Drastic Action To End Coal Strike Seen

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT PROGRAM CAUSES UNUSUAL SITUATION

Cottonseed Is Piled On Ground

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

THE SOUTH Plains now has a ringside seat for one of the greatest farm price support shows Uncle Sam has ever staged—the emergency cottonseed purchase program enacted by Congress Oct. 4, which now is moving into operation.

The government's potato-purchase program may look like "small potatoes" indeed by comparison, say cottonseed experts of the area.

How much cottonseed will be bought at high support prices to lie idle on the ground is anybody's guess right now. It appears that the Commodity Credit corporation may pay farmers of 21 South Plains counties as much as $25,000,000 for their cottonseed, then leave it out possibly to be damaged by the elements.

The program works like this: The federal government, under authority of recent legislation, buys cottonseed outright from the farmer through cotton gins, paying $46.50 a ton parity for it. If the farmer wants to haul the cotton to his own storage area the government pays $49.50 a ton for it, but few farmers can make any money by doing this.

Cotton oil mills, on the other hand, are paying only $43 and $43.50 a ton for cottonseed of good grade. The government makes no stipulation as to quality, requiring only that the moisture content be less than 12 per cent.

Already South Plains pastures are dotted with large piles of seed stored on the ground without cover. Much cottonseed is being stored in buildings rented by the government at prices from 10 cents to 50 cents per ton per month.

Here's what one cotton oil mill official had to say about the program:

"The kindest thing you can say for it is that it is extravagant and wasteful. If we have much rain this fall, it could be disastrous in ruining the open-stored cottonseed."

Most cotton farmers will take

UNCLE SAM'S COTTONSEED — This scene will be repeated thousands of times on the South Plains as the federal government through the Commodity Credit corporation and the Production and Marketing administration buys cottonseed from farmers for $46.50 a ton to store in buildings and on the open ground. Here Riley Whittington, 18, of Lubbock is at work unloading cottonseed by hand on a pasture near Monroe. The expense of transporting the seed from gins and unloading it by hand is no small item in increasing the cost to taxpayers. Cottonseed oil mills unload the seed mechanically, sometimes investing $100,000 or more in cotton seed unloading equipment. (Staff Photo.)

Harvest Rush Strikes Area

WITH a week of bright, sunshiny weather turning cotton fields snowy white, South Plains farmers continue to wrestle with a sub-normal labor shortage which has plagued them from the beginning of the harvest season.

There aren't enough laborers to go around, although from the crowds reported thronging the streets in practically every town in the area, it appears that there are enough pullers to gather a substantial portion of the crop. Lubbock swarmed Saturday with Latin-Americans, who thronged down-town stores in making purchases of clothing and necessities.

Prices Hold Steady

Prices for boll pulling remained static throughout the area with $2 prevailing throughout most of the territory and 25 to 35 cents for weighing and hauling.

Some mechanical harvesting was underway by farmers who cannot get hands and reports gathered by the Texas Employment commission indicate a general use of the strippers from now on out. An estimated 5,000 machines are owned by farmers in the 15-county area.

Demands for pickers as reported to the TEC showed a decline over reports of a week ago. Approximately 30,000 laborers were asked for by farmers over the area in reports to the TEC Friday.

263,153 Bales Ginned

Ginnings in the 15-county territory had climbed to 263,153 bales by mid-week, the TEC reported.

Gins, practically idle two weeks ago, are now running on a 24-hour schedule throughout the entire area. Many piles of cotton may be seen in farmers' fields and trucks and trailers are beginning to stack up in ginyards.

Yield per acre is ranging from one-half to a bale to the acre, farm authorities reported Saturday. Some irrigated cotton in Lubbock county is running more than a bale to the acre.

Plainview Man Dies Of Wreck Injuries

BORGER, Nov. 5 (Special) — Earl Hankins, 25, of Plainview, died in a Borger hospital at 7:30 p.m. today of injuries received an hour earlier when his car overturned nine miles west of here.

His wife received minor injuries. A motorist driving behind the Hankins car said the brakes apparently locked and the car turned over three times.

Hankins returned to Plainview about three weeks ago for the cotton harvest. Born near Hale Center, he lived there and at Plainview until moving to Eunice, N. M., about three years ago.

Survivors include his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Hankins of Eunice; a son, John Ronnie; four brothers, Keith of Plainview, Kenneth Dale, John Henry and Charles W., all of Eunice; and three sisters, Linda Kay Hankins of Eunice, Nelda Lee Hankins of Borger and Mrs. R. L. Jones of Snyder.

Acheson Set For Meeting

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Secretary of State Acheson will fly to Paris Monday night for a Wednesday meeting of the Big Three western powers at which he will press for a close-knit economic organization of Europe.

The State department, today confirmed Nov. 9 as the opening date of Acheson's conference with British Foreign Secretary Bevins and French Foreign Minister Schuman.

Spokesman said the secretary will board a plane Monday shortly after confering with Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky reportedly on proposals looking toward an end of the "cold war."

Against Trade Barriers

Acheson will pursue the same line already opened by EAC Administrator Paul Hoffman. The foreign aid chief feels strongly that Europe must knock down its trade barriers and permit an interchange of goods in much the same fashion as prevails between the 48 states of the United States.

250 Jaycees Attend Board Session Here

By LONNIE HUDKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

IN the keynote address of the Annual Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce fall board meeting here Saturday, Clifford D. Cooper of Alhambra, Calif., national Jaycee president, asked the 250 or more Texans attending the two-day meeting "to help maintain the free competitive enterprise economic system that has made our nation so great."

Speaking at a luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel ballroom before Jaycees from 128 Texas cities, the 33-year-old industrialist said the "Jaycees and young men of our country are formulating the future of tomorrow."

Not Afraid Of Future

"We are not afraid of the future nor are we scared to tackle problems," Cooper told his audience, which included many who chanced to be listening to a broadcast of his speech.

Expressing the views he picked up on tours throughout the nation, he added "we do not think America is a finished product, either."

"A young man in this nation by exercising thrift, self reliance and hard work can amount to something in America," he continued.

Points To British "Chaos"

Stressing this point, he said the current economic chaos in England could be traced to the lack of young men forcing dynamic economic principles on that nation.

"We prefer to follow in the steps of the pioneers who crossed the deserts and found passes through the mountains," he said, "and the young men of America will find

Navy May Avoid Drastic Slash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, new chief of naval operations, said today "every effort will be made" to avoid applying economy cuts to naval aviation.

The Navy now is getting a hearing at the Pentagon on proposed reductions that brought cries of protest last month from some members of the House Armed Services committee.

Efforts to steer cuts in some other direction do not mean the Navy's air arm won't be hurt in Defense Secretary Johnson's billion dollar economy program for the armed forces. But the aviation slashes may be smaller than had been indicated.

"It's too early to predict how we will make out," Sherman told a reporter. "It is a complicated financial matter which I haven't had time to grasp fully yet."

Wants Big Combat Fleet

Sherman said he wants a big combat fleet and the largest possible Navy afloat. That leaves the implication that reductions will be applied as much as possible to Navy shore stations.

Navy Secretary Matthews had protested the extent of Navy cuts

Military Chiefs Admit Fighter Bases Needed To Back Bombers

BY LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

FORT BENNING, Ga., Nov. 5.—The joint chiefs of staff have agreed that inter-continental bombing can not be conducted successfully without intermediate bases to mount fighter support.

This was disclosed at Fort Benning today as America's military high command witnessed the closing phase of a demonstration of infantry power.

A new unification controversy was threatened when General J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, said that "no aircraft of today could wage inter-continental warfare on a sound basis."

Any controversial aspect was thrown out, however, when Maj. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, former director of the joint chiefs admitted that JCS are in agreement with Collins' statement.

The issue arose when Collins sought to correct a remark made earlier this week to a group of civilian leaders touring defense installations. The Army chief of staff explained that he felt that intermediate bases were essential.

Collins said he accepted the statements of Air Secretary Symington

Senator Byrd Sees Deficit Of $7 Billion

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) predicted today that the government deficit for the current fiscal year will be "closer to $7 billion than the $5.5 billion estimated by the administration.

Byrd declared that Budget Director Pace, who announced the administration forecast this week, has "overestimated" government revenue by $1 billion and "underestimated" expenditures by half a billion.

Forecast Borne Out

The senator said that the federal red ink trend bears out his forecast of several months ago that the government will pile up total deficits of $15 billion in the current and next fiscal years. He said:

"We are facing a serious situation. These are the biggest peacetime deficits in American history. The peacetime deficits of the Roosevelt era were small by comparison."

Byrd declared the situation has reached a point "where we must either reduce expenditures or increase taxes." He would make no forecast as to whether Congress will increase taxes at the next session. He said:

"I am hoping that something can be done toward reducing expenditures. I thing there is more prospect of a cut in spending now than there has been.

Businessmen Concerned

"Businessmen are very much concerned. I have been on a trip around the country and talked to a number of them. They are willing to forego asking for things they otherwise might ask for.

"Conditions in England are also making a great impression in this country. The complete loss of spirit in the people there are warnings against socialistic trends."

The Virginian said his deficit forecasts are based on studies made by the joint Congressional Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Expenditures, of which he is chairman. He said:

"The decline in business in 1949 will not be fully reflected in government revenue until the March

New York Infant Is Kidnapped

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 5. (AP)—An infant was mysteriously missing today, and his 29-year-old mother said she saw her sleeping son kidnapped by a strange man in dark clothes.

Six-week-old Stephen Komorek was snatched from his basinette in the family kitchen late last night, Mrs. Henry Komorek told state police.

Ransom and sexual perversion motives were ruled out by the investigators as they pressed an intensive hunt for the babe.

Inspector E. J. Dougherty who said police were working on meager clues, declared: "We are working in hopes of finding the child alive."

No Trace Of Infant

There has been no trace of the infant since his mother said she saw a man carrying him from their home in nearby Clayville.

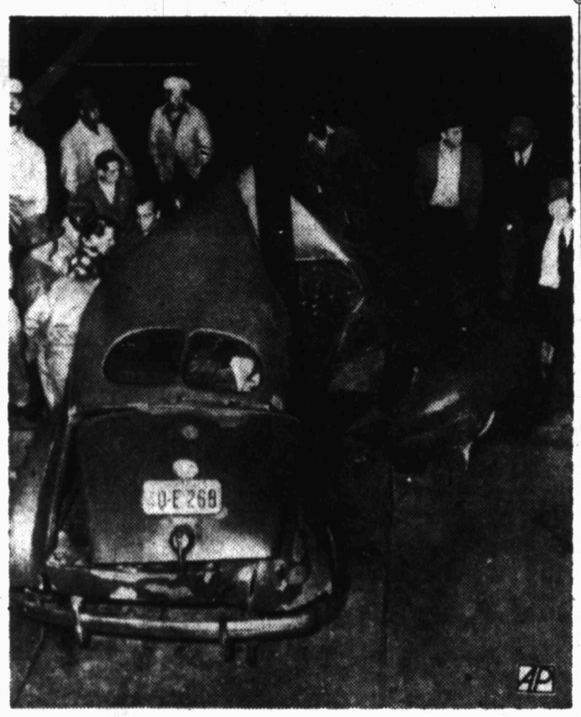

She said the man, whom she chased in her bare feet, jumped into an automobile and sped off wtih the infant.

The search was being concentrated in the neighborhood of the Komorek home.

Dougherty said the FBI had not been asked to come into the case.

The missing child's father, Henry Komorek, said, "We have heard nothing." Komorek is a 34-year-

EDUCATION BOARD TO BE NAMED

Texans To Vote Tuesday On 10 Proposed Amendments

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

TEXANS vote Tuesday in one of the most important off-year elections in recent years.

They will decide 10 proposed changes in the constitution. They will ballot on 21 members of the state's first elective board of education. They will fill one vacancy in the state Senate and four in the House.

More than a million and third votes could be cast, but the outlook was for nearer 250,000.

Amendment Stirs Fight

The big fight over the amendments has centered on the one providing for annual sessions of the Legislature and annual pay of $3,600 for members. There has been statewide campaigning on it, and a statewide campaign centering on the amendment abolishing the poll tax.

The hottest legislative race has been between George Nokes of Corsicana and Phil Willis of Kaufman to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Sen. James E. Taylor of Kerens. Both have carried the campaign to every community in Anderson, Freestone, Henderson, Kaufman and Navarro counties. Willis and Nokes resigned as House members to make the race.

Truman Calls For Lehman's Election In Senate Race

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—President Truman tonight entered the fiery New York campaign with a direct radio appeal to the state's voters for the election Tuesday of Herbert H. Lehman as U. S. senator and the whole Democratic ticket.

Speaking from the White House, Mr. Truman said the former Democratic governor would bring to Washington a "constructive and progressive approach to domestic affairs."

He said Lehman also has had "wide personal experience and mature wisdom in the handling of our foreign relations" and knows at first hand "the nature of our international problems."

UN Work Cited

This was a reference to Lehman's one-time directorship of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration. It was regarded as a reply to Republican arguments, particularly those of Governor Dewey, that John Foster Dulles should be elected because of his wide knowledge of foreign affairs.

Dulles, Lehman's Republican opponent for the one year remaining of the term of Democrat Robert F. Wagner, who resigned because of poor health, now holds the Wagner seat by appointment of Gov. Dewey. He is a former delegate to the United Nations and is now a foreign policy advisor to the Republican leadership.

Both Dulles and Dewey criticized Mr. Truman's personal

Light Frost Over Area Is Forecast

Light frost was scheduled to touch scattered spots on the South Plains this morning, the Weatherman said late Saturday night, with another frost touch possible Monday morning.

Low this morning was predicted near 34, and about the same Monday. However, the forecast called for a high of near 72 today compared with Saturday's high in Lubbock of 68. Low Saturday morning was 36.

Skies are expected to continue fair today and Monday. A weak cold front blew through the Lubbock area Saturday afternoon, but failed to produce any clouds.

Forecasts also called for frost in East Texas this morning, the Associated Press reported.

Hope High For Early Peace In Steel Dispute

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. — The government was reported tonight to have set a deadline roughly one week from now for decisive action to end the soft coal strike.

In the steel strike there were some setbacks, but developments of high promise affecting five large and small steel companies buoyed hopes of an early, negotiated peace with CIO's United Steelworkers.

Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third biggest, had a settlement offer pending.

Negotiations between Republic and the steelworkers recessed late tonight and new talks were scheduled for tomorrow.

Officials Mum

Beyond a statement that "we continued exploring our problems," neither company or unior officials revealed details of the talks.

The session late tonight was the second today. The negotiators recessed another meeting earlier tonight after a futile three-hour conference.

Other steel firms moved to begin negotiations. Jones & Laughlin scheduled peace talks for Monday; Youngstown Sheet and Tube for Tuesday. Two smaller firms signed up — Lukens Steel Co., 5,000 workers, and McLouth Steel Corp., Detroit, 1,800 workers.

Still Deadlocked

Even if more steel firms sign contracts, most of them can run only a few weeks without fresh coal supplies. And it was learned reliably that neither mine chieftain John L. Lewis, in yesterday's secret mediation talk, nor the coal mine owners now heading for Washington, have yielded ground.

A high administration official gave this report privately:

"If mediation cannot bring some results this week, it's the last try.

"We will have to try some other treatment."

This coincided with hints from White House sources that President Truman is being urged by some advisers to call for a Taft-Hartley act injunction to send Lewis' 380,000 United Mine Workers back to the coal pits.

Negro Held In Stabbing Here

W. J. Shedrick, 25-year-old Lubbock negro, was admitted to Lubbock Memorial hospital Saturday with three ice-pick wounds in his left shoulder and chest, inflicted, police said, during an altercation in the Queen City residential addition 4:20 p.m.

Taken into custody for questioning in connection with the case was an 18-near-old negro woman of 600 block East Twenty-fifth, in whose house the stabbing allegedly occurred.

Condition Reported "Good"

Hospital attendants, meanwhile, described Shedrick's condition as "good" after x-rays failed to reveal evidence of damage to the negro's heart or chest wall. The ice-pick was thrust twice into Shedrick's shoulder and once into his lower left chest, it was reported. City Detective Lee Rice and Police Sgt. J. T. Alley jr., investigated the incident.

Charges of aggrivated assault probably will be filed today as the result of another altercation earlier Saturday, police said.

Estonian Couple Find Life In Lubbock 'Too Good To Be True'

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

AFTER spending several years in Displaced Persons camps in Europe, a young Estonian couple finds life in Lubbock almost too good to be true.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Oskar Varik, was married in a Displaced Persons camp after the war and had never lived anywhere except in a DP camp from the time of their marriage until they arrived in Lubbock recently to live in an apartment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mueller, 2521 Twenty-second.

They find life in Lubbock reminiscent of the freedom they once enjoyed in Estonia.

The first day they arrived in Lubbock, they were anxious to go to Lubbock police station to obtain a permit to buy groceries.

They laughed with delight when informed such a permit is not necessary and said they have only one card in America, while they had various permits in DP camps.

Their card states their eligibility to enter the United States as Displaced Persons, under terms of a federal bill and sponsorship of the

SHORTAGE OF PICKERS SEVERE

Lamesa In Middle Of Cotton Boom With Record Crop Seen

By W. W. WARREN
Avalanche-Journal Corespondent

LAMESA, Nov. 5.—This city of 12,000 people is a roaring, hectic "boom town." Although there are a number of producing oil wells in Dawson county, black gold isn't causing the rush here—it's a "cotton boom." Gin smoke hangs thick over Lamesa, making it look like "the Pittsburgh of the Plains."

Guesses on the county's cotton crop this year have gone up and up—and now most observers predict the total ginings will amount to about 150,000 bales. That's a whale of a crop—a record-breaker—even for this area in the heart of the South Plains cotton country.

There is a severe shortage of cotton pickers here despite the fact that agricultural officials estimate a total of 19,000 hands are in the fields, including 3,000 "braceros" from south of the border.

Many farmers have just about given up their search for pickers, and are planning to use stripper machines as soon as Mother Nature has completed her job of frosting the foliage off the stalks.

County agent Leroy Colgan and compress manager J. H. Harp agree that over 55,000 bales have already been ginned, and they say that the huge crop is only one-third gathered. Colgan says that 10,000 more pickers are needed, but that farmers will probably start doing their work with mechanical pickers within two weeks.

Trailers Needed

Farmers spend almost as much time hunting trailers to haul their cotton in as they do searching for pickers. Implement houses are hopelessly behind in their efforts to buy and build cotton trailers fast enough to meet the demand. Lumber yards have exhausted their supply of trailer building materials several times.

The county's three-score gins are already over a day behind; and gin yards are jammed with loads of cotton. Some gin workers are slyly wondering if they'll be caught up enough to take an Easter holiday.

There are huge piles of cotton in many fields as pickers continue to out-distance over-worked gins. Many farmers are using trucks, pick-ups and several trailers in an effort to keep their cotton off the ground.

Compress officials are seeking more and more vacant ground near city water mains—in case of fire—for storage space for bales of the billowy white stuff which is literally engulfing Lamesa. The storage problem will become even more acute in the months ahead.

Traffic and trade problems here on week-ends are tremendous with thousands of workers and farmers thronging the business section for supplies and recreation. Stores hire scores of extra clerks to help handle the week-end rush.

Another problem is the housing shortage, especially for transients here for a short time. Hotels and tourist courts are always chock full, and many private homes rent every spare room as well as the front-room divan on many nights.

Grain Overlooked

Practically forgotten in the rush has been the county's fine, though relatively small, grain crop. County agent Colgan says the average yield off the county's 75,000 acre grain plantings will be about 1600 pounds per acre.

Next year the government program curtailing cotton acreage is slated to go into effect again, and this may well be Dawson county's biggest cotton crop ever—but it's big enough.

Good weather and a record acreage have combined to make this county a cotton king in 1949. The county's 350,000 acres of the white stuff may average over a half-bale to the acre—a tremendous yield in an area without irrigation. An early, wet frost did more good than harm, cotton critics say, and the weather has been unusually good for the most part since harvesting began.

A new phrase has come out of the hunt for harvest hands by farmers—"wetback widows." Dawson farmers have gone from Port Lavaca to deep east Texas to Mexico City in search of workers—some flying to the Mexican capital—while their wives did the chores back home.

Brownfield Man Retires After 45 Years With Oil Firm

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 5. (Spl.).—L. L. Bechtol, a resident of Brownfield since 1940, has retired after 45 years with the Stanolind Oil and Gas company.

Bechtol was 65 on Monday, Oct. 24, and retired under the company's pension plan. He plans to remain in Brownfield.

A native of Ohio, Bechtol began his 45-year-career in the petroleum industry as a pumper and supervisor with the Shedd Oil company of Chicago in 1944. The following year he joined the Ohio Oil company as a roustabout and advanced to driller and production foreman before joining the Midwest Refining company, later a part of Stanolind, in 1919. In 1927, he was transferred to Amarillo, and 1929 found him in Wichita, Kans.

Moved To Wyoming

Bechtol was moved back to Wyoming in 1933 and after serving in various capacities with Stanolind there, he was transferred to Brownfield in 1940. While in Brownfield he has been in charge of drilling, developing and producing such fields as Slaughter, Cedar Lake and Wasson.

Bechtol was honored in a recent dinner, given by approximately 300 friends and fellow employes at the Veterans hall in Brownfield. He received a watch on behalf of Stanolind employes of the Slaughter area by Art Wall a Sundown pumper, who presided as master of ceremonies at the dinner. He received a pen and pencil set as a gift from his Brownfield friends, the presentation being made by J. O. Gillham, president of the Brownfield State Bank & Trust company. Another pen and pencil set was given him by his former employes in the Levelland area.

Mrs. Bechtol was also recently honored at a tea given at the Levelland Country club.

Bechtol will be reploced in the Slaughter area by G. L. Kelley, formerly assistant field superintendent

State Pilots Hear Address By Columnist

Strategic Bombing By Reds Now 'Impossible,' Fliers Told

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 5. (Special) —When people talk about Russia developing strategic bombardment they are talking through their hats, Gill Robb Wilson, aviation columnist of the New York Herald Tribune, said here tonight at the closing session of the two-day Texas State aviation association.

"Strategic bombardment requires taking a bombing ship from a given point to another extreme point to accomplish a mission, returning to one of many bases, and duplicating the accomplishment many times," Wilson said, defining his terms.

"That power today resides only in the United States," he said reassuringly.

New Officers Elected

Wilson spoke at a banquet in the Hilton hotel here. His speech followed an afternoon business session in which new officers were elected.

Jack Sherman of Dallas, an aviation accessories salesman, was named president to succeed H. W. Bahnman of Commerce.

James Batty of Dallas was elected secretary, and E. M. (Tex) Anderson of Medina was named treasurer. Anderson is president of the Texas Flying Farmers association.

Bahnman, Jarvis Nowell of Plainview, and Joe Stalcup of Brownwood were elected directors. Regional vice-presidents elected were Pete Blakney, Plainview; B. C. Shaefer, Palestine; Lee Williams, San Angelo; R. L. Gilber, McAllen; A. N. Walker, Big Spring; and Tim Carrigan, Fort Worth.

Red Equality Impossible

Wilson, a founder and first manager of the National Aviation association, told delegates that Russia, under its present system of government, can never master aircraft production to match that of the United States.

"Air power is not to be defined by aircraft production," he warned. He defined air power as a combination of factors, including "endurance, concept, industrial capacity, scientific achievement and physical facilities."

Wilson said that the pioneer spirit has not been lost in America, adding that "it takes as much daring today to launch an expensive aviation program as it did to build a transcontinental railroad years ago."

Special Plane Predicted

To the Flying Farmers, he said that eventually someone will engineer a plane to meet the demands of farmers, with such production to take a place in the economic picture comparable to that of automobile manufacturing.

Wilson said the Southwest was the "strategic guts" of the nation. He cited the aircraft production centers in Texas and predicted an increase in this field.

He said the West Texas area had a higher per capita plane ownership figure than any place in the nation with the possible exception of Southern California.

Other speakers on the Saturday program were Dr. E. O. Rushing, Dallas heart surgeon; Charles Dean of Plainview; B. M. Hackadorn, state chairman, Jaycees Aviation committee; William M. Berry, assistant regional CAA administrator, Fort Worth; and H. S. Christeston, sales manager for Air Craft corporation, Boonton, N. J.

ACTRESS IS WED

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5. INS)— Movie Singer Jane Powell was married tonight to Geary Anthony Steffan, jr., professional ice skater whom she met two and a half years ago when he was engaged to teach her to skate for a picture. The ceremony was performed in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Beverly Hills.

City To Observe Armistice Day

Honoring those who died in World War I and World War II service, Lubbock will observe Armistice Day Friday with a series of special programs while schools and most business places and offices will close.

Although no special ceremonies are planned at Reese Air Force base, planes from there are tentatively scheduled to fly over Plainview in support of an Armistice Day celebration sponsored by the American Legion there.

Starting the day off, buglers from the Lubbock Veterans of Foreign Wars post will tour the city at 6 a.m. Friday blowing reveille. Permission for the stunt was obtained from City Manager Steve Matthews and Police Chief Lewis Kittrell.

Many Firms To Close

Gladys Workman, secretary of the Retail Merchants association, said Saturday that after a poll of members of the association, they had voted more than two to one to abide by an agreement to observe the day as a full holiday and close for business for the day.

"Therefore, it is expected that most members of the association will be closed throughout the day," she said.

Breakfast meetings will be sponsored by the American Legion, the VFW and the Legion auxiliary.

The Legion breakfast will be at 7 a.m. Friday in the East ballroom of Hotel Lubbock. All veterans are invited to attend, whether post members or not. Admission will be $1.25 per plate, Wayne Groce, post commander, said.

VFW Breakfast Planned

Also open to all veterans, the VFW breakfast will be held at 7 a.m. Friday at the VFW building, Thirty-fourth and Ave. N, William Earl Creel, commander of the post, has announced. Admission will be $1.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson of the Texas Technological college faculty will be a principal speaker. Lee Search and his Plains Riders will furnish music for the occasion.

Legion auxiliary members will hold their breakfast at 7:30 a.m., Friday in the junior ballroom of the Hilton hotel. Mrs. E. V. Nickell will be guest speaker. Gold Star mothers of both World Wars will be honored.

Climaxing the day, the Legion post will sponsor a dance for all veterans and their ladies at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Hilton hotel ballroom. Boxie and his western band will play. Admission charge will be $1 per person.

The Plainview celebration, sponsored by the 40 and 8 chapter of the Plainview Legion post, will begin at 10 a.m., featuring visiting Army and Air Force officers in addition to the planes roaring overhead.

The RAFB band is tentatively scheduled to take part in the Plainview celebration.

RAFB also is cooperating with other comunity programs on Armistice Day, with plans being made for planes to fly overhead at specified hours.

ODESSA, Nov. 5. (Special) — Condition of James Jefferson Bennett, 34-year-old Lubbock man, shot and stabbed by three men in front of a cafe here Thursday night, continued to improve today, attendants at Headlee hospital here reported.

HOCKLEY SENTENCE AFFIRMED

Conviction Of Lubbock Man On Liquor Charge Upheld By Court

The purchase of whisky in a dry area, to be transported to the county of residence for one's own consumption, does not make lawful the transportation of the whisky in the dry area where purchased, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals said in an opinion last week.

The opinion, signed by Judge Davidson, was rendered in connection with the court's affirming of a Hockley county court conviction of Scatter Randolph, 27, of Lubbock, on a charge of liquor law violation.

Two Pints Found In Car

Randolph's car was stopped on a Hockley county public highway and found to contain two pints of whisky. He was charged with unlawfully transporting whisky in a dry area, and a jury recommended a fine of $100.

Randolph admitted the possession and tronsportation of the whisky and claimed he had purchased it in Hockley county and was taking it to his home here.

"By his own testimony," the high court said, "appellant was guilty of the offense charged. The transportation of whisky in a dry area is unlawful."

Opinion Is Extended

Continuing, the opinion read:

"Exceptions exist to the application of the statute (art. 66-4 (B) P.C.) but none are here applicable. The purchase of the whisky in a dry area, to be transported to the county of residence for one's own consumption, does not make lawful the transportation of the whisky in the dry area where purchased."

In another case relating to South Plains appellants, the court of criminal appeals said it had no jurisdiction to hear the appeal of Curtis H. Mince, fined $100 and costs of Lubbock county court March 16 on a liquor law violation conviction.

Reinstatement of the appeal by certiorari is Mince's remedy under the conditions, it was pointed out by attorney John Steele, who had detected and penciled an error in the transcript relating to the term of court when the case was tried, but through inadvertence the correction was not made by tpyists, it was explained. It was that error which caused the high court to dismiss the appeal.

Another liquor law violation case was submitted to the court, on brief for both parties. Charles W. Spencer of Lubbock is appellant. He was fined $100 and ordered to serve six months in county jail Feb. 24, Lubbock county court officials said.

Two Operas To Play Here On Nov. 15-16

Advance ticket sales will begin Wednesday at Adair Music company for Charles L. Wagner's twin bill production of the two operas, "Cavalleria Rusticiana" and "I Pagliacci," to be staged in the Lubbock High school auditorium Nov. 15 and 16.

A company of 75 performers, a 30-member orchestra and a mixed chorus of 20 make up the cortege of the traveling opera. Wagner is a veteran of 10 years in taking opera to middle- and large-sized cities throughout the United States.

To begin at 8 p. m., the first night's performance will be attended by Tech students who have even numbered activity fee receipts. The second night will be reserved for those with odd numbered receipts and, of course, townspeople.

Watchdog Friendly But Stickup Men Don't Trust Wagging Tail

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP) — Two gunmen spotted an Alaskan husky asleep in the corner of a southside book store and warned the clerk:

"Don't wake that hound. If he gives us any trouble we'll shoot him."

But Miss Clarinda Buck, the clerk, said they spoke too loudly in ordering her to hand over $50 and roused Gaucho.

Ex-Convict Admits He And Texas Man Kidnapped Oklahoma Cabbie

JONESBORO, Ark., Nov. 5 (AP) Andrew Jackson Rowe, 29-year-old former convict, today admitted he and Jack Shingleton, Alice, Tex., kidnapped a Muskogee, Okla., taxi driver Oct. 27, robbed him, and stole his cab. The driver was L. D. Stephens.

Rowe, heavily armed, was captured eight miles south of here last night at the home of relatives. Craighead county officers and an FBI agent surprised Rowe and took him into custody without resistance.

STUDENTS TO GAIN EXPERIENCE

2,000-Foot 'Oil Test' To Be Drilled Soon On Tech Campus

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

The day isn't far off when the Lubbock city skyline will include the tall majesty of a towering oil derrick.

In fact, plans were completed the past week for a 2,000-foot well on the Texas Technological campus that will bring the petroleum industry right to the doorstep of students and townspeople.

But don't go grabbing your family pick 'n shovel and staking off a claim on the Tech campus—the "well" will be for classroom purposes only and will be plugged at the bottom.

Firms To Give Aid

W. L. Ducker, head of the petroleum engineering department, announced Saturday that plans are complete to drill the model well sometime before next spring. Pipe for the excavation is being donated by industrial companies and others are expected to donate the work and machinery necessary for the drilling.

The well will be another step in the petroleum engineering department's program to better its scholastic standing and increase the technical experience of graduates. An oil pumping unit was set up near the PE building this week and is already being used for class instruction.

Purpose of both the well and the pump is to give better full-scale instruction to the 288 students currently majoring in petroleum engineering at the college. Donated by the Continental Supply company, the $5,000 pumping unit will be used to set up pumping problems and for demonstration to the students.

Good Record Made

Raised to department status only about 18 months ago, the petroleum engineering department has already amassed a good record for itself under the direction of its head. A graduate of the department must complete 154 semester hours of college work and meet rigid examinations on his major work.

Over $37,000 of oil field and laboratory equipment is now owned by the department, with two-thirds of that amount accredited to direct gifts from industrial companies. A $60,000 appropriation for additions to the present $35,000 building has already been made by the board of directors and another $13,000 is available for the purchase of new machinery.

The model well to be drilled on the campus will come entirely as gifts from industrial companies, according to Ducker. Completion of the project is expected some time next spring and it will be immediately utilized in setting up drilling and production problems with their subsequent solving, the department head said.

Problems To Be Set Up

The well, combined with the pumping unit, will aid immeasurably in giving near-actual experience to the students, Ducker said. The fake oilfield and pumping problems will be set up daily and the students will co-operate in solving them.

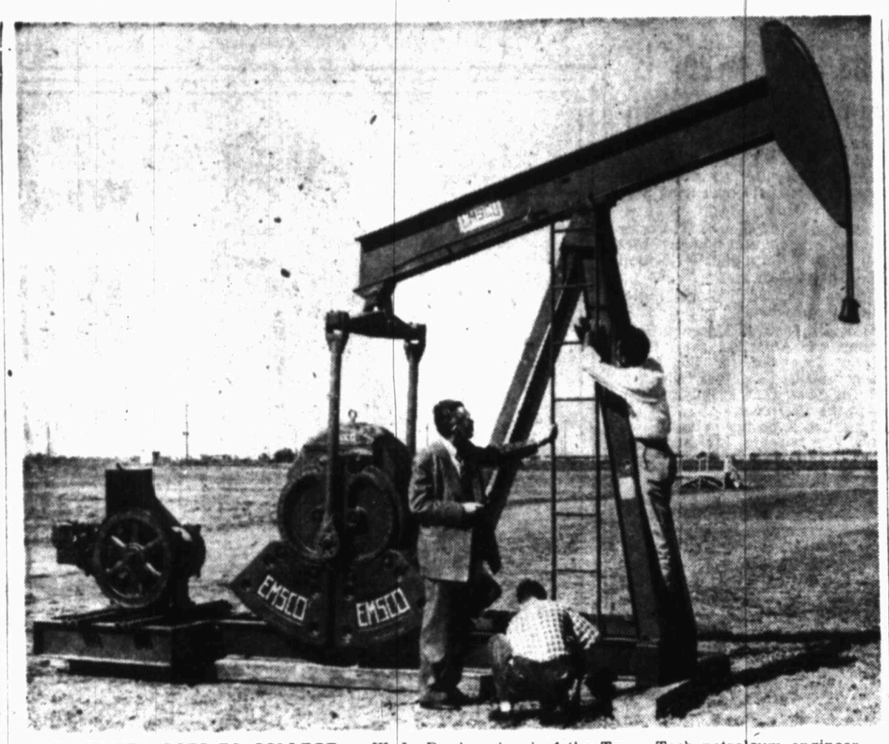

Success record for the PE department has not yet been firmly entrenched in industrial circles, but Ducker believes that the rigid graduation requirements set up will soon gain the school a national reputation. Many oilmen have already expressed their surprise over progress made since petroleum subjects were transferred from the geology department in January, 1948.

Emphasis in the Tech program, of course, has been placed on drilling and production. To help guide the college in its curriculum choosing for the department, the oil industry has set up a permanent petroleum advisory committee whose purpose it is to provide continuous aid and counsel to it. Several of the "big-name" oilmen in the state are listed as members of the committee, with George P. Livermore, Lubbock, as chairman.

But, as far as the present is concerned, attention is now centered on the model well to be drilled soon. Ducker is sure he won't strike oil at the 2,000-foot depth here because—well, because it just isn't done at that depth in the comparatively new dirt which makes up this particular area. But if some freak of nature should make it possible—

"Then we would sure have some 'practical' experience," says Ducker.

Liberia is buying poultry, hogs and cattle in the United States—including Braham cattle, mostly sires—for use in its livestock development program.

OIL PUMPER GOES TO COLLEGE — W. L. Ducker, head of the Texas Tech petroleum engineering department, and two students complete the setting up of an oil pumping unit on the campus. The pumper will be used for classroom demonstration only and was donated to the college by the Continental Supply company. Students working on the unit are Eldon Anderson, Lubbock, kneeling, and Wesley Buice, Shamrock. (Staff Photo.)

Chinese Nationalists Admit Red Gains

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 5. (AP).— The Chinese Nationalists acknowledged today that the Communists were inside Kweichow province and hammering at the gates of Szechwan province, but voed to fight to the end, with or without foreign aid.

The defense ministry said Communist armies in unstated strength had reached the Tienchu district, 17 miles inside Kweichow province and 150 miles northeast of the provincial capital, Kweiyang.

Fall of Kweiyang, 210 miles southeast of Chungking, would virtually split the Nationalist mainland holdings in half.

Communists also were acknowledged to have reached the area of Lungshan, 175 miles east of Chungking near the border of Chungking's Szechwan province.

Despite the government's straits, Premier Yen Hsi-Shan declared in an interview, "We are short of manpower, material and money, but the Communists will not conquer us. We are not afraid of them. We are prepared to meet and beat them."

At the same time he admitted, 'the task is difficult because our defense line stretches 1,800 miles; it is impossible to prevent a breakthrough.

"But we can — and are — determined to meet and beat them."

Since 1896, approximately 400,000 automotive patents have been issued in the United States.

Texan Is Given Prison Term For High School Robberies

WAXAHACHIE, Nov. 5 (AP) — Joseph Roland Brown, 29, faces five years in prison after conviction on two counts of robbery.

Brown pleaded guilty before District Judge A. R. Stout yesterday. He was sentenced to five years in prison on each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

Brown was charged in the Aug. 16 robberies of the Ferris and Ennis high schools. Six typewriters were taken at Ferris and a duplicating machine at Ennis.

Two others are charged in the same case.

Cleburne Minister Speaks In Lubbock On Value Of Prayer

Prayer is pratical both "for the here and the hereafter", Reuel Lemmons of Cleburne, who has preached to international audiences on "Practicability of Christianity," said in a sermon Saturday morning at the fall meeting of Broadway Church of Christ.

"Prayer is practical both spiritually and temporally," he said.

Talk Brings Relief

"If there were no God and there were no eternity, it still would be a good idea to talk things over with ourselves," he said. It would be good "to confess our faults in prayer," he said. A person finds relief in simply talking things over with another human and he also finds that "prayer cleanses the mind" by giving him a chance to talk things over.

"If that were the only answer to prayer, it still would be good to pray," he said. That, however, is minor compared to the real advantage of praying with the realization that "God is in His heaven and His ears are open," he said.

Sermons Sent Via Radio

Minister Lemmons stresses practicability of Christianity in his sermons given by transcription once weekly over the British government's African radio station to listeners in Africa, Europe and the Near East.

In his sermon Saturday morning, he referred to discoveries of medical science as domestication of God's practical principles. "I'm sure God has been using penicillin through the countries," he said. Scientists and chemists, through their discoveries, are learning to apply God's natural laws — "to harness the power that has been here through the centuries", he stated.

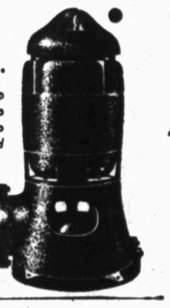

Minister Lemmons, who is minister of Central Church of Christ in Cleburne, will deliver his final sermons in the fall meeting at 8:30 a.m., 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. today at Broadway Church of Christ.

Lions Club Minstrel Show To Be Presented Tuesday And Wednesday

The 75-member cast for the fourth annual Lions Club Minstrel will receive its final grooming today for the opening performance Monday night.

But most Lubbock and South Plains show-goers will have to wait until Tuesday or Wednesday nights to see the performance. Monday night's presentation is for students and military personnel only. And it'll also give the blackface showmen a chance to iron out any wrinkles which may appear in the opening show.

Expect Capacity Crowds

Capacity crowds are expected every night, according to Groves Denman, president of the club and coordinator for the minstrels. However, there is an adequate supply of good seats available if reservations are made early.

The chorus and those appearing in the special numbers have been rehearsing twice weekly for several weeks under the direction of Dr. Clyde C. Craig, and have just about worked the production into perfection, Dr. Craig said. Richard Richards is musical director and Lawrence Ivey, pianist. Dr. Doyle D. Jackson again is interlocutor who'll toss the jokes back and forth among the half-dozen black-faced end-men.

Sale Of Tickets Good

The sale of advance exchange tickets has been good, Denman said yesterday. A ticket booth is open in the lobby of the Hilton Hotel and it will remain open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The ticket sales campaign conducted by all members of the club has proved highly successful, club officials said. The exchange tickets must be traded for reserved seats.

The seats, all of which are reserved, range in price from 60 cents up to $1.50. The performance this year is for benefit of the Girl Scouts camp at Buffalo Lakes, one of the club's projects.

800 Persons Attend Girl Scout Meeting

Approximately 800 persons attended a city-wide meeting of Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts and leaders, co-leaders and troop committee members Saturday morning in O. L. Slaton Junior High school auditorium.

Leaders who participated in a recent troop dramatics workshop presented three dramatized ballads, "Polly, Put the Kettle On," "The Three Pirates" and "The Old Woman and the Pedlar".

Mrs. J. Nelson Green was master of ceremonies. A flag ceremony was presented by Troop 85 and a radio skit, "Girl Shout Week", was presented by Troop 29. Miss Peggy Hess led singing of Girl Scout songs. Miss Madeleine McDonald, Girl Scout executive, spoke on Juliette Low, founder of Scouting, and the meaning of the Juliette Low International Friendship fund.

Another gathering of Girl Scouts, leaders, co-leaders and troop committee members is to be conducted in December.

Chile' recently declared state of emergency for six months was attributed in part to overestimates of the rapidity with which living standards could be raised.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS

1873 - 1949

Next Friday, November 11, will be a day of solemn and, in many cases, sorrowful memories for people of the South Plains as well as those throughout the nation. It will be Armistice Day.

Without claiming to have done more than their share — because no one could have done that—the fact remains that the people of our area can take just pride of their record in two World Wars.

In both wars, the ratio of volunteers for the military services was credited with being among the highest, in proportion to population, in the United States. There probably was not a major fighting front in the world during either war which did not have South Plainsmen as combat participants. And the record of those who remained on the home front was equally impressive in their contributions to the final victories.

These included the participants in the patriotic endeavors of many kinds and those who, without failing in a single instance, helped Lubbock and the South Plains to go over their quotas in every War and Victory Bond drive.

The record is not cited in a spirit of boastfulness, but as one proper for contemplation with the approach of another Armistice Day.

Congressman Says Farm Price Act Benefits Farmer, Consumer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: What the new farm program means to producers and consumers is explained in the following exclusive article by Rep. Cooley (N-NC), chairman of the House committee on agriculture. The congressman believes that the new farm act harmonizes the divergent interests of the consumer and the farmer "in a manner most beneficial to the nation as a whole.")

By REP. HAROLD C. COOLEY
(Written Expressly For INS)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The Agricultural act of 1949, adopted by the 81st Congress and signed this week by President Truman, is the most beneficial farm price support legislation—for both producers and consumers—that has been enacted in the past 10 years.

It is beneficial to farmers because it assures them a stabilized market for the things they produce and at the same time is designed to prevent the accumulation of price-demoralizing surpluses.

It is in the best interests of consumers because one of its basic objectives is to assure the stabilization of agricultural production so that there will be an ample and constant supply of the farm products consumers want, at prices fair to both producer and consumer.

Balance Is Goal

Consumers naturally want to buy their food as cheap as they can. Farmers naturally want to sell their products as high as they can. The basic purpose of this agricultural legislation is to harmonize these two divergent interests in a manner most beneficial to the nation as a whole.

Farm commodities move almost immediately from the producer to the consumer—on the freest market remaining anywhere in the world—and if farmers are to produce abundantly so that consumers may be assured of an adequate supply of food and fiber, they must be protected against the violent price fluctuations that can result from even a temporary oversupply of the things they produce.

Stabilized ample production is the greatest of all benefits to the consumer. Unstabilized production inevitably results in alternating surpluses and scarcities. Any consumer who can remember back as far as the very recent war and immediate postwar years, knows that shortages mean high prices.

The objective of good farm legislation, therefore, is the stabilization of both prices and production to assure an ample supply of farm products—at all times, at fair prices, and without unreasonable or unnecessary regimentation of the farmer. The agricultural act of 1949 comes closer to achieving that objective than any act in recent years.

The Aiken act of the 80th Congress undertook long-range stabilization of production primarily by means of unstable price and by an immediate, sharp reduction in the price of many farm commodities. It would literally have starved out of business many of the producers of our basic agricultural crops.

Basic Provisions Listed

In understanding the Agricultural act of 1949, there are several important provisions to be remembered:

1. The basic principle is to provide high level price supports only for those commodities whose producers are willing and able to stabilize production by accepting such controls as the secretary of agriculture may deem necessary. Mandatory high-level supports for the basic commodities are operative only when producers have not voted down marketing quotas or acreage allotments proposed by the secretary.

2. The act encourages (through parity revision, mandatory supports for milk, butterfat, and wool, and other provisions) greater production of livestock products. This will eventually make greater quantities of these healthful foods available at reasonable prices to consumers, and result in the shift of land from surplus-producing crops to livestock.

3. The act terminates the mandatory support programs for certain perishable commodities entered into during the war in order to encourage production. Support of perishable commodities under the new act is generally discretionary with the secretary of agriculture and the programs authorized for their handling and disposal is the best that has yet been established.

Stable farm prices not only assure adequate production to meet the needs of consumers, they also give them the greatest assurance of reasonable prices. This fact was clearly demonstrated by our wartime experiences.

Likewise, low or unstabilized farm prices do not necessarily mean low consumer prices. For example, the price of wheat to the farmer has declined one-third within the past year, but the retail price of cereals and bakery products decreased less than one per cent between August, 1948, and August, 1949.

Farmers are just as interested in reasonable prices as anyone else. They are consumers as well as producers and parity itself is merely a yardstick by which the prices a farmer receives as a producer are related to prices a farmer pays as a consumer.

Mayor Of Henrietta Found Dead In Auto

HENRIETTA, Nov. 5. (AP)— Gus Blakely, 43, mayor of Henrietta, was found dead in his automobile on a Henrietta residential street today.

He was an oil lease operator and real estate man with offices here and in Wichita Falls.

Justice of the Peace O. D. Worsham withheld an inquest verdict but announced that his tentative verdict was death from heart attack.

Blakely was found in his car about 11:30 a.m. by James Mayo, an employe of the Clay County Leader. Mayo said he noticed the car pulled up to the curb early today. When he came home to lunch he investigated and found Blakely's body.

Deputy Sheriff Tommy Covington said Blakely apparently died while the car was still in motion. He said the ignition switch was still turned on and it appeared the car had stopped when it hit the curb.

Mrs. Blakely said the mayor complained this morning of a pain in his left arm. However, she said he had not been ill recently.

Blakely was born Oct. 23, 1897 at Ida, in Grayson county. As a boy he moved to Deer Creek community, south of Henrietta in Clay county, with his parents.

He had lived in Henrietta for about 30 years.

Blakely was a business partner of V. Lefevre. He was a member of the board of education and the chamber of commerce in Henrietta.

Funeral services are tentatively scheduled tomorrow (3 p.m.) at the Henrietta Baptist church. Burial will follow in the Hope cemetery here.

Near Chipinga, Rhodesia, farmer M. Coetze got a surprise on his birthday when a leopard visited his farm, killed nine sheep and carried them off.

Former Pennsylvanian Charged With Violating Parole In Texas

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 5. (AP). A former Pennsylvanian charged with violating his parole from a 1932 murder conviction was returned from Texas today.

Henry Hill, state parole board chairman, said Peter N. Duca, a Galveston, Tex., novelties manufacturer, was confined in Dauphin county prison.

Duca, he said, will be taken to Eastern State penitentiary at Philadelphia Monday for questioning on whether he violated his parole as charged by Texas authorities.

Duca was convicted in 1932 for the slaying of Alex Campbell and Peter Reilly on a Pittston, Pa., street Feb. 28, 1928. On Wednesday, he was arrested in Dallas, Tex., police there quizzed him in connection with the slaying of Houston restaurant owner Vincent Vallone.

C. V Kern, Harris county sheriff, said Duca was a friend of two men accused of killing Vallone. Kern said he believed Duca was leader of the Italian mafio (black hand) in Texas.

Duca's questioning led to a request by Texas that he be returned to Pennsylvania. Duca was paroled in 1945 into custody of Texas authorities.

Tatum escaped the county jail in Phoenix Oct. 22. Two of his companions were shot and killed by a nightwatchman. Two others were recaptured.

FBI agents arrested Tatum on a street here last Tuesday.

The Power that made Buick Famous

IF you want to know what's "the newest thing" in automobile engines, look at the Buick engine pictured here, and you'll see the words "valve-in-head."

But it happens that this isn't new with Buick. As a matter of fact, the valve-in-head engine was invented back in 1902—U. S. Patent No. 771095—and immediately, Buick adopted the principle, which became the first in a long string of "Buick firsts."

Not everyone went for the idea—then. In spite of the fact that this engine "breathes" more freely—gets fuel in and exhaust gases out more easily—others hung onto their pet ideas.

Then came the airplane, with its need for maximum power from every drop of fuel—and every maker of internal combustion airplane engines adopted the valve-in-head principle.

And more recently—with the hope that higher-octane fuels will become available—a lot of automotive engine designers are taking a new look at the valve-in-head idea.

But just for the record, we'd like to point out that Buick got there first.

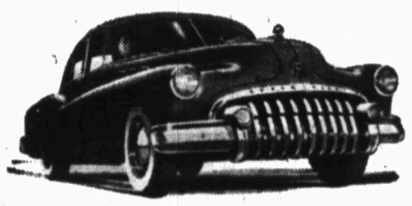

And ever since, Buick has gone steadily ahead, building up a name as "valve-in-headquarters." Buick engineers reshaped pistons to put Fireball wallop in these engines. They stepped up compression ratios as fast as better fuels came along.

So perhaps you'll want to remember, when you hear the term "valve-in-head," that this is the type of power that made Buick famous.

If others want to climb on the bandwagon, we say "more power to them"—and no pun is intended.

But Buick has been doing more with valve-in-head right from the start.

And—we might add—it stands to reason that Buick is not through making this type of engine better and better.

TEN UNIONS FACE CHALLENGE

CIO Names Nine Members To Hear Charges Of Red Control

By ROBERT VINCENT
INS Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5—The CIO executive board today named nine of its most outspoken anti-Communists to hear charges of Red domination against ten left-wing unions and nine temporarily-seated board members.

President Philip Murray said no dates or places had been set for the hearings by the three separate committees, but added:

"I'm hoping the committees will have their reports ready for submission to the board within three months."

Men Allowed to Remain

Pending the hearings, however, the men who represent nine of the ten suspect unions on the CIO's high command were permitted to sit with the board and participate in its deliberations.

The CIO convention which wound up its week-long sessions yesterday had refused to seat the nine, referring the matter to the executive board which admitted them conditionally today.

The board nominees of the tenth left-wing union, President Ben Gold of the 90,000 fur workers, was rejected outright at the convention. Murray ruled that Gold was not eligible under the newly-amended constitution, because he was an admitted Communist.

Bridges Protests Charge

Murray said that Harry Bridges, boss of the longshoremen and spokesman for the leftists, and others protested the filing of the charges against them, but that they were overruled by "the standard vote"—40 to 8.

Gold and Joseph P. Selly of the American Communications association were not present at the meeting.

The ten unions claim about 732,000 of the SIO's six million members. The convention during the week kicked out entirely two other groups — the United Electrical workers, once the third largest in the CIO, and the Farm Equipment workers, now affiliated with the UE.

New Battle Rages

A new union, the International Union of Electrical workers, was chartered to take over the job of the ousted UE. A bitter judisdictional battle, already in the courts of a half-dozen states, is being waged by the old and new groups for control of the electrical industry's workers.

The charges against the ten remaining left-wing unions were filed formally with the board by President William Steinberg of the American Radio association.

He charges policies of the unions "are consistently directed toward the achievement of the program or the purposes of the Communist party rather than the objectives and policies of the CIO."

Steinberg filed similar charges against the nine board members who lead the suspect unions.

T-H-Compliance Ordered

The board formally instructed its president, secretary-treasurer and nine vice-presidents to comply, under protest, with the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law requiring the filing of non-Communist affidavits.

Secretary-treasurer James B. Carey and Vice-President-Organizational Director Allen S. Haywood are the only officers who have not already filed as officers of a member union. They said they would forward their affidavits immediately.

The board also instructed all state and local councils of the CIO to follow the anti-Communist policies set forth in the new constitutional amendments adopted during he week, barring Communists from holding office.

Charges to Be Heard

Charges against the fur workers; James Durkin and his United Office and Professional Workers; Joseph P. Selly and his American Communications workers, and Abraham Flaxer and his United Public workers will be heard by a committee composed of Vice-President Emil Rieve of the Textile workers, Vice-President Joseph Beirne of the Communication workers and Harry Sayre of the Paper workers.

Charges against Morris Pizer of the United Furniture workers; Donald Henderson and his food and tobacco workers and John Clark and his mine, mill & smelter workers will be heard by a committee composed of Jacob Potofsky, president of the clothing workers, Emil Mazey of the united auto workers and Joseph Curran CIO vice-president and president of the maritime workers.

Charges against Bridges and his longshoremen; Joseph Jurich and his fishermen, and Hugh Bryson and his marine cooks and stewards will be heard by a committee composed of CIO Vice-President O. A. Knight, president of the oil workers, James Fisher, president of the utility workers.

Bridges preferred charges before the board that members of Curran's maritime union were violating picket rules on the West Coast. This charge also was referred to a committee.

Six Are Killed, Two Buildings Razed In Mexico Gas Tank Blaze

IRAHUATO, Mexico, Nov. 5 (AP)—A gas tank explosion about midnight killed six persons, hurt slightly a score and wrecked two buildings.

The first explosion in a furniture store set off several other tanks and started fires which lasted all night.

This city of 40,000 persons, 75 miles west of Queretaro, has no fire department. Fire fighters came from nearby towns.

Windows were shattered in scores of buildings, homes and three small hotels in a quarter mile area.

Soldiers are searching ruins, fearing more than six persons may have been killed.

Congress Expected To Approve Return Of Flags To Mexico

By SAM FOGG
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Congress is expected next January to approve a good-will gesture unrivalled in the nation's history—the return to Mexico of battle flags captured by U. S. troops in the war of 1846 to 1848.

The legislation, which is being acclaimed enthusiastically in Mexico, passed the Senate unanimously on the last day of the recent session and is scheduled for quick approval in the House when Congress returns in January.

Return May Be Okayed

Its passage will authorize the President to return to the Mexican government more than half a hundred battle flags plus several hundred regimental pennants, swords and similar trophies which were surrendered to the American army more than a hundred years ago. Most of them are now at the U. S. Military academy at West Point. It is the first instance of the United States ever returning to a former foreign enemy their symbols of defeat although in 1905, Congress authorized the return of captured Confederate army flags to the various southern states.

The proposal originated with an American businessman in Mexico City — William Gaither — whose grandfather was at Chapultapec when Gen. Santa Anna surrendered to Gen. Zachary Taylor. Two of its three congressional sponsors are Texans—Sen. Connally and Rep. Bentsen. The third is Rep. Howell (D-NJ).

Legion Adopts Idea

Gaither submitted his idea to the executive committee of the American Legion and in May of this year, a resoultion urging congressional action was adopted unanimously.

The resolution pays tribute to the valor and heroism of both the Mexican and American troops who fought and emphasizes the friendly relations which have linked this country with its southern neighbor.

Even though the legislation is only at the half-way point in Congress, the proposal is already bearing fruit in the good-will of the Mexican people.

Editorial opinion in the Mexican newspapers has been unrestrained in praise and this week Connally received a scrap-book compiled by the school children of Mexico City hailing his action.

The American Legion has proposed that when the battle flags are returned, a guard of honor be provided to accompany them back to Mexico.

Tech Group Prepares For 'Wild West' Rodeos Throughout State

Bust my britches if the Old West hasn't returned with its rodeo, roundups and bronco busting.

Yep, any day of the week you happen to pass Texas Tech chances are you'll hear a yearling's bawl and a cowboy's "yippi-yi-yea" as 98 members of the Tech Rodeo association prepare for rodeo competition throughout the state.

Fact is, four of the association members will participate in a rodeo at Texas A. and I. college in Kingsville Thursday through Saturday, while H. G. Bedford, Midland, and Kit Pettigrew, Big Spring, will represent the college at Monahans Thursday and Friday.

New Arena Used

An organization of long standing on the campus, the Tech Rodeo association has just recently moved into its new five-acre arena, awarded it by the college Board of directors. Pens and stalls for the 18 horses and 18 roping calves owned by members of the club, have been erected at the arena, located directly west of Jones Stadium at the intersection of Fourth street and the Santa Fe railroad.

Tommie Bell, senior from Valentine, is president of the association and Bill Eiland, Snyder, is vice-president. Members of the riding club practice every afternoon the weather is "fitten" at their arena.

Frequent Events Cited

Bucking stock is ridden twice a week and calf roping takes place every afternoon. Brahma bulls and bulldogging steers are to be added to the stock later.

Delegates will be sent to the National Intercollegiate Rodeo association contest in Los Angeles next spring, according to Bell, and several other contests will be entered by individual members of the club.

Practice performances will be continued this fall until winter weather forces it to halt. Come spring, however, it'll be rodeo time again as the group hauls out its spurs for further practicing.

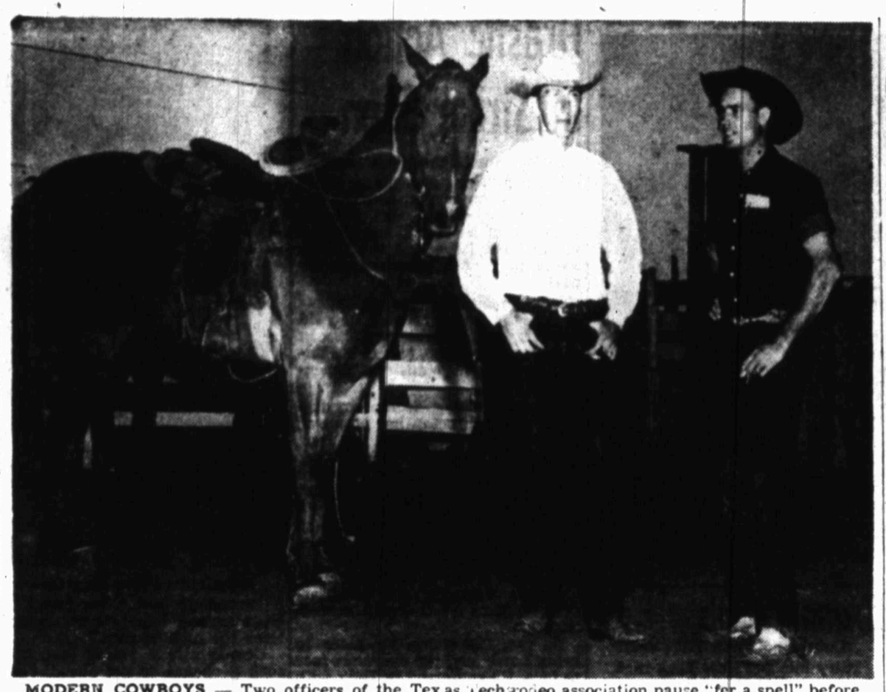

Women Take Part

Membership in the association is not confined to men, since a large number of women concentrate on barrel races and wild cow milking contests. Most of the members come from West Texas ranches although no restrictions are made on membership.

Riders who will compete in this week's rodeo at Kingsville include Tommie Bell, president, Raymond and Haden Haby, North Uvalde, and Jack Boverie, Wellington.

Western regalia is worn by the members to semi-monthly association meetings, with the emphasis being placed on "loud" shirts and fancy boots.

Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel and Fred Widmoyer, biology instructor, are faculty sponsors for the group.

MODERN COWBOYS — Two officers of the Texas Tech rodeo association pause "for a spell" before directing practice wild bronc riding and calf roping in the club's new five-acre arena on the campus. Tommie Bell, right, is president and Bill Eiland, left, is vice president of the group, whose members compete in rodeos throughout the state.

New SEC Head Begins Duties

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (U.P.)— Harry A. McDonald, the first Republican chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, began his term today with Democrats still mystified about how he happened to get the job.

President Truman, who appointed the Detroit broker as a commissioner in March, 1947, customarily indicates his preference when a government agency has to pick a new chief.

Truman Okay Likely

Mr. Truman was out of town when the announcement came yesterday of McDonald's election as SEC chairman. But a high White House executive agreed with McDonald that a Republican could hardly have gotten the job without presidential approval. The commission is composed of three Democrats and two Republicans.

At the Democratic National committee headquarters, the news was as much a surprise as anywhere in town. At the SEC, one democratic member was said to have refused to believe it and was told to call the white House himself.

Commission Names Head

Other commission members turned aside questions and said the new chairman was the man to talk to. The commission elects its own chairman, but just how much electioneering goes on in advance is unknown.

Asked about reports that Mr. Truman had taken a hand in his election, McDonald would not comment directly. But, he said, "it could hardly be without Mr. Truman's approval."

The commission, McDonald asserted, has always been non-partisan in its decisions and would continue to be.

Politics Not Mentioned

"I have never heard politics mentioned since I've been with the commission," he said.

"When Mr. Truman appointed me, he told me he wanted 'a fair deal for everyone'."

Other members of the commission are Richard B. McEntire, also a Republican, and Donald C. Cook, Paul R. Rowen and Edward T. McCormick, Democrats. Cook, 40, and McCormick, 38, were named to the commission this week.

McDonald succeeds Edmond M. Hanrahan who resigned as chairman to return to private business. McCormick succeeded Hanrahan as a commission member and Cook took the place vacated by Robert K. McConnaughey, who resigned earlier this year.

Drop In Louisiana Oil Activity Reported By State Department

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 5. (AP)— Louisiana oil activity slackened in October but remained above the levels of early 1949, the Department of Conservation reported today.

There were 200 drilling permits issued in October, compared with 275 the previous month and 185 in January. Exploratory wells accounted for 24 of the October permits.

The end of the month saw 320 rigs active in the state. There were 170 new wells completed, compared with 274 in September and 146 in January. They included 101 producing oil wells, 31 gas wells and 38 non-productive drillings.

Five Persons Die Of Exposure Since Cold Wave Hits Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5 (U.P.) — Five persons have died of exposure here since temperatures dropped close to freezing three days ago.

Three of the five victims were identified as homeless persons. One person apparently died of exposure after being beaten by robbers. And a fifth died on his way home from a bar, police said.

The temperature yesterday was 35 degrees.

Little Progress Made In Getting City Manager, Dallas Paper Says

DALLAS, Nov. 5. (AP)—The Dallas News says the Dallas city council appeared no nearer a selection of a city manager today than it did a month ago.

It was a month ago that City Manager Roderic B. Thomas announced he would resign.

"For one reason or another, outside prospects have been virtually eliminated, and attention has turned to possibilities on the city hall staff. So far, however, it appears there is no close agreement among councilmen as to which, if any of the city hall staff should be picked," the News said.

The council as a whole has interviewed only one prospect—Guiton Morgan, city manager of Austin. The News said he did not express much interest in the Dallas job.

More Than 600 FHA Girls Attend Area Meeting At Jayton

JAYTON, Nov. 5 (Special) — Over 600 persons attended an annual fall meeting of the Area Two Future Homemakers of America today in the Jayton High school auditorium.

Fifty-seven schools in 26 West Texas counties in Area Two were represented at the meeting.

Miss Esther Sorensen, area FHA director, said attendance at today's meeting was the largest ever in Area Two history.

The morning session today was presided over by Malta Lee Evans of Olney, area president. A welcome to representatives of FHA chapters in the area was extended by Miss Nina Hale, president of the Jayton chapter.

Highlights of the morning session were introduction of area officers, followed by special music by delegates from the Lamesa and Post chapters. Miss Sorensen showed picture slides taken during her European trip last summer.

Barbecue Lunch Served

A barbecue lunch was served at noon in the backyard of the home of School Supt. J. S. Hines.

At the afternoon session, presiding officer was Patsy Morrow of Munday, area vice-president.

Group singing was led by Jo Ann Wright of Aspermont, Area Two song leader, followed by a dance routine by Myra Ratliff of Spur.

Of the various FHA chapters represented at today's meeting, the Lubbock chapter had the largest attendance—with a total of 57 members present.

Trial Of Congressman Thomas May Get Third Postponement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP). — Twice postponed, the trial of Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) on fraud charges faces another delay of perhaps a week or more.

The trial is scheduled to start Monday, but Thomas's attorney, William H. Collins, is busy on another case.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff is expected either to announce a new trial date or to continue the case on a day-to-day basis until Collins is ready.

advantage of the government's high prices, of course. Many of them, however, say they are concerned as to whether the cottonseed support program will endanger the whole system of government farm price supports, which they recognize as a good thing.

And Walter Y. Wells, county Agricultural Adjustment administractor, says. "It is the biggest thing I have ever had anything to do with."

His office is flooded with paper work involved in getting the complex support machinery moving. Much of the red tape is handled by gins, who are forced to support the program or lose their business to other gins who are.

Started Past Week

The program went into effect Wednesday. By Saturday, Wells estimated 1,000 tons of cottonseed have already been purchased and stored by the government, although his office is behind in its daily reports.

If the South Plains harvest reaches the estimated 1,500,000 bales, there will be approximately 500,000 tons of cottonseed as a by-product. At $46.50 a ton, that half a million tons would bring $23,500,000 at government prices.

Many farmers remember when cottonseed had no value other than for planting, and when they burned it in the winter time because it was cheaper than coal.

Has Other Effects

The support program is having other immediate effects. Demand for cottonseed meal is being stimulated by an anticipated shortage, say cotton oil mill operators.

"It works like the OPA—control results in an abnormal demand," one cotton oil mill manager said.

No cotton oil mills have experienced difficulty in obtaining seed for processing, they say. In some cases the mills own cotton gins, which are not signing up for the paperwork and red tape involved in government purchases.

Storing the seed on open ground will unquestionably result in losses. How much depends on the amount of rainfall. Some area farmers now store their seed in the open all winter, then plant it in the spring and get nearly 100 per cent germination.

Open Storing Not Unusual

Cotton oil mills also store seed in the open. However, when signs of deterioration are seen, the seed is immediately moved and processed into oil and feed.

The program, which now is scheduled to last until Dec. 31 or Jan. 31, is unquestionably going to hold up the price of cottonseed. The cottonseed market opened at $32 in the Rio Grande valley this year. Experts here believe it might be at that figure now were it not for the government subsidy.

The cottonseed support program was spearheaded in Congress by Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi.

Only week before last, a delegation of West Texans, including W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, George Simmons of Lubbock Cotton Oil company, Roy Davis, manager of Plains Co-operative Oil mill, G. L. Jackson, Abernathy farmer and president of Plains Cooperative Oil mill, Wilmer Smith of Tahoka and Roy Grisham of Abilene, were in Washington to testify and state their opinions to the Congressional committees.

Government Use Not Decided

The obvious question—what will the government do with its immense stockpile of cottonseed?—appears to be unanswered as yet.

The law as passed by Congress specifies that if sold on the domestic market, it must be sold at the government's total expense plus five per cent.

It is conceivable that large foreign orders for cottonseed oil might create a tremendous demand for cottonseed. In which case the government could make a neat profit by selling it to the cotton oil mill operators.

And PMA officials privately say that if the cottonseed won't sell for the price specified by law, it is conceivable that the government will go into the cotton oil business itself.

In the past the private cotton oil mills have purchased approximately 70 per cent of the cottonseed in this area, Simmons estimates. Most of the remainder has been used for planting purposes.

The percentage purchased by the oil mills will be considerably lower this year, of course.

And the cottonseed support program remains a highly controversial issue.

and General Hoyt Vandenberg, chief of the Air Force, that the much-publicized B-36 could bomb targets on other continents from the U. S. and return safely.

Collins Declines Role

Collins said he would not "be a party to any controversy regarding the abilities of the B-36." He added:

"No one service alone can possibly wage inter-continental war. There continues to be a need for bases for any large-scale operations, bases for fighters to aid the heavy bombers.

"Nor can we in large operations rely solely on mid-air refueling.

"There is no argument about that. The joint chiefs of staff are in accord.

"It is something which needs teamwork by the Army, the Navy and the Air Force."

IRANIAN OFFICIAL KILLED

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 5. (AP)—Court Minister Abdul Hussein Hazhir died today from an assassin's bullet, and the Shah decreed a week of mourning by the imperial court. Hazhir was shot last night during a religious ceremony attended by high officials. Police, who arrested a man identified as Hussien Immani, were unable to assign a motive.

SCENE OF FATAL CRASH — Shown above is the wreckage of an oil field equipment hauling truck in which two persons were killed instantly near Snyder late Friday night. The truck, shown demolished at right on the front of a diesel freight engine, caught fire from the gas tank. Killed in the collision was Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ruff of Snyder and Junction. The diesel engine and two freight cars were derailed by the impact.

Rites Slated Today For Wreck Victims

SNYDER, Nov. 5. (Special)—A man and his wife killed near here Friday night when the truck they were in was struck by a Diesel freight engine, will be buried in Menard Sunday.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Ruff, 34 and 24 respectively were taken to the Mason Funeral home in Menard this afternoon by an Odom Fpneral home ambulance from Snyder.

The accident occurred about 9 p. m., Friday, three and a half miles southeast of here, when a Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific locomotive struck an oil field equipment hauling truck being driven by Ruff across the tracks.

They had no children, but parents and other relatives live in Menard and also at Junction, where the couple lived before moving to Snyder.

Ruff, who hauled equipment for McClatchey Brothers Trucking contractors of Wink, had started to San Angelo for a load of pipe. The truck was demolished and the locomotive and two cars were derailed.

Tuesday Election

There is competition to fill those vacancies.

Three candidates in District 120 are seeking to fill the House membership vacated by Rep. I. B. Holt, formerly of Littlefield. They are Harold M. Lafont and Joe Jennins of Plainview and Tom Deen of Floydada.

Going after Nokes' job in the 58th district are Billy Ragan of Barry; Kenneth Douglas of Corsicana; James Sewell of Blooming Grove; Roark Montgomery of Corsicana.

Seeking to succeed Willis are Maples Cate and Fred V. Meredith of Terrell.

Woodrow Bean of El Paso is unopposed for the House vacancy caused by the resignation of William S. Jameson of El Paso.

The education board election is another step to make effective the Gilmer-Aikin bills. The elective board will replace an appointive nine-member board.

Proposed Changes Given

Constitutional amendments to be voted on are:

Eliminating the poll tax.

Providing for annual sessions of the Legislature and annual salaries for members.

Allowing women on juries.

Permitting the Legislature to provide for trials without a jury in lunacy cases.

Giving the Legislature more latitude in passing laws regulating district court terms and sessions, and rules about terms and sessions.

Also charges authorizing the Legislature:

To set up city-county health units.

To provide for rural fire prevention districts.

To provide civil service in counties on a vote of the people in those counties.

To provide a statewide system for retirement and disability pensions for appointive county officials and employes.

To set up hospital districts.

LUBBOCK'S INTEREST IN ELECTION APPEARS LOW

Lubbock county's interest in Tuesday's amendments election was buried under voluable attention to a record cotton crop, the approaching Lubbock-Odessa football game and dime-a-cup coffee Saturday.

Slightly more than 10,000 poll taxes had been issued in Lubbock County for the off-election year, but there are an estimated 2,000 holders of exemption certificates.

A rather general "guess" placed the extreme maximum turnout of voters at 5,000, with most persons expressing belief the vote would be far less.

County Clerk Louie F. Moore said less than a dozen persons had voted absentee ballots. Election judges at the 33 precinct places may pick up ballot boxes and supplies at his office, he said.

The county's potential voting strength last year was more than 20,000 persons.

Moore said all county precinct officials must return election boxes to his office in the county courthouse Tuesday night to permit tabulation of votes as required by law. Moore said the office will be kept open until 10 p. m. unless all boxes are in before that time.

YOUTH ESCAPES INJURIES

A four-year-old boy, T. Garrison, of 2617 North First, escaped injury when he was struck by a car driven by C. F. Goodson, of 3017 North Fifth, at Main and College Ave. at 7 p.m. Saturday. Police said the youth was "brushed" by a front fender of the southbound vehicle when he dashed onto College Ave. from a sidewalk.

such a complaint against another Lubbock man who allegedly hit him in the head with can of paint while the pair was working at a house in the 1500-block Ave. F. Trussell was treated at Lubbock Memorial hospital for two minor cuts on his forehead as a result of the blow.

Lubbock Man Nabbed

A 44-year-old Lubbock man was arrested and held for the Liquor Control board by two city patrolmen who said they were able to take the suspect into custody only after chasing his car several blocks in a patrol car.

Seven cases of beer, six pints and 25 one-half pints of whiskey were reportedly found in the vehicle.

The patrolmen, C. D. Dickey and J. P. Wilson, started the chase north in 300-block Ave. K, followed the other car through several vacant lots, and finally forced the vehicle to a halt at Second and Ave. L.

Charges Are Filed

Norbert J. Walther of Lubbock was arrested in Philadelphia and held as a "suspicious character, passed a bad check," the sheriff's department was informed in a message from that city.

A charge of passing a forged instrument was filed about the same time in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, naming Norbert Joseph Walther. The persons are "one and the same," officials said.

The complaint charged that Walther on Oct. 25 passed a forged $25 check to Ed Hendrix. Depty Sheriff Earl Horton swore to the charge, which was prepared by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin.

Extradition proceedings will be initiated for returning the man to Texas.

Edward Brown, a 21-year-old Lubbock negro, was remanded to county jail in lieu of $1,000 bail set by Robertson in connection with a statutory rape complaint brought by a negro girl under the age of 15. Date of the alleged offense was April 1.

Plainview Negro Held

Willie Allen, 33, a Plainview negro, was remanded to jail here in lieu of $1,000 bail in connection with a federal charge that he had violated the servicemen's readjustment act. He was arrested on a bench warrant from the Santa Fe federal division.

An automobile reported stolen from Steen's grocery at 1202 East Twenty-first was recovered abandoned after it had been overturned in a highway mishap four miles west of Shallowater at 3:30 a.m.

Police were asked to investigate the breaking and entering of a box-car loaded with lumber, at 2633 Ave. A. Police were informed of the burglary by J. P. Veazey, who called from 2802 Ave. H.

Thefts Are Reported

A hub cap was stolen from the car of H. E. Summers of 1801 Main and E. E. Bryan, of 804 Ave. C., reported theft of a power saw valued at $65 from the address.

Officials said a man who was lodged in jail after two persons had seen him fall from a car in 3000-block Ave. H Friday night, was released after payment of a $15 fine for drunkenness. He was identified as Joe Dean Cook, 44, who gave his address as a tourist court south of the city.

Dalton Davis, 23, of Lubbock route 6, was fined $75 and county court costs on a drunk driving complaint.

Wanda Davis, 17, Alamogordo, was killed Saturday when the automobile in which she wis riding crashed through a bridge and plunged into an arroyo seven miles north of Tularosa. Sgt. Charles Nelson, her companion, was taken to Holloman Air base in serious condition.

Richard Padilla, 14 months old, Cimarron, was killed late Friday when he was run over in the driveway of his home by a loaded lumber truck driven by his uncle, George Sanchez.

Friday afternoon, Ray P. Harris of Silver City, an automobile dealer, was killed in a collision between his car and a truck east of Deming. Hans Cohen, 22, Philadelphia, died Friday of injuries he received Tuesday when his car went off a 95-foot embankment 25 miles west of Albuquerque.

Poppies sold in downtown Lubbock Saturday by the American Legion post auxiliary netted $1,500 for child welfare and rehabilitation work here, Mrs. Floyd Lebow announced.

The annual poppy sale is conducted each year on the Saturday before Armistice Day to collect funds for child welfare work, Mrs. Lebow said.

entry into the New York race.

Dulles Hits Move

Dulles said he believes New York state can get along without "calling on the Pendergast machine." Boss Tom Pendergast's Missouri organization helped elect Mr. Truman a U. S. senator.

Dewey said President Truman "frantically" rushed back from a trip to make the radio speech.

Something must have happened, Dewey said, because two weeks ago the President said the race was in the bag for Lehman.

O'Dwyer Praised

Mr. Truman called for the re-election of William O'Dwyer as Mayor of New York City and supprt of the whole state Democratic ticket. He said O'Dwyer has a fine record in peace and war and another term for him would assure "continuation of a progressive and efficient government" for the nation's largest city.

The President spoke for the last five minutes of a half hour broadcast of a Lehman rally.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking here, introduced the President. Other participants on the program included the labor leaders, Philip Murray, CIO president, and William Green, AFL president.

Both Murry and Green said an important issue is repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

old Marine Corps veteran.

On the possibility of a ransom snatch, Komorek said:

"We haven't got anything. I don't know why this could have been done."

Komorek said he earned about $70 a week as a machine operator in a Clayville paper mill until two weeks ago.

No Known Enemies

Komorek and his wife, 29, said they had no known enemies.

Mrs. Komorek told a reporter, "The only possibility would be a money angle." She was quoted as saying they "had a new 1949 Pontiac and it had been rumored that we had money."

The baby, suffering with colic, was to have been baptised tomorrow in the Roman Catholic church.

Mrs. Komorek said she had fed the baby shortly before 11 p. m. and had put him in his crib.

She then lay down to await her husband's return from night work.

She left the kitchen door unlocked and a few minutes later heard a rustling in the kitchen.

When no one responded to her question, "Who's there," she investigated and said she saw a man running out with the child.

The Komorek's only other child, a seven-year-old son, was killed by an automobile four years ago.

income tax returns are in. These returns will reflect the drop in corporation earnings in 1949."

Decline Possible

Byrd said a 10 percent drop in national income below present levels would cause an additional $5 billion decline in revenue. He observed:

"In the Roosevelt era there was a depression and the public debt was not extraordinarily high and later on we were at war. But now we have a high level of prosperity and an extremely heavy debt."

He recalled plans to lump all government appropriations in a single bill at the next session of Congress, so that the budget would be voted upon at once. He said:

"I think a lot of members are going to be embarrassed when they realize that, in voting for all appropriations in a single bill, they will be voting for a deficit of billions.

Talking Situation

"Of course, I have been talking about this situation for a long time and hoping that something would be done.

"I believe now that people are getting more worked up about it than they have been."

Byrd said "one thing that is not generally realized is that expenditures in the present fiscal year for domestic programs will be $3 billion more than they were in the last fiscal year." He said:

"This points up the fact that all of the increase has not been in foreign spending."

He declared the only way to attack the problem is to "get the facts before the people." He said that is what he proposes to do.

Drastic Action In Strike Seen

said no national emergency exists which warrants Taft-Hartley action. His associates still are not agreed that he should use the act which labor hates and the Democratic party has promised to repeal.

But the decision may be hastened by the present onset of cold weather in many areas, widespread reports of hardship, and rising unemployment in industries dependent on coal.

Cyrus S. Ching, federal mediation service director, has promised to pursue a settlement "as long as there is any use." This seemed to mean that if he fails to win a bargained settlement, the next step is Mr. Truman's.

Southern coal operators will meet here Monday (1:30 p. m., CST) with Ching. The mediator may issue a call to northern operators on Tuesday, and later arrange a joint North-South conference.

So far, Ching has no plans to bring Lewis and the operators face to face. He conferred secretly with Lewis yesterday for two hours. Though there was no hint of a change in Lewis' position, Ching told reporters the talk with the United Mine Workers president was "pleasant and constructive."

Tonight Lewis was believed to have left Washington for Chicago, where he meets with UMW's 200-man policy committee on Monday.

A union source said Lewis still has hopes that Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois can persuade coal operators of that state to start intensive negotiations for a separate, statewide contract. So far the owners have refused to break ranks with operators elsewhere in the country.

Speculation Widespread

There was widespread speculation in Washington that Lewis might get in touch with some Illinois operators tomorrow.

In Pittsburgh, hardship was not far away. Some hospitals said their coal would be gone in a day or two. Dealers reported stocks down to a half-week's supply and some homes out of fuel.

Rome, Ga., opened its city auditorium to families without coal. Atlanta dealers began to ration their customers. Cincinnati coal merchants wired Mr. Truman for help; a spokesman said the supply for homes is exhausted.

Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh called Lewis direct for help. The answer was: "No."

Estonian Couple

National Lutheran council.

Both members of farming families in Estonia, they were victims of the checkerboard action through which the Germans moved humans from their own countries to laboring positions in other countries.

As the Germans were pushed out of Estonia by the Russians in 1944, they halted long enough in their flight to take young and healthy Estonians from schools and business to Germany and Austria.

Mr. and Mrs. Varik were not married at the time, not meeting until they were brought together in a DP camp after the war.

Varik had received six years' training in gardening while attending middle school, similar to high school in this country, and a gardening institute which was a branch of the University of Tartu. He was sent to Linz, Austria, as a gardener.

Girl Sent To Austria

The young blond girl who was to become his wife four years later had received three years training in cooking and she was sent to Austria as a housemaid.

Then began the long, lean years, when the imported workers obeyed the commands of the Germans, existed on the rations handed out to them and carefully observed rules set for them.

After the war, they were moved from one DP camp to another, finally meeting at Bad-Woerishofen in Germany. They were married in March, 1948 and were together only two weeks before Varik joined a Labor Service company operated by the United States For his work, he received food and clothing and money. He returned to visit his wife at every opportunity.

Mueller Gave Aid

Mr. and Mrs. Varik came to this country after communication with Mueller, who had filled in a Lutheran questionnaire in which he had shown interest in providing a home and work so a young Lutheran couple could be brought from a DP camp to Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Varik live in a garage apartment. A kitchen and linen shower was given for them by the Shepherd King American Lutheran church congregation Sunday in the Mueller home.

At present, each is fulfilling some duties in the Mueller home. After they become adjusted to life in Lubbock, Varik is to be employed by a business firm.

Speaks Four Languages

Varik speaks four languages—Estonian, German, Russian and English. He learned German and English in school. He learned Russian after Estonia was occupied and became a part of the Soviet Union in 1940.

Mrs. Varik speaks Estonian and German and is learning to speak English.

In the midst of their happiness over coming to America, Mr. and Mrs. Varik wonder at times about the relatives they left behind in Estonia five years ago.

Mrs. Varik knows one brother to be in a DP camp but has heard nothing concerning her parents and other members of the family since she was taken from Estonia in 1944.

Varik saw someone after the war who told him his parents, brothers and sister still were alive. He was advised not to attempt to communicate with his relatives, because Estonians receiving outside communication might be suspected by the Russians of espionage.

Costs of producing naval stores (gum) are reported higher in Portugal than in America.

Jaycee Board Meet

no economic desert too broad to cross or any international mountains too high to pass."

Cooper said a young man will seek a chance to get ahead, "but if there is a chance of failure, an old man will decline."

Advocating national Jaycee support for the Hoover commission report, Cooper said "it isn't good business sense to let the budget increase—we must defend America both internally and externally."

Economic Experts Scored

In conclusion, Cooper said "we don't work someone with fuzzy economical ideologies planning our lives—our American way of life must be maintained and sustained."

He was introduced by John Ben Sheppard, of Gladewater, a past national Jaycee president.

Cooper arrived at Municipal airport at 10:15 a. m. Saturday aboard a private Humble Oil company plane. He was accompanied on the flight by Melvin Evans of Wichita Falls, a national vice president, and Dutch Kesler, president of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce.

They were greeted at the airport by Cliff Haynie, Hill Baggett, Ralph Krebbs and Jeff Lewis of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce and Jim Crook of the senior chamber.

Police Escort Provided

Police Capt. Bill Lamb and Sgt. Harold McInroe provided a police escort to the Hilton hotel, where the Jaycee officials are staying.

As soon as Cooper concluded his speech, a three-piece cowboy band played several tunes while pretty co-eds from Tech supplied stickers asking support for the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce in obtaining the National Jaycee convention for that South Texas city in 1951.

It also was announced that the state convention will be held in Fort Worth April 13, 14, and 15 of next year. Buster Kirkpatrick, vice president of the Cowtown unit, and Claud Fleet, past president there, were among the delegates from the city "Where the West Begins."

Waco Picked For Banquet

Earlier in the day at an informal meeting of board members, Waco was approved as host for the Jaycee Distinguished Service awards banquet of Texas on Jan. 14, 1950.

Dick Riestenberg, H. L. Gillam and I. R. LeBlond represented Waco in the submission of the request. They said Governor Shivers has already accepted an invitation to present keys to the five outstanding young men of Texas.

City Manager Steve Matthews issued a brief welcome address at the keynote luncheon. Dr. Fred Sparks, president of the Lubbock Kiwanis club, and G. C. Stewart, president of the Optimist club here, were guests at the luncheon.

Harold Clayton of Port Arthur served as master of ceremonies at the luncheon and L. D. Whiteley of Lubbock, a national Jaycee director and chairman of the meeting, introduced a score of prominent visitors.

Clinics Are Held

When the luncheon meeting adjourned, four concurrent clinics were held on the mezzanine of the hotel. The clinics included pointers for officers of the 128 Texas units, Americanism, Public Affairs and Public Health.

Jim St. Clair of Levelland was chairman of the local officers clinic.

The general assembly opened at 3 p.m. with the leadoff address by Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of Wayland college at Plainview.

He commended the Texas Jaycees for their newly launched international program. He made particular reference to the correspondence of the Amarillo club with the Salsburg, Austria, Jaycees and the Plainview club with Jaycees of Dardenelles, Turkey.

Internationalism Lauded

"World peace cannot be won for us by our national and international leaders alone," the prominent Baptist educator said, "because it will come only from the work of our rank and file citizens. That is why I am so heartily in favor of this Japcee project," he added.

He was introduced by State Director Bill McDanel of Dallas, who also introduced the other feature speaker, John Rudisill, executive vice president of the Kansas Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Rudisill asked for Jaycee support of the Hoover commission report. He said he was in complete agreement with the finding, which suggested elimination of overlapping, duplication and contradiction in executive branches of the government.

"History tells us that one free people after another has lost its freedom because of being swamped by taxation and bureaucracy," he said.

Government Cost Cited

He illustrated the cost of bureaucracy by citing various hidden and obvious taxes. "You shoulder your share of the American debt, which now amounts to $7,000 for every average family in America and which amounts to $300 interest to every family," he cited.

Meanwhile, wives of the visiting Jaycees were holding a luncheon at the Lubbock Country club followed by a style show there at 1:30 p.m. Bridge games were held for the women at 2:30 p.m.

The wives joined their husbands at 7 p.m. in a smorgasbord dinner at the Hilton and a dance at 9 p.m.

Mrs. Ethel Jean Land, chairman of the ladies program, said a coffee at 10 a.m. today will end the festivities for the visiting wives.

A wake up breakfast is scheduled for the visiting Jaycees at 8:30 a.m. today with the business session to open 30 minutes later.

Several resolutions involving support of the Hoover commission report and procurement of more members for Texas Jaycee units will be submitted, according to Jim Brown, executive vice president from Abilene.

R. S. Wilkinson, Lubbock Jaycee president, said adjournment of the two-day meeting is expected at noon.

Congratulations to:

ed out that it is getting harder and harder as time goes on to reach a final agreement on world economic recovery.

Acheson is prepared to argue with Bevin against the British position, as announced by treasury head Sir Stafford Cripps, that England could not go along with a general European customs union.

Acheson further feels that western Germany should be admitted to full European economic partnership. He was gratified to hear that the committee of ministers of the council of Europe, now meeting in Paris, has decided informally to take in West Germany.

Washington officials anticipate that the western Big Three meeting will include a "round the world" survey of current international affairs.

to Johnson and been promised a hearing. The Navy has been getting a hearing for the last two days before Johnson's economy committee headed by General Joseph T. McNarney.

The generals previously have had a chance, it was understood, to give their views on the cuts proposed for the Army. The Air Force presumably will get a turn later on.

Sherman today made the first major personnel move since he became chief last Wednesday.

He chose Rear Admiral Lynde Dupuy McCormick, commander of the Twelfth Naval district at San Francisco, to be his vice chief of naval operations effective next spring.

At different times during the war, Sherman and McCormick were chiefs of staff to Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

McCormick is a submarine man; Sherman an aviator.

Sherman said that continuing rumors that Admiral Arthur W. Radford will be replaced as the present Pacific fleet commander are "all speculation" with no basis in fact that he knows about.

Sherman said, too, he knows nothing of reports that Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, whom he succeeded as chief of naval operations, now may retire.

He said he knows that Admiral Richard L. Conolly, Eastern Atlantic-Mediterranean commander, has no intention of retiring.

But one top admiral who it is understood may retire because he has just about reached retirement age, is Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, commander of the Eastern Sea frontier.

In the row over present defense planning, it was Radford who was the first of a string of admirals to go before the House Armed Services committee to claim the Navy was being slighted. Among the admirals lining up with him were Denfeld, Kinkaid and Conolly.

The ousting of Denfeld and his replacement by Sherman came as a climax to the uproad over Pentagon policies.

In moving up to the job of vice chief of naval operations, McCormick also will become a vice admiral. He will replace Vice Admiral John D. Prince, who will become commander of naval air training with headquarters at Pensacola, Florida.

TEAMS URGED TO FINISH WORK

Final Effort To Close Chest Campaign Is Slated This Week

Leaders of Lubbock's 1950 Community Chest campaign made plans Saturday to strive for a successful completion of the drive during the coming week.

With funds collected totaling $50,988.40, Drive Chairman J. Ray Rickey issued another plea for workers to marshall their forces for winding up their solicitations and reports this week.

More than half of the goal of $98,850 has been raised and less than 45 per cent of the worker teams have turned in reports, Dickey pointed out.

Final Effort Urged

"There seems to be no question about reaching the goal if captains, and lieutenants would contact their various team members and urge them to complete the second round of the drive," Dickey said. "We haven't had any reports from some of the teams."

Dickey's plea followed up a letter to workers, mailed Friday, which contained instructions to team workers on completing the drive. When the letter was mailed, only one unit group, the cotton men, had reported complete. They showed a 248 per cent increase over last year's contributions, Don Mitchell, cotton men's captain, reported.

"And they are busier at this time of the year than nearly everybody else," Dickey pointed out. "If the cotton boys can get out and make their quota, surely the remaining teams can do it. All to be done is make the calls."

The drive is now in its third week and running longer than Chest officials had hoped would be required to complete the goal.

Eight affiliated charity, welfare and recreational agencies are included in the Chest budget. They are: Lubbock Boy's club, Junior Optimist club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Milam Home, Carver Heights Nursery and Lubbock Service Organization.

The latter two agencies, the nursery for colored children of domestic workers and the LSO, recreational agency for military personnel stationed at Reese Air Force Base, were added to this year's Chest budget. Their addition called for an increase of less than $2,000 to this year's goal.

Republican Senator Assails Critics Of President Truman

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 5 (U.P.)— Republican Sen. William Langer of North Dakota says that people and newspapers who ridicule President Truman are doing a "great disservice to America."

He told a crowd of farmers union convention delegates here yesterday that Mr. Truman is "honest and capable" and that "the Democratic administration is entitled to the credit for much of the gains made in reclamation and agriculture."

He also said that the Taft-Hartley labor bill was "just as dangerous to farmers as labor."

450,000 Homeless In Philippines Typhoon

MANILA, Nov. 5. (AP)— Conservatively estimating the destitute homeless at 450,000 and property damage at $50 million, the Philippines Red Cross appealed for international help tonight for survivors of Monday night's typhoon.

The storm swept eight islands of the central Philippines, hit at least 105 cities and towns, and left at least 644 persons dead or missing, said Manuel Lim, local Red Cross chairman. There was no accurate count of the numerous injured.

Eisenhower Urges Practical Unification Of Armed Forces

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5. (INS)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower urged the armed forces today to rid themselves of "prejudices, slogans and emotions" and form a practical unification.

Speaking before a meeting of the American Legion's national executive committee in Indianapolis, he declared:

"Unless we obtain sincere cooperation of the armed services, our dream of unification will become a nightmare."

The Columbia university president and World War II SHAEF commander asserted that Congress has the power to impose unification and civilian control of unification is desirable.

He expressed the view that no branch of the service can be blamed for the recent wrangles. There should be no reprisals, he said.

Defense Secretary Louis Johnson will address the Legion officials tonight.

HST Urges Aid For Education

By FREDERICK TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Truman made a new appeal today for enactment of his federal aid-to-education program in a brief message marking American Education week which begins Sunday.

Mr. Truman asked the country to join "in paying tribute to our loyal and devoted teachers with whom so much responsibility lies for the guidance of our youth."

"Time for Examination"

The president then said that National Education week should also "be a time for examining our communities and searching our hearts to see if we are being fair to our school children and to our teachers in the tools we give them for the building for tomorrow's citizens.

Federal aid-to-education legislation, a key point in the Truman domestic program, was pigeonholed by a House committee in the first session of the 81st Congress.

Committee action came after a proposed House provision banning any federal help for parochial schools touched off a controversy between Francis Cardinal Spellman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The administration has served notice that it will drive for action on the program early in the second session, which begins Jan. 3.

Mr. Truman and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, declared that much of the hope for "dynamic Democracy and permanent and just peace lies in the hands of America's school teachers.

Education's Value Cited

The President said that "education must be a dynamic force in the building and development of a democracy."

Bradley asserted that "in education lies much of our hope for a peaceful future." The general declared:

"With military personnel serving all over the world as examples of American democracy, the armed forces consider a sound knowledge of the democratic principles to be a most important part of the airman's, the sailor's and the soldier's equipment."

Photographer, Book Reviewer To Appear

Widely-Known Speakers To Address Students At Tech

Margaret Bourke-White and Clifton Fadiman will appear in separate addresses at the Texas Technological college Recreation hall this week, according to Dean of Men, James G. Allen.

Miss Bourke-White, Life magazine photographer, is scheduled for a speech on India Tuesday night, while Fadiman, most widely known as master of ceremonies of the radio program "Information Please," will speak Friday night. Fadiman was emcee for the radio show for 10 years.

In India at the time Mahatma Gandhi was assassinated in January, 1948, Miss Bourke-White had talked to the Indian leader only a few hours before his death. Her pictures of his burial were printed in Life the following week.

Her Tuesday night address here will deal partly with the way Gandhi impressed her and partly with the life and customs of the Indian masses and their future in the Asiatic world. The difficulties of photographing the Mahatma's funeral procession will also be told.

Fadiman To Speak

"The Literary Climate: Meaningful Books and Writers of Our Day" will be the text of Fadiman's address. The Friday speaker is widely recognized as a book critic, with his record as editor for Simon and Schuster publishing company and book reviewer for the New Yorker included in his biography. He is currently a member of the Board of Judges for the Book-of-the-month club.

Both addresses are a part of this year's recreation hall program for college students. Townspeople and faculty members will be admitted to either address, both to begin at 7:15 p. m., only if seats are left at the scheduled time to begin, Dean Allen said.

Rocket Research Program To Be Stressed At Alabama Site

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Nov. 5. (AP). Only research will be done at Redstone arsenal, where Army rocket research operations are being transferred from Fort Bliss, Texas.

Col. Carroll D. Hudson, Redstone commanding officer, said rockets will be manufactured and tested elsewhere.

The officer said the transfer will begin early next year and will be completed in six months. Hundreds of workers, mostly military men and German scientists, will be transferred in the move intended to save $4,500,000.

One rocket research center already is in operation at Redstone. The $60 million Huntsville arsenal was used for production and storage of war chemicals. Areas formerly occupied by it were scheduled for sale last Monday, but plans were cancelled suddenly a week ago.

A construction program includes building of engineering and chemical laboratories, static test stands and light range facilities for the free rocket, the jato (jet-assisted take-off for planes) and propellant research and development work.

Texas Topples Baylor With 20-0 Victory

Borneman, Clay Sparkle

AUSTIN, Nov. 5 (AP) — The Texas Longhorns toppled Baylor's Bears from the unbeaten list with a solid 20-0 victory as 60,000 looked on here today.

Snapping back from three heartbreaking losses in the past four weeks, Texas dealt a smashing blow to Baylor's hopes for its first Southwest Conference title since 1924.

Rushing, Passing Sharp

It also probably knocked Baylor out of the top ten teams of the country. The Bears were rated sixth as they went into today's game.

Fierce rushing by the Texas line and sharp pass-defensive patterns put a damper on the heretofore brilliant aerial attack directed by Baylor's Adrian Burk.

Texas hit its victory stride late in the second quarter.

Big Ray Borneman, a bruising fullback who has been hampered by a knee injury all season, showed his form of last year as he piled over from the 1-foot line. His plunge capped a methodical 18-play drive of 80 yards in which Borneman and Randall Clay were almost the whole show.

Fumbles Halt Baylor

A freak play on which Borneman juggled the ball to lineman Bud McFadin contributed 16 yards to the march. Clay missed the extra point.

Fumbles halted a Baylor drive on the Texas 30 and a Texas threat on the Baylor 3 in the third period, but Texas came right back in the fourth.

Campbell, mixing in frequent passes with the Texas potent ground game, uncorked a 23-yard touchdown toss to End Ben Proctor. The lanky wingman grabbed the ball on the eight and went over standing up. Clay kicked the first of two successful conversions.

A fumble by Burk set up Texas' final tally. Tackle Bill Wilson recovered on the Baylor 13. A penalty put the ball on the 1-yard line, and Campbell scored the first touchdown of his collegiate career on a quarterback sneak.

Ohio State Defeats Pittsburgh, 14 To 10

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5. (AP) — Heavily favored Ohio State, rocked on its heels during the first half by a charging Pittsburgh team, struck for two touchdowns in the third quarter to down the Panthers, 14-10 today.

And the Bucks, a two-touchdown choice, needed a break to get going in the action-packed third period. Trailing 10-0, Ohio State recovered a fumble on the Pitt 11 and went on to score.

After a scoreless first period, the Pitts went into the lead on a 17-yard touchdown forward pass from Fullback Carl Depasqua to End Earl Sumpter.

Bolkovac made it 10-0 early in the third quarter on a field goal from the 21-yard line.

Tilt May Decide 3-AA Grid Race

Westerners Tangle With Odessa Friday

Football at Lubbock High school reaches its peak this week when the Westerners travel to Odessa for what is purported to be the deciding game in the District 3-AA race.

With victories over Midland and Lamesa, the Bronchos are on top of the district standings. The only challenger is Lubbock which has one district win over the hapless Tornadoes and is favored to beat the Bronchos.

When the Broncho and Westerner elevens meet at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Broncho stadium, it is generally conceded that the winner will take the district crown. Odessa's remaining game is with Brownfield, a team still searching for a victory this year. Lubbock would have to defeat Midland and Brownfield, a task which should not be hard to accomplish.

A large caravan of Westerner supporters are scheduled to crowd the highways leading to Odessa Friday. Adult advance ticket sales have reached approximately 5,500, E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager, reported Saturday afternoon, and an additional 100 general admission tickets are still in his possession and may be purchased next week.

Student ticket sales have totaled 400 so far, H. J. McCabe, dean of boys at the high school announced, and sales this week should exhaust the supply originally set 1,500.

To date approximately 5,900 tickets are in the hands of Lubbock fans, and ticket sales by game time should run the total to 7,000.

The situation at Odessa is about the same as it is in Lubbock, with tickets for the game extremely scarce and hard to find. Bleacher sections behind the end zones and on the cinder tracks alongside the field will raise the seating capacity of the stadium Friday to 21,662 persons.

Special buses will carry the football team, band members and students to Odessa Friday. McCabe estimated that 400-500 students would ride the buses, and that approximately 10 or 12 buses would be chartered. In addition to these, three buses will take the band, and the Westerner squad will ride on another bus.

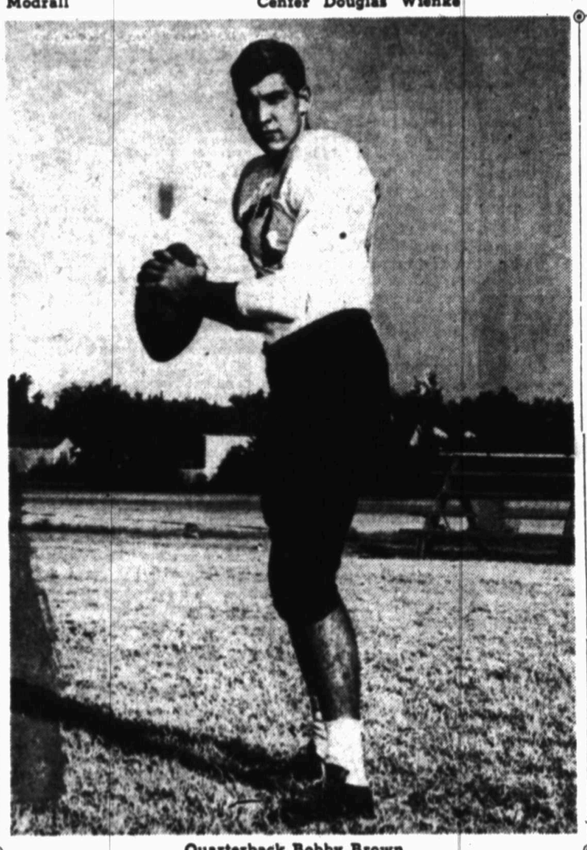

The Westerners will leave from Chapman fieldhouse around 7:45 Friday morning, eat in Midland and then go on to Odessa. Other buses will leave from the Eighteenth Street entrance of the high school starting at 7:30 a. m., with half of the buses being routed through Lamesa and half through Brownfield, McCabe said.

Private transportation will carry the other rooters on the road trip.

Tech's Raiders Blank Texas Western, 13-0

Powerful Ground Attack Clicks In Second Half For Border Win

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

KIDD FIELD, EL PASO, Nov. 5 — Texas Tech's powerful ground game finally clicked in the second half here tonight and the Red Raiders ground out a laborious 13-0 victory over Texas Western before 13,000 homecoming fans who saw a game replete with long runs, long passing plays and ground power.

Halfback Cal Steveson literally powered his way over the Miners double stripe, going six yards over center early in the third quarter and three yards late in the fourth quarter. Halfback Tim Hatch converted his first effort but his second was blocked.

The victory tonight was Tech's third in the Border Conference and left them undefeated, a position they share with Hardin-Simmons. Texas Western now is out of the running with consecutive defeats by the Abilene and Lubbock schools.

It was a bruising game, with both clubs depending on powerful ground games to win. For Texas Western, it was the first time this year that they had been outgained on the ground. The answer to Tech's victory can be found in a line that charged hard and blocked well, both in the line and downfield. A large portion of the victory was due to the hard-driving Raider backs who time and time again refused to be downed and plowed forward for additional yardage.

The possible turning point in the game came late in the first half when the Orediggers had a first down on the Tech five yard line and couldn't score. A magnificent Raider forward wall stopped all but one effort, a four yard plunge by Halfback Pug Gabrel. And even an off-side penalty that gave the Miners a fifth crack from the one-yard marker was not enough.

Tech came back after the intermission to command action and control the ball so completely that the Orediggers never did make a serious threat in the second half.

The statistics favored the Raiders, except in forward passing. Tech gained 239 yards on the ground to 155 for Western, but only 75 yards on forward passes to 131 for the hosts. The total gave Tech 314 yards to 286. Raiders held an edge in first downs of only 17 to 15, but 11 of them came in the second half, while the Miners made 11 of theirs in the first half.

Standing out in the Raider line were Tackles Marshall Gettys, John Andrews and Jerrell Price, End Dick Cavazos, Guard Dan Pursel and Center Bobby Williams. Steveson, Hatch, Fullbacks Bud Conley and J. W. Thompson, and Quarterback Ernest Hawkins were standouts in the backfield.

For the Miners, Gabrel and Halfback Bill Chesak sparkled in the backfield, while Quarterback Ralph Brewster threw some fine passes. In the line, Center Wayne Hanson, Ends Don Surratt and J. D. Partridge and Guard Ernest Kiely stopped play after play.

Tech Backs Gain

Pampa Upsets Sandstorm

PAMPA, Nov. 5. (Special)—The Pampa Harvesters took the biggest step toward the District 1-AA football championship here this afternoon when they hung a stinging 20-12 loss on the Golden Sandstorm of Amarillo, fighting from behind twice. It was the first Pampa victory over Amarillo since 1943.

Newby Held In Check

Jack Newby was held in check, which meant the difference in the game. The lighter and slower of foot Harvesters simply outfought and outcharged the Sandstorm. The upset victory made Coach Tom Tipps of the Harvesters a strong candidate for the honor of Texas high school coach of the year. He started the season with only six returning lettermen, none of the regulars. He has built them into a machine that has fought to six wins and two defeats. The two losses came at the hands of Wichita Falls and Lubbock, only after hard-fought battles.

Amarillo drew first blood in the second period when a Pampa fumble on their own 27 set the Sandies up. Four plays later little Jerry Reese raced over from the six for the first score of the game. Newby's attempted placement was blocked.

The Harvesters fought right back to go ahead. Co-Captain Leon Taylor intercepted a Newby pass on the Pampa 38 and ran back to the Amarillo 36. With Jimmy Hays and Elmer Wilson carrying, the ball was moved to the Amarillo two. Hayes then took a pitchout and raced around right end into the end zone as the clock showed the half ended. Dewey Cudney added the point and the Harvesters led, 7-6 at halftime.

Fumble Hurts Harvesters

Amarillo took the second half kickoff and were held on their 30, from where they punted. Pampa started another drive that carried to midfield, where a fumble turned the ball over to the Sandies.

Newby and Ray Bingham started a downfield drive from the Pampa 44 that resulted in the lead touchdown when Newby smashed over from the eight. Again the extra point try was blocked and Pampa trailed, 12-7.

The Harvesters fought right back, marching 58 yards to score with Co-Captain Pete Cooper plowing into the end zone from the one-yard line. Dewey Cudney converted. With only two minutes left to play, Pampa scored again, with Carl Kennedy scoring from the one in a drive that began with a pass interception.

Hayes intercepted a pass for Pampa in the fading minutes and moved to the Amarillo 25 as the game ended.

Smith Powers 27 To 27 Tussle

Aggies Tie Mustangs

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 5 (AP) —Texas A & M rose from the depths of ridicule and defeat today to tie mighty Southern Methodist university 27-27.

It was a pounding fullback, Bob Smith, and a spirit that burned as bright as the sun overhead that smashed the Mustang's title hopes and national ranking.

Smith scored three touchdowns to bring the Aggies from behind then left the final glory to little Billy Tidwell and Bob Shaeffer. Tidwell scored the final Aggie touchdown late in the fourth quarter and Schaeffer kicked the extra point that gave A & M a moral victory in the biggest upset of the Southwest Conference season.

Walker, Rote Star

All-America Doak Walker and his touchdown twin, Kyle Rote, set a blistering early pace for Southern Methodist. One that seemed to make the three-touchdown edge they had been given seem small.

Walker scored two touchdowns and passed to Rote for another to give the Mustangs a 20-6 lead at the half. The Mustangs made it look easy, with the Aggies' matching first quarter touchdown just one of those things 31,000 fans could expect.

Those "things" happened in rapid fire succession in the second half, with Smith smashing over for two touchdowns that tied the score. They kept on happening after Rote had returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown that put the Mustangs ahead as the third quarter ended.

Walker kicked three extra points for SMU and Schaeffer three for A & M.

SMU Scores Early

Southern Methodist scored the first time it got the ball in the first quarter. Walker had to cross the goal line twice to make that first counter. His first try at the end of a 78-yard march was called back by a penalty. But, after Rote gained 21 yards, he made it from the three.

A & M matched this score, but

Plainview Upsets Borger, 20 To 13

BORGER, Nov 5 (Special) — Plainview's Bulldogs staged a major upset in the District 1-AA grid race today by spilling the favored Borger Bulldogs, 20-13, in the opening conference game for both teeams.

Striking for two early touchdowns, Coach W C. O. Harris' Plainview crew more than held its own against the heavier Borger club to stay ahead all the way.

Plainview posted 12 first downs to seven for the losers, although Borger led in yardage gained rushing, 226 to 183. Through the air, the Harrismen picked up 82 yards to 13 for Borger.

The scoring opened when Jack Howton passed to Weldon Hayes, who sprinted 30 yards for a first-quarter touchdown. Howton converted.

Plainview made it 13-0 in the second quarter when Otis Ratliff plunged three yards to cap an 89-yard march.

Earl Lanningham, Borger back, broke loose on a 59-yard scoring jaunt, then kicked the extra point to cut Plainview's margin to 13-7 later in the second quarter.

Oklahoma Aggies Tie Tulsa, 13-13

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 5. (INS) — The Oklahoma Aggies and Tulsa university's Golden Hurricane battled to a rough-and-tumble 13-to-13 tie today in Lewis Field at Stillwater.

Tulsa advanced a 7-to-0 halftime advantage but the Aggies came back fast and surged for two quick scores. The strength of little Jack Hartman's throwing arm and the brilliant receiving of End Alex Loyd gave them a 13-to-7 lead.

The Tulsans knotted the score midway in the fourth period when Hurricane quarterback Pete Annex hit Fred Smith in the end zone.

The rest of the game was bruising but scoreless.

GEORGIA DROPS GAME

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. Nov. 5 (INS) — Florida's great fullback Charlie Hunsinger fired his fellow 'gators to a 28-7 upset victory over the University of Georgia Bulldogs in Jacksonville today. Hunsinger was everything 36,000 fans could have hoped to see, as he scored three times and generally discharged his duties like an All-American.

Owls Take Over First In SWC

Rice Drubs Arkansas

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Rice's Owls fumbled and sputtered today but settled down for two land drives for a 14-0 victory over Arkansas.

Combined with Texas' defeat of Baylor, the victory gave Rice undisputed possession of first place in Southwest conference standings

End James (Froggie) Williams took first and fourth period touchdown passes from Quarterbacks Tobin Rote and Vernon Glass and then kicked both extra points to account for all the scoring.

Meanwhile the Rice defense twice had to stop Arkansas drives on the Owl 6, while the Arkansas defense messed up Rice's offense with two fumble recoveries and five pass interceptions.

The final gun, however, caught Rice with a second down on the Arkansas 1 yard following recovery of a Porker fumble on the 22. But Arkansas was having its offensive troubles, too, with a pair of fumbles and a pass interception stopping other drives into Rice territory.

The game saw a total of 13 fumbles, with the opposing teams recovering seven, and six pass interceptions.

Rote and Fullback Bobby Lantrip sparked the touchdown drives of 83 and 82 yards.

Rice took the opening kickoff on its 17. Rote made good on all four pass attempts for 69 yards in the march. His scoring toss to Williams was good for 10.

Glass' 9-yard touchdown completion was the only pass in the second scoring drive that began on the Rice 18. Lantrip, however, carried six times for 45 yards.

Only minutes before the second Rice tally Arkansas had made its most serious threat. Rote fumbled and Guard Dave Hanner took over for Arkansas on the Rice 34.

On third down Don Logue passed 22 yards to End Pat Summerall on the 8. Logue carried to the 1, but an offside penalty pushed the Porkers back to the 6. Rice took over on down on incomplete passes.

Arizona Smothers New Mexico

Lobos Drop 46-14 Tilt

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 5. (AP) — The University of Arizona uncorked a new-found passing attack today to stop New Mexico 46-14 before 13,200 homecoming fans.

The Arizona aerial game exploded early in the Border Conference fray, and by final gun had rolled up a total of 219 yards and three touchdowns.

Sophomore End Bill Glazier was the hero of the day. He took all three of the touchdown tosses, the first a scant few minutes after the game opened.

Halfback Fred Batiste went over the goal line for another score shortly after and the Wildcats had a lead New Mexico couldn't match.

Left Halfback Eddie Wolgast galloped 69 yards and Don McKinnon plunged from two yards out for a pair of touchdowns within 45 seconds of each other in the second period. Glazier scored the only marker of the third period.

Glazier made his third score early in the final quarter. Karl Eller intercepted a New Mexico pass and went 25 yards for the final marker. Reserve Quarterback John Fowler kicked four extra points.

Bob Cooke, 210-pound fullback from Albuquerque made both New Mexico scores. He climaxed a 66-yard drive with three minutes of the third period remaining with a one-yard scoring plunge. He ...ed a 64-yard fourth quarter drive with another dive from the one-... McKown ...icked both conversions.

Steveson Powers Way Over Double Stripe Twice In Bruising Battle

strong gains.

Tech's running game was spearheaded by a 34-yard gallop by Hatch, shorter runs of 21 and 12 yards by Steveson, an 18-yard gallop and one of 12 yards by Halfback Herman Bailey and a forward pass play from Hawkins to Hatch that covered 22 yards.

For the Miners, Brewster hit Chesak with a pass play that covered 45 yards, the longest gain of the night. Halfback Leo Cargile had one run of 25 yards and Gabrel had a 22 yard sprint.

The intensity of the play, the quick opening plunges of both teams and the forwards kept the crowd thrilled all the way.

The first quarter ended scoreless, with neither team able to produce a scoring punch.

Tech drove to the Miner 17 yard line on consecutive line plays starting from their own 25. Halfback Tim Hatch sparked the drive with a 34 yard ramble over his own left tackle.

But with a first down on the 24, three line plays failed to gain the needed distance and Quarterback Ernest Hawkins' pass was broken up by Center Wayne Hanson.

Late in the quarter Texas Western drove to the Raiders 21 where Quarterback Ralph Brewster fumbled and Fullback Bud Conley recovered.

The Orediggers held in their own territory and Halfback Cal Steveson got off a good punt to the Miner 34 and Tech held for downs. End Dick Cavazos throwing a Miner back for a three yard loss on the third down that forced the Miners to punt.

The second quarter was a thriller, with the Red Raiders holding the much heavier Miners on the Tech one yard line. Brewster set up the goal line stand by twice passing to End George Grounds. The second a screen pass taken on the Raider 30 and raced all the way to the five before he was stopped by Hatch.

With only five yards to go for a first down, the Raiders tightened. Halfback Pug Gabrel, the Miners great back, was halted without gain. Halfback Dan Frazer also was stopped without gain, but Gabrel powered his way to the one on third down.

On fourth down, Tech stopped Gabrel without gain, but an offside penalty gave the Orediggers another chance. Again Gabrel powered his way over the unyielding center of Tech's line and the Raiders took over with 55 seconds remaining in the half.

Tech was stalemated in the half and made only one penetration of enemy territory, getting to the Miner 46 on two runs by Steveson one of 21 yards and another of 12. A holding penalty broke up the advance and Tech had to punt.

Late in the quarter, Halfback Herman Bailey dropped Halfback Sonny Holderman's punt and End J. D. Patridge recovered on the Raider 43. That drive was halted also and the period ended without a score, first time this year the Miners had failed to score in the first half.

Steveson Goes Over

The Raiders finally drew first blood after five and a half minutes of the fourth quarter when Steveson plunged six yards over center. Hatch converted to cap the 74 yard drive on 11 plays and Tech held a 7-0 lead.

On the drive, which actually covered 100 yards, Hatch taking Holderman's kick on the goal and returning 26 yards, three backs rolled up most of the yardage. Hatch, Steveson and Conley lugged the leather alternately, plunging steadily downfield, finally on fourth down, with the Raiders holding the ball on the Miner 26 and needing eight yards for a first down, Hawkins chucked a screen pass to Conley.

Conley took the ball well behind the line of scrimmage in the left flat and drove 20 yards to the six. On the first play, Steveson drove over center, carrying half the Miner team with him.

The orange-clads started a drive of their own following the kickoff but Tech held on its own 47 and Holderman punted over the goal. The Raiders, aided by a 15 yard unnecessary roughness penalty, marched into Miner territory, as the quarter ended, but had to kick on fourth down.

The Raiders racked up the final touchdown of the game late in the fourth quarter when Steveson plunged over center for three yards to score his second tally of the night. Fullback Gerald Campbell blocked Hatch's attempted placement and the score stood at 13-0 for Tech.

A blocked punt recovered on the Miners' 27 yard line set up the Raider score. Holderman, on fourth down, faded back to kick. Two unidentified Techsans broke through and blocked the punt partially, the ball sailing high into the air, hitting about the 45 and bouncing back to the 37.

Steveson, Fullback J. W. Thompson and Hatch ground steadily down the field, getting a first down on the 13. Hawkins hit Hatch on the four. Thompson lost a yard, picked it up on the next play and then drove to a first down on the three. Two plays put the ball on the one, but Tech, on third down, was penalized 15 yards for holding.

Hawkins again hit Hatch, who drove forward to the three. On fourth down, Steveson powered his way over center for the final touchdown.

Undismayed, Western took the kickoff and went all the way down to the Raider 23. A pass from Brewster to Chesak carried 45 yards, Chesak taking the ball on the Miner 40 and finally being rushed out of bounds on the Tech 32.

Needing only a yard for a first down on the Raider 23, Gabrel twice was stopped and the Raiders took over. They were powering their way toward the Western goal when the game ended.

Aggies Gain Tie With SMU

not the extra point, as soon as it got the ball. Five plays covered 43 yards, Smith going over from the nine.

The Mustangs drove 76 yards for a second touchdown, Walker scoring from the four.

A few minutes later he passed to Rote for 22 yards and another tally.

Right at the start of the third, A & M proved it was down, but not out. The Aggies drove 80 yards for a touchdown and Smith made most of them. He scored from the one foot line.

Late in this quarter Shaeffer recovered Rote's fumble for the Aggies on their own 48-yard line. Smith powered another drive and climaxed it from the two.

Kyle Rote took Dick Scott's kickoff on his own goal line and ran straight through the Aggie team and up the gridiron—100 yards to put SMU back in the lead. Walker kicked the point.

Scott recovered Walker's fumble on SMU's 30 yard line to start the Aggie's final scoring march.

Smith Drives 175 Yards

Smith, the conference's leading ground gainer, picked up 175 yards running. The 20-year-old, 192-pound sophomore from Houston used power and not finesse on his 23 carries.

Walker returning to triple-threat duties for the first time since being stricken with the flu more than two weeks ago, turned in a brilliant performance, so did Rote and Dick McKissack.

But they couldn't hold their silk smooth early pace against Harry Stiteler's inspired Aggies. And in the second half, even the statistics went to the woebegone warriors, football wonders today at least.

Walker gained 64 yards on 14 carries and Rote 59 on 13.

The Aggies, their lineup studded with sophomores, gained 272 yards rushing to 194 for Southern Methodist. They gained 53 yards passing against 93.

It looked as if Southern Methodist had the game sewed up with less than three minutes to play. After Yale Lary kicked out on the Mustangs 14 yard line, they moved to their own 36 yard line in four plays. Then, a pass from center trickled through Walker's fingers, low and on the ground. Scott grabbed it in a pileup of players, on SMU's 30 yard line.

The Aggies' Bobby Goff hit the line for one yard; Charley Royalty for four. Then Dick Gardemal, another sophomore, passed to End Cedric Copeland on the SMU 13 yard line. Goff made four through the line to the nine. Here Tidwell cut loose.

New Mexico Western Chalks Up 49-6 Triumph Over NMMI

SILVER CITY, N. M., Nov. 5. (INS) — The hard hitting football club of Silver City's Western college today polished off the New Mexico Military Institute eleven 49 to 6.

The Westerners chalked up scores in every quarter, with three in the third and two in the fourth.

Two of the Western scores in the third quarter came on 71 and 73 yard sprints by Halfback Ralph Craig.

The Institute's only touchdown came on a 25 yard pass in the second quarter.

Tempe's Sun Devils Gain 68-32 Victory Over New Mexico Aggies

Bobby Fuller Is Game's Top Scorer

TEMPE, Ariz., Nov. 5. (AP)—The Sun Devils of Arizona State College at Tempe rolled to a 68 to 32 victory over New Mexico A & M in a wild-scoring Border Conference football game here tonight.

Arizona State, celebrating its homecoming before an estimated crowd of 13,500 fans, built up a 47 to 7 advantage before New Mexico could crack the Devil's defense.

Wilford (Whizzer) White, State's All-Conference halfback, scored three times in the first quarter to speed the Devils on their way. The score stood at 34 to 7 at halftime.

Bobby Fuller, substitute halfback, brought the crowd up with a 92 yard kickoff return and raced 56 yards from scrimmage for another score.

The two six-points and his eight barefoot conversions from placement put Fuller at the head of the game's scorers.

Both White and Henry Rich scored three touchdowns for Tempe. Neither saw much action after the third quarter was half over, as Coach Eddie Doherty substituted freely.

Again Sam McGowan, the passpitching quarterback for New Mexico, was an offensive standout. He threw one touchdown pass to Jack Stegar and set up two other touchdowns with aerial strikes.

Phil Neale scored three times for the losers, all on short jaunts. Ray Apodaca went 24 yards to rack up the other Aggie touchdown.

from two yards out. Howton converted, and it was 20-7.

Borger's closing tally came on Jerry Chitwood's 21-yard punt return, and successive dashes of 16, 13 and two yards by Kenneth Clapp. Lanningham's try for extra point hit the goalpost and bounded away no good.

BOWLING

Aztec Inn won two of three games from Lester's Jewelry in Friday night's Commercial league bowling competition to move into a first-place tie with All State Insurance.

The insurance keglers dropped two of their three games with Cadenhead Butane. In other Friday night matches, West Texas Gas company downed No Name, 2-1, and S&Q clothiers turned back Hackney's Dental lab, 2-1.

Davie Valnoy, of Cadenhead Butane, had the night's high three-game series, 646, and also the top single-game score, 245.

The league standings:

SPORTS Slants

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Having seen Odessa's Bronchos perform Friday against Lamesa, I have put away my Ovaltine and sleeping tablets.

Those Red Hosses aren't going to cause me any restless nights—not now.

Since the start of the current grid campaign, I had been operating under the illusion that Odessa had a truly fine ball club which had fallen victim of some bad breaks. The Broncs, said my secret agents down Lamesa way, really were much better than their record indicated.

But now that I have seen Odessa in action, I'm forced to make a downward revision of my earlier estimate of the team.

It's something like lighting a firecracker and dropping it into Pat Pattison's pocket to say this, but in all truthfulness I must state that the Bronchos disappointed me rather badly. They just weren't as good as I had expected them to be.

Now, I realize full well that the Bronchos were flatter than a 4-F's feet in the first half against Lamesa, and that it would be unjust to rate the team strictly off its showing in those two miserably-played quarters.

But even in the last half, when the Hosses were really rolling, they flashed numerous, obvious weaknesses. This may sound odd in view of the fact that Odessa scored 32 points in 24 minutes, but that's exactly the way I saw it.

Of course, there's always the possibility that my spectacles need cleaning.

To bring this to a quick boil, what I saw Friday at Lamesa convinced me that Lubbock can—and will—defeat Odessa this week.

In making such a brash statement, I am violating all known rules of "home town sports writing." I should—if I went by the book—be saying that Odessa has a great team, and that the Bronchos undoubtedly will give the Westerners one whale of a battle come Friday.

But I don't think this will be the case. I look for Lubbock to win—and win handily.

Briefly, here are my reasons:

(1) Lubbock's line is bigger and stronger.

(2) Lubbock's backs are faster and shiftier.

(3) Lubbock's passing attack is vastly superior.

(4) Lubbock's pass defense is tighter.

(5) Lubbock's deception and timing are sharper.

(6) Lubbock's punting is better.

On the other side of the ledger, Odessa has two advantages:

(1) More experienced reserve strength.

(2) The "home field edge."

This rundown leaves in question only one major factor—spirit. And that, I think, is strictly up to the players themselves. Odessa, unless I miss my guess, will be near peak mental form for this one. It's no secret that the Bronchos are "lying behind a log," waiting to ambush Lubbock.

But these Westerners are a spirited crew, too, and I think they will match Odessa block for block, and tackle for tackle.

So, while not discounting the possibility of an Odessa win, I certainly shall be among the most surprised if the Bronchos do stage an upset.

Lubbock, it appears to me, has a sounder, superior team. Unless the Westerners do an "el foldo," they will win—in my honest, but unguaranteed, opinion.

Of course, all that has been written above doesn't help Lubbock one iota insofar as actually winning the game is concerned. Both teams will start with a zero on the scoreboard, and victory will have to be gained on the playing field.

Illinois Smashes Offensive Mark With Win Over Indiana

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 5. (INS) Illinois smashed the Big Ten offensive record today in battling lowly Indiana, 33 to 14, in Memorial Stadium at Champaign before 40,457 dad's day fans.

The Illini juggernaut, led by sophomore Back Johnny Karras, split the Hoosier line for 449 yards and then duped the secondary for another 103 through the air for 552 yards total — 21 more than the former mark set by Michigan in 1943 against Ohio State.

Karras, though scoring only one touchdown, amassed 155 yards to wind up only 46 short of Les Horvath's rushing mark of 669 set in 1944 with OSU.

Except for the first five minutes, during which Indiana moved to a touchdown, Illinois commanded every situation with a dash and a poise far beyond the years or experience of most of its young talent.

The precocious Illini eleven rolled to a single tally in the opening period, added two more in the second and scored once each in the final two. Indiana picked up its second marker in the third quarter.

Illinois was driving for a sixth TD when the gun sounded with the ball on the Hoosier three.

Dick Raklovits, Ronnie Clark, Amos Jones, Charley Fox and Karras chalked up the Illini tallies, while Nick Sebek and James Gomory scored for the Hoosiers.

The overwhelming strength of the Illini today was reflected in the Indiana statistics which showed only 91 yards gained rushing and 102 through the aid.

Dartmouth Indians Tomahawk Columbia

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP). — Dartmouth tuned up for next week's clash with unbeaten Cornell by scalping Columbia today, 35-14 after a stuttering start that fanned false hopes among the 25,000 Baker Field customers.

Fulback Herb Carey cracked the Columbia defense for two scores and End Tommy Rowe snatched two touchdown passes as Dartmouth overcame an early Columbia lead.

Bill Dey, who added the five extra points, streaked 62 yards on a punt return in the second period to account for the other Dartmouth tally.

Dartmouth's road to a fifth straight win after an opening loss to Penn appeared rugged in the early stages. Columbia, looking anything but a three-touchdown underdog, drove 66 yards to score on Leon Van Bellingham's smash from the one early in the second period. That was the first score of the game.

Georgia Tech Racks Up 30-13 Victory Over Tennessee Vols

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 5. (AP). A hopped-up band of Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets unloosed an amazing display of power and razzle-dazzle today to sting Tennessee, 30 to 13. About 48,000 fans saw the Southeastern Conference football game.

With sophomore Darrell Crawford of Kingsport, Tenn., in the Tech driver's seat in place of the injured Quarterback Jimmy Southard, the Jackets smothered Tennessee with a thunderous offensive that rolled for 405 yards and 23 first downs.

PANHANDLE AGGIES WIN

GOODWELL, Okla., Nov. 5 (AP) — Panhandle A. and M. college won its final game in the New Mexico Conference here today, beating Highlands university 34-0.

Michigan Turns Back Purdue Eleven, 20-12

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP) —Michigan turned back a stubborn Purdue team 20 to 12 today and moved a step closer to its third Big Ten football title in a row. A crowd of 95,207 saw the game.

Purude, a two touchdown underdog, made it a scrap all the way. It outclassed Michigan most of the final half and got the only touchdown made in the last two periods.

Michigan's victory moved it into a tie with Ohio State for the lead in the Big Ten race, each with a 3-1 record.

Again it was Chuck Ortmann who was the big man in Michigan's attack. He picked up 103 yards in rushing and set up Michigan's second touchdown with an 82-yard runback of a kickoff.

He had a lot of competition for top honors from Purdue's Ken Gorgal and Bob Hartman who divided Purdue's passing duties as they completed 10 of 21 aerials for 162 yards to keep Purdue a constant threat.

J. T. Hutchinson Ranchers Cop City Grid Championship

The J. T. Hutchinson Ranchers, eighth grade junior high school team, won the city championship Friday by defeating the O. L. Slaton Warriors, 7-0, at Chapman field, and remain undefeated.

EAST TEXAS STATE WINS

SAN MARCOS, Nov. 5. (AP) — East Texas State won the Lone Star Conference football championship today by downing Southwest Texas 13-6. It was the Lions' third straight Conference victory. There are only four teams in the Conference. A crowd of 5,000 saw the Lions, trailing 6-0 at halftime, come back to win the game on the passing of Bill Engle.

William And Mary Bows To Tarheels

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Nov. 5. (INS) — North Carolina's waning Tarheels snatched a 20-14 triumph over William and Mary in Williamsburg today with a last-minute fourth-down desperation heave from Billy Hayes to End Art Weiner.

The Indians rambled to an early 7-0 lead and held the favored Carolinians scoreless throughout the first half.

The Tarheels breathed fire for a few brief moments in the third period, long enough for two touchdowns, and then settled back until their fourth-down toss that decided the outcome.

William and Mary's first period touchdown came on a pass from Buddy Lex to End Vito Ragazzo, a glue-fingered flankman who kept pace with All-American Weiner throughout the tilt.

Trailing 7-0, the Tarheels tied the score following a second half kickoff fumble by the Indians.

A few moments later, Carolina's Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice chugged his way into pay dirt on a 75- yard punt return.

William and Mary came back into the lead, 14-13, in the final period on an 80-yard drive sparked by passes from Lex to Ragazzo. The tally came on a quick toss from Lex to End George Helflin.

Then came the last-minute pass to Weiner—and victory.

Lee Pinkston, Abilene, defeated Jim Stewart, Lubbock, 6 and 5, and Fred Currie, Lubbock, stopped Jim Middleton, Abilene, 2-up, with Jinkston and Middleton winning low ball for two points to one for Lubbock in this foursome.

Next week Lubbock will go to Abilene for a return match.

Panhandle A & M Wins Game From Highlands Eleven, 34-0

GOODWELL, Okla., Nov. 5. (AP). Panhandle A&M college won its final game in the New Mexico Conference here today, beating Highlands university 34-0.

The victory was the third for the Oklahoma team against four losses in Conference play.

An 81-yard return of a punt for a touchdown by Richard Davis, Panhandle fulback, featured the game.

Stanford's Power-Laden Indians Gain 34-13 Win From Trojans

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5. (INS)— Stanford's sophomore-studded Indians served notice that they are still very much in the race for a Rose Bowl berth today by upsetting the University of Southern California, 34 to 13.

The win left the Indians with a conference record of three victories against one defeat and could give them the Jan. 2 nod if they beat so far undefeated California in their big game on Nov. 19.

The Indians stunned a Southern California home-coming crowd of 70,041 at Memorial Coliseum by exploding for three touchdowns in the second period after a scoreless first quarter.

Trailing 20 to 0 at the half-time, the Trojans roared back in the third quarter, scoring on a 63-yard pass play from Quarterback Jim Powers to End Harold Hatfield.

Southern California kept its offensive moving throughout the third and into the fourth quarter, time and again driving deep into Indian territory.

But Stanford stopped these drives three times inside its own five-yard line, and the two times the Indians got the ball in Southern California territory they scored.

The loss marked the first time since Jeff Cravath took over as head coach of the Trojans in 1942 that a USC team has dropped a Pacific Conference game by more than one touchdown.

Desperation Pass Gives Missouri 20-13 Big Seven Win Over Colorado

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 5. (INS)— Just sixty seconds robbed the underdog Colorado Buffaloes from a 13-13 moral victory today, as heavily-favored Missouri put over a desperation 29-yard pass for a 20 to 13 win in the Big Seven Conference meeting.

The decisive fling, Phil Klein to John Glorisoso, was one of many used by the Tigers for ground gaining. The charging Colorado line stopped Missouri at one point in the final period at the two yard line with four chances at goal.

Missouri scored first with a pass from Klein to Dick Armstrong, and Glorioso's kick was good.

Colorado tied it up after sophomore back Mervin Hodel launched a one-man offensive, with a scoring pass from John Strobel to Joe Nix. Ed Pudlick's point try was good, tying the score 7 to 7 at the half.

Missouri opened the second half with a downfield drive and went into the lead 13 to 7. Klein sneaked over from the one-yard stripe to score.

Colorado then swept down the field with Bob Manire fighting off tackle for the touchdown.

Colorado played its most inspired game of the season against a team favored by three touchdowns, despite three first string backfielders on the bench with injuries.

Colorado's chief weakness was inability to solve the deceptive Missouri passing attack which featured short tosses.

PREWITT NAMED COACH

DALLAS, Nov. 5, (AP)—Bob Prewitt, former Southern Methodist university basketball star, today was named assistant coach of the sport at his alma mater. He is working toward his master's degree at SMU.

Huskies Down Oregon Team

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 5(INS)— Washington defeated Oregon by one point at Portland today in a free-wheeling touchdown-fest that had 32,600 fans in stitches before the game ended, 28 to 27, for the Huskies.

Failure of Chet Daniels, Oregon's kicking ace, to boot one point in the first quarter gave the annual inter-state grid battle to Washington and robbed Oregon of a tie.

The roaring first half was an example of well-nigh perfect football. Washington threw eight passes and completed every one.

Not a penalty was called and not a single pass fell incomplete in the first quarter, and neither side punted in that period.

Irish Drop Michigan State 34-21

Williams Sparks Hard-Fought Win

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 5 (INS) — Versatile Quarterback Bob Williams engineered Notre Dame to a 34-to-21 victory over Michigan State today by mixing his passing with the power and speed of Emil (Six-Yard) Sitko and Larry Coutre.

The triumph was the 34th for the Fighting Irish without a defeat.

A howling crowd of 51,277 spectators who jammed Macklin Field stadium in East Lansing saw the inspired Spartans outplay Notre Dame in the opening period and drive to the one-yard line before losing the ball on a fumble.

Once the Irish regained their composure after a scoreless first quarter, however, they overwhelmed the never-say-die Spartans with two touchdowns in the second period, one in the third and two more in the fourth.

Williams inaugurated the scoring for Notre Dame with a 19-yard pass for a touchdown to Ernie Zalejski. Steve Oracko converted.

But the finesse and fury of Michigan State tied the score three minutes later when Everett Grandelius crossed the goal from the one yard line. George Smith's kick after the touchdown was good.

Williams' electrifying 40-yard dash was the only TD in the third period and it gave the Irish a 20-7 margin. The run caught State completely by surprise.

The Irish quarterback seemed to be ready to lateral to Sitko but loafed around his own right end instead and then cut back to his left to outrun the State backfield.

Notre Dame did anything but relax in the last period and had a 34 to 7 lead before the Spartans tallied twice in the late minutes on passes.

The 21 points scored by Michigan State were more than Notre Dame, six times victorious this season, had seen go across its goal line. Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame chose to keep his regulars and a very select sprinkling of his second team in action all the way.

Michigan State came back with amazing fight in the waning minutes of the game, although undoubtedly beaten. A pass from Gene Glick to Lynn Chandnois carried 83 yards and another from Glick to Bill Carey resulted in a touchdown.

Glick passed to End Dorn Dibble to give State its final score shortly before the gun.

HUNTING PARTY THAT KILLED BEAR, DEER—A 500-pound bear and seven deer fell to the rifles of the hunting party above a few days ago in Gunnison county, Colo. In the photo, standing, are from left: C. Clarence Gosch of Lubbock flew to Colorado to join the party, but arrived after the picture had been shot to celebrate Powell's killing of the bear, reputedly the largest ever bagged in Gunnison county. Insurance Man Realizes Ambition

Local Hunter Bags 500-Pound Bear In Wilds Of Colorado

A Lubbock hunting party has returned from Gunnison county, Colo., with a deer apiece—but talk almost exclusively of a bear shot by one of its members.

J. Frank Powell, insurance executive who has an office in the Myrick building, got the ultimate thrill of his hunting career when the bear, a 500-pounder that reputedly was the largest ever shot in Gunnison county, dropped and rolled down the side of a mountain and couldn't rise.

He had shot deer and elk and moose and wild turkey, and much other game, but for 14 years had only dreamed of getting a bear.

He had to make a fast recovery to get the one he did shoot. A member of the party fired at three deer that put in appearance for a long shot, and Powell and two others with him sat down so that they would not "spook" any other game in the vicinity. Powell got up after perhaps 20 minutes and took a few steps. He heard something within a few yards of him and could see only the top two or three inches of a scurrying animals back racing away behind a ridge.

He thought at first it was a dog, then realized it was a bear. He was so surprised that he missed a close-up shot. The bear was making time now and was approximately 80 yards down the mountain and getting up a head of steam that in a few split seconds would have placed it behind a protective screen. Powell forced himself to settle down and aim quickly for a shot directly behind the shoulder.

The shot was true. The bullet from the .35 Remington exploded and did not go through the body, snapping the bear's spine.

Other than Powell, Lubbock men on the hunt were Clarence Gosch, Kirby Nutt, Floyd Massey, and Harold Massey. F. L. Stegall of Goodland and W. L. Massey of Brownwood were other Texans in the group.

The bear was shot Oct. 15, opening day of the season. Powell is having the skin mounted in Denver.

Big Game Season To Open In New Mexico

SANTA FE, Nov. 5. (AP).— State game warden Eliott Barker predicts good hunting in the 11-day big game hunting season that starts at noon Thursday.

Basing an estimate on last year's hunting registration, he says he expects some 47,000 sportsmen to go a-hunting. Deer, turkey and bear will be in season.

"I would hardly be able to say where the best hunting will be," Barker said. "But I would recommend the northern mountains, the Guadalupe Mountains, the Sacramento Mountains and many mountain areas of the Southwestern part of the state."

He noted that the state in the summer past had the largest general rainfall in a number of years, and he says the deer are in good condition and well distributed over their ranges. This year's turkey hatch, he adds, was particularly good and there are plenty of bear.

Hunters under the law are allowed one of each animal, provided the deer has at least one forked horn.

But Barker has a few words of caution. One should use judgment and caution in handling firearms. Ask permission before hunting on private property, and last, be careful about starting fires.

Henderson To Fight Olivas

Bill Henderson, Gene James and Leonard Duncan will make benefit appearances on a Nov. 17 fight card here under sponsorship of the Texas Tech collegiate chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

Henderson, a senior agricultural student at Tech and a member of the school's FFA chapter, announced plans for 28-round fistic program Saturday.

All profits from the show, to be held at Sled Allen's arena, will be used to establish a scholarship fund for students in Tech's agricultural division, particularly those in vocational agriculture.

Purses Go To Fund

In addition, Henderson, James and Duncan will contribute their respective purses for these fights toward establishment of the fund, Henderson said.

Headlining the program will be Henderson's 10-round match with Tony Olivas, clever El Paso lightweight who has made two impressive earlier appearances on the South Plains. Henderson has met Olivas once before, scoring a four-round KO in January of this year.

James Meets Lamarr

James, now near the top of the Texas heavyweight heap after scoring 13 straight pro ring victories, will meet Eddie Lamarr, state heavyweight champion, in an eight-round return match. In a recent bout at Carlsbad, N. M., James scored an upset sixth-round TKO over Lamarr, who hails from Oklahoma City.

Duncan, who has a 7-1 record since entering the pro middleweight ranks, is to meet Art Gray, an El Paso college student, in a six-round feature bout.

A four-round preliminary, as yet unmatched, will open the card, which is to be promoted by Keith Anderson.

Tickets for the show, priced at $3, $2.25 and $1.25, will soon go on sale through the Tech FFA chapter. Ducats also will be on sale in the lobby of the Hilton hotel for the two days immediately preceding the program, and at Talley's Barber shop in Levelland from now until fight time.

Marshall Hargett, jr., is president of the college FFA chapter, which has L. M. Hargrave as faculty adviser.

Austin College Racks Up 28-0 Victory Over Southwestern Team

SHERMAN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Austin college's Kangaroos handed Southwestern of the season their worst defeat today, beating the Pirates 28-0 in a homecoming Texas Conference game.

The Kangaroos scored 21 points in the first period and seven in the third.

Badger Forward Wall Outstanding

Northwestern Upset By Wisconsin, 14-6

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 5. (INS)—Opportunity rapped twice and Wisconsin probably opened the door both times today to upset Northwestern, 14 to 6 in a Western Conference football game at Evanston.

A throng of 52,000 homecomers had just about settled into their seats when the Badgers took possession of the ball on their own 15. Eleven plays and several moments later End Bob Wilson jogged into the end zone and gathered in a pass from Bob Petruska to score. Lisle Blackbourn converted.

Badger Wall Holds

That was all the scoring action until late in the third period. But the hardcharging Wisconsin forward wall completely outclassed the Northwestern line. Backs Bob Teague, who picked up 165 yards as against 70 for the whole Northwestern team, Lisle Blackbourn and Gwynn Christensen ripped off sizeable gains. But when they penetrated deep into Wildcat territory, the young Wisconsin team faltered and stalled.

Finally in the third quarter, Art Murakowski, Northwestern's "forgotten man," hauled down a Petruska punt on his own 21. He hesitated, jockeyed for the right sideline as a screen of blockers formed, and then steamed straight down the sideline for a touchdown. Ed Nemeth's try for the extra point was blocked by Deral Teteak, a substitute halfback.

Wildcats Take To Air

Stopped cold on the ground, the Wildcats with Don Burson tossing to Ends Bud Keddie and Jos Zuravleff, took to the air. Passes brought the Wildcats deep into Badger territory several times. But when the chips were down the rough Wisconsin forward wall consistently broke through to compel Burson to throw before he could get set.

Petruska Pass Pays Off

Then, late in the period, Wisconsin launched a drive from their own 20, with Teague and Christensen as workhorses. The Badgers ripped to the Wildcat 11. Petruska hit Harold Haberman with a pass on a fourth down play for the final touchdown and Blackbourn again converted.

Statistics gave the best indication of the superiority of the Badger attack. They notched 22 first downs as against 20 for the Wildcats and gained 286 yards rushing as against 70 for their opponents. Northwestern totaled 168 yards in the air as against 78 for the Badgers.

Midshipmen Tie Tulane, 21-21

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5. (AP) — Midshipman Bob Zastrow matched his bullet passes today against Eddie Price's long, swift runs in a brilliant football free-for-all today in which Navy rallied to tie Tulane 21-21.

The much beaten Navy team had 70,000 hysterical in the Sugar Bowl stadium as it stormed down to the Tulane 16 with eight seconds left to play. Roger Drew came in to try a field goal. But before the ball could be snapped time ran out and the officials jumped in and ended the game.

It was first and last an offensive battle. Navy led at half time 15-7. Price, who scored Tulane's first touchdown on a one-foot buck at the end of a 98-yard drive, cut loose with a 68-yard run to tie the score 14-14 just before the third quarter ended. He put Tulane ahead 21-14 early in the final period on a 25-yard touchdown run.

Then Navy came back, eager for victory. Starting on Navy's 38, Jastrow tossed a short one to Bill Powers, who ran to the Tulane 28 with two minutes left in the game. Twice more Zastrow passed and the ball was on Tulane's five. Duff Arnold carried it over to tie the score 21-21 in as exciting a game as any one could ask.

TRAINING SITE NAMED

DALLAS, Nov. 5 (AP) — The Dallas club of the Texas league will hold spring training at New Braunfels, General Manager Bobby Goff announced today.

Golden Bears Beat Cougars

MEMORIAL STADIUM, BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 5. (INS)—California's unbeaten, untied Golden Bears bowled over their eighth straight season victim today by defeating the surprisingly strong Washington State Cougers 33 to 14.

Bob Celeri, California's candidate for All-American quarterback, threw two brilliantly executed passes for touchdowns and engineered two more on the ground. A crowd of 35,000 in Berkeley Memorial Stadium saw Celeri break two all-time offense records for an individual Bear player by his afternoon's performance.

The first record was for total offense, previously held by Jackie Jensen, ex-Bear All-American, and the second for all-time seasonal passing yardage.

The Bears' first score came in the first five minutes of play when Celeri faked a handoff, then ran laterally and hurled a 40-yard pass to Halfback Pete Schabarum on the Couger five, who went over for the touchdown.

The Bears scored again in the first quarter after left Guard Forrest Klein intercepted a Couger pass in midfield and returned to the Couger 18. On the first play Schabarum took a handoff from Celeri and skirted right end to Washington State's three. Schabarum then plunged over left to score.

Jim Cullom's kick was good, his first having been blocked, and the Bears led at this point 13 to 0.

Army Trims Fordham, 35-0

Ram Eleven Puts Up Stiff Battle

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 5 (INS)—Army's redoubtable Mule burst its hobbles late in the first half today and turned a grim struggle with Fordham's Ram into the customary rout. The score was 35 to 0.

That final tally was misleading, however.

It represented four deadly touchdown passes by Arnold Galiffa and one outburst of snaky running over the muddy, rain-soaked turf of Michie Stadium.

The result did not begin to depict the dogged fight put up by the underdog Fordham team. For 26 solid minutes, the Rams blunted thrust after thrust by the frustrated Cadets.

And for most of the last half, it was the Rams who kept carrying the fight to Army. They threatened only twice, but they never said die.

A capacity crowd of 27,100 sat in the chill November gloom and watched Army extend its string of consecutive undefeated games to 18.

Until the last four minutes of the first half, nothing turned out right for Army. One Galiffa-to-Dan Folberg pass into the end zone was nullified by a penalty. Twice Fordham held for downs within its 25, and twice more the Rams recovered vital fumbles—one of those on the three-yard stripe.

Army launched its first scoring march from its own 25 after a punt appeared to have set it back on its heels. The Cadets came on until they reached the eight. Then Galiffa passed to Foldberg for the score.

Only three minutes and 56 seconds remained in the half, but Galiffa struck twice more before it ended. Each time the target was Jim Cain on plays that covered 30 and 60 yards.

The Cadets picked up the tempo as the second half started. Bobby Vinson, a sub halfback, ran the kickoff back all the way, but a holding penalty called the play back to Army's 45.

Jack Martin, another sub, reeled off 50 yards to the five and picked up another on a buck. Then Gil Stephenson roared over.

Fordham's Dick Doheny started clicking on his passes after that and the Rams threatened mildly. But a Doheny fumble on his own 22 set the stage for the last Army touchdown midway through the final quarter.

It was Galiffa to Cain again, after two other heaves into the end zone failed.

It was a rough battle all the way. Army lost 147 yards on penalties, Fordham 131.

Overhull, Grey Mask In Semi-Final

Kasaboski Will Meet Parks In Arena Bout

ALEX KASABOSKI
Russian Faces Herb Parks

Meeting in the main event of this weeks wrestling card at Sled Allen's arena are Alex Kasaboski and Herb Parks, two heavyweight grapplers who have been appearing quite frequently in recent weeks on the local card.

Kasaboski has been living up to his name of the Russian Lion since returning to the territory recently, and his match with Parks should be full of fireworks.

Both Well Equipped

Both men are well equipped to deal out punishment. Parks is one of the most versatile wrestlers in the game, one who is smart and capable of adjusting his style and speed to meet his opponent's attack. Whether Kasaboski will be able to make Park's throw caution to the winds remains to be seen. Last week Al Getz was disqualified in his match with Kasaboski.

Appearing in the semi-finals match will be George Overhull, the Amarillo football star, and he will meet the Grey Mask in a two of three fall match with 45-minute time limit.

Overhull has gained speed and skill since last appearing here early in the year, last week wrestling to a draw with Salvador Flores in the preliminary event. Overhull challenged the Mask after last week's card and the two should provide the crowd with plenty of excitement and grappling thrills.

Flores, Carr Tangle

The Mask is a fast wrestler with lots of ring experience and will not be in any mood to suffer another loss.

The first event on the program will be two of three falls for 45 minutes between Flores and Charley Carr. These two wrestled to a draw two weeks ago, and neither was satisfied with the outcome.

Flores is very popular with the Mexican fans and is a tough opponent for any one in his weight division. Carr is the more experienced wrestler, but Flores is the faster.

Matches start at 8 p. m., and tickets may be bought at the arena, 606 Texas Avenue, Wednesday between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Oklahoma Blanks Wildcats, 39-0

MANHATTAN, Kan., Nov. 5. (INS)—A well-oiled Oklahoma university football machine clicked off an easy 39 to 0 victory over Kansas State college in a Big Seven Conference game before a record breaking homecoming crowd of 18,500 fans.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners scored almost at will to crush the Wildcats. Oklahoma tallied two touchdowns in the first quarter, three in the second and then eased up with one in the third.

Contributing to the touchdown parade for the Sooners were George Thomas and Dick Heatly with two touchdowns each and Jack Lockett and Lindell Pearson with one each.

Pearson grabbed a pass for a 46-yard touchdown run shortly after the game began and Oklahoma was on its way to its seventh triumph of the season.

Kansas State simply could not cope with the rugged Oklahoma line and had to turn its attention to an aerial game. Even by passing the Wildcats completed only 13 of 36 tosses for 116 yards. They gained only 50 yards rushing.

Oklahoma's statistics told the story of its mastery in the air and on the ground. The Sooners had 282 yards rushing and 150 yards passing.

Oklahoma's Bill Jacobs Paces Track Meet Against Kansas State

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—Bill Jacobs, son of the Oklahoma university track coach, paced the Oklahoma two-mile track team to a 20-16 victory over Kansas State here today.

Jacobs ran the course in 9:32:2, the fastest time run in Conference meets this year.

Finishing behind Jacobs was Slocum of Oklahoma; Van Haverbeke of Kansas State; Owens, Thurlow, K-State; Kays, K-State K-State; Wilkerson, Oklahoma; Burns, Oklahoma; Biggins, Oklahoma; and Schleifer, K-State.

Robert Spears, plunging fullback for Yale, is the con of Clarence (Doc) Spears former football coach at Wisconsin, Minnesota, Oregon and West Virginia.

Minnesota Drubs Iowa Team, 55-7

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 5. (INS)—Minnesota's mighty football team put the quietus on the talk that Coach Bernie Bierman's power football was outdated by crushing Iowa, 55 to 7, today in Minneapolis before 63,517 amazed fans.

The mammoth Gopher eleven that was said to have collapsed after its successive losses to Michigan and Purdue, took command on the opening kickoff and gained momentum as it went along.

This was the worst defeat an Iowa squad had suffered from Minnesota since 1936 and the days when Gopher football was at its greatest heights.

Minnesota scored twice in the opening quarter, once in the second and once again in the third before overwhelming Iowa with four more TD's in the last period. Three of the Gophers' touchdowns came in the last minute and 29 seconds of the contest and put an emphatic close to Iowa's Big Ten championship hopes.

Halfback Billy Bye spearheaded the Minnesota attack by mixing accurate passing with hard running.

The Gophers also put up a brilliant pass defense to break up 21 of 31 attempts by an Iowa aggregation that had the reputation of the Big Ten's best passing team.

Minnesota gained 147 yards by passing and 277 on the ground for a total yardage of nearly a quarter of a mile. The Gophers drove 75 yards for a score after the opening kickoff and then the touchdown parade was underway.

Bye got credit for two TD's; Ralph McAlister also scored twice and Bud Hausken, Frank Kuzma, Jerry Mitchell and Bill Elliott tallied once each. Gordon Soltau kicked seven of eight points after touchdown.

Solomons said Maxim and his manager, Jack Kearns, would arrive in England about Jan. 1 by boat.

SINKING SPELLS

Case History No. 2150: Lady; Age 34; History and Symptoms: Severe pains at base of brain; Sinking spells; Tired feeling constantly; Backaches; Nervousness; Eye trouble; Loss of weight.

History of Accident

In 1938, a car she was driving was hit by another auto from the rear fender and almost knocked her unconscious. Afterwards she was unable to raise head from pillow for several days. Later on after the accident she developed some trouble with eyes.

Chiropractic Finds The Cause of Troubles

After treating the effects of all her troubles without any permanent results she decided to come to the STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC. "Where the so-called Hopeless DO get Well." X-Ray pictures were made of her spinal column which revealed a badly distorted spine, especially at the base of her brain. The NEUROCALOMETER and NEUROCALOGRAPH (a product of General Electric) determined the degree of nerve pressure and nerve interference leading to her affected regions of her body. These two nerve instruments determined a severe nerve trouble in her spine and especially at the base of the brain.

What Chiropractic Has Done For Her

After a series of Chiropractic Adjustments this case looks as tho she were a new person. Her sinking spells have disappeared. There are no pains at the base of the brain; she feels like working now with no tired feeling; she has gained weigh' and there are not any more backaches. Her eye trouble has improved and her nervousness is a thing of the past. She said, "I wouldn't take anything for what chiropractic has done for me." What a wonder that Chiropractic is getting better recognized all the time; because, it locates and corrects the cause of the trouble instead of just merely treating the effects of physical ailments. Every effect of the body has a cause and your first consideration if you are sick is to find the primary cause of your trouble.

THE GENTLEMAN SAID:

"I'LL WAIT!"

A few days ago a prospective customer walked into our salesroom and said he wanted to buy a used car. Not just any used car. He wanted a certain type—the model and the amount he wished to pay.

It so happened we didn't have the car he wanted at the time and we told him so. We told him that the way trade-ins were coming in these days that we might have one any day.

"I'm perfectly willing to wait . . . I want to buy it here because you folks have been mighty fair to me. I hope it won't be long before you find the car for me."

THAT'S CUSTOMER CONFIDENCE

We're proud of the fact that our way of doing business has built a reputation that makes customer confidence possible. This has been our policy for 20 years.

DEMAND PERKS UP

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Demand for stocks perked up today after droopy tendencies during the first hour.

With the exception of several utility preferreds, the market showed few significant price changes. A wide variety of leading issues either attracted no interest at all or remained at Friday's closing levels. Elsewhere gains of minor fractions held an edge over equally small losses.

A moderate amount of business was done, with volume boosted by a flurry of demand for the utilities. Turnover for the two-hour session hit a rate of around 500,000 shares.

During the morning faint signs appeared that the stalemate in steel negotiations might be on the verge of being broken. The signs were fuzzy, though, and stimulated buying only to a minor degree.

Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred gained more than a point at a new high for the year at one time. American and Foreign Power $6 and $7 preferred also advanced smartly.

Also leaning ahead—some after dropping into the minus column for a while—were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Philco, American Telephone, Phelps Dodge Copper, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, and Sinclair Oil.

Holding back were Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Southern California Edison, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric, Standard Oil (NJ), and Loew's.

Higher in the curb were Ryerson and Haynes, Standard Power and Light, Creole Petroleum, and Imperial Oil. McCord Corp. slipped, with American Republics.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Cotton futures movements were narrow today with trading quiet. During early dealings a leading spot house sold December and bought May which made up a large portion of the trading. Hedging was also in evidence, along with commission house liquidation. Contracts were absorbed by textile mills and shorts.

Futures closed 5 to 45 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Denver Police Chief, Fearing Effect Of Gift, Shoots Self

DENVER, Nov. 5. (INS)— Fear of a nervous breakdown and "getting involved" as a result of a gift left him by a former Denver nightclub operator was expressed in notes left by Police Chief John F. O'Donnell who shot and killed himself today.

His retirement from office was to become effective Nov. 15 and Mayor Quigg Newton had planned a festive farewell party for the police chief on that date.

Dr. Angelo Lapi, city medical examiner, said one note was addressed to his wife and son Maurice (Mick) O'Donnell.

It read: "It appears that the few gifts I received from Hymie Hirshorn and money he left me in his will was not well intended as he made me believe, but to get me involved in something but what I do not know.

"I feel that I am about to have a nervous breakdown and surely do not want to be a burden on you and Nick . . ."

A second note left for his mother, sister and a brother, James T. O'Donnell, retired detective, listed the same reasons for suicide.

Hyman Hirshorn was a night club operator in Denver for many years and left bequests for public welfare and charitable institutions when he died four years ago. He left O'Donnell $10,000 in his will "Because of a long friendship," and $2,000 to the police pension fund.

Latin-American Admits Fatal Stabbing, Police Chief Says

TRINIDAD, Colo., Nov. 5. (AP). Police Chief John Hoover of Trinidad reports that a 28-year-old Mexican national has confessed orally that he stabbed Benny Valdez to death.

Hoover identified the man as Atalino Guerrero who said he entered the United States by swimming the Rio Grande at El Paso six months ago. The police chief quoted Guerrero as saying Valdez was the leader of a gang who had twice beaten Guerrero and that the killing occurred yesterday during another attack.

District Attorney John Mabry adds he'll file murder charges against Guerrero Monday.

Nine other ment arrested for investigation yesterday still are being held and no charges have been filed against them.

GOP Voters Continue To Favor Ike As Party's Choice For '52

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
(American Institute Of Public Opinion)

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—The name of General Dwight D. Eisenhower stands out in the minds of both Republican voters and Independents as their top choice at present to head the Republican presidential ticket in 1952.

Harold E. Stassen, who like General Eisenhower is now a university president, is the second most popular choice among Republicans and Independents questioned by the institute.

The 1952 race is a long way off and opinions about candidates may change radically. But political circles are already beginning to buzz with the names of possible nominees.

Interviewers for the institute presented a list of 10 such names to a cross-section of voters who classify themselves as either Republicans or as Independents, and asked each voter:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the Republican party. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Republican candidate for President?"

The following tables show the vote among persons who classify themselves as Republicans and among those who consider themselves Independents in politics:

Republican Voters

Dwight D. Eisenhower	25%
Harold E. Stassen	19
Sen. Robert A. Taft	15
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey	12
Gov. Earl Warren	10
Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg	6
Sen. Leverett Saltonsall	3
Sen. John W. Bricker	3
Others in list	1
None of these	2
Don't know	4
	100%

Independent Voters

Dwight D. Eisenhower	32%
Harold E. Stassen	14
Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg	11
Gov. Earl Warren	10
Sen. Robert A. Taft	9
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey	8
Sen. Leverett Saltonstall	3
Sen. John W. Bricker	2
Others in list	2
None of these	3
Don't know	7
	101%

(This table adds to more than 100 per cent because a few Independent voters gave more than one selection.)

Early Indications

Any survey at this early date obviously has little significance apart from showing whether rank-and-file thinking in the Republican party inclines in the direction of conservative leaders or of progressives and middle-of-the-roaders. Political experts are keenly aware that any list of popular preferences is extremely sensitive to the impact of events—that names leading a list of popular choices can end up in the discard when convention delegates roll up their sleeves and begin the real business of picking candidates.

However, both Republican and Democratic conventions since 1932 have selected nominees who were the top choices of the rank and file of the parties in institute surveys at the time of nomination.

Importance Of Independents

Political observers will see a number of points of special interest in the results of today's survey.

General Eisenhower has proportionally greater strength among Independent voters than among "regular" Republicans, although he leads with both groups. Senator Vandenberg, one of the architects of the bi-partisan foreign policy, also appears to be more popular with the Independents than with the regulars.

On the other hand, Senator Taft, Mr. Stassen and Governor Dewey get a substantially higher vote among Republican regulars than they do among Independent voters.

Earl Warren, governor of California and Republican vice-presidential candidate in 1948, draws support equally from both groups.

The Independent vote in national elections runs to about 20 per cent. In recent presidential races the Independents have sided with the Democrats, and this has been one of the reasons for the long string of Democratic victories. Independents held the balance of power, since neither major party has enough regulars to win without support from the Independent group.

Convention time, 1952, is approximately two and a half years off. At a comparable period prior to the 1948 nominations an institute survey found Governor Dewey heading the list of choices among Republicans, with 38 per cent expressing a preference for him. Mr. Stassen was second, and Senator Bricker, the 1944 vice-presidential candidate, third.

Late Dallas Newsman Honored With Statue

DALLAS, Nov. 5. (AP)—Friends and admirers of the late G. B. Dealey, Texas newspaper publisher and civic leader who died in 1946, will gather here Nov. 14, to unveil and dedicate a heroic-size statue of him.

The statue is the latest work of the well-known Washington sculptor, Felix De Weldon. He is the same artist commissioned to re-enact in bronze the raising of the United States flag on Iwo Jima by six Marines during the last war.

The Dealey statue will be placed in a public park known as Dealey plaza, at the corner of Main and Houston streets across from the west entrance of the Dallas county courthouse.

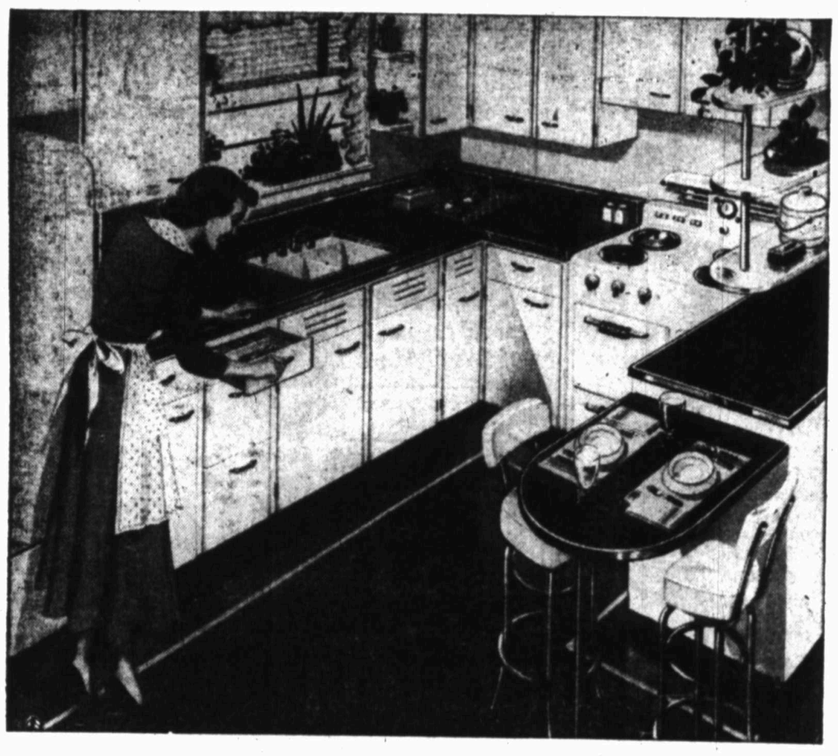

Former Dallas Mayor J. Woodall Rodgers, president of the G. B. Dealey Memorial association, said the public was invited to dedication ceremonies, to be held at 4 p. m. Nov. 14.

Fifty civic and business leaders of Dallas formed this memorial association in 1947. As sponsors of the project, the association accepted funds from more than 500 people in all walks of life in Dallas and other parts of Texas. The association then chose the sculptor.

Rodgers said the Dealey statue was a spontaneous and heartfelt token of the very great esteem and affection in which the long-time directing head of the Dallas News was held by the community.

Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, November 6, 1949

Leisure Time . . .

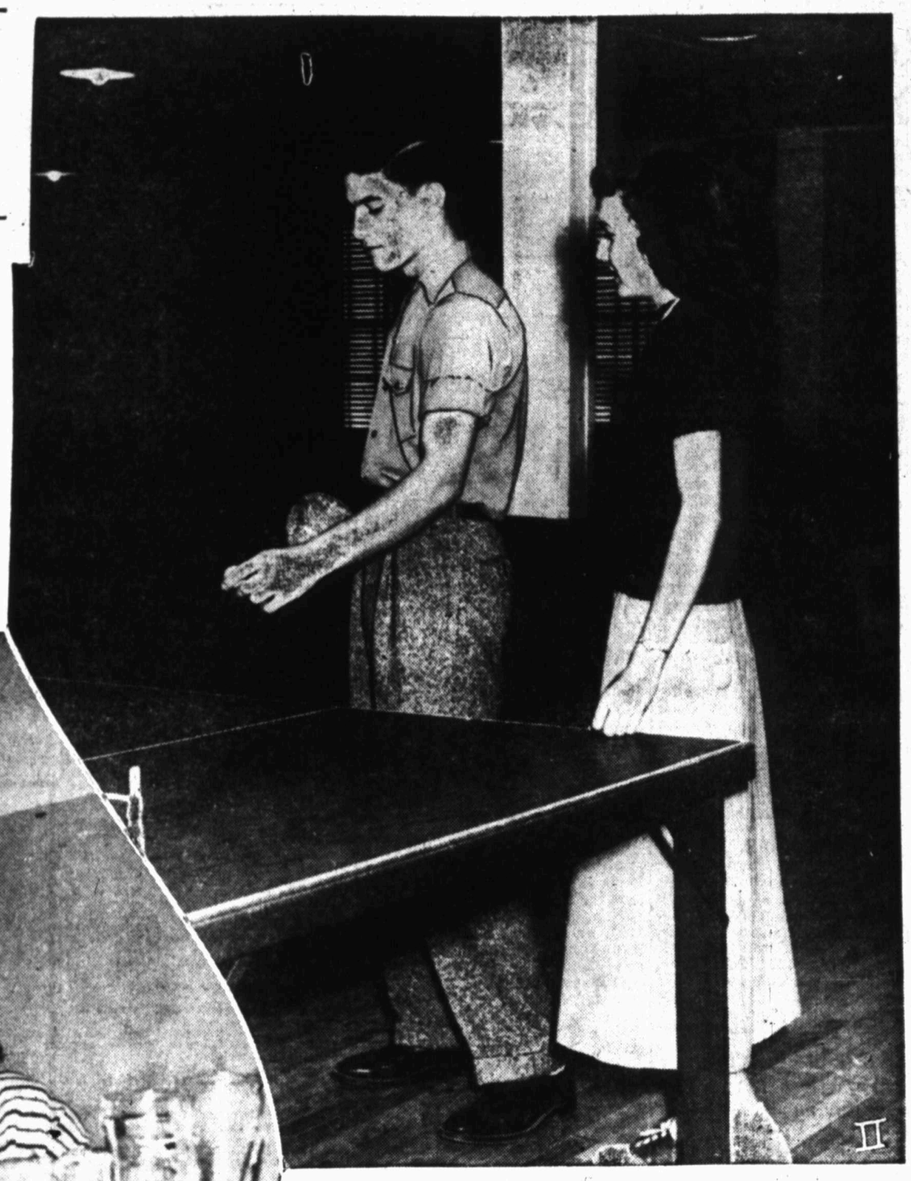

Most of the things which make a college student's life, years to remember are those activities which occupy their leisure time. At Texas Tech the hours which are not filled with classes, club meetings or studying are spent in the age-old pastime which have been used for diversion since co-educational colleges began, and any day of any week on the college campus the casual observer can find examples of the leisure time activities represented in today's pictures.

I

I. Pretty Mary Roe, a senior business administration student from Anton, is pictured pursuing one of a coed's many time-taking activities — writing letters. From the hundreds of out-of-town correspondence with "Mom and Dad," "a back home girl friend" or "that very special young man." For the many young women at Texas Tech have learned that out-going letters keep mail time a happy and eventful time, and a regular account of what's going on at home helps to fill any "homesick" hours a coed may have.

Also, mail time often brings a big mysterious box from home, filled with a thoughtful mother's special cookies, or a little sister's first really good cake, and the wise package sender knows to put in a big supply of any sweet being sent, because the contents of boxes from home are shared with friends up and down the hall.

II

III. Almost any time is "coffee time" at Texas Tech, and pictured are Fred Schultz and DeLois Utterback as they exchange items of college news over a cup of coffee. Fred is a senior engineering student from Abilene, and his "coffee date," known to her friends as "DeLo," is classified as a business administration sophomore from Amarillo. About ten o'clock every morning seems to be the favored coffee hour on the campus for students and faculty alike, but when classes "interfere" with this mid-morning pasttime, most Techsans manage to work in a cup of coffee sometime during the morning.

III

IV. "Who'll make a fourth at bridge?" is a phrase that echos through the halls of Tech's women's dormitories dozens of times daily, and there's seldom an hour of the day or night when a bridge game isn't in progress in each of the dorms. Pictured left to right in this bridge foursome are, seated on the floor, Ruby Potts, home economics senior from Lubbock; Pat Bennett, home economics freshman from Dumas; on the bed, Marcia Rogers, freshman arts and sciences student from Lubbock; and seated at right, Guida Miller, junior journalism major from Amarillo. Although a girl may not know a "spade from a club" when she moves into her dormitormy room, if she has any desire to become a bridge expert, she has plenty of opportunity for practice before she goes home with a sheepskin. Tech coeds say they not only enjoy bridge for the game itself, but like it because of the companionship it brings about and because it acts as a medium for meeting new girls.

V. A pleasant change from the monotony of classes and studying is stopping in at the Rec hall for an hour of dancing, and one such between-class dancing couple is Lucy Wommack, arts and sciences sophomore from Lubbock and Royce Brookmole, a freshman, Lubbock arts and sciences student. The dance corner at the Rec hall is one of the favorite spots for working out new steps and for practicing everything from the latest "jitter-bug" to the grapevine waltz. And to most college students dancing is fun whether at a formal weekend club dance, or during a mid-morning off hour.

VI

VI. When asked how she spends her leisure time, Pat Allgood senior engineering student from Lubbock, looked up disgustedly from her drawing board, and explained, "But a commercial art major doesn't have any leisure time." Although studying cannot be termed one of the favorite pastimes at Texas Tech, it is one which seems to be necessary, and most students don't regard studying in the same light as does one coed who said, "I've really got time on my hands when I sit down and study, just to be studying. If there isn't a bridge game or I can't find anyone to go over to the Avenue with me, then I do one of two things—wash my clothes or study, and the washing usually wins out." Pat will assure anyone that this young woman couldn't possibly have been an engineer.

Robert Garvin, Bride On Trip To Mexico

Miss Juanda Ruth Parrack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parrack of 2110 Eighth, and Robert Eugene Garvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garvin of Abernathy, were married Friday night at 8 o'clock at First Methodist church. A double ring ceremony read by Dr. H. I. Robinson was performed before a candlelighted altar of white mums and greenery.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Mamie I. Neal preceding the ceremony and "I Love You Truly" was sung by Johnny Zimmerman, accompanied by Mrs. Neal. The organist offered "O Perfect Love" as vows were said.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dressmaker suit of soldier blue gabardine with a gray blouse and black accessories. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Joy Garvin of Abernathy, sister of the bridegroom and maid of honor, wore a gold velvet suit with white lace trim and a white hat. Her colonial bouquet was of gold carnations.

Vanoy Parsons of Abernathy served as best man and Gene Nunn of Abernathy and Dwain Parrack were ushers.

Out-of-town wedding guests were from Wichita Falls, Happy, Hereford, Fort Stockton, Brownfield, Abernathy, Littlefield and Levelland.

After Nov. 20, when Mr. and Mrs. Garvin return from a wedding trip to various points in Texas and to Juarez, Mexico, they will be at home at Abernathy. The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school and attended West Texas Hospital School of Nursing for one semester. The bridegroom, a farmer, is a graduate of Abernathy High school.

Quilting Is Done By Loyalty Club Friday

Loylty club members who met with Mrs. J. G. Kester, 1912 Eighteenth, Friday spent the afternoon quilting. Mrs. Ed Greer presided for a business session and Mrs. Mary Ash read a devotion. A prayer was led by Mrs. A. W. McEachern.

Eighteen members, two new members, Mrs. Ash and Mrs. Ben Mansker, and three guests, Mesdames Anna Andrews, E. W. Adkison and Claxton McCrummen, attended.

The club will have a called meeting Nov. 15 at 1:30 p. m. at Mrs. J. E. Gordon's, 320 Ave. S, to quilt for Girlstown. A Thanksgiving dinner for Friday, Nov. 18, at 8 p. m. at the Mackenzie State park Party house was planned by the club. Husbands are to be guests.

TO CONTINUE STUDY

Forrest Heights Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. E. Crawford, 3718 Thirty-first. The study, "Japan Begins Again," will be continued.

Through The Coral Doors

Howdy folks,

With this week bringing our first nip of winter, the cozy fire and hot coffee (not 10¢ a cup!) were a mighty big treat when I visited at 1202 Ave. N. To complete my comfort was the most restful lounge chair I've yet to doze in. A low club type made by Dunbar, it has the beauty as well as bliss; the upholstery is a handsome moss green ontique satin.

The porch was a clutter of those handsome carpets found only at the Decorators Studio. Josie, Anne and Bee were re-marking all the samples with new lower prices. Don't you think many a lady would b happy to have beautiful new carpeting in her home for the coming holiday? Santa Claus might take advantage of this saving and do his shopping early.

Found a real Carol Stupell style table, but with the extra touch of the Studio. Josie has planned a lovely dinner table with a pair of handsome Chinese mandarins centering the setting. These pieces are certain to start conversation and will be collectors' items.

Exciting new wallpapers appeared by express during my visit as well as some fabulous lamps. One pair of lamps were particularly noteworthy. The over-scale china bases have a modern design of gold and green leaf patterns on chartreuse ground. A charming pair in grey and pink will please many a "sugar but with spice" type of gal.

You ask me to look for a wedding gift for Cousin Phoebe. Found just the thing when Anne and Bee appeared in a daze over several new pieces of old English Silver. Included in these charming antiques was a small covered bowl with the hot water compartment underneath. It's really a perfect size to keep dinner warm for two. Just give me the right sign and I'll have it wrapped for you in those beautiful gift wrappings from the Decorators Studio.

Bee had me demonstrate the cockfight chair for her chic display in this paper. Be sure and note how its made for a he-man to straddle. Don't you think this would make the perfect gift for the man of your house to use in his den or in his office? Bet many a big business deal will be settled in that chair!

I'll be lurking behind the Coral Door during the week. Hope I see you, too.

Grandpa Nosey. adv.

Rehearsals Continuing Here For Operetta, "The Mikado"

Rehearsals are continuing twice weekly for the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Mikado," which Lubbock Music club will present Nov. 28-29 at Senior High school auditorium. Monday rehearsals are at Adair's Music store and Wednesday's at KCBD, beginning at 7 p. m.

The operetta will be staged at 4 p. m. Nov. 28 for students from junior high level down and for adults and older students Nov. 29 at 8:15 o'clock.

The story of this colorful opera is as follows:

ACT I: Several Japanese gentlemen in the court yard sing "If You Want to Know Who We Are". Nanki Poo rushes into sing "A Wond'ring Minstrel". He loves Yum Yum, but she is betrothed to Ko Ko, her guardian and the Lord High Executioner who sings "I've Got A Little List." Pooh Bah, who is Lord High Everything else comes in, they plan for Ko Ko's marriage this very day. Yum Yum and two friends come in and sing "Three Little Maids from School". Nanki Poo comes in and they recognize him as the second trombone player in the local band. Since flirting is a capital offense, Nanki Poo doesn't really make love to Yum Yum. He just shows her how he would kiss her. "Were You Not to Ko Ko Plighted."

Meanwhile a terrible thing has happened. A message has come from the Mikado saying that if someone isn't executed pretty soon, the post of Lord High Executioner will be abolished. Ko Ko doesn't want to kill anything and is in despair. He makes a deal with Nanki Poo to be executed. Katisha rushes in and recognizes Nanki Poo and claims his as her own. She tried to tell them all that he is the son of the Mikado. They pay no attention to her they are so excited because now "He Is Going to Marry Yum Yum."

In Second Act

ACT 2: In Ko Ko's garden maidens "Braid the Raven Hair" and otherwise get Yum Yum ready for her wedding. She then sings "The Moon and I". Ko Ko comes in, he has just learned that Nanki Poo's widow must be buried alive with him. She isn't too happy about this. Nanki Poo comes in and the three sing "Here's a Howdy Do." He then hits on the scheme of faking an affidavit. Pooh Bah agrees to fix this if he is sufficiently insulted with a big bribe. The Mikado then comes and makes it clear that he expects obedience "From Every Kind of Man". He describes his system of justice in "My Object All Sublime" is to make the punishment fit the crime. Ko Ko gives His Majesty the fake certificate of Nanki Poo's execution. Ko Ko describes the execution, telling how "The Criminal Cried".

Katisha reads the certificate and finds that it is the Mikado's son. The Mikado says all who have had anything to do with killing the heir apparents must be punished.

Nanki Poo has already married Yum Yum and he tells Ko Ko that the only way out is for him to woo Katisha. With her married off, existence of Nanki Poo will be as welcome as "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring". Nanki Poo comes out and presents Yum Yum to his father. The cloud lifts and "Brightly Shines the Dawning Day."

Mount Pleasant, near Salisbury will be the site of a new Southern Rhodesian university.

MRS. CHARLES F. MARSHALL

Barbara Jester Frost Weds Charles Frank Marshall

DALLAS, Nov. 5. (Special) — The marriage of Miss Barbara Jester Frost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Houghton Frost of 1118 Elmwood Boulevard, and Charles Frank Marshall of Dallas, son of Mrs. J. M. Marshall of 1208 Ave. U, Lubbock, was solemnized Thursday at 7 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents.

Music was furnished by Miss Betty Blasingame, pianist, and Bob McDonald, vocalist.

The ceremony was performed in front of the mantel against a background of wax leaf greenery and tall burning white tapers in seven branch candelabra. A white elongated floral arrangement decorated the mantel.

Rev. Wilfred Bailey, assistant pastor of Tyler Street Methodist church, performed the ceremony.

The bride chose a gown designed in romantic tradition with a long molded bodice of white Chantilly lace with lace medallions accenting the high neckline and long fitted sleeves. The very full gathered skirt extended from the bodice and was accented with appliques of the lace which also were scattered in sprays over the white nylon tulle skirt. Her imported bridal illusion veil fell in tiers from a half crown of shirred illusion and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of candy tuft centered with a white orchid and tied with white satin and illusion and lace net. The bouquet was showered with candy tuft and white satin ribbon.

Sister Is Attendant

Mrs. Robert L. Brady, who served her sister as matron of honor, wore a toast colored satin dress fashioned with a V-shaped neckline and soft roll collar, ledge sleeves and a fitted bodice accented down the center front with self covered buttons. The skirt was fully gathered and tied at the waist with a narrow self tie belt. Her halo hat was of toast and pale pink nylon illusion and she carried a bouquet of pale pink pompons tied with satin ribbon and pink maline, backed with pink lace net.

Robert Case of Fort Worth was best man.

A reception was held at the parlor of Tyler Methodist church at 8 o'clock.

When the couple left for a trip to Santa Fe, Mrs. Marshall wore an original model suit of bride's blue with white blouse and gloves and her other accessories were brown. She wore a white orchid corsage. On their return they will be at home at 110 South Vale Street.

Mrs. Marshall is a graduate from Sunset High school, Dallas, and North Texas State college, Denton. Her college sororities were Alpha Chi, Pi Omega Phi and Kappa Delta Phi. She is presently a member of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mr. Marshall is a graduate from Lubbock High school, attended Texas Tech college and was graduated from the University of Oklahoma.

American War Aid Memorial Being Planned By Australia

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—The Australian-American association has approved plans for a permanent memorial at Canberra in a "lasting tribute to America's war-time contribution to Australia's defense."

A country-wide competition will be held to select the most suitable design for the memorial, which will be either a column or needle rising to about 150 feet. It probably will stand on the main city axis of the national capital, about halfway between Parliament house and the Australian War memorial. A public drive for funds will be made during Coral Sea week, next May.

Stork Wins When Ambulance Is Tardy

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5. (AP) — When Mrs. Rosaline Josenhans was about to have a baby recently, her sister, Mrs. Charlotte Younger, called an ambulance. That's when things started not to happen.

According to Mrs. Younger, the fire department told her that an ambulance would have to be ordered by the hospital. The hospital advised her to get a taxi. Or else get a doctor's or nurse's word for Mrs. Josephans' condition.

Mrs. Younger called police. "Get an ambulance," they said. She tried again; "Call the hospital," the ambulance people told her. She rushed out to get a doctor, and told a cabbie of her plight. Then Patrolman George Parke, the cop on the beat, appeared.

Parke didn't advise her to call a sergeant. He just summoned an assistant, Patrolman William Ervin, and they marched to the Josenhans home. Born at 6:30 p. m. to Mrs. Josenhans was a girl. It was Parke's first delivery, Ervin's sixth. Mother and child were doing fine. At 7:30 an ambulance arrived.

Slaton Church Scene Of Saturday Vows

Miss Mary Evelyn Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook of Wilson, became the bride of Teddy Lynn Swanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Swanner of Slaton, Saturday in a double ring ceremony read by Rev. O. R. Herring at 5 p. m. in the Slaton First Methodist church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown fashioned with a full gathered skirt and a short train joining the bodice at the low waistline, a deep yoke front and a small shaped collar of lace and long fitted sleeves coming to points at the wrists. Her veil of silk imported illusion fell from a tiera of beaded orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of white mums.

The ceremony was read before a background of greenery and candelabra. An archway formed of white mums was flanked by baskets of pink and white mums. Single mums tied with satin streamers marked the candlelighted aisles.

Organist Plays Medley

"Traumerei," "Oh, Promise Me," "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," and "I Love You Truly" were played by Mrs. L. B. Hagerman, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. M. G. Davis as she sang, "My Hero," "At Dawning" and "Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Edmond Maeker of Wilson, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a light pink taffeta dress fashioned like that of the bride, and carried an arm bouquet of white and pink mums. The bridesmaids, Misses Beth Brassfield, Mary Harral, Louise Davidson and Leonita Tunnell, were gowned in taffeta in shades of dusty mauve, sumac, pomenade and vintage. Their arm bouquets were identical to that of the matron of honor. Misses Shirley Ball and Josephine Shephard, both of Slaton, wore dresses of light pink taffeta with white carnation corsages at their waists.

Tommy Swanner, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Harley Mansker of Lubbock and Jack B. Clark, James H. Seideman and J. S. Edwards, jr., uncle of the bridegroom, all of Slaton.

Reception Follows Service

At a reception held after the service in the Slaton clubhouse, the couple were assisted in receiving by their parents and the members of the wedding party. The table was laid with a cream colored cloth, centered by an arrangement of white mums, and held a four-tiered wedding cake. Baskets of pink and white mums decorated the rooms. Out-of-town guests were from Spur, Lubbock, Georgetown and Dumas.

After a wedding trip to Los Angeles, Calif., the couple will be at home in Slaton after Dec. 1. For traveling the bride chose a maroon wool gabardine suit with black accessries and a gardenia corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Wilson High school, and is a member of the Slaton Order of Rainbow for Girls. The bridegroom, who was graduated from Slaton High school and New Mexico Military institute and has attended Texas Technological college.

West Texas Cotton Farmers Hit By Bad Weather, Labor Shortage

AUSTIN, Nov. 5 (AP) — Bad weather and an acute shortage of cotton pickers and pullers are giving West Texas cotton farmers a hard time, the Texas Employment commission said today.

Cold weather in West Texas and the fact that cotton is still in fields in the coastal bend, Central, North and East Texas has retarded movement of pickers into West Texas, the TEEC reported.

A demand for workers to harvest citrus and vegetables in the Rio Grande valley has also developed and will increase rapidly in the next week or 10 days.

STRANGE DAYS

HUMANLY ENOUGH, we enjoy incidents that serve to illustrate our first ladies are not without their unlucky days.

Mrs. Harry Truman, who could not manage (without help) to smash a champagne bottle against a ship in christening ceremonies several years ago, should be able to offer sympathy to Mrs. Lewis Douglas, wife of the ambassador to England. When the latter officially unveiled the new Lady Godiva statue at Coventry the other day, the rope stuck and a workman had to assist her before the statue was revealed.

DER BINGLE

AN AUDIENCE in Prague, including many bobby soxers, burst out with a storm of angry protest when a pro-Communist commentator criticized Bing Crosby as a "greedy American money-maker who sacrifices his art for gold."

A Minneapolis newsman after reading the story wrote this clever bit:

You can be inhuman
To Mr. Truman,
But don't slam Crosby.
You can rave and rant
At bourgeois cant
But don't slam Crosby.
You can throw a rock
At the western bloc
You can hate and despise
Free enterprise,
You can beat and belay
The ECA
You can even revile
That commie trial
But don't slam Crosby.

The moral, comrade, is easy to define: One Crosby groan can wreck the party line.

SCATTERINGS

LEONARD WARREN, Met baritone who opened the season for the Lubbock Symphony orchestra several weeks ago, will be guest artist on the Firestone hour Monday night from 7:30 until 8 o'clock. . . Two former movie and concert idols, Gloria Swanson and Mary Garden, are in the news lately with personal appearances in cities where years ago they drew capacity crowds. Both seem to have been dunked in the spring of youth. . . Miss Swanson, three times a grandmother and who admits to being fifty, still has a 24 inch waistline, which should be a challenge to women who alibi about their overweight. Miss Garden, who skips the question about age, weighs 112 pounds. It's said she has not eaten dinner in the last 30 years, settling for a cup of tea at 6 p. m. . . Staying young seems to be a matter of learning what to do and then doing it.

Baked apples are a favorite dessert at this time of year when the fruit is so plentiful. There is an art to baking apples which many women do not achieve. . . Bette Davis is author of an article in a current magazine that sets out how she and her husband, William Grant Sherry, go about bringing up their young baby. Before the magazine hit the stands Miss Davis was suing her husband for a divorce because he back handed her. Ho hum! . . It's predicted there will be a revival of "Music Goes Round and Round." How much can we stand? . . .

HAVE YOU ever seen a man describe a shapely woman without using his hands to carry out the description? . . . There are several flocks of fat pigeons that are making their homes on the roofs of down town buildings. . . Prettiest sight we saw in show windows last week was a kitchen stove as yellow as a buttercup. . . Children are expert canasta players. Suppose it's because they keep their minds on what they are doing when making melds and canastas. . . How smart we'd be if we went down town this week and bought all our Christmas wrappings, ribbons and enclosure cards. But we won't. Part of the Christmas spirit seems to come in jostling a dozen people at every counter during mid-December. . . We agree with Barbara Stanwyck that women over thirty should not dye their hair because "only the young dye good."

HOMECOMING QUEEN—Miss Carolyn Pugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Pugh of Rt. 1, Lubbock, was crowned Homecoming Queen of Trinity university in San Antonio between halves at the Trinity-North Texas football game at Alamo stadium Saturday. Elected by the vote of the student body, Miss Pugh was the candidate of Blue Key, men's national honor and service club; the senior, sophomore and freshman classes; and McFarlin hall, dormitory for men. The queen attended Texas Tech in 1947 and was a pledge of Ko Shari club. She is an art major and is a member of Delta Kappa Phi, girls' social organization, and other campus clubs.

Town Talk

RED AND YELLOW chrysanthemums enhanced the setting of Mrs. C. R. Woolsey's newly re-decorated home, 2607 Twenty-second, when she entertained at a coffee Saturday morning with Mrs. Vic Pryor as co-hostess.

One hundred fifty guests called between 9:30 and 11:30 o'clock.

Assisting in hospitalities were Mesdames Bob Pirtle, Charles Murphy of Houston, J. R. Moxley, Maple Wilson, Chester A. Hubbard, G. C. Turner, Oran Wilson, jr., M. T. Taylor, Elizabeth McDowell, L. A. McDowell and Miss Mary Jarrott.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Agee, 2342-A Nineteenth, are wondering if a chance acquaintance during their summer vacation is going to result in their being visited by a prince.

While vacationing in Mexico this past summer, the Lubbock couple attended a party where they saw Mr. and Mrs. Temple Bowen of Fort Worth, who resided in Lubbock about 20 years ago. The Browns, while summering in Cuernayaca, had met a young European who was Crown Prince Otto, of the House of Hohenzollern.

The Agees were introduced to the blond prince and saw him several times during their stay south of the border. After hearing they were from Lubbock, he explained to them that his niece, Cecile, the Kaiser's granddaughter, had married Clyde Harris, interior decorator in Amarillo. The Prince said he expects to visit his niece soon, and added, "When I do, I'm going to look you up."

In answer to the questions about "What is a prince like?" Mrs. Agee described Prince Otto as a well-read, well-informed and interesting conversationalist. He is blond, about 30 years old, of artistic temperament and is of a delicate build and features. The European had been living in Switzerland but is now visiting in North America and gathering material for writing.

A regular Sunday night buffet will be served tonight at the Lubbock Country club.

Members of the club must make reservations for their guests and themselves.

Mrs. J. H. Hankins won high score when the 1928 Bridge club met for luncheon and bridge Thursday in the Hilton hotel.

Of the 16 women attending the three guests were Mesdames A. B. Davis, Carl Svensen and A. B. Cunningham. Mrs. Carden Green, 2409 Broadway was hostess.

Mesdames Travis Shelton and Floyd Read were hostesses when the Sans Souce Alumnae association met Thursday night in the Womble Olds Rocket room.

Attending were Misses Elayne Head, Ann Webb, Elizabeth Howard, LaVaughn Bearden and Mesdames Stanley Huckabay, O. P. Harlan, jr., Julian Fairly, Bob Pirtle, Bill Anthony, Ted Crager and the hostesses.

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held in the Rocket room at a date to be set later. Next meeting of the club will be on Dec. 5, with Miss Howard and Mrs. Crager as hostesses.

Refreshments were served and bridge was played following the business session.

Stealing Of Automobile No Bar To Hopes Of Joining Ministry

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 5 (U.P.)—When the Chicago Divinity School asked Norville W. Smith, 30, if he felt he was ready for the ministry, Smith's conscience caught up with him.

He wrote the dean that he had stolen a car in Three Rivers, Mich., three years ago. The owner found the car where Smith abandoned it, but Smith was not arrested.

On the dean's advice, Smith confessed the theft to Three Rivers police and the car owner, Hans Hansen. The latter, impressed by Smith's story, asked that the case be dropped.

Justice J. L. Van Selous told Smith:

"You now have a good subject for your first sermon."

FRUIT MERINGUE . . . For dessert lovers.

Bake Heavenly Meringue To Serve With Earthly Meal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If your family and friends dote on dessert here's a heavenly new one for them—a meringue that's just a little different. The difference lies in the tiny flakes of rolled oats that are added to make a chewy, crisp texture. The meringue can be filled with whipped cream and frozen raspberries or with a whipped gelatine mixture if you like, and fresh or canned fruit added. Here's the recipe:

HEAVENLY MERINGUE

Ingredients: For Base—4 egg whites, ½ teaspoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup quick rolled oats (uncooked). For Filling—1 pint heavy cream (whipped and sweetened), 2 cups sweetened fresh or frozen raspberries, strawberries, or peaches.

METHOD: Add vinegar, vanilla, and salt to egg whites and beat to a stiff foam. Add sugar gradually, about a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. Continue beating until mixture stands in shiny peaks. Lightly fold in rolled oats. Place in a mound on greased unglazed paper on a baking sheet. Using a spatula, hollow out the center and build up the sides to resemble a pie shell. Bake in a very slow (275°F.) oven for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Cool for a few minutes then remove from paper. Cool thoroughly and fill with sweetened whipped cream into which fresh or frozen raspberries, strawberries or peaches have been added.

FIGHTER PLANE IS EXAMINED

Government To Open Probe Of Plane Disaster On Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — The government will start its investigation Wednesday into history's worst airplane crash — the collision of a fighter plane and an Eastern airliner which cost 55 people their lives.

The Civil Aeronautics board, in announcing the schedule yesterday, said testimony offered by Bolivian Pilot Erick Rios Bridoux from his sickbed will be included in the record.

Bridoux, hospitalized with pneumonia, a broken back and other severe injuries, was at the controls of the P-38 fighter when it tore into the airliner over National airport Tuesday. Both planes were preparing to land.

Plane Is Examined

The fighter was hauled out of the Potomac river yesterday and CAB investigators promptly began an examination of its instruments. Bridoux flew into the big DC-4 transport despite the shouted warnings of the airport control tower, and there was speculation that his radio might have been out of order.

The Washington Post, in a copyrighted story, raised another possibility.

It said a military B-25 bomber had made a simulated landing at National airport a few minutes before the DC-4 was told to land. The Post suggested that Rios Bridoux might have understood that the tower was telling him to follow the B-25, rather than the transport.

Last Body Recovered

At about the same time the Bolivian P-38 was pulled from the Potomac yesterday, searchers recovered the body of William Smythe, 39-year-old official of the Eberhard Faber Pencil Co. His was the last body to be found.

Congressional clamor continued for tighter regulations over civil airways to prevent any such accidents in the future.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) sent letters to the Cab and its sister agency, the Civil Aeronautics administration yesterday, calling on the agencies to take joint action "which will make impossible a repetition" of the disaster.

Flier Is Improved

He said regulations should be adopted immediately "to keep all military and private aircraft out of the flight course of commercial airliners at all major airports."

"As a member of the Senate committee on interstate and foreign commerce having jurisdiction over aviation matters," Tobey said, "I am concerned and feel a deep sense of responsibility because policies and administrative actions have failed to prevent such shocking accidents."

Bridoux, who suffered a sharp sinking spell after being told the magnitude of the disaster, was described by his doctors yesterday as "generally improved", although still in critical condition.

Physicians at the Alexandria, Va., hospital said the 28-year-old director of Bolivian aviation had received numerous letters of sympathy and seemed to be "much brighter and more cheerful."

Legion Would Pay One Fare To Soviet

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Nov. 5 (U.P.)—The Demato American Legion post offered to pay a first class, one way passage to Russia for any one of the 11 convicted Communist leaders.

The post protested that the $250,000 bail set by the U. S. circuit court of appeals in New York was "entirely too much."

The high bail would "tend to influence the Reds not to jump bail and unfortunately stay in this country," the post said in a resolution.

Java Drinkers Can Take Their Choice In Amarillo Restaurants

AMARILLO, Nov. 5. (U.P.) — A java-thirsty customer here these days can "pay his money and take his choice."

For, beginning Monday, half the eating establishments will serve a cup of coffee for a nickel, while the other half will charge a dime.

The split decision was the outcome of a meeting yesterday, in which operators of eating establishments voted 50-50 on the question of raising the price of a cup of coffee.

Houston To Be Site Of '50 AFL Meeting

HOUSTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Labor officials here have been notified that Houston has been selected for the 1950 convention of the American Federation of Labor.

George Wilson, secretary of the AFL Houston building and construction trades council said he was notified of the selection today by George Mabry, AFL secretary-treasurer, Washington, D. C.

Mabry informed Wilson Houston was selected by the national executive council. Other bids were from Miami and Cleveland.

The last AFL convention was held here in 1938.

Wilson said some 10,000 labor leaders and members will be here for the 1950 meeting.

Convention dates will be September 18-29.

This experience must have included or been supplemented by one year of experience in painting and doping aircraft and equipment, and hand-painting of insignia and designs.

Load Of Firewood Delivered By Mistake To Gas-Heated House

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 5 (AP)—Paul Holmstrom has two tons of kindling wood on his front lawn that he does not want. Paul is looking for Peter Holmquist, who presumably ordered the firewood.

A truck driver dumped the wood yesterday when Holstrom, a refrigerator salesman, was not at home. A neighbor said the driver had inquired for Peter Holmquist but concluded there was an error in the order and left the wood for Holmstrom.

Holmstrom does not know who delivered the wood, which he can't use. He heats his home with gas.

Coffee Is Still Available Free If You Have Banking Business

McALLEN, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—The price of a cup of coffee may have gone up to 10 cents in neighboring cities, but it's still available in McAllen for free.

The McAllen First National bank has advertised it will continue—in the face of a rumored coffee shortage and rising prices—its custom of serving free coffee to persons who come in to make deposits or cash checks.

Two Japanese Get Back From The War

TOKYO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Hideo Sato and Taihei Ikeda got back from the war yesterday—four years late.

Here's the story they told after their arrival on the British ship Yunnan:

They were on Manus, largest of the Admiralty islands, when the Americans landed in 1944. They hid.

They built and lived in palm-thatched huts, ate snakes, lizards and coconuts. They caught fish with hooks made from old pistol springs and lines woven from wood fiber.

They didn't know the war was over until last March when they were found by Aborigines and turned over to Australians.

Total Of 202 Oil, Gas Wells Completed In Texas Last Week

AUSTIN, Nov. 5 (AP)—A fast drilling pace was set in Texas oil fields this week as 202 wells were completed, the Railroad commission reported today.

This year's total completions shot up to 7,486, almost 1,000 ahead of the year ago figure of 6,496.

Completion of 18 gas wells brought the 1949 total to 593, slightly trailing a mark of 603 for the comparable 1948 period.

Seventy-six dry holes were reported. Nine wildcat oil wells, one gasser and 25 dry holes were drilled.

Seventy-four dry wells and 29 oil wells were plugged.

Today's total average calender day allowable was 2,303,785 barrels, an increase of 130,880 over last week.

Lamesa C-C And Veteran Groups Plan Program On Armistice Day

LAMESA, Nov. 5. (Special)—One of the most complete Armistice Day programs held here in recent years is being planned under the sponsorship of local veterans organizations and the chamber of commerce.

Several thousand people are expected here for the November 11th observance to see a parade, hear an address by George Mahon, United States representative from the 19th district, and eat barbecue served on the courthouse lawn.

The parade, whose chairman is Mayor Sam Richardson, will begin about 10:30 a. m. It will include the Brownfield and Lamesa high school bands, the Lamesa National Guard, representatives of veterans organizations from Lamesa and Brownfield, and boy and girl scout troops.

Program Described

District Judge Louis B. Reed will act as master of ceremonies for the program which will get underway immediately following the parade.

Mahon's address will high-light the program which will include an invocation by Rev. Sam Thomas, pastor of the First Methodist Church; a vocal solo by Oatus Roberts; a reading by Angeline Jobe; an "In Memoriam" service by Ed DuBose, who will read a list of names of World War I and II dead from Dawson county as compiled by DAV official R. L. Price; the blowing of "Taps" by Richard Crawley; and the joint rendition of the Star Spangled Banner by the Brownfield and Lamesa bands.

A barbecue will be served to the gathering following the program. Barbecue committee chairman is Earnest Barrett, and chairman of ticket sales for the barbecue is Frank Smith.

Gold Star Mothers and fathers of the men who died in the two great wars will be special guests during the day's activities.

Chairman of publicity for the event is James Aten. Assisting in the staging of the program are Aten, DAV head; Leon Warden, American Legion commander; and Dr. J. D. Burleson, commander of the VFW.

Most of the visitors are expected to attend the district 3-AA football game at 2:30 p. m. at Tornado Field between Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes and the Brownfield Cubs.

Calling All Veeps: Check That Ailing St. Louis Woman

Bustling Barkley Dashes By Flying Fort To See Widow Down With Flu Of Sort

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—America's romantic vice-president, Alben Barkley, flew to the bedside of his ailing sweetheart, to hold her hand today as she fought off the effects of a slight case of flu.

Barkley flew here last night as soon as possible after he learned that his bride-to-be, Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, had entered St. Luke's hospital for rest and treatment.

Hospital attendants said the pretty 38-year-old widow's condition was "very satisfactory" and that she probably would be recovered in time for her wedding to Barkley on Nov. 18.

However, her indisposition caused the nation's most prominent pair of lovebirds to cancel any plans they may have had this weekend four purchasing her wedding ring.

No Rest For Widow

The couple had spent several days recently hunting in St. Louis jewelry shops for "something special" in the way of a ring.

Her illness also forced Mrs. Hadley to interrupt her shopping for a trousseau.

Physicians said they expected Mrs. Hadley to be released from the hospital in several days. They said she principally was in need of rest.

Mrs. Hadley's mother, Mrs. Estle Rucker, said her illness apparently resulted from extreme fatigue.

"She's been extremely busy, you know, ever since the engagement was announced," Mrs. Rucker said. "It's just been one task after another.

"And the 'phone has been ringing constantly with people calling their best wishes and so forth. She hadn't had a minute's rest."

Trip Unannounced

Mrs. Rucker also said that her daughter had attempted, meanwhile, to work at her job as secretary to the general counsel of the Wabash railroad.

The vice-president's future mother-in-law did not say whether Mrs. Hadley intended to try to keep her job until the wedding.

Barkley demonstrated his concern for his fiance by flying into town from Washington in a specially-scheduled B-17 "flying fortress" bomber.

There was no advance notice of his arrival and local newspapers first learned he was in town from the control tower officials at the St. Louis airport.

He went directly to the hospital and spent some time visiting Mrs. Hadley before checking into his hotel.

Although the couple's wedding is scheduled to be a relatively quiet affair, considering Barkley's rank, public interest is likely to make it one of the biggest events in St. Louis society history.

Barkley and his bride-to-be plan to live part time in Washington and part-time in his hometown of Paducah, Ky., where he has an old-fashioned type southern mansion.

Mother And Unborn Baby Killed In Mishap On Way To Hospital

JAMESTOWN, N. D., Nov. 5 (AP) A mother and her unborn child were killed in a two-car auto collision last night as she was being taken to a hospital for delivery of the baby. Nine others were injured.

Mrs. Arthur Freymark was the victim. Sheriff William Bennett said autos driven by her husband and Reiben Nietschke, both of Jud, N. D., collided 30 miles south of here.

Mrs. Freymark was taken to a Lamoure, N. D. hospital. A caesarian operation was performed. But the baby was dead.

FUN ON GOLF COURSE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (U.P.)—Two youths drove tractors wildly over fairways and greens at Riverside Golf Course, doing more damage than a drunk with a No. 5 iron. Officials, however, stopped the boys before they had gone nine holes.

MIGRANT WORKER CAMPS CHECKED

Eight Infant Deaths Traced To Malnutrition In California

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 5 (U.P.) — Eight infants were dead from malnutrition today as San Joaquin valley authorities probed labor conditions of migrant workers, living in conditions reminiscent of the depression years.

Dr. Donald Upp, Kings county health officer, uncovered two more infant deaths Oct. 28 and Oct. 30 as the investigation moved toward the end of the first week.

Houses Made Of Boxes

Officials of Fresno county said two children died from the same cause Oct. 30 and Nov. 2.

Health officials and social workers gave poignant examples of how some 150,000 agricultural migrants are living while harvesting the cotton, fruits and vegetables in the multi-million dollar farmland valley. A council of interested agencies in Tulare county found the following:

1. A workers' camp made of packing box houses near a dump where families salvaged discarded household articles for their own use.

2. A camp of 19 houses with only two toilets and six to 10 persons living in each house. Youngsters were using outdoor toilets as "playhouses."

Workers At Fault

3. Camp managers said some of the "hands" were earning $18 to $20 per day but "only wanted to drink and gamble." They complained that the camps had been clean and decent three weeks ago, but the workers failed to take care of them.

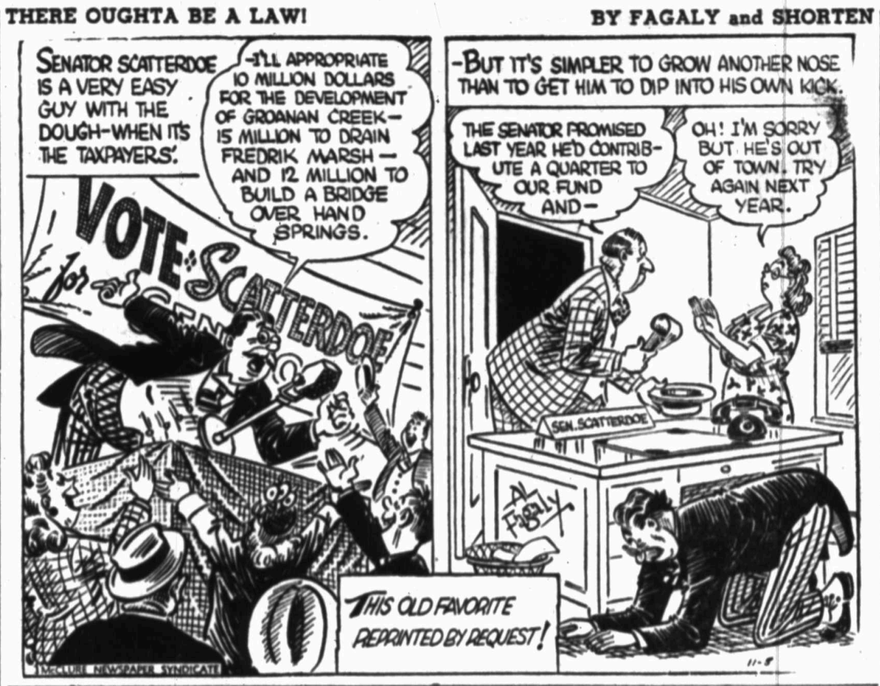

4. Camp manager William Silvers said his efforts to clean up the camp had resulted in a fight in which he had been shot in the leg.

Lee A. Stones, Madera county health officer, said that malnutrition among children of farm workers was not unusual, but placed the blame on the parents and not county health and relief agencies.

"You would find the situation in any county in the San Joaquin valley," he said. "But it is not a question of want—the cause is carelessness or lack of knowledge among parents."

John Glidden invented the first practical barbed wire in 1872.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! BY FAGALY and SHORTEN

Three-Year-Old Boy Man Of Moderation

GLEN COVE, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Richard Opalasti smokes cigars. He tried a pipe once, but he didn't like it.

He also likes half-a-glass of wine or beer now and then. Nothing stronger.

Richard, three-years-old, is a man of moderation.

Former Tech Student Assigned To Jet Fighter Group In Japan

51ST FIGHTER WING, NAHA AFB, OKINAWA, Nov. 5.—Announcement of the arrival of 2nd Lt. Aubrey C. Edinburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Edinburgh, McAdoo, Texas, was made here recently. Lt. Edinburgh has been assigned to duty as a jet fighter pilot with the 16th Fighter squadron. He departed from Fort Mason, Calif., Oct. 8 aboard the United States army transport "General Morton" and arrived at the Port of Naha, Okinawa on Oct. 22.

A graduate of McAdoo High school, class of 1945, Lt. Edinburgh then attended Texas Technological college. He was active in football and basketball activities while in school. He entered the air force in 1946 at El Paso, Texas, and was commissioned after completing pilots training at Randolph field on June 25, 1948. He subsequently was assigned to duty with the 20th Fighter group at Shaw AFB, S. C. before being alerted for duty in the Pacific theater of operaions.

Seaboard Oil Co., To Plug Dawson Deep Wildcat Back To San Andres At 4,500 Feet

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Barrow, deep wildcat in Northeast Dawson county, three and one-half miles Northeast of Lamesa, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 8, block 15, T-6-N, TP survey, made only sulphur water in the Ellenburger and is to plug back to 4,500 feet to treat the San Andres and try to develop commercial production.

Informed sources say that the possibilities of making a well from slight shows of petroleum in that formation are extremely dim.

The Ellenburger water came in a drillstem test at 11,512-639 feet. Recovery was the 2,550-foot water blanket, 1,128 feet of drilling mud and 3,666 feet of sulphur water. The sections showed no indication of oil or gas.

Making New Hole

Top of the first Ellenburger zone was at 11,460 feet. Top of the second Ellenburger was at 11,560 feet. Elevation is 3,017 feet.

A south stepout to production from the Spraberry sand in the Spraberry field of Southeast Dawson county, Seaboard Oil company No. 3-D Lee, was making new hole past 6,130 feet in lime.

No. 3-D Lee is slated to drill to around 7,000 feet to test the Spraberry sand.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 47, block 34, TP survey and 15¾ miles southeast of Lamesa.

Seaboard was running tubing to test at its No. 7-A-D Robinson, north stepout to the Spraberry field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 37, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

Shot With Nitroglycerin

Section to be tested was between 6,545 feet and 6,610 feet. That zone had been shot with nitrogylcerin. Operator is to test and try to complete as a commercial producer.

No. 7-A-D Robinson is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 37, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey and 11 miles southeast of Lamesa.

A one-quarter of a mile east outpost to the Spraberry field, Seaboard No. 8-D-A J. H. Robinson, was continuing to make new hole, drilling past 5,133 feet in lime and chert.

The operation is to try for production from the Spraberry sands at around 7,000 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,737.5 feet from west lines of section 37, block 34, TP survey.

Reagan J. Carraway of Dallas No. 1 T. A. Loe, contracted 10,700-foot wildcat seven miles northwest of Lamesa, and 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 12, league 3, Munger sub-division of Taylor County School Land survey, was continuing drill deeper. The project was making progress past 5,694 feet in lime.

CARRIERS ARE "SUNK" BY SUBS

Submarines Hit Heavy Blows At Fleet In North Atlantic

BY ROBERT F. LOFTUS
United Press Staff Writer

WITH U. S. 2ND TASK FLEET, Nov. 5 — The official score sheet showed today that the navy "sank" 21 "enemy" submarines but "lost" 12 of its own ships during a four-day anti-sub maneuver in the North Atlantic.

The powerful air-sea team proved itself deadly against submarine tactics when the air cover was operating at full strength. But it was sonciderably less effective in bad flying weather which hampered air operations much of the time.

Heavy seas and a persistent storm front kept the carrier planes on deck for the first two days of the maneuvers—the biggest northern war games since V-J day.

Shore-based bombers flew, however, in good or bad weather and accounted for much of the anti-submarine punch. They "bagged" 14 of the 21 subs "sunk."

Carrier-based planes "killed" only two subs and helped a destroyer sink a third. The four other submarines were "knocked out" by destroyers.

The anti-submarine fleet, which is split into three task forces, has "lost" only one major ship — the escore Carrier Mindoro—since the carriers were able to get their planes into action.

The second task force has been hardest hit since the opening of the maneuvers on Tuesday. Besides the Mindoro, it has lost two other carriers out of its complement of five.

The biggest blow came to the anti-submarine forces when the sub Sablefish surfaced inside a destroyer screen and "sank" the carrier Midway and the light cruiser Roanoke. The Midway-FDR group also "lost" the heavy cruiser Albany and the escort carrier Siboney.

The submarines have struck their most damaging blows by trailing the surface ships and radioing information to other undersea craft waiting in ambush ahead.

The surface fleet will move later today into a corridor 100 miles wide and 180 miles long, northeast of Newfoundland, for a second and more concentrated battle with the submarine pack. After that, the Midway and the FDR with a number of escorting vessels will cross into Arctic waters if weather and ice conditoins permit.

Pennies For Food Too Small, Comrade

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—Unemployment is so bad in Brooklyn that well - dressed men beg pennies for food from Soviet seamen, the communist party newspaper Pravda said today.

Pravda gave prominent display to what was described as characteristic impressions of a Soviet seaman, I. A. Zadirozhny, who returned recently from the United States.

Pravda said the seaman was struck particularly by the poverty and unemployment he witnessed.

"In Brooklyn, New York, well-dressed men approached our seamen and begged one cent for food."

Harris County Community Chest Donations Fall Short Of Goal

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—The Harris county community chest fell $118,262 short of its goal this year, final tabulations showed today.

The campaign for $2,045,606 ended last night. The deadline had been postponed from Wednesday in the hopes that last-minute donations would put the drive over the top.

Trailer Firms Turn To Commercial Needs To Combat Slump In Demand For Housing

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Trailer people know that with the housing shortage eased, they no longer can compete with the home builders.

So the emphasis today is on the commercial.

And, oh brother — have the trailers gone commercial!

The public will find out beginning Nov. 15 when America's first national trailer industrial exhibit will be held here in the national guard armory, which is big enough to hold more trailers than most trailer camps.

Special Trailers Shown

Included in the list of specially-designed trailers are:

A mobile beauty parlor, which is a get-up designed and operated by the cosmetologists and hairdressers. The idea, of course, is to move the bobby pins and curlers from place to place—as needed. Britain tried the beauty mobile idea during the war and found it a great morale builder in the midst of falling bombs.

A portable bunk house for ranches. This would force ragtime cowboy Joe to park his boots and saddle on the outside and give him a chance to rest his weary head on a pillow, for a change.

A library on wheels, which moves from spot to spot and moves back again to pick up loaned books —for a fee.

An elaborate horse trailer, complete with running water, a miniature hay barn, and a small built-in oats bin.

All Trailers Cramped

That's the commercial part. But the trailer people won't let anybody forget they're still in business of providing living quarters. They insist that there still are more than 1,000,000 persons living in the coaches around the country.

I've been through some of the new home trailers. And while they are lovely—to quote one of the ads—they have the same disadvantage of most new homes and apartment houses. There still isn't room enough in the medicine cabinet in the bathroom for a shaving mug. The old story. A man reaches in, mug-wise bent and down comes tooth paste, bobby pins, lipstick, and other gear which doesn't make shaving any easier. Some day inventors will stop worrying about getting the world a better mouse trap and concentrate on a better and deeper medicine cabinet.

Outside of that, the trailers are pretty nice things—for vacation, or if you like to live in something about the size of a baby chick brooder house. Every square inch of space is used. There are cleverly arranged cabinets and closets (including the tiny medicine cabinet). There are beds, some of them twins—with inner springs mattresses and box springs. There is electric refrigeration, complete with a long cord to plug in to the nearest outlet.

There is modern plumbing. Some of the living room furniture can be knocked down into beds—and ditto some of the fixtures of the dining room.

There are bath tubs and showers. These, of course, have to be piped and rigged at trailer camps. The manuwacturers do not recommend a tub or showerbath on the turnpike, goin 80.

There are carpets, too. And linoleum in the kitchen. Air cooling and heat.

To show off all these things, the trailer folks have arranged a press party. Cocktails and a buffet supper. Served, naturally, aboard the some 90 or so trailers that will be on display. Anchored trailers, that is.

Radio Quiz Program Winner Faces Suit By Helpful Niece

TOWSON, Md., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—A winner of the radio quiz program, "Stop The Music," today made plans to face the music in circuit court here.

John F. Oaks, who won more than $30,000 in money and prizes for identifying a mystery melody played over the air last January, was sued for approximately half of the winnings by his niece, Mrs. Helen Ream, who contended he would not have won without her help.

Mrs. Ream filed a $15,000 suit yesterday charging that her uncle invited her to his home at Sparrows Point, Md., the night of the broadcast "for the express purpose of assisting him in identifying the number or numbers" in the event that he was called.

Woman Gives Answer

Mrs. Ream said Oaks was called by long-distance telephone by the radio quizmaster and that he "did then and there find himself unable to answer correctly" but that she "supplied the correct answer, and in consequence thereof, the defendant won in awards of money and merchandise more than $30,000."

She contended in the suit that her uncle had promised before and after the broadcast to give her a share of the prizes if eh won, but that he had failed to do so.

The answer given by Oaks to the mystery melody question was, "When The Bridegroom Comes."

Policeman's Mood Fits Purple And White Bathrobe He Wears

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5. (AP)—Patrolman Edwar Burns turned up at a police station in the wee hours of the morning with two prisoners charged with disturbing the peace—chiefly Burn's peace. The officer was wearing a white and purple bathrobe, and a mood to match.

He explained he had found a strange car parked in his parking lot space. So he blocked the culprits' exit with his own machine, then went to the adjacent apartment house where he lived and crept into bed.

A call from the night clerk hauled him out around 1 a. m. Burns found half a dozen men bouncing in his car in an effort to move it, a hot discussion and two arrests followed. A magistrate later fined the two $5 a piece after they explained they had thought the lot was unused during the night.

Lubbock Schools Will Observe Education Week; Visits Urged

Lubbock's 23 schools and approximately 10,700 students will be on display for parents, patrons, and friends this week as the local school system enters into the twenty-ninth observance of American Education week, Nov. 6-12. The week's general theme, "Making Democracy Work," will be stressed as schools prepare special displays and programs for the host of visitors expected.

American Education week is sponsored each year by the National Education association, the American Legion, the United States Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Throughout the nation the general motto during the week will be "Visit Your Schools."

School Visits Urged

"We are especially anxious that parents visit our schools this year," Superintendent R. W. Matthews said Saturday as he explained that this year Lubbock schools have fewer children on half-day session and attending school under crowded conditions than anytime since 1942 when he became superintendent.

"We believe that this shows we are accomplishing much in the face of ever increasing enrollment and we are proud that Lubbock is able to face and solve this problem," he said.

Jay E. Gordon, principal of J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school and general chairman of American Education week, called attention to the large number of patrons from out-of-state who will be visiting Lubbock schools during the week. He extended a special invitation to new patrons to visit one or several schools during the week.

Ministers To Aid

Because all Lubbock schools will be closed on Nov. 11, only four days will be set aside for visiting this year. To open the week's observance, pastors in Lubbock churches will remind their congregation of the week and many will base their sermons on educational themes. G. E. Dawson, principal of O. L. Slaton Junior High, is chairman of the committee which made arrangements with the Lubbock Ministerial association.

On Monday, the Junior Chamber of commerce will hear a special Education Week program furnished by students of Carroll Thompson Junior High school. Carl Bailey, principal and chairman of the committee in charge of civic club programs, will make the address. Ninety students who compose the ninth grade chorus, directed by Mrs. Elois Elliott, will give a program of songs built around the seven themes for the week.

Dinner Slated Tuesday

Supt. and Mrs. Matthews and board members and their wives will be honor guests at the annual Administrator's dinner, at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at J. T. Hutchinson cafeteria. Making arrangements for the dinner are Mrs. Guy L. Trow, Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, and Mrs. Iris Berghom. The invocation will be given by R. D. Ford, principal of K. Carter school. Women principals will be members of the hospitality committee.

Other plans for the week include movie trailers in local theaters, arranged by Alfred C. Smith, principal of Central Ward school; posters placed over the city by Leo Warren, R. P. Swoffard, and in the colored section by E. C. Struggs, and radio programs arranged for Lubbock's three stations by Mrs. Reuby Rhodes.

Themes to be stressed each day during week are as follows: Sunday, The Worth of the Individual; Monday, Educational Opportunity; Tuesday, Responsible Citizenship; Wednesday, Health and Safety; Thursday, Home and Community Obligations; Friday, Our Freedom and Security; and Saturday, the Next Decade in Education.

42 School Cafeteria Managers From Area Attend Course Here

Forty-two cafeteria managers and assistants from Lubbock, Abernathy, Ralls and Slaton are attending the special class in nutrition being sponsored by Mrs. Dora Nell Carroll, director of Lubbock school cafeterias, and taught by Miss Martha Graves, director of Home and Family Life Education at Texas Technological college.

The class meets each Tuesday and Thursday from 3 until 4:30 p.m. in Annex G at the college. There is no charge for instruction given, Mrs. Carroll said. Cafeteria personnel from other towns may still join the class if they wish.

Subjects to be studied during the course are as follows: Nov 8, Daily Food Requirements; Nov. 10 and 15, Contribution to be made by Various Types of Food Materials; Nov. 17, Research in Nutrition; Nov. 22, Methods of Teaching Children to Eat Essential Foods, also Teaching Identity of Foods, and Serving Foods Attractively; Nov. 29, Methods of Preparing and Serving Foods; and Dec. 1, The Importance of Cleanliness in Cafeterias, Food Handling, and the Relationship of Personnel.

Two Lubbock School Officials To Aid In San Angelo Survey

Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education in the Lubbock public schools, and Miss Grace Padley, director of guidance, will spend Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in San Angelo assisting with an evaluation of San Angelo Senior High school.

Miss Lomax, who was general chairman when Lubbock Senior High was evaluated two years ago, wil act as chairman of the committee on Curriculum and Outcomes, while Miss Padley will be a member of the committee which evaluates the guidance program of San Angelo Senior High school.

Four Full Days Set For Parents To See Students In Classes

School calendars will be full for four days this week, American Education week, topped off by a holiday Friday, Nov. 11, according to Superintendent R. W. Matthews. Doors of all schools will be open to visitors, and plans for the week include programs for parents, regular classroom work for parents to observe, and special Parent-Teacher meetings, all aimed at getting parents to visit the child in his school environment.

Observance of American Education week at Senior High will begin on Monday when home rooms listen to a special broadcast from New Salem, Ill., the early home-town of Abraham Lincoln.

Legion Program Tuesday

On Tuesday each home room will give a program based on one of the seven themes of American Education week. Parents are invited to attend these home room programs, or to visit the school at any time during the week, W. C. Watts, Education week chairman, said. On Thursday, members of the American Legion will make their annual trip to Senior High to conduct an Armistice Day assembly program.

All three junior high schools in Lubbock will be open to parents at anytime during the week. Carroll Thompson students will have special home room discussions Wednesday on themes of the week. The Parent-Teacher association meeting on Thursday at Hutchinson Junior High will be on the theme, "Teamwork Between Parents," with Mr. and Mrs. Ishmael Hill furnishing the program. Slaton parents are asked to visit at any time during the four days.

One Openhouse Today

At George R. Bean school, openhouse is to be held this afternoon from 2:30 until 3:30 for parents to visit. Work of the children will be on display and teachers of all grades and rooms will be on duty to discuss students and their progress with parents.

About 400 parents have responded to invitations sent out by Mrs. Guy L. Trow at Dupre school for parents to have lunch in the school cafeteria with their children, and then visit rooms during the relaxation period which follows the lunch period each day.

Dupre teachers and Mrs. Trow have divided the rooms so that parents from four rooms will report on Monday and three each day for the remainder of the week. It is not too late for other parents to answer written invitations sent home, Mrs. Trow said, but parents should notify the school if they wish to eat lunch with their child during American Education week.

Monday Visits Planned

Parents of students in the School of Exceptional children will visit on Monday during the hours their children are in school, Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, principal, said.

Tuesday is the day designated for parents to visit Sanders and Walter Posey schools. At the Parent-Teacher meeting at Sanders Tuesday night John Wilson, W. E. Lorance, and the Rev. Alvis Bryan will furnish a panel discussion of the theme, "Teamwork Between Fathers and the School."

Thursday has been set aside for visiting this week at Arnett, K. Carter, McWhorter, Guadalupe, and Wolfforth schools. Pupils of all grades at Arnett will study subjects suggested for the week. Parents of Arnett are invited to visit at any time during the day and to attend the Parent-Teacher association meeting Thursday afternoon when students in grades four and six will give a program.

Other Thursday Programs

At McWhorter parents are being asked to visit during the afternoon on Thursday, view students work, and attend the Parent-Teacher meeting where music students will present a program. K. Carter, Guadalupe, and Wolfforth have set Thursday afternoon for parents to visit.

At both P. E. Brown and Roscoe Wilson schools special invitations are being issued to parents to visit classes at designated hours throughout the entire week. Parents will be welcome at these schools at any time during the week if they find it impossible to visit during the special times designated, principals said.

Other schools of the Lubbock system have not designated special times for visitation, but will hold open house throughout the week principals said. At Chris Harwell school some rooms are issuing special invitations for certain days. Parents at George M. Hunt school are being invited to eat lunch in the school cafeteria and then visit rooms to observe regular school work.

Skits On Program

Skits and programs have been prepared by students at M. C. Overton school for each day during the week to be presented over the school public address system. Individual rooms are planning special programs stressing American Education week themes.

A special effort is being made by teachers at Cottage school to make Education week and its themes meaningful to students from grades one through six. Special activities will include the making of posters and charts, listening to outside speakers, presenting original plays and dramatizations, and listening to special radio programs to be presented during the week. Parents are being encouraged to visit during the week to observe these activities.

At both Dunbar High and Elementary schools, and the Primary school, special assembly programs are being planned and parents are invited to visit throughout the week.

NEXT DECADE IN EDUCATION—Pushing upward through Lubbock public schools is an increasing number of students, as pictorially illustrated above. The first grade in the city's schools has almost five times as many students as the 12th grade; almost twice as many as the eighth grade, and 1.38 times as many as the fourth grade. The figures, which are in keeping with the trend over the nation, indicate a gradually increasing graduation figure. School officials continually are making adjustments to care for the increasing number of students resulting from increased birth rate. The increasing number of students will be recognized in "The Next Decade in Education" day Saturday as a part of National Education week observance. Students pictured are arranged, according to the grades they represent, to indicate the proportionate enrollment. From left to right, they are: First row, Kay Lowe, Bill Thornton, Linda Lockard, Freddie McCormack, Patsy Boyd, Bill Ed Abbott, Lynnette McMillan, Joe Haddon, Nan Rampy and Al Hardin; second row, Don Griffith, Mike McFarland, Dixie McEachern, Dick Kennedy, Nettie Mooney, Bill Robinson and April Tuft; third row, Jeannette Reames, Wanece Bownds, Don Wilson, Darla Alexander and Alvin Conely; and back row, Dale Young and Mary Frances Forkner. MAKING DEMOCRACY WORK—The student council in Senior High school, illustrating the "Making Democracy Work" theme of American Education week, is likely to be at work in any new project opening at the school to see that student participation is on a democratic basis, with members being elected by the student body. In the photograph above, a cafeteria committee from the council was announcing plan to the council for opening of the cafeteria sometime this month. Pictured, left to right, are Mona Powell, June Franklin, Juanita Alford and Don Naylor, members of the cafeteria committee, and J. C. Chambers, student president. (Staff Photo).

Edda Mussolini Ciano Demands Information On Grave Location

ROME, Nov. 5 (AP)—Edda Mussolini Ciano, daughter of the late dictator, demanded today that her family be told the secret burial place if Il Duce.

In a letter to the Rome newspaper Il Tempo she dnied Italian police statements that the Mussolini family never has asked for information on Mussolini's burial place.

The remains were buried secretly after they were recovered from a band of fascists who removed them from the first grave in Milan.

No Turkey Shortages In Texas For Thanksgiving Day Dinners

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
United Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—Texas housewives may have reason to fret about the impending coffee "crisis," but they need not worry about putting a turkey on the table come Thanksgiving day.

There is no gobbler shortage in sight, and the lady of the house can serve up a tantalizing tom with all the trimmings and side dishes with less money than she had to fork up last year.

Talking turkey, it should cost no more than $12 to feed seven persons—say, a family of four, plus at least three hungry relatives or sudden visitors turning up half an hour before chow time.

Priced At 59 Cents

This includes the main item, turkey, and such tasty accompaniments as cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, dressing and a pleasant assortment of fruit and vegetables.

The Dallas Retail Grocers association reported that ton turkeys now are selling for 59 cents a pound, compared with 69 cents in November of 1948.

Turkey hens, which are smaller than the toms and have more fat, currently sell for 49 cents a pound, 10 cents lower than the price paid for hens last year about this time.

Robert Day, secretary of the association, said housewives won't have to go through the feathery fuss of picking a turkey, like mama did 20 years ago.

Automatic Pickers Used

"It's all automatic nowadays," Day said. "All of the big wholesale houses have picking machines, and when they get through with them, those turkeys are pretty well picked.

"And any housewife who ever tried to pick pin feathers from a turkey or duck should know that it's no fun."

Day said it was possible that prices might go up slightly, perhaps 10 per cent, if housewives make a mad rush to the market at the last minute.

"But grocers and market men are doing their best to hold prices down," he added.

Day concurred with a Dallas chain store manager who told the United Press that, under normal conditions, a Thanksgiving turkey dinner for seven could be served for an even dozen greenbacks.

Prices Could Fluctuate

"And I think that price can be matched by the independents, too," Day said, not only in Dallas but all over the state with a few exceptions where transportation may increase the operator's overhead costs.

A wholesaler who was optimistic over the "excess of turkeys" cautioned that prices "could go up or down, according to how great the demand is."

If there is a shortage of birds, the lady of the house will have to blame it on the popularity of her individual grocer or butcher. From Alice to Dallas, any individual store may exhaust its stock if it gets more than its regular ratio of customers.

King Of The Hoboes Gets Finest Bed In Final Resting Place

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP) — Dan O'Brien, who called himself "the king of the hoboes," had the kind of funeral he probably would have wanted.

And today he sleeps in a satin-lined casket in a pretty little cemetery plot—a richer bed than he knew during his 90 years.

Dan died last week at New York's Bellevue hospital—broke, as usual.

His friends came to the funeral yesterday in a little mortuary chapel. Some were well dressed; some came from the Bowery.

Professor Giuseppe Ravitta, the "Paganini of the gutter" who fiddles outside Carnegie hall, played "Ava Maria" on his violin.

Box Car Betty eulogized him.

The unitarian clergyman, Rev. Charles F. Potter, added his words ... "To rushing go-getters he preached relaxation ... to city people he sang the song of the open road."

Dan had never done much, didn't work, played with the kids, and told people to take it easy. He was headed for a pauper's grave, but his friends said no. A real estate man, Morris Morganstern, and Sammy Fuchs, proprietor of the Bowery follies, put up the money for the coffin and plot.

"Dan's not dead," declared Box Car Betty, who won't give her real name. "He's just making a trip. We'll see his face again and we'll hear him speak. It'll be a grand thing if we hold a convention up there."

And she wept.

Triplet Girls In Georgia Are Reported "Doing Fine"

ATLANTA, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—Triplet girls, all "doing fine" despite a combined weight of not quite ten pounds, were born today to Mrs. Thelma Gibbs, 29, who already had six children.

Hospital attendants said Mrs. Gibbs gave birth to twins on Jan. 16 of this year.

The girls, as yet unnamed, weighed three pounds, nine ounces; three pounds, ten ounces, and three pounds, ten and one-half ounces.

The father, John Gibbs, works for a used car firm here.

Federal Housing Projects Pushed

GALVESTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The army is in the midst of a multi-million dollar effort to solve one of its biggest Texas problems: Housing for enlisted men and their families.

The housing, in the form of individual houses and neat, two-story apartment buildings, is for both air force and army men.

Altogether, there will be 680 apartments and 120 individual houses.

Installations involved are Carswell Air Force base, Fort Worth; Bergstrom Air Force base, Austin; Randolph Air Force bace and Lackland Air Force base, San Antonio, and Camp Hood, near Killeen.

Big Contract Held

The Camp Hood housing program is by far the biggest, totaling about $4,000,000. J. W. Bateson company of Dallas holds a $2,886,508 contract to build 34 apartment buildings, each containing eight apartments. Another Dallas firm, Shaw and Estes, has a $1,052,294.51 contract to build 120 modern two and three-bedroom houses.

The Camp Hood individual houses are somewhat of a departure from ordinary construction. They are pre-cut in Dallas by the Texas Housing company and are erected at Camp Hood on a concrete foundation. Exterior walls are of frame construction sheathed with plywood over which insulation and asbestos shingles are placed.

All the material is pre-cut and built into panels for quick assembly on the site. Panels and other material is trucked from Dallas directly to the building site, where the panels are anchored to the concrete foundation. More than half the rough carpentry work is done in Dallas.

Projects Are Listed

The apartment buildings going up at Fort Worth, San Antonio and Austin are mostly two-story clay and concrete tile structures. Each apartment has a living room, dining room, and kitchen downstairs and three bedrooms and bath upstairs.

McCann Construction co. of Fort Worth holds a $1,357,499 contract for building 17 of the apartment buildings at Carswell Air Force base.

At Austin's Bergstrom field, 16 apartment buildings are being built under a $1,273,145 contract held by Lawless & Alford company of Austin.

H. B. Zachry Construction co., San Antonio, holds the contracts for ten apartment buildings at Randolph Air Force base and eight at Lackland Air Force base there.

Lt. Col. Ellsworth I. Davis, Galveston district army engineer, said the vast program has been underway about four months and is expected to be completed by October, 1950.

Quick-Thinking Southern Guard Gallantly Aids Anxious Woman

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5 (U.P.)—A guard at a Shelby county public building reached a new high in South'n gallantry.

During repairs, the men's room was open, the women's wasn't. When an embarrassed woman approached, the elderly guard said:

"Tell you what, lady. I'll go into the men's room and chase 'em out, and then you can go in and I'll stand guard for you."

Two Lubbock Students Given Legal Fraternity Membership

WACO, Nov. 5—William Cole and Bill Somers of Lubbock are among 32 members of the Baylor university law group accepted into Phi Delta Phi, oldest legal fraternity in the world, recently.

The local chapter of the international legal fraternity was formerly the Justinian organization, and will be known now as Hemphill Inn after John Hemphill, first chief justice of Texas.

Conducting initiation and installation ceremonies were Leon Wallace and George W. Parker, president and vice-president of the international Phi Delta Phi. Honor guests included Meade F. Griffin, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas; Jake Tirey, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Waco; D. W. Bartlett, judge, 54th Judicial District Court, Waco; and Abner V. McCall, dean of the School of Law, Baylor.

Cole, a mid-law student, is the son of Mrs. Sarah Ellen Cole, 2107 22nd, and Somers, also a mid-law student, is the son of A. G. Somers, 1915 8th street.

New Building For Departments Of Lubbock Auto Firm Planned

Announcement of a new building for Lubbock Auto Co., Inc., to house the parts and service departments and to be constructed on the half-block across the street east from the company's present building at 820 Texas Avenue was made Saturday by Harry Morris, president.

Contract for construction of the new building has been let to the Tidmore Construction Co., and work will get under way Monday.

The building will be 125 feet by 260 feet and occupy the entire half block, where the company's motor rebuilding and body plant, used car lot and the Risinger-Tipton Machine shop are now located. Plans call for razing of the old dance palace and other structures on the lot.

Cost Not Revealed

The new building will be of steel and all-masonry construction with a liberal use of glass and glass brick. Cost of the building was not revealed.

The new building will provide for doubling of the company's present parts department and tripling the size of the service department. Both departments are now housed in the same building with the offices and sales department. The present sales room building will be remodeled at a later date, Morris said.

The new building, in addition to housing the parts and service departments, will also provide a separate truck department, which will accommodate 15 large trucks at one time with plenty of space for trailers or vans.

Tower Is Planned

A 65-foot masonry tower will rise from approximately the center position of the new building, on which will be a large neon sign.

Heating throughout the new building will be floor radiant. The parts department will be air-conditioned.

"Since Lubbock Auto company has merchandised Ford products in Lubbock since June 1, 1921, and stayed abreast with the growth of this section, we find it necessary to expand our facilities in order to take care of our fine customers in this area," Morris said.

"The people of West Texas have been kind to us and we always hope that we provide facilities and service to continuously warrant their patronage."

Morris said the remodeling project, and the sales room remodeling at a later date, will be ample to accommodate a city and community of 100,000 people.

NEW LUBBOCK AUTO CO. BUILDING ANNOUNCED—Above is an architect's sketch of a new building to be constructed by Lubbock Auto Co., inc., across the street from the company's present sales and service building at 820 Texas avenue. The building will cover an entire half block, fronting on Texas avenue.

Melchior Comes To Recsue Of "Musicians" After Arrest For Desecrating The Sabbath

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—You can say all you want, but when the chips are down these musicians stick together.

The eight Korn Kobblers found themselves on the spot yesterday, and it was grand opera itself that came rushing to the rescue.

The Kobblers make their muisc—if you can call it music—on a pipe, a washboard, and something that looks like a spittoon.

Even so, they talked a New York cafe into signing a $3,500-a-week contract two Sundays ago and were celebrating in ecstasies on the pipe, the washboard, and the spittoon.

To Patrolman William Gilroy, a traditionalist, it sounded awful and he gave them a summons for breaking the sabbath peace.

Melchior Assists

In court yesterday before Magistrate John R. Sharkey, the Korn Kobblers brought up their heavy artillery—bulky Wagnerian tenor Lauritz Melchior.

Called to the stand, the Metropolitan opera star went down the line for the boys:

"Very often," he told Sharkey, "it happens that the music of living composers is way ahead of the people living at the time, and some might think it was noise. When Wagner's operas were first performed, the papers said his music was unnecessary noise."

Then the prosecution asked if Melchior had ever sung to the Kobblers' music.

No, Melchior admitted, but he had listened to their records.

Magistrate Sharkey wavered, and the Korn Kobblers hit him with everything they had—they offered to play for him in court.

That did it. Sharkey dismissed the case.

BEEF PAYS OFF

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. (U.P.) — Members of the Johnston City National Guard unit are looking for heavier recruits, the heavier the better. The Amercan Legion post offered five cents per pound for every recruit enlisted. In the first few weeks the offer was open, the guardsmen recruited about pounds of man or $200 worth.

Former Amarillo, Tech Gridder Slated To Go On Trial Dec. 12

AMARILLO, Nov. 5. (U.P.) — Dwight W. Hoskins, 24, a former Amarillo High school and Texas Tech football player, will face trial Dec. 12 for the $31 hijack-slaying of service station attendant Charles Freeman.

Hoskins, who made an all-1state football team, was denied bond at a hearing yesterday as the trial date was set. He is charged with slaying Freeman on Oct. 6.

Also charged in the hold-up-slaying is Private Donald Gene Young, 28, who was arrested at Camp Kilmer, N. J., when he reported for duty. Young's trial date has not been set.

DISEASE HITS TURKEYS

COLUMBUS, O. (U.P.)—Ohio has about 1,300,000 turkeys this year but probably will have less by the time they are ready for the broiler. Although the crop of young turkeys is equal to the best in other years, new and different turkey diseases keep cropping up to cut down the numbers.

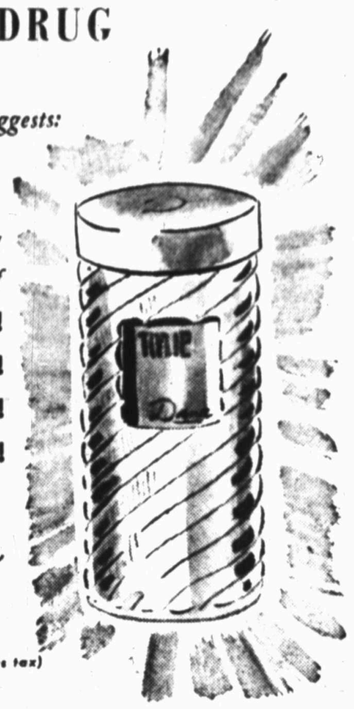

British village policemen soon will use the Gadabout, a newly developed motor scooter capable of 35 miles an hour.

Industrial and construction workers in Israel took an $8 a month wage cut, based on substantial fall in the cost-of-living index in recent months.

By-products of a beef canning plant now being built in Tanganyika will include bone meal, blood meal, hoof and horn meal, neat's foot oil, and glue.

PROTECTION OF SOIL IS SOUGHT

Blue Panicum Grass Showing Progress In Hockley District

Blue panicum grass, on the L. E. Wilson farm in the Ropesville community of the Hockley County Soil Conservation district, is making rapid recovery following September rains. The grass, which was seeded last spring in 38-inch rows and grazed during the summer, is going into the winter with four to five feet of growth.

Wilson believes this will furnish adequate litter and cover to protest the soil from blowing or washing. The grass is on shallow land, which is recognized as being best suited for permanent vegetation.

Largest Planting On Ranch

The largest planting of this grass to be found in the South Plains area is on the ranch of Howard Hampton, who is a district cooperator of the Crosby County Soil Conservation district. Last spring Hampton planted about 30 acres of Blue panicum grass in 40-inch rows on good deep moderately heavy soid near his ranch headquarters. This planting of grass came up to a poor stand and did not make much growth until the September rains came. Due to the poor stand, the grass was not grazed. However, the stand has increased since the September rains and has made a growth of three to four feet.

Hampton thinks that by overseeding the few areas of poor stand next spring, he will have an excellent pasture by next summer. He plans to keep the grass in rows and cultivate it once or twice each year.

Planted In Hockley In 1948

Blue panicum grass, also known as Blue panic and as giant panic grass, has been planted in parts of Texas for a number of years. Planting in the vicinity of Lubbock was first made in the Hockley County Soil Conservation district in the spring of 1948 on the F. C. Bailey Farm operated by Jim K. Wiman, according to Marshall W. Howard, district conservationist of the Soil Conservation service.

Blue panicum is a vigorous perennial bunch grass. It has proved its value in other parts of the state as a forage and pasture grass. It is an introduced grass from Australia and has good possibilities for use in a conservation crop rotation. Local farmers and ranchers have made the remark, after seeing trial plantings of the grass, that if as good results can be obtained as appear possible, they will not plant any more sudan grass for summer grazing.

Propagated By Roots, Seed

"This plant can be propagated by using the roots as well as the seed. A number of bulbs are produced each year on the old plant. The plant can be dug up, the bulbs broken off and transplanted in about the same manner as planting Irish potatoes. However, as the supplies are becoming more plentiful each year, it is much easier to plant the seed, and this is the most common method of planting," Howard continued.

"This brings up another problem," Howard said. "The grass seeds are so small they cannot be planted with an ordinary grain planter because the seed will sift out of the box. A planter has been made from an old sod planter for the purpose of seeling these fine seeds. This grass should be planted on a firm seed bed, with ample cover to protect the seedling plant until it can take care of itself," he says.

At least ¾ pound of grass seed per acre should be planted and best results are obtained if the grass is planted in rows, so that weed competition can be kept to a minimum. Blue panicum, like any other plant, will do best on land high in fertility. Even though excellent results have been obtained under dry land conditions, more tonnage per acre will be made if the grass is planted where it can be irrigated. At San Antonio, Texas, one cutting of green forage under irrigation yielded 8½ tons per acre.

"This grass, even though it has underground rhizomes, will not become a pest like Johnson grass. Blue panicum can be killed like native grass—by plowing," Howard concluded.

The Blue panicum has not been grown long enough in the South Plains area to say it is "the grass" for livestock farmers. However, after going through a very dry summer in 1948, as well as a very severe winter, it is believed that this grass has possibilities for a bright future in this area.

Turkey Gobbler With Maternal Instinct Trys To Hatch Brood

CROSS PLAINS, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—A turkey gobbler is trying to become the foster mother of several baby chickens. When he hatches them, that is.

He was discovered perched on three hen eggs and "nesting" as seriously as any hen.

Folks hereabouts were speculating if he would "mother" the chicks after they were hatched.

Observers say he leaves the nest only for grub and water, and that only for short periods of time.

Wife Suing For Divorce Swears Actor Threatened To Burn Home

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5 (AP) — The third Mrs. Victor Mature, accusing her actor-husband of threatening to burn their house down, has slipped him a legal hotfoot—a suit for divorce.

Mrs. Mature, the former Dorothy Berry, contends in her complaint filed yesterday that ever since their 1948 Yuma, Ariz., marriage, the big actor had caused her great suffering. Listing his salary as $2750 a week, she asked $1000 monthly alimony and a division of extensive community property.

She also filed an affidavit stating Mature had threatened to set their $25,000 home ablaze if she asked for property. The court granted her a restraining order forbidding him from disposing of any assets pending trial.

Mature, about 36, was divorced by two previous wives, Actress Frances Charles and Martha Stephenson Kemp, widow of bandleader Hal Kemp. Mrs. Mature, 28, was married once before.

Philippine Reserves Of U. S. Dollars Reach Lowest Level

MANILA, Nov. 5 (AP) — The philippines reserves in U. S. dollars dropped to a new postwar low of $279,000,000 at the end of September. The decline is due largely to a heavily adverse balance of trade and a gradual reduction in the U. S. aid program. Reserves were $400,000,000 Jan. 2.

Economists at the U. S. embassy and the Philippine government have urged heavier import controls on luxuries and non-essentials to halt the dollar drain.

Georgia Racial Dispute Flares

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 5 (AP) A south Georgia couple have withdrawn a $300,000 damage suit against six persons involved in a racial dispute over ancestry.

Mr. and Mrs. George White had charged in the suit that their four minor children were barred from the Clyattville consolidated school on a charge of having negro blood. The school is in Lowndes couty in south Georgia.

Mrs. White said in the suit that she is of Indian descent. She and her husband declared that one of the six defendants — Mrs. Lillie Holderby—was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, "a hate group."

Damage Suit Withdrawn

The couple said their civil rights were violated when the six individuals complained to the school board that Mrs. White was part negro.

The day after the damage suit was filed, Mrs. Holderby swore out warrants accusing the Whites of miscegenation (intermarriage between white and negro). The couple were arrested and later freed in $500 bond each. A grant jury will hear the charge of miscegration Nov. 21.

U. S. District Judge Abe Conger said the damage suit was dismissed yesterday at the request of the Whites, who recently moved to Gilchrist county in North Florida.

Named with Mrs. Holderby in the damage suit were Murrell Holderby, C. C. Gay, W. R. Arnold, J. H. Duke, and Eddie Shiver.

COMPLETE BREAK IN COMMAND

Admiral Sherman Chosen Over 10 Others For Top Navy Post

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, who figuratively toured the Mediterranean with a copy of Homer's "Ulysses" in one hand and a 200-year-old Greek icon in the other, has his hands equally full of navy problems today.

Sherman's task is to fill the place in navy thinking and command vacated by Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, who was ousted as chief of naval operations when he bucked Pentagon policy.

Sherman was selected over 10 officers outranking him when Navy Secretary Matthews insisted on a "complete break" in command. The secretary wanted a contrasting personality as well as a new philosophy for the top navy post.

Contrast In Characters

Whereas Denfeld is big, easy going and deliberate, Sherman is rapier-like in his thoughts and actions. He is medium build, immaculate of dress, courtly of manner, and at one time was an intercollegiate fencing champion.

Sherman also is scholarly. When he was assigned to the command of the Mediterranean fleet in 1948, he launched into an intensive reading program on Mediterranean history.

The new chief reconstructed the adventures of "Ulysses" as he went from port to port with the fleet, and collected historical works and objects. The patriarch of the Greek orthodox church at Istanbul gave him the 200 year old icon.

Swam With King

Sherman became an honorary citizen of Corfu, Cethalonia and Crete. He swam in shorts with the king of Greece. He said the queen was wearing slacks and a sweater that day. The admiral also learned aquaplaning and acquired a sail boat for recreation. He plans to bring his 15 foot sailing snipe, "The Allegretto"—which "means something like 'happiness'"—to Washington later for outings on the Potomac.

Sherman was born Oct. 30, 1896, at Merrimack, N. H., but grew up at Melrose, Mass., outside of Boston. When he was six years old he was taken aboard the battleship Kentucky in Boston harbor, and acquired then a desire to enter the navy. He says:

"I had a Republican father and a Democratic congressman—so I had to get into the Annapolis naval academy by taking a competitive examination.

'I got out in 1917, and haven't been a day out of the navy since."

Sherman was commissioned a naval aviator in 1922, after training at Pensacola, Fla., and has won the navy "E" in both gunnery and dive bombing.

In 1942 he was in command of the carrier Wasp when it was sunk by enemy action off the Solomon islands. He was awarded the navy cross and the purple heart for heroism in that disaster.

Barely 53, Sherman is the youngest officer ever to become navy chief. He moves into the big "admiral's house" on Washington's observatory hill for one prime reason: that he is willing to go along with present Pentagon policy, whereas Denfeld reached the point where he wasn't.

Their difference is indicated by Denfeld's statement that 'any step that is bad for the navy is bad for the nation," and Sherman's that 'if you achieve a healthy, peaceful condition in the country, you don't achieve a period of expansion in the armed forces."

Sherman doesn't rule out expansion in peace time, but thinks for the present that the navy may have to take a deep cut in the interest of the general economy.

FARMS ELECTRIFIED

BOZEMAN, Mont., Nov. 5. (AP) Nearly two thirds of Montana's farms now receive electricity. Rural Electrification Administration data here show 23,462, or 62.2 per cent, of the state's rural homesteads now are electrified. This compares with a national average of about 75 per cent while 11 states can boast 95 per cent rural electrification, the REA said.

Contractors Group To Gather Monday

Approximately 40 members and guests are expected for a dinner meeting of the Painting and Decorating Contractors of America, South Plains chapter, in the Fiesta room of Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

The organization was established 65 years ago. The local chapter was organized July 11, 1947, and chartered in August of that year. Present officers are G. E. Jones, president; Edwin Merritt, vice president; Marvin A. Fann, financial secretary.

Members are painting contractors who employ 75 per cent of the painter craft in this locality. Associate members are leading suppliers of paint and related products in the area.

George Warner, of the Sansom Paint and Paper company, will play the piano in an informal program at the dinner.

Purpose of the organization is to sponsor better craftsmanship, faithful performance of contracts, continuous study of modern design, color and development of technical phases of products and their application, a spokesman said.

Cigar Band Collectors Just Don't Go In For Smoking

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5. (AP)—There was a noticeable lack of smoke at the annual convention of the International Cigar Band Society. President Grover Greasby, of Waukesha, Wis., explained that about 80 per cent of the Society's members don't smoke.

President Greasby, a middle-aged mechanic, and his wife brought along what they called their master collection, dating back to 1900. The collection includes eight complete sets bearing the likeness of U. S. Presidents. Mrs. Greasby also has a complete set of German rulers, from 1714 to the late Kaiser; a set of 89 flags of the world, and a set of 50 state shields. Another set displayed by Mrs. Greasby was imprinted with the faces of playing cards. There was enough variety for one complete deck.

Greasby said members get their bands by swapping or writing direct to manufacturers. Some buy cigars and give them away after removing the bands.

Harlem Parade Is Reported By Reds

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP)—Moscow newspapers today published dispatches from New York reporting "immense indignation" among Harlem crowds who demonstrated Thursday night to celebrate the release on bail of New York city councilman Benjamin J. Davis, jr., one of the 11 convicted Communist leaders.

The reports said the demonstrators' indignation was aroused when New York police arrested six persons after "the police tried to disperse the peaceful demonstrators and the demonstrators refused to obey the order."

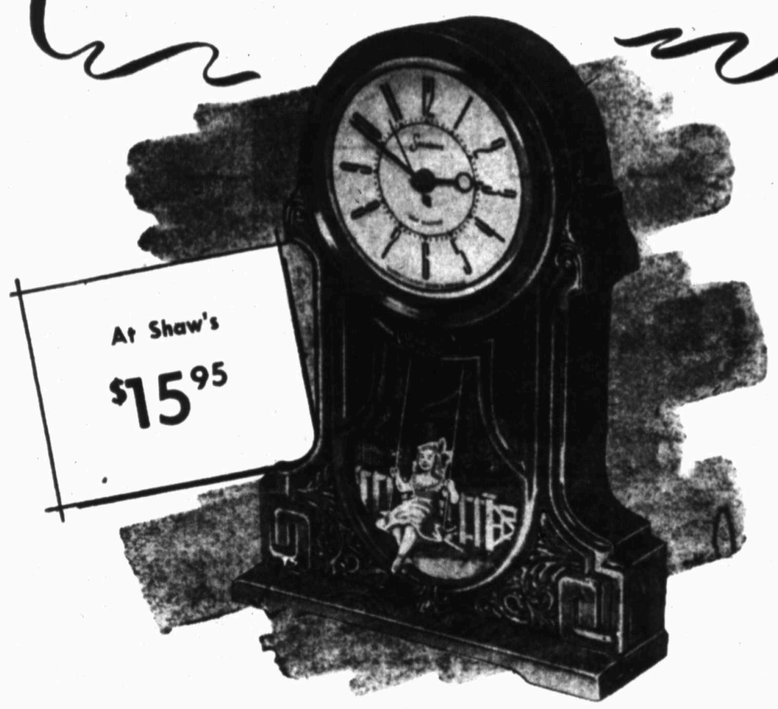

The dispatches reported "huge demonstrations" were held in Harlem to celebrate Davis' release.

(New York police estimated 2,000 persons took part in the torchlight parade.)

Truman Optimistic Over Future Of Free Enterprise In America

By JAMES MARLOW
Associted Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The present Russian Communist leaders have grown old in the belief that capitalism will and must, by its very nature, end in a heap of ruins.

But as time goes on President Truman preaches more and more optimism about the future of free enterprise and the future of this country. This shows of repeatedly in his speeches. It showed up twice this week.

Here in Washington on Wednesday he was talking about his "point four" for world recovery, his plan for helping backward areas develop. He said:

"If we can make a contribution in the know-how, and raise the standard of living just two per cent, in the rest of the world, our factories and our businesses never could catch up with the demand that would be on them.

Untouched Resources Cited

"Just think of that. That's all we need to do. It is not beyond the bounds of possibility. There are resources in this great world that never have been touched."

Then Thursday night, speaking in St. Paul, he had more to say—and more specifically about free enterprise:

"We are concerned with expanding our economy and the opportunities of our people. We are concerned with increasing our agricultural and industrial production, and our standards of living.

"We have, in fact, a whole new world before us, the world of increased opportunity and wider freedom that our new technology and increasing abundance make possible. . . .

"We must rely, as we have always relied, upon the spirit of initiative and free enterprise."

Then he added something: "We know that it is necessary for the government to follow policies that will make it possible for initiative and free enterprise to succeed."

Federal Aid Argued

With that statement he was making it clear he doesn't think that all that's necessary for enterprise to succeed is just to let it alone.

A completely free enterprise is one where the government never interferes and never helps.

In that sense, enterprise in this country has almost never been completely free, since the early tariff laws were aimed at helping American enterprise by protecting it from foreign competition.

As the years passed, the government stepped in in other ways: with its anti-trust laws against monopolies, its interstate commerce laws and regulations, its minimum wage laws to help workers, its help to farmers, and so on.

The big argument in this country has always been and still is: Just how much can the government step into American life and business without destroying free enterprise?

President Truman, in his St. Paul speech, said there can't be real progress unless the "benefits of our production are widely distributed among all citizens."

Truman Lists Plans

He listed a number of things he had in mind: Wider and better social security benefits, compulsory health insurance, federal aid to education, and other things.

Hhe didn't actually list them under those names, but all of them were in his speech and all have been part of his program, expressed over and over again in the past

The fact that he has met with opposition in Congress on the points mentioned above—this last congress controlled by his own Democrats—shows how wide is the difference in American thinking on what free enterprise is and how free it should be, whether it involves the enterprise of an individual or a corporation.

It ranges all the way from those who want no government regulation or help of any kind, to those who agree that some federal controls and aid are needed, and those like President Truman who think the government should take a much more active role in American life, for, as he has expressed it, the "general welfare."

School's Program To Cut Service Rivalry

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 5 (AP) — Jefferson Military college's board of trustees has approved a tentative course of instruction designed to cast the school in the role of modifier of interservice rivalry.

Stanley Murphy, chairman of the board's executive committee, said yesterday the trustees have approved the program submitted by Vice Admiral A. Stanton Merrill (USN reired) who has been offered the post of school superintendent.

National attention was focused on the 147-year-old preparatory school recently when the board turned down a potential $50,000,000 endowment on the condition that it would devote itself exclusively to white Christians.

In his letter "provisionally" accepting the superintendent's post, Admiral Merrill proposed a proceedure which he regarded as "the only practical means of destroying the service jealousy and the differences which now exist between our several services."

He advocated a combined course in naval, military, air and diplomatic sciences for all freshmen and sophomores, with specialization to come only after the sophomore year.

The courses would be based on present R.O.T.C. curriculum taught in "certain selected colleges."

"On graduation," Admiral Merrill wrote, each student should have a basic knowledge of one of the four sciences named, and a familiarity of the other three sufficient for proper cooperation."

Senator Blames Soviet Agents For High Federal Expenditures

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP)—Senator Edward Martin (R-Pa) says "we are listening too much to the agents of the Soviet Union" and that is why federal expenditures are so high.

In an address last night to Northampton county Republican campaign workers, Martin said Communists "have infiltrated every sort of organization and group," and their "innocent dupes wage a never-ending war on Congress for greater and greater spending by the government."

He predicted that we will end the fiscal year with a deficit of at least six to eight billion dollars—"the greatest peacetime deficit in the history of America."

She Has The Politicos Singing "Five-Foot Two—"

Florida Resort Town, With Housewife As City Manager, Gets Good Cleaning

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Correspondent

SAFETY HARBOR, Fla., Nov. 5—The sunny gulf coast resort called Safety Harbor was not as cozy and comfortable as it sounts—till a housewife took over as city manager.

Business was bad . . . Fires were frequent . . . The city's famous health springs were shabby . . . Kids were hurling stones at antiquated street lights.

Then shy, pretty Mrs. Ida Samuelson, who knew nothing about politics but plenty about housecleaning, stepped into office.

While local politicians grumbled about "distaff dictation," she quietly went into spring cleaning, using, as she terms it, "a few bristles and plenty of soft soap."

Holds Other Titles

Today, two years later, Safety Harbor, from curbs to city councilmen, is a model of neatness and peace. The blustering politicos are serving on the volunteer fire department, new street lights are shining on newly paved streets, the youngsters are playing baseball and the health springs have picked up patrons.

"It was tough going," says Mrs. Samuelson with a satisfied wink. "But I guess now I could even put my feet up on the city hall desk and no one would snicker.

"I might do that too, except that I'm a grandmother, and grandmothers don't do such things."

At 47, besides being the only woman city boss in Florida—and a grandmother—she is tax assessor, tax collector, law enforcement officer, city clerk and property appraiser for Safety Harbor.

Husband Still Boss

"Also," she drawls, "a housewife. All those titles make me sound important but don't you go 'n believe it. My husband's still my boss."

Proof of that came, she recalls when she first considered taking the office with no experience and "no particular political or educational background."

C. A. Samuelson, "the master" and general manager of a Safety Harbor sanitarium, said he'd give her no advice and he didn't want to have to do the housework around their little bungalow while she worked late at the office.

"Once he told me," she shrugs, "he never had to do either one. I still go home every night and put our house in order. It's a cinch after planning the day for a big city."

Safety Harbor is really not big (1,500 population), but to five-foot-two, 105-pound Mrs. Samuelson it seems mammoth. She grew up there, had her first job when, in 1918, she graduated from high school and immediately began teaching english to her underclassmen in the same institution.

"They wouldn't obey me," she recalls, "cause they thought I was too young to know more than they did. Same thing when I got to be city manager. They wouldn't obey me just because I was a woman.

"Big difference, though. In 1918, I quit my job, discouraged, but in 1948, I stuck to the job and got out of it."

Because she wanted to go places and see things, Mrs. Samuelson ventured out of Safety Harbor three times—to live in New York, Denver, and Chicago. She worked as a telephone operator, a stenographer and a salesgirl. But she always came home because "Safety Harbor's such a wonderful, friendly place."

Mrs. Samuelson is also a one-woman chamber of commerce.

Has Plans For Town

Now that she's at the helm of her favorite port, she thinks it will eventually be a boom town for health resorters, if her plans go well. Every day, she greets newcomers to town, works on the city budget, spends time with the police and fire chiefs, checks with the building inspector on new residences.

Twice a month she meets with city commissioners and gets off her past two-weeks' ideas. They usually agree.

Mrs. Samuelson admits that "nobody ever squabbles much or uses harsh language in front of me." But she doesn't think that's a sign that she's not considered a "good man" for the job.

"As a matter of fact," she says, "someone suggested to me once that I might do a job on a city like New York, when I get finished with Safety Harbor."

And Mrs. Samuelson, who thinks that worrying about evernone's personal problems in a small city can't be any easier than worrying about objective, over-all problems in a big one, said:

"I wouldn't mind!"

AUSSIES SET RACES

NEW YORK. (AP)—Two Hambletonian harness races will be run in 1950. In addition to the traditional classic at Goshen, N. Y., Australia—which curerntly is enjoying a harness racing boom similar to that in this country—also will honor the father of the standardbreds with a Hambletonian championship event during the inter-dominion races at Melbourne in February.

Ex-Army Colonel, 62, Having Great Fun As Student At USC

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5. (AP)—A former Army colonel, three times a grandfather, is having the time of his life as a student at the University of Southern California.

Desmond K. Laub, 62, majors in French and studies the modern French novel, American history, geology and English literature as well. "I'm making straight A's," the grins, "which is better than my daughters did when they went to the University of Michigan."

As a youth Lamb bypassed college in favor of a trip to Denmark. Back in this country he took a job with the Detroit News and over a 30-year period was everything from cub reporter to foreign correspondent. He won a purple heart as an infantry lieutenant in World War I, and left the last war a colonel in the Air Corps inteligence corps.

Retirement wasn't to his taste, so Lamb went to college. "I'm having a wonderful time," he says. "Being with all these young people is keeping me young."

American Influence Strong In Philippines Election Tuesday

BY SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Nov. 5—The young Philippines republic will elect a president Tuesday after a remarkably bloodless campaign in which the United States has been both an issue and an influence.

Here are the three candidates, one of whom will serve four years as the second elected president of the republic:

President Elpidio Quirino, Liberal leader who came to power 18 months ago upon the unexpected death of Manuel Roxas, the first president of the republic. Quirino makes much of U. S. friendship. Most observers give him an edge.

Jose P. Laurel, Macionalista party candidate, puppet president under the Japanese, who is supported by Filipino communists whether he likes it or not. He objects to what he calls American back seat driving. He is rated a strong second.

Dominant Party Split

Jose Avelino, a Liberal party boss who broke with Quirino. Quirino had him ousted from the senate presidency last spring and precipitated a deep split within the dominant Liberal party.

Regardless of who wins, it will take a lot of maneuvering to keep the Philippines' feet dry in the rising flood of communism in Asia.

Riding a groundswell of dissatisfaction with the government, Laurel's political comeback since early in 1948 has been as spectacular as it was swift.

Quirino also has come back fast. Six months ago his chances for election were drab. The Liberal party split was a major factor.

Then he gained stature at home with his proposal for a Pacific pact against communism. He added prestige with an official visit to Washington in August. Now, with an eye to the fact that he has rigid control over government machinery, the observers are giving him the nod.

Eighty percent of the 5,156,363 registered Filipinos are expected to vote.

Solons To Be Chosen

Also to be elected are eight senators and 98 house members. With the Liberal party split, it will be hard for any president to hold a majority through the next four years.

There are other headaches. Money from the U. S. for rehabilitation will run out in 18 months. That will precipitate an economic crisis.

Quirino has contended that only he could insure continued U. S. aid. Laurel has answered that the Philippines must learn to be more self reliant and that U. S. aid would be better spent under him because he would eliminate graft and corruption which he said have plagued Quirino's administration.

President Truman unexpectedly provided a major break in the campaign with his announcement Oct. 27 that the U. S. would remain friendly to the Philippines no matter who was elected.

It has been estimated that this statement gave Laurel a boost of perhaps 100,000 votes. Few believe that Laurel's election would end American interest in the Philippines. But many see a difference between friendliness and cordial relations.

Future Aid Considered

They also see a good possibility that the U. S. Congress might not be as impartial as Mr. Truman when considering future aid.

Adjustments in the U. S.-Philippine trade agreement and military bases agreement as well as a treaty of friendship and commerce have been under negotiation for a year. A change in leadership would put a new team to work on the above treaties, which Laurel says have circumscribed Philippine independence.

Laurel is backed by the communist party of the Philippines and by the leftist congress of labor organizations. No leftist himself, Laurel says communists support him as the lesser of two evils.

Laurel has stressed clean elections. He charged the administration with attempting to pad the vote in certain areas, paricularly on Negros island in the central Philippines.

Laurel warned the government that Filipinos had the right to revolt if they could not express their wishes freely at an electeion.

Plot Suspected

This backfired into an alleged sedition plot on Negros involving a score of the Philippine constabulary's crack soldiers and a Nacionalista party candidate for the senate. They were charged with illegal possession of arms. Quirino asserted a top opposition leader—meaning Laurel—was involved.

On a personal inspection tour this week I found the Nacionalistas had abandoned their party headquarters on Negros. Nacionalista candidates fled the island along with almost 300 party leaders.

Gov. Rafael Lachon of Negros has placed special police at strategic points of entry in every township. He has more than 1,000 armed men maintaining about 50 checkpoints on the highways.

The Nacionalistas undoubtedly will protest the election returns from this province and ask that they be thrown out.

An impartial survey showed that both parties were indulging in a lot of political maneuvering, but the sedition plot itself appears to have been thumped up.

There are 258,000 votes involved on Negros. They could be decisive. If knocked out by the courts they might turn the election to Laurel.

So Tuesday's election, beginning at the voting booth, may end in the courts.

Tars Who Camped On Yardarm Win In Deportation Fight

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—Three Greek seamen who camped out for three-and-a-half days on the yardarm of a ship here were back at their regular chores again today along with a shipmate who hid in the engine room of the ship for the same length of time.

The three men took refuge on the mast of the S. S. Aristokratis late Tuesday when an attempt was made to deport them. The fourth man at first was believed to have leaped over the side.

Perched On Yardarm

Until yesterday, the three men were perched on the yardarm 50 feet above the deck of the freighter with only a tarpaulin to protect them from rain and chill sea air blowing in from he harbor.

They were fed for a time by sympathetic shipmates who hoisted food, coffee, cigarets and a occasional round of whiskey, but the supply later was cut off by the ship's master.

Men Are Reassured

However, an attorney and an American official of a Greek maritime union to which the men belong succeeded in tossing an occasional package of food to the men from a scaffold on the dock alongside the ship.

Cold, stiff and hungry, they painfully climbed back down the mast late yesterday after being given assurance that they would not be harmed and that they would be able to sail with the vessel when she embarks for Formosa today or tomorrow.

ON ANCIENT GROUND

Nevada state prison is built on the graveyard of prehistoric giants. Excavations for the prison brought to light the remains of birds, beasts and reptiles.

Optimist Week Observed Here

The 74 members of the Lubbock Optimist club this week will suspend their regular Tuesday luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock in order to meet with their wives the same night in an informal observance of Optimist Week in the hotel's ballroom.

G. C. Stewart, president of the club, said Optimist week starts today and will be continued through Nov. 13.

He pointed out that in keeping with the Optimist slogan, "A Friend to the Boy into a physical reality," the local club owns and operates the Lone Star Junior Optimist club in the 2400 block of Sanders in northwest Lubbock.

At the present time, the junior club has a membership of 55 to 60 boys. They are furnished with wholesome recreation and entertainment under the direction of a paid part-time director.

Many members of the senior club donate their time each week to help in this project. C. H. Cummings is Boys Work chairman and Dr. L. B. Millsap is his assistant.

Stewart said these men see to it that the boys are provided an entertainment program every week and help the boys solve minor problems that may arise.

The club also sponsors Boy Scout Troop 100 and has provided the scouts a box car to meet in. The club also furnishes funds for the upkeep of the meeting place and only recently purchased paint for the project.

D. O. Dawkins is Optimist Week chairman, D. P. Pinkston, radio publicity chairman, and Charlie Greer, newspaper publicity chairman.

The Lone Star Junior Optimist club is a member agency of the Lubbock Community Chest.

National Political Leaders Watching Local Vote Trends

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—New York voters will carry important weight in Tuesday's elections, but politicians also will be watching a congressional contest in California, a governor's battle in New Jersey and mayor's races in Boston, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Louisville for signs of things to come in the 1950 battle for control of Congress.

Topped by as furious a Senate battle as the state has seen for some time, New York has three races on which national attention has been centered.

Republican Senator John Foster Dulles, appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, has pulled out all the stops in a campaign wated largely against what President Truman calls his "fair deal" domestic program.

Program Is Attacked

Dulles has attacked that program as a threat to the liberty of the people through centralized government power. He has had active campaign help from Dewey and endorsement from a number of ranking Republicans.

Dulles helped shape American foreign policy as an adviser to five secretaries of state and has contended his defeat would be a blow to Republican cooperation on the bi-partisan foreign policy.

Former Democratic Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Dulles' opponent, has accused the Republican senator or bigotry. Lehman had gone down the line for the Truman program.

As evidence that the Democrats haven't considered the race a walkaway, they have sent Vice President Barkley and two cabinet members—Secretary of Labor Tobin and Attorney General McGrath—to New York state to campaign for Lehman.

Because there are no other state-wide races, some politicians have said that the Democrats have the edge in the senatorial contest.

Dulles has spent much of his time trying to stir the up-state Republican vote into action. The Democrats are continuing on giving Lehman a huge majority in New York City because of the mayor's race there.

O'Dwyer Seeks Post

Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer, credited with higher political ambitions, is running for re-election. Newbold Morris, Republican-Liberal-Fusion candidate, is his principal opponent.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio is running on the American Labor party ticket, and there are three other minor party nominees.

O'Dwyer, talked as a possible candidate for senator or governor later, has contended that it would be a blow to President Truman's program if he were defeated. Morris has been sticking largely to local issues.

The Senate election is to fill only the remaining year of the unexpired term of Democratic Senator Robert Wagner, who resigned. The victor is almost certain to be a candidate again in 1950, when Dewey also might be running for re-election as governor.

If Dulles is the loser, some of his friends think that will be his last try at politics. Others contend he would make the strongest candidate for the Senate the Republicans could offer next year, when the state political situation might be more favorable to them.

If Lehman should be beaten, he probably would be counted out of active politics. In that case, there might be a demand for O'Dwyer to run for the Senate in 1950.

In a third New York race to be settled Tuesday—a special election for Congress in the tenth (Brooklyn) district—the Republicans aren't conceded much chance.

Mrs. Edna F. Kelly, Democrat, is bidding to succeed the late Rep. Andrew L. Somers. If elected she would be the 10th woman in Congress.

Opposed By GOP

Mrs. Kelley is opposed by Republican George H. Fankuchen in a district that goes Democratic regularly. Two minor party candidates also are in the race.

In California the Democrats think they have a chance to win the fifth congressional district, which the GOP has held for about 40 years.

Since 1926 the late Rep. Richard J. Welch had been winning both the Republican and Democratic nominations there, but Tuesday the voters will choose between Republican Lloyd Cosgrove, a lawyer, and Democrat John F. Shelley, an American Federation of Labor official, on a ballot that doesn't carry party designations.

Labor, active in all of the campaigns, has a direct stake in the Detroit mayor's race. George Edwards, president of the city council and a member of the CIO Auto Workers union, is running against city treasurer Elbert E. Cobo, former industrialist with reputed Republican leanings. Cobo led the field in the Sept. 13 city primary.

Close Races Seen

In Cleveland Democratic Mayor Thomas A. Burke, talked as a possible candidate against Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) next year, is running again. He is opposed by Republican Frank A. Polk.

Pittsburgh's Democratic Mayor David Lawrence is opposed by Republican Timothy T. Ryan in a race that may give some signs on political conditions in Pennsylvania, which the Republicans carried for Dewey in 1948.

Louisville has a mayor's race that might indicate how voters of the border state of Kentucky feel about how things are going nationally. And in Boston Democratic Mayor James M. Curley is running on a non-partisan ballot with about a dozen opponents.

The new Jersey governor's contest pits Republican Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll against Democratic state Senator Elmer H. Wene. Driscoll recently got the support of Charles Edison, former Democratic governor. Edison charged Wene's election would help return the governor's office to what is left of the Frank Hague organization.

If the Republican should lose in New Jersey, which they carried last year for Dewey, it would be regarded as a major blow to party hopes in 1950.

Ex-Premier Of Iran Killed At Gathering

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 5 (AP) — Former Premier Abdul Hussein Hazhir died today from an assassin's bullet. He was shot last night after a religious ceremony at which time he was representing the shah.

Following the shooting police arrested a man they identified as Hussein Immani. The motive for the shooting was not announced.

The ceremony at which Hazhir was shot was attended by many Iranian notables.

The 53-year-old Hazhir served five months as premier, from June 13, 1948, until his resignation the following Nov. 7. He resigned after a weak vote of confidence in the Majlis (parliament), which had failed to pass any of the bills he proposed.

Hazhir had been finance minister under former Premier Ahmed Qavam, and minister without portfolio in the subsequent cabinet of Ibrahim Hakimi, whom Hazhir succeeded as premier. After he resigned the premiership, he became a court minister.

Nobel Prize Awarded Japanese Physicist Boosts Japs' Morale

TOKYO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Japanese chests swelled today over the news that Dr. Hideki Yukawa had been awarded a Nobel prize for contributions to atomic physics.

Japanese in all walks of life got a tremendous lift from the announcement just as they did when their swimmers set new world's records at the National Amateur Athletic Union championships at Los Angeles last summer.

Since their crushing defeat in the war, many Japanese have been uncertain of their ability in any field.

The Tokyo newspaper Asahi sounded the tone of reaction to the first Nobel prize awarded a Japanese by saying:

"Dr. Yukawa's triumph is not only glory for Yukawa as an individual but the glory of Japanese physics, of Japanese science and of the whole Japanese nation. It too American scientists two years to prove the very theory for which Yuakwa was honered."

Yukawa has been a professor of theoretical physics at Columbia university in New York since September.

U. S. Will Back New Republic

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — United States is getting ready to show its strong backing for the new republic of United Indonesia —in the form of dollars and prompt diplomatic recognition.

For the present, this country is dispatching seven additional army officers to serve as neutral military observers during the touchy period when the Netherlands is transferring sovereignty to the East Indies nationalist regime.

The officers are expected to leave in a few days to join 18 others already on the scene.

Action Foreseen

Later, diplomatic authorities forecast, the United States will take such definite steps as these to help out the young republic

1. Extend formal recognition as soon as the new government is set up, in accordance with the agreement just reached with the Netherlands at the Hague. This is due to take place Dec. 31.

2. Renew Marshall plan aid meanwhile through the Economic Cooperation administration and the Netherlands home government. Some $40,000,000 is available. ECA aid was suspended 11 months ago when the Dutch launched their last "police action" against the Indonesians.

3. Give fresh consideration to informal Indonesian applications to the Export-Import bank for loans to repair sugar and oil refinery machinery and otherwise restore production.

4. Probably invite President Sukarno or some other top Indonesian leader to visit the United States, just as Prime Minister Nehru of India did last month. This is not expected before some time next year.

Policy Basis Given

American policy toward Indonesia is based on the belief that the Republicans can shoulder the burden of self government and restore the country to its former position as one of the great world productive areas.

One of the first responsibilities facing the new regime, officials believe, is the suppression of communists and other extremists. Authorities here are confident that the nationalists will be able to cope with any major rebellion even though disorders may be widespread during the transition period.

By State department estimates, Indonesian production of petroleum, tin, sugar, copra, spices, tea and other products is only about 35 percent o fthe 1939 level. But with the end of the struggle with the Dutch, it is hoped that the East Indies will again become a major contributor to European well being.

JOAN PROUTY

THE QUESTION
What is your favorite Biblical verse and why?

THE ANSWERS

RICHARD SHIMAURA, 2118 Fifteenth, Tech Student: "I think that my favorite is Romans 8:28; 'And we know that all thinks work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to His purpose'. When I see this verse, it has great meaning to me I can understand it. It has been a great help to me."

MRS. H. L. BULL, 1105 Royal Ave., secretary of building fund campaign at St. John's Methodist Church: "My favorite is John 3:16; 'For God so loved the world He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' This verse signifies the essence of Faith, and it's more or less an answer to the question of why we should have Faith."

MRS. WILLIAM J. PIERSON, 1611 - B College Ave., Church secretary at St. John's Methodist Church: "My favorite is Matthew 7:7-8: 'Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For everyone that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.' This points out to ask and to seek and you have the assurance that you will receive an answer. If we as Christians want to work to further the Kingdom, we have the assurance that we not only will be heard, but that we will also find our work."

MRS. ROBERT MASON, 2604 Twenty - Eighth, secretary at St. Paul's Episcopal Church: "I believe I like the Twenty - Third Psalm best. When I was a little girl, I used to be afraid of the dark. My grandmother suggested that I learn it, and it helped to overcome my fear."

REV. K. W. KELLER, 2220 Twenty - Third, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church: "John 1:29 is one of my favorites: "Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sins of the world!' This verse points to Christ as the hope of every sinner and to his blood as assurance of our forgiveness and our forgiveness with God through His atonement on the Cross. This gospel message is the essence of Christianity."

ANGLER SAVED BY HOOK

W. J. van Wyk, a lucky angler of Groenvlei, South Africa, was saved from death after being washed off a rock into the sea, when B. Stely, his companion, cast his line and hooked van Wyk's fishing bag, attached to his waist, and dragged him nearer, enabling the victim's father to pull him to safety.

REV. RALPH McCOY, 2801 N. Sixth, pastor of Temple Baptist Church: "I think that John 3:16 is the theme of the whole book: 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life'. This is the verse that includes every soul; not one is excluded."

Underground Action In Red Army Doubted

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—The British-licensed Berlin Telegraph claimed today that a large underground resistance movement exists inside the Russian army.

The dispatch, datelined Berlin, was based on alleged reports from Russian officers, one of them a major, who had fled to the west.

Western allied intelligence authorities discounted the Telegraf reports.

"I am willing to go along with the fact that there is discontent in the red army," said a high intelligence officer. "But resistance inside the Russian army is virtually impossible."

The Telegraf dispatch said pamphlets have appeared periodically in Russian troop barracks urging all soldiers to oppose their Communist dictators.

Wife Of Former Child Star Jackie Cooper Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5 (AP) — Hollywood's former child stars are having nothing but trouble in divorce courts.

Jackie Cooper, 27, who tugged heartstrings 20 years ago in "Skippy" and "The Champ," is the latest marital breakup victim — following Jackie Coogan, Shirley Temple and Deanna Durbin.

His wife of five years, Actress June Horne, 30, won an uncontested decree yesterday, charging Cooper with cruelty. She said he came back changed from the war, thinking only of his career and not of his family.

She was granted custody of their son, John Anthony, three, and $50 a week for his support.

Cooper is currently on tour in Ohio with the stage play, "Mr. Roberts."

Czechs Charged In Plot Hanged

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 5 (AP)—Six Czechs convicted as ring-leaders of an alleged armed plot to overthrow the Communist-led government, were hanged today, it was announced officially.

The men were accused of preparing to lead a coup last spring. The government charged that they were "just at the point of executing a well prepared revolt" when the police caught them.

Prominent Men Listed

Among those executed were men who had held prominent positions in Czechoslovka public affairs before the Communists assumed power in February, 1948.

Those hanged were: Josef Charvat, chief of Prague security police during the first republic; Dr. Jaroslav Brokovec, prominent attorney; Emanuel Cancik; Vratislav Polesny; Kvetoslav Prokes, and Vratislav Handa.

Details of the plot were not disclosed until Aug. 30 after the defendants had been tried secretly and sentenced by a Prague state court. The government charged the plotters were in league with a "western imperialist power." The western power was not identified in the government's announcement.

Women Are Sentenced

The government never disclosed how many people were involved. It contended, however, that the plotters planned to seize Prague, arrest government leaders and stage a revolt throughout the country.

Further the government claimed that the plotters included some women who "were seducing young members of the Boy Scouts in order to use them later in the gang's armed action."

In addition to the six defendants sentenced to death, ten others, including three women, were sent to prison for life. An unspecified number were sentenced to one to 25 years imprisonment. Ten defendants were acquitted.

NOTHING LIKE REST IN NICE JAIL

People Awful Careless With Things, Stealing Widow Says

By JAMES R. BERNS
Associated Press Staff Writer

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 5.—"People," observed Mrs. Elizabeth Worthington, "are awful careless."

The spry, 73-year-old widow ought to know. She estimates she has relieved "careless people" of more than $500,000 in the last 50 years.

Mrs. Worthington is spending a six-months sojourn in the Alameda county prison farm—"quite the loveliest jail I have ever been in."

She ought to know about that, too. Mrs. Worthington, who claims Missouri as her birthplace, but gives no specific town, says she has been arrested 22 times.

Her cheerful—if not exactly unmoralistic—outlook on life is the fruit of experience, of what she termed "grand and sometimes maybe great-grand" larceny in many states. Her present incarceration is on a vagrancy charge.

Glad To Rest

Mrs. Worthington likes to travel, but she is glad to rest a bit in pleasant surroundings with all expenses paid. She has smooth dark hair, a lively smile and candid blue eyes. Her appearance of demure respectability is completely at variance with her unabashed account to reporters of her career of "stealing through life." Mr. Worthington, she said, died about 45 years ago.

She said she was no juvenile delinquent, nor was she led astray by evil companions. As a matter of fact, her first shoplifting experience (in Kansas City, Mo.) was by accident.

"I was in a department store," she told a reporter in her cell, "when I saw a woman picking up stockings and things from the counters and shoving them in newspapers.

"'Uh huh,' I thought, 'I guess I can do that, too.' I stepped out to a 5 and 10, bought me a shopping bag and came back. I did that other woman one or several better. I walked out with three expensive dresses.

Cold Cash Better

"I got things to sell (Mrs. Worthington never uses the direct word 'steal') for five years without being caught. Then they closed up all the fencing stores, so I didn't have a chance to sell things. I had to get my money direct.

"I walked into a store and the floorwalker asked if he could help me. 'I'm just looking around,' I said, true as gospel. 'Well, if you want anything, just call the clerk,' he said. I knew I'd get what I wanted all right, but I sure wasn't going to call any clerk.

"I watched until the office was left unattended for a moment. The safe was unlocked and I walked out with $850. A few days later, I did the same thing and made $900."

Mrs. Worthington's first arrest was the result of carrying a suitbox of "lovely things" into a courtroom, where she was a witness in a case.

Beached Without Boat

With a little spare time before the proceedings, she remembered, she "went down town and picked up some beautiful dresses." With no time to deposit them elsewhere she brought them to the courthouse. That was a mistake.

"Before I got down the steps of that place, I was charged with grand larceny," she said with a chuckle.

But the tightest spot she was ever in did not result in an arrest.

In San Diego, "I thought I'd go down to the beach where people are awful careless with their wallets. I picked up $1,500, but when I went to take a bus back to the city, there weren't any buses—and no trains.

"I was mighty nervous. Then a man—he looked real poor and hungry—told me I could go back in a taxi for eight dollars. I gave him three dollars for the information, poor soul. Imagine being that poor on that beach, with people so careless."

Mrs. Worthington figures she must have picked up more than $500,000. She has spent a lot of it "and not all on myself, either"—but a tidy sum of $10,000 or so is put away in a safety deposit box, she says, "and wouldn't the police of about five states like to find out where that is!"

Washington, D. C., always has been out of bounds for Mrs. Worthington.

"I never bothered anything in Washington. I said to myself, 'This is America's capital, and besides, Truman, bless his old heart, lives here'."

Packard is a graduate of Lehigh. In a proclamation, Dr. Martin D. Whitaker of Lehigh, said:

"On Nov. 6, 1899, in Warren, Ohio, James Ward Packard of the class of 1884 completed and drove an automobile of his own design.

"The building of that car, now known as the model 'A' was the first in a series of events which led to his founding of the Packard Motor Car company."

Canine Photos Serve As Stern Warning

Dogs Giving Cover Girls Run For Modeling Money

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—Everybody loves dogs—except cover girls.

Too many dogs are getting their faces on the front pages of magazines, thus cutting cover girls out of the money.

In the foyer of a modeling school here is a billboard plastered with canine photos. It's a stern warning to the girls that if they don't keep their rates low and get to appointments on time — well, what should happen to a cover girl will happen to a dog, Rover will get their jobs.

Started In 1921

The school, the pioneer in the field, is run by Grace Downs who has trained or found positions for some 25,000 models. It is a pleasant industry to be in, for the demand has always exceeded the supply.

"We still have more jobs than girls to fill them," said Miss Downs.

Grace, a smiling, cheerful woman in the blonde forties, was among the first professional cover girls.

"Some people are nice enough to say I was the very first," she said. "I started back in 1921, when most of the magazine covers were painted by famous artists.

"I don't believe there were more than 50 professional models then. Now there are thousands."

Hat Modeling First

The growth of the modeling field paralleled the growth of the ready-to-wear industry, the greatest single employer of models.

"When I began," Grace recalled, "there were only a few ready-to-wear firms. Most women made their own clothes or bought them from dressmakers. When I was a young girl only people with a lot of money had coathangers. The rest used hooks.

"At first they used us only to model hats. Then they got more daring and put us in clothes."

She got $10 for one of her first cover jobs—for a millinary magazine. Today clothing models make from $40 to $75 a week, and they can stay years longer in this specialty than the glamor lassies who pose only for magazine covers.

"But most of them go on to better jobs—as buyers, designers or even sales executives," she said.

New Zealand taxpayers, faced by a record budget, find that peace costs more than war.

Workman With Arm Torn Off Recovers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—A workman's entire right arm and shouulder blade were ripped from his body in an accident but he recovered.

Army doctors who said a survey of medical literature failed to reveal a similar case report the incident in the Bulletin of the Army Medical Department.

The victim, 26, was employed by a construction company near the Army's secret base at Sandia, N M.

His right arm was caught in a conveyor belt which completely severed the arm and shoulder blade from the body.

Through the gaping hole, the chest wall was visible. The wound was packed with a substance called 'gel-foam," designed to control hemorrhage. It had previously been used extensively in brain surgery, but the doctors found that it worked well in this case. Blood transfusions helped the patient.

Cochran Well Is Completed

Official completion had been made by Lion Oil company at its No. 1 F. O. Masten, three-quarter mile southwest extension for production from the San Andres to the Levelland field of central Cochran county.

Flowing through a 25/64th inch tubing choke, the extender made a 24-hour production of 201.17 barrels of 31.9-gravity oil, plus 1.6 per cent drilling water. Gas-oil ratio was 494-1.

Treated With Acid

Completion was from open hole between the 5½ inch oil string cemented at 4,943 feet and the total depth at 5,030 feet. That zone had been treated with 6,000 gallons of acid.

The new well is 440 feet from north and east lines of labor 12, league 132, Carson county school lands survey.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Grollman, in the Landon field of central-south Cochran county, has been plugged and abandoned as a dry hole after drilling to a total depth of 11,523 feet in lime and chert.

No Production Signs

The project showed no signs of commercial production.

The dry hole is 660 feet from west and 407 feet from south lines of section 4, block L, psl survey and 25 miles southwest of Lehman.

Stanolind was deepening its No. 3-R/A-A Birtie T. Brown, contracted 12,200-foot exploration in the Landon field to test the Devonian. It was drilling past 6,256 feet in lime and shale.

This venture is 1,320 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 14, block L, psl survey and 14 miles north of Plains.

New Field May Become One Of World's Greatest Producers

Scurry County's Oil Boom Embarrassing To Operators Believing Area Unproductive

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SNYDER, Nov. 5. (AP)—There are many red faces among veteran Texas oilmen these days—red from embarrassment.

Within the past year Scurry county has become the nation's most talked about oil boom area since the East Texas field blew in 19 years ago.

It is a real boom and really embarrassing to many oilmen who as late as a year ago were warning all comers:

"Stay out of Scurry county."

It was not that they wanted the place to themselves. They did not think the county had enough oil to get excited about. Their warning, they thought, was just good advice.

They had been convinced by years of hunches, explorations, geological surveys and wildcatting.

300 Wells Predicted

Oil is nothing new to Scurry. It has been an oil producing county since 1923. But four big strikes since last November, plus a surprisingly small number of dry holes, have brought the boom. About 100 wells now are being drilled.

The old wells are shallow producers—from 1800 to 2600 feet deep. The new production is from formations left behind by the Pennsylvanian geologic age of from 220,000,000 to 268,000,000 years ago.

Pennsylvanian high quality crude is flowing from depths of 6400 to 7400 feet.

Oilmen and geologists in Midland, capital of the Permian basin's West Texas-Southwestern New Mexico oil empire, say these new fields by January 1 will have at least 300 producing wells. Last January 1 there were only two.

Modern Boom Town

A Midland geologist figures those 300 wells will have at least 480,000,000 barrels of recoverable reserves. He was figuring on only from 30 to 40 per cent recovery of all oil in place.

A Houston oil executive commented:

"That is far too conservative. You can safely say that one Scurry county operator alone this year has found reserves that run between 500,000,000 and 1,000,000,000 barrels."

Snyder, the county seat, is a modern boom town. In 1940 it had 3815 residents and had not grown noticeably by late 1948. City officials now are reluctant to make an estimate. People are arriving so rapidly.

The Scurry County Times on October 11 said Snyder already has grown to 14,000, and added there is no reason to doubt there will be 30,000 by June 1.

Stories of quick monetary return from the new wells are numerous.

Field Extension Possible

C. W Addison, 28, bought a half section of land last December for $4800. The land already has turned out one oil producer. Two other tests are under way. He has received somthing like $64,000 in cash.

But predictions of great things to come for Scurry are based on tremendous possibilities for widespread extensions to the new fields.

Geologists say the new strikes are producing from formations which were nothing more than reefs of the Pennsylvania sea. Thickness of the pay zones or producing formations range from 200 to 600 feet.

There had been many unsuccessful wildcat wells drilled in Scurry county between the time initial production was discovered in 1923 and the new fields were brought in the past 12 months. Most of the operators were seeking oil in formations beneath the Pennsylvanian. They had little or no luck.

Huge Oil Protential

Many operators pulled out. A few, particularly independents, stayed. A majority of the new strikes are at depths that permit independents to participate. Drilling costs are small compared to deeper tests.

Sun Oil company found Pennsylvania reef production in December 1946 and brought in the Jameson field in Coke county, about 60 miles to the southeast of Snyder.

Other companies since then have found similar strikes in several localities as much as 120 miles from Snyder.

Geologists are wondering now if future explorations might eventually outline the Pennsylvania reef as being 200 miles or greater in length.

The oil potential from such a formation would be tremendous, they say, even after admitting there would be many reef areas with no oil.

Oil leases were pretty cheap last year about the time Standard Oil company of Texas was making final preparations to drill the well that was to start the Scurry boom.

Invested In Leases

Two young Notre Dame graduates arrived in Snyder about that time. They were Joseph I. O'Neill, former F. B. I. agent from Philadelphia, and William P. Castleman, jr., former Aluminum company sales manager from Louisville, Ky.

They had decided to go into business for themselves. A friend in Dallas had suggested they go to West Texas and buy, sell and trade oil leases.

Neither claimed to know much about the oil business. They were attracted by the low prices on leases in Scurry.

By September 1948 they had invested all their money in Scurry leases and had good reason to become discouraged.

As O'Neill explained the situation:

Luck Held Out

"We tried to sell those leases to 97 different companies and operators and couldn't find a buyer. We couldn't even get anyone to tell us the stuff was any good, and we didn't know it was any good."

They finally managed to sell some of their leases. They were hopefully searching for more buyers when the first indication of a possible boom appeared.

"As luck would have it," O'Neill explained, "we wound up with an interest in 800 acres that have good prospects."

They already have four producing wells, and have three rigs operating.

Each admits he never had any idea of becoming an oil operator.

But a sign on the door of their new office in Midland reads: "Castleman, O'Neill—Oil Operators."

Failure Of Test In Yoakum Seen

Cabot Carbon company of Midland, No. 1 Bessie Clay, wildcat in East Yoakum county, was at total depth at 5,336 feet in the San Andres and waiting on orders.

Recovery from a drillstem test at 5,328-36 feet was sulphur water.

The project will likely be plugged and abandoned as a failure.

Location is four miles northeast of Tokio and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 12, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Well Is Tested

Another prospector in East Yoakum County, Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Cobb, was at total depth of 5,320 feet in the San Andres and was testing.

Samples have shown some gas and a little oil. It is to treat section showing these indications with mud acid and test further

The development is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 381, block D. J. H. Gibson survey.

In Southeast Terry county, Tide Water Associated Oil company No. 1 Nystel, wildcat to 12,000 feet to test the Ellenburger, was drilling in lime, chert, and shale past 10,635 feet.

It is 14 miles south of Brownfield and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block C-38, psl survey.

Northwest Hale County Well Is Bottomed At 7,009 Feet

Tobe Foster No. 1 G. A. Harrell, Northwest Hale county wildcat, eight miles northwest of Hale Center, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 7, block O, DS&E survey, was bottomed at 7,009 feet, after getting no signs of production.

Contracted depth of the venturn was to 7,000 feet.

It is now waiting on orders.

Midland Man Plans Borden County Test

R. S. Brennand, jr., of Midland, plans to start operations at once on a 9,500-foot wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in Central Borden county.

The exploration will be his No. 1 W. D. Everett. Location is seven miles southwest of Gail and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block 31, TP Survey, T-4-N.

The Brennand venture is in the northwest corner of a block of 1,000 acres of leases which he owns in that region.

Drillsite Is Announced

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1-A Jerry Clayton is to be an 8,000-foot rotary wildcat in Southwest Borden county, six miles northeast of the Good Canyon lime field.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 14, block 32, T-4-N, TP survey.

In Northwest Borden county, Sinclair Oil & Gas company No. 1 Bryan, flanker to the discovery and lone producer in the Borden field, had reached a total depth of 10,804 feet in granite and was running surveys.

It has shown no signs of production in any of the horizons it drilled through.

No Production Signs

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 40, block 32, T-6-N, EI&RR survey.

The venture drilled through the Ellenburger and showed no signs of production.

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 N. C. Von Roeder, Southeast Borden county wildcat, eight miles southwest of the nearest production from the Canyon reef in the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field of Southwest Scurry county, was drilling in lime and shale past 4,577 feet.

Contracted destination of the venture is to test the Canyon reef lime, the pay in the Sharon Ridge field, at around 7,000 feet.

Location is at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 103, block 25, H&TC survey.

Don Ameche of Hollywood, Calif. and others No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, wildcat in West-Central Borden county, five miles west of Gail to test the Ellenburger at around 10,500 feet, was making progress past 2,710 feet in anhydrite.

No. 1 Clayton & Johnson is 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 30, bloek 31, T-5-N, TP survey.

Extension To Dollarhide Field In Andrews County Completed

Cities Service Oil Co. has given the Dollarhide field of Andrews county a one-location extension to the north in its Cowden E. No. 2, completed dually for a total initial potential of 1,102 barrels of oil daily. Bottomed at 7,990 feet, the well was given a Railroad commission potential of 310 barrels daily from the Devonian and 792 barrels from the Clear Fork. The northern part of the Dollarhide field was proven by Cities Service.

Oil Production Is Indicated At Wildcat In Central Gaines Area

Gaines county furnished the feature of the South Plains oil development during the past week.

Samedan Oil corporation and Anderson Brothers of Midland, No. 1-E-A Andrews, Central-South Gaines county possible discovery from the Ellenburger has found more pay section in that formation and is drilling deeper.

The last show of production was in a drillstem test at 11,847-970 feet. The tester was open one hour and 45 minutes. There was a fair blow of air at the surface during the first 45 minutes of the period.

Recovery was 2,000 feet of oil cut water blanket, 1,000 feet of heavily oil cut water blanket, and 600 feet of heavily oil cut drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water.

The venture then drilled ahead and took a drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 11,970-12,005 feet. The tool was open 20 minutes. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil or gas. Deepening is planned.

This exploration entered the Ellenburger at 11,985 feet on an elevation of 3,332 feet. It took a three-hour drillstem test at 11,913-945 feet.

Some gas developed at the surface while the tester was open. Recovery was 1,620 feet of clean oil, and 3,000 feet of oil cut water blanket. There was no formation water.

No fluid came out at the top while the tool was open. The oil fill up in the drill pipe during this test was estimated to have been at the rate of eight barrels per hour.

Production Is Possible

This wildcat, which is on the northwest side of the Robertson pool, has shown for possible production from the lower Permian and from the Devonian.

The regular production in the Robertson field is from the Glorieta and the Clear Fork of the Permian.

No. 1-E-A Andrews is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 199 block A-24, psl survey. It is 15 miles southwest of Seminole.

The Texas company has completed its No. 1 E. D. Harris, wildcat in Central-South Gaines county 12½ miles southeast of Seminole for a daily pumping potential of 41 barrels of 31.9-gravity oil, plus two per cent basic sediment and drilling water.

Gas-oil ratio of the oil was less than 100-1.

Completion was from perforations between the top of the pay at 5,965 feet and the plugged back total depth of 6,042 feet in the Glorieta. The project was drilled to a total depth of 7,520 feet.

The new well is 661 feet from north and 662 feet from east lines of section 17, block A-22, psl survey, and two miles east of the Robertson field.

Mid-Continent Petroleum company was making further hole at its No. 1 L. R. Nichols, Central-West Gaines county wildcat, 23 miles west of Seminole.

It was drilling past 6,240 feet in lime.

Contracted depth of the venture is to 8,000 feet to test the lower Permian, however it may be carried on down to 12,000 feet to explore the Devonian.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block A10, psl survey.

The Los Nietos company (Union Oil company of California) and Honolulu Oil corporation No. 2-B Doss, deep wildcat in the North Riley field of West Central Gaines county, was continuing to deepen past 10,213 feet in lime and chert Slated to 10,000 feet to test the Devonian, No. 2-B Doss is located 660 feet from west and 760 feet from south lines of the southeast quarter of section 360, block G. CCSD & RGNG survey.

Oil Stains Logged

Forest Oil corporation and Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1-A Parmer, contracted 15,000-foot exploration in Southeast Gaines county 15 miles southeast of Seminole, was drilling deeper past 11,927 feet and was through to be in Mississippian lime. It has logged some oil stains, but no porosity up to now.

Location is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer county school lands survey.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 H. T. Wolfe, one-mile outpost to the Flanagan Clear Fork field of Central-South Gaines county, took a drillstem test in the upper Clear Fork between 6,415-70 feet. The tool was open two hours.

Operator is now drilling ahead past 6,670 feet in lime. It is projected to 7,300 feet. It is 660 from north and east lines of section 7, A-23, psl.

Magnolia was making further progress at its No. 1 Williamson, a west stepout to the Flanagan field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of the south 480 acres of section 12, block A-23, psl survey.

This venture was below 6,250 feet in lime and was continuing to deepen, toward its contracted depth af 7,500 feet.

Locations For Deep Wildcats Announced

HOBBS, N. M., Nov. 5.—Locations for deep wildcats in Central-Southeast Chaves county and in Central-East Lea county were reported Saturday.

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 State is to be the Chaves county venture. It will be 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 13-11s-27e. That makes it 18 miles southeast of Roswell.

The lease on which it is to be drilled is a farmout from the Texas Company. Projected depth for the prospector is 7,000 feet, or granite at a lesser depth.

Continental Oil company No. 2-B-28 Warren unit is slated as a 10,000-foot exploration in East Central Lea county, one mile east of the two-well Warren field.

Location of the new project is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 28-20s-38e. It is due to drill until it tests the McKee sand of the Simpson, or encounters the granite—whichever is encountered first.

In extreme Southeast Lea county, Plains Production company No. 1 Scarborough estate is reported as a 3,800-foot wildcat to explore into the upper Permian.

Test In Southeast Garza Is Plugged

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Republic Natural Gas company No. 1 OS (Connell) Ranch southeast Garza county wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 8,290 feet in barren Ellenburger.

That formation was entered at 8,034 feet. It showed no signs of oil or gas.

The prospector was 15 miles southeast of Post and at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 2, block 5, GH&H survey.

Union Oil company of California No. 1 Elliott, contracted 8,500-fot Ellenburger prospector five and one-half miles southwest of Spur in southwest Dickens county, was being deepened past 4,488 feet in lime and chert.

Texas City Disaster Suits In Final Phase Of Lengthy Trial

HOUSTON, Nov(AP) 5 (AP)—One of the most unusual federal court civil suit trials in history enters its final phase here next week.

Closing arguments will be held in the $200,000,000 mass trial of Texas City disaster damage suits.

Background for the trial was laid by the Texas City waterfront disaster which killed over 500 people April 16-17, 1947.

Between 2000 and 3000 plaintiffs are demanding that the federal government pay them amounts ranging from $2 to $50,000,000 for personal and property damages suffered in the disaster.

The approximately 300 separate suits have been pooled into one mass trial to determine one point —whether or not the government is liable for damages.

Years May Be Needed

Patiently presiding over the case since it began April 24 has been 75-year-old federal Judge T. M. Kennerly. It was he who arranged the combining of the suits for determination of the liability issue.

Should the plaintiffs eventually win the issue, each suit then would go before a federal judge to be determined on its merits.

It may be years, however, before final disposition of the liability question is made, and then probably by the Supreme court.

Attorneys in the mass trial have left little doubt that, regardless of lower court decisions the case will be appealed to the Supreme court.

Kennerly obviously has recognized this point. Only last week the testimony of one of the individual damage suits was entered into the trial's records on his suggestion.

He told the attorneys such a case probably would be needed to complete the trial's records for appeal to the fifth circuit court.

Most of the testimony has centered around a chemical compound that has been blamed for the disaster—fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate.

Arguments Cited

The cargo of the French freighter Grandcamp, original vessel to explode in the disaster, included a shipment of the compound.

Briefly, the plaintiffs contend:

1. The Grandcamp's ammonium nitrate shipment was manufactured at government ordnance plants.

2. Government officials and bureaus failed to take action to assure proper handling of the explosive material.

3. Government agencies were aware of the explosive characteristics of the compound as early as 1943.

Government attorneys, in reply, contended:

1. The disaster was an "unavoidable accident."

2. Responsibility for the disaster belongs to some or all of the agents that handled the inflammable cargo—steamship companies, longshoremen unions, stevedoring firms, and Texas City agencies and firms.

3. The government can not be held responsible in that the charges of the plaintiffs involve discretionary acts of governmental representatives.

Considered Severe Test

Attorneys involved consider the trial as one of the severest tests ever made of the comparatively new federal torts claims act. This law permits private individuals to sue the government without its consent.

Deadline for filing the damage suits against the government was April 17, 1948—one year after the disaster.

Most individuals—those injured and survivors of those killed—filed their suits early. Many of the corporations which suffered heavy damages waited until early 1948.

Last April 12 Kennerly had all the plaintiffs in the mass trial file a $400,000,000 suit against the French government and the French line which owned the Grandcamp.

Kennerly acted here in order to keep the plaintiffs from being barred from doing so later by Texas' two-year statute of limitations act.

The mass trial originally was set by Kennerly to begin November 1 last year, but slow progress in obtaining depositions from hundreds of witnesses brought a postponement until December 6.

The plaintiffs rested their case July 21, and defense testimony began September 6.

A tentative schedule calls for final oral arguments for the trial the first four days next week. Each side will be permitted six hours.

Kennerly also has asked that concluding briefs be filed by each side. The plaintiffs' attorneys said they will need until December 1 to prepare its brief, the government said it would have its completed by December 15.

Reproduction Of Color Video Depends Upon Tinted Filters

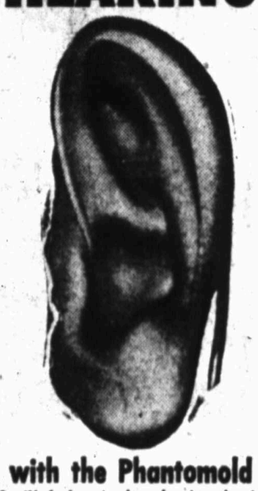

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Reproduction of color television can be accomplished only artificially.

That is, any system so far devised relies upon tinted filters or tube screens to get the effect desider. The resulting picture is as near an approach to the original as possible, yet retains an "artificial look."

Actually a color is not truly transmitted. Rather that part of a picture representing a certain shade is sent, then transformed into the particular hue by the proper device at the receiver.

A HOLLYWOOD Column

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5.—Hollywood's next big comeback try will be staged by Janet Gaynor. Janet quietly made a test the other day for the film version of "The Glass Menagerie" and is anxious to get back to work. She has the blessing of her husband, Adrian, the dress designer. . . . Tip to would-be stars: Katherine Hepburn still thinks she has things to learn. She's studying with Constance Collier for her first tackle with Shakespeare in "As You Like It." . . . Hedy Lamarr is selling her Beverly Hills home and says she'll live in New York, coming to Hollywood only when working in a picture.

"How you like my Bra-lulu," Carmen Miranda said.

It was a bathing suit Carmen had whipped up herself. She designs all of her own clothes, shoes and turbans and finally got around to a bathing suit.

What there was of it was very snappy.

But there was so little of it.

Carmen explained that she called it Bra-lulu because it had a Brazilian accent in the right places.

She winked and said:

"After peoples see me in this they will say, "Why doesn't Carmens come on the stage in a bathing suit?' "

Fanny Brice Due To Portray Baby Snooks Role Again On Radio

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5.—Next week a 58-year-old grandmother resumes her impersonation of a seven-year-old brat.

This sort of thing has been going on since 1912, when Fanny Brice first dreamed up Baby Snooks. It is likely to continue as long as there is breath in the famed comedienne.

Miss Brice seems resigned to a life with "Schnooks," as she calls the radio moppet. I mentioned that her fans would also like to hear some of her wonderful routines of yore.

"How about another show? I hear they're dragging out the Ziegfeld follies again."

"They would have to drag me back there to do it," she replied. "I would never leave California willingly."

Writes Autobiography

Television?

"Maybe yes. But I wouldn't do it the way it's done now. No one can put a different show on every week and keep it good. If I did it, I'd rehearse a show carefully, then put it on three or four weeks—the same show every week. That way everybody would see it."

That leaves her with Baby Snooks, who was born in vaudeville in 1912. It started as a parody on a pampered movie child. One night she was forced into entertaining at a party. She did her whole routine in the baby talk she used in the movie baby number and it was a howl.

She did the character off and on for years and in 1937 put it on the radio. She was also doing a "Mrs. Cohen" role, but the Jewish housewife was pushed in the background in favor of Snooks. She has been a standard figure on the air ever since.

Miss Brice was off the airwaves during last years' radio upheaval. She used the time to give birth to an autobiography.

Road Show Feature, "The Red Shoes," Is On At Tech Theater

"The Red Shoes," distinguished Technicolor combination of ballet and motion picture, has been brought to Lubbock by the Tech theater management for a special three-day engagement beginning today.

The brilliant and widely heralded film has won international acclaim wherever it has been shown as a road show, and boasts acclaim of one of the country's toughest critical mediums, the National Board of Review.

The title is borrowed from a fairy tale written by the great story-teller Hans Christian Andersen, and the film is highlighted by a magnificent red shoes ballet sequence. The plot concerns a love affair lived by a beautiful young dancer.

The film is termed a sensuous excursion into the backstage world. Music is by the Royal Philharmonic orchestra under baton of Sir Thomas Beecham.

Moira Shearer, ballerina of the Covent Garden opera, is star. The picture will be shown three days. All seats will be reserved by section at matinee and evening performances. Tickets are on sale at the Tech theater box office. Mail orders are accepted.

Tombstone Found "Not Guilty" Of Robbing Drunk Grave Digger

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—John Hughes, 49-year-old grave digger, awakened his employer by yelling, "Call a doctor and the law—I been hit on the head and robbed."

Investigating officers told Hughes to "sober up."

"He'd been drinking beer and had fallen in the cemetery and hit his head on a tombstone," Deputy Rufus Smith said. "He still had his $9 in his pocket."

Why I Decided To Produce This Startling Motion Picture..
by Ida Lupino

Last winter, while engaged in first-hand observation and research at a police court in Los Angeles, in preparation for a motion picture role that I was studying, a pretty girl in her middle teens was brought in by a police-woman. The youngster had been picked up for loitering in the street. The sharp eye of the police officer had detected that she was pregnant.

As the story of this girl's plight unfolded between sobs, it opened my eyes as never before to a great and burning shame . . . not hers, but ours—yours and mine—that such a thing could be allowed to exist by those of us who believe we are understanding adults.

And when later, in the judge's chambers, the whole national picture was painted for me, of the 100,000 girls—half of them between ten and nineteen—who bring children into the world outside wedlock each year, I determined that this story, shocking though it was, had to be brought to the screen.

"Not Wanted" tells this story powerfully, frankly, in all its pathetic detail . . . tells it through the eyes and tears of one girl—wilful, beautiful, innocent young Sally, who wanted so much of love and life . . . and who knew so little of either.

The story of Sally is a page taken from life. It is a powerful, straightforward drama, so TRUE and so REAL that your heart will tighten as you watch it unfold in all its intensity.

It is with deep pride that I bring "Not Wanted" to the American screen.

Helen Traubel Coaching HST's Daughter

Opera Singer And Margaret Truman Become Friends

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Margaret Truman's closest companion and professional ideal these days is Helen Traubel, a St. Louis, Mo., girl with the most magnificent Wagnerian soprano voice of this generation.

TRAUBEL

Acquiring the generous, jolly soprano for her teacher, adviser and friend is the luckiest break the President's daughter has had so far in her career.

Miss Traubel, with husband William Bass, has accompanied Miss Truman on her current concert tour oblivious of her own concern with the imminent opening of the Metropolitan opera season.

She is generally credited with bringing about the performance-by-performance improvement in Margaret's work and the growing professional aspect of her concerts.

Both Love Baseball

Helen Traubel is now the most powerful influence in Margaret Truman's musical career. She is also giving her the invaluable benefit of close association with a great star.

The prima donna and the fledgling soprano she took under her wing in New York may have been drawn together by their overwhelming extra-curricular interest in baseball—both are rabid and very vocal fans.

At any rate, the two became friends just as Margaret decided to change singing teachers and Miss Traubel decided to help out by giving Miss Truman the benefit of her own professional training and experience.

Helen Traubel is a large, friendly, warm-hearted woman with a pink-and-white complexion and light hair. Her eyes are that rare color which most nearly approaches the color of pale sherry.

Loves Good Food

She is a tall woman—about six feet tall, in fact—and amply proportioned. She has a rich, ready laugh and a wonderful sense of humor.

Miss Traubel loves good food—and plenty of it. She is also an excellent cook and the President's daughter has been among her guests when she cooked dinner for a small, congenial group at her New York home.

It was at the Metropolitan opera that Helen Traubel gained recognition as one of the most important artists in the music world today.

It was there, too, that her phenomenal performances promoted critics to announce that she had supplanted Kirsten Flagstad as the generation's greatest Wagerian soprano.

To Attend Ballet

Her interest in Margaret Truman's career is the kind of break young sopranos dream of—but rarely realize.

Her blief in Miss Truman's vocal possibilities is the most encouraging news a young singer could imagine in her rosiest dreams.

The President and Mrs. Truman will be ranking guests tomorrow night at the Washington premiere of the sensationally successful Sadler's Wells Ballet company at Constitution hall.

They are also among the luckier capital ballet fans. The British troupe was completely sold out for its limited capital appearance before it even had time to advertiste its appearance.

The President and first lady, naturally, had no difficulty in getting the precious tickets.

Office Of Congressman Mahon Will Be Opened Here Monday

The office of Congressman George Mahon of the 119th district will be open in room 213 of the federal building beginning Monday morning, it was announced Saturday.

Already in Lubbock are two members of Mr. Mahon's staff, Miss Dorothy Rylander of Lubbock, and Miss Mary Nell Lea of Levelland.

The congressman himself is expected to be in Lubbock soon.

Girl Uses "Electric Memory" To Aid Her In Piano Lessons

CALUMET CITY, Ill., Nov. 5. (AP) — Mary Gaw, 14, employs an "electric memory" wire recorder to aid her in mastering piano lessons.

She takes a spool of recorder wire with her when she visits her music teacher at the Monarch Conservatories of Music in Hammond, Indiana. Her instructor places it on the studio recorder.

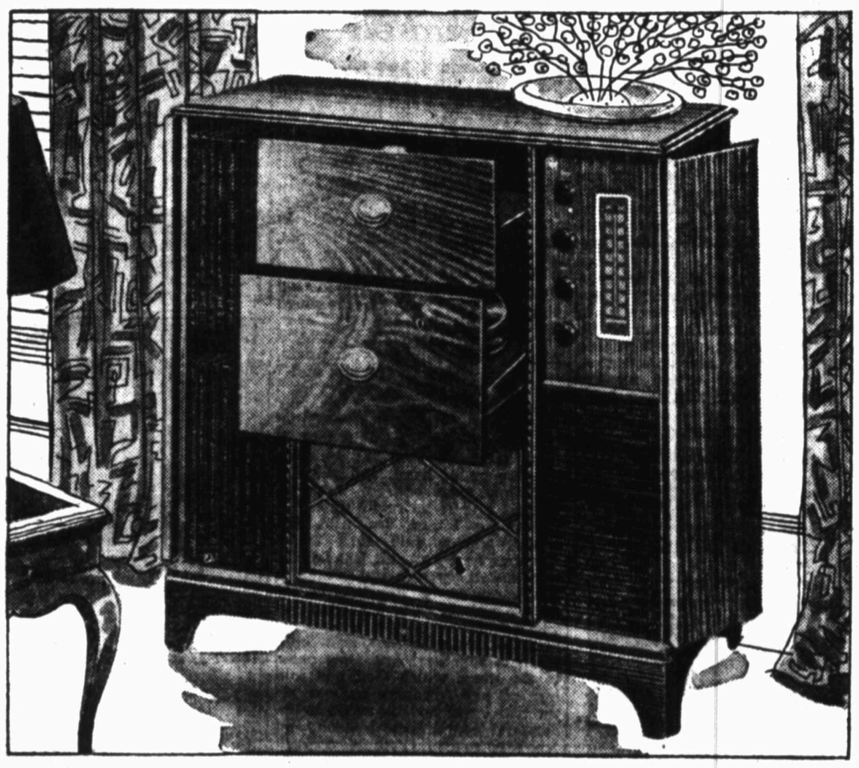

When Mary goes home, the lesson recorded on wire goes with her.

DIES OF BURNS

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5 (AP)—Jack E. Little, 23-year-old Hillsboro lineman for the Texas Power & Light company, died last night of burns received early yesterday when he contacted a 60,000-volt wire atop a tower near Alvarado.

Drought has brought an extended vacation to 8,000 school children on the Isle of Jersey.

(See Picture In Column 5)

Proclaimed by many as the greatest living Baptist preacher, Dr. Robert G. Lee of Memphis, Tenn., will arrive Monday to preach during the fall revival meeting at First Baptist church.

Dr. Lee is pastor of the Bellevue Baptist church in Memphis, and is president of the Southern Baptist convention.

He will preach at 7:30 o'clock Monday night and at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily the remainder of the week. He will close the revival meeting with sermons next Sunday.

The revival meeting will open today. Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church, will deliver sermons at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. services today and at the service at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

During the nearly 22 years Dr. Lee has been pastor of the Bellevue church, membership of the church has grown from 1,430 to approximately 8,000.

"His ministry is far-flung, for during a year's time he fills literally hundreds of engagements throughout the nation," The Baptist Review wrote of Dr. Lee. "His silver-tongued oratory, his passionate proclamation of the gospel, the winsomeness of his personality have endeared him to the thousands who have sat spellbound as they have listened, almost breathlessly, to the periods and climaxes of his famous sermons."

His mastery of alliteration, his command of the English language and his vast store of knowledge in literature and science add to his power of oratory.

He has written 16 volumes of sermons.

Dr. Lee appears each Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 3 o'clock on the Baptist Hour program over the ABC network, heard over KFYO.

He has served four times as president of the State Baptist convention of Tennessee. Each year, he speaks before some of the largest Bible conferences in the world. He serves as trustee on numerous boards, including those of the New Orleans Baptist seminary at New Orleans, Union university of Jackson, Tenn., and Baptist Memorial hospital at Memphis, Tenn., and as member of the executive committee of the Tennessee State Baptist convention and as Tennessee member of the Southern Baptist Home Mission board.

Euell Porter of the voice department of Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene will direct music for the revival. He is president of the Texas Music Educators association. Before going to Abilene, he was voice teacher in Sam Houston State Teachers college.

Gideon Service Is Set At Anton Today

J. C. Leech of Lubbock will tell of the history and workings of the Gideon organization. Earl Burnett will bring the Laymen's Gospel message.

Volunteer Workers Building On Church

Work is progressing on the Lubbock Bible church at Thirty-fourth and Van Buren avenue, Mark H. Duncan, pastor, has reported.

The church recently purchased a corner lot at Thirty-fourth and Van Buren. A small auditorium is being constructed on the back of the lot. This small structure later will be used as a Sunday school building.

Plans call for construction of a larger structure on the front part of the lot which will house the church's permanent auditorium.

Work on the structure is being done by men of the church during their spare time.

A large part of the congregation of Lubbock Bible church is composed of former members of the Lakewood Community church, which was located at RAFB before its reactivation.

Drunks And Rowdies Returning To Police Station At Hamburg

HAMBURG, Nov. 5. (AP)—Drunks and rowdies are coming back to Hamburg's Davidswache police station. Police there say it is almost back to "normal."

In World War II, a giant air raid shelter was built under it, housing 25,000 people. The drunks disappeared. Instead the police calmed down shrieking women and crying children and guarded entrances to the shelter.

After the war the police fought the battle of the black markets and still there were few drunks. Then in June, 1948, currency reform broke the black market. Gay life returned to Hamburg. Foreign ships came back. Then the drunks began to come back.

Organ Recital Is Set Tonight

An organ recital will be presented in the newly dedicated Redeemer Lutheran church at Twenty-second and Ave. W at 8 o'clock tonight.

Guest organist will be Miss Ruth Stelzer, who is parish school teacher, choir director and organist at Trinity Lutheran church at Amarillo. She will play on the Baldwin organ which recently was dedicated with the new church.

"Service In Music"

She arranged selections to fit the regular Lutheran order of service and terms the organ recital "A Service in Music."

The program includes: Prelude, Adagio from Sonata IV (Guilmant); opening hymn, "Praise to the Lord the Almighty," verse (Reinbrecht), verse 2 (Walther) and verses 3 and 4, sung by the congregation; prayer, "I Call to The, Lord Jesus Christ" (J. S. Bach); hymn of faith, "O That the Lord Would Guide My Ways" (T. G. Stelzer); sermon with the theme, "Sin and Grace", including "All Men Must Die" (J. S. Bach), "O Bleeding Head and Wounded" (J. S. Bach), "Rock of Ages" (Stelzer), "Agnus Dei" (O Lamb of God) (Stelzer) and "Now Thank We All Our God" (J. S. Bach); offertory and The Lord's Prayer, variations on "Our Father Thou in Heaven Above," Sonata VI (Mendelssohn); hymn of trust, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" (Linnarz), with the congregaation singing verses 1, 4; benediction, "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" (Lutkin); silent prayer, "Abide, O Dearest Jesus" (Karov), and postlude, Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" (J. S. Bach).

Miss Stelzer, before going to Amarillo, served as one of the teachers, choir directors and organists at Trinity Luthern church of Houston, Missouri Synod. Her father, Prof. T. G. Stelzer, is professor of organ at Concordia Teacher's college at Seward, Neb.

The service will be open to anyone wishing to attend.

She is a graduate of Northwest Nazarene college, and currently is giving her time to the work of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society and to holding missionary conventions throughout the United States and Canada under the auspices of the Church of the Nazarene.

Mrs. Chapman also has been instrumental in organizing a number of churches for negroes in the United States and aided in the establishment of the Nazarene Bible Institute, near Charleston, W. Va., a Bible school for the training of negro Christian leaders.

BIBLE STORY FROM "IN OUR IMAGE"

"Abraham"

EDITORS' NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of studies from the Old Testament. The text is condensed from selections by Houston Harte for the new book "In Our Image." Illustration by Guy Rowe is also from the book.

AND THE Lord appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect. And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly. Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee.

And God said unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, thou shalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah shall her name be. And I will bless her, and give thee a son also of her: yea, kings of people shall be of her. Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and said in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and shall Sarah, that is ninety years old, bear? . . . And God said, Sarah thy wife shall bear thee a son indeed; and thou shalt call his name Isaac: and I shall establish my covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him . . .

And Abraham called the name of his son whom Sarah bare to him, Isaac. And Abraham circumcised his son Isaac being eight days old, as God had commanded him. And the child grew, and was weaned: and Abraham made a great feast the same day that Isaac was weaned.

And it came to pass after these things, that God did tempt Abraham, And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of.

And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son, and went unto the place of which God had told him. Then on the third day Abraham lifted up his eyes, and saw the place afar off. And Abraham said unto his young men, Abide ye here with the ass; and I and the lad will go yonder and worship, and come again to you. And Abraham took the wood of the burnt offering, and laid it upon Isaac his son; and he took the fire in his hand, and a knife; and they went both of them together. And Isaac spake unto Abraham his father, and said, My father: and he said, Here am I, my son. And he said, Behold the fire and the wood: but where is the lamb for a burnt offering? And Abraham said, My son, God will provide himself a lamb for a burnt offering: so they went both of them together. And they came to the place which God had told him of; and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order, and bound Isaac his son, and laid him on the altar upon the wood. And Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son. And the angel of the Lord called unto him out of heaven, and said, Abraham, Abraham; and he said, Here Am I. And he said, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou anything unto him; for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou hast not withheld thy son, thine only son for me. And Abraham lifted up his eyes, and behold behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns: and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt offering in the stead of his son.

And the angel of the Lord called unto Abraham out of heaven the second time, and said, by myself have I sworn, saith the Lord, for because thou hast done this thing, and hast not withheld thy son, thine only son: That in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies: and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice . . .

Introducing Lubbock's Ministers

Rev. Jack A. Welch Builds Up Long Service In Church

When Rev. Jack A. Welch assumed the pastorate of Central Baptist church last March, he was, in effect, "keeping it in the family," for he succeeded his brother, Rev. Jeff Welch, who had been pastor for 17 years.

However, Rev. Jack Welch was no stranger to the Central Baptist congregation when he became pastor last spring, for he had served with his brother as co-pastor there several years ago.

Rev. Welch was born in Arkansas but has lived most of his life in Texas. He attended Jacksonville Baptist college, Jacksonville, Tex., and has been in the ministry for 27 years.

He has served as pastor of Baptist churches in Oklahoma City, Sheridan, Ark., and Texarkana, in addition to a number of small rural churches during his early years as a minister.

The Central Baptist church has a membership of over 1,200 persons. A program of remodeling has been underway there during the past months, and plans now call for construction of a large new church auditorium during forthcoming months.

The church itself sponsors a varied program of activities, both during the week and on Sundays.

Rev. and Mrs. Welch have three sons, Rev. Wendell Welch, student at Jacksonville Baptist college and assistant pastor of a church there. Gene Welch and Jimmy Welch, students in the Lubbock public schools; and two daughters, Betty Ann, also a student in the Lubbock schools, and Mary Jacqueline, a kindergarten pupil. The family resides at 1802 Ave. L, property recently purchased by Central Baptist church.

Vote "Yes" On Four Amendments, "No" On Six; HST Forgot Promise

YOUR VOTE IS IMPORTANT

Be Sure And Vote!

THE Avalanche-Journal has been asked many times lately for opinions of the 10 proposed State Constitution amendments on which Texas will vote next Tuesday. This is a compliance with those requests.

The charge will be made, as always, that these newspapers are attempting to tell readers how they should vote. It is too absurd for denial. No one could be so stupid as to imagine that any newspaper could dictate how any individual may vote on any proposition.

Careful study of the proposed amendments and the arguments for and against them has led to the conclusion that four merit approval and six should be rejected solely on the basis of what is best for Texas.

Those which appear meritorious are, in the order listed on the ballot: No. 1, civil service for county employes; No. 3, authorization of hospital districts; No. 5, authorization of city-county health units, and No. 8, authorization of rural fire prevention districts.

Among these, No. 8 seems the most important. Unless Texans have been misled, its approval would clear the way for better fire protection and lower fire insurance rates in rural area.

Nos. 1, 3 and 5 could not be put into effect in any county or area without a vote of the people residing therein. This also applies to the fire prevention amendment. This protection seems adequate.

THE AMENDMENTS which, in our opinion, should be defeated and the principal reasons for that view are:

No. 2 — Salaries of $3,600 a year for legislators and annual sessions of the Legislature. Annual sessions almost certainly would mean more taxes; and $300 a month is too much to hand legislators during the eight or nine months each year when they would be doing nothing to earn it.

No. 4 — Eliminating poll taxes and authorizing vote registration fees. Avalanche-Journal Newspapers have urged the abolition of poll taxes since 1927. They are opposed in principles to any law which requires any citizen to pay for exercising the right to vote. This amendment does not correct that evil. At best, it would substitute a vote registration fee ay any amount the Legislature might set for a poll tax. The annual registration before Feb. 1—the worst season of the year—would be far more inconvenient than paying a poll tax. And everyone would have to register and pay the fee, including those now exempt from payment of a poll tax by reason of age or physical disabilities. Furthermore, this amendment contains provisions which would enable party political bosses to tighten their hold upon the conduct of the public affairs of Texas.

No. 6—Pensions for appointive county employes. This amendment would mean further legislative intrusion into the conduct of county affairs. It also would open the door to further increases in county tax rates.

No. 7—Affecting district court procedures and qualifications of district judges. Many bar associations long have been trying to take the elections of judges out of the hands of the people, making this exclusively a privilege of lawyers. They are seeking more and more control of the State judiciary. This amendment would be another step in that direction.

No. 9—Permitting lunacy trials without juries. This amendment might simplify the "railroading" into insane asylums of unfortunate persons who do not belong there. The jury system helps protect such people.

No. 10—Qualifying women for jury service. Women certainly are as competent for jury service as men. No one denies it. But we will have no part in imposing this irksome and unpleasant responsibility upon our womenfolk. If we thought women jurors might greatly improve the administration of justice, we would favor the proposal. But we do not think male juries are doing such a miserable job that women are needed to correct injustices. So why burden them with such responsibility?

TO SUMMARIZE, the most important amendments impress us as being these:

To support—No. 8, rural fire prevention.

To vote against—No. 2, legislative sessions and salaries; No. 4, the poll tax proposition; No. 9, lunacy trials without juries, and No. 10, qualifying women as jurors.

All these thoughts have been offered, with the feeling that it is more important that the individual citizen shall vote than is the manner of his voting. No matter how you may vote, allow us to join in urging that you cast your ballot and thus give evidence of your duty and responsibility as a citizen of our democratic form of government.

'Best Man' Harry

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S BOOK IS NOVEMBER SELECTION

"This I Remember" Is Exceptional Bit Of Americana

THIS I REMEMBER," by Eleanor Roosevelt; (Harper).

FROM the lofty viepoint of national and world affairs, this is undoubtedly a work of historical importance. The author may not have been in any real sense a presidential adviser, but she was Franklin D. Roosevelt's most constant companion. Brain trusters, secretaries, White House employees, friend and friends of friends knew FDR and have not hestiated to say so in print, but Eleanor Roosevelt was his wife.

So first of all this is not a story about a New York governor or a U. S. president, but about a man named Franklin. He was a parent, expected to call the diaper service for a grandchild; he was a family man, betting on whether cousin Alice Longworth would come to his party; he knew a lot of people: Jim, Al, Henry, Harry, John, Winston, Joe; and as a fellow who got around, he liked to come home and tell about the boys he met at dinner, the speeches at a convention, what it was like in Yalta and Teheran.

But much more importantly, this book is unique not because of the husband but because of the wife. Politics aside, it is exceptional Americana.

In a devious and round-about world, the authoris a straightforward person. Married to a master politician, she is fantastically unpolitical. She carries the native common sense of the mother and Main-Street housewife into the White House. The little things you and I might not for the world want told about ourselves, she tells about herself. She does no dramatize herself. She is kind, generous, frank, impulsive, ingenius to a fault. You are convinced that she could not mislead you.

You may like her very much, or you may dislike her, but with this book she becomes as distinctive and individual, and as different from the usual White House housewife, as was Abigail Adams.

This is the November Book-of-the-Month club selection.

Cry Of Pain

"KILLERS OF THE DREAM," by Lillian Smith; (Norton).

WRAPPED appropriately in a jacket in black, white and brown, Miss Smith's book is again on the subject of the "strange fruit" which comes from the South's tortured racial relationships, and though it is not fiction, it is no less earnest and no less moving than her novel.

Pointing out that innumerable authors have considered the south as a problem in economics, agriculture, politics, prejudice, and what-not, she takes up the matter of human beings, the mothers, fathers and children, black, white and brown. "The wasting away of the nature of man has been the South's greatest loss," she says; it is not so much eroded soil as "eroded souls and minds."

Negro Got Worse End

For background she draws the picture of the North's double victory in war and economics, which floated the South, from which she comes, into a sort of backwater, and also the bond between rich and poor which, she finds, gives the Negro the worse end of two bad bargains.

In the foreground are the personalities who have suffered almost irreparable injuries to their ids, their souls and hearts. By a sort of osmosis, or absorption, or just plain suckling, the white child acquires an affection for Negroes, In his own home, surrounded by brothers, sisters and parents, he has been exposed to gentleness and love. These things he must unlearn, says Miss Smith, as he grows older and moves out of the bosom of a united family into the midst of a divided community, where "people said what they did not mean, and meant what they dared not say."

For such troubled individuals, says Miss Smith, love has been sterile, democracy empty, and the church unhelpful; the segregation of the Negro has been accompanied by the segregation of the whites.

If the arguments here do not always follow in one-two-three order, it is because the author has not been deeply concerned with argument. Her book is a cry of pain.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

WHEN Shirley Temple was married to John Agar, she told reporters that her marriage would last forever and that "two careers in one family work out wonderfully for us."

That was only four years ago. Today those two kids are separated, and another fairy tale has an unhappy ending.

BRANDEIS

I don't know just why, but when the story about the separation and the coming divorce suit came over the wires, I thought of a sunny morning in San Francisco many years ago.

My paper had sent me up to the Fairmont Hotel to interview another very, very famous movie couple who were also very, very happy at the time.

When I arrived, this couple were charming and gracious and invited me to breakfast—me the tyro cub reporter who was shaking in his boots at the idea of talking to two such famous characters.

So little Erich Brandeis had breakfast in the sumptuous Fairmont Hotel with Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks and was informed that two careers in one family worked out wonderfully for them.

I don't have to tell you the rest—you know it.

This is not an essay on marriage. Having been married only 28 years, I don't consider myself an expert on that subject as yet.

Futhermore, having been married all these 28 years to the same woman, I am reminded of the saying (I forget the author) that an expert is a person who is ignorant of everything except that one subject which he studies.

But let me state this about marriage:

Marriage is not something like a stone or a vase or a piece of art which, once completed, remains as it is.

Marriage is something living, that is never completed, something that has to be nurtured and kept in repair and condition—just as the human being itself has to be nutured and kept in repair and condition.

Marriage is something like the home in which it is lived.

If you have a home you know how things deteriorate unless they are looked after. The paint peels off and bebecomes shabby, bugs creep in unless constant cleaning is done. Without the proper care a home soon becomes a shambles.

A home, to be brought out to its full possibilities, must be beautified with curtains, knicknacks, flowers, rugs and

FUNDS IMPOUNDED

Air Force Was Hit

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — President Truman went back on his word to senators when he froze the $615,000,000 voted by Congress to expand the air force to 58 groups.

In the privacy of the White House, he had promised members of the Senate appropriations committee not to tie up the air force funds if Congress voted for the full 58 groups. The conversation took place before Congress had voted any money at all, and when Senate and House conferees were deadlocked over the size of the air force.

PEARSON

Chairman Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, speaking for his fellow members of the Senate appropriations committee, opened the question by stating: "Well, Mr. President, we seem to be at an impasse. . ."

"Yes, senator, I know all about it," Truman cut him off. "My position is this: I am for a 48-group air force, and I haven't changed my mind."

At this point Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma asked: "If the money were appropriated for more than 48 groups, would you impound it?"

"No," pledged the President firmly.

After the Senate had adjourned, however, Truman impounded the money anyhow.

Insurance Companies Pay Up

It was a cooperative group of life insurance executives who came up to Capitol Hill the other day to announce they were ready to pay up corporation income taxes for the last three years, which they have escaped via a loophole in the tax laws.

A week before, in fighting mood, they protested to a House ways and means subcommittee against paying any retroactive taxes.

Last week, however, A. J. McAndless, president of Lincoln National Life Insurance company and chief spokesman of the group, reported the insurance firms were ready to pay between $90,000,000 and $92,000,000 for the three years under a so-called "average valuation" payment plan.

The plan calls for an across-the-board lowering of tax reductions on investment income which has rendered the insurance firms 100 per cent exempt from federal income assessment. In effect, it will make between 5½ and 6½ per cent of investment income in 1947-48-49 subject to taxation.

WHEN U. N. diplomats have heard all the speechmaking they can take, they retreat to a soft-carpeted sanctum at Lake Success called the delegates' lounge.

It's a place with guards at the door, dahlias in tall vases, and walls without ears. It also features comfortable divans and an international bar. The barman of this club will serve a martini, a daiquiri, an aperitif, or a vodka—as the delegates desire.

Finally, it's a place where glasses are raised, where voices are lowered, and where east meets west.

Though this is a man's room, Mrs. Roosevelt flits by occasionally, never pausing for a drink. Here you will see the dynamic little Filipino named Romulo, now president of the U. N. assembly, receiving whispered suggestions on what to do from his high dais. Chinese delegates chatter in a corner, and the British lead the Canadians to the bar.

Here's portly Warren Austin nodding his head gravely as somebody tells him what the American delegation might do to break a deadlock. And Trygve Lie pops in from his office, knowing that when there's diplomatic "fixing" to be done, this is the place to do it.

This is the most important salon in the world—and I didn't say saloon! It's the place of elbow-bending and elbow-rubbing where Arab meets Israelite, Greek meets Pole, and Czech meets French despite the iron curtain.

The only thing that hasn't happened in the delegate's lounge as yet is Vishinsky raising a glass of vodka to the health of Tito!

Business Opposes Cartels

When the top big-business organization of the nation, the National Association of Manufacturers, denounces cartels and international monopolies, it's news. Yet that is exactly what the NAM does in a confidential report on Marshall plan operations in Europe.

Prepared by Patrick McMahon, an expert who recently returned from a three-month tour of western Europe, the report cites the following as among the "adverse factors" impeding European recovery:

1. The dangerous trend back toward cartelization both by European private business concerns and by the governments themselves;

2. Failure of European private businessmen to seize the initiative and play their responsible roles in the European economy—particularly, their failure to engage in aggressive competition at a time when competition is vitally needed;

3. The disproportionately high prices of European manufactured products, which are causing buyer resistance both in domestic and foreign markets, and which already have forced numerous cutbacks in industrial production in all countries.

The NAM report charges that the trade controls we have clamped on countries receiving Marshall plan (ECA) aid in many instances have excluded American manufacturers from "historic" European markets and encouraged monopolies in these markets for costly European products.

"Some modification of these restrictions would not only mitigate the injustice to the U. S. exporter," contends the NAM investigator. "It might also be one way of injecting a little competition into the European economy."

The "population problem" also needs adjustment, says the McMahon report, pointing out: "When and if all the other economic problems are solved, the bald fact will still remain that western Europe just does not have the productive resources to afford improved living standards to populations of the present size.

"This is especially true of Britain, Italy and Germany. It would be tragic, indeed, if the Marshall plan were to attain all its other objectives, but still fail in the end because of the unwillingness or inability of the western European countries to face up to the need of relocating vast segments of their population."

Give a woman time and she can find most anything in her handbag except a house and lot.

Cheer up. There's no depression until we again have governmental agencies from A to Z.

Houdini's Golden Moment

An Exclusive Avalanche-Journal Feature By The Author Of "The Greatest Story Ever Told"

Dear Friends
and Gentle Hearts:

WHAT are the prizes of life? Wealth? Fame? Power? No man has ever found true happiness in any of these things. The real rewards of our labors lie in the victories of the heart.

I think this great truth first came home to me at a midnight supper in the grille of the old Vaudeville club, on 46th Street, just off Broadway. My companion, over scrambled eggs and milk, was that mystery master of our time, the famous Houdini. At the witching-hour, I happened to ask him a question:—

"Houdini, you have known more great thrills than any other man I know. You have been handcuffed and ankle-cuffed and bound in chains, locked in a box and the box corded with ropes and whole tossed overboard, into the sea. Yet in five minutes, you rise swimming on the surface, free, with all your chains and cuffs left in the still closed box, while thousands on the shore stand in wonder and applaud.

Once, you startled the czar of all the Russians, by escaping from a supposedly impregnable Siberian transport van. Apparently helpless in a straight-jacket, you have swung up-side-down, a rope around your heels, hanging from a sky-scraper, and there and then, high in the air, have made your escape. I am curious to know what is the greatest thrill in all your experience."

HOUDINI smiled with the expression of one who through hardship and tenderness, had learned the true values of life.

"It was nothing like any of those things you mentioned," he assured me. "Actually, the experience spanned 20 years. When I was very young and very poor, I was performing my magic in an empty store, in down town New York. One afternoon, as I stood outside with the ballyhoo-man, trying to coax in the customers, a small boy grabbed me by the sleeve.

"Mr. Weiss,' he said, 'I've got a message for you.'

"'Call me Houdini,'" I answered gladly. 'What do you want?'

"'Your father is dying,' said the boy. 'Come home at once.'

"It took all the money in my pockets to pay for the cab that brought me up town. When I entered the bed-room of our east side flat, my mother and all my brothers were standing at the bedside, but my father's eyes were turned to the door as I hurried in. When he saw me, he lifted his hand feebly, and reached out toward my mother.

"'Dear wife,' he said, 'never worry. Harry will pour gold in your apron.'

"Those were his last words.

"IN THE years that followed, I performed in theaters all over the world. I was playing in London when I received a cable from the old Palace theater, in New York. To appear at the Palace meant that a vaudevillian had reached the top. The cable offered me a week's engagement, at a thousand dollars. In those days, that was a fortune to me. I sent my answer: 'Yes, if you will pay my salary in gold.'

"And on the pay day of my first week at the Palace, I received a handful of golden coins. I carried them, tightly in my palm, up to my mother's flat, where I found her in her rocking chair. And I swallowed hard as I said to her: 'Hold out your apron, Mother,' and let the golden shower fall. That was the greatest thrill I ever knew."

In the lives of every one of us, there is the opportunity to make good the faith that others have in us. And to give of our own blessings to others. In such moments, we find the only worth-while thrills in life.

Faithfully Yours,

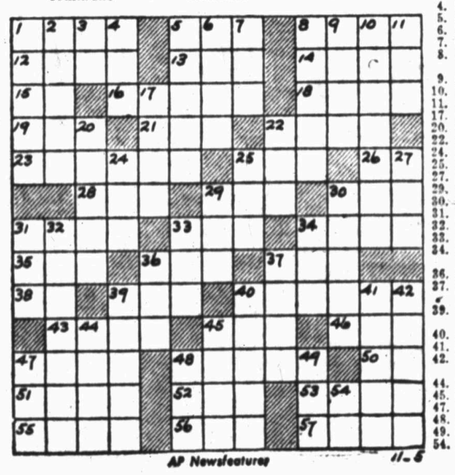

Fulton Oursler

TEXAS AIRPORTS ALSO JAMMED WITH HEAVY TRAFFIC

Solons Demand Improved Aerial Safety Measures After Tragedy At Washington National Airport

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. — The view that military and civilian air traffic should be separated at air ports this week by Washington's terrible crash of the Eastern Airlines plane when rammed by the Bolivian-piloted P-38, caused an investigation to be made to see just how much air travel is being handled at Texas airports.

The figures over several months time would astound one. Figures were available only for those airports where the Civil Aeronautics Administration has traffic control towers, including San Antonio, El Paso, Amarillo, Dallas, Abilene, Big Spring, Fort Worth, Brownsville, Corpus Christi and Houston.

In other cities such as Beaumont, Lubbock, Austin, Temple, San Angelo, Midland-Odessa, Sherman, Tyler and Galveston, the traffic must be of sufficient volume to create considerable problems which at times could become more acute with less control.

Solons Demand More Safety

Members of Congress have voiced their opinion as to the need for separation of this traffic. Senator Ed Johnson of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee, has said his group is already working on the problems of air traffic and will take this up at the next session of Congress. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is a member of this committee. House members are almost certain to probe the death of their colleague, Congressman Bates of Massachusetts.

The Air Line Pilots association (AFL) in a statement issued immediately afer the crash said the Washington accident was "a tragedy that demands action." They called for "fundamental changes in air traffic procedures and use of flying fields that will give scheduled air line aircraft right of way priority over all other planes, military or otherwise."

Civil aeronautics officials point out that in big airports such as Washington National, the military traffic is kept down in number and considerably diverted. But what are local officials going to do when there is but one airport, they ask. The plane other than a carrier, both military and local or itinerant civilian, has a right to use a public facility and to come into a public port. CAA men say every one is entitled to use the street for motor traffic or the harbor or municipal docks.

THEY cite the fact that planes are increasing so greatly in number with new models and faster speeds that the air safety record is amazingly high considering the traffic. They say these things are being done to improve conditions in face of the mounting air traffic.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and CAA have an Air Navigation Development board which is seeking to devise a common system of air navigation which will be safe and useful in war as well as peace time and will accommodate the new models, larger planes and varying speeds.

Considerable work is being done to arrive at "flow schedule" for incoming planes, particularly at the larger airports. This means that planes leave feeder airports at stated intervals so as not to arrive at the same or nearly the same time in the big centers. Some times airlines do not like this. They find the time assigned disadvantageous but CAA is making a bold attempt to control this. The ultimate goal is to have no airplane waiting in the air, backed up over an airport and unable to obtain landing instructions because of traffic. In fice, 10 or 15 years, this will be obtained, officials predict.

Safety Plan Offered

Another plan is to have airplanes land in alternate airports or stay on the ground in nearby cities until they can be assumed of getting an opportunity to land at the big centers, rather than have them circling the airports.

There are some Texas airports where there is more traffic in privae airplanes than carriers and some where there is a very high percentage of itinerant military traffic. San Antonio with its big military air bases nearby has less problems of conflict than many others. El Paso has almost eight times as many local civilian airplanes as it has carriers plus a large number of itinerant military craft. The local airplanes doubtless include a number of student trainees, CAA officials here said. There is more military travel over Big Spring than airliner. Brownsville has almost as many civilian planes as carrier. Corpus Christi has far more itinerant military travel and nearly as many itinerant civil as carrier-type and Houston has more itinerant civil than carrier, while Fort Worth has a problem of close to the same number of air carrier, ininerant military and itinerant civilian.

THE suddenness of death shocked Washington speechless this week. A Community chest audience of society women and wives of top government officials simply broke up in awed silence when it was announced that the speaker they had waited throughout the noon hour to hear, Helen Hokinson, cartoonist, who drew clubwomen, was in the plane crash. . . . Down at Agriculture in the Rural Electrification administration, a minor official said when asked if his boss, Claude Wickard, REA administrator, would run for the Senate in Indiana. "No, he won't do that—I'm just scared something else might happen to him—like happened to Mr. Neal," Assistant Administrator W. J. Neal, killed in an automobile accident in New Mexico, was this week replaced by George W. Haggard of Abilene.

Texan Among Victims

One brilliant Texan died in the Washington airplane crash and as his life was snuffed out went the opportunity for service which many years of the best training and investment in experience could provide for his fellow Americans. Also, there closed the door on much living history which it was his to tell. Robert M. Field, San Antonio, who had lived many years in New York, was among other things, coming to Washington to discuss with former associates at the White House their plans for a book about Lewis McHenry Howe and the Franklin D. Roosevelt era.

Field was one of those who did spade work for election of Roosevelt the first time through the Roosevelt Business and Professional Men's League prior to and during the Chicago convention. As the former personal adviser for many years to Col. E. M. House, Field acted as liaison between Colonel House and Presidents Roosevelt.

There is no telling what comparable situations between the foreign policy of World War I and World War II he helped with as Roosevelt sought to draw on the experience of Colonel House and the late President Woodrow Wilson.

Dwight L. Hoopingarner, formerly of Port Lavaca and student and professor at the University of Texas, knew Field when he was a student there. Hoopingarmer and Field were later in the Roosevelt League. The former was executive secretary. Today, Hoopingarner, director of facilities, National Security Resources Board, executive office of the President, said Field "played a significant part in the election of Franklin Roosevelt, before, during and after the first convention at Chicago." Hoopingarner mentioned particularly Field's work "in the last caucus of the Texas delegation."

Field had served as special counsel to John R. Steelman, the assistant to the president. The Texan worked particularly on drafting operations for the Marshall Plan. He left that employ in 1948 and since had been in Europe several times. Just why, is not known here. At Steelman's office where he was coming this week when killed, he was reported to be "on personal business." He still had a White House pass.

Field had been a vice administrator of War Assets Administration and an industry adviser of the National Recovery administration. For years he was an officer of various subsidiaries of U. S. Steel. In addition to advising Colonel House, he was associated with Joe Davies, former ambassador to Russia. Field was at one time president of Indusco, Chinese industrial corporation, and head of the American Asiatic association.

He received B. A. and LL. B. degrees from the University of Texas. His schooling there was interruped by service in World War I. He was a Rhodes scholar and studied at Oxford and the Sorbonne. He had traveled extensively all over the world.

As references on his government Form 57 he gave such men as Cordell Hull, then Attorney General Tom C. Clark, and Thomas W. Lamont, Wall street financier.

Bakery Employe Is Left Holding Bag

WINONA, Minn., Nov. (AP)—The customer identified himself as Rev. Carl Miller from nearby Lewiston. He ordered 48 dozen doughnuts for his First Baptist church supper.

The Winona bakery employe gave him $12.80 change from a $30 check.

So-o-o, the bakery fried the cruellers. But Rev. Miller didn't show.

Sheriff George Fort is looking for him. Because there is no Rev. Miller. No church supper, not even such a church. And no money to cover that check.

Just lots and lots of doughnuts.

Gasping Dog Causes Telephone Operator To Summon Policemen

HAWTHORNE, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP)—A telephone operator called police last night when she heard gasps and the barking of a dog coming over an open line.

Police quickly went to the address to check up.

There they found the dog, a natural gasper, had pulled the phone off the hook and was putting on the show all by himself.

THAT is the way with marriage.

Marriage can also become a shambles unless it is beautified with love and kindness, with tenderness and beauty, with understanding and consideration.

To keep up a home and to keep up marriage takes time. To do both together is a woman's full-time job, at least in my old-fashioned opinion. Just as it is a man's full-time job to earn a living and do his share of making marriage a success.

With all these newfangled inventions, someone may some day invent something more modern than marriage.

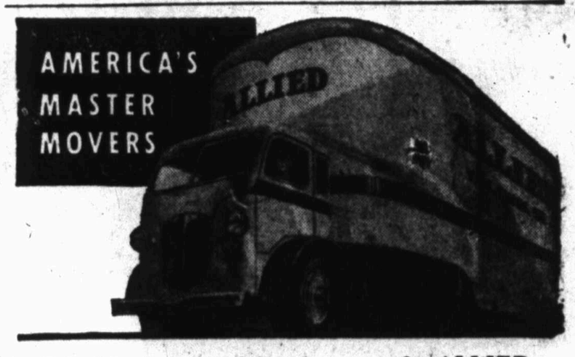

In the meantime, let us make the best of what we've got.
