Reagan: The star of the GOP show

By The Associated Press

Ronald Reagan has seized star billing in the Republican presidential contest, and President Ford, suddenly second, may have to rewrite his campaign script.

But there are likely to be new twists in the GOP plot before it is played out this summer. There are, after all, 16 Republican presidential primaries to go. And there could be new faces in the campaign cast before convention time.

Nonetheless, Reagan has for the first time established himself as a challenger who can convince the Republican hierarchy that he has a real chance of denying nomination to an incumbent president.

Even Ford's campaign manager had to acknowledge that Reagan had the advantage after making the President a three-time loser on a single primary election day.

It was evident in the numbers that made Reagan for the first time the leader in committed Republican nominating delegates and, perhaps as important, in the momentum and credibility the conservative challenger gained with two Southern victories and an unexpected triumph in Indiana.

Jimmy Carter, the dominant Democrat, won overwhelmingly in Indiana and in his Georgia home. He led in partial returns in the District of Columbia.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace won his home-state primary, too. Wallace offered testament to Carter's claim that as the likely nominee he can rally Democrats around him. "I could support him," Wallace said.

While Carter was speeding his bandwagon among Democrats, Reagan was cementing a remarkable comeback by gaining 51 per cent of the Indiana vote to defeat Ford by about 15,000 ballots.

The former California governor once was on the verge of elimination as a presidential candidate, with money running short after a succession of early primary election defeats by Ford. He held on and turned it around — for a second time.

Ford's allies thought they had finished Reagan in the early primaries, but he upset the President in the North Carolina primary on March 23, gained strength in Southern and Southwestern GOP state conventions, and scored a remarkable, 96-delegate sweep over Ford in Texas on Saturday.

But an outcome that had seemed inevitable to many Republican leaders no longer looks like a sure thing. And unless Ford can quickly repair the damage by dealing setbacks to Reagan in the coming primaries, the race could begin to look inviting to some men now on the sidelines.

Should Reagan build on his current advantage, Republicans like John B. Connally and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller may see openings that didn't exist before. And that could draw more after the primary election season, which ends nine weeks before the GOP convention begins.

For the moment, the arithmetic reads Reagan. He emerged from the Tuesday primaries with 360 committed GOP delegates in his column. Ford has 292. That has not happened to an incumbent President seeking election in modern times.

The votes read this way:

Indiana
With 94 per cent of the precincts counted in the Republican race it was: Reagan 309,913, or 51 per cent. Ford 294,724, or 49 per cent.

That awarded Reagan 45 Republican nominating delegates. Ford 9. The delegates were apportioned on the basis of congressional district pluralities as well as statewide showings.

On the Democratic side:
Carter 380,976, or 68 per cent. Wallace 82,916, or 15 per cent. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, a dropout from the active campaign, 65,409, or 12 per cent.

Carter won 48 delegates, Wallace six, with 21 uncommitted. Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke won renomination over Rep. Philip H. Hayes. Secretary of State Larry A. Conrad won the Democratic nomination to oppose Republican Gov. Otis R. Bowen.

Georgia
With 98 per cent of the precincts counted:

Reagan 124,880, or 68 per cent. Ford 57,796, or 32 per cent. That meant 48 delegates for Reagan. Democrat Carter had 408,397, or 84 per cent. Wallace 56,357, or 12 per cent. Democrats held separate competition for delegates, and Carter won all 50.

Alabama
With 13 per cent of the Republican precincts counted, Reagan led for 31 delegates.

In the Democratic primary, with 64 per cent of the precincts in, Wallace was winning 29 delegates, Carter three, and three were uncommitted.

District of Columbia
Carter led for seven delegates, Rep. Morris K. Udall for four, and two uncommitted entries were ahead, with 45 per cent of the precincts counted.

That meant Reagan had won 124 delegates on his biggest day as a candidate, for his national total of 360. Ford captured only nine, to get to 292. It will take 1,130 to name a GOP nominee.

Cease fire taking hold?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new cease-fire began to take hold in Beirut today as regular Palestine Liberation Army troops moved into the suburbs and outlying areas to quell sporadic shooting.

A bearded Christian gunman threw his arm around a rough-looking Moslem streetfighter in the middle of the debris of war in the port area.

"God willing, one day we will sit together and eat together and drink together," he said. "If only the big shots will leave us alone."

The slackening of fighting in Beirut improved the chances of parliament being able to meet Saturday to elect a new president to succeed Christian Suleiman Franjeh.

In the port area, scene of the heaviest fighting in recent days, Christian and Moslem streetfighters, under the gaze of Palestinian soldiers, exchanged cold drinks, cigarettes, crosses and Korans in a 100-yard-wide buffer zone.

Police reported two persons killed and six wounded during the night. Before the cease-fire, on Tuesday 120 persons were killed and 160 wounded in fighting in the port area.

Sporadic bursts of machine-gun fire were heard in Beirut but some of it was gunned firing into the air.

Moslems halted their drive to take Beirut's port after both sides agreed to a disengagement worked out by the Syrian-Lebanese-Palestine truce committee.

Steel-helmeted troops of the Palestine Liberation Army, PLA, the regular military arm of the Palestine Liberation Organization, PLO, set up scores of sandbagged positions during the night to form a buffer zone along the two-mile front line between Christian and Moslem neighborhoods.

RONALD REAGAN
... GOP front-runner

PRESIDENT FORD
... trailing

President trails first time since 1884 election

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in 92 years a president actively seeking another term isn't the front-runner for his party's nomination.

Ronald Reagan's sweep of primaries in Indiana, Georgia and Alabama on Tuesday pushed him into the lead over President Ford in committed delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The last time a president wanting another term was in that much delegate trouble was 1884 when Chester Arthur got only about one-third of the GOP delegates and lost the nomination to James Blaine. Blaine lost the general election to Grover Cleveland, the first Democratic president since the Civil War.

In more recent times, Democrats Harry Truman and Lyndon Johnson withdrew under pressure from re-election consideration, but neither was an announced candidate.

Ford had announced through his press spokesman on Nov. 17, 1974, not long after he succeeded the resigning Richard Nixon, that he would seek election to the presidency in his own right.

Ford had run steadily ahead of Reagan in the primaries until his defeat in North Carolina on March 23 made him the first White House incumbent to lose a primary since 1952.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee defeated Truman in 1952 New Hampshire primary. Truman, whose name was on the ballot although he had not formally announced as a candidate, withdrew 12 days later.

In 1968, Johnson won the New Hampshire primary over Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. But the margin was close enough to indicate future trouble for Johnson, who announced a short time later that he would not try for another term.

No president has ever lost a presidential primary and been re-elected. Ford has now lost — North Carolina, Texas last Saturday and Indiana, Georgia and Alabama on Tuesday.

Violation of agreement

Texas Electric disconnects transmission ties with WTC

Texas Electric Service Company has severed interconnections with West Texas Utilities (WTU) following WTU's violation of an agreement to keep interconnections between the two companies part of an intrastate system only.

The action came Tuesday after WTU connected a portion of Public Service Company of Oklahoma's system to the WTU intrastate (within Texas) system. WTU's intrastate system is connected to Texas Electric.

That action violated a contractual agreement between Texas Electric and WTU that requires both parties to keep connections between the two as part of systems operating only within Texas.

WTU and Public Service Company of Oklahoma are both subsidiaries of Central and South West Corporation, an electric utility holding company. WTU has maintained one system completely within Texas and another connected across State lines. Because of WTU's action Tuesday, Texas Electric disconnected its transmission ties with WTU.

"We can serve our customers more economically and reliably by maintaining an intrastate system," said W. G. Marquardt, president of Texas Electric Service Company. "We are large enough to have economies of scale and we have acquired a substantial long-range fuel supply."

Connecting the Texas Electric system to interstate facilities would require a substantial investment without adequate benefit, according to Marquardt. "We don't think it is reasonable to ask our customers to pay for facilities whose benefits, if any, will be for customers of other electric systems," he said.

Texas Electric, Dallas Power and Light and Texas Power and Light are the operating subsidiaries of the Texas Utilities Company system. The companies maintain interconnection with each other and with other electric utilities in the Texas interconnection system, a group that maintain interconnections completely within the State of Texas.

'I thought it was a tornado'

Joy reigns as rain dots Ackerly area

"It hit with a roar and thunder, and I thought it was a tornado," said one lady this morning who had recently moved here from Pennsylvania, in reference to the rainstorm that moved into the city last night.

County Agent Bruce Griffith said that the "all-around view is looking better and better." Ackerly received an inch of rain overnight, and when informed of that fact, Griffith said, "Well, that puts in a lot better shape. That (Ackerly) was the only big area left that was still dry."

The cloud that passed over the area was very fair and generous, dumping about a half an inch in most places, including the east part of town. In the southwest part of the city .65 of an inch was recorded.

Principal Jack Woodley of the Forsan School reported .7 of an inch in that area, and the Ackerly Oil & Butane Co., located one mile north of that community, recorded an even inch.

A Sands Springs resident reported that .45 of an inch of rain fell in that town, and nearby, the Coahoma Ag Department recorded .5 of an inch in the corporate limits and .6 of an inch two miles north of town.

The Wilkinson ranch west of Luther had .5 of an inch as did Bill Cregar at the Elbow School. Mrs. John Couch of Luther beat them both with a .7 of an inch total.

The U.S. Experiment Station recorded an official total of .55 of an inch for the 24 hour period, and 3.70 inches for the year.

The Midland Air Terminal officially recorded .67 of an inch of rainfall.

Owen Ivie of the Colorado River Municipal Water District supplied information about other areas around West Texas. Lake Thomas received .8 of an inch, and the Big Spring Pump Station had .6 of an inch total. Lake Spence had a half an inch of rain, and Moss Creek only received .3 of an inch.

The Martin County Pump Station, 15 miles northwest of Stanton received a healthy .8 of an inch of rain, and the Midland Filter Plant topped all totals with 1.1 inches. Odessa Filter Plant was slightly and only received .25 of an inch of precipitation.

Ivie added that none of the area lakes received any run-off.

DRAINING THE RAIN — This morning, rain runoff was flowing down a ditch by Rockhouse Road in an area where two landowners are disputing drainage. County Judge Bill Tune showed reporters the area Tuesday afternoon when only a few puddles of water remained from last week's rain. R. V. Fryar complained to county commissioners court Monday about dirt heaped in a one or two-foot high water barricade on Jerry Iden's property. Iden, who could not be reached for conference with the court Monday, responded in a letter to the editor in today's Herald. Iden and County Engineer Neel Barnaby toured the area this morning.

Action/reaction: Way to save gas?

Q. The new cars are coming out with unleaded gas devices. What will disconnecting this device do to your motor, if anything?

A. A local head mechanic who wishes to remain anonymous, says that "Disconnecting your catalytic converter won't hurt your motor at all, in fact, it would help your miles per gallon. Down here we're not supposed to tamper with it at all, but a lot of people are running around with them unhooked. It doesn't seem to hurt one bit."

Campaign bill sent to President

Candidates await Ford decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential candidates are waiting for a decision from President Ford on whether to accept a bill that would allow them to receive federal campaign funds.

The Senate passed the compromise bill Tuesday by a 62 to 29 vote. The margin in the House was 291 to 81. Both votes were more than the two-thirds margin necessary to override a presidential veto.

Foster parents need stressed

"There are many children in Big Spring and Howard County who need a temporary home," according to Bill Adams, foster home worker, who is seeking additional volunteers for this service.

The children for whom the state welfare office seeks homes have suffered either mistreatment or neglect, or both. Foster homes are in short supply in Big Spring.

Utility Commission to hold public meeting

The Public Utility Commission of Texas will hold a public meeting to adopt substantive rules governing various operational procedures for telephone, electric, water and sewer utilities on Monday, May 17. The commission will also adopt amendments to its procedural rules at that time. The meeting will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will take place at the commission offices, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard in Austin.

Bancroft re-elected

A canvass of the Howard County Republican primary Tuesday showed G. Ben Bancroft, the incumbent county chairman, was re-elected by 236 write-in votes.

Jo Lipscombe was chosen box two precinct chairman with 69 votes; Mary Joy Cowper, box three chairman with 24; Polly Mays, box 15 chairman with 41; and Dorothy Hall, box 16 chairman with 23.

Alternatives to public school financing hearing set in Canyon

AUSTIN — Rep. Tom C. Massey has announced the scheduling of a public hearing of the Special House Committee on alternatives to public school financing, to be held in Canyon May 24. The hearing will begin at 9:00 a.m., and will be in the Activity Center Ballroom of West Texas State University.

The hearing will be the seventh in a series of meetings throughout the state being conducted by the Special Committee. Others have been held in Houston, Edinburg, Dallas, Nacogdoches, San Angelo; hearings are also planned for Haskell, May 13; San Antonio, June 4; and Austin, June 25.

Remark signals campaign end?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It was just light talk, and it drew chuckles, but the incident related by Gov. George Wallace had a poignant touch to it, too.

Wallace, watching primary election returns in his office Tuesday night, said that when he was campaigning recently in Texas his motorcade passed six construction workers on the outskirts of Dallas.

The hard hats apparently thought the motorcade was a funeral procession, said Wallace, so they took off their construction hats and held them over their hearts.

"I just hope," said Wallace, "they didn't think it was a political funeral."

Republican on the conference committee that came up with the compromise bill, said Ford should sign it.

But House Republican Leader John Rhodes of Arizona and Senate Republican Whip Robert Griffin of Michigan voted against the bill.

Ford had urged Congress to enact a bill making the six FEC members presidential appointees to conform with a Supreme Court ruling that said it was unconstitutional for Congress to appoint some members.

Under the court decision, the commission lost its power to disburse campaign funds in March when Congress failed to restructure it.

Meanwhile, presidential candidates have continued filing applications with the FEC for federal matching campaign funds. The latest figures announced by the FEC on Tuesday showed candidates have applied for $3.77 million in matching funds. Before the cutoff of funds, the FEC disbursed $12.6 million to the candidates.

The biggest request for FEC money, $1.41 million, is from Ford.

The delay in passage of the bill stemmed from a bitter partisan fight between the Democratic majority and the minority Republicans.

The Democrats used the opportunity given them by the Supreme Court decision to rewrite election laws to change earlier FEC rulings.

They also gave Congress a veto power over commission rulings, a provision Republicans contend gives the Democratic majority and all incumbents a chance to reject commission opinions they don't like.

The FEC opinion that touched off the greatest furor among the Democrats was its authorization of the use of corporate funds to set up committees to solicit campaign contributions from workers to be donated to candidates considered favorable to corporate interests.

Democrats included a provision in the new bill to bar corporate committees from soliciting funds from anyone other than stockholders, company executives and administrative personnel and their families. Labor committees would be limited to soliciting from union members.

But the compromise bill added a provision that allowed the committees to solicit contributions from all employees by mail.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is how Texas, New Mexico and Arkansas senators voted Tuesday as the Senate passed, 62-29, and sent to the President the Federal Election Commission bill.

No progress seen in rubber strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — The nationwide rubber workers strike entered its third week today with no substantial progress reported in bargaining, but the possibility of a boycott and expansion of the strike loomed.

About 60,000 United Rubber Workers are striking the Firestone, Goodyear, Goodrich and Uniroyal tire and rubber companies. But on May 15 that strike may be expanded, when the contract for the General Tire & Rubber Co. expires.

An additional 2,300 rubber workers in Akron and Waco, Tex., would be affected.

Meanwhile, URW President Peter Bommarito was planning to launch a boycott of Firestone products. Bommarito said he will attend a rally in Akron Saturday to kick off the boycott in six U.S. cities as well as in Toronto, Canada.

Talks between the URW and Firestone have been stalled over wage, benefits and cost-of-living adjustment issues in a three-year contract. The union's leadership is concentrating on a settlement with Firestone in the hope of setting the pattern for the rest of the industry.

The union has said that it seeks parity with benefits and wages available to United Auto Workers. This would amount to a 42 percent increase from its current contract package.

This week also marked the first time rubberworkers have been able to sign up for strike benefits of $35 a week. The union has a strike fund of about $5.5 million and to bolster its fund it has called a special convention May 27 in Chicago to consider a monthly dues supplement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is trying to assess the current round of Soviet grain purchases in hopes of determining how much more U.S. wheat and corn Russia may buy this spring.

The state of purchases the past week totaled more than 4.9 million metric tons by Tuesday night. Officials said they are now attempting to figure out how much more Russia may buy, particularly grain from existing U.S. supplies.

An additional sale of 625,000 tons was announced late Tuesday, including 300,000 tons of corn from last year's crop and 200,000 tons of corn and 125,000 tons of wheat from 1976 production. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

Although the department did not announce the seller, a spokesman said he understood it was Louis Dreyfus Corp. of New York.

About 4.3 million tons of grain was sold the Soviets last week by three other firms: Continental Grain Co. of New York, Cargill Inc. of Minneapolis and Cook Industries of Memphis, Tenn.

The sale Tuesday boosted to 16.5 million tons the quantity of grain Russia has bought from 1975 U.S. crops. The administration last fall set a tentative limit of 17 million tons for sale to the Soviets from the 1975 harvest.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says he would welcome Russia's buying more than 17 million tons and that current U.S. reserves are large enough to absorb further sales without undue effect on consumer food prices.

The 200,000 tons of corn and 125,000 tons of wheat from 1976 production is for delivery to Russia after Oct. 1, the department said. That involves grain covered by a five-year agreement calling for delivery of six million to eight million tons of wheat and corn annually. Russia can seek more than eight million tons a year but would have to talk further with U.S. officials, according to the agreement.

These latest sales raised to about 2.2 million tons the amount now sold to Russia under the five-year agreement, or more than one-third of the minimum the Soviets have agreed to buy in the first year.

Park improvements mulled

Additional paving scheduled in Stanton

STANTON — City council plan to add some streets to the paving program since the bid on slurry sealing all of the current streets came in under the amount designated in the recent bond issue.

This was approved at the council meeting Tuesday night. The city dads also discussed needed Little League Park improvements, which include an announcer's booth, storage area, and restrooms.

Since the facilities are used by both city and county youths, the Little League commissioners also plan to visit the county commissioners court before making a final decision between the two groups.

The city council set plans to put a larger water line into City Hall. Recent improvements in the facility led to more plumbing fixtures and a larger line is needed.

The city will also designate two employees as permanent

SAY THE SECRET WORD — Debbie Stephens must have, because she seems to be facing a 'paraducks'. Actually, she enjoys feeding the mallard couple that hang around the Couden lake at the Dora Roberts Community Center. There are approximately eight or nine couples of the brightly-colored water fowl which inhabit the area, and most of them are expecting hatchlings in the near future.

Police beat 'Stolen' auto hits utility pole

Big Spring police became suspicious when the driver of a 1968 Cadillac fled the scene of a one-vehicle accident, 11:07 p.m. Tuesday. The unidentified driver "vanished" shortly after the car collided with a Texas Electric Co. utility pole, causing $250 damage to the pole.

Further investigation showed the car belonged to Mrs. Bette Jane Hughes, Rt. 2, Box 21A, and that it had been stolen from the AAA Garage, North Service Road of IS 20, earlier Tuesday.

According to reports, Mrs. Hughes explained that she had taken the Cadillac to the garage for repairs. Keys had been left in the vehicle. Police were unable to locate a point of entry to the garage, and theorized that the thief had either "picked the lock" or had a key to the establishment. The matter is now under investigation.

Russell O'Donnel, 2411 W. Washington, reported the theft of a CB radio sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning from his vehicle which was parked at the Birdwell Stockyard. Value of the item was estimated at $230.

Don Barnes, 1014 Baylor, reported the theft of a warning flasher belonging to Pioneer Natural Gas Company, 9:10 a.m. Tuesday. The flasher was part of a barricade in the alley of NW 8th and N. Scurry. It was valued at $50.

For at least the third night in a row, local police received a report of possible gunshots. The shots were reported 11:59 p.m. Tuesday, in the vicinity of Newsom's Food Center, 1910 Gregg.

Upon arrival, officers were unable to locate the source of the noises.

The second case of indecent exposure this month was reported in the vicinity of the 7-11 Store on Wasson, 5:49 p.m. Tuesday. Officers arrested a male juvenile at the scene.

Big Spring drivers were bumping into each other all over the city Tuesday.

Robert Middleton, 2100 Morrison and Raymond Dunlap, 1417 Tucson, collided on the corner of Second and Scurry, 2:26 p.m. Tuesday.

Charles Kuykendall, 4209 Dixon, and Jimmy Law, 700 Birdwell, collided in the parking lot of College Park Baptist Church, 3:37 p.m. Tuesday.

Charles Davis, 1308 Baylor, and Beverly Odom, Box 262 A, collided on the corner of 16th and Goliad, 4:52 p.m. Tuesday.

Mexico oil reserves double Alaska

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico revealed Tuesday its new oil fields in the southern states of Tabasco and Chiapas had boosted estimated crude reserves to 30 billion to 60 billion barrels, three to six times those of Alaska's North Slope.

Francisco Javier Alejo, secretary of natural resources, told reporters that Mexico's proved reserves have reached seven billion barrels, an increase of one billion since March.

Alejo also announced a reversal of government oil policy by stating Mexico planned to join the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) as soon as possible.

"We have just begun to explore," he said. "We believe 90 to 95 per cent of the national territory is capable of producing hydrocarbons of one type or another."

He said the Gulf of Mexico also promises to be a source of offshore oil.

Just one year ago, Alejo said speculation by international observers that the new fields contained 20 billion barrels in reserves were "irresponsible." He also said then that Mexico was not interested in being an exporter of crude oil.

A basic rule of OPEC membership is that a country be a major exporter of crude.

The reserve figures, the first ever revealed by the Mexican government, and the indication Mexico was about to become a major world exporter caught observers by surprise.

Some suggested the policy change resulted from Mexico's need to increase its foreign currency reserves and to reduce its heavy $18 billion foreign debt and $3.6 billion foreign trade deficit.

Mexico began drilling in the two southern states four years ago. Since last year Mexico has been exporting 113,000 barrels of crude oil and other petroleum items daily, making it the third largest Latin American oil exporter after Venezuela and Ecuador.

Alejo said the figure should double later this year.

Mexico has refused repeatedly to join OPEC, spurning invitations from such leaders as Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez and the Shah of Iran.

Oil patch

A wildcat was slated in Martin County and a re-entry in Sterling this week. There is also a confirmation indicated in Martin.

RK Petroleum Corp., Midland, will drill the No. 1 John Campbell, a 12,200-foot Devonian wildcat in Martin County, six miles northwest of Tarzan, 3/4 mile north-northeast of production in the Spraberry Trend Area, 1 1/2 miles south-southeast of Dean production in the Breedlove, South (Spraberry and Dean) field and three miles west of the RK (Devonian oil) field.

Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 6,956 feet from the west lines of Rusk CSL No. 321.

Current fourth Devonian producer was indicated in the Block 7 multipay field of Martin County with the reversing out of 100 barrels of oil, 23 barrels of water cushion and 14 barrels of condensate and mud, and the recovery of 10.91 barrels of unidentified fluid, on a drillstem test at Jake L. Hamon, Dallas, No. 2-E University, in 12-7 University, 30 miles north of Midland.

Tool was open four hours on the test taken at 12,129-257 feet using 3/4 by 1-inch chokes. Sample chamber recovery was .1 cubic foot of gas and 1,900 cubic centimeters of 44.2 gravity oil.

Flowing pressure was 1,496-3,973 pounds; 30-minute initial and one-hour final shut-in pressures were 5,133 pounds.

Operator was preparing to run 5 1/2 inch casing to an unreported depth. Total depth is 12,257 feet.

The field currently has no Ellenburger or Spraberry wells on the proration schedule.

General Oil Co. will re-enter and clean out to 2,000 feet for tests as a current second 1,450 San Angelo producer and a location southeast extension to that pay at the No. 1 Humble, a former producer in the Crandell field of Sterling County, seven miles southeast of Sterling City.

Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 330 feet from the east lines of 30-11SPRR.

The field formerly produced from the San Angelo, also at 1,479 feet.

The 1450 re-opener, I. W. Lovelady, Midland, No. 1 Humble, was finished June 4, 1974 to pump 21 barrels of oil through perforations at 1,466-72 feet.

A mission to upgrade paper

If you've been watching the Herald for the past week or so, you may have noticed several new inside features beginning to take shape.

ONE FEATURE which has begun to develop goes under the broad heading of "Farm." This is a daily round-up effort by the Herald editors and reporters to keep farmers and ranchers in the Big Spring area updated.

Featured under "Farm" will be local agriculture news and livestock markets from Big Spring, Colorado City, Sweetwater, Abilene and San Angelo. When space permits and when the Associated Press moves them in time, Herald editors also will try to get in livestock and cotton markets from across the nation. Our editors also will be watching for national and state farm news that is of interest here.

A second feature which has been appearing daily goes under the "Energy" heading. In this category, the Herald hopes to combine area drilling news, oil and gas stories from around the nation and anything else that might be of interest to Big Spring's large energy-related readership, whether it is solar developments or nuclear power, or even utility rates in Austin.

A third feature which will appear under the heading "Military" will aim at informing Webb Air Force Base readership of the latest military news — both locally and nationally.

A SUNDAY COLUMN which has recently been added to the Herald's lineup is entitled "Two for the road," featuring staff writers James Werrell and Danny Reagan. These two fellows will write each Sunday on recreation in the Big Spring area. It might be entitled, "What's fun to do on a weekend around Big Spring."

They may travel to Carlsbad or just explore a dusty creekbed, but they'll try to give you lots of fun ideas on recreation.

Another new column is "Ridin' fence" with Marj Carpenter. This column will be a daily feature in the Herald. In it, the newspaper's area editor will capture the flavor of the people and countryside around Big Spring. The column is one part of the Herald's effort to provide better coverage of the surrounding communities.

THE HERALD'S editors hope that these new readership packages will be valuable to the special interest of Big Spring area residents.

We are a community whose lifeblood comes from agriculture, energy and the military.

By building this news into specific packages, the Herald can better inform its readers in these vital subject areas. I hope you enjoy them.

Church and the CIA

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The Church Committee report deserves to be taken very seriously. It would appear to establish beyond serious question that the Executive has coasted along giving very little thought to questions of law let alone the constitutionality, when dealing with intelligence activities and domestic security. Moreover, it is plain that every President from Roosevelt on has used the intelligence resources of the government for the purpose of accumulating data politically useful to the President. Not even the noble Eisenhower is expected in the new catalogue.

SO WHAT SHOULD we do about it? The Committee makes a number of recommendations, some of them appealing. On the whole, it seeks to establish formal lines of responsibility, the broaching of which would detonate fuses somewhere along the circuit, alerting the congressional monitors to the fact of ill doing. For instance, it is proposed that one or more congressional committees should regularly review the question of whether the Executive is submitting to the indicated procedures before authorizing telephone surveillance, or mail checks, or the accumulation of dossiers. It all sounds rather smooth and orderly; so what are the objections?

The trouble with investigations of this nature is that not very much tends to be done to give the point of view of the officials being investigated. Every now and then you get a situation which is simply inexplicable and indefensible, e.g. the attempt to induce the suicide of Martin Luther King. But there are others.

The Committee cites one of many examples of what it clearly considers an obvious wrongdoing. The decision was apparently taken to penetrate the Ku Klux Klan. STOP. Is this a correct decision? It is true the KKK was branded as a subversive organization by the Attorney General in one of those lists that was so popular years ago. It would appear to be an organization historically devoted to depriving American citizens of their rights.

So the FBI penetrated the Klan, and in one particular chapter of the Klan, an agent of the FBI, posing as a member, forced himself, in the interests of credibility, to participate in the beating of some of the Klan's victims. This is a very high penalty to pay for the reward of authenticity. But it did happen, the report records, that some time later the Klan murdered a civil rights worker, and a planted FBI Klansman appeared as a witness — and achieved a conviction for murder.

HERE IS AN example of one of the dilemmas of a free society. Should an FBI agent engage in such activity? Or are we better off leaving the Klan — and, indeed, other organizations disposed to terrorism — free to do their dirty work without covert interference? What, if any, are the responsibilities of such organizations as the CIA, the FBI, and the Secret Service, when up against such organizations as the Black Panthers, the Weathermen, the Symbionese Liberation Front?

IT IS A historical fact that there was a huge outcry against the FBI for having failed to pick up Lee Harvey Oswald when Kennedy came to town. I do not readily see how, under the prospective rules, any of these agencies would even have known about the existence of Lee Harvey Oswald, let alone that he should be invited to remain out of shooting range of American Presidents.

Septicemia is runaway infection

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several weeks ago I was stricken with chills and sweating simultaneously. I was rushed to a hospital, placed in intensive care, and it was determined that I had septicemia.

I was released after seven days and feel all right now, but my question was not answered at the hospital. I want to know what caused this. Could you please explain? — H.L.A.

Septicemia (sep-ti-SEE-me-a) is also called "bacteremia." It means there are germs (bacteria) in the bloodstream. The common term is "blood poisoning."

Fortunately, most infections we encounter are localized as boils or as pneumonia, etc. Others, more severe, invade the bloodstream. Sometimes this, too, can be readily taken care of with antibiotics provided the germ can be identified. That seems to have been the case with you, since you say it was cleared up in a week. Blood poisoning can be more severe and persistent, requiring a considerably longer period of treatment, especially if the doctor can't pinpoint the source of infection.

How can it happen? The extraction of an abscessed tooth can cause it, as can the squeezing of a boil. Sometimes the source can be traced to an infection in an extremity. Often, if the bacteria is not fought off at the point of infection, it can "travel" and cause a general blood infection and the symptoms you described.

It can be a very nasty experience. You are fortunate to have fared so well.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 13 years old. I sit with my feet tucked under me at school, dinner and most every time I sit. I've noticed other girls my age doing this. Some people say it's bad for your legs and veins. Is that true? — W.W.

This is a luxury (I suppose) reserved for the young. As long as it causes no symptoms, such as impaired circulation, I see nothing medically wrong with it. I suspect you will find it not quite ladylike enough to continue into adulthood.

It doesn't seem to be a very practical posture for eating.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 70 years old, have a spastic colon, and have semi-annual checkups for it. Since I have a good appetite I can't understand why I don't gain weight. I am 5-foot-5 and weigh 117. — Miss A.G.

A bowel disturbance of this type can interfere with food absorption and thus weight gain. Your present weight does not seem bad, though, for your height and age.

There are medications available to reduce the spasm problem. This should help you gain the few pounds you may be lacking. A sensitivity to certain everyday foods, like milk, is a common cause of problems of this kind.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard recently about a treatment for psoriasis consisting of ingestion of coumarin and followed by ultra-violet treatment on the affected area. If this treatment is effective I would like to know where it may be procured. My doctor is not familiar with it. My wife has suffered from psoriasis for a long time. — C.B.T.

I am not familiar with it, either. Coumarin is a blood "thinner," and I don't see how that fits into psoriasis therapy. A recent listing of current therapy for psoriasis (as of 1975) did not include coumarin. But ultra-violet light has been used as a part of various treatments for psoriasis for years.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any way to get rid of stretch marks? I've heard of taking vitamin E and using cocoa butter. Is there anything to this? — Mrs. D.M.

Time alone will help. The marks do tend to fade somewhat. Vitamin E and cocoa butter will have no effect on this? — Mrs. D.M.

For a better understanding of colitis and other intestinal ailments, their causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, for a copy of his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Strom's army medals

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., as heroic a retired major general as ever fought for more appropriations for the Army, was decorated with a Legion of Merit that not only was illegal but was awarded after intense political pressure.

The Army Awards Board "recommended that the award not be approved." And General William Westmoreland, then the Army chief, first refused to sanction the award, but finally was pressured into going along with it.

This award, the second-highest that the Army can pin on a noncombatant's chest, has been granted Thurmond not once but twice. The first was awarded for noncombat duty in World War II. The second stirred up a controversy in the Pentagon that has been hushed up for more than four years.

THE LAW specifies that the award must be presented no more than two years after the meritorious service was performed. In Thurmond's case, he got the award for his overall active reserve service, which the citation said covered the span from January 1946 to December 1964.

The problem is that this Legion of Merit wasn't bestowed upon Thurmond until March 29, 1972 — more than nine years after his meritorious service ended and seven years after the statute of limitations had run.

Even more embarrassing, the Army made an effort to cover up some of the huge time lapse by saying his service ran until 1964, when in fact he retired Jan. 1, 1963.

The successful effort to give Thurmond his illegal Legion of Merit began after an earlier legal attempt during the tenure of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara in the '60s.

Although McNamara denies he personally killed Thurmond's Legion of Merit, it was nevertheless pigeon-holed until 1971 when the Nixon Administration sought to revive it.

At that time, General Westmoreland told us, he and then-Army Secretary Stanley Resor talked quietly about the award and "we felt collectively it wasn't justified."

But when Robert Froehke became Army Secretary in mid-1971, Westmoreland recalled, the Army was put under "quite a bit of congressional pressure" and other heat that "must have come from the White House."

Finally, at a face-to-face meeting, Westmoreland said he told Froehke, "If you want to give it to Thurmond, I'm not going to try to veto it. But it's got to be a political decision."

As it turned out, Westmoreland declared, "I can tell you categorically it was a political decision," and a "rather irregular one." The award was presented with discreet lack of fanfare by Froehke who told us he could recall nothing of the background.

On the scale of values upon which leaders are usually judged, Thurmond may appear to be overrated by his admirers in the Pentagon. This does not necessarily mean, however, that he is undeserving of the homage he receives from the Army.

AT APPROPRIATIONS time, he always battles for the Army budget with all the gusto of General George Patton in pursuit of Germans. Thurmond also commanded the Bay Window Brigade, as the Army's Capitol Hill reserve unit was irreverently known. He led many an expeditionary force of pot-bellied legislator-soldiers to assess the military situation in Paris, Rome, Madrid, Hong Kong, Tokyo and other glamorous places.

By using his influence with the Pentagon to locate military installations throughout his home state, Old Strom has also made South Carolina probably the best-defended state in the Union.

From fad to fad

Around the rim

Julie Simmons

I could entitle this rim "Passions I Have Known." But that title would be misleading since I am speaking of the various pastimes or habits almost every individual clings to religiously.

IMMEDIATELY A friend's father comes to mind. During my elementary years, nine times out of ten when I would be over at her house after dinner her father would be sitting in his lounge playing solitaire and watching television. Emerson was a connoisseur of solitaire, practicing every variation known to man. He passed his love of solitaire on to his children because my friend has come up with some weird forms of solitaire to confuse me with. I only know one kind of solitaire, or two, depending on if I cheat.

My grandmother used to have a remarkable addiction to crossword puzzles. She would clip them from all types of publications and save them up to do when she had time.

I can remember her having a crossword puzzle dictionary, which is certainly unfair. I always struggle with crosswords until I get about a fourth of the puzzle completed — then I am completely puzzled.

I can remember almost every time someone has started a crossword puzzle in my presence. I really am fascinated by them but I don't have much of a flair for crosswords. I feel that if I get a couple of horizontals and four or five verticals I am really making progress. I seem to do better on the verticals, too. Can't figure that one out.

Last year I had a friend who brought his favorite puzzles to college with him. I know you have to have something to do between classes and on those long weekends, but he was crazy about them.

He made a big mistake when he brought over his newest addition at the time — a gumball puzzle of high quality. I can't resist them when they are lying on a table in front of me. Two of my roommates, he and I put the border together that night and tore ourselves away from it in favor of sleep.

BUT THE NEXT few nights I happened to be in the apartment alone. And I was trapped. I rationalized that I was going to watch television but I knew all the time I was going to work on the puzzle. So I matched and fitted and sorted and searched until past midnight for two nights.

And then next afternoon when I came home from class it was finished. Someone had completed the temptation for me.

During my sophomore year in a small junior college all the boys at the dorm caught spade fever. And I mean all of them. And since I was dating one of the dorm boys I caught it, too. They would let me sit in on a game every once in a while. I can remember being late for several classes because of "one more hand of spades."

Almost everyone has some pastime that seems silly to others. My most current addiction has been to the old Tarzan movies on Sunday afternoon. But when they replaced Tarzan with the old Blondie series I was appalled. But now every Sunday I am home I am caught in the action of Dagwood, Blondie and Baby Dumpling. How embarrassing.

Dear Editor:

In response to your paper's Monday article by John Edwards, "Dam, sand trigger torrent of words."

It appears that I was tried and convicted of erecting a dike to flood a county road without regard to life or property. The fact of the matter is, if R. V. Fryar (with self-appointed powers) would have allowed the county to clean out the borrow ditch adjacent to my property the enlargement of my levy would have been unnecessary.

Originally I cleaned out this ditch to carry outside water that was coming across the highway and onto my farm. Mr. Fryar took it upon himself and had the county cover the borrow ditch, forcing the water across my land.

I talked to the county engineer and the precinct commissioner and told them, prior to raising the levy, that if the borrow ditch were not cleaned out that I would raise the height to protect my property. That county engineer told me that whatever I did on my property was my business and if the road was flooded, as I said it would be, the county would then clean out the borrow ditch to protect the highway.

The levy has been on this property for years as evidenced by aerial photos.

Mr. Fryar's concern is that he put a low drainage area, a half mile away from my property, into cultivation this year (a portion of which the county had a channel agreement in prior to his purchase).

Fryar's land happens to be the lowest in the area and the natural flow with properly maintained borrow ditches is to this area.

If any citizen could order the commission to dam up borrow ditches at will, few, if any, state roads would be passable.

My only regret is for the county to maintain a normal working borrow ditch adjacent to me and remove the blocks in the ditches that Fryar ordered.

The 5,000 yards of blowing sand did not come from my farm nor did it cover up the borrow ditch in question as indicated Monday.

Dear Editor:

I'm sure that here in Big Spring and Howard County we must have some of the most discouraged officers in the state of Texas.

The officers' record of apprehension and arrest must be as good as anywhere in the country. But there the story ends.

Our county and district court stinks, when it comes to conviction and sentencing for a crime in our county or district.

A person who commits a crime in our county or district is a fool if he or she asks for a change in venue.

I didn't know that a person who is on probation can be convicted of burglary and then get another ten-year sentence to run with the first ten-year sentence concurrently.

Then the same party is convicted of theft. Our esteemed court lowers the sentences to two six-year sentences. Is this legal? I know it is unethical and kneeling before the criminal element.

If people ever needed a new district judge, district attorney and county attorney, we are the people.

The chances are about 3-1 that a convicted person will never serve a day of prison time for crimes committed in our area.

If you are only guilty of burglary, theft, robbery, or rape, you probably won't have to say you are sorry.

A famed jurist once said: It is not the severity of punishment that deters crime, but the certainty of it. Here in our judicial district, we have neither certainty nor severity. The criminal element never had it so good.

I am not a stranger to these situations. My great uncle, same name as mine, was killed while trying to help the James boys and Younger brothers rob two banks at the same time in Northfield, Minn. He had it coming.

If our criminal element got justice, not just a trial — but justice — you can rest assured that our thugs would hunt another hangout.

Clell Miller

Dear Editor:

We are very sorry that the pet bulldog of Mrs. H. L. Wade died of smoke inhalation or of any other cause.

The explanation under the picture of Mr. and Mrs. Wade indicates that the pet dog could have been saved had the election not been held at the fire station and that use of the phone at the fire station by election officials added to the confusion and contributed to the death of the pet dog.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The Sand Springs fire truck answered the call as quickly (maybe more so) as if the election had not been held. The phone was not used by the election officials or any other person, and there was no confusion whatsoever. A call was made to Deputy Sheriff M. L. Kirby and the truck was dispatched immediately. Deputy Kirby has confirmed that no confusion existed for any reason.

Again our sympathy is with Mrs. Wade over the loss of her pet, but we do not believe that the election officials or any of the voters contributed to this loss.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A Christian friend, whose husband is deceased, has just undergone a terrifying experience. Three young men broke into her home and robbed and raped her. How could God allow that to happen to a 73-year-old lady? — E.R.

DEAR E.R.: Anyone would feel shock and disgust at such a story. I deplore these current and frequent evidences of evil, but we do have to keep in perspective the fact that this world operates under "the spiritual forces of wickedness" (Ephesians 6:12, New American Standard). Furthermore, the Bible says in 2 Timothy 3:13 (Living Bible) that "evil men will become worse and worse." That's not a pretty projection.

You see, when man disobeyed God, and our first parents were cast out of the Garden, it was evident that sin was now loose in our world. The first terrible evidence was the murder of Abel by Cain. And ever since that time, the media provides frightening testimony to the ravages of sin in our world.

God never wanted evil to happen. He is more grieved than you over every evidence of man's fallen state. But the Christian has assurance that this will not go on forever. Jude 15 (Living Bible) gives us the promise that "He will bring the people of the world before him in judgment, to receive punishment." And further in that chapter, Jude says, "But you, dear friends, must build up your lives ever more strongly upon the foundation of our holy faith."

So you have both the good and the bad — but because of Christ, we know which will be victorious.

Area highway work approved

AUSTIN — The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission Tuesday approved pavement seal coating projects on highways in Scurry, Mitchell, Nolan and Borden counties.

The work includes:

Scurry County, U. S. Highway 84 from the Mitchell County line to 1 mile south of Hermleigh, a distance of 7.9 miles; U. S. 180 from the Borden County line to 7 miles west of Snyder, a distance of 7.7 miles; and from 9.2 miles east of Snyder of the Fisher County line, a distance of 3.5 miles.

Mitchell County, U. S. 84 from the Nolan County line to the Scurry County line, a distance of 10.4 miles.

Nolan County, U. S. 84 from the Mitchell County line southeastward to South Front Street in Roscoe, a distance of 9.1 miles, and from Orange Street in Roscoe to IH 20, a distance of 1.5 miles.

Borden County, U. S. 180, from east of Red Mud Creek to the Scurry County line, a distance of 5 miles.

Estimated cost of the work is $199,800. Seal coating adds to the safety of the highways by providing a better traveling surface. In addition, the work also serves to protect pavements from deterioration caused by water infiltrating cracks.

Man indicted for burning retarded

AUSTIN (AP) — Michael Kaatz of Manor has been indicted on seven charges of burning seven mentally retarded residents of the Travis State School.

Kaatz, 18, was indicted Tuesday on seven charges of aggravated assault.

The school staff said the victims had numerous burns on their bodies which appeared to have been inflicted by a cigarette lighter, lighted cigarette or matches.

Each charge carries a possible prison sentence of two to 10 years and an optional fine not to exceed $5,000.

District 30

Bentsen delegates make switch to Carter

BAIRD — The three Bentsen delegate candidates in the May 1 Democratic primary in District 30 have thrown their support to Jimmy Carter, they said Tuesday.

Margaret Snyder of Baird, Charles Stenholm of Stamford and State Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls announced their switch from Bentsen to Carter in a news release.

Also Tuesday, Bentsen announced that he was releasing the six national convention delegates he won Saturday.

The statement read: "In the interest of a unified Democratic party, and one that is in complete harmony, we ask those who supported us as delegate candidates in the 30th Senatorial district pledged to Sen. Bentsen to endorse Jimmy Carter in the Democratic county conventions on Saturday.

"We pledge our support to Gov. Dolph Briscoe as the governor of this state and as the leader of the Texas delegation in July to the Democratic National Convention.

"We feel that he (Carter) best represents all facets of the party."

Delano Shaw, Big Spring, and Joyce Power and Barbara Dallow both of Wichita Falls won in the Saturday primary as delegates from the 30th District to the National Convention pledged to Carter.

FBI okayed campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI headquarters approved more than 2,300 actions in a "rough, tough and dirty" campaign to disrupt and discredit U.S. organizations ranging from the Black Panthers to Antioch College, according to a new report on the bureau's Cointelpro program. The report, released today by the Senate intelligence committee, said many of the actions approved during a 15-year period ending in 1971 "may have violated specific criminal statutes," while others "involved risk of serious bodily injury or death to the targets."

Was Hughes a Scout?

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The Boy Scouts of America are hot on the trail of the latest Howard Hughes mystery. Was he a Boy Scout? The question has been asked in scouting circles since the discovery of a purported will in which one-sixteenth of the reclusive billionaire's estate was left to the Boy Scouts. The amount has been estimated at up to $150 million. Based on the organization's national budget of about $14 million for last year, that would be enough for the Boy Scouts to operate for 10 years.

Things are getting better

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — "Last night I spent three hours in a saloon and I know the bartender undercharged me, so there is no question things are getting better." It was entertainer Frank Sinatra, the optimist — but to a point. "On the other hand," Sinatra offered, "when I woke up this morning, I realized I owned the saloon, so they might be getting worse, too." The verdict was a narrow one, but more than half the dozen famous Americans polled by the Yale Daily News magazine agreed — most of them, like Sinatra, with reservation — that things are getting better.

Ms. Lasser back at work

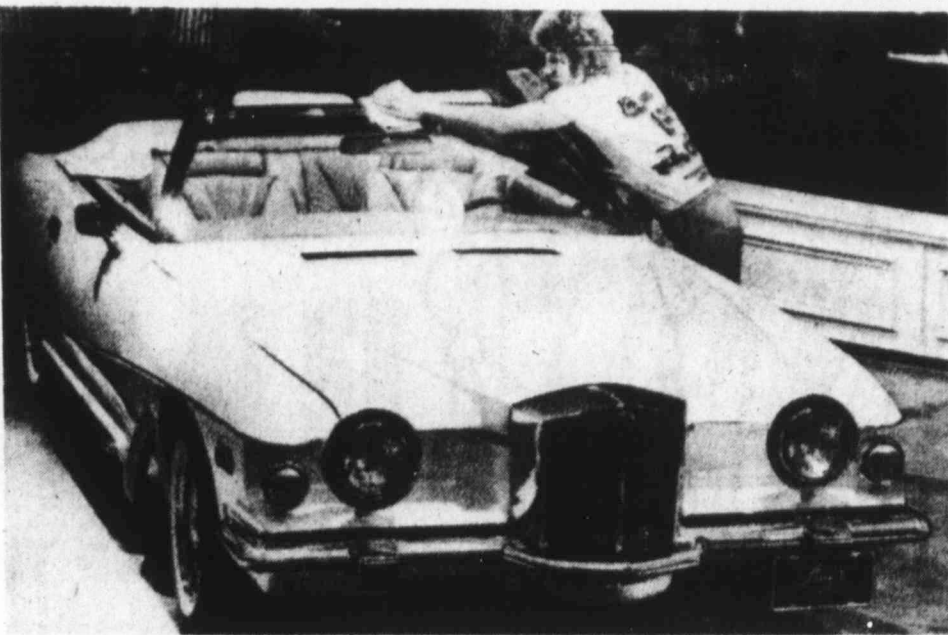

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actress Louise Lasser was back at work as "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" after an episode that might have left the comedy-soap opera heroine more bewildered than ever. Miss Lasser, 37, entered the Rainbow Boutique on Saturday to buy a doll house for a friend's birthday and was subsequently booked for investigation of cocaine possession. She was booked and released on $1,631 bond for arraignment in Municipal Court on May 12.

Veto override predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a bill that would supply $125 million to help states meet new federal standards for staffing of child day care centers predict the Senate will vote to override President Ford's veto of the measure. However, supporters of the day care bill say today's override vote in the Senate will be close.

Israel replies to charge

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel replies at the U.N. Security Council today to an Egyptian charge that it is pursuing policies of terrorism, annexation and resettlement in occupied West Jordan. If Israel persists in this most dangerous and illegal policy, it will be solely responsible for the disruption of all chances for peace, Egyptian Ambassador A. Esmat Abdel Meguid told the council Tuesday at the start of its second debate in two months on Israeli policy in the territories Israel captured in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

WORLD'S MOST EXPENSIVE CAR — A workman cleans off the Stutz d'Italia Convertible prior to a champagne reception at a Beverly Hills hotel Tuesday. The car priced at $100,000 features a body of 18 gauge steel covered by 22 coats of hand-rubbed lacquers. The interior is paneled with matched English burlis and California redwood and gleams with 24 carat gold mouldings.

New maritime strategy to use fighters to halt red warships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Security Council is shaping a long-range "Maritime Strategy" that could employ land-based Air Force bombers to bottle up Soviet warships in their home bases.

Planners are also thinking of drawing on land-based U.S. tactical fighters operating from friendly ocean-area bases to block Russia's new missile-firing Backfire Bombers from reaching American fleet units at sea.

Adm. James L. Holloway, chief of naval operations, gave glimmers of this from a still secret, still incomplete strategy study during a Tuesday briefing.

The briefing was arranged to explain the Ford administration's request for a $1.2-billion increase in next year's shipbuilding budget to provide an additional five warships, including four missile-armed frigates and a down-payment on a new $2-billion super aircraft carrier.

This is but the first installment of an expected five-year shipbuilding program planned by the NSC as part of a strategy to counter increasingly sophisticated Soviet naval power and naval-related air and missile forces in the latter part of this century.

Holloway indicated the Navy feels the present fleet of 477 ships, smallest since before Pearl Harbor, should be built up to about 600 ships. But he said the ultimate level will be determined by the NSC strategy study and President Ford's subsequent decisions.

"To develop a long range, comprehensive plan... undoubtedly requires a great deal more than just shipbuilding," Holloway said. "It has to look at the contributions of the Air Force, it has to look at the contributions of our allies."

Holloway suggested that land-based Air Force tactical fighters might play a major role in intercepting Backfire bombers hundreds of miles before the Soviet missile-firing bombers come within range of American naval task force, convoys or amphibious groups.

"We are also looking at land-based bombardment aircraft to be employed, both in delivery of mines to block exits in Soviet main-base sortie areas as well as to make strikes on their naval bases," Holloway said.

Bicentennial town crier

Fermin Florez is our man of the hour for his help backstage at the Bicentennial band concert last week. Dennis Smiley was everywhere with his camera and flash bulbs. We should have some great color shots of the group in action. The good-looking boys escorting Mamie Lee Dodds to the concert were the bulk of the new Lakeview School Honor Society. Students must have an average of 90, plus good marks on citizenship, to be members. The boys had a private interview with the band's drummer, and were given record albums by the advance man, Gene Coughlin. Looks like a new fan club in the making!

Tid-bits: Watch for more news of the Gail Bicentennial Celebration. Some of the costumes may have a familiar look, since they have been seen locally in

"Let Freedom Ring." Happy birthday, Gail neighbors! No end to the talents of Bob "Tumbleweed" Smith. The Boy Scout pageant narration and sound is just one more feather in his cap. Bob is an active member of the Bicentennial Festival Committee.

Jo Lipscombe, bicentennial chairman of DAR, has ordered her own flag to help her recall this festive year. Andrea Willard is making a gung-ho leader for the traditional Highland South Fourth of July parade. She took the job over from departing Mary Thompson. We will miss Mary and Dr. Keith — he has been a faithful laborer on our photo team.

Judy Smith, Sandra Hicks and Margaret Lloyd kept the cokes flowing at the concession stand for the band concert. We can't say thanks enough to them and several youthful helpers.

Add years to your life

Coronary prevention plan to begin at YMCA June 7

Americans are spending billions of dollars to rehabilitate persons with heart disease, but they need to spend more time and dollars preventing it, said the Big Spring YMCA's new executive director Tuesday.

Bill Etchison, who recently assumed the local YMCA post, told the Big Spring Rotary Club at its regular noon luncheon:

"Exercise is the best preventive medicine. It will add years to your life, and life to your years."

Etchison made the remarks to introduce a new YMCA coronary prevention program which begins at the YMCA June 7.

The program will be conducted daily at 7 a.m. and at 5:15 p.m. Participants will be asked to see their doctors as a part of the heart-attack prevention effort.

The executive director noted that the reason that most people give for not exercising is that they do not have time.

Etchison, a Baylor graduate who is coming to Big Spring from Midland, explained that if a person dies, all that stuff piled up on his desk will be handled by someone else.

"You can make time to do the things you really want to do in life," he said. "You owe it to yourself to exercise. That 30 to 45 minutes can be the most important to you."

Etchison said that heart disease is the biggest killer, taking the lives of more than the next two greatest killers combined.

It strikes down men in the prime of their lives from ages 35 to 60, he told the Rotarians.

He cited several studies which indicate that exercise lessens the danger of heart attack.

Etchison, whose hobby is long-distance running, said that there has never been a documented case of a marathon runner having a coronary.

"We get run over by cars or killed by cancer," he joked, "but we don't have heart disease."

Program chairmen for Tuesday's meeting were Adolph and Andy Swartz.

Reward offered for 'Snoopy'

If you see a furry little dog with no collar and part of one ear missing which appears homeless, chances are it's lost.

The female, part terrier, is a member of the D. L. Dorland household and answers to the name of 'Snoopy.' The dog's colors are grey and black.

The Dorlands had visitors in Tuesday and the dog wandered away while the guests were being given a tour of the house.

A reward is offered for the return of Snoopy. The Dorland telephone number is 263-4479.

Escapees, jail guards indicted

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A jail escapee and two former Cameron County jail guards were named in indictments returned by a federal grand jury Tuesday.

An indictment against Juan Arrendondo, 21, of Reynosa, Mexico, accused him of escaping from federal custody. Arrendondo, who was being held on a federal heroin smuggling charge, Michael Shoulders and Adrian Harper recently escaped from the Cameron County jail here.

Former jail guards Antonio Juarez and Jose Aguirre were indicted on charges of allowing a federal prisoner to escape. Cameron County Sheriff Gus Krauss fired the guards and they were arrested by FBI agents the day after the escape.

All three prisoners, including Shoulders, a convicted murderer, are still at large. Harper was being held for Florida authorities who wanted him on a theft charge.

Solar items

NEW YORK (AP) — "Use of solar energy to supply fuel needs of small residences and large buildings showed many signs during 1975 of suddenly evolving from the experimental stage into an important worldwide commercial reality," says Electrical Marketing.

But, it adds, "as the situation stands now, it would seem the export market for solar heating equipment to a world market even more starved than the U. S. for energy may be far more important than the domestic market."

Dear Abby

Bookkeeper tired of cover-up for secretary's romance

DEAR ABBY: I am the bookkeeper for a business that maintains a small office staff.

Our office manager (let's call him "Marvin") is a middle-aged family man. The boss's secretary (let's call her "Sissy") is a shapely young single woman.

Since Sissy came to work here, she and Marvin have been spending a lot of time together in the file room—with the door locked!

What they do is their business, but I'm tired of covering up for them when the boss comes looking for Sissy.

I think it's unfair of my co-workers to put me in this awkward position, but I am too embarrassed to even discuss it with them. What do you suggest?

NERVOUS IN ALBANY

DEAR NERVOUS: Get over your embarrassment long enough to tell Sissy that the next time the boss comes looking for her, you will tell him to look in the file room under "Marvin."

DEAR ABBY: My husband says, "Ask Abby," so here goes.

When we go to the parties where there is dancing and I am asked to dance, I always accept because I love to dance. However, my husband, who is a wonderful dancer and a very handsome man, just sits there.

I am embarrassed to see the wife of the man who has asked me to dance sitting while my husband sits. He says he doesn't enjoy dancing with anyone but me.

What do you think, Abby? As a matter of etiquette, should I refuse dances with other men if my husband doesn't dance with their wives? Or should my husband dance even if he doesn't enjoy it?

LIKES TO DANCE

DEAR LIKES: Your husband should dance with the wife of the man who has asked you to dance. He's being rude to sit.

DEAR ABBY: This is for that woman who was "going crazy" because her house was always a mess no matter how hard she worked to keep it tidy.

I have a husband, three children and two grandchildren. I always believed that a house should be lived in. My husband and sons work on motors and they get pretty greasy, but I don't care. My daughter loves to paint with oils and you can't tell the color of any towel I have between the grease and oil paint.

When my grandchildren are here, I give them the run of the place. My sister-in-law said I was crazy because last winter I put the sandbox right in the middle of my kitchen. It made sort of a mess, but the baby was quiet, and I didn't mind sweeping up the sand.

We like pets and treat them like members of the family. They can roam around the house and sleep anywhere they want to. We keep the door to the parakeet cage open and if the place gets to smelling like a barnyard, I spray a little pine around.

Some days I don't get my beds made, and I'm not bothered with dishes because we use paper plates. I'll never take a prize for my housekeeping, but we're sure a happy family.

If you print this, don't use my name because my mother would die.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

DEAR ABBY: About that woman who was embarrassed by her boyfriend's bad grammar. My glamorous mother was divorced 20 years ago. When she started dating again, she wouldn't even consider dating a man who said "We wasn't" or "He don't."

For the last six months, her constant companion has been a man who says, "We wasn't" and uses "you're" for the plural of "you." But he is the sweetest, kindest, most patient man she's ever known. He's a big success financially, too.

If Mom had stuck to her original standards, she would have cheated herself out of plenty. Also, this man in her life has made her a lot easier to live with.

HER DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Neither glamour nor grammar guarantees a good relationship.

Mother is such a special person, it's not difficult to know just why she is wished the nicest day there could possibly be — happiness on Mother's Day, and always

CLASSIFIED AD-7 THE PLACE TO LOOK

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have some pretty big ideas you want to put in action, but any bombastic attitude can take away from success which is otherwise yours. Act in a calm, unperturbed fashion. Use your intuition and hunches for arriving at important decisions and don't expect bigwigs to aid you today.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are inspired by something that seems purely imaginative but actually is practical and can be of great help. Don't be dramatic. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be more helpful and understanding to kin to gain their backing which you need. Be careful of those who are dangerous.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't argue with an associate of long standing over some petty annoyance. Cement better relations instead. Study facts carefully.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Enlarge your thinking and you can add appreciably to present holdings. Evening is fine for social matters.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You like to have the goodwill of others so be sure to get rid of any personal flaws you may have and be better liked.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can come to right decisions where the future is concerned. Reach a better accord with the one you love.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with good friends at the activities most appreciated by all concerned and have a delightful time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Fidelity toward higher-ups will help you put your finest talents to work more successfully. Get rid of credit matter that pesters you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Listen carefully to what newcomers have to say and follow the best of such advice. Decide on better ways to advance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Keep in mind favors extended you in the past. Cooperate more with mate who desires to have more cooperation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find out what others expect and go along with them where and when feasible. Be patient and get good results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do important work to free time for other things. Improve diet for better health and get a real lift.

Prospective attendees asked to 'sound off'

"Sound Off" is being asked of all area military retirees who may be planning to attend the upcoming Open House in their honor at Fort Hood May 22.

Prospective attendees are asked to RSVP by sending in the green reservation form included in the invitation for the day's activities on post. Those planning to attend the dinner sponsored by the Greater Killeen Chamber of Commerce must send the yellow sheet included in the invitation to the Killeen Chamber of Commerce not later than May 18. Cost of the dinner is $3.75 per person.

Area retirees who have not received the forms and programs, or have misplaced them may obtain additional copies at the Retirement Services Office located at the Whittington Community Center, Bldg. 108, at Fort Hood.

The purpose of the Open House is to bring military retirees up to date on their rights and benefits; provide personal counseling; and offer an opportunity to visit an active Army post.

It will be a unique opportunity for the retirees to hear Ms. Martha McSteen, regional commissioner for the Social Security Administration. Up to the minute details of the Social Security administrative and legislative changes will be presented. Additional presentations will be given concerning VA and CHAMPUS benefits by respective representatives. "CHAMPUS benefits should be of utmost importance to the retiree," said Mr. E. G. Fish, Retirement Services

Officer, "because of recent changes in the program."

The County Fair activities begin at 11:30 a.m. in the Whittington Community Center. Various services offered will be general legal counseling, writing of wills, retired pay information, ID card insurance or renewal, employment opportunities, veteran's affairs and medical and dental services covered by CHAMPUS.

Other activities available for the retirees and their dependents include:

— Sightseeing bus tours of Fort Hood will be offered during the afternoon of the Open House. The tours will originate at the Community Center.

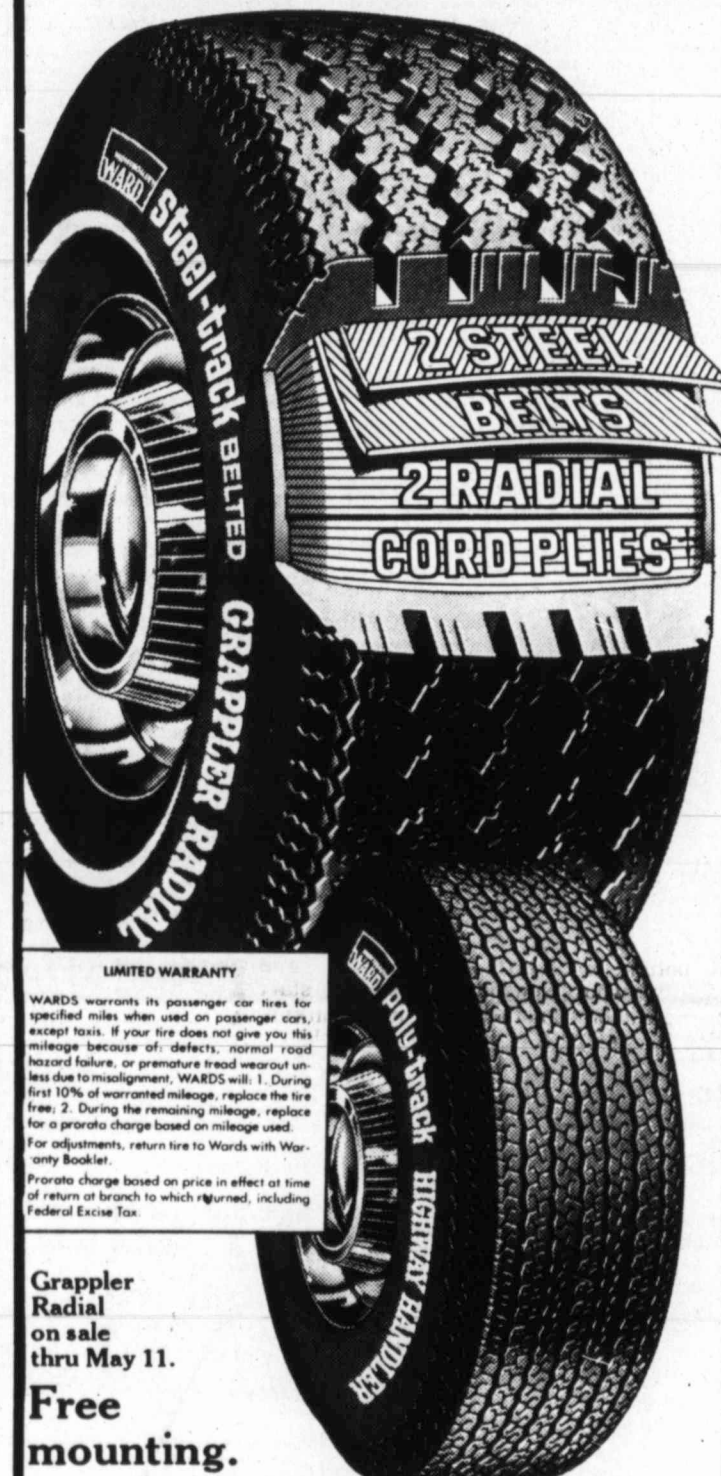

— Two commissary facilities will be available at Fort Hood for customer service to retirees.

— The Main Post Exchange and the Four Seasons Store will be open for retirees and dependents.

Rangers widen lead to 2 1/2

'He who yells last, yells loudest'

A CHEER FOR HARRAH — Texas Rangers' Jeff Burroughs, left, congratulates Toby Harrah after Harrah hit his second home run Tuesday night during American League game against Brewers at Milwaukee. The Rangers beat the Brewers, 7-4.

A time to laugh, and a time to cry

By FRED BREWER
ODESSA — The Big Spring Steers broke on top quick Tuesday scoring eight runs against Odessa High's John Pressly in the first two innings and went on to win a laugher 17-3.

Frank Rubio went four strong innings, allowing just three hits, one walk and two runs, to pick up his fourth win of the season against one loss. The Steers are now 19-7 for the season.

The Steers' high spirit after the game was dampened somewhat by the news Abilene had beaten Midland Lee 7-1. Big Spring (4-1) is the only team in District 5-4A with a chance to tie the undefeated Abilene (6-0) for second half honors, but it needs help from Abilene Cooper (Thursday's opponent) to do it.

The Eagles have one game remaining, with Cooper, on their home field Saturday. The Steers play Cooper Thursday night at San Angelo Central. For Big Spring to tie the Abilene it must win both games and hope Cooper beats Abilene.

Steers coach Larry Horton said he expects Cooper to use its best pitcher against the Steers. "They play Central next Tuesday for the first half championship," he said. "They would be silly to use their best pitcher Saturday with that game ahead of them."

Horton said he's going to tell the team not to worry about Abilene. "I'm just going to tell them to play their best, that's all they can do."

Those were Horton's words before the Odessa game and the team responded with its most awesome attack of the season. The Steers pounded Bronco pitching for 17 hits highlighted by Newsom, Rubio and McKinney home runs.

Although the Steers went on to get 17 hits they didn't need any for their first two runs. Mike Warren opened the game with a walk. He stole second. Charles McKinney walked and Warren went to third on a passed ball.

McKinney stole second to put both in scoring position. Warren scored on a wild pitch and when the ball got away McKinney came in on the same play.

The Broncos got one of the runs back in the bottom of the inning. Connally, who was to go 4-for-4, tripled and scored on a safety squeeze bunt by Shelton.

The Steers pretty much iced the game in the second. Mike Harris walked and Frank Rubio knocked him in with Rubio's first homer of the year. Harris was going on the play, a hit and run, but as the ball sailed over the fence it became a hit and jog.

With two out Ken McMurtrey singled up the middle. McKinney chopped one toward third and beat it out. Mike Battle singled between short and third to score McMurtrey. Kent Newsom cleared the bases with a blast over the left field fence.

The Broncos got to Rubio for one in the third. Muncy singled and Connally sent him home with his second triple.

The Steers put the game out of reach in the sixth.

Little League—

Hawks saddle Colts

The Hawks of the American Little League exploded in the third inning to go to wrangle the hapless Colts 10 to 3.

Blake Rosson was the winning pitcher for the high-flying Hawks and George Solis was the losing hurler for the corralled Colts. Slamm'n Steve Rodriguez of the Hawks had two doubles, and Randy Wallace for the Colts had one double.

Rosson breezed by 16 Colt batters, and ironically enough, the Hawk hit-men had 16 hits. The Hawks are now 4-1.

Charlie Vernon, batting for the first time this season, lined a triple into the left centerfield gap. Warren brought him in with a single. McMurtrey hit a sharp single to left and McKinney brought everybody home with his second homer of the year, a shot over the left-centerfield fence.

Battle walked and Newsom singled to start another rally. Ray Don Box got to first on a fielder's choice. The Broncos tried to double off Box and threw the ball away enabling Newsom and Box to move up one. Pat Carroll brought them both in with a liner to left.

The Steers closed out their attack with three in the seventh. Vernon hit a line drive to left and Steve Evans hit a parachute over second for a hit in his first trip to the plate. Forrest Harry Walked. McKinney forced Vernon at home. Tony Mann brought Evans and Harry MILWAUKEE (AP) — So much for what had been Jim Colborn's American League leading 0.41 earned run average.

The Texas Rangers, sparked by Toby Harrah's two solo home runs and aided by shaky Milwaukee defense, chased Colborn during a four-run sixth inning capped by Mike Hargrove's two run single Tuesday night. Nelson Briles (3-1), with relief help from Steve Foucault, held off the Brewers 7-4, the Rangers' fifth consecutive victory.

"I've said all year this is the best ball club the Rangers have ever had," said Harrah, whose club leads the AL West by 2 1/2 games. "It shows the way our pitchers have been going, and now that we're starting to swing the bat a little, the Rangers will be a team to be reckoned with this year."

"Colborn is a good pitcher, always tough for me to hit," said Harrah, a rarity in that he is a shortstop who bats in the cleanup position. "The first home run I hit was off a good pitch. He jammed me, but I was just happy to hit it right down the line and it carried out. I just got a little lucky."

Colborn (2-2), whose ERA climbed to 1.65, concurred.

"It was an interesting pitch," he said. "I jammed him, and I heard him yell as his bat hit the ball, like he was unhappy I jammed him. But then 2 1/2 seconds later, I yelled. He who yells last, yells loudest."

"I hate to make excuses, but eight days of inactivity had something to do with it," he said. "I had pretty good stuff, but I just wasn't sharp with my fast ball. I usually can put it where I want, but I couldn't do that tonight, and I made a whole lot of bad pitches."

Harrah's first homer, with one out in the fourth inning, erased a 1-0 Brewers' lead achieved on Don Money's third homer of the year in the first inning.

Jeff Burroughs walked after Harrah's homer and raced all the way home when center fielder Sixto Lezcano misjudged Tom Grieve's two out fly ball and dropped it for an error.

"The wind was tough tonight, but I misjudged the ball and it was completely my fault," Lezcano said. "I thought it was going to carry farther, and I went back too far and slipped on the warning track. Then I tried to come in and make a basket catch, but I just couldn't handle it."

The Brewers tied the score at 2-2 in their half on Hank Aaron's first homer of the year and 746th of his career. It was the first of his three hits, which raised his average to .292.

"It was just a number," Aaron said of having increased his major league record career home run total. "The power is just not there like it used to. I don't think warmer weather will help much, either—although 10 years off 42 would. I just hit that ball right down the line."

BoSox release Michael

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have placed veteran utility infielder Gene Michael on waivers for the purpose of granting him an unconditional release and have activated infielder Bob Heise.

Michael, 37, who played nine of his major league seasons with the New York Yankees and one year with the Detroit Tigers, was signed this spring as a free agent by the Red Sox.

Lonborg wins 3rd, blanks the Astros

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jim Lonborg doesn't have to think back too far to recall a fast start.

"Last year," said a straight-faced Lonborg, bracing an ice pack against his right shoulder while leaning against his cubicle in the Phillie locker room.

Lonborg's seven-hit performance Tuesday night produced a 5-0 victory over the Houston Astros. It marked Lonborg's third victory without a loss and was his second complete game of the season.

In 1975 he also started strong, throwing two shutouts in his first five starts and posting an ERA of 1.92. Then a pulled muscle led to a shoulder injury that plagued Lonborg the rest of the year.

Lonborg worked extra hard during the winter and he's not surprised to be 3-0. "I think it's indicative of the way I've been pitching," the 33-year-old Lonborg said.

"I know I'm going to pitch well early. And if I stay healthy, I'm going to pitch well all year."

Lonborg, using a lively fastball and a good slider, showed good control all night. He didn't walk a batter — although he did hit Cliff Johnson with a pitch — and he struck out three.

"My strength was there. I didn't have to throw a lot of pitches and I was able to throw strikes," he added.

Protecting a 1-0 lead until the eighth inning, Lonborg locked in a tough pitching battle with Houston's Larry Dierker. Dierker, 3-3, gave up a second inning home run to Bobby Tolan but allowed only one other hit going into the eighth.

Dave Cash tripled to deep right centerfield to score Lonborg, who had walked. After Larry Bowa reached first on a fielder's choice and then stole second, Mike Schmidt was walked intentionally to load the bases.

Greg Luzinski's sharp liner inside third base scored all three runners and completed the scoring.

Having a five-run lead didn't change Lonborg's style, however.

Big Spring's Sorley hopeful, despite broken throwing arm

Tom Sorley, of Big Spring, playing quarterback for the Nebraska Cornhuskers broke his right arm, his throwing arm, in a scrimmage Sunday, April 25. The team was scrimmaging on Sunday to make up for a rained-out practice session on Saturday.

Sorley, admitting "I've always been a pretty optimistic person," has not taken himself out of the Nebraska quarterback picture for next fall.

The sophomore redshirt has worked his way to the No. 2 position behind Vince Ferragamo. He'll also start fall camp No. 2, Nebraska head coach Tom Osborne assured Sorley Sunday in a visit to St. Elizabeth's Community Health Center.

"THAT HELPED," Sorley said Monday as he prepared to check out of the hospital. "Coach Osborne said I had sort of established myself. That makes me feel a whole lot better."

Sorley broke both bones above his right wrist when junior middle guard John Plucknett tackled him on the second play of the scrimmage.

Ironically, Sorley started the scrimmage with the No. 1 unit in place of Ferragamo, who was an hour late

TOM SORLEY

I'll be ready to practice after taking admission tests to medical school.

"I don't know what happened on the play," Sorley said. "All I know is I started to get up and go back to huddle and I happened to look down at my arm. It was shaped funny — like a snake — and the trainers were right there."

"My arm hurt for a second, but that's about all," Sorley said. "That's how long it took for me to quit thinking about the arm and start thinking about not being able to play."

OSBORNE FEARED the injury could require a six-month recovery at first. "But it was high enough in his forearm where at least he didn't get into a lot of complicated wrist problems," he said.

Sorley's arm has been set and placed in a cast. He'll wear it approximately two months and probably wear a splint for another month.

"I think the only thing hurt is his heart," Sorley's wife, Kendra, said. She was at the scrimmage and was crying when her husband's arm was placed in an air splint and he was preparing to leave for the hospital.

"I asked her why she was crying," Tom said. "I had broken it and it didn't hurt. She gets upset about things like this though."

ALTHOUGH SORLEY won't be able to throw a football until July at the earliest, he has been told he can keep his body in shape.

"I plan to do just that, too," he said. "In fact, I'm starting early. I'm going to start running again this afternoon."

Sorley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sorley, who reside on Larry, visited him last week in Lincoln, Nebraska. While there they watched the spring game between the Red and White teams.

Floyd Sorley said the Red team made up of second and third string players beat the White team, made up of first and fourth string players, 29-26.

STANTON GIRLS OFF TO STATE — Carolyn Hopkins, Cheryl Huff, Twila Kelly, Terrie Oldaker, and Lisa Bess Angel, from left to right, are going to the state finals in golf for A schools in Texas. The girls' golf has been a sport in Stanton High School two years and they have gone to state both years as regional champs. Carolyn is regional medalist. Last year, Stanton was first in the region and Farewell was second, with Farewell winning the state championship. This year Farwell was first in region and Stanton second and the Stanton girls are planning to "win the state championship."

Forsan's Nichols in state tourney

Although she is just 17, Marci Nichols — who will represent Forsan, the Big Spring area, and Region 1-B at the State UIL tennis tournament Friday and Saturday at Austin — is working on her second career in tennis and doing a good job of it.

Marci started her tennis career in 1973 at the age of 14, and as an eighth grader was semifinalist in the District 10-B tournament that year. Her freshman year she lost in split sets to Jane Jeske of Miles who won the district that year and in 1975 she advanced to the state finals before being defeated.

It was in the District 10-B tournament last year that the first phase of Marci's tennis career ended — almost in disaster. Leading in the final match against Darla Currie of Garden City, Marci was forced to default the match, which ended for her in agony. She tore a ligament and damaged cartilage in her right knee. Surgery and recovery replaced tennis during the summer of 1975. Cartilage was removed and the damaged ligament repaired in an operation that is more usual for pro football quarterbacks than for high school tennis stars. End of career one.

"Happily, Marci's return to tennis this season has found her playing smarter, better tennis than ever," according to Dave Redwine, Forsan's tennis coach. "She has just finished winning a 32-player draw to take top honors in Region 1. That, in itself, is a large order. There are only four regions included in the state of Texas, and ours extends from down in the Big Bend country clear to the top of the Panhandle, and it includes a lot of good tennis players."

During the first career, starting in high school district play wasn't Marci's only accomplishment. She won the Forsan invitational doubles tournament and was semifinalist at the Andrews Highway 80 tournament in doubles as a freshman. And, before her knee injury, she won singles tournaments in Rotan, Big Spring and Forsan. And, also during the summer of 1974, she won girls' doubles in Snyder and Big Spring, and mixed doubles at Snyder.

"Following the knee surgery there was no assurance that Marci would return to championship form," Coach Redwine continued. "She had to wait until school was out for the surgery, so she missed all the summer playing season last year. But, she has come back with a great attitude, a lot of hard work, and stands a good chance of going all the way at state."

One of the most important matches in Marci's tennis-playing career was played in the third round of this year's regionals, when Marci defeated highly regarded Holly Harris of Fort Davis. Holly had, in her sophomore and junior years, finished as state finalist and semifinalist and was assumed by most to be the heiress apparent to the state throne in 1976. It was toward that match that Marci was pointing last year and again this year.

"After winning the first set 6-2, Marci suffered a let-down and was behind 5-1 in the second set before she hit her stride again," Coach Redwine observed. "From that point onward, it was a different match. Marci played every point to win and she did just that, pulling it up to win at 7-6 in a 5-2 tiebreaker. The rest of the tournament was anticlimactic, although the final match against Johanna Barton, of Higgins, was a tough one."

Marci leaves for Austin Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver (Bud) Nichols, and Coach Redwine to become acclimated for the Austin tournament.

"State play won't be nearly as long for the winner as regional," Coach Redwine concluded, "although it may be tougher competition. There will be only eight instead of 32 players, since only the runners-up and winners for each region qualify for state play."

LOOKING TOWARD AUSTIN — Forsan's Marci Nichols practices for the UIL tennis state tournament that will be held in Austin Friday and Saturday. Nichols will be representing Region 1-B in the singles competition.

Steer-Cooper game postponed, again

Big Spring baseball coach Larry Horton said last night's rains swamped Abilene Cooper's field once again forcing the makeup game to be played Thursday, 4:00. That is, if the field is ready for Thursday. If not the game will be played next week.

Horton said he would pitch Dick Battle (8-2) against Cooper and Frank Rubio (4-1) against San Angelo Central Saturday, 2:00, in Steer Park.

Ladies and Gentlemen, start your engines?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "Gentlemen, start your engines." That command, Tony Hulman's most famous, oft-repeated and purportedly shortest speech, is in danger.

For the first time in its 60 runnings, the Indianapolis 500 has a woman entered. What's more, she's been accepted to take the mandatory rookie test.

And that should be little more than a routine exercise for 38-year-old Janet Guthrie, who will be buzzing around Hulman's prestigious 2 1/2-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway oval with the likes of A.J. Foyt, Bobby and Al Unser, and Johnny Rutherford when the gates open Saturday.

The hard part for the slender, bespectacled Miss Guthrie, a 13-year veteran of sports car racing, will be qualifying for one of the coveted 33 starting positions in the $1 million classic, the world's richest auto race.

A surprising 71 entries, many more than in recent years, have been received, and the list comprises a considerable amount of top-flight equipment. Unfortunately, Miss Guthrie's Offenhauser-powered Vollstedt is considered to be near the bottom of the competitive pile.

"Even a pretty fair shoe couldn't get that car in the field here last year," said one official. "Janet might be a pretty good bet to qualify in front line equipment. But she'll have her work cut out in this car."

Veteran observers predict a four-lap qualifying average of at least 180 miles per hour will be needed to make the lineup for the May 30 race.

Foyt, who incidental to all the Guthrie hoopla will be trying for a record fourth Indy triumph, won the pole position last year with a 10-mile qualification run of 193.976 m.p.h. But speeds should be down one or two miles per hour this time because of newly enacted power restrictions.

Dallas girl disappears, FBI on case

DALLAS (AP) — Federal agents joined Dallas police today in an intensive search for 4-year-old Nicole Moore, missing from her Oak Cliff home and feared kidnapped.

The child disappeared Monday evening after playing outside the apartment where she lived with her mother, Linda Moore, and a 4-month-old brother.

FBI agents entered the case Tuesday under a legal presumption that a person who has not been found after 24 hours has been taken across state lines.

Police assigned 25 officers to the search and detailed a tactical squad to wade a creek that runs through Kidd Springs Park about six blocks north of the Moore home.

Patrolman G.S. Shivers said the little girl, an Indian, was last seen about 6:45 p.m.

"The child was playing with other children," he said, "and the others went inside, leaving her alone outside."

After her mother notified police about 9 p.m., officers made a fruitless door-to-door search of the quiet, tree-lined neighborhood, surveying it also from a helicopter and paying special attention to swimming pools and wooded areas.

Shivers reported a neighbor told of seeing Nicole talking to a white man, about 30, who sported a mustache and wore blue jeans and a brown print shirt. He quoted a boy, 11, as saying the child entered a station wagon occupied by a black man.

She has brown eyes and dark brown hair in braids, stands about three feet tall and weighs 34 pounds. She was wearing a blue dress adorned with white flowers, white knee-high socks and no shoes.

Investigators said they had no reason to think relatives or friends might have taken the little girl away.

Construction worker nabbed in girl's death

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — A 30-year-old Houston construction worker was in the Anderson County jail today on charges that he killed a six-year-old girl, whose decomposed body was discovered near here earlier this year.

Officials said Ira Winford Powers Jr. was arrested Tuesday in Houston and taken before Tomball Justice of the Peace Shelly Hancock and arraigned on murder charges. No bond was set.

A logger found the body of the girl, Courtney Heath, in a densely wooded area near here in Southeast Texas last Feb. 10.

The girl had been missing since the body of her strangled mother, Patti Lou Heath, 32, was discovered in her northwest Harris County home last Nov. 14. A medical examiner's report said the child was killed shortly after that date.

Harris County Sheriff's Maj. John Klevehnagen said Powers was a former boyfriend of Mrs. Heath.

Powers was arrested by Anderson County Sheriff Roy Herrington, a Texas Ranger and five Harris County detectives.

Herrington said the officers had an arrest warrant handed down in a sealed indictment by a 173rd District Court grand jury in Palestine last week.

Motor grader purchased by county dads

Representatives of County Commissioners Court Tuesday successfully bid $9,200 for a Gallion motor grader.

Dub Bryant auctioned a number of vehicles for First National Bank.

The equipment purchased by the county has a scarifier and rock crusher, County Commissioner Jack Buchanan said.

Also attending the auction were County Judge Bill Tune and Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas.

Suspected check forger jailed

Roy (Raul) Gonzales Martinez, 19, 1510 Oriole St., is in county jail and charged with check forgery.

Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena Jr. set a $3,000 bond.

Mathis, Decker face runoff in Martin County

County Judge Jimmy Mathis and W. S. (Bill) Decker face a runoff for the position of county judge in Martin County on June 5.

Mathis led in the primary on the Democratic ticket with 457 votes, followed by Decker with 433, and a third candidate, L. D. Snell with 172.

There appear to be no solid issues involved in the race. An interview with both candidates revealed no strong criticism of the other candidate.

Mathis was named judge when Judge Carroll Yater resigned. Mathis, who had served as city manager since 1973, resigned that post to accept the judgeship.

"From the first week I arrived in Stanton, I liked this community," Judge Mathis stated. "I had several opportunities to accept a city managership in other places, but I stayed because I really like it here. When the judgeship opened up and I was asked to take it, I thought it would be a good chance for me to serve the entire county. I like to work for people. I understand government and the problems involved through my years of experience in working at an administrative post.

"Martin County is becoming increasingly progressive and concerned with growth and improvements. I hope I will be able to serve them."

Decker came to Stanton 12 years ago. During that time, he has owned and operated a successful welding and machine shop. One year, he drove back and forth to Odessa to teach shop there. He also has worked for the Texas-New Mexico Pipeline Company and taught shop one year at a junior high in Galveston.

"I ran for this job because I thought it would be a challenge to me. My son could run my present business and I would like a chance to serve the county."

"I think I would try to make some changes, but I don't know yet what they are. I wouldn't want to elaborate until I learn all of the facts."

Decker also expresses concern for his fellow citizens and wishes to serve them as judge.

Mathis points to things that have already happened during his short term of office. He has helped obtain permission to apply for funds for improvements of a water district out in the northern portion of the county. He also has helped obtain an ambulance through the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council for the Ackerly area.

Decker and his wife, Flo, also well-known in the community, have a son Bill Jr., who could run the present business, a son, Bert, who is a lieutenant in the Marine Air Corp and a daughter, Kathryn Bearden, who is a junior at West Texas State.

Mathis, who is president of the Chamber of Commerce and president-elect of the Lions Club, has a wife, Jean. They have a married daughter and granddaughter and a son, Todd, 13.

Mathis is 49. Decker is 56. Neither are native Stantonites or pioneer Martin County citizens. Some backers of Decker have pointed to his dozen years in the county as reason for election.

Mathis claims that "concern and love for a community can come very quickly where there are such friendly, wonderful people." Decker also claims to have made his home in Stanton "due to the great people around here."

Persons who voted in the Republican primary are not eligible to vote in the runoff. However, persons who did not vote in either primary may vote in the runoff election.

Help us find a way to spend $1,000,000.

Hold it. This is no fairy tale. Lots of people add to their family a lot faster than they add on to their house. Pretty soon, they find themselves having a hard time squeezing in.

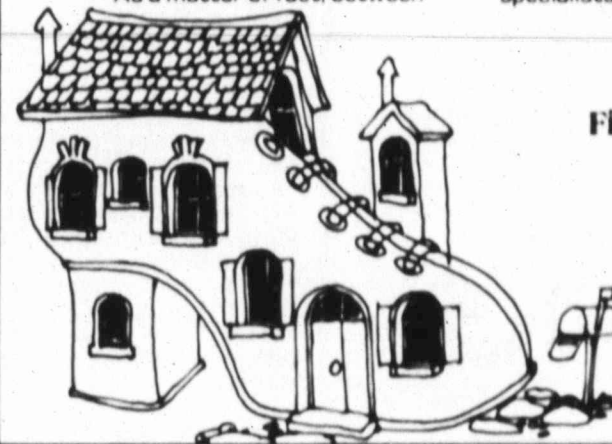

Does the shoe fit? Well, if it's beginning to get a little tight around your place, we'll loan you the money for the major improvements. As a matter of fact, between now and June 30, we'll loan you money for just about anything. Home loans, home improvement loans, and loans for cars, boats and all kinds of personal things. Before this, you couldn't get all these kinds of loans just anywhere. Now, we've fixed it so you can.

There's an idea that's worth a million. Because we're loan specialists, too.

Houston, Cox's army

with Marj Carpenter

Bernard Houston is the third generation Houston living on the same plot of land in the northern edge of Glasscock County, near Stanton.

"I'm kind of a Glasscock and Martin County person both, because our Glasscock Ranch has always been quite close to Stanton," Houston stated this week. "I'm always over here in Stanton — do everything over here, except vote."

"My Dad, A. R. (Toad) Houston was the first baby born out here in this old adobe hospital that is on the Koonce land at the edge of Stanton."

"He was born in 1890, six years after his father, A. L. Houston had arrived in Glasscock County in a covered wagon."

"He came from down around San Saba and the family is supposed to be some kin to Old Sam Houston. I don't know just how," Bernard added.

"A couple of my sisters and I went to school at the old convent here. We stayed in town with an aunt. They were good school teachers," the longtime area resident stated.

His brothers and sisters include Fred in Austin; Mrs. Janice Lloyd, Wendell, Idaho; Mrs. Zora Lou Winslow, Midland and Mrs. Eleanor Poe, Stanton. Bernard has two sons in high school in Stanton, Kenneth and Scott.

"If one or both of them decide to work the land, it will be four generations of the family on that land. Currently I irrigate and farm part of it, but irrigation is getting to be an expensive proposition. We may all go back to dryland farming."

"Back when Grandpa originally came out this way, he moved from San Saba to Coleman and then came on out here with a covered wagon, driving a herd of cattle. They were typical old Texas range cattle — probably included some longhorns."

"He settled three miles over in Glasscock County. Of course, Stanton was Marienfeld then."

"They changed the name after a big drouth. A lot of the German Catholics who had originally started the settlement left and another group took over. That was the second time the name got changed. The railroaders named it one thing, the Catholic settlers another and then it got still a third name."

"Of course, the Pioneer Peters family stayed. Ick Peters is probably the best authority left in Martin County on early history around here. His uncle, who was a Catholic priest, settled this area."

Houston's wife was a Cox, and her family is an early Glasscock County authority. The old saying down in Glasscock County is that it was settled by the three C's. That included Curries, Coxes and Calverleys. The largest of the group is the Cox family which has fanned out all over West Texas.

Referred to as Cox's army, you can find Coxes that are kin in Garden City, Stanton, Big Spring, Andrews, Fort Stockton, Fort Davis, Odessa, Midland, Alpine, and a bunch of other west Texas towns.

And there are a lot of them. One of the group married to a Cox, a man named J. B. Ratliff, down at Fort Stockton got drug into federal court one time, charged with firing holes in the wing of a border patrol plane flying low over his ranch.

Ratliff staunchly testified in court that day that he was firing at ducks when the plane happened to come over. He was found innocent.

When Houston was reminded of this tale, he chuckled and added, "I think he was shooting at ducks — with a 30-30, yet."

One way or the other, the Coxes have left their imprint and influence all over West Texas. And it's a good, strong pioneer West Texas influence.

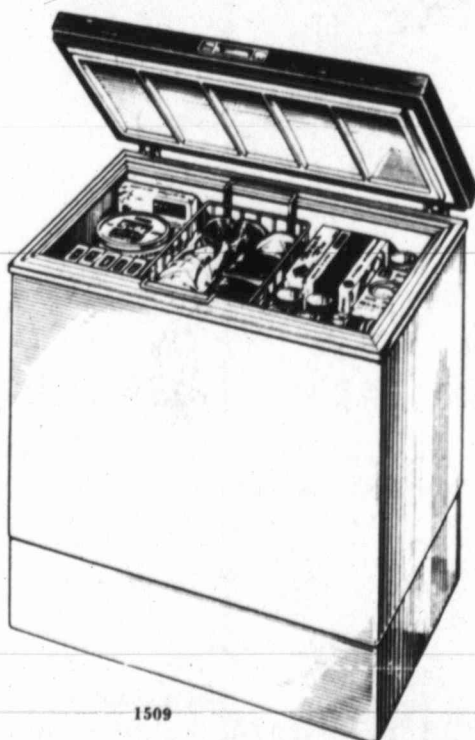

"The Houstons have just stayed here in this same little corner working for a living all this time," Bernard laughed.

And that's the way I found it — out this week ridin' fence.

Alcohol Commission meets in Odessa to hear reports

AUSTIN — The six-member Texas Commission on Alcoholism (TCA) will convene at 1:30 p.m. Friday for a two-day session at the Inn of the Golden West in Odessa.

Tentative agenda for that meeting calls for status reports on proposed cooperative relationships between TCA and the Texas Association of Alcoholism Counselors (TAAC) and between TCA and the Alcoholism Council of Texas (ACT) to promote "grassroots" support for alcoholism programming throughout the state.

Commissioners will hear reports made by the Commission to various legislative committees and will discuss recent developments in state budgeting. The status of federal alcoholism programming will also be studied, as will a report on those grants and contracts that will be considered at the June Grant-Contract Committee Review Meeting in Austin.

In 1971, the Texas Commission on Alcoholism was designated by the Governor of Texas as the single state agency to administer a "state plan" for the prevention, treatment, and control of alcohol abuse and alcoholism.

The Commission estimates there are over 550,000 alcohol abusers in Texas, and that each of these persons adversely affects another four — through family, job, or social contacts.

Commission figures further show that industrial alcoholism results in a loss of $400 million annually to business, industry, and government in Texas because of job inefficiency, medical expenses, and accidents caused by employees with drinking problems.

According to Executive Director K. E. Beahan, the goal of the Commission "is to respond to the needs of these citizens with a statewide delivery system." The activities of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism encompass a wide range of approaches toward accomplishing that goal.
