibility for training and operational control of all three Republic of Korea army corps.

The new command is under Lt. Gen. Reuben E. Jenkins, commander of the U. S. 9th Corps in Korea for a year.

"Army groups" were organized in last wars to exercise control over various Allied armies but this is the first such "corps group."

Republic of Korea Army headquarters remains unchanged by the new order, but South Korean troops on the line and in training will be under the actual command of Jenkins' 10th Corps.

One-Man Forum

By Abe Weiner

Harold Ratliff, Associated Press sports editor, writes that Dr. Rhea Williams, athletic director of the Interscholastic League, took a slap at college "overemphasis." He quotes Dr. Williams as saying:

"We enforce our rules. It may work a hardship on a boy—we may know that the boy didn't willfully violate a rule and that there are circumstances that penalize him, but we feel that if we allow leniency in any rule it will tear down the whole structure of the league."

Purely hogwash in one respect. Dr. Williams and his cohort, Rodney Kidd, the overall director of the Interscholastic League, do allow leniency. In fact, on one occasion they completely disregarded a league rule and made their own interpretation.

Slap At Colleges Has More Meaning

Dr. Williams' slap at the colleges appears an innocent one, but we're inclined to believe that there is much more beneath the surface. Rhea simply is not a man to waste words when they could get him into trouble. We've known him for years. Have worked for him and with him on occasions, as a matter of fact, and therefore feel certain there's ominous import behind the slam.

Rhea's claim that "we enforce our rules" and that the league does not allow leniency is absurd, and anyone can dig back just two football seasons ago to find a contradiction.

It was in 1952 that Brownsville won the District 8-AAA football championship. The district committee met twice to consider a protest by a district school that the winners had used three ineligible players—ineligible because of age. Without going into the details of the findings, the tall and short of it was that the committee was split on the question. It therefore certified Brownsville as the district winner to the league.

Although Edison of San Antonio, which subsequently played Brownsville in the quarter-finals, did not lodge a protest, Dr. Williams and Mr. Kidd stepped in and ruled that two of the three players were ineligible for further participation in the state playoffs. They did not rule on the third player, but Brownsville Coach Bob Martin sidelined the boy anyway.

Rule Said Nothing About Intent

Now here's the catch: league rules state specifically that a district shall be disqualified for further participation in the state playoffs if the district committee certifies as winner a team which has used ineligible players.

Brownsville used ineligible players, and the district committee certified Brownsville as the district winner, but what did Dr. Williams say?

Rhea's exact words to this writer were "the (district) committee acted in good faith." Therefore, he said, we will not penalize the district—or Brownsville, specifically.

Perhaps this is Dr. Williams' idea of enforcement. It certainly isn't ours.

Dr. Williams, of course, has a thankless task. He's harassed from every nook and corner for some of his decisions, and every so often he becomes the object of a sportswriter's scorn. His main trouble is he's too nice a fellow for the job he holds.

The Interscholastic League has regulated its athletics well for many years, but when it starts screaming about someone else's dirty linen, it ought first to make sure its own is clean.

'Ashers Whip Colts To Gain Full Game

CARLSBAD, N. M. —(AP)— The Carlsbad Potashers, with Hank Williams holding San Angelo at bay all the way, smashed the league leaders, 12-2, Tuesday night.

The Potashers, who moved to within three and a half games of the Colts, hopped on Rookie Russ Agne for all of their runs and hits in six innings.

Williams, meanwhile, was setting the Colts down with six safeties. He struck out seven batters and walked three.

Ike Jackson started the scoring with a solo homer in the second. The Potashers scored another in the same frame on a fielder's choice, a walk and Williams' single.

Bob Hobbs' two-run triple highlighted a four-run fifth and three hits and two San Angelo errors helped Carlsbad to six more markers in the sixth.

Goldy Gholson, who slugged a double and triple, Merv Connors and Jackson led Carlsbad with two hits each.

Drillers Down Oilers, 7 To 1

ARTESIA, N. M.—(AP)—The Artesia Drillers crammed most of their runs into the middle three innings Tuesday night and made off with a 7-1 Longhorn League baseball victory over last place Odessa in the process.

The Drillers never trailed behind Hugh King's nine-hit pitching, although Barney Batson gave them a scare with his leadoff home run in the fourth. Artesia came back with the first of two straight two-run innings however, and were never in trouble after that.

Joe Bauman equalled Batson's home run feat, but the Artesia manager's clout came with a man aboard.

Port Arthur Cuffer Whips Tenth Foe

HOUSTON —(AP)— Paul Jorgenson had an undefeated record as a professional boxer Wednesday after his tenth straight victory Tuesday night over Henry Luera of Houston.

Jorgenson, fighting out of Port Arthur, gained a split decision in the fight with the 127-pound Luera.

The Port Arthur fighter, weighing 131, scored repeatedly with a left jab and had Luera down for an eight-count in the fifth round.

Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion, won his first amateur boxing title in the 140 pound classification.

Sparts Got It Rough-Munn Goes Fishing

By WILL GRIMSLEY

EAST LANSING, MICH.—(AP)—All college football teams should have the problems of Michigan State, the defending national champion.

The Spartans are undecided whether they'll continue to play the platoon system—using crack offensive and defensive units as such—or go in for the shock troop strategy of playing balanced teams.

"We haven't decided yet what we'll do," said line coach Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, formerly of Syracuse.

"We may find it's better to go ahead and use the best possible offensive team and take a chance when we lose the ball and go on defense. Or we may try to pick out our best 11 players who can go both ways and use them and then pick out our second best 11 for relief and so forth.

"Any way you figure it you're going to have to make some sacrifice. If your offensive unit is going good you can figure on controlling the ball. But if you lose it, boom, the ball may be back up in your end of the field before you know it."

Daugherty was acting as Michigan State spokesman in an informal round-the-table discussion at the Spartan fieldhouse. The Michigan State situation is so critical the head coach, Biggie Munn, left town for a week's fishing.

The powerful Spartans will have a squad of 64 men, give and take a little, reporting for Fall rehearsals next month.

They're the pick to repeat as the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll.

But the Spartan staff is dead set against the new restricted substitution rule.

"It's not going to help anybody," said backfield Coach Steve Sebo, a Michigan State grad." They're predicting the new rule will help the little teams. Actually it's going to help the bigger squad, like us.

"And we're going to have to have more players because the two-way requirements are going to be so rigid it'll take more men from which to pick what you need."

Rockets, Ortiz Slap Tribe Around, 6 To 1

ROSWELL, N. M.—Another Ortiz arose to haunt the Midland Indians Tuesday night.

The last time the Tribe was beaten, Wes Ortiz of Odessa turned the trick. That was Sunday. Tuesday, Manager Pat Stasey of Roswell called upon Oliverio Ortiz, and his guess was correct, for Oliverio won his fifth straight decision, 6-1, in the opener of a three-game series.

In an effort to halt the Rockets, who have won six of their last nine starts, the Indians will throw Jack Schaening, who boasts a 7-3 record, or Max Newcom, a 5-5 tosser, at Roswell Wednesday.

Ortiz scattered eight hits over the route, and only one of them hurt him. That was Roger Dalla Betta's leadoff home run in the fifth. Other than that, Ortiz was in complete control and allowed two hits in but one inning—and they didn't produce a score.

Roswell bats boomed for 14 hits against a pair of Midland hurlers. Ralph Atkinson started for the Tribe and was charged with the loss. Romarico Soto relieved the left hander in the fifth and fared better.

The Rockets had little trouble with Atkinson, getting two hits off him in the first inning and another in the second before they bunched four safeties for three runs in the third.

Ricky Gonzales scored the first Roswell tally in that inning on Wayne Crawford's triple, then the Rocket outfielder came home himself on the second three singles by cleanup batter Ossie Alvarez. Buddy Grimes batted in the third run of the inning when his Texas League single back of short scored Alvarez.

Roswell added a single tally in the fourth on a base on balls, Ortiz' single, a sacrifice by Gonzales and Crawford's long fly ball. Then Midland broke into the scoring column in the fifth on Dalla Betta's home run over the left field wall.

The Rockets scored their final two runs in the last half of that same inning on Al Valdes' triple to left center and singles by Osmund Walker and Ortiz.

Southwest Schools Trim Grid Squads For 1953 Season

DALLAS —(AP)— There will be fewer specialists—one play wizards—in Southwest Conference football this season. The conference football roster and record booklet, out Tuesday, shows a five per cent manpower decrease.

Abandonment of the two-platoon system is responsible for the trimming of the squads and means the player who was essentially a specialist is disappearing.

The booklet shows 22 fewer players on the seven squads this year. Only schools with more men are Texas and Arkansas. Texas will have 14 more, Arkansas two more. Biggest drop was at Southern Methodist. The Mustangs are down to 66, a cut of 10 men.

Frank Strafaci Wins Medal, Favorite's Role At Western

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. —(AP)— Frank Strafaci, who only tried to play it safe and wound up as medalist, shared the favorite role Wednesday with Harvie Ward, Jr., as match play began in the Western Amateur Golf Championship.

Using a putter given him by Babe Didrickson Zaharias, Strafaci carded seven birdies and an eagle-three for a six-under-par 66, and a two-round total of 140.

Ward was forced to share the pre-tournament favorite role with Strafaci after he took a three-over-par 75 following an opening 69.

Strafaci said two of his birdie putts dropped into the cup when all he was trying to do was get close.

His margin was one stroke over Dale Morey, 72-69—141, and the opening day leader, Hillman Robbins, Jr., who slipped to 73 after a 68.

Ward, fourth with his 144, outshown his two Walker Cup mates, James Jackson, who carded a 149, and the Texas and New York City crooner, Don Cherry, who was way back with 152.

Strafaci meets Thomas Stephenson of Kansas City in his first round match.

Ward takes on John Morrell of Elgin, Ill.

Midland Four Gains Third In 440-Relay

HOUSTON —(AP)— Eight records were broken Tuesday night as Southwest Houston YMCA won the fourth annual U. S. Junior Olympics track and field championships.

Midland's Jimmy Hicks, Johnny McNeil, Dale Jobe and Jerry Wilton in the 440-yard relay and McNeil in the softball throw finished third against the record performances of other teams and individuals.

Reagan of Houston stepped off a 46.4 seconds quarter-mile relay for a new mark among 14-15-year-olds while R. A. Burt of Lawton, Okla., hurled the softball 255 feet, two inches.

The individual star was Don Maynard, a three-event winner from Colorado City. He won both the hurdle events in the 16-17 class Tuesday night and won the running high jump Monday night.

Maynard ran the 180-yard lows in 20.1 and the 120-yard highs in 15 seconds. His high jump mark Monday night was four feet, 11 inches.

Brazosport was second in team totals with 76 1 2 points, followed by Lawton, Okla., 76; Galena Park, 71, and Woodward, Okla., 44.

Other records:

Charles Williams of Abilene got eight feet in the boys' 10-11 standing broad jump.

Victoria's Walter Hayes tossed the eight-pound shot put 59 feet, 10 inches in the 14-15 division.

Dee Givens, Lawton, Okla., ran the 50-yard low hurdles in 6.4 in the boys' 14-16 bracket.

WHILE WHITE SOX WIN TWO—

Sens' Big Rally Upsets Yanks

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

If winning a game already given up for lost was the spark that ignited the New York Yankees' pennant drive, will losing a game that looked like a sure victory be enough to put out the fire?

It's tough to pick one game as the starting point of a surge toward the flag. But you can make a pretty good case for the Yankees' July 25 encounter in Detroit.

That was the day the Yanks fought back from a 10-1 deficit to win, 15-11, with four runs in the twelfth inning.

They went on to capture 17 of their next 23 games, doubling their first-place margin over Chicago from four and a half to nine lengths.

Then came Tuesday night. The White Sox took a couple of squeakers from the St. Louis Browns, 3-2 and 2-1. The Yankees, using rookie Bill Miller, toyed with Washington and led, 8-1, after six innings.

Clyde Vollmer and Mickey Vernon homered in the eighth and when Ed Fitz Gerald opened the Washington ninth with a single, cagey Casey Stengel figured it was time to bring on Allie Reynolds. Then he settled back to watch the Big Chief polish off the Senators.

Before Case could get back to the top step of the dugout Reynolds had given up four tallies and the tying run was on third base. Stengel frantically waved in Tom Gorman, who gave up a walk and a single to Vollmer that tied the score.

Then Stengel switched to Johnny Sain. Jim Busby greeted him with a triple good for two more runs. Sain eventually retired the side but the damage totaled seven runs. The final score was 10-8 Washington.

It was the biggest ninth inning of the year against the world champions and the first time they've blown a game in which they led by seven runs.

The night's activity brought the White Sox within seven and a half games of the lead. Chicago has 36 games of play, five of them against New York. The Yankees have 37.

It was a night of close games with six of the nine major league contests decided by a single run. In other American League action, Boston defeated Philadelphia, 2-1, and Detroit edged Cleveland, 3-2. In the National, Brooklyn outlasted New York, 4-3, in 13 innings, Philadelphia nipped Pittsburgh, 1-0, St. Louis thumped Chicago, 5-1, and Milwaukee ran up the biggest margin of the evening in whipping Cincinnati, 8-2.

The Dodger triumph extended their winning streak to 11 games, longest of the year in the National League. It featured brilliant relief pitching by both clubs with Jim Hughes and Clem Labine holding the Giants hitless over the last eight innings. Larry Jansen struck out 11 men in eight innings of relief for the Giants. The loser was Jim Hearn, who took over in the twelfth when Jansen developed a blister. A double, a bunt and an intentional walk loaded the bases in the thirteenth. Roy Campanella struck out but Gil Hodges poled a fly ball deep enough into right field to allow the winning run to score after the catch.

Robin Roberts, the majors' only 20-game winner, came on in relief to save Steve Ridzik's shutout over Pittsburgh after Ridzik twisted his ankle in the seventh inning.

Eddie Mathews hit his thirty-eighth home run in Milwaukee's triumph that left the Braves eight and a half games behing the Dodgers.

Gerry Staley gave up a home run to Chicago's Eddie Miksis and five other harmless hits in joining Harvey Haddix as a 15-game winner for the Cardinals.

In the White Sox' first victory over the Browns Virgil Trucks struck out 12 men, high for the season in the American League for a nine-inning game. Bob Boyd hit a two-run homer. Sandy Consuegra and Harry Dorish edged Satch Paige and young Bob Turley in the nightcap.

Steve Gromek, a pitcher Cleveland couldn't use, beat the Indians for Detroit on six hits and he drove in the winning run.

Citizen Makes Sad Mistake

Last Tuesday afternoon, Joe Doakes, wandering north in the 300 block of North Colorado, met a lady, walking south, obviously tired, hot, and disturbed. She wore no shoes and carried her stockings in her hand.

Joe, kindly soul that he is, offered aid and comfort. "Ma'm", says Joe, "I know how it is. I often felt that way after a long, hot struggle to mow my lawn with an old, dull push mower."

"Tell you how I solved my problem," he continues, confidential-like, "One day, mowing away, hot and tired, had my shirt off, had my shoes off, and had my mad on, when, suddenly I remembered a news item in the paper, which told how other people, with troubles like mine and yours, had solved them by getting one of those sleek, easy-starting, quiet-running Jacobsen Power Mowers. I put on my shoes, my shirt, and my composure. Thirty minutes later I was back on my lawn, purring a song of joy. Now, I wear all of my clothes and my shoes when I mow. Try it, ma'm. Saves work, and you'd be a lot purtier in shoes."

"Well, I never—!", says the indignant femme, "now let me tell you something, you, you—!"

Then she smiled and softened, "Thanks for the tip, buddy, I'm going to get a Jacobsen, but the truth is, my shoes hurt my feet while I was in the picture show. Absent-minded that I am, I left without them, now I'm going back to the Yucca.

Nice work, Joe! We delivered her a new Jacobsen on Wednesday, and she had her shoes on.

City Tennis Favorites Advance As Expected

All of the favorites in the City Tennis Tournament advanced as expected Tuesday as action was sparse the first day.

Most of the action was in the junior singles, but the most attractive match for spectators was favorite Chick Harris' easy 6-0, 6-1 conquest of John Runge in the men's singles.

The only other match in that division went to unseeded Lloyd Dunagan over Jesse Armstrong, 6-2, 6-2.

Top-seeded Jimmy Wolfe advanced into the second round of the junior singles by default while John Galle, seeded No. 2, defeated Kenneth Hughes, 6-1, 6-3. There was a surprise for the experts, however, when unseeded but highly regarded Jimmy Garvin bowed to Arthur Coats, 6-2, 6-4.

That was the second best match of the day. The only extra sets battle found Roger Buck, Jr. being ousted after a tough battle by Preston Butcher by identical 7-5, 7-5 scores.

Other victors were Charles Gallitz over Bill Crenshaw, 6-4, 6-0, and Charles Bleiker over Henry Meadows, 6-4, 6-0.

The No. 2 seeded mixed doubles team of Fifi Pryor and Bob Barns whipped into the semi-finals with a 6-1, 6-3 straight sets triumph over Joan Cox and Dick Zerb. The top-seeded twosome of Pat Boles and Bryan Elder drew a first round bye.

In veteran's doubles, Bob Barnes and Bryan Elder drew a bye while Arch McColl and Charles Davis defeated Dr. Roger Buck and Morris Howard. McColl and Davis go into the finals against Barnes and Elder.

Barnes defeated Howard, 6-0, 6-2 in the only veterans singles bout to round out the first day's activity.

The final entry list showed 42 men and boys and nine women.

SEMI-FINALIST IN '52—

Pat Garner After Biggest Title In Women's Amateur

WEST BARRINGTON, R. I. —(NEA)—Midland's Pat Garner, who saw over half a dozen tournament titles slip from her hands this Spring, gets her chance to grab the big one here in the Fifty-third United States Women's Amateur Championship that extends August 24-29.

Miss Garner reached advance rounds in at least five Florida tourments early this year and later at the Texas Women's Open, the Trans-Miss and the Southern before bowing out. She thus will be expected among the late finishers here and—despite one of the Amateur's fanciest fields—she won't be exactly a surprising champion if she leaves the 160-woman field with the big prize. Pat gained the Amateur semi-finals in 1952.

Pat O'Sullivan

Dorothy Kirby

She is, for one thing, a tall Texan standing out in an internationally-flavored program. Some entered are Margaret Smith, 16-year-old Mexican champion of Guadalahara; Marlene Stewart, 19, British winner of Fonthill, Ontario; and Edean Anderson, the Helena, Mont., miss who copped the Canadian title last year.

The U. S. Curtis Cup team bangs away intact—Grace DeMoss, Corvallis, Ore.; Claire Doran, Cleveland; Mae Murray, Rutland, Vt.; Pat O'Sullivan, Orange, Conn.; Polly Riley, Fort Worth; and Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta.

One of the red-hot favorites in the match play competition is Patricia Ann Lesser. The Seattle gal has won more medals than you could shake a stick at. She is the intercollegiate champ, was the leading amateur in the Women's Open, semi-finalist in the Amateur of a year ago.

Fair ones who have won the U. S. Women's Amateur and seek another helping are Grace Lenczyk, Newington, Conn., 1948; Mrs. Mark A. Porter, Manoa, Pa., '49; and Dot Kirby, '51.

Six-time winner Mrs. Edwin H. Vare, Jr., the former Glenna Collett, calls Philadelphia home, but spends her Summers here and entered the shooting for fun and exercise.

Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., consistently one of the South's leading amateurs, is on the tourney list.

There are 18 hole rounds on Monday and Tuesday, two each on Wednesday and Thursday, the semi-final 18 on Friday, the 36-hole final on Saturday.

The gals have come a long way since 1895, when 18 young women in long skirts got the show on the road at Hempstead, N. Y.

O'Neill Sure Of Job In 1954 Despite Phils' Poor Showing

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The mediocre showing of the faltering Philadelphia Phillies this year apparently won't cost Manager Steve O'Neill his job.

President Robert M. Carpenter, Jr., of the National League club indicated Wednesday O'Neill will be offered a new contract within a few days.

While expressing dissatisfaction with the individual efforts of his players, Carpenter said O'Neill "can't be blamed for their showing."

"I haven't had an opportunity to talk with him (O'Neill) but I'm satisfied with his work," Carpenter said.

"O'Neill can't hit for the men and he can't be blamed for their showing because of lack of batting. We will probably settle things in a few days," the National League team owner said, referring to O'Neill's contract.

Steve is finishing his first full season with the Phillies, now in fourth place. He succeeded Eddie Saywer in the middle of the 1952 season, after the 1950 championship team slumped miserably and Saywer was let out as manager and given another job in the Phillies' organization. O'Neill came to Philadelphia from the Boston Red Sox organization.

Carpenter made it clear he was not satisfied with the showing of many of his players.

"Individual records mean nothing if the club does not win," he said.

"Not one of them has shown any improvement. In many instances they have not equaled their showing of a year ago. And it is too late now. The damage has been done, so far as I am concerned.

Tulsa Captures Third In Texas League Chase

By The Associated Press

Tulsa moved into third place in the Texas League Tuesday night, clipping San Antonio, 5-4. Fort Worth, dispossessed, lost at Beaumont, 8-2.

The league-leading Dallas Eagles were rained out at Shreveport. A doubleheader is scheduled for Wednesday night. It is the last appearance for Dallas in Shreveport this season and the second-place Sports, six games back, are desperate. Another rainout would be fatal to their chances.

Oklahoma City whipped Houston, 8-4, and strengthened its fifth-place position over the Buffs. The Indians, striking for higher ground, are two and a half lengths back of fourth place.

Spudders Protect Big State Margin

By The Associated Press

Wichita Falls Tuesday night whipped Austin, 9-6, and picked up three percentage points for their Big State League lead. The Spudders lead second-place Tyler by four points and a half a game.

Tyler was rained out with the third-place Texarkana Bears.

Longview dropped Bryan, 8-4, Temple blanked Paris, 1-0.

Two-Nation Aerial Armada Seeks Texas Oil Man, Party

KETCHIKAN, ALASKA — (AP) — With a cold air trail and thousands of miles to be searched, planes of two nations searched Wednesday for a wealthy family of four and their young passenger who vanished Monday night.

Only negative reports came Tuesday as, one after another, two U. S. Coast Guard planes and three Canadian Air Force bombers, landed at Annette Island.

It was at Annette that Ellis Hall, 54, New Mexico and Abilene, Texas, oil man, his wife and two daughters, and Patrick Hibben, 17, a son of a University of New Mexico professor, last were seen.

They had stopped at Annette to refuel, on a flight from Juneau, 300 miles northwest, to Bellingham, Wash., 700 miles southwest of Annette.

The CAA said the plane was given permission to cross Annette at 11,000 feet. Fishing boats in Dixon Entrance, southwest of Annette, reported seeing the plane flying at about that altitude and heading east on course to Smithers.

It should have reported by radio if it made the crossing. CAA officials said this indicated the plane may not have reached Annette on the swing back east after gaining the necessary altitude. Or, they said, if it did, if was lost in the clouds and not seen by ground personnel.

Search planes checked all land fields in the vicinity Tuesday without developing clues. Commercial planes have been asked to watch for flares.

The country in which the plane vanished is rugged and wooded, with numerous islands in the surrounding waters. A light rain was falling in the region Tuesday but temperatures were mild enough to offer no threat to survival of the occupants if the plane succeeded in landing safely.

An official of one of the oil companies owned by Hall said a reward of $25,000 is offered for information leading to location of the five persons.

John McCormack offered the reward in Albuquerque and said fuel would be provided free to any private plane joining in the search.

Hall is president of Condor Petroleum Company and Roundtop Oil Company of Abilene. He is a director of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

PORTHLEVEN, CORNWALL, ENGLAND—(AP)—Policeman Frank Sandercock, reporting at the station for duty, took off his helmet and out popped a poisonous adder 15 inches long.

The horrified Sandercock said he had a flat tire on his bicycle enroute to work and had laid his helmet at the side of the road while he made repairs.

"Thank goodness I've got a good, thick head of hair," he said.

Bradley Farewell Hits Arms Budget

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley says he is fearful lest this year's slash in the military budget grow into "a habit as tempting as, and more dangerous than, the habit of dollar extravagance."

Bradley, five-star general who stepped out four days ago after two two-year terms as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said of the Eisnehower Administration's decision to cut more than five billion dollars from the Defense Department budget:

"At first glance this looked to me like coasting before you reach the top of the hill. Personally, I would be inclined to keep the pressure on—from a security standpoint—until we reach a higher level of readiness and security."

These statements, in an article written for this week's Saturday Evening Post, were Bradley's first direct criticism of the new defense budget. During hearings while Congress was considering the matter, he limited himself generally to statements that the nation's top military planners saw no lessening of the threat to this country.

Bradly, 60, is going into private industry as board chairman of Bulova Research and Development Laboratories, Inc. His article, entitled "A Soldier's Farewell," was in the main a defense of military planning during the last four years.

He spoek out against Secretary of Defense Wilson's announced plans to narrow the nation's military production base in the interest of economy and efficiency—a program which Pentagon sources say is being put into effect more slowly, and to lesser degree, than had been indicated initially.

Child Psychology Given New Outlook In Humorous Talk

"Child psychology" got a new and humorous twist Wednesday when Manuel Edquist, manager of the West Texas Gas Company in Odessa, told the Midland Lions Club "how t be a good parent in modern society."

"The secret is not how many college degrees a doctor, pastor or child phychologist may have," Edquist quipped, "but how many kids."

Nowadays, he cautioned, too many youth organizations are serving as replacements instead of supplements to family life.

The child, he continued, should have parts in youth groups such as the Boy Scouts and the like, but the parents should take an active part in making homelife enjoyable—sharing their homes with their children.

"The parents," said Edquist, "cannot shift their responsibilities to a youth group."

Four parent obligations, he said, turning to a more serious note, are to interest ourselves and the children in government and its function, teach children the greatest thing is not security, but opportunity, teach them that security is not in material things, but "an abiding faith in God, and finally, "take care to see that our children are grounded in the old-fashioned, homely, but basic precepts of democracy: honesty, integrity, the dignity of labor, fair play and racial and religious tolerance."

The speaker was introduced by Bob Lewis, manager of the West Texas Gas office in Midland.

Phone Strike—

dle other necessary details.

Bell District Manager Bill Yeatts said in Midland Wednesday supervisors would take over the duties in the telephone offices.

"Naturally, service will be restricted," he said, "but we'll do all that's possible to keep things moving at a fairly normal pace.

"We don't know yet how much we'll have to restrict service, but it's doubtful that the dial-called city numbers will be affected. We may have to restrict long distance calls to those absolutely necessary.

'Necessary Repairs'

"As far as repair work goes, we'll try to keep normal repairs in order. But phone changes and new installations will have to wait until this thing is straightened out."

Yeatts declined comment on the strike, but said Bell officials still feel the present contract is in effect.

"At least," he said, "we've received no customary 30-day notice of contract termination."

The six-state strike note was sounded by Frank Lonergan, vice president of the Communications Workers of America, District 6, who said lack of agreement between union and company would open the way for the 6 a.m. walkout.

'Permanent Walkout'

Workers in at least one city jumped the gun as pickets were thrown up around Bell's main office in Kansas City shortly after midnight Wednesday, 30 hours ahead of schedule.

Lonergan said Wednesday the Kansas City pickets indicated a "premature walkout."

In 10 cities of the Beaumont area, some 1,000 Southwestern Bell workers walked out last Friday.

The strike started in Port Arthur and spread quickly to Beaumont, Orange, Liberty, Silsbee, Jasper, Woodville, Sour Lake, Port Neches and Nederland.

Service has been maintained by 130 supervisory workers from Houston and Dallas.

EXPANSION PLANS TOLD

AMARILLO — (AP) — The Texas Company said Tuesday construction will start at once on the 20 million dollar expansion program at its Amarillo refinery.

Toastmaster Meeting Turns Into Slam-Bang Jamboree

What was to have been a "typical" Toastmasters' meeting Tuesday night turned into a slam-bang circus of fireworks, speeches and audience interruptions, as the Midland Toastmasters Club held its Ladies Night party in the home of Jerry and Nora Harris, 1703 Princeton Street.

Amid the boos, hisses and applause of a frolicking audience, the Toastmasters launched into a vigorous discussion of "whether the male species is superior to the female."

The decision was obvious (in light of the wives present): the female species is overwhelmingly superior to the lowly male—in every respect.

Such interruptions and "olio" acts as these kept seriousness out of the discussions:

Rep. Hulon Brown, for example, spent quite a few words discussing "life and death," only to be whisked away in a Midland police patrol car—together with Mrs. Nora Harris, Nibs Walker, club president, and Bruce Shade. The car "conveniently" began a patrol of the alley during Brown's speech.

Presiding at the meeting was Nibs Walker, while Harris served as topic master.

Members of the entertainment committee were Bob Pine, Ronald James, Tim Dunn, Tom King and Laney McMath.

Shade, who will leave soon for San Antonio where he'll be associated with Sohio Oil Company, was presented a membership plaque from the Midland Toastmasters Club.

Police Fear Lives Of Deranged Man's Family In Danger

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— Police here feared for the lives Wednesday of a woman and her two small children, believed enroute to California with her deranged husband.

Hospital Supt. Howard Still said a man who fled the State Hospital, Paul Langley, 25, was a "schizoid and should be regarded as dangerous."

Langley was found insane June 2 by a jury that tried him on a charge of murder growing out of the fatal beating of his daughter, nine months old.

Sheriff Owen Kilday said he could not understand Mrs. Langley's going with her husband in view of her knowledge of his mental condition. The sheriff said the Langley family "are plainly in grave danger."

Langley fled from the San Antonio State Hospital August 11. The escape was not made public until Tuesday.

Laniel Government Totters As French Strikes Continue

PARIS —(AP)— France's most serious postwar strike entered its second week Monday with a million workers still out, railroads and communications still paralyzed and Premier Joseph Laniel's government tottering.

Negotiations between the government and non-Communist unions broke down Monday and there was no prospect of a resumption in sight.

Socialist Party Leader Guy Mollet told Laniel that any savings he might realize through his touted government financial reforms — which touched off the walkouts—already have been surpassed by the huge losses to the French economy from the strike.

Nobody contradicted Mollet.

It was expected Parliament would be called back from its vacation for a special session next week. Laniel may be thrown out of office in the bitter squabble certain to develop.

Eisenhower Has Busy Day In Flying New York Visit

NEW YORK —(AP)— President Eisenhower has called for "an action committee" to deal with the problem of discrimination in employment on government contracts, Vice President Nixon said Wednesday.

Seven members of the government contract committee took the oath before Eisenhower in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Wednesday.

The President interrupted his Western vacation to fly here for a busy day of government activity, including the dedication of a 32 million dollar federal housing project.

Members Of Panel

Committee members present were Nixon, the chairman; Mrs. Helen Rogers Reid, chairman of the New York Herald Tribune; John Roosevelt, son of the late President; John Wiscom, New Orleans attorney; John McCaffrey, of Chicago, president of the International Harvester Company; Ernest Wilkins, Chicago attorney, and Fred Lazarus, Jr., of Cincinnati, president of the American Retail Federation.

Later in the morning the President had appointments with J. Russel Sprague, Republican national committeeman from New York; William L. Pfeiffer, GOP chairman of New York state; Harold Riegelman, GOP candidate for mayor of New York City; and Ogden Reid, president of the European edition of the New York Herald Tribune.

To Dedicate Housing

U. S. Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin lunched with Eisenhower.

The President's afternoon schedule took him to the board of elections, where he registered for the November municipal elections, and then to the Baruch Houses and Playground, where he is to speak briefly.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, financier Bernard Baruch, and others also are included among speakers at the dedication of the slum clearance project on Manhattan's lower East Side.

Eisenhower is scheduled to leave New York for Denver at 3:30 p.m.

'Moonshine' Still, Perfume Bootleggers Taken By Revenuers

MIDDLETOWN, R. I.—(AP)—A still for making fake perfume for use in bottles with the counterfeit labels of several of the leading perfumeries of the world was uncovered Tuesday by federal agents.

The raid was carried out by Special Investigator Joseph E. Lannon of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau and Inspector John J. Hanagan of the Food and Drug Control Administration.

Lannon said that in addition to a 15-gallon still they also seized a large quantity of perfume bottles, some filled and some empty but all carrying the counterfeit labels of expensive perfumes.

Lannon said also the counterfeit perfumes had been sold in New York, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Havana, Cuba, "for as much as $110 an ounce."

A federal warrant was sworn out after the raid against Robert Goldman, 52, last reported in Detroit. The warrant charged Goldman with operation of an unregistered still.

Lannon said alcohol was mixed with colorings and extracts and run through the still to produce the fake essences.

South Texas Judge Denies Guilt In Law Library Sale

AUSTIN —(AP)— Judge Woodrow Laughlin of Alice testified Wednesday he did not rescind his sale of law books to Jim Wells County prior to court action on indictments in the transfer. He said he feared it might be considered an admission of guilt.

"I didn't think I was guilty of anything," Laughlin asserted.

The 79th District judge took the stand for the third day in ouster proceedings against him.

District Judge E. D. Salinas of Laredo had been called to sit for Laughlin to act on the indictments resulting from the book sale.

Laughlin said Salinas appeared January 10.

"Did he pass on the motions to quash the indictments at that time?" asked Senator William Shireman of Corpus Christi, counsel for attorneys seeking Laughlin's removal.

Laughlin testified the cases had been re-set for 2 p.m. the following Monday. Monday morning, he said, he rescinded the law book transaction and returned the money to the county.

"Did you put the money back to get the indictment dismissed?" Shireman asked.

"No, sir."

Two days of testimony covered only three of eight charges challenging his fitness to serve as 79th District judge.

He was asked Tuesday to explain why he permitted attorneys friendly to select a judge to rule on indictments against him. He was also asked to explain his release of impounded Duval County ballot boxes.

Laughlin denied he selected the judge in indictment matters against himself, as he is charged. He asserted the selection was by his attorney and the district attorney.

"You knew your attorney was not going to pick an unfriendly judge, didn't you," inquired Senator William Shireman of Corpus Christi, counsel for 11 attorneys seeking to oust the judge.

"I assumed he wouldn't," Laughlin replied.

Laughlin testified he was not acquainted with the mechanics of Duval County's one-sided support of candidates. He denied he knew it was necessary for political boss George Parr to know how people voted.

The judge said he released Duval County's impounded ballot boxes to Duval County's sheriff, Parr's nephew, on January 5 at home after the district attorney brought him a prepared order for their release.

Shireman reminded Laughlin that Rangers had been present to oversee the burning of ballots in the previous primary election. He asked the judge why he had not followed the same procedure.

"I didn't think that was the law," Laughlin replied.

Water Association Barbecue Attracts 400 To Cole Park

More than 400 persons, including City Hall employes and their families, turned out Tuesday night at Cole Park for the annual barbecue of the Permian Basin Water and Sewer Works Association.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Vic Ehlers of Austin, director of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineers of the State Board of Health.

Earlier in the day, Ehler made a tour of water and sewage disposal facilities in Midland and Tuesday night praised city officials for the program which has been undertaken here.

Other speakers included H. N. Roberts, Lubbock engineer, who designed Midland's new water production facilities at McMillen Field; M. L. McMullen of Dallas, water engineer for the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, and City Manager W. H. Oswalt.

H. E. Nunn, Midland's water and sewer engineer, presided as master of ceremonies.

Marshall Housewives To Take Tax Battle Into Supreme Court

MARSHALL—(AP) —The Marshall wives who refused to pay social security taxes on their servants plan to go to the Supreme Court with their fight.

They said so after the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans ruled Tuesday they had to pay the taxes.

"When we started this fight, we intended to go all the way to the Supreme Court," declared Mrs. Carolyn Abney, one of the wives. "This decision has not changed our mind. The law requiring us to collect social security taxes from our help is wrong, and we still believe our case is based on American principals and constitutional law."

Nineteen women started the rebellion in March, 1951. Some have dropped out and others joined them, so 11 are in the fight now.

McCarthy Continues Rothchild Hearing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) called on an official of the Government Printing Office Wednesday to explain why the agency kept on its payroll for years a bookbinder who won't say whether he has been a Communist spy.

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate's investigations subcommittee, summoned GOP Personnel Director S. Preston Hipsley to a public hearing in the case of bookbinder Edward Rothschild.

The printing office suspended Rothschild without pay Tuesday minutes after he refused to tell McCarthy, sitting as a one-man subcommittee, whether he is a Communist Party member or whether he engaged in espionage as recently as 10 days ago.

Rothschild's wife Esther was scheduled to testify later Wednesday.

Mobs Take Over Iran—

Before this, the first announcement of the Royalist overthrow of Mossadegh followed much confused shouting in the radio station, according to monitors in London.

The Tabriz radio in Azerbaijan, the province bordering Russia, said it was in the hands of shah supporters. It also reported that all army garrison in Azerbaijan had sided with the shah.

The radio at Isfahan, 200 miles south of Tehran, stood by Mossadegh.

'Mossadegh, The Traitor'

The Tehran radio broadcast a plea to the population to keep calm. A major came on the air and said: "Listen. I am an infantry officer who has been retired by Mossadegh the traitor. We have proved to the world that the Iranian army is the protector of this country and is under the command of the shah."

A woman's voice called on the Iranian people "to prove that foreigners cannot capture the country," and added:

"Iranians love the shah. Mossadegh is sending your country to the government of the Hammer and Sickle (Russia)."

The radio gave no details of the extent of the revolt, nor whether there had been bloodshed. Early dispatches from Tehran told of extensive rioting in which Communists and Nationalists fought.

Mossadegh, 76, has kept a vice-like grip on Iran. He repeatedly has crushed opposition, whether it has come from parliamentary rivals, religious leaders or the palace.

Reds Vital Factor

Once only did he give up the premiership. That was when Ahmed Qavam took over the government. Qavam lasted only three days before rioting supporters of Mossadegh swept him out of office.

The latest revolutionary bid may yet turn out to be shortlived because the Nationalist-minded Mossadegh still commands tremendous support in the bazaars and in the slums of Iran's sprawling, teeming cities.

One other main factor seemed unsettled: Just how long will the Communist Tudeh Party hold its hand?

The Reds, in the view of most Western diplomats, are the best knit, most coherent political organization in the country. For months they have aligned themselves with Mossadegh against the palace. It may be that they will act now—especially if it seems that any new regime may be ready to stamp out their party, which officially is illegal.

Confusion, Shouting

London monitors said the insurrection announcement from Tehran followed confusion in the radio station with shouts and yells clearly audible over the microphone.

Then a man introducing himself as Colonel Pahlavon read this communique:

"The government of Mossadegh has been defeated.

"I am one of the soldiers and one of the devotees of this country. A number of traitors like Fatemi (foreign minister) want to sell out the country to the foreigners.

"The Iranian Royalists have defeated the demagogue government through which Hussein Fatemi was ruling.

"The Persian nation's officers, army and the police have taken the situation in their hands. Premier Zahedi will assume his post. There is no place for anxiety. Keep calm."

More Pennsylvanian Pay Section Found In SE Dawson Test

More flowing pay section in the Pennsylvanian lime reef has been uncovered at Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 Pettaway, important discovery in Southeast Dawson County.

Latest drillstem test was taken from 8,033 to 8,083 feet. Tool was open one hour and 42 minutes. Gas surfaced in four minutes, mud in 12 and oil in 14 minutes. It was flowed to pits five minutes to clean and then turned to tanks where it flowed one hour and 23 minutes through a three-eighths-inch choke. The well made 77.93 barrels of 39.6-gravity oil during that time.

Gas-oil ratio was 361-1 and surface flowing pressure 670 pounds.

Unloaded More Oil

An additional 31.03 barrels of oil unloaded as the tool was being pulled. Recovery from the drillpipe in addition to the oil which was unloaded was 20 barrels of oil and no water.

Flowing bottomhole pressure was from 2,625 to 3,400 pounds and 15-minute shutin pressure was 3,400 pounds.

The above test gives the discovery 198 feet of pay section, free of water.

Operator was to core 50 more feet of hole and then run another drillstem test.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 40, block 34, T-5-N, T&P survey and 15 miles east and slightly south of Lamesa.

Geophysical Work To Start Soon On Roberts Ranch

Geophysical work will be started soon on the 20,000-acre Dora Roberts ranch in Midland and Ector Counties, with a test well program scheduled to follow immediately, according to an announcement by B. Irelan, president of Cities Service Oil Co. (Del.) and Dale H. Dorn, vice-president and director of Forest Oil Corporation.

The two companies have just obtained oil and gas development rights to the ranch, subject to a favorable ruling by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, in a $5,000,000 deal which involved acquisition by Cities Service of minerals on about 5,000 acres of the property and leases by Forest Oil on about 10,000 additional acres. The two companies are equal partners in the project.

Mostly In Midland

The Dora Roberts ranch which was recently sold to Mrs. Docie Brown and Mrs. Eloise Waters, daughters of the original owners of the property, is mostly in Southwest Midland County. It is one of the last of the great West Texas ranches to be opened to oil and gas exploration.

The ranch is midway between the prolific, multi-pay Sweetie Peck and Headlee oil fields and northwest of the big Pegasus field. Nearest production is Sinclair Oil and Gas Company's No. 14 Sanders A, one-half mile south of the ranch boundary.

The Sweetie Peck field, two miles south of the ranch, is currently producing from the Ellenburger, Devonian, Pennsylvanian, Wolfcamp and Spraberry formations, as is the Pegasus field.

First wells on the Roberts ranch are expected to be Ellenburger tests. Forest will be the operator.

Correct Potential Reported For New Well In NW Upton

Corrected potential for Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-B Ora Holzgraf, one-quarter of a mile northwest extension to the proven area for production from the Pennsylvanian lime in the Pegasus (multipay) field in Northwest Upton County, is 405 barrels of oil per day.

Flow was through a 16/64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 1,410-1. Gravity of the petroleum was 44 degrees.

The potential was previously reported as being 492 barrels of oil in 24 hours. That report was in error.

The production was from perforated sections in the Pennsylvanian at 10,550-575 feet and at 10,589-623 feet. The pay sections had been treated with acid.

Location is 26 miles southwest of the city of Midland and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 26, block 41, T-4-S, T&P survey.

SE Upton Sector Gains Location For 11,600-Foot Test

"Midland's Store for Men and Women"

BUT EASIER LIFE LIES AHEAD—

Korean Truce Means Labor Detail For Embattled GI's

WESTERN FRONT, KOREA —(AP)—The young Marine straightened up from the newly dug trench, massaged the small of his back and mopped sweat off his face.

"We've been digging, digging, ever since the armistice," said Pfc. Talmage W. Blackwell of Raleigh, Miss.

"But don't get me wrong. I'm not kicking. I'd rather do something like this than have men getting killed like before the armistice."

All across the 150-mile front, Allied soldiers were swinging picks and stabbing spades into Korea's red clay hills. They were building new earthen fortifications south of the demilitarized zone.

Others engaged in dangerous mine removal work. Scores of small parties went over ground using the most modern of detectors but even so risking accident and death.

Some men in the forward areas were in salvage operations, bringing equipment for cleaning, repair and further use.

Engineers were repairing roads and bridges.

Mostly Work, Little Play

North of Munsan, 3,000 Army engineers were hard at work on a huge tent city for North Korean and Chinese prisoners of war who have said they do not want to be sent back behind the "Bamboo Curtain." The tent city will house them while their fate is decided.

It has been mostly work and little play for UN troops since the armistice was signed July 27, but an easier life lies ahead. The U. S. 8th Army is planning a big move in its recreation and study programs.

Already there has been a marked increase in the number of men flown out daily from Seoul for five days' rest and relaxation in Japan. Sunday, more than 1,000 "R and R" troops flew to Japan.

From the air, the new Allied front looks quite different from the old one with its connected trenches. The new line is more a series of "islands" of dug-in positions on key hills.

The old line looks like a jagged scar across the ridgetops. Bunkers have been dismantled. Sandbag barricades are gone.

The halt in the shooting did not mean the end of soldiering. Day and night, security patrols move just ahead of the new Allied lines, always on the alert.

Everywhere the men who fought in the bloody battles must stay in condition for any further fighting which might be necessary. Every division has its own training program.

Let's look at what one company has done since the armistice—Charlie Company of one battalion of the 1st Marine Division on the Western Front. That's Blackwell's outfit.

The company has laid wire, dug trenches, built bunkers and cleared "fields of fire"—the area north of the line into which they would shoot if the Communists broke the truce.

The men complain about the work but are aware it is necessary.

"I don't think we will need these new positions," said Pfc. Walter Ackerina of Brooklyn, N. Y. "But I don't believe in taking chances."

"These positions are the finest we ever built," boasted Second Lt. Richard J. Bryne of Newark, N. J.

Training Recreation Next

Once the new positions are completed, what next?

Training is No. 1 on the list, 8th Army headquarters said.

Every division will launch a new and enlarged educational program.

More post exchanges will offer more stocks of merchandise. More men will go on "R and R."

The sports program will boom.

On the eastern front, the U. S. 45th Infantry Division is planning to build a "Thunderbird Bowl," a recreation area seating 20,000 spectators for basketball, badminton, tennis and boxing. It's the brainchild of Maj. Gen. P. D. Ginder, commander of the Thunderbird Division.

Other divisions have similar plans.

In the words of one awed corporal:

"The folks at home just ain't going to believe it when I tell them about it."

12 More Counties In Texas Eligible For Drouth Relief

By The Associated Press

The federal government widened drouth relief in Texas Wednesday as farmers and ranchers cheered a five-day forecast that promised lower temperatures and moisture.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said in Washington 12 more Texas counties had been designated drouth disaster areas. This brought to 164 the counties under drouth disaster status.

The new counties are Tarrant, Denton, Bosque, Bee, Aransas, Cooke, Comal, Coryell, Johnson, Karnes, San Patricio and Wilson. This extended the original area to the east and southeast.

Three Texans prepared to take part Thursday in a drouth conference called in Denver by President Eisenhower on conditions in the Southwest.

They are Claude McCan, Victoria, state Production & Marketing Administration director and chairman of the State Drouth Disaster Committee; L. J. Cappleman, Dallas, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, and Herman Allen of Menard, rancher and stockman.

Interest Rate Boost Fails To Step Up GI Loan Tempo

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The higher interest allowed since last May on GI loans hasn't helped veterans buy more homes, figures released Wednesday by the Veterans Administration show.

At the time, the raise from four to four and one-half per cent interest was hailed by many money lenders and government officials as one which would give veterans a better chance to get the government-insured loans. They said lenders weren't anxious to put up money for veterans' home loans because the return was so small.

Since then, the number of GI home loan applications approved by the VA hasn't increased. These loan application approvals are used by the VA as one barometer indicating the availability of money for GI loans.

Figures for July show the number of applications approved actually dropped slightly from April, the month immediately before the interest increase.

In April, 26,000 applications were approved; in July, only 25,453. May saw about 24,000 approved and June about 26,000.

T. B. King, director of the VA's Loan Guaranty Service, said the primary cause has been the demand for money for other types of investments which bring in higher interest rates. He added in an interview:

"I expect to see the supply of money for GI loans pick up within the next 60 to 90 days. The great majority of our offices around the country think there will be an increase. So far, the judgment of these offices has been good."

Summer Business Hits Record Pace

WASHINGTON —(AP)— U. S. business is enjoying its best Summer ever, the Department of Commerce says.

A department report Tuesday included these figures:

Steel and automobile production were at near record rates in July.

A record for any three-month period of manufacturers' sales was set when such sales in June remained above the 26 billion dollar level.

Unemployment in July was the lowest for the month since World War II—1,500,000 persons.

However, the department also said new orders continued to fall off in June, to a level five billions below last September's peak, and inventories continued to increase.

Former AEC Boss Asks Nevada Divorce

LAS VEGAS, NEV. —(AP)— A suit for divorce was filed here Tuesday by Gordon Dean, 47, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He charged mental cruelty.

Dean, an attorney, and his wife Adelaide were married 23 years ago in Pasadena. His district court petition said agreement has been reached on custody of the two children, Martha, 20, and Franklin, 14.

UN Denies Brutality Charges As Prisoner Swap Continues

PANMUNJOM —(AP)— The UN Wednesday bluntly denied Communist charges that prisoners have been treated brutally. It told the Reds the physical condition of repatriated POW's proved the accusation was a "distortion of the truth."

The denial was made at a meeting of the POW Repatriation Commission and answered Communist charges of last Friday.

Another 75 Americans were liberated Wednesday while two ships prepared to sail for home with men freed earlier by the Reds.

The largest group of Allied soldiers yet turned back in one day—456—rode into Panmunjom in open trucks.

And 130 Americans liberated previously anxiously awaited the journey home aboard the hospital ship Haven, scheduled to leave Inchon harbor for Japan Thursday. Only sick and wounded are aboard.

Another 400 able-bodied American repatriates start the voyage home Saturday. They will make the two-week trip from Inchon to San Francisco on the troopship Marine Adder.

The Communist said 450 Allied prisoners would be repatriated from North Korea Thursday.

The group will include 60 Americans, 90 British and 300 South Koreans.

In addition to the 75 Americans freed Wednesday, the Communists returned 75 British and 306 South Koreans, raising the total in 15 days to 6,083 of the 12,763 Allied soldiers the Reds said they held.

Moving back to life under Communist rule were 602 shouting flag-waving North Koreans, the smallest group of Reds yet delivered by the UN Command.

Transfer of Reds from prison land has been hampered by typhoon weather and the UN Command said it would be unable to return more prisoners until Saturday, when it will hand over the usual 2,400.

Port Inspection Starts

While the flow of prisoners continued without incident, neutral inspection teams started operations at ports of entry in South Korea.

After a week of ironing out administrative problems, the 11-man teams from four neutral nations began inspecting UN military personnel and supplies pouring in and out of five South Korean ports.

And Peiping radio said the Communists have set up offices at the five North Korean ports of entry to maintain liaison with inspection teams which arrived Monday.

Blind Veteran Top Man In College Class

BOSTON —(AP)— Top man in his class at Boston University's Summer commencement is 33-year-old William Carney, totally blind from an eye disease contracted in service during World War II.

Woman Shoots Her Children, Wounds Self With Pistol

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Officers said a 29-year-old mother shot her six-year-old daughter to death, then critically wounded a three-year-old son and herself Tuesday.

Mrs. Margie Reva Lawson, who lives in a fashionable home in suburban Midwest City, was not expected to survive.

The daughter, Linda, was slain while painting with water colors in a children's book. She still had the brush in her hand when her father, Eastman Lawson, 34, returned home from work.

A .25-caliber automatic lay near Mrs. Lawson's hand. The husband and authorities said they could find no motive for the shootings.

Mrs. John Hill, a neighbor described the couple as "the happiest two people I know. They never had an argument. It just doesn't add up."

Explorers Hauled From Deepest Cave

PIERRE ST. MARTIN, FRANCE —(AP) — Wire cables Wednesday hauled to safety the remaining two of three cave explorers who went deeper into the earth than man ever has before—2,395 feet.

The speleologists (cave explorers) hauled out Wednesday were Robert Levi and Norbert Casteret. Their colleague, Dr. Andre Mairey, was pulled up Tuesday night from the St. Martin Cave here in the Pyrenees Mountains of Southwestern France.

The cave reputedly is the earth's greatest land fissure. One man was killed in a similar exploit last year when the cable snapped as he was being brought to the surface.

The three were members of an expedition seeking to determine possibility of an underground hydroelectric plant.

BIRTHDAY BREAK IN BOOK WRITING—

Tom Connally Says Demos Brag On Selves Too Much

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Tom Connally is a gray-maned political warrior who has retired to the sidelines, but the fiery Texan is snorting his disapproval these days over the conduct of his fellow Democrats.

Retirement has dulled neither the mind nor the tongue that kept him Congress almost 36 years and made him an international figure. He is observing his seventy-sixth birthday Wednesday and has this to say about his party:

"The Democrats can overdo this business of bragging about their support of President Eisenhower. That sort of thing may be no help in the years to come.

War Hero Popularity

"Besides, they should make it clear they will vote for a program on its merits alone—not whether Eisenhower is for or against it. Most things the Democrats have supported were programs which were initiated by the Democrats in the first place. They've just been voting for what they believed in all the time."

Connally made the statement as he sat on the pleasant tree-shaded porch of the home here where he lives with his wife and his memories of the years when he was an actor in history-making events.

Speaking of Eisenhower, he said: "I think Ike's capital stock is his personal popularity as a war hero. I think his popularity is still holding—maybe not as strong as it was, but it's still there. And there's no doubt the Democrats in Congress have helped him with their support on several measures.

TOM CONNALLY
. . . 36 years are enough.

'Big Business' Policies

"I think he's shown very clearly that he has an extremely conservative viewpoint. Many of his important appointments have gone to men with no practical experience in government or politics—though they may have had experience in big business and monopolies.

"If this trend continues, it's going to hurt him. People don't want big business to dominate us."

During the years he was chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Connally was a strong advocate of a bipartisan foreign policy. But he said too often bipartisanship runs afoul of partisan interests.

Working On Book

He added: "Bipartisanship depends a great deal, too, on whether the majority party really wants a bipartisan policy."

Connally is spending part of each day dredging up old memories and putting them down for a book he is writing—a book that will span his 36 years in Congress. It is scheduled for publication next Spring.

He is up at 8 a.m. daily and works on his book until noon. Then he takes things easy or visits with old friends to argue politics.

Through With Politics

"I didn't have a real vacation for 36 years," he said, "so I'm taking my rest now.

"I get a little restless at times having nothing to do. But the book takes up a good deal of my time and I'm enjoying this vacation."

Although Connally was a commanding figure on the Senate floor for years, he hasn't been back since he stepped into retirement.

"I'm through with politics," he said. "I think 36 years in the House and Senate were enough for one man."
