For Farm Families

FHA Loans Provides Needed Farm Support

A total of $7,858,340, in loan funds has been used in Lamb County to support family farms since the Farmers Home Administration was expanded six years ago, Truman J. Jones, local supervisor for the rural credit agency said today.

Approximately $1,239,490 was advanced in 1967. Currently approximately 140 farmers in Lamb County are using the supervised credit services of Farmers Home Administration.

The supply of credit, which supplements the credit supplied by banks and other private credit sources is one of the measures recommended by President Johnson to provide family farmers an opportunity to earn parity of income.

"These loans have enabled farmers to stay in business who would otherwise have had to give up and go to the city. They have helped young farmers get established. They have enabled farmers to keep going after hail, excessive rains and early freeze, Truman J. Jones noted.

Farmers Home Administration loans can be used to buy land, refinance debts, acquire livestock and equipment, pay fertilizer and fuel bills and pay other expenses connected with acquiring, improving, and operating farms.

The incomes of farmers using Farmers Home Administration credit in Lamb County in 1967 total approximately $2,290,000.

Typical of the progress made with the aid of the supervised credit program is the record of the Leonard L. Stamps family of near Fieldton. Stamps made application on August 27, 1963 and his loan was made October 1, 1963. Stamps had no farm equipment. He had been working as farm laborer. He was able to get a three year written rental agreement on a good 320 acres of irrigated land. This land was rented on one-third grain and one-fourth cotton paid to the landlord. The landlord also furnished and kept up irrigation pumps. Stamps furnished and kept up the irrigation motors. The landlord paid for one-third and one-fourth of all fertilizer.

Stamps had a net worth of $2700.00 when loan was made. The purpose of the loan was for farm machinery which cost $8610.00, farm operating expenses $8050.00, living expenses $1830. The total of the loan amounted to $18,490. On January 1, 1968 Stamps had net worth of $21,100. Stamps has met the objectives of the Farmers Home Administration and will soon graduate to other sources of credit.

Loans are made only to families who are unable to obtain adequate credit from other sources. The program is tailored to individual family needs and loans are accompanied by technical assistance in farm and money management.

The Lamb County office is located at Littlefield.

Pari-Mutuel Betting

Most of the voters in Texas are working people. This majority will decide on May 4 whether pari mutuel horserace betting should be legalized in Texas.

The professional gambling men backing pari mutuel horserace betting are telling the working people of Texas that pari mutuel betting will be good for them.

Like work without being paid will be good for them.

In this country, if a man works, he gets paid. He gives his labor, the boss gives his money. It's an even trade.

But what do the wealthy men who want to build pari mutuel horseracing tracks propose to do?

They propose to give the working people of Texas a chance to pay out their hard-earned money and get nothing in return. It's not an even trade.

The rich man who owns the track will always win. He takes his percentage from each bet. He can't lose their money. Their loss is his gain.

Another bait held out to working people by the pari mutuel betting crowd is that legalized horse race gambling will create more jobs. Some local people may be temporarily employed in building the track. Other could get service jobs during the short racing season. But the only permanent race track jobs will be for a few caretakers and maintenance men.

When pari mutuel horse race betting was legal in Texas in the 1930's, many working people were fired when financial troubles caused by their betting losses affected their work.

Employees of banks and other institutions will be instantly dismissed if they gamble on horse races.

Furthermore, new industries are not attracted to an area where there is heavy horse race betting. Industry consistently shuns Nevada, a state with wide open gambling of all kinds. Gambling and good jobs just don't go together.

Willard Barr, former mayor of Fort Worth and publisher of the LABOR NEWS, has said: "Pari mutuel horse race betting takes the working man's money and gives it to the track owners and undesirable persons who invade every state which has this type of gambling. It cuts down a man's income, and puts his job in danger. Pari mutuel horse race betting is not good for Texas labor. It should be voted down."

The working people of Texas have every reason to vote "NO" on the pari mutuel horse race betting referendum in the May 4 primary elections.

All those engaged in retail trade should carefully consider the effect pari mutuel horserace betting could have on legitimate business in their communities.

Proponents of pari mutuel betting claim that it will stimulate business in Texas. But the record in other states shows, on the contrary, that many businesses suffer after horserace gambling is legalized.

It is not difficult to understand why retail stores should experience decreases in time payments, increases in bad checks, and slumping sales during the racing season.

Business - real business - fills a need. Horserace betting produces nothing of value. It does not feed, clothe, house or transport people.

Profits from pari mutuel horserace betting do not go back into the community. They go into the hands of the wealthy people who are able to finance a race track.

On the other hand, horserace gambling reduces the disposable income of families who would otherwise spend more for useful products and services.

Pari mutuel horserace betting, proposed in the referendum on May 4 ballot, will drain away wages, savings and investments from Texas business into enterprises which serve no human need.

Senator Estes Kefauver wrote in his book, CRIME IN AMERICA, "Whenever gambling is allowed to exist, legally or illegally, money is taken out of normal and legitimate channels of commerce, and when gambling is minimized, legitimate business flourishes."

There is abundant evidence to support this statement.

Gambling is bad business.
Gambling is bad for business.

To keep Texas business good, keep pari mutuel horserace betting out of Texas.

Vote against the pari mutuel horserace betting referendum on May 4.

A Capable Man

The Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo (7th District) is made up of three judges. Customarily one of these judges is from Amarillo, one from Lubbock, and one from another county of the forty-six in the District.

There is now a judge on the Court from Lubbock County and one from Potter County.

We think it would keep the Court in good balance if the elective judge this year should come from some other county in the District. Judge James A. Joy is from Hale County. He was born in Foard County. He is the only man running in this race with judicial experience.

He is an able man, a fine Christian gentleman and we think his election would be good for the District.

Judge Joy would make a capable judge of the Court of Civil Appeals.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

COURTS SPEAK--Law enforcement officers are sweating out the potential far-reaching effect of a new federal court decision here declaring Texas' disturbing-the-law-unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin will file a motion for rehearing and take his appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary. He called the decision by a three-judge federal panel in the case which originated with Vietnam war protesters displaying signs during a speech by President Johnson in Killeen "a tremendous blow to law enforcement."

Federal judges stayed their mandate pending an opportunity of the state legislature to re-define "disturbance" offense within their guidelines.

They concluded that the existing law, providing fines up to $200, is "impermissibly and unconstitutionally broad."

Martin said if the decision stands, police will find it "exceedingly difficult to maintain law and order in various communities of our state."

Actually, charges against the anti-Vietnam group had been dropped before the hearing because the alleged offense occurred on federal property. Therefore, the state maintains that the court had no authority to test the statute's constitutionality. Martin says dismissal of the original charges rendered the federal court case moot.

Further, Attorney General argues, Texas law prohibits specific actions which are breaches of peace and do not fall within prior decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court which invalidated some disturbance statutes.

In another federal court case, a San Antonio mother of six sued to collect aid-to-dependent-children, though she did not meet the state's one-year residency requirement. She maintained that, since 76 per cent of the welfare money for that purpose came from the federal government, she was entitled to benefits.

Again, a three-judge panel agreed with the plaintiff in a decision that could extend to all welfare, since federal money is everywhere. Attorney General Martin indicated he will appeal this decision to the U. S. Supreme Court.

A woman who lost her hair after using a home permanent liquid cannot collect damages from Procter and Gamble Company because she failed to follow directions, State Supreme Court has held.

A Houston lawyer disbarred for failing to file lawsuits after accepting legal fees lost his appeal to the high court.

Supreme Court will hear arguments May 8 over former State Savings and Loan Commissioner's denial of application by Oak Cliff Savings and Loan Association for a branch office in Fort Worth. District court struck down the commissioner's ruling.

Liquor Control Board had authority to cancel a Monaville (Waller County) grocery store's wine and beer permit, Supreme Court agreed.

TEACHER PAY RAISE PLANNED--Governor's Committee on Public School Edu-

Time was when the summer sun began to come up earlier, I could just go ahead and lie in bed and think "Ha Ha, I don't have to get up just because you're so ambitious and come up so early."

But not any more! It's that time again! Daylight Savings Time that is. Come Sunday night regardless of how much I dislike the idea, the clock has to go up an hour!

Then the old sun gets the laugh on me Monday morning! I'd like to get hold of the nincom-poop that thought we out here in West Texas needed Daylight Savings time!

They should be so lucky as to have to try to drag six kids out of bed one hour earlier! Especially when they don't want to go to bed any earlier because the sun hasn't been down very long.

I get part of them out of the bed and think I have them awake enough to start rousing the others and by the time I get the others awake -- would you believe it's time to start over on the first ones? No, it isn't really that bad, but for my part, I'd just as soon the time remain as it was and I sure hope next year this time when it is time for everyone to run their clocks up, we can just forget we ever heard of Daylight Savings Time and have the last laugh on ole man sunshine!

Passed over for the time being was a request of the Liquor Control Board for an additional $2,300,000.

VETS LAND POLICY CHANGED--New veterans land policies have been ordered to limit veterans' purchases to no more than 10 per cent of any one sub-division.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said interest in the revived program--through which qualified veterans can buy land on long-term, low-interest rate arrangement--has been "overwhelming," but too many applications have been coming in on sub-divisions.

"We cannot spend all our money in a few isolated areas," said Sadler in announcing new restrictions. "We have large subdivisions that have put prices on their land far above market value in the area...All veterans (should have) a chance to buy throughout the state and not spend our money in a few large subdivisions."

NEW FORMULAS--Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and Universities has adopted new formula rates for submission to the Legislature for the state fiscal years 1970-71.

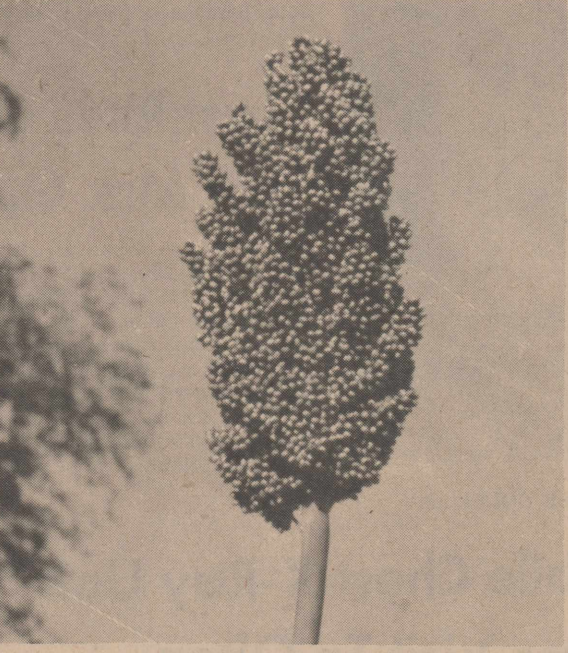

Board also approved a second election for creation of a junior-college district in Jefferson County, adopted criteria for the creation of such districts, approved a uniform financial reporting system for junior colleges and okayed a $50,000 research project by the University of Houston on continuing education.

Precautions To Take If Tornado Comes

If you grew up in Texas 30 years ago, probably you "went to the cellar" when Spring storm clouds gathered.

There you waited in the dampness among Grandma's jelly and jam-filled Mason jars until the anticipated blow (which frequently did not materialize) was over.

Even though the safest place to be during a tornado is still in a cave or storm cellar, there are few cellars remaining even in rural areas of the state. And, the days of tornado-watching and forecasting by the head of the household are about over. Texans today depend on local weather bureaus to alert them to any approaching danger from tornadoes.

However, the Texas Safety Association warns the same danger is present in today's tornadoes as yesterdays. Weather alerts do give that extra margin of time that may mean the difference between life and death, but it's still up to every individual to take the safety measures necessary to protect himself in a tornado.

The Safety Association, which also reminds Texas that it's tornado time from now through September in Texas, offers these tips for survival in a tornado:

If you are in open country: Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If you are in a city or town: Seek inside shelter, preferably along the inside walls of the lower floors of a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

If you are at home in a frame-type house, the southwest corner of the lowest floor, especially a basement, offers the greatest protection. People living in a brick or stone home should find other shelter.

If time permits before a storm strikes, turn off the gas and electricity in your home. Open doors and windows on the north and east side of the house to help reduce damage to the building from outdoor pressure differences.

If you are in a school building:

In city areas: If the school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows. Remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly-supported roofs.

In rural schools: If the school building does not have strong reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

If in an industrial plant: Upon receiving a tornado warning, post a lookout to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Anywhere that you are: Keep calm. It does not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight. As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively only a few places in a warned area are affected. However, you should know what to do "just in case."

Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to replay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

For those who are still fortunate enough to have a storm cellar, the Safety Association has this advice:

Be sure you have an air outlet to equalize the air pressure.

Keep cellar fit for use - free from water, gas or debris.

Keep pick and shovel handy in case you have to dig out.

Water Importing Program Set

Importing irrigation water from the Missouri River Basin will be featured on a program at the county Bull Barn in Hereford, Texas at 8 p. m. Tuesday night, April 30. A new water transfer plan for the Great Plains region has been prepared by the R. W. Beck and Associates engineering firm. The primary purpose of the plan is to supply needed supplemental water to water-short farming areas of western Nebraska, eastern Colorado, western Kansas, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and the High Plains of Texas.

The program is sponsored by Deaf Smith County Water Association in conjunction with its annual meeting of the membership. A short business session of the association will be followed by presentation of the water resource plan by Mr. Paul R. Cunningham, supervising engineer of the Beck company from its Denver branch. The concept calls for the diversion of an annual average of 13,000,000 acre feet of surplus water from the Missouri River below Fort Randall. The primary benefits of the project are irrigation, development of hydroelectric energy, and recreation.

At a proposed cost of approximately $3.5 billion, the project would deliver to the cooperating areas some 10,000,000 acre feet of water annually for irrigation. An acre foot of water covers one acre of land one foot deep.

By a series of dams and reversible turbine pumps, the diverted water would be pumped 200 miles up the Niobrara River to an elevation of 4,050 feet in the vicinity of Alliance, Nebraska. The main canal would carry the water 940 miles by gravity flow to its termination near Hobbs, New Mexico. Included in the Beck proposal is a pumped-storage project southeast of Amarillo to generate a capacity of 1,200 megawatts of electricity.

Legislative bills were presented in both the House and the Senate of the U. S. Congress on Dec. 14, 1967 which would provide for the appropriation of funds for research studies for the project. Only surplus water in the Missouri River Basin is considered, and prime recognition is given to the rights and future needs of the people in the basin who are effected by the proposed diversion.

A taped interview with State Representative Bill Clayton will be included in the program. Clayton, who is Chairman of the House Interim Water Study Committee, will outline his plans concerning the organization of a water district, which would give the necessary authority in the area to contract for water in an importation project. Rep. Clayton plans to hold public hearings on proposed legislation permitting the organization of the water district. One of the hearings will be in Hereford, according to Clayton, who will be unable to attend the meeting Tuesday evening due to recent illness.

R. C. Godwin, President of Deaf Smith County Water Association and a director of Water, Inc. has invited all interested people in the High Plains and other Great Plains areas to attend the meeting. "Forward-looking citizens are realizing more and more all the time," commented Godwin, "that our economy can not be maintained, much less continue to expand, without concrete plans to import supplemental water supplies. The fact of our depleting underground water demands it, and the magnitude of the task requires public participation, cooperation among various areas and states, and concentrated political endeavor. We are going to be involved in what Water, Inc. calls a 'people-project'. We hope to have a large and representative turn-out Tuesday from many miles around this bread-basket of our nation."

Spotlight On Senior Citizens

MR. AND MRS. J. O. ADAY

She Builds Furniture

When Oscar and Madel Aday long for a secluded spot by a lazy waterfall and a pond to fish away the hours, they only have to step from their kitchen to the sunroom and find all that reproduced in miniature.

Madel Aday has let hobby and talent combine to make a real nature retreat at her home. One side of the sunroom is devoted to the woody nook. Here Madel has built two small waterfalls, where water actually trickles down to a pebbled pool. Beside the pool sit two little ceramic "fishermen" - one who has landed a fish!

The other side of the sunroom has a cactus garden with all varieties of cacti. Two very large ones are in bloom with big gardenia-like blossoms.

Although it looks like a pretty place for young ones to play, the grandchildren learned immediately that the cactus garden was not "one of their spots."

J. O. Aday was born Feb. 20, 1896 in Russellville, Ark. When he was about two years old his family came by covered wagon to Texas. They moved the next year to Oklahoma where his father farmed.

Aday was one of six children, five of whom became school teachers. He taught all eight grades in a one-room school. Later he began farming.

Madel Henning was born March 19, 1900 in Sayre, Okla. Her father was a farmer and occasional carpenter. She, also, was one of six children.

The two grew up in Nashoba, Okla. One of Madel's school teachers suggested that Aday would make a "good boy friend". "From then on", she says, "I claimed him."

They planned to be married in 1917 but World War I caused the marriage to be postponed until Aug. 9, 1919.

Aday was a member of the 358th Infantry of the 90th Division - a division that still exists.

The first month Aday was in the army he drew $15 pay. The very next month soldier's pay went up to a grand sum of $28.

After nine months at Camp Travis, Aday was sent to England - traveling in style via a cattle ship. Many of the soldiers could neither read nor write. One of Aday's duties was to teach these men in nightclasses.

Aday served almost a year in France. He was wounded and while seeking to rejoin his battalion, armistice was declared.

The Adays recall that they always walked to school. Church was held in the little school house, too. Mrs. Aday remembers that the weather had to be bad in order for their family to miss church. Each Sunday they walked the three miles to church three times. For morning worship, afternoon singing services and evening worship services.

Many times, she recalls, all the families that were in church - perhaps as many as 12 - would go home with one family for Sunday dinner, visiting and, if the family happened to own a piano or organ, an afternoon of singing.

Nashoba was "right in the middle" of Oklahoma Indians. Aday remembers that most of them were Choctaw. Although there was a government school for the Indians, some of them attended school and church with the white people. He also remembers that the Indians "sure could sing."

In 1921, Oscar and Madel and her sister and brother-in-law set out for Mexia and the oil fields and hopes of "making it rich." Each family had one child at the time.

They recall that one family owned the mules and the other owned the wagon. They still remember that they learned the hard way, how to stretch the canvas on a covered wagon. "We thought we'd be sure and stretch it tight so that it wouldn't leak."

After the rains came, they learned that a little bit of slack is needed. "It leaked terribly!"

The families stopped beside the road to cook and camp out. They usually made coffee in a bucket because the bail of the bucket made it easy to lift from the fire. If they were fortunate enough to be near town when night came, they stayed in a "wagon yard."

The two families swapped the mules and wagon for a 1921 Ford truck. Neither man knew anything about the engine and Madel laughingly recalls that "The rest of us pushed while Oscar guided the truck. I think we pushed that truck halfway to Mexia."

From Mexia, they moved to West Columbia. There they had to live in tents since there were no houses available because of the oil boom.

There was so much "high-jacking", beatings, robberies and murders that they decided to return to Oklahoma.

They devised a sort of "comfort cover" for the open cab truck. Madel remembers that they only left a small opening for the driver to see out.

On the way they failed to make a curve and turned the truck over on its side. Although the truck was loaded with all their belongings, they only spilled a clock and an ax. No one was injured in the spill and with the help of some mules, the truck was righted and they continued on their way "back home."

"We had to push some going back, too!" Madel laughed. Oscar and Madel have three children, Quinton of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Bob Knight of Rogers, Ark. and Mrs. Percy Parsons of Olton.

They have eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Mrs. Aday is a busy person, in addition to her cactus garden, she has a pretty, well kept yard. Since housework and yardwork fail to take up all her time she does a few "other things" - paints, sews, and does all sorts of craft work.

And still the energetic housewife finds time to make furniture! An old bedroom suit and ingenuity added to her labors have resulted in a pretty, useful china cabinet. She has other pieces of furniture that she has made.

All this leaves no idle time which is just the way Madel Aday wants it to be!

SATURDAY GUESTS Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schultz had as guests Saturday Mrs. Schultz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Henderson of Canyon.

Anti-Crime Council Organizes In Texas

State-wide organization of the Anti-Crime Council of Texas was completed in organizational meetings held in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio, Dr. Abner McCall, president of Baylor University and co-chairman of ACT, has announced.

Composed of more than 100 leading citizens of the state, ACT was formed to combat rising crime rates, and specifically to defeat the May 4 statewide referendum on pari-mutuel betting.

"Where pari-mutuel betting goes, organized crime takes over," Dr. McCall said, "and we must not let it happen again in Texas."

Each senatorial district chairman has been charged with the responsibility of naming county chairmen, who in turn will work with city and precinct chairmen, Dr. McCall said.

Since March 20, almost half a million volunteer envelopes and more than 100,000 informational brochures for the anti-pari-mutuel gambling council have been distributed through churches, civic groups, and business organizations.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Here I am on Wednesday night - typewriter in front of me, wadded up paper all about me, a column to write and a blank mind!

All I can think about is, "I sure have fallen behind schedule on deadline night" or my lines from the first act of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Come tomorrow night and rehearsal and instead of my lines, I'll be getting all sorts of ideas for a column - which I'll forget completely before next week.

Vicious circle, eh? The play is going to be a good one - I think. Be planning to see it - if for no other reason than to help the Baseball Association keep the summer baseball program going for so many little boys - but mainly, cause we sure do want an audience!

Well, I could keep on like this and write a whole page full. Trouble is, I wouldn't have really said a thing! Anyway, Someone said this: "Getting out a weekly is fun, but it's no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves. If we don't, we are too fond of our own stuff. If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate true genius. If we do print them, the page is filled with junk. Now, very likely, someone will say we swiped this from some other paper - we did."

And then there is this bit of advice that I cut from a paper so long ago that it has turned quite yellow.

"Sometime, when you're feeling important - Sometime when your ego's in bloom - Sometime, when you take it for granted you're the outstanding man in the room - Sometime, when you feel that your going would leave an unfillable hole - Just follow these simple instructions - In the interest of peace for your soul. Take a bucket and fill it with water - Put your hand in it up to the wrist - Pull it out - and the hole that's remaining is a measure of how you'll be missed. You may splash all you please when you enter - You can stir up the water galore - But stop - and you'll find in a minute that it looks quite the same as before. There's a moral to this quaint example: Do the best that you possibly can! Be proud of yourself, but remember - there is no indispensable man!"

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated nine accidents on rural highways in Lamb County during the month of March, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in one person killed, four persons injured and an estimated property damage of $7,685.00. The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first three months of 1968 shows a total of 24 accidents resulting in four persons killed, nine persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $18,930.00.

The final entry in the 1967 Texas traffic records has been entered and closed. There were 3,367 persons killed, 205,308 persons injured and an estimated property loss of $793,094,000.00. This compares to the 1966 record of 3,406 persons killed, 203,310 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $557,414,000.00. 1967 marks the first decline in traffic deaths and injuries since 1960. The Sergeant stated, "With new traffic laws and the willingness of the public to drive defensively, traffic deaths and injuries can be further reduced in 1968."

Fans To Select Oldtimers Team

The Houston Astros have invited all the fans in the Southwest to select the "Oldtimers" that they would like to see play in Houston's annual "Oldtimers Game" scheduled for Saturday night, August 24, when the Astros host the Chicago Cubs.

A fan may make his selection by listing, position by position, his old time favorites in the following order -- catcher, first baseman, second baseman, third baseman, shortstop, left fielder, center fielder, right fielder and pitchers.

Fans should select one at each position except for the pitchers, in which case three should be selected. This list should then be sent by post card or letter to: Oldtimers, Astrodome, Box 288, Houston, Texas, 77001.

The players listed should have been retired from baseball for at least two years and they may be selected from both the American and National Leagues.

Fan choices will then be tabulated and the selected players will be invited to participate in the Oldtimers Game on August 24 to play against the "Houston Oldtimers."

All lists must be mailed prior to May 15. The annual Oldtimers Game always is one of the highlights of the Astros season and has averaged over 40,000 fans for each game.

Dick Brown Serves In Naval Reserves

J. R. "Dick" Brown, candidate for United States Representative, 18th Congressional District, Texas, returned this past weekend from two weeks' active duty for training aboard the U.S.S. Haleakala in the San Francisco Bay area.

During Brown's tour of duty, the U.S.S. Haleakala (AE25) was undergoing pre-deployment inspection and exercises prior to reassignment to Vietnam. When Brown departed the ship, she was loading ammunition at Port Chicago, preparatory to leaving for Vietnam.

Brown is a Lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve, attached to the Reserve center in Amarillo. He particularly noted the high morale and spirit of the officers and men, in regard to the Vietnam situation. He said that the results of high caliber training was evidenced by the efficiency, readiness and willing attitude of the officers and men of the ship. Brown added that there was general disgust with the "peacenik" demonstrators who paraded within view of the ship while it was docked.

Social Security Benefits Available To Clergymen

Social Security coverage has been extended to thousands of clergymen through a recent change in the Social Security Act.

Although formerly excluded from coverage by law, clergymen were allowed to request credit under social security for their earnings if their request was filed within a specific time limit. Because of the time limit, many clergymen wanting such credit could not get it.

Liberalization of the Social Security Law now provides automatic coverage for clergymen for taxable years after 1967. Only those requesting exemption on religious grounds will not get social security credit.

Clergymen, considered to be self-employed, pay their social security tax with their income tax if their yearly profits from the ministry are $400 or more. They must complete a Schedule "C" with each income tax return, indicating their ministerial gross income, expenses and net profit, according to John G. Hutton, district manager.

More information regarding this change in the law may be obtained from your local social security office.

NEWS HEMISFAIR '68

AND FEATURES WORLD EXPOSITION APRIL 6-OCT. 6-SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS

HemisFair is here and receiving raves from thousands of visitors who were among the first to visit the 92.6 acre World's Fair in San Antonio. From the dreams of 1963 to the drawing board of 1964 and the construction noises of the past two years, the international exposition has quickly become the gathering place for fun-seeking tourists.

The elevators on the 622-foot Tower of the Americas, boats on the lagoons, fun rides on Fiesta Island and ovens and grills at 100-odd restaurants are all buzzing with activity. Visitors have found it is a World's Fair designed for people—offering such conveniences as outside air conditioning to accommodate those waiting to get into the popular assortment of pavilions, transportation by skyride, monorail or boat to get around the compact fair and both elevated and ground-level walkways.

The thousands of visitors have also been treated to free water ski shows four times daily on Fiesta Lagoon, the excellent performances of the Flying Indians of Mexico atop a 114-foot pole, and the singing and dancing of various groups while strolling around the grounds.

Another exciting free act will be included in the "must-see" list of the strolling World's Fair visitors starting May 1—that of Henri LaMothe. LaMothe is a 65-year-old daredevil who earns his keep by diving from a 40-foot tower into 17 inches of water. He will perform this stunt twice daily on the HemisFair grounds for six weeks starting May 1.

LaMothe has been performing this feat for over 25 years in such places as Peru, Italy, Canada and Chili as well as throughout the United States. The Oklahoma House of Representatives has added their endorsement to Hemis Fair and urged every resident of the Sooner state to visit the World's Fair.

Ninety-nine members of the Oklahoma House, including Speaker Rex Privett, cosponsored the unanimously passed resolution commending Texas and developers of HemisFair for "A spectacle for the enjoyment of all."

The resolution, mailed to HemisFair Chief Executive Officer Jim Gaines, said the World's Fair "combines the gaiety of festival, the vigor and spontaneity of the frontier, and the sophisticated adventure of space age technology."

Hemis Fair has its own radio station to serve as a broadcasting guide for visitors to the exposition.

A transmitter operating on a special frequency below the regular broadcast bands has been built on the grounds, and visitors can pick up their own portable receivers as they enter the gates.

Broadcasts include information on special events, exhibits, weather and news, the location of lost children, interviews with celebrities and such interesting things as waiting times at various exhibits,

Enrollment Date Set For School Of Nursing

The enrollment date for students at Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing will be June 3, 1968. Students who have completed the prerequisite two semesters of college are eligible for enrollment. Applications should be made to the Director of the School of Nursing.

Recent announcement by officials of Northwest concerning change in the program has resulted in an increase of applicants wishing to enter school. One of the major changes is that the school is now on an academic-year basis and the other is that Chemistry will not be a prerequisite course at Northwest after this year.

Over one hundred applications are on file for the June class. These applicants are from some 40 cities in five states, including Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Missouri and California. Several of these applicants are men. The opportunities for men in nursing far surpass those offered in many other fields.

Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing is fully accredited by the National League for Nursing and the Texas Board of Nurse Examiners. Repeatedly, graduates from Northwest have ranked among the top in South Plains Offers Industry Training Course

Training men for the demanding roles of industry is a big job and South Plains College Vocational-Technical Division meets it with the philosophy of instilling a desire in students to achieve.

At a recent meeting of the Sundown Lions Club, Dean Frank Hunt, Director of the Technical-Vocational Division, said, "The Technical-Vocational Division of SPC seeks to develop the potentialities of the students and to help them realize the importance of their place in business. The main objective of Vocational-Technical training," said Hunt, "is to train men to take their place in industry while educating them to become a valuable unit of the community."

According to Hunt, academic students would benefit greatly by taking a course in the Vocational-Technical Department which would relate to their major field. Ineffect, this would guarantee them a solid foundation in basic knowledge to their vocation, and could help serve as income for supplementing college costs from summer or part time work. Courses offered in this division will not only help to build a solid foundation for industries already in this area but serve as an enticement for the establishment of additional ones.

Ever expanding and ever improving curriculums and courses with an emphasis on the building of the individual, the South Plains College Vocational-Technical Division stresses a modern and realistic view toward improvement of manpower in industry.

The crowds that have thronged onto the jewel-box fairgrounds at HemisFair prove it is definitely a World's Fair.

Included in the happy sightseers one day recently were a Scot wearing kilts, several Oriental maidens in native costume, a Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman who took a breather from his country's pavilion, and gobs of happy visitors clad in everything from business suits to walking shorts and flowing originals to miniskirts. Italian soldiers in full uniform march at their pavilion and Mexican mariachis sing outside the Mexico exhibit.

The color of the Fair is something to behold. It seems that each government or industry tried to outdo their neighbor in fashions for their hostesses.

The mini-monorail, which has been an instant hit at the World's Fair, has hostesses in rainbow colored dresses and high mod boots, and the Arkansas pavilion boasts hostesses in beautiful red-topped, striped skirt outfits. There are many more varieties in the multitude of pavilions, and on HemisFair personnel.

A Gay 90's Restaurant on the exposition grounds is housed in a structure believed to have been built by the Spanish before 1800.

All-American Backs Wallace

Dick Maegle, former All-American football great at Rice University whose Owl team whipped the Alabama Crimson Tide by a 28-6 score in the 1954 Cotton Bowl game, will travel with and introduce former Alabama governor George Wallace when he visits Texas April 25, 26 and 27th.

In Houston Maegle said, "It is an honor for me to be of service to my good friend George Wallace in his drive to get on the ballot in our state."

Wallace's three-day swing through the Lone Star State by chartered plane is part of his effort to persuade at least 14,259 Texans to come to their precinct conventions of his American Party so he will be guaranteed a place on the Texas presidential ballot in November. Adding difficulty to this task is the fact that those attending the Wallace American Party precinct conventions must refrain from voting in the Democratic or Republican primaries.

Give her the one she likes best

Cattle like Pioneer's 985 because it tastes so good. Strip grazing tests show they'll graze it first every time—they'll eat more and make more milk or meat for you.

Hybrid 985 gives you more feed per acre, too. In Texas A & M tests at Weslaco (1966), it was the top yielder. In the 1967 Texas Research Foundation performance trials at Renner, Pioneer 985 ranked 1st in yield (oven dry forage) in two of three tests when compared with competitive sorghum-sudangrass hybrids.

Use 985 to fit your needs—with milk cows, beef cattle, hogs, sheep or turkeys—for pasture, green chop, haylage or hay. The extra palatability and extra tonnage gives you more profit.

Passage of cotton and other farm legislation in Washington has become increasingly more difficult with each attempt since the Agriculture Act of 1938. And 1968 promises to be no exception.

With completely inadequate public relations programs for agriculture the decline in farm influence on Capitol Hill has been in almost direct proportion to the decline in farm population.

Because urban people and their representatives have not been made to see farm programs in their true light there are "enemies" in both the House and Senate where there should be friends.

There are people urging their Washington representatives to vote against farm programs and farm appropriations of which they themselves stand to receive the greatest benefit.

And this situation becomes even more serious in the present atmosphere of federal budget pressure, the gold crisis and the emotionally potent conditions in our cities.

Under these circumstances there is little opportunity for Congressmen and Senators to make political hay, or even avoid making political poison, by actively supporting farm commodity programs.

So farm programs are a prime target for budget cuts by many legislators. There are 21 bills in Congress that would take the first step toward destruction of these programs, the most prominent of which is a bill by Senator Abraham Ribicoff of New York that would repeal marketing quotas, certificates, acreage diversion and price support payments for feed grains, wheat and soybeans. The next Congress and by all odds the next President will be even less sympathetic to farm programs, making passage of legislation this year of prime importance.

This tilting of Congress and ill-feeling of the public against farm programs is felt more keenly by anyone than by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, who told the Executive Club of Chicago last month that "Most people either take agriculture for granted, or they have a closed mind, regarding the programs as patchwork -- patch on patch -- an exercise in futility."

His attempt to allay this impression was admirable and obtained logical answers to some of the questions most often asked by the general public about farm commodity programs. Answers that need wide circulation if Agriculture is to repair its public image.

The secretary pointed out the basic reason for farm programs. "...for the foreseeable future productive capacity will substantially exceed effective demand," he said, and went on to say such programs are necessary to permit "individual farmers -- as two million separate food and fiber factories -- to manage inventories and adjust output lest they smother themselves in their own abundance."

He told them that "Agriculture today, more than ever, requires stable prices; the farmer more than ever must be able to make his plans with some reasonable income assurance because he must spend more than ever -- for machines, fuel, fertilizer -- in order to farm efficiently, which he must do to stay in business."

He pointed out that because of commodity programs America's families are getting more of the most nourishing food in the world for less than ever before; our agricultural products are competitive in world markets and their export comprises more than 50 per cent of the Nation's total favorable balance of trade, and over a billion dollars worth of food per year is moved to needy people all over the United States.

The result of letting farm programs lapse, Secretary Freeman stated "could well be the survival of a relative handful of corporate farms with such monopoly power over the nation's food supply their regulation by the government as a utility would be necessary."

He defended the $2.9 billion cost of acreage adjustment, price support and related programs in which farmers are the primary beneficiaries by explaining it is under 6 per cent of the industry's sales of almost $50 billion.

Of the Agriculture Act of 1965 he said "...we are working to improve it as we see the need, but I am convinced we now have the basic machinery to produce the food needed for our foreign policy commitments, to assure abundance at home, to make the best use of the land of America and to stabilize farm income at a level commensurate with that of business and industry, all at a reasonable cost."

"The challenge," he concluded, "is for the critics to offer something better."

The historically proven statement that "depressions are farm fed and farm led" still rings true.

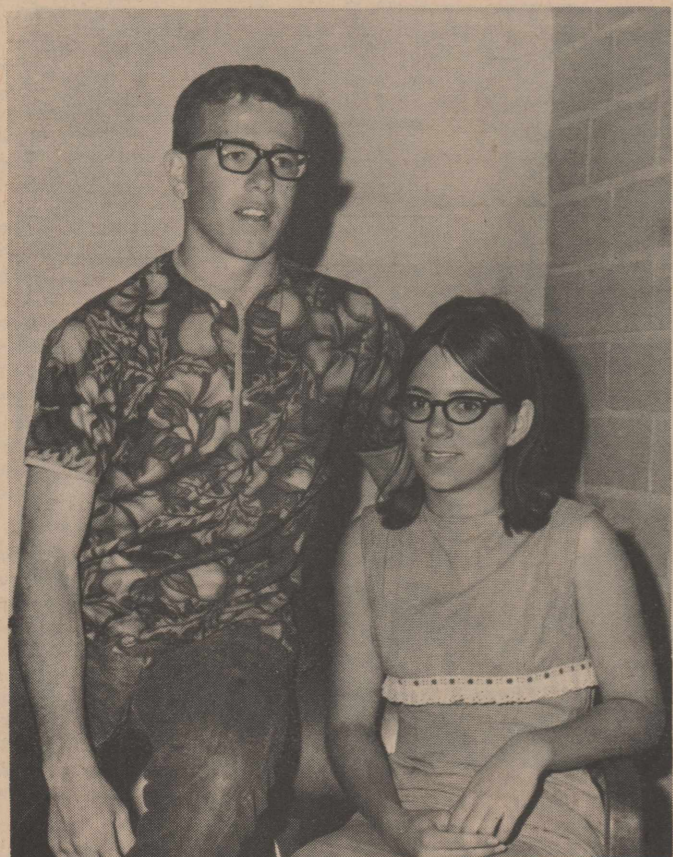

Farm people owe a round of applause to the Secretary for helping more people to understand this. Because until they do the road to passage of workable farm legislation will stretch ahead as rocky as before.

Milk Price Control To Be Decided

Housewives in Texas, as elsewhere, are inclined to count their pennies when they go to the market place.

These are the days of prosperity, but ironically, they also are the days of rising prices.

On May 4, Texas housewives will have the opportunity to declare emphatically that they oppose the establishment of a Texas milk-pricing commission. By so doing, they will be helping to keep the dairy industry on a free enterprise basis, and to allow it to keep prices low through normal competition.

In both the Democratic and Republican primaries, voters will have the chance to say whether they are in favor of a state commission to set minimum -- but not maximum -- prices for milk.

If the housewives -- and their financially hard-pressed husbands, of course -- say "we are AGAINST," loud enough, they'll stall, and probably eliminate, any legislative move to force such a commission upon them.

A move of that sort was made in the last session of the Texas Legislature. A bill was introduced to establish a price-fixing commission. It failed, but it will be re-introduced unless the voters overwhelmingly show their opposition to it in the May 4 primaries.

What's wrong with fixing the price of milk? Several things.

First and foremost, price-fixing doesn't keep prices down. In fact, the opposite is what happens.

Research conducted by an eminent University of Illinois professor, Dr. Roland W. Bartlett, shows that milk prices tend to rise in states that have price control boards. He cites, for example, the state of Louisiana, which has price control. Louisiana prices have been as much as 34 cents a gallon higher than in Texas, which doesn't have price control.

There are other unhappy results from price controls. Dr. Bartlett's research shows that when the price of milk goes up, the consumption goes down. Many children drink less milk than they should, simply because the family budget is being stretched a bit too much.

High prices also encourage the use of substitutes for whole milk.

A price-fixing law is difficult to enforce, and violations are many and flagrant; for example, there are unearned discounts, rebates, tie-in sales, loans, gifts and provisions for extra services or equipment.

In the end, it is the consumer who has to pay for all this -- in higher prices for milk.

A new, intensified secretarial program will be offered at South Plains College beginning September, 1968. This program, Concentrated College Training for Business (CCTB), is being offered by South Plains College, West Texas State University, and Clarendon College. Mr. Milton Morris from West-Texas State University originated the program. It was designed according to criteria formulated by a combined committee composed of area college and industrial personnel and offers training in the skills necessary for a potential employee.

CCTB is a unique program offered for the first time in Texas. It provides a concentrated series of business training courses. It is designed for high school graduates who desire a short but intensified training in secretarial skills without obtaining a college degree.

The CCTB program in secretarial training lasts from nine to twelve months, depending upon the student's background. It provides the skills necessary for immediate entry into a secretarial career. The program includes such business courses as Typewriting and Shorthand (beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels), Business English, Business Math, Business Machines, Record Keeping, Secretarial and Office Procedures, and Data Processing. Lab situations, which offer the student opportunities to increase his skills at his own speed, will be stressed. The student will be able to earn twenty-four to thirty semester hours credit. Tuition costs are the same as academic and technical-vocational courses of study.

Any student interested in enrolling in CCTB should contact the Registrar's Office at South Plains College or Mr. Milton Morris, Box 215, W. T. Station, West Texas State University.

POLLUTION STUDY--State Health Department's three-year solid-wastes survey has been completed in 71 Texas counties that hold some 40 per cent of the State's population. Department will draw up a state plan based on information from the study (about a year away from completion) for solid-waste collection and disposal, with specific emphasis on regional planning commissions and councils of government.

SHORT SNORTS--J. Overby Smith has resigned as chairman of the State Industrial Accident Board, effective May 4, to become hearing examiner for the Social Security Administration in Dallas.

Attorney General Martin named Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert C. Flowers as head of his enforcement division which represents the state whenever the constitutionality of a state statute is challenged in the federal courts.

Governor Connally reappointed Marvin Shurbet of Petersburg and Milton T. Potts of Livingston to the Texas Water Development Board for terms extending to Dec. 30, 1973. Texas military units at Gatesville, Lampasas, San Antonio and Austin were among 24,500 U. S. reservists recently called to active duty.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness, who's held that job since 1942, announced his retirement, and George W. McNiel, Cavness' first assistant, was named by the Legislative Audit Committee to succeed him.

Parks and Wildlife Commission says three more federal grants totalling $317,730 have been approved for state park developments at Amarillo Medical Center, Anzalduas Dam and Delta Lake in Hidalgo County and San Jacinto Battleground in Harris County.

If you are for good law enforcement, you will vote and support me in the Democratic Primary May 4.

I believe that I know the needs of the people of Lamb Co. as to law enforcement because I have had some 15 years experience as a peace officer, working three years for the City of Littlefield and more than 12 years as deputy sheriff of Lamb County, Texas and during such time I have encountered all situations I believe that will confront the next sheriff of Lamb County.

I sincerely believe that I am qualified through experience and actual trial as a peace officer to best serve the people of Lamb County and to serve them in a way that will be a credit to the sheriff's office of Lamb County.

I pledge to you that I will do my very best to carry on the activities of the Sheriff's Office in such a manner.

Elderly Texans Warned Of Fraud

Clay Cotten, Commissioner of Insurance, today warned elderly Texas residents of a fraudulent operation which has developed recently. The operation is being conducted by unknown parties and is being investigated in several areas where activities have been reported.

Apparently, the operation is directed against elderly Texas residents and concerns promise of insurance policy refunds. "These parties," Cotten said, "will review policies and then tell the policyholder that he is due a substantial sum of money which the State Board of Insurance is requiring the company to refund."

The policyholder is then advised that he will have to pay a sum of money (ranging from $200 to $700) and that the party will return in about three weeks with the substantial refund.

Commissioner Cotten stated, "In no instance where a company is required to make a refund by the State Board of Insurance is there any requirement that the policyholder must first advance any money to secure such refund."

He advised the public to notify local police authorities after being approached with this or any other similar proposition which involves advancing money to secure a refund on a policy of insurance.

DON'T BLACK OUT TEXAS

VOTE AGAINST

PARI-MUTUEL BETTING AND LIQUOR-BY-THE-DRINK

IT'S A FACT ABOUT PARI-MUTUEL BETTING:

★ For Every $1 the State receives in revenue from legalized gambling, the underworld gets more than $2.50.

★ Legalized, cleanly-run gambling will open the door to underworld gambling. Syndicated gambling never has entered a state that does not have legalized gambling.

★ Such betting siphons money from small communities around a track town and has been known to decrease sales up to 50% during track season.

★ So-called "family entertainment" provided by horse racing promotes family tragedy through pari-mutuel betting.

IT'S A FACT ABOUT LIQUOR-BY-THE-DRINK:

★ If Texas legalizes Liquor by-the-drink we can expect the number of alcoholics in Texas to increase by one-third.

★ Texas can expect 673 additional highway deaths each year if liquor-by-the-drink is legalized.

★ If Texas legalizes liquor-by-the-drink per capita consumption of alcohol will increase by 80%.

★ For every dollar of revenue brought in by alcohol in 1964, Washington State paid out eleven dollars as a direct result of alcohol. Other states have stated that they were not far behind.
