Snyder's Christmas lighting in the business district drew compliments after it was turned on Monday night.

The decorations, especially the lighting arrangements on the poles around the courthouse, are impressive, but not gaudy.

Personally, I always appreciate any city or town that can decorate itself for the Christmas season without putting up a harem-scarem arrangement of lights that all but obliterate the traffic signals.

That is one of my pet peeves, along with such things as football players wearing single numerals on their shirts, and Jack Buck's professional football commentary — he never can keep the sarcasm from showing when describing the play of a team he hopes will lose.

Speaking of Christmas and what it really stands for, Rolfe Lanier Hunt has an article in the National Education Association's magazine, "Today's Education," suggesting that a lot of schools may be using a 1963 Supreme Court decision as an excuse for not having any Bible study in their classrooms. Hunt, a former chief of editorial service for the U. S. Office of Education and a former public school administrator, says the Supreme Court, although ruling out devotional Bible reading in public schools, took great pains through a majority opinion to sanction Bible study as long as it is for the purpose of general education and not for persuasion or indoctrination.

"Despite this clear authority, most school systems avoid Bible studies of any kind," Hunt says, . . ."even though both Judaism and Christianity are historical religions of significance to school subjects such as history and literature."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 3, the 337th day of 1969. There are 28 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, President Woodrow Wilson asked Congress to declare war against Austria-Hungary.

On this date:

In 1615, the Brazilian city of Para was founded.

In 1818, Illinois became the 21st state.

In 1828, Andrew Jackson was elected president, defeating President John Quincy Adams.

In 1868, former Confederate President Jefferson Davis was put on trial for treason in the U. S. Circut Court for Virginia.

In 1933, a Pan-American conference opened at Montevideo, Uruguay.

In 1944, during World War II, American forces fighting in Germany crossed the Saar River.

Ten years ago— President Dwight D. Eisenhower left on a goodwill journey to Europe, Asia and Africa.

Five years ago — An Orange, N. J., electronics engineer and a chauffeur for a Soviet trade agency were awaiting sentencing after being convicted of conspiring to pass U. S. military secrets to the Soviet Union.

One year ago— Protest strikes and riots flared in Italy after two workers were shot by police.

The building will be open until 5 p.m. Money contributions may be sent to either the Snyder National Bank or the West Texas State Bank or mailed to Post Office Box 661.

Freed Prisoners Departure Set

By K.C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL (AP) — Three American helicopter crewmen, released today after 3½ months of captivity in North Korea, were reported in generally good condition after initial medical checkups. An Army spokesman said they are tentatively scheduled to leave for the United States Thursday morning— about 8 p.m. EST Wednesday.

Col. Paul Sheffler, commanding officer of the 121st Evacuation Hospital 10 miles west of Seoul, reported that the three men "are happy to be out" and said their psychological outlook is good.

He reported that all three had talked to their families.

Their first destinatoin in the United States was not disclosed.

The release of the three fliers was preceded by a five-minute meeting at Panmunjom during which U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Arthur H. Adams signed a statement admitting that the intrusion of the men's helicopter into North Korean air space last Aug. 17 was a "criminal act." A U.S. Army statement later repudiated the admission and said it was signed only to secure the release of the men.

The helicopter was shot down 15 miles inside North Korea and all three men were wounded.

Wearing navy blue jackets provided by their North Korean captors, two of the trio—Capt. David H. Crawford of Pooler, Ga., and WO Malcolm V. Loepke of Richmond, Ind.—appeared in good health when they were handed over at the truce village shortly before noon.

The third man, Spec. 4 Herman E. Hofstatter of Lowpoint, Ill. was on crutches, and an American official later said he still had open wounds in his right knee.

Adams, chief U.S. delegate at the release, said the seriousness of Hofstatter's wounds could not be determined until he underwent a detailed medical examination. He said Crawford still had trouble moving his right shoulder but Loepke had recovered fully from wounds in the left shoulder.

A helicopter took the three men to the 121st U.S. Evacuation Hospital west of Seoul for medical examinations and interrogation.

Adams, who interviewed the three briefly, told a news conference they were kept separated until 13 days ago. He said he did not ask them if they were tortured, but when he asked about their life in North Korea, Hofstatter replied, "It was pretty bad."

Adams said: "There was no indication of their signing any confession."

The apology Adams signed said the U.N. Command "solemnly apologizes for having violated the armistice agreement and seriously infringed upon the sovereignty of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea by infiltrating . . . a military aircraft deep into the territorial air of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, and firmly guarantees that it will not commit such a criminal act again."

Repudiating this after the men were turned over, a U.S. Army statement pointed out that the United States in negotiations for release of the men had consistently maintained that the helicopter crossed the demilitarized zone without hostile intent when the pilot got lost.

College Board Studies Sites, Applications

Scurry County Junior College trustees last night took preliminary steps toward reaching two immediate objectives of the college district. They looked at several site proposals and five applications for the position of president of the college.

Four proposals for sites were submitted at the meeting, and several board members said they understood that other proposals would be made. No deadline for site proposals was established.

However, the board did set a deadline of Dec. 15 for receiving applications for the college president's post. Ultimately, the trustees plan to interview some applicants after narrowing down the field and they voted last night to re-imburse those called in for interviews at the rate of 10 cents per mile for travel and $20 per diem.

M. L. Broman, president of the board, was authorized to secure space and establish a temporary office for the college and to employ a secretary. A two-month interim budget of $4,000 was approved, with Broman and George Patterson, board secretary, authorized to sign checks. Funds for the interim budget are to be borrowed from a local bank.

Site proposals received in writing at the board meeting last night included the following:

Elaine Lambert, offer to sell 131 acres north of Huffman Avenue with west boundary on U. S. 84 and east boundary on Texas Highway 208.

G. E. Parks, offer to donate 200 acres out of Sec. 185 or 186, Block 3, H&GN Survey, located about two miles south of Cogdell Memorial Hospital on the Roundtop Road.

Odell Graham, offer to sell 100 acres out of southwest quarter of Sec. 75, Block 3, H&GN Survey, located on Roby Highway just east of Rip Griffin Truck Stop.

Doak Estate, offer to sell about 31 acres south of Thirty-seventh Street across from Scurry County Coliseum.

Earl McDow, offer to sell 180 acres out of Sec. 126, Block 3, H&GN Survey, also south of Thirty-seventh Street and adjoining the Doak Estate property.

The junior college board's first regular meeting is set for next Monday night, Dec. 8, and more special meetings also are expected in the coming weeks as the board moves to employ an administrator and select a site for the college.

W. C. Hammit Service Here

Funeral service was set for 2 p.m. today at the East Side Church of Christ for W. C. Hammit Sr., 89.

Mr. Hammit died at 5:20 p.m., Monday in the Brownwood Community Hospital in Brownwood.

A native of Erath County, he was a retired farmer and had come to Scurry County in 1914 from Fisher County.

Bill Minick was to officiate at the funeral service and burial was to be in the Rotan Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Morris Sanders of Midland; four sons, J. D. Hammit of Brownwood, O. L. and W. C. Hammit Jr., both of Midland, and S. E. Hammit of Waco; a sister, Miss Dora Hammit of Abilene; a brother, John Hammit of Snyder; 10 grandchildren and 15 great - grandchildren.

Mr. Hammit was married to Miss Pearl Able on Oct. 29, 1901 in Erath County. Mrs. Hammit preceded him in death last Sept. 13.

Nixon Addresses Drug Conference

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today the drug problem has become "indeed a national problem" that hits the young, the old, the rich and the poor.

Addressing the Governors' Conference on Narcotics and Drugs, he pledged to wage "a campaign of information and education that will reach all the people of the nation."

And he urged the governors, when they return to their capitals, to strike at the problem of drug abuse in their states.

Nixon recited statistics stating that some eight million Americans use marijuana—one third of the college students and 16 per cent of high school students.

On hand for the conference were most of the nation's governors; their wives and children. They were to meet later in the day with State Department officials and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser for national security affairs.

Nixon said that in recent months he has learned a lot about the drug problem, noting that he first thought the answer was more penalties.

But when you are talking about 13- and 14-year-olds, he said, the answer is not more penalties but more information and education.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told the governors he fears the politics of protest is stifling rational discussion.

Agnew said that what he called the refusal to approach an issue with an open mind and the refusal to entertain a spirit of compromise "is building barriers between the young and the not-so-young, between an outspoken minority and a soft-spoken majority."

Three Tie In Last Contest

The final round proved to be one of the toughest of the season in the Snyder Daily News football contest.

The results showed three entrants tied for the prize money, each missing on five selections.

Sharing honors for the week were Mrs. Ted Smithee, 3207 Fortieth Street; E. L. Palo, Box 951, Snyder; and Sue Jane Sullivan, Box 259, Snyder.

The past week's contest concluded the series for the football season.

Settlement Near In Rail Dispute

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a nationwide railroad shutdown was eased today after union and industry negotiators were reported near a wage settlement and had agreed to continue bargaining.

"We are very close to a settlement, I believe," said Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery after 38 hours of nearly continuous bargaining in the dispute involving 48,000 shopcraft workers on all major U.S. railroads.

The talks were recessed at 2:30 a.m. until midafternoon to give the negotiators a rest.

The four AFL-CIO unions in the dispute, who were free to strike at 12:01 a.m. today, said they would not call a walkout as long as progress is being made.

The four unions—Machinists, Electricians, Sheet Metal Workers and Boilermakers—originally demanded a one-year wage increase of 10 per cent above the current $3.59 per hour, 20 cents an hour additional for extra skilled workers and a cost of living escalator clause.

The railroads had offered a 2 per cent increase retroactive to last Jan. 1 and 3 per cent retroactive to July 1.

The talks, dragged out for nearly a full year under delaying procedures of the Railway Labor Act including a 60-day strike ban invoked by President Nixon, covered 1969 wages. However, Usery said the negotiators were trying to expand any agreement to two years.

All federal strike delaying procedures available to the government have been exhausted, but Nixon could ask Congress for a special law to halt any rail shutdown.

The unions have indicated they would strike only a few railroads to try to avoid a national emergency that might lead to a special law.

Railroad negotiators, headed by John P. Hiltz, indicated previously they would shut down all the nation's railroads if even one was struck.

Except for the disappointment of not reaching an agreement in the long marathon bargaining session, "I thought they were in a very good frame of mind," Usery said early today.

"Substantial progress has been made on many of the issues in dispute, and we are encouraged that further negotiations of the same intensity can produce a prompt agreement," said chief union negotiator William Winpisinger.

There was no statement from Hiltz or other railroad negotiators.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Now please don't get me wrong, I am not knocking my bride, I am only telling you this so you can make a fair judgment. Before Mary (not her real name) and I were married we stayed together in plenty of motels over weekends and like that. She seemed to be satisfied with me, but right after we got married, Mary decided that my snoring drove her nuts, and she couldn't sleep in the same room with me. So now I have to go sleep on the couch in the other room. This is not like I pictured married life.

We can't afford a two-bedroom apartment as yet, but Mary says that is the next step. Maybe I'm wrong, but if my snoring didn't drive her nuts BEFORE we were married, how come it drives her nuts now?

SLEEPING ALONE

DEAR SLEEPING: Maybe your snoring DID "drive her nuts" before you were married, but not quite "nuts" enough for her to send you to separate sleeping quarters. Lovers seem able to tolerate far more than married folks.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and just got out of prison. I pulled my time but none of my so-called friends will have anything to do with me. I've thought of moving to a new town, but they say that running away is not the answer.

What should I do, Abby? I trust you, and will look for your answer. NO SAINT

DEAR "NO SAINT:" I don't know who "they" are, but "they" could be wrong. In order to start life over with a clean slate, perhaps it would be better to go to new surroundings where you are not known. "Old friends" are frequently the worst for one who has pulled his time. I vote for a move, and new friends. And good luck.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Why are people so mean? My daughter is in a home for unwed mothers. The baby is due soon and everybody knows where she is, and who got her pregnant.

So why is it that everywhere I go, friends and relatives have to ask, "How is she? When is the baby due? Is she going to keep the baby?"

Abby, I have nearly cracked up over this, and am under psychiatric care right now. I am told to put it "out" of my mind. How can I when people keep reminding me?

I am sure the daughters of these people are no better than mine. It's just that mine got caught.

It hurts enough knowing I will never be able to hold my first grandchild, and I can't sleep at night for wondering who will get it and raise it.

Please say something to help me. Or tell everybody else to keep their big mouths shut! Sign me. . . MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Avoid all those who have been so cruel and tasteless as to mention your daughter's present situation. If someone brings up the subject, cut him or her off in mid-sentence saying you don't care to discuss it. And if necessary, walk away.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NAMELESS PLEASE:" No, I do not know why, but my mail indicates that when a girl hippie needs money, she will write to her FATHER, and when a boy hippie needs money, he will write to his MOTHER. Interesting?

* * *

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Farm Plan Predictions Exhausted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials appear to have exhausted their reserve of predictions on when the Nixon administration will announce the 1970 feed grains programs.

A month or two ago they were saying "any time, now" or "it's in the mill." Now they profess less certainty, but a few are quietly suggesting the administration may wait now until after Jan. 1 to announce the program.

One official said this week that the program announcement may wait until the House Agriculture Committee completes its current round of hearings on new farm legislation.

On the other hand, as some have suggested, the whole thing could be held up by the White House budget bureau which wants to see tighter spending on government programs for corn, sorghum grain and barley.

There is no real pressure to announce the program now, despite the fact that farmers always want to know as far in advance as possible just what their government will be up to during the coming crop season.

Last year the 1969 program was announced by then Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman on Dec. 26. Most crops affected by the plan are planted in the spring.

Shoplifters Draw Fines

Two shoplifters apprehended here last week discovered yesterday that it would have been cheaper in the long run to pay for the few items they stole.

Maria Hernandez of Seguin and Adelina DeLeon of Snyder both pleaded guilty to four counts of shoplifting. Each received a $50 fine and a 30-day jail term on each count plus court costs.

Charges of giving checks without funds were filed against Bobby Joe Smith of Matador, F. M. Leatherwood, and Lester Chappelle. Warrants were issued for their arrest.

Ronnie Clarence Morris was released on $500 bond after he was charged with driving while intoxicated. The offense allegedly occurred Nov. 21.

Court Refuses To Reconsider Decision

AUSTIN (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its Nov. 5 decision that Texas' law prohibiting sale of certain items on both Saturdays and Sundays is constitutional.

The court made final that ruling by refusing, without comment, to grant a motion for rehearing filed by Spartan's Industries Inc., of San Antonio and several other discount houses.

Spartan's lawyers said in their motion that the 1961 "blue law" had no reasonable relationship to the health, recreation or welfare of the people of Texas.

They called the law an "arbitrary exercise of police power."

Hawaii Battered By Waves

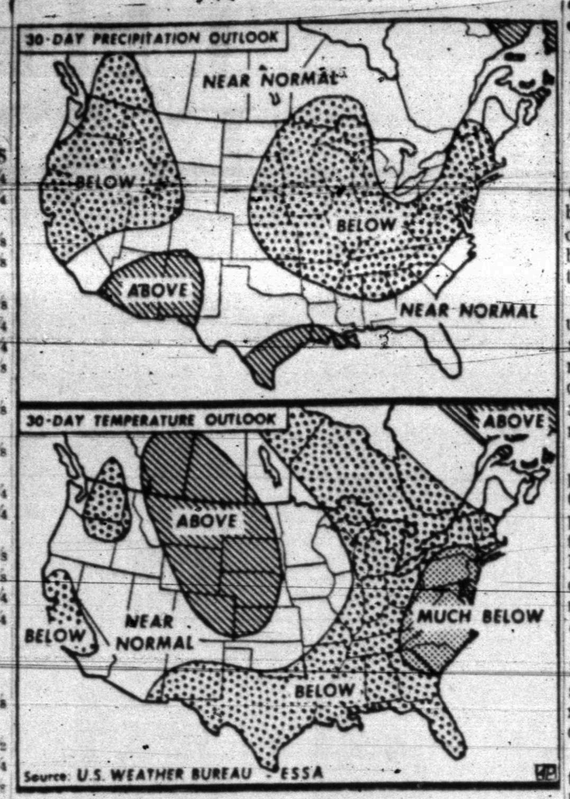

HONOLULU (AP) — A swollen surf continued to batter Oahu's devastated north shore today where 81 homes were destroyed or damaged by 50-foot breakers. Officials called it Hawaii's worst natural disaster since a 1960 tidal wave.

Authorities reported at least two storm-related deaths, including that of a man swept out to sea by a monster wave. They said at least 15 persons had been injured, three seriously.

Dangerous surf warnings remained in an effect while hundreds of homeless carried belongings from wrecked houses amid a tangle of seaweed and coral.

Towering waves spawned by a Pacific storm 1,500 miles northwest of Hawaii crashed onto a 15-mile stretch of beach late Monday night, shoving homes from their foundations and rolling cars about like toys.

Cars Damaged In Mishaps

Considerable damage resulted from two motor vehicle mishaps that occurred yesterday.

The first one occurred at 4:43 p.m. on Avenue S at Twenty-fourth Street. Damage to the 1967 Model Ford of Laddie Taylor McMillan, 2712 Avenue U, was estimated at $300, and damage to the 1962 Model Rambler of Charlie W. Hertenberger, Route 1, Sweetwater, was placed at $200.

Cars of Travis L. Angel, 3209 Avenue E, and Amalia A. Benitez, Box 262, were in collision on Twenty-fifth Street at Avenue I at 4:48 p.m. Damage to Angel's 1955 Model Oldsmobile was set at $300, and damage to the other car — a 1963 Model Oldsmobile — was set at $350.

Charlene Hicks Hendrix, Route 3, sustained minor injuries when her 1969 Model Chevrolet was involved in a collision with a 1969 Model ¾-ton GMC pickup operated by Dionicio R. Ubando, 409 Thirty-fifth Street, at 3:35 p.m. Monday on Avenue S at Twenty-fifth Street. Damage to the car was placed at $280, and damage to the pickup was set at $80.

Tax Reform Is Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate defeated today a Republican tax reduction plan proposing to cut rates and increase the personal exemption gradually to $750 but delay most of the relief to 1972 and 1973.

The vote was 72 to 23.

The rejection set the stage for expected adoption of a Democratic proposal which also would boost the exemption from $600 to $800 but do it in two steps in 1970 and 1971.

President Nixon has served notice a veto is likely if that proposal, offered by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., is included in the final version of the tax reform bill.

The GOP amendment was offered by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., with the backing of most of his colleagues.

38 Bodies Recovered In Ruins

NOTRE-DAME-DU-LAC, Que. (AP) — Searchers removed 38 bodies from the debris of a fire-charred home for the aged here before halting their search early today.

Their work, which continued until about 4 a.m. under falling snow, was halted while police meet with welfare department officials to determine if there are any more victims in the ruins.

Police said between 40 and 58 persons were killed. Sgt. Cyrille Charron, in charge of the provincial police detachment in this village 15 miles from the Maine border, said it was difficult to determine the exact number of victims because records were destroyed in the fire.

Between 71 and 78 persons had been reported in the three-story wooden building when fire roared through it early Tuesday.

Charron said documents from the social welfare office in nearby Cabano indicated there were between 68 and 72 aged patients in the old people's home. The home also had six staff members, including the owner, Charles Tardif, who escaped with his wife and two children.

Charron said 21 survivors had been accounted for at the local hospital, and the police had other reports indicating as many as 29 persons may have escaped.

Local officials and other townspeople said the fire could have been caused by the electrical system, the furnace or a laundry room boiler.

The 75-year-old Repos de Vieillard home was originally built as a school. It had operated under a Welfare Department permit since 1957.

The province's minister for family, health and welfare, Jean-Paul Cloutier, told the legislature in Quebec City the building met government safety standards. An official of his department said the building had the required number of exits, fire escapes and chemical fire extinguishers. But he added these were practically useless because the fire spread so fast.

The home "was solidly built and well kept," said Andre Caneul, owner of a nearby jewelry store which also burned down, "but it was made of wood. It burned with frightening force for more than an hour."

About three-fourths of all the fresh water in the world is locked in glacier ice.

Mounds Similar To Earth Boulders

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Mysterious mounds which puzzled the Apollo 12 astronauts during their eight hours of walking the moon may be huge boulders thrown from nearby craters, a scientist says.

Dr. Edward Chao, who is quarantined with the Apollo 12 astronauts, said photographs of the mounds—rising like small buttes from the moon's surface—resemble similar structures found on earth.

"They are probably blocks of rock ejected out from some crater," the scientist said Tuesday after viewing photographs of the mounds taken last month by astronauts Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean.

He said similar mounds have been found in Germany.

Chao said he and the others were isolated Monday after they were accidentally exposed to moon rock. The quarantine took them away from their work as geologists and geo-chemists.

Chao said he and the others were disappointed at first. But, he said, "we're getting some bonuses, like being able to talk to the astronauts and viewing film they took much earlier than we would have otherwise."

Dr. Robert Smith, also in isolation with the astronauts, said the quarantine could be priceless for the scientists.

"We're closer to the truth," he said referring to the astronauts. "Maybe we'll be able to get a piece of information that otherwise might be lost forever."

Apollo 12 astronauts Conrad, Bean and Richard F. Gordon Jr. conducted their first full day of formal debriefing Tuesday, talking from behind quarantine with the heads of space agency departments. They also showed films of their 10-day moon-landing adventure.

The astronauts talk today with the crews of Apollo 13 and Apollo 14.

Scientists in another part of the Lunar Receiving Laboratory continue today to expose moon material to tissue cultures of a variety of earth creatures, including cultures made from human embryonic tissue.

The test is one way of determining if life exists in the lunar soil. Scientists will test the cultures to determine if any microbes from the moon come to life in the tissue culture.

Chao and Smith, both employed by the U.S. Geological Survey, said scientists in quarantine had long talks with the Apollo 12 astronauts. They said mere sessions are planned before quarantine ends Dec. 10.

Hopes Fade For Mets Opera Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes for a 1969—1970 season at the Metropolitan Opera were all but ended today after performers and musicians rejected what management called its final offer to settle the labor dispute.

The dispute, never involving a strike, has kept the house dark since Sept. 15. The Met ran $3.5 million in the red last year and management said the final offer would increase the annual deficit to $6-$7 million by the 1972-73 season.

Pictures Inspire Words For Author Wallace

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

"One photograph," says author Irving Wallace, "can give birth to a thousand words."

Wallace is a man of many words dexterously put together at great length in best selling novels, none of them illustrated. Yet all his books have a degree of photo inspiration because Wallace uses a camera as a research tool, a visual notebook. From the pictures taken by him or his wife, Sylvia, emerge the detailed word descriptions that have become a Wallace trademark.

"The Seven Minutes," published by Simon and Schuster, is the current explosive novel in which photography's contribution is an unseen image behind the author's gripping wordsmanship. As with previous novels — "The Plot," "The Man," "The Prize," "The Chapman Report" — his fiction is strung on a realistic chain of facts, painstakingly researched.

Take his recent best-seller, "The Plot," with its setting in Venice and Paris. Wallace's descriptions of bistros, restaurants and off-beat attractions are so reliable that readers have used the novel as a tourist guidebook in those cities.

For occasions when picture taking could not be done openly, Wallace bought a Minox, the precision miniature camera. He used it in Stockholm in 1960 when researching "The Prize," the novel involving the Nobel Prize.

"With the Minox," says Wallace, "I was the first outsider to shoot pictures of the judges' voting chambers in the Nobel Foundation. The prints were spread on my desk when I wrote the book.

"The tiny camera came in handy again for "The Seven Minutes!" Since the story deals with the world of pornography, I had to visit 'dirty book' stores, 'art film' studios and a Los Angeles courtroom. With an inconspicuous camera, I could make record shots for later study. Having pictures in front of me when I write, helps immeasurably in recreating the actual scenes and in recalling impressions."

Because photography is such a plus factor in his writing, I asked Wallace to explain a disparaging reference in "The Plot." To a descriptive paragraph about an old French village, is added an observation that it tolerates "tourists in shorts with their offensive cameras."

"But that isn't my thought," Wallace quickly answered. "It is the feeling of Medora Hart, one of the characters. In the novel, she has been the victim of a vicious scandal. She had a personal reason for disliking people with cameras. I plead not guilty.

"In fact, thanks to photography, I got started in writing," pipe-smoking Wallace thoughtfully recalled. "At 19, I joined an expedition to Central America as a photographer. We searched for a legendary waterfall in Honduras called "The Fountain of Blood'. . . and found it too. It inspired me to write my first magazine article, 'My Adventure Trail.' It was printed, with photos, in Canada.

"Later, I photo-interviewed Senator Huey Long, the controversial Louisiana political figure. I sent the material to a magazine and it arrived the day he was assassinated. Perhaps the uncanny timing did it, but they bought it, featured the story and put a picture on the cover."

Now there are about five other cameras besides the Minox in the Wallace Los Angeles home for research and family picture taking. By the way, the home-grown subjects are Amy, 14, and David, 21, who has evidenced so much aptitude with an advanced movie camera that he is ready to launch into a career on the avant-garde film trail.

With a half dozen cameras there must be a lots of pictures. And a lot of pictures breed a great many more thousands of words. Add modern problems, a compelling plot and real personalities and you have the basic ingredients for another Irving Wallace best-seller.

Speed Reading Classes Set For Snyder Area

The famous Cutler Acceleread method of speed reading, created by Dr. Wade E. Cutler, who holds a doctorate in psychology, will be taught here in both day and evening classes.

The average person today reads some 200 words per minute with about 60 per cent comprehension - a rate inadequate to cope with today's reading demands in school, college, and business.

This widely acclaimed course guarantees its graduates will read at least 1,000 words per minute with a definite increase in comprehension.

Many graduates of the nine-week program far exceed the guarantee and complete with rates of 2,500 and more words per minute with far better comprehension.

Concentration, recall, study and test-taking skills show a remarkable degree of improvement.

Such achievement means that a person can read books of average length in 45 minutes or less, and understand, remember, and enjoy them better than ever.

This remarkable accelerated reading and study course is offered here exclusively by Accelerated Education Schools with locations in major cities in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana, and Oklahoma.

This professionally conducted course boasts over 10,000 successful graduates due to its common sense approach to better and faster reading, and to its staff of professionally qualified master teachers.

This course has been approved for two Semester Hours Credit in the Snyder Public School District's Professional Growth Program.

A series of meetings has been scheduled for those in the Snyder area who desire to know how they too may learn to read with greater speed, power, and efficiency.

At these free one-hour orientations, full details about speed reading and the unique Cutler Acceleread Method will be given to those forward - looking persons attending.

Since there is no cost or obligation by attending, you owe it to yourself to attend the time most convenient for you.

Drop in and find out how you can make 1970 a more successful year.

All meetings are open to the public, and will be conducted as follows:

Thursday, December 4th. at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Friday, December 5th. at 5:30 p.m.

Tuesday, December 9th. at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Meetings will be held in the Community Room of Snyder Savings and Loan, 2605 Ave. S, Snyder, Texas.

Buffet Main Dish Is From Greece

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here it is — a really practical recipe for Pastitsio, that superb main dish from Greece.

We've been looking for just such a recipe for a long time because the dish, famed all over the world, is interesting, economical and delicious. Made with layers of pasta, meat sauce, cream sauce, and Parmesan, it's fork food — perfect to serve for a buffet supper.

Another great point about this dish is that it may be assembled several hours before you plan to use it. Then about an hour before serving time you bake it, without any attention, in the oven.

One word about its name. Although in cookbooks printed in English its name is often spelled Pastichio, we use Pastitsio because the latter is closest to the Greek spelling.

When we served Pastitsio to guests we prefaced it with antipasto. With the main dish itself we offered nothing more than a tossed salad and French bread. For dessert fresh fruit and the Greek cookies called Kourabiedes.

PASTITSIO

4 to 6 quarts water
2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons salt
1 pound (4 cups) elbow macaroni
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped onion
2 pounds ground beef chuck or round
1 can (10½ ounces) tomato puree (1¼ cups)
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1-3 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 large egg
Egg Sauce, see below
1½ cups freshly grated Parmesan cheese

In a large kettle bring the water and 2 tablespoons salt to a boil. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered and stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander; cool to lukewarm.

In a large skillet melt the butter; add onion and cook gently, stirring occasionally until golden brown. Add beef; break up with a fork and cook until meat loses its red color. Stir in tomato puree, tomato paste, 2 teaspoons salt, pepper and cinnamon. Simmer, covered, for 30 minutes. Stir in bread crumbs.

In the large pot in which macaroni was cooked, beat the egg enough to combine yolk and white; add macaroni and toss.

In a 3-quart oblong glass utility dish (13½ by 8¾ by 1¾ inches) or similar utensil, arrange half the macaroni and sprinkle with ¼ cup Parmesan; add the meat mixture and sprinkle with ¼ cup Parmesan; add remaining macaroni.

Slowly and carefully pour as much as you can of the Egg Sauce over the top; use a spatula to push macaroni away from sides of dish so you can pour remaining sauce at edges. Dish will look very full but Egg Sauce will puff up and get firm in the oven — it won't run over. Sprinkle with remaining 1 cup Parmesan.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until bubbly hot in center and top browns — 30 to 40 minutes. If you want to assemble the Pastitsio 2 or 3 hours ahead of baking time, do so, cover with plastic wrap and let stand at room temperature. Bake as above. In either case let stand 10 minutes out of the oven before cutting into squares and removing with wide server.

Makes 8 hearty servings.

EGG SAUCE
(For Pastitsio)

1-3 cup butter
1-3 cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
3 cups milk
2 large eggs

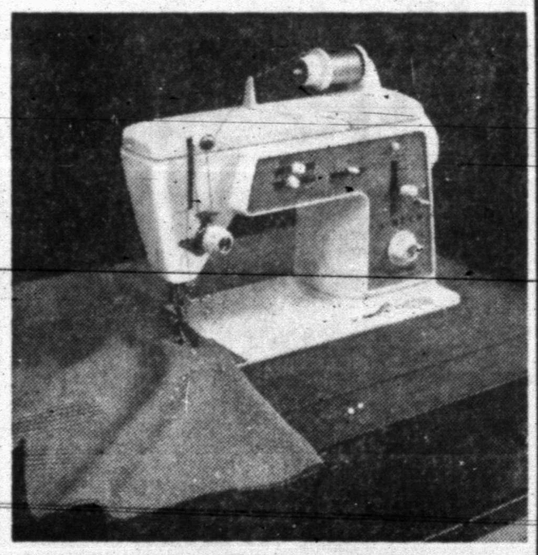

In a medium saucepan over low heat melt the butter; stir in flour, salt, pepper and nutmeg; remove from heat. Gradually stir in the 2½ cups of milk, keeping smooth. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and boiling. Beat eggs slightly; add remaining ½ cup milk; beat to combine; stir into hot sauce. Over moderate heat cook and stir constantly until eggs thicken — a minute or so; do not boil.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR COMPANY — The Greek main dish called Pastistio, made with layers of elbow macaroni, meat sauce, cream sauce and Parmesan cheese.

Stock Market Is Gloomy Place As Profits Squeezed

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the darkness of approaching winter, the stock market these days is a gloomy place indeed, with only the shrewd, the calculating and the very patient investors able to grin through it all.

The market news seems very bad, primarily because of two factors: inflation and the battle to beat inflation. Either way, corporate profits are going to be squeezed.

Market prospects often are said to be tied up with hopes for peace in Vietnam, but some pollsters claim that the war-peace factor has been much less of a market influence than advertised in recent months.

The inflation-deflation battle seems to be more immediately involved in tracing the route taken by the Dow Jones averages.

Recent announcements from the White House indicate that pressure will be kept on the economy, the aim being to bring inflation out of prices. Lower profits are in prospects, therefore, and that means little support for stock prices.

Since November 10 the Dow Jones industrial average has dropped from 863 points and now threatens to fall right out of the 800s.

Investors are worried. Evidence abounds that the slowdown is here. But inflation is far from being stopped. Wholesale prices rose strongly in November, meaning more retail price increases in the next few months.

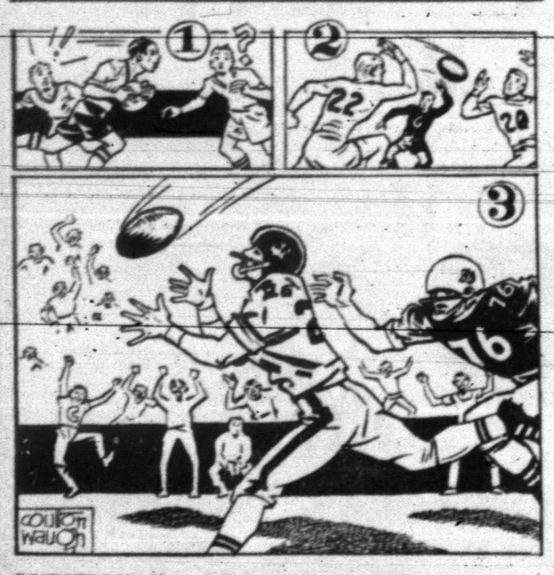

At the very time when workers are becoming less able to afford higher prices, the prices continue going higher. Manufacturers are beginning to shorten work weeks, the threat of layoffs increases—and so do prices.

The help-wanted advertising index, a measure of want-ad volume in 52 daily newspapers, dropped sharply in October from 235 to 227. The National Industrial Conference Board, which maintains the index, comments coldly: "Declines in the index have generally been followed by increases in unemployment."

Mass psychology, perhaps as a result, appears to be changing. Measures of consumer confidence have been dipping lately. A recessionary psychology, in which purchases are delayed, may be setting in now.

It isn't only the threat to jobs or increasing prices that breeds the somber mood. Daily, now, people are reminded by prominent economists that the nation could slip into a recession—and that it might be in one now.

Junior Editors' Quiz on FOOTBALL

QUESTION: How did American football get started?

* * *

ANSWER: In the 1800's, the English were playing the rough, tough game of soccer, using a round ball and kicking or butting only — never (except for the goalie) touching it with the hands. But by some freak of inspiration, an English player, in 1823, suddenly picked up the ball in his hands and ran with it. There was a tremendous to-do, but the players liked the idea and proceeded to run with the ball, leading to the new game of Rugby. In the U.S., the first game between colleges was in 1869, on the soccer principle, using kicking and a round ball. But in 1874, in a game between Harvard and Montreal's McGill University, the Canadian players amazed the Americans by using Rugby rules instead of soccer ones, and further, introduced the idea of actually throwing the ball. This was revolutionary and made for a more exciting game in which the situation could change from moment to moment. The American colleges eagerly accepted the change. A great player, Walter S. Camp, introduced other ideas which helped to make American football different from English. He proposed that one side should have possession of the ball, keeping it if they could gain enough yardage in three downs, otherwise surrendering it. In 1913, the forward pass became legal, leading to the fast moving game of today, as suggested by our picture.

Greenburg Clothes Nude Art

By LYNN SHERR
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) Once it took fig leaves to make the world's great art works acceptable to a prudish public.

Then came centuries of social change, and the fig leaves dropped away from the likes of Adam, David and Venus.

Now, author-humorist Dan Greenburg thinks the bodies ought to be covered up again.

With tongue planted morally in cheek, Greenburg, best known for writing "How to Be a Jewish Mother," recommends clothing naked paintings and statues in the interest of decency. And he does it, not with fig leaves, but with painted-on clothing.

Greenburg's book, "Porno-Graphics. The Shame of our Art Museums," is a super put-on which is really more of a takeoff. It consists of 19 reproductions of the world's nudest art works, demurely camouflaged beneath acetate overlays and cardboard cutouts in the style of the original artist.

Venus de Milo wears a toga to cover her armless torso. A Modigliani nude sports a slinky red dress. Michaelangelo's Adam and Eve, together, with the snake, are attired in bright-hued bikinis.

And Botticelli's Venus sails along on her half-shell with yards more golden hair than the artist intended.

All the cover-ups are removable—to expose the works au naturel.

Even the $2.95 price tag peels off from the book cover.

"I used to do these in my spare time—as a joke," Greenburg, 33, explained in his East Side Manhattan duplex apartment where the walls are decorated with a real Campbell's soup can and an empty cheese carton.

"I had all these nudist magazines, see, and I wanted to clean them up," he said. "And then I realized there were a lot of other filthy pictures in the house and so I cleaned them up, too."

It began, he recalled, with a post card of two birds touching beaks. Greenburg pasted a snip of black tape over the point of beak contact.

"He had it framed and hanging up when I first met him," explained his wife, Nora Ephron Greenburg, a free-lance writer herself. "I was glad to see he was a man with the right values."

From post cards and nudist magazines, Greenburg graduated to art books with high quality reproductions. Now, at least one friend—actor George Segal and his wife — has asked him to clothe a full-sized painting of a naked lady on the wall.

Trained as an artist at the University of Illinois, Greenburg earned a master's degree at UCLA and spent several years in advertising before turning to full-time writing.

He has written several novels, many magazine articles and two one-act off-Broadway plays besides the best-selling "Jewish Mother."

Governors Postpone Rail Meeting

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Govs. David F. Cargo of New Mexico and John Love of Colorado have postponed a Dec. 8 meeting with the narrow gauge railroad authorities of the two states, possibly until Dec. 23.

The governors are the nominal chairmen of the authorities, formed by similar legislation in both states for the purpose of joint acquisition of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railway.

New Mexico Vice Chairman Terrance Ross of Santa Fe said Monday acquisition of the line probably will be "contingent" on the December meeting in Colorado State Capitol at Denver.

"I think we're probably getting to the point where we either have to do something or forget it," he said.

The D&RGW has received Interstate Commerce Commission authority to abandon the line no later than the end of next year. If it isn't acquired by the two states or another operator the tracks would have to be scrapped by the end of next year.

Playoff Tilts Here Should Be Exciting

Two exciting football playoff contests are scheduled in Tiger Stadium this weekend. Bronte's Longhorns will meet Sundown's Roughnecks for the Regional Class B championship at 7:30 p. m. Friday. The Clarendon Bronchos and Sonora Broncos tangle at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for the Class A quarterfinals crown. Both tilts will match talented teams and both games could be close.

Bronte, a perennial contender for regional honors, has compiled a 10-1 record under Coach Cecil Toliver, in his 7th year at the Longhorn helm. He was a backfield coach at Alpine two years before going to Bronte.

The only loss on the 'Horn record is a 39-6 loss to a strong Class A team — Eldorado. On the other hand, the Longhorns have knocked off three other Class A teams while compiling 368 points to the opposition's 75.

Bronte operates basically from a Winged-T attack and uses a 5 man front on defense with a 4-spoke backfield.

"We've had spirited workouts this week and are ready to play," said Coach Toliver. His team slipped past Fort Hancock 7-0 in the snow last week in bi-district.

Perhaps the best runner in the Bronte attack is Nicky Arrott, a 160-pound senior left halfback, who has scored about 20 touchdowns this year. The Horns also have good passing. Quarterback Keith McCutcheon, a 168-pound senior, has thrown 19 touchdown passes. His favorite receivers are Willie Zuniga, 195 - pound senior end, and right halfback Randy Barbee, a 188 - pound senior.

Bobby Skelton, 145 - pound sophomore, or Jerry Graves, 165 - pound sophomore, will get the starting assignment at fullback.

Bronte has good size, good speed and good balance. Ten of Bronte's 11 starters go both ways. Danny Cooper, a 148-pound junior nose guard, is the only substitute on defense.

Sundown also has fine credentials, although their season record is not quite as gaudy as the Longhorns'. Coach Bill Dendy, in his 7th year at Sundown, but only in his first year as head coach, has compiled a 9-2 record. The Roughnecks have tallied over 380 points while giving up 112. The only losses were 20-0 to Sudan in the first game of the season and 13-12 to Wilson in the third game. Last week, the Roughnecks reversed the early loss to Wilson by taking a 34-8 decision in bi-district.

Sundown runs a variation of offensive sets, but the basic attack is a Slot T. Defensively, the Roughnecks employ a 4-3, but it looks more like a 4-5, and sometimes they use a 6-man front. Both teams will have seven seniors starting on offense.

The Roughnecks' bread - and-butter man is Eddy Eberhart, a 155-pound senior right halfback, who is one of the leading scorers in the area. Robert Edwards, a 150-pound junior, is the passer.

"We have good balance, but we try to run more than pass," said Coach Dendy. He said teamwork is the main ingredient in the Roughneck success this season.

At fullback for Sundown will be Jess Perez, a 154-pound senior, while James Hays, a 160-pound sophomore, will operate at left half. Like Bronte, the Roughnecks send in only one man on defense. Randy Awbrey, a 145-pound senior, will be at a guard position.

Each coach praised the other team.

Knicks Set Pace In East Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks and Baltimore Bullets, running 1-2 in the Eastern Division race seem to be doing the same routine once they step out on the basketball court . . . only the Bullets started about two weeks too late.

Tuesday night the National Basketball Association Knicks and Bullets kept in step by crushing opponents with overwhelming blitzes. Again Baltimore was a little bit slower, waiting until the last seven minutes, before blowing the Cincinnati Royals off the court, 129-107. The Knicks however did it in the entire third period en route to their 129-109 pasting of the Seattle SuperSonics.

In other games Milwaukee stopped Philadelphia 122-114, Phoenix downed Chicago 121-110 and San Francisco trimmed Detroit 116-109.

In the American Basketball Association, Denver downed Pittsburgh 127-101 and Dallas whipped the New York Nets 120-108.

Baltimore, with 13 victories in 15 games—17-7 over-all—remains six games behind the high-flying Knicks, 24-2, who just had their record NBA winning string of 18 snapped Saturday by Detroit and have embarked on another.

The Bullets got a career-high 30 points and 21 rebounds from Wes Unseld. scar Robertson had 32 points for the Royals.

The Knicks, with Walt Frazier pumping in 30 points, bombed the SuperSonics out of Madison Square Garden with a 45-17 third-quarter spree. The Knicks had 18 steals in the game—eight in the big third period.

Willis Reed added 19 points to the New York total while Bob Rule topped the Sonics with 25.

Rookie Bob Dandridge scored 26 points, including the bucket that sparked a 15-point spurt in leading the Milwaukee charge.

Lew Alcindor and Jon McGlocklin had 24 points for the Bucks while Billy Cunningham hit for 30 and Darrel Imhoff had a career-high 28 for the 76ers.

Dick Van Arsdale triggered Phoenix past Chicago with a 38-point barrage as the Suns staved off a fourth-quarter outburst by the Bulls. Bob Love topped Chicago with 34 points.

Nate Thurmond powered San Francisco's victory over Detroit with a 36-point output along with 23 rebounds. The Warriors broke the game open with a 45-point third period. Jimmy Walker was high for the Pistons with 29 points.

Landry Is High On Morton

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry, coach of the Dallas Cowboys, says quarterback Craig Morton is "throwing better than I've seen him this year."

Morton has been bothered with a series of nagging injuries, including a sore shoulder, sprained index finger and bruised ribs.

However, on the dark side, Landry said rookie running back Calvin Hill is "still questionable. We want to wait until he is well before we put him back in there."

Owls Upset 14th-Rated St. John's

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Temple Owls have taken right up where they left off at the end of last season's college basketball campaign. They won a game most everyone expected them to lose.

Boston College was supposed to beat Temple in the final of the NIT post-season tourney last March, but it was the Owls who won 89-76. On Tuesday night the Owls, with only one starter back from their NIT championship team, upset 14th-ranked St. John's of New York 60-59.

Two free throws by Drew Nolan with 45 seconds left won for the Owls as they dedicated their new $9.2 million gymnasium, McGonigle Hall, at Broad Street and Montgomery Ave. in Philadelphia.

"The kids knew they had a challenge in St. John's and they did a good job," said Harry Litwack, veteran Temple coach, after Nolan's free throws erased a 59-58 St. John's lead gained on a three-point play by Ralph Abraham with 52 seconds on the clock.

Boston College again was upset, this time by Boston University 76-70. It was the first victory by the Terriecs over the Eagles in 10 years and came on the sharpshooting of Jimmy Hayes. He threw in 33 points.

Eighth-ranked Marquette, the only team in the Associated Press Top Ten to play, crushed Northern Michigan 98-60.

Illinois, led by Greg Jackson's 26-points, bowled over Butler 83-67. Julius Eving, a sophomore, scored 27 points to lead Massachusetts over Providence 90-85, and Artis Gilmore, Jacksonville's 7-foot-2 junior, tallied 31 points to lead the Dolphins over Morehead State 117-63 and the championship of the Sunshine Tournament at Jacksonville.

Skip Young's conversion on a technical foul shot with two seconds left gave Florida State a 69-68 squeaker over Oregon State at Tallahasee. Oregon, also on a road trip, fell before Wichita State 97-84.

Southern Illinois defeated Texas, Arlington, 82-73, St. Louis overcame St., Cloud State 65-62, Army whipped Lehigh 74-61, Cincinnati humbled Macmurray 99-64 and Georgetown, D.C. shadded American U. 80-78.

In other games; Utah State downed Sacramento State 85-65, Washington trampled Idaho 105-58, U. of Pacific beat Hayward State 75-60, Baylor routed Texas Wesleyan 89-49 and Dartmouth, paced by Alex Winn's 29 points, whipped Worcester Tech 67-58.

Bengals Bomb Ector 80-69

ODESSA — The Snyder Tigers displayed a tenacious defense and turned in some fancy shooting from the field to blister the Odessa Ector Eagles, 80-69, here Tuesday night.

The Tigers made their move some three minutes after the opening whistle and the Eagles were in a frantic, unsuccessful game of catch-up the remainder of the way.

When it was over, three Snyder players had hit in double figures and every man on the Tiger squad had seen action in the contest. Bruce Almond paced the Snyder offensive attack, roping 24 points, with most of his 11 field goals coming from outside. Wesley Bishop contributed 20 points, while Glenn Rambin had 16. This more than offset the production of Wallace and Cooksey of Ector, who had 28 and 23, respectively, to dominate the Eagles offense.

Ector got a quick start, taking an 8-2 lead in the first three minutes of play, but the Tigers took charge and seized the advantage at 11-10 midway of the first period and they were never headed. The Tiger lead had grown to 42-24 by half-time and they increased it to 67-45 in the third period. Two of the Snyder inside operatives, Ronald Ward and Danny Farmer, fouled out midway of the fourth period, but Coach Ned Underwood still was able to get his entire bench cleared and coast in with their first victory of the season.

The Snyder varsity record is now 1-2. Ector, entering the game with a 3-1 mark, lost its second game of the season.

The Tigers hit 58 per cent of their shots from the field in the first half and 53 per cent in the second half. Ector hit only 25 per cent in the first half, but improved in the second half to hit 48 per cent.

Farmer pulled in 11 rebounds to lead the Tigers in that department as they made a good showing against the taller Eagles, with Snyder getting 34 and Ector 43.

The Snyder Junior Varsity saw a late rally fail as it dropped its first loss of the season, 57-53, in preliminary action. The Kittens led, 28-25 at half-time, but Ector JV had a sizzling third period to take a 45-37 lead at the end of three. Snyder pulled within two points of the hosts, at 53-55, with less tham half a minute to play, but Ector picked up two more to stifle the rally.

Ronnie Morse popped the nets for 19 points and Dub Preston hit for 16 for the Kittens.

The Tigers go to Irving to participate in a tournament this weekend, where they will be the only Class AAA team entered; all others being from the Class AAAA ranks.

The Snyder Kittens will be hosts to their own tournament in Tiger Gym on Friday and Saturday.

ROYAL SOFT PEDALS TALENTED LONGHORNS

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press riter

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Despite Texas coach Darrell Royal's refusal to take part in mid-season publicity campaigns for all-star teams, several Longhorns are catching the public eye and honors with their performances.

Royal waited until after top-ranked Texas had pounded Texas A&M on Thanksgiving Day, 49-12, before making a special plea for defensive end Bill Atessis for All-America on the basis of "nine solid games."

But Royal prefaced his remark with the comment, ". . . if there are any All-America selections still open. . ."

Royal knows as well as anyone that most All-America teams are selected about mid-November after teams have played seven or eight games, and that pr-season and mid-season publicity buildups influence selections.

But Royal's policy—never more clearly shown than this season when the Longhorns were advancing toward the top spot in college football polls—is to save the pats on the back until the season, hopefully a winning one, is over.

After Texas won its only national championship in 1963 and Longhorn defensive tackle Scott Appelton had been named the outstanding interior lineman in the country, Royal said, "Nobody—and he emphasized "nobody"—had a better year than (sophomore linebacker) Tommy Nobis."

The UT football press brochure billed Nobis before the next season as an All-America candidate, and he became a consensus selection at linebacker his junior and senior years.

Numerous Texas players have made one or more All-America teams since 1941, including halfback Tommy Ford of the 1963 national champions and halfback Chris Gilbert and defensive tackle Loyd Wainscott from last year's third-ranked Texas squad.

This year, however, looks like a banner season for Longhorn honors.

Offensive tackles Bob McKay and Bobby Wuensch, fullback Steve Worster, split end Charles "Cotton" Speyrer and linebacker Glen Halsell all have made at least one All-America team, and injured tackle Leo Brooks made one second-team list.

In addition, halfback Jim Bertelsen, Atessis, Halsell, Speyrer, McKay, Wuensch and Worster made The Associated Press' All-Southwest Conference first team. Quarterback James Street was named the SWC's "most valuable player" but was No. 2 quarterback kbehind SMU Chuck Hixson.

The seven first-team all-conference players are the most in Longhorn history with the exception of 1952 and 1964, when eight players were selected. However, the Dallas Morning News named 10 Longhorns all-conference, adding Street, Brooks and defensive backs Tom Campbell and Fred Steinmark to the AP selections, but skipping over Bertelsen.

But what's most important to Royal is that six of the players winning the honors return next season: Speyrer, Wuensch, Worster, Atessis and Steinmark are juniors and Bertelsen, the team's leading runner, is a sophomore.

Kittens Host JV Cage Tournament

The Snyder Junior Varsity Kittens will be host for a Basketball Tournament at the high school gym this weekend.

Coach Bill Bundy's Kittens dropped their first decision of the year last night at Odessa Ector and now are 2-1 for the campaign.

The tournament has attracted junior varsity squads from five Class AAAA schools. Snyder and Seminole are the only Class AAA teams in the tourney.

Action begins at 3:30 p.m. Friday with Cooper meeting Lubbock High, followed by a 5 p.m. contest between Plainview and Seminole. In the lower bracket, Midland Lee tangles with Monterey of Lubbock at 6:30 p.m., followed by an 8 p.m. tussle between Snyder and Big Spring.

Winner of the upper bracket contests meet at 11 a.m. Saturday, and the winners of the lower bracket tilts collide at 12:30 p.m. Saturday. The battle for third place is on tap for 6:30 p.m., Saturday, and the championship tilt will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

On the loser's side of the bracket, games are scheduled for 8 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. Saturday with the Consolation finals set for 5 p.m. Saturday.

"We've got our work cut out for us," declared Coach Rundy, "and we'll have to do some hard work between now and Friday in preparation for the tournament."

FCA Chapter To Meet Wednesday

A breakfast meeting of the Snyder Chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes has been set for Thursday morning.

The session will begin at 7 a.m. at the Steak House Restaurant. Important business concerning the planned program of activities for the year will be discussed, it was announced. All members have been urged to attend and other persons interested in supporting the work of FCA are invited.

Wild Porker Fans Hope For SWC Title

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —Arkansas has gone hog wild over its second-ranked Razorbacks this week.

Never restrained in his loyalty, the Razorback fan approaches Saturday's showdown with top-ranked Texas with even more ardor.

"Beat Texas" stickers adorn everything, even the forehead of a Longhorn steer in the Little Rock zoo for a short time before it fell off.

At stake Saturday at Fayetteville is the Southwest Conference championship, a spot in the Cotton Bowl opposite Notre Dame and a chance at the national championship. It was announced Tuesday that President Nixon will attend.

Since Sunday, a Little Rock newspaper has emblazoned "Beat Texas" in red across the top of its front page. The words are flanked by the figures of two charging Razorbacks.

A Little Rock bank gave away 10,000 "Beat Texas" lapel pins in less than two days and has ordered another 5,000.

A Little Rock radio station distributed 15,000 bumper stickers and 4,000 posters. A spokesman for the station said 5,000 persons were expected to sign up for a telegram to be sent to the team Saturday.

The Razorbacks have taken over the rock music field in Little Rock. The No. 1 song this week is "Short, Squashed Texan," which was recorded in 1965 after the Razorbacks knocked off Texas 27-24 when the Longhorns were ranked No. 1.

One Little Rock television station superimposes the words "Beat Texas" on the television screen during its regular programming.

"1969, The Year of the Swine" is the proclamation on a motel marquee.

The game has been a sellout for months and Fayetteville's 600 motel and hotel rooms have been reserved since before the start of the season.

The 50-member ABC television crew handling the game is housed 30 miles from Fayetteville.

Dr. Andrew Hall, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Fayetteville, received nationwide publicity when he placed a slogan on the church's bulletin board before the 1965 game. The slogan read:

"Football is Only a Game. Eternal Things Are Spiritual. "NEVERTHELESS, BEAT TEXAS!"

Hall has received several suggestions from across the nation for this week's slogan.

One moonstruck fan suggested: "One Small Tear for Texas, One Giant Cheer for Arkansas."

However, the slogan that went up Tuesday morning reads: "Attention, Darrell Royal—Do not Cast Your Steers Before Swine."

Hall ended his sermon Sunday morning by saying: "Services will be held on Sunday, December 7—regardless."

Santa And The Dumbbell

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Poor Booby Bobby. His schoolmates call him Dunce. Even his parents think he is addlepated. He decides he needs a friend and he goes to town to buy one.

CHAPTER TWO
SEARCH FOR A FRIEND STORE

EARLY the next morning Booby Bobby went out to buy a friend.

It would cost a lot he knew and he hoped he had enough to pay for it. He got $1.17 from the toe of an old tennis shoe. He had been saving to buy Christmas presents but he thought if he bought a friend it would be a present for everyone.

The downtown streets were strung with holly and wreaths and tinsel streamers. The store windows were packed with Christmas goodies.

Booby Bobby went into a department store that sold everything from dishpans to fur hats.

"I want to buy a friend," he said to the Lady in the Information Booth.

"A what?"

"A friend."

The Information Lady glared at him. "Are you some kind of a nut?"

"I can pay!" said Booby Bobby holding out his fistful of money.

"I don't have time for foolery," snapped the Information Lady crossly. "Go home to your mother where you belong."

A group of shoppers swept Booby Bobby with them into the street.

"Please, sir," said Booby Bobby to the doorman, "Can you tell me where there is a Friend Store?"

"You pulling my leg?" snorted the doorman. "Whoever heard of such a store?"

"There are Pet Stores," said Booby Bobby. "Baby Stores. Men's Stores. There must be a Friend Store."

"Look, Woodenhead," snapped the doorman. "You better just go in a Toy Store and buy yourself a rattle or something."

Booby Bobby went to a shoe shine stand and sat down. He was getting a little discouraged.

A shoe shine boy, only a little bigger than he, kicked him on the shin. "What're you doing sitting at my stand, Lunkhead?"

Booby Bobby explained that he was resting because he had come to town to buy a friend but could not find a Friend Store.

The shoe shine boy's eyes popped. "You off your rocker?" Booby Bobby shook his head. "See! I have money and everything!"

"How much money do you have?" asked the shoe shine boy with interest.

"One dollar and 17 cents." Booby Bobby held out his fist.

"Listen," said the shoe shine boy. "You give me the money and I'll be your friend. Like you buy me, see?"

Booby Bobby was delighted. He gave the boy his money. "Now you come home with me," he said. "And no one will call me names again because people don't do that to people who have friends."

"Yeah," said the shoe shine boy. "Well, now you wait here a minute and I'll be right back."

He took his equipment and Booby Bobby stood there and waited. The morning passed and the afternoon. Then it was night and his friend never came back.

The old man who ran the stand said, "You better go home now."

"I'm waiting for my friend," said Booby Bobby.

"Listen, boy, I heard the whole thing this morning. You'll never see 'friend' or money again. You are a simpleton!"

"But, how will I get a friend?" asked Booby Bobby.

"Write to Santa Claus," jeered the old man. "Maybe he'll bring you one for Christmas!" Laughing at his own joke he shut up his shop and went off home to dinner.

Tomorrow: Letter to Santa

Airlines Sign Agreement

ARLINGTON, Tex., (AP)—Top officials of seven airlines signed letters of agreement Tuesday with the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport Board, guaranteeing sufficient revenues to build and operate the giant facility.

A representative of the eighth airline to serve the airport — Continental — said his company was in complete favor of the agreement, but could not sign until company executives formally approved the agreement.

Airport Executive Director Thomas M. Sullivan hailed the action as "a major milestone . . .equivalent in importance to the pact between the two cities (creating the airport.)"

Airlines signing the agreement were American, Braniff International, Delta, Eastern, Frontier, Ozark and Texas International.

Each has agreed to serve the complex and to pay rentals and charges which will be sufficient to guarantee operation and maintenance expenses, plus 1.25 times the debt service on revenue bonds, plus an amount equal to any other obligations payable from the revenues of the airport.

Antipoverty Opponents Offer Counter Proposal

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the government's antipoverty program have unveiled a proposal to shift major responsibility for the system from federal hands to the states.

The proposal, kept secret until the last minute, was called "very, very harmful" by Donald Rumsfeld, the Republican director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the program.

Its backers, who claimed widespread support for the plan, presented it as an alternative to a committee-approved bill up for House debate today, which continues the present Economic Opportunity Act for two years with minor changes.

With President Nixon's backing, Rumsfeld supported that bill, which would authorize $2.3 billion for each of the next two years for a variety of programs to fight poverty.

"It's going to be a close, tough vote," said Rumsfeld, who was trying Tuesday to line up Republican support for the administration position.

The alternative plan was largely the work of Reps. Edith Green, D-Ore., and Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., two longtime critics of the program.

The major changes proposed in the substitute were designed to enlarge the states' role in planning, evaluating and administering the wide variety of programs now run by local community groups under the direction of the OEO.

It would permit a state to set up its own machinery for developing antipoverty programs and greatly strengthen the power of the governors to veto the rulings of the OEO director.

The amendment would permit the director to override a veto only if he found the failure of the state to carry out the challenged program "would seriously weaken the over-all program plan of a community action agency."

"No single program could ever be found to weaken the over-all plan," said Rumsfeld. "This amounts to a blanket veto power for the governors."

Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, said the substitute would "destroy the antipoverty program as it was originally designed by making the states the dominant factor."

"It would destroy local initiative," he said. "It would destroy the whole concept of local people determining their needs in setting priorities. It would turn back the clock. The states have had 180 years to deal with such problems and they have failed."

The substitute proposal also would authorize new programs to help combat alcoholism and to assist families of those in the armed forces and persons over 65 whose income is below the poverty level.

Cash grants would be given to the soldiers' families and to the elderly to raise their income to the federally established poverty level under the proposal.

Boys Club Christmas Party Slated Dec. 12

The annual Boys' Club Christmas Party will be held at 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 12, in the high school cafeteria.

Boys who are planning to go are asked to sign up at the Boys' Club. Transportation from the Boys' Club to the cafeteria will be provided for those who need it.

Adult bull moose average over 1,000 pounds, some weighing as much as 1,800 pounds.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

(First of six parts)

DEAR MISS LAIN: I am a 17-year-old girl and will be graduating from high school this June. I know this may sound dumb to you coming from a high school senior, but would you be good enough to tell me what the procedures are for getting a job?

Whom do I write to or see about getting a Social Security card and work permit? Where do I start looking for employment?

Would you please answer my questions? It means quite a lot to me and I'm anxious to get a job. I thank you for any secret to the whole job-finding business you may give me, and the time you may have wasted reading this.

E.L.H., WASHINGTON, D.C

A — You happen to be an untried teen on the trail of your first job and this six-part special series answer is directed to you. However, to a large extent, the same techniques apply to the experienced worker searching for a new career satisfaction or the homemaker, who wants to return to work.

Your letter is typical of thousands I've received and please don't be concerned about the time I spend reading it. If my answer helps you in any way, it's time well invested, not wasted.

TO ANSWER your easiest question first, all you have to do to obtain a Social Security card is fill out an application which you can get from the Social Security Administration office in your community (by personal visit or telephone request), or at a Post Office.

State laws vary, so you'll have to get the facts on the work permit question from local school authorities or a public employment service office.

BECAUSE YOUR FIRST JOB can set the style of your whole life for years to come, locating and landing it is one of the most crucial challenges you will ever face. And. . .

Although you didn't say it, I think you mean you want The job — not just A job. If so, you're going to have to put considerable effort and strategy into your hunt. There are no short cuts, no cop-outs.

FIRST, you need a clear plan of attack. And since you're waging a campaign, it's a good idea to outline your plan in a special notebook, and to keep records of your search notes and progress.

You're fortunate to have six months to prepare; begin reading and clipping this newspaper's classified want-ads (in the field of your interest), noting such information as requirements and salary information. Seek out people who are currently employed in your interest area, and ask them questions. Let your teacher and counselors know you're making a search; employers may call them to find good employees.

Research now will give you a basis for action later.

The fact that most people roam randomly on job safaris can work to your advantage. By following a planned approach, you'll have the edge on other applicants seeking the same job.

THAT'S THE SECRET of great success in your job search: System. For the next several weeks we'll talk about basics for your system, including resumes, job interviews and how to avoid costly mistakes.

Next: Part 2 — Be a winner on paper.

Robert Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Lindsey, has completed his basic training with the U. S. Army at Fort Bliss.

He has been assigned to Fort Rucker, Ala., where he will attend mechanics school.

Pvt. Lindsey attended Snyder High School and had attended mechanics school at San Marcos before entering the military service.

Youth Gets Prison Sentence In Robbery

DALLALS (AP) — A district court jury sentenced an 18-year-old youth to 50 years in prison Tuesday for robbing a Mesquite service station.

Dan Williams, who had no previous felony record and applied for a probated sentence, was convicted of taking $230 from a service station on Highway 80 last Aug. 27.

He was arrested two nights later at a nearby service station when the operator recognized his description and called police.

LOOK who's gone to LONDON!

Desk, typewriter and notebook–Hugh Mulligan, Associated Press special correspondent, has switched his base from New York to London. From there, he roams wherever the news takes him – the British Isles, continental Europe, Africa, the Middle East.

Not that there is a lack of stories on this side of the Atlantic for this talented reporter. It's just that Mulligan's uncommon touch, his insight, his humor, his interest in people, fit right into plans of The Associated Press to bring you more stories about the people – not necessarily the governments – that make up the world.

Mulligan is recognized as one of the great reporters of our day. He has brought us eyewitness accounts of the war in Vietnam and the fighting in Biafra. On the pleasanter side, he has told us what it's like to carry a spear in an opera company, to fly on a Navy blimp to the North Pole, to ride a truck from Ohio to Alaska, to travel with Louis Armstrong's band on one-night stands.

In his new assignment, Mulligan doesn't hesitate to drop into a foreign ministry, if necessary. But generally, he leaves that type of story to AP's huge European staff. Usually he gets his story from the guy or gal on the street in London, the housewife of Toulouse, the factory worker in Zurich or Milan, the shopkeeper of Cairo.

Much of the world has urban problems, educational crises, traffic headaches. Like us, people seek new forms of leisure, new cultural channels, new trends away from tradition.

This newspaper plans to tell you more about human affairs around the world through such understanding AP writers as Hugh Mulligan.

Watch for these stories in . . .

Teddy Now Head Of Famous Clan

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anticipating the death of his aged father not long ago, Edward M. Kennedy said: "Well, then I'll really be it. And that's a lot."

Now he is it.

In six wrenching years he has gone from Teddy, the carefree kid brother, to eldest male and leader of the famous family.

The newest burden, descending late in his 38th year, fell at a time when Kennedy was moving at a dead run to escape the long shadow of the midsummer tragedy of Chappaquiddick Island.

He still bears heavily the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. But all things considered—for a man who had survived the murders of two brothers and the violent deaths of three companions within arm's reach in vehicle accidents, and whose name and future had come under a nasty cloud—the young senator is recovering remarkably.

EDWARD M. KENNEDY

Four months after the night on Chappaquiddick, those who know Kennedy best testify that he is regaining confidence and spirit, walking taller, and even getting more satisfaction than ever from his work as a senator.

The nightmarish night off Martha's Vineyard and Kennedy's subsequent moves had virtually stilled the incessant talk about his running for president in 1972. It's now evident that for him, it was the lifting of a millstone from his shoulders.

"Now," a close friend said, "Teddy's in the position of being able to concentrate on those issues he's interested in—Vietnam, the draft, pollution, the poor—and handle them as he himself would like, rather than as he might think he has to as a presidential contender—you know, less candidly.

"He can take things on squarely and say what he feels without worrying about what people, and the Nixon administration, are going to say about his motives.

Even at a glance, it's apparent Edward Kennedy has come a long way from the gloom that gripped him after Chappaquiddick. Great spells of depression were commonplace then as he wondered who his friends were, what would become of his political effectiveness—and, most important to him, what he had done to the family name and the memory of his slain brothers.

He still keeps in close touch with Miss Kopechne's parents. His battle against a belated autopsy on the girl is less for legal reasons—his advisers think it could only help him—than in sympathy with their opposition.

But now, as he awaits the long-delayed inquest into her death, expressing eagerness to clear up at last the remaining unanswered questions, he is able again, among friends, to laugh and enjoy himself. He continues to keep his public appearances businesslike and still hasn't reached the point where he will again dress up his speeches with humor. But those who know Kennedy well report that he's "snapping back."

"I guess not having to read about it in the press every day helps," Kennedy said recently, admitting that he was feeling better.

"Now I'm looking forward to next March. By then the legal things (meaning the pending inquest into Miss Kopechne's death) should be cleared away, and then we can . . . You know, March has always been sort of a good month. The sap's rising on up, there's the St. Pat's parade in Boston . . ."

Kennedy missed the traditional Columbus Day parade in Boston's North End, usually a must for Boston politicians. The sign of his complete emergency from the gloom of 1969 will probably be his appearance at the head of the St. Patrick's Day parade. It also will mark the beginning of an all-out re-election campaign against a Republican who hasn't even come forward yet to challenge him.

But now, with his father dead, December has been cleared of most official business to allow Kennedy to assume leadership of the vast family.

Loose Wire Thwarts Getaway

DALLAS (AP)—A loose wire in their getaway car thwarted the escape of three men accused of taking more than $8,000 at gunpoint from a supermarket Tuesday.

Police said the robbers were driving a stolen car and it followed a bumpy pathway behind the store, Howard's Thrif-Tee in Northwest Dallas. The wire had been used to shortcircuit the vehicle's ignition switch and the bumps jarred it loose, stranding the bandits within sight of the store.

Witnesses told of seeing three men jump from the automobile and sprint in as many directions. Six carloads of patrolmen took up the chase.

Patrolmen L. A. Weir and M. F. Edmonds nabbed one man hiding between stacks of material at a steel firm, taking a loaded pistol and $445 in a paper sack from him.

Another man was captured at an adjoining construction site by officer C. D. Pittman, while patrolmen N. W. Crawford and Virgil Lee seized a third man hiding in an abandoned car in a nearby field.

With help from an alert neighbor, Lee then recovered a cloth sack containing $7,652. It had been hidden under a hedge. Officers completed the roundup within an hour.

Store employes said assistant cashier Mary Booth, 23, handed over the large sack of money to a bandit who pointed a sawed-off shotgun through the window of her booth and checkout clerk Thelma Noah, 36, surrendered a smaller amount to a man displaying a pistol.

The man with the pistol fired a shot before leaving, presumably to frighten any witnesses who might follow. His threat failed

Police jailed the captured trio without immediate charge.

'PWP' Chapter Organized Here

A new chapter of "Parents Without Partners International" was organized here last night at a meeting held in the Snyder Savings and Loan Association Community Room.

The organization was formed here as the climax of a session which was attended by a delegation from Abilene headed by the PWP District Director, Faye Foley.

Elfie White was elected president of the new chapter. Other officers are Joe Dupuy, vice president; Pauline McArthur, secretary-treasurer, and Joyce Elliott, editor.

Another meeting has been set for next Tuesday night at which time a membership drive will be launched. The new chapter started with 16 members.

Also to be selected is an advisory board, composed of community leaders and professional people. The principal interest of the PWP organization is to promote the welfare and interests of single parents and thier children.

Single parents throughout the Snyder area are urged to attend the next meeting and to become members of the organization.

Martin Seeking Third Term

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin is running for re-election, and he says he hasn't even heard any rumors of possible challengers for his job.

Martin, 53, is seeking his third two-year term. He was state senator from 1949 to 1963 and was secretary of state under Gov. John Connally from 1963 to 1965.

Martin announced his intentions at a news conference Tuesday.

One improvement in the attorney general's office, he said, is that "We've cut a lot of red tape between local prosecutors and law enforcement officials on the one hand and the attorney general's office on the other. Our local officials get quick legal advice and assistance when they need it, thanks to the new crime prevention division."

There are drawbacks to the jobs, he said.

Dropout Appointed OEO Assistant

AUSTIN (AP) — Humberto Silex Jr., a former migrant farmworker and school drop out, has been appointed administrative assistant to James Griffith, regional director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

Silex, 33, an El Paso native, is a former member of U.S. Sen. John Tower's staff and has been the state Republican party's director of Mexican-American affairs since 1966.

He edits "The Texas Politico," a Republican monthly he founded in 1968.

The OEO announcement said Silex dropped out of school and married at the age of 15 but returned to school in 1961, working full-time to support his family of four while attending New Mexico State University and the University of Texas at El Paso.

Experts Say Electric Car Not Answer

By DOUG WILLIS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two experts on national power requirements say any development of a feasible electric car won't cure all the environmental pollution now causd by internal combustion engines.

The energy to provide power for electric motors, they pointed out Tuesday, will have to be generated by some means and most known production methods entail pollution.

"It is unkind to the public to develop its enthusiasm for electric cars," Dr. Chauncey Starr, dean of the school of engineering and applied sciences at UCLA told an Atomic Industrial Forum conference.

"It would take a true discovery, not just technological improvements, to make the electric car feasible," he explained.

Even if that unforseen breakthrough did occur, the production of power for electric cars would still result in pollution or alteration of the environment, said Commissioner John A. Carver Jr., of the Federal Power Commission.

The impact of electric autos on the environment would be less than air pollution now caused by the internali combustion engines, "but you are only replacing one kind of pollution with another," he said.

Generating plants which burn coal, oil, natural gas or other fuels are more efficient than individual internal combustion engines, but they still create air pollution, Carver said.

Even nuclear power plants have been opposed strongly by persons concerned about radiation or ecological changes caused by the warm waters nuclear plants expel from their cooling systems, Carver added.

Old Painting Proves Valuable

LONDON (AP) — An Edinburgh housewife hoped to raise $48 toward a new car on a painting she had never liked. Today the painting by German artist Hans Baldung was auctioned by Sotheby's for $537,600.

Mrs. Rosemary Cattrell, a 43-year-old art teacher, inherited the Baldung "Temptation of Eve" from an uncle 15 years ago. She took it to Sotheby's Edinburgh office in the hope of getting 20 pounds for the down payment on a new car for her family. Sotheby's exports told her the painting was by the 16th century German artist and might bring 100,000 pounds.

The London dealer Thomas Agnew and Sons paid more than double that today.

"We are just dazed and very excited," said Mrs. Cattrell, the wife of a medical physicist. She said she had no idea what the family will do with the money.

Cattle Industry Leaders To Attend General Assembly

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — More than 3,000 cattle industry leaders from 19 Western Hemisphere nations are expected here Wednesday for the fourth general assembly of the Inter-American Cattlemen's Confederation.

Among the speakers will be U.S. Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin, who is to deliver a major address Thursday night.

Foreign visitors are expected to total 1,500 at the four-day assembly, first ever held in the United States.

Major sessions will focus on the problems of credit and finance for Latin American cattle and beef industries; marketing and its relation to economic development in the Western Hemisphere; animal health; and ways cattlemen can meet the food needs of the poor.

Among other scheduled speakers will be George Moore, chairman of the First National City Bank of New York, who is expected to base much of his speech on New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's recent report to President Nixon on Latin America.

Moore will discuss "A Selective Approach to Latin America."

Rodman Rockefeller, Gov. Rockefeller's son, will speak on "Investment Opportunities in the Americas — Risk and Rewards." He is president of the International Basic Economy Corp., New York.

Peace Corps director Joseph Blatchford, Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., Texas Gov. Preston Smith, former Texas Gov. John Connally, and Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White are other scheduled speakers.

The largest delegation, with 300 expected, will come from Mexico, headed by Octavio Ochoa Ochoa of Mexico City, president of the confederation. Ochoa Ochoa will address the assembly at the inaugural ceremony Thursday morning.

Delegates will attend from as far away as Argentina, Colombia and Venezuela.

The confederation is formally known as Confederacion Inter-Americana de Ganaderos (Ciaga). It is a conference of North, Central and South American nations, designed as a forum for discussing mutual problems.

Meeting the conjunction with the assembly here are officials of the American National Cattlemen's Association, the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers and the Southwest Animal Research Foundation.

Denver Cattleman C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the National Cattlemen's Association, praised the assembly and said his organization hopes it will be a "further building block to continued fine relations with all cattlemen in the Americas working together to help resolve many of our mutual problems."
