JUMPER LANDS IN SAFETY NET — Dean Brook falls toward safety net Monday night, set up by firemen, after leaping from roof of five-story hotel in New York's Greenwich Village. After perching on the roof ledge for an hour, Brook jumped but was apparently uninjured after landing in the net. Police said he took pills before his jump. He was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Lawyer Given POW Names?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris have given to a Washington lawyer a list of the names of 368 American prisoners of war.

Kennedy said the names, described by the North Vietnamese as an official prisoner list, were turned over to Jon Noland, an attorney formerly with the Department of Justice.

The Massachusetts senator said he sent Noland to Paris in response to the invitation of the North Vietnamese.

Kennedy said he does not know whether the list is a complete one. He said the list given Noland also included the names of 20 men identified as American prisoners who died in captivity, and nine men released.

It listed the date of capture, date of death or date of release, he said.

He Murdered Thousands

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Franz Stangl, the SS commander of Hitler's Treblinka death camp in Poland, was convicted today of the murder of hundreds of thousands of Jews and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Stangl, now 62, who ran Treblinka in 1942-3, director of the Vienna Jewish Documentation was arrested in Brazil in 1967. Simon Wiesenthal, director of the Vienna Jewish Documentation Center and the man who tracked down Adolf Eichmann, had placed Stangl third on the list of wanted Nazi war criminals after Eichmann's execution in Israel. The first two, Hitler's deputy Martin Bormann and Gestapo chief Heinrich Mueller, still have not been accounted for.

Treblinka, about 60 miles northeast of Warsaw, ranked just behind Auschwitz in the chain of extermination camps the Nazis set up in Poland. Polish authorities say 781,000 persons died in Treblinka between July, 1942, and October, 1943.

Clip Prime Rate

NEW YORK (AP) — Chase Manhattan Bank today reduced its prime rate to 6¾ per cent from 7 per cent, saying that there has been a decline in market rates and a "generally moderate" demand for loans in the last four weeks.

Chase had initiated a drop in the prime rate — the interest it charges its biggest and most credit worthy borrowers — four weeks ago, from 7¼ to 7 per cent.

Two big New York City banks, First National City and Chemical New York, went along with the rate reduction, which was the fifth this year.

Also trimming the rate was Boatmen's National Bank of St. Louis. Cleveland Trust Co. said it may announce a cut Wednesday.

SUFFERING FROM PARALYTIC DISEASE, RAT BITE ON HEAD

Last Christmas For San Antonio Baby?

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A young couple is faced with the grim possibility that this may be their infant daughter's only Christmas.

Six-month-old Mary Isabel Arriaga has a rare, creeping, killer disease. She also has pneumonia—and she is suffering from a rat bite on the head.

Physicians said the pretty, dark-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raul Arriaga will live through this Yule season, if they successfully treat her for pneumonia.

But her prospects past then aren't promising.

Her 23-year-old mother said doctors diagnosed the case as Werdnig-Hoffman disease, a rare paralytic affliction "for which they said there is no cure."

"The doctors said she would never walk and that the disease would creep up until it got into her chest, then she wouldn't be able to breathe. The muscles just waste away," Mrs. Arriaga said.

WAIT, PRAY

"We were told all we could do was wait. But we pray, too."

Mrs. Arriaga said she first noticed something wrong with her daughter about two months ago.

"She just didn't move her legs like she should," the mother recalled.

She said the baby's condition worsened the past two months, adding, "It's already reached the lower part of her body. It's such a helpless feeling, and she just lies there and smiles at us."

In the oldest case of the disease on record, Mrs. Arriaga said, "the child only lived to be six years."

Early this month a rat crawled into the baby's bed and bit her on the head. Rats are common in the South San Antonio poverty area where the Arrigas live, the mother explained.

The child was treated at a hospital and dismissed.

Four days later the Arrigas again rushed their baby to the children's hospital at Santa Rosa Medical Center.

"We were in the waiting room and Mary quit breathing," her mother said. "At first I pumped her chest, and then ran into the hall and screamed for help. I ran back in and began working on her chest."

Doctors revived the tot. They said she had pneumonia.

She was in fair condition Monday.

A poverty agency worker, Irene Gutierrez, has been trying to obtain assistance for the family.

"They have more than $2,000 in hospital and doctor bills . . . That's a lot when your take-home pay every two weeks is $114," Miss Gutierrez said.

"Only recently were they able to get state aid to pay for the hospitalization and treatment for the child's malady, and they're not sure that will include the case of pneumonia."

The Arriagas went through another ordeal with their oldest daughter, Amelia, 3, who developed an enlarged heart. When she was 18 months old, doctors only gave her a 50-50 chance to live, the mother said.

But Amerlia has outgrown her ailment, Mrs. Arriaga said, and probably will be able to discontinue medication in March.

Now that Mary Isabel's plight is upon them, "It's going to be a pretty dreary Christmas," Miss Gutierrez observed. "They're not looking for charity, but I want to help them. They are very poor."

LAST CHRISTMAS? — Six-month-old Mary Isabel Arriaga has a rare killer disease, her mother says, and may not live to see but one or two more Christmases. She is now hospitalized for pneumonia.

Youth Groups Move To Grab 'New' Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Youth-oriented political groups moved quickly today to grab a share of the potential 11 million new voters enfranchised by the Supreme Court decision allowing 18-year-olds to vote for president and congressmen.

The Young Republican national chairman, Ron Romans, said his organization has a national registration program on paper and a pilot program under way in two states to computerize the names of 18 to 21-year-olds for a sign-up drive.

IT WILL COST

The National Young Democrats said it was joining with other youth groups in a campaign "to register those millions whose vote can bring about social change, reordering of national priorities and increased support for their point of view."

State elections officials complained meanwhile that Monday's action will result in expense and confusion because the court refused to lower the voting age to 18 in state and local elections.

"This will be administratively difficult and will result in considerable cost to the taxpayers," said Oregon Atty. Gen. Lee Johnson who had argued before the court against lowering the voting age.

Shortly after the court's 5 to 4 decision on federal elections was announced, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a potential Democratic presidential candidate in 1972, said he will move quickly for Senate approval of a constitutional amendment applying it to state and local elections.

Provisions of the 1970 Federal Voting Rights Act, upheld by the court action, take effect Jan. 1.

SEPARATE LISTS

Many state officials said the court's decision will require separate registration lists for voters under and over the age of 21. Some foresaw the expensive possibility of two sets of voting machines or paper ballots.

The high court approved also, 8 to 1, the abolition of residency requirements of more than 30 days for voting in presidential elections and approved unanimously the suspension of state literacy tests for five years.

Some state officials said they will ask their legislatures for a constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18 for all elections.

LOCAL TESTS

"It would seem to me to be highly illogical to allow young voters to vote for president and congressmen and prevent them from voting for state and local offices," said Gov. Dan Evans of Washington.

Georgia, Kentucky and Alaska already had the 18-year-old vote provision, and Hawaii allows 20-year-olds to vote.

This year Nebraska and Maine voters approved amendments lowering the voting age to 20. Minnesota and Massachusetts lowered the eligible age to 19.

State constitutional amendments to lower the voting age have been introduced in Nevada, New York, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania.

Sick Boy's Mail Proves 'People Are Wonderful'

INKSTER, Mich. (AP) — Until a week ago a letter or postcard was a welcome novelty to little Bobby Miller.

Suddenly, to his delighted wonderment, tens of thousands of pieces of Christmas mail are pouring in for the stricken 7-year-old.

"There are at least 500,000 cards and letters so far and we expect lots more. This is incredible," said Stephen Jakobowski, postmaster of this Detroit suburb of 60,000.

The flood of mail followed the widespread publication of news reports early last week telling how the sick boy's eyes lighted up when the postman brought him infrequent letters.

Bobby is in the last stages of a hereditary muscular disorder, Werdnig-Hoffman paralysis, which has left his 24-pound body a limp stick, strapped in a wheelchair.

CAN'T BELIEVE IT

He has lived two years longer than doctors expected and they say this probably will be his last Christmas.

"A week ago he was so delighted to see just his own name on a Christmas card or letter," said Bobby's mother, Mrs. Ralph Miller, 25. "Now this. We can't believe it.

"People are wonderful."

She swept her hand around the living room of the small, white frame two-bedroom house.

Post office trays stacked with mail were piled against the wall.

Bags and boxes of yet to be opened cards, some addressed only to "The sick little boy, Inkster, Mich.," teetered next to the Christmas tree.

TRYING TO HELP

"My wife and I have only gotten about six hours of sleep since it all started rolling in last Tuesday," Bobby's 27-year-old father said. "Sunday night we had 16 people over here opening up letters—our in-laws, all the neighbors — everybody's trying to help."

Ex-Edinburg Mayor Posts $10,000 Bail

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Former Edinburg Mayor Joe E. Davis was free on $100,000 bond today after voluntarily surrendering to federal authorities on an eight-count indictment alleging mail fraud.

Davis, 46, was indicted last week by a federal grand jury at Houston and accused of mail fraud in connection with his dealing concerning cattle purchases using money from Agricultural Livestock Finance Corp. of Houston.

Davis, accompanied by State Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg, his lawyer, appeared before U.S. Commissioner L. B. McDonald in the Hidalgo County Courthouse at 4:52 p.m. Monday. Davis posted the surety bond and was taken to the county jail by Deputy U.S. Marshal Pete Vento for fingerprinting and photographing.

Postal Inspector Pat Ridge said the indictment alleges among other things that Davis borrowed $1,113,342 from the Houston firm using 9,800 head of cattle as collateral with an agreement that the firm would receive $119 for each head sold. The indictment also alleged that Davis used a mail fraud scheme in which Davis' checks to buy cattle were covered by drafts from the Houston firm.

CRMWD Opens Project Bids

Bids aggregating approximately $3,500,000 on low figures were opened here Tuesday by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District in connection with water well development projected for the first half of 1971.

The principal item in the list of eight bids was for approximately 47 miles of 33-in. concrete cylinder pipe, and the United Concrete Pipe Company of Dallas appreared to be low with a proposal of $2,894,523. Presumably, the pipe will be made at the company's Odessa plant.

Another major item was for drilling of 17 water wells, and F. C. Wheeler, Stanton appeared low with a proposal of $177,948.

All bids will require evaluation by engineers to determine which is actually low, and the awards will be made subsequently.

The board meets again in January to open bids on laying of the pipeline.

All of the work is in connection with efforts to develop an additional 24,000,000 gallons of water a day for cities by the summer of 1971.

SST Supporters Fail To Break Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate backers of a faster-than-sound jet liner failed again today to break a filibuster holding up continued federal subsidies for it.

The roll call on the cloture vote came shortly before Congress was scheduled to quit work for a long Christmas weekend, its work still unfinished.

The vote was 44 to 42, short of the necessary two-thirds of the members present and voting, to invoke cloture.

Before the vote, SST supporters aid the technological "future of the United States is at stake" in the question of whether $210 million in federal funds will be used to subsidize further development of the 1,800 mile an hour, 300-passenger supersonic transport.

TOO MUCH NOISE

And opponents, led by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., continued to tick off their list of charges against the project: It will endanger the environment, make too much noise, all but exhaust U.S. petroleum reserves, and not help the U.S. economy in any important way.

Proxmire, however, said he is willing to consider a compromise on the impasse to allow the Senate to get on to other matters. But he said the House is adamant in its refusal to compromise.

Republican leader Hugh Scott also had compromise on his mind as he said before the vote that once it was over he supposed both sides would retire to a private room and renew the bidding.

Scott said he believes the dispute could be settled by providing for continued SST spending at the present rate until the early part of next year—perhaps March.

A showdown then, he said, could be held against the background of a clearer understanding, hopefully of the environmental charges that have been the main albatross around the project's neck.

The House, meanwhile, faced a decision on whether it would return Monday or stay away until Jan. 2 and possibly remove the last hope this Congress could accomplish anything more.

Adding to these problems, progress broke down on several other issues Monday, including five foreign aid and defense bills dealing with Southeast Asia policy.

Hence, despite the indignant prodding of both Senate and House leaders, betting was that the last major contribution of the 91st Congress would be simply to turn into the 92nd on Jan. 3.

The development could pose serious problems for federal operations whose finances remain hamstrung in the current session, since all pending bills die with adjournment and their parliamentary processing would have to begin anew.

President Nixon has threatened to call the new Congress into session immediately on Jan. 3, rather than allowing it to wait until the usual start on Jan. 21.

"We're in a hell of a mess," allowed veteran Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., himself a principal in the fight to reverse the Senate's rejection of SST subsidies and accept a $210 million compromise.

The Senate tieups so bothered House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan he declared his intention to propose the House not return until Jan. 2.

Sales Tax Figure Tops Projections

The state tax comptroller has released figures indicating that Big Spring's share of the sales tax collected during the third quarter of this year will be $104,467.

Finance Director Charles Smith said he had heard this figure reported by the news media, and, "It is probably correct, but we haven't had any figures on it yet." The check for the July-August-September tax period has not yet reached city hall, but Smith said it should arrive soon.

The sales tax check will reflect a 1 per cent city sales tax collected with the 3¼ per cent state sales tax. The state deducts a 2 per cent service charge from the city sales tax collection for its work as collecting agent.

"It the $104,000 is the net amount after deduction of the service charge, the check will be $5,000 larger than the largest check we have ever received for this quarter," Smith said. In 1968 the city received $87,108.57, and in 1969 received $99,100.82 for the third quarter collections.

Smith said there is a possibility the $104,467 is the gross amount before the service charge deduction and in that case the check would be only about $3,000 higher than the previous record collection for the quarter in 1969.

Even if the check comes in at a $5,000 increase over last year it will not measure up to the increase registered in September with the check for April-May-June which came in at $98,106, about $17,500 higher than the same period the year before.

But Smith was happy about the prospect of a $5,000 jump that would put the check well ahead of his rather conservative projections. "It would really be a big help," he said.

Dowdy Told To Be Ready

BALTIMORE, MD. (AP) — Lawyers for Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., who is charged in a bribery-conspiracy indictment, have been told to be ready for trial by Jan. 20.

A federal judge refused to dismiss bribery charges against Dowdy Monday.

The Texas congressman is named in the indictment along with Marvin C. Clark of Long Beach, Calif. Dowdy is accused of arranging to have a $25,000 bribe transported across state lines to help a Baltimore biusnessman.

The trial has been delayed by Dowdy's hospitalization in Texas. The Athens, Tex., resident first entered the hospital this fall for a back ailment.

Leon H.A. Pierson, one of Dowdy's lawyers, said Monday his client remains hospitalized.

THE CASE FOR GOD — II

Man's Intuition, Love

EDITOR'S NOTE — The air and spaceships fly higher, the buildings grow taller, the electronic pictures swarm the skies and man measures the elements in the stars, while around him, on the earth, the landscape grows dimmer. Yet, always, he has found his strongest ties nearer at hand, within himself, in the riddles of his own existence. Christmas focuses on that dimension. The following article, the second in a four-part Christmas series about the case for God, deals with man's intuition.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A rose is beautiful, but this can't be proved. A song is sweet, but no formula can verify it. Love is good, and so is truth, creativity and character, but no scale nor syllogism can establish the fact.

It is an odd, enticing antic of life, brought out even more sharply in this era of engulfing technological prowess, that the prime, basic values can't be captured in tests or computations.

Even the latest objective findings only deepen the puzzle. Each "known" multiplies the "unknown," said the late nuclear physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer, so that science stands "always at the edge of mystery, surrounded by it."

SIMPLE EXAMPLE

Yet, in the elemental promptings in man himself lie the signals of the ultimate, the insights into the incalculable, an innate "sense" of qualities expressed by the word, "God."

It is an "awareness of the ineffable," says Jewish scholar Abraham J. Heschel. Rooted in wonder, it perceives objective aspects of reality that can't be specified. "We see what we cannot say. We have a certainty without knowledge."

As a simple example, a man looks at a horse, and immediately, without analyzing it, realizes its fundamental being, its "horsehood," an essence that cannot be translated to mere size, age, color or breed.

A Brahms symphony is like that, lovely and real, yet not empirically demonstrable. So is a great painting or poem or a tree. So is truth itself, whose limits are immeasureable and whose worth is unknown.

Yet man pursues it with a relentless passion.

'IT MUST BE'

He has "an unquenchable thirst or drive" to possess it, says Catholic theologian John A. Coleman. He says the only warrant for this ceaseless, unlimited "thrust to understand" is the reality of the goal itself, total truth

And that unfathomable beacon, truth, is a name of God.

Either it stands for an actuality, for a transcendent intelligence inherent in the universe, or else the entire scientific enterprise and the questing, exploratory drive in man is chasing a mirage, and the real is not finally intelligible.

But something in man says it must be. "It is a commitment in the sense that it is a personal act of acceptance and affirmation of an ultimate," says Protestant theologian Langdon Gilkey.

It is an eternal question mark stamped in man, affirming an answer, not in knowing it, but in seeking it. It is the wisdom of wonder drawn toward the full light, God. Catholic philosopher Jacques Maritain called it "metaphysical intuition."

TUG OF TRUTH

Biologist Emund W. Sinnot says there is evidence of a "goal-seeking character in protoplasm where spirit and matter meet," reflected in man's will, thought and aspirations, indicating "something that may truly be called spiritual."

Besides the tug of truth, the reality of other principles associated with God are woven into the very fabric of existence, although they cannot be validated by laboratory methods.

The universe is so constituted that human growth demands love and character, although why it is that way cannot be rationally explained except by assuming that love and character are basic to it.

For a person to develop his potential, he needs both to be loved and to love, a nurturing that curiously combines the force both of the giver and receiver of love into a larger creativity, so it's hard to tell who really accomplished it.

But without love, lives become stunted, crippled by distrust, suspicion and fear.

"God is love," John's Gospel put it.

Growth also requires the disciplining that produces character, its traits of perseverence, cooperativeness, generosity, honesty and courage. These are forged by the failures that spur fortitude and reform as much as by successes that bring hope and greater good.

Protestant philosopher Peter A. Bertocci says that the "main conditions" for man's development—love, thought, character—are ingrained fundamentally both in man's makeup and his environment although he invented neither himself.

Yet they are genuine, and they also are hallmarks of God.

But men also have extensive free will to choose their courses of action, so that their decisions merge with the given conditions in shaping the results, a creative role people would not have if they were mere puppets of circumstance.

EVIL, WASTE

Their right of decision is their "God-like" dignity, and also their danger.

They often plainly misuse it, defying the guidelines of their environment, blundering, hating, warring, polluting, binding themselves in evil and waste. Depth psychology says man is his own worst enemy. Yet, without responsible options, he would have no vital part at all in the world, and learn nothing from it.

If he could flout the growth-enhacing conditions surrounding him without effect, if he could plant potatoes and reap corn, if he could fight, cheat and exploit in dog-eat-dog fashion, live by volcanos, build suffocating cities and keep his children in fire-trap slums without bearing the consequences, the beneficial lessons of reality would be lost on him, leaving only chaos and absurdity, and man would be less than man.

He bears the "image" of the freedom of God, and shares in responsibility for it, however he distorts it.

The atheist says it is all meaningless, purposeless happenstance, although oddly, that he himself has purpose. Actually, if reality is not fundamentally trustworthy and only threatening chance, a man can only withdraw into distrustful defensiveness and vigilant wariness.

But instinct says the basic stuff of life can be trusted, that it's dependable and meaningful, so a man can tackle it with zest and confidence.

ANOTHER CLUE

Another clue lies in man's sense of incompleteness and the strange potency of encounter between persons, each searching, longing for self-confirmation in the other, a kind of interaction that can bring the hidden, fragmented self into greater realization of wholeness.

Jewish philosopher Martin Buber says that through this interpersonal blending of "I" with "Thou", there emerges an in-between reality that surpasses both lives, a "glimpse through to the Eternal Thou."

In short, a person knows, instinctively, his life requires more than itself.

"All real life is meeting," Buber says. "All reality is fulfilled unification." Partial competion in others points to the "Wholly Other." "If you hallow this life, you meet the living God."

American psychologist-theologian James Hillman says that "deep analysis leads to a strange dark center where it is difficult to differentiate the unconscious from the soul and from the image of God."

SHEER NONSENSE

From his experimental research into psyhic phenomena, psychologist J.B. Rhine concluded that there is "something operative in man that transcends the law of matter," functioning on a "non-physical or spiritual" plane.

Lutheran sociologist Peter L. Berger, in his book, "A Rumor of Angels," cited transcendant signs in the phenomena of man's humor, his play, his hopefulness in the face of death, his spontaneous trustfulness in reality.

To those for whom reality does reflect dependability, purpose and beauty, and seems graciously supportive of man's growth, they can act in it with hope, courage and thanksgiving.

They can have, as Paul Tillich put it, the "courage to be."

But if the world is sheer nonsense, without meaning, intelligence or point, then only the nihilism of despair is possible. However, reasoning, evidence and intuition is never enough to know. These are only God-given invitations. It takes a response, a free man's decision.

NEXT: The Testimony.

Charge Trio In Slaying At Drive-In

DALLAS (AP) — Authorities charged three men Monday with a holdup slaying at a drive-in theater and ordered laboratory tests to determine if either of two pistols was used in the Dec. 7 killing.

The men, arrested after a bank robbery Friday at Ferris, are accused of murder in the death of Fern Ferguson, 59, a cleaning woman.

Mrs. Ferguson was shot in the head after her husband Robert, 59, escaped from three bandits at the Starlite Drive-in Theater.

The murder complaint names Israel Williams Jr., 22. Harry K. Harmon Jr., 24, and Arthur Hill, 36, all of Dallas. They are being held in the Ellis County jail at Waxahachie.

City detectives said Harmon told them while being questioned at Waxahachie that Williams was guarding Mrs. Ferguson in the theater office when he went and told him her husband had escaped.

They quoted Harmon as saying he turned and ran out, expecting Williams to follow, and heard a shot before Williams appeared.

Officers accused Hill of planning the robbery and providing an escape car.

THE MANY FACES OF MANSON — Charles Manson presented these faces Monday as he went to lunch after an outbreak in court that resulted in his ejection, along with three women co-defendants, from the Tate murder trial.

Says Women Robots Killed For Manson

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three young women on trial in the Sharon Tate murder case, but ousted from court for bad behavior, have been described by the state as robots who killed the actress and six others "to satisfy their master, Charles Manson"—a codefendant.

As the prosecutor began his closing arguments Monday, the women—Susan Atkins and Patricia Krenwinkel, both 22, and Leslie Van Houten, 21—listened by loudspeaker from an adjoining room.

Manson, who was briefly ousted with them, returned and stayed through the session, frequently muttering comments on the arguments.

The women were removed from court after a scuffle with bailiffs. They had shouted at the judge and audience as Miss Van Houten protested appointment of a substitute for her lawyer, Ronald Hughes, missing and believed lost on a Thanksgiving holiday camping trip. Her newly court appointed attorney is Maxwell Keith, a veteran criminal lawyer.

"I have nothing to do with Mr. Ronald Hughes disappearing!" Miss Van Houten shouted at the judge. "In fact, I'm wondering what did you do with him."

Ignoring the judge's orders to be seated, the slim brunette tussled with deputies, slapped one bailiff on the hand and told the judge, "I'd strike you if I could."

She was ushered out with the others, who pointed at Manson and shouted, "You have an innocent man here!"

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent T. Bugliosi called the slayings in August, 1969, "a classic textbook example of premeditated murder."

Although there was no evidence that Manson, 36, killed any victims, Bugliosi argued he was equally guilty under state laws making any party to a conspiracy guilty of its results.

Much of the argument was a recap of state star witness Linda Kasabian's testimony in which she told of being sent on murder missions with other members of Manson's "family."

ROTC Enrollment Plummets To Lowest Level Since 1947

WASHINGTON (AP) — Enrollment in college ROTC programs—source of more than half the regular officers in the armed services—plummeted this year to the lowest level since 1947.

This sharp decline for the second straight year is causing concern among military planners over the future ability of the Reserve Officers Training Corps to turn out enough officers.

According to new figures compiled by the Pentagon for release later this week, enrollment in Army, Air Force and Navy ROTC programs at 502 schools during the current academic year dropped to 109,598. This compares with 155,946 last year and 212,417 the previous year.

MORE MONEY

The Pentagon hopes to reverse the downward trend by submitting to Congress early next year a legislative package proposing to double the number of ROTC scholarships from about 15,000 a year to about 30,000. The monthly subsistance allowance paid to juniors and seniors would be doubled to $100.

ROTC scholarships pay for a student's tuition, books and other school fees, but do not cover room and board.

Under the proposal, schools also would be reimbursed for the direct costs of supporting ROTC programs on their campuses.

If this doesn't work, sources say, the armed services may have to resort to other means, such as stepping up the number of graduates from the military officer candidate schools or possibly even lowering standards and taking men with only two years of college. Officers entering the military through ROTC are college graduates.

Officials say the decline in ROTC stems largely from students "taking a wait-and-see attitude" based on declining draft calls, knowledge of their draft status under the new lottery introduced last year and the prospects for an all-volunteer force, which the Nixon administration hopes to achieve by mid-1973.

FEW OFFICERS

There is also the widespread student opposition to the Vietnam war, hostility toward the military and the growing number of schools converting from compulsory to noncompulsory ROTC programs. Only 48 make the enrollment compulsory this year against 112 two years ago.

The latest Pentagon figures show ROTC enrollment this year down 33 per cent for the Army, 24 per cent for the Air Force and 14 per cent for the Navy.

Of even more significance is the marked decrease in the numbers of freshmen and sophomores signing up. This will mean even fewer officers entering the services from the colleges four years from now.

The last time ROTC enrollment fell this low was in 1947, when 101,438 signed up. The nation was talking about an all-volunteer force and the draft law was allowed to expire. But less than a year later, President Harry S. Truman announced that voluntary methods didn't work and asked Congress to enact new Selective Service legislation.

The bidding:

5 ♣	Pass	6 ♣	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♠

The roadblock which West threw in his opponents' path during the auction backfired in a strange manner in today's hand.

Under the cover of nonvulnerability, West jumped to four spades over South's opening one heart bid. This action placed North in a distinct quandary for, tho his sights were set on a slam, West's leap had effectively deprived him of all convenient avenues of exploration.

North finally decided to bid four no trump which he intended as a Blackwood call for aces. If South turned up with the missing ace of spades then North could proceed with assurance.

South responded with five clubs to designate no aces. North knew now that his side lacked first round control of spades, but it seemed highly unlikely to him that South could muster the material for an opening bid from the outstanding high card strength, unless he held either the king of spades or else a singleton in that suit.

If North were to be the declarer at a slam contract, then South's possession of the king of spades would not provide adequate protection inasmuch as it would be subject to attack on the opening lead. However, North's Blackwood call had elicited an artificial response in clubs from his partner and since South was the first to name this suit, North was able to transfer the play to the other side of the table by merely proceeding to six clubs. With West on lead, the defense had no profitable mode of attack. The decision to open the ace of spades was a wise one for, in the absence of that lead, declarer can take all the tricks.

Had North played the hand in a club contract, he would have been he'd to 10 tricks, with a spade opening. After West takes the first two rounds of spades, he continues the suit and East cannot be prevented from winning another trick with the jack of clubs on an overruff.

MEMIE RENA CARTER
Reunited with mother in Dallas

Child Is Happy, 'Kidnaper' Blue

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Six-year-old Memie Rena Carter was a happy child today—she was back home with her mother.

The little girl, abducted Dec 3 while returning from a trip to a neighborhood grocery, was flown to Atlanta with her mother Monday night after the pair held a joyful reunion at the airport in Dallas, Tex.

Mayor Sam Massell met them as they arrived in Atlanta.

"This is a happy moment,' Massell told Memie and her mother, Geraldine Harvey, 19. "This city has prayed long and hard."

"We appreciate your help," Mrs. Harvey told Massell.

Memie, wearing a new dress, ducked her head shyly in response to questions and clutched a rag doll that was nearly twice her size.

Returning to Atlanta on the same flight—but under police guard—was the man accused in her disappearance.

Officers said Joe Lee Bensing, 23, also of Atlanta, was arrested with the child Saturday in Paris, Tex., on a federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in another case.

Bensing waived extradition in Texas, police said, and was returned to Atlanta to face kidnaping charges.

Commissions To Area Men

Two area men are among those to receive commissions from the ROTC program at Texas Tech today.

They are David W. Foster, Sterling City, who became a second lieutenant in the Army, and Kenneth R. Pribyla, Tarzan, who became a second lieutenant in the Air Force assigned to navigator training.

Tech, incidentally, is now accepting applications for the two-year Air Force ROTC program. The program is designed to accommodate two-year college transfers and four-year college students who have not had the opportunity to take the first two years of ROTC. Information may be had from Col. Haynes M. Bumgardner, professor of aerospace studies, Texas Tech, Lubbock, 79409.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE — III

Wrangling Over Tax Mix

(Taxes are the top issue of next year's legislature This, the third in a series, tells what lawmakers say about this vital issue.)

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The 1971 legislature will go on an unparalleled tax hunt, with the year probably marking the first turning in taxing methods since the sales tax was passed nearly a decade ago.

Gov. Preston Smith said last year the time was fast approaching when the legislature would have to consider seriously a corporation income tax.

NEW REVENUE

Many legislators who answered an Associated Press questionnaire mentioned corporate or personal income taxes as solutions to Texas' unprecedented need for new revenue.

An overwhelming majority of lawmakers who responded to the questionnaire ranked taxes as the main problem of the session that convenes Jan. 12.

Eleven of the 31 senators and 57 of the 150 representatives responded to the questionnaire.

Five senators said they favor such business taxes as a corporate profits levy as the core of the 1971 tax bill. Two recommended a sales tax increase, while five merely answered they favor no new taxes or evaded the question altogether.

Fifteen House members recommended a sales tax approach, 14 proposed corporation taxes and three suggested a personal income levy.

PAY RAISES

Even with a rock-bottom, no-frills budget, the Legislative Budget Board says a record $645.1 million in new taxes will be needed over the next two years. This includes no pay raises for state employes and college professors. It omits all proposed state construction, including newly authorized colleges. And it would force big cuts in welfare.

Realistic estimates of new taxes are about $800 million—well over the entire amount of general revenue appropriated for the 1965-67 two-year fiscal period.

Since 1961, new revenue needs have been met by tinkering with the sales tax—its rate has jumped from 2 to 3.25 per cent in 9 years—raising "sin taxes" on cigarettes, beer and whisky and adding to the corporate franchise tax.

'NONE'

But most observers believe next year's needs are too great to meet without some major new taxes. The patchwork approach won't work this time they say.

"What kind of tax or revenue increase do you favor?" the AP asked lawmakers.

"None," replied 13 House members and four senators.

"Fair and reasonable," said Sen. Murray Watson of Mart.

"Liquor by the drink tax, corporate profits tax and small sales tax increase if absolutely necessary," replied Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena.

"None—sales tax extension if mandatory," said Sen. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock.

"Extending sales tax to cover services and, if necessary, a corporate income tax. I oppose an increase in sales tax or removal of present exemption for food and medicine," said Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso.

House members and the House leadership in the past have been more inclined than senators to raise the sales tax, and the questionnaire indicated this trend might continue.

"Broaden base of sales tax and remove certain exemptions. This will probably not be sufficient, however," said Rep. Dean Cobb of Dumas.

Increase sales tax to 5 per cent—include all non-personal services in coverage," said Rep. John Traeger of Seguin.

"None, however, I do forsee a broadening of the sales tax and possibly a corporate income tax," said Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview.

Rep. Rex Braun of Houston advocated a "corporate profits tax with progressive rates (not just a surtax)."

Rep. Jack Hawkins of Groesbeck said he would prefer no new taxes "but it appears that the income tax is about the only answer."

Two representatives had novel approaches.

"Spend only what we have coming in from existing tax sources," said Rep. Jim Earthman, Houston Republican.

"I have a bill submitted that would provide a tax on marijuana," said freshman Rep. Nelson Wolff of San Antonio. He said his bill would make it a misdemeanor not to pay the proposed marijuana tax. District attorneys could choose whether to charge persons with marijuana possession, a felony, or non-payment of the tax, a misdemeanor.

BEER 'BITE'

In September, 1969, the legislature passed a $350 million tax bill that boosted the sales tax rate, included beer and liquor in the sales tax base, increased cigarette taxes, added to the corporate franchise tax and raised the natural gas production tax.

There was a great deal of wrangling over the proper mix of "consumer" and "business" taxes, and similar arguments likely will be heard next year.

Industrialists, fearful of a corporate profits tax, have proposed through the Texas Manufacturers Association an "economy" package that would defer automatic pay raises promised last year to school teachers, boost college tuition five-fold, lower the state's share of basic school costs from 80 to 75 per cent, return to a nine-month pay schedule for teachers and halt general revenue expenditures of $15 million a year for farm roads.

One legislator, evidently concerned about how the voters at home feel, merely asked this of the 1971 tax bill:

"Something that doesn't load the whole burden on the consumer."

Certainly, the holiday time of year is "the season to be jolly." It is also the season to DRIVE FRIENDLY.

DRIVING FRIENDLY is a state of mind in which we maintain a friendly driving attitude toward others. As such, it is also an expression of the spirit of the holidays.

So this holiday season we can DRIVE FRIENDLY by obeying traffic laws. We can DRIVE FRIENDLY by planning travel to avoid rushing. And we can DRIVE FRIENDLY by not driving and drinking.

Our streets and highways provide a convenient and pleasant means for all of us to join loved ones and friends during the holiday season. If we DRIVE FRIENDLY, the happiness of the season can be preserved for all of us.

Boy First Person To Survive Rabies

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Three doctors say a 6-year-old Willshire, Ohio, boy is the first person in medical history to survive rabies.

The doctors announced at a news conference at St. Rita's Hospital Monday that Matthew Winkler, bitten Oct. 10 by a rabid bat at his home, was recovering from the disease which has been regarded as 100 per cent fatal.

Dr. C. J. Spechschulte, attending pediatrician, said the boy developed symptoms of rabies even though vaccine had been administered.

Treatment was begun four days after the bite and the boy was given the Pasteur duck embryo vaccine, which is the standard treatment.

However, Matthew developed rabies symptoms. He became lethargic, was partly paralyzed in his left arm and had trouble speaking. He was hospitalized Nov. 3.

On Dec. 1, the boy began to improve after intensive care that included oxygen, medication to combat convulsions and constant heart monitoring.

He is still weak, doctors report, and has difficulty with his speech, but is fully conscious. He is expected to remain at the hospital for another month for further medication and to receive speech and physical therapy.

Indians Win This Battle

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Eastern Oklahoma Indians battled the top man in the Bureau of Indians Affairs Monday and won.

Louis R. Bruce, BIA Commissioner, announced Virgil N. Harrington, Muskogee area director, will stay despite a top-level spot in the bureau for him in Washington.

Bruce announced the change at the end of a five-hour meeting Monday with leaders of eastern Oklahoma tribes.

"Virgil remains if a majority wants him," he said.

Bruce had come to Muskogee to get reaction to a proposed regionalization plan. It would mean regular reassignment of government officials involved with Indians, shifting of duties and contracting of Indian Bureau functions to Indian groups.

Spirit Of Christmas Zaps 'Street People'

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The pre-Christmas night in Lawrence was quiet and cold. Among a group of young people, a child of 2 stood and listened.

And then songs of Christmas swelled and echoed down the city street.

A group of about 30 Lawrence "street people" had come to the Lawrence police station Saturday night in a gesture to bring a measure of peace to troubled relations.

The "street people" are young persons who live near the University of Kansas campus. Their appearance and life style have caused friction in the past.

BLOODY FIGHTING

In April, in July and again this month, the Lawrence street people and city police had clashed in bitter and bloody fighting which left two people dead, others injured and more than a million dollars in property damage.

But now it was Christmastime and the spirit of the season had touched everyone.

On Saturday morning, a card arrived at the Rock Chalk Cafe, a gathering place for many youths. It was addressed to "The Street People." Inside was handwritten, "To the Street People" plus the printed message, "Merry Christmas, and Peace, Good Health, Happiness in the New Year."

The card was signed, "Lawrence Police Department."

It was not the "official" police department Christmas card and it wasn't clear who had sent it. But privately there was speculation in the police department offices that one of the men had done it on his own.

REAL EASY

No matter who sent the card, it touched those who gathered that morning in the Rock Chalk.

Barni Mitchell, a young woman who lives in Kansas City but spends many weekends in Lawrence with friends, began to sketch out the idea for a Christmas poem.

"I was working with 'Season's Greetings' but it wouldn't work out," she said.

She had tried making the letters of "Season's Greetings" be the first letter of each line of the poem.

Then she changed to "Merry Christmas." And "I wrote that in about three minutes. It really came easy."

So Barni and others decided they would carol that night at the police station. They began arriving about 10:30. Barni and other organizers were the last to arrive and they found most of the group waiting somewhat apprehensively across the street from the police station.

They began walking across the street singing—just a little off key.

SCARED AT FIRST

After they sang "Jingle Bells," Barni and another girl took their poster-size Christmas card to the policemen who had gathered at the door of the station.

"I was really scared at first," Barni said. "There were about five of them all standing around the door. They were all smiling and I can't really remember what they said.

"But they read the poem and said it was really nice and a very true poem. . . ."

Barni's poem:

"Men are different
Every one
Running from a different fear
Running for a different star
Yet
Christ said all men are brothers, no matter
How different our life styles may be,
Ruled by His love are we all.
Though each
Individual has his own dreams,
Separate from the others,
The fact remains that we are all brothers and
Must act accordingly,
And in this season when love is in the hearts of all men we must Strive for an understanding."

The poem was signed "Season's Greetings from the Rock Chalk-River City Citizens."

"It's important," Barni said Monday. "It's important to us just as much as anybody else. We love Lawrence just as much as everybody else or we wouldn't be here. We want to see it turn into an ideal community, too."

Rains Jam Tijuana

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — A state of emergency was declared here by Mayor Jose Manuel Gonzalez Ramirez after torrential rains flooded large areas of the city and jammed up traffic.

The storm swept into coastal areas Sunday and then dumped about two inches of rain on this city of 385,000.

Law enforcement agencies and city employes were placed on 12-hour shifts in an effort to clean up the muddied streets, Gonzalez Ramirez said late Monday.

NO NEGRO ON HIS JURY

'Killer' Fights To Avoid Death In Electric Chair

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ralph Carl Powers began the latest in a series of court battles Monday to avoid death in the electric chair.

Powers, 27, was sentenced to die six years ago in the July, 1963, shooting death of Morris Renfro 19, of San Antonio.

Powers, an Anglo, contends his rights were violated because of an alleged agreement to exclude Negroes from his jury. He says the jury was not a "fair cross section of the community."

Lawyer Fred Semaan, who was a special prosecutor at the trial in September of 1964, testified in district court Monday that he had reached an agreement with a defense lawyer concerning Negroes.

Semaan said he gave the trial judge a note reading, "Both sides agree to excuse Negroes, no charge to either side."

Powers contends he gave no consent to such an agreement.

Associated Justice John Onion Jr. of the Texas Court of Criminals Appeals presided over the trial. He testified Monday that he received a note from Semaan that "no juror was excused by virtue of such agreement."

ALL-WHITE

The judge said each person was "excused because of a challenge" rather than because of the agreement.

The judge also said that as he recalled, "It was an all-white jury, just as were the defendant, the attorneys and all of the witnesses."

Onion said he recalled asking Powers before the trial about a proposal to exclude Negroes from the jury and that Powers agreed to this on the advice of his lawyers. But Onion said the agreement did not come about prior to the trial because then-Dist. Atty. James Barlow was hesitant about the matter.

Semaan served as a special prosecutor hired by the Renfro family and Powers' lawyers have filed a supplemental motion in the case, claiming Powers' rights were breeched because of Semaan's participation in the trial.

A hearing on the motion is set for Dec. 30.

Powers at one time was on death row in the state prison at Huntsville but has spent most of his time in Bexar County jail here at the request of various lawyers.

Call Yarborough Champ Of People

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough was described by his colleagues today as a compassionate champion of the people who placed conscience above politics.

The Texas Democrat, leaving the Senate Jan. 3 after 14 years, was eulogozed for an hour by nine senators.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., started the Senate ceremony by saying "I don't know any man in public life closer to the people than Ralph Yarborough."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said the Texan, defeated in the recent Democratic senatorial primary election, "knew full well how to be re-elected but chose instead to serve his conscience."

Mondale, who sits next to Yarborough in the Senate, said that after Yarborough voted against confirmation of G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court, Mondale told Yarborough "you did right but your vote could beat you."

He said that Yarborough replied "I know it."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., called Yarborough "a vigorous and constructive champion of the poor and the downtrodden—a compassionate man."

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, termed the Texan "one of the greatest men I have ever known. He predicted that Yarborough "will have a great future in the public life of his state and the nation."

Several senators praised Yarborough'g record in fighting for education, health and antipoverty programs.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, senior Republican on the Labor and Public Welfare committee headed by Yarborough, said "I don't know of any human being in this chamber who is better motivated than Ralph Yarborough."

Saying he was heartbroken because Yarborough was leaving the committee, Javits added "he likes to spend a lot of money—so much that sometimes it even gets me."

Santa Visits Police Banquet

About 200 police officers and members of their families had turkey with all the trimmings at the Police Association's annual Christmas banquet Monday night.

Special guests for the event in the high school cafeteria were Mayor J. Arnold Marshall, City Manager Larry Crow, several of the city commissioners, and Santa Claus.

Regular and reserve police officers brought their families for the get-together and were entertained by the Big Spring High School swing band. Everyone then joined in singing Christmas carols, and as they were singing "Here Comes Santa Claus" the jolly old elf made his appearance. Santa visited with the children and handed out presents from his bag.

Samaritan Has Pony Problem

There's a good Samaritan in Howard County who now finds himself in need of help.

P. H. Harrison, Snyder Hwy., reported Monday to the Howard County Sheriff's Office that he had found a black Shetland pony wandering along the highway. Harrison is keeping the wanderer on his property until someone claims it.

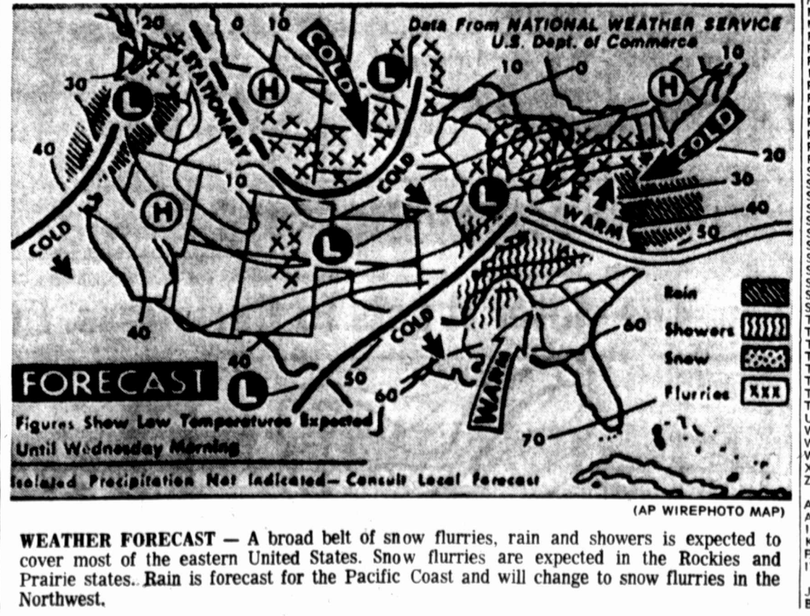

Mrs. Harrison later called to ask the sheriff what could be done with the pony because her husband is not able to care for it.

Whoever lost the pony is asked to contact the Harrisons or to go by their home to claim the animal. The pony is lodged on property on the Snyder Hwy. just across from Mike's Liquor Store.

Lame-Duck Court Asks Bids For New Members

Bids on general liability and workmen's compensation insurance for the county will be accepted at 4 p.m. Jan. 1 by the County Commissioners Court.

In Monday afternoon's meeting with local insurance agents, the county dads agreed to advertise for bids on supplying the county with insurance. Formerly, the county was insured by member agents of the Big Spring Insurance Association.

"We had always done business with the Big Spring Association because their members were the older, more established agencies in Big Spring. We decided that it would be fairer to advertise for bids since the other agents felt that we were discriminating against them," said County Judge Lee Porter.

The contracts will be awarded by the new Commissioners Court after the new members are sworn into office Jan. 1.

Rape Charge

Charles Edward Garvin, 35, 711 S. Abrams, was trasferred Monday to the Howard County jail by Big Spring police. Garvin is charged with rape. Charges were filed against Garvin in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's court. He remains in custody in county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter.

LAST CHANCE FOR SANTA

Hey, there young fella — or girl!

Need to have a last-minute chat with Santa Claus, either to check on how things are going or to voice some last minute request for Christmas?

All you have to do this evening starting at 7 p.m. is to pick up the telephone and dial 7-5513, or 7-5514, or 7-5515, or 7-5516, or 7-5517. Old Saint Nick or his Jaycee-elves will be on hand to take the call.

Try to do it before 10 p.m., for by then Santa will be tired, and he has to get plenty of rest. After all, he has a pretty full day coming up Thursday evening when he hits the reindeer trail.

Contempt Case

District Judge R. W. Caton found Ernest Moreno, 37, Coahoma Route, in contempt of court Monday. Moreno was fined $100 and sentenced to 72 hours in Howard County jail. The contempt proceeding concerned Moreno's failure to make his child support payments.

Speaker Tells Of World Y's

Big Spring YMCA Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs shared in the Christmas spirit of giving Monday night as they donated $200 to YMCA World Service. Rod Donaldson, 1968 YMCA Hi-Y Youth Governor of Texas and student at the University of Texas, was guest speaker for the eight "Y" high school age clubs.

Donaldson recently returned from a trip around the world and showed slides on the work of YMCA's in other countries.

"The existence of YMCA's in 83 countries provides priceless opportunities for developing world understanding and to help developing countries tackle basic problems of poverty, illiteracy, and disease," he said.

He told of the YMCA roof top centers in Hong Kong helping refugee children prepare themselves for a happier future. The sky-borne YMCA's provide education, recreation, physical fitness, and training in trades in small buildings built atop apartment complexes.

The speaker is the youngest member of the National Board of the YMCA. He is a member of President Nixon's Youth Advisory Council on the Draft. Donaldson was named as the "1970 Young Texan of the Year" by Texas Optimist Clubs and is one of six individuals to receive the "1970 Young American Award." He is presently on the staff of the Texas Speaker of the House, Gus Mutscher, in Austin.

Ike Robb, president of the Junior Hi-Y club, introduced the speaker.

(Noon quotes courtesy of Edward D. Jones & Co., Room 208, Permian Bldg., Big Spring, Phone 267-2501).

DEAR ABBY: You aren't helping much with my crusade for early recognition and prompt treatment of spinal deformities in adolescent girls. (A mother complains that her teen-aged daughter walks, sits and stands stoop-shouldered and no amount of "reminding" her to straighten up has helped. You say, "Quit naggin her.")

Abby, poor posture is often due to a growth disturbance of the spine. Untreated it becomes a permanent humpback. Treated early it can be corrected. Just because the mother says the child has only "poor posture" does not eliminate the probability that she has a more serious underlying bone deformity.

You should have answered, "Take a look at your daughter in the nude. Have her bend forward. Does she have an actual "hump" on her back in that position? If she has, or if her ribs are more prominent on one side than the other, she has an actual deformity and should see her doctor, pediatrist or an orthopedic surgeon."

Very truly yors,
AN "M.D." IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR M.D.: Ten lashes with the laces from an orthopedic corset for me! I am publishing your helpful letter with the hope that it will further your crusade. Am I forgiven, doctor?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired librarian, and since my husband passed away, I've been keeping myself busy earning money baby-sitting. I live in an apartment, and lately I have been sitting for two darling preschool-age children whose mother is a young divorcee. (They live down the hall from me.) The mother brings the youngsters to my apartment and I keep them here all day. The mother told me she works days, downtown. The pay is fine, the children are well-behaved, but the situation worries me.

I have never seen the woman leave her apartment or come home. But I have observed that many men enter her apartment (one at a time), and a few days ago, I saw a policeman at her door. All this evidence would indicate that she is involved in something illegal, and if she is, I don't want to assist her by keeping her children out of the way. What should I do:

UNWILLING ACCOMPLICE.

DEAR UNWILLING: Don't jump to any conclusions. Ask the woman where "downtown" she works. (A baby-sitter should know where to find the mother in case of an emergency.) Also, tell her frankly what you have observed, and if your suspicions are correct, you can't be blamed for refusing to keep her children.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your column today was the last straw. Here were a bunch of sex-starved women writing to you (their appointed "god") about their drab sex lives.

Of all the trivia you print (such as how to cut a steak in public, keeping your armpits clean and healthy, how to tell your next-door neighbor that her husband isn't getting enough affection, so you have taken over the job, etc.) you manage to breeze over the real problems.

I have this vision of a bunch of aproned women reading DEAR ABBY on the last day. You know, when pollution has finally covered the windows and the last Vietnamese has been murdered, along with our own children.

If your catty readers (and writers) would spend just half the time writing to their senators and congressmen as they spend writing to your column, we might have a chance of getting out of this mess!

K.M.: ROSEBURG, ORE.

Martin Hails 18-Year-Old Voting Rule

AUSTIN (AP) — "We're mighty happy over the Supreme Court ruling," Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Monday after the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the legality of 18-year-olds voting in national elections, but not in state and local elections. Both votes were 5-4.

"That's exactly what we argued," Martin said. "Congress has the right to set the rules in national elections but states have a right to make laws governing state and local elections."

Martin said those 18 to 21 years may continue to register until the close of the voter registration period Jan. 31. However, unless there is a special election called to elect a congressman or senator, there will be no national election in 1971.

Those 18 and above were given authority to register in Texas from the beginning of the registration period Oct. 31 with the understanding that the U.S. Supreme Court might void their registration by its decision.

Martin said just what part the new authorized voters will have in the 1972 presidential year elections will depend largely on how many register. Comparatively few 18 to 21 have registered for 1971.

Another decision by the U.S. Supreme Court upheld that states cannot set residence requirements of more than 30 days for voting in presidential elections. Martin said this will require a change in Texas law of about a week since the present statute calls for six weeks residence.

Custom Cars His New Bag

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Frank Osgood Butler II, a member of the wealthy Butler family, has pursued a life-long interest in sports — swimming, skydiving, bicycling, surfing, trampolining — and now is joining the custom-car building ranks. He plans shops in Oak Brook and Knoxville, Tenn.

Butler said he owned his first gasoline-powered vehicle when he was five. It was a gift received in 1933. Butler operated the miniature car on the polo grounds on the family's 3,000-acre farm west of Chicago.

"At one time, I had a stable of eight cars," Butler said. "But I had more fun installing gimmicks and was more concerned with how a car looked than in racing."

"The Chicago area provides a ready source for equipment," he said. "But the milder winter in Tennessee will enable us to test cars during months when it will be impossible in the north."

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Disagreeing openly with others could take away from the harmony and the happiness that is so desired and to be expected during this season of goodwill and peace. Carry through with agreements already made and do nothing to start a new venture that is permanent.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) It's an ideal day to handle all financial affairs wisely, pay bills, look into new and profitable ventures. Show tact with an advisor you have long trusted. He or she may be off on some tangent now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your ideas may differ from those of an associate who has much influence, so do not push this person too far, or you get into trouble. Show a more compromising attitude. Make the evening a happy one by being cheerful, tactful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Forget fun and get at all that accumulated work ahead of you and then you can later go out for recreation. Co-workers expect much of you, so do not disappoint them. Make this a very productive and happy day.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Accepting invitations extended to you brings fine results. You can do some entertaining, also. Join with those you like and have a wonderful time. Avoid heavy expenses, though.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of criticizing kin so much, build up their ego and they will do more for you and for themselves. Relaxing at home in P.M. is very good for you and you can catch up on reading. Contentment can be yours.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Think out what still has to be done in preparing for the coming holidays and get busy at such duties. You have fine ideas and can gain the goodwill of those around you. Save time for personal duties, also.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Much depends upon how you handle financial affairs now, and then the future can be much brighter for you. An advisor has excellent ideas so be sure to ask for them. Don't be so adamant. Show that you have ambition.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Provided you do nothing to annoy an associate, you are able to do what you actually want to do. Some new venture you have in ming requires only your own attention. Get busy at it and make it succeed.

Family Of Five Perish In Fire

SODUS, N.Y. (AP) — A family of five perished Monday in a fire at their home near this community about 30 miles east of Rochester.

Wayne County sheriff's deputies identified the dead as: George Kenney, 50; his wife Mildred, 42; and their children Rebecca, 19; Anna, 12; and Donald, 9.

Giant Computer To Backup Cops

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas policeman on the beat soon will have a gigantic computer as his backup partner.

The computer will give the policeman within seconds a suspect's record of arrests and convictions in all states.

"By the end of 1971," a Justice Department official said in Dallas recently, "we expect to have 75 per cent of the nation's criminal transactions in the computer."

Richard W. Velde of the department said the computer will be better than FBI records.

"FBI files carry only a narrow range of information," Velde said. He said these files carry information on wanted persons and stolen car and stolen securities information.

The new system, called SEARCH, for a lengthy title, will include information on felons in 23 states by the end of 1971.

"We expect it will be another two to four years before all states will be full participants," Velde said.

He said the system will also provide information on "where court delays and where the backlogs are—so managers and planners can use information for the future."

Velde admitted it could be used to harass ex-convicts, but they are subject to that now.

"But on the other hand," he said, "it tends to separate the truly bad guys from those who aren't. Now, arrest data is principally the only thing available. This system will include convictions, information on when charges weren't filed, and information, information on when charges weren't filed, and information on charges being dismissed."

'The Devils' Made His Son Do It?

LONDON (AP) — A father demanded today that scenes of his 14-year-old schoolboy actor son cavorting in bed with naked women portraying nuns be cut out of a new movie.

"I will not have my boy involved in this smut," declared tire factory worker Victor Sharp, 49. "He is a good, clean-living lad."

Young Balfour Sharp told newsmen about his part in "The Devils," which stars Vanessa Redgrave and Oliver Reed.

The film—about licentious nuns in medieval France—is being made by Director Ken Russell.

Balfour said about 50 nude women writhe around him in a bedroom.

"Then two of the nuns jumped on the bed and I had to roll around with one of them and put my hand on her breast," he added.

Balfour is a pupil in a London college for child actors.

"No one asked our permission for Balfour to take part in this shocking, disgusting scene," said his mother, Margaret Sharp, 34. "He writes home regularly, but he was probably too scared to mention anything about bed scenes with a naked woman."

Threat To Blow Up Fed Building Leads To Cell

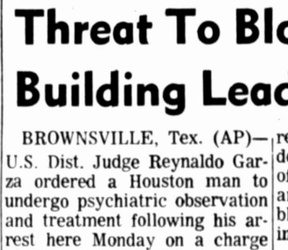

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)— U.S. Dist. Judge Reynaldo Garza ordered a Houston man to undergo psychiatric observation and treatment following his arrest here Monday on a charge of threatening to blow up the federal building.

Thomas Snyder, 50, was arrested at an intersection in downtown Brownsville by local officers and FBI agents. The arrest came after the threat to blow up the building was made in a letter to Judge Garza.

A thorough search of the federal building and Snyder's hotel room turned up no trace of explosives, officers said.

Three Drown In Car Dip

LOS EBANOS, Tex. (AP) — Three Sullivan City residents drowned Monday in a freak accident at the Los Ebanos International Ferry in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The Texas Department of Public Safety identified the victims as Juanita Ortiz Flores, 56, Rosa Ruby Flores, 20, and Roel Flores, 19.

Officers said a car driven by Roel Flores drove onto the ferry and failed to stop, plunging off the front end of the craft into the Rio Grande.

It was first feared that four persons had drowned, but a supposed victim was found in a home at nearby Sullivan City.

Estranged Wife Of Singer Looted

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Myra Lewis, estranged wife of pop singer Jerry Lee Lewis, says three rings valued at $2,500 have been stolen from her home.

Mrs. Lewis, 26, told police Monday a ladder was propped against the house and a window forced. She said the rings were not insured.

She filed a divorce action last month against the singer, whom she married 12 years ago.

Want To Add Texas Routes To Railpax Train System

WACO (AP) — Representatives of more than a dozen cities voted unanimously Monday to ask the Railroad Commission to add two Texas routes to the Nixon administration's proposed railpax passenger train system.

The vote came at a meeting held to discuss the 14-city quasi-public railroad system unveiled last month by Secretary of Transportation John Volpe.

After about two hours of discussion the group voted to ask that the Railroad Commission—the official agency with authority to request changes in the plan—urge Volpe to consider adding north-south service connecting Northern cities via St. Louis to Dallas, Waco, Austin, San Antonio and Laredo for connection with the national railways of Mexico.

The group also asked that the commission seek a "transcontinental route" through Texas.

Under the original railpax proposal, there would be neither a north-south route connecting with Mexico nor a transcontinental route across the southern half of the United States. The only connections to Texas would be a route from Chicago to Houston with no east-west service out of Houston.

The Waco group voted for retaining the Houston service as proposed by Volpe.

According to Lon Nusom of the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, who attended the session, the group "agreed to petition the commission" to ask the changes in the railpax plan. The deadline for changes is Dec. 31 and Waco Chamber of Commerce members, who sponsored Monday's meeting, appealed to the three-member Railroad Commission for action.

Nusom said several communities over the state which would be affected by a cutback in rail passenger service sent representatives to the meeting.

Greatest Show On Earth To Merge With Toy Firm

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A leading toy manufacturer and the greatest show on Earth announced Monday they are merging.

Mattel Inc., and Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, Inc., said here the merger will go through as soon as directors of both companies and shareholders of the circus approve.

Under the agreement, Roy Hofheinz, operator of the Astrodome and owner of the Houston Astros National League baseball team, and his circus partners, Irvin and Israel Feld of Washington, D. C., would receive Mattel stock valued at $47.6 million.

Hofheinz would receive an estimated $27 million of that amount.

"This should be a great business marriage," Hofheinz said. "Mattel is the world's largest toy manufacturer. It is the largest company in the world devoting all its resources toward the entertainment of children and Ringling Bros. is the world's largest circus and dedicated to the same entertainment field."

Observance Of Hanukkah

NEW YORK (AP) — Jews around the world begin the eight-day observance of Hanukkah at sundown today, commemorating the victory more than 2,000 years ago of a small band called the Maccabees over a Syrian tyrant.

According to tradition, the Maccabees found a lamp with oil for only one day as they were cleansing and rededicating the temple in Jerusalem. But the lamp burned for eight days, giving rise to the custom of lighting candles during the holiday, also known as the Festival of Lights.

45 MILLION PERSONS PRETTY 'POOR' IN U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A family living in a city needs 18 per cent more money to maintain the same standard of living it had in 1967, says the government.

Based on spring, 1970, costs, a 6 per cent increase from the year before, a family of four must earn $6,960 for a low standard of living and $10,664 for an intermediate standard.

The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics did not include an additional 3 per cent cost increase since spring, which would raise the figures to $7,168 and $10,893.

Other government figures show more than half the nation's work force, some 45 million persons, average only $6,292 a year or less than the amount required for a low living standard.

The government report said taxes accounted for 30 to 40 per cent of the increase in the different family budgets. The estimated cost of Social Security, disability insurance and personal income taxes was $1,064 for the low living standard and $1,920 for an intermediate budget.

The government said family living costs were lowest in small cities and the South, although budget costs varied widely among cities and regions.

In another development related to the nation's economy Dr. Paul A. Samuelson said he believes new steps taken by the Nixon administration to cure inflation are working but more is needed.

The 1970 Nobel Prize winner in economics said Nixon passed up a chance early in 1969 to use his leadership to back up fiscal and monetary policy.

Samuelson recommended compulsory arbitration of labor disputes that affect the public interests.

How Does This Judge Grab You?

CHICAGO (AP) — Judge Raymond Hall, 47, didn't think he would get quite the physical workout he got Sunday while shopping.

Hall saw a teenager grab a purse from Mrs. Gertrude Caley, 72, and gave chase. He raced the thug five blocks into an alley where he wrestled him to the ground.

"I'm a jogging enthusiast. I've been jogging regularly for about a year," the judge said.

Hard To Tell This First Day Of Winter In Texas

By The Associated Press

Aside from freezing temperatures here and there in the Texas Panhandle and far West Texas it was hard to tell this was the first official day of winter in the Lone Star State.

Low clouds covered much of the area east of a line from Wichita Falls to Del Rio, with early morning fog and drizzle occasionally dropping visibility below two miles.

Skies were generally clear in other sections, permitting the mercury to dip into the upper 30s at many points in West Texas.

It was chilliest before dawn in the north part of the Panhandle, where thermometers dipped to 24 degrees at Dalhart and Perryton. Wink in far West Texas recorded a 31.

Racial Discrimination 'Fib' Rebuffed By Reds

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two members of a delegation that went to Paris seeking humane treatment for war prisoners say they resorted to the issue of racial discrimination in an attempt to win an audience with North Vietnamese officials.

The six-member delegation returned here Sunday after spending a fruitless week in Paris trying to appeal to Communist representatives at the peace talks.

Quincy Mitchell and Eddie Vargas said they made a last-ditch effort Friday to meet with someone in authority for the North Vietnamese by declaring they were victims of discrimination, not only in the United States but among fellow members of their delegation.

Mitchell, a Negro, and Vargas, a Mexican-American, told a news conference Monday that the story was a fabrication, but that they decided to try it after continued rebuffs by the North Vietnamese.

TEA AND SYMPATHY

The San Antonio delegation brought petitions to Paris bearing more than 500,000 signatures asking for humane treatment of POWs, a list of prisoners, and release the POWs.

Mitchell said he and Vargas had conferred with Douglas Hegdahl, of South Dakota, a former POW who had met with the head of the North Vietnamese delegation. He said Hegdahl told them North Vietnam has "sympathy" for Negroes in the United States.

Mitchell said they also were told that the North Vietnamese are sympathetic to minority groups in general.

He said the entire San Antonio delegation agreed to the discrimination story, which was only a fabrication.

Through this approach, Mitchell said, he and Vargas eventually were allowed to speak to the minister of information for the North Vietnamese peace delegation, Li Van Sho.

NOT CLOSE ENOUGH

Sho told them he would like to meet with them but was leaving for Rome shortly, Mitchell said.

"This was the closest we got to talking with someone in a position that could get us in contact with the big heads of the delegation," he said.

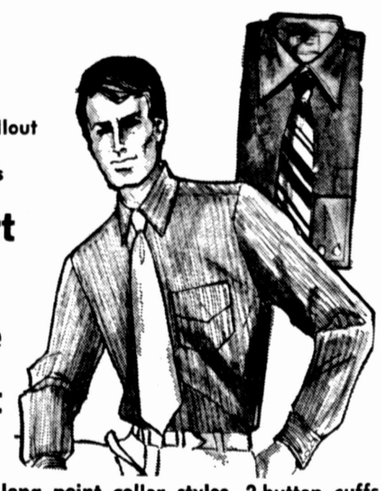

He said they had planned to tell a story that began with Negro slavery and continued to the present, and that they planned to gradually weave in the Vietnam War.

"I would use anything I could" to win an audience with the North Vietnamese," Mitchell said. He said he and Vargas thought that if they had given a good enough reason, they might have been successful.

Mitchell said he thought that with two more days, "we could break through."

Weather Fogs In Kettle Collection

Three days and nine hundred dollars.

Or, after you read this only about two days.

That's how it stacked up today for the Salvation Army and its herculean effort to see that none of the community's needy families is forgotten at Christmas time.

Kettles have been collecting about $200 a day, but then foggy weather Monday put a damper on and receipts fell to $132. Even if the kettles live up to hopes, it will take $100 or better in gifts through the mail or otherwise, said Lt. Joseph Saint, to measure up to the Christmas budget.

And every penny of it will be sorely needed. As of Tuesday morning, there were 430 families listed to be aided. There had been some adoption of families by clubs and groups, but as Lt. Saint put it, "not nearly so many as last year."

In addition, there always is a number of families which have been overlooked somehow and have to be served at the last minute. He figures the total would be 450 before he and Mrs. Saint and all their helpers let up after their Christmas Day visits.

Wednesday the Explorer Scouts are going to ring the bells at the kettles, and they will be joined by the Gold Diggers, the Big Spring High girls pep group. And volunteers to ring the bells is something the Salvation Army could use along with money. Any group of individuals who can do this chore will relieve SA workers for other chores.

Big Spring Man On Probation

BAIRD — James Paul Washburn, Big Spring, received 90 days in jail probated one year and a $350 fine here Monday following his guilty plea to felony charges of driving while intoxicated second offense before 42nd District Judge Raleigh Brown.

Charges involved a July 29 arrest near here by Highway Patrolman Harold Hambrick. Assistant Criminal District Attorney Joe Guyton, Abilene, prosecuted, and attorney Richard Milstead, Big Spring, represented Washburn.

A Devotion For Today . . .

I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness. (John 12:46)

Satellites And The Weather

A Nimbus-4 weather satellite is taking Mt. Rainier's temperature eight times a week as it passes 680 miles high over Washington State.

Not that the dormant volcano is about to erupt. Geologists are merely keeping an eye on certain "hot spots" at the peak of the 14,410 foot mountain.

Mt. Rainier has exhibited just enough physical change in recent years to warrant being watched, says the U.S. Geological Survey. A major warming trend could conceivably melt glacier ice, with resultant flooding in the valleys.

Keeping tabs on a volcano's temperature is only one example of how space satellites, whose launching once made headlines around the world, have become indispendable scientific tools.

They have also proved of incalculable benefit to all mankind.

Over the past 10 years, meteorological satellites have helped prevent countless losses of life through advance warning of storms, as in last year's great Hurricane Camille.

Since 1966, no major storm anywhere on earth has gone undetected. Airlines, shipping and other weather-sensitive commercial enterprises routinely use data from weather satellites.

Say what you will about the "waste" of spending billions of dollars to put meo on the moon. It was the momentum of the excitement of the space race (yes, kids, people actually used to get excited about space) which spurred the development of the less glamorous workhorse satellites.

But speaking of weather satellites and storms like Camille, science still runs up against one thing no instruments can predict — the behavior of human beings, some of whom won't budge.

Needs Thorough Investigation

Sen. Sam J. Ervin's investigation of military snooping on civilians won't officially open until next month but the senator is already at work on this rather frightening aspect of life in America.

Ervin claimed that Army agents spied on Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner and about 800 other civilians in Illinois alone. Ervin, whose information came from a former agent, said the men were investigated during political campaigns or while in office.

Sen. Ervin disputed military claims that it investigates only those who might be violence-prone or criminally inclined. Ervin, by the way, is a firm constitutional conservative without the faintest tint of pink.

Following Sen. Ervin's latest disclosure, came information that the Air Force and Navy also have secret guidelines covering domestic civilian spying.

The military claims it asked the FBI to take over the domestic intelligence job, but the FBI rejected the request. The Justice Department said it had no record of such a request.

Response of the military and the White House to these disclosures has been totally inadequate. The White House said, "We certainly don't condone it." The Army said it was concerned and was looking into the reports.

The President, as commander-in-chief, could order this business stopped immediately and all dossiers not directly related to national security destroyed.

Sen. Ervin should find out who did the spying, who ordered it, who was spied on and why. These are vital questions which must be answered, clearly and candidly. Sen. Ervin is the right man to pursue these questions and get the answers.

Cleavers Demand Cash For Interview

ALGIERS — Newspaper reporters from the West visiting this developing socialist nation go like homing pigeons to a news source that promises a sensation. They seek out Eldridge Cleaver, a fugitive from the United States, who has set up in Algiers an international front of the Black Panthers.

Depending on his mood, Cleaver obliges with inflammatory statements that arouse hostile feelings in the United States. When he is not in the mood he can make beseeching reporters wait a day or two on his doorstep, meanwhile showering them with choice obscenities.

THIS REPORTER, in the homing-pigeon routine, got a variation of the Cleaver treatment. He was not at home, Mrs. Cleaver would talk. Interview? There would be no more interviews without payment in advance. The dialogue over the telephone went as follows:

Reporter: You mean you want pay in advance for an interview?

Mrs. Cleaver: That's right. You told me your office is in Washington at 1707 Pennsylvania Avenue. That's across from the White House. How much rent do you pay?

REPORTER: I don't know exactly. But I think it would be, say, $1,000 or $1,500.

Mrs. Cleaver: Okay, that's how much the interview will cost. One month's rent, $1,500.

Reporter: Surely, that's way out of line. Anyway, I never pay for interviews. I never have.

MRS. CLEAVER: Your paper's rich, or your syndicate. You wouldn't have to pay. They can pay. You can talk to my husband if you think it's too much.

End of episode. This seemed to be adding insult to injury. Der Spiegel, the West German news weekly, had one of the latest interviews. While it has apparently not yet appeared, those who saw a transcript say that Cleaver was even more violent, calling not only for murder but brutal murder.

THOSE WHO know believe that Cleaver is not that hard up for money. When he was in Cuba before coming to Algiers, the Department of Justice blocked the royalties from his best-selling book, "Soul on Ice." The royalties were subsequently released and they are a substantial sum. It is possible, of course, that the Cleavers are helping other refugees, including Timothy Leary, a fugitive from a drug charge, and his wife who returned to Algiers after they were denied permission to stay in Beirut and Cairo where they touched briefly.

IF OFFICIALS here are embarrassed by Cleaver's violent statements, given such wide currency around the world, they add with a stiff upper lip that during the seven-year war for independence from France Algerians were given asylum in neighboring Arab countries and in Europe. They also got help from the United States.

"Our people would not understand if our government closed its doors to the revolutionaries who come here from all over the world," President Houari Boumedienne said in a lengthy interview with this reporter.

"THE ONLY thing we do is give them freedom of expression. The United States is the country of freedom.

"You in America say what you want to say; your country is the origin of the idea of freedom of speech.

"Our philosophy is very clear. We forbid them to act against their own countries. For example, we would not allow the Black Panthers to send bombs to the United States if they could fabricate them here. We cannot allow them to harm their own countries, but Algeria has a tradition of asylum and we cannot go against it. The question is not that they are Negro revolutionaries. If there were white American revolutionaries we would grant them asylum, too."

Billy Graham

You often say that we are living in a secular society. If so, then don't you believe that Christianity should conform to a secular society? A.K.

The genius of Christianity through the centuries has been its ability to Christianize secular trends, rather than conforming itself to them. If Christianity, for example had adapted itself to the Roman culture with all its pagan practices, it would have vanished in a decade, or at the longest, a century. But it stood head and shoulders above society, calling it up from lasciviousness, up from absorption with pleasure, sex perversion, and the love of money.

Many today are trying to adapt the Christian teaching to the world, but the world needs to adapt itself to Christ and His teaching. True, Christians have remained too aloof from the world and its problems. But what we must guard against is being contaminated by, and conformed to the world, its philosophy, and its ethics. The Gospel of Jesus Christ is revolutionary, and that word means "Changing", "transforming", and that is precisely what it has done through the centuries. Either society will adulterate Christianity, or Christianity will transform society. The early disciples "turned the world upside down." Ours needs to be turned right side up.

'I'M TRYING TO AVOID USING CONTROLS'

John Cunniff

Are Taxes Inflationary?

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are accustomed to hearing that taxes are anti-inflationary —that one of their purposes is to regulate demand and thereby keep the economy from becoming overheated.

Taxes, we are told, transfer buying power from individuals and businesses to governmental units which then use the revenues for goods and services necessary to the common good.

That's one way of looking at the tax situation, but don't try to sell it to millions of Americans who view their tax bills as the most inflated items in their bag of rising expenses.

The average annual living costs for urban families—as of last spring—have just been released by the Labor Department and they show that the chief increases for millions of people were taxes—local, state and federal, income, sales and real estate.

The department, which regularly issues three budgets for a "typical" family of a 38-year-old husband, nonworking wife, boy 13 and girl 8, announced that 30 to 40 per cent of the 1970 budget increases resulted from taxes.

On the lowest of the three budgets, the family was estimated to need $6,960 a year, an increase in one year of $393. The intermediate budget rose to $10,664 from $10,077, and the higher level budget to $15,511 from $14,589

All three budgets are supposed to provide sufficient nourishment, but the liberal budget allows for better meats and more convenience foods than the moderate plan, while the low cost plan has fewer meat and few convenience foods.

The higher plan also permits considerably better shelter, as reflected in the figures showing that 33 per cent of the higher budget goes for housing, while only 26 per cent is allowed for housing in the lowest budget.

All these figures are hypothetical, of course. No more than a few places are likely to be anywhere near the average, which is made up of great extremes, some of them due to the peculiar geography of certain regions.

In Anchorage, Alaska, for instance, the average cost of existing on the interdemiate budget was a whopping $14,535. In Austin, Tex., however, the same style of living could be enjoyed for $9,212.

Even among the larger cities there were great contrasts. In New York, the intermediate budget was estimated at $12,134, but in Chicago it was $1,014 lower, and was lower in Los Angeles by $1,364.

But back to the original question: Are taxes inflationary or deflationary? To some extent it depends upon your viewpoint, where you take the individual or the governmental view, whether you give or receive.

'Fatty' Plump Pleasing

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the greatest medicine man.

It heals and cures better than the ablest doctor. And like a skilled surgeon, it selectively removes the dead tissue of the mind so that only the living past remains to encourage us and make us hopeful.

Memory helps give us fortitude and keep us brave. It suggests that if we have endured what has already happened to us, we have good reason to expect that we can bear to survive what lies ahead.

Every heart is thronged with a million memories, large or small. You are well supplied with them yourself if you can look back and remember when —

After a long cold trip in a buggy, everyone rushed to the fireplace and turned his back to it to warm his bottom.

People roasted chestnuts at home instead of buying them from a street peddler.

Wallace Beery, a onetime chorus boy with a face as homely as a potato, became in middle age one of the nation's most popular film stars.

The last men to give up wearing a vest were scholars, because it served as such a wonderful backdrop to show off their Phi Beta Kappa keys.

For every American who cleaned his teeth with a toothbrush, there were three who did it with a tookpick.

If you found a lump of coal in the bottom of your stocking on Christmas morning, that was Santa's way of warning you that you had been a bad boy or girl —and next year might not get a present unless you mended your ways.

To be fat was no disgrace. Many doctors thought plumpness was a sign of health, and worried that an underweight patient was likely to come down with tuberculosis.

Penmanship was an art. Whether or not its contents were worthwhile, a letter was often made memorable by the curlicues that adorned the writing.

Before the popularity of the Christmas office party waxed and waned, few fathers came home on yuletide eve loaded—but sometimes their breath did smell a bit of Sen Sen.

No one reached for a helping until the man who sat at the head of the table had asked, with folded hands, a blessing on all who sat there from the One in whose honor they had gathered.

Those were the days—remember?

Wonders What Brought On Her Diabetes

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "Diabetes, The Sneaky Disease," for which I enclose 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

And I guess that is just what it is — a sneaky disease. Could it be brought on by medicines which I am taking, and am told I must take for the rest of my life, after having a heart attack?

I am going through a very traumatic time, what with losing many relatives and friends, to say nothing of having a pregnant unmarried granddaughter whom I now have on my hands. It is hard to stop being emotionally involved when these things happen in such rapid succession.

I am told I am a borderline diabetic and was given a diet to follow. —M.D.E.

Yes, it's a sneaky disease, and rarely comes on suddenly, the exception being in children or adolescents who can develop severe diabetes with considerable rapidity — although even in them, I suspect that signs could be discovered early if only some clue appeared to lead us to look for them.

The fact is that the cause of diabetes is not known. Obesity tends to bring on diabetes — particularly if the person has a tendency toward that disease to start with. Both physical and emotional trauma appear to have a similar effect — bringing potential diabetes into being, or aggravating it.

Medicines such as you are taking for your heart will not cause or otherwise influence the diabetes. Neither will tranquilizers.

A good many people who have heart attacks are found to have diabetes of which they were unaware, and there is evidence that diabetes, particularly untreated diabetes, plays some role in making people more likely to have heart trouble — one of many good reasons why we must be on our guard against this sneaky disease.

You are, obviously, under a considerable emotional burden, but I can offer you this solace for what it is worth: if you were merely given a diet to follow, your physician must have found you as having mild diabetes which can be kept under control without the use of medication or insulin in addition.

It is essential that you follow the diet, though.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am deeply worried about the threat of pesticides, DDT and others. How much residue are we getting on fruits and vegetables from our local markets? Do the pesticides permeate the whole apple or carrot or tomato, or can they be thoroughly washed off? — Mrs. G. W.

The pesticides are sprayed on, and not absorbed, so thorough washing will keep fruits and vegetables safe.

* * *

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Other Side Of The Matter

I think Mark Twain would have made a fine old friend. Rather like a grimpy grandfather who would demand a kiss — and leave tobacco juice on your cheek.

ONCE IN A while he makes me cry, but mostly, he causes me to giggle — albeit guiltily.

This being the Christmas season, when there is so much attention given to goodness that evil is overlooked, I particularly enjoyed his benevolence in the following discourse:

"I HAVE NO special regard for Satan, but I can at least claim that I have no prejudice against him. It may be that I have been a little in his favor, on account of his not having a fair show. All religions issue Bibles against him, but we never hear his side. We have none but the evidence of the prosecution, and yet we have rendered the verdict. To my mind this is irregular. It is un-English. It is un-American.

"OF COURSE, Satan has some kind of a case, it goes without saying. It may be a poor one, but that is nothing; that can be said about any of us. As soon as I can get at the facts I will undertake his rehabilitation myself, if I can find an impolite publisher. It is a thing which we ought to do for anybody who is under a cloud.

"WE MAY NOT pay him reverence, for that would be indiscreet, but we can at least respect his talents. A person who has for untold centuries maintained the imposing position of spiritual head of four-fifths of the human race, and political head of the whole of it, must be granted the possession of executive abilities of the loftiest order. In his large presence the other popes and politicians shrink to midgets for the microscope.

"I WOULD like to see him. I would rather see him and shake him by the tail than any other member of the European Concert," concluded Mark Twain.

Just A Guy Named Howard

WASHINGTON — Every man has one big dream in him that keeps him going for all of his life. My dream is quite a simple one:

I'm taking an airplane from Las Vegas to Paradise Island in the Bahamas, and sitting next to me is a gaunt, thin man with a moustache. He is wearing a white shirt open at the collar, an old sweater, an unpressed pair of slacks and tennis sneakers.

"Hi," I say in my dream, sticking out my hand, "my name is Art."

He refuses to shake hands but mutters, "My name is Howard."

"Howard what?" I ask, trying to be friendly.

"JUST HOWARD," he snarls. "Now if you don't mind, I have private detective reports to read."

"What business are you in, Howard?"

"A little bit of this, a little bit of that. I buy and sell states," he said.

"You mean estates, don't you?"

"I said states, and I mean states," He is becoming angry again.

I try to get on his good side. "You seen any good movies lately?"

"The only movie I've seen lately is 'The Outlaw' with Jane Russell."

"Oh? How did you like it?"

"I THINK it's one of the greatest films ever made," Howard says.

"So do I," I tell him.

"You do?" For the first time he smiles.

"Yes, sir. It's been 20 years and I still can't get Jane Russell's performance out of my mind."

I can see Howard is starting to warm up.

"I WAS HOPING they'd show it on this flight," he says confidentially.

"Wouldn't that be something," I say.

We have nothing to talk about for a few minutes and then I say, "What do you think of Las Vegas?"

"It's a nice place to own, but I wouldn't want to live there," he replies.

"That's a good one," I say, slapping Howard's knee. "Where do you stay in Las Vegas?"

"I HAVE THE choice of many hotels, but I usually stay at the Desert Inn on the top floor because I like the view."

"Do you gamble?"

"Sort of, but I never go near the tables," he says.

"That's a good idea," I say. "Stick with the slot machines and they can't hurt you."

We lapsed into silence again. I notice Howard is writing notes on yellow legal-size pads. Then he crushes up a page and starts all over.

"Having trouble?" I ask.

"I'M TRYING to fire a guy, and I don't know how to say it in a nice way."

By this time our plane is landing in Nassau. While I'm gathering up my things, Howard dashes off the plane. I notice he has left his briefcase behind.

I try to run after him, but he has already jumped into a limousine.

"Howard, Howard," I yell, "you forgot your briefcase."

"I don't need it," he yells as the limo pulls out. "You can have it."

I open the briefcase when I get to my hotel room and, to my surprise and joy, find $100 million, all in new 1,000 dollar bills.

The Outrageous Welfare Program

NEW YORK — The welfare picture in this mixed-up city is lunatic all right, but the citizen living elsewhere cannot divorce New York. For New York's story tells us what will happen to our other big cities without meaningful reform on the national level.

One out of every seven residents of New York City is now on relief. The number of persons on the dole today — 1,140,965 — is the result of a 30,000 increase since Oct. 1, and it is more than double the nationwide proportion.

MEANWHILE, because of a housing shortage for the penniless, the city is paying as much as $399 a week for two rooms on separate floors of a hotel occupied by a woman and four children. A week, not a month.

These dreary and tragic statistics are not offered as hard news. They are a matter of public record. On the contrary, they are cited because such figures no longer are news. New York City has grown accustomed to its bleak condition, and every day more and more of our cities are taking their own untidy relief situations for granted. Staggering relief loads have become part of what ironically might be described as the quality of life across the nation's urban sprawl.

FOR EXAMPLE, the nationwide increase in the major relief category, aid to families with dependent children, was 33.7 per cent during the past 14 months. The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare says 6 per cent of the country's population, based on preliminary 1970 census counts, got some kind of public assistance since last June. In California, aid to dependent children has jumped 40 per cent.

ONE REASON for these startling increases is that the politicians, especially in New York, long ago discovered that relief is good politics. They make it easy to get on the dole, and do little or nothing to encourage the able-bodied poor to take paying jobs. It is a fact that without the votes of those on relief Mayor John Lindsay would have been beaten in 1969.

Thus the cry now being heard from Lindsay and many other big-city mayors is not for welfare reform but for more financial help from Washington. They are demanding, in effect, that the rest of the country bail them out.

CONSIDER THE "solution" offered by Jule Sugarman, the city's Commissioner of Social Services. Says Sugarman, presumably with a straight face, "It is idle to look for results from new 'workfare' manpower training or other 'back to back' programs if, in fact, the jobs do not exist. The actual creation of jobs must therefore be the highest priority of the national government."

To be specific, Sugarman demands a program to create $200 million worth of public service jobs.

AND NO nonsense about President Nixon's formula for requiring persons on relief to take whatever jobs are available or at least job training courses — with due financial credit accruing to those who show the will to remove themselves from the public dole.

Sugarman by the nature of his job must go along with New York City's crazy welfare program, otherwise known as "Come and Get It."

Balloon Note

LAKE BLUFF, Ill. (AP) — Monica Donelly, 11, had all but given up getting an answer to her balloon-launched note.

The note, carried by three balloons, was kept dry in a plastic bag. It asked that whoever found it write back to her and send a picture of himself.

Then she received an answer from a seven-year-old boy, Clinton King of Hartford, Mich. He included a photo of himself.

"I found this note while hunting with my father," his letter said. "P.S. My mother wrote this note for me."

Monica saved the cost of a stamp and a trip to the mailbox with her system, but she does not believe it will ever replace the United States Post Office.

"You never know where the note's going to land," she said. "But that's the fun of it."

Still Crowded

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Patients in Kentucky's four state mental hospitals number 50 per cent fewer than five years ago, but Mental Commissioner Dale Farabee said the total of 2,750 still is overcrowded by national standards.

For safety it has fully reclining cushioned buckets, collapsible steering column, recessed gauges, and impact absorbing knee and head restraints, all as standard equipment.

Corolla's lightweight four cylinder engine now develops 73 horsepower at 6,000 rpm and still delivers 28 mile-per-gallon economy. An improved two barrel, down draft carburetor assures quick starts in all types of weather.

Toyota Corona for '71 has a power plant beefed up to 108 horses at 50 rpm with a new overhead cam engine that produces better acceleration and higher cruising speed, but just sips gas to give 25 miles for each gallon.

Lamesa Turns Back Longhorns, 78-63

Humbled by an aggressive Lamesa team here Monday night, 78-63, the Big Spring Steers head for Plainview today where at 8 o'clock they challenge one of the state's better Class AAAA teams.

Plainview defeated the Steers, 98-78, here early in the season and has been making progress since that time.

The Steers have looked better than they did last night. They fell behind, 7-0, at the start and were never able to recover, although they pulled fairly close a couple of times.

In the fourth, they moved to within eight points of a tie but then fell apart again, and Lamesa quickly put ten points on the board before the locals could scratch.

Harry McCurley, a sophomore, has been poison to the Steers in both the Lamesa-Big Spring games. He bucketed 25 Monday night to lead all point-getters'.

Lamesa, now 12-3 on the year, had three other players in double figures. Robert Hardberger scored 16, Cecil Davis 14 and David Sisson 12.

Big Spring was led by Mike Randle, who dropped in 17. Randy Womack had one of his better efforts, settling for 13, while David Carter accounted for 10.

Randle also grabbed off 10 rebounds while Richard Bullard had seven.

The loss dropped Big Spring's record to 7-8, the first time this season they have been under .500.

The Big Spring JVs gave Lamesa quite a going-over in the first game, winning, 103-54. The Dogies have now won 11 of 13 starts and coach David Verner gave everyone a chance to play.

Robert Wallace again paced the locals with 25 points although he sat out much of the game, once Big Spring had put the verdict on the top shelf.

Charley Brown counted 16 for Big Spring while Larry Pierce and Rondel Brock each tallied 12.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

AL DAVIS, managing general partner of the Oakland A's, who wanted to perpetuate the American Football League even while it was being assemulated into the NFL:

"I think a lot of people now would like to do away with the three inter-conference games we started playing this year. We agreed to it last year because three AFL teams wanted it that way. We wanted to satisfy everyone in our league. When the three new teams were brought in they wanted to play old rivals from their NFL days. But recent events show this is not a vital necessity. I refer to those two Super Bowl victories by the Jets and Chiefs. I'm worried about the fans. I'm worried about it becoming Barnum & Bailey — playing a new team each week. Football relies on rivalries. This way it will be hard to get the fans to know all the players. It'll be hard on the coach. He'll have to know personnel from 26 teams rather than only the 13 in his conference. We should play only within the conference . . . You don't get true champions, otherwise."

* * * *

MERLIN OLSEN, star defensive lineman for the Los Angeles Rams:

"We don't call the middle of the line The Pit for nothing. We really do get like animals, trying to claw one another apart. It's very hard in the pit. No matter how it seems, no matter what the scoring shows, it's always hard. We get so tired and bruised, we wind up playing in a sort of coma. By the end of the game you're an animal."

* * * *

FRED TAYLOR, recently fired as head coach at TCU:

"The high point as head coach was the 1967 Texas game, when we beat them, 24-17. As a freshman coach, the high point was the Texas game in 1965 — we beat them and went undefeated. The low point is right now. It's a low point that over the last four years we had so many good athletes who were injured and were never able to reach their potential. Over those four years injuries may have cost us as many as 10 games. If we'd won those, I'd be getting a raise now instead of getting fired."

* * * *

ERNIE STAUTNER, coaching aide for the Dallas Cowboys, discussing linebacker Dave Edwards:

"The best thing you can say about Edwards is that he is a pro. He plays hurt and does an outstanding job."

* * * *

FRANK BROYLES, Arkansas coach:

"Notre Dame is going to have a hard time running on Texas. Joe Theismann may give them trouble. He's a great scrambler. Texas won't have any trouble rushing him but they may have trouble hemming him in. But they'll do it."

* * * *

CHUCK FAIRBANKS, Oklahoma football coach, when asked if he were glad to see any opposing seniors graduate:

"Yes, Steve Worster is one of the greatest players my team ever played against. He can run, he can block, he can catch and he can compete under pressure. His name comes to mind first."

* * * *

LENNIE WILKENS of the Seattle SuperSonics, on being a player-coach in basketball:

"I learned something last year. When I'm on the floor, I'm more effective if I just think of myself as a player and not a coach. Otherwise, the two jobs break your concentration. The big thing about working with players is that they have to know that the coach has the full backing of the front office. If a coach doesn't have that, he's in trouble."

* * * *

WINSTON HILL, 270-pound tackle for the New York Jets, complaining he has lost too much weight:

"I don't have the strength I used to have. I had to make certain adjustments. The added agility helped me on pass blocking but on running plays I had to concentrate harder on techniques. When you're a lot heavier than the man you're playing against you can sort of overpower him on running plays. You can get by with sloppy technique. But now I have to be more careful, more precise."

Big A Scores 37 To Lead Buck Surge

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain gave Lew Alcindor three feet, and the Milwaukee Bucks center took advantage of it for 37 points Monday night.

"In the last game, Wilt would move back off of me," Alcindor said after the Bucks crushed Chamberlain and the Los Angeles Lakers 113-88 in a nationally-televised National Basketball Association game. It was Monday's only NBA contest.

"Then, when I made my move, he would time his leap perfectly and block my shot," Lew said. "This time, I turned around to face him and made him play defense more honestly."

The former UCLA three-time All-American outplayed the veteran Chamberlain in every aspect of the game except assists. Chamberlain finished with 25 points and had 14 rebounds to Alcindor's 16. The Milwaukee sophomore also blocked four shots while Chamberlain knocked down two would-be Milwaukee baskets.

While Alcindor was winning his battle with Chamberlain, two other superstars were playing head-to-head, and again Milwaukee came out on top.

Oscar Robertson tallied 19 points, matching his season average, while holding the Lakers' Jerry West to a similar amount. West was averaging 28.2 points a game going into the contest.

Oscar—the "Big O"—really sparkled defensively, time and again stealing the ball and blocking shots. He intimidated West so much that the Los Angeles guard missed six layups.

It was the only regular-season NBA game scheduled for TV on a Monday night. ABC, which aired the contest, plans on televising NBA games on Monday night next year following the football season.

In the ABA, Monday night, Indiana trampled Pitsburgh 144-115 and the Floridians trounced Kentucky 123-115.

Three 'Dogs Are Honored

ROBERT LEE — Champion Coahoma placed three boys on the all-tournament team chosen at the conclusion of the Robert Lee basketball meet here last weekend.

Named from Coahoma were Jackie Wolf, Roland (Snickle) Beal and Donnie Buchanan.

Others honored included Jacky Willis, Forsan; Ken Kelly, Wylie; Ken Peel, Sterling City; Mike Mumford, Robert Lee; Gary Skelton, Bronte; Teddy Head, Roscoe; and Ronnie Orman, Roscoe.

Coahoma defeated Roscoe, 68-65, for the crown, at which time Wolf hit 22 points for the Bulldogs and Head 27 for Roscoe.

Robert Lee captured third place by deflating Wylie, 64-45, while Bronte measured Forsan, 54-50, in consolation finals.

In the girls' finals, Wylie outlasted Coahoma, 49-28. Pam Raughton counted 19 points for Wylie and Pam Patterson 14 for Coahoma.

Robert edged Robert Lee, 39-34, for third place while Forsan flattened Bronte in consolation finals, 79-45.

Coahoma's Patterson and Gloria Dodd, Forsan, were among all-tournament forwards named. Others were Raughton, Anita Cowan, Wylie; Kathy Woods, Roscoe; and Jacky Conley, Robert Lee.

All-tournament guards included Judy Holloway, Wylie; Kathy Evans, Coahoma; Mary Ann Whorton, Roscoe; Connie Dunagan, Forsan; Jolene Vaughn, Bronte; and Sherry Pitcock, Robert Lee.

More Poised Landry Will Face Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) —Detroit quarterback Greg Landry was a shook rookie from Massachusetts starting his first National Football League game the last time he was in Dallas. The score: Cowboys 59, Lions 13.

That was in 1968 and the Cowboys know Landry will be all they can handle Saturday in a National Football Conference playoff in the Cotton Bowl.

Dallas linebacker coach Jerry Tubbs said "He's got that experience now and can recognize defenses. He knows what to do when his receiver is covered. He's the best running starting quarterback in the league."

Tubbs added "Gosh, he can run that football. You've got to be careful on your pass rush. You can't get careless or he will tuck it under and run—not five or 10 but 30 yards or get a touchdown."

Tubbs realizes that his linebacker corps will be severely tested by the Lions, who like to dump the screen pass to the backs and pop the quickie to tight end Charlie Sanders.

"Sanders is the guy you have to watch," Tubbs said. "They go to him in the key situations. He has good hands and the ability to get open."

Tubbs said the entire Lion offensive unit was impressive.

"Steve Owens and Altie Taylor are quick and tough to knock off their feet," Tubbs said. "Owens runs to daylight well. Earl McCullouch at flanker is a game breaker ala Bob Hayes.

"Detroit has real good balance over-all. The receivers catch the ball real well."

Tubbs said "We've got to hit and hustle and the game will take care of itself."

The Dallas Doomsday Defense hasn't allowed a touchdown in the last 17 quarters as the Cowboys streaked to five consecutive victories and the NFC East Nov. 16 to St. Louis.

the ball real well."

"We've been shutting off the run effectively and we've never had cornerbacks before like we do now." said Tubbs, referring to the work of Mel Renfro and Herb Adderley.

OVER JOE FRAZIER

Ellis Foresees Win For Clay

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jimmy Ellis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, predicts that Muhammad Ali will defeat Joe Frazier in their title fight next February.

Ellis also accused the boxing world Monday of giving him "the run-around" after his loss to Frazier and said he could defeat Muhammad Ali, who won the heavyweight crown known as Cassius Clay.

"I fought him (Clay) twice as an amateur," Ellis said. "He beat me the first time but the second time I had no trouble with him.

"I know they say that things are different in amateur and professional boxing. But Clay hasn't changed his style. Nor have I. I can still whip Clay."

Commenting on the Ali-Oscar Bonavena bout earlier this month, Ellis said, "I whipped Bonavena easier than he did. All Clay has done is to beat two guys I beat (Jerry Quarry and Bonavena) and he's on his way to a bout with Frazier."

In picking Clay as the winner, Ellis said, "He'll be in better shape than he was for the Bonavena fight."

Ellis also said, "I fought my way to the title through eliminations. After I won, I fought Joe Frazier and I'll admit I was rusty, having not had a bout in 18 months. I'm not making excuses. But I'd like to fight him again."

Ellis said fighters seemed to be avoiding him, particularly Floyd Patterson and George Foreman.

"I could go around whipping club fighters and they'd say, 'Why shouldn't he whip them?' I have to meet somebody that really means something but that's the kind that wants no part of me."

On rumors that both Frazier and Ali will retire after their upcoming fight, Ellis said, "I don't want that. I'm a man.

"I wouldn't want to go through another elimination and win the title if I didn't get to fight Clay and get another chance at Frazier. Having the title without beating them would be empty."

Eagles Lose By 28-15 Tab

Goliad's Shorthorns stretched their Seventh Grade basketball league lead to two games by defeating the Goliad Eagles, 28-15, Monday afternoon.

The Shorthorns' second and third quarter teams gave their team an edge that was never overcome. Jimmy Cox's rebounding and aggressive play by Noel Hull and Ray Box swung the issue the Shorthorns' way.

The Shorthorns have won five straight league games. The Eagles are holding down second place with a 3-2 mark.

Tony Lester played fine ball for the losers. The Shorthorns have outscored the opposition, 140-50, in their five games, averaging 28 points a start to 12 for the foe.

Hull leads the team in scoring with 16 points while Ricky Watkins had 15 and Gregg Halfmann 12.

The Shorthorns play the Runnels Cowboys and the Eagles oppose the Runnels Red Barons Jan. 7. Both games will be in the Goliad gym.

One of the new faces will be Arkansas tackle Dick Bumpas, an Associated Press first string all-America pick. He is replacing another AP all-America first team man, Rock Perdoni of Georgia Tech.

Wildcats Skid In Rankings

By The Associated Press

That Old Kentucky Home Sweet Home turned sour over the weekend and cost the Kentucky Wildcats a drop of four places in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll.

While UCLA and South Carolina held onto the top two spots, Kentucky's 89-83 loss to Purdue in the finals of their own invitation tournament knocked the Wildcats from third to seventh place.

That enabled Marquette, Jacksonville and Penn, each 5-0, to move up one position apiece to third, fourth and fifth, respectively. Southern California climbed from eighth to sixth by winning the Sun Bowl Tournament.

The rest of the Top Ten consisted of, Kansas, Drake and Western Kentucky.

UCLA, 4-0 after an idle week, received 26 of the 30 first-place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters across the country. South Carolina, 5-0, was first on one ballot, Marquette on two and Jacksonville on one. In points, UCLA led South Carolina 579-498.

The Second Ten was made up of Indiana, Tennessee, Villanova, Notre Dame, St. Bonaventure, Purdue, a tie between Oregon and North Carolina for 17th, followed by St. John's N.Y., and New Mexico State.

The Top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9- etc. basis:

Bengals Win Four In Row

By The Associated Press

So who needs Pistol Pete?

For the first time in four seasons Pistol Pete Maravich is not a member of the Louisiana State college basketball team. The No. 1 collegiate scorer in each of his three varisity years at LSU now is a professional with the Atlanta Hawks in the NBA.

But, strange to relate, the Bayou tigers from Baton Rouge have won four straight and are unbeaten going into their first round game against DePaul in the All-College holiday tourney at Oklahoma City Saturday.

Led by Nelson Isley, the only senior on the team, LSU routed Georgia 97-76 Monday night at home for their latest success.

Isley, 6-foot-3, scored 26 points. Billy Newton and Al Sanders chipped in with 20 and 19, respectively.

Louisville snapped the six-game winning streak of eighth-ranked Kansas in decisive fashion, 87-75. Playing at home the once-beaten Cardinals were led by Henry Bacon's 22 points and at one time were ahead by 26 points.

Alabama, the team which marred Louisville's record, was crushed 122-75 by sixth-ranked Southern California at Los Angeles.

St. Bonaventure and Purdue were the only other teams in the Associated Press Top Twenty to see action. Both won. The Bonnies, No. 15, routed Illinois Wesleyan 92-57 for their sixth in a row. Purdue, No. 16, walloped Tulane 94-73.

A layup by Jerry Brucks with five seconds left gave Wyoming a 72-71 victory over California in the first round of the Michigan Invitational at Ann Arbor. Michigan routed Harvard 100-73 and will play Wyoming in the final tonight.

Bob Hayes Named Tops On Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hayes, who caught four touchdown passes in Dallas' title-clinching victory over Houston, was named Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League by The Associated Press today.

Hayes has that, considerable pride in his latest achievement, the plaudits of Coach Tom Landry—and an unsigned contract.

Hayes, an obviously disgruntled player this season while refusing to sign his 1970 contract under terms offered by the Cowboys, was the prime mover for Dallas Sunday as he grabbed six passes for 187 yards in a 52-10 victory over the Oilers.

BOB HAYES

Hayes caught a pair of 38-yarders, a 15-yarder and a 59-yarder from quarterback Craig Morton.

Sands, Greenwood Grab JH Basketball Titles

STANTON — Sands Junior High defeated Stanton, 50-46, here the past weekend to win the annual Stanton Junior High Basketball tournament.

In the championship game, Scotty Blake had 18 points and Keith Gandy 12 for the winners while Kevin Gandy did a fine job of rebounding and David Zant did a stellar job in the backcourts for the Colts.

Now 7-0 for the year, the Colts will be the host team in the Sands tournament Jan. 7-8-9.

Sands beat Coahoma, 37-24; and Greenwood, 66-38, in earlier games to reach the finals.

Against Coahoma, Keith Gandy and Frosty Floyd each scored nine points for Sands while Putt Choate counted seven for Coahoma.

In the Greenwood game, Floyd tallied 19, Blake 12 and Victor Rodriquez 11 for the Colts.

In the championship battle, Sands had a 17 point lead with two minutes to play, after which the reserves took over.

Stanton's top scorer in the Sands game was Vernon Brown, who tallied 16.

Greenwood humbled Garden City, 42-25, in girls' finals. Coahoma captured third place while Sands edged Stanton's eighth graders for consolation honors.

The Stanton Junior High boys don't play again until Jan. 7, when they host Midland Trinity. The Stanton boys are 2-2 in district.

The girls will be idle until the Jan. 21-22-23 Grady tournament. They have yet to win in four league starts.

A LOVELIER YOU

Female Fragrances: From 'Him' To 'Her'

By MARY SUE MILLER

Note to Gentlemen Santas:

Man and boy, the male can avoid that eleventh-hour shopping frenzy by remembering how much Lovelies appreciate fragrance. It's a gift a girl treasures. As a man treasures the girl who wears it!

There are several ways to choose a successful fragrance gift. Find out what scent she prefers, look for a totally new perfume, or try for a familiar fragrance in a handsome new bottle or case.

To get you off to a good start if you are without a lead, ask your salesperson to show you new perfumes. Prestigious French parfumers recently introduced magnificent attars. The first in a long time, really.

Next focus on the conversation pieces. For instance, Lalique crystal flacon holding renowned essence . . . A frog ring of gold-like metal with eyes of turquoise and a top that lifts to reveal heavenly fragrance . . . Imperial Jewel compacts, gilt twinkling with stones and filled with solid perfume heady enough to shake your world.

And there's more. For her dressing table, creme perfume with name and fame in Le Pot d'Or — a miniature French kettle sculptured in golden tones. For her bath, a smashing yellow ice bucket, reusable of course, filled with a tingling assortment of bubbles, soap, moisture massage and friction pour le bain.

Are you feeling flush? For the joy of it you could give her an ounce of the world's costliest perfume. Take it from there. The fragrance world brings a world of gifts.

CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our leaflet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Chapel Barbecue Raises Funds

The program also included a medley of Christmas carols by the Baker Chapel Choir, and a presentation of the Christmas story by Chaplain Ed Galloway of Webb AFB.

Food for the fund-raising dinner was prepared by Mrs. Annie M. Eldridge, Mrs. Fannie Woods and Mrs. Williams.

Good Reason For Mattress Sets

Ever wonder why mattresses and box springs are sold as sets? It's because the sizes, shapes, number, and placement of springs in a matched set are scientifically engineered to fit each other.

Like a house on the proper foundation, a mattress should rest on a box spring designed for it.

Without a matching box spring, a mattress may even feel different than it did in the store. And chances are the mattress won't last as long if the box spring doesn't match.

Mink Bred First
