Plot To Kidnap Wealthy Texan Foiled By Arrests

Four Persons Die Of Poisoning; Lawyer Confesses

Death Planned For Victim To Block Threats

Ohio Attorney Confesses That He Placed Poison In A Jug From Which The Family Was Drinking Grape Juice

One Child Escapes

Says Woman Demanded $400 To Keep Silent About Theft Case; Death Penalty To Be Asked By Officers

(By The Associated Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 16.—Mark H. Shank, 41-year-old Akron, Ohio, lawyer, confessed, detectives said today, that he killed four members of a family with poison in an effort to foil a woman's blackmail plot and prosecution.

The woman, Shank was quoted as saying, demanded money under threat of publicizing information given her by Avlon Colley, head of the family of which four members died in an automobile on an Arkansas roadway yesterday.

Die In Auto

Colley, his wife and two of their three small children, died in their car as they were leaving a picnic ground.

One of the children—three-year-old Clyde Colley—escaped ravages of the poison. He was in a hospital in Malvern and said he saw Shank pour something in a jug from which the family was drinking grape juice at the picnic.

Chief of Detectives Herbert Akers, said Shank confessed that he brought the poison to Arkansas from Ohio.

Wanted In Ohio

Colley was wanted in Ohio for theft of papers from the district attorney's office. Shank was his attorney.

The lawyer said an Akron woman demanded $400 from him under threat of implicating him in the theft of the papers. He denied any connection with the crime. The papers were to be used as evidence against a Shank client.

He said Colley had been "running around with the woman." She told Shank, he said, that Colley had told her Shank was implicated in the theft.

Cut And Bruised

Cut and bruised after his flight from the scene of the slayings, Shank was brought here to jail.

Rise In Employment And Boost In Pay Being Reported

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP)—Official reports of a sharp increase in factory employment and payrolls, together with a new drop in public relief expenditures, were characterized today by President Roosevelt and his official aides as encouraging signs of better times.

A labor department report showed that thousands of additional workers, the exact number not being known, returned to jobs in manufacturing industries in July. The level of employment was estimated as 7.2 per cent over June and the payrolls 7.9 per cent higher.

Figures Made Public

At the emergency relief administration, a few squares away, Harry L. Hopkins, distributor of the government's $500,000,000 distress fund, made public the first official figures on the extent of national relief.

They showed 3,745,367 families, or about 15,000,000 persons, were helped in June, which was a drop from 4,222,263 families, or nearly 17,000,000 persons in May and a decrease from 4,445,338 or about 18,000,000 individuals in April.

Total public funds spent in June were $66,191,520 as compared with $70,323,506 in May; $72,651,929 in April; and about $80,000,000 in March.

Very Encouraging

Hopkins described the figures as "very encouraging" and President Roosevelt expressed pleasure with the employment gains, pointing out the July report represented the 5th consecutive month in which an increase was shown over the corresponding months of last year.

He said he felt it was a healthful sign, particularly in view of the seasonal declines in employment this time of year. He added this was the first time payrolls have jumped along with the number of workers.

The president looked upon increased retail demand for automobiles another good sign.

Trio Is Found Dead In Auto

Officers Believe Fourth Man Killed His Companions And Fled With Woman Occupant; Bodies Identified

(By The Associated Press)

GRUNDY, Va., Aug. 16. — Three men were found dead in an automobile in the Knox creek section of Buchanan county early today, all shot to death, and Sheriff A. H. Goff is of the opinion that a fourth man in the car killed his companions and fled with a woman occupant.

The three bodies have been identified tentatively as those of J. H. Akers, about 30, deputy sheriff of Mercer county, W. Va., driver of the car; J. W. Webb, about 60, of Princeton, father in law of Akers and J. W. Collins, about 40, of Tioga, W. Va.

Clothing Is Found

A woman's dress, hat and other apparel, was found in the car, which apparently had gone off the road when the driver was shot. Aker's holster was empty and the officers think he was shot with his own gun.

Money was found on each of the bodies, indicating that robbery was not the motive.

Webb was breathing when Walter and Tom Dotson reached the automobile after Mrs. Australia Justus had heard the woman scream as the car passed her house and later heard shots. The bodies were taken to Grundy.

Jury Is Completed In Woody Murder Case On At Hereford

HEREFORD, Aug. 16. (AP)—A jury was completed today for the trial of W. H. Woody on a murder charge for the slaying of his father-in-law, Wade Williamson.

Williamson was killed at Woody's farm near Hereford the night of last July 17, allegedly after an argument as to whether Mrs. Woody would bring a wife-beating charge against her husband.

Woody was shot twice in the disturbance. He was brought into the court room today on a cot with wounds in the leg.

Beer Taxes Bring $6,290,530 Total

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP)—Just short of 280,000 persons paid the federal government $6,290,530 during the waning months of the last fiscal year for the privilege of making or selling beer.

The internal revenue bureau today made public statistics showing that from April 7, through May and up to last June 30, a total of 277,105 persons had paid license taxes to the government, entirely aside from the levies upon the beer itself.

A total of 331 brewers paid $1,000 each, 14,135 wholesale dealers $50 and 262,639 retail dealers $20 each.

Number Of Army Posts Over Nation Are To Be Abandoned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—In the interest of economy and efficiency, President Roosevelt plans to abandon a number of army posts scattered through the country, some of which date back to the revolution.

The administration holds the opinion that many of the posts, although vitally necessary years ago, have long passed their period of usefulness and now are liabilities. No decision has been reached on the fate of indiviual posts. There are 350 in all.

Major Groups Being Pushed To Set Codes

Roosevelt Takes Command As Steel Representatives Go To White House Wednesday For Conferences

Dispute Aired

Labor Guarantee, Center Of Major Disagreements, May Find Way To Courts; Ford Missing At Auto Session

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—There were definite indications today that the full pressure of the government was being exerted to bring steel, coal, oil and automobiles under codes of fair competition at the earliest possible moment.

Also moving into position for an interpretation by the administration, which may find its way into the courts, was the troublesome collective bargaining guarantee for labor upon which virtually all major disagreement between capital and workers has centered.

Roosevelt Directs

President Roosevelt took personal command of the campaign by conferring at the White House with Myron C. Taylor, chairman of United States Steel, and Charles Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, summoning them after steel's open break with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Outstanding spokesmen for the coal industry gathered for a conference with Kenneth M. Simpson, chief deputy administrator of the NRA; automobile magnates—with Henry Ford still unrepresented—went over their code for several hours with a deputy administrator, and the administration-written oil code was being pulled into final shape for presentation tomorrow to the industry.

Silent On Steel

Out of this round of conferences no formal announcements came. Important business men moved in and out of the office of Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator. But all were silent, as was the White House upon the steel meeting there.

However, Secretary Frances Per-

Raid On "Murder Farm" Is Planned; Tongs In Action

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 16 (AP)—Detectives today planned to raid an asserted "murder farm" believed to serve as a base of operations for a Chinese tong whose terroristic activities were climaxed last night with the ambush slaying of N. G. Fong.

John Garner Appeals To Texas To Aid Repeal In Balloting On August 26

Vice President Asks Fellow Democrats To Back Party

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 16.—Texans were appealed to today by Vice President John N. Garner, in a letter written from his Uvalde home, to vote for repeal of the national prohibition amendment.

In a special election on August 26 the electorate of this state will decide how Texas shall vote on the proposition submitted by congress whether the eighteenth amendment should be stricken from the federal constitution.

On the same day there will be submitted the question whether the state constitution shall be liberalized to permit the manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer. Garner did not commit himself on that proposal in his letter, which was addressed to Roy Miller, Texas director of the Democratic national campaign.

Gives Assistance

Garner said he voted against submission of the eighteenth amendment, when the matter first was presented to congress, because he believed it "violated a fundamental principle of government."

"Since then I have availed myself of every opportunity to assist in bringing about its repeal," he wrote.

He pointed out that "in obedience to the platform of the last Democratic national convention," as speaker of the national house of representatives, he submitted the question of repeal to a vote of the house on the first day of the last session of congress.

Considered It Duty

"I considered it my duty to do so because the American people, by overwhelming vote, had ratified the party platform which demanded repeal," Garner wrote Miller.

"That the eighteenth amendment has not accomplished the results expected of it, even by its advocates, all will agree. That it has not produced a satisfactory or effective solution of the temperance problem

Liberal Loans Are Advocated

Mrs. Ferguson Wires FDR In An Attempt To Aid Farmers In Getting Loans Until The Market Is Improved

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 16 — Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today telegraphed President Roosevelt a suggestion that he request the federal reserve board to authorize liberal loans to farmers on their cotton until such time as the market is improved.

"May I suggest that you request the federal reserve board to request member banks to at once announce that loans of 80 per cent of the value of cotton will be made for 12 months at five per cent on all spot cotton offered and for the farmer to present his compress receipt and get the money," the governor wired the president.

Issue Currency

"To enforce this request you can announce that if the federal reserve banks will not make the loans that the government will issue currency now authorized and make the loan and take at least half the crop off the market. This will leave the cotton in the hands of the farmer and by acreage production next year the price can be stabilized and ruin of the cotton planter can be averted.

The governor asked the president to "pardon my intrusion, but the impending cotton tragedy has impelled me to give you a Texas view point."

Seventy Drowned As Storm Strikes

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 16 (AP)—Seventy persons were drowned early today in floods which struck this city and the parishes of St. Thomas, St. Catherine and St. Mary following upon a storm accompanied by lightning and high wind.

The damage was estimated at approximately $2,000,000 as bridges and buildings were swept away and banana plantations leveled. One hundred houses were abandoned they were damaged so badly.

The government established relief stations to care for the homeless. The storm, which lasted six hours, was described as the worst in eighty years.

British Plan To Halt Fast Announced By The Mahatma

POONA, India, Aug. 16. (AP)—After the Mahatma Gandhi had announced at noon today that he was starting a fast until death, the government came forward with an offer which, it was expected, would impel him to abandon the plan.

The government was willing to provide the nationalist leader with facilities enabling him to continue, under certain conditions, his campaign to better the status of India's most lowly caste, the untouchables.

Thus far the Mahatma has not actually missed any meal, and it was expected that he would eat as usual this evening.

Flier Takes Off Today On Proposed Hop To Nowhere; New Wrinkles Will Be Used To Keep Awake During Trip

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A new wrinkle or two on how to keep awake while trying to smash a long-distance flying record will be used by General Francesdo De Pinedo on his proposed flight to nowhere.

De Pinedo expects to lift his six-ton monoplane, laden with 1100 gallons of gasoline, from Floyd Bennett airport tomorrow morning, cross the Atlantic, circle Rome and then fly eastward to wherever winds, fate and his own judgment will take him.

He has devised two methods for keeping awake, both of which he said today will work "absolutely sure" should his plane drop or skid so much as seven degrees while he catnaps.

The first method involves a siren which automatically screams when the plane's position varies from true course. The second consists of a gadget which will squirt water on his face in case the first method fails to awaken him.

The arrangement, De Pinedo says, is not a robot. He expects to fly at high altitudes and thus be able to sleep a few minutes at a time without danger of falling into the sea or crashing into mountain ranges.

Guy Waggoner Is Revealed As The Next Intended Victim Of Abductors; No Chances Taken

Roads Into Dallas Closely Guarded As Rumors Are Heard Of Attempt To Rescue Harvey Bailey; Cell Confining Albert Bates Guarded With Machine Guns; Chicago Gets Action

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Aug. 16.—Disclosure here today of a thwarted plot to kidnap a "$200,000,000 victim"—Guy Waggoner, 50, Fort Worth sportsman and oil heir—was followed by placing a machine gun squad on guard over the cell of Albert Bates, jailed as the kidnaper of Charles Urschel, of Oklahoma City.

Capture of Bates and Harvey Bailey, alleged leader of the Urschel abductors, foiled a plan to kidnap Waggoner from his palatial Colorado Springs home, and left unsprung a trap in which officers were ready for a "machine gun fight to the finish" with the kidnap plotters, it was learned from official sources.

Takes No Chances

"I'm taking no chances with Bates," said Captain of Detectives William Armstrong after he stationed machine gunners at Bates' cell. He remained firm today in refusing to turn Bates over to government agents until he completes a check of Colorado crimes in which he thinks Bates is involved.

A possibility that George Kelly, sought as one of the Urschel kidnapers, was coming here to try to liberate Bates was learned when Captain Armstrong said he had been informed Kelly boasted in Chicago Monday he would free Bates "from that little tin can jail in Denver."

Kelly Reported Seen

Early this morning an automobile driven by a blonde woman and believed to have Kelly as a passenger was reported seen speeding westward through North Platte, Neb.

The theory of officers here is that Bailey and Bates and their followers, after collecting a huge ransom for Urschel's return had decided on Waggoner as their next victim.

Waggoner and his father, W. T. Waggoner, oil and land magnate, are reputedly worth about $200,000,000.

Police speculated that Bates had been sent to Colorado to get the "lay of the land" and that later others in the gang would join him and carry out the plot to abduct Waggoner.

Nabbed As Suspect

Detectives nabbed Bates here as a Tupelo, Miss., bank robbery suspect, not knowing he was sought in connection with the Urschel kidnaping, and Bailey was caught in Texas—spoiling, official sources revealed, what was planned as a spectacular trap for the Bailey-Bates-Kelly gang when they went after Waggoner.

Government agents were to be armed with machine guns and were ready to mow down the abductors if they tried to take Waggoner and resisted capture.

Officers Are Determined To Prevent Repetition Of Kansas City Slaughter; Dallas Roads Are Being Closely Guarded

DALLAS, Aug. 16 (AP)—Determined to prevent a repetition of the Kansas City slaughter last June 17 in which four officers and a prisoner they were guarding were mowed down by machine gunners, law enforcement officers here today closely guarded roads approaching the city as reports were heard of an intended effort to rescue Harvey Bailey, held in default of $100,000 bond in the Dallas county jail for the alleged kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma City oil man.

Two car loads of department of justice agents and detectives, heavily armed, left the federal building here late today. An agent said they had received an unconfirmed rumor that an automobile answering the description of the blue-black, 16-cylinder car in which George Kelly, fugitive in the Urschel kidnaping case, was traveling about the country, had been seen on the highway leading from Houston to Dallas.

One Man In Car

Only one man was in the car, according to information received by the department of justice, and this led agents to doubt whether the man was Kelly. Agents were inclined to believe Kelly would not venture out on the highway without confederates to guard him.

"We expect to receive lots of reports of cars such as Kelly's in the next few days," the agent said.

Check Every Report

Nevertheless, officers were closely checking every report in the hope that one of them might lead to other suspects wanted in the Urschel case. The two cars which left Dallas were presumed to have gone

Touhy Gangsters Expected To Be Rounded Up In Intensive Drive By Chicago Officers; Hunt Spreading To Wisconsin

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)—A kidnap chase started in Chicago by 300 massed police spread to Southern Wisconsin tonight with confident predictions that Touhy gangsters and others suspected of kidnaping would be caught.

The locale of the hunt was the Wisconsin resort district about 100 miles north of Chicago where gangsters long have congregated and several kidnap victims have believed they were held captive.

Police Rush To Scene

Two score Chicago police were rushed to the region today with machine guns, rifles and bombs. They rode in automobiles of sufficient speed to overtake any suspects who might be driven from the wooded retreats.

Evidence concerning several gangster hideouts previously had been gathered by detectives disguised as farmers and tourists, police officials said.

They had hopes of arresting additional conspirators in the kidnapings of William Hamm, jr., St. Paul brewer, and Charles Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man.

Factor Threatened

John Factor, millionaire speculator whose negotiations to make a ransom payment started the anti-abduction drive, reported today he had been threatened with death by the men who kidnaped him several weeks ago.

"They'll never believe I didn't help the police," Factor wailed. "It was none of my doing. The police tapped my telephone wires, learned about the payment, and then horned in."

Factor said the threat came by telephone. He was secluded in his hotel suite today under heavy guard with his son Jerome, also a victim of kidnapers some weeks ago, and other members of his family.

Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker said failure of his mobilized forces to catch two kidnaping suspects in the suburbs yesterday was "just a bad break."

He said that three weeks of preparations preceded the attempt. Army airplanes were used to spot the fugitives and blueprints of an area four miles square were made so that no road might be unwatched. Hundreds of automobiles were delayed for hours on several arterial highways while police waited for the trap to spring.

Misses Willie Merle And Ernestine Sumner Give Six-Table Party On Wednesday

The Woman's Angle

Modern youngsters accept their modern raising. There was the small girl who had a game of pretending with her grandmother. One day they were pretending they were going on a picnic and were packing the basket. The child, thinking up delicacies, mentioned spinach, carrots, milk....

On a recent trip through Carlsbad Cavern we shared the lunch table with a family, the youngest a four-year-old. The meal over, the child turned to his mother to inquire, "Do we take our nap now, Mother?"

THEY WON'T TELL

THERE are those who have no use for cats. There are people, some women particularly, who have such an aversion to cats that they are unhappy if one even comes into view. Such folk, in my opinion, have missed one opportunity for an excellent friendship.

With the family out of town, it has fallen to my lot to make a daily call upon our cat, Tom, and rejoice in his obvious welcome. For, after holding down the back porch alone all day long, Tom is so glad to have company that he radiates his happiness. Tom is a companionable cat, so it is with pleasure that I make my call and discuss the things we like to talk about.

Tom is not only companionable, he is a conversationalist who, very diplomatically, puts just enough expression in his soft mews that I may turn the interpretation to suit my fancy.

In case you haven't tried it, there is a great deal of satisfaction in having a friendship with a cat who converses. You make your statement. He answers—with a monosyllable—but there are nice shades of expression in what he has to say. You may give vent to your anger. You may recite your woes. You may gush with enthusiasm and not only have a sympathetic answer from the cat but you have the additional assurance that the cat, like daisies, won't tell.

It doesn't take a cat with a pedigree to have this excellent quality which is so dear to our friendship. For Tom, our cat, has no papers to show from whence he came. Some time in the last few years he took up his abode and, after meeting all pretenders to residence there, stayed, alone, because he was larger and more warlike than any of the rest. We didn't care for him then because of his disagreeable disposition. There was no welcome on the door step where he insisted on staying.

However, some time after all competition gave up in despair, Tom made advances, showed us that he was smart enough to attempt to open the back screen by standing on his hind legs and fumbling with the catch, and displayed parlor manners on the back porch. He was obsequious. He plead for friendship. He was smart enough to refrain from intruding on the family while they were sitting in the back yard—to refrain, that is, until he was invited to join the circle and then he displayed his best manners. So, little by little, Tom became the family cat and fell heir to as much care as most people bestow upon their Persians.

This essay on cats might be expanded for if you have grown to adulthood without having the friendship of some animal you have missed much that others cherish.

You may not have conversed with cats but surely you have known the warmth of some dog's affection or had a favorite horse that responded when you patted his side or pulled his mane or rubbed his nose. Even milking has been an easier task for many boys who had an affectionate understanding with the cow.

That offends your finer sensibilities? Then mark it down that you have missed something worth while in life. And it doesn't take an expensive cat or dog or horse to have these affectionate and companionable qualities.

Lubbock Ministers Say Prophecy In Bible Does Not Prohibit Signing Of NRA; Praise Offered For Huge Plan

Two Lubbock ministers yesterday declared that a Biblical prophecy in the Book of Revelation did not prohibit a Christian from signing the National Recovery act agreement and from subscribing to the Blue Eagle. A third minister contacted did not express his opinion.

Some persons have interpreted verses 11 through 17 of chapter 13, Revelation, as forbidding cooperation in the recovery move. The verses read:

"And I behold another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon.

"And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

"And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on earth in the sight of men,

"And deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live.

"And he had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed.

"And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads:

"And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark or the name of the beast, or the number of his name."

The next verse says that the number of the beast "is six hundred three score and six."

The two pastors who did not interpret the verses as applying to NRA and its Eagle were Dr. Jack M. Lewis, of the First Presbyterian church and the only Doctor of Divinity occupying a Lubbock pulpit; and Rev. Jeff D. Welch, pastor of the Central Baptist church. Rev. O. W. Carter, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church declined to comment without making a careful study of Revelation.

"No," said the Rev. Mr. Welch, "I am sure in my own mind that the verses do not apply to the present National Recovery Act agreement. I have received a number of inquiries, have studied the question quite a bit and have mentioned it twice in sermons. I have decided that the 'sign of the Blue Eagle is not 'the mark of the beast' and have so advised my church members.

Doctor Lewis said that careful study might add to a clarification of the interpretation of the Biblical verses but that he "cannot bring myself to believe Revelation applies to the NRA, nor can I see a clearly prophetic fulfillment in NRA from the verses mentioned in the last Book of the Bible".

The Presbyterian pastor characterized the National Recovery Act as "one of the finest methods possible to help the nation out of its financial difficulties."

Efforts to get other ministerial opinions were made. Other pastors called but not contacted were:

Rev. C. A. Bickley, presiding elder of the Methodist church; Rev. Walter P. Jennings, First Christian church; Rev. R. C. Campbell, First Baptist church; Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor, and Rev. Marshall Rhew, educational director, First Methodist church; Rev. R. M. Hocker, Church of the Nazarene; John T. Smith, minister, Church of the Nazarene; Jonn T. Smith, minister, Church of Christ; and Rev. C. J. McCarty, Calvary Baptist church.

The question of Revelation as applied to NRA first bobbed up in Muskogee, Okla., on August 3, when a retailer declined to sign the code, giving as his reason the Biblical prophecy. He agreed, however, to operate his business under code agreements but declined to display 'the mark of the beast.'

Highway Bids Will Be Asked

Emergency Road Construction In Texas Will Be Started Soon; Projects Will Cost About $900,000

AUSTIN, Aug. 16 (AP)—Bids will be asked by the highway commission August 28 on emergency highway construction estimated to cost approximately $900,000.

The work will be paid for from funds appropriated by the federal relief funds.

Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, said another letting under the emergency relief program would be held as soon after August 28 as practicable. Plans to utilize the $24,000,000 allotted to Texas have been dispatched to Washington for approval.

The commission was inclined to look with favor on a proposition to construct a highway connecting Houston and Port Arthur.

Delegations from Harris, Chambers and Jefferson counties argued to the commission that such a road as proposed would shorten the distance between those cities and provide a much needed traffic artery. An investigation of the feasability of the proposition was ordered.

The chambers county delegation was told that completion of highway 61 in their county has been made an emergency project, together with construction of grading and drainage structures on the same highway in Liberty county from the Chambers county line north.

The commission said it probably would come to a decision early next month with reference to the construction of a highway through Kenedy county. Surveys of proposed locations for the highway are being made.

A Navarro county delegation was informed that construction of a bridge across the Trinity river in that county on highway 23 and the building of that highway from Corsicana to the Hill county line had been recommended as emergency projects.

From 'Way Down Austin Way

Capitol Chatter

By Charles E. Simons

Associated Press Staff Writer

Charles E. Simons

AUSTIN, Aug. 16 (AP)—Conflicting views of house members on the condition of the state's finances and the need for additional revenue suggests that the special session of the legislature, tentatively set for September, will not be peaceful.

Add to the list of prospective legislation the repeal or suspension of the stringent anti-trust laws and likely liquor legislation, and the outlook is not brightened.

Rep. George Hester of Georgetown, who voted on legislation with a background of several years as professor of government at Southwestern university, doesn't see a need for any additional taxes. Hester, after making an exhaustive investigation, believes tax strengthening laws passed at the regular session should increase revenues from sources those laws affect sufficiently to carry the state over. At the same time he does not ignore the probability that the state will face a deficit at the end of the next biennium.

Reps. Harold Kayton of San Antonio, J. C. Duvall of Fort Worth and W. M. Harman of Waco are alarmed at the increasing breach between income and outgo at the treasury department. Kayton is one of the leading advocates of a sales tax and Duvall and Harman are chairmen, respectively, of the house committees on revenue and taxation, and administrations.

Kayton, Duvall and Harman were among those present at a meeting in Austin at which the financial situation was canvassed.

Out of the session came the Texas emergency tax relief committee. The purpose of this body was "to make an exhaustive study of our state and local property tax systems, to inform and educate our citizens and tax authorities to the necessity of immediate relief from present oppressive real estate taxes and to recommend to the special session of the legislature specific legislation aime dto more equitably distribute the tax burden now resting on farm, ranch, homes and business property, giving primary consideration to a general retail sales tax."

The large deficit in the state's general revenue, available school and confederate pension funds is shown by figures prepared by the state comptroller for consideration of the automatic tax board.

The tabulation revealed that on Aug. 31, the end of the state's fiscal year, the general revenue deficit would be $9,944,000 and the available school fund deficit $7,704,000. The Confederate pension fund is $896,000 behind and owes the state highway fund an additional $3,000,000.

The pension fund obligation to the highway fund is not regarded seriously by most legislators. Many of them believe it never will be liquidated, or not for several years at least.

Woman Is Facing Kidnaping Charge

Charged with kidnaping, Mrs. Opal Waddell of near Oklahoma City was sought last night by county officers who believed her young half-brother was with her. The charge was filed yesterday in Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell's court.

The child is Billie Don Hope. Mr. Hope's daughter came here from her home, 30 miles west of Oklahoma City, to see her father, as he was sick, and about 3 o'clock yesterday morning she left with her young half-brother, Sheriff Tom Abel said he was informed.

Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, yesterday morning filed the complaint.

Organization Details Will Be Discussed By Officials

DALLAS, Aug. 16. (AP) — R. A. Thompson, recently named state engineer for the Texas public work's advisory board, returned to Dallas from a vacation today and announced plans to meet Col. Icke Ashburn, state board chairman, in Fort Worth Friday to discuss organization details.

Thompson said he understood all members of the state board would meet in Fort Worth next week where state headquarters will be set up.

He said that from communications already received from Washington, it seemed definite that all distribution of funds would be on a basis of 30-70, the government providing the 30 per cent. RIVERSIDE TIRES

have LATEX WELDED CORDS
(100% PURE LIQUID RUBBER)

which prevent Cord Separation . . the cause of blowouts

Do you know this? An average size tire goes round 395 times every minute at only 35 miles an hour! Think what happens when you drive at this speed—or faster! Friction develops scorching heat inside your tires! In many tires other than Riversides this heat separates cords! It weakens the tire, forms internal blisters! When you hit a rock or a bump . . . BANG! A blowout!

You need the added protection Riversides give you! Riversides' Cords—the heart of the tire—are made from extra strong, long staple, premium cotton. Every cord in every ply is dipped in LATEX—100% pure, liquid, virgin rubber. This welds the cords into a super strong unit! It gives Riversides the strongest tire carcass made! It prevents cord separation . . . the cause of blowouts!

Why We Save You Money

Of course Riversides are made in one of America's largest and best tire factories. BUT—they come direct to us—minus the manufacturer's selling and general overhead expense. That's a saving. The second saving comes from Wards low cost method of distribution. These two reasons explain why we sell high quality tires for less. It's simple to figure out for yourself why Riversides are better in quality, mileage, and safety than any other tire at the same price.

*RIVERSIDE TIRES will not blow out under normal road conditions during the life of the tread if they are kept properly inflated in accordance with the specified air pressures.

Cord Separation
This shows how cords inside tires other than Riversides are separated by heat. Cord separation causes internal blisters, weakens the tire. A blowout is the result! Riversides are Blowout Proof because of Latex dipping!

Latex Dipping
By an extra process, every cord in every ply in all Riverside tires is dipped in Latex. This welds the cords into a super strong unit that defies cord separation and blowouts!

For your protection every single Riverside tire is guaranteed by Wards to give service that is satisfactory to you. No time limit! No mileage limit! A tire has to be extra good—has to be extra safe to be backed by the strongest tire guarantee ever written!

Urschel Case Cleaned Up

IT IS GRATIFYING to read that henchmen of Harvey Bailey, arch criminal and escaped convict, are being held on bonds of $50,000 each and that Bailey's bond—which the law won't permit him to make—has been set at $100,000, as result of their capture in connection with the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel.

The only fly in the ointment is that bonds were not denied altogether, or else placed at $1,000,000 apiece so there would be no chance of any of them getting even temporary freedom. They've no right to walk among decent people, with or without bond; they've given up their right to be part of society.

Cleaning up of the Urschel case, however, is to be applauded for it cannot help but deter other criminals set upon the nefarious practice of kidnaping. If the death penalty is applied to Bailey and his co-defendants—as it should be—the decent people of the country will have won a signal victory.

The Morning Avalanche, long an advocate of the death penalty for kidnapers whether they injure their victims or not, does not hope for a death sentence in the Urschel case because the Oklahoma oil man was returned, unharmed.

Yet never-the-less we would welcome it in this case, as in all similar ones, simply because we believe it would help stamp out the kidnaping racket for a long, long time if not forever.

There is no excuse for kidnaping.

As we have here said before, there is no defense for it.

But "snatchers" will continue to take chances in an effort to get "easy money" as long as they are mollycoddled by light punishment.

Execution of a few of that breed will make the rest stop and think a long time before violating the law.

APPEAL OF DEMAGOGUERY

Citing Huey Long as a "horrible example," Ed. Howe, the sage of Potato Hill, observes that "it is easy for anyone to win in politics, if the candidate is able to tell the demagogue story gracefully. The demagogue story is thousands of years old, and always the same; all dishonest voters ask of a new man telling it is that he be eloquent, dramatic, a good liar and a rogue like themselves."

His inspiration for these remarks were the conflicting statements by the Kingfish that his father was poor and ignorant, and kept in that condition by the unscrupulous rich, and by Huey's two lawyer brothers that their father was a successful farmer, better educated and more intelligent than Huey, and never ground down by anybody.

The average voter professes to "know that all politicians are liars" and that "all political promises are valueless", and yet the average voter is quicker to follow the demagogue than the sincere men in public life. It is a political truism that the best promiser is the best vote-getter.

The electors don't grow out of their early fondness for fairy tales. They like to read and hear about the poor peasant boy who bests the rich and cruel king or giant, although deep down in their hearts they know the political version is just so much hooey (sometimes spelled huey). Another modern version in the political primer is the rich man who enters politics to protect the little fellow from the rich and unscrupulous bankers and capitalists.

It's just as well to look at these things optimistically. At least those big bankers who paid no income tax didn't get rebates.

We've got more government in business and more business in government. What we need now is more business in business and more government in government.

Jugoslavian military authorities have sentenced a carrier pigeon to death for espionage. No doubt they figured it was hatching a plot.

The farmer gets his relief from the federal government. Amateur gardeners get theirs from sunburn lotion.

Prize fighters aren't so dumb at that. Think how much better fixed the rest of us would be if we had trusted everything to a good manager.

A LAND OF HILLS AND VALLEYS

But the land whither ye go over to possess is a land of hills and valleys.—Deuteronomy 11:11.

Life is made up of contrasts. There can be no hills without the surrounding valleys. Darkness makes the light far more significant. If there were no weeds in the world, would the flowers be flowers, or would they be weeds? Happy is the man who has discovered that for every valley there is a distant hill.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

GENERAL JOHNSON, the boss of NRA, is riding around town in a shiny new Lincoln and therein lies a story.

Across Secretary of Commerce Roper's desk the other day came a requisition for an automobile for the General. Roper looked around and discovered that the vanishing Shipping Board had a couple of machines. One of them, a LaSalle that Capt. E. E. Crowley head of the Emergency Fleet corporation had been using, was sent over for Johnson's inspection.

Apparently it wasn't big enough. The General ordered a Lincoln.

The moral of the foregoing is this: The Lincoln is Henry Ford's deluxe product. Ford was the one big auto manufacturer who declined to adhere to the code drawn up by the Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Johnson's order was filled prior to President Roosevelt's executive order directing that the government trade only with the Blue Eagle but after the NRA chief himself had broadcast an appeal to the nation to do likewise.

It may be that Johnson had inside information Ford was going to capitulate. He told a Detroit newspaper man he was "only playing poker" with the flivver king.

PUDDLER JIM: It is a pleasure to report that Senator Jim Davis, the only man who ever milked a moose, has recovered his health.

Puddler Jim was a prominent attendant at last week's coal code hearings. Before that he listened in while the steel men struggled to adjust themselves to the Blue Eagle.

The former Secretary of Labor who now represents Pennsylvania in the Senate was to have gone on trial several times in recent months for allegedly profiting from a lottery run by the Loyal Order of Moose but each time his attorneys got a postponement because of Davis' ill health.

You can dismiss the stories that Davis is a broken man.

DANGER: Speaking of the 3,000,000 youngsters who have graduated from secondary schools and colleges since 1929 and been added to the unemployed adult population, says Clyde R. Miller, director of the Bureau of Education Service at Columbia University:

"This army of young people is potentially very dangerous if the members remain unemployed and potentially very helpful in creating social stability if they get jobs.

"In Chicago the high school students who are soon to join the ranks of the unemployed have been cooperating closely with the unpaid teachers, helping in demonstrations, going on strikes and that sort of thing."

LEISURE: If the New Deal works America's leisure hours are going to be increased enormously. Although codes now being signed average about 40 hours a week, the administration is shooting at an eventual 30-hour week.

"Implications of this in the field of adult education and in the field of directed recreational activities are very large," says Miller.

"Possibly within five years we shall need two million instead of our present one million teachers."

NOT WANTED: You can't fool Turner W. Battle, Assistant to the Secretary of Labor, on the question of rank.

The other day following Gov. Ruby Lafoon's visit to Washington Battle received in the mail a commission as Colonel on the staff of the Kentucky Executive.

Battle once served in the Navy. He mailed the commission back to Lafoon.

"Could you make me a Commodore?" Madame Perkins' aide queried.

NOTES: Washington correspondents for Minnesota newspapers have a new name for Gov. Floyd B. Olson. He came here recently and General Johnson put him in charge of enforcing the blanket code in Minnesota . . . So now Olsen is known as "The Codefish" . . . Postmaster General Farley is annoyed . . . At the behest of friends and colleagues Senators and Congressmen are making a business of writing letters endorsing people for jobs regardless of the applicants' home states . . . "How can I tell who they really want appointed?" demands Jim . . . It is rumored hereabouts that the owners of the St. Louis Browns and the Brooklyn Dodgers are going to demand a 30-hour week code for their pitchers.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

MULES: Andy Mellon is going to be right up with Henry Ford as a Grade A problem for NRA mule tamers.

Andy's Aluminum Co. of America doesn't see much sense to all this Blue Eagle stuff. Its competitors recently filed a complaint that not only has it failed to sign a code but is actually selling its product below cost. The competitors claim this makes it impossible for them to live up to their own code agreements unless the government clamps down in a hurry.

The trouble is that Andy's outfit hasn't yet recovered from NRA's failure to show proper respect for such mighty corporation. As our Washington column pointed out at the time, the Aluminum Co. brought its own code to the Capital and said "Here it is—approve it." NRA didn't, so the boys went home in a huff and vowed they wouldn't play. So far they have kept the vow. They are privately convinced that they are big enough to get away with it.

The fact that the "Aluminum Trust" is a near-monopoly complicates things. If the government uses the licensing provisions of NIRA on a cooperate-or-quit basis it might make it hard to get aluminum. That might act as a brake on recovery in other ways. An effective boycott would be almost impossible. Aluminum Co. is counting on these factors and refuses to budge.

It looks to be a case of irresistible force versus immovable body. But local insiders say Uncle Andy's men underestimate NRA's resourcefulness. A solution is cooking on publicity lines which may have the effect of a tack on a sofa. At any rate nobody here is betting on the mule against the Eagle.

VIOLATORS: New York's NRA Committee on Complaints will have to become twins or triplets if the current rush keeps up. Everybody and his cousins and his aunts seem to be on the job tracking down code violators. I fhalf the complaints are justified the Committee could be busy from now until Christmas just yanking out unmerited Eagles.

Random inquiry among 14 manufacturers and merchants in New York who display the Eagle showed that 11 did not know what the code was all about and had no intention of changing hours or wages. Thirteen out of fourteen said they signed the code because the Eagle was good advertising. Five had not even read the code.

Grover Whalen's shock troops will have a lot of fun.

THE TALLEST ONE ROOM HOUSE

Inside of a giant redwood in Lilly Redwood Park, Calif., an enterprising homebuilder has constructed a room 25 feet wide and 25 feet long, with the roof running up to 250 feet.

Many years ago the center of the tree was burned out up to a height of 40 feet, leaving only a comparatively thin shell to support the towering trunk, and the fact that it is still alive and growing is one of the marvels of the redwood forest.

PANGBORN

There are few remarkable achievements of aviation in which Clyde Pangborn doesn't figure in some way. Pangborn has been flying continuously for over 16 years, and in that time has piled up a log of 13,500 hours in the air, holds many first records of stunts and accomplishments, and has carried over 200,000 passengers—all without a major crack or injury to a passenger or himself. At times when "Pang" was barnstorming, his passenger list ran up into the hundreds for a single day's work.

ELINOR STAFFORD falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN. She is 29 and he is 35. LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's jealous scheming mother breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live as a guest in his house for a year he will give her the entire Sexton fortune to divide among her relatives, the rightful inheritors. Knowing the money may save her father's life Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place. Barrett still believing the lies Lida has told him, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. The doctor orders a change of climate for her father and Elinor goes to Aiken with him.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA RADNOR when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. He has promised Marcia never to reveal the boy's story. Lida Stafford learns about the boy's existence and concludes he is Barrett's son.

Barrett makes an unannounced trip to Aiken. He finds BOB TELFARE there and suspects Elinor of carrying on a flirtation with Bob. In an angry scene he tells her that he knows all about her affairs. Later he apologizes.

That night Bentwell Stafford dies.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Barrett arose with a jerk and took the stairs two at a time. The nurse was waiting for him in the upper hall. She whispered, "Perhaps you can help Mrs. Colvin. We're worried about her. They were so devoted—"

He opened Elinor's door without waiting to hear more, stepped into the room and closed the door after himself. A small night light was burning by the bed. Elinor lay there dry-eyed and too quiet. He crossed the room swiftly to lean above her.

"Child—!" he whispered.

"I haven't anyone now," she said clearly.

"You have me as long as you want me. So long as there is anything I can do for you," he assured her.

He sat down on the edge of the bed and took one of her small hands between his. It was cold, twitching. He laid a hand on her bared shoulder and noticed that it was as cold as her hand. She looked questioningly at him.

"You're cold, Elinor."

"Am I?"

He rubbed her hands, suddenly raised her and held her in his arms. For a moment she was rigid. Then she relaxed and he heard the first deep sob that shook her.

"Darling!" he whispered. "Darling!"

A half hour later Miss Hemmingway entered the room after Barrett's "Come!" answered her knock. He was sitting in a deep chair before the fire he had started. Elinor, wrapped in blankets, was in his arms. She had been crying, Miss Hemmingway saw with relief. That reaction was normal and reassuring. The girl had seemed too unnaturally contained.

"I brought another sleeping powder for Mrs. Colvin—"

"Good!" said Barrett. Elinor sat up, drank it and then lay back. Miss Hemmingway say the man's arms tighten as she closed the door.

"Am I tiring you?" Elinor asked.

"Dearest, you could not tire me this way."

He stroked her hair with a hand that had grown unsteady, bent his head until his cheek touched her cheek that was hot from tears.

"Elinor—"

"Yes?"

"I want to ask you to give me another trial. Let me show you that I'm not so changeable as you think. I won't bother you in any way, I promise. Do you believe me?"

"Yes—"

"What I want most from life now is to take care of you. Nothing else matters to me—"

Her hand moved and for a second he felt that it pressed his hand faintly. He touched her soft hair with his lips, stared blindly at the leaping fire.

"I want a chance to make you care for me without feeling ashamed."

"I'm sorry I said that, Barrett. I know it's my fault that you can't care steadily—"

"But you'll find I can!" he promised. Why, he asked himself, had he expected the impossible from her? There were no women who did not, in some way, let men down. Marcia had and so had her fiery, sullen mother. Elinor's mother had been brutally frank in her revelations of the failings of her sex. Miss Ella had felt that no form of spying was beneath her. They were obviously all alike, yet sometimes a man found one woman who compelled his love and thus a compromise. He had found Elinor. Doubtless Bob Telfare had held her as he did now but he told himself he must not think of that.

He moved gently so that he could look down at her face, pressed against his shoulder. She was so white, so pitiably white. "If I could kiss you," he thought, "and know you kissed no one else!"

She whispered softly, "You must be tired—"

"No!"

"You're very good to me," she said in a drugged tone that is the result of pain and shock.

"I love you," he told her.

The small French clock struck two sharp notes. Elinor slept and then woke with a cry to sob anew. He soothed her, felt her relax, and trembled, knowing that his touch could comfort her. At four he put her into bed without waking her. Then, lowering the night light, he settled in a small chair that stood near. The fire died; the room turned black.

It seemed to him, waiting there for any need that she could have of him, that he had never been so close to a human soul as he was to her and without the faintest, physical touch. Perhaps, he reasoned, it was because for the first time he was thinking only of another.

When she woke he was sleeping and the first dim morning sunlight was printed on the floor. As she looked at him Barrett opened his eyes and stared at her wonderingly for a short space and then remembered.

He rose from the chair with a stiffened jerk and, hand on her shoulder, looked down at her.

"Elinor," he said, "I want you to know that I'll do everything I can to help you.'

He thought of those mornings after his father's death when he, waking, wondered what troubled him and then remembered with aching suddenness.

Her eyes brimmed. He dropped to the edge of the bed and drew her into his arms.

"We'll get through this, dearest," he promised. She was clinging to him. He felt a sweep of dizziness, a surge of blood that made his ears ring.

"You sat here—all night?" she asked in a whisper. He closed his eyes. Her hand moving on his arm!

"Where else would I be?" he answered as steadily as he could, "so long as I thought you might need anything I could give you?" He held her away a moment, looking down on her. "You know I love you," he added, "but not how much—"

Again he held her close and knew that she was crying.

"Remember what I said. It need not bother you," he heard himself assure her, his voice a little roughened.

"I love you," she said hesitatingly. "But I loved you before and it did nothing—but hurt me."

"I'll make you very certain that it won't hurt you from now on," he promised. "I'll give you all the time you want for the test. And now I want you to get up, dress and get out of the house into the sunshine with me. Will you, dear?"

"Yes," she answered. She had drawn away from him. "I do love you," she said, "but give me time. I'm afraid! I'm afraid of love!"

Then she kissed him.

Refreshed by a cold tub, Barrett dressed. He felt a contentment he had not known for weeks. Of course he was deeply sympathetic with Elinor in her suffering but he had the knowledge that throughout the ordeal he had kept his head. He would give her time and with time perhaps as much trust would come between them as there could be between a man and a woman.

He breakfasted, wandered out of the house and a short half hour later she joined him. She looked worn and spent. He wrapped her in rugs and tucked her into a deck chair on the terrace, her back toward the hushed, gloomy house.

Her hand sought his and rested there.

"Mother is coming by plane," he heard her say. Barrett's brows drew close. For some reason beyond his dislike for her he dreaded Lida Stafford's coming.

Contract Is Signed For Tech-University Of Texas Game Here In 1934

Longhorns To Play Here On September 22

Stangel Announces Return Of Contract Yesterday; Game To Replace S. M. U. Contest As Season Opener Next Fall

Negotiations for a football game here in 1934 between Texas Tech and the University of Texas were announced as complete yesterday, following the return of a signed contract from the university athletic council.

Coach Clyde Littlefield will bring his Longhorns here for a game on September 22, 1934, W. L. Stangel, chairman of the Texas Tech athletic council, revealed yesterday.

The game will be the first on Tech's 1934 schedule, taking the place of the Tech-Southern Methodist university game in that respect. The Mustangs, however, may play the Matadors later in the season, Stangel said. Tech completes a two-year contract with S. M. U. this fall when the Ponies come here for a night game, September 30. The Matadors defeated the Dallas rivals last year, 6 to 0.

The game between Tech and the university has been hanging fire for several months, it was said. A contract drawn up by the university council was sent to Texas Tech a few weeks ago, signed by the local officials and returned to Austin. A copy was returned here yesterday.

Predicted By Littlefield

Littlefield, in a brief address before a local luncheon club during the recent Texas Tech coaching school, expressed belief that the game would be certified and that his Longhorns would play here next year. At that time, Tech officials were awaiting return of the contract from Austin.

Depending upon the success of the Matadors this year, Tech officials hope to schedule another game with an outstanding team next fall, Pete Cawthon, Tech coach said. Negotiations are under way with an unrevealed team or teams in the east regarding a game for 1934.

First Trip Here

The visit by the Longhorns next year will mark the first time, Cawthon said, that the University of Texas team ever played in this section of the state, or west of Fort Worth. The University of Texas "B" team has played Simmons university at Abilene, however.

The Texas Tech schedule for 1933 is complete except for a possible early season game September 23. The date is open and the Matadors may play away from home. Nine games are definitely scheduled, six of which are to be played at Lubbock.

Following the S. M. U. game here on September 30, the Matadors will go to Dallas on October 6 to play Dixie university, formerly Jefferson university, coached by Nick Dobbs. The next weekend finds them in Tucson playing a Border conference game with the University of Arizona.

Simmons Here Nov. 11

Louisiana Polytechnic comes to Lubbock on October 20. Tech goes to El Paso October 28 to play the Texas College of Mines. Haskell institute sends its Indians here November 4, and Armistice Day will be featured in Lubbock by an appearance of the Simmons university Cowboys. The game is designated also as the Homecoming Day game at Texas Tech.

Baylor university is here November 17, and the Kansas Aggies play here on Thanksgiving to wind up the season.

Hitchcock's Easterners Win Over West In Polo Battle

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 16. (AP) Tommy Hitchcock shuffled his all-star eastern polo lineup today, found another ace, and led the new band to a 12 to 8 triumph over the four riders from the far west to even up their intersectional championship series.

The west not only lost the match, forcing the series into the third game, but lost its great back, Hubert W. (Rube) Williams. Williams, one of the most battered figures in high goal polo, was thrown in the seventh period and suffered a fracture of his right leg below the knee.

Hitchcock's new ace was Earle A. S. Hopping. After taking a 15 to 11 beating from the Westerners Sunday, Hitchcock decided to remove Michael Phipps from the lineup, sending Winston Guest from number three to number one and shifting himself to number three. Raymond Guest remained at back and Hopping took over number two.

FONSECA IS SCHEDULED

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP) — Manager Lew Fonseca of the Chicago White Sox today was suspended three days by President William Harridge of the American League, for abusive language directed toward an umpire and for refusal to leave the bench after being ordered to do so in yesterday's game with Washington at Comiskey Park.

Jim Harris, star Notre Dame guard last fall, will be line coach at St. Benedict's college, Atchison, Kas.

Forty thousand trout propagated in Missouri hatcheries will be planted in cold water streams in the southern part of the state.

Tennis Players Of This Section Are Invited To Tourney Here Next Week

All Amateurs Are Eligible For Tournament

The deadline on entries for the Northwest Texas Tennis tournament has been moved up to Saturday, August 19, it was announced yesterday, although tournament officials requested all local and sectional players who intended to enter the joust to be as prompt as possible in sending in entries.

The tournament starts Monday, August 21, at the Texas Tech courts. Pairings will be announced Monday morning at the Texas Tech gymnasium and play will begin immediately. It will be necessary for all entries to be present Monday.

Littlefield Team Enters

A championship doubles team filed its entry yesterday when Bernard Lambert and Bill Wells, district interscholastic league champions in the doubles division, of Littlefield, signified their intentions of entering.

Although entries are coming in slowly, it is felt that a starting field including some of West Texas' and New Mexico's leading amateurs will be on hand. In addition to a large delegation of Lubbock participants, players from Abilene, Big Spring, San Angelo, Amarillo, Plainview, Roswell and perhaps El Paso are expected to enter the joust.

All players of the South Plains are especially invited. Abernathy is due to send a delegation; Slaton, Southland, Brownfield, Lamesa and Tahoka are due to be represented.

Players desiring to enter the tournament are requested to fill in the official entry blank, carried from time to time on this page, and mail it at once to Renford Taylor, tournament manager, at 2422 9th street, or the sports department of the Avalanche-Journal Publishing company. Telephone calls also will be accepted.

Arrangements have been made to provide meals and lodging for out of town players at a remarkably low cost during the three-day tournament. Attractive prizes will be awarded winners and consolation winners.

Slaton Juniors Win Over Rotarians Of Local Loop

Lubbock tied the score in the first of the eighth, and Slaton ran seven times. The Rotarians were held scoreless in the last inning.

Vines Wins Easily To Lead Seeded Players In Casino

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16. (AP)—Any doubts that Ellsworth Vines, national tennis champion, has not recovered from his Davis Cup collapse were removed today when the lanky Californian titlist polished off two capable rivals with neatness and dispatch to lead the parade of seeded players into the Newport Casino tournament's round of eight.

Vines registered straight set victories over R. Norris Williams, the Philadelphia veteran, 6-1, 6-3, and the brilliant little Bryan Grant from Atlanta, 6-2, 6-2.

Wilmer Allison, Frank X. Shields and Clifford Sutter, who followed Vines on the seeded list, easily gained the fifth round, which will be played tomorrow on the three out of five set basis, as did Frankie Parker, youthful Milwaukee sensation and Keith Gledhill.

South Plains To Be Well Represented In Tourney Here Sunday; Golfers Of 19 Counties Invited To 1-Day Joust

That the third annual South Plains Invitation golf tournament, to be held at Meadowbrook Golf course here Sunday, would find an unusually large field of competitors is indicated by the number of replies to invitations mailed out last week.

W. G. McMillan, Meadowbrook manager and tournament director, reports that nearly every golfing center of the Plains will be represented by its crack players. The tournament is a one-day, 36-hole medal play event. Eighteen holes in the morning will determine into which flight the player falls for the afternoon round. An imposing list of prizes will be awarded winners of each flight and winners in special events. A prize will be awarded the four-man team shooting the lowest composite score; the youngest and oldest participant will be given prizes.

Charlie Quails Here

Charles Quails, golfing postmaster of Post, one-time West Texas champion, has signified that he will accompany a group of golfers from the Post country club; a delegation headed by C. N. "Shorty" Wood will come from Brownfield; Allen Ferrell, finalist in the recent Ruidoso tournament, will lead the Slaton delegation; Frank Rose and others from Lamesa are expected; Roy Cooper and Dr. Schwab will head Ralls' group of hotshots; Al Cool, Bob McCaskill, Johnson, Thrush and others from Littlefield and vicinity are expected; Frank Kimbrough and John Sears will head the Plainview group, and Fred Haile will accompany players from Spur.

Lubbock Country club and Meadowbrook will be well represented. John D. Munn, Cotton McAfee, Jo Dick Slaughter, Sid Thrash and Jess Lockhart from Country club already entered; Clinton Bussey, Manson Allen, oJe Bihl and Alfred Holton are to compete for Meadowbrook.

The University of Iowa will play four conference football games on enemy fields this fall.

Women's National Field Narrows To 16 Players As Two Helens Show The Way

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 16. (AP)—The field of competitors for the Women's National tennis championship was well narrowed down today to those who belong, the select 16 stars of this country and Great Britain who gained the right to battle on in tomorrow's third round.

As was to be anticipated, members of the net game's upper crust were not unduly exerted except in a few rare instances. Tomorrow things should begin getting warm.

Up to this point the seeded list had sustained only one slight casualty. That came today when Joan Ridley of England, seeded No. 5 on the foreign list, succumbed to the steady game of Mrs. A. J. Lamme, jr., of Rye, N. Y., by scores of 8-6, 4-6, 6-4.

The day's most exuberant crowd trooped over to watch Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, the seven-time champion, score an easy victory over Grace Surber, of Jackson Heights, N. Y., 6-2, 6-1.

Helen Jacobs, who still is the defending champion, didn't draw a long breath in eliminating Katheryn Pearson of Houston, Tex., 6-2, 6-1.

Among part-time jobs held by Iowa State footballers, waiting on tables for board in men's and women's dormitories is most common.

Lou Gehrig Equals Endurance Record But Browns Make Mess Of Celebration With 13-3 Win

Sam West Hits Home Run When Browns Pile On Champs; Sens Wallop White Sox To Help Lead; Athletics Lose

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16. (AP)—While Lou Gehrig was tying the major league "durability" record by playing his 1,307th consecutive game for the New York Yankees today, the Yanks took a terrible beating from the Browns. The final score was 13 to 3, and the defeat, coupled with Washington's victory over Chicago, sent the Yanks down 6 1-2 games behind the league leaders.

The Yanks had all kinds of trouble with the pitching of their former teammate, Ed Wells, while Charley Devens, who made his first start, was driven out in the third inning when the Browns made seven runs. Devens, Danny Macfayden and George Uhle gave up 18 hits.

SENATORS 5; WHTE SOX 1

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP)—Washington's high-flying Senators kept up their swift pace today by taking another 5-1 decision from the White Sox and extending their winning streak to eight straight.

Earl Whitehill, the Senators' star southpaw, spread out seven Sox hits so that they did little damage and thereby accounted for his sixteenth victory of the season. He walked none and struck out six. A home run by Luke Appling, Sox shortstop, in the fifth inning accounted for the only Chicago tally. Manager Joe Cronin hit a home run for the Senators.

Three runs scored by the Tigers in the first inning were cancelled in the third when Bucky Walters got a home run with Brown and Warstler on base. Detroit got a couple more runs in the fifth.

Oral Hildebrand, big right hander, and Merritt "Sugar" Cain opposed each other on the mound at the start, but Hildebrand gave way to a pinch hitter in the sixth and Harder finished, getting credit for the victory.

Tobacco King's Filly Wins Hambletonian And $28,323

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 16. (AP) — Asserting her superiority over 11 of the country's fleetest 3-year-old trotters, Mary Reynolds, a long-striding bay filly, born and trained in the southland, today carried the silks of William N. Reynolds, of Winston Salem, N. C., to a popular victory in the classic $11,000 Hambletonian, richest of the harness racing stakes.

Under the guidance of her grey-haired trainer, Ben White, Mary Reynolds led the field home in two of the three heats and placed second in the other to earn the winner's share of the purse, amounting to $28,323. As treasurer of the Hambletonian society, sponsor of the race, Reynolds, wealthy tobacco merchant, wrote himself a check for that amount.

Mrs. Perryman was survived by her husband, two sons, a daughter, her mother, a sister and four brothers, Charles Volley and Walter Randall of Gainesville, and Clifford Randall of Dallas.

Racketeers Are Given A Warning

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — Again warning against "racketeers" who hope to profit off of the Blue Eagle, Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA chief, said today he was not referring to legitimate advertising.

"Any merchant and any newspaper man knows what constitutes legitimate and illegitimate advertising," the administrator said. "What I don't want done is to have some unscrupulous newspaper set up an honor roll in its columns and then go out and solicit names of Blue Eagle signers to pay for having their names enrolled.

"Of course, this does not preclude a merchant buying advertising space to let it be known he is doing his part. We have specific authorization for use of the eagle in advertisements."

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

THE RETURN OF TARZAN, No. 4

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan turned just in time to see a burly brute of a man poised with upraised club. The others, drawing evil knives, now rushed upon him. But the brain, agility, and muscles that had coped with the mighty strength of apes and lions was not to be easily subdued as these Apaches of Paris believed.

Tarzan, the ape-man, charged full upon his most formidable antagonist. Dodging the descending weapon, he caught the man a terrific blow that felled him in his tracks. Then he turned upon the others. This was sport. He reveled in the joy of battle and the lust of blood as the thin veneer of civilization fell from him.

His strong white teeth found the throat of one assailant. He fought as he had learned to fight the great bull-apes of the tribe of Kerchak. Panther-like, he leaped about the room. Bones broke in his iron grasp. Shrieks came from the bleeding Apaches.

The woman's face had undergone a number of changes as she watched the savage fight. From pretended distress it changed to horror. This man her cries had lured to what was to have been his death had turned the tables. She looked upon a veritable Hercules gone mad. And outside the door Rokoff awaited the outcome.

Bailey Guarded

out on the highway to run down the Kelly car rumor.

Sheriff R. A. Schmid said extra guards were on duty at the county jail. He declined to say how many. Extra officers also were guarding roads leading into Dallas. These precautions were taken despite the discounting by Houston police of a rumor that gangsters from there were on their way to Dallas.

Take First Steps

The federal government took the first steps today in the prosecution of Bailey and four others charged with the kidnaping of Urschel, by ordering them held on bonds totalling $300,000.

Each pleaded not guilty when arranged before Lee R. Smith, United States commissioner, in an improvised court room on the fifth floor of the Dallas county jail where they had been held since their arrest early Saturday at a farm house near Paradise, Tex.

Bonds were set as follows: Bailey $100,000; R. G. Shannon, Wise county farmer, on whose land Bailey was captured; Mrs. Shannon, Armor Shannon, his son, and Mrs. Oleta Shannon, Armor's wife, $50,000 each.

Would Not Be Freed

Federal agents pointed out that even though Bailey were to make his bond, they still would not release him since he is an escaped convict from Kansas penitentiary at Lansing and might be taken back there.

The Shannons vehemently attacked the amount of their bonds, intimated that they might seek a hearing for lesser sums and asked for attorneys. Mrs. Shannon asked to be freed for "two hours" so she might see her daughters, 13 and 17 years old respectively.

Bailey and the Shannons will be held here pending possible removal to Oklahoma on federal warrants which arrived yesterday. Before the transfer can be made, however, approval of a federal judge in this district will have to be obtained.

Guard Increased

While the government agents here moved to retain custody of Bailey, Denver police increased their guard over Albert Bates, held there as another of Urschel kidnapers. At the same time, Colorado officers kept a close watch for a 16-cylinder car believed to have been occupied by George Kelly, the third man federal officers believed was connected with the abduction.

It was considered possible a telegram which a friend of Bates sent to Fort Worth police might have been intended ultimately for Kelly in the hope the fugitive might be able to liberate Bates.

Denver police also sought $20,000 in marked currency, a part of the reported $200,000 paid as ransom in the Urschel case, which was reported to have been hidden by Bates just before he was arrested Saturday. William Armstrong, chief of detectives at Denver, said $700 of the ransom money had been found in Bates' possession.

WALL STREET REPORT

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP) — Financial markets slipped and fell today but, with some late support, managed to get back on their feet and resume their limping jog along the pathway of uncertain prices.

By and large, stocks suffered losses of from 1 to 2 or more points at the close, although during the unexpected spill declines ran as high as 5 points.

Released from their minimum price "peg" grains at Chicago yielded the full amount permitted for a single day's fluctuations. Cotton was weak too, most of the day, but final declines were held to around $1 a bale. Secondary bonds generally followed stocks. The dollar was firm in the foreign exchange markets, although price changes were usually narrow. Wheat at Winnipeg, now restricted to a minimum price, fell about 2 cents a bushel. Commodities were easy.

The bulk of the transfers in the share market was sandwiched in the mid-day hour when selling was heaviest. Total volume amounted to 1,803,260 shares, or about double that of yesterday. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average of 90 selected stocks declined 2.2 points.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP) — A further decline of about $2 a bale in cotton was followed by partial rallies on covering today.

December contracts after breaking to 8.66 or 44 points net lower and 354 points below the high record of last month, closed at 8.89 or 23 points up from the lowest, with the general market closing firm at net declines of 12 to 21 points.

Relatively steady Liverpool cables were offset by a favorable view of weather and crop conditions, and in addition to liquidation there was considerable selling through brokers with foreign connections. The south was also credited with selling more freely.

Offerings increased after the publication of the weekly weather report, and the action of the wheat and stock markets seemed to stimulate the selling. Numerous stop orders were uncovered during the progress of the decline which carried active months about 38 to 44 points below yesterday's closing quotations.

Offerings then tapered off and there were sharp rallies in the late trading on covering and scattered buying accompanied by talk of a firm technical position and renewed talk of inflationary possibilities.

Exports today 26,571 making 304,050 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 2,903,489.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 16 (AP) — Slow demand continued Wednesday for the light offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market. Buyers were not plentiful and wanted to take grain at the full declines of the contract markets which were still upset under the influence of heavy liquidation.

Prices quoted were largely nominal with differences of opinion between sellers and buyers retarding trading. Nominal values based on car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination ranged as follows:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard 93-95c.

Barley No. 2, 60-63; No. 3, 59-62. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.45-1.50; No. 3 milo 1.40-1.45; No. 2 kaffir per 100 pounds 1.40-1.45; No. 3 kaffir 1.37-1.42.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 mixed 60 1-2@61 1-2; No. 2 white 63-65; No. 2 yellow 61-62.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 42-43, No. 3 red 41-42.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP) — Before trading was one minute old today, prices of all grains underwent a new maximum collapse, and later failed to recover in the slightest degree.

Accumulated selling orders, which had piled up during the last three days while the markets had been chained to an artificial continuous limit on price fluctuations, were more than sufficient to overcome any immediate stimulus from altered rules of trading. The substitute rules lifted every ban on what the market might do, except that changes in values during any one day keep within 5 cent limit up or down from the previous day's latest quotations.

Pit observers said mob psychology in the shape of unreasoning fear, was chiefly to blame for today's market now at any time to make a sudden right-about-face.

Wheat closed nominal at the day's bottom figures, 5 cents down from the average of yesterday's finish, corn 4 cents off, oats showing 3 cents decline, and provisions at a setback of 50 cents.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — Marked improvement in the banking situation was reported today at the treasury department, although a large number of institutions are still closed or operating on a restricted basis.

A total of 2,870 are either closed entirely or have reopened under restrictions. Most of them, however, are comparatively small.

Six Suspects In Attempted Oklahoma Robbery Captured

ANADARKO, Okla., Aug. 16 (AP)—A posse of officers from three counties tonight captured six suspects in today's attempted Fletcher bank robbery at a point six miles southwest of Fort Cobb.

Sheriff Elmer Finley of Caddo county said the men were captured on the John Avery place about three-quarters of a mile from where they had abandoned an automobile stolen in Oklahoma City when the brakes locked.

The men held were Millard Black, Oklahoma City, free under bond on a charge of robbing the Cyril bank last December; Roy Smith and Oscar Smith, Oklahoma City; Daniel Smothers, Fort Cobb, L. W. Grable and H. L. Cummings.

Poison Deaths

Akers said the confession, made to him and other officers, asked only that officers recommend leniency to the court. Prosecutor Millar Halbert said he would ask the death penalty.

Shank said the plot did not contemplate death of the Ohio woman. With Colley out of the way, he had no fears of the woman's threats.

The bizarre poison slaying wiped out four persons—Colley, his wife, and children, aged 11 and 7, but Shank confessed—detectives said—that his plot did not include death for the whole family. Shank said he had not thought about death to anyone but Colley.

Quick Government Action Is Urged To Peg Grain Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — Messages urging quick government action to "peg" grain prices piled up at the department of agriculture today but Secretary Wallace and farm administrators indicated they intend to disregard them and leave marketing regulations entirely to the grain exchanges for the present.

Chairman Smith (D-SC) of the senate agriculture committee, called on Wallace and told newsmen afterwards that "the country" needs some inflation right now if the farmers are going to get the benefit of better prices now that they have something to sell."

Joseph Gerk, chief of police, said he had discussed with Chouteau information which had come into the hands of the police department regarding the alleged plot.

Gerk also said a letter demanding the money from Busch, who is vice-president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., had been turned over to the postal authorities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (AP) — The first major industrial strike in the metropolitan area since creation of the NRA—a walkout of 60,000 garment workers—was only a few hours old today when the government stepped in to mediate.

Former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the city committee of the NRA, was authorized by the national labor board at Washington to negotiate a settlement. He said he had perfected plans to end the dispute and would confer with leaders of the workers at a hotel tomorrow at noon.

Deadline For Agreements On Cotton Reduction Is Carded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP)—The farm administration today set August 23 as the deadline for cotton crop reduction agreements and announced checks would be sent out rapidly to growers who have complied with their contracts.

Checks to the growers who have plowed up cotton will be distributed as rapidly as the required "certificates of performance" are received, officials said. Some went out today.

Asked about the differences yesterday when heads of five great steel companies refused to sit at a conference with Green, Miss Perkins said the interests of the steel workers would be protected.

Referring to the walk out by the steel men, Miss Perkins said:

"No individual or affected group is compelled to participate and when it became obvious that some of the operators (not all I believe) preferred not to participate in the conference, the deputy administrator, Kenneth Simpson, and I announced that the conference was dissolved."

"If Johnson Calls"

Green told newspapermen today that "if Johnson calls me in on a steel conference I'll go, of course."

"I couldn't be a slacker," he added. "In what I regard as an emergency I'll continue to render my services. I regard their refusal to confer with me as representative of the steel magnates' fundamental opposition to organization of their employes."

Green, who is also the appointed labor advisory of the NRA for the automobile code — hearings for which open Friday—sat in for several hours at the conference of the auto men with Deputy Robert W. Lea.

Oil Men Meet Today

The two other major codes meantime were being pressed ahead by Johnson and his aides.

With oil men summoned here tomorrow by the administrator to receive the administration's views upon the code — including the questions of price fixing and control of production—it was indicated in official circles that revisions were still being made.

The temperature of the sun is about 11,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Gigantic Wheat Pool May Be Formed To Bolster Decline

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 16. (AP)—The Star says grain interests here and at Chicago today discussed proposals to form a gigantic pool, with financial backing of from fifty to seventy-five million dollars, in order to come to the aid of the declining wheat futures markets.

Such a fund according to the newspaper, would be "far more than sufficient to finance purchases of all the so-called distress wheat now over the market."
