Two Men Make Confessions In Osage Indian Murder Mystery

BURKHART AND RAMSEY ADMIT PART IN PLOT

Probe of Mysterious Death Of 17 Wealthy Indians Takes Sensational Turn

BOTH WERE INDICTED

Each Had Been Billed On Murder Charge Following Investigations

GUTHRIE, Okla., Jan. 11. (AP)—Ernest Burkhart and John Ramsey have m de confessions in connection with the murders in the Osage country in 1922 and 1923, federal officials announced here tonight.

Associated Press dispatches late last night telling of the confessions came on the heels of sensational charges following the death during the last two years of 17 wealthy Osage Indians.

First news of the arrests came a few days ago when an Oklahoma City newspaper said several men were under surveillance in connection with the Osage deaths, which were caused, it is said, by a plot to get about $2,000,000.

A state grand jury recently indicted Ramsey and W. K. Hale, "King of the Osage hills." A federal grand jury also indicted them. Both were charged specifically with murder in connection with the death of Henry Roan, an Indian, who was shot to death. Hale was named beneficiary in Roan's $25,000 life insurance policy and has a suit pending in federal district court at Tulsa to collect. The insurance company refused a settlement on the ground that it was defrauded when the policy was written. Records showed Hale had paid the premiums on the policy.

Both Hale and Ramsey are weal by. Hale is an extensive land owner.

Burkhard, a relative of Hale's was arrested in connection with the death of W. E. Smith, white farmer. Smith, his Osage wife and a servant were killed in March, 1923, when a bomb wrecked their home.

THE WEATHER

"The reason I stand up on my sled is because I snagged me when I snagged my pants."

LYRICS OF LIFE.
By Douglas Malloch

It isn't travel wears one out
As much as fixing things to go—
So many things to think about,
So many things to pack, you know,
Poor Mother runs around at home,
Down basement steps, up attic stairs,
To find a clothes-brush or a comb,
And soap and similar affairs.

Yes, Mother nearly is a wreck
Before the train is due to start,
For if a thing should have a speck
The thought would break poor Mother's heart.
She's up at five as like as not,
For troubled sleep some duty brings,
To sew a button, clean a spot,
Or wash a few last-minute things.
Yes, packing's always mighty hard
No woman, no one will deny;
They're sick and nervous afterward,
As women all can testify.
There is so much to recollect,
So much to do to pack a grip,
That Mother's health is nearly wrecked
When Dad starts out upon a trip.

'DOUBLE-UP' IS RESPONSE FOR C-C CAMPAIGN

Business Men Here Give Liberally in First Drive Monday

AFTER $100,000 BUDGET

First Reports Will be Made Tuesday Noon at Lunch With Ad-Realtors

A half-day's work Monday afternoon by business-men teams combing the city in the interests of the chamber of commerce annual membership campaign brought a response that organization officials declared was "gratifying in the extreme." While no figures were available Monday night on the number of members signed up, nor the amount of money raised, it was believed in official quarters that when the workers report at noon Tuesday they will show a start that augurs well for the success of the drive.

J. T. Harrell, president of the chamber of commerce, said Tuesday he hoped the whole thing would be finished by Thursday at the latest and that the full $100,000 the chamber needs to carry on its work this year would have been raised.

Is Main Item

This $100,000 budget is the main item right now, this amount being essential to a successful prosecution by the chamber of the ambitious and aggressive program it has laid out for itself in 1926. The money is to be expended through channels that business men here are convinced will insure to the growth and development of Wichita Falls.

That the budget for next year, which just doubles the one of last is a necessary thing for the city was the expression of scores of business men called on Monday, workers reported. Most of these men are voluntarily doubling their subscriptions, while others are responding generously to the workers' mission. Is this they are following the steps of the Great Southern Life Insurance Company, a concern doing business here, but with home offices outside the city. A message was received Monday from the president, E. P. Grenwood, doubling his company's subscription this year and with it came a warm, felicitory message stating that the investment was one well worth while.

Starts at Noon

The drive started Monday shortly after noon. The team workers met at the Kiwanis club luncheon which was turned over to them in toto. Of the 36 men previously drafted service, 35 were on hand and the one vacancy was filled by a man taken from the reserve ranks. The city has been divided into 18 districts, each of which is to be worked by a two-man team.

The first report will be made at noon today when the workers meet at a joint session of the Ad club and Real Estate board.

LANGLEY QUITS SEAT IN HOUSE

Kentucky Congressman Resigns After Court Refuses Liquor Case Appeal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Representative Langley, republican, of Kentucky resigned his seat in the house today after the supreme court had refused to review his conviction for violation of the prohibition law.

In a letter prepared in anticipation of failure of his plea for an appeal to the highest court and presented to the house by Speaker Longworth, Mr. Langley said he resigned in view of his failure to secure exoneration in the courts.

Ill health prevented his personal appearance here, the letter said, and is a further reason it stated that "I do not wish to cause my colleagues any embarrassment."

The Kentucky member reiterated his absolute innocence of the charges against him, and predicted that some day he would be vindicated.

The Kentucky representative was convicted of having been a party to a conspiracy to unlawfully remove whiskey from the Belle of Anderson distillery, located near Lawrenceburg, in Anderson county, Kentucky.

New Cold Wave On The Road—Maybe

Another cold wave, the extent of which is yet to be determined, seemed headed for Wichita Falls Monday night.

Heralded by a brisk north wind and a rapidly tumbling thermometer, it struck here shortly after dark and by midnight had made the out of doors decidedly chilly. The sky was mottled with clouds, although there was no indication of a storm.

The wind had a peculiar, biting and wintry sting that gave rise to suspicion it might have blown over colder climes further to the north. Railroad offices, however, reported no excessively low temperatures at any point in this area.

Political Bee Buzzes in Austin as Ferguson Supporters Come in For Parley

MANY CONFERENCES

Abundance of Help Is What "Makes the Guys Mad," Says Jim

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—(AP)— Although numerous friends of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's administration, who gathered here today, were reticent as to their business, considerable political significance was attached to conferences held at the executive office. Former Governor James E. Ferguson when asked what political significance could be attached to the presence of the large number of staunch supporters of the Ferguson administration, said: "I did not notice that there was any unusually large number of Ferguson supporters here. There are always a large number of Ferguson supporters here. That is what makes some of these guys so mad."

Numbers of strong Ferguson supporters were in Austin, many of whom had appointments with former Governor Ferguson and the governor. The governor recessed the monthly meeting of the board of education until after noon to keep the engagements.

Among Those Present

State Senator Gus Russek of Schulenberg, Representative Sam Low of Brenham, Representative J. W. Hall of Houston, Dr. E. B. Blalock of Woodlawn, Dr. W. B. Collins of Lovelady, state health officers under Ferguson's administration; Senator Jesse R. Smith of Breckenridge, Senator J. T. Holbrook of Galveston, Senator Pierce Ward of Cleburne and former State Senator T. H. McGregor of Austin, were among those here.

Most of them conferred in private with the governor and former governor.

Undecided About Race

It was rumored throughout the capital that the Fergusons have not decided whether Governor Miriam A. Ferguson or former Governor Ferguson will enter the race. Several friends of the administration expressed the opinion that an announcement as to the Fergusons' plans will be made between January 20 and 25.

It is generally conceded that Attorney General Moody will have to be virtually forced into the race by his friends after the trial of the Hoffman Construction company suit January 19.

Lynch Davidson of Houston is the only announced gubernatorial candidate.

SKULLS FRACTURED

One Is Brought to Hospital In Wichita Falls; Other Treated at Home

At the General hospital at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning it was stated that Ed Miller was resting "as easily as could be expected." The exact extent of his injuries could not be determined for a time, it was said, although they were thought to be serious.

ELECTRA, Jan. 11.—Ed Miller, aged 25, local manager for Black, Sivalls and Bryson, tank builders; and his brother Fate, 24, employed by the same firm, were critically if not fatally injured at 10 o'clock Monday night when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on the Electra-Wichita Falls road a short distance south of the city. The two boys were on their way to Wichita Falls.

Ed was taken to a Wichita Falls hospital while Fate is in a hospital here.

The car was believed to have hit a culvert at a slight turn in the road, the wheels striking the right side of the culvert, and the machine leaping across to the left side, overturning and crushing off all four wheels. Glass was strewn down the pavement for 100 feet.

Persons passing discovered the wreck and brought Ed Miller into a doctor's office, where he was revived for a few moments. His first inquiry was as to the outcome of his brother's injuries. This was the first intimation that another man would be found in the wreckage. A relief party went back and pulled the heavy car off the man who was unconscious under the tangled mass of steel.

Examination of Ed Miller's injuries disclosed that he was hurt internally and suffered cuts on the forehead, right eye-lid, right arm. His condition is critical and doubt was expressed as to whether or not he would live more than a few hours. The full extent of his internal injuries cannot be determined for a time.

Hasty examination of Fate Miller's injuries indicated that he suffered from a fractured skull broken nose and a broken leg, and with internal injuries, the extent of which cannot be determined.

Ed Miller, eldest of the two brothers, has a wife and one small child living in Electra. Efforts were being made to inform her of the tragedy late tonight.

Electran Injured In Monday Fire; Home Destroyed

ELECTRA, Jan. 11.—E. E. Hamm, a mechanic for the Texas company, was seriously burned at 8 o'clock Monday morning when a fire starting from an oil heater destroyed his home at 402 N. Electra street. He was pulled from the blazing building by his mother, Mrs. R. L. Hamm and taken to a hospital where it was said Monday night his injuries, while critical, might not prove fatal.

Mrs. Hamm, his mother, was painfully burned and Mr. Hamm's wife, who was ill in bed, was burned slightly. Her condition was also serious Monday night, it was said, not from burns, but from the effects of the shock and excitement.

The destruction of the Hamm residence and damage to adjoining buildings caused a loss of in excess of $2,500.

4,000 Troops Seek Bandits In Mexican Train Massacre; Survivor Tells of Night of Horror

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP) Through the bleak mountain fastnesses of the states of Michoacan, Jalisco and Guerrero, four thousand picked federal troops are in pursuit of twenty bandits who on Saturday night carried out the most cold blooded slaughter in Mexico's history.

Boarding a passenger train in disguise and with weapons concealed under their cloaks, the bandits, without warning, sprang upon the guards with knives and butchered them to a man. Then they opened fire on defenseless Mexican men, women and children. The number of dead will probably never be known but the estimates run as high as fifty.

Cremated The Dying.

They wrecked and burned the train, cremating dead and wounded alike, looted the town of Yurecuaro and escaped with their loot on the engine.

The troops, operating under the direct orders of President Calles, will return in disgrace or else bring back the bandits—dead or alive.

Few persons in Mexico City are so credulous as to believe that any of the bandits will ever be returned alive.

Only two Americans were aboard the train, which was proceeding from Guadalajara to Mexico City. One of them, G. M. Wynkoop of Berryville, Va., described the scene as "a perfect nightmare of incredibly wanton blood thirstiness, a ruthless massacre and a most terrible sight."

Foreigners Robbed.

Reading in the pullman car were other foreign passengers who were not attacked but who were lined up outside and robbed. All were compelled to tramp for miles over difficult and dangerous roads seeking a place of safety.

Mr. Wynkoop, representative of the Buick Motor company gave the Associated Press a graphic account of the ghastly affair. He was the first survivor to reach Mexico City.

"I saw nine soldier guards dead," he said. "I believe all the guards and most of the crew were killed. The number of murdered Mexican passengers I do not know but some of my companions estimated them all the way from twenty to fifty.

20 Men Boarded Train.

"About dark Saturday I noticed twenty suspicious appearing men carrying rifles concealed under their cloaks, who boarded the train as passengers at a small station near Guadalajara. Presently they stationed themselves at the doors of each coach and without warning opened fire upon the passengers in the second and third class coaches. They continued firing without mercy, killing many of the passengers and all the soldier guards.

"I saw several dead Mexican women and children, in addition to men. How many I do not know; I could not see. It was a ruthless massacre and a most terrible sight. Even now I can hardly believe that such an awful thing happened.

Victims Writhe In Agony.

"I doubt if anybody will ever accurately know the number of dead and wounded. I saw wounded men die, and others killed instantly. I saw a little baby shot through the heart. I saw bodies so burned as to be almost indistinguishable from the charred timbers of the coaches. Altogether it was a perfect nightmare of incredibly wanton blood thirstiness.

"The sole and only mercy, which I cannot explain was shown to the slayers. Not a foreigner was killed. A number of Germans in the pullman together with passengers of other nationalities escaped unhurt.

'We Are Revolutionists."

"I heard the bandits shout 'we are not bandits; we are revolutionists.'"

"I asked one of them: 'who are you rebelling against?' He answered, 'Calles.' You watch developments. The revolution is not over.

"I was told that the bandits were all well known revolutionary figures of the Guadalajara region.

"Most of the foreign passengers camped out all night in the wrecked town of Yurecuaro; some walked all Saturday night and most of them made their way to Guadalajara. My wife and myself, after considerable hardship, succeeded in reaching a point where we could board a train for Mexico City."

BAD BILIOUS SPELLS AND HEADACHE, TOO

"For about twenty years, now," says Mrs. D. M. Collins of Myers, S. C., "I have used Black-Draught at intervals when I would need a medicine to cleanse the liver. I have found that it was quick to relieve a torpid condition, which was my chief affliction.

"I have been troubled with bad spells of biliousness. Often I suffer with bad pains in the pit of my stomach and nearly always these would be accompanied by bad headaches. These spells come on me every so often.

"About twenty years ago a lady friend of mine read about Thedford's Black-Draught in a newspaper. She told me about it and I got some to try. I found it a very good reliable medicine for my trouble. It would cleanse my system of the poisons I was absorbing and would tone up my liver in a short time.

"We have used Black-Draught constantly in our home for the last twenty years and have always found it reliable. My husband always uses Black-Draught for constipation and bilious headache. We can recommend it as a good safe medicine, because it has always been dependable for us."

Thedford's Black-Draught is made of pure, medicinal roots and herbs, carefully prepared in modern, scientific laboratories and contains the full, unadulterated strength of the original ingredients.

A Pupil's Idea of What Is a Creditor.

Buying on credit instead of paying cash apparently has its ludicrous side in Prague as well as in this country.

According to the "Humoristicke," a comic weekly printed in Prague, a teacher asked a young pupil, "What is a creditor?"

The pupil quickly drew from his observations at home and replied, "A man who must be told that my father is not at home."

Paying-cash-as-you-go has no attending embarrassments. It assures a life of independence.

News Of The Fields

North Wichita County

The Bridwell and Mayfield No 1, Henry Schraeder, in the southwest corner of the north 60 acres of block 829, S. Denison survey in North Wichita county, is drilling past a depth of 1500 feet, according to last reports.

West Clay County

The Red Bank Oil Co. No. 1, DeKinder, in block 2, Clark & Plumb sub-division, 1 mile north of Windthorst in west Clay county, has set 10-inch casing at 1200 feet and is drilling below that depth.

Northwest Harmel

In the northwest Harmel area the Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 7 Cowden Portwood, in the south half of northeast quarter of block 1581 T. E. & L. Co. survey, casing has been set and cemened in the lime at 1365 feet. The No. 6 is drilling at 1100 feet.

North Young County

Atlantic Oil Producing company and Buggett and O'Neal have abandoned their No. 1, Perkins, in the northwest corner of lot 207, TE&LCO survey, north Young county, as a dry hole at a total depth of 1,001 feet.

East Archer County

The Atlantic Oil Producing company has abandoned its No. 1, Crawford and Plowman, north of the old Delmar production in the Corsine survey, east Archer county, at a total depth of 1,450 feet.

N. of Archer City

The Kentucky Oil corporation and Empire Gas and Fuel company No 1, L. F. Wilson, in the William Walker survey, about 900 feet south of the Kentucky's old dry hole on the Aldridge survey, Jackson land, north of Archer City, Archer county, is down to 1,10 feet and drilling.

Sigler Area

Atlantic Oil Producing company has made two new locations and is reported building the derrick on both in the Sigler district, southern Wichita county. No. 3, Sigler Wagoner is located 670 feet west of the No. 1, which is just north of the old producers in the east half of section 51. No. 4 is just 360 feet north of the No. 2, which is located in the center of approximately the northwest quarter of the section, is making about 80 barrels a day from the 2,500-foot pay. Both wells will be rotary tests.

Marland Deep Test

Marland Oil company of Texas et al have finally abandoned their No. 3. Krupks, in the south portion of the J. Scott survey, southwest Archer county, east of Swastika, at a total depth of 3,585 feet, with nothing showing. It was southwest Archer county's first deep test.

Clopton-Willis

Clopton and Willis spudded in their well, Monday, on the south 100 acres of the W. T. Willis land out of the W. H. Anderson survey, abstract 1, Wichita county. The well is on 60 acres. They are drilling a 1,750-foot test.

Cranfill Petroleum Producers

The No. 1 Portwood in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of block 1581 T. E. & L. Co. survey, between the northwest Harmel producer and the old Cranfill pool, in southeast Baylor county, is reported below 1380 feet and drilling Monday. Should have the sand during the day.

Cashion School Area

S. I. McCracken, owner of 100 acres on the Waits farm, northeast of the Cashion school mid-way between Wichita Falls and Burkburnett, is completing a shallow well at 238 feet which he says looks like a 10-barrel producer. A spudder was used to drill this well. He plans to drill p the tract Texhoma has an adjoining lease.

McCracken also is drilling with a rotary on a 1,550-foot test, hoping to pick p a pay well in the old Burk townsite sand formation.

Hammond and Staley have completed 10 new shallow wells on their lease adjoining the Cashion school inside the last month. The wells are producing from the 258-foot sand.

Northeast Wichita

A great deal of interest is being manifested in a deep test being drilled by Texhoma-Magnolia interests on the Beach land southeast of Burkburnett in the heart of the old shallow field. The area is almost seeking in deep tests of any sort, and as it is believed by many that the area which has been so prolific for shallow production will eventually pay off from deeper strata, the well, which was last reported standardizing after setting ten inch casing at about 1,600 feet, will probably be the forerunner of other deep tests for the future.

Another hole in the general northeast Wichita county area about six miles east of Cashion school is down about 2,270 feet and drilling. D'Yarmett et al are reported moving in tools for a 3,500 foot cable tools test near the Burt and Griffin test. Penetration of the "big lime" levels below 2,000 feet make deep tests in this district unusually expensive.

West Oldham District

In the West Oldham district, the Petroleum Producers and Primrose Refining Co. No. 3 Wolfe, located 360 feet south of No. 1, S. P R R survey, abstract 415, on the west side of the Oldham district, southeast of the old Comae pool in suthwest Archer county, looks like a 75-barrel well. It is being placed on the pump with about ten feet of the sand topped, at a depth of 1330 feet. The entire sand body was drilled.

Terminal Area

Atlantic Oil Producing company is reported drilling at a depth of about 250 feet on its No. 2, Falls county school lands, located 300 feet south of the No. 1, a small well, in lot 63 of the Falls county school lands, north of the Carey pool, south Archer county, and in the Terminal area.

Offsetting Atlantic's No. 1 to the west, Phillips Petroleum company company should have some sort of a well in their No. 2, Falls county school lands. The well has sand at 1,171-2 feet with casing set and cemented above at a depth of 1,168 feet.

Sun Oil company has a location and a derrick should be up for a test 750 feet south and 150 feet east out of the northwest corner of lot 65, Falls county school lands survey, east of the Atlantic well.

The wells thus far discovered in this area have been too small to inspire much drilling. With completion on the tests mentioned above it should be determined whether there are to be any sizeable producers in the field or not. Upon their completion it may be said that much of the future of the area depends now.

The Texhoma has located its No. 9 Oldham, 390 feet north and 150 feet east of the southwest corner of the Oldham lease, Eliza Hubble survey.

Jack County

Jack county's new oil well, located on the J Preston farm, abstract 1003, about 12 miles southwest of the town of Jacksboro is good for 65 barrels daily from a sand topped at 2,005 feet and drilled 1 and 1-2 foot under the pay, according to information received in Wichita Falls Monday. The well is being swabbed now, the reports say.

The well is owned by the Buttram Petroleum Company of Oklahoma City.

Rondeau, Wilbarger

L. E. Rondeau et al are reported building a derrick on their No. 1-A. Waggoner, located in the southeast corner, 450 feet each way from the south and east lines of the lease, of the northeast quarter of section 51, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, southeast Wilbarger county.

No. 1-B, is also in the derrick stage, it is reported. No. 1-B is located 150 feet each way out of the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 52, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, Waggoner land.

Well No. 1-C is located in the northwest corner, 150 feet each way from the north and west lines, of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 3, SP RRCO survey, abstract 534, Waggoner lands, Wilbarger county.

No. 1-D is a location in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 8, H&TCRRCO survey, block 13, about three-quarters of a mile from South Electra production.

No. 1-E is a location in the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 17, block 5, H&TCRRCO survey, Waggoner pasture, about a mile from South Electra production and a half mile east of a Landreth test in section 8.

Oil Gossip

Landredth Production company is understood to be contemplating moving its main geological and land offices from Breckenridge to Wichita Falls. Although no definite announcement could be obtained from the local offices of the company Monday, tentative arrangements for a suite of offices on the sixth floor of the Perkins-Snider building have been made, and definite arrangements for the move all but consummated.

Landreth's move to Wichita Falls will bring Ford Bradish, chief geologist for the company, and J. L. Means, chief land and lease man, to the city to add to a large geological staff already here headed by S. H. Casteel. Landreth is making a rather spectacular play in Wilbarger county where they have almost a monopoly on the Noble district there.

L. E. Trout, Wichita Falls Geologist, owns an eighty acres about a quarter mile west of the new Jack county well. The new producer, it is understood, is on a structure worked out by Jerry Newby, and Buttram, an old man who made most of his stake at Powell in Navarro county.

Miss Johnnie Sadler, formerly with the P-B-M store, has accepted a position as stenographer in Texhoma Chief Geologist I. R. Sheldon's office. She is doomed to copy logs henceforth.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

E. B. Clure denied new trial.

A RECORD YEAR FOR RAILWAY

ACCORDING to financial journals, 1925 was a record year for American railways in point of tonnage and earnings. The consensus of the presidents of most of the important railway systems of the United States, as revealed in articles by them, which appeared in the Railway Age, is that freight business now running at record rate, will continue to increase in the first half of 1926, and if crops are good, will be heavy throughout the year. Capacity of the carriers to handle the swelling traffic is judge adequate.

Many of the railway executives emphasized in their articles the necessity of the enlarging terminals in some of the larger cities. Investment in railroad facilities or improvements to keep abreast of the demands of business, is expected to be about $800,000,000 this year. This estimate is based by the operators on some of the larger railway budgets of 1926. President Coolidge is committed to the forced consolidation plan of mergers. Many of the rail executives are opposed to the Coolidge plan and asked congress to enact laws to foster voluntary mergers.

It is the president's contention that forced mergers will be necessary in order that powerful systems or lines may carry the weaker ones in their territory. This plan is not popular, insofar as the heads of the large systems are concerned. They believe in voluntary mergers or consolidations and this is as far as they care to go, unless the congress and then the courts compel them to adopt the administration proposal. Many millions of dollars will be invested in railroad building in Texas this year. Many millions of dollars will be invested in improvements this year.

West Texas is a section that is certain to get additional mileage as the extentions already planned and given the approval of the Inter-state commerce commission provides for an outlay of huge sums. Those who control the Orient are hopeful of an extension of their line to the Republic of Mexico. For years the Orient has been an orphan, but the day may come in the not distant future when it will be a real dividend payer.

It is said that big business is in the saddle in America. It is in the saddle. Big business is in evidence everywhere. Big business made a remarkable showing in 1925. This is the age of big business. Men talk in billions now. In the not distant past they talked in millions. Gone is the distant past. This is the age of big business, and it takes billions to move the business of the greatest republic that time has known. Those who are engaged in the petroleum business on a worlds scale, have billions behind them, and it required the potential power of billions to keep their corporations and their programs going all the time. This is the billion dollar age and Texas is a billion dollar state.

ARE THE PEOPLE SATISFIED

ARE THE taxpayers of Texas satisfied with political conditions in Texas? Are the people satisfied with political conditions in Texas? Are the voters satisfied with their political servants, and political methods.

If not, they are reminded that there is an important election scheduled to take place in November of this year. Eighteen members of congress are to be elected. High court judges are to be elected. Senators and representatives are to be elected. All district and county officers are to be filled. Primary election in July, general election next November.

A qualified voter is a person who has paid his poll tax and unless a tax payer has a poll tax receipt he cannot take part in the primary contest or vote for the candidates of his choice the coming November.

This is the closing month for poll tax payment. There will be no open season February 1st for those who are ambitious to cast ballots this year. There are 2,000,000 adults of voting age in Texas. There should be 1,500,000 qualified voters this year.

For the first time in history the republicans of Texas will hold a state primary for the nomination of candidates for all the offices to be filled. This should have a tendency to draw party lines more closely in Texas. This should result in the creation of an aggressive minority party in Texas

SHOPPING FOR HUSBANDS

DESPITE the assertion of Mr. George Barnard Shaw that man has no chance to escape when a woman has marked him for her own, there is more exercise of selection on the part of men hunting wives than of women hunting husbands.

Girls under twenty, who happen to be good looking can afford to be "choosy." There is usually a crowd of youngsters at their heels, and they are always subject to raids from the "stag line" at parties.

But girls of this sort seldom use any real judgment in shopping for husbands.

Their pretty heads are turned by their popularity, and they are prone to settle their affections on some youth simply because other girls want him too.

There would be more happiness in the world if the girls of twenty to twenty-five—none of them ought to marry earlier—would use as much intelligence in picking out a husband as they do in picking out a new coat or even a pair of gloves.

The "'landing'" of the young gentleman after he has been chosen is easy enough.

All the girl needs to do is to appeal to his vanity, by hanging on his words as if they were those of Solomon, and by constantly looking at him as if she thought he were the most desirable of mortals.

Few men under thirty, and few over thirty for that matter can withstand that sort of courting.

But before these arts, which every woman knows instinctively how to practice, are employed, it will be better for her, for her future children, for her parents and every body else included if she uses a little discretion.

As a rule the kind of a man that other men like will wear better on long acquaintance.

His men friends have known him for some time, and they have known him in all of his moods.

He cannot fool them by showing off, or talking big.

The fact that he happens to be good looking, makes no appeal to them.

They know something about his temper, and they know whether he is what American westerners call a "square shooter."

But a girl ought also to talk long and earnestly with a man before she decides to go after him. He ought to know something about books, or he will be very dull and "shoppy" later on; he ought to like children, and he ought to be earnest enough about his business to promise to do well in it.

Romantic marriages are interesting, but they are apt to be temporary.

The world would be a long way farther toward real contentment and progress if a girl would look on a man as something she must own for many years, and be as careful about deciding to take him as she is about deciding to take a fur coat for which she has been saving up her money.

ALL THE WORLD ON WHEELS

MORE than twenty million motor vehicles were registered in the United States in 1925, and the gain over 1924 was 2,477,753 or 13.9 per cent. Total of passenger cars was 17,658,491, an increase of 2,132, 758 over the previous year. More than one million vehicles were scrapped or taken out of use.

New York has the distinction of being the first state to pass the 1,500,000 mark with an increase of 204,000 cars and trucks. New York state now has in operation nearly three-quarters as many motor vehicles as all of Europe combined. California is New York's nearest rival, with a total of 1,444,000; Ohio has 1,400,00; Pennsylvania has 1,357,000; Illinois has 1,266,000; Michigan has 998,000 and Hexas 997,000.

American autos have invaded the desert of Sahara. Americans have established regular Saharan freight and passenger service, given direct connection between the Oases, making possible the conquest of picturesque desert country, which hitherto it had been believed could not be traversed.

Speaking of motor vehicles, Texas is expected to go far beyond the million mark this year. Gone is the ox-cart civilization; gone is the pony-express rider civilization; gone is the cow trail road civilization.

It is high time that the practical politicians who represent the methods of dead civilizations were invited to bury themselves in the tall grass country by the forward moving voters of Texas.

"Love Bound In Wichita Falls"

By the Author of 'The Flapper Wife'

READ THIS FIRST:

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two pretty sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. They both work for the Dexter Automobile Company.

Mary Rose is secretary to JOHN MANNERS, the sales manager, and is in love with him. But he is engaged to DORIS HINIG, an heiress. Because of her feeling for him, Mary Rose repeatedly refuses to marry TOM FITROY, a young doctor.

Flossie, a born flirt, does a very poor job of keeping the office files. Mary Rose discovers that she is carrying on a flirtation with the president of the company, HILARY DEXTER, although she's engaged to Dexter's secretary, SAM JESSUP. She stays out with Dexter, joy-riding in his car, until all hours, and the girls' mother, MRS. MIDDLETON, can do nothing with her.

John Manners falls in love with Mary Rose, and tells her that although he is bound to marry Doris Hinig, he will always love only her. The sisters quarrel. And to get even with Mary Rose, Flossie tells Manners that she's just "stringing him along" and really adores Tom Fitzroy and means to marry him. Mary Rose wonders at Manners' sudden coldness toward her.

MRS. DEXTER finds Flossie's vanity case in her husband's car. When she comes to his office to tell him that she's going to divorce him, she mistakes Mary Rose for the guilty Flossie, and loudly accuses her of running around with Dexter. The girls in the office hear the undeserved tongue lashing that Mary Rose receives, and begin to shun her, thinking that she really has been trying to "vamp" the Big Boss.

Flossie, the real culprit, begs her not to tell that it was really she who had been out with Dexter, because she's afraid that if Sam Jessup finds it out he won't marry her. So Mary Rose, who hopes that Sam will marry Flossie and get her away from Dexter, takes the blame. One night Flossie "ditches" Sam at an office party, and goes riding with Dexter. Then she finds out how Dexter really regards her—as a pretty girl for a light love affair and nothing else. Flossie gets out of his car and walks home, thoroughly disillusioned. Filled with remorse because of the way she's treated Sam, she cries herself to sleep.

(Now Go on With the Story)

The very thought of Flossie going into another office frightened Mary Rose. At the Dexter Company she had been able to keep her eye on her, at least some of the time.

"Flossie, why don't you get married to Sam?" she asked suddenly.

Flossie thoughtfully screwed out the light from her cigaret against the wall-paper at the side of her bed.

"That, my dear," she said deliberately, "is none of your business."

The door of the room opened and Mrs. Middleton came in with the breakfast tray.

"To tired to go to work after the party?" she asked, as she set it down on Flossie's bed. "I heard you come in, but I was too sleepy to get up. It must have been around two o'clock, though."

"It was," Flossie said, calmly biting into a roll.

"When I was a girl, young folks' parties were always over by twelve at the very latest," Mrs. Middleton went on. "And that was plenty late enough—"

She stopped short and began to sniff the air delicately with her nostrils. "Cigaret smoke!" she exclaimed, and put her nose down into Flossie's bright hair. "You just reek of it, Flossie Middleton! That's from being around that good-for-nothing Sam Jessup! He always has one of the nasty things hanging out of his mouth."

"Yes, Mother, I know." Flossie said meekly, and winked at Mary Rose, who was putting on her hat. "He's just ruining his health with the nasty weed!"

"Oh, say, do something for me, Rosey," she called when her sister was halfway down the stairs. "Come here, and I'll tell you what it is."

Mary Rose came back and stood in the doorway.

"Go and get my salary from the cashier at the office, will you?" she asked. "And bring it home with you. He often gives me my money ahead of time, you know."

Mary Rose got the money from Turner the old cashier at the Dexter Company, late that afternoon.

As she turned away from the cage, she bumped into a tall girl who had just come in through the front door and was on her way to the stairs.

"Oh, I'm sorry—" she began and stopped. For the tall girl was Doris Hinig, all in black broadcloth with a bouquet of gardenias pinned on her breast and the look that she gave Mary Rose was withering.

"She needn't be jealous of me. I'm sure," she said to herself a second later as she went out into the autumn twilight and turned toward home.

For John Manners hardly noticed Mary Rose these days. He gave her dictation in a monotonous voice, such as he might have used when speaking into a dictaphone. He looked at her in the impersonal way that he might have looked at a time clock.

It was hard for her to realize that there ever had been a time when he called her "Mary Rose," and had told her that he loved her and always would love her. That time seemed like a dream, dim and unreal.

"Flossie always says that you can't believe what any man says when he's in love," she thought. "And maybe Flossie's right.

* * *

Flossie was not at home when she walked into the kitchen of the little brown house at six o'clock.

"She went out about an hour ago without telling me where she was going," Mrs. Middleton said. "I heard the front door slam and when I went to look out of the window I saw her going down the street. She was carrying something."

Mary Rose made no answer, and presently her mother spoke again: "Did she tell you she'd quit her job at the works?" she asked, and the girl saw that there were lines of worry across her mother's broad, low forehead. "My, I'm sorry she did that. I always thought she was so safe when she was there with you to look after her." She sighed deeply.

At seven Flossie had not come in and the two women sat down to eat without her.

"I suppose she's somewhere with Sam Jessup," Mrs. Middleton decided, looking up at the clock. "He was here most of the afternoon, instead of being at the office, trying to earn his salary—I declare, I don't often dislike people, but I can't stand that Sam! He's so namby-pamby!"

"Namby pamby?" asked Mary Rose. "He doesn't strike me that way."

Mrs. Middleton shook her head impatiently.

"Now don't try to tell me anything about him, because I know all about him myself!" she said with spirit. "He and Flossie were quarreling about something or other all afternoon. And you should have heard the way he let her talk to him! Why, he hasn't any more backbone than an oyster—"

"You think that about him because he's so meek when Flossie jumps on him" Mary Rose explained laughing. "But that's because he's in love with her. Sam's really a mighty smart young kid. Everybody at the office says he's a comer."

One more her mother shook her head. "You can't tell me that anybody who dresses the way he does—with those trousers that trail on the ground and those awful ties is ever going to make his mark! Because I couldn't believe it!" she said, popping a mouthful of meat into her mouth, as if she were biting off Sam's unfortunate head. "If my girl marries him, it's going to break my heart—"

To the surprise of Mary Rose she burst into tears.

"What's the matter, dearest?" the girl asked. "Surely you're not crying because Flossie's in love with Sam Jessup. She'll probably never marry him, anyway."

Mrs. Middleton sighed. "No-no," she said in a muffled tone. "I'm crying because I don't know anything about you and Flossie any more. You shut me out of your lives as if I were a stranger to you—I heard you both talking last night at two o'clock in here. And I knew something was going on—"

She got up from the table, pushed Mary Rose gently away from her and went out of the kitchen.

An hour afterward when the girl had washed the dishes and put them away she followed her. But the door of her mother's room was closed and locked.

"Poor little mother—" Mary Rose thought. And suddenly she saw the cruelty of youth that goes its own way, pushing aside its props when it no longer needs them leaving the shelter of the mother-bird's wings when it has tried its own and can fly away on them.

She went into her own room and turned on the lights.

It was then that she saw that something was wrong. For the room was in wild disorder. Flossie's clothes were scattered all over and the side of the dresser where she kept her bottles and brushes and powder puffs was empty.

Mary Rose pulled open the top drawer of the dresser. It was empty, too!

Flossie had gone! Bag and baggage! But where?

THE TIRED BUSINESS MAN
By Lillian Wilds Lake

Though weary from his toil by day,
(Oh, he is worn out, quite!)
He drags his poor old carcass to
The theatre at night.

He goes, (though night life is not good
For fellows of his age,)
Because he feels he ought to help
To elevate the stage.

Sad is his choice of Thespian ball!
Pray, how was he to know
That some producer fool has staged
A girley-girley show?

Though dreary were the hours there,
He carries out his role;
A supper at a cabaret
Revivifies his soul.

Let sympathy go out to him;
Aye, give him all you can,
He has a hard, unpleasant lot,
The poor, tired business man!

THE BARBER AT HOME
(Observed by Otto Krug)

His wife—Now, Albert, sit right down and eat your dinner. It will soon be time for you to be back at the shop. You can cut the meat, now.

Barber—How do you want it cut? I can give it the shingle, the boyish cut, the—

His wife—..ever mind, but hurry and cut it.

Barber—Don't hurry me! Do you think I can put a good beef bob on this steak with your nagging at me? There! Do you want a slice, dear?

His wife—Please, Albert.

Barber—Just a minute, before I pass it. Do you want some sauce on it? It really needs sauce, or mustard—I have some very fine mustard here that's absolutely guaranteed. This steak's got a bad case of dandruff, and—

His wife—What! Dandruff! What on earth are you talking about?

Barber—Be calm, be calm. There's nothing to worry about if you follow my advice. Now a little of this mustard—

His wife—Albert! Pass that meat to me at once!

Barber—It really ought to be washed. Don't you think I'd better give it a tonic shampoo? It won't take but a minute. No? Well, how about a massage? It will remove all blackheads from the surface of the meat, and close the pores. No? Well, dear, here's the meat. Now can't I pass you something else?

His wife—Not just now, Albert.

Barber—How about some potatoes? I think you really ought to have some salad on your plate, too. Won't you let me pour you a cup of coffee and steam your face?

His wife—I don't want anything more. Do you HEAR?

Barber—Very well. Next!

ADRIFT ON AN ICEBERG

"Forgetting—that's easier said than done!" grunted Polar, and shook the bars of his cage until they rattled. Black Bear, fearing that his homesick neighbor was going to lose his temper again, poked an anxious nose through the bars. Polar Bear saw him.

"I am sorry, Gypsy," grunted the white captive, "but I just had to do that or burst! I have wanted to shake the stuffing out of this cage ever since they drove me in here, but I am beginning to think I can never do it. And that doesn't keep me from hating these miserable bars that stand between me and freedom. I'll not rattle them again, though, at least not right now. And to please you I will take your advice and from now on I'll try to be as happy as I can, although it is going to be a mighty hard job. If you see me growing sad, say a kind word now and then, won't you?"

"Of course, Polar. I intend to be as neighborly as you will let me," growled Black Bear, who was greatly pleased at Polar's wish to be friends. "And now go on with your story!"

"'Let's see, where was I?' mumbled Polar, scratching his head. "Oh, I remember. I was chasing Seal. Well, I caught him, and then, having done what any Polar would have called a good day's work, I curled up on the ledge to take a nap before starting back with my game. Seal was as fat as butter, no lightweight, let me tell you, and I knew I would need to feel rested before I undertook the homeward journey. Now, what do you suppose that ledge on which I lay down at rest was made of?"

"Rock—didn't you say so?" Gypsy Bear was almost sure he had heard aright.

"Maybe I did—I wanted to surprise you. But it wasn't. No, Gypsy, that ledge was solid ice. But not being a native of the frozen North, perhaps you don't know it, but changes are always taking place on the icefields near the sea. One hour and a block of ice belongs to the mainland, the next and that block of ice has floated off to sea!

"Goodness knows how long I slept, but by and by I began to feel queer. Why was I gently rolling from side to side? Once, when I was a very small cub, my mother had rocked me in her arms just like that. I opened my eyes! I sat up! I snarled with surprise! Where were my beautiful snow white ice fields? Gone!! Water, water everywhere, as far as my eyes could see. Before you could say 'weasel' I knew what had happened. While I was sleeping the ice ledge on which I lay had broken away from the shore. I was adrift on an iceberg!"

Next: "Water Everywhere, but Not a Bite to Eat."

Miss Lucile Sherrod Is New President of The Penwomen's Club Here

Election of officers for the coming year, and the reading of an unusually brilliant original short story by Mrs J. S. Pitman, marked the weekly meeting of the Penwomen's club held Monday afternoon at the library as one of the most interesting sessions of the winter season.

Miss Lucile Sherrod was elected president; Mrs. H. F. Weldon, vice-president; Mrs. W. A. McGee, second vice-president; Mrs. Claude Williamson, secretary; Mrs. Claire Dillon Holt, treasurer; Mrs. E. A. Skalinder, parlimentarian; Mrs. W. F. Cagan, auditor and Mrs. Sam Kruger, custodian.

Following the business session, Mrs. Pitman read her original complete short story entitled "How Bettye Came Back," which proved exceedingly unusual and clever. The plot centered around a child named Bettye and revealed how she had influenced the lives of four adults, who in the story were termed North, South, East and West. The child died, but her influence was felt in these lives. The story was told in a realistic manner, proving very entertaining.

Those present were Mesdames W. H. Sanford, Marie E. Johnson, W. A. McGee, Sam Kruger, H. F. Weldon, W. F. Pagan, Freida Van Emden, Claire D. Holt, E. A. Skalinder, J. S. Pitman and Miss Sherrod.

Is your appetite gone?

REMEMBER, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything—enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the World, happy with everybody and ready for anything.

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the World the matter with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. It is acknowledged everywhere that S. S. S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

All you need to do to get back that wonderful appetite is to build rich, red-blood-cells with S. S. S. It's simple. Just try it, like thousands are doing every day. See for yourself what S. S. S. will do.

S. S. S. means blood with a punch—brimful of new life and energy. Get your S. S. S. at any good druggist. The larger size is more economical.

How Doctors Treat Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsilitis, physicians are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Get a family package, containing full directions, only 35 cents. At any drug store. (adv.)

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Dangerous Cough —How to End it

To quickly end a dangerous cough there is a very simple treatment which gives almost instant relief and often breaks the cough entirely in 24 hours.

This treatment is based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So the worst cough usually disappears quickly.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

OATES TELLS OF IDEAL FORMS IN YANKEE LAND

Variety of Revenue-Producers Makes Farming More Profitable, He Says

(Special to Record-News)

IOWA PARK, Jan. 11.—With 35 in attendance, the dairy school under the supervision of Guy Jones, county agricultural agent, opened on the W. C. Williams farm, northeast of Iowa Park Monday. The program was opened with a talk by M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, who gave a description of farms he visited recently in the north, calling attention to the fact that almost every farm in that section has as many as 14 dairy cows, 200 hens, and four or five brood sows. So that besides the sale of cream and butter, chickens and hogs are raised, thereby utilizing the skimmed milk. These farms raise all the feed stuff used, he said.

Jersey Expert Speaks.

D. T. Simons, secretary of State Jersey Cattle club, talked on the kinds of cows and feed best suited to dairying, and J. L. Thomas, of the dairy special extension service at A. & M., stressed the proper selection of dairy cows, better breeding and the importance of a well-bred bull. He also discussed the marketing question.

Other speakers were E. J. Wilson, superintendent of Wichita county experimental farm; and C. E. Birk, agricultural agent of the First National bank of Iowa Park.

Williams Farm a Model.

The W. C. Williams farm was described by the speakers as being a finished example of what can be accomplished on a well-balanced farm. Fourteen to 16 dairy cows are kept on ft. 100 hens and all the meat used is raised on it. More than $100 worth of turkeys were also marketed from this farm this fall. The Williams butter is said to be in demand in this section, bringing more money per pound than ordinary butter, and all the feed stuff used, is raised on the farm.

The dairy school will continue through the week and will be held at Wichita Falls Tuesday and Wednesday, on farms near Electra Thursday and Friday, at Burkburnett Saturday.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me. Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 809 M Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

DANGER SIGNALS OF INDIGESTION

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system "let-down" in tone and vigor on account of warm weather.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tell us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, un-refreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. Sometimes, pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Ferraline. Nature's great stomach treatment that has given relief to thousands. Ferraline immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including your stomach, liver and bowels. Ferraline makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Ferraline today at any drug store. Ferraline is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the owners have instructed every druggist to refund the purchase price, One Dollar, if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous. Get Ferraline today from your druggist. The Ferraline Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(Adv.)

More Truth Than Poetry

THE REALTOR BARD

When John Milton wasn't penning stately measures
Or engaged in writing glowing lyric gems
He was telling wealthy tradesmen of the pleasures
Of residing down in Chelsea on the Thames.
Though a poet's was his daily occupation
And he plied it at a most terrific rate,
As a restful and a pleasant avocation—
He would turn his hand to selling real estate.

He could not have held a very high position
In a game in which our realtors are seen,
For we never read of "Milton's Third Addition"
Or of "Milton-on-the-Health" or "Milton's Green"
But at times in which the Muse refused to function
And his pegasus could not be made to trot—
He could talk with all a real estator's unction,
On the value of a slightly Ipswich lot.

It is seldom that we find a big league poet
Who could earn his salt in any other line,
They are always busts in business and they know it—
(Although Omar wrote a tip-top ad for wine)
Shelley seldom had a cent, while Mr. Byron
By his creditors was constantly beset.
And although we know we had a nerve of iron
He was rarely in his lifetime out of debt.

So we're glad to learn this news of Mr. Milton;
He could dine on grouse and turbot when he chose.
Not for him to take a bite of bread and Stilton
As a prelude to his hours of repose.
He was sitting on the world and sitting pretty.
For he always could find some one in the City
In the market for a first class building site

ANOTHER KAYO

You could have knocked 90 per cent of the wiseacres over with a soda straw last night at the leg on fight program, when it was announced Trammel squares the scales at 140 1-4 pounds, and White weighs 145 1-4.

* * *

Not So Smart

Month in and month out, in fact ever since Duke breezed into Wichita Falls some two years ago and began knocking the boys over right and left, the more rabid of what developed into an anti-Trammel clan, so to speak, averred vociferously all Duke's opponents have been spotting him several pounds.

* * *

Many fans always have believed that Duke is heavier than has been announced from the ring each time he fought here. Yet, we do not remember any announcer ever saying Trammel weighed less than 142.

* * *

This time yesterday you couldn't have found a ring worm in the city who would not have laid you 2-to-1 odds that Trammel outweighs White.

* * *

TOM OVERWEIGHT

Tommy is several pounds overweight right now, but it is doubtful that he will ever fight again at a lighter poundage than Duke. When it was announced Tommy tipped the scales at 145 1-4 there were a few snickers. When it was said Duke balances at 140 1-4 there was a strange elevation of eyebrows all around ringside and a ripple ran through the crowd about the crookedness of some scales and untruthfulness of some people.

* * *

White and Trammel weighed in Monday afternoon under the supervision of the Wichita Falls boxing commission, which includes Morris Wolff, Bill McDermett and the writer. They weighed on the same scales and there was no tampering with the instruments.

* * *

The fact White weighs so much is not necessarily very surprising when it's considered Tommy took quite a layoff during the holidays and fattened up. But the lightness and subsequent vindication, so to speak, of Trammel is something that fooled the most skeptical, including the writer, about Duke's many and varied alleged weights.

* * *

AD PICKS TOUGH ONE

Our friend Ad Santel participated in a number of tough matches here, but Jan. 22 will see him in probably the meanest battle of the past six years. Ad, they tell us, stands in a fair way of being defeated. He meets that master mat artist John Pesek, in Wichita, Kan. Pesek, a 185-pounder, many critics declare to be the greatest wrestler in the world barring possibly Joe Stecher himself, and then there's still room for doubt.

* * *

That Wichita gate for Santel will be quite a different one from the houses the Flying Dutchman drew in Wichita Falls. Tom Law the promoter, has banked $10,000 for the match. Pesek and Santel will split the ten grand on a winner-loser basis and pull for a certain per cent of all that may be grossed over $12,000, it's said.

JOE WILL BE THERE

Joe Stecher and nearly all of the leading wrestlers of the nation will be at ringside, it is said, to see these fellows in action. Both Pesek and Santel are looked on as the two most dangerous men in the game outside of Lewis, Stecher and Daviscourt. It is believed that either can beat Lewis. Their chances with Stecher are questionable. Daviscourt is classed so highly because of his cunning and malicious roughness, a style of attack which may beat the greatest grappler in the world if that athlete is not well versed himself at the rough stuff.

* * *

Jack Gorman is becoming exceedingly ambitious.

The diminutive west Texas wrestler wants Matty Matsuda.

Don't laugh. Jack's serious.

He declares Matty has been dodging him, or words meaning practically the same. Avers Alec Ross is the only man close enough, figuratively speaking, to the Jap to be able to break down the barrier and get Matty onto the mat with him.

* * *

THE PROPOSITION

Gorman believes in himself to the extent that he's willing to take young Gotch here Thursday. Just box for nothing and then go after Matty. The proposition is: If Jack beats Gotch, Ross is to get him a match with Matsuda. If Ross gets Matsuda, Gorman is to receive no recompense for his Gotch affair.

* * *

Complicated? On the contrary, very simple. If Gotch beats Gorman [illegible] new athlete is paid off, but there'll be no match with Matty. But in pinning Gotch, Gorman reasons he would prove his right to tackle the Jap, and in obtaining a Matsuda match he's willing to forego his cut due him in the Gotch tilt.

NATS BILL IMPRESSIVE EXHIBITION SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—An extensive pre-season exhibition schedule has been arranged by the Washington Americans; including 13 contests with their 1924 world series rivals, the New York Giants. In addition to these contests, the Washington team will meet the Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia and Cincinnati clubs of the National League and several minor league teams.

LOOP LEAGUE QUINTETS OFF AGAIN TONIGHT

Large Crowd Expected At Second Double Bill Of Race

Wichita Falls Commercial league basketeers were on their toes last night, the eve of the second double header of the 1926 race, all set for the gateway tonight over the Junior college boards.

Last week's attendance was the heaviest in the history of the league, and those fans present witnessed two exceedingly speedy contests. Just as big a crowd is expected to be on hand tonight.

Landon-Hill and Texboma players are on their mettle today firmly resolved to break into the win column this evening. Dixie-Stephens and Draughon won their games last week. The Dixie-Stephens outfit beat Texboma, while Draughon nosed out Landon-Hill.

All the clubs are intact with the possible exception of Texboma. Don Falchney, captain and center, plans to start the game if recent injuries received will allow him. Otherwise White will hold down the pivot position.

The probable starters:

FIRST GAME

Landon-Hill	Pos.	Dixie-Stephens
Beck	Forward	Sharpe
Kolp	Forward	Shaw
Van Horn or Huffman	Center	Covington
Rice	Guard	Tyson
Clary	Guard	Foster

SECOND GAME

Texhoma	Pos.	Draughon's
Christian	Forward	Moore
Andres	Forward	Copeland
White, Falchney	Center	Brashear
Allen	Guard	Brazil
Howle	Guard	Hutchings

That Landon-Hill Outfit Refuses To Holler Calf Rope

C. E. Neal, Landon-Hill manager, says that to prove the sporting goods store basketballers can give any team in this section a hard battle they played three games last week. Tuesday night they lost to Draughon business college 25 to 24. Wednesday night they beat Junior college 22 to 21. Both of these were on the Junior college court. Friday night they went to Iowa Park and dropped a game to the Harrold high school, 34 to 32.

Three games in one week, and two points constituted the largest margin at the close of any game in the three.

Neal has an offense and defense that Coach Mosley has fined down to the last minute neatness. An offence of Beck, Kelp and Van Horn is one that can't be sneered at. His defense of Rice and Clary are said to be as good as any in this part of the country.

The team's loss in the league opener last Tuesday does not put it out of the running by all means.

Tex to Manage Texarkana Club

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 11.—(AP)—George L. (Tex) Wisterzil, who played with Shreveport of the Texas league last year, today confirmed reports that he would manage the Texarkana baseball team of the East Texas league. The latter club is owned by Shreveport.

Wisterzil made the announcement after he had conferred with O. L. Biedenharn, president, and Bob Tarlton, business manager of Shreveport, who are en route to the national minor league meeting at Catalina, Island. He said he will report to the Shreveport camp the first week in March to help whip the Sports into shape and then will proceed to Texarkana.

The new manager started his baseball career while in a San Antonio high school and he indicated his intention of trying out several local players sending them on to Shreveport if their progress merited such a move.

Oilers After Tiger And Hawk Games

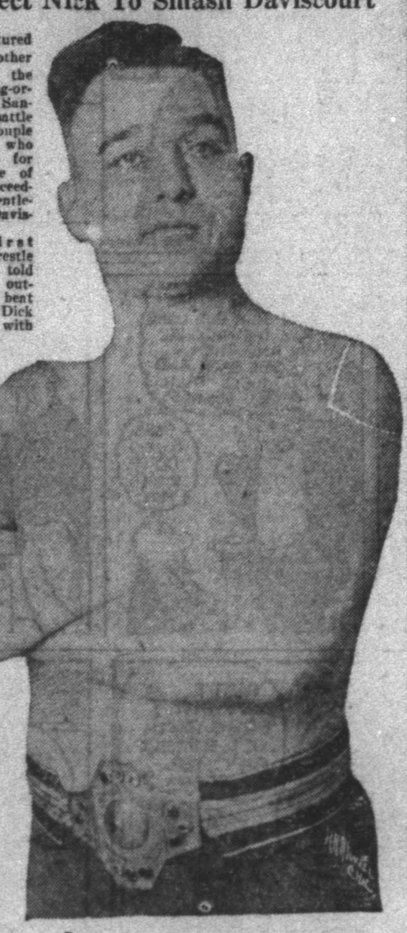

The Texhoma basketball club is figuring on a pair of practice games this week with Iowa Park and Electra. The club is greatly weakened since the loss of Dap Peyton, coach and forward. Nevertheless, the Oilers hope to get back in the running for the Record News trophy in the city league with a win tonight over the Draughon business college five. The club, however, may play without their big center and captain Don Falchney who is on the injured list.

Falchney had one of his teeth knocked down through his lower lip and followed this up by having a knee rammed into his leg. The latter injury was proving very painful Monday afternoon. Rob White, former Iowa Park star, will fill the shoes of Falchney should Don be unable to step.

KIRKLAND BEATS TECH.

KIRKLAND, Jan. 12. The girls basketball team of Kirkland high school won a fast game from the Tech high cagers last week by the score of 24 to 4. Vera Middleton and Jewell Williamson were the outstanding stars of the day. Both played great ball with Kirkland.

They Expect Nick To Smash Daviscourt

This big wild-featured bozumpus is none other than Nick Velcoff, the Bulgarian something-or-other who gave Ad Santel such a sturdy battle at the Majestic a couple of months back and who has been imported for the specific purpose of ruffling up that exceedingly boisterous gentleman, Prof Dick Daviscourt.

Daviscourt at first didn't want to wrestle Velcoff. He was told the Bulgar won't outrough him and then beat him in the bargain. Dick has a match billed with Joe Stecher next Monday in Winnipeg Can., and he doesn't want to run any risk of being injured prior to that bout. But after receiving the razzberries he did the other night at behest of Wichita Falls fans following that match with Neska, Daviscourt agreed to return and take a whack at Velcoff, who Dick was told, is a Wichita Falls favorite.

"You say they like this Velcoff here?" said Daviscourt. "Well, I'm going to come back and beat him if I have to break a lung."

Personally, we don't think he can do it.

The match comes off Thursday.

Card Hopes Run On High Gear In Hot Stove Loop

Hornsby Expects To Make Club Winner From Start

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Under leadership of Manager Rogers Hornsby, the National League's most "valuable player," of 1925, the St. Louis Cardinals hope to rank in the first division from the start of the baseball season three months hence.

With the team in the basement, Hornsby took charge June 1, 1925, and boosted the club into fourth place. With a bolstered pitching staff the Cardinals may be a real contender for the pennant in 1926.

Killefer First Aid.

President Sam Breadon desired two right hand pitchers of considerable ability. Instead, he acquired a veteran and a promising youngster when he signed Bill Killefer, former manager of the Chicago Cubs and a famous catcher in his day, to correct the faults of the Cardinal pitching staff. Shortstop Jimmy Cooney was traded to the Chicago Cubs for Vic Keen and Walter Huntzinger, former University of Pennsylvania athlete, was purchased from the Giants. Huntzinger came to the Giants in 1923 and in 1925 appeared in 26 contests as a relief pitcher, his record showing five victories and one defeat. Killefer is credited with developing some of the greatest pitchers in the game during his many years behind the bat.

The mound collection has always looked as though it should deliver and it may lack only the added coaching of Killefer to come through. Dickerman is a pitcher of seemingly great natural ability who last season lacked the winning habit. Rhem, a leading strikeout pitcher of 1924, won five of his first six starts in 1925 and then went to pieces. Haynes also disappointed high hopes and "Duster" Mails suffered from a sore arm. Sothoron, Dyer and Stuart are the rest of the list with which Killefer has to work.

Infield Unchanged.

The Cardinal infield will make its 1926 bow unchanged from last year. Hornsby at second and Bottomley at first are among the best in the major leagues in their positions. Hornsby had led the league for the last five years at bat, with a mark of .401.

Thevenow at short is a brilliant infielder, but like many shortstops his hitting has been erratic. Bell, who led the American Association and the Western League in batting, probably will become a fixture at third.

The outfielders of 1924, all youngsters handy with the stick, will start again this year. The regulars are Hafey, Douthit and Blades.

This spring the Cards will move their training quarters from Stockton, Cal., to San Antonio, Texas, which Manager Hornsby considers an ideal place to condition the club.

ST. ED'S CAGE SQUAD CUT TO 12 PLAYERS

A. game against the Southwestern University Pirates, Coach "Moose" Woeber of St. Edwards Pirates, Coach "Moose" Woeber, of St. Edwards University here today cut his basketball squad to 12 men. They are: Chinski, Pat Malone, Swanson, James and Jay, forwards; Durrenberger, Erspamer, Pete Malone, and George Woeber, guards; Captain Reilly, Shehan and O'Brien, centers.

Texas Hi School Gridders to Face Stringent Rules

Eligibility Clause Tightened Up by Interscholastic League Officials

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Decentralization of authority by appointment of 24 district executive committees, tightening of eligibility rules, and shortening the seasons, are provided for in radical changes drawn up by the Texas University interscholastic league football plan committee in session here Friday and Saturday.

Steps also were taken to place football as much as possible in hands of school men and to ban outside influence; for example, in the future, a football team may not play in league contests unless its coach is a full time employe of the school, and all contracts for games must be arranged by superintendents or principals of competing schools.

Class B Schools Barred.

Rival interscholastic organizations are certain to experience difficulty in arranging football games with the league members, for the new rules provide a defeat by a non-participating Texas high school will eliminate the losing school from the state race, except this rule shall not apply in case of intra-city schools.

Another radical change is making ineligible for state championship competition class B schools—those with 50 or less enrollment—unless they specifically desire to compete only against class A teams.

Lower Age Limit.

Lowering of the age limit by a year making ineligible any player who has reached his twentieth birthday on or before September 1 of the fall he is to play, and providing no student who has attended high school 10 semesters or five years are major steps taken to provide more strict eligibility requirements.

Mr. Henderson said the race would be speeded up by the rule providing for determining a winner in the games should they result in inter-district contests between class A schools. In that eventuality, one point shall be given to each team each and every time it has penetrated its opponent's 20-yard line, and if this plan fails, to determine the winner, the captains of the teams shall cast lots to determine which team shall continue in the state championship race.

Baseball Moguls Open Meet Today

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Scores of player deals promise to be completed at the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, which opens tomorrow afternoon on Catalina Island, lying about 30 miles off the coast of Southern California, for which some 200 baseball men were gathered here today. Upwards of 200 others, representing organized baseball east of the Rockies, both major and minor, are expected to arrive at Wilmington tomorrow, to embark for Avalon the isle convention city.

Deals contemplating the sale or exchange of players have in various stages of negotiations and are expected to be closed during the three-day session

WHITE TRIMS DUKE IN HARD TEN-ROUNDER

Tom Get Finger on Welter Title Cup—Ray Wins By Kayo

By BLONDY CROSS

Tommy White, the Texas City welter may not be the greatest little fighter in his class, but he proved Monday night to 1,000, more or less, Wichita Falls ring enthusiasts, that he's just about the best in the southwest, anyway.

Tommy grabbed a finger hold on the championship trophy placed in competition this week by the Pat Carrigan post of the American legion, last night when he outboxed slugging Duke Trammel in a tough ten-round mill to grab the referee's decision. Adolph Friedman was the third man in the ring.

Taking an impartial analysis of the scrap one finds that White captured three rounds by a shade and three by fairly decisive margins, giving him six cantos in all. Trammel won the third and ninth. The second and fifth were tossups and could well be called a draw.

Tom the Aggressor.

White was the aggressor practically all the way, however, was rocked back on his heels several times by the heavy walloping Trammel. Ring ingenuity, the ability to take a stiff punch duck under and clinch, weather the blow and retaliate with a series of left and right hooks at close quarters saved White from a knockout and gave him the victory.

White took the first round by leading in and driving Duke to the defense. There was plenty of action in this round. The second was a seesaw affair with Duke shaking White twice with heavy lefts to the map and several hard rights to the body early in the round. Tom came back late in the round and was forcing the fight at the bell. The round was a draw.

Trammel scored early in the third round, shook his opponent with a right hook and then got over another shortly before the bell with such force that White came near to going down and no doubt did get a glimpse of what might be termed a synthetic constellation of comets, sky-rockets, and whatnot. The chanter was Duke's.

White Rallies.

Somebody must have given White a shot of high life between rounds, because he charged from his corner in the fourth, waded into Duke, got in close and socked the Fort Worth gaucier all over the ring with short hooks and uppercuts. Trammel failed to land a blow.

The fifth was another one of these even-Stephen things, so to speak, the kind that when in doubt you ought to flip a quarter. White completely outpointed Trammel with short jabs and hooks, but Duke shook him up heavily on several occasions. Call it a draw.

White appeared to be in a bad way during the early part of the sixth from a series of body blows, but rallied in the middle of the round and led out again, swarming all over Duke at close quarters to earn a possible shade.

White scored at random in the seventh, speeded up shortly before the bell and rocked Trammel with lefts and rights that found an uncovered jaw. Duke appeared momentarily groggy during this frame, but was fighting at the bell.

White took the eighth by a narrow margin by scoring often with short blows during an infighting melee that lasted almost the entire round.

Duke Nearly Wins.

The ninth went to Trammel who caught White with a right at long range almost sending the Texas City scrapper to the canvas. It was the hardest blow of the fight, a rapier-like right hook. If a hook can be described in such a manner. White doubled up for the fraction of a second out on his feet, then as hundreds of fans yelled for Trammel to rush in and finish it ducked and sidestepped two more rights, a left, and clinched. He weathered the storm of flying leather the rest of the way and fought back furiously, throwing gloves just as if he had never been touched. The round was Duke's by a good margin.

Tommy started fast at the start of the tenth, but White soon took the offensive and drove Duke into a corner of arms and padded mitts. White was [illegible] fight when the final gong sounded.

Tex [illegible] with boxing instructor and junior lightweight who has signed on with the Wolfson forces to devote two days each week to teaching boxing in Wichita Falls didn't show much in a scheduled eight-rounder with Jackie Burns. Jay socked Burns on the button with a dynamite starboard hook eight seconds before the bell ending the first round. Burns took a reclining position and was dead to the world at the gong. He was unable to answer for the second stanza.

Tabby Gets Norford.

Smith apologized for not giving a longer exhibition, declaring it was unfortunate that his right connected in such a manner, sending Burns into dreamland so soon.

Joe Bradshaw, black as the ace of clubs and a middleweight, was given a decision in six rounds over Welterweight Kid Norford. Tabby Levine was the referee. Norford won every round, but did find Joe a touch and fairly willing miller.

Tommy Irwin and Jody Hall fought a hilarious four-round draw. These youngsters pitched all the way, and should be matched again.

Scrappy Williams beat Sully Scott in a four-rounder

Roughhouse Smith and Jack Irwin fought a four-round draw as the curtain raiser.

Junior College Proves too Much For Landon-Hill

College Boys Take Loose Game Monday by a 28-15 Count

The Junior College Indians took the long end of a 28 to 15 score from the Landon-Hill team in a rather loosely played basketball game on the Junior College court Monday night.

Rawls and Crites were the high point men for the college, each tossing in three from the court. Beck and Huffman also flipped three goals for Landon-Hill.

The defensive work of Rice and Caskey with Landon-Hill and Dennis and Stephenson, with the college, were the defensive stars of the game.

The college five piled up a 6 to 1 lead at the end of the first quarter, and held a 14 to 5 lead at the half. It was after six minutes of see-sawing over the court in the third period before either club could score. Huffman started the second half by slapping one in the loop. The third quarter ended 22 to 7 in the favor of the college club.

This was only a practice game to condition the city leaguers for their game tonight with the Dixie-Stephens club, and the Indians for their conference opener here Friday night with Weatherford College.

Coyote Pups Step Out in Cold Wind

The Coyote Pups were not to be cheated from their basketball practice Monday by the cool winds that blew over their outdoor court at Junior high school. They went through their practice under Coach Golden, taking a short scrimmage.

Ted Davenport, Edwin Goff, Roy Brackett and Ben Mix were the outstanding players of the scrimmage, but Shoestring Dulaney and Ray George flashed in spots.

The club has no games matched at present but hopes to get some in the near future.

INDIANS BEAT PACK QUINT IN PRACTICE TILT

Tribe Preps for Contests With Weatherford On Week-End

The Junior college Indians found the Coyotes defense somewhat open and walked through for a 26 to 13 score over the high school five Monday afternoon. The two teams took a good workout in preparation for their coming games this week.

The Junior college team will take on Weatherford College here Friday and Saturday in the first of their conference tilts. These two games promise to give the college plenty of competition and a hard battle to win. As a preparatory work before these games the colleged played Landon-Hill last night, and will take on the Clara Greybounds Wednesday night.

The Indians passed well yesterday and showed much improvement in their goal shooting. Thurman, Crites and Rawls were the outstanding offensive men with the Indians. Each looped several nice goals.

Stephenson, Deems, and Snodgrass played great ball with the tribe on the defense.

Perk Ray, Ed Powell, and Coyal Francis were the outstanding players with the Coyotes both on defense and offense.

After the scrimmage with the Junior college the Coyotes paired off and went through another shorter scrimmage among themselves. This comprised mostly of passing through a five-man defense.

Biff Jones Named Army Grid Coach

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 11.—(AP)—The appointment of Lieut. Lawrence M. "Biff" Jones as head coach of the army football team, for 1926, succeeding Captain J. J. McEwan, was announced today by military academy authorities.

Lieutenant Jones has served for the past three years as line coach at West Point under Captain McEwan, who resigned recently to accept the position of head coach at the University of Oregon.

The new army mentor played on the cadet teams of 1914, 1915 and 1916, and was elected captain of the 1917 team, but because of the war and early graduation lost his chance to lead the eleven.

$250,000 Offer For Colt Turned Down

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The New York Sun says today it has learned W. R. Coe, well known turfman, refused an offer of $250,000 for his renowned three-year-old colt, Pompey, champion money winner of 1925, as a two-year-old.

Mr. Coe declined to disclose the identity of sponsor of the offer, but expressed the conviction he could have obtained a record price of $275,000 for the colt if negotiations had been pursued. The present record of $235,000 was made when the late Major August Belmont purchased Tracery from an Argentine breeder.

MAKES BALLOON JUMPS TO EARN WAY IN UNIVERSITY

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Of all the University of Minnesota students working their way through school, Victor L. Engan, medical student, has adopted the strangest. He is a parachute jumper.

Eagan formerly made a living by participating in motorcycle races at Minnesota state fairs. He did his first parachute jumping last summer.

His only complaint is that his 175 pounds is to much of a load for the average size "chute." "I never get a 'chute' big enough," he said, "and consequently I get quite a jolt when I land."

Texas Favorites To be in Cards' Lineup in Austin

SLOW PAY FOR ART.

San Antonio Fails to Respond Liberally to See Famous Painting.

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Lovers of art in Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas, St. Louis and San Antonio are attempting to bring to their respective cities the late J. F. McCan's $50,000 painting of an eagle, "The Monarch of the Golden West."

San Antonio has been virtually eliminated from the contest because in two months only 8,240 persons visited an art shop here to see the painting. The stipulated number of visitors was 20,000.

There is one avenue to keeping the work here, according to C. D. Saunders, art dealer, and Claude McCan, son of the artist, but it is a small chance. It is that the rest of the McCan collection, 12 paintings, be bought by San Antonians at prices ranging from $125 to $1,200.

Europe's Abcesses of Government Crookedness and Political Graft Need Fresh Air for Prompt Cure

Erotic Passions Play a Part in Upsetting Royal Courts Of the Old World; Little Nations Crowd Old One From News

BY MAXIMILLIAN HARDEN
Specail Radio Dispatch to The Record News
Copyright, 1926, by The Consolidated Press Association

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—Bismarck used to say that Europe always has an abscess somewhere. The inhabitants of Transylvania which passed from Hungarian into Roumanian ownership seven years ago can argue now as to whether the worst abscess is in the old or the new fatherland.

The whole southeast of the European continent shows a feverish temperature again. After the League of Nations prevented a breaking out of the old Greco-Bulgarian enmity, the Bulgarian cabinet, which had rested on brutal force, fell and in Greece the mili ary dictatorship of Panagales was proclaimed.

All Into Power.

Teheran, Angora, Moscow, Budapest, Rome and Madrid—all these centers of dictatorial power—have come into being since democracy's universal victory was celebrated and prophets are already talking about the ripeness of France and even England for fascism.

Parliament in Bucharest is hardly more than an ornament. Roumania, which became great and even too great through the war, not by her own deserts, has done nothing important for her inhabitants who are made up of four nationalities and has neither relieved the peasantry from slavery nor misery.

But it is childish to attempt to ascribe Prince Carol's surrender of his rights to wrath over this fact. Erotic conflicts play a bigger role than political conflicts. A man who is so enslaved by his passions is not fit for a high place. The affair would only become politically dangerous if lapless folk should arise against the Hohenzollern dynasty which was imported six years ago and has given offense previously.

Diplomatic Counterfeits.

But next door in Hungary a back stairs melodrama is being played, the smell of which is "Budapestilential." In a state institution printng presses turn out counterfeit notes and these are taken across the border by privileged holders of diplomatic passes and put into circulation.

High dignitaries of the state and heads of the oldest nobility participate in the counterfeiting under the supervision of the country's police and president. When an accident discloses the crime before billions can be exported and presses are quickly taken apart, pounded to pieces and scattered about in the roomy catacombs under the palace of Prince Ludwig Windisch-Graetz who was the dictator of the criminal band.

The recollection that he once, probably guiltless, sat in a prison in New York, now has an ominous character. The grandson and son of the most famous Hungarian generals, during the East Asiatic war, he gets through the Japanese lines, is captured by Russians and escapes. On the way home he encounters a severe typhoon and has himself chained to the bridge alongside the ship's captain where he nourishes himself with champagne. He goes to Africa to hunt lions but is compelled by loss of money to return and marry Countess Czechenyi and supervise the care of his estates.

Becomes Minister.

In the world war he fought in the "Tiger battalion" of Transylvania and then became minister and secret pence negotiator and, speaking many languages and dialects, the leader of propaganda in central Europe. And after finishing the role of a most adventurous film hero this 43-year-old man, the father of six children, sits in prison as a counterfeiter.

But with him the whole system is on trial which for years has made Hungary the shame of Europe. Counterfeit money was to be used for propaganda for the election of Archduke Albrecht as king of Hungary and also by inflating of French currency to damage the little entente which is dependent on France so that Hungary could seize back a part of the lands delivered to the little entente.

These "awakening Magyars" have been able to boast loudly that they are carrying on war and to murder messes with impunity. Now their insolent and stupid attempt against foreign states brings them before international tribunal.

Europe's new abscess now can be cured only in pure air far from the Horthy regime.

Smith on Trial Friday; State To Plead for Death

The trial of Conteen Smith, charged by indictment with criminal assault, has been set for Friday, January 15, before Judge P. A. Martin in the 30th district court. A special venire of 75 men has been called by Judge Martin.

Smith, who has been in the county jail since August 22, 1924, was arraigned before Judge Martin early Monday morning, and the indictment, part of the finding of the October grand jury read to him. He plead not guilty.

Following the plea District Attorney Allred announced that the state would ask the death penalty for Smith.

Smith was arrested on August 22 of last year following a complaint made to the city police by the prosecutrix who alleged that Smith had lured her from her home to a downtown rooming house and assaulted her. In a statement made to the police at the time, and which has since been introduced in two habeas corpus hearings, the prosecutrix declares that Smith told her her husband was in trouble and that she would find him at a place to which he would lead her. She followed him to the rooming house.

Smith was immediately arrested and identified and has been in jail since. Two attempts to procure his freedom on habeas corpus hearings have failed. At both hearings it was represented that the prosecutrix was out of the state. The statement taken from her being used as evidence.

WATER MEN TO FT. WORTH

Dr. A. H. Douglas, head of the city water department, and H. Logan, superintendent of the water plant, will spend a portion or all next week at a school for water works men to be held in Fort Worth. Permission was granted the two to make the trip at Monday night's meeting of the city council upon the recommendation of Public Utilities Commissioner P. B. Curd.

Ex-Printers' Devil Is German Speaker

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—From carpenter's son and printer's devil, by way of a term as a political prisoner to speaker of the German parliament is the career of Paul Loebe, president of the reichstag, whose 50th birthday recently was the occasion for numerous testimonials of esteem, including congratulations from President Von Hindenburg and Chancelior Luther.

Herr Loebe's printer's apprenticeship was served in the days when young men who were learning a trade spent several years traveling from city to city, carrying their belongings in a knapsack. As a journeyman starting out from his home in Breslau, Herr Loebe visited many German towns and footed it through Austria, Hungary, Switzerland and Italy, becoming inbued with the spirit of internationalism which as a socialist he still sponsors.

From printer to editor was but a short step. His pen, wielded in behalf of the masses against the junkers, brought him into conflict with Prussian bureaucracy. He was sentenced to a year's imprisonment in 1905 for "inciting to class war."

Even today, busy as he is with federal matters, Herr Loebe continues to look upon himself primarily as a newspaper man, and is happy when thrown into contact with that fraternity. He still is editor of the Breslau Volkswacht.

DR. ATTICUS WEBB IN SPEAKER AT ALLIANCE

Dr. Atticus Webb of Dallas, secretary of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, was the chief speaker at the Ministerial Alliance Monday morning in the interest of prohibition and law enforcement. The speaker told how, since the passing of the eighteenth amendment more than forty organizations had been formed to prevent its enforcement.

A vote was carried by the ministers of the city to back Dr. Webb in his fight for prohibition and they will probably form a law enforcement organization in the city.

Cash Coming In At Sub-Stations

The sub-stations at Burkburnett and Electra are proving very useful in the collection of Wichita county taxes, Collector Guy C. Raley said Monday morning. $1,000 a day in ad valorem and poll taxes are coming in each day from Burkburnett, where C. C. Cole, of the chamber of commerce and W. A. Roberts have charge of the station, he says.

There have been only about 6,000 citizens of Wichita county pay their poll tax as yet, Mr. Raley says. There are still some 13,000 who will pay in the remaining three weeks of the month, the figure presaging a rush in the tax collector's office the last few days of the month that augurs at least along wait for those who have put off payment until the last minute. Sub-stations down town will be established for collection of poll taxes in the last week of the month, it has been announced.

Irrigation Board Selected Tuesday

The court house will be the only balloting place for voters in the Wichita water improvement district No. 1 election to be held today, it is announced. For those living in district No. 2, however, there will be three polling places, namely the Valley View school house, the Allendale school house, and the Pleasant Valley school house.

The only real opposition on the ticket comes in district one, where voters must chose five from a group of seven men for the directors of the district. In districts two a ticket of five men is offered with no opposition. The nominees in district one are J. A. Kemp, N. H. Martin, J. S. Bridwell, G. Clint Wood, J. M. Baber, Morris Marcus and John C. Kay District two nominees are C. H. Clark, W. R. Davis, J. D. Overby, W. L. Hodges and D. E. Hooks.

Only real and poll tax payers are eligible to vote in the election.

DOUGLAS LOSES CASH

Dr. A. H. Douglas, general superintendent of the city water department, reports the theft of $15 and a number of unsigned checks from clothing in his home, 2157 Avenue G. The clothing was taken into the front yard where it was searched by the prowlers.

The lights on the automobile were found burning, and it is thought an attempt was made to take the car.

GRANTED POLL PERMIT

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company was granted a permit for the erection of a pole and conduit system from the intersection of Polk and Tenth to the alleyway between Kemp and Buchanan streets, thence south to Avenue M, at Monday night's meeting of the city council.

The work contemplated by the telephone company is understood to be the first elaborate extension program they have in mind.

MARTIN LOSES FIRST ROUND IN HIS TRIAL

Alleged Krum State Bank Robber Denied Motion For Continuance

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11.—Four jurors had been selected late today to try D. A. Martin, charged with robbery with firearms in connection with the daylight holdup of the Krum state bank January 9, and the jury is expected to be completed tomorrow afternoon. Martin already is under 99 year sentence for the slaying of a deputy sheriff at Denton last summer.

Motion for continuance on the ground of absent defense witnesses was over-ruled when the trial opened shortly before noon today. Other motions made and over-ruled included one that the case be transferred to Dallas county, where four companion cases against Shelby Stiff and Yancey Story have been taken on change of venue from Denton county, in which the Martin case also originated.

Austin Executive Here in Behalf Of Memorial Sale

Mrs. John Claybrook, of Austin, executive secretary of the Stone Mountain Memorial association, was in Wichita Falls Monday in connection wit hthe work here generally, and more particularly to see about the election of sponsors for the Confederate Memorial coin sale.

Civic and patriotic clubs here, Mrs. Claybrook asserted, will be asked to elect popular young women here as sponsors for the memorial drive, with these to be invited to attend a great ball to be held in Austin early in February. As inducements to ladies to assist in the drive, the two making the best record in the community will receive lavaliers with a memorial coin as a centerpiece; while the two who make the highest record in all Texas will be given a free trip to Atlanta, Ga., site of the Stone Mountain memorial, where they will be suitably entertained and rewarded.

Then, as a grand award, the one young woman making the best showing from the 13 southern states, will be given a marble bust of herself carved by the noted sculptor, August Lukeman.

American Tree Is 225 Years of Age

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—An American acacia tree, sent as a gift to King Frederick I, 225 years ago, is still standing in the grounds of the ancient Hohenzollern castle, Britz, now the property of the city of Berlin.

The tree came as a tiny slip in a flowerpot from a German colonist in Pennsylvania. It is said to have been the first acacia in Germany. The king, eager to see what the tree would look like when grown, ordered it planted in a spot where he could watch it from the window of his study in the castle.

Municipal custodians are guarding the tree as jealously as did the first ruler of the house of Hohenzollern and have had it braced with iron props. Castle Britz was built in 1375 by the noble family of Britzke. Frederick bought it in 1699.

Revival Meet Is Begun in Seymour

SEYMOUR, Jan. 11.—A revival meeting began at the Baptist church on Sunday morning. Rev. Joe Jeffries one of the state evangelists of that denomination is doing the preaching and is assisted by Mark Short as singer.

Mr. Short is planning to have two choirs and to organize an orchestra both of which will be a great help in the meetnig.

FAVOR MONARCHISM

HALBERSTADT, Prussia, Germany, Jan. 11.—(AP)—An evidence of reaction toward monarchism is furnished by the action of the Halberstadt city council which has voted to restore monarchist names to four of the principal thoroughfares.

The resoration is not quite complete, however, for the former Kaiser Wilhelm street now is just plain Kaiser street, while the given name is similarly eliminated from the restored Crown Prince street. Peace street becomes again Hohenzollern street while Richard Wagner street is re-named Koenig street.

PRINCE ENDS LIFE

VIENNA, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Prince Alexander, of Liechtenstein, fourth son of Prince Frederick, is reported to have committed suicide at Kuedenburg castle because of financial difficulties. He was born at Goeding, September 20, 1901.

He was a descendent of Prince Edward, founder of the Carinthian branch of the Lichtenstein family, who died in 1809.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The cotton market today was comparatively quiet and prices fluctuated within a comparatively moderate range. Although the start was higher owing to favorable cables and large spot sales in Liverpool prices soon turned reactionary and that was the prevailing trend most of the day relieved by occasional brief rallies which were short lived. The decline was due to realizing and more or less selling and the low points of the day were reached in the late trading. There was a moderate rally right at the end on short covering and the close showed net losses for the day of six to 10 points on old crop months and only one point on October.

At the start at Liverpool came in better than due and spot sales there totaled 10,000 bales, first trades showed gains of seven points and this improvement was soon increased to nine to 11 points with March trading up to 19.42 and May 19.07. These proved to be the high points of the day, as the market soon turned reactionary and was on the down grade most of the day with occasional short lived rallies.

The market reached the lows of the day in the late trading with January at 19.75, March at 19.19 and May at 18.77, or 17 to 25 points below the highs of the early morning. The market rallied moderately right at the end on short covering, cutting down the net loss for the day.

It was reported during the day that a private authority estimated the December domestic consumption at 563,000 bales against 543,098 in November 1925 and 532,789 in December 1924.

Exports for the day totaled only 11,048 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Early advances in the cotton market today met increased offerings and after selling up to 20.00, March reacted to 19.76, closing at 19.80, compared with 19.86 at the end of last week. The general market closed steady at net declines of four to 17 points.

An opening advance of three to 12 points was in response to the continued favorable character of the news from Liverpool and Manchester. Private cable advices said that owing to difficulty in securing testable cotton in the south, the continent was buying in Liverpool and this was colored to some extent by the official cables showing an increased spot business in the English market with today's sales including four thousand bales for export. Other advices indicated that the improved trade reported in cotton goods at Manchester toward the end of last week continued and the buying prompted here by these advices probably included some price fixing in near months with a little investment buying of later deliveries as well as covering.

Demand was quite readily supplied around 19.49 for May and 18.38 for October, however, and the afternoon market turned easier when there seemed to be considerable local, western and Wall street selling on reports of an unsettled tone in the grain and stock markets.

Reactionary sentiment was considerably in evidence, after the advances of the week, but the selling was not general or aggressive, and after declining to 19.30 for May and 18.06 for October the market rallied three or four points from the lowest. Much of the trading here was in the shape of switching from near to late months with spot interests buying March and May against sales of July and October, presumably to transfer short hedges. Port receipts today 23,138; U. S. port stocks 1,671,340; exports 11,048, making 4,848,226 so far this season.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Extreme nervousness characterized the trading in today's stock market, which underwent a sharp reaction on selling precipitated by professional speculators for the decline. Closing quotations disclosed a long list of net declines ranging from one to nine points, interspersed with a much smaller number of corresponding gains. Total sales came close to two and one quarter million shares.

The reaction was influenced to a large degree by the circulation of rumors, later proved to be unfounded that W. C. Durant, automobile magnate, who is reported to have amassed millions in paper profits on the long side of the market in the last 18 months, had died as a result of injuries received in a train wreck in Florida yesterday.

United States Cast Iron Pipe, in which Mr. Durant is known to have acquired a large interest broke 15 points to 192 and then rallied to 198. Speculative uneasiness over the Mexican situation, the heavy calling of loans to correct the large deficit in reserve shown in last Saturday's general bank statement and commission house advices suggesting a lightening of long accounts also were factors in the days selling.

The unexpectedly large increase in unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel corporation made public after the close Saturday brought in a fairly large volume of week-end buying orders, the execution of which imparted a firm opening to the market. Heavy selling of the motors set on a wild mid-day followed by a drive against some of the high priced industrial specialities. The low prices of the day were generally recorded around the end of the fourth hour, moderate rallies taking place in most sections of the list just before the close.

Special strength developed in some of the eastern coasters despite pessimistic reports emanating from the conference of miners and operators. Lackawanna was run up six points to 152, the highest price since the declaration of a 100 per cent stock dividend in 1921, on reports of an early distribution of its Glen Alden coal company bonds. Reading showed a net gain of 2 ½ at 89 ½ and Lehigh Valley closed 1 ¼ higher at 84 ¾.

Standard industrials were reactionary United States Steel closed 1 ¾ lower at 134 ½ after fluctuating between 136 ¾ and 133 ¼.

Motors were under pressure during most of the session. Hudson collapsed from 119 ½ to 111 ¼ and then rallied to 114 ¾ for a net loss of 4 ¾. Mack Trucks dropped 4 ¾ to 148 ½ and General Motors closed 2 ¾ points lower at 120 ½.

There were few independent strong spots scattered throughout the list. American Brake, Shoe and Foundry jumped five points to a new peak price at 107 and Schulte Stores touched a new top at 27 ¾. Radio Corporation was bought in large blocks, closing 3 ½ points higher at 46 ¼.

Call money renewed at four per cent but advanced to 4 ½ on the heavy calling of loans by out of town banks. Time money was slightly easier, some short maturities being reported available as low as 4 ¾ per cent. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges held firm in quiet trading. Demand sterling was slightly higher around $4.85 and French francs ruled practically unchanged around 3.84 ¼ cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(AP)—With all United States wheat prices well above a world parity, selling today on the wheat market here outweighed the buying. A notable depressing factor was a trade estimate that domestic stocks of wheat both in and out of the visible supply are larger than generally believed and will at present aggregate 128,000,000 bushels.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were heavy, ¾c to 2 ¾c net lower, near-by, May 1.75 ¾ to 1.75 ¾; July 1.51 ½ to 1.51 ¾. Corn finished unchanged to ¾c off, oats unchanged to a shade down and provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of 12c.

Corn and oats eased down at the last owing chiefly to word that for the first time this season the corn visible supply is larger than at the corresponding time last year. Earlier in the day, rough weather over the corn belt had a strengthening effect. On the other hand, trade estimates of total stocks of corn in all positions and of total disappearance of corn so far this season were construed as bearish.

In line with hog values, the provision market was easy.

Market Gossip

Booth and Burmeister, Brokers, Waggoner building, today received the following from J. S. Bache and company of New York and Chicago:

Cotton

There has been rather free selling all during the day, but even so the market does not register any decline of consequence. The weakness in stocks has encouraged Wall street speculators to sell cotton both for liquidation of longs and for new speculative short commitments.

Possibly the present price level is in line with the value of the actual compared to the spinners turnover. The near months continue to hold their relative premium over the distants and in fact probably show a slight enhancement compared to the distant months. The new crops look to us as being relatively too cheap and we believe that they are due to be bought as an investment upon the present discount under old crops.

Stocks

After the sharp break the market staged a rally which we believe may continue into tomorrow, but would again urge liquidation of those stocks which have enjoyed substantial rises in this bull market.

The rails suffered the least in the decline, showing them to be in a stronger technical position than the industrials.

New Bond Issue One Solution of County Road District Trouble

BUT NO STEPS TO BE TAKEN

Wichita Commissioners To Let Others Take The Lead

That a $5,000,000 county bond issue may eventually be resorted to by the county to clear up the legal entanglements surrounding the recent supreme court decision as to the legality of country road districts and their securities, was advanced as a possibility by Judge B. D. Sartin at the county commissioners court Monday during a discussion of the probable effect of the supreme court's decision on Wichita county.

Only District

"Electra has voted the only district bonds in Wichita county affected by the supreme court's decision," Judge Sartin said. "They have issued $500,000 worth of securities on a valuation of approximately one-tenth of the county's total valuation. It would take an issue of $4,500,000 by the remainder of the county to equalize expenditure over the county in proportion to valuation. Any smaller bond issue, voted merely to legalize the Electra bonds would inflict a hardship on the remainder of the county, in that the remander of the county would be required to pay taxes for benefits received only at Electra.

But, the judge added, such an election would hardly be resorted to. A million dollars would easily care for needed improvements in Wichita county outside of Electra now, he said. The $4,500,000 left for Wichita county after Electra's half million had been paid out of a five million issue, would pave every section road and leave money to spare, according to Sartin.

Two Other Solutions

Instead, Judge Sartin pointed out, either of two other solutions to the difficulties growing out of the supreme court decision was much more possible. Either the legislature will meet in special session and validate the district bonds, or warrants may be issued by the county to care for work as it comes up.

No action was taken by the county commissioners toward solving the perplexities of the case, it being apparently their attitude that it was best to "mark time" and let the other fellow lead off.

M. E. Laymen Given A Verbal Spanking At Big Fellowship Meet

Crowd of 100 or More Enjoy Jokes and Good Tunes Monday

Good fellowship reigned at the second meeting of the Methodist Men's club recently organized at the First Methodist church, South, in a banquet and program at the church Monday night with C. A. Rogers acting as toastmaster, and Dr. E. V. Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church of Electra, as the chief speaker.

The speakers vied with each other in after-dinner stories, and a round of laughter kept the assembly of more than 100 men and women in merry good humor.

Discusses Problems

In a serious vein, Dr. Cole discussed the problems confronting the laymen and the minister of the church. "Often the preacher is asked to do those things a layman ought to do. He is expected to be a dozen different things. He needs to be a financial expert, able to put on drives and campaigns. He must be not only a good preacher, a good pas or, but also a good mixer. The worst old separator in the church will want a good mixer."

Entertainment was furnished by "a young woman of the Follies" who recognized a number of the congregation from previous programs. Following a song and some entertainment furnished at the expense of J. T. Harrell, N. H. Martin, W. B. Hamilton and others, the entertainer proved to be Joel H. MacGregor.

The Devil Appears

The appearance of the devil brought forth applause when he recounted his knowledge of the speaker. This stunt was prepared by W. J. Daugherty.

A quartet composed of Mr. MacGregor, E. F. Bohmfalk, F. M. Hansen and Harris Gray sang a number of plantation medleys.

A short talk was made by Bishop Martin (colored) representing the colored members of the Methodist church of the city.

T.P.A. BANQUET HERE MONDAY

National And State Heads Of Organization In Addresses

Singing "Wichita," "The Eyes of the World Are Upon You," "My Wild Irish Rose," and "Donkey Song," in which all the banqueters joined in under leadership of Alva Wilgus, song leader, the Tenth District convention of the Travelers' Protective Association brought its Wichita Falls membership drive to a close with a banquet in the Kemp hotel Monday night.

Fifty-five members of the organization attended the affair which was presided over by H. O. Newton, secretary of the local Post I.

As the banqueters were seated, three duets were given by the Misses Jewell and Adele Ray, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard.

Address of Welcome.

Following serving of the banquet, the toastmaster introduced Hubert Harrison, general manager of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, as the "human dynamo" of the local booster organization.

"We consider the travelers who sell Wichita Falls to our trade territory the most effective means of publicity our city can have," Mr. Harrison said.

Praises Travelers.

"Sir Francis Drake's circumnavigation of the globe and Columbus' discovery of America, were not for the purpose of getting pages in history, but were for the purpose of extending trade," continued Mr. Harrison.

"The pioneers who have builded this great southwest were not merely windmill fighters but were hard-headed business men who were after more trade and a better condition in life.

"The American business man is no longer looked upon as a walking cash register or a dollar-chaser. There is a feeling now that the man who sells merchandise is a messenger of progress. And it is the traveling man who is the real emissary of progress."

119,000 in Membership.

Russell Van Kirk, of Minneapolis, Minn., national president, in his response to the welcome address, said his organization has a membership of 119,000 and is growing; that it is the largest commercial order in the entire world and that Wichita Falls should have a membership of 400 to 500. He outlined the purposes of the organization for the coming year.

J. H. Leach of Dallas, state president, predicted that Texas will have 10,000 members by the end of the year. It now has 8,000. He appealed to each member to secure another.

HOSPITAL NEEDS $10,000 IN 1926

Board Submits Report To Commission and City Council

The needs of the general hospital for 1926 can be well taken care of by the grant of $10,000 to be prorated between city and county, according to the annual report of the hospital board as submitted to county commissioners and city council at the meetings of those bodies Monday.

The $10,000 is needed in addition to the usual return from the hospital operation, C. W. Snider in presenting the report explained. If granted it will cover an increase in refrigeration facilities at the hospital, the installation of a water softener, the grading of a small tract back of the hospital to provide parking space for doctors, and a large quantity of miscellaneous supplies.

The county commissioners endorsed the report and pronounced themselves ready to spare the expense of the proposed work. The city council, however, preferred to take the matter under advisement before granting the requested appropriation.

Paid at County In '25; But Not Now

School tax payments which have until now been made to the county are due at the city tax office from residents of the area affected by the last school district annexation to the city, W. R. Hyer, city tax collector, said Monday. During the past year the Wichita Falls school district was considerably enlarged. Residents of the affected area have found that the county has no record of their school tax for this year, that having automatically been turned over to the city upon annexation of the district. The announcement by Mr. Hyer was intended to eliminate considerable confusion which has resulted from a misunderstanding of this lately.

City taxes are coming in nicely, Mr. Hyer says, with the prospect that the last week of the month will not be so crowded as always before.

Through an oversight this appeared as the vaudeville bill of the Olympic theatre, whereas in reality it is the Majestic offering of the week.

The Majestic has an unusually meritorious program scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.
