Major General Lassiter At San Antonio Orders Platoon Of Cavalry To Columbus, New Mexico

Keep Rebels Out

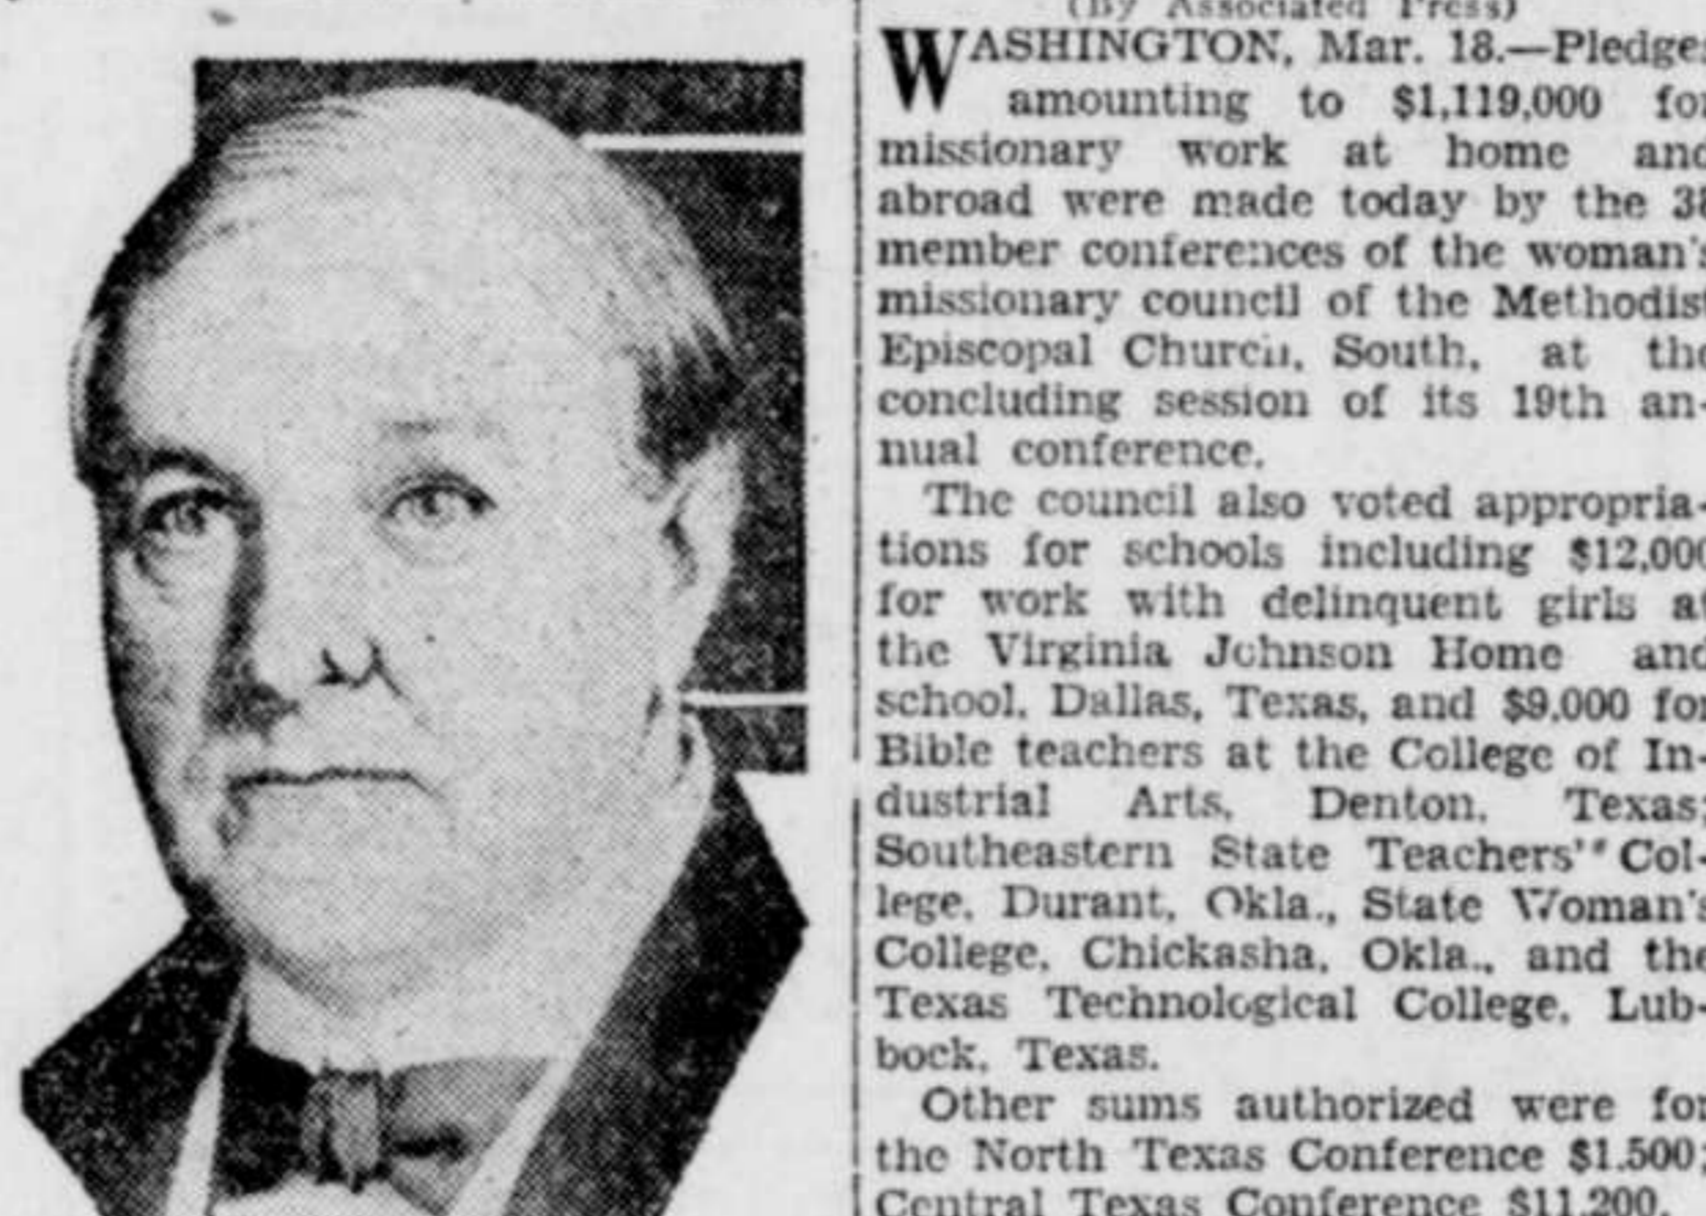

Orders From State Department Not Issued; 7,500 Men Available At Border Posts For Activities

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Mar. 18.—Movement of more American troops to Mexican border was in progress today presumably with a view of reinforcing American immigration officials as a precautionary step to stem a possible wholesale tide of rebel entry into this country.

Acting on his own authority, Major General William Lassiter, San Antonio, commander of the Eighth Army Corps area ordered a platoon of cavalry from Fort Bliss, El Paso to Columbus, N. M., and directed Brigadier General George Van H. Moseley, jr., commander of Fort Bliss, to make an investigation of general conditions at the border city of Columbus. Indications were that the American forces would stand by to give aid in the event it should be needed by immigration officials in dealing with the situation.

Air Officials See Great Chance For Big Growth Here

H. W. Harrington, Phillips And Travelair Advertising Representative, Says City Needs Good Airport

"The time will come when every city will be fortified with an up-to-date airport and the ones that do it first will receive the greatest benefits from aviation," said H. W. Harrington, advertising manager of the Phillips Petroleum company and the Travelair company, of Wichita, Kan., who made a visit here by air Sunday.

Mr. Harrington was here in connection with a good will trip of the Phillips company. Coming in a five-passenger monoplane, he was accompanied by L. Robert H. Gray, pilot; H. M. Hughes of Amarillo, division manager of the Phillips company; and M. W. Gray, advertising manager of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Mr. Harrington commended the city for its step in calling a bond election for an airport. "There is more chance for development here than any place I have visited in some time," he said. "The benefits of an airport from the standpoint of advertising alone will more than justify the expenditure of establishing one. A city with an airport is placed on government maps and is advertised throughout the nation as a progressive city."

"Without an airport," he continued, "a city has no chance of being on major airlines, which are becoming more and more important factors in commerce and trade. In the larger cities of the nation, classed as aviation centers such as Tulsa, Wichita, Kansas, and others, the transport companies are choosing the municipal fields in preference to building ones of their own. Their expenditures for hangars and equipment are making the fields the best in the world."

Gray Likes Field
Lieutenant Gray, formerly of Amarillo, who has been considered among the outstanding pilots of the nation since his service with England during the World War, made an air inspection of the city's proposed airport, stating that it would make an ideal field. He expressed a preference of a municipal owned field to a privately owned one.

The party arrived here Sunday morning and spent the afternoon taking local citizens for short rides over the city. He returned to Amarillo Sunday night.

JURY RECONVENES

Grand Jury Returns For Investigations Work

Resuming investigations of law infractions in the county, the Lubbock county grand jury reconvened Monday morning, after a recess of several weeks. The jury's investigations are to be aided by the assistance of Assistant District Attorney Burton S. Burks, in the absence of District Attorney Durwood Bradley, who was called to Bank, Ark., last week by the death of his father, J. W. Bradley.

T. J. BERRYMAN DIES

Funeral Services Are Held Sunday Afternoon

Funeral services for T. J. Berryman, 76, were held at the Lubbock cemetery Sunday afternoon, Rev. S. H. Erwin officiating, burial being under direction of Eymann Brothers. Berryman died Sunday morning at his residence, 818 Avenue B.

Surviving the deceased is his widow. He had been ill for the past several years.

ELEVEN FINES COLLECTED

Eleven fines resulted from weekend law violators, it was revealed in city court Monday morning. Six of the fines were of $15 each and for drunkenness, one was for $15 on a vagrancy charge, one of $10 for fighting, one of $20 for gaming and one of $1 for double parking.

During 1927 21,000 men, women and children lost their lives in automobile accidents in this country and 10 times as many were injured.

Are In Mix-Up Divorce Story Here Is Unique

Allowing his wife to pawn her ring that he might come to Lubbock to look for work, then using the money to obtain a divorce from her, and returning to live with her is the story alleged in a petition filed by the wife today in district court asking that the judgment be set aside.

It is charged that the husband came here from Rowell, N. M. and filed for divorce. The wife was served by citation after he said that he did not know where she resided.

After the divorce was obtained, it is said that he returned to Rowell and lived with her, without telling her that he had been decreed a divorce.

T.P. Plans Modern Big Spring Shops

J. L. Lancaster, President, Tells Of Plans For Improvements In Plant; To Construct Buildings

(Special To The Avalanche)
BIG SPRING, March 18.—In a conference with the city commission here this morning J. L. Lancaster, president of the Texas and Pacific railway announced the immediate construction of a super modern round house, machine shops, freight depot and warehouse, laying at rest the disturbing prospect that has often loomed before the people of this city, that the railway company might remove its shops and division headquarters from Big Spring.

Heavy additions will be made to the regular list of employees in the various departments which the railway company will station here permanently.

The announcement was made when the Texas and Pacific railway company became satisfied that an adequate water supply was obtainable. The commission having recently acquired the water rights on section thirty three adjoining the present water supply where a test well has been registering more than 300 gallons per minute. The water situation had been the only obstacle to beginning actual construction of the huge shops, now having been removed.

Too Few Shoes Pitchers Have Hard Time Playing

BEAUMONT, Mar. 18.—Revival of the old and honorable game of horse shoe pitching in Beaumont has revealed the fact that the ordinary shoe formerly used is not available in sufficient numbers for use on a large scale.

As a result a hurry up order has been sent for a supply of standard shoes made especially for pitching, and which conform to the specifications of the National Horseshoe Pitching Association.

Pitching courts are being laid off in practically all the city parks.

KUNZ FUNERAL HELD
Shallowater Man Dies Sunday Morning

Funeral services for Edward Kunz, 51, of Shallowater, who died Sunday morning following an illness of two weeks, were held at the Bynum Brothers chapel at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Rev. W. R. White, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Survivors include four brothers: William and George Kunz of Shallowater; Lewis Kunz, of Amarillo; and Pete Kunz, of Claremore; and three sisters, Mrs. J. V. Christian, of Falls; Mrs. V. Johnson, of Aransas Pass; and Mrs. G. W. Wyle, of Snyder.

The whistle of a locomotive reaches the highest altitude of all recorded sounds. It has been heard more than two miles above the earth.

Memorial Service Is Held At Church

Presbyterians Hold Services For Former Members; Mrs. Moxley Elected Delegate To Midland Meeting

At the close of the Presbyterian Auxiliary meeting at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon Dr. Jack Lewis conducted a beautiful memorial service for the four members who have died the past year. These members were Mrs. John F. Bacon, Mrs. Willie Adair Starnes, Mrs. Elmer Stotts, and Mrs. Don Jones.

Mrs. R. D. Moxley was elected a delegate to the Midland meeting to be held at Midland, April 16 to 18.

Since it is the close of the church year election of officers was held and reports for last year's work were given. The treasurer's report showed that the Auxiliary has raised more than the budget for the year called for in that the amount is $1,784.25; $430 more than last year's amount and an average of $12.62 per capita.

Reports Given. The reports on Sunday school and young people's work given by Miss Virginia McLean was especially favorable and a suggestion was made that more personal interest be taken with the Tech students and more cooperation be made with the Endeavor work.

The six chairmen reported excellent results and the historian read a history of the church. New officers listened to an inspirational address by Dr. Lewis. Mrs. Temple Ellis and Mrs. S. C. Wilson were re-elected as president and secretary of the Auxiliary, while Mrs. R. A. Studehalter and Mrs. Harley Woods were retired as secretary and vice-president, and Mrs. Albert Fryar and Mrs. Calvin Rensom were installed in the offices.

The six new chairmen who were elected were Mesdames A. H. Lehigh, R. D. Moxley, R. G. Kimmel, E. E. McLean, A. S. Schfield and J. B. Jackson.

Care Lightens Kitchen Worries

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

Most housekeepers take much pride today in a wide equipped kitchen and wise care as well as wise selection of utensils is needed if order and efficiency are maintained.

Each material from which the various equipment is made has its own special treatment and should be cared for accordingly. While certain materials are especially adapted to certain needs in cooking, all articles made from the same material require the same general care as they fry pans or muffin molds.

Aluminum is popular and practical and needs no special preparation to fit it for use in the kitchen. Many housewives object to the metal because so many foods to dissolve, but a certain choice of scouring powder makes it easy to remove stains. Certain brands of aluminum do not blacken as readily as others. Keep in mind that alkali is the darkening agent for aluminum and care for it accordingly. A neutral soap for washing wood for scraping (half a clothspin for cleaning and a wooden spoon for cooking) and very fine sandpaper or steel wool with thorough scalding and wiping will keep aluminum utensils in excellent condition.

Enamelware is Delicate. Enamel ware requires gentle handling since hard knocks make it chip. Neither will the average enamelware stand intense heat without checking, which leads eventually to chipping. It has little tendency to discolor and stains are easily removed with any scouring powder. Wood must be used for scraping or stirring in enamelware since metal scratches the glaze of the enamel and makes dark streaks. Hot soapsuds, thorough scalding and drying keep this material at its best. If food sticks and burns let the pan cool before putting water in it. Then soak and scrape off burned particles with wood. If the burning was bad and some of the spots obdurate melt a small amount of fat slowly in the pan and scrape again.

Glass is popular for ovenware and requires no special preparation if it's one of the brands specially constructed to withstand the strain of expansion and contraction. The glass measuring cups, mixing bowls and miscellaneous dishes used in the kitchen will wear better, if they are immersed in a panful of cold water and brought slowly to the boiling point and boiled for five or ten minutes. Let cool in the water. Wash in hot soapsuds, scald and dry well if you would keep your glass clear and shining. If food sticks it will usually soak off. Discoloration will disappear with an application of steel wool.

Removing Shellac. Iron utensils are often covered with a thin coating of some sort of shellac when shipped from the factory. This must be removed and the iron seasoned before using. Let the utensil stand for several hours in water in which washing soda has been dissolved. Wash in warm soapsuds and dry. Rub with unsalted fat and let stand in a warm oven for two or three hours and then heat to the smoking point. Let cool and wash in hot soapsuds, scald and dry. Rub well with fat and heat slowly and thoroughly in the oven. Wipe off the surplus fat with a soft crumpled paper and the utensil is ready to use.

All cooking utensils should be washed thoroughly in clean hot water, thoroughly rinsed in scalding hot water and thoroughly dried with a dry clean towel. Dampness encourages the growth of bacteria and produces an unpleasant odor of mustiness.

"Latin America" Is Mission Study

Spanish Motif Featured In Program Given At First Methodist Church Monday Afternoon

"Latin America" was the subject of a program on missions held Monday at the church, when sixty-odd members of the First Methodist Missionary society were in attendance, and the program was in charge of Mrs. J. C. Orr. The meeting, a quarterly affair, featured a combined mission and social meeting and devotionals bearing on the field of missions were conducted by Mrs. R. F. Dunn.

Mrs. J. D. Peters discussed "Brazil," Mrs. R. T. Campbell, "Our Work in Mexico," Miss Flora Foreman of Amarillo, who is now on a furlough in this country and who will attend the Northwest Texas District conference to be held at Plainview April 2-5.

The church parlors were decorated to represent the three countries of Mexico, Cuba and Brazil, and pot plants and spring blossoms presented the atmosphere of spring. During the social half hour a Spanish program was given as follows: Frances Campbell gave as a piano solo, "La Paloma" while "Ramona" was sung in Spanish by girls dressed as Spanish boys and girls and was accompanied on the piano by Sue Brown. Those singing were: Mary Evelyn Woodson, Ruth Love, and Frances Campbell.

Ladies of district one, were hostesses for the afternoon, and a Spanish refreshment plate featured with portulaca and black coffee. Plate favors were miniature colored maps of the three countries represented, and depicted the mission work being done together with churches, hospitals and schools conducted through the field of missions.

The Woman's Day By Allene Sumner

There are two "old age" human interest stories in the day's news—almost side by side. One concerns Mrs. Pina Preiskal of Passaic, N. J. Mrs. Preiskal, 72, died the other day believing that somewhere her son, Robert, who was in the World War, survived her.

Ten years ago a ward department telegram came, announcing Robert's death. Mrs. Preiskal's other children kept the telegram from her, and throughout the 10 years have kept up the deception that Robert lived. They took turns imitating his handwriting, sent letters to France to be remailed from there, and peace was kept in the mother's heart.

PETER NEEDED QUIET

Here's the other "old age" story. Peter Fitzpatrick, 63, father of nine children, had had 21 years of matrimony. The nine children, all sons, were grown and able-bodied. Five were married. Peter did not feel that his support for them was any longer necessary. He left home. He got a $1250-a-week job in a deaf and dumb infirmary. He liked it. It was quieter than matrimony with nine sons.

But Peter was haled into court the other day on a wife abandonment charge, though testimony revealed that the four unmarried sons were amply able to care for their mother, who complained because she had only $35 a week.

The judge sent Peter back to his nice quiet deaf and dumb asylum, but suggested that he pay his wife $250 of his $1250 a week, in order to relieve the strapping sons.

TOO FREQUENT A TALE

Oh, probably too much pity couldn't be wasted on Peter. After all, when a man creates nine sons he lets himself in for things that he should recognize. But even so, the spectacle of grown and able-bodied children taking as a matter of course support from aged parents just because the parents have always given it, and not only taking it, but also never assuming that the one charge to parents is to frequent as to be a bit ungrateful.

Not all children are like this, as the first story of filial devotion shows. To be sure, a sentimental nature is one thing and the economic mind another. Still, hard-hearted parents who let their children take care of the latter as well as the first.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barber
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

That mother who insisted upon her boy wearing curls and hats and long flannel suits until he was five or six years old passed on with the good old nannies.

But there lives many a man with soul still smarting but not dead, who a million times to himself hath said—well, all sorts of things, when he thinks of the things he had to endure in his early childhood as "Mama's Boy." Whether it was curls, lace collars and patent leather shoes, or some other tomfoolery that scared his soul with shame and branded itself in his memory, it was all the same. He got that feeling that he was different and the world was laughing at him, and he has never been able to shake it off since.

We have graduated from kilts and Lord Fauntleroy suits with lace collars, but are we sure, we mothers, that we aren't doing something equally reprehensible when we compel our children to wear things they loathe and despise?

Suppose your boy takes a certain dislike to a necktie. Perhaps someone at school made a remark about it, or perhaps it's a color he detests.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Exercise, exercise! Spring is coming, and exercise is good for your new, bright spring beauty! Are you weary of hearing about it—this exercise whose importance is stress so highly? Then listen just this once more, for the sake of your new spring figure and those new spring clothes you must wear! Exercise will improve them both—and yourself altogether.

Whether you want to stay as you are, firm and young or figure—your mirror and your scales, too, will tell you about what you should weigh—or whether you wish to gain or reduce, exercise will help you. It should supplement your diet. Which exercise? Almost all. Not too violent, not too long at a time, and not unpleasant kinds, but the kinds you like to do.

Setting-up exercises are fine to start off your busy day. They start your blood around on its course along fine, brisk, healthy tempo. And general gymnastics that you take all teacher's direction will correct the errors of your figure, especially if they are carefully planned to suit your particular needs. Gymnastics of the indoor type, like all indoor exercise, belong especially to the winter. They are fine in their way, but when spring makes it impossible to take yourself out of doors, when your favorite sport is of the outdoor club or the common garden variety, get out to do it!

Walk and walk and walk. In the country, if you can, although city streets are pleasanter than no walk at all in the springtime. In fact, city avenues and parks are quite charming at this time of year. And what to ride, if you are a horse-woman, for riding is delightfully social. And if you are not one who devotes her spare time to golf or tennis—healthy women, they plan to work yourself, in your garden. Don't leave the joy of spring gardening to your "hired man" or your gardener. Or skip rope, just as you did when a child. This exercise alone will make you healthy and young.

HOUSE PLANS

Tradition Holds Colonial House Must Be Of Wood

BY CORA W. WILSON
For NEA Service

MODERN architecture can't oppose history. Colonial houses must be lumber built. Too many notables of the early days of the republic are recorded as having passed through old Colonial doorways of oak into large wood-paneled living rooms to allow this style of house to be of anything but wood construction today.

The Colonial house shown here is copied from those early days. The millwork is of pine, shingles of redwood painted white, roof of wood shingles painted green, with red brick chimney and blue-green doors and shutters.

The house is long and low, having all the rooms on the main floor—a convenience any woman will appreciate.

One enters a friendly little porch and proceeds into a good-sized vestibule with a coat closet, then through glass doors into a well designed living room. Here one is greeted by a real old-fashioned fireplace with open book shelves; doors lead one to the enclosed porch on the right.

In back of this living room is a bath, modern in every respect, with two large bedrooms leading off a long hall. Each room has a large cedar closet and a linen closet is provided in the hall.

window where one can grow a lovely window box of posies. From here one wanders into an ideal, glossy white tiled kitchen, with every convenience installed for the housewife. A hallway separates the kitchen from the maid's room and bath.

Such a home will look as well in 50 years as it will when built and can be pointed out as one of those old-fashioned Colonial homes seen all over the United States.

For additional information and cost estimate write Mrs. C. W. Wilson, 420 Madison Avenue, New York City, and be sure to enclose the clipping from this newspaper.

Mack Sees Great Race Ahead; Says Yanks Are Team He Must Beat

NOT JUST ANOTHER TOWN
Thousands of tourists who pack up all their troubles in the old kit bag and "See America First" each spring and summer have other reasons than scenery for choosing the route they will take. The cities and towns of the country are judged by these travelers more from the standpoint of recreational facilities than from any other. Lubbock is fast coming to the forefront as one of those cities where the traveler is always willing to stop; one of those centers where the business man will drive a little out of his way to reach.

No other game has come into prominence so steadily as golf. It has become an integral part of the business man's life. Recent development in golfing facilities in this city has attracted widespread attention from outside centers. Outstanding along the forward steps taken have been the enlargement of the Lubbock Country club course from a nine to an 18-hole course, extending of playing rights to outsiders, employment of a permanent pro to stay on the grounds and the construction of a new public course by Grady Higginbotham.

Spring tournament at the local country club will get under way in a short time. The new pro has received interest among club members within the short space of time he has been here and hopes to put over a great program during the coming season. Three days of medal play will be held in order to work out a handicap list for the tournaments later on. This will give those in charge of the tournaments an opportunity to size up the ability of the golfers from all angles.

IT WON'T BE LONG
Tech baseball training starts today. Two rather important obstacles have stood in the way of the Matador diamond aspirants—adverse weather (mostly sandstorms) and final examinations. Now that the examinations are over and there is a slight prospect for some baseball weather the college chinks will start tossing the old again around this afternoon and within another week will start practice games.

The majority of college baseball teams have been in training for several weeks and for this reason the locals will have to step fast to get the kinks out before the playing starts. The outlook for a winning baseball team this season is unusually bright. Coach Higginbotham will have a veteran for practically every position on the field.

The schedule for the baseball team will be announced within a few days. Several deals now pending are yet to be heard from.

Agreement Does Not Affect Older Waner; Expect Both To Be In Fold Within Short Time

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 18. (AP)—Lloyd Waner has come to an agreement with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the management of the club announced here today. Waner is on his way here to sign his contract it was announced. Terms were not disclosed.

Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh Nationals, said the club is the younger of the two Waner brothers were fully satisfied. It is understood Waner was given a salary of 10,000 a year. Dreyfuss said no word had been received from Paul Waner the older brother. There were strong indications, however, that Paul would come to terms in the near future. It is reported that Paul is asking a salary of between $10,000 and $20,000. It is believed the Pirate management intends to come close to that figure.

The announcement of Waner's acceptance was confirmed here today by Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh club. Dreyfuss issued the following statement to Pittsburgh newspapermen who accompanied the team west for training. "The agreement does not affect Paul, his older brother, also holding out for an increase. Lloyd and I refused to make public the amount he agreed to."

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 18. (AP)—Lloyd Waner, famous holdout, late today confirmed San Francisco reports that he had reached a salary agreement with the Pittsburgh National League management. He will leave for the Pirates training camp in California tomorrow, he said.

Lubbock Gunners Hold Shoot Sunday

Large Turnout On Hand For Second Shoot Of Year; Weather Prevents Perfect Scores

The largest turnout of the year was on hand at the Lubbock Gun club grounds east of the city Sunday to see members of the local club engage in their second shoot of the year.

In spite of adverse weather conditions, the marksmen held the usual regulation match and two rounds of "skeet." No perfect scores were made.

In the official regulation match Fred Stanton broke 13 out of 25 to take high honors, while Sid Caraway came next with 22 out of 25. J. O. Dudley of Floydada tied Stanton's mark, but his shoot was not official.

Two rounds of "skeet" were run off with interest in the new range running high. Cy Goodson scored high in the first round with 19 out of 25. In the second J. O. Dudley of Floydada did even better with 20 out of 25.

Sid Caraway came third in the Skeet with 17 out of 25. Three prizes were awarded to the ranking marksmen. For the number event, Fred Stanton won the pen and pencil set; Sid Caraway took number two and received a pipe set; event number three went to J. O. Dudley of Floydada. This was a cigar set. Visitors from Tahoka and Floydada took part in the shoot.

College Deals

Written Exclusively for Avalanche By NORMAN E. BROWN
Central Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 18.—An emphatic defense of the policy of "dealing in futures" with college baseball stars, was voiced by President John A. Heydler of the National league, in an exclusive interview with the writer here in Florida, where the league head has been visiting the clubs of the circuit in practice.

Coupled with that defense was a scathing denunciation of clubs that "cover up" such dealings with the youngsters and an equally torrid denunciation of campus players who indicate, early, disregard for fair dealing with the various clubs seeking their services.

Cites Outen Case

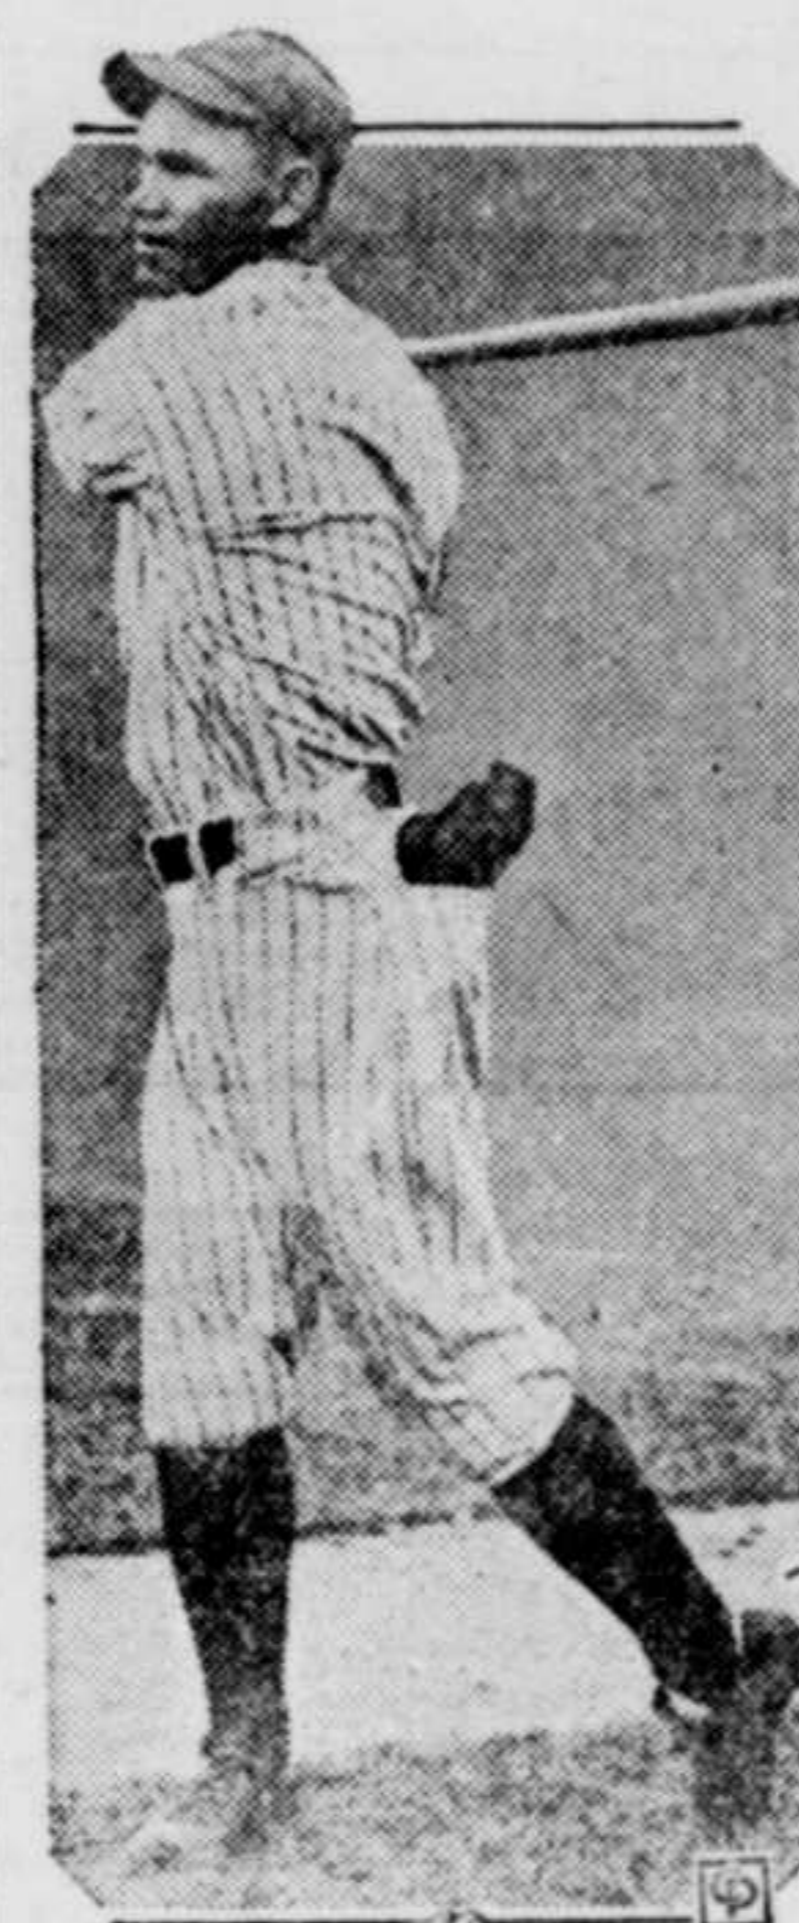

Heydler's remarks followed the mention of the recent activities of High Commissioner Landis in investigating several cases involving one or more of the angles mentioned above. One such case was that of "Chink" Outen, star of North Carolina State college. After signing a contract to play with the Charlotte club, of the South Atlantic league, Outen came to terms with a Yankee scout. Landis' investigation was double-edged, the commissioner probing the manner in which Outen was signed to his first contract and the extent to which the Yankee agent went in tampering with a player under contract.

Landis also is learning at first hand to what extent the willingness of big league clubs to "assist" likely looking ball players in planning their future has grown.

Baseball law permits agreements with college players regarding their services at the close of their college careers, but also demands that clubs register such agreements and include such men in the player limits set by the various leagues.

"There is no reason why a boy in college, having the physical and mental attributes that suggest a baseball career for him, cannot provide for his future, just as those pointing toward other professions must direct their efforts. Baseball is a profession today."

"Criticism has been hurled at baseball for alleged 'tampering' with college athletes. The time has come, however, when baseball must give thought to protecting itself against the unscrupulous element who have little regard for their word, agreements, or the ethics involved. A young college player who, given a chance to continue through college with the assurance that he can realize on his baseball ability eventually, and who then proceeds to show complete disregard for principles of fair dealing, should be dealt with as summarily as the manager, coach, scout or club owner who attempts to inveigle him into shady transactions.

Defends Baseball Leaders' "Every effort is being made by baseball leaders to force the clubs and officials of the club to live up to the spirit as well as the letter of the rules governing the acquisition of these youngsters but there are so many ways in which 'cover up' agreements can be negotiated—through friends, business associates, etc.—that it is next to impossible to wipe out the evil entirely as long as some men connected with the game feel inclined to step over the line."

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP)—The chin-cracking industry expects plenty of thrills Friday night when baby-faced Jimmy McLarnin and Ray Miller exchange wallop, also a big "gate," perhaps $100,000, which would be a record for Madison Square Garden at a top price of $10. This is the evidence of another

Not since the famous $100,000 international race at Belmont Park between Zev and Papyrus nearly six years ago has any turf classic attracted so widespread interest as the American bid for victory in the historic grand National steeplechase at Liverpool Friday.

American sportsmen have flocked to England for the event, where Yankee homebred hopes are pinned on the veteran Billy Barton, owned by Howard Bruce of Baltimore.

Tech Track Hopes Setback By Loss Of Cinder Stars

Woodriddle And Fisher Unable To Compete In Texas Relays March 29; Face Stiff Problem

Hopes for the Matador relay teams to place in the Texas Relays in Austin March 29 received a sharp setback when it was announced Monday that Charley Woodriddle will be ineligible for the team and that a leg injury would keep Leon Fisher from participating in the event.

Both Woodriddle and Fisher were sure to make the relay teams to represent Tech in both the Texas and S. M. U. relays at the end of this month. Loss of these stars will lessen the chances of the locals to make a showing in competition with the outstanding college track teams of the southwest and middle west.

Vaughn Corley and James Dallas are the only experienced relay tracksters left around who Coach Payne can develop a unit for the events this month. Lawrence and Hill, newcomers, may be used to fill the gaps left by Woodriddle and Fisher. Levi Walker and J. H. Tadlock, will also likely be used in one of the events.

Cinder stars of international fame will compete in special events at both the Texas and S. M. U. relays this year. Paavo Nurmi, the Finnish flash, plans to arrive in Austin by airplane from the Pacific Coast where he is to take part in the Los Angeles A. C. games next week.

Percy Williams, the Canadian flyer, who won the only race for America in the last Olympics, is also expected to enter. Ray Dodge of California is another olympic star who may take part.

Plan Medal Play At Country Club

A new pair of golf knickers will be given by McWhorter Roberts to the member of the Lubbock Country Club turning in the best middle scores in the course of a three-week medal play match which is to begin next Sunday. J. W. Byrne, new golf pro at the local course, announced yesterday.

In an effort to arouse interest among local golfers, this plan has been adopted with the ultimate aim of securing scores to be used in awarding handicaps for the spring tournaments which are to follow. Play will last through April 14.

Straight medal play must be adhered to strictly, Mr. Byrne explained. No match scores will be counted.

ELECT MANAGER

J. E. Payne Heads Baseball Club at Big Spring

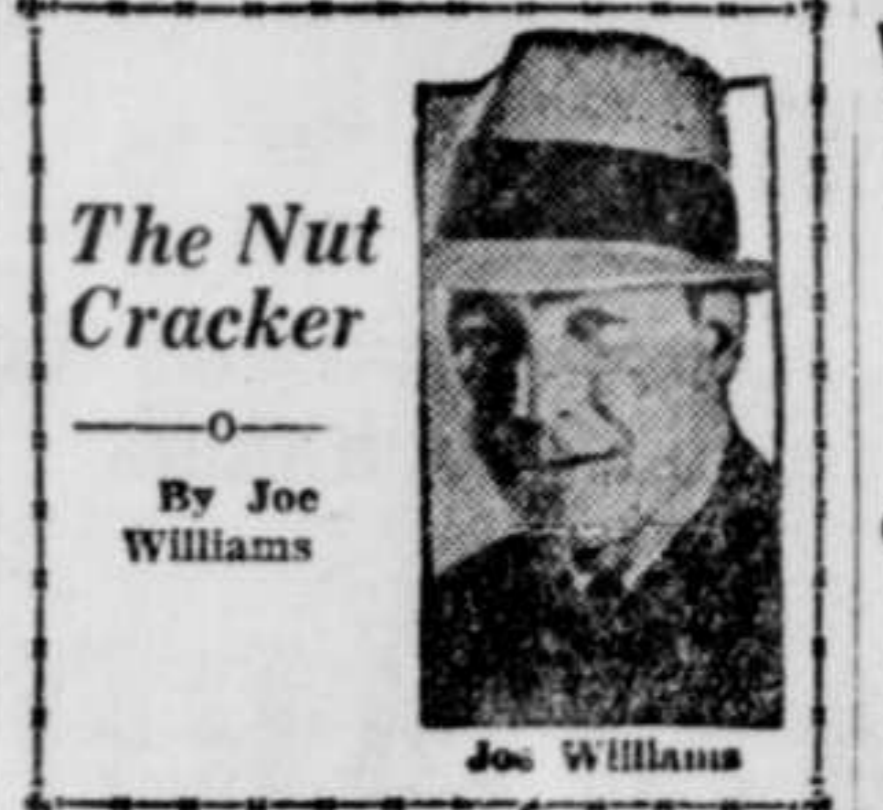

BIG SPRING, Mar. 18.—J. E. Payne has been selected as manager of the Big Spring baseball team for this season. The directors are: W. D. Coffee, Joy Fisher, Robert Currie, Tom Ashley, Rube Martin, Louie Hutto, R. L. Cook, Jack Ellis, R. V. Middleton, E. E. Fahrnkamp, Curtis, G. Condra, Frank Kirby, Joe McDrix, and Jim Black. A drive to finance the club will be made the early part of next week. Fourteen players have been signed for the club this season.

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, promoter, announced tonight he had persuaded Sammy Mandell, the "Rockford Sheik" to defend his lightweight championship against Ray Miller, the Chicago left hook artist, "some time in June." The fight, Dempsey said, probably would be held either in Detroit or New York.

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP)—Nando Tassi of Italy won over George Courtney, the "Oklahoma Cowboy," on a foul in the third round of their ten round bout at the Broadway arena tonight.

A new explosive, "radiomatonite," invented by a chemist of Los Angeles, is claimed to be many times more powerful than nitroglycerine or TNT.

The Nut Cracker
By Joe Williams

An editorial in the Cornell Sun rebukes the alumni for launching an investigation of the football situation. It would be nice, now and then, for a bona fide student to make the variety.

"Are not these well-meaning graduates attempting to drag us back to a school of thought whose roots are already dying?" The editorial asks. If you can dignify it by calling it a school of thought, yes.

The universities are changing a little in the old days, an undergraduate, when visited by his parent or parents, used to take them first to the room of the guy who had the original shoes Spike Kelly wore when he ran 90 yards to beat Yale.

But nowadays Spike Kelly is just like any other guy. He plays in the 2B league and he doesn't run 90 yards for touchdowns because he plays no better than the other players in the 2B league.

Beating one another has become a lot more fun than beating Yale. Yale is just another school, anyway.

And the alumni, the old boys who want to see the old school lar-rup every team it meets, the birds who will send to Utah to bring a blacksmith and an ironman to good Old Swiash so the old school can do it—well, be nice to them, they're old and they have old ideas.

Third Waner Will Play With Demons

ADA, Okla., March 18. (AP)—Travea Waner, double first cousin to Paul and Lloyd, will play ball with Des Moines of the Western league this year.

Travea tried out with the Pirates last year but failed to make the jump from sandlots to the majors. He is an outfielder.

Des Moines will train at Seminole, Okla., a short distance from Ada.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 18. (AP) Connie Mack, 66 years of age, 45 years in baseball and starting his 29th season as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, is as young as his rawest recruit and just as optimistic.

"We are coming along nicely, thank you," said the veteran of them all, when queried as to the progress of his team runner-up in the American league.

"The boys are getting in good condition—they will need it. I think we will have a great race in the American league. Of course, the Yankees are the team to beat. I am confident that the team that finishes ahead of the Yankees will win the pennant."

"All the other clubs appear to be stronger than they were. And we have a youngster or two who may help us. The Browns will be hard to stop. Washington was going strong at the close of the season and getting up where it belonged. Detroit almost certainly will do well. I have great respect for Harris as a manager. Both the Sox teams—Boston and Chicago—have added strength during the winter, and so has Cleveland. Just the other day the Clevelanders helped themselves by getting Bib Falk, a great player. I could have used him but I could not afford to make him only I traded by which I could have had him."

"But I have a great outfield—a truly great outfield. I have no worry about that. Simmons, Haas and Miller make up a great trio."

"The infield? Now I plan to play Orswell at first and Fox at third. 'Foxy' can play either first, third or anywhere else, but now third seems to be the place for him."

Manager Mack was asked about the chances of several collegians he has in his camp, notably Bill Breckenridge, Dartmouth, and Miller Brown, Missouri, pitchers, Redman Hume, Southern Methodist outfielder, and Nick Borelli, Kullenberg.

"The fate of the youngsters seems has not been decided. They are promising," he said, "but only time will tell to what extent they are developed. We will know more about them later."

Although nearing three score years and 10, Manager Mack apparently has no thought of retiring.

Lubbock County To Have Entries For Annual Dairy Show

Between 20 and 25 Head Of Fine Dairy Cows Will Be Sent From Here To Plainview Show

Lubbock county will have between 20 and 25 head of fine dairy cows on exhibition at Plainview, during the Second Annual Panhandle Plains Dairy Show, April 2 to 5, inclusive, County Agent D. F. Eaton announced Saturday.

The Lubbock county exhibit will include the famous Texas Technological college herd.

Word received here Saturday from Maury Hopkins, manager of the Dairy Show, brought the information that the association's permanent buildings have all been completed and are now being placed in readiness for the coming event, which is expected to be the greatest of its kind in the entire state of Texas this year. An attendance of not less than 25,000 or 30,000 is anticipated, officials state.

Executives Meet Wednesday

Mr. Eaton, who is president of the Panhandle Plains Dairy association, announces that an executive committee meeting of the organization has been called for Wednesday, March 27, at Plainview, at which meeting plans for holding this year's exposition will be made.

Attractions at the Show are to be principally the finest-bred, pedigreed, dairy cattle, every one of which will be of considerable educational interest to all farmers and dairymen of the Panhandle and South Plains. Representatives of the Texas Jersey Cattle club, the American Jersey Cattle club, the Holstein-Friesian association, will be among the thousands who will attend, as will be seen the nation's best known and most successful breeders of every class of dairy cow.

Seventy-five new uniforms with which to dress up Plainview's two municipal bands have been ordered by the Board of City Development. This includes 35 men's uniforms and 40 scarlet caps and sashes for the younger band.

Internal Health by Nature's Own Methods

If you are sick inside you are sick all over. When the stomach fails to digest its food, you are standing at the threshold of a series of ailments that may end in a complete physical wreck. Internal health means health throughout the body. Keep your stomach and other digestive organs clean and vigorous by giving them the natural stimulation of the roots, bark and herbs contained in Tanlac.

Tanalac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight.

Tanalac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, bark and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. For over 10 years it has been recommended by druggists who have watched its marvelous results. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle of Tanlac from your druggist and give it a thorough trial. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

FREE COOKING SCHOOL AND DEMONSTRATION

The many Lubbock housewives who saw and heard Mrs. Gertrude Goodenough Monday at our store, declare that they were very happy over the time they spent. Mrs. Goodenough is a marvelous cook and her demonstration of the wonderful Estate Gas Range amazed those who saw it. "Cooking," she declares, "is as good as the stove used." She will be in our store for two more days—Tuesday and Wednesday, and we are very anxious for every housekeeper in Lubbock to come one of these days at least.

FREE! FREE!

We will present, absolutely free, a gift to every woman who comes in the remaining days of Mrs. Goodenough's stay here. Furniture Polish one day and meat packages of salt the next day. Come in for an hour and learn some more about the culinary art.

Any kind of stove will boil potatoes or fry eggs successfully, but in the art of baking, we think Estate the best. Too, the lowness of gas consumption makes it one of the most economical stoves on the market, and, of course, the ThermEstate Oven Heat Control assures positive temperature, making baking and cooking a pleasure and certainty.

A Washington Bystander

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of interviews with members of President Hoover's cabinet.

By CHARLES P. STEWART Washington Correspondent for Central Press and the Avalanche

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—Secretary of War James W. Good is the ablest compromiser in President Hoover's official family...

The understanding is that Mr. Hoover chose him because of his skill in compromise—or because of his political skill—which is a distinction without much difference...

Secretary Good's vast subtlety as a compromiser lies in his ability, almost invariably, to compromise on about what he wanted all the time.

If he yields an inch, he gains an ell. The new war secretary never permits a mere difference of opinion to deadlock things. He effects a compromise.

Theoretically Mr. Good is from Cedar Rapids, which sounds better than calling him a Chicagoan...

Besides, it pleases the Iowa folk to consider themselves represented among the holders of departmental portfolios.

The actual fact is that the secretary of war has been practicing law in Chicago, and has had his home in the suburb of Evanston, ever since he retired from congress, seven or eight years ago...

Nevertheless, it was from Iowa that Mr. Good originally came to the house of representatives, and it was as chairman of the house committee on appropriations that he won his national reputation as a compromiser.

The appropriations committee holds Uncle Sam's purse strings. Its chairman's job is to hold them as tightly as he can. Folk after government appropriations generally ask fancy sums...

It takes real genius to convince an appropriation-seeker that he has been fairly compromised with, when he finds himself out in the cold with his pockets still empty or only a few per cent filled.

This was the kind of compromiser Chairman Good proved to be. At Kansas City last summer Mr. Good favored Herbert Hoover, presidentially, and most of the Republican bosses favored anybody else...

The next step was to induce the corn belt, insistent as it was on the "equalization fee," to compromise on the G. O. P. nominee, who rejected any such fee absolutely, in preference to Governor Smith...

As Mr. Hoover's western manager—meaning the corn belt—Mr. Good engineered this compromise, too. In military technique Mr. Good never has had any experience.

This is not to say that he is unfamiliar with questions of military procedure. With these he is well acquainted, having wrestled with many of them during his congressional appropriations committee days.

To visiting journalists, whom he receives readily and cordially, he has much to say concerning the power, the majesty and the heavy responsibilities of war. He has had no time to study them, yet, he explains, I wonder if he ever will.

Moreover, suppose we should even have a war—Heaven help the enemy power that Secretary Good compromised with.

Editorial of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Poorly means a flow of matter. However, the flow of matter, or to speak of it scientifically—pus, is not the most significant thing about this disturbance of the mouth and teeth.

When they have once separated they are not likely to become attached again. Moreover, a constant presence of infectious matter leads to secondary disturbances in the body which may be exceedingly serious.

The blood picks up the germs from the pus pockets around the teeth and carries them to other parts of the body where they set up new infections.

Because the teeth are loose and the mouth is foul, the person with pyorrhea is likely to lose his appetite. He is unable to chew food satisfactorily, his digestion is interfered with and he becomes in general much sicker than he would be with a clean mouth cavity.

Usually Chronic Because the mouth is easy to get at, because the gums are tough and because the saliva keeps the mouth constantly lubricated, the tissues stand a great deal of punishment before the condition becomes so severe that it is impossible to delay attention.

For this reason also it is necessary to remind people again and again that the mouth should be looked after by a competent dentist at least once in every six months in order that such conditions may be detected early and given adequate care before they become so serious that the only hope lies in removal of all of the teeth, surgical attention to the gums and the provision of artificial plates.

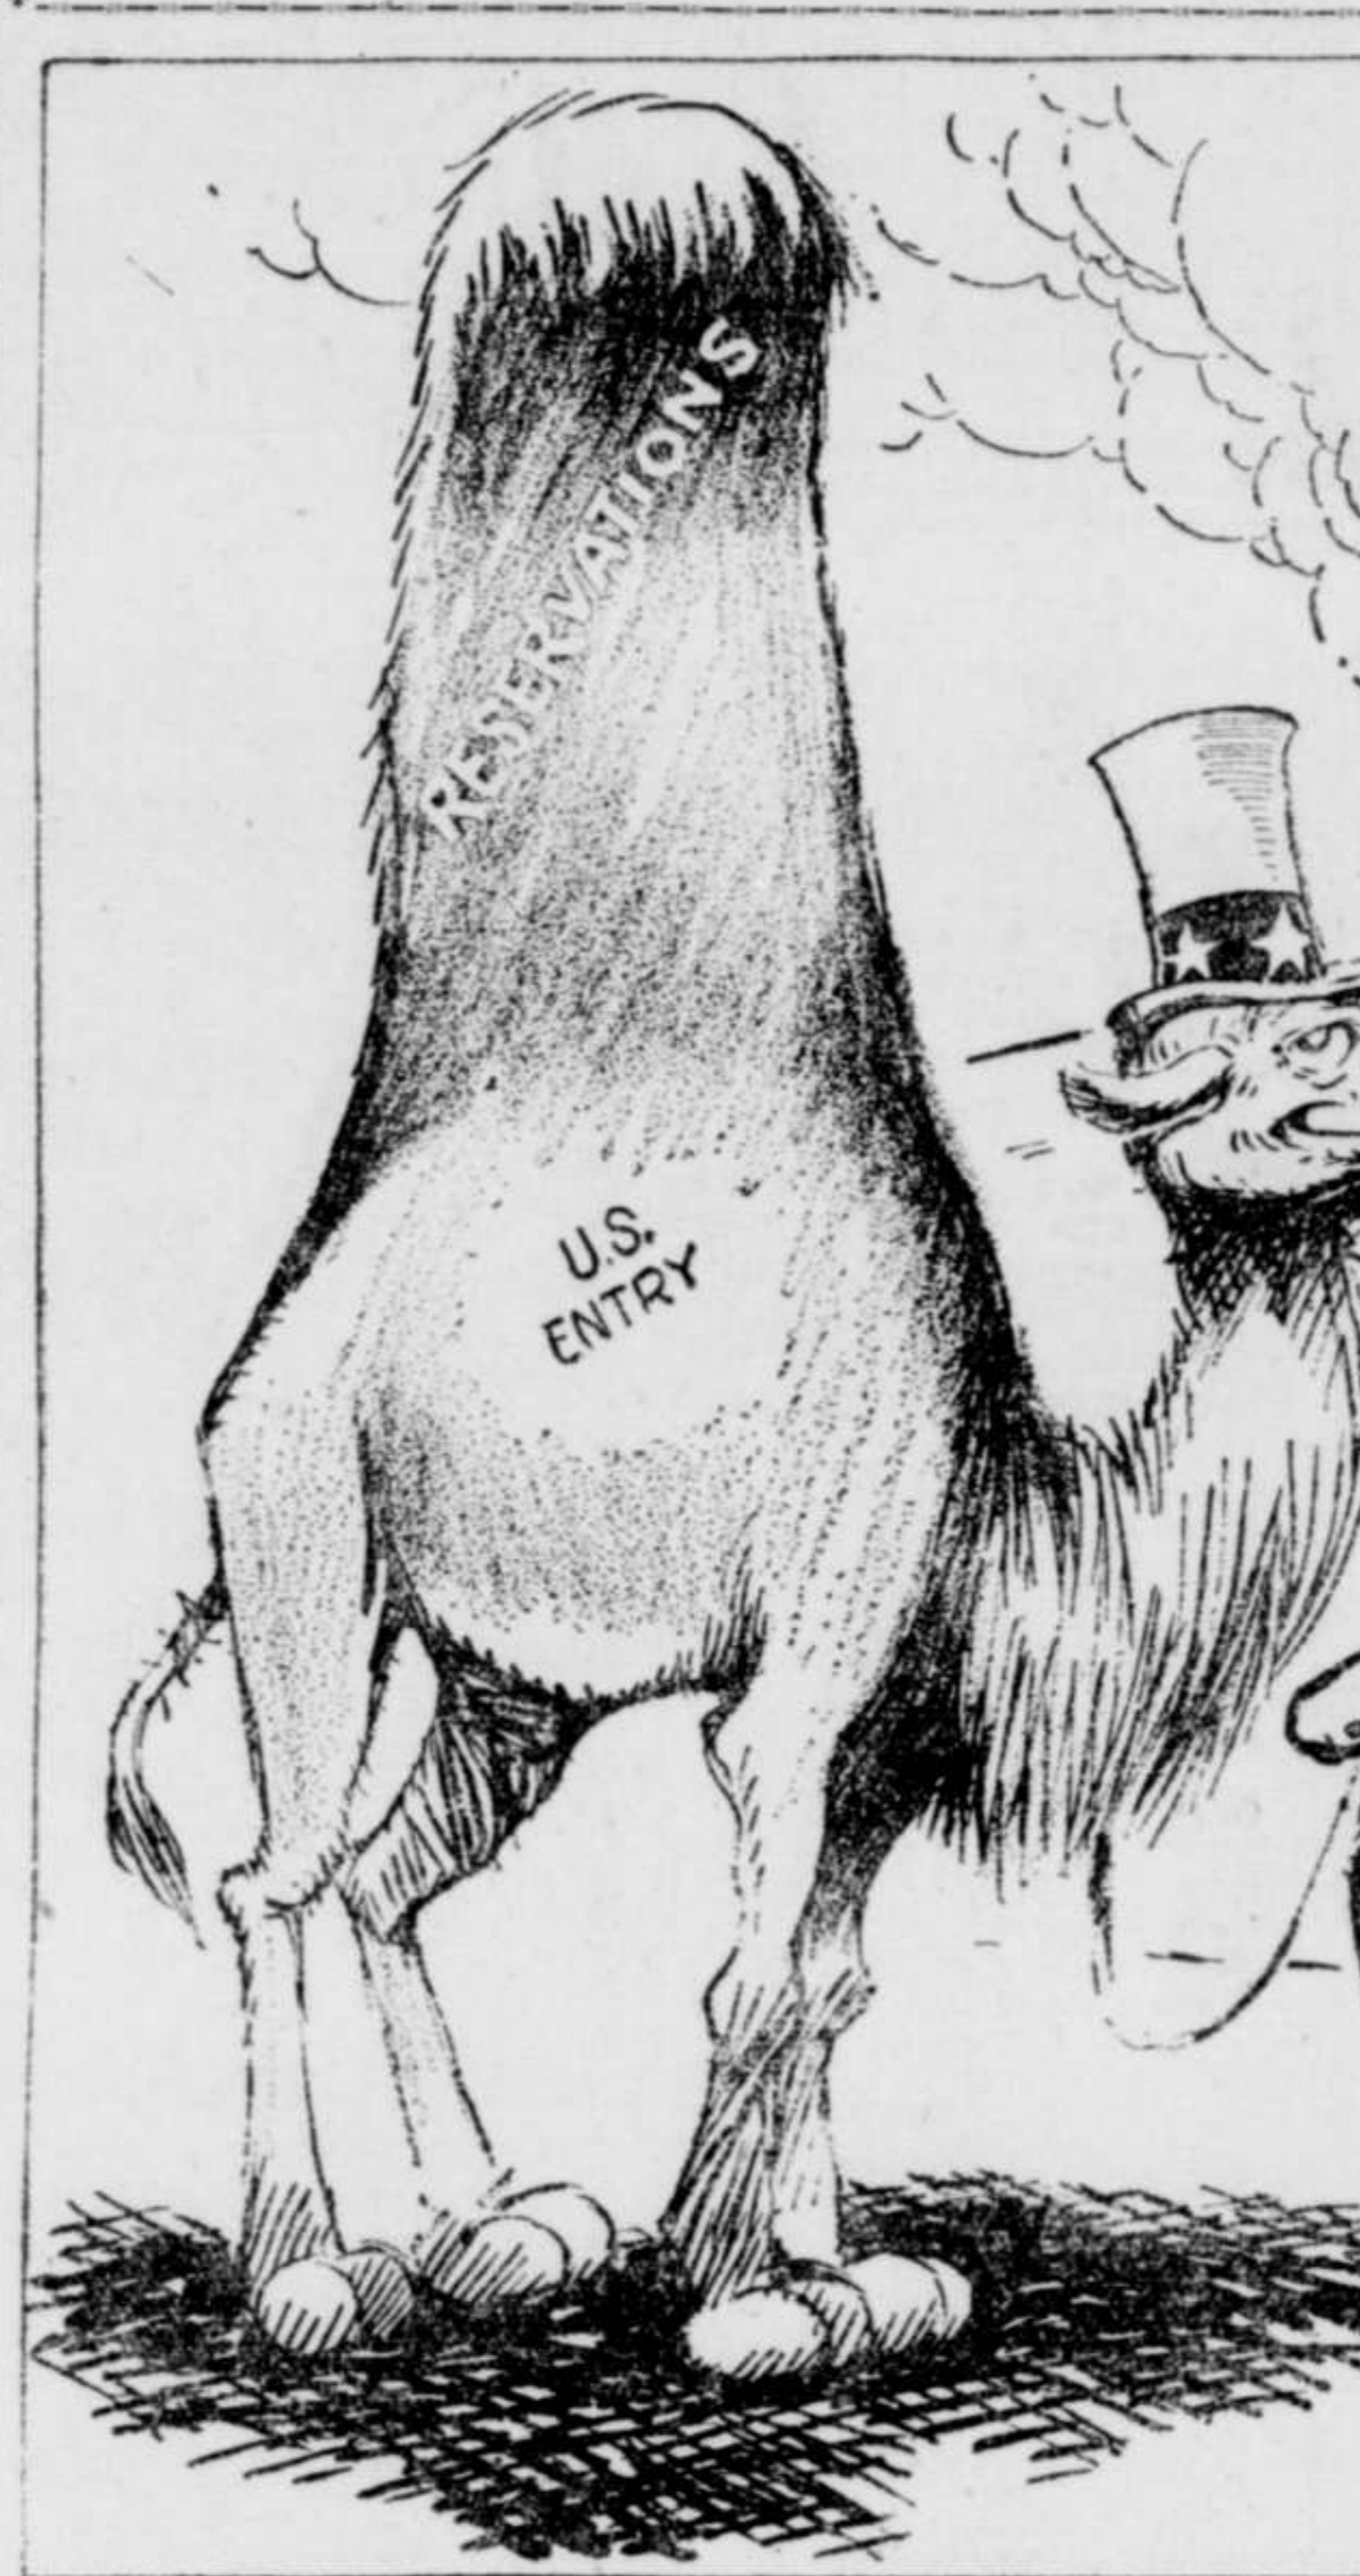

Among the causes of infections of the gums are of fillings. A good dentist will see to it that a crown or a filling is absolutely smooth and continuous with the surface of the tooth to which it is applied.

Food particles accumulate between the teeth and set up spots of local irritation and decay. The regular use of the tooth brush and of dental floss is necessary to prevent such an occurrence.

Toothpicks, and especially pins, knives, forks or other objects used in lieu of toothpicks, do severe damage to the delicate tissues when manipulated by a careless hand.

Tartar deposits are just as irritant as rough fillings. Moreover, they are easily susceptible to the accumulation of bacteria. Pyorrhea is one of the most menacing diseases known to man and its prevention depends on constant vigilance.

THE BLACK PIGEON

THIS HAS HAPPENED "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies, is murdered sometime between one and four o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

Ruth saw the drift of the question before it was apparent to Jack, but there was nothing to do but to stand quietly in the circle of his arm as he answered.

"Murder!" Rather a neat coincidence, eh? I hope you both enjoyed the show?"

Ruth remembering how she had wept uncontrollably during the second act because the district attorney reminded her of her dead father, did not answer except with a nervous flicker of her eyelashes, and Jack's only response was a tightening of his arm about the girl's shoulders.

"Two forty-five curtain, eh?" McMann nodded, his eyes narrowing, to points of steady light. "You say you were not in your office at 2:10 when Cowan was plugged in on a busy line after he'd called your number, that you were rejoining Miss Lester at the Chester Hotel at that moment, Right?"

"That's correct," Jack retorted curtly. McMann shuffled his notes, pretending to consult them to refresh his memory. "And yet, Hayward, you were in such a hurry to leave when noted that you didn't have time to read the figures on your check and started off in a rush without your briefcase. According to the waiter's story, you didn't have dessert after you got back to the hotel. It is as you say, it was only after two when you returned, what was your hurry?"

"I was not in a hurry," Jack contradicted. "I had a cup of coffee, sat talking with Miss Lester for a few minutes, and left the dining room at 2:25. We were both under the impression that it was a 2:30 curtain and walked directly to the theater, which is four blocks from the Chester Hotel."

"Himmi!" McMann considered then. "So you were among the first arrivals, eh? The doorman and usher would be likely to remember you, I suppose, and could corroborate your story?"

"Jack's hand closed so tightly over Ruth's shoulder that she winced, but his voice was steady as he answered: "No we were not among the first arrivals in that theater house, and left the dining room at 2:25. We were both under the impression that it was a 2:30 curtain and walked directly to the theater, which is four blocks from the Chester Hotel."

"Himmi!" McMann considered then. "So you were among the first arrivals, eh? The doorman and usher would be likely to remember you, I suppose, and could corroborate your story?"

"Well, what about the office boy, Birdwell? Why the devil hasn't he shown up?" McMann demanded of his subordinate, after the waiter had been dismissed.

"Callahan traced the Smith family to their new address, and has just phoned from the neighborhood, sir," Birdwell answered wearily. "The boy, Benny Smith, is sick in bed. Callahan says the kid has been there, and won't let the boy out of the house until the middle of the afternoon, if then."

"What's the matter with the boy?" McMann barked impatiently. Birdwell coughed. "Upset stomach, it seems. The boy was sick this morning, but insisted on coming down to the office. Callahan says, leaving the house about half-past 10, at 11 he had a sack, and seemed so sick that his mother had a doctor in."

"Benny sick," Ruth marveled to herself. "Why, he has the constitution of an ox. I wonder—Why, if it was sick, was about to ask herself was cut short by McMann's next question, aimed at Birdwell: "What about Rita Dubois? Any word from Clay?"

"Yes, sir, Clay has traced her to the home of a friend of hers—a Miss Wilbur—Willette Wilbur. Another dancer, living with her mother at—" and he consulted a memorandum for the address.

"Then why doesn't he bring her in?" McMann demanded impatiently. Birdwell refused to be hurried. "The girls are out, sir, according to Mrs. Wilbur. She says Miss Dubois spent the night with her daughter, and that after breakfast this morning the two girls went downtown together to do some shopping. They expected to have lunch with Mrs. Wilbur and mentioned that they would be back by one o'clock."

"Well, guess there's nothing to do but to wait," McMann admitted grudgingly. "By the way, Birdwell, Clay didn't tip the girl, did he? Rita was wanted by the police, did he?"

"Birdwell smiled slightly. "Not Clay. He's watching the house and has instructed the central telephone office to plug it. I'm sure that Rita was wanted by the police, did he?"

"Good!" McMann applauded. "That's all—no, send Cowey in to me. He's in 715 down the hall, you know. . . . And now, Hayward, another question, if you can spare the time," he called out sarcastically to the young man who stood at one of the two front windows, his arm about Ruth Lester's shoulders.

"Yes?" Jack wheeled. "By your own admission you returned to your office, where you kept a gun. Your secretary says it was still there Saturday morning, and it's not there now. Cowan fears Borden detrying your interference and threats over the telephone at 10 minutes after two. I submit that Borden came to the window on the airshaft, directly opposite your own window, and knowing that you had been telephoning from your own office, that you saw him, reached for your gun and shot him down before he suspected his danger, that you came to his office, opened the outer door and shot him down."

"That's your story, and you're going to stick to it, eh?" McMann growled. "Listen, Hayward, you must realize that I've got the goods on you! Three people—the elevator operator, Moran; Cowan, a friend of yours who would have lied to protect you if he had dared and Phillips, the waiter—have told substantially the same story; you were in a white-hot rage against Harry Borden and threatened to kill him."

GRANT'S FIRST MOVES Sixty-five years ago today the Federal offensive, under General U. S. Grant, who had just assumed command of the Union forces, took the form which ultimately resulted in victory for the Union Army.

Roughly, this date, in 1864, saw the taking of the first step in the historic "march through Georgia," for on that day General William Tecumseh Sherman assumed command of the Federal Army of the Mississippi, succeeding General Grant, who took personal charge a few days later of the army of the Potomac.

Sherman had been in charge of forces in Tennessee when Grant was placed in chief command. It was at his own request that Grant gave him the larger commission. McPherson succeeded to Sherman's old post and Logan was given McPherson's command.

These changes were quickly made and a united drive against the south began. The strategy was simple. Grant's various armies were scattered fan-like on what was roughly the border of the south, and he planned to bring them all toward a common center.

Today's Poem

ON A CERTAIN LADY AT COURT I know a thing that's most uncommon;

(Envy, be silent and attend!) I know a reasonable woman, Handsome and witty, yet a friend.

Not warped by passion, awed by rumor; Not grave through pride, nor gay through folly;

An equal mixture of good-humor And sensible soft melancholy.

"Has she no faults then?" (Envy says), "Sir?" "Yes, she has one, I must aver: When all the world conspires to scatter her, she is a star."

The woman's deaf and does not hear." —Alexander Pope

door with the key so providentially placed in your hands by the waiter closed the window without taking time to notice that one of the pigeons had already betrayed you by leaving tracks of blood outside the window as well as on the floor inside the room; that you then robbed the dead man's body of the $200 so that it would look like the work of a hold-up man, or because you had needed the money. That's my case, Hayward, and if I were a prosecuting attorney I'd be willing to take it to court as it is!"

"Just a minute, Jack," Ruth cried impatiently, as the furious young man started forward. "Listen, Mr. McMann. Remember that you've got to find someone who saw him in this wing of the building after he returned to his office. There were cleaning women and undoubtedly other tenants on the floor, and Edna Dubois was certainly here about the time you insist that Jack was in Borden's office. I know he wasn't, for he couldn't have got in, and my evidence about the key would not be ignored in court as you have chosen to ignore it."

There was a flicker of admiration in McMann's eyes as they stared the girl. "When did Hayward return your key, Miss Lester?" he asked at last, very quietly. "The key to Borden's office?" "It did not return it, because he had never seen it or touched it," Ruth denied passionately. "As I explained a while ago, the key the waiter found on the floor could not have been the office key. It was my apartment key, the only one that could have fallen out of my bag when I dropped it! He returned it immediately to my bag for it was there when I reached the apartment Saturday evening, and the bag had my keys out of my possession after I returned to the table—before Mr. Hayward left for the theater tickets."

But as Ruth was concluding her argument in a triumphant rush of words, her too-clear memory betrayed her. Like a scrap of motion picture film, a scene passed before her mind's eye: Jack and her self in the bank Saturday evening, Jack, waiting for her to make her deposit, and holding her handbag for her; Jack's guilty flush when she called him on having opened it; "Poking to see what kind of bank I use, darling?"

"Haven't you remembered something you'd like to forget, Miss Lester?" McMann asked, almost kindly.

"No! Ruth denied. No no! She had told him the truth. It must have been her apartment key which had fallen out of her purse and which Jack hadn't explained then?"

"Detective Covey, sir," Birdwell announced, and the peppy, jolly little detective swaggered into the dead man's private office.

"What about the cleaning woman, Covey?" McMann demanded impatiently.

"Haven't been able to find either one of them—Minnie Cassidy and Letty Miller are the names, sir," Covey answered, cheerfully. "The Cassidy woman left home at 10 this morning, according to her daughter, to visit some friend of hers in another part of town, but the daughter don't know the name or address, and the Miller woman hasn't been living at the address Coghlan, the superintendent, gave us, for a month. It's a rooming house and the landlady says old Mrs. Miller didn't leave a forwarding address."

"I suppose there's nothing to do but to wait until they show up for work at four this afternoon," McMann growled. "All right, Birdwell—what is it?" as his other subordinate again appeared in the communicating doorway.

"Dr. Nielson on the phone, sir," Birdwell answered.

As McMann reached for the extension on Borden's desk, Ruth's cold right hand went involuntarily to her throat. If the caliber of the bullet which had killed Borden matched the caliber of the pistol missing from Jack's desk...

Bears Take Hold Of Stock Market In Sashakeup

Call Money Tightening Is Stimulus To Change Of Movements; Rate Is From Seven to Eight Per Cent

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER Associated Press Financial Writer NEW YORK, Mar. 18. (AP)—Control of the stock market shifted between opposing factions in a most confusing manner today, with the bears gaining the advantage in the last hour, when call money began to tighten.

Profit-taking was heavy throughout the session, particularly in the radio shares, the old stock losing 49 points of its 103-point gain of last week. Operations for the advance, aided by merger and stock split-up rumors, met with marked success in various sections of the list, however, particularly in the coppers, rubbers, railway and office equipment issues, and specialties.

The expected stringency in call money this week resulting from the raising of the income tax checks to the banks for payment, made its appearance late in the day with an increase from 7 to 8 per cent. Time money held firm, with practically none available under 8 per cent.

A somewhat bullish interpretation was placed upon the statement of Governor Roy A. Young of the Federal Reserve board that a higher discount rate would be employed only as a last resort. Wall Street bankers were disposed to the belief that the reserve officials regard the discount rate as a possible means of effecting liquidation of stock market loans, but fear that its use would seriously hamper business.

The days' news was meagre, although it included a further upward tendency in copper prices, with a little moving at 22 cents a pound, a jump of one cent, but with producers for the most part undecided as to what price to quote. Youngstown sheet and tube published good earnings statement.

The old radio shares fell back to 500, while the new shares sold at one time below 100, but closed at 101. Viator Talking Machine, however, which is being consolidated with Radio, mounted more than 24 points to a new top at 200.

Baldwin Locomotive reported 26 points to a new 1928 peak at 235, on rumors of a four-for-one stock split-up and revival of reports that the Cullen-Hisher interests are planning to merge it with Westinghouse.

Texas Livestock Is Active Monday

FORT WORTH, March 18. (AP)—Cattle sales here today displayed a good demand at fully steady values, cows a little higher, sheep about steady and hogs steady to 10c higher in the rail section and around 25 to 25c higher in the truck division.

Most of the steers rather common, sold around 9.50 to 10, others up to 10.40, one lot good steers around 11.50 pounds at 12.00. Values steady with last week's close.

One car of heavy bulls sold at 8.25 or about steady. Other sales of common light bulls around 6.75. The supply of canner cows was very light and market poorly tested. Bulk sales 5.00 to 5.50, cutters up to 6.25. Butcher and beef cows active to 15c higher than last week's best time. Carlots sold to packers at 6.75, 6.85 and down to 2.25.

Buyers paid steady prices for slaughter yearlings and heifers. Car lots at 11.25 to 12.50 with fair kind in package lots around 10.50. No good slaughter calves offered in carlots. Bulk sales kind to sell at 8.00 to 9.00 and common. Stocker calves very active at strong values.

One carlot desirable light steer calves at 13.50. A car of steer cows sold at 7.50 and two cars at 6.50. Nothing especially good in the sheep division. Some woolled fairly fat lambs at 14.50.

Hogs were fairly active with rail hogs steady to 10c higher and practically all of the leads 11.00. Truck hogs showed an advance of 25 to 35c and a top of 10.25. Bulk packing sows at 8.50 to 9.50.

Cotton Declines $1.50 Per Bale On Southern Market

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 18. (AP)—A decline of practically $1.50 a bale followed extensive long liquidation in the cotton market today. Fears of a bearish census findings report on Wednesday and the generally favorable weather in the belt over the week-end were responsible for the reactionary tendency which carried July contracts down to 23.15.

The market then steadied for a time but prices rallied only 7 to 8 points which was probably due to prospects for rain in the western belt. The option closed compared with 20.43 Saturday's closing figure. The general market closed barely steady at net losses of 19 to 28 points.

Liverpool cables were 6 to 7 points lower than due and were reflected in an opening decline of 13 to 17 points here. The better weather in the belt over the week-end brought out liquidation and some ring selling which carried active positions to levels 21 to 23 points below the previous close.

Receipts 18,961, for week 33,037, year 8,636,601; last year 7,371,297. Exports 44,530; for week 50,998; for year 6,421,819; last year 5,471,977.

Stocks 1,832,671; last year 1,857,939. Stock on shipboard 114,698; last year 109,088. Spot sales 12,333; last year 13,276.

Liquidation Puts Cotton Lower On New York Market

NEW YORK, Mar. 18. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under liquidation, which appeared to be combined with some local and southern selling, promoted by reports of better weather in the south and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 12 to 21 points in response to lower cables from Liverpool and improving weather conditions were among the sellers. There was a good deal of Wall Street selling, under which prices gradually worked lower.

Considerable demand developed around 20.80 for May, which was supposed to include trade buying as well as covering. This checked the decline. Comparatively moderate rallies seemed to meet renewed offerings, however, and closing prices were at the lowest on most positions.

A private report published during the day estimated the season's earnings at 14,240,340 bales. This was considered pretty closely in line with the government crop estimate of last December.

PERSONALITIES RATHER THAN EVENTS DOMINATE WORLD STAGE PAST WEEK

BY SAVINGTON CRAMPTON Cable Editor, Associated Press Aside from the Mexican revolution, personalities rather than events were the principal forces upon the world's stage during the past week. Battle lines still hung like network over Northern Mexico, but the net was slowly tightening about the rebel armies. A last stand of the rebellion in the strong natural fortress of Torreón in central Mexico was indicated by development of the military campaign.

KIDDIES TO VIEW MARIONETTES

Lubbock children are expected to turn out en masse to attend the performance of Tony Sarg's New York Marionettes at the Tech gymnasium Tuesday afternoon and night in the new production of "The Adventures of Christopher Columbus."

Sarg's shows are smart. His puppets are artistic, tastefully groomed and costumed, and his scenery modern and fresh. More than this, the puppets radiate character. In "The Adventures of Christopher Columbus," one detected weight in the decision of Columbus to sail the unknown seas; real royalty in Queen Isabella as she took the jewels from her throat to give Columbus; delightful humor in the comedians, savagery in the Indians, and ill intent in the sailors' mutiny.

One loses his sense of proportion in watching one of the delightful romances. The illusion is so effective that while the little men and women are in action it is hard to remember that they are only a foot high.

Mystery Surrounds Oklahoma Shooting

MIAMI, Okla., March 18. (AP)—Mystery circumstances surrounding the death of Henry Legrand, 51, Douthat, Okla., garage man, who was found shot to death last Thursday, prompted continuation today of an investigation by Ottawa county authorities.

Perry Porter, county attorney said he was not satisfied Legrand committed suicide and indicated he believed developments would show the garage man was killed by robbers.

"Battle Of Sexes" Is Masterpiece

Having been christened the dean of all motion picture directors in former pro-sons, D. W. Griffith again proves his mastery with the first "sound" production of his to be shown in Lubbock, now on at the Palace.

This picture, "The Battle of the Sexes," starring Jean Hersholt, Bells Bennett, Phyllis Haver and others, some of whom are Griffith "finds" is about a real estate man, who suddenly becomes rich, his ideal family circle, broken up by a "Gold Digger."

Jean Hersholt, as the "fat and forty" realtor, gives a perfect performance, laughable at times with his efforts at getting back his boyish figure. Phyllis Haver, as the gold digger, knows how to dig. Bells Bennett, as the wife, and Sally O'Neill as the daughter, both give a few scenes wherein you will need a handkerchief with your eyes. Don Alvarado, as a "jazz hound" villain, is also quite superb.

control. The northward flight of the insurgents tonight had brought the main force of the rebellious army to a point some 350 miles south of the American boundary.

Revolutionary plans were concealed but government adherents expressed belief that General Escobar's army would proceed further northward to Chihuahua City, capital of the state, about 200 miles south of El Paso.

Battle Is Speculation

Whether the retreat to the north would continue of the rebel command would entrench for a decisive combat with the 30,000 men led by General Calles, was a matter of speculation.

In Juarez an attempt was made today to burn the home of General Marcelino M. Murrieta, rebel chief-tain here. Fire, which started in a front room behind the entrance hall, exploded several shells before it was brought under control. A boy called Carlos Perez was arrested as he was leaving the house.

Revolutionary leaders said they found on Perez a book showing membership in an organization known as "Lacrom," sympathetic toward the Calles forces and the government of Porfirio Gil.

Today's successes by federal forces followed by 24 hours a skirmish in which the rebels claimed an important victory at San Pedro, near Torreon. In the fighting, the revolutionaries claimed 200 were killed by rebels, who attacked the government forces from two sides. The rebels also announced the capture of 1,200 prisoners and several airplanes.

Slaton's New Fire Station Is Opened

Two Meetings Of Interest To Community Are Held Last Night; Large Crowds Are Present For Both

(Special to The Avalanche)

SLATON, March 18.—Two events of outstanding importance attracted large crowds of Slaton people tonight. One was a banquet at the Slaton club house attended by Slaton employees of the Santa Fe railway and the business men of the city. The other was the formal opening of Slaton's new $15,000 fire station recently finished. At the banquet which was held under direction of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, assisted by Santa Fe leaders, 110 men were present. T. A. Worly Jr., vice-president of the Slaton Chamber was toastmaster. Others appearing on the program included J. A. McGinnis, G. R. Miller, B. E. Clark, Coke Oliver, C. W. Taylor, W. H. Smith, J. T. Pinkston, T. E. Roderick and L. A. Wilson.

The dinner was served by women of the First Methodist church. Music was furnished by an orchestra, headed by Dayton Eckert. The meeting served as an opportunity for Santa Fe men and business men to become better acquainted and talk over with each other certain ways and means of better cooperation for the benefit of Slaton and of the Santa Fe. It was a most enthusiastic gathering.

At the formal opening of the fire station city officials and members of the Slaton volunteer fire department held open houses for all Slaton citizens inviting them to inspect the new building, partake of refreshments and smokes, and enjoy a musical program. Hundreds of people poured through the magnificent structure expressing their unbounded approval of it.

Flood

Wilcox county, Primrose is about forty miles southwest of Selma. No report has been received from Miller's Ferry, five miles west of Primrose.

Inhabited By Negroes

Wilcox county is in the heart of the famed Black Belt section. It is a flat country with cotton the principal agricultural product. The lowland sections which will receive the brunt of the flood water is inhabited principally by negro farm tenants.

Meanwhile, Adj. Gen. F. E. Butler, director of relief work at headquarters here said the situation at Brewton, Flomation, Garland, Keego, Pollard and nearby communities in the Alabama-Tombigbee basin was well in hand.

The Red Cross today learned that Phenix City, Ala., in the Georgia-Alabama line, was in need of help, with three hundred families homeless.

MEMPHIS, March 18 (AP)—Crest stages, as indicated today, relieved considerably the tension of the high water situation in the lower Mississippi valley.

Based on the forecast of a 52 foot crest at Cairo, Ill. by Thursday, the Mississippi river would crest at Memphis on 41.5 to 42 feet by next Monday. The stage, while it would retreat above flood level, would be several feet under what the levee system can stand without serious strain, engineers said.

Weather reports indicated no rain in sight, either in the lower valley or along the tributaries drained by the upper Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri rivers.

ATLANTA, March 18 (AP)—Receding waters today improved conditions rapidly in most of the flood-swept regions of the South in which the know dead list stood at 30 and property damage at several millions of dollars.

Two principal exceptions were noted. One was in the lower reaches of the Flint river, Georgia, and at River Junction, Florida, where the Flint and Chatahoochee rivers form the Apalachicola.

The other was along the Alabama river east and south of Montgomery, Ala. There a new flood menace of such proportions was reported to Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama that he personally inspected the town by airplane. Returning aviators said in that region persons were seen on house tops and clinging to the limbs of trees to escape rapidly rising waters.

Rehabilitation work went on as flooded waters drained from North and Georgia through Northwest Florida into the Gulf of Mexico. Announcement was made that 1,000 adult residents would be permitted to return to Elba, Ala., evacuated after it was inundated. Children under 15 years would be kept at Troy. It was expected that Geneva, Ala., inhabitants, also removed when water overran their town, would begin to go back tomorrow.

Typhoid anti-toxin and other preventives were sent to the flood territory.

TWO MEN CHARGED

Sherman Farmer Is Near Death After Fight

SHERMAN, March 18 (AP)—Assault to murder charges were filed in justice court today against Eugene Hale and Ralph Williams, South Mayd, after injuries to Floyd Larkin, farmer, in a fight Saturday.

Larkin has a fractured skull said to have been inflicted with an automobile crank. His center of speech is paralyzed.

POSSEMEN KEEP WATCH

Two of Four Robbers Are Sought In Wise County

DECATUR, March 18 (AP)—Possemen seeking two of four men who blew three safes in Boyd, Texas, early today and exchanged 75 shots with a constable and his two sons who tried to arrest them. Tonight prepared to keep watch all night after darkness had halted actual patrolling.

Two store safes and that at the postoffice were those "cracked". Only a few pennies were left in each. Two asserted members of the band were captured today. They said they lived in Fort Worth.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 18 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at the Carpinteria Airport tonight, having flown here from Los Angeles. He went to the home of Daniel Guggenheim Jr.

ACTS LIKE IT WAS JUST MADE FOR HER CASE

"I Hadn't Seen A Well Day For Ten Years Until I Took Orgatone," Says Lubbock Housewife

"This Orgatone acts just like it was made especially for my case," said Mrs. J. F. Higgins, of 302 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas. Mrs. Higgins, husband, is an employee of the Lubbock Lumber Co., and is very well known in this section of Texas.

"The fact is, I hadn't seen a well day for ten years," continued Mrs. Higgins, "and almost as soon as I started taking Orgatone, it went right to the seat of my troubles, and anybody could see that I was getting better."

"My stomach was all out of order and gave me lots of trouble, and I was also bothered with liver and kidney trouble. I had no appetite and could hardly eat enough to keep me in my feet, and what I did eat, soured and caused gas to form and I would bloat up, until I would be miserable for hours. I had such terrible, intense pains in my stomach, at times, I could hardly stand it. I was weak and nervous and all run down, didn't rest well at night and would get up in the morning feeling tired and not fit for a thing. I kept very bad condition, and nothing seemed to do me any good. I took all kinds of medicines and treatments, and spent dollar after dollar, but it was just like throwing money away, for I didn't get any better."

"Orgatone had helped so many people and it was recommended to me, so I decided to try it, and it was a lucky day for me, when I did. I have just taken one bottle and can go about my work feeling fine, and am not troubled in the least, with my stomach, kidney or liver troubles. I honestly feel better than I have in the past ten years, and I'm going to take the full treatment and then I know I shall have all my perfect health again. Orgatone has just saved my life and I am more than glad to tell others about it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowers Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Out of town customers are being supplied by mail upon receipt of $1.25 for one bottle or $6.25 for six bottles. Adv.
