THE JUNCTION EAGLE

Volume XLI. Junction, Kimble County, Texas, Friday, August 22, 1924 Number 18.

STERLING P. STRONG TELLS WHY HE QUIT KLAN

The Hon. Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, Texas, who has long been one of the leaders in and prominently identified in this state with the prohibition cause, and who at one time was a candidate for U. S. Senator, and who has always stood for clean government in the state, in a recent letter to a friend in Brady, written before the first primary, uses the following language:

"When the organization was first mentioned here, by the organizers, who were expert salesmen, they sold the organization to the very best men here. They showed how the Klan was organized after the war between the states to take care of the situation, and now the organization had been revived to care for the situation after the World War, and to put the bootleggers out of business. This appealed to the best people, and men joined by the thousands. My neighbors, and men of my church, were into it before I knew it was here. Then I was solicited, and joined. I had not attended but few of the meetings here and at other places, until I found that the leaders for the saloon cause were in absolute control of the organization. Thousands of other good men learned this and did as I did—quit. It is now an organization absolutely dominated by as corrupt a bunch politically, as the State has ever known. They are not using the barkeeps, Mexicans and niggers to get political power, as they did in the days of the saloon; for they know they could not get anywhere with them now, but they are using ministers of the gospel, and Christian men and women to put their tools in power. The man who is at the head of the Klan in Texas, plead guilty in the Federal court here to bootlegging, and told me on one occasion, that he was making $1,000 per month selling liquor, but he wanted to see the saloon opened up again.

"When the saloons were closed in Texas, this tore up the organization of the liquor bunch, which has been controlling the politics of Texas for years, and they were at sea, but the same bunch now have control of the Klan and have a full ticket in the field for all the State offices, and in many places have candidates for the various district and county offices. A lot of these leaders you know, and they even have the nerve or the gall to go into the churches and speak from the pulpit. In most of the smaller towns of the State, the klan is made up of the very best men, but in the larger cities, if there is a bootlegger or other criminal who is not a member of the klan, it's the bootlegger's fault, and the trouble is the city klans control the organization throughout the State. I am not guessing at a word I am saying about this: I am speaking from what I absolutely know. It is said that good men will be led by such an unholy bunch.

Mr. Strong supported Collins in the first primary. He is now supporting Mrs. Ferguson.

Mrs. Eddie Browning left the first of the week for her home in San Antonio, after visiting relatives and friends here for a couple of weeks.

D. C. Patterson of Chicago, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Patterson, this week. He has been with the Western Electric Co., for several years and is an equipment engineer with this concern.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH LAST SUNDAY.

Dr. H. E. Draper, presiding elder of the Beeville district, was heard at the Methodist church last Sunday, morning and night. At the morning hour Dr. Draper spoke in behalf of the Superanuate Endowment Fund.

The M. E. Church, South, is seeking to raise within the next five years, an endowment fund of $10,000,000 for the benefit of its worn out preachers, their widows, and orphans. The quota for the local church is $1,455, the annual payments being almost$300. This is expected to be raised. I. O. Weldon has charge of the raising of this money from the Junction and Copperas churches.

At night Dr. Draper preached on the Unification of the Northern and Southern Methodist churches. This question will be voted upon by the various annual conferences of both branches of Methodism during the calender year of 1925.

Dr. Draper is very much in favor of the plan of unification as it has been adopted by the major conferences of each church.

Both branches of Methodism are the same in doctrine and policy. The division was caused over political and domestic differences in 1844; but those days have passed and the two churches should again be one.

Mrs. J. T. Tracy and Miss Beulah of Miles, Texas, are visiting their son and brother, Earl Tracy and family.

Miss Tyler Wilkinson who has been visiting her brother, M. Wilkinson for the past month, left Wednesday for Del Rio.

Bill Eikenloff of Fredericksburg was a visitor here and at Roosevelt last week.

John Fritz Jr., was in town Tuesday from his ranch west of London.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Whittle of Rocksprings are visiting at the J. T. Whittle home.

Mexico's President-Elect

General P. Elias Calles, president-elect of Mexico, who has been visiting America, has sailed for Europe to study conditions there.

MASS MEETING DECIDES TO HOLD FAIR.

At a mass meeting on the court house lawn Monday night, it was decided to hold a County Fair during the last week of September or the first week in October, the exact dates to be announced next week after the meeting of the executive committee.

At the meeting held on Monday night of last week, a committee was appointed to canvass the county as well as possible, to find out the sentiment of the farmers and ranchmen. While no member of this committee was present to make a report at the meeting Monday night, those present were highly in favor of a fair and livestock exhibit, and an executive committee composed of N. H. Skaggs as chairman, Jim Moore, M. C. Reese, C. Tipton, Fred Mudge, Boy Hodges and John Phillips, was selected, and this committee will work out the details of the fair at a meeting to be held today, (Friday), and announcement will be made next week as to the plans worked out by this committee.

It was the concensus of opinion of those present that some scheme be worked out whereby substantial premiums would be offered as first, second and third prizes on livestock and farm products.

BALLOTS SENT OUT TO ALL PRECINCTS.

The Eagle plant printed the Official Ballots last week-end for the second primary, which will be held on the 23rd of this month, and the ballots, together with all election supplies were turned over to the sheriff for distribution to the election officers of the several boxes in the county.

The ballot for this second primary will be rather short compared with the one used in the first primary last month. There was a run-off in only one county office, all others on the ballot being for State officers, as there was not a run-off in any of the district offices.

The following is the official ballot:

For Governor: Mariam A. Ferguson, Felix D. Robertson.

For Lieutenant Governor: W. C. Edwards, Barry Miller.

For Attorney General: Dan Moody, Edward B. Ward.

For Comptroller: S. H. Terrell, O. D. Baker.

For Railroad Commissioner, (Regular 6-year term) Clarence E. Gilmore, E. E. Weaver.

For Railroad Commissioner: (Four years unexpired term) Lon A. Smith, W. A. Nabers.

For Chief Justice Supreme Court: C. M. Cureton, William Clayton Wear.

The Parent-Teachers' Association will hold its regular meeting next Monday afternoon at the Baptist church at 4 o'clock. After the routine business, the Association will visit the new school building in a body on an inspection tour. All members and patrons of the school are urged to attend.

Rev. J. J. Ray, pastor of the Christian church at Mason, is expected in Junction on Friday, the 29th of this month, to begin a series of sermons, looking to the organization of a church of that denomination here. Mr. Ray is a forceful and earnest speaker and the public generally is cordially invited to hear him.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO PUT ON CAMPAIGN.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce have been meeting regularly each Monday night since the reorganization some weeks ago, and a considerable amount of detail work has already been done. Practically every business house in the town and a number of individuals in town, and a few of the ranchmen have become contributing members of the organization, which is now in the best position in years to do some constructive work for the town and county.

The directors are willing to give their time, without pay, to the work of keeping the organization in the forefront and making it a real benefit to every resident of the county, and the Chamber of Commerce deserves the support of every business institution in the town, and it will be worth while for all the people of the county to boost for the Chamber of Commerce and for the business houses and individuals that are supporting it

In order that the public may know who are contributing regularly to this organization, large membership cards, 11x14 inches, were printed and are now on display in the stores or offices of the members. There are always a few who will not join an organization of this kind, but are always ready to partake of the benefits that such an organization brings about and again there are a few who will start in as members only to drop out in a few weeks. To enable the public to know who are actually paid up members, a large receipt has been printed that is inserted at the bottom of the membership card, showing the date to which the membership is paid.

THE SUNSET LIMITED BUS LINE EXTENDED.

J. G. Ayala was through Junction a few days ago on his way to San Angelo and stated that he was planning to extend his lines west from that point to connect with lines running to Amarillo and west into New Mexico.

H. E. Lightfoot, one of the owners of the line from Kerrville to San Angelo, was here last week end, having The Eagle shop print a large quantity of schedule cards, and stated that this connection had been made and that Mr. Morris, who is a partner with Gene, had started a line from San Angelo to Big Springs, where connections are made with the Red Star line running from Big Springs to Amarillo. Gene will be in San Angelo for a few days, located at the Landon Hotel, their San Angelo headquarters, until the schedules are all worked out to the best advantage, then he will be on the run from Kerrville to San Angelo. In the meantime, O. C. Bentley is taking his place.

As shown by the large schedule in this issue, passengers can now travel by motor car from Amarillo to the Coast country over the Sunset Limited Bus Lines. The fares are very reasonable and better time can be made over this route than any other route from the Panhandle country south.

Chas. G. Montgomery from Noxville, was a business visitor in town last Tuesday.

Miss Lottie Heyman returned last week from Berkeley, California, where she has been attending school.

Cleve Stevens and George Braley are in Dallas this week buying merchandise for their respective stores.

"CALVIN!"

Sallie's Temptations

"GOAT" JENKINS GIVES SOME ADVICE.

"Wake up, Bright Eyes," I've brought you some flowers."

It was Anne Coddington stan ding with her arms full of bright pink roses beside my bed. She looked attractive as she stood there in her little white linen frock, her eyes sparkling and her cheeks as pink as the roses she held. There was a crisp wholesomeness about her.

I glanced at my wrist watch. Ten o'clock! I knew it was an unearthly hour.

"I'm sorry to wake you, Sallie," Anne apologized, "but I wanted you to know that I couldn't help seeing—I've felt wretchedly about it," she stammered, "I just had to stop by to let you know I'll never breathe it to a soul—but you knew I wouldn't, anyway, didn't you, Sallie?"

I had no idea what it was all about.

"What in the world's the matter?" I inquired. "Have you just set fire to the orphan's asylum?"

Anne smiled, or rather tried to, but I knew it was more of a reprimand for my frivolity. Anne is serious minded, being one of those women with a purpose. She even has an office down town where she writes advertising and makes gobs of money She is from one of the oldest families in the state and "belongs" but is not very popular because on a party she is not a good sport.

"Oh, you know what I'm talking about," Anne continued. "Last night, Sallie, don't you remember? Ted and—er—Sallie, how long have you been engaged? Wait 'til I put your flowers in water and then tell me all about your plans."

She moved over toward the window and began arranging the roses in a dull blue bowl.

Then over me came a flood of memories. The dance—the mu sic, wafted to us in the car—Ted—the evening air, soft-scented and caressing, like purple chiffon—then Ted again—the lady in the moon—the kiss—the unexpected appearance of Anne.

I laughed. Ted had said nothing about even being in love with me and here she was taking it for granted that we were engaged. Anne was a funny girl. Although we are as different as two sides of a coin, I am closer to her than any other girl in my crowd. Maybe it is because she helped be out of so many scrapes in boarding school days. Then, too, it is only natural, I suppose, to like those who love us, and certainly Anne had proved that she was devoted to me. Why, I could not understand.

"Good night, Anne," I finally managed to say, "do you think just because Ted kissed me, that I should drag him to the altar and make him promise to love, honor and obey?"

There was a grieved look in Anne's eyes.

"For goodness' sake," I added, "don't looked so shocked, you make me feel positively immoral, my dear." She sat silent with a puzzled frown and I noticed that tears appeared. If I had not known her so well I might have thought she was a young woman with a past. "Did you have a good time, Anne?"

"I did, in a way," she answered. "But that was one reason I came out looking for you. I thought maybe you and your date would take me home, I didn't want to make Gordon leave and I was having such an unhappy time. I think now I know why I am such a wall-flower at a dance," she said.

"That's silly, Anne," I comforted, "you're not." Though I had noticed that in spite of the fact that Anne was a good dancer she was never rushed, and it was not at all unusual to see her with the same partner for several straight dances.

"Well, I found out something last night," she ignored my remark. I was waltzing with "Goat" Jeknins. He had been drinking a lot and what do you think he said?"

Anne blushed. She was one of the few girls left in the world who could.

"I'll bite," I answered. "What did he say?"

Anne's voice sank to a whisper.

"'You're the only girl on the floor with one of these on,' he said, and meant my corset, Sallie. 'Go up-stairs and park 'em and you'll have more dances,' he suggested."

"It's funny, Sallie; I love to dance, I feel the music to my very soul," she continued, "and yet I'm conspicuously unpopular. I noticed last night that you couldn't get two feet without three or four of the boys breaking at once, and there was one time when I counted eight breaks before you could get half way 'round. And yet you sat out three whole dances with Ted.' If I were as popular as you I certainly wouldn't spend my time outside. Sometimes I wonder——"

"Don't do it, darlin', it's an awful tax on the brain." I wanted to cheer her up again.

"Well, maybe you are right, Sallie. Anyway, I must be running along." Half way across the room, she turned. "I've some publicity to do for the Lingerie Shop and guess what. I've got to write for the feature ad?"

I couldn't.It was too early to even try.

"Corsets," she flung at me, and, smiling humorously, she hurried away.

The phone rang. I reached it from the taffeta skirts of the doll-lady on my bedside table. "Hello." It was Marjorie Chenoweth.

"Curtiss Wright's in town and he's the most thrilling person you've ever known. He and Bob were classmates and we were going to ask you both over to-night to dine."

"Yes, yes," I replied, "go on."

"Well, in the first place all the ambitious mothers are trying to marry him off to their debutante daughters because he's a very successful architect, but so far none have been able to hold his interest. He has been quoted as saying all sorts of scathing things about the 'jazz type" —you know, the cynical kind."

"Oh, Marjorie, not a woman-hater—how divine!" I was overjoyed.

"That's all right, Sallie," she warned. "I know they all fall for you, but not Curtiss Wright. I'll bet——"

"What time did you say we were to dine?" I interrupted.

"That's the thrilling part, Sallie. He couldn't come. He's having dinner with your dad."

"That's great!" I announced.

"This is one night I dine at home."

THE AVERAGE CITIZEN.

Seemingly oblivious to the fact that he, himself, is alone responsible for the mounting size of his annual tax bill, the average citizen is attaining a state of mind where he is exerting merely a negative influence in public affairs. Because he has to pay so much to operate his government, he takes it out in murmuring about cost, when, either by commission or omission, he alone authorizes the expenditures. He castigates and condemns the tax assessor and collector for doing neither more nor less than the work he, himself imposed upon them. Through his ballot he has absolute control, yet, while costs of government, county, city, district, and State keep piling up beyond all reason, he permits irrelevant issues to direct his vote knowing all the while that taxes, like a cancerous disease, is eating at the vitals of industry.

When we contemplate the fact that the per capita annual tax in Texas has leaped from $21.07 in 1912 to more than $75.00 in 1924 it is, or at least should be, enough to compel us to halt and debate the wisdom of our course. If it were possible for the books of the State and local governments to be audited and, a few weeks before elections, the major items of expense and the object of such expenditures published so that every voter would know where when and how his tax money has been used and who is responsible, there would quickly follow such an arrest of the process of public spending as would astonish no one quite so much as the average citizen himself.

The chief trouble now is that hardly one voter in ten thousand has the remotest idea of how much money is collected, how it is disbursed, or what the final benfits, if any, to the public. Being uninformed, he has no way of gaining a clear conception of the exact situation. Otherwise he would surely act differently. —Facts and Fiction.

ACCORDING TO HOYLE

As Hiram Jones came into town he saw a sign in a store advertising a shoe sale. Shoes were hung all around the window in pairs, and in the center, on a small table, were laid three silver dollars with the sign: "Get your shoes now. Three of a kind takes them."

Hiram needed a pair of shoes; so he entered the store, and said to the clerk: "I see you're selling shoes according to poker rules."

"Yes."

"Well, give me two pair."

"What size?"

"Number nine."

When the clerk returned with the shoes Hiram passed over three silver dollars and started to grab the shoes, but the clerk stopped him.

"Two pair of shoes at three dollars is six dollars."

"Didn't you say you sold shoes on poker rules?"

"Yes."

"Well, don't three of a kind take two pair?"

"Sure," replied the clerk, "but it won't take four nines." —Judge.

WHICH WILL YOU TAKE For GOVERNOR?

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, a Christian Mother, a real Democrat, and a life-long prohibitionist,

OR

Felix D. Robertson, the Ku Klux Klan Candidate, supported by the leaders of the Old Whiskey Ring?

Do youwant Zeeke Marvin, the Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, and the big drug store whiskey dealer of Dallas to select your Governor, or do you want the patriotic and loyal Democrats of Texas to do the choosing?

Below is a list of the prominent men and women in church and State who are actively supporting Mrs. Ferguson for Governor, and fighting Felix Robertson, the Ku Klux candidate. This shows the line-up; where do you stand?

MRS JESSIE DANIEL AMES: Delegate to last two Democratic National Conventions, and State leader of Woman Suffrage and prohibition work.

MRS. HORTENSE WARD: One of the first women lawyers in Texas; prominent Woman Suffragist; member of committee which wrote Texas State prohibition amendment; stumped State against Jim Ferguson in 1918.

MRS. WENDEL SPENCE: Appointed by Federal Government Chairman Purity Campaign Committee; also Chairman Woman's Prohibition Committee of Dallas; was refused aid in her work by Felix D. Robertson.

MRS. W. C. MARTIN: Noted Texas woman leader and prohibitionist; was invited to Washington by President Harding to discuss National work among women.

MRS. JOHN W. WOOD: wife of former Speaker of Texas House of Representatives, and prominent woman leader and prohibitionist.

M. M. CRANE: Ex-Attorney General; represented State in Ferguson Impeachment trial and a life-long prohibitionist.

CONE JOHNSON: Lawyer, and one of the leading prohibitionists of the State.

T. N. JONES: Eminent Lawyer, and one of the two surviving members of State-wide Prohibition Campaign Committee of 1887.

H. A. IVY: Who has made more prohibition speeches than probably any other man in the State.

T. W. DAVIDSON: Lieutenant Governor, prohibitionist and candidate for Governor.

LYNCH DAVIDSON: Ex-Lieutenant Governor, prohibitionist and candidate for Governor.

V. A. COLLINS: Ex-State Senator, prohibitionist and candidate for Governor.

T. D. BARTON: State Adjutant General, prohibitionist and candidate for Governor.

JOE BURKETT: State Senator, prohibitionist and candidate for Governor.

W. E. POPE: Leading State Representative, and candidate for Governor.

GEORGE DIXON: Candidate for Governor.

H. A. WROE: Leading citizen of Austin; member Board of Regents of State University.

STERLING P. STRONG: Former State Chairman Anti-Saloon League.

L. T. DASHIEL: Ex-Speaker of House of Representatives, and prohibitionist.

C. F. GREENWOOD: Ex-Chairman of State Democratic Convention that demanded submission of prohibition amendment.

T. S. HENDERSON: Ex-Member of University Board of Regents; life-long prohibitionist.

W. J. MILBURN: Ex-Chairman National Board of Directors and now member National Executives of Anti-Saloon League.

CHARLES R. FLOYD: State Senator from Red River County, and strong prohibitionist.

JUDGE JOSEPH E. COCKRELL: President Board of Trustees of Southern Methodist University.

PROF. J. C. GRANBERRY: Professor in Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas.

DR. J. T. HARRINGTON: Physician of Baylor University, and a prominent leader in Waco Baptist Church.

R. HARPER KIRBY: Most prominent prohibitionist in Texas; spent $100,000 of his own money to secure Texas prohibition.

HON. T. S. HENDERSON: Lawyer and old time Texas prohibition warhorse.

NELSON PHILLIPS: Recent Chief Justice Texas Supreme Court.

CHARLES H. JENKINS: Ex-Member Court Civil Appeals, Austin.

In addition to the foregoing men and women of Texas, are the following leaders in church and State, who are also opposing the Ku Klux Klan and its practices:

REV. GEORGE W. TRUETT: Texas' greatest and strongest Baptist preacher.

DR. S. P. BROOKS: President of Baylor University.

MRS. CLAUDE DE VAN WATTS: President Texas Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Supporting Felix D. Robertson for Governor are only two prominent prohibitionists in the State: Tom Ball of Houston, whom Jim Ferguson beat for Governor, and is still sore over it; and Atticus Webb, whose job is at stake, and who was severely criticized by Mrs. van Watts, State President of W. C. T. U., for trying to fool the prohibitionists into Robertson's Klan Camp.

A vote for Mrs. Ferguson means good schools, higher education, lower taxes, real prohibition and peace and good will among the citizens of Texas.

A vote for Robertson means Ku Klux Klan domination in government, continued strife and hatred among the people, and a final degeneracy into mob rule in Texas.

Be patriotic! Vote for "Ma" and Good Government!
Put the Ku Klux Klan out of Texas Politics.

BEST BET NEGLECTED.

If the average person got from his auto as few miles per gallon of gasoline, as much engine trouble or as irregular service as most of us are content to get from our bodies, he would make changes. Dr. Frances Scott of Smith College says this in a lecture.

How many people take as good care of their bodies as they do of their autos or radios?

And yet the human body, a thousand times more delicate than the auto, radio or any other machine, is given very little attention. Its fuel (food) is fed to it haphazzardly, with little of the care we bestow in buying gas for the auto or batteries or tubes for the radio.

The owner, careful not to put too much "juice" on the filaments of the radio tubes or too heavy a task on his auto, repeatedly throws too much strain on his body—especially on its nerves, stomach and heart.

The noted surgeon, Dr. Chas. H. Mayo, probably had all this in mind when he said recently that civilization can end "mass diseases" (such as yellow fever) but individual ailment (such as cancer and nervous indigestion) are gaining.

Diet and proper exercise—neglect of these are the big enemies of health, Dr. Mayo emphasizes.

"Continuous over-eating is the bane of our modern existence."

Not only over-eating, but eating the wrong combinations of foods—putting molasses in the gasoline tank and sand in the gears.

One trouble with most people is that they want to buy good health and long life in pill or bottled form. That's why the monkey gland experimenters caught popular fancy. They brought forth the promise of health and longevity without individual effort in the matter of food and exercise.

This bottle-and-pill fetish is further illustrated in the annual drug bill of our country—500 million dollars, 300 million of which are spent on so-called patent medicines. Thirty years ago only 2699 drug items were on the market. Today the figure is over 45,000.—San Angelo Standard.

MEMBER TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Every good citizen owes it to himself to go to the polls and vote tomorrow. You may be for "Ma" Ferguson or for "Tanlac" D., or you may be "agin 'em" both, which is alright either way; but take the time to go to the polls and vote, if you have to shut your eyes and hold your nose to mark the line.

From reports over the State, Mrs. Ferguson is going to win by the largest majority ever given a gubernatorial candidate if there are anything like the number of votes cast tomorrow that were cast a month ago.

Robertson is going to get his 195,000 and then some, for the Emporer is going to see that all his subjects are out that day. If you are "agin 'em" both, and remain at home, that helps the masked brothers, or if you scratch both candidate, that helps them; or if you leave both names, that helps elect Robertson, for, as stated above, the wizards, large and small are going to be on hand.

We don't get mad with some of our friends because they don't see things like we do, and we don't agree with other of our friends who think Mariam is going to make a great governor. We give other people the same freedom of action that we ask them to give us. The State is going to continue as an institution, no matter who is elected, and you and I are going to have to continue to work for a living.

Personally, we believe that the voters of Texas made a great mistake in failing to elect the greatest executive that has offered for office in 25 years—Lynch Davidson. Other people didn't see it that way, but a few more years of government managed by the politicians that promise everything and do nothing, will probably bring the people to a more logical reasoning.

We believe that Mrs. Ferguson will make Texas a good governor. We believe that she will enforce all the laws, and we do not believe that she is dominated by a man or group of men, such as Zeek Martin (who is, according to the daily press reports, the biggest whiskey dispenser in the State, an accusation he has never denied so far as we know), and we believe that Texas will have a more contented citizenship and a more peaceful administration under Mrs. Ferguson than under a man dominated by any organization that compels him to take orders from an Emporer in a state hundreds of mile away

We have been thinking for some time that we would start an "old-timers" club in this paper. We would like to know who has been in the county the longest time, and who are among the older men and women of the county.

So, if those who are well along in years and those who have been in the county since its organization, or before, will take sufficient interest to call at the office, or write us, we shall be glad to list their names in our "old-timers" club column, and add to the list each week until we have it complete. If you will tell us some early day history, so much the better, but be sure to send in your name and age, and the year in which you moved to Kimble County, so we can start the ball rolling.

The paper may be a little light on news this week. The editor of this sheet was busy the last week-end helping Phillip Luthringer erect a new wind mill on the old well next to The Eagle building, and has had to spend a part of this week watching it run. We are out of the busy district of the town and have so many weeds growing down this way that we have decided to provide sufficient water to supply trees and shrubs that will be planted later to make our grounds more attractive.

The Junction Eagle has a scholarship good for any standard commercial course offered by the Tyler Commercial College, the biggest commercial college in the South, that it will sell at a reduction to some worthy boy or girl. Terms can be arranged if desired. We have sold several of these scholarships during the past three years, and those who purchased them, without exception, are holding responsible positions at good salaries. If you are interested we shall be glad to talk the matter over with you.

Wiley Fisher, our present Commissioner of this precinct, is doing some valuable road work this week on the London road. The crew have been filling in, with adobe earth, the low places which during rainy periods, have been almost impassable.

Mr. Voter, don't forget the approaching election. Next Saturday is the general primary in which the people of Texas are to make their choice between Felix D. Robertson and Mrs. Mariam Ferguson for governor of Texas. On the following Tuesday the qualified voters of London and Red Creek school precincts will be called upon to vote their sentiments on a bond issue for the purpose of building a modern school building for London. Consider this carefully, remembering that the future welfare of your own children is involved in this question. Come on! Let's co-operate and build a good school!

A letter from Mrs. Hankins this week states that they are ready to leave Chicago and will likely be home the last of this week or the first of next.

LOST—Light tan Jersey cow in fine condition; last seen on Friday, August 15th. Reward for return to W. P. Riley.

Will C. Edwards for lieutenant governor, "pledged only to the service of the people." Edward's platform boiled down is simply this: "Service to the State and fairness and justice to every citizen, every section, every legitimate interest." Sun-of-a-Gun knows Will Edwards personally, knows him inside and out; he is STRAIGHT in his democracy, in his life, in his dealings with his fellow man He has never bolted the democratic party, belongs to no klan nor bloc, and when elected Lieutenant Governor he will go into office his own free man to serve the whole people. Will C. Edwards of Denton County should be elected by the loyal, time-tried democrats of Texas by an overwhelming majority August 23rd.—San Saba News.

The big barn belonging to Mrs. A. R. Cauthorn & Sons on their ranch ,(Luke Hodges), about 30 miles southwest of Sonora, burned about 4 o'clock Thursday morning. The barn contained six good saddles, four sacks of wool, about 160 sacks of salt, a Ford truck and about 1000 bales of hay. It is thought this hay, not well cured, might have ignited, causing the fire. The loss is estimated to be about $3,000 with no insurance. —Devils' River News.

E. A. Willis ventures the suggestion that we need rain out this way and that this paper ought to lead the fight for it. We agree with him as far as the first suggestion is concerned. We would be willing to editorialize for a good while on rain, and may do so, but if we do and the rain is not forthcoming, we are going to blame Mr. Willis for suggesting the idea.

Personal to Robert Jr.

IT CAME Addressed "personal" to Robert, Jr.,—a letter from the bank where he had deposited from time to time, money earned at mowing lawns, shoveling snow, and running errands. A letter, in the life of little folks is quite an event, and Robert was duly impressed.

Opening it, he studied its contents quite closely, slowly reasoning his way through the message it bore. Finally a smile of delight spread over his face. Right then was character made; the first molding of a trait which perhaps would influence his whole life. A lesson had been taught. He had learned that income could be had through the practice of thrift.

The letter was nothing more than a credit slip for interest on his money deposited in a savings account. To Robert, it was an unexpected deposit, money which he had not had to earn. His money was working for him. His incentive to increase his accout was accelerated ten fold.

Ben. Franklin said: "Instill Thrift; instill it young." Is your boy or girl being encouraged in such worthy effort?

10,000,000TH FORD COMPLETES TRANS-CON. TRIP

Ford car No. 10,000,000 completed its trans-continental journey July 29, at 1 o'clock, when it arrived at the Western terminal of the Lincoln Highway, according to a telegram just received by the Ford Motor Company from Frank Kulick, former racing driver, who piloted the car across the continent.

The arrival in San Francisco was auspicious. The car, accompanied by a large number of motor cars, bedecked with California's choicest flowers, was driven to the City Hall where Mayor James Rolph received a letter from Mayor John Hylan of New York, in the presence of an enthusiastic crowd. It was then driven to the end of the Lincoln Highway where a final greeting was extended by James H. Houlihan, official representative of the Lincoln Highway Association on the West Coast.

This marked the completion of one of the most memorable demonstrations in automotive history.

The Ten-Millionth Ford was started westward across the nation's greatest highway on June 16th, not to prove performance but to commemorate an achievement, and throughout the journey demonstrations, bands and parades marked the progress for nearly every mile of the entire distance.

Burdened with the responsibility of upholding Ford tradition, Ford Car No. 10,000,000, one of approximately 7,200 standard cars produced in a single day, performed in characteristic Ford fashion. The entire distance of a little less than 4,000 miles was covered with but one minor adjustment and with absolutely no mechanical difficulty of any nature. Although many hundreds of miles of road particularly through the western states and across the Rocky Mountains are of dirt and gravel formation it is noteworthy that this, the lowest priced car built averaged 110 miles a day for the entire six weeks and was on schedule to the minute in every town visited.

The trans-continental trip of the Ten-Millionth Car has formally ended, but the interest remains so keen that the car is now being routed up the Pacific Coast to Portland and Seatle, from which point it will be shipped by boat back to San Francisco and then driven overland to Los Angeles and probably back across the country to Detroit over a Southern route.

OLD WASHINGTON DEBT PAID BY AMERICANS.

The Americans who were entertained at luncheon at Brasenose College, were afterwards taken into the common room, where among some old records, was an entry showing that Lawrence Washington, the great-great-grand father of George Washington, President of the United States, matriculated there in 1621, became a Fellow in 1623, and left in 1633, owing the college the sum of 17s. 10d. In spite of numerous efforts to obtain payment of this sum, there was no record in the college that it had ever been paid although the Bursar was authorized to sue Washington for the sum. Mr. Campbell Lee, one of the guests, of the Middle Temple, and the New York Bar, addressing the Bursar of Brasenose, said that in view of this disclosure and in order to set right the account, and on condition that the Principal and Fellows of the college would cancel all claims to interest, he moved that the guests should forthwith present to the Treasurer of the college a sufficient sum to cancel the long-outstanding debt. This was unanimously voted, and, with the consent of the Principal, Mr. Sampson, the Americans present handed over the sum of 17s. 10d., and thus paid the debt outstanding for nearly three centuries against the family of Washington.

The foregoing is taken from the London Times, and was handed The Eagle by A. L. Mudge, who receives this paper regularly. The Americans spoken of are members of the American Bar Association, who are visiting in England, and the amount, according to Mr. Mudge, is about $4.45

FRANK PATTERSON BUYS INTEREST WITH LEAZAR.

W. G. Leazar has sold a half interest in his Gun, Welding and Machine Shop, to Frank Patterson, the deal taking effect August 1st. Mr. Patterson and wife have moved here from Fort Davis and are gladly welcomed to the business and social circles of the city. Frank needs no introduction to the people of Kerr County, or Southwest Texas, for that matter, as he formerly lived at Junction and was a Texas Ranger for several years.

Mr. Patterson is an expert gunsmith and will have charge of that department of the business. He is also an all-round mechanic and will assist with other work when occasion demands.

Mr. Leazar will devote his entire time to the welding and machine work, which is increasing rapidly; in fact, it was the increase of this department that caused the formation of the partnership so as to better handle the business. To better care for the welding work the latest improved appliances have been added, including a portable welding and cutting outfit for outside work.

Bill and Frank will make a splendid team to care for their increasing business and to help boost for a bigger and better Kerrville.—Mountain Sun.

One often wonders why some fail in business while others with less capital, fewer friends, and poorer opportunities succeed. The failures are usually quitters. They start out well with plenty of money, many acquaintances and bright prospects, but when reverses come, or business gets dull, they stop and take a rest. I once knew a prosperous merchant with a good trade who found his business up against a serious drouth that considerably diminished his trade. He decided to begin to cut down expenses by cutting off advertising. He saved some $30.00 a month in that way, but his business fell away to almost nothing. A young fellow, almost a stranger, in the town, doubled his advertising as the drouth became worse, and was soon doing twice as much business as any other store in the town. The old merchant had to close his store after two years of unprofitable business, but the chap who wouldn't quit is now the leading merchant of that town.—Exchange.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Annie Bierschwale was born May 31, 1860, in Baltimore Maryland, and came to Texas in 1877, and to Harper in 1887. She departed from this life on July 23, 1924, near Segovia, Texas. About a week before her death, she had a stroke of peralysis, from which she never regained consciousness.

She was married to Rev. Wm. Bierschwale on June 29, 1881. To this happy union ten children were born, one girl dying in infancy. The surviving are: Henry and Willie of Noxville; Ray, Albert, Fred and Floyd of Segovia, Texas; Mrs. L. E. Stockard and Mrs. A. S. Parker of Harper, Texas; and Mrs. W. S. Fairchild of Noxville, Texas. Besides her deeply bereaved husband, she is also survived by her aged father, Mr. W. R. Price, who was making his home with her at the time of her death, and two brothers, Rev. Will Price and Mr. Chas. Price, both of Medina, Texas, and many relatives and friends who mourn her death.

She professed faith in Christ when a small girl, and joined the church. She lived and died a Christian. She had won her way into the hearts of many people through her Christ-like spirit. For all who knew her, loved her. She denied herself many pleasures and sacrificed much for the sake of others, and especially for her own children. She also took the place of mother to four motherless children.

Rev. Bierschwale was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Harper for sxteen years, and his dear companion was indeed a great help to him in the work for the Lord.

The funeral service was held in the Presbyterian church at Harper at 3:30 p. m., July 24, 1924. The remains were laid to rest in the Harper cemetery under a large concourse of relatives and friends.

The conflict is over; we cherish the precious assurance that she has gone to enjoy the victor's crown.

"MYSELF."

I have to live with myself, and so
I want to be fit for myself to know,
I want to be able as days go by
Always to look myself in the eye.
I don't want to stand in the setting sun,
And hate myself for the things I've done.
I want to go out with my head erect,
I want to deserve al men's respect;
But here in the struggle for fame and pelf
I want to be able to like myself.
I don't want to look at myself and know
That I'm bluster and bluff and empty show.
I never can hide myself from me
I see what others may never see

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER.

One of the most delightful entertainments of the season was the miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon from 5 to 7, by Mesdames W. P. Riley and W. W. Buck, at the Riley home, honoring Miss Doris Holekamp, who is to be married in San Antonio this coming Saturday.

As each person entered the reception room they were served with mint punch. Misses Gladys Van Clief and Tottie Martin presiding at the punch bowl. Mrs. W. P. Riley toasted to the honoree, after which Mrs. Jim Moore entertained the many guests with a pretty soprano solo. Mrs. H. O. Patterson read "That Old Sweetheart of Mne," and was accompanied on the piano by Miss Dorothy Hodges.

A round table covered in green crepe paper with an immense yellow crepe paper sun-flower a-glow on top was placed in front of the honoree and she was asked to pull the petals to see whether or not "he loved her." On pulling the last petal a string of nice and useful gifts were brought forth, the table being unable to hold all the presents, the remainder was brought in in a wicker basket.

The Ladies' Afternoon Club and Laf-a-Lot Club, each of which she is a member, presented her with silver.

There were about thirty who enjoyed Mesdames Riley and Buck's hospitality.

Perry was awarded a pretty blue and white bathing cap for the most graceful swimmer, while the blue bandana handkerchief, the booby, went to Mrs. Van Martin. The honoree, Miss Hey, was presented with a nice "compact."

After the contests, cherry pie a-la mode, was served.

The Secret Fear

In the back recesses of every mind is the secret fear that the day will come when through accident, breakdown, or illness, the ability to earn a living will be gone. It isn't often any of us bring out this fear for a close inspection and mastery, but it exists nevertheless, and no better time than NOW will ever be available.

The defeat of this fear is easy. It requires only strength of will to hush fear for all time. A systematic plan of saving—regularly putting aside a portion of what you earn—is the way. Then later, maybe an investment in first mortgage bonds—a guaranteed investment—which we have available. Maybe today you want to invest in such securities?
