Indonesia, Red China Ties Strain

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia announced today its intention to suspend diplomatic relations with Communist China.

A Foreign Ministry statement said Indonesia has demanded that the Chinese government immediately allow the entire Indonesian staff in Peking to leave the country.

When this is completed, the statement said, Indonesia will allow the Chinese staff in Jakarta to leave.

The announcement stopped short of a formal break. Heavy pressure is on Foreign Minister Adam Malik to break the ties with China, but he is reported opposed to it.

The strongly worded demand by Indonesia declared that China had ignored the "normal traditions among civilized nations." It rejected previous Chinese protests on grounds that the treatment of the Indonesian staff in Peking was worse than what has happened here.

Mobs of Indonesians and Chinese have sacked each other's embassies. In the most recent attack on the Chinese Embassy, twenty Chinese officials were badly beaten and two were shot.

The Foreign Ministry sattement said China would be permitted to land a plane to pick up its staff once the Indonesians in Peking had safely arrived in either Hong Kong or Dacca, East Pakistan.

Earlier, Indonesia tried to move its embassy staff in Peking to Hong Kong, but China refused exit permits.

Under deposed President Sukarno, Indonesia was a friend of Red China. But that changed after the military put down a coup attempt led by the Indonesian Communist party in October, 1965. Peking was accused of having a hand in the coup and later was linked with pamphlets urging Indonesian Chinese to resist the government of actiting President Suharto.

Mobs of Indonesian youths have attacked the Chinese Embassy in Jakarta on four occasions over the past year and a half.

The government expelled two Chinese diplomats in April, charging them with subversive actions, and two in August, for allegedly shooting at the Indonesian youths who stormed the embassy.

The Foreign Ministry said Indonesians in Peking have nothing but the clothes they were wearing when the embassy was attacked Aug. 5.

Eight Indonesians are still in Peking, five of them with diplomatic status. China has 20 persons in its embassy here, four with diplomatic status.

Sam Craig Rites Held Here Today

Funeral service was set for 2 p.m. today at the East Side Church of Christ for Sam Craig, 84, who died at 6:45 p.m. Saturday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Craig had been a resident of Scurry County since 1924. He was a native of Paris, Tex.

Don Browning was to officate at the funeral service. Burial was to be in Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Lavada Dull of Carlsbad, N.M., and Mrs. Agnes Seabourne; five sons, Ernest H. Craig of Snyder, Grady of Dallas, Earl of Sweetwater, Herman of Espanola, N.M., and Thurman Craig; two sisters, Mrs. Lula Shussele of Dinuba, Calif., and Mrs. Lillie Dorrin of Dallas; two brothers, Jesse and Clarence Craig, both of Bakersfield, Calif.; 18 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Jimmy Dyess, Alvis Lockhart, Gray Parks, J. A. Merritt Jr., John Portis and Caleb Willis. Honorary pallbearers were Abe Rogers, Jim Ikard and John Lynch.

Committee Plans Trip

County commissioners were given reports this morning on activity of a special steering committee and on landscape plans for the courthouse property.

Gene Merrifield, who heads the steering committee studying livestock showing facilities for possible consideration on the coliseum property, said the panel had met and that plans were being made to visit several towns. Facilities similar to those under consideration here will be inspected on the trip. A method for financing the travel by committee members is under study. Merrifield said about two days would be required to inspect the facilities the committee had in mind.

Commissioner Thayne Mebane said there was some confusion concerning landscape plans for the courthouse property. Bids are being sought on the work, but it has been learned that plans call for more plants than some areas will accommodate. A revision of plans may be necessary, which could affect the quantity of shrubbery, etc., needed.

Steel Hauler Talks Held

By BEN DE FOREST
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Representatives met today to try to find an end to the violent, two-month steel haulers strike. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania called for an end to "a campaign of terror" on the highways.

"This conference is designed to find the facts, put them in proper perspective and furnish the answer," Shafer said.

"No group, however just their claims might be, has the right to subject their fellow citizens to a campaign of terror," he said.

More than 40 people — representatives of seven states, the striking independent truckers, the Teamsters Union and the trucking companies — met at Shafer's invitation.

"He wants them to stay in the conference room until this thing is settled," said a Shafer aide. "The governor says he won't stand for any more violence and this thing must be settled."

Daniel M. Berger, Pittsburgh attorney assisting the strikers' two attorneys, Bernard A. Berkman of Cleveland, Ohio, and Porter Draper of Gary, Ind., said, "I think that our attitude is hopeful—that reasonable men will sit down and try to work out these problems."

Ohio, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, New York and West Virginia joined Pennsylvania in sending governor's representatives.

The strikers, independent truckers who own their rigs, have rebelled against a national contract reached through the Teamsters. They want better terms, and a separate contract for owner-operators. The union has refused to recognize the strike.

The highways were relatively calm Sunday, compared with violence that reached a peak more than a week ago with 40 incidents in 24 hours along the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

M. R. Cook Dies Here

Morgan R. Cook, 75, who lived at 409 East Highway, died at 7 p.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ollie Cook; a daughter, Mrs. Cecil Davis of Dallas; three sons, Dawson of Dallas, Vertus of Fresno, Calif., and Billy of Chicago; two sisters, Mrs. Lorena Kemp of Burbank, Calif., and Mrs. Elwyn Thompson of Sunnydale, Calif.; three brothers, Walter and Marvin, both of Abilene, and O. F. of Merkel; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Hodges Baptist Church in Jones County. Burial will be in the Midway Cemetery near Hawley, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

UFOs Horsing Around?

ALAMOSA, Colo. (AP) — An autopsy on a horse, believed by its owner to have been killed by inhabitants of a flying saucer disclosed Sunday that its abdominal, brain and spinal cavities were empty, the pathologist who performed the autopsy said.

The pathologist, a Denver specialist who wished to remain anonymous, said the absence of organs in the abdominal cavity could not be explained.

Witnessing the autopsy were four members of the Denver team of the national investigating committee on aerial phenomena. The team included Dr. and Mrs. Ken Steinmetz, Dr. Herb Roth and Capt. Dick Cable of the North American Air Defense Command Center in Colorado Springs.

When the pathologist sawed into the horse's brain cavity he found it empty. "There definitely should have been a good bit of fluid in the brain cavity," the pathologist said.

"This horse was definitely not killed by lightning," the pathologist said. That was the official conclusion of Alamosa County authorities.

The controversy over Snippy, a 3-year-old gelding, began Sept. 7 when the horse did not return to the Harry King ranch.

Two days later, king went looking for Snippy and found him dead — a quarter-mile from the ranch house. The ranch is 20 miles southeast of Alamosa in desolate mountain country.

All the flesh had been stripped from the horse's neck and head and only bones remained.

King called the owners of the horse, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Lewis, house, King said the area in which the horse had been killed.

They said they found areas where the chico brush had been mashed to within 10 inches of the ground. What appeared to them to be 15 circular exhaust marks were found 100 yards from the horse. Another area was punched with six identical holes, each two inches wide and four inches deep, they said.

The investigating committee Sunday measured markings on the ground and found the largest to be a circle 75 feet in diameter. Several smaller areas where the chico brush had been flattened were 15 feet in diameter.

The committee returned to Denver Sunday night with several samples taken from the horse and an object, presumed to be a tool, Mrs. Lewis said she found Sept. 16.

Mrs. Lewis said she found the object on her second visit to the site. It was covered with horse hair and she said when she tried to wipe the hair off her hand turned red and began to burn. The burning persisted until she washed her hands, she said.

The Denver pathologist remained at the King ranch Sunday night. While there, the group stood on the ranch house porch and watched two unidentified flying objects pass over the

Cotton Estimate Smallest Since '21

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated this year's government-restricted cotton crop today at 8,089,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, down 96,000 bales from its forecast last month.

The indicated crop is the smallest since 1921. The government had offered growers substantial payments for limiting plantings under a program designed to reduce surpluses accumlated from past crops.

By comparison, production was 9,575,000 bales last year and 14,935,000 for the 1961-6 average.

The crop will be supplemented by reserves of about 12.4 million bales held over from previous crops. But the agriculture department expects this reserve to be down less than 7 million bales by the end of the 1967 crop marketing year next Aug. 1.

The census bureau said 1,013,338 bales had been ginned up to Oct. 1, compared with 1,341,452 a year earlier.

The yield per acre and production, respectively, by states included: Texas 363 pounds per acre and production 2,800,000 bales.

Arkansas 425 and 700,000.
Louisiana 607 and 430,000.
Oklahoma 213 and 180,000.
New Mexico 562 and 10,000.
Arizona 933 and 480,000.
California 956 and 1,175,000.

The production of American-Egyptian type cotton was estimated at 68,700 bales compared with 67,800 forecast last month, 72,900 produced last year and 109,600 for the five-year average.

OFF FORBIDDEN LIST

MIG Airfield Hit

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy fighter-bombers struck a North Vietnamese MIG airfield near Haiphong Sunday, the sixth installation hit in five straight days of raids on targets once ruled by the Pentagon as out of bounds for U.S. warplanes. The strike that dug wide craters into the French-built jet strip at Cat Bi left untouched only two bases in the North capable of launching MIG interceptors.

In the ground war, an American platoon fought out of a surrounded position in rainswept jungles and Communist mortarmen poured fire on the major Army-Navy base in the Mekong Delta.

Nearby in the delta, a 50-year-old Buddhist nun burned herself to death, a Saigon newspaper said, the second suicide by fire in a week during the drive by militant Buddhists to force the government to abandon a charter recognizing a moderate faction in the church.

The Cat Bi strike damaged a Soviet built liaison plane, but the U.S. Command said the carrier-based jets found no MIGs on the ground as they flew in "virtually unopposed."

The raid was part of a maximum U.S. effort to cripple the North before the monsoon rains start this month and cut flying time by as much as 75 per cent. Since Wednesday, U.S. planes have also hit three bridges on supply routes from Red China and two fuel dumps, all previously barred as too sensitive to attack.

The two major MIG bases still on the forbidden list are the Gia Am installation and the big Phuc Yen base, which houses the North Vietnamese air force's major operations center and serves as headquarters for the air defense command. Both are near Hanoi.

The Communist Chinese New China News Agency claimed that 10 U.S. planes were shot down over North Vietnam Saturday. The U.S. Command said three planes were downed and four airmen missing.

In the jungle battle, the U. S. forces reported 17 dead and four wounded.

Twenty-five sailors and three soldiers were wounded when the Red mortars ripped into the Mekong base at Dong Tam, crowded with river assault boats returned from a combat sweep.

The heaviest fighting reported took place Sunday when a company of paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division ran into about 150 North Vietnamese regulars in the coastal foothills of Quang Tin Province about 300 miles north of Saigon.

With rain pouring down, there was no hope of air support. Even the artillery had to be called off when the paratroops and North Vietnamese locked in hand-to-hand fighting.

In the confusion of battle an American platoon of fewer than 50 men was cut off and surrounded by screaming Red troopers. The rest of the company fought its way hand-to-hand through the North Vietnamese to relieve the platoon.

A field report said paratroopers with light wounds refused to leave the battle and presumably were not counted in the casualty report. The North Vietnamese—probably members of the well-trained 2nd Division—lost 60 dead, the report said.

The mortar attack on the Mekong Delta base at Dong Tam came before dawn today. The 82mm shells were evidently concentrated on the naval support installations on the shore of the Mekong River. Military headquarters reported only light damage and there was no report of hits on the river fleet of assault draft that includes armored monitors, tank landing ships and smaller assault boats.

The base, 50 miles south of Saigon, is surrounded by territory largely under Viet Cong influence and has been shelled six times since the U. S. troops moved in last January.

The U. S. Command also disclosed that a brigade of the 1st Air Cavalry Division has been shifted into the five northern provinces of the 1st Corps area below the 17th parallel demilitarized zone.

This puts four Army brigades into the southern part of the zone, which was previously held by U. S. Marines. The Marines were recently shifted farther north to meet the North Vietnamese threat along the DMZ, where the Red command can call upon some 35,000 troops.

Although heavy Communist pressure and shellfire across the DMZ has fallen off, American commanders remain apprehensive of another effort to further shake control of the exposed northern provinces.

PRESIDENTIAL CONVENTION SITE

Democrats Choose Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats officially ratify today President Johnson's decision to forge a beachhead in the politically hostile Middle West with an August 1968 presidential nominating convention in Chicago.

The party's national committee scheduled speedy acceptance of a site committee's proposal to meet in a state with a Democratic governor and a city with a Democratic mayor—but in an area where the Republicans are in resurgency.

National Chairman John M. Bailey predicted Johnson would be renominated unanimously at the four-day extravaganza opening Aug. 25.

In a fight talk today, Bailey summoned the Democrats to back Johnson's Vietnam efforts "to prevent World War II."

The national chairman said while Johnson takes "the only position that makes sense" on Vietnam, most Republicans "are busy trying to win the 1968 election" by criticizing his actions.

In a thinly veiled reference to Democratic dissenters, Bailey told the Democrats: "Let's defend the President of the United Stats against hos of his critics States against those of his critics who are utterly unreasonable."

Bailey spoke out in a report prepared for a formal national committee session.

Bailey scoffed at public opinion polls which generally show a majority not satisfied with the way Johnson is handling the war.

Asserting that the President's decisions "will be vindicated by history," the national chairman told the Democrats they must not be stampeded by the polls.

Bailey said Republicans haven't yet had to spell out proposals. He scorched Michigan Gov. George Romney, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois for "trying to dupe us into believing they can do both more or less in Vietnam at the same time."

The Democratic chairman did not mention New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a prospective GOP favorite son who has generally supported Johnson's basic Vietnam policies. Bailey has made it clear to associates he regards Rockefeller as probably the toughest opponent the Republicans could put up against Johnson.

United Fund Drive Gains

The Scurry County United Fund campaign was a third of the way toward its goal this morning following tabulation of contributions which came in over the weekend.

The over-all total at 10 a.m. today was $13,719.50, or nearly 35 per cent of the $39,605 goal.

The campaign has moved slowly but steadily over a period of nearly two weeks. Although it has been slower than campaign officials had hoped at the outset, the response in relation to contact work is regarded as generally good. Thus, leaders are still optimistic and feel that the goal can be reached.

STRIKE FUND INCREASED

Reuther Predicts Longest Strike Yet

By A.H. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Armed with a dues increase that will pump $20 million a month into his union's strike fund, United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther says the 34-day-old strike against Ford Motor Co. could stretch into the industry's longest.

The longest automotive strike lasted 119 days in 1945-46, and was called against General Motors Corp., by the UAW to support wage demands.

It was UAW wage and fringe demands in the new contract which triggered the strike at Ford.

A special UAW convention Sunday voted an emergency increase in dues from $5 to $25 monthly for most of its 1.4 million members.

Reuther returns to the bargaining table with Ford today in search of a new contract he hopes to carry later to GM and Chrysler for matching or bettering.

More than 2,400 convention delegates cheered when told the emergency increase was needed to win at Ford and "possible strikes at Chrysler, General Motors and other large companies." They passed the dues increase overwhelmingly.

Asked at a postconvention news conference if the strike fund was being beefed up to support a General Motors strike later, Reuther replied: "It's not directed against any specific corporation, but it could include GM."

Reuther also told the news conference that if there is no significant change in the company's attitude in the next week or ten days, Ford Motor Co. will have made a policy decision to force a long strike.

And in that case, he said "it might equal or exceed the one we had at General Motors."

Henry Ford has said that what he terms the UAW's "unconscionable" demands are responsible for the strike. One industry executive has estimated it would take an additional $4 hourly per worker to meet all union wage and fringe demands, compared with the current package of wages and benefits of $4.70 hourly per worker.

The union scoffs at the $4 figure, but has put no dollars and cents figures on its demands, which include a guaranteed income, a substantial wage increase and higher pensions.

The emergency dues increase will be continued until new contracts are reached with the Big Three automakers and the union's strike fund had been built up to at least $25 million.

DEAR ABBY: Some years ago I remember reading in your column a lot of letters from ladies who wanted the shoe manufacturers to get rid of the high-heeled, pointed shoes, and if I recall, you were on their side.

Well, they did just that, and I think the new shoes are terrible looking. So you ladies who wanted them can go ahead and wear them and may the Lord bless you. Me? I'm still with POINTED TOES AND PENCIL HEELS

DEAR POINTED: You are correct. My voice was among the loudest in protest of the needle-toed, spindle-heeled shoes. But after a while, I became accustomed to them. (Yet, they ruined my feet.) Now that the baby-doll, Cuban heels are back, I admit they look as strange to me as the pointed-toes looked at first, but I am wearing them. And I must confess, I LOOKED better in the old cripplers, but I FEEL better in the new ones.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for almost six years, and we have two beautiful children. My problem is my mother-in-law.

She refuses to admit to me the kind of person my husband's ex-wife was. I know that she knows because she has told other people, but every time I bring up her name, she defends the woman as tho she were a saint. (Believe me, she isn't.) Please print your answer as this is getting me down.

PEEVED

DEAR PEEVED: Forget your husband's ex-wife, unless you want to reveal your own insecurity. For that, more than anything else, is what is really "getting you down,"

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from the lady who signed "Hurt in Eugene" I have to speak up for the sitters. I agree, it wasn't very nice for that teen-ager to have left the note, "CLEAN UP YOUR FILTHY HOUSE, PLEASE," but, Abby, I honestly know how she must have felt. I am 15 and I was asked to sit for a lady whose husband was out of town. She was going to a luau and called me at the last minute. If she hadn't driven off as soon as I set foot in her house, I would have walked right out the door.

When I say her house was filthy, I am not kidding. The kitchen looked like a cyclone had hit it. The sink was piled high with dishes and there were pots and pans on every inch of counter space, and even on the floor, which looked like it hadn't seen a mop in a year. I tried to lift a bowl from the table and it stuck! There were even ants crawling around. I didn't even want to sit down in that house.

The lady was gone for seven hours, during which time I had to give her children dinner and put them to bed. She left no instructions, but told me to fix them "anything" they wanted to eat. She said nothing about bedtime, so when I suggested going to bed I had a terrible time with all of them. These are so-called upper middle class people, Abby.

When the lady got home, she apologized for being late, underpaid me, until I corrected her, and drove me home. I wish I had had the nerve to leave her a note telling her to clean up her filthy house. Thank you.

Pleas Heard In Court

Three men pleaded guilty in County Court this morning to various misdemeanor offenses.

Anselmo R. Hernandez was charged with driving while intoxicated on Sunday. He was apprehended by Highway Patrolmen. A similar charge was filed against Michael Don Osborne for an offense that occurred Saturday. Both men received a $100 fine and a 60-day jail term plus court costs. However, the fine and jail sentence were probated for one year.

The other guilty plea was heard from R. L. Goswick, who was charged with injuring and destroying property of another on Oct. 7. He also received a one-year probation on a $100 fine and a 30-day jail term. He was ordered to make restitution.

Last Tuesday, Pete Davis and Earnest James pleaded "no contest" to charges of liquor violations. Each received a $200 fine plus court costs and a 90-day jail term.

James was found guilty of five separate offense in connection with the sale and possession of alcoholic beverages. The offenses occurred during a period from Oct. 8, 1966 to Aug. 5, 1967.

Davis was judged guilty of three separate offenses in connection with the transportation or possession of alcoholic bevarages during a period from Oct. 28, 1966 to Feb. 12, 1967.

Last Friday, the sentence against Billie Ruth Carr was made final. She pleaded guilty Sept. 27 to swindling by worthless check on Sept. 18 and received a 3-day jail term plus court costs.

All of the defendants are Snyder residents.

800 Students Stage Protest

TOKYO (AP)—About 800 students rallied at four Tokyo universities today to protest "police butcher" at a leftist demonstration Sunday that left one dead and 500 injured. The incident was the worst in Japan since violence in 1960 caused the cancelation of a visit by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Government officials began investigating means to prevent possible new eruptions triggered by leftists opposed to Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's coming visit to South Vietnam.

Sato arrived in Jakarta on the first leg of a five-nation swing and began talks with Indonesian government officials on financial assistance for the coming year.

Sunday's demonstration at Tokyo's International airport as Sato took off was led by students of the radical Zengakuren orgainzation. The injured were said to include 339 policemen and 160 demonstrators who fought with bamboo and rocks for about three hours. Some 2,500 demonstrators and 2,000 police were involved.

The students condemned the South Vietnam visit and said it signaled a switch in Japan's independent foreign policy toward one tied more closely to the United States.

Teen-Ager Saves Baby From Death

SOUTH BAY, Fla. (AP) — A teen-aged girl plunged into the waters of a 25-foot deep canal Sunday and rescued a 3-year-old girl from a sinking car that carried the child's mother and grandparents to their deaths.

The rescuer, Paula Scoggins, 14, of Miami, said a woman handed the baby out of the window of the car and cried, "Save her! We can't swim!" as the car sank to the bottom of the murky water.

Miss Scoggins swam to the bank, about 15 yards away, handed blonde Laura Ann Schick to her boyfriend and swam back to try and save the other occupants.

"The car was gone," said state Troopper J.L. McLean. The doors were still closed when the car and its three occupants were recovered, McLean said. The rear doors were still locked, he said.

Miss Scoggins, a junior high school student, said she was traveling along the highway when she saw the car suddenly veer off an isolated section of U.S. 27 and plunge into the canal at a 45-degree angle. The victims were identified as the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. McGill, and her mother, Mrs. Joan Schick, all of Hollywood, Fla.

Astronaut Honored By Home Town

WAPOKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Astronaut Neil Armstrong returned to his hometown Sunday for dedication of the new Auglaize County airport, named after him.

Armstrong, command pilot of the Gemini 8 mission in 1966, told a crowd of 2,500:

"I little dreamed 20 years ago when I was learning to fly here that at any time would an airport be dedicated in my name."

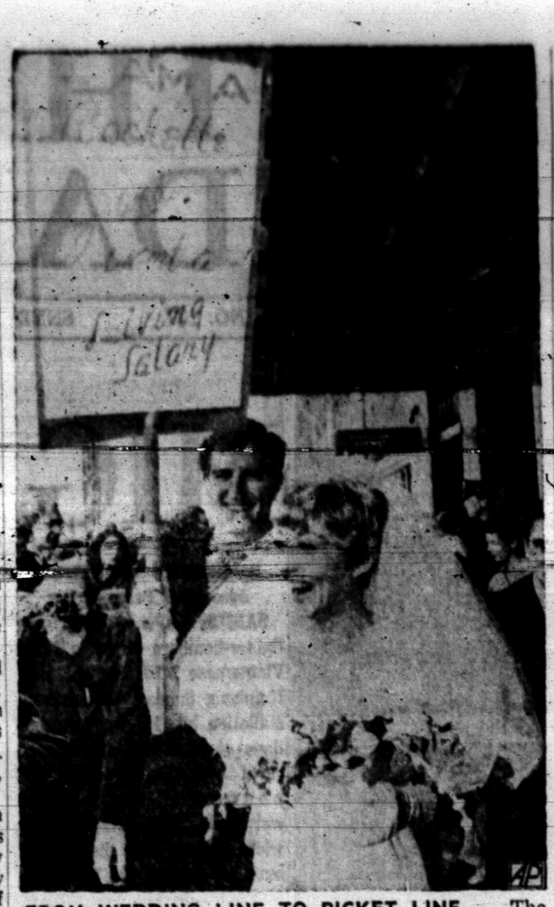

Vince Edwards Is Hospitalized

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Actor Vince Edwards, on location making a movie, was hospitalized Saturday after slipping and breaking a heel bone.

A doctor said Sunday Edwards, the former "Dr. Ben Casey" on television, "will have to stay in the hospital for four more days, but he must stay off the foot considerably longer."

Edwards is starring in "Hammerhead" for Columbia Pictures, also featuring Diana Dors and Judy Geeson.

Lodges To Be Honored

Three Masonic Lodges in this area will be honored during a workshop Oct. 16, at 8:30 p.m. in the Masonic Hall in Ira.

Scurry Lodge 706 (Snyder), Hermleigh Lodge 987 and Loraine Lodge 1307 will receive Honor Roll Awards, which are given by The Grand Lodge of Texas in recognition of outstanding attendance during the spring series of Masonic Workshop programs. Colorado City, Dunn and Ira Lodges are also invited to attend.

L. T. Harris of Clyde, chairman of the eight-county Masonic Workshop Area F-2, will present the awards and conduct the meeting.

He said the workshop is part of a semi-annual program held for the quarter-million members of nearly 1,000 Texas Masonic Lodges. The Masonic Fraternity is noted for its activities in the field of charity and in the self-improvement of its members.

To Build New Plane

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A new type of private airplane using reinforced plastics will be built by Windsecker Research, Inc. starting in 1968, President K. M. Smith said today.

First test flights were made Oct. 7, after eight years of development efforts by Dr. Leo Windecker.

Smith said the cabins would be larger and roomier than those used by private planes today. He would not estimate the speed.

"We don't even have a name for the plane—it is known simply as the ACX," he said.

The material being used was developed by Dow Chemical Co. with the help of Windecker.

The Midland plant, which holds an exclusive agreement with Dow to make aircraft with the reinforced plastics structures, originally will cover about 40,000 square feet, but has an extra 37 acres for expansion.

Just how many planes will be made depends upon demand, Smith said. He added that the process could trim manpower costs.

2 Mishaps Are Logged

City Police investigated two motor vehicle accidents Sunday.

The first mishap occurred at 12:31 p.m. Sunday on Thirty-first Street west of Hill Avenue.

Involved were a 1955 Model Studebaker operated by Alvin Cleve Chambers, 415 Thirty-first Street; a parked 1965 Model Chevrolet pickup owned by the City of Snyder; and a 1959 Model GMC Pickup owned by George Lee, 3101 Hill Avenue.

Damage to Chambers' car was placed at $250. Damage to the City's pickup was estimated at $150, and damage to the other pickup was set at $30.

The second mishap occurred in the same neighborhood on Avenue A north of Thirty-fourth Street. Involved were the 1953 Model International truck of Donna Beth Ward, 602 Twenty-eighth Street, and the parked 1966 Model Ford of Fred Jones Leasing Co. Damage to the Ford was placed at $175, and damage to the other vehicle was negligible.

Radar Units Busy Here

Police radar patrol units were busy today checking traffic in the 3400 block of Avenue S and in the 2000 block of Avenue E, according to an announcement by Chief of Police Stephen Clark.

He said radar units would be busy in the 4000 block of Avenue V and the 3300 block of Avenue M tomorrow. In addition, radar units will check traffic at other unannounced locations.

Death Claims Marrying Mansville

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Manville, playboy of the Roaring 20's and Depression 30's whose marriages and monetary settlements made headlines for almost five decades, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 73.

With him at the end was his 11th and last wife, the former Christina Erdlen, 26, at their Westchester County residence in Chappaqua, some 30 miles north of Manhattan.

Manville took his first wife, a chorus girl, in 1911 when he was 17, and his last in 1960. He remarried twice, was divorced 10 times, and widowed once. He was heir to a $10 million asbestos fortune, and his divorce settlements cost him in the neighborhood of $1.5 million.

"Marrying Manville' was no misnomer for the son of the founder and chairman of the Johns-Manville Corp. He had a decided, and oft-announced, penchant for showgirls, squiring dozens and marrying five of them.

Manville, during his hectic nightclubbing and pursuit of beautiful women, once said, "Im too lonely—I just can't live alone. The first thing I say to a girl is 'Will you marry me' and the second thing is 'How do you do?'"

As for his settlements, the tireless man-about-town remarked, "Manville is not cheap. At least I keep my money in circulation."

He spent other millions maintaining what he called his "honeymoon cottage," a luxurious estate in New Rochelle called Bon Repos—Good Rest. He sold it in 1955.

He often said that, in addition to the millions his father left him, he had "lots of shares of Johns-Manville," and added:

"That's where I got most of my dough."

Manville's only known job followed his first marriage—to showgirl Florence Huber under a Broadway marquee.

The bridegroom's father, then traveling in Europe, shut the family exchequer against him and said he would have the marriage annulled when he returned home. Manville arranged a second wedding in New Jersey.

Young Thomas Franklyn Manville Jr. took a $15-a-week job in the family's Pittsburgh factory in order to make ends meet. His first marriage lasted 11 years, although a separation in 1917 continued until divorce in 1922.

In September 1925, Manville took his father's 22-year-old stenographer, Lois Arline McCoin, as his second wife. The next month his father died and left him a fifth of a $50-million estate.

Colorado is larger than the combined areas of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Two Dead After LSD Party Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — A 26-year-old laborer was charged today with the murders of the teen-age daughter of a wealthy Greenwich, Conn., family and a young man, whose nude bodies were found in a hippieland tenement Sunday after an LSD party, police said.

Donald Ramsey, who lives in the building, was arrested and charged with killing the couple in the boiler room of the tenement.

Police said their questioning of guests at the party had led them to Ramsey.

Also arrested was the man who found the bodies, Freddie Wright, assistant superintendent of the five-story building. He was charged with rape and robbery, police said, after a 25-year-old woman at the party, also being questioned, said he had attacked her and stolen $3 following the party.

The bodies of the slain couple, the man tattooed and long-haired, were found face down on a concrete floor. Their heads had been battered and blood stains were on the floor and walls.

The girl was identified by a stepsister as Linda Fitzpatrick, 18, daughter of Irving Fitzpatrick, president of the Knickerbocker Mills, a tea and spice import firm at Totowa, N.J. Her home was a 30-room mansion.

The man, who had a police record in both New York City and New England, was identified as James Leroy Hutchinson, 21, of Central Falls, R.I.

By late Sunday night some 50 detectives working on the case had questioned more than 100 persons in the lower East Side area.

Near the victims lay a brick wrapped in a pair of men's trousers. The couple's clothing lay folded on the floor near the door.

Dr. Elliott M. Gross, who performed the autopsies, said the couple died of multiple blows near the head "with a blunt instrument consistent with the brick."

Gross said he was unable to determine immediately if the girl had been raped.

Freddie Wright, assistant superintendent of the five-story building on Avenue B, between 10th and 11th streets, found the bodies.

Hutchinson kept a room nearby on 11th Street, police said.

The Fitzpatrick girl's family said she was attending school in New York but did not identify the school.

Sturdivant Rites Today

Jasper Sturdivant, 63, who has relatives in Snyder, died Saturday in Canoga Park, Calif. He was ill with cancer eight months.

Funeral was held at 2 p.m. today in Canoga Park where he had made his home for the past 35 years.

Surviving are the wife, Helen, of the home; two daughters and one son, also of the home; his father, Will Sturdivant, and two brothers, Alton and Charlie, all of Snyder; another brother, Bula, of Hermleigh; six other brothers; two sisters, Della Beach of Odessa and Mrs. Frances Harding of San Diego, Calif.

GREAT REFRESHER — Nectarines, fresh and delicious, served with a cheese ring coated with diced roasted almonds.

Nectarines And Cheese Make A Fine Team

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

MAKE THE MOST of the lovely nectarines in the market. Serve them "as is" with a cheese ring. We think you'll agree with us that this combination makes a delightful snack to offer with before - dinner drinks or as an evening refresher.

Cheese Ring With Nectarines

8 ounces mild cheddar cheese, finely grated
3 ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup (about 2½ ounces) crumbled blue cheese
2 tablespoons dry sherry
2 teaspoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
3 fresh nectarines

In a medium mixing bowl, with a wooden spoon, thoroughly work together until blended the cheddar cheese, cream cheese, blue cheese, sherry, onion and garlic powder. Form into a 12-inch long roll. (If made ahead, cover tightly with plastic wrap and refrigerate.)

Shortly before serving, coat outside of cheese roll with almonds, pressing nuts with fingers if necessary. Shape into a ring, sealing ends together. Place on serving dish; place 1 nectraine in center of ring. Slice remaining nectarines; arrange around cheese ring. Makes 2 dozen appetizer servings.

Who Will Break The Tie In Washington's Tax Game?

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals battle in the baseball World Series, two other teams are battling in a more serious game over taxes and spending. The score is now firmly deadlocked.

The team managers are President Johnson and Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee. Their dugouts are 16 blocks apart—the distance from the Capitol to the White House.

The first pitch was tossed Aug. 3 when Johnson proposed a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes. The administration promised $2 billion in spending cuts from civilian programs.

The ball was pitched back to the White House last week by the Ways and Means Committee. It temporarily shelved the surcharge plan by a 20-5 vote pending an agreement with the administration on spending cuts.

But Johnson whacked the ball right back late in the week, contending it's up to Congress to make cuts in a budget he considers already free from fat.

The administration applied a squeeze play about the same time. The Defense Department froze all new contracts for construction unrelated to the Vietnam war at military bases and on Army Engineer programs—the so-called pork barrel projects of river and harbor development.

The rival managers, through public statements and news conferences, repeatedly spelled out their positions as the week wore on but stuck to their original lineups.

Johnson said he wouldn't yield to congressional demands for big spending cuts as the price of reviving the surcharge. Mills called for an overhaul in spending philosolphy, not just now but for the future.

Then Saturday the White House confirmed the President had ordered Wednesay a temporary freeze on all federal spending commitments except for national defense and vital health and welfare programs, pending an end to the budget battle.

But the move was called only a holding action—not any kind of spending cut designed to answer the congressional demand that Johnson strike out some dollar signs.

That's where the ball game stood at week's start with neither side conceding anything.

But on the sidelines, some government economists who insist they know nothing about the ins and outs of politics, said they felt a tax increase would eventually be approved.

"The only question is the timing and the size," one analyst said. "I expect it to be awfully close to what the President wants."

Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, could hold the key to the deadlock which might make both teams happy.

The signals could have been called not at a baseball game but at a round of golf Mahon played with Johnson two weeks ago, the President's first golfing in some time.

Mahon plans to scrutinize anew all appropriation bills in hopes of trimming more money. It's expected to bring postponements and deferrals of spending.

If that fails to satisfy the Mills' team, the tie could be broken later this month when the temporary spending authority of most government departments expires unless their appropriation bills are adopted.

Republicans, who earlier failed to tack a blanket ceiling on spending, are expected to try again at that time.

Meantime, some of the pro-administration fans expect Johnson to marshall his team quietly and win the day as he did so frequently in earlier political battles.

Junior Editors Quiz on RADIOCARBON

QUESTION: How can scientists use radiocarbon to date ancient things?

* * *

ANSWER: Atomic particles called cosmic rays continually smash certain atoms, causing them to change to radiocarbon. Every living thing takes in this radiocarbon, which starts to decay at once, sending out disintegration rays—this is radioactivity. While plants and animals are alive, the loss caused by radioactivity is replaced by the intake of more radiocarbon. But when they die, no more radiocarbon comes in; disintegration rays, however, still go out, at a definite, known rate. A man, while living, gives off 918 disintegration rays every hour for each gram of radiocarbon his body contains. Now, assume he dies. After 5,600 years, a gram of radiocarbon from his skull would be giving out 459 rays an hour; after 11,000 years, 229 rays and after 44,000 years, about 3 rays an hour. Using a Geiger counter, it is possible to count the rays being emitted. So if we find 3 rays an hour per gram coming from a human skull, we know it is 44,000 years old. Before testing, however, a scientist must reduce a sample of the object being tested to pure carbon; it is from this that the test is made.

Gibson Blanks Sox, Lonborg Gets Call

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis' Bob Gibson has four straight World Series victories, and now the Cardinals are on the threshold of equaling this streak.

They put themselves into position to extend their series record to four straight today by coasting past Boston 6-0 Sunday behind Gibson's five-hit pitching.

The victory gave St. Louis a 3-1 lead in the Series and Gibson a four-game winning streak dating back to 1964 when he was the Series' hero.

In an attempt to force the Series back to Boston, Manager Dick Williams of the Red Sox called on Jim Lonborg, who threw a one-hitter last Thursday to face St. Louis today.

Manager Red Schoendienst had a fresh left-hander, 22-year-old Steve Carlton, set to go.

"Carlton is capable of pitching a shutout just like Gibson did," Schoendienst said.

If the Cardinals wrap up the Series today or back in Boston, it'll be the fourth straight time they have won the postseason affair.

The last time they failed in a Series was in 1943 when they lost to the New York Yankees four games to one.

They came back the next year to take their neighbors, the St. Louis Browns, 4-3; they edged the Red Sox 4-3 in 1946 and did the same to the Yankees in 1964.

In looking toward their fourth in a row, the Cardinals have hitting, pitching and precedence in their favor.

Only three teams in history have come back from a 3-1 deficit and won the whole thing—the 1903 Red Sox over Pittsburgh in a nine-game series, the 1925 Pirates against Washington and the 1958 New York Yankees over Milwaukee.

"We have our backs to the wall, but we're not giving up," Williams said after watching Gibson allow only one runner past first base and record his second victory of this Series.

The Red Sox didn't quit Sunday, but they were pitched into retirement by Gibson.

The 31-year-old right-hander was pitching on three days rest for the first time since last year's All-Star game, and he said he became tired in the last two innings.

But the Red Sox couldn't do anything against him. They got harmless singles in the first, fourth, sixth and eighth innings and then Carl Yastrzemski's meaningless double in the ninth.

"I was more comfortable in the first game; I was more tired in this one," said Gibson, who hurled a six-hit 2-1 victory in the opener last Wednesday.

"I really had to force myself in the eighth and ninth innings and when you force yourself, it's not as easy."

Williams agreed on Gibson's self-appraisal.

"He didn't have as good stuff as he did in the opener," the manager said, "but he's a great pitcher and deserves all the credit in the world. He was throwing strikes and that's the big thing. When he got the 4-0 made sure we hit the ball."

lead in the first inning, he just

The Cardinals certainly hit the ball in the first inning, clobbering Jose Santiago for four runs and six hits before Williams replaced him with Gary Bell, who as a starter was rocked for three runs and five hits in the first two innings Saturday.

Lou Brock and Curt Flood singled, and both scored as Roger Maris lashed a double. One out later, Tim McCarver singled home Maris, and after Santiago managed to get another out, singles by Julian Javier and Dal Maxvill brought McCarver around.

"When you have that many runs so early, you can relax a little bit although I don't think to the point where you get careless," commented Gibson.

The Cardinal ace, who was out from July 15 to Sept. 9 with a broken leg, never did get careless. He walked just one man, Reggie Smith, in the seventh but ended the inning by snaring Rico Petrocelli's little check-swing pop down the first base line.

"It kind of surprised me," the pitcher explained. "I realized it was going to stay fair and I ran over and got it."

Gibson might also get his prediction right.

"Before it started, I predicted we'd win four out of five," he said. "Maybe that's how it will go."

Dallas Triumphs With Late Pass

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dallas running back Dan Reeves was worried. He was all alone, the goal line was so close and quarterback Don Meredith's pass just hung in the air.

"I didn't think about dropping it," Reeves said after the Cowboys defeated the Washington Redskins 17-14. "I just didn't think it was coming down."

Meredith hit Reeves on a 36-yard touchdown play that began with only 18 seconds remaining.

It was a Washington defensive mistake—set up by the Dallas offense— on which the Cowboys won despite the strong defensive effort by both teams through the first three quarters and up to the last few minutes.

"Reeves was Chris Hanburger's man all the way," said Washington Coach Otto Graham. "He was simply helping out another defender and stayed too long.

"He blew it and he knows it. No one feels worse about it than he does," Graham said. "The first back out is Hanburger's man and he didn't take him."

Reeves, who said he called the play, waited until Lance Rentzel made his move toward the center and then saw right linebacker Hanburger drop off into the middle to provide double coverage. At that moment, Reeves said, he began running his pattern—up and out.

"We noticed that after Rentzel had begun to pick up yardage, Hanburger would do a little chucking (hitting the end), then drop off to help the other defenders," Reeves said.

"As soon as I saw him make his move," he said, "I went out and cut toward the sidelines. I was sure the free safety would be picking me up but when I saw him going in, too, I knew there would be no problem.

"When the ball was coming to me—it seemed like it would never get there—I saw Hanburger try to get back," Reeves said. "But it was too late for him."

The cowboys now tied for first place with Philadelphia in the Capitol Division at 331, barely survived the battle as only a minute before the final touchdown the Redskins—now 2-2—took a 14-10 lead on a Sonny Jurgensen to Charlie Taylor eight-yard touchdown pass play.

Up until the last two minutes, it appeared that Danny Villanueva's 27-yard field goal for Dallas in the third period would be enough as both defenses contained running attacks and put constant pressure on Meredith and Jurgenson, throwing both for losses several times.

"They played a helluva ball game defensively," Graham said. "It was too bad they had to blow it on defense."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said: "We were lucky to win."

Meredith hit Rentzel on a 25-yard touchdown pass play in the middle of the third period and Washington rookie Ray McDonald went over from the one near the end of the first half for the only other scoring in the game.

Casper In Scot Playoff

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (APP) — Billy Casper, already the winner of two high-priced golf playoffs this year, went into a third one today with Gay Brewer in the Alcan Golfer of the Year Tournament which carries a $55,000 first prize.

"At least we're making a little bit of golf history," Casper said.

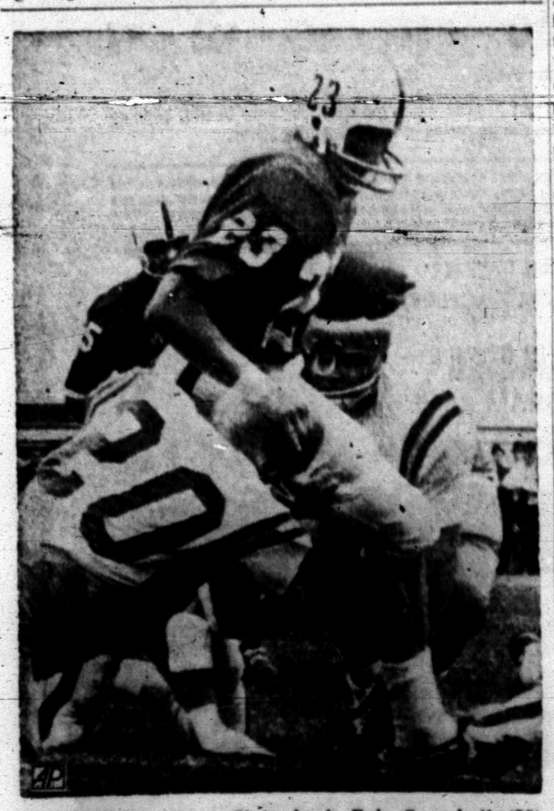

Earlier this year, Casper beat Art Wall Jr., in a playoff in the Canadian Open, winning $50,000, and Al Geiberger in the $35,000 first prize Carling World Tournament.

Brewer and Casper tied Sunday with a 283 for the 72-hole title, five under par over the 6,926-yard, par 36-36—72 old course of St. Andrews. Casper remarked "We've never met head to head before in a playoff. And nobody's met in a playoff for such a big prize anywhere in the world."

Casper had a chance of closing it all out Sunday. He needed a birdie on the last hole to clinch the first prize. His approach was 20 feet away from the cup and he had a tricky downhill, curling putt.

He just missed sinking that one and took his par 4 to tie Brewer.

George Archer, Gilroy, Calif., finished third with a four-round score of 285 and picked up $7,500. Brian Barnes, 22-year-old Englishman, was fourth with a total of 287 — a score that won him $5,800.

CHARGES — Penn State back Bob Campbell (23) charges through two UCLA tacklers as he gains 7 yards after taking handoff from QB Tom Sherman, rear, in first period at University Park, Pa. Others are Andy Herrera of UCLA and Tom Jackson (63), right, of Penn State. UCLA won 17-15. (AP Wirephoto)

The only football game ever played between Army and Southern Methodist resulted in a 14-13 Army victory in New York in 1928.

CHIEFS BOMBARD MIAMI, BUFFALO NUDGES DENVER

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Len Dawson, Kansas City's conservative quarterback, was at his ad lib best but Bob Scarpitto, Denver's impromptu punter, would have been better off sticking to his script.

Dawson hurled five touchdown passes, touching off the spree with a 77-yarder on a broken play, as the Chiefs bombed Miami 41-0 in the American Football League Sunday.

Scarpitto, trying to run from punting position on a fourth down, was swarmed under by Buffalo defenders, giving the Bills possession and setting up Buffalo's 17-16 victory over Denver.

In Sunday's other game, San Diego rallied behind John Hadl for a 31-31 tie against Boston. Saturday night, New York knocked off previously-unbeaten Oakland 27-14.

In the National League, Green Bay whipped Detroit 27-17, Dallas squeezed past Washington 17-14, Philadelphia walloped Atlanta 38-7, Baltimore routed Chicago 24-3, St. Louis topped Minnesota 34-24, New York ripped New Orleans 27-21 and San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 27-24. Saturday night it was Cleveland 21, Pittsburgh 10.

Dawson, the AFL's all-time leading passer, has often been criticized for sticking too firmly to the game plan and not innovating on plays.

But he was unconventional enough for the Chiefs on their first TD, a razzle dazzle maneuver that left the Dolphins stunned for the rest of the day.

"It was an off-tackle play," explained Dawson, who started the move by handing off to Mike Garrett. "But Mike got stopped. I hollered for him to throw me the ball."

Otis Taylor, whose assignment on the play was to block the safety man, wound up with a TD instead. "I saw Mike was in trouble," said Taylor, "so I came back to help out. Then I heard Lenny hollering for the ball, so I just turned around and started running downfield."

Garrett lateralled to Dawson and the quarterback threw for Taylor. "I was going to run with it," he said, "but I saw Taylor downfield so I threw to him. I figured he could make more yardage than I could."

Dawson was right. The play made 77 yards and was the first of five scoring pitches for the veteran quarterback. Over all he completed 13 of 23 for 250 yards as the Chiefs buried Miami.

Scarpitto, who had pulled off six straight successful runs from punting position, had the string broken but good by the Bills.

Denver was leading 16-10 in the fourth quarter when Scarpitto gambled and lost in a fourth and 11 situation. A 15-yard penalty for piling on the poor punter pushed the Bills back to Denver's 44 but six plays later Keith Lincoln barreled in for the tying touchdown and Mike Mercer kicked the decisive extra point.

Hadl brought the Chargers back with a pair of fourth quarter TD passes that tied Boston. Hadl hit Willie Frazier with a four-yard scoring pitch and Lance Alworth on a 24-yarder. He completed 17-of-29 for 249 yards in the game.

Jim Nance and Babe Parilli had guided the Patriots into the early bulge. Parilli, who completed 17-fof-34 for 264 yards, threw for a pair of touchdowns and Nance scored twice, picking up 127 yards on 29 carries.

The Raiders suffered their first setback of the season when New York defeated them 27-14 Saturday night. Emerson Boozer, the league's leading scorer, ran for 98 yards on 18 carries and scored two TDs, running his season's total to eight.

Injuns Scalp Tiger Netmen

SEMINOLE — The Injuns scalped the Snyder Tiger tennis team 9-3 here Saturday in a dual match.

Winners for the visitors included John Phillips, in the No. 1 boys singles; Bruce Almond in the No. 4 boys singles; and, Phillips and Ronnie Maddux in the No. 1 boys doubles.

Phillips defeated Marvel Bailiss 6-2 4-6 6-2, then teamed up with Maddux to beat Bailiss and Skeet Doss 3-6 8-6 6-3 in the doubles match.

Almond won over Larry Upham 3-6 10-8 6-3.

The other Tiger entrants lost their matches, although some of them were close. Losses were sustained by Maddux, Terry Book, Book and Almond (in a doubles match), Deanna Boles, Linda Miller, Patsy Miller, Rose Hartley, Boles and Patsy Miller (doubles) and Linda Miller and Hartley (doubles).

Toros Rip West Texans

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Antonio and Tulsa take the week off, giving the other teams a chance to slow the Texas Football league leaders' runaway race for division honors.

Undefeated San Antonio made it eight in a row Sunday with a 42-10 victory over Odessa-Midland, marking the fifth time this season the Toros have surpassed 40 points in a game, while Tulsa edged Wichita Falls 28-20 Saturday for its sixth triumph against two losses.

The Toros hold a 3½ game lead over Pasadena and Dallas in the East Division and Tulsa has a three-game margin over Odessa-Midland, the Thunderbirds' only challenger, in the West.

Pasadena, 4-3, is at Wichita Falls, 1-7, Saturday and Dallas, also 4-3, goes to Odessa-Midland, 3-5. In other games, Fort Worth, 1-6, faces Sherman-Denison, 3-4.

San Antonio, held to two yards rushing by the Comets, picked up 332 passing, including touchdown tosses ranging from nine to 83 yards.

Rebels Win 3rd 1-Point Victory

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For a young man still two weeks removed from his 20th birthday, Skipper Butler shows a poise generally associated with more experienced players.

The Texas at Arlington sophomore won two games and contributed significantly to two other victories with his foot in the Rebels' undefeated football season.

Arlington made it four in a row last Saturday night when Butler kicked a 36-yard field goal with 6:34 to play for a 17-16 victory over McNeese State. He also kicked the extra point after Keith Luft's third quarter touchdown and Mike Baylor's game-tying score in the fourth period.

It was Arlington's third consecutive triumph by one point, and for the four games it has a winning margin of six points.

The 179-pounder from Gladewater, who led the Rebels in scoring with 40 points as a freshman last year with eight field goals and 16 extra points; opened the current season with a 35-yard field goal and two extra point kicks that were the difference in a 17-14 win over Los Angeles State.

The next week he kicked the only extra point he tried although it was a two-point pass conversion play that beat New Mexico State 15-14 with 5:04 left in the game.

On the third Saturday, his conversion kick with 1:42 remaining to be played provided a 7-6 triumph over East Texas State and brought Arlington a seventh place rating in the weekly Associated Press college division poll.

Arkansas State, last week's third ranked team, suffered its first defeat Saturday night when the Citadel of the Southern Conference rolled to a 20-7 victory.

In other games, Lamar Tech overpowered the Quantico Marines 41-6 as Kenny Montgomery returned a kickoff 91 yards for one touchdown and scored another on a 72-yard run, and Trinity lost 31-0 to Southeastern Louisiana.

Lamar Tech, co-champions with Arlington last year, opens the Southland Conference race at Abilene Christian Saturday night.

Non-conference action has Arlington and Trinity at home against Tarleton State and Angelo State and Arkansas State goes to Louisiana Tech.

Prince Enters Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — Prince Charles, Britain's future king, began his college career as a freshman at Cambridge Sunday and was greeted at the main gate by Lord Butler, master of Trinity College.

A crowd of about 1,000 persons, mostly women and girl students from nearby schools, shouted, "Good old Charlie Boy" to the 18-year-old prince.

Trinity's 700 resident undergraduates are all men.

His senior tutor, Dr. Denis Marrian, said, "We will treat the prince as normally as possible. I am sure he will be accepted easily."

Charles will study archeology and anthropology for at least two years at Cambridge. Once the domain of the rich, the majority of the university's student body now come from state schools.

Gets Sanger Award

NEW YORK (AP) — John D. Rockefeller III, board chairman of the Population Council, Inc., has been awarded the annual Margaret Sanger award in world leadership, it was announced Sunday.

RACE-RIOT DAMAGES

Grim Returns Trickling In

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Urban rioting triggered by racial hatred has caused more than $100 million in property damage in 1967—with the grim returns still trickling in.

Additionally, cities, counties and states have spent millions for police and fire department overtime and the calling up of National Guard units, an Associated Press survey showed today.

More than 16,000 persons have been arrested during outbreaks of violence in 67 cities, more than 3,200 injured, 85 killed.

Courts dealing with criminal charges arising from the riots will be clogged for months. In Detroit, 2,318 persons bound over on felony counts were awaiting trials at the end of August. Most of them were free on bail.

By mid-September 779 had been indicted on criminal charges in Newark and another 87 cases were up for grand jury action.

Damage estimates by responsible officials and members of the business community ranged from a staggering $83 million in Detroit and $10,231,200 in Newark to $300 in Lima, Ohio, and Prattsville, Ala.

Detroit's bill for police overtime and destruction of equipment topped $2 million. Fire department overtime came to $750,000 and loss of damaged equipment to $82,500. In Boston, police and fire department overtime totaled $168,800; damage to equipment $152,500.

Minneapolis had $22,500 in police overtime, $8,300 in firemen's overtime and a $42,700 tab for calling out the National Guard.

Philadelphia discouraged possible disorder by putting its police on 12-hour shifts from July 27 to Sept. 1. The overtime cost: $5.1 million.

Police overtime in other cities where tension exploded into violence included $58,287 in Tampa, Fla., $55,540 in Portland, Ore., $50,923 in Phoenix, Ariz., $127,000 in Toledo, Ohio.

Approximately 850 Michigan state troopers earned $226,800 in overtime while helping quell violence or prevent it in Detroit, Pontiac, Grand Rapids, Flint and Saginaw.

A week's occupation of Cambridge, Md., by the National Guard cost $150,000.

In the end, all of these extraordinary costs must be born by taxpayers.

Some taxpayers, including businessmen, home owners and insurance companies hit by riots, may retrieve part of their losses through federal income tax deductions.

The Internal Revenue Service says businessmen and home owners may deduct losses caused by vandalism and looting, and insurance companies may deduct extra payments on policies covering riot damage claims.

Serious losses of business by firms in areas involved in rioting were reported in many cities.

In most cities which experienced rioting, there has been a high rate of dismissal of cases against arrested persons.

Buffalo, N.Y., had 185 arrests during a racial disturbance on June 27, 28 and 29. Of the first 66 cases to reach the courts, 22 were dismissed.

Frank Felicetta, Buffalo's police commissioner, said the main problem was to obtain positive identifications of suspects. He explained that in quelling a riot police make wholesale arrests and may be unable to single out specific persons when the cases finally are heard, weeks or months later. Police arrested 489 students in a May 16-17 campus riot at Texas Southern University in Houston, Tex. All but five were released without facing charges.

In Detroit, 7,207 persons were arrested. Ultimately, 1,363 were charged with felonies. So far, 197 of the felony charges have been dropped. Most of the cases are pending.

The Boston police arrested 110. Most were charged only with disturbing the peace, and the charges were dismissed. Three drew three-month jail terms upon conviction of assault charges. All have appealed.

Firemen in many cities have complained bitterly about what they regard as lack of effective court action against hoodlums who attack them while they are trying to fight fires.

The International Association of Fire Fighters recently asked the Senate Judiciary Committee for federal legislation to protect firemen in riot areas.

Cities which have suffered heavy property destruction this year include Cincinnati, $3.5 million, Tampa, Fla., $2 million, Milwaukee, Boston and New Haven, Conn., about $1 million apiece, Minneapolis, $400,000, Pontiac, Mich., $350,000, Cambridge, Md., $300,000, Houston, Tex., $28,000, Plainfield, N.J., $250,000, Grand Rapids, Mich., $250,000, and East St. Louis, Ill., $200,000.

Some other figures:

Elgin, Ill., $155,000, Cairo, Ill., $100,000, Dayton, Ohio, $175,000, Erie, Pa., $150,600, Wichita, Kan., $105,775, Buffalo, N.Y., $165,875, Toledo, Ohio, $136,615, Englewood, N.J., $100,000.

Charges Ready In Euless Holdup

FORT WORTH (AP)—Charges were to be filed today against two youths in connection with the Saturday night robbery of a Euless supermarket in which one man was killed and three persons wounded.

Euless Chief of Police W. M. Sustaire identified the dead man as Odell Blankenship, 21, of Irving, one of the three bandits who took part in the holdup.

The two other bandits were captured. One had been wounded by Euless Police Sgt. T. R. Eddings.

Two customers were wounded slightly. One of them, Larry Joe Howard, 26, of Fort Worth, was shot Blankenship after wresting a pistol from the bandit.

WE CAN TAKE ACTION

Intelligent Pace

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Snyder Daily News is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie course as a means of training and developing community and area leaders. This article is one in a series written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Program in West Texas.)

• • •

By WARREN QUINLAN

Adversity ordinarily is a better teacher than prosperity. Too often having an overabundance pampers one's mind, while being without and sacrificing trains and strengthens the mental powers.

Before any of us can plot a plan of intelligent action, we need to condition ourselves mentally, preparing for the pressures of adversity in a mature manner.

Early last year the bitter sting of adversity fell on Mike when he moved to a small West Texas community from a large metropolitan city. Because he was overly eager to make a favorable impression with his customers and new acquaintances, he became increasingly impatient with the slower pace of everyday living which existed in the community. Instead of resetting his immediate and long-range objectives, he began condemning the region and its residents. After a few months, Mike's environment controlled him, instead of him controlling his environment.

As Mike became more critical, he strayed further and further from the "track of practical adjustment" to local activities. Nothing seemed to reach a level of approval. Anyone who would listen soon became aware that "the water was horrible, and the sandstorms were a throwback to the Dust-Bowl days of the past." Naturally, most persons did not enjoy his remarks — many disagreed openly, and soon all avoided Mike and his one-note dialogue. Mike was growing older, but NOT growing up.

Centuries of experience have proven almost all of us are much more disturbed by our opinions of the things that happen than we are by the events which actually happen. In spite of the fact Mike experienced difficulty adjusting. He compounded his problem by giving in to his feelings, thereby adding a sour note of self-pity. Actually, Mike saw himself as a long suffering soul exiled to the never-never land of Nothingville.

Normally, the difference between what we are and what we want to become lies largely in our mental attitudes.

Mike needed to amend his resentment that the community was short-changing him, because he had not even presented a down payment to the community.

After Mike agreed he "possibly" could be over critical, he accepted the idea that success in anything is based on action with a clear understanding of the basic facts. Whether the project is job, family, or even a personal relationship, happiness is in action, and DOING is the thing.

Intelligent and mature adults do what is right and in time they become accustomed to doing it.

While Mike stopped living his new life like a Greek tragedy, he became a part of the community by involving himself in two welfare projects and a youth group for high school students. As he "dug deeper" and became better informed, he felt the pulse of "his" community, and his cold prejudices melted with the warm effort of his enthusiasm.

Now, Mike is maintaining his pace and acting intelligently. Since he has substituted a healthier point of view, his acceptance of former petty irritations proves that our thinking habits can be altered. No, we don't have to change ourselves, but we do have to find ourselves to become our real self.

We have this opportunity when we allow ourselves to be trained so we can apply intelligent action where our efforts will provide the most effect.

Immigrants Worry Many Afrikaners

By KENNETH L. WHITING
Associated Press Writer

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — One road leads into South Africa. Another leads out. Paradoxically, both entry and exit are worrying some of the nation's white leaders.

On one hand, educators are concerned about a "brain drain." On the other, there's a crossfire of religious and racial bickering, together with political jockeying, about freshly arrived "new South Africans."

Many in the ruling Nationalist party regard immigration as a necessary evil to be watched carefully. Cabinet ministers regularly assure suspicious Afrikaners that their culture is not threatened.

Most Afrikaners are of Protestant Dutch and Huguenot French stock descended from Boer settlers who pioneered the interior of what is now South Africa. They developed the Afrikaans language mostly from 17th century Dutch.

Afrikaners worry that too many Roman Catholic immigrants, most of them from Mediterranean countries, will be admitted. They fear that these newcomers will join the more liberal English-speaking community, question the policy of apartheid, neglect to learn Afrikaans and dilute Afrikaner political dominance.

Afrikaners deny charges of discrimination, however.

Immigration is needed for skilled jobs in South Africa's booming economy. The 12.4 million blacks are permitted to hold only a handful of skilled [illegible] about 3.5 million and there are some 1.8 million mixed-blood persons officially classified as colored.

Since 1960, more than 140,000 persons have settled here. Most came from Britain, Rhodesia and Zambia. Other sources were Portugal, West Germany, Greece, Italy and Holland.

At the same time, coloreds have been drifting away from South Africa. A Canadian Embassy spokesman said 335 emigrated to Canada last year and 274 left in the first six months of 1967. Mny were doctors, lawyers and skilled tradesmen.

Canada seems a favorite goal because work is available, employment permits are not required in advance as in Britain and the rate of pay is not determined by skin color.

Statistically, the government can show that immigrants have exceeded emigrants sixfold in the last four years, but the skills of those coming in may not match those of people leaving.

South Africa's 550,000 Indians ignore an Asian repatriation plan introduced by the nationalists in 1948. Indians desiring repatriation are given free passage plus a small bonus. Only four Indians used the plan last year.

Crash Claims Eighth Victim

GIDDINGS, Tex. (AP) — An eighth motorist died Sunday from injuries in a highway crash so violent that one of the two cars was torn in half.

The collision occurred during a rain storm near Lincoln, a South Central Texas village nine miles north of Giddings in Lee County.

State patrolman James R. Peters said a car driven by Alvin A. Pampell Jr., 19, of Houston skidded sidewise into the path of an automobile operated by Julian S. Perez Jr., 24, of Lockhart, and the Pampell vehicle was ripped in two. Both were among those killed.

The latest victim was Dennis Nowotnik, 19, of Houston, who died Sunday at a Giddings hospital.

Others injured fatally were Larry Lewzader of Albuquerque, N.M., also a passenger with Pampell; Dorothy Perez, 21, and Calvin Perez, 18 months, the wife and daughter of the other driver; Mrs. Tanisalda Perez, 58, of Bryan, and her grandson, Roberto Medina, 8.

School Consolidates Administrative Offices

SAN ANGELO (AP) — All administrative offices for the San Angelo School System have been consolidated under one roof —in what has been the city's oldest school building. Built in 1884, the structure contains stones from Tom Green County's first courthouse, located in the now-defunct town of Ben Ficklen, which was destroyed in an 1882 flood.

For the past several years the building has been used as a junior high. Its interior has been renovated and modernized.

RADIATOR MAN AT WORK — Frank D. Stephenson, the "Radiator Man," is shown repairing a radiator in his Snyder Radiator Service at 1105 Avenue T. The firm specializes in all types of radiator repairs. You can check with Frank at his shop or at 2503 Avenue U to see if the cooling system of your car is in proper condition before putting in anti-freeze for cold weather.

Radiator Check Advisable At This Season Of Year

Fall is the time of year when many motorists are thinking about having a checkup on the cooling systems of their automobiles. A good place to have the checkup made is at Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T, owned by Frank Stephenson, the "Radiator Man." If you don't find Frank there, you can check at 2503 Avenue U.

But, don't wait until the last minute when the "Radiator Man" is snowed under. Drop by soon and let him check your radiator with his modern testing equipment. It doesn't take much time and may save you money and problems later on.

Radiators should be pressure checked for leaks in the radiator, hoses, water pump and seals, cylinder-heads and engine block before antifreeze is put in the car.

Stephenson operates the oldest continuous radiator service in town. Over the years, Snyder Radiator Service has gained a wide reputation in West Texas for the quality and efficiency of its service. You can trust Frank to give you an honest apprisal of your radiator needs.

Snyder Radiator Service has a complete line of new cores and new radiators to fill virtually all makes and models of cars. In addition, the company carries many types of radiators for farm or heavy industrial use.

For top quality work at economical prices, just call the Radiator Man at HI 3-4131.

IN WORLD WEATHER WATCH

Sensational Advances Seen

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The day after war broke out between Israel and the Arab states, someone called the government' sweather eye satellite center and asked if any of America's satellites had taken a picture of the war zone.

"Sure," said the scientist who took the call, "we have a fine one, showing that whole area of the world, including land and water areas, the day the war broke out."

"Does it show that American ship that was torpedoed in the Mediterranean?" asked the caller.

"Well, no," replied the scientist. "After all, the picture was taken from an altitude of nearly 900 miles."

Thereupon, the caller lost all interest.

True, the televised picture from space depicts no signs of battle action on that historic day. It was never intended to do so. But it is a dramatic example of the photographic miracles being performed daily by America's growing family of weather-snooping spacecraft as they wheel high above the planet.

Government weathermen say the "flying hat box" satellites already are helping them improve their day-to-day forecasts for the nation.

And they say this is presumably true for weathermen in various foreign nations, including the Soviet Union, to whom American weather satellite data credited by government meteois quickly relayed.

The weather satellites are credited by government meteorologists with achieving major breakthroughs in spotting the birth of hurricanes and other great tropical storms—perhaps saving thousands of lives and millions of dollars in property damage in the six years since the first pioneering Tiros satellite was launched.

Now the weather satellites, operated by the Department of Commerce, are being prepared for key roles in a proposed international effort — called the "World Weather Watch" — which is aimed at sensational advances in weather forecasting on a global scale.

Top weathermen say that if all goes well with the "Weather Watch" concept, it should be possible in 10 to 15 years to forecast the weather for any point on earth two weeks in advance — resulting in enormous economic benefits to the nation and the world.

The World Weather Watch — WWW — grew out of an appeal made by President John F. Kennedy to the United Nations in 1961.

At present, adequate weather data is obtained from less than 20 per cent of the globe. Weathermen say this puts great limitations on the quest for long-range forecasting, and even affects the accuracy of day-to-day forecasting for specific local areas.

Under the weather watch plan, at least several satellites would be deployed — perhaps including one or more in so-called synchronous orbits about 22,000 miles above the earth. The others would be in polar orbits at lesser altitudes.

The system would be such that the high-flying satellites would make observations of their own—such as taking television pictures of the earth's cloud cover—and also collect information from balloons, ships and buoys for instantaneous relay to the earth.

High-speed computers would digest all these observations — along with mathematical equations constituting "models" of atmospheric action — and make forecasts.

Summing up the powers, as well as the limitations, of the satellites, Arthur Johnson, deputy director of the satellite center, said: "The satellite, no matter how you slice it, is the only weather vehicle that can see every place on earth—but it can not measure every thing."

Eighteen weather-eye satellites—including some designed only for research—have been launched by the United States since April 1, 1960, by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

These include 10 Tiros satellites; two Nimbus craft; an ATS-1 research satellite in a 22,000-mile-high "synchronous" orbit above the Pacific and five ESSA satellites, the latter designed for an operational system.

All are whirling in orbits averaging 450 miles high for the Tiros brigade and nearly 900 for the ESSA. All have travelled many millions of miles through space, and together they have transmitted hundreds of thousands of useable televised pictures to earth stations.

Of those designed for operational use, however, only four of the ESSA are still meteorologically useful.

Two of the four operational ESSAs are equipped with automatic picture transmission — APT — cameras, nicknamed "instant weather" cameras.

They take and automatically transmit photographs of regional cloud cover to suitably-equipped APT receiving stations near the orbital path of the satellite.

The government knows of some 200 such receiving stations in the United States and various foreign countries including at least two in the Soviet Union.

The TV cameras aboard the other two ESSA satellites take pictures and store them on magnetic tape for later transmission, in the form of electrical signals, to Command and Data Acquisition Stations located respectively at Wallops Island, Va., and Gilmore Creek, near Fairbanks, Alaska.

The picture signals received at the two stations are recorded again on magnetic tape and immediately transmitted to the National Environmental Satellite Center at Suitland, Md.

At NESC, the signals are projected on special television screens and photographed by 33mm cameras. Geographical information — including coast lines and latitude and longitude grids—prepared by special computers are electronically combined with the picture signal to provide location information.

Then, meteorologists use the gridded photographs to produce cloud-cover maps, called "nephanalyses" from the Greek word "neph" meaning cloud.

Data also is collected from the many areas by special centers in Moscow and Melbourne, Australia — but only the APT American station are currently the three world meteorological centers of the United Nations. There's also a weather link between the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany at Offenbach.

Together, these worldwide stations furnish 1.5 million bits of information to help generate two basic daily national forecasts for the United States, plus nearly 300 other "products" including guidance to other countries in their own forecasting; forecasts aids to some military weather services; and special forecasts for jet aviation operations.

Candy Barr Entertains At Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Old grad Candy Barr came back to entertain Sunday at the Texas Prison Rodeo and cheering inmates gave her a bouquet of cotton stalks to "convey our sentiments."

The former Dallas stripper, who has returned to Sunset Strip in Hollywood since her release from prison, received the gift from a delegation led by Glenn Gustafson of Satsuma, Tex.

Candy observed that the convicts in Texas prison farms "pick about 10,000 bales of cotton each year and love every minute of it." She pecked a kiss on Gustafson's cheek.

A crowd of about 20,000 saw 50 inmates compete twice in the hard money event because none was able to grab a sack with the $50 prize off the horns of the first bull—the animal kept most of them climbing the fences.

Aaron Reed of Hereford was able to get close enough as a second bull charged across the arena and snatched the prize.

A big Brahman bull kicked Clarence Whitlock of Odessa on the head in the mad scramble opening the rodeo, an event with 10 contestants riding 10 bulls. A doctor said Whitlock escaped serious injury.

In the girls' barrel race for non-inmates, Linda Hawley of Cypress was bucked off her horse and shaken up as she hit the ground but was not hurt.

James Gibson of Victoria kept a cigar clenched in his teeth throughout as he won the saddle bronc riding. O'Neal Browning of Dallas was runner-up.

Other winners:

Mad scramble—1. Ralph Gilbert, San Angelo; 2. Alfred Gray, LaPorte; 3. Clemith Luddington, Bay City.

Bareback bronc riding — 1. Mac Butler, Huntsville; 2. O'Neal Browning, Dallas; 3. Gail Hall, Odessa.

Wild horse race—1. Gail Hall; 2. James Tindol, Big Spring; 3. Mac Butler.

Bull Riding—1. Theodore Miller, Edna; 2. Vernon Abbott, Iowa Park; 3. Gail Hall.

Calf tussle—1. George Daltwas and Ernest Archambault; 2. Robert Ratcliff and Frank Bell; 3. Willie Gregg and L. V. Morris.

USDA Studies Farm Prosperity

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — If automobiles, telephones and home freezers are good indicators of material well-being, the west leads the nation insofar as farm family prosperity is concerned.

Next in line are farm operator families in the north central states, followed by those in the northeast, with those in the south being at the bottom of the [illegible].

The Agriculture Department has completed a study, using Census Bureau information as well as its own statistics, on the economic well-being of farmers as it found them in 1964 compared with 1950 and 1959.

Among the states Arizona ranked first. But it would not have placed this high, the department said, if five of its counties had not been omitted because of their Indian reservations.

The department developed an index for measuring the material condition of farm operator families. This index used these five factors: (1) the average value of products sold per farm; (2) the average value of land and buildings per farm; (3) the percentage of farms with telephones; (4) the percentage of farms with home freezers, and (5) the percentage of farms with automobiles.

The department reported the standard of well-being by counties as well as of states. Imperial county in California ranked tops for the country with an index of 378. This index gave a value of 100 to the U.S. county well-being average in 1959.

The report showed that the economic well-being of farm operator families as a whol eimproveb 22 per cent between 1959 and 1964. The national average the latter year was 122. Hence, by this it is seen that the top county—Imperial in California with an index of 378—was well off indeed.

But the standard was far below the national average in some counties. Breathitt County in Kentucky was given a 1964 index of 46.

How did the top county stack up 79 peg cent of its farm operator families had telephones, 58 per cent home freezers and 82 per cent automobiles. In these regards it was outranked by several other counties, but the factors that put it on top were the facts that the combination of the values of its farms and their product sales led all other counties—$443,519 and $243,712, respectively.

Breathitt County in Kentucky, by comparison, showed only 30 per cent o2the familiey had telephones, 34 per cent home freezers and 38 per cent cars. The value of its farms averaged $5,818 and the average of its farm sales was $994 a year.

"Southern states have the lowest level-of-living indexes, in spite of substantial gains made since 1959," the department said. "Florida and California gaines the most—32 points each. ANB(?)S AND New Mexico ma the next highest gain of 31 points each.

"Georgia and Texas, with an increase of 28 points each, held third place. Alabama and Mississippi were fourth with a gain of 27 points each, and Louisiana was third with a gain of 25 points."

The department said that although most of the Southern states increased their level of living indexes more than other states, their relative position improved in only a few instances. With the exception of Florida, all of the advances in rank were in the West South Central region. Mississippi, in spite of a great increase in its index, had the lowest rank of the states.

The position of the states in the ranking of their indexes: Arizona 1; California 2; Nevada and Hawaii tied for 3 and 4; Wyoming 5; Montana 6; Colorado 7; Nebraska 8; Illinois 9; Connecticut and Iowa tied for 10 and 11; Delaware 12; New Jersey 13; Oregon 14; Idaho 15; Washington and Kansas tied for 16 and 17; Florida 18.

South Dakota 10; Maryland and North Dakota tied for 20 and 21; Texas and New Mexico tied for 22 and 23; Indiana 24; New York and Minnesota tied for 25 and 26; Massachusetts 27; Pennsylvania and Ohio tied for 28 and 29; Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin tied for 30, 31 and 32; Utah 33; Michigan 34; New Hampshire 35; Maine 36; Louisiana 37; Missouri 38; Oklahoma 39; Georgia 40; Virginia 41; Alaska 42; North Carolina 43; South Carolina 44; Arkansas 45; Tennessee 46; Kentucky and Alabama tied for 47 and 48; West Virginia and Mississippi tied for 49 and 50.
