Special Show Tonight, Saturday's Sales Due To Boost Sale Of Bonds

A capacity crowd for tonight's War Bond show at the Ritz theatre—and extensive participation throughout the city in Saturday's "Business for Uncle Sam" Day—these were developments in the Third War Loan campaign to indicate Howard county will be boosting its total considerably by the weekend.

And a boost is needed.

On The

WAR BOND FRONT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23, (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today that the issue drive was "do the American people want to continue the volunteer plan" for financing the conflict.

"There is a lot of short wave propaganda coming from Japan and Germany," Morgenthau said as he started a bond drive tour through New York City. "They are trying to break up this drive. The eyes of all the world are upon us."

The drive, he said during an inspection of the seventh district of the community sales division, was "about two-thirds" completed, "but there still are a lot of doorbells to ring."

DALLAS, Sept. 23, (AP)—More than $260,000,000 in Texas' third war bond drive has been sent to the United States Treasury by the Federal Reserve Bank here, Nathan Adams, state chairman, announced today.

Adams said the total of $264,250,077.75 represented 63 per cent of the quota.

Of this amount bond subscriptions by individuals have totaled $106,319,052.75, or 40 per cent of the total.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23, (AP)—American prisoners are doubling and more—their quotas toward the $300,000 bomber they will buy as their part in the $15,000,000,000 third war loan, the treasury reported today.

The men and women behind bars will name their craft themselves in a contest to be conducted at the conclusion of the drive. Of 41 reporting institutions, out of a total of 130, the treasury said only one—not identified—has failed to exceed its goal.

HOUSTON, Sept. 23, (AP)—A New York salesman, worried about his laundry, has discovered another investment angle for war bonds.

Unable to get his socks and shirts laundered at a downtown hotel, he told his troubles to Mrs. Howard Levy, chairman of a war bond booth in the lobby.

"Well, why don't you buy a $100 bond and let me wash your socks?" asked Mrs. Levy.

"And why don't you buy a $500 bond and I'll wash and iron your five shirts," chimed another bond salesman at the booth.

The salesman agreed. The two women put out the laundry and Harris county moved $600 nearer its bond quota.

Debt Limit May Go Up To 300 Billion

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Congress may be asked soon to boost the national debt limit to $300,000,000,000.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of house appropriations committee told reporters today the present rate of government spending is approaching the present statutory debt limit of $210,000,000,000.

He estimated the present spending rate at between $7,000,000,000 and $8,000,000,000 monthly.

A $300,000,000,000 limit, Cannon said, may be sufficient "if the war doesn't last too long."

Present prospects, he said, are that war appropriations, which reached a peak for the current fiscal year, will begin to decline next year.

Stalin Armies Draw Nearer To Dnieper

Soviets Storming Into White Russia In Gomel Sector

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that Soviet troops are storming into White Russia in the Gomel sector, shortly after a German announcement that nazi forces have abandoned Poltava, gateway to the heart of the Ukraine.

The Moscow announcement, which quoted the newspaper Izvestia, official organ of the presidium of the supreme council, was recorded by Reuters.

Gomel, in the area where the new breakthrough was announced, is a rail center about midway between Kiev and Smolensk, within a bare 15 miles of the Dnieper river and within 150 miles of the old Polish border.

Poltava, a city of 90,000, lies on the Vorskla river in the fertile wheatlands of the Ukraine, and is a control center of a network of railways radiating to Kharkov, Kiev, Kremenchug and Dnepropetrovsk.

The city was isolated yesterday when Red army forces stormed the town of Dikana, 15 miles to the north, and Golovach, six miles to the south.

Meanwhile, Kiev was menaced from three directions today as Red army forces continued to roll up victory after victory along the flaming 750-mile front from Demidov in the north to the Kuban bridgehead on the Black Sea.

Demidov, 42 miles northwest of Smolensk and 21 miles from the borders of White Russia, was stormed by the Russians yesterday.

Its capture, after two days of bitter fighting, elicited a special order of the day from Premier Joseph Stalin, who called the northern bastion "one of the strongest German defense centers."

More than 8,000 nazi troops were killed in the struggle for Demidov, a Moscow communique declared, after the enemy had launched 12 counterattacks in vain attempts to hold the city.

Youngsters Try A Confidence Game

Police Thursday were looking for some youngsters who made a triple misrepresentation along Bell street Wednesday.

They said they were "Boy Scouts," that they were collecting funds for their troop to buy a war bond.

Investigation, said officers, revealed that 1) they were not scouts, 2) they were therefore not collecting for the troop, 3) and the money obtained certainly wasn't for a war bond.

Stimson Evasive On Command Changes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Brushing aside inquiries about the possible significance of the statement by General MacArthur implying he faced a "subordinate" role in the Pacific war, Secretary Stimson said today that MacArthur was engaged in an extremely important operation.

He declined to speculate on the meaning of MacArthur's statement, but told a questioner at his press conference that he knew of no proposal to call MacArthur to Washington for conferences.

"General MacArthur is a very busy man with a very important operation," said Stimson, "and I doubt that he would want to leave."

In connection with speculation that Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia command might overshadow MacArthur's Southwest Pacific theater, Stimson was asked whether there was any reason to believe that the two combat theaters overlapped at any point. He replied: "I have never heard it suggested."

A smile was Stimson's only response when he was asked about prospective assignment of General George C. Marshall as commander of all Anglo-American forces in the field.

Australians Land Above Japs To Control Gulf

By WILLIAM F. BONI

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 23 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today the seaborne landing of Australian troops above Finschhafen, enemy base 60 miles northeast of Lae on the New Guinea coast, and the destruction of remnants of a Japanese garrison on Arundel Island in the Solomons.

Under protection of warships and planes, the Australians went ashore against enemy opposition at dawn Wednesday six miles above peacetime mission headquarters and just below the Song river. At dusk on the previous day, Japanese bombers and fighters sought to attack ships involved in the operations but were intercepted between Lae and Finschhafen by P-40s which shot down four bombers and five fighters at a cost of one interceptor.

Capture of Finschhafen on the Huon peninsula, which is more suitable for ground action than any other territory previously attacked in easy overwater striking distance of Japanese-held New Britain and its stronghold of Rabaul.

On Arundel, directly west of New Georgia, American jungle troops destroyed enemy troops and reinforcements on the island's north shore and also on nearby Sega Karasa Island to move within artillery shelling distance of the Japanese garrison at Vila across Blackett Strait on Kolombangara. The Japanese guns at imperiled Vila immediately opened fire.

Sixty miles northwest of Lae at Yalapi, which airborne Australians captured Sept. 18, headquarters disclosed that a Japanese patrol of 200 was encountered the night of the transport landings. The Aussies killed 120 of the enemy and routed the others.

Widespread air blows of the Allies augmented the latest ground operations. In the Madang sector northwest of Finschhafen, the already disrupted coastal supply road took a new pounding Tuesday which doubled the bridges destroyed to eight.

Across Dampier Strait from Finschhafen, Liberators dropped 60 tons of bombs on the airfield at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, and other planes raided the airfield at Gasmata.

In the New Ireland vicinity, reconnaissance bombers sank a 5,000-ton enemy ship afire, sank a 1,500-tonner and bombed two other vessels.

In the Solomons, 40 American divebombers and torpedo bombers pounded the gun positions defending Vila.

Four-Way Air Attack Smashes Nazi Points

Hannover Wrecked In Mass Raid By The RAF

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Allied airforces threw a quadruple punch into enemy Europe with an RAF mass raid on the relich city of Hannover last night, a Flying Fortress attack on Nantes today and two U.S. Marauder assaults deep into France.

All were carried out within a period of 18 hours.

The air ministry said "a very strong force" of Britain's biggest bomb carriers roared into the central Germany during the night to attack the important railway and factory city of Hannover. Twenty-six of the bombers were listed as lost.

"Preliminary reports show that a highly concentrated attack was completed in 30 minutes, leaving very large fires with smoke rising to a great height," a ministry communique said.

Smaller British bomber formations attacked the port of Emden, in the extreme northwest corner of Germany, and inland Oldenburg, a big army, airforce and railroad center east of Bremen.

The American fortresses, streaking across the channel at dawn even before the British formations had returned, attacked naval installations at Nantes and two airfields at Vannes-Meucon and Kerville-Bastard in western France.

Following up their long-range visit late yesterday to Evreux-Fauville, 45 miles west of Paris, American Marauders this morning attacked airfields at Conches, 60 miles west of the French capital.

The British night raid on Hannover was the fourth big Allied air blow in three months against nazi rubber sources. Amid Hannover's big industrial concentration of refineries, locomotive and tank works in the Continental Gummiwerke, Germany's largest rubber factory.

Broader Food Program Fixed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23, (AP)—Plans for stimulating food production abroad so this country will not have to feed the world have been perfected by the war mobilization board and are now on President Roosevelt's desk.

Announcement of the global work to be undertaken may be forthcoming by this weekend, along with an executive order designating which federal agency is to administer the huge program.

The job may go either to the office of economic warfare or to the agriculture department. The state department probably will have general supervision insofar as foreign policy is concerned.

Eventually the program likely will be integrated into some United Nations organization in line with the Allied policy of sharing international responsibilities.

Agricultural experts here said the main work of promoting production abroad is divided into three steps: first, deciding where fertile lands and labor may be found; second, guaranteeing markets for the produce; and third, making available the services of scientists and other men with "know-how" as well as some machinery and seeds where needed.

The two raids raised to five the number of attacks by Japanese planes in the Guadalcanal area since September 13.

In the earlier raids only minor damage was caused and they had been considered primarily as nuisance attacks made by reconnaissance planes.

Sheppard Calls For Equalized Valuations

MIDLAND, Sept. 23 (AP)—A plea from George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, for equalized tax valuations before the convention of West Texas county judges and commissioners today.

Sheppard urged members of the association in a speech last night to put taxes on a uniform basis in conformity with the constitution and laws of the state.

"The burden is on you officials," he told them. "People don't complain if they are treated fairly. If all property were placed on at least 50 per cent valuation taxes would have a tax valuation of ten billion dollars rather than four billions."

Purl received his interest in politics from his father, Henry C. Purl, who served for 40 years as a peace officer in Williamson county, where the former senator was born. He moved to Dallas in 1909 and completed his high school education here. He enlisted during the first World War and served in the 87th division. After the conflict he returned to take an active interest in service men's affairs and politics and began the practice of law.

He was elected state representative from Dallas county in 1922 and served for four terms. He served two terms as state senator, beginning in 1930.

Allies Advancing In Central And Southern Italy

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 23 (AP)—Allied sea and air power threw a blockade around Corsica today, cutting off German troops fleeing from French and American troops closing in on Bastia, the enemy's last seaport.

It appeared doubtful that the Germans would be able to hold out on the small island much longer under combined air, land and sea pressure.

Allied warships bombarded the strip of coast where the road of retreat runs close to the sea, and supported the troops which carried out a furious attack near Solenzara, 60 miles south of Bastia.

Meanwhile Allied headquarters announced advances of 10 to 15 miles in central and southern sectors of Italy in a forward sweep which was gradually forcing Field Marshal Albert Kesselring to uncover the inland approaches to smoke-smothered, dynamite-shattered Naples.

Allied soldiers were within sight and sound of the systematic wrecking of Naples by German demolition squads.

As the sound of frequent explosions from the smoking city rolled over the hills toward the Americans and British, Allied headquarters announced that the Germans had scuttled at least 30 ships at Naples and blocked practically every berth along the docks.

Aerial photographs also showed a large industrial area north of the docks had been wrecked by bombing and the railroad yards demolished.

"The extent to which this is going on indicates the enemy is determined to make the big port, one of the largest and best peacetime harbors in Europe, completely useless to Allied troops when they occupy it," the announcement stated.

In the inland sweep British and Americans swung the right of their line forward toward the Adriatic, with Salerno serving somewhat as a hinge, and straightened out several deep mountain bulges.

They advanced 10 miles north-west of Potenza, 15 miles north of Sala Consilina and 10 miles west of Mottola which is north of Taranto, capturing the towns of Acerano, Avigliano and Ginoia.

Acerano is 18 miles east and slightly north of Salerno and six miles north of Campagna, reportedly captured yesterday.

Avigliano is 50 miles east of Salerno and about eight miles northwest of Potenza, also reportedly captured yesterday.

Ginoia is 25 miles northwest of Taranto and 14 miles inland from the Gulf of Taranto.

(The German communique today admitted "a dent made by the enemy in our positions near Contursi" but claimed the break was "cleaned up in counter-attacks.")

The enemy has brought up fresh forces in the eastern sector of the front without, however, so far commencing an attack.

(Contursi is between Acerano and Avigliano and apparently somewhat to the east of the new Allied line.)

(The BBC in a broadcast recorded by NBC, said the American Fifth army had captured Contursi, 26 miles southeast of Salerno.)

(North and northeast of Salerno, however, the Germans were putting up a stiff and stubborn battle on the direct, shoreline route to Naples and little advance was made.)

"With the first phase of the battle of Italy, which took place at Salerno, over, both our forces and the Germans are in the same positions as boxers sitting in the corner preparing for the next round," a military spokesman said.

He explained that both sides were regrouping for the next blow.

Fish, a legionnaire, made his remarks in a statement issued by him in answer to a resolution adopted by the Legion at its convention in Omaha yesterday.

The resolution charged that Fish "with certain other isolationist members of congress" permitted use of the frank by George Sylvester Viereck, an alleged pro-German propagandist, and the America First committee to disseminate propaganda "inimical to the United States."

Gov. Appoints Board Members

AUSTIN, Sept. 23 (AP)—Governor Coke R. Stevenson today reappointed the following members of state boards:

Drs. Marshall Harvey of Lubbock and E. L. Kott of Austin for six-year terms on the state board of registration for professional engineers.

Mrs. Frank Lewis of San Antonio and Frank C. Smith of Houston for six-year terms on the board of directors of Texas A. & I. College, Kingsville.

J. B. Burris of Seguin and Jack Warden of McKinney for two-year terms on the state board of barber examiners.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 23 (AP)—American Liberators bombed Matruh airfield on Rhodes and Eleusis airfield at Athens, Greece, yesterday, an air communique announced today.

Great Blows On Enemy Pledged By Adm. King

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 23 (AP)—Shattering blows against the enemy "with all weapons that can be brought to bear, synchronized and coordinated with overwhelming assault," constitute the aim of the navy, Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. fleet, asserted today.

He told the national convention of the American Legion that attacks recently carried out with great damage upon Japanese positions on the Marcus and Gilbert Islands in the South Pacific are only "the shape of things to come."

King emphasized throughout his prepared address the importance of the navy's swiftly growing air arm now striking hard at enemy bases, particularly in the Pacific.

"The navy's strategy and tactics," he said, "have always revolved around those weapon-bearers which can hit the farthest and the hardest. In this present war these bearers are aircraft. This is thoroughly understood by all naval officers. Air-mindedness in the navy is by no means the exclusive property of the navy aviator."

But he laid great stress on the importance of close coordination of all branches in any engagement, asserting:

"Unity and team work is the basis of the navy's fighting doctrine. It is the navy's aim to strike the enemy at any given point with all weapons that can be brought to bear, synchronized and coordinated in overwhelming assault."

Stating that "the ultimate test of a military organization is its performance in combat, its discharge of the vital and sacred duty to defend its country against the enemy," he said naval aviation particularly "has met and is meeting this test. The record of Midway, the Solomons, the U-boat in the Atlantic, bear witness x x x."

Legion Resolution Aims Old Franking Charge Against Fish

NEW YORK, Sept. 23, (AP)—Charging that the American Legion "has inadvertently been used to carry on a political and partisan smear campaign," Rep. Hamilton Fish (Rep-N. Y.) reiterated today his denial that he had per to be used to spread un-American propaganda.

Fish, a legionnaire, made his remarks in a statement issued by him in answer to a resolution adopted by the Legion at its convention in Omaha yesterday.

The resolution charged that Fish "with certain other isolationist members of congress" permitted use of the frank by George Sylvester Viereck, an alleged pro-German propagandist, and the America First committee to disseminate propaganda "inimical to the United States."

MARY WHEALEY

September is a wonderful month. It's so full of surprises. In the morning you need a coat, by noon it is steaming hot, and by night again you need a long sleeved garment. It looks so much like rain that if you lived in another part of the country you'd carry an umbrella, but it never rains.

What to wear is an all consuming problem that doesn't get solved until about the middle of October.

You start out in your summer garments that bear that washed - too - often look and shiver en route to work. By noon you still look dowdy, but feel comfortable.

At night your brown and white sport shoes look a little dated but your new fall ones look hot and feel hot too. Dark clothes that look better, feel uncomfortable and don't match the summer tan you've picked up.

What to do, and what to wear. This is a problem that confronts you every September. Some manage to achieve that in-between-seasons look with clothes the right weight, color, and style. But most people are like you are. As wispy as last year's birds nest.

The only cure is time. For when it really gets cold enough you can put away your summer whites and put on your fall blacks and get back in style. Meanwhile you look like a molting bird, and the only consolation is all the company you have.

Workers Walk As Elevators Are Stopped

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Thousands of office workers trudged up endless flights of stairs to their jobs today as several hundred maintenance employees of Rockefeller Center continued a walkout begun just before the rush hour last night.

Lobbies of the 12 buildings affected were jammed. In the 70-story RCA building, only two of the 40 elevators were in operation as office workers began to report for the day. Police formed a waiting line of more than 1,000 persons.

Louis Ferkin, attorney for the Association of Building Maintenance Employees of Rockefeller Center, Inc., said the walkout was caused by the discharge of "eight or more women cleaners," and by "the tyrannical treatment of women cleaners," by Mrs. Ruth Wierson, head floor lady.

The strike affected 27,000 persons regularly employed in the buildings, and from 50,000 to 60,000 daily visitors, the management estimated. Average daily population of Rockefeller Center buildings was estimated at 150,000.

Texas Harvest Shows Progress For Week

AUSTIN, Sept. 23, (AP)—Texas harvest operations made good progress in the week ended Sept. 19 except in the coastal area where squally weather set back somewhat the gathering of rice and cotton crops.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported that drought continued unbroken in the high plains, the low rolling plains and cross timbers. A few counties in the extreme high plains had sufficient moisture for wheat seeding but generally the area was very dry.

Moisture was received in part of the Edwards plateau area, south central, south and coastal counties but only local rains were received in other sections.

Cotton harvest was practically completed in south central Texas, and stalks were being destroyed in south Texas. Peak operations were passed in central and east Texas, and most of the crop was open and ready for pickers in the low rolling plains. Harvest was getting well started in the south high plains.

The large rice crop escaped the serious damage expected from the tropical storm that threatened the Texas coast. Local and heavy rains caused limited damage to matured crops, and delayed harvest.

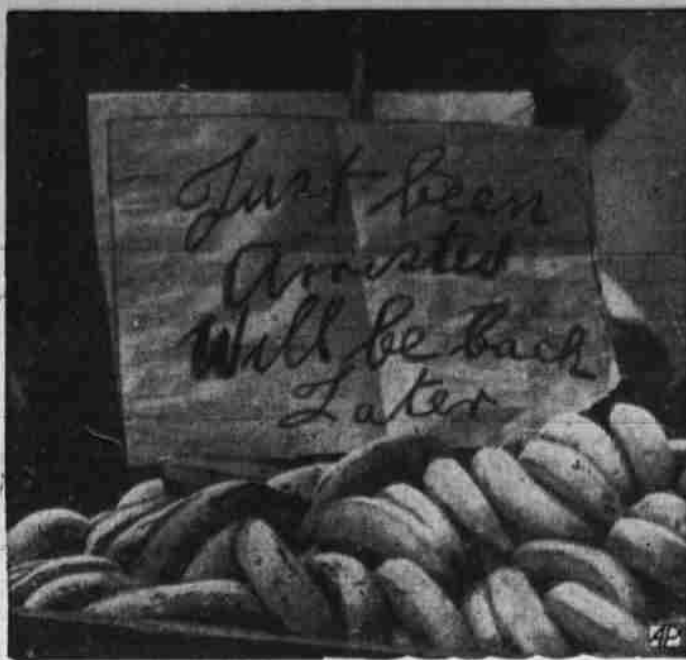

Peanut harvest continued through the week, although harvesting was delayed in many areas because of local showers, and a scarcity of labor. Harvest was not yet at a peak in north central areas, but was generally under way. Yields continued light with some acreage aking hay only.

Corn was being gathered but much of the crop is out of the way, except for the northwest area, harvest of corn, sorghums and hay crops was nearing completion.

Fall crop commercial vegetable areas continued to improve, particularly lower valley where additional rains were received.

If that DIZZINESS is from CONSTIPATION

PDU-LAX—the tasty laxative—may be just what you need. A compound of Senna and Cascara, combined with syrup and mild carminative. "PRU-LAX" stimulates "rhythmic activity" and aids peristalsis of the colon. According to a medical text, Cascara and Senna are "preferred" in chronic or habitual constipation. Constipation may be the cause of headaches, vertigo (dizziness), anemia, acne or other skin affections. Don't let it persist. Get a bottle of PRU-LAX at your druggist today. (Caution: Use this or any laxative only as directed.) (adv.)

HONEST PEDDLER—With disarming frankness, a fruit vendor in Sydney, Australia, took prospective customers into his confidence regarding his enforced absence. His sign, left on the top of his barrow, tells the story.

Seed beds were in good condition and setting of plants to the fields was started. Transplanted crops in the winter garden, usually the earliest to come into production, made good progress and seeding of some early winter vegetables got started. Onion seed beds were being planted in most sections. Tomatoes started blooming in the earliest districts and temperatures were fairly favorable for a set to hold.

Pastures and range feeds were generally good in the southwest part of the state. Conditions in the south Texas district and in some counties in the central and west central districts were improved by rains. Range feeds and the wheat pasture outlook on the high plains were spotted, with only a few counties having wheat up.

Drought conditions still prevail through the cross timbers and low rolling plains area, trans-Pecos, and parts of north and northeast Texas. Livestock were in generally good condition except in the more severe drought sections of the above moisture deficit area. Cattle receipts at some markets were increasing, but movement from parts of the state was rather slow.

From every vantage point about the shipyard the thousands of safety-helmeted workers listen in silence to the dedicatory address... The champagne bottle crashes on the bow, the band strikes up a martial air, a great cheer surges up from the crowd as the sleek ship slides down the ways...

MASS assembly lines, plus sustained energy and determination are rolling ships off the ways these days in an endless procession that is monotonous only to the Axis.

Oil and ships are close partners in today's battle for the supremacy of the seas. From stem to stern, from crow's nest to keel, petroleum serves in many ways. As fuel and lubricant for the mighty engines, as a base for non-corrosive greases for deck machinery, as an essential ingredient of marine paints and rust preventives, and as lubricants for the launching ways, petroleum and its products work for victory.

Humble-Penola Launching Lubricants serve at one of the most critical moments of a ship's life. They have smoothed the ways for a great many of the fighting and merchant vessels that form our bridge of ships to the global battle fronts.

Launching Lubricants are only a part of the long list of Humble's petroleum war products, a list that includes 100-octane aviation gasoline, Toluene for T.N.T., Aviation engine oils and stratosphere greases, rust preventives, Navy fuels and lubricants, and soon will include synthetic rubber for military uses. Humble's war products are the result of the same ceaseless research and engineering skill that give you Esso and Humble gasoline and Esso, 997 and Velvet Motor Oil for your car and which holds bright promise for even better petroleum products for the days of peace that are to come.

HUMBLE PRODUCTS FOR THE MACHINES OF WAR: Asphalt, Aviation Gasolines and Aviation Engine Oils, Camouflage Paints, Diesel Fuels, Engine Oils, Unisil Instrument Oils, Marine Paints, Navy Symbol Lubricants, Recoil Oils, Rust-Ban Protective Coatings, Stratosphere Greases, Toluene, Torpedo Greases, Wax, Waterproof Lubricants, and soon, Synthetic Rubber for military uses. FOR THE MACHINES OF INDUSTRY: Automotive Lubricants, Cutting Fluids, Cleaners, Diesel Fuels, Gasolines, Industrial Lubricants, Launching Lubricants, Motor Oils, Paints, Petroleum Solvents, Quenching Oils, Rust Preventives, Waxes. FOR YOUR CAR: Products and service to help you care for your car for your country.

Protein Feed Supplies Low

Emphasis was given Thursday to an earlier warning by the Big Spring Cotton Oil Co. and the chamber of commerce that the danger of a protein feed shortage was imminent.

First warnings went out that the cottonseed meal supply to dairies was near its end, based on seed receipts and the amount of meal due to be processed by mills for sale.

One of the area's leading breeders, I. B. "Doc" Caudle, was conferring Thursday afternoon with chamber of commerce officials on the problem, which he considered grave. It was understood that dairymen also had discussed the matter.

However, there had been exactly no response from the ones to be helped to a chamber of commerce appeal for facts to be used in pushing a fight for supplemental supplies of protein feed. The chamber asked every sheepman, every rancher, every dairyman and every farmer to list his herd size, the amount of protein feed required last year and the amount needed this year. Not a single person or firm had supplied this information to Thursday noon.

These facts were to be used in pushing a request before the Commodity Credit Corp. for either supplemental meal supplies or arranging for large quantities of cottonseed or soybeans shipped to the Big Spring Cotton Oil Co. for processing. It was generally conceded that the soybean supply constituted the only real avenue of hope for averting the shortage and it will take plenty of facts to back up appeals to the CCC for them.

Abilene Man Will Speak Here Again

E. P. (Doc) Mead, Abilene, will make a return engagement at the First Christian church Sunday morning to speak in the absence of the Rev. J. E. McCoy, pastor.

He spoke at the church a month ago and at that time members asked him to return. Music at the service will feature Sgt. Joe Kling of the Big Spring Bombardier school.

Few Inductees Asking Delay

The selective service board report that the unusually large number of Howard county men to go in the September draft call, and the majority of them married men, has resulted in few inquiries, questions or complaints from the future army and navy enlistees.

Ordinarily, a flood of notices ordering the men to report on a certain date for induction brings a correspondingly large number of men up to the office with questions ranging from "can't I get deferred?" to "I just can't go this month."

The only reason the draft board can figure for the calm manner in which the September inductees have taken their notices is that most of the men have been classified as 1-A since spring. And since that time have been watching the mails for that small postcard furnished by Uncle Sam.

After a wait of several months and anticipating the notice so long ahead, actual notification seems to be an anti-climax. At least, the only word the office has received has been from out-of-town employers who hoped to get draft deferment for those they considered key men in establishments here.

Manpower Group Slates Session

First meeting of the War Manpower Commission management labor committee for the Abilene area has been set for Oct. 1 in Abilene, E. C. Logsdon, area WMC and US Employment Service director said here Thursday.

Included as a member of the committee is A. V. Karcher, Big Spring, secretary-treasurer of Cosden Petroleum Corp.

The committee is composed of equal representation of management and labor nominated from the various areas of the district. At the initial meeting, the committee will discuss the manpower situation and will make recommendations to the area director regarding a new stabilization plan which is in the process of compilation and which will become effective possibly within a month.

In addition to duties such as these, the committee also is to serve as an appeals panel on the area level on any WMC action on failure to take action with respect to employer or employee.

Others on the committee are Joy Dean, Brownwood, secretary-treasurer of Tasty Food Mfg. Co.; Neb Shaw, Abilene, manager, Texas Coca Cola Bottling Co.; J. Walter Hammond, Tye, president, Texas Farm Bureau; Verne Peterson, Ranger, Harold Getts, Ranger, bth plant operators for Lone Star Gasoline Co.; Roy Flannery, San Angelo, carpenter and secretary of central labor council; and Gene Galbraith, Abilene, business manager of electrician's union.

A LIGHT LUNCH THAT PACKS A PUNCH!

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

"Jeep Nerves"—that's what Dan O'Neill calls the jumpy way some folks react to the strain of wartime living.

Not that Dan blames 'em. When you work 12 hours a day and travel in crowded busses—live in trailers and put up with inconveniences—it's only natural to get tense and irritable.

"Folks must learn to relax," says Dan, "and take it easy." And Dan thinks he has the formula. Soon as he's through at the shop he comes straight home, picks out the comfortable chair and pours himself a tall, cool glass of beer.

Then he sips it—slowly and appreciatively—like good beer should be enjoyed.

And by the time that glass of beer is gone, Dan says his disposition is as good as new... and the day's work seems well worth tackling again tomorrow.

It's a real effective formula. I know, I've tried it!

 ing together reports from their

Advertisers Will Aid Anti-Inflation

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Advertisers will use thousands of newspaper advertisements in December to aid the government in its anti-inflation campaign, T. S.
 Reppner, of Washington, general manager of the war advertising council, told the insurance advertising conference at the Hotel
 Roosevelt yesterday.
 Reppner said that as one of the 41 campaigns being assisted by the war advertising council, the anti-inflation drive would profit from 100 per cent backing of private industry in selling the government's plan.

The Broom is at the Mast

"A CLEAN SWEEP"
 Early naval tradition gave a special place to the broom—at the masthead. When battles were over, custom dictated an inverted broom be thus hung so the faithful on land might know "a clean sweep" of the seas had been made.

Through the daring and perfection of our armed forces, the seas surrounding coffee producing areas have been swept clean of Axis U-boats. Thus it is possible once again to enjoy unrestricted use of the world's most delicious beverage.

Admiration
 Coffee
 Admiration's traditional freshness isn't accidental. Thermal-Roasting retains flavor, aroma and richness. Scientifically designed Admiration containers then seal in and preserve all this goodness—until you're ready to release it into your cup.

Negress Helps In War Bond Drive

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 23 (P)—Minnie Edwards, negro air raid warden, combined the shortage of domestic help and the third war loan drive here to demonstrate patriotism at work. When the wardens started their bond drive she offered a half day's work—either doing laundry or cleaning a house—without charge if the one "hiring" her would buy a $100 war bond. The precinct warden's report today showed that she had sold four $100 bonds for two days' work, and a $25 bond by using outright salesmanship.

HATES HITLER MORE

HARTFORD, Conn.—Lou Cohen, theater manager, reported that a woman who plunked down $375 for a $500 war bond told him she had been saving the money to get a divorce, but that she hated Hitler more than she did her husband.

Steers May Be On Aerial Defense Against Cisco

Big Spring may run up against a barrage of passing when Cisco comes here tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. for a contest at Steer stadium. Last year Cisco ran the majority of its plays from pass formations when tangleing with the Steers here, and if the opening tilt for the Lobos can be taken as an indication, the same may be true Friday evening. Against Abilene, Cisco passed freely—but to no avail. Whether the locals' pass defense is that tight remains to be seen. Naturally, with the aerial threat handy, the Lobos may thus loosen the Steer ground defense and thus put the line to test. Ends especially will have to watch Thompson, Lobo fullback, who can run like mischief if his receiver is covered.

Although his boys clamored for it, Coach John Dibrell Wednesday cancelled a scheduled scrimmage because a number of his young sters had been well bruised in a vicious practice session Tuesday. The line, however, got a brisk contact workout.

Considerable time was spent in perfecting passing and punting and Dibrell had his backs brush up on their timing. Just how the team will function Friday is a question, for there has been no dummy scrimmage to polish plays since the coach has elected to concentrate on fundamentals.

His starting line-up will be the same as last week—Pete Cook and Gene Smith on ends; Lee Christian and I. E. Bryan on tackles; Ray Thomas and Harlen Morgan on guards; Barclay Wood at center; Leo Rusk at quarterback; Bobby Barron and Hugh Cochran at halves; and Dewey Stevenson at fullback.

Felix (Pete) Hudgins, shifty reserve end, will get to play a lot and Jim Bob Chaney and Joe Bruce Cunningham are due to get a sample of end combat.

Ed (Sio) McConnell, on the basis of his fiery brand of play during the week, is due to spend much time in the game as a tackle. Billy Underhill and Dokey Anderson are due to get in also. Guard relief will come from Tommy Clinkscales and Tippy Anderson, and Dibrell hopes that he can shove in his young hopefuls, Harry Middleton and Ike Robb.

Held out of the game last week, Bob Wright is due to see service at center this game.

In the backfield, certain reserves are John McIntosh and Richard Simmons, both of whom shaped up well in the opening game, and Robert Sissons and Bobo Hardy. Dibrell's charges will be running from the box mostly, and it's probable that Howard Price, an assistant to Dibrell when he was coach at Post City, won't see too much when he comes here Friday to scout for Lubbock.

maritime service, is a trifle annoyed that his old-time enemy, Lew Tandler, actually has been caught training for their war bond exhibition in New York's Victory Square tonight. "But it's okay," says Benny with a wink, "if Lew starts to get tough, I'll just whisper in his ear."

SERVICE DEPT.

The Rome, N. Y., army air field will be unofficially represented on the gridiron by a team of civilian employees called the "Kannibals" because they'll be coached by Tennis Pro Mel Kann, athletic director at the base. When the navy ordered officers at pre flight schools to participate daily in contact sports, the Del Monte, Calif., "navyator" reported that the gold braided boys complied by sitting side-by-side during their checker matches.

The barks, woods, nuts, and pods grown in the tropical regions of Haiti, Nicaragua, Mexico and other middle American countries provide much of the tannin used to tan leather for Army shoes.

Football Tickets

Ducats for the Steer-Lobo game are on sale at the chamber of commerce office until 5:00 p. m. Friday. Reserve seat tickets also on sale at the tax office are priced at 85 cents and general admission is 55 cents.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (UP)—When it was announced in the press box that Rookie Joe Soslowski and old man Johnny Cooney wouldn't accompany the Dodgers on their current western tour, the announcer explained: "Soslowski is going back to school and Cooney is playing hooky."

YOU PICK 'EM

Arthur Metheny, Yankees—Bud learned to play baseball on the streets of St. Louis and played on an amateur team that won the city championship. He's the kind of player who might be a series star or a bust, depending on how he's hitting—against southpaws, who usually trouble him. Once hit .572 at William and Mary but it's safe to say he won't do that at Yankee Stadium. Was a .295 hitter at Newark last season and currently is clouting .269 for the Yanks.

Stan Musial, Cardinals—Stan started out three years ago as a left-handed pitcher at Daytona Beach but soon saw the error in his ways. Never stayed in a minor league long enough to win an official batting title but is a cinch for the National league crown with a .356 average. Also leads the league in doubles and triples and has socked 13 homers. Not so hot at field, but who cares?

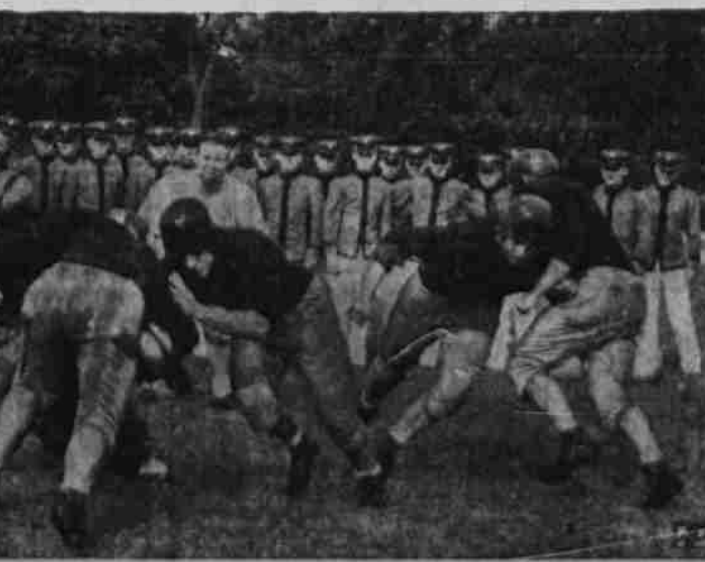

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Dick Sipek, Cincinnati farmhand who hit .335 for Birmingham this season, shouldn't have much trouble with umpires. He can neither speak nor hear. . . . And Paul Florence, head-man of the Barons, sees him as the logical successor to two old-time stars who were similarly handicapped, the Reds' Billy Hoy and Luther "Dummy" Taylor of the Giants.

THE CLUBHOUSE

By ROMNEY WHEELER

ATLANTA—While the Defense rests in the case of Bucky Harris vs. Owner Bill Cox of the Phillies, the jury is herewith reminded that Bucky should have looked for a track before sitting down in the managerial chair, regardless of propaganda about the City of Brotherly Love.

Harris need only to have harked back to when he signed with the Boston Red Sox. On that occasion he was on the other end of the deal, and Roger Peckinpaugh was the fall guy. Peck had been let out after five years with Cleveland. Eddie Collins called Peck to Boston to discuss handling the Red Sox. Peck went, and agreed to terms for the 1934 season. But owner Tom Yawkey, meanwhile, had decided that Bucky Harris would make a dandy manager—and signed him. Owner prevailed over Business Manager, and all Peck got was the breeze.

Then there was the case of Del Baker, one of Harris' successors at Detroit. He piloted the Tigers to a pennant in 1941, suffered a tragic season in '42—and was out. For changing managers, the all-time record probably belongs to Cardinals. From 1926 to 1934 the club won five pennants and three World Series—and had

Combers Defeat Detroit Tigers

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees, whose pennant possibilities have never been in any serious predicament, have reached the point where they can clinch their seventh American league championship in eight years tomorrow.

Apparently realizing they were running behind their timetable of previous years, the Bombers bowled over the Detroit Tigers 4-2 yesterday and need only three more victories to eliminate the Washington Senators and two to dispose of Cleveland.

Defeat for the Senators and Indians would hasten the process so that the Yanks might get the job done in two days.

They showed adequate authority in taming the Tigers with Charley Keller hitting a three-run homer, his 29th of the year, in the first inning and Hank Borowy pitching seven-hit ball for his sixth consecutive victory and 10th in 11 games.

The Senators sailed to their 10th straight triumph in the first part of a twilight-night doubleheader as Johnny Niggeling shut out the St. Louis Browns 4-0 on two hits. But they were shelved to a 6-1 defeat in the second game as Denny Galehouse pitched a six-hitter. Cleveland's game at Boston was postponed, making a doubleheader today.

In the National league Mort Cooper chalked up his 21st success against eight defeats, as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-3.

The Dodgers' defeat tightened the National league scramble for second place as Cincinnati split a double bill with the New York Giants. Elmer Riddle came up with his 20th triumph in the opener, which the Reds took 4-2. In the second game the Giants routed Bucky Walters with a five-run seventh inning and won 10-4.

Boston beat Pittsburgh 5-3 and the Phillies halved a pair of games with the Chicago Cubs. Claude Passeau took the first at-fair 3-1 on seven-hit pitching and Al Gerheuser hurled a six-hit 3-0 shutout in the second game.

In the other American league action the Chicago White Sox whipped the Philadelphia Athletics twice 6-0 and 2-1. Lefty Ed Smith officiated at the shutout with a four-hit performance and Ralph Hodgkin drove in two runs with a ninth-inning double to decide the nightcap.

Schlitz Leads Race Of Women Bowlers

Schlitz Beer tightened its hold in the yet-young Women's Bowling league race Wednesday evening, gaining a full game on J. & L. and Club Cafe.

Highlight of the evening at the west Texas Bowling center, however, was the oddity contributed by Texas Electric Service. Although the team dropped two of three games, it managed to take high game honors with 723 and what was even more unusual, high series for the evening with 1,940.

Frances Glenn (TES) was high individual for game with 190 while Mary Staggs (Club Cafe) had high series at 440.

In team play, Club beat Hester 2-1, Schlitz beat J. & L. 2-1, Swartz levelled Cosden 2-1, and Settles Beauty Shop turned back TES 2-1.

Schoolboy Circuit To Open Wide This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Editor
All guesswork surrounding Texas schoolboy football will be swept away this week because the schedule brings every team not heretofore seeing action into the thick of the scramble.

The so-called top teams have strong opponents with Highland Park of Dallas clashing with Waxahachie in the state feature. Rusty Russell is beginning his first full season as coach of the Scotties and appears to have one of Highland Park's better teams in the making. Anyway, the fans will know all about it after it has tested the well-groomed outfit Logan Stollenwerck will take to Dallas.

Other top games of the week pit Amarillo against Abilene, Breckenridge against Wichita Falls, Lubbock against San Angelo, Sherman against Greenville, Henderson against Longview, Goose Creek against Jeff Davis (Houston) and Crozier Tech against its Dallas rival, Sunset, a 1942 state finalist.

Amarillo currently is the talk of the interscholastic league. It appears the Golden Sandies again have what it takes to lead the touchdown parade. Lufkin, the pre-season favorite for the state title, has fallen back since its all-state star, Jitter McKinney, was ruled out, and Amarillo now ranks as No. 1.

Saa Angelo, another state favorite, gets a good test with the Lubbock Westerners while state defending champion Austin marches against a Temple team

Editorial -- Conditions' For A Permanent Peace

It is the military caste in Germany and Japan which deals in perpetual wars as a way of life. In promising that not only Hitler and the Nazis must go but also this military caste, President Roosevelt has put his finger squarely on the nub of the problem of preventing periodic aggressions from the natural breeding grounds of war—Berlin and Tokyo.

To the German and Japanese military caste, loss of one or two wars means little. They look at the long haul, confident that sooner or later they will catch the world off balance and eventually be able to fulfill their dreams, which is world conquest and domination. This tradition of always trying, always plotting, always building for eventual world domination is handed down from one generation to the next, so that if the present crop of militarists in Germany and Japan is liquidated, there will be another one flourishing in a few years unless the entire breed is exterminated.

This time we should impose conditions upon these two warlike peoples that would forever destroy their military caste. It would not be necessary to kill them off en masse. It would be enough to create and maintain restrictions. All military schools should be abolished in both countries. No officer or son of an officer who served in this war should be allowed to bear arms in future. Representatives of the Junker class should be forbidden to hold office of any sort, military or civil.

So deep-seated is the love of war among certain classes in both Japan and Germany that it would take at least three generations of careful and inexorable repressions to blot them out of the body politic. But it will have to be done if the world is to avoid future holocausts like the present one and the ones that have gone before.

Any peace plan that does not include the liquidation of the military caste will be useless. The breed must be stamped out by being starved out.

The alternative is another war within a generation. Next time the cold-blooded plotters of the military caste may win.

Ginger Rogers Finds A New Leading Man

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—This is the tale of an independent actor, a chap who wants no part of pictures. His name is Johnny Greco, aged about two years, and he put a crimp in the style of Henry King, the director.

King was back on the sets for added scenes for "The Song of Bernadette."

When Johnny was ensconced in the royal sick-bed, Henry King stepped confidently forward. "Look up here," he directed the boy, "where my hand is. Maybe I'll pull a rabbit out of the air."

Johnny looked, not amused. King tried a few other sootheries, finally asked: "Johnny, what do you want?"

"I want you," said Johnny gravely, "to let me alone!"

A while later, Johnny became tractable, did his chore, and went to sleep. But how many actors have yearned to tell directors exactly that?

David Hempstead, the producer, called on Ginger Rogers with a script. She liked it—not oddly, because Dalton Trumbo had written "Tender Comrade" with her in mind. So they began talking about leading men, and Hempstead suggested Robert Ryan.

"Never heard of him," said Ginger. "What's he done?"

They dug up Ryan's first screen test, in which Bob pushed a smaller man all over the screen with considerable violence.

Ginger said no. "He's too big and burly. They'd expect him to eat me up."

For seven days they interviewed prospects to no avail. Then Ginger dropped in at Hempstead's office and found him reading a pile of comment cards from preview audiences from Pasadena.

"Want to read them?"

Ginger read. Pasadena liked Ryan. As she laid aside the last card Hempstead reminded her: "This is our last day to find a leading man."

Ginger nodded. "How about Ryan?"

"You said he was too burly," said Hempstead. "Anyway, I think he's going in the army."

"Couldn't he just wait three weeks?" she asked.

"I'll see if we can find him," Hempstead instructed his secretary to comb Hollywood for Ryan. The "combing" took two minutes. Ryan walked in, right away. In two more minutes he was set for the role.

"How about the army?" Ginger asked.

"I'm in, but I don't go for three weeks."

"Isn't that lucky," said Ginger. As they left she stopped suddenly. "I just thought. They certainly located you in a hurry just now."

"I wasn't far away," Ryan smiled.

"Maybe—right next door?" she asked, and he nodded.

"Been waiting there long?"

"Seven days," said Ryan.

THE LONG NIGHT

By Eleanor Atterburg

Chapter 27

Bette found Sue a few moments later. Flung on her narrow cot, she was weeping furiously and for some time refused to listen to Bette's pleading. When finally she raised her tear-wet face the fury and hatred in her lovely dark eyes cut Bette to the heart.

"I'm terribly sorry, Sue," she said again. "What can I do to make you believe that I didn't plan this, that I didn't deliberately try to—"

"Nothing! Nothing you can say or do will ever make me believe it. You wanted him even though you knew he was the only man in the world for me! I loved him. I confided in you. And you—"

"Sue, stop it!" Bette ordered, conscious now of the girl's mounting hysteria. "That's not true and you know it. Never once in all the years that you've trailed home with one beau after another, have I ever interfered. I didn't interfere this time. I assure you."

"Oh, no! You didn't interfere!" Sue mocked her bitterly. "You only trailed off after him, tramped clear over a mountain just 'doing your duty' of course. And spent a night with him! God knows doing what! No wonder he feels he has to marry you!"

"Stop it," Bette's own anger started a sword. "How dare you say that?"

"Because it's true—isn't it?" Sue challenged brutally. "He doesn't love you. He's never paid the slightest attention to you. But he knows people will talk—even in this god-forsaken hole."

Bette felt silent. Was this true? "I knew something was up when you didn't come to the ship. I came back only because I felt responsible for you. And—"

her fury overtook her again, "and I was right. You stayed behind only because you knew it was your best chance to get him!"

Bette could stand it no longer. Turning from the bedside, she ran blindly out of the make-shift quarters, out into the chill darkness, straight toward the newly-reconstructed Headquarters where she knew she would find Scott.

Scott's quick smile faded almost immediately as he saw her face.

"Come outside a moment, please. I must speak with you alone," she said quietly, but her heart ached in her throat.

Scott dismissed the soldier with him, came to her swiftly. "What is it, darling?"

That lovely new sweetness in his tone made it even more difficult. She was glad of the darkness that made it impossible to watch his face.

"I came to tell you that—I'm afraid I've made a mistake. I can't marry you now—or ever. It's quite impossible. I'm terribly grateful to you for asking me. And—well—please forgive me. She spilled the words out rapidly, trying hard to keep her voice steady.

Scott caught her arm, would have drawn her close but she pushed away. "What are you saying, Bette? What's happened?"

"Nothing. It's just that I—I'm sure it's a mistake. I feel it's better to put an end to it now before it's too late."

"You mean—you don't love me, Bette? Is that what you are trying to tell me?"

Not love him! Her heart cried out against that awful lie. She loved him so much that the hurt she heard in his voice was physical pain. But she must not tell him that. If she knew she had realized why he had proposed, he would insist. And it wasn't his pity she wanted. Never that. She should have known it was too much to expect of luck that he should love her.

"Yes," she managed, her voice tight, her lips dry. "Yes, that's it. Please—forgive me."

She fled then lest her courage fail and her heart prevail. But, later as she lay sleepless, racked by sobbing she smothered in her pillow, she knew she had done the right thing.

And try as she did, she couldn't stop remembering Scott had never complimented, only teased her. That he had seldom sought her company. That he had often walked with Sue, stood chatting with her obviously enjoying her company. That even on that dangerous night they had met on a mountainside, pursued by the enemy, never once had he shown the slightest interest in her save as a companion.

She'd been a fool not to see the truth for herself. Blinded by her own deep desire, she'd believed because she wanted so much to believe. But—and now her pride lifted its battered head—it wasn't entirely as Sue has said. She hadn't pursued him. She had had to take him and his interest away from her sister. That wasn't true. Sue had to believe that.

But when the first thing the next morning she tried to find Sue to tell her that, she could find no trace of her. Alarmed when she learned Sue had left without breakfast, that she had failed to report for duty, that she had left no word as to her destination. Bette realized this was no ordinary absence. There was no place for Sue to want to go on this small post, no place she could go that would take her long—except, of course, into the woods! And in the mood in which Sue had appeared last night, most anything might happen.

Worried now and feeling the weight of her own responsibility very heavily, Bette knew she must find Sue—and quickly. But where to look first? Where could a girl go to hide her disappointment—or Bette shuddered—take some wild revenge. And why—oh, why hadn't she told Sue last night as soon as it was done that Scott was free from any obligation to herself? Why hadn't she given Sue that proof that she had not tried deliberately to destroy her chance at happiness?

Washington Daybook—

Warren In Limelight

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If you are interested in national politics, peel an eye now at California's Republican Gov. Earl Warren.

Twice recently I have watched his peregrinations through conferences where Republicans of every ilk were assembled and I have never heard one unfavorable word tossed in his direction.

Among politicians, even when they are of the same party, that is something of a record. It's like battling 1,000.

It's all the more remarkable when you consider that until he ran for governor in California a couple of years ago, Warren considered himself a non-partisan.

If the Native Sons I have talked to have their story straight, Californians think of Warren much as they do of an earthquake. He rocks them a bit, but when the shake is over, it has done nothing but heighten the delight of the California political climate.

A big fellow, with a toothy grin, spectacles, thinning gray hair, and a manner so pleasant that he pulls you out of the doldrums even before breakfast.

Warren has just the sort of presence a lot of us occasional voters think a governor should have. It's easy to believe that 25 years ago he was packing a Springfield and doing his duty against the Huns. Somehow, it isn't so easy to believe that only a few years ago, as Alameda county's district attorney, he was driving the rats and racketeers of his district out of their holes and into the hoosegows.

At the Mackinac Island conference of the Republican "Council of 49," of which Warren is a member, the governor, another newspaperman and your correspondent had been chatting when the governor was called away. The brother in the bond turned to me and said: "What do you think of him?" And before I could answer, added: "He talks well, but he listens better. He doesn't know all the answers, but he isn't afraid to say so. Say, that's pretty good. I think I'll use those lines." All I said was, "Thanks."

Is he presidential material? He will be the first to tell you "No," and the "practical" politicians are pretty solid in agreeing—not because they don't like him, but because the ink's still wet on Warren's record, and he has done nothing to stir the nation to voting in the public opinion polls such as have Dewey, Willkie, MacArthur and others.

But the record is there for the reading and geographically Warren could easily be a political asset to any top-state man who is registered east of the Mississippi.

Politically, he is a liberal. He's an unorthodox party member who seems to believe in lining up political friends and foes alike in order to accomplish his programs.

In any campaign, his charming wife and six lively youngsters, starting with James, who is a private in the army, would be no drawback. If you live east of the Sierras, you'll hear more of Earl Warren. If you live west of them, you probably already have.

Texas Today Meeting Manpower Problem

By WILLIAM E. KEYS

AUSTIN, Sept. 23, (AP)—Texas faces further dislocations and discomforts in meeting the wartime demand for manpower.

The challenge to place more men—and women—where they properly belong in relation to the war effort raises numerous problems which a reorganized War Manpower Commission Administration is seeking to solve.

Realizing that Texas was too big for centralized administration of this, the state has been split into 12 areas, each with its own director.

This is because no two communities have the same difficulties and facilities, explains acting state WMC Director Everett R. Speer.

Although Speer will continue to co-ordinate the statewide program through his Austin office, the area directors, aided in each instance by a management-labor committee, will have complete authority after Oct. 15 to operate their own programs.

As the war progresses and the need for workers on the home front continues to increase, important changes will be wrought in the lives of many citizens, Speer predicted.

He added, significantly: "Our program thus far has been one of voluntary cooperation and with complete understanding it will continue to be operated on that basis."

Speer believes Texans will arise to the occasion.

He declared: "Texas has a far greater understanding of the manpower problem than many of our adjacent states. We have had the war brought closer to us by reason of the imposing heroic deeds of courage and accomplishments by Texans, and because of our shipbuilding facilities, aircraft plants and munition factories, and because of the preponderance of military personnel located in the state."

"Our job is clearly defined and I am sure that, although the War Manpower Commission is charged with the responsibility for operating the program, Texas and Texans will shoulder their share of the responsibilities in a patriotic, cooperative manner consistent with Texas traditions."

One of the immediate problems before area directors is switching workers from areas with surpluses to those with shortages.

This means that Austin, Longview, Waco, Abilene, Brownsville and San Antonio must help furnish labor quotas for Beaumont, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and to a lesser degree for Amarillo and El Paso and even for out-of-state areas with shortages.

Yet in no two cities in the same categories are conditions identical, said Speer, adding: "The rules in Dallas are NOT applicable in Houston. Amarillo and El Paso are secondary demand areas but their problems are NOT similar in any respect."

This is precisely why administration has fanned out on a 12-area basis so that rules can be made and enforced by men living within the affected community and familiar with local people and conditions.

Speer said the new problem will call for the recruiting of "many thousands of women workers NOT now in the labor market," among other things.

He declared it will demand also employment of minority racial groups, extensive training for New workers, transfer of workers from less essential occupations, and employment of handicapped and part time workers.

He cautioned that solution of these problems will bring into play many forces affecting the community life including housing, transportation, public schools and all civilian activities.

"The War Manpower Commission has but one objective," he said, "and that is to maintain war production at the highest possible level and to keep the civilian economy operating."

"If we upset normal life in Texas in some respects it must be remembered that we are not operating under normal conditions—we are in a total war."

"We will win it or we will lose it according to how well we do our jobs on both fronts."

More Cotton Pickers Here

Some alleviation of the cotton picker shortage was noted Wednesday as more workers migrated northward from South Texas.

O. P. Griffin, county agent, said that while many crews had been continuing northward through here, more were stopping now and that efforts were being exerted to get still others to pick out this territory before going to the South Plains area which is substantially behind this area.

Reports from farmers all over the county showed $1.25 per hundred to be the prevailing snapping price with additional payment for weighing and hauling to the gin.

Assistance in placing cotton pickers is now being given by E. G. Cooper, San Angelo, representative of the US Employment Service. Similarly, Fred O. Dominguez, Houston, is helping the county agent at Lamesa in accordance with a request by the extension service, which has been handed the job of seeing to see-cure farm labor. The number of pickers at work in the county now was estimated at above 1,200, and the number of placements (which includes duplication of workers as often as they change fields) substantially higher than that.

The diets of the natives of India and China consist largely of cereals.

It's Time To Fix Soil For Planting Of Shrubs, Trees

By RHEBA MERLE BOYLES Home Demonstration Agent

Right now is a suitable time to prepare the soil in beds where shrubs and trees are to be planted this winter.

There are several steps in this preparation. First, clean away such rubbish as loose stones, sticks, large stems and weeds. If large areas are to be prepared for planting, for screens or borders, say, the plots may be plowed with a team. Otherwise, small ones can be worked by hand.

The soil should be broken or spaded several inches deep, often as much as 10 inches. Three or four inches of barnyard fertilizer can be worked in. Or leaf mold, decayed feed lot rubbish, or compost can be added to enrich the soil and hold water for the growing plants.

Not long ago a home demonstration club woman was asked why her native shrubs looked so much more attractive than similar wild ones near by. She explained that she began by building up her soil before she put out any plants or trees. The results were worth her forethought. Her shrubs soon outdistanced some planted two years earlier by her neighbors.
She had prepared her soil, but her neighbors had not.

During the early part of the summer, there was a good deal of dry weather. This club woman could not irrigate her shrubs, but they continued to live, although their growth was slowed. She had improved the water-holding capacity of her soil, and the moisture was held over from spring rains. Working and enriching the soil are especially necessary for clay or hard soils and others which bake and crack in the summer.

Milk constituted the source of 15 per cent of farm income in the United States last year.

Cattle Growers Need To Feed Now To Avert A Loss On The Market

By O. P. GRIFFIN, County Agent

Unless there is a very great change in the weather soon we had just as well become aware of the fact that at least half of the cattle in Howard County will have to be moved out before grass grows next spring. If the owners of these cattle face this situation now, there should not be too much loss. The market is good for fat animals. But if they are kept until they begin to shrink on poor pastures the price received then will be less per pound, and there will be fewer pounds to sell.

Therefore, there is but one choice to make. That is whether to feed them before selling, or let them go now before they start falling off. If maize grain had continued to sell at $40 a ton, perhaps more would have been realized by selling both maize and cattle. But maize did not stay at $40 nor will it stay above the Government floor price of approximately $30 a ton for threshed grain. Furthermore, if all farmers insisted on selling their cattle and their grain, a serious situation would develop with reference to both the Nations food problem, and storage for the grain. The heavy movement of half fat cattle to market would cause further declines in the price of this kind of cattle, and the owners would take a loss after all.

The number of cattle on farms and ranches must be reduced to prevent disaster in depleted pastures and high feed bills. The best way out is to place them on feed before they begin to lose weight. Give them a short feeding, 100 days, and then send them to market. Not every cattle owner can carry out this program, but everyone should take stock of his available feed, and plan to sell before the animals begin to lose weight.

But you are asking "Can I feed $30 maize grain and $15 bundles to cattle and come out on it?" If we take an animal weighing 600 pounds that would sell for $70 the account would stand about like this: such an animal should gain 200 pounds in 100 days of feeding. The feed required would be about 800 pounds of grain, 800 pounds of bundles and 50 pounds of cotton seed meal. In other words the feed cost would be approximately $24, including 250 pounds of cotton seed meal. Other expenses incident to feeding would be about $5. That is you would have invested in this 800 pound beef about $100. But it should sell for a price of at least 13.50 or 108, making you a net gain of $8. Furthermore, you would have the consolation of knowing that you had contributed something toward winning the war and appeasing the hunger of a starving world.

Farmers who have feed should take these facts into consideration: (1) All of the feed cannot be sold unless the Government buys it. (2) In that event the food production program to help win the war would be seriously disrupted. (3) Feeding can be done profitably at the floor price of grain. (4) A valuable contribution to the war effort will be made by feeding them out.

Soil Conservation Elections Slated For October 5th

Probably the most important election this year, so far as farmers and farm-owners are concerned, will be on the first Tuesday of October, just a little more than a week off, when Soil Conservation district supervisors will be named. This election is different from most of our elections.
Instead of continuing thru the day, the voters are to meet at the voting place, select a chairman and secretary, make nominations and vote all within the hour.

There will be three voting places in Howard county. They are Coahoma, Garner School and Lomax School. At each of these places a Supervisor will be elected for a subdivision of the District. A map has been prepared, which shows the boundaries of the Subdivisions. A copy of this map will be mailed to each voter previous to the election.

A Soil Conservation District can be no better than its governing board makes it. The selection of this board is up to the farm people of the district.

The Soil Conservation District will be especially important to farmers in the post-war period. A study of the purposes for which these Districts were organized shows that they do other things beside build terraces. They focus the efforts of the National Government, the State and County on the needs of farmers for conservation facilities. No owner of farm land can afford to overlook the importance of selecting the best men of the District to act as its Supervisors.

Mark your calendar, tie a string on your finger or do something else to remind you to go to your meeting place on the 5th of October, same being the first Tuesday of October to help elect the best man you know of for this important job.

Farmer Must Use Own Equipment To Construct Terraces

A number of farmers are sending in requests for information in regard to securing some one to construct terraces this fall and winter. Apparently, due to the shortage of labor and machinery,
there will be very few contractors looking for terrace construction jobs and it seems that if the terraces are constructed the job will have to be done by the farmers with their own equipment.

Last fall and winter a number of farmers worked on their terraces with disc plows, small graders, one-way plows, moldboard plows and fessnos. These various means of getting the terraces constructed proved very successful and a number of farms ranging in size up to a half section were completely terraced.

The value of having terraces on the field has been demonstrated on numerous farms this year. A number of farmers have reported yields on terraced land that more than doubled yield on untiered land.

A number of demonstrations will be conducted this fall showing the best methods to use in terrace construction with small farm equipment. Due to the shortage of labor and machinery
every farmer who wants his terraces constructed should make plans to utilize his own equipment to the fullest advantage.
