

Rocky Won't Run for Vice President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller told President Ford today he would not be his running mate in the 1976 presidential campaign.

Rockefeller said in a letter to Ford, "After much thought I have decided I do not wish my name to enter into your consideration for the upcoming Republican vice presidential nominee."

"I shall, of course, continue to serve as vice president to discharge my constitutional obligations and to assist in every way I can in carrying on to cope with the problems that confront the nation until the installation once again of a president and vice president duly elected by the people of this great republic," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller was selected for the vice presidency nearly a year ago by Ford after the resignation of President Richard M. Nixon.

Rockefeller told Ford he had "the highest regard for your dedication to the presidency and for your courage, resolution and forthrightness."

Rockefeller said he was making the move at a time when Ford is "firming up" his program to run for the 1976

Republican presidential nomination.

Ford's campaign manager Howard Callaway said a month ago that the 67-year-old Rockefeller was a "problem on the ticket" with many conservatives and suggested that he be replaced with a younger man.

Speaking of Ford's campaign, Rockefeller said, "Involvement, as this must, difficult calculations, considerations and decisions, it will clearly help you in this task if the range of options is simplified at the earliest time."

In his letter, Rockefeller told Ford:

"As I have told you and the American people, I have been honored by your nomination of me as vice president and by the approval of the Congress. In association with you in the months since that time, I have come to have the highest regard for your dedication to the presidency and for your courage, resolution and forthrightness. Your friendship and that of Mrs. Ford mean much to Mrs. Rockefeller and myself."

"My acceptance of the vice presidency, as you know, was based upon my concern to help restore national unity and confidence after the shattering experience of Watergate working under your leadership toward this goal has been challenging and rewarding as our basic institutions are surmounting our unprecedented crisis and the nation is returning to its regular elective presidential pattern next year."

"Regarding next year and my own situation, I have made it clear to you and to the public that I was not a candidate for the vice presidency, that no one realistically can be such, and that the choice of a vice presidential running mate is, and must be, up to the presidential candidate to recommend to a national party convention."

"After much thought, I have decided further that I do not wish my name to enter into your consideration for the upcoming Republican vice presidential nominee."

"The welfare of the people in particular has always been the alibi of tyrants, and it provides the further advantage of giving the servants of tyranny a good conscience."

Rains Bathe County

By ANNA BURCHELL
Pampa News Staff

Gray County farmers and ranchers indicated this morning that they are thankful for the rains that came but they are hoping for more.

Rainfall totals in the county ranged from 1.4 inches to 2.15 inches.

"It should have happened two months ago," said Foster Whaley, Gray County extension agent. "But it sure is great. It is wonderful on the wheat and will help the pastures."

He added that some replanting will be necessary.

Jack Benton who lives nine miles northeast of Pampa reported 1.70 inches.

"It couldn't do anything but help. It was a good soaking rain — wonderful on pastures," said Mrs. Benton.

A total of 2.10 inches was reported by Charles Gatlin, 25 miles east of Pampa. "It is a lifesaver," said Mrs. Gatlin who expressed hope the rains will end the grass fires, which have been extensive in recent weeks. A fire near Laketon recently burned 2,500 acres of grassland.

Leon Daugherty, five miles north on U.S. 70, reported 2.15 inches.

"We're excited about this," said Mrs. Daugherty. "I guess we're living right."

Fred Haiduck of 18 miles southwest of Pampa reported 1.45 inches and said, "It can't do anything but help."

Alvin Kalka of Skellytown reported 1.65 inches.

"It sure will help," said Charlie Jordan of Laketon where 1.90 inches was reported.

"It will bring up the wheat and those who haven't planted can start," he added.

Paul Eakin of 14 miles southwest of Pampa reported 1.60 inches. "It sure was nice," he said.

Dean Burger who lives 20 miles south of Pampa reported 2 inches.

In Mobette, a total of 2 inches was reported in town and 1.5 inches north of town.

In Claude only 7 inches was measured.

Fog covered Central and East Texas today as the rainy remnants of a cold front moved out of the state.

The front pushed into East Texas Sunday bringing heavy showers and tides as high as five inches above normal.

"It has been raining on and off all night," said a spokesman in the Yard Master's Office at the Port of Galveston. "It's not bad on the island, but water is getting up pretty good on the mainland, and tides are above normal."

The rain was welcomed over most of the state. Parts of Texas, including the Panhandle, had been without noticeable precipitation for as long as two months.

More than 2 inches of rain fell Sunday in the San Angelo, Abilene and Midland areas.

Skies are clearing behind the front and the National Weather Service said the state could expect mild sunny weather with the frontal passage.

President Fires Heads Of CIA, Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has fired James R. Schlesinger as secretary of defense and William E. Colby as CIA director in what apparently is a major quarrel over détente that also saw Henry A. Kissinger step down as head of the National Security Council, sources said today.

NBC-TV reported that both Schlesinger and Colby confirmed this morning that they had been fired. The network quoted Colby as saying he was returning to private law practice.

The White House would not comment on the wide ranging administration shake-up, the likes of which have not been seen in Washington since Richard M. Nixon fired the top Justice Department officials during the "Saturday Night Massacre" two years ago.

No reason was given for the dismissals but sources speculated that it grew out of a difference of opinion between Schlesinger, who favored a strong defense, and a tougher stand against Moscow, and Ford and Kissinger, the proponents of détente.

Colby had been expected to leave early next year because of recent criticism of the CIA.

Congressional and administration sources confirmed the dismissals and said there would likely be these changes in the government.

—Kissinger will leave as head of the National Security Council, which many congressional critics, especially Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., had asked him to do. Kissinger's chief military aide, Air Force Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, will take his place.

—Donald H. Rumsfeld, a long-time Ford associate and currently White House chief of staff, will replace Schlesinger at the Pentagon.

—George Bush, the American representative in China, will replace Colby as head of the secret Central Intelligence Agency.

Jackson, who made the first announcement of the shake-up Sunday, praised Schlesinger as a "breath of fresh air on Capitol Hill" and said he believed the secretary of defense was fired because of differences of opinion with Kissinger.

Jackson said Schlesinger "told the truth to Congress. He never equivocated. That's not the case with Dr. Kissinger. And his standing on the hill—that is Schlesinger's—has risen steadily."

Ford, who was meeting with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Jacksonville, Fla., ducked reporters' questions about the firings.

But a Pentagon source, after checking, said, "I guess it's true."

Administration sources said Rumsfeld, who did not go to Florida with Ford, informed Schlesinger of his dismissal Sunday morning in Washington.

Colby's dismissal was expected, but not until after congressional hearings on the U.S. intelligence agency were over.

Sources said recent news conference at which Schlesinger denounced $7.6 billion in House-approved defense cuts deeply annoyed Ford because of the secretary's brashness.

Schlesinger called the cuts "deep, savage and arbitrary," and warned the United States is heading for military inferiority before the Soviet Union.

But White House displeasure with Schlesinger goes deeper, and centers largely on his distrust of the Russians as reliable partners in détente.

In a magazine interview four months before former President Richard Nixon resigned, Ford said if he became President he would dismiss Schlesinger because he would have trouble getting along with Congress.

Reporters traveling with Ford in Florida dubbed the news from Washington "The Sunday Massacre," a reference to the sudden dismissal by Nixon of Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, Attorney General Elliot Richardson and his deputy, William French Smith, in October, 1973, an event known as "The Saturday Night Massacre."

Court Okays Gas Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today let stand a lower federal court ruling which requires the Phillips Petroleum Co. to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest to Texas Panhandle gas producers.

The justices declined to review a 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that Phillips must pay interest for fees it collected from pipeline companies on behalf of the gas producers pending approval of higher rate structures by the Federal Power Commission.

Under the law, oil and gas companies may increase their rates to interstate pipelines pending FPC approval. The additional sums must be kept by the gas companies until the FPC approves a final rate.

Once the rate is approved, the gas companies give part of the higher price to the producers under terms of many industry contracts.

J.H. Adams, the Riverview Gas Compression Co. and the First National Bank of Borger, Tex., contended Phillips must pay interest for the period it held onto higher pipeline charges on behalf of the gas producers.

Constitution Vote Tuesday

By ANNA BURCHELL
Pampa News Staff

An estimated 11,000 Gray County registered voters will have an opportunity to cast their ballots Tuesday on a proposed revision in the 99-year-old Texas Constitution.

While officials throughout the state predict that fewer than 25 per cent of the eligible voters will bother to participate in the election, hopefully Gray County will have a larger turnout.

A total of 196 absentee votes were cast by the deadline Friday, with three scheduled to be mailed in.

"That isn't bad," said Wanda Carter, county clerk.

Polls will be open at 11 precincts in Gray County Tuesday — from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. including the noon hour.

The debate over the revision which took three years and $5 million to prepare has divided top state officials.

Voters may approve all or part of the revision on Tuesday's ballot. If any part is approved, the legislature will be required to meet in 1976 to draft implementing legislation.

Weather

The forecast calls for clear skies and warmer temperatures today and Tuesday with highs in the 70s and lows in the 40s. Pampa received an official 1.67 inches of rainfall over the weekend.

Opponents, Proponents Square Off for Election

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Both sides claimed the support of a majority of Texans today in the last hours of the campaign over a proposed state constitution.

Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, leader of the opposition group Citizens to Preserve the Texas Constitution, said a large turnout in Tuesday's election will assure defeat of the proposed charter.

"The proponents admit they are hoping that most voters will stay away from the polls," McKnight said. "They feel that is their only chance for success and I think they probably are right about that."

Former Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert, chairman of Citizens for the Texas Constitution, said millions of Texans support the new constitution.

"There is no way to measure the growing support across the state as election time nears," Calvert said. "These are people who have seen fit to put aside differences of detail for the purpose of bringing modern, responsive government to all Texans."

The pro-constitution organizations include the Texas Farmers Union, American Association of Retired Persons, Texas Consumer Association, Texas Student Association, Texas Rehabilitation Association and the Texas chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Most officials predict fewer than 25 per cent of the voters will participate in the special election, but absentee voting was surprisingly heavy in some areas of the state. Turnouts were heavy in Dallas, Houston and the Rio Grande Valley, although they remained light in other areas.

The turnout, as indicated by absentee voting, will be heaviest in Houston, where school board and mayor races will help attract voters.

Debate over revision — which took three years and $5 million to prepare — has divided top state officials.

Bureaucratic Burden 'Stinging' People Awake

"It's one of the greatest stings in history, and I think the American people are beginning to wake up to it. The sting is that we give everybody money for something and then take it out of their back pocket — in the form of inflation. It's just a con game, and it's a con game that's got to end."

An excerpt from a Pampa News editorial? Guess again. The words are those of James T. Lynn, director of the federal government's Office of Management and Budget, in an interview published in U.S. News and World Report under the title "Getting Government Off People's Backs."

The budget director's remarks were in reference to the multitudes of government programs and regulations, supposedly designed to help people, but which, in reality, are crushing them under a monstrous burden of red tape and costs.

In a companion piece entitled "Rising Furor Over Federal Red Tape — Gripes About Regulations" in the same issue of U.S.N. & W.P., it was revealed that the cost of administering the regulatory programs alone, exclusive of the taxpayer money other programs are passing out, runs to a staggering $130 billion a year, more than one quarter of the entire federal budget. One hundred thousand federal employees, the article went on to add, do nothing but write, review and enforce bureaucratic edicts.

And the number of federal forms alone has risen to 5,146 — not counting tax and banking forms — requiring more than 130 million manhours by individuals and companies each year just to fill out. Not surprisingly, such bureaucratically imposed costs show up in the higher prices paid by consumers for goods and services.

No business, large or small, escapes the onslaught of bureaucracy running wild, the article noted. Cited as illustrations of costly and frustrating regulatory mania, were these examples among others:

— One company with 40,000 employees has to maintain 125 file drawers of records, plus clerical help to service them, just to meet federal requirements on personnel.

— A company in Oregon, operating three small television stations, had to complete and mail 45 pounds of forms just to apply for renewal of its licenses. Another company, a small radio station in New Hampshire, paid $26 in postage just to mail its license application to Washington.

— An electric utility in Philadelphia, preparing to build a plant to increase its energy output, was required to get 24 different kinds of approval from five federal agencies, five state agencies, two townships and a regional commission — before it could even begin.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) first ordered that trucks at a construction site had to have alarms that go off when the vehicles are backing up. It, then, issued another edict ordering workers at the site to wear earplugs to protect them from excessive noise.

— Even though not a single injury from the use of such utensils had been reported, the Consumer Product Safety Commission ordered costly hearings to determine if four million electric frying pans, already purchased and in use by consumers, were hazardous.

— And, finally, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), in an example widely reported in the news, required auto manufacturers to install catalytic converters on new cars to cut air pollution, only to find, after adding hundreds of millions to auto buyer costs, that the converters emit sulphuric acid fumes that injure the lungs.

Truly, as President Ford commented on national television recently, "What was begun as a protection for consumers now guarantees that in many, many cases they will pay higher prices than a free market would call for."

All In The Family

The old American dream of starting a business that will remain in family hands forever has gone the way of the buffalo. According to the U.S. Department of Commerce, few family businesses survive into the third generation.

One reason seems to be that fewer sons are willing to follow in the footsteps of their fathers. Another, much more important one, is that mass production, marketing and distribution today usually require heavy injections of outside capital to make expansion possible.

Nevertheless, some of America's best-known and most successful companies are still thriving in private hands.

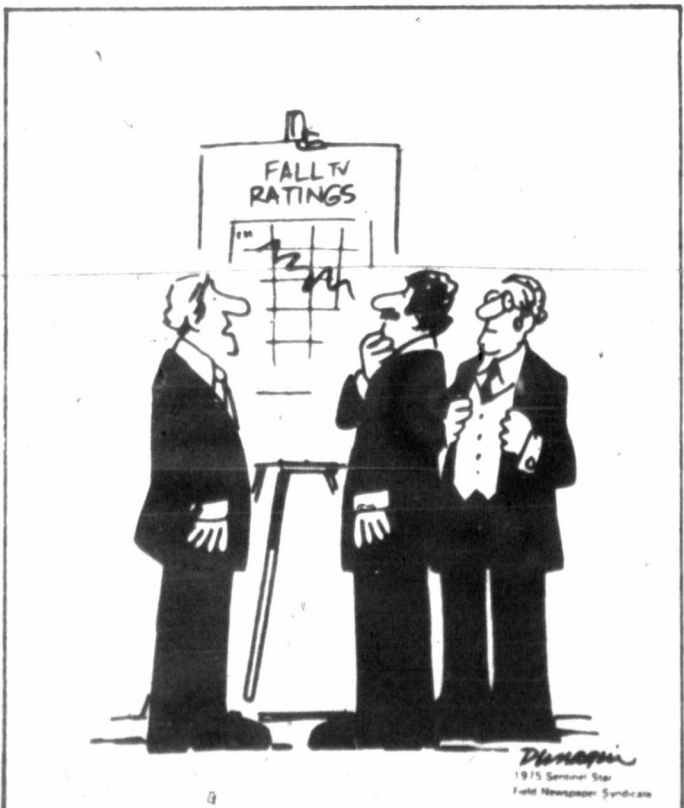

For example, White Rock sodas, which have graced the nation's tables for nearly a century, have maintained their strong market position without having to raise equity capital by going public. Legions of readers of World Book Encyclopedia probably don't know that its publisher is the private company of Field Enterprises.

And there are firms like L.B. Foster, largest rail and highway construction marketers in the Western Hemisphere. Peter Frasse, a steel service center, which is one of America's oldest companies, and the Anderson Co. of Gray, Ind., which supplies 70 per cent of the nation's windshield wiper blades.

AGNEW DEFIANT
Vice President Spiro Agnew said on Sept. 29, 1973, that he would not resign even if he were indicted on income tax evasion charges.

DUNAGIN'S PEOPLE

Word About Peculiar Behavior

By MAX RAFFERTY

Remember the Florida schoolmarm who introduced her high school social studies students to "contemporary American problems" by having them act out a store robbery? And the two nutty "professors" from Michigan who kidnapped a female student and held her incommunicado for two weeks in order to conduct an experiment in psychological conditioning?

I said in a column at the time that some of my colleagues in education are pretty weird, and so they are. But so are some people in other lines and callings. For example, take the Yakima, Wash. Jaycees and Police Department.

Last May, the two organizations sponsored a picnic for local fifth- and sixth-grade schoolchildren. In order to make the affair a real blast, they borrowed a 50 caliber machine gun from the Marine Corps Reserve so the 800 youngsters could "play with" it. More than 3,000 rounds of blank ammunition were fired off during what must have been something less than a peaceful and tranquil afternoon.

One of the chaperones remarked brightly: "Oh, the children were just thrilled. They were all out in front of the gun pretending they had been shot."

"I'll just bet they were. Nothing like a little machine gun practice to put children in a festive mood, full of goodwill toward their fellow man."

There is, however, more.

A tribute having been paid to violence, sex became the next order of the day. After the picnic had been ingested and the gunpowder smoke had cleared, the tots were treated to a movie, "The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight." One of the bemused teachers who went along on the outing was less than enchanted.

"There were a lot of four-letter words and people going to bed together. I felt very guilty about taking those children in there."

I can't see why! After all, if both the local lawmen and the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce see nothing wrong with exposing Yakima 10-year-olds to verbal obscenities and pictures pornography, who is this teacher to object? Apparently the good people of Yakima take this sort of thing in stride. The teacher, though, was stubborn.

"If we could have gotten a bus to get the children out of there, we would have done it."

The buses, alas, had already left. Planning, planning. Typical Jaycee efficiency, what?

So you see, it isn't just we teachers who take utter leave of our sense now and then. And as I said about the original Florida and Michigan mischief, this stunt probably was well-intentioned as ex-Mayor Lindsay in generously putting another 300,000 New Yorkers on the relief rolls. The police wanted the kids to have some exciting fun; the Jaycees took 'em to a movie with a funny title which probably none of them had bothered to preview.

But it's not good enough. Not nearly good enough. This is the sort of thing with which hell is traditionally reputed to be paved. There may be times when its okay to be brainless and careless and to heck with consequences, but not when you're dealing with children.

If I were one of the Yakima parents, I'd be doing three things: (1) telling the police I want my kid kept away from guns, not exposed to them; (2) telling the Jaycees to do their homework in advance from now on, or drop the whole stunt; (3) telling all concerned in plain terms of the upbeat and constructive, not in terms of what the small fry might possibly get a charge out of.

That off my chest, I'd volunteer my own help next time around. Or am I being just too too unrealistic about all this?

FINAL REPORT

The Inequities of Watergate

By CLARK MOLLENHOFF

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Watergate prosecutor's final report demonstrates again the great inequities in the investigation and prosecution of political crimes.

Although the general record of the special prosecutor's office was excellent, there were a few notable blemishes on this record, including the cases of former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst and former acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray III.

Gray, who admitted deliberate destruction of FBI files and evidence in the Watergate inquiry, was not prosecuted on that or any of the other offenses in connection with the sordid participation.

Gray, as acting deputy attorney general, was in charge of the political strategy for getting Kleindienst confirmed as Attorney General in 1972, when questions of political tampering with the ITT antitrust settlement were an issue.

Also, Gray, despite knowledge of White House efforts to tamper with FBI and CIA in the Watergate investigation, supported President Nixon with political speeches in the 1972 campaign, and churned out statistics supporting Nixon's contention of a thorough Watergate investigation.

False testimony by Kleindienst in the ITT matter led to his guilty plea to an information charging him with the misdemeanor of refusing to answer pertinent questions before the Senate Judiciary Committee. The guilty plea was accepted by the special prosecutor despite evidence of falsification in denying White House influence on the ITT settlement, when in fact Nixon had personally sought to intervene.

Kleindienst's falsifications had permitted him to win confirmation by the Senate as Attorney General, and he was the nation's chief law enforcement official at the time of the Watergate cover-up. In that role, Kleindienst made public statements corroborating Nixon's political statements that the FBI investigation of the Watergate burglary was probably the most thorough in U.S. history.

The compromise accepted by the special prosecutor was compounded by Chief United States District Judge George Hart, who gave Kleindienst a suspended prison term of 30 days and suspended $100 fine.

This special treatment for Kleindienst and Gray — the two men with the major law enforcement responsibility at the time of the Watergate cover-up — stood out in sharp contrast to sentences given to minor figures in the drama for false statements.

While all of the minor figures who were convicted or pleaded guilty were technically guilty of perjury or giving false statements, it is difficult to see the "justice" when higher officials — men with greater responsibilities — are not prosecuted, or have their prison terms suspended.

Herbert L. Porter, a junior assistant at the Nixon re-election committee, served 30 days of a 15-month prison term for corroborating some of Jeb Magruder's misrepresentations. Dwight Chapin, appointments secretary to Nixon, was found guilty and sentenced to 10 to 30 months on two counts of making false statements to a federal grand jury. Donald Segretti, served four months of a six-month prison term after pleading guilty to three counts of conspiracy to engage in illegal distribution of campaign literature.

The record indicates that United States District Judge John Sirica, who was chief judge when the Watergate investigation was launched, made a great effort to provide equity in sentencing Judge Sirica required jail time in all convictions and pleas of guilty, even in the cases of John Dean, Magruder and Fred C. Laue.

Judge Sirica and United States District Judge Gerhard Gesell gave greater sentences to those higher up on the ladder of criminal responsibility.

There seemed to be no rhyme or reason to the sentences by Judge Hart, who lauded Kleindienst as "a man of integrity in his personal and official life" and spoke of his falsification before the Senate Judiciary Committee as a "technical violation" of the law because of his loyalty to Nixon.

The final Watergate report demonstrates the inequities in sentencing and spotlights the manner in which Nixon used, abused and misused all of the power of the White House and government to mislead the American people on his participation in the Watergate cover-up.

The retirement of the president, the major criminal in the Watergate conspiracy, to a plush palace on the Pacific with the taxpayers footing the bill would seem the greatest inequity of all.

HIGHER TAXES Big Public Spending In New Constitution

By JO HINDMAN

Reaction around the nation against new metro constitutions, such as the one being offered to Texas, is not a dry debate on words and phrases. Rather it is the resistance of citizens who fear unbridled power and heavy taxation used against them.

A number of responsible Texans asked for an official inquiry into what the so-called 1976 constitution would cost Texas taxpayers if approved. Bob Bullock, Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts, made a sincere effort to respond to their request. The total of his cost projection hit almost $11.4 billion. Despite the fact that the comptroller avoided guesswork and refrained from estimating some of the more fantastic plans that could be activated under the new constitution's permissiveness.

In other words, the $11.4-billion figure does not tell all. It warns. It shows merely the extra burden in tax dollars which may be taken from taxpayers pockets if the constitution changeover takes place at the polls tomorrow.

Articles I and II are said to be unchanged, but that is moot in the case of the Bill of Rights (Art. I). Some changes would reflect from the new constitution due to revised Art. V. The Judiciary. See page 11 of Informational Booklet on the Proposed 1976 Revision by 64th Legislature.

Starting with Art. III and going through Art. X these are the extras which Texans can expect to pay under the new setup if approved.

Art. III $2,250,000. Annual legislative sessions (now every two years):

Art. IV $285,500. New powers and privileges for the Governor. The Comptroller didn't hazard a guess on the full costs, but the Governor is mandated to "reorganize." One study leading to that would cost $200,000. In comparison, Oklahoma's Governor has bit the bullet and is reorganizing state government to the alarm of Oklahomans. His power comes from a repealable statute — not from the Constitution, infinitely harder to correct, as proposed for the Texas Governor.

Art. V $3,162,232. New courts, more judges, other court salaries:

Art. VII $34,700,000. Public education's "equalization notion" — poor tax districts to have same trills as the high tax-base districts which foot the bills for all; bigger system of instructional materials:

Art. VIII $842,087,804. Finance. Continues state building fund tax due to expire in 1976; bases land value assessment on inflationary, ever spiraling "market value." Sec. 3 (a) contains enabling language to set up appraisal formulas that could result in tax deferral. Known commonly as the "rollback tax," the practice piles up liens against private land:

Art. IX No estimate on how much, more or less, the consolidation mergers of local government would cost. However, mergers in the U.S.A. show higher taxes following the regionalizations. Not one example of lowered consolidated taxes has been produced anywhere:

Art. X $10,534,000,000. Natural resources including possibly prematurely revived water and waterway plans for the next century 2020 A.D. Also state contribution to retirement benefits for teacher and public employees. With no upper limits, the legislature may increase the contribution percentage at any time.

Some of the foregoing are recurrent annual costs, some over a period of time, others depending on actions taken by the legislature. The latter poses the gravest danger because the proposed constitution revises the present one to give big spending power to the politicians.

Big public spending means big taxing.

The proposed constitution fails to offer Texans protection against such terrible power. (Copyright by Jo Hindman 1975)

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe that dogs can understand human language? My sister, Carol, insists that they can. At least she says her poodle can.

Carol went on a three-week vacation and left "Pisher" in a kennel. When she returned she said Pisher was so furious with her that he wouldn't look her in the face for five days. Carol took the dog in her arms, and he turned his head away. Then she said, "If I promise never to put you in a kennel again, will you forgive me?"

She claims the poodle looked at her with love and understanding and actually nodded his head as if to say, "Yes, I forgive you." Then he nuzzled her and started to lick her hand to show his appreciation and affection.

Carol says she knows that Pisher understood every word she said, and she'll never put him in a kennel again because she promised she wouldn't.

Can you believe this? Or do you think my sister is a nut? ESTHER IN HARTFORD

DEAR Esther: When it comes to dog lovers, I can believe anything.

DEAR ABBY: Rick and I were both underage and needed our parents' signatures to get married. (I was pregnant at the time, but after we got married I lost the baby.)

We couldn't afford a place of our own, so we lived with my parents. It was okay for about three months, then Rick decided it was too crowded at my folks' house, and he thought it would be better if I lived with my parents and he went back and lived with his.

Abby, I don't like this arrangement at all. Rick has started to run around with his friends like he did before we were married. I'm afraid he's got another girl.

He keeps telling me that as soon as he can afford it we will get a place of our own, but I don't believe he really wants one.

He comes to see me maybe once a week for an hour, and then he takes off. I just sit and cry. Please help me. I don't feel married anymore. MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Married people belong together. If you can't afford a place of your own, you should live with your parents or Rick's. This way, you have no marriage, dear. Tell Rick it's either—or. His answer will tell you what to do.

DEAR ABBY: I identified with the fellow who preferred not to broadcast the line of work he was in.

I am a Roman Catholic priest, and every time I get to a town where I'm not known, I take off my collar and put on a sport shirt.

I'm not trying to get away with anything, but the minute people (especially Catholics) spot me in my Roman collar, they corner me and start to tell me my troubles.

Most people are much more relaxed and comfortable around me if they don't know I'm a priest. INCOGNITO IN MASS.

DEAR ABBY: The man who lied about his job because he didn't want people to know that he was a garbage collector caught my eye because I lie about my job, too. I'm a police officer, and when I'm off duty, I tell strangers (when they ask) that I work for the city.

If they inquire further, I tell them that I'm a garbage collector. In any way, I sometimes am.

Morocco Seizes Corner

TAN TAN, Morocco (UPI) — Moroccan troops have reportedly seized the northeastern corner of Spanish Sahara today, marching into the disputed colony in defiance of Spain's warnings.

Sources close to King Hassan II said the Moroccan forces moved into the North African colony at dawn Sunday, threatening to touch off a desert war with Spain and neighboring Algeria.

The sources said the soldiers seized a 28-mile-long area of the mineral-rich colony along Spanish Sahara's border with Algeria.

Algeria, which has opposed Morocco's claims to the colony and has massed troops along the frontier, backs guerrillas fighting for the independence of Spanish Sahara. The sources did not say how many troops were involved but said the forces were dispatched from the Moroccan base at Zag, 41 miles north of Spanish Sahara.

A spokesman for the Moroccan government denied the report but said Spanish Sahara "could have raised the Moroccan flag in certain outposts that the Spanish army had evacuated."

In Madrid, a spokesman for the Spanish government said he had no information about the seizure of territory — either by Moroccan troops or Spanish Sahara.

The reported takeover came as Spain threatened to fight to keep Morocco from seizing the phosphate-rich, 102,703-square-mile colony along the Atlantic Ocean.

Spanish Ruler Plans Democratic Reforms

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon plans widespread democratic reforms when he takes the throne as king of Spain, sources close to the prince said today.

Juan Carlos, who temporarily assumed the powers of chief of state four days ago, stepped from the shadow of ailing Generalissimo Francisco Franco Sunday to pay a morale-boosting visit to troops in the Spanish Sahara.

Francisco, 82, fighting a two-week battle against heart failure, was still in grave condition today, but "slept all night without problems," a government spokesman said.

The commission also planned to seek a permanent injunction against the strikers, Haughton said. A temporary restraining order against the walkout was obtained last Monday but the strikers vowed to stay off the job until they sign a new contract.

In his visit to El Aun, the Saharan capital, Juan Carlos told officers "everything necessary will be done so that your army will keep its prestige and honor intact."

Political observers said a loss of face in Sahara, threatened with occupation by neighboring Morocco, could spark a right-wing backlash at home and undercut critically needed army support for the prince's planned reforms.

Sources close to the prince said his plans as king include a complete cabinet shakeup and a referendum on constitutional reform. The sources said he has already opened contacts with outlawed opposition political groups.

The sources said Juan Carlos, who will be sworn in as king after Franco's expected death.

He will also move quickly to select a new cabinet, they said. Most frequently mentioned as candidates for prime minister are Manuel Fraga Iribarne, Spain's ambassador to London, and Jose Maria Arellaza, count of Motrico.

Both men have roots in the Franco regime, but favor reforms. Arellaza, 65, has met with Juan Carlos almost daily since the beginning of Franco's illness.

Doctor Strike May Close Wards

CHICAGO (UPI) — Cook County Hospital, target of an eight-day walkout by 450 interns and resident physicians — the longest doctors' strike in the nation's history — may close some wards and lay off employees.

The strike has reduced the inpatient count at the hospital to about half the normal load of 1,000 patients. Some 125 senior doctors, many of them chairmen of departments whose jobs do not include patient care, were filling in for the striking doctors.

Dr. James G. Haughton, the director of the Health and Hospitals Governing Commission, said Sunday the board would meet today to consider closing wards and laying off employees later this week, should the strike continue. Such action, Haughton said, would be "an odious last resort."

Catholics Offer Reward for Thieves

COLOGNE, West Germany (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Church offered a $20,000 reward today for the capture of thieves responsible for a daring, Topkapi-style robbery of Cologne's 13th century cathedral.

Authorities called for a worldwide search to track down the bandits, who used mountain-climbing gear to steal millions of dollars in religious objects from Europe's largest Gothic church.

"A nationwide hunt has been started for the art thieves and authorities will ask Interpol to spread an international dragnet to help recover the stolen objects," a police spokesman said.

He said Cardinal Joseph Höffner, the Catholic archbishop of Cologne, offered a $20,000 reward for information leading to the capture of the burglars.

The thieves used mountain-climbing rope and spikes during the robbery early Sunday, making off with 15 religious objects and precious stones.

Police said at least two persons took part in the robbery, climbing the scaffolding used to clean the cathedral's stonework and then dropping 18 feet by rope down a ventilation shaft into the treasury vault.

The theft was reminiscent of the movie Topkapi in which a gang of thieves used ropes to climb down into the Topkapi Seraglio museum in Istanbul and steal the treasure of Turkey's sultans.

Police said an elderly night watchman making the rounds inside the cathedral heard suspicious noises at 12:30 a.m. Sunday but could not pinpoint the origin.

The watchman then went in search of the sacristan, the cathedral official in charge of sacred objects. The sacristan, opened the vault and discovered the robbery, but the thieves had already gone.

Ford To Remain Mum

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, who continues to remain mum on a reported major reshuffle of his top national security staff, today cancelled all of his scheduled public engagements.

A White House spokesman said that Ford will spend the day holding staff meetings instead.

Sources said Ford during the weekend fired Defense Secretary James Schlesinger and CIA Director William E. Colby. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger relinquished one of his many top level jobs as head of the National Security Council, the sources also said.

It was learned that Ford called Schlesinger to the White House and fired him. "It came as a big surprise to Schlesinger," sources said.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen continued to tell reporters: "I have nothing to give you" when asked about the dismissals.

Ford apparently was keeping Nessen under wraps for the time being and not permitting any comment. The President told reporters twice Sunday "I love you all" when they confronted him with the reports.

Ford met Sunday with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Florida Sunday and had been expected to have a statement when he returned to Washington Sunday night. But as the President, with a red gash on his forehead from a swimming pool scrawl, made no statement on his arrival.

In Jacksonville, Ford and Sadat met three times Sunday. There were no details of what Nessen described as "private talks."

Kissinger, however, told reporters serious discussions were under way on the sale of nuclear reactors to Egypt and Israel "under the most exhaustive of safeguards" that they would not be used to produce weapons.

Sadat returns to Washington Wednesday to address Congress and for another meeting with Ford.

Saturday, Ford appeared before television cameras to give a 19-minute videotaped deposition for use in the trial of Lynette Fromme, the woman accused of pointing a pistol at Ford in Sacramento almost two months ago.

Kissinger, who usually is amenable to questioning while traveling with Ford, sidestepped all interrogation about the shake-up. Asked repeatedly, he shrugged. "What rumors? I don't know what you're talking about."

The immediate years following the end of the Revolutionary War were precarious as the new nation's faced economic crises and unrest.

Ronnie Loter of 616 Powell picked eight winners correctly, tied Jerry Stone of 2205 N. Christy on the Pampa-Borger tiebreaker but won the Pampa News weekly football contest by coming closest to the actual score on the West Texas-Northeast Louisiana tiebreaker.

Loter and Stone picked Pampa to win 26-7 and 27-6, respectively, as both predicted a total score of 33 points. The actual score was 33-0. In the WTSU tiebreaker, Loter picked the Buffaloes to win 21-14, and the actual score was 45-20. Stone's guess was 17-10 in favor of West Texas State. Loter and Stone, who won $15 and $10, respectively, and Tim Pettengill of 720 E. Locust, the third-place finisher, correctly predicted Palo Duro over Amarillo, Caprock over Tascosa, Perryton over Canyon, Washington over Dallas, Sanford-Fritch over White Deer, Texas Tech over Rice, Clarendon over Wheeler, Texas over SMU and Texas A&M over Arkansas.

Pettengill won $5 in the contest, which was for last weekend's games.

To Hear Houston Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today agreed to decide in a Houston case whether whites can bring employment discrimination suits under 1964 and 1966 civil rights acts which have been used in the past to protect only minorities.

The justices will hear oral arguments later this term in a suit by two former employees at the Houston terminal of the Santa Fe Transportation Co., Galveston, and Local 988 of the Automobile Industry Employees Union.

The two men, L.N. McDonald and Raymond L. Laird, who are white, claimed their civil rights were violated when they were fired for allegedly misappropriating Santa Fe property but another employee accused of the same offense, a black man, was retained.

McDonald and Laird claimed they were discriminated against on the basis of race. Judge Carl O. Bue Jr. said the 1966 law only applies to minorities because it specifically grants only those rights also accorded to whites. He said the 1964 act doesn't apply because McDonald and Laird did not contend the charges against them were false.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed Bue's ruling in a short opinion.

Connally Urges Debate In Republican Party

BARRE, Vt. (UPI) — Calling for a return to principles and more debate within the party, former Texas Gov. Connally, a Democrat turned Republican, Sunday said the GOP should be "unafraid of internal struggle."

He said there is a need for less government, for more social welfare reform and for the establishment of a government bank similar to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation begun by President Hoover in 1932.

Such a bank, Connally said, would provide more capital for pilot plants "experimenting with new technologies where the risks are too great for private capital markets to finance."

He emphasized that it would "assure government and private partnership in the great effort to mobilize the free enterprise system as the most effective problem-solving institution in our society."

Speaking to more than 1,000 Vermont Republicans attending their party's annual dinner, Connally proposed "drastic changes" in the three branches of the federal government.

He said his proposals should serve to open up debate within the party on important issues.

"I suggest that it is time to explore revolutionary ideas to preserve the ideals of the Revolution of 1776," Connally told party faithful who shelled out $50-a-plate to help pay off 1974 campaign debts of some $30,000.

"I suggest that it is time to demonstrate to the people that this party is unafraid of an internal struggle if such is necessary to develop a sound agenda for the future of this nation."

Republicans, he said, "should demand specific measures to return freedoms we have lost and reduce our reliance on centralized government."

Connally called for the adoption of a constitutional amendment limiting the President to one six-year term and another one imposing limitations on the number of terms Senators and U.S. Representatives can serve.

These changes, Connally said, are necessary to bring those who run the government home and to "let them live with the governmental bureaucracy they have allowed to envelop every phase of private business and private life."

Fans of Supernatural Meet

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — On one of Forrest J. Ackerman's fingers was a ring worn by actor Bela Lugosi in the movie "Dracula." On another was a ring Boris Karloff wore in "The Mummy." In his suitcase, Ackerman had a vampire cape once worn by Lugosi.

Ackerman, of Hollywood, is editor of "Science Fiction Filmmonsters" Magazine and is among 500 persons attending the first World Fantasy Convention this weekend. The convention is devoted to writers and fans of tales supernatural and strange.

"These are my kind of people," said Andrew J. Offut, author of 10 science fiction and supernatural books. "Sometimes I scare myself in the process of writing them," he said.

"Fantasy writers are probably the only bunch of writers in the nation who get together frequently with each other and their fans to talk and have a good time," Offut said.

Providence is the hometown of H.P. Lovecraft, one of the best known writers of supernatural and horror stories. He died in 1937. Most of his works were published in such pulp magazines as "Weird Tales" in the 1920's and depression years. Some critics feel his works are equal to those of Edgar Allan Poe.

The convention is in Lovecraft's memory. Events include readings by authors; a bus tour of Lovecraft's Providence with a stop at his gravesite; horror art shows; and panel discussions.

The highlight was to be the presentation of the first World Fantasy Awards to deserving writers. The awards are busts of Lovecraft sculptured by cartoonist Gahan Wilson.

Robert Bloch, author of some 40 books and 400 short stories, is guest of honor. His best known work is "Psycho," made into a chilling classic motion picture by Alfred Hitchcock.

Wilson, whose weird cartoons appear each month in "Playboy" was asked where he gets the ideas for his cartoons. "They are not remote from the real world," he said. "The thing to remember is that the fantastic and the grotesque can be found in everyday life."

Alsations Visit Texas Sister

CASTROVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — This quaint village is preparing a giant Texas welcome for 170 special guests coming next week.

The visitors are French Alsations who will be visiting resident Alsatian families whose ancestors founded Castroville and four other colonies 130 years ago.

Arrangements for the mass visit by the French Alsations began last May when a group of 28 residents made a three-week tour of Alsace, France, and adopted a sister city, Equisheim.

The kinship between Alsace, bordering the Rhine River, and Castroville, located 30 miles west of San Antonio, began in 1844. Alsatian immigrants made their way to Texas under the direction of Empresario Henri de Castro, in response to an invitation by the Republic of Texas.

population 1,800, have been planning for months how to entertain the French visitors, counting every spare bedroom in town, brushing up on their dialect and searching for another flag pole to raise the French colors.

The French group will spend two days in New York before arriving at the San Antonio International Airport on Nov. 5 and will visit the Space Center at Houston before departing Nov. 11.

Churches, schools, civic and community organizations in the Alsatian communities will put on various programs and receptions for the French Alsations and an international reception will be held in Piedras Negras, Mexico, across the border from Eagle Pass, Tex.

Other activities include an evening of country western music, a Mexican fiesta, a Texas barbeque, a parade, and tours of San Antonio and the Alsatian settlements.

Dignitaries from France, Mexico and Texas are expected to attend the concluding ceremony, the official bicentennial flag-raising in Castroville on Nov. 9.

The Rev. Larry Steubben, pastor of historic St. Louis Catholic Church, said Louis Vornos, consul general of France from Houston, would take part in the bicentennial flag raising.

Steubben said the French Alsations would be staying in the homes of 50 local families, a convent and the few motel facilities available and many of the visitors already expressed interest in tracking down possible relatives in the community.

The priest said everyone was excited as the date for the visit approached. "You don't talk to anybody that it doesn't come up," he said. "They're practicing speaking Alsatian."

Steubben said young people had drifted away from speaking Alsatian for a generation but are no longer expressing an interest in their heritage, as part of a "new ethnic consciousness."

"People are looking for roots," he said.

PAMPA To Meet Tuesday

A public relations campaign, including speaking engagements, has been initiated by the Pampa Area Man Power Association (P-A-M-P-A) to acquaint area residents with the objectives of the organization, according to Bert Arney, chairman.

Members of the public relations committee have presented their goals to the Methodist Men's Fellowship, Noon Lions Club and the Rotary Club. A representative of P-A-M-P-A will address the Nov. 20 meeting of the Jaycees and additional dates are open.

Arney said that one of the primary goals of P-A-M-P-A has been realized with the formation of PADAC (Pampa Area Drug Abuse Commission). The PADAC meeting 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18 in the Citizens Bank Hospitality Room will be open to the public.

P-A-M-P-A will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

TUESDAY, NOV. 4

Your birthday today. You're on the move all year, trying to reach your goal, and seldom settle into comfortable routines. After midyear, you come up with a constructive, profitable enterprise. Relationships deepen, but not entirely by intention. Today's natives are hard to diagnose, dominate their immediate surroundings, are politically oriented and difficult to control.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: There's no point trying to convince anybody of anything; save your energy. Nothing works as expected until late in the day. Then, everything comes in a rush. Be ready to cope.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Concentrate on routines that don't call for final opinions. Do no more than necessary demands. You have an excuse to express yourself; the later you decide to do so, the better.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]:

Your work gives you the opportunity to socialize; but don't attempt to exploit situations. Personal concerns take a subtle turn for the better.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Your imagination is alive and working overtime. List facts, figures and good ideas; organize plans before proceeding. Choose your associates while you still have a voice in the matter.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Financial prospects improve. Remain optimistic while making do with temporary arrangements. Get in touch with acquaintances. Tenuous connections grow firm. Romance thrives this evening.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: If you'll leave decision-making for later hours, everything else falls into place. Celebrate tonight; you're getting ready for a fresh start. Circulate among interesting company.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Important moves should be delayed until tomorrow since they are influenced by what is done or comes to pass late today. If your mind is already made up, select personnel.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Go ahead with personal plans, but don't arrive at major decisions or force issues. Be sociable, but anticipate serious talk to night. Parents and older folks need attention.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Late today, you reach a peak of persuasiveness and magnetism that proves useful in the next two days. Set up a program. Keep business policy confidential; focus on social amenities.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Technicians and specialists are mostly inaccessible. If you'll just let things shape up naturally, you'll make amazing progress. Tonight's ambience has romantic appeal.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Long-awaited changes seem closer but require cleaning house and keeping up with routines. Watch new contacts; your dealings with them now have repercussions far into the future.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Be flexible about business and working conditions. Few down-to-earth transactions can be made. Fuller information is available tomorrow. Enjoy a pleasant fling with old friends.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's an idea for making Halloween treats for the kids, and all you need is white freezer paper, a black ink pen or black felt marker and your favorite kind of suckers.

Cut the paper into six-inch squares and wrap them around the suckers. Twist the paper at the bottom of the candy part, leaving the sticks exposed.

With the marker, draw two eyes on the paper and your suckers turn into cute little ghosts.

They're simple to make and ideal for trick-or-treaters or party favors.

Doris Swanson

LETTER OF THOUGHT
 Dear Heloise:

When you go grocery shopping you always prepare a well-organized list, don't you? But how about your scheduled conference with your doctor? Do you ever come away disappointed because you did not get some important information you needed? Yet you PAID!

His time is precious, and he can give you only a few minutes. So, think carefully, and make a brief, concise report of the things you need to tell him, or discuss with him, or questions you need to ask. Do the same thing when you need to telephone him in nonemergencies.

You won't forget something important and you'll come away better informed. I have used this method for a long time now, and doctors say they really appreciate it.

Vikings Whip Packers

By RICK GOSSELIN
UPI Sports Writer

The torch became too hot for the Cincinnati Bengals to handle...and now only the Minnesota Vikings remain in the hunt for pro football immortality.

Only three teams have ever gone through a National Football League season without a loss or a tie: the 1972 Miami Dolphins, the 1942 Chicago Bears and the 1934 Bears.

The Bengals and Vikings both carried 6-0 records into Sunday's action but only Minnesota was left standing when the roll call of unbeaten was read off at the end of the day. But the Vikings had scorched fingertips to show for their 28-17 triumph over Green Bay.

Cincinnati was soundly beaten on its home turf by the Pittsburgh Steelers, 30-24, to cause a logjam at the top of the AFC Central Division. Three of the four teams in the AFC Central—Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Houston—are tied for first place with 6-1 records.

The only team not in first place is winless Cleveland, which dropped its seventh straight game Sunday to Baltimore, 21-7. Houston asserted its claim on first place with a 17-13 triumph over Kansas City.

Terry Bradshaw threw touchdown passes of 37 and 25 yards to Lynn Swann to keep Pittsburgh afloat offensively and safety Mike Wagner made two key fourth quarter interceptions to stall a frantic Cincinnati rally over the final 15 minutes.

Minnesota trailed 17-14 heading into the final quarter against Green Bay, which just two weeks back knocked Dallas from the unbeaten ranks for its only victory.

But Fran Tarkenton fired his second and third touchdown passes of the game in that final quarter to give Minnesota seven victories at the outset of a season for the second time in three years. The Vikes went nine games before losing in 1973.

Redskins Topple Dallas In Sudden Death 30-24

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Roger Staubach threw three touchdown passes, one interception and a punch.

The last two cost Dallas a 30-24 sudden death loss to the Washington Redskins and created a three-way division tie in the National Football Conference.

Washington's all-pro Ken Houston returned the interception to midfield and then Staubach's swing at Redskins blocker Pat Fischer moved the ball 15 more penalty yards to the Dallas 35. Eight plays later, rival quarterback-Bill Kilmer, who also threw three scoring passes, lunged in from a yard out for the winning touchdown after 6:34 of overtime struggle.

The victory left the Redskins, Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals all locked atop the NFC East with 5-2 records.

It was the third sudden death game in the National Football league this season. Dallas has been in two of them.

"It was the stupidest play of my life," the subdued Staubach said in the dressing room. "Fischer hit me on a good clean block. He didn't have to do it because the play was away from us but he did and I was stupid."

Cowboy coach Tom Landry said a blitz by Redskins linebacker Chris Hanburger triggered the interception and of Staubach's punch, he observed: "I guess he got frustrated and did it but it cost us 15 yards deeper."

Landry also cited a missed 29-yard Dallas field goal try by Tom Fritsch which would have won the game for the Cowboys with nine seconds left in the fourth period. Fritsch told newsmen he thought one of the rushing Redskins defenders "got a finger" on the attempt but Landry observed: "It was just a low kick."

"We kicked one last week and won the game," he added philosophically. "We missed one this week and we lose. I guess they even out."

Kilmer, who completed 21 of 39 passes for 301 yards, said he couldn't remember when he last scored a touchdown by rushing.

"I said to myself, 'I'm going to dive it over' when a penalty put it on the half-yard line," he told newsmen.

The Redskins veteran also shrugged off four interceptions, including one returned 27-yards by Cliff Harris for a fourth quarter Dallas touchdown that drew boos from the hometown crowd.

"I just couldn't let that bother me," he said.

Redskin coach George Allen praised the Washington defense, which featured Houston's interception and a steal of the ball from Staubach by Ron McDole. That occurred when the Cowboys had penetrated to the Redskins, three with enough seconds left to at least register a field goal which would have boosted the Dallas halftime lead to 20-10.

Quarterback Bert Jones threw for two touchdowns and led the Colt rushers with 49 yards to give Baltimore its first home victory since the final game of the 1973 season.

Dolphins 46, Bears 13

Bob Griese riddled the Chicago secondary with 12 completions for 288 yards, connecting on scoring tosses of 79 yards to Nat Moore, 58 yards to Fred Solomon and 20 yards to Norm Bulaich.

Cardinals 24, Patriots 17

Terry Metcalf scored three touchdowns on two short runs and a 69-yard punt return to hand New England its fifth loss in seven games. Metcalf raced around the right side for seven yards and his final score with 6:15 left to play for the winning points.

Redskins 30, Cowboys 24

Bill Kilmer lunged over from the one-yard line 6:34 into the sudden death overtime period to give Washington a tie for first in the NFC East with Dallas and St. Louis.

Lions 28, 49ers 17

Former 49er Joe Reed threw for two touchdowns and Allie Taylor added another on a two-yard run as Detroit scored three times in a 7 1/2-minute span of the third quarter to overcome a 17-7 San Francisco lead. Linebacker Ed O'Neil added a 49-yard fumble return early in the fourth quarter for an insurance score.

Saints 23, Falcons 7

Archie Manning engineered five scoring drives to give interim head coach Ernie Hefferle his first victory. Hefferle was named to pilot the Saints five days ago in replacing the fired John North.

Bills 24, Jets 23

Joe Ferguson teamed with O.J. Simpson on a 64-yard touchdown pass in the final four minutes to cap 20-point Buffalo rally and snap a two game Bills' losing streak.

Colts 21, Browns 7

OJ's Hands Clumsy

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — For years, there used to be this "school" for pickpockets in Chile. It was never sanctioned by the government, but it was enormously popular nonetheless because a pupil could go right out into the marketplace immediately and become an automatic success as soon as he could pass the final test.

To do so, he was required to fish all the valuables out of a special pocket in a man's trousers which also had tiny bells sewn into it. If he did it, he passed. If he rang the bells, even tinkled them, he failed.

It's a good thing O.J. Simpson never went to that school. He would've been expelled.

Simpson's Buffalo Bill teammates make all kinds of jokes about his clumsiness with his hands. Not his legs, though.

When they talk about them, it's with genuine awe and honest admiration. But they laugh about his hands and the way he catches a ball.

They call him unflattering names like "Knuckles," "Hard Hands" and "Iron Hands."

Running back Jim Braxton, who scored the Bills' first touchdown in Sunday's 24-23 victory over the New York Jets tells of an incident in practice last week when the temperature fell below freezing in Buffalo and Simpson, accustomed to the warm weather of Southern California, was thrown a pass by quarterback Joe Ferguson.

"O.J. had a pair of gloves on and when he went to catch the ball, it hit him on the fingers and he yelled something fierce," Braxton related, laughing.

"Ooooooh, it hurts, it hurts" he mimicked Simpson.

"Did he drop the ball?" a newsmen asked Braxton.

"Did he?" laughed the Bills' five-year man. "He always does in practice. Never in a game, though. You saw what he did out there today. We kid him a lot about those hands of his, but when it comes time to catch the ball in a game, he'll catch it. He won't drop it then."

O.J. Simpson, who is 27 and talks about retiring if he could make it big in the movies, actually won Sunday's game at Shea Stadium for the Bills with a catch he made of one of Ferguson's passes, but before he did, another drama within a drama unfolded which could be a factor in the eventual dismissal of Jets' coach Charlie Winner.

The Jets, who've lost their last four, blew a 23-7 lead to the Bills, but still led, 23-16, with slightly more than five minutes left when they moved the ball to Buffalo's 20 with fourth down and a yard to go.

Many in the crowd of 61,490 at Shea Stadium exhorted the Jets to "go, go, go," and although Winner later said he never heard them, much less paid any attention to them, he instructed the Jets to go for the yard. They didn't make it.

Percentage and good football dictated that Winner have the Jets go for a field goal. Pat Leahy, the Jets' field goal specialist, had booted three already without missing one and all were from greater distances. Had the Jets added a field goal at that point, the Bills would have had to score at least twice more to go ahead of them.

In any case, the Bills took over the ball, and four plays later Ferguson flipped to Simpson over the middle and before you

IT SIMS TO ME Harvesters Encourage Coach With 33-0 Win

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

Although the Pampa Harvesters defeated Borger Friday by the same score they defeated Amarillo Tascosa, the week before — 33-0 — there was very few similarities between the two victories.

The Tascosa win was decided in the first half. In fact, fans really only got one — half of their money's worth, since all the scoring was done in the first two quarters and the second half seemed to be nothing more than a run — four — downs — then — punt — fumble or — or — throw — a — pass — to — the — enemy session.

Pampa coach John Welborn was happier with Friday's win than the one against Tascosa.

"We finally got the offense rolling. We moved the ball pretty good. I think Borger is a little bit better defensive ball club than Tascosa. They did some things on the goal line — took away a lot of stuff we were trying to do," Welborn said.

Borger's goal — line defense prevented the rout from being 49-0, which it would have been had Pampa been able to capitalize on three scoring opportunities. The Harvesters lost the ball on downs after driving, respectively, to the three — four — and two — yard lines of Borger.

"I hate to lose any scoring opportunities," Welborn said, "especially when we get down that close."

Borger's defense was limited, though, to good goal — line play and an occasional heads — up play in the defensive secondary. Pampa rushed for 243 yards, as eight players gained some.

Pampa's defense budged for only 17 rushing yards and 75 passing. Borger's passing game would have been impressive, had it not been for three interceptions.

The win, coupled with performances in recent weeks, prompted Welborn to say over an Amarillo radio station during halftime of Palo Duro's 35-21 win over Amarillo Saturday that Pampa is somewhat ahead of last year's pace.

A year ago, the Harvesters were 7-1 at this point and 3-0 in district play. This season, Pampa is 6-2 and 2-1, but the situation is the same — Palo Duro again has the chance to shatter any hopes Pampa may have of a district championship.

PD is 7-0-1 overall and, for the second year in a row, unbeaten in district games. A Don win would eliminate Pampa from the race.

Welborn already is feeling the tension of the contest, which will mark Pampa High's homecoming. But, he added, that the pressure-filled games are the ones which make football and football coaching worthwhile.

"I'd hate to go through the whole season and not play anybody that wasn't a challenge," the Harvesters boss said.

"Palo Duro has got some good, big people. They do a pretty good job of playing defense and a great job of playing offense. They're quick and pretty simple and know what they're doing."

Should Pampa win, the Harvesters would gain a tie for the district lead. And should Caprock also beat Borger and Amarillo High defeat Tascosa (both the Longhorns and Sandies are heavily favored in those games), there would be a four — way tie between Pampa, PD, Amarillo and Tascosa for the district lead.

It then would boil down to the final week's games. For Pampa, it boils down to the fact that a loss means elimination and two more wins mean contention. If Pampa knocks off PD and Amarillo High, then the PD — Caprock game on Saturday, Nov. 15 likely would be crucial for the Harvesters.

A Don win in that final game would put Pampa in the playoffs.

USC Hopes Dampened After Upset by Bears

By United Press International

If the Seattle Seahawks are still in search of a head coach for next season — when they begin play in the National Football League, they might give Mike White of the University of California a good looking over.

Another NFL team The Tampa Buccaneers will be coached by John McKay, one of the most successful coaches in college football history at Southern California with four national championships.

McKay had hoped to make it five crowns in his last season at USC but was dealt a severe blow Saturday — a 28-14 setback at the hands of White's underdog California Bears.

"This is without a doubt the finest victory I have ever been associated with in my career," White said. "I never have had a finer victory. We went out and took it to them and we beat a great team."

The victory snapped Southern Cal's unbeaten string at 18 games and dropped the Trojans, the heavy pre-season favorite, into a second place tie in the Pacific Eight Conference with UCLA, Stanford and Washington. The loss came just one day after McKay announced he would be leaving USC at the end of the season to join Tampa.

The sledge hammer in the California attack was tailback Chuck Muncie, who ran for 143 yards and caught five passes for 62 more to upstage highlypublicized USC tailback Ricky Bell, who rushed for 124 yards in his poorest performance of the season.

Two other unbeaten teams ranked in the nation's top ten survived serious scares Saturday by lightly-regarded opponents—No. 1 ranked Ohio State and No. 7 Michigan.

Ohio State took a 17-0 lead into the lockerroom at halftime against Indiana but the Hoosiers returned to score a pair of quick touchdowns to pull to within three points through three quarters.

Michigan was a 25-point pick to knock off Minnesota but the Wolverines could not put the game away until midway through the final quarter when tailback Gordie Bell ripped off a 23-yard scoring run to give Michigan a 28-21 victory.

Third-ranked Nebraska also had easy going in what was expected to be a close game, swatting No. 12 Missouri 30-7.

'Horns Spear Ponies

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer

Texas A&M coach Emory Bellard, having a little time on his hands last Saturday, took the opportunity to watch the Texas-Southern Methodist outing.

In one respect he must have taken at least a little comfort in what he saw. But from another point of view he must have become somewhat concerned.

Bellard's Aggies meet SMU this week and that means his club is going to have to deal with Wayne Morris. All Morris did against Texas Saturday was rush for 202 yards and become the first person to gain that much ground against the Longhorns in 19 years.

But on up the road, of course, A&M must meet Texas in the game that should decide the Southwest Conference title. And Bellard was likely surprised at how well the Mustangs ran the ball on Texas last weekend, perhaps learning a few things that will help his team do the same thing.

The Texas-SMU battle, in which the eighth ranked Longhorns finally held off the Mustangs for a 30-22 decision, produced a much more exciting contest than a lot of people expected.

Earl Campbell did his usual bruising thing for 160 yards, but Morris surprised the crowd by dashing 77 yards in the fourth quarter to bring SMU to within eight points and set up a final Mustang drive in a vain attempt to knot the score.

SMU rushed for 351 yards against the Longhorns, compared with only 245 for Texas.

"I knew the day we lost Wayne Morris in recruiting he would one day have this kind of game, against us," said Texas coach Darrell Royal. "And he was absolutely phenomenal."

"I think he is better than (Oklahoma's) Joe Washington," said Texas linebacker Bill

Hamilton. "Wayne does his running straight up the field, while Washington this year seemed to be running toward the sidelines more."

Despite the heroics of Morris, however, the decision was still Texas', and that boosted the Longhorns conference mark to 4-0.

Now the fifth ranked and undefeated Aggies (3-0 in conference) must meet Morris and his mates and they do so Saturday afternoon in College Station. Texas will host Baylor

(1-2), which last week broke a three-game losing streak with a 24-6 win over TCU and a year ago rode a victory over the Longhorns to their first Cotton Bowl appearance ever.

The other conference outings find Texas Tech (2-2) and a 28-24 winner over Rice last week, traveling to TCU, where the Horned Frogs (0-4) will be trying to end an 18-game losing streak; and Arkansas (2-1 and idle last week) will try to stay in the race when it travels to Rice (1-2).

Four Blacks Shot in S.C.

ANDERSON, S.C. (UPI) — National Guardsmen put on standby alert when a carload of white men shot and wounded three black men and a black teen-ager Friday night were sent home Sunday.
An aide to Gov. James B. Edwards said the 150 National Guard troops had been sent home because no violence was reported in the town Saturday night, although a bicentennial rally had been called off that afternoon as a precaution against crowd disturbance.
The Guard units had been on standby alert, and had not patrolled the streets.

The four black men were shot by a carload of white men, about an hour after another car carrying some whites was pelted with rocks and bottles in a black section of town. About 15 minutes after the shooting incident, four white Anderson men were charged with criminal conspiracy.
Noah Kenneth Chasteen, 23, was additionally charged with four counts of assault and battery with intent to kill. The other three men charged with conspiracy — Randy Lee Thomason, 20, his brother, Jerry Lewis Thomason, 18, and John Garvize, also 18—were accused of being accessories before and to the felony shootings.

The four suspects were transferred from the Anderson jail to the central state prison in Columbia for safekeeping.
One of the shooting victims, Larry Greenleaf, 23, was discharged from the local hospital Sunday morning. The other three victims, all requiring surgery, were reported in poor condition.
They were identified as Clifton Guyton, 18, Gregory Leavy, 18, and 15-year-old Johnny Bowen.
They had been standing in front of a combination pool hall, barber shop and laundromat when they were shot with a rifle from the passing car.

Culture Club Hears History

"Texas History" was presented to members of the Civic Culture Club by Mrs. E.L. Anderson during a recent meeting.
Mrs. Irvin Cole and Mrs. Katie Vincent, charter members of the organization, were honored and presented with Gray County Bicentennial medals.

Four members finalized plans for attending the Oct. 29 district workshop in Perryton.
Twelve members attended the meeting, hosted by Mrs. Chester Williams.

A full-length portrait of George Washington, painted by Rhode Islander Gilbert Stuart, hangs in the governor's reception room in the State House in Providence.

Weekend News Summary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, 77, left Walter Reed Army Hospital Saturday, a spokesman for the court said.
Douglas, who has been recuperating most of the past year from a stroke suffered last New Year's Eve, was admitted Wednesday with a fever and was listed in satisfactory condition.

SINO-INDIA SCUFFLE
NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Four Indian soldiers were killed by Chinese ambushers in the first reported armed clash between the neighboring countries in at least six years, the Indian government reported Saturday.
The government said 40 Chinese soldiers crossed the border—and made an "unprovoked and unjustified" attack on a six-man Indian patrol.
The Indian government took "a very serious view" of the incident and lodged a protest with Peking.

Indian and Chinese troops battled in the late 1960's north of Sikkim, which separates the countries.

PARADE CUTBACK
MOSCOW (UPI) — A dress rehearsal of the Soviet Union's military parade indicates the annual display in Red Square this week will be half the size of past parades, western military experts say.
The trial run Saturday lacked the strategic weapons usually shown off in the parade. Last year's display included intercontinental missiles, tanks and half track trucks.
"It's pretty slim pickings," said one westerner, who watched the rehearsal.

SPECIAL TRIBUNAL
LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Portugal's Revolutionary Council will set up a military court to try secret police and officials of the rightist government that was toppled 18 months ago, a council spokesman said.

The council also said Saturday a different "revolutionary tribunal" will try military officers and civilians charged with complicity in an abortive right wing coup last March.

OIL RIG DESTROYED
STRAVANGER, Norway (UPI) — One person was killed and three others injured in a mysterious flash fire that destroyed an oil drilling rig in the North Sea Saturday, Phillips oil company officials said.

The company said 71 workers were aboard a platform, located 146 miles west of Stravanger.
"The cause of the fire is unknown, but we do not think that it was caused by a blowout," a spokesman said.

Candy May Have Killed Boy

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — Police today said they planned to run tests on a bag of Halloween candy to determine if poison caused the death of a 13-year-old youth.

"We simply do not know what we have," Capt. Neal Kellerman said. "We can't proceed until we determine the cause of death. Right now all we have is a dead body and a sack of candy."
Kevin W. Perry was found dead in his living room early Sunday. Police said a sack of candy from which the boy had been eating was found nearby.

Dr. Bonita J. Peterson, Jackson County medical examiner, said an autopsy was performed on Kevin. But, she said it would take a day or two to determine the cause of death.
Clair Wyman, the boy's stepmother, said she found

Kevin in front of the television set when she awoke Sunday morning.
"He was slumped over, forehead like, in his chair," Mrs. Wyman said. "He was bent over, and I went up to him and pushed him back in his chair trying to arouse him—but he was cold."

Police said a small spot of blood was found on the floor between the youth's feet and what appeared to be vomit was found on the right side of the chair on the floor.

Capt. Harold D. Taylor, head of the patrol division, said parents should be cautious in allowing their children to eat candy collected on Halloween.
"We have no way right now of determining how this young boy died," Taylor said. "But we have to cover every angle. People should always exercise caution with Halloween candy."

Police said they investigated a report Friday of a straight pin which had been found inside a candy bar given to a girl in a neighborhood about three miles from the Wyman home.
Gladdstone and Kansas City police reported two incidents of razor blades being found inside apples that were given to children as treats.

In Los Angeles boxes of Halloween apples and oranges spiked with razor blades, pins, needles and slivers of glass, were found in the home of a 58-year-old woman who was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said the mother of two youngsters discovered the hardware-laden fruit in the children's Halloween bags Saturday. The youngsters led officers to the home of the unidentified women.

Investigators confiscated 12 apples and eight oranges at the home, all containing razor blades, pins and needles or slivers of glass.

In another trick-or-treat incident, authorities in Altadena said a 15-year-old girl received an apple with a 3/4-inch long needle imbedded in it. The needle was discovered by the girl's mother when she cut open the apple.

Incidents of hardware-bearing fruits were reported in several other areas of the city, but there were no reports of injuries or illness among trick or treaters.

Lefors School Sets Meeting

The Lefors Independent School District Board of Trustees will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday.
The agenda will include an examination and approval of the 1974-75 audit report, a discussion on the implications of Title IX and the bus drivers' training program.

Houston School Sets Tonight Open House

A "Back-to-School Night" open house will be at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Sam Houston 7th Grade School according to James Thomas, principal.
Entertainment for the 500 to 700 persons expected to attend will be by the 160-member Houstonaires, school choir.
Thomas explained that, in the absence of PTA in Pampa's secondary schools, the open house gives parents an opportunity to meet the teachers and become acquainted with Houston's programs.

FAMOUS ICON
GRAYMOOR, N. Y. (UPI) — A famous Russian icon, the Icon of Our Lady of Kazan, a 14 by 16 inch stylized portrait on wood of the Virgin and Child, valued at more than a million dollars, has been brought to the United States for display at Graymoor, the headquarters of the Atonement Friars.
