

City Expects Same Tax Rate For Next Budget

Colorado City residents have some good news shaping up in the next municipal budget.

It looks like a budget that will require some penny pinching, but without a tax increase.

City Council and City Manager J.A. Sadler have been together in work sessions for initial planning of the budget that will be for municipal operation during the 1971-72 fiscal year.

The final blue print for estimated income and expenses will not be ready for weeks more. But here are two principal features city officials are working toward:

1. Same current $1.60 tax rate per $100 assessed property valuation, which amounts to about 45 per cent of value.

2. A balanced budget for capital improvements like the downtown sidewalk and curb project that will not overspend available income.

The balanced plan for capital improvements, if it is carried out as now planned, will mean that improvements will move ahead only at the pace allowed by income left over from daily operational costs and debt retirement.

"We plan to go ahead with our downtown improvement project," City Manager Sadler said, "but we will do no more than what is allowed in the difference between income and outgo."

The city manager appears confident City Council can hold the line at the current tax rate despite increasing costs, the downtown work and the extra cost of reactivating the city's water well fields under the planned policy.

New LL Officers

Arnold Parker, math teacher at Colorado High School, will be Little League president for the 1971 season.

He was elected at a meeting of the league Tuesday night, succeeding Buddy Marcom.

Elected with Parker were Dale Geiger, vice president; Bob Chalker, secretary-treasurer, and Leon Light, player agent.

City crews are moving ahead quickly on the demolition of the vacant corner building at East Second and Walnut in downtown.

Sadler had hoped that a firm specializing in razing building could be contracted for the job. However, a wrecking firm wanted $2,000 plus the salvaged materials to do the work.

So, city officials okayed Sadler's alternate plan of using regular city workers under the supervisor of Colorado City builder John Harvey, who is being paid at an hourly rate.

"We will save most of that $2,000," Sadler said, "and get some income from sale of the salvaged materials."

As the demolition work progressed, the city manager revealed that it is likely the leveling project will move to another downtown site as soon as the job is completed at Second and Walnut.

"The way it looks now another property owner will be ready immediately for us to level a second structure," Sadler said.

In the new budget will be about $17,000 tabbed entirely for re-activating the city's well field to supplement the municipal water supply as lake water continues to dwindle with lack of rain.

Two wells near the Colorado Housing Authority project on 17th Street have been renovated and tested -- pumping 80 gallons per minute over a 24 hour period without dropping in level.

"We are awaiting pump parts now," the city manager said, "then we intend to activate the wells as we make them operational."

"We'll put those six near the housing project into operation first, then move north to the other wells."

Register For Convention

Early to register Wednesday for Texas Federation of Women's Clubs Mesquite District Convention are Mrs. Milton Bodzin, of Abilene; Mrs. Dave Womack and Mrs. Ed Majors of Colorado City. Highlight event today (Thursday) will be a talk by Mrs. Philip Carpenter of Burkburnett, state president, at a Civic House luncheon.

State, Area Posts To Bank Officials

Two City National Bank officials have been named to state and regional groups important for banking and business.

Executive Vice President Gus Chesney was elected Saturday to Texas Banking Association's Advisory Council representing the TBA's vast District 6.

And, a telegram from U.S. Senator John Tower notified Vice President Trevlyn Kelley his appointment to Lubbock District Advisory Council for Small Business Administration.

Chesney succeeds Wilbur A. Yeager, executive vice president of The First National Bank of Midland, on the Texas Banking Association's advisory council.

He is one of 2 West Texas bankers representing District 6, which includes 31 counties stretching from Nolan County west to New Mexico line, and from San Angelo to Del Rio and El Paso.

Serving with him is John T. Gammill, president of Kermit State Bank.

Colorado City banker ever elected to the important state position.

Tom C. Frost of San Antonio is president of the TBA and the council which Chesney joins for a 2-year term provides guidance for the state banking organization.

Recently, before the City National executive vice president was elected by the 6th District, the state council was in Washington, D.C., for appearances before Senate and House banking committees.

Serving on the council during the last year were Miles D. Wilson of Bellville, Henry B. Clay of Bryan, S.H. Collier Jr. of Mercedes, G.E. Ronney of McAllen, Leon Stone of Austin, J.C. Sloan of Georgetown, Hilliar S. Thomas of Cameron, Kenneth Irwin of Gruver, Oliver Howard of Abilene, Wilbur Yeager Jr. of Midland, Oscar C. Linderman of Dallas, William B. Bertelsen of Cranfills Gap, John D. Sanders of Palestine, John M. Griffith Jr. of Fort Worth, John P. Gammill of Kermit and J.B. Petts of Post.

the Lubbock District advisory group for Small Business Administration which is made up of representatives from independently owned small businesses, banking and related fields.

Kelley's group provides a source of information and advice to SBA on current conditions and problems of small businesses for an area of 80 counties in west Texas.

It also is a channel of advice for the regional SBA staff on ways of improving effectiveness of current and proposed SBA programs.

The council also provides the SBA staff with appraisal of the federal agency's programs at work within the area and recommend economic programs designed to meet the local needs of small business within the area.

Although Kelley's official appointment just now has been announced in Washington, he already has been active in a meeting of the regional council.

★ Homeless And Abandoned

Maybe it is for lack of production--rain production, that is.

Because not a single inch of moisture has the instruments measured at any one time for better part of a year.

But whatever the reason, the official U.S. Weather Bureau rain and temperature gauge that has served for years the Colorado City area has lost its working home.

It lay on its side Wednesday, discarded at the rear of Mitchell County Library.

For years it has been on the front lawn of Courthouse, courtesy of the county, where it has been serviced by city firemen for U.S. Weather Bureau.

County Judge Bill F. Carter told the Record a few days ago he wanted the apparatus removed from its courthouse location. The judge said the courthouse lawn sprinkler affected the gauge readings when located near the gauges.

The gauge was removed from the Courthouse location Tuesday and left abandoned at rear of the library with its sensitive temperature gauges inside its shuttered housing. The metal rain measuring devices were nearby.

City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr. said he had attempted to explain to the judge the city had no authority to move the gauge, that the equipment was the property of the U.S. Weather Bureau at a site previously approved by the bureau.

The city allows its paid fire truck drivers to service the gauges and make reports to the weather bureau, but has no other connection with the instruments.

But regardless-whether the community needs the equipment up and working for vital statistics that are important in numerous ways--the gauge is down and abandoned.

And, if a rain were to come now we couldn't measure it...officially.

There is hope. Radio Station owner Drew Ballard, who said he "couldn't believe it", has asked the Weather Bureau to authorize his station to tend the gauges.

"They told me we could probably work something out," Ballard quoted after a long distance phone call Wednesday.

Junior Relays

Coach Riley will take a full squad to the San Angelo relays with competition starting Friday.

State Champ Carl Devorce is fresh from a record-making shot put performance Saturday at Range, where he tossed the shot 59 feet 7 1/4 inches.

However, Stan Bracy, the state's AAA 220 king, is still hampered by an ailing leg muscle. The injury kept the sprinter sidelined the last two weeks.

CONVERSATION CORNER

"LIFE is a series of surprises and not many of them come gift-wrapped," somebody whose name is forgotten for now has been quoted as saying.

Surprises when they're nice are always dear to children's hearts and often to the older young in heart.

Now you'd think after all these seasons that the glory of a red-bud tree in bloom... in clusters of miniature blossoms on plum and pear trees which were dead to the world only yesterday... would come as no surprise. But when the wind stayed still long enough and the last dust storm lifted, there were such beautiful surprises all over town.

It has been spring, officially and according to the calendar, since Sunday. Every bird in the neighborhood knows it. So do the flowering trees. Spring is one of the world's most magical surprises. And it usually does come gift-wrapped with tissue-thin blossoms and bow-knots of buds.

"LIFE is a series of surprises" even years after you first decide that nothing surprises you much any more. And that nothing at all shocks you much any more either.

Surprised to learn that ABC dares to cancel the Lawrence Welk show after the current season. Shocked too!

Surprised, and tickled pink, to read that come May 1, Railpax (Railroad Passenger Corporation) will begin passenger train service. There will be an east-west train between New Orleans and Los Angeles via Beaumont, San Antonio, Del Rio, El Paso, Tucson, and Phoenix.

People who want to can ride north-south passenger train from Houston to Chicago with stops in Temple, Ft. Worth, Oklahoma City and Kansas City. The plan involves three weekly roundtrips.

That surprising development is enough to make passenger train lovers sing "Hand me down my traveling case."

A SURPRISE a day can keep boredom away. Reading fancy new recipes can surprise you, specially when they suggest pineapple and onion ring salad... oregano in everything but the dessert.

If you have time old movies on television can surprise you to pieces. You'd be surprised how young Jimmy Stewart and Bing Crosby used to look on the screen 20 or 30 years ago. And at how Bette Davis has changed. You'd be surprised that America has any Indian left, too.

THOSE ARE harmless little surprises with which to treat yourself. Not all surprises come under that pleasant category.

There is the surprise of meeting an old acquaintance after years and years only to hear "Bet you don't remember me," "cause sure 'nuff you don't."

There is the surprise of the telephone voice answering your hello with "Guess who this is."

There is the surprise of seeing McCall's magazine shrink suddenly to the size of Red Book... and sink to the level of Cosmopolitan in the tone of its contents.

There is the surprise of unexpected company for dinner when you're having left-overs and just two pieces of pie.

WHERE time goes is full of surprises... surprises come in all shapes and sizes.

Does it surprise you any that there are only five more office days for the purchasing of car license tags? And that after that, there are just 15 days left for filing the income tax forms? That's not only surprising - it's scary.

How about wondering where the money went... when you break five dollar bills and wind up with one cent?

NICE SURPRISE came to our Mrs. Mary E. Tiller Sunday. Her son Johnny Tiller and his pretty wife, Jo drove from Ropesville where they live now for a surprise visit. Mrs. Tiller will celebrate her 95th birthday, come August, and is one of C-City's most remarkable little ladies.

Jo and Johnny drove here with the Odell Fullers, also of Ropesville, who were Sunday guests in the home of their son Tommy Fuller and his family.

SEEN LATELYS since last time include Bea and Pint Richards... Carl Guelker... Frankie Vann... Leon Callaway, pleasant postman... Nathan Rogers.

Saw Mary Jo Self (Mrs. Aubrey) and her attractive CHS daughter Lana on the shopping scene... Ruth (Mrs. Joe) Barnett.

Coffee crew one morning brought greetings from Toby Sanderson... Elizabeth Elliott (Mrs. Lewis) and Blanche Bell (Mrs. Willie A.)... A. C. Craig of the LTNS (long time no see) department... Slaby Walding (Mrs. Dennis)... Margie Treadway (Mrs. Kelley) and Ollie Gale sitting in a row.

Merrill Johnson was on the downtown scene... So was Roy Warren... and Annie Dixon who is now the new bookkeeper for C.C. Tank Rental Co... Jeanette Chamness and Denise Bertl were refreshment breaking together.

OFF THE CUFF--Friends of Mrs. Lester Biggs and of Mrs. Jack Eckleberry of C-City were sorry to learn of the death of their brother D. J. Sheppard of Big Spring. Mr. Sheppard was employed by Burns Detective Agency at Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.

Flo and Wann Sparks spent Saturday and Sunday in Hobbs, N. M. where they were guests of Flo's sister and her family.

Roger Richards is on a Pacific cruise as member of the submarine Bonfish crew. The Bonfish will be on West-Pac (their term for Western Pacific) duty until some time in August.

Hear tell that Midge Crabtree (Mrs. Woody) is recovering from minor surgery after a short stay at Root Memorial.

FLOWER ARRANGING

A lovely floral arrangement is formed usually in one of eight basic designs. They are: The Triangle, the S-Curve, a Side Triangle, a Crescent, a Perpendicular, the Circle, a Half Circle or the Oval. All of these can be varied, tilted or changed in many ways.

However, all arrangements of flowers should be as nearly as possible to correspond with their growing habits. For instance, place short flowers in low containers. Leave long stems on tall flowers.

We are proud of our arrangements, and spend extra time and effort to design just the flowers you want.

85 Women, Girls At Sewing Workshop

Approximately 85 women and homemaking girls Friday attended a sewing workshop in Lone Wolf Electric's Medallion Room.

Guest instructor for the special fit program was Miss Suzanne Greene, educational representative for Unique Zipper Manufacturing Company.

Miss Greene demonstrated the use of dress form and basic dress patterns in fitting a garment.

She outlined fitting standards, pattern alteration, and presented suggestions for preparing and cutting fabric and garment fitting during construction.

In a demonstration for installing an invisible zipper Miss Greene showed how to finish facing at zipper top.

Hesperians Study Lone Star State

Texas Day program for Hesperian Study Club Friday featured the discovering and discovery of Lone Star State.

Mrs. Jasper Wood was leader for the study hosted by Mrs. Otto Jones.

Mrs. J. A. Sadler Sr. told of present day discovering of the state. Mrs. Bennett Scott reviewed discovery of Texas.

In speaking of modern day Texas, Mrs. Sadler told of restoration of post-Civil War charm to Jefferson City by the city's garden club. Commenting on the project the speaker said the project was making "this historical East Texas town one of the most delightful spots to visit."

She reviewed history of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo and governor's mansion built in 1888.

Mrs. Scott told of the Spanish mission system which "worked better in Mexico than in Texas."

"The Spanish entire venture in the new world was not successful for Spain," Hesperians were told, "but the effect of missions was great in subsequent colonization and history of Texas."

Spanish missions are among the state's greatest glories, Mrs. Scott explained, particularly in San Antonio area.

She sketched brief history and present day establishment of three missions - Alamo, Goliad and Concepcion.

Roll call for the afternoon meeting was answered by each member telling a thumbnail sketch of her favorite governor.

Members present were Miss Gladys Miller, Mrs. J. V. Glover, Mrs. Lynn Halbert, Mrs. J. E. Hale, Mrs. M. E. Miller, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. S. O. Wulfin, Mrs. W. H. Winn, Mrs. J. W. Watson.

Also, Mrs. E. M. Majors, Mrs. Sadler, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. O. L. Simpson, Mrs. F. N. Thomas and the hostess, Mrs. Jones.

When you promised to share and share alike, did that mean your wife could use up all the hot water?

You could get up earlier. Then you'd be sure to beat her to it. Of course she wouldn't be too impressed with your chivalry.

Another alternative is a larger gas water heater. Gas water heaters are easy to buy, easy to install, and recover hot water up to twice as fast as comparable electric models.

So stop competing with your better half. Get a larger capacity hot water heater. For fewer fights and lots more hot water.

First In Project Judging

Judged tops in underwater city designs, last project in an eighth grade study of oceanography, at Colorado Junior High, was this model by, left to right, Margie Ballard, Anna Wistrand, Rachael Willis, Patricia Winn, Donna Cooley, Carolyn Walker, Carlton Watson, Craig Merket and Randy Erwin. Prior to model construction students studied ocean floors, sea life, exploration, depth and pressures of ocean as well as ocean currents.

Models, showing ridge and slopes of ocean floor, were made from plaster of Paris and designed to be both practical and inexpensive. In making the cities, students had to first figure thickness of dome in relevance to depth and pressure, direction of current and other factors.

Models were made by student groups, according to Fry and "all models showed much study and concentrated effort by students."

Judged as tops in the project was a model made by Randy Erwin, Patricia Winn, Anna Wistrand, Margie Ballard, Rachael Willis, Donna Cooley, Carolyn Walker, Carlton Watson and Craig Merket.

Second place model was designed by Mark Edmonson, Randall Callaway, Danny Edwards, Greg Bryant and Ronnie Claxton.

Making third high design was a group including Gene Banks, Elaine Ruffin, Billy Watts, Debbie Hunt, Tony Sorenson and Rhonda Salmon.

Model of Underwater City

Underwater city, made by this group of Junior High eighth grade science students, shows ridges and slopes of ocean floor as well as enclosed areas for an underwater city with tunnels connecting various sections. Graded third high in the projects by Lee Fry, CJH science teacher, and teachers from Colorado High School was this model by Tony Sorenson, Debbie Hunt, Billy Watts, Elaine Ruffin, Rhonda Salmon and Gene Banks, left to right.

IN OCEANOGRAPHY STUDY

Eighth Graders Design Underwater City Models

Last phase in an eighth grade science study of oceanography was completed last week at Colorado Junior High School.

That study, directed by science teacher Lee Fry, began several weeks ago with a study of oceans and ocean floors and ended Friday with grading of models of underwater cities.

In the study students made reports of fish and other sea life, studied and made posters showing depth and pressure of oceans.

After a study of ocean exploration, eighth graders wrote and made oral reports of exploration vehicles.

Underwater city models-including factories, businesses, residential areas and farming area-were last project of the study.

JOB WELL DONE

That Chamber of Commerce membership committee of Mrs. Sefton Pickens has given us a fine example of how to go to work and get a job done.

Within a few days, her group has signed up just about 4 dozen new members for our Chamber of Commerce.

They inlisted individuals, man and wife teams; businesses, even a church.

Their work benefits the entire community because the new members bring a broader viewpoint, increased financial support and more ideas and enthusiasm into the one organization working solely to a better Colorado City.

And a special tip of the hat to Mrs. John Reeves for being the "champ" recruiter on the membership team.

Self Culture Club Hears Federation Day Program

Mrs. Lester Watson and Mrs. E. L. Tiller were speakers for Self Culture Club's Federation Day program Friday in home of Mrs. Wilfred Fox.

Mrs. Watson's topic was "Federation - What Will Be Our Future Course?"

Mrs. E. L. Tiller discussed "What We Choose, We Are".

Leadership changes and so many of our needs and interest," Mrs. Watson began her discussion of future Federation.

"However," she continued, "the basic purposes of Federation remains the same - desire to grow, intelligent planning for advancement, eagerness of purpose, persistence and sincere endeavors toward a worthy task.

"We must commit ourselves to the cause of education and the advancement of our society, interest and position of women in education and civic improvement," club women were advised.

"If you feel it a privilege to be a member of this great organization," Mrs. Watson said in closing remarks, "then your attitude will reflect in heart and minds of members of our club as we rededicate ourselves with even greater devotion to the aims and purposes of Federation."

In Mrs. Tiller's discussion she reviewed several purposes of Federation including "to unite with other women of the world in a genuine service fellowship, to honor women meriting honor, to advance professional interest and positions of women in fields of service, to sponsor and support desirable educational legislation and initiate legislation in interests of women's activities.

"To endow scholarships to aid worthy high school seniors, to stimulate the personal and cultural growth of members encouraging their participation in appropriate programs of action, and

"To inform and be informed of current economic, social, political and educational issues."

She encouraged members to let pride in Federation past stir them to meet problems of present and challenges of the future.

"Let us take pride in ourselves that we choose to become more than we are," Mrs. Tiller said, "and by choosing the three things we crave most in life - happiness, freedom and peace of mind - are always attained by giving them to someone else."

After club meeting was opened with club collect and pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. L. B. Elliott.

Mrs. Fox served refreshments to Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. A. H. Jackson, Mrs. L. A. Keith, Mrs. Birdie Strain, Mrs. Willie Whitmore, Mrs. Tiller, Mrs. R. M. Reed, Mrs. Homan Posey.

Also, Mrs. A. A. Herrington, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Paul Beeman.
