Fans, players and coaches at the Canyon Reef Basketball Tournament were spoiled — and so far as could be determined there wasn't a plastic-coated razor blade in the coliseum.

But the coliseum itself was the spoiler and the apparent success of the tournament from every standpoint led to talk of a bigger event on an annual basis.

Another division could be added to the tournamand and make it even better, and now that the coliseum is here, the usual problems of staging a tournament are all but eliminated. There has already been considerable talk about the possibility of adding a division for smaller schools, with the other Scurry County Schools along with some of their neighbors participating. This likely would entail a three-day meet, but if the Canyon Reef Tournament this year is a good indication, such a meet would sustain itself financially and provide the area with the hottest weekend of schoolboy basketball in West Texas.

The Snyder Quarterback Club put up $300 for the coliseum rental fee for two days. They got their money back and then some from the first day's gate receipts.

The Friday night crowd did not look particularly large in the spacious coliseum, but many of the paying customers would have been left out in the cold if they had tried to get into Tiger Gym.

Out of town fans were particularly impressed by the coliseum. Judging from their comments most of them never dreamed that such a facility existed in this area.

The coliseum is so big, compared to other facilities in these parts, that it was the second day of the tournament before I discovered where the "hospitality room" was. Primarily for visiting coaches, officials, etc., it was stocked with coffee, doughnuts, cookies, and chairs for lounging. When I finally discovered it after twisting Franklin Pruitt's arm, such dignitaries as Freddie Bullard, Wayne Tyrone, Bill J. Hood, Horrace Bostick, et al, were on hand sampling the hospitality. A lot of basketball games, high school football playoff games and professional football games were being won and lost in the conversation. It was a congenial point of congregation for officials, workers in the tournament and such hanger-on as could find their way to the site.—WACIL McNAIR

UNESCORTED VISIT TO DAKSON

Close Call For US Senator

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, his wife and seven other Americans escaped injury today when Communist gunners opened up with mortars and small arms during a spur-of-the-moment, unescorted visit the Illinois Republican made to the devastated village of Dakson.

Some of the five mortar rounds crashed within 15 to 20 feet of the 48-year-old senator, who is a potential Republican presidential candidate, and four men inspecting the village with him, but no one was hit. The group took cover, and Percy got some small scratches on his arms as he crawled behind some wood huts.

Mrs. Percy had remained in the group's helicopter 75 yards away with the pilot and two crewmen. They flew her to a nearby town and returned with an escort of armed Army choppers to rescue the senator and his companions.

"This is closer to action than I got in three years of World War II," Percy, a U.S. Navy veteran, told a news conference after he returned to Saigon.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command announced that 471 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars—the equivalent of a battle-ready battalion—were killed in a six-day battle that ended Monday along the narrow coastal planes near the pivotal town of Bong Son.

Allied casualties were 33 Americans and 30 South Vietnamese soldiers killed, and 147 Americans and 71 South Vietnamese wounded.

The battle erupted when two companies of the helicopter-borne U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division began a sweep of the scrub land along the coast about 300 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Just to the north a battalion from the South Vietnamese 40th Infantry Regiment was pushing south.

Both allied groups ran into fortifications manned by the seasoned 22nd Regiment of the North Vietnamese 3rd Division.

Over the next six days the allied troops pushed forward then pulled back while planes, artillery and helicopter gunships pounded the enemy over a five-mile stretch of the coast.

The Communists made a final stand in the fortified village of Truong Lam, which was overrun Monday. In it the cavalrymen found about 60 new graves in which the Reds had hastily tried to conceal some of their dead.

Many more of the veteran Communist troops evidently slipped away to the south.

The battle on the Bong Son plain was the latest in a series of stand-and-fight engagements provoked in recent days by American and South Vietnamese sweep operations. Otherwise, the Communist troops have stuck mainly to hit-and-run attacks except along the borders of Cambodia and Laos, where shorter supply lines enable them to make more large-scale assaults.

A pattern of widespread small skirmishes was repeated in today's war communique from U.S. headquarters. Air action in the north was again hampered by monsoon rains, but some improvement permitted 101 combat missions, the largest number in three weeks.

LBJ Speaks At Dedication

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said today, in dedicating a new junior college, that "the time has come for these Americans who believe in progress to convince the doubters."

Johnson said the quest for educational excellence, abolition of poverty, better health, economic stability and world peace will succeed—"if we stay on the course."

His remarks were prepared for ceremonies at Central Texas College.

The President, who flew to Killeen from his ranch near Johnson City, was headed back to Washington via New Orleans and Miami Beach.

An unofficial announcement today of his New Orleans visit said his agenda was to include NASA's Michoud assembly facility.

In Miami Beach, AFL-CIO officials had been hoping Johnson would stop off at their convention. On the Texas leg of today's presidential tour, a speaking time of 6:35 p.m. (EST) before the labor body in Florida was announced.

The AFL-CIO gave cheering support Monday to Johnson's Vietnam policies.

At the dedication, the President noted the expansion of educational facilities and opportunities. "Yet still," he said, "there are those who oppose this kind of growth . . . There are some who tell us that it is too expensive; that it is too dangerous; that the effort cannot succeed."

Johnson argued that progress in America can never be too expensive. He said: "It is sickness and ignorance and discrimination and crime which cost too much . . . It is not action but inaction that costs too much."

The President said colleges like Central Texas are being established at the rate of one a week.

"In the past six years," he said, "the number of young people going to college from poor homes has risen by more than 12 per cent.

"In those years, the number of high school dropouts has dropped—from 25 per cent to only 18 per cent o f young people between 16 and 24 years old."

Johnson said that these years, like those of growth on the frontier, "are noisy with the sound of controversy." But he said: "That should not daunt us—any more than it daunted the settlers of yesterday who sought a newer world."

Johnson flew to his ranch Saturday after the White House wedding of his daughter Lynda Bird and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb. Mrs. Johnson joined him there Monday and planned to stay longer.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Fluvanna Baptist Church. The Rev. Thomas Hall, pastor, will officiate, and burial will be in the Fluvanna Cemetery, under direction of Bell - Seale Funeral Home.

Death Toll Up To 155 In India

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The earthquake toll in southwest India rose to 115 today as search parties fanned out to isolated hamlets in the Western Ghat mountains. There were estimates as many as 200 may have died.

More than 1,600 injured persons were seeking treatment. Hospitals in Karad Sangli and Satara, the towns closest to the disaster area, were unable to take more patients.

The quake rocked the Koynanager area 150 miles southeast of Bombay before dawn Monday. Many were killed when houses built of granite blocks collapsed on them as they slept.

Only a few tin sheds were reported left standing in Koyna, a town of 10,000 near the Koyna Dam. The dam, one of the largest hydroelectric projects in Asia, apparently was not damaged, but transmission lines to Bombay were broken and 700,000 factory employes were put out of work, perhaps for several days.

Old Santa Kept Busy

Santa Claus found an appreciative audience here Monday, and his world's largest sleigh was kept busy for several hours.

Sleigh rides were offered on the south side of the courthouse, with local merchants giving away coupons for the rides. Over 3,000 children rode the sleigh, as the rides were continued a few minutes past 6 p.m., the quitting time originally set.

The appearance of Santa here was sponsored by the Trade Promotion Committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Kiddie Show Set For Goodfellows

The Snyder Goodfellows annual kiddie show will be held again this year at the Ritz Theater, according to Herman Trigg, chairman of that activity.

This year's special show has been set for 9:30 a.m. Dec. 23. Children will be admitted to the show upon presentation of a can of food or a usable toy for the Goodfellows program.

The show will include a Walt Disney feature, plus cartoons.

Meanwhile, donations were still coming into the Goodfellows. Goodfellows desks are in operation during business hours at both local banks. Contributions also may be mailed to P. O. Box 661, Snyder.

Gala Festivities At GOP's Inauguration

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — With the roar of cannon and the peal of church bells, more than 250 bands and floats began a four-hour parade today as Kentucky prepared to inaugurate its first Republican governor in 24 years.

A crowd of as many as 40,000 had been expected, and city police said the early morning influx of visitors to the capital was larger than they had expected.

BLACK POWER MILITANT RETURNS

Carmichael Passport Lifted

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Black Power militant Stokely Carmichael was back in the United States today, his passport in the hands of federal officials and his presence stirring Congress to consider penalties for U.S. citizens who travel to forbidden nations.

Carmichael, whose five-month trip included calls in Vietnam, flew into Kennedy airport Monday and was met by a cheering group of his admirers and by U.S. marshals.

U.S. Atty. Joseph P. Hoey of Brooklyn said Carmichael's passport—issued with the proviso that he not go to either Cuba or North Vietnam—was seized by a marshal executing a federal search warrant.

Shortly before Carmichael arrived, the State Department in Washington asked Congress to authorize penalties of up to one year in prison and $1,000 in fines for unauthorized travel by U.S. citizens to forbidden countries.

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach termed lifting of a passport to prevent repeated violations of travel restrictions "inadequate to secure the foreign policy interests which are at stake."

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said "the Carmichael case points up the need to invoke criminal penalties for forbidden visits."

"Carmicahel has made statements which have given great aid and comfort to our enemies in Vietnam, Cuba and elsewhere. Those statements well nigh border on treason," he said.

"It would be most anamalous if a great country like the United States did not protect itself against flagrant violators of passport laws by desperadoes like Carmichael," Celler said.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., a member of the Foreign Relations Committee to which the administration bill was referred, said he favored legislation of that kind.

He said Carmichael's trip had "dramatized the fact that this country is pretty defenseless to protect itself" against activities of this nature.

A Supreme Court decision on passports earlier this year left the State Department without the power to seek criminal penalties for unauthorized visits to countries to which travel had been restricted.

Katzenbach said that although Carmichael's passport has been officially revoked "no penalty today can be applied to him for the fact that he visited Hanoi."

Wintry Weather Heads For Texas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another batch of wintry weather whistled southward off the Colorado Rockies today with a promise of the Texas Panhandle's second taste of snow in as many days.

Skies were clear throughout the state in early morning, however, and some sections were as much as 20 degrees warmer than 24 hours earlier.

Before clouds moved eastward across the Louisiana line late Monday, a little light rain fell in Northeast Texas. Amounts ran as high as .10 inch at Texarkana.

Snow melting as it descended brought traces of moisture in some areas of North Texas.

By afternoon, however, winds from the south helped warm most sections, with many points recording temperatures in the 60s. Top marks ranged up to 72 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Texarkana was the coolest spot with a high of 42.

The quick warmup on the heels of a weekend cold spell helped keep the mercury higher than expected over much of the state early today.

Among the cooler places before dawn were Perryton at 22 degrees and Dalhart 24. Amarillo registered 30 and Childress 32.

Most other points had readings in the 40s to 50s, but it was 33 in usually warm San Antonio. Brownsville and Galveston recorded a comfortable 56.

Forecasts called for little change in temperatures by early Wednesday for the Panhandle, where overnight marks down to 24 were expected. Other sections were promised lows in the 30s and 40s.

Occasional light snow was predicted by tonight in the north part of the Panhandle, with a little snow spreading southward on the High Plains and turning to rain elsewhere across the northern half of the state Wednesday.

A few snow flurries were in prospect Wednesday also for the mountain country in extreme Southwest Texas, with widely scattered showers elsewhere in that section. A few showers were forecast Wednesday in the south central and southeast parts of the state, mostly near the coast.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school freshman and belong to a church group which meets every Friday night. There is a boy in this group who is sort of physically deformed and a little mentally unbalanced. (I am not saying this to be mean, Abby, he really is.) Everyone makes fun of him but me.

My problem is, he keeps hanging around me asking me to do weird things, like telling him if he blinks his eyes. (He claims he can't blink his eyes.) Abby, I go to have a good time, and I can't with this kid bothering me all the time. I don't want to tell him to get lost or anything like that because I hate to hurt his feelings. But what can I do? He keeps following me around.

I have even considered dropping out of the group, but I don't want to because it could be a lot of fun if it weren't for this kid. How can I get rid of him nicely?

PESTERED

DEAR PESTERED: That you would write with such a problem shows you to be an extremely sensitive warmhearted person. Surely this group has an adult counselor, and a few leaders among its peers. Why not try to organize a meeting to discuss this problem with them? It would be an act of genuine kindness (not only to the handicapped lad, but to all the young people) to point out the need for patience and understanding in such a situation.

DEAR ABBY: I am trying to plan my daughter's wedding, and my problem is that her fiance has too many parents. His mother was married six times and his father was married four times. They have remained friendly with all their exmates, and not only that, there are half-sisters and half-brothers and stepchildren galore, not to mention grandparents on all sides. the other night my daughter started counting them and she quit at 48.

If I invite all these folks to the wedding there won't be room for anybody else. Where does one draw the line?

How can we tactfully get this message across to my daughter's fiance?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: Allow your daughter's fiance "X" number of guests, and let him invite whomever he wishes.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I know you've had several letters on this subject, but will you please answer it again, and this time a little more specifically?

What can I do about people who come right out and ask me how old I am? I know there must be several ways to avoid answering this rude question, but I am so stunned when some asks me, I always blurt out the truth.

It's not that I am ashamed of my age, Abby, I just resent the nerve of these people who ask me and get away with it.

Please come up with a razor-sharp answer; I'm sure lots of women like me will bless you for it.

GOING ON 50

DEAR GOING: Lean over, and in a very confidential manner ask,

"Can you keep a secret?" The inevitable reply will be, "Yes." Then you say, "Well, so can I."

Rice Wins, SMU Longhorns Lose

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a new sensation—one of winning—for the Rice Owls but the same old one of losing for Southern Methodist and Texas in basketball Monday night.

Arkansas also won, gaining Southwest Conference teams an even break in four intersectional games.

The Owls, after losing three in a row, won their first game of the season by beating Tulane 88-81. Greg Williams led Rice with 21 points and Farrar Stockton added 20.

Billy Carter, a non-scholarship player from Navasota, Tex., making his first college start, hit two free throws to give Rice its biggest lead, 81-75, with 1:16 to play.

Unbeaten Notre Dame extended winless Southern Methodist's losing streak to five games 79-59. Ahead only 32-30 at intermission, the Irish outscored SMU 20-8 in the first seven minutes of the second half and coasted in. John Higginbotham's 15 points paced the Mustangs.

Texas dropped its fourth consecutive game 90-75 to Colorado despite 64 per cent field goal shooting the first half and 51.8 per cent for the game. Colorado hit 51.5 per cent.

Pat Frink and Chuck Williams combined for 57 of Colorado's points, with Frink getting 32. The Longhorns had four players scoring in double figures, being led by Billy Arnold's 20.

Junior kicker Bob White of Fayetteville, Ark., at 5-9, is the smallest player on the Arkansas football squad.

Arkansas extended its winning streak to two games by outshooting and outrebounding Centenary for an 85-65 triumph. The Razorbacks led in rebounds 62-53 and had a 41 per cent shooting average to Centenary's 27 per cent. Benton Cone and James Eldridge scored 20 points each for Arkansas.

In games tonight, Texas Tech tries to end a four-game losing string against Oklahoma and Baylor seeks its fourth triumph in five games against Loyola of New Orleans.

Secret Service Nabs Money Tree

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — After 23 Christmas seasons in a local finance company's window, a "money tree" was seized Monday by the Secret Service because it held "reproductions of legal tender."

The play money on the tree, about one-third the size of a dollar bill, was imprinted with a skinny George Washington wearing glasses, inscribed with the words, "This certificate is not worth a cent," and signed by "Oscar Zilch and Harry T. Zilch, stenographer."

The Secret Service office in Dallas explained that it is charged with preventing counterfeiting and that the "money" was a reproduction of legal tender.

Texans Study US Policy In Europe

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — United States policy in Eastern Europe should "take legitimate Soviet interests into account," participants in the Texas Assembly said at the end of the four-day conference here Sunday.

Forty prominent Texans attended the assembly, sponsored by the University of Texas and the American Assembly of Columbia University.

"Care should be taken not to arouse false hope among the peoples of Eastern Europe that the United States will give them effective assistance in case of violent revolutions," the report said. "American policy toward Eastern Europe should attempt to accomplish its goals by seeking evolution, not revolution."

The 13 proposals of the assembly included negotiations with the Soviet Union toward an overall European settlement which may include elements such as armaments control, establishment of an atom-free zone and partial withdrawl of American and Russian troops.

The report called on the U.S. government "to promote a more flexible trade policy by eliminating all controls, that are more restrictive than those of our allies, over trade in non-strategic items. A transfer of technological information which is not of strategic importance should be allowed. . . However, such transfers should be accompanied by managerial control by an American firm for a substantial period of time."

Western Europe should take the lead in "encouraging internal liberalization and greater national independence" in Eastern Europe," the report said.

Congressmen Asked To Practice Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress got a recommendation today that it practice the economy it has been preaching and defer financing of some of its own projects and programs.

The proposal came from the House Appropriations Committee in the final money bill of 1967, financing the office of Economic Opportunity and other assorted programs.

While it approved $135,000 for emergency shoring up of the Capitol's west front, the committee deferred action on a request for $500,000 to continue remodeling the Longworth House Office Building and $2.8 million for drawing final plans for a third building for the Library of Congress.

Says Activists From Upper Middle Class

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Dr. James L. Price, a Duke University dean, says student activists at Duke come from highly educated upper middle class families and are among the most academically talented students.

Price, speaking at a meeting of Duke's alumni leaders, the University National Council, said it would be a mistake to dismiss the activists as alienated hippies or a handful of lawless, undisciplined "kooks."

The dean termed the activists' presence at Duke "an embarrassment of riches," and recommended giving students the opportunity to participate in university policymaking and planning.

Merry Mince Mini-Pies

"Mince meat pie," wrote Suzanne, French historian of English cookery, "is especially esteemed and pupular in England. This, with the legendary plum pudding, presides as master at the gargantuan lovefeast of Christmas. Its absence from a Christmas dinner would be looked upon as a breach of the traditional rules and customs."

Americans have taken many of their customs from the English. But they have added their own touches, often giving old recipes new flourish.

Suggested below is a marvelous variation on the mince meat theme. The rich fruit filling is served in individual crisp, flaky patty shells and topped with a creamy hard sauce.

Merry Mince Meat Patty Shells

1 package frozen patty shells
1 package 9 oz. condensed mince meat
1 cup water
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon orange rind
¼ cup orange juice
1 apple, pared, cored, minced
½ cup seedless raisins

Prepare patty shells according to package directions.

Meanwhile, prepare mince meat filling by following directions on box using above ingredients. Simmer 5 to 10 minutes, until apple is tender. Cool slightly. Remove top from each baked patty shell. Fill with mince meat; replace tops and garnish with generous spoonful of Hard Sauce.

Note: A 1-lb. 2 oz. jar of prepared mince meat may be used for a quick and easy filling. Simply heat prepared mince meat in saucepan to reduce amount of liquid and develop flavor.

HARD SAUCE

½ cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla or rum extract

Cream butter until soft; gradually add sugar and beat until fluffy. Stir in flavoring. Refrigerate until serving time. Yield: about 1 cup topping.

VARIATIONS

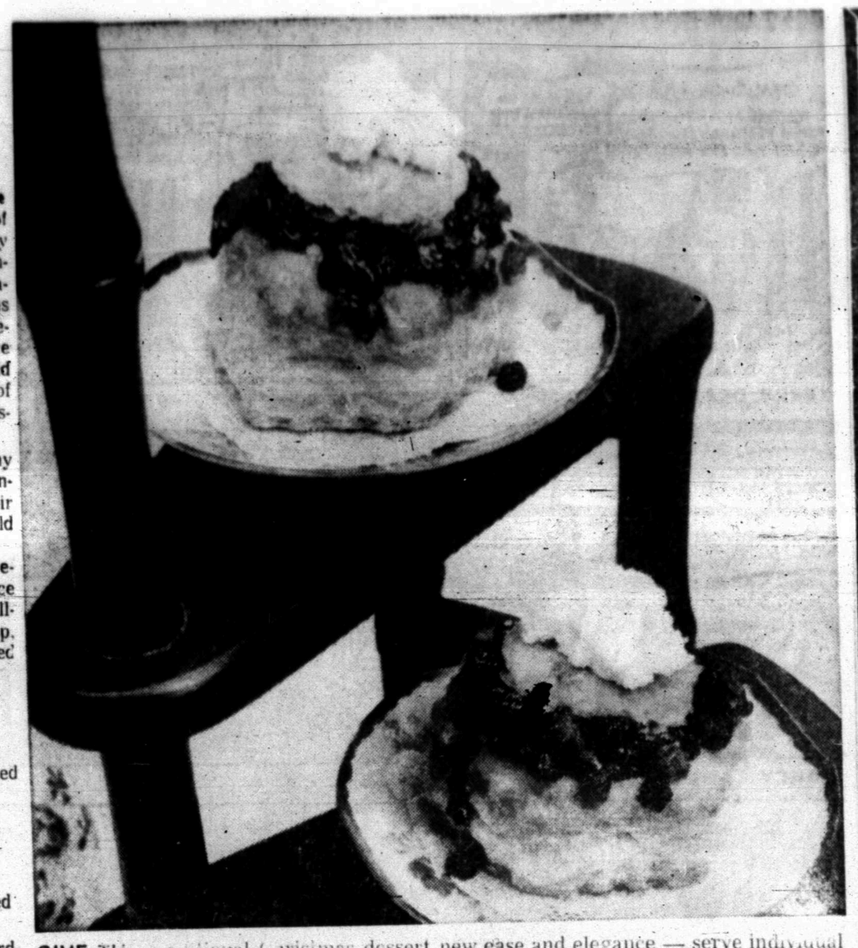

Orange Hard Sauce: Substitute 2 teaspoons grated orange rind and 1 tablespoon orange juice for vanilla.

Fluffy Hard Sauce: Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Substitute sherry for vanilla flavoring.

Cream Cheese Sauce: Substitute 1 (3 oz.) package cream cheese for butter. Add ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind and use ½ teaspoon lemon extract for vanilla.

Crisp Tip

Family like fried salt pork? Dip the slices first in milk, then in cornmeal and pan-fry until golden brown and crisp.

GIVE THE traditional Christmas dessert new ease and elegance — serve individual mince meat mini-pies in patty shells.

Party Ham Casserole Potpourri Of Color Lights

3 cups diced cooked ham
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
1 cup grated process American cheese
¼ cup slivered, blanched almonds
3 medium potatoes, cooked and sliced
1 can (16 ounces) green beans
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1½ cups soft bread crumbs

Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine. Stir in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add cheese and cook very slowly until melted. Add almonds. Arrange potatoes in a greased 2½-quart casserole; cover with green beans. Pour half of cheese sauce over green beans. Add ham and remaining sauce. Mix melted butter or margarine with bread crumbs. Sprinkle crumbs over casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes or until crumbs are lightly browned. 6 to 8 servings.

BULLING HIS WAY!

This Congress' Main Goal To Reassert Its Authority

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever the final record of the 90th Congress, it is most likely to be remembered for trying to recapture influence and authority previous congresses have lost to the executive branch.

By ordering substantial cuts in spending before it will even consider President Johnson's request for a tax increase, Congress has told the administration it wants a larger voice in controlling the growth of the federal government.

By transferring control of important education and antipoverty programs from the federal bureaucracy to state and local governments it has called for a halt in the long trend toward centralization of authority in executive agencies in Washington.

Also under challenge is the President's authority to send U.S. forces into overseas combat without congressional approval. A resolution calling on the President to get such approval is awaiting Senate debate.

Such congressional declarations of independence would have seemed ludicrous to an earlier breed of congressmen accustomed to dealing with passive presidents.

But the exercise of presidential power that marked occasional administrations became an overpowering force in the early days of the New Deal. White House occupants since Franklin D. Roosevelt have consolidated and added to his gains.

Where presidents once were content to suggest programs for Congress to act on, they now send the complete draft of bills to Capitol Hill and fight any attempt to alter them.

Under the shadow of nuclear war and recurring foreign crises, presidents since 1950 have tended to act first in foreign affairs and then ask Congress to back them up.

"We want to pause in the headlong rush toward ever bigger government," said Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee in touching off the revolt against Johnson's tax request.

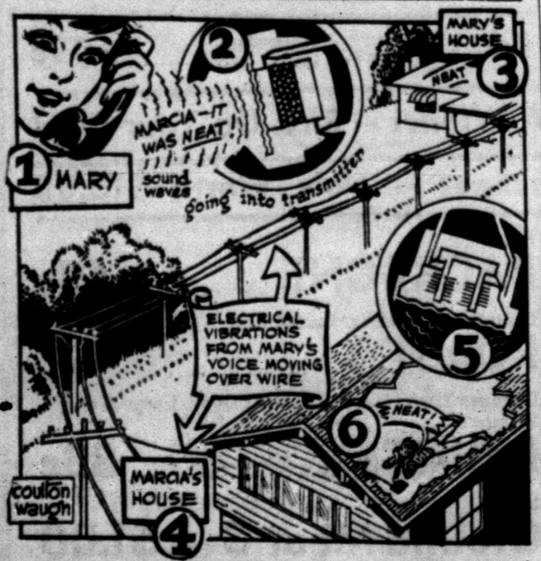

The Senate resolution calling on Congress to "reassert its constitutional authority over the use of the armed forces" said until it does "the American people will be threatened with tyranny or disaster."

Whether the 90th Congress will be able to follow up what it has begun remains to be seen. The move is essentially a reaction to the Vietnam war and its economic dislocations.

An improvement in the war situation might cool congressional ardor for a fight with the President, particularly in an election year with its stress on party loyalty.

But the things that are being said now about the need for Congress to reassert itself have a validity beyond the moment, and if not the 90th, a future Congress may heed them.

A Junior Editors Quiz About TELEPHONES

QUESTION: How does a telephone work?

* * *

ANSWER: When Mary (1) speaks into the telephone to her friend Marcia, her voice makes sound waves in the air. In the telephone transmitter, there is a kind of drum, thediaphragm (2). The sound waves make this vibrate, the vibration being carried through grains of carbon through which an electric current is also passing. Different pressures on the carbon grains cause electric impulses of different strength. To put it simply, the sound vibrations of Mary's voice have changed into electric signals. These travel over the telephone wire from Mary's to Marcia's house (3), (4). There is a magnet in the receiver Marcia is holding at her ear (5), connected with another diaphragm. Through the action of the magnet, the electric signals cause this second diaphragm to vibrate. This causes sound waves which go into Marcia's ear and allow her to hear Mary's voice (6).

Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876 after experimenting with sounds made by metal reeds. It was one of the most important inventions in history.

Yesterdays Grow More Important

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Which is more important—yesterday, today, or tomorrow?

Well, tomorrow may never come, so one can't be certain of its value.

Today is here now, but it tarries so briefly and flies so quickly that it is gone, often, before we are fully aware of its meaning.

And that leaves us yesterday, the day which, as we grow older, comes to have the biggest imprint on our lives. It is all our memorable yesterdays, incessantly strained through memory's bright sieve, what has given the individual pattern to our personalities and made us what we are.

You've sieved a lot of yesterdays yourself if you can look back and remember when:

Every few years some bewhiskered, addled old-timer would announce he was the famous bank robber, Jesse James, still alive.

A mother who wanted her son to grow up to be a genius stuffed him with fish as often as possible because fish was supposed to be good brain food.

Butchers almost had to give calf's liver away, because it was eaten only by cats and people so desperately poor they could afford nothing else.

No French leader dared knock the United States, because he knew here was where he had to float a loan to keep his country from bankruptcy.

Kids had as much fun sliding down a snow-covered hill on a pair of barrel staves as their own children do now going to an expensive ski resort.

Men worked hard 50 or 60 or more hours a week and looked forward to Sunday, because it was the one time in the week they could take a long, restful afternoon nap. Without those naps they couldn't have faced another Monday.

In 1927, Greta Garbo and John Gilbert appeared in "The Flesh and the Devil," and lanky young Gary Cooper got his first screen leading role in "Arizona Bound." Until then Gary had specialized in being shot off galloping horses for $10 a day, plus free studio liniment.

Practically every boy in America carried in his pockets a top, some string, several marbles, and a pocketknife. No one worried about the knife, however, as it didn't contain a switchblade, and the boy used it only to whittle with or play mumblety-peg.

More men smoked cigars than cigarettes, and probably more chewed tobacco than smoked either.

"Take home" pay wasn't what was left after all the government deductions had been taken out; it was what a worker got home with after stopping off at a neighborhood saloon on payday.

It was the height of repartee to tell a friend on parting, "Don't take any wooden nickels." Nobody thought then we'd ever have to worry about rubber dollar bills.

Yep, those were the days! Remember?

Plains Wheat Fields Dry

AUSTIN (AP) — The U. S. Department of Agriculture says shortage of moisture is limiting High Plains dryland wheat growth.

The department said in its weekly crop-weather report Monday that Central and South Texas range conditions are generally good but moisture continues short in East Texas and the High Plains.

Cotton harvest reached 85 per cent completion last week, compared with 95 per cent a year ago, the department said.

The cotton harvest is at 55 per cent on the southern low plains and is moving into its final stages on the high plains.

Both sugar beet and peanut harvest operations remain active. Sorghum and soybean harvest near completion. Much of the wheat and oat seeding is finished.

Rain halted Lower Rio grande Valley vegetable planting Friday night. No damage is expected from a light frost reported Monday morning in the Rio Grande City - Mission area. Citrus fruit is sizing better than expected, the report said.

Bengals' Late Rally Sinks Wolves, 95-86

Snyder's Tigers had to go all out here Friday night to score a come-from-behind 95-86 victory over Colorado City's upset-bent Wolves in a non-district basketball re-match.

The Wolves were hotter than a pistol in the first half as they took a 10-point lead after each of the first two quarters. With Billy Williams and Kerry Campbell penetrating Snyder's man-to-man defense, the Wolves hit 10 of 21 and 8 of 20 in the first two frames respectively.

Trailing, then, 46-36 at halftime, the Bengals made a great comeback in the third quarter, scoring 30 points while holding Colorado City to 17. Snyder hit 59 per cent in the third stanza with Frankie Grimmett hitting four straight from in close. Frankie stole the ball for a couple of his shots. Jerry January also dunked in four baskets from close range in this period — taking smooth passes from Tommy Bullard. Tommy put in three, including one at short range, and Mickey Almond dropped in a couple from long distance. Jim Patrick also penetrated the defenses to drop one in from inside.

The upshot of it all was that the hustling Bengals took a 66-63 lead going into the final frame. The lead changed several times in the next few minutes, but Bullard hit one from just outside the circle to make the count 76-74 and Snyder never trailed after that.

A close shot by Patrick and an inside shot by Campbell boosted the count to 78-76, then Grimmett hit from inside again and Bullard drove in for a layup as Snyder took a 6-point lead at 82-76. Grimmett and Bullard both were outstanding in the last quarter, sinking 10 and 11 points respectively in this frame. Almond added six and Patrick's two gave the Bengals 19 points in the last quarter and a fantastic 82 per cent shooting average.

Colorado City, however, still was in the thick of the fight after Bullard's driving shot. The Wolves countered with three gratis tosses to narrow the margin to two points at 82-80.

Almond hit from long range again to make it 84, then Colorado City stole the ball and went in for a quick layup. It appeared from the stands that January had been fouled on the play, but the officials didn't spot it. The Wolves were back within two points again at 34-82.

Three quick baskets (two by Grimmett and one by Bullard) put the Tigers out of range at 89-82 with only seconds remaining. Campbell hit another one for the Wolves, but Grimmett sank two quick crip shots and Almond dunked one in close to put the game on ice.

It was a great team effort that enabled the Bengals to come from behind. Asked what the Tigers were doing differently in the second half, Coach Ned Underwood said: "Hustling."

Snyder held the upperhand 42-29 in rebounds, and the Tigers hawked 8 of 9 jump balls. Turnovers were about equally divided between the two teams.

Colorado City never was in the "B" game as the Kittens took a 23-13 lead in the first quarter and outscored the visitors in each succeeding period. Wesley Bishop was high point man with 25. Coach Jerry McLeod swept the bench as all of the subs got in the affray.

Both teams will be at Andrews tonight for a "double-header." Tipoff in the "B" game is set for 6:15 p.m.

Texas Death Match, Victor The Bear Feature Mat Card

Wrestling returns to Snyder at 8 p.m. today with "the greatest card ever," according to promoters.

The main event will be a "Texas Death Match" between Thunderbolt Patterson and Dory Funk, Jr. Rules are: No stopping match because of blood; no time limit; no disqualifications; no holds barred. The last man standing is the winner.

Patterson and Funk wrestled to a bloody, savage draw in an hour of grapping at the Scurry County Coliseum during the first card here.

"This time," said the promoter, "they will be going at it in the most savage battle in wrestling today — the Texas Death Match. In this type of battle there has to be a winner."

The second main event will be the biggest attraction in the world today — Victor the wrestling bear. Victor weights 800 pounds and stands 7½ feet tall. He is one of the biggest crowd drawers in wrestling today. Victor, the bear, will take on the Lawman in a special challenge match. A Russian brown bear, Victor is undefeated in over 2,000 matches. The bear has an amazing style of wrestling, and the Lawman admits that he is in for a rough night.

Terry Funk will go against Dirty Dick Murdock in the semi-final match. This could be one of the most exciting matches of the night as Terry, the younger brother of Dory Funk, Jr., will be taking on the savage and tough Dirty Dick Murdock. There is no love lost between these two, and when they meet they fight with everything they can get their hands on.

The special event will be Jerry, the giant killer, Kozak taking on Tuffy Truesdale.

For reservations, call the Coliseum at HI - 3-9811. Tickets are ~~$1.50~~ for ringside, $1.25 for general admission, and children under 12 will be admitted for $1.

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys said today that 38,000 reserved and general admission tickets will go on sale at 7 a.m. Wednesday for their Eastern Conference championship game with the Cleveland Browns in the Cotton Bowl Dec. 24.

Dallas won the Capitol Division and Cleveland took the Century Division title. The winner will play the Western Conference champion for the National Football League championship.

Tickets will be sold in the Women's Building at Fair Park in Dallas and at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth. Standard prices of $6 for reserved seats and $4 and $1 for general admission will prevail, officials said.

A limit of eight reserved seat tickets per person has been set.

Citrus Crop Harvest To Fall Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 1967-68 orange and grapefruit crops have taken a sharp drop, the Agriculture Department reported Monday.

The orange harvest is expected to be 32 per cent below last year and the grapefruit crop 25 per cent lower.

The department said the decline from last season's orange crop is about proportionately distributed between early, mid-season and naval varieties and Valencias.

Extremely dry weather has slowed fruit growth in Florida, where irrigation is being used extensively to maintain citrus groves, the department said.

The Texas orange and grapefruit crops were heavily damaged by Hurricane Beulah this fall.

The orange crop was estimated at 128.5 million boxes compared with 188.6 million boxes last season.

The grapefruit crop was indicated at 41.7 million boxes, down one-fourth from last season's 55.9 million boxes.

The lemon crop was put at 17.1 million boxes, 6 per cent less than last season's 18.1 million boxes.

The indicated production of oranges by states included: California 25,000,000 boxes compared with 37,400,000 last season; Florida 98,400,000 and 144,500,000; Texas 1,300,000 and 2,800,000 and Arizona 3,800,000 and 3,910,000.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: On their way to destroy the Pigwidgen, Claus uses the magic arrow to slay a giant. Later Tweedleknees insults a witch who turns him into a donkey.

CHAPTER NINE
THE SNAKE NEST

THE DONKEY gazed at Claus from large brown eyes. He rolled his lips back from his big yellow teeth and swung his heavy head.

"So it's you!" signed Claus. "You made the witch angry and she has bewitched you. Now what are we to do?"

The donkey brayed piteously.

Claus remembered the magic ring the elves had given him. It could be used once to change a creature's shape. Claus took the ring off his finger and slipped it on the long tail of the donkey. He twisted the ring three times, saying, "Change to your natural shape."

The donkey vanished. Patrick Tweedleknees stood there rubbing his ears. "Am I glad to get rid of those donkey ears," he cried. "They itched terribly and had nothing to scratch with."

"Perhaps I should have left you as you were." said Claus. "It would have kept you out of trouble. Now we have used both the ring and the arrow and still have not met the Pigwidgen."

"Never mind," said Tweedleknees airily. "We have other weapons."

"Yes," said Claus. "But you must be careful and control your temper."

Tweedleknees promised to be very, very good and they continued on their way. Now it was truly cold. The snow was many feet deep. As they trudged on with their heads bent against the wind they saw a rabbit shivering in a snow drift.

"How cold he looks," murmured Claus.

"I will warm him under my coat!" said Tweedleknees. He reached for the little creature. The rabbit took one look at the elf and scurried away.

"What gratitude!" exclaimed the elf.

"Never mind," said Claus. "He doesn't know what's good for him."

"I'll show him," growled Tweedleknees. He ran after the rabbit. The faster he ran the faster the rabbit ran. Claus ran after them both shouting, "Let him go! What does it matter?"

Suddenly the earth gave way and Tweedleknees plunged headlong into a deep pit while the rabbit went merilly on his way. Claus crept up and stared over the edge of the pit.

"I've fallen in some kind of a trap," puffed Tweedleknees. "Here, help me out."

Claus leaned down but he could not reach the elf. He dragged up a fallen log and dropped one end into the pit.

But Tweedleknees screeched, "It's not a trap! It's a snake nest!" Claus peered over the side and saw hundreds of snakes wiggling around the elf.

"Climb the log!" shouted Claus.

But Tweedleknees was too petrified to move. He stood there staring as if hypnotized, too scared even to shake. The snakes were annoyed at being awakened from their long winter sleep. They twisted and curled into a tight circle around the elf.

Claus pounded on the snakes with the log but they slid out of the way. He shouted and threw rocks into the pit. But the only one hurt was poor Tweedleknees who was too frightened to duck.

The snakes' sleepy eyes glittered. Their pointed tongues darted in and out. It was clear they were getting very, very angry.

The snakes approached the terrified elf.

Burglar Fails To Ruin Wedding Plans

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A Cook County official with a heart made sure a burglar didn't ruin Ronald Kamen's wedding plans.

Kamen, 22, was having a prenuptial dinner recently with his father, Herbert, when someone broke into young Kamen's car and made off with his marriage license, a pair of plane tickets to Miami, Fla., two tickets for a Bahama cruise and clothing.

Sidney Marcovit, administrative assistant to County Clerk Edward J. Barrett, heard about the misfortune and made a special trip to his office on a Sunday morning to issue a duplicate license.

The wedding took place as scheduled after the bridegroom bought new airline and steamship tickets.

After 10 years as a professional, guard Darrell Dess of the New York Giants scored his first touchdown this season. He took a lateral from Fran Tarkenton and went four yards for a score against Chicago.

Satan's Priest Officiates At Funeral

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The sun was setting at Cypress Lawn Cemetery. A Navy bugler blew taps. The sorcerer waved his magician's wand. The Navy honor guard fired a volley over the casket.

Thus Edward D. Olsen, a Navy machinist's mate third class was buried.

"To the earth whence he came and where he lived, not to any heavenly realm," said the priest of Satan, Anton LaVey, founder of the First Satanic Church of San Francisco.

Olsen, 26, was killed in a traffic accident last Friday. His widow, Christine, asked as the next of kin for the Satanic funeral.

They had joined LaVey's church six months ago, she said, and although they hadn't talked much about death, he had said "this would be the only way. He believed in this church."

Lavey, dressed in black sorcerer's costume, with shaved head and a Mephistophelian beard, said this was his first funeral. He previously has conducted one baptism and one marriage which later broke up.

"We did not consign him (Olsen) to the devil," LaVey said. "Satan was mentioned throughout the service as the embodiment of life."

In Park Ridge, Ill., Olsen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Olsen, who are Baptists, accepted the wishes of their daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Olsen said of her daughter-in-law: "She's a wonderful girl, a real lady, and I know she's taking good care of things."

Speaking Contest Finalists Named

Names of twelve finalists in the oratorical contest sponsored by Midwest Electric Cooperative were announced this week by Don Waddell, Members Service Director.

Winners, whose oratory on the subject "A Youth Looks at His Community," qualified them for final consideration by a committee of judges are: Scott Richburg, Hermleigh; Shirley Stirl, Hermleigh; Joe Wilson, Snyder; Dana Thompson, Snyder; Thomas Gaskey, Hamlin; Joe Lynn Johnson, Hamlin; Andrew Cox, McCaulley; Charlotte Kay Griffin, McCaulley; Jerry Dean Edwards, Rotan; Paula Heathington, Rotan; Gary Stuart, Roby, and Barbara Ann Mitchell, Roby.

The twelve young people will be interviewed on December 18, 1967 at the Midwest Electric Cooperative "Willie Wiredhand Room" at 7:30 p.m. by a judging panel consisting of the following persons: Austin McCloud, District Judge from Colorado City; Mrs. Joe Benson, Sweetwater; and Mr. Ken Loyd, Austin.

From the group of finalists, one boy and one girl will be selected as winners of all-expense paid trips to Washington, D.C. with the Texas Electric Cooperative's Youth Tour in June 1968.

The final judging will be based on knowledge of subject, speaking ability, poise, personality, and appearance.

The Youth Group will travel to and from Washington, D.C. by chartered bus. Participants will be chaperoned by six adult couples.

During four days in the nation's capitol city, the young people will visit various governmental agencies and sites of historical significance. They also will visit the headquarters of the National Rural Electric Cooperatives Association, national service organization for about 1,000 electric cooperatives across the nation.

Each of the Youth Tour participants will be given a set of colored slides showing highlights of the Washington trip, Waddell said. It is expected that the young people will use the slides in reporting highlights of their Youth Tour experiences to local groups such as youth groups, service clubs, church groups, farm groups or any organization desiring an interesting program for its meetings.

Cottage cheese makes a good addition to the relish platter. Use creamstyle cottage cheese and add, if you like, minced scallions (green onions) and chopped pimiento - stuffed olives.

New Plan To Control Population

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Dr. William Bradford Shockley, who shared a Nobel Prize in 1956 for helping to develop the transistor, has proposed a sweeping birth control plan that includes temporary sterilization of all women and government approval before each baby.

The Stanford University physicist explained his plan in a lecture at McMaster University Monday night and also accused "inverted liberals" of blocking research into inherited intelligence differences between Ngroes and whites.

The chief points of Shockley's birth control plan are these:

The public would first of all vote on the rate of population growth it wants. The Census Bureau would determine how many children each couple could have in keeping with the predetermined growth rate and certificates would be issued to them.

All girls would be temporarily sterilized by time-capsule contraceptives. When a woman and her husband wanted children, they would have the time-capsule removed by a public health agency on turning in one of their certificates. After the child was born, the contraceptive capsule would be reinserted.

Couples not wishing children or wishing less than they were entitled to could sell their surplus certificates on the open market.

Under this system, Shockley said, "only people who want and can afford children will have them."

The physicist also made a plea for research into racial differences. He urged eugenic studies related to the relative intelligence levels of Negroes and Caucasians.

"Let's ask the questions, do the necessary research, get the facts, discuss them widely," Shockley said, "then either worries will evaporate or plans for action will be developed."

US Claims Edge For Tapping Sea

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official estimates the United States holds a 5-1 edge over all other nations combined in its ability to probe the largely untapped—and politically disputed—wealth of the oceans.

But even with that capability, says Dr. Edward Wenk, the United States has refused to engage in any race for control of the vast animal, vegetable and mineral wealth believed hidden in the oceans' depths.

Wenk, executive secretary of the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development and President Johnson's chief adviser on oceanic matters, told The Associated Press:

"You can't say we're winning the race for the oceans because there is no race. No nation can come close to matching our progress in this field. Our exploration capability is greater than that of all other nations combined and multiplied by five.

"But President Johnson has made it clear that we vill not get involved in any colonization race for the deep oceans and sea beds."

The question of which nations have what rights in the ocean's depths was laid in Augus before the United Nations.

The Mediterranean island nation of Malta proposed to the General Assembly that an international agency take jurisdiction over the sea beds, with the net financial gain from their exploitation "be used primarily to promote the development of poor countries."

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, in rejecting the proposal, suggested instead the world body study the question of jurisdiction. Meanwhile no nation or agency would be given control and there would be an international program to determine what the seas hold that might be worth the effort and cost of recovering.

The debate that followed was expected to produce establishment this week or early next week of a U.N. committee to study the scientific, technical, economic, legal and other aspects of the question. The panel would report its findings to the next General Assembly session.

It would be the beginning of a process which the United States hopes may produce an ocean treaty similar to the treaties covering Antarctica and outer space, Wenk said.

Some government officials and several members of Congress say they believe the exploitation of "ocean space" is more vital than the race to the moon.

US Stands Behind Dollar With Faith, Strong Economy

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The good faith of the government and the strongest economy in the world—not the gold at Ft. Knox, Ky.—is the real strength behind the U.S. dollar.

That's why government officials see no technical problem in eliminating the last domestic link between gold and dollars—the 25 per cent gold cover. The only obstacles are political and psychological, they feel.

Next year, the Treasury Department is expected to ask Congress to remove the requirement that each $1 placed in circulation must be backed by 25 cents in gold.

This will free more than $10 billion in gold for possible sales to foreign countries and reinforce U.S. policy to buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce—a policy officials say has made the dollar as good as gold.

It's a keystone of the present international money system.

The decline in U.S. gold stocks since 1949—from $24.56 billion to less than $13 billion—has increased pressure on the gold cover. The available gold is now 28.5 per cent of the paper money in circulation.

Government and many private economists contend the gold cover idea is archaic—a throwback to the era of hard money when a dollar could be exchanged for gold.

Despite the gold cover, dollar bills cannot now be exchanged for gold, even at the rate of 25 cents to the dollar.

Republican leaders have already taken aim at the expected bid to remove the gold cover but their major criticism is of administration financial policy.

"Eight years of deficits and irresponsiblity may soon find it brought the natton to the brink of financial crisis," the Republican Coordinating Committee said Monday.

"We deplore that the Johnson adninistration may soon find it necessary to request removal of the remaining gold backing behind our currency, now 25 per cent, thus turning it wholly into paper money," the committee statement said.

It's been more than 30 years since Americans could hold gold in other than jewelry, tooth fillings or other industrial or rtistic purpose.

Many people, Treasury officials have said, still don't realize that since 1934 U.S. citizens have been forbidden to hoard gold. Only foreign central banks —the counterpart of the Federal Reserve System—have the privilege of exchanging dollars for gold.

The United States is one of the few remaining industrial countries still linking its currency to gold internally.

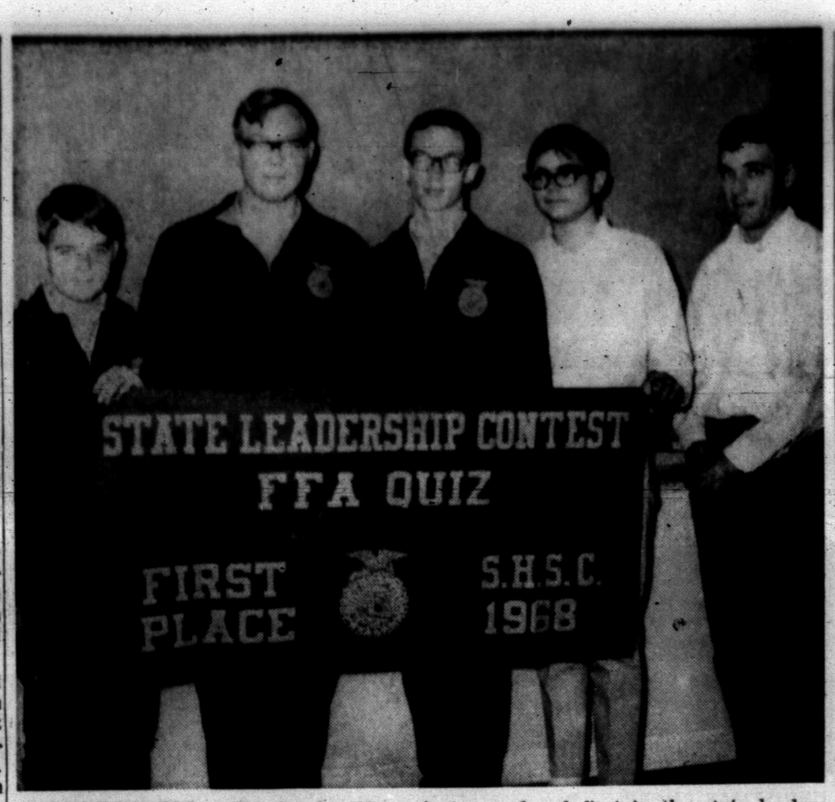

Of the free world's major countries, only Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands and South Africa have such a link. Even France, where the fondness for gold is beyond question, has none backing the franc.

The Federal Reserve Board backs every dollar placed in circulation 100 per cent. What's not covered by gold is backed by government securities held by the system.

This places the good faith of the government and its taxing powers behind each dollar bill in circulation.

Since the Federal Reserve now holds more government securities than paper money in circulation they could become a possible substitute for a gold cover.

The gold cover was dropped to 25 per cent in 1945 on both currency and bank reserves. It had been 40 per cent on currency and 45 per cent on reserves. It was eliminated entirely on bank reserves in 1965 and some members of Congress at the time felt the cover should be eliminated entirely.

Texas May File Suit For Water

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin announced Monday the U. S. Supreme Court has granted Texas permission to file suit in the court against Colorado over 303 billion gallons of Rio Grande water.

New Mexico also is a party to the suit, which alleges Colorado has failed to live up to the Rio Grande Compact.

The compact, formed in 1940, apportions Rio Grande water among the three states from the river's source to Fort Quitman, Tex., about 0 miles downstream from El Paso.

Martin said Texas and New Mexico allege Colorado has lived up to its part in the compact only twice in the past 15 years, and owed the two states 939,000 acre-feet of water by the end of 1965. An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.

Texas and New Mexico are asking the court to command Colorado to pay back its water debt under the compact and to deliver water at the Colorado-New Mexico line.

Colorado had blocked trial of the case by contending the United States was a necessary party, Martin said, but U. S. Solicitor General Irwin Griswold cleared away this hurdle by filing a memorandum with the court saying the government would intervene if necessary for the suit to go to trial.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questons most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q — I've taken over my mother's support from my brother. Who gets to claim her as a dependent this year?

A — Under the support test for claiming a dependent, the person who provides more than half the total support for the calendar year is entitled to claim the exemption. To determine whether you or your brother qualify, add up your mother's food, clothing, shelter and other expenses for the year. Then find out whether you or your brother supplied more than half of them.

If neither you nor your brother furnished more than half of this support but your combined contributions totaled over half the support, then you may want to consider the multiple support agreement. Such as agreement enables one of you to claim your mother as a dependent providing certain conditions are met.

Be sure to check this provision of the law, as well as the other dependency tests, before you file your return next year.

Q — I was just billed for a tax I've already paid. What should I do about it?

A — Return the bill along with a copy of your cancelled check or money order. Frequently IRS receives payments that cannot be identified and this might have happened in your case. Another possibility is that your payment was received too late in our processing cycle to make the necessary adjustment in the billing notices.

A good practice to follow when paying a tax bill, is to put your Social Security number on the check or money order and return the notice with your payment.

Q — Is there any penalty for failing to report tip income to your employer?

A — Yes, there may be a penalty of up to 50 percent.

If you have tip income of $20 or more a month while working for any one employer then be sure you report it to this employer each month. For details on this reporting requirement, send a post card to your IRS district director and ask for a free copy of Document No. 56-40, "Reporting Your Tips For Federal Tax Purposes."

Q — I have an expense account to cover the traveling I do for my company. How do I handle this for tax purposes?

A — The general rule is that reimbursements and allowances you receive for expenses incurred in connection with your employment must be included in income. However, if you are required to account to your company for your expenses and your reimbursement does not exceed these expenses, then you do not have to report this on your income tax return.

If you account to your employer and the reimbursement exceeds your expenses then the excess must be reported as income on your return. But if your allowable expenses exceed your reimbursements, report the reimbursements as income but also deduct the expenses.

Q — To help promote goodwill for my new business, I plan to give gifts to my best customers this Christmas. Is it true that there is a limit on what you can spend for these gifts?

A — The law limits the amount you may deduct on business gifts to a total of $25 for any one individual during the tax year. For the purposes of this provision, the customer and his spouse are generally considered one individual.

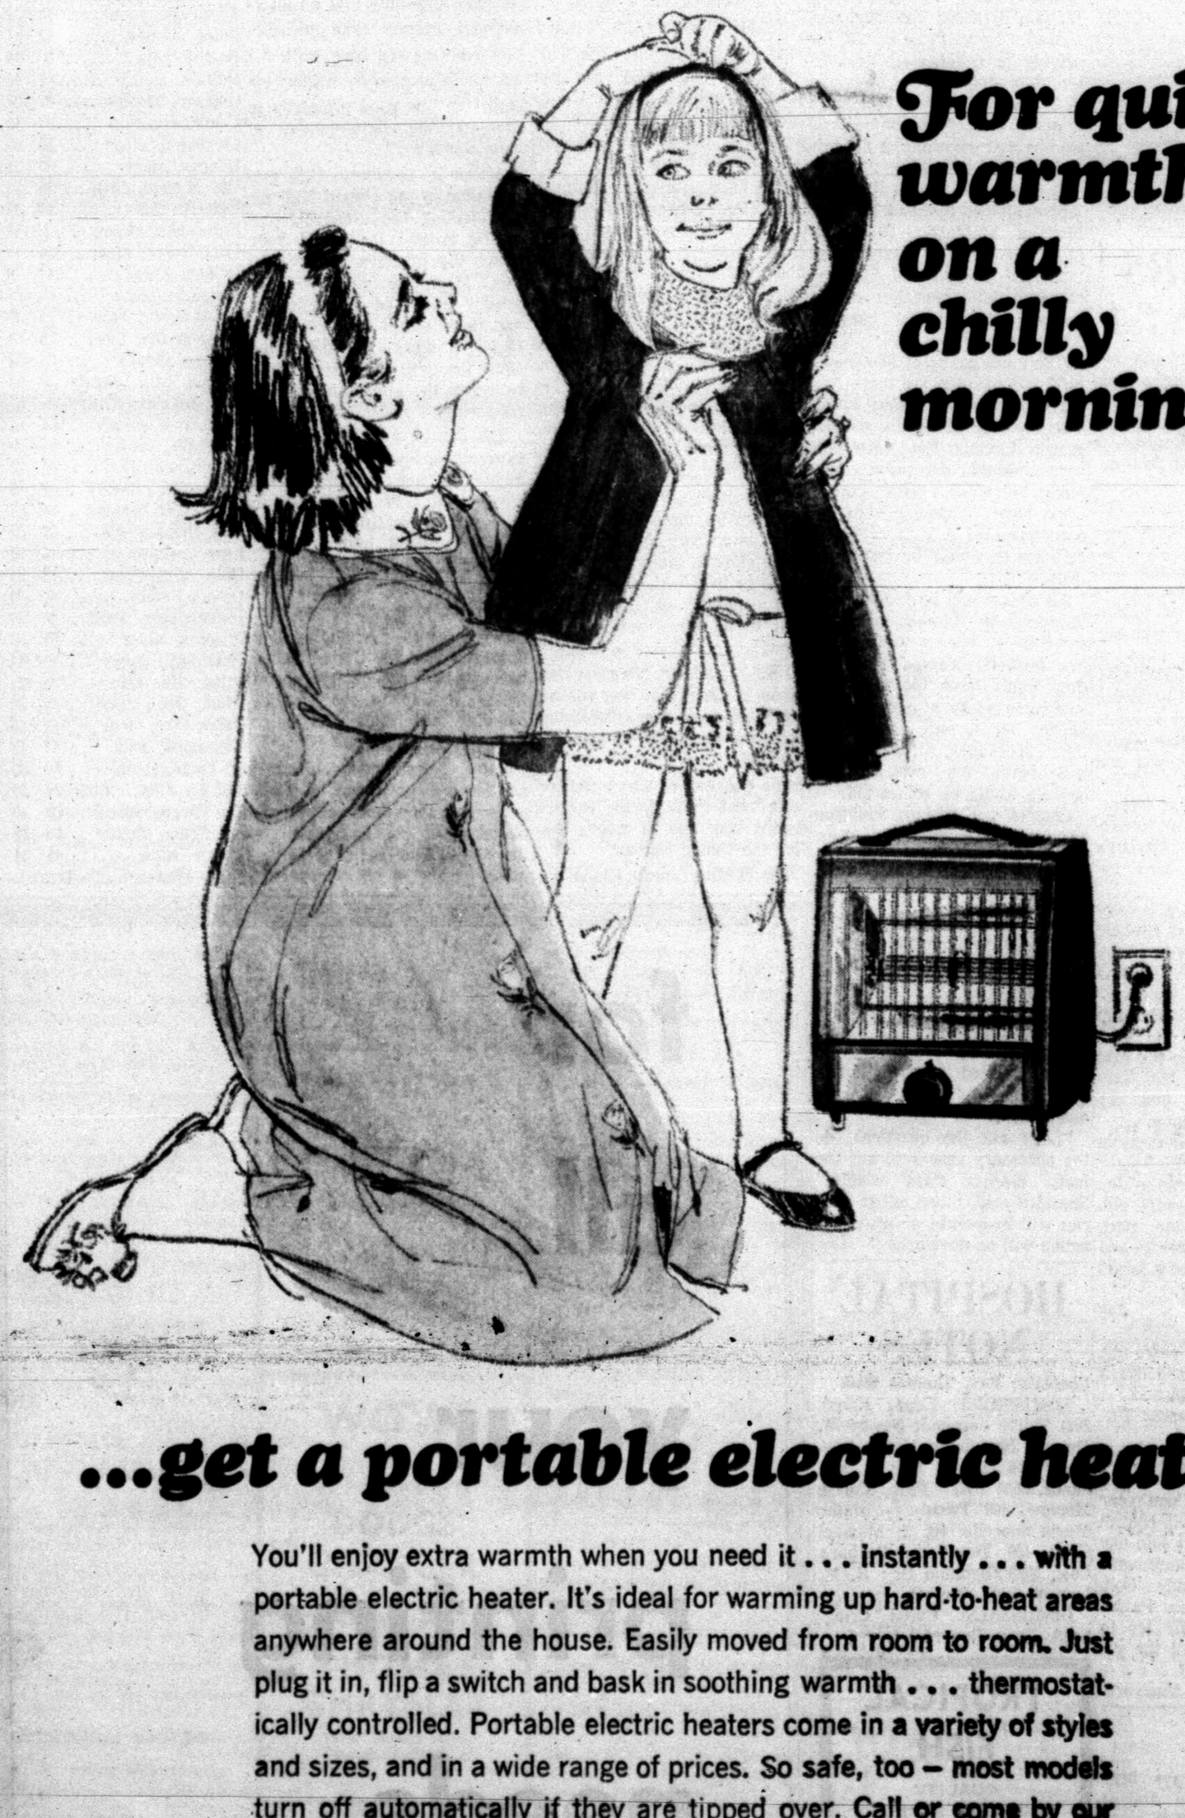

That means you can't give a $25 gift to a customer and a $25 gift to his wife and be able to deduct them both as a business expense.

Gifts which cost $4 or less are not subject to this $25 rule if your name is clearly and permanently imprinted on them and they are distributed in quantity. This would cover items like pens and calendars.
