LBJ Lashes Out At Barry Over Viet Nam Issue

Johnson Calls Goldwater Talk 'Preposterous,' Also Hits Miller

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson lashed out at Sen. Barry M. Goldwater Saturday, charging the Republican presidential nominee was guilty of a "disservice to peace" by his recent discussion of the possible use of nuclear weapons in the Communist war against South Viet Nam.

In a gloves-off news conference statement, the President used such blistering words as "preposterous," "irresponsible" and "unjustified" to personally castigate Goldwater's remarks about Johnson's orders on U. S. weapons use in the recent Gulf of Tonkin crisis.

It was the first time that the President had referred to Goldwater by name with such unbridled harshness. He went even further by accusing Goldwater's vice presidential running mate, New York Rep. William E. Miller, of making "false and irresponsible" statements in the nuclear weapon controversy.

Boils To Surface
The dispute boiled to the surface this week when Goldwater after a GOP harmony meeting at Hershey, Pa., discussed Johnson's orders to U. S. naval commanders in retaliating against Communist North Viet Nam torpedo boat attacks on two U. S. destroyers.

Goldwater, who has suggested that the supreme NATO commander be given the right to use tactical nuclear weapons to reply to any Soviet attack, noted that Johnson had directed the commander of the 7th Fleet in the Pacific to use "any weapons."

In response to a question, the GOP presidential nominee denied he was implying Johnson had authorized use of nuclear weapons but later he said: "When you say all weapons to the average reader, that can mean a lot of things."

Since then, the administration and Goldwater have been engaged in a running wrangle over the issue.

Only Conventional Weapons
Johnson at a White House rose garden news conference said flatly that at no time had he authorized use of any but conventional weapons in the retaliatory raid of U. S. forces against North Vietnamese torpedo boat installations.

Four Killed In Air Crash

BEEVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — A single-engine light plane crashed on takeoff from a private airport Saturday, flipped over and burst into flames. All four persons aboard were killed.

The dead were identified as Dr. George Grininger Jr. and his mother, Mrs. George E. Grininger Sr., both of Houston and Mrs. Rocky Reagan Jr. and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Bell Reagan, both of Beeville.

Justice of the Peace R. E. (Bob) Atkins said all three women were killed instantly but that Grininger lived about 30 minutes.

"He was burned over more than 90 per cent of his body," Atkins said, "and the women's bodies were burned nearly beyond recognition."

Oscar Travland, owner of the small airport one mile north of Beeville, said the Beechcraft Bonanza plane, piloted by Grininger, "looked like it came down on one wheel as it was lifting off, then went down and flipped and caught fire."

Atkins said a bystander, James Swinnea, rushed up and pulled Grininger out of the blazing wreckage.

"But he was already too badly burned," Atkins said.

Mrs. Reagan was the wife of a well-known Southwest rancher and cattle dealer.

Cutter Rescues 12 After Boat Burns at Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Coast Guard cutter raced through the choppy Pacific Saturday and took aboard 12 men who had abandoned their sea-going tug and clambered aboard two life rafts when fire swept through the boat.

The cutter Pontchartrain radioed the Coast Guard here that it arrived on the scene at 1 p.m. EDT and 12 minutes later had rescued all 12 survivors.

The rescue climaxed a dramatic eight hours of suspense for the 12 crewmen. Their tug, the 120-foot Sea Wolf, caught fire about midnight midway between here and Honolulu.

The crewmen abandoned ship after radioing, "Mayday. Mayday! Fire on board. Fuel caught fire. Cannot stay on board much longer. Position approximately 1,220 miles northeast of Honolulu."

Three Coast Guard planes left Honolulu immediately and a message went out to all ships in the vicinity requesting assistance. The luxury liners President Roosevelt and Lurline changed course to aid the crewmen and the cutters Pontchartrain and Wachuset, patrolling about 200 miles from the Sea Wolf, sped toward the scene.

One crewman, who was not immediately identified, suffered second degree burns.

The Sea Wolf, owned by the Red Stack Tugboat Company of San Francisco was en route from Portland, Ore., to Honolulu with a lumber barge in tow. Nobody was aboard the barge, the Lumberjack, when the fire swept through the tug.

The first Coast Guard plane arrived on the scene while darkness still hung over the waters. It radioed Honolulu that the barge was still afloat but that it could not sight the tug.

The plane dropped another life raft and emergency radio equipment and then, joined by the other two aircraft, maintained a vigil by circling over the bobbing life rafts until the cutter arrived.

Seven Canadian frigates in the area also offered assistance.

Wednesday Try Will Ooen Space Series

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's attempt to "hang" a Syncom communications satellite over the Pacific Wednesday heads an ambitious string of eight U. S. space shots planned within a month.

The switchboard satellite launch was originally scheduled for Tuesday, but troubles Saturday with its more powerful but untried model of the Delta rocket forced a one-day postponement.

CAMPAIGN STRATEGY — Bob Price, GOP candidate for 18th District congressman, talks with Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon, right, principal speaker at a fund-raising dinner for Price Friday night. Bellmon was the first Republican ever elected to the governors chair in Oklahoma.

Approximately 300 area Republicans attended the $10-a-plate affair conducted in Coronado Inn. Bellmon left Pampa early Saturday to make a visit to Colorado.

Peace Reigns in Jersey Following 3-Day Violence

PATERSON, N. J. (UPI) — Usual weekend parties, dances and dances were planned for the Negro Fourth Ward Saturday night as peace settled over this north Jersey industrial city after three consecutive nights of violence by rampaging youth.

"They were controlled last night and I don't see why we should have any trouble tonight. Everything's back to normal," a police spokesman said Saturday.

The police official's encouraging words were supported by Arthur Holloway, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

"The way the people cooperated last night proves the trouble is over. It only goes to prove," he said, "that Mayor Graves was way out in left field some place when he referred to us as the worst hoodlums he has ever seen."

For three nights beginning Tuesday the Fourth Ward resounded with the sounds of sirens, gunshots and the smashing of windows as gangs of rebellious Negro youths ran rampant through the area screaming obscenities and fighting with more than 200 steel helmeted policemen.

During the three days of violence 65 adults and 30 juveniles were arrested in Paterson and five civilians and four policemen were injured, none seriously.

In Elizabeth, 20 miles to the south, all was reported calm. On Tuesday night violence flared in that city's dock area. Disturbances ended Thursday night after 27 persons were arrested and 16 injured during two nights of violence.

The riot squad pulled out of the Patterson riot area Friday night and left it up to Negro leaders to quell further disturbances. They did. Everything was calm.

Area GOPs Told How To Win Governorship

By RAY RODGERS
A man who should know told area Republicans Friday night how Texas can elect its first Republican governor.

Henry Bellmon, Oklahoma's first GOP governor since statehood in 1907, spoke at a $10-a-plate fund-raising dinner held in Coronado Inn.

Bellmon defeated his Democratic opponent by a margin of 77,000 votes in 1962.

He told the jam-packed Starlight Room that the only way he was able to do this, in a state where for every one Republican voter there are five Democrats, was to organize a strong grass roots campaign at the county precinct level.

He said only by a highly organized campaign at the local level can an underdog candidate be elected.

Bellmon, speaking like a modern-day Will Rogers, gave an off-the-cuff talk which kept the audience in laughter.

Bellmon said many Democrats have switched over to vote in the Republican column because of the drastic change in the Democratic party.

He said the Democratic Party no longer was a party of such men as Thomas Jefferson, but it has fallen prey to men such as Robert Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey.

Bellmon, who recently returned from the Southern Governors Conference said, "Contrary to what you may have heard, every single Republican governor at the Southern Governors Conference is going to support Barry Goldwater for president."

He also said that he strongly believed that Goldwater would win the presidential election and carry both Texas and Oklahoma.

Bellmon also emphasized the importance of an informed public. He said he holds four news conferences each week to keep the people of Oklahoma informed on what the state government is doing.

Also attending the dinner was Republican candidate for governor of Texas Jack Crichton. Crichton introduced Bellmon as the principal speaker.

Party officials estimated that approximately 300 persons were on hand for the affair.

The proceeds will go to the campaign of GOP congressional candidate Bob Price.

City to Discuss Social Security For Firefighters

Discussion of a proposed plan to bring employees of the fire department under the social security system will highlight business expected to be considered by Pampa City commissioners Tuesday morning.

Also on the agenda, released Friday by City Manager Harold Schmitzer, is the opening of bids for group insurance for city employees, hear a report on the city's responsibility for Recreation Park, and appoint two persons to the library board.

Commissioners also are expected to take action on authorizing payment to the Ray Boswell Construction Co. for paving several blocks of city streets and to authorize payment of $100,000 from the water and sewer revenue fund to the general fund.

The commission will meet at 8:30 Tuesday morning in City Hall.

'Jeep' Plane Announced by President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson announced Saturday the Navy and Marine Corps are developing a small new plane designed for anti-guerrilla warfare which will be an airborne equivalent of the Army's "Jeep."

"The aircraft will have the capability to operate from rough clearings, primitive roads and waterways, in addition to prepared airfields and aircraft carriers," Johnson said at a news conference.

The Chief Executive said Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had reported to him Saturday morning his approval of the program "for the development of an aircraft designed specifically for air support of counter-insurgency, and limited war operations."

The Navy will contract for the building of seven prototype planes at a cost of about $18 million, Johnson said, and the first flight of the new craft will be in about one year.

"This counter-insurgency aircraft will be an airborne equivalent of the 'Jeep,'" Johnson said. "It will be able to perform peacetime emergency functions such as disaster relief, medical missions or riot control, as well as military missions to include light armed re-

US Plan for Peace Reportedly Vetoed

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia warned Saturday night it would come to the aid of the Greek Cypriot government if Cyprus were invaded. At the same time, it was reported here the Greek Cypriot government has rejected a U. S. peace plan for Cyprus as a "dangerous trap."

A Soviet government statement broadcast by Moscow Radio said, "if there is a foreign armed invasion of the Cyprus republic's territory, the U.S.S.R. will render help to the Cyprus republic for the defense of its freedom of independence and is willing to begin talks on this subject."

The announcement was the first official acknowledgement of a request of the government of Greek Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios for Soviet military aid. It did not specify whether the aid had been granted.

The official Soviet Tass news agency meanwhile, published what it said was a Greek Cypriot statement rejecting a plan reported to have been proposed by U. S. presidential trouble-shooter Dean Acheson at Cyprus talks in Geneva.

"The United States proposal to begin the settlement of the Cyprus problem by joining Cyprus to Greece is a dangerous trap and is fraught with irreparable consequences for the republic of Cyprus," Tass quoted the Greek Cypriot statement as saying.

Acheson's plan is reported to involve union of Greece with Cyprus, establishment of a NATO base on Cyprus with Turkish Cypriots to a Greek island to be ceded to Turkey.

A Turkish spokesman said Friday such a plan could form a basis for negotiations on a Cyprus settlement.

The Soviet statement pledging aid to Cyprus in event of an invasion was distributed by Tass as well as broadcast by Radio Moscow.

The broadcast beamed toward Cyprus in Greek said the Soviet Union has stated repeatedly that any attempt to solve internal Cypriot problems through outside armed interference can lead only to a worsening of the situation in Cyprus and nearby.

"The Soviet government has said that in the event of an attack against Cyprus the U.S.S.R. will not remain inactive in face of the danger of an armed conflict which can explode near the southern frontiers of the U.S.S.R. and threaten the safety of the U.S.S.R. as well as that of countries which are our friends and allies," the broadcast said.

It said Russia will continue efforts toward a peaceful solution of the island crisis which would serve interests of both Greek and Turkish communities.

The broadcast of what was identified as a government statement continued:

"Replying to the Cyprus government's appeal, and personally to that of President Makarios, the Soviet government states that if there is a foreign armed invasion of the Cyprus republic's territory, the U.S.S.R. will render help to the Cyprus government."

Mrs. Kennedy Will Attend Reception Before Convention
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy will attend a reception in Atlantic City, N.J., on Aug. 27 for delegates to the Democratic National Convention it was learned Saturday.

The widow of the former President will return from an extended vacation in the Adriatic to attend the reception to be held by Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman.

Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, Pamela Turnure, confirmed an announcement that the reception will be held "as an appreciation to those who supported the aims and ideals of the late President Kennedy at the 1960 Democratic convention."

Welcome Rains Drench Upper Part of State

Pampans got the first hint that fall is approaching rapidly this weekend when a cool front moved in Friday afternoon dropping temperatures and dumping almost one inch of rain.

The rain was variable over most of the city with amounts ranging from 1.30 in one part of Pampa to .85 in another section.

Downtown Pampa caught an even .90.

A severe weather forecast in effect from 3 until 9 p.m. Friday expired with only one small twister being reported.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Gilbreth of Panhandle reported spotting a funnel about seven miles north of the town on State Highway 15. The twister dipped out of a thunderhead and picked back up into the cloud without touching ground.

A frame storage shed was destroyed in Lefors Friday afternoon when struck by lightning. The shed was owned by Anna Patton, 72, of Lefors who was sitting in her living room of her home next door when the lightning bolt struck.

Mrs. Patton said she was knocked across the room by the impact.

The rain moved into Pampa about mid-afternoon Friday and continued at a steady drizzle until shortly after noon Saturday.

For many points, it was the heaviest rain of the year. Amarillo recorded 3.88 inches and Fort Worth 1.96.

Hedley received more than two inches and Miami, Memphis, Panhandle and Paducah all got 1.15 inches or more.

Agricultural officials called the rain tremendous help to cotton and sorghum.

Sorghum is just reaching the harvesting stage with the first load of South Plains sorghum arriving only Friday.

The rains were not so heavy as to keep harvesters out of fields, however.

In many areas, the rains were heavy enough to be called drought-breakers. The rain was desperately needed, particularly in West Texas.

While the rain was a blessing to crops, it contributed to at least six traffic deaths, five in the Wichita Falls area.

Pampa and the surrounding area reported no traffic accidents that could be blamed on the storm.

While the Panhandle was enjoying the summer rain, snow flurries and freezing temperatures struck from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard.

New Hampshire's Mount Washington, where the temperatures dipped into the low 30s, reported snow flurries Saturday. Below freezing temperatures and light frost were reported in Wisconsin's cranberry bog region.

It was three degrees colder early Saturday at Raleigh, N.C., than at Fairbanks, Alaska.

Temperatures in the 30s were reported in areas from Michigan to West Virginia.

HELPING HAND — Envoy H. Seago, officer in charge of the Pampa Salvation Army, is shown helping two women find clothing for their families. One function of the Salvation Army is helping needy families find food, clothing and shelter. This is an example of how contributions to the United Fund are put to work.

Stranded Family Gets Aid of Salvation Army

(Editor's note — This is the second in a series of articles on participating agencies of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund. The stories are accounts of functions or instances, written by the head of each agency, whereby the money donated to the agency through the United Fund has been put to use. The stories will appear every other day in the News.)

By ENVOY H. SEAGO

The Bible states that a man that will not provide for his own family is worse than an infidel. (1 Timothy 5:8). And yet many families are left to find a way for themselves because the breadwinner fails to support his family. Someone must come to their aid and help them get started again.

It is not the purpose of our agency to do continued assistance. We seek to give guidance and direction plus whatever material aid is needed in an emergency.

Among the many families who daily find their way to the Salvation Army is the mother with three small children who were left stranded here in Pampa. The husband left them without a place to go and without money. Where should they turn? The Salvation Army came to mind. Emergency assistance was given. The mother found work — two and three days a week. Because she has a health problem, she cannot work full time. She is managing to keep her family together with occasional help from our agency and interested relatives.

Giving to the Pampa - Lefors United Fund makes this possible.

Deposed Arosemena Gets Congratulations

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — A Mideastern nation which maintains diplomatic relations with Ecuador apparently hasn't heard yet that President Carlos J. Arosemena was ousted last year by a military junta, government sources said.

They said the cable that country sent this week congratulating Ecuador on its annual independence day celebration, was addressed to Arosemena. The Mideastern country was not identified by name.

Longhandles May Become Cool, Man!

HOUSTON (UPI)—What any man needs in real hot weather is water-cooled long underwear and the Manned Spacecraft Center may have come up with it.

The Hamilton Standard Division of United Aircraft Corp., which is making the "space snuggies" for the center, plans to test one and maybe two pair this weekend on two race drivers at Austin.

The undies look like loosely knit, winter long underwear except that they have tiny tubes that carry cooling water supplied by a special water pump.

Astronauts of the future are expected to wear the underwear on space trips, perhaps to the moon.

The tests this weekend will be conducted by a team from Baylor University College of Medicine. Two race driver-doctors will wear the suits.

The spacecraft center is sponsoring the tests to determine the suits' effectiveness under stress such as induced by competition and danger.

Two-Car Collision Results in Charge

A two-car collision late Friday night injured two persons and resulted in one of them being charged with driving while intoxicated.

Don Collins, 22, of 1016 Neel Rd., was the driver of one car which was struck by an auto driven by Delfino Padilla, 18, of 525 S. Somerville.

The accident occurred near the intersection of Doyle and Alcock about 9:30 p.m.

Investigating officers said the auto driven by Collins was attempting to make a left turn when he was struck from the rear by an auto driven by Padilla.

Padilla was taken to Highland General Hospital and treated for minor injuries.

He later was charged by State Highway Patrolman Vernon Cawthon with driving while intoxicated.

He entered a plea of guilty to the charge in county court Saturday and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

Collins received a slight bruise in the accident.

Senate Talkathon Dims Hope of Adjournment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate bogged down in a talkathon against a legislative apportionment "rider" to the foreign aid bill Saturday and hopes for adjournment next week went flying out the window.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen there now seems no chance that Congress can complete work before the Democratic National Convention begins Aug. 24. He said a return session would be necessary.

The Montanan said the long debate by opponents of the apportionment amendment was responsible. It would delay the carrying out of the Supreme Court's edict that state Senates as well as other state legislative bodies must be apportioned on an equal population basis.

Constitutional Amendment

Senators from the big states and cities have begun an effort to talk the proposal to death. They argued that the bill drafted by Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., was designed to buy enough time so that a constitutional amendment to block the court ruling can be put through next session.

Mansfield said that had not the apportionment fight arisen, Congress might have adjourned next Saturday. But he also noted that a fight over a bill to initiate medical care for the aged under Social Security would have to be undertaken.

Speaks Against Amendment

The Senate held a four hour and 49 minute session Saturday and Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., used up two hours and 10 minutes speaking against the amendment. Most of her speech was a detailed exposition of the long struggle that finally brought about reapportionment of the Oregon state legislature.

In support of the amendment, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said Congress should remain in session long enough to enact remedial legislation. He called the court decision a "clear usurpation of power."

Johnson

He told the assembled newsmen he wanted "to have the record absolutely straight on this matter of the orders to the commanders in the Gulf of Tonkin."

He contended that Goldwater at Hershey had said repeatedly that he had admonished field commanders to use "any weapons" against the Reds.

Johnson observed that Goldwater had never claimed to have seen the orders but attributed a quote to the Arizona saying he had read of the "admonition" in "some newspaper."

"No Such Admonition"

"The truth and the record show and show plainly that I gave no such admonition in public or in private," the Chief Executive snapped.

The President went on to say that neither he nor his staff could find any magazine, daily newspaper or weekly newspaper that contained any reference to any such admonition.

Johnson asserted: "There was, therefore, no justification whatever for Sen. Goldwater's initial statements."

The President hotly referred to a statement by Miller that the Gulf of Tonkin orders could be interpreted as authorizing "complete, full retaliation" in Southeast Asia.

"Equally False"

"This assertion is equally false and reckless," Johnson said.

Then opening fire full blast, he told reporters: "No one has misunderstood this matter except the Republican candidates. The control of nuclear weapons is one of the gravest of all the responsibilities of the commander-in-chief, the president of the United States."

"Loose charges on nuclear weapons without any shadow of justification by any candidate for any office, let alone the presidency, are a disservice to our national security, a disservice to peace, and, for that matter, a great disservice to the entire free world."

Safety Council To Make Award To Pampa Police

The Pampa police department is slated to receive a special award of achievement Tuesday from the National Safety Council.

Pampa was notified last month that it was the winner of the 1963 "Best in Texas" award for outstanding improvement in traffic safety for the 20,000-30,000 population bracket.

The presentation is scheduled to be made during Tuesday morning's city commission meeting.

The police department has been a repeated winner of special awards and presentations for its traffic safety.

There has not been a fatal accident within the city limits of Pampa for 868 days and only one fatality in the last four years.

Jim Conner is chief of police and head of the traffic division of the police department.

8-Year-Old Hurt When Hit by Car

An 8-year-old Pampa youngster escaped serious injury Friday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile in the 700 block of Lowery.

Treated and released for cuts and bruises was Joe M. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Johnson, 700 Lowery.

Driver of the auto was James Grange, 1230 E. Harvester.

Officers said the accident occurred when young Johnson darted in front of Grange's vehicle when he attempted to cross the street.

He was taken to Highland General Hospital by his parents where he was treated and released.

Belli Visits Ruby in Jail, Will File Brief

DALLAS (UPI)—Melvin Belli, the colorful San Francisco lawyer who failed to save President Kennedy's self-appointed avenger from a death sentence, is going to file a brief which he hopes will help save his former client from the electric chair.

Belli slipped into the Dallas-Fort Worth area under an assumed name Friday night and visited Jack Ruby, his former client, in Dallas county jail. Belli returned to San Francisco Saturday.

He stayed overnight in the Western Hills Motel in Fort Worth as "Harry Cobden." He said he used an assumed name and put up in Fort Worth rather than Dallas "to avoid kicking up any stink."

Ruby fired Belli last March a few days after a jury found Ruby guilty of murdering Lee Harvey Oswald. Belli announced Dallas as a "little bit of Russia in the U. S. and charged that his client was railroaded."

Likes Dallas Now

He was mellower Friday night and said he now likes Dallas. En route from the East coast to San Francisco, Belli stopped to confer with Phil Burleson and Emmett Colvin, Jr., the two appeals lawyers in the Ruby case.

On the spur of the moment, Belli decided to visit Ruby. He, Burleson and Colvin went up about 11 p.m. and stayed almost 30 minutes. On the way out, Belli brushed past reporters.

He said only that he had not been asked to reenter the Ruby case and would refuse if asked. Later Belli said he had written a brief for the appeal of Ruby's death sentence. Other attorneys said it is a common practice for a trial lawyer to file a brief of his views along with the brief of the appeals lawyers.

Belli Brief

The Belli brief will be filed in Austin when Burleson and Colvin file, probably next January or February.

Clayton Fowler, the present chief counsel in the Ruby case, was present during part of the conference between Belli, Burleson and Colvin.

The Ruby case is in the first stages of appeal. His lawyers have filed a bill of exceptions, which Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown declined Aug. 7 to approve.

Postage Stamp Planned to Honor Famous Medic Pair

Design of a commemorative postage stamp honoring the Doctors Mayo was announced yesterday by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, according to O. K. Gaylor, Pampa postmaster.

The 5-cent stamp will be issued with first day ceremonies Sept. 11 at Rochester, Minn., where the world-famous Mayo clinic is located.

The stamp is based on statues of the Mayo brothers in surgical gowns. It is a vertical stamp in green, the symbolic color of medicine. Another symbol of healing, the staff of Aesculapius with entwined snake appears lower left on the stamp.

Dr. William J. Mayo and his brother, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, were descended from an English family that included a number of doctors. Their father, Dr. William W. Mayo, practiced "kitchen surgery" in Rochester during and after the Civil War, as the young boys watched.

"We were reared in medicine as a farm boy is reared in farming," they later recalled. Doctor Will graduated from medical school at the age of 22 in 1883—Doctor Charles at the age of 23 in 1888. Both died in 1939.

In 1915 the Mayo Foundation for Medical Education and Research was established as a branch of the graduate school of the University of Minnesota, which the doctors established with a gift of $1,500,000. Nearly 4,000 physicians have been trained there.

Victor S. McCloskey Jr. designed the stamp, which is based on heroic statues of the Doctors Mayo by James Earle Fraser, displayed in Rochester.

Matthew D. Fenton engraved the vignette; George A. Payne the lettering and numeral.

This vertical stamp, measuring 0.84 by 1.44 inches, will be printed on the Cottrell presses and issued in panes of 50. An initial printing of 120 million has been authorized.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Rochester, Minnesota 55901.

A close-fitting enclosure of postal card thickness should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers' Doctors Mayo Stamp." Orders for covers must not include requests for uncanceled stamps. Requests must be postmarked not later than Sept. 11.

Foreign Commentary

By WILLIAM SUNDERLAND
ROME (UPI) — The death or permanent incapacitation of President Antonio Segni could toss Italy right back into political crisis.

The election of a new president, which under the constitution must come within 15 days after a chief of state dies or is declared permanently unable to serve, almost certainly would involve a parliamentary fight fatal to Premier Aldo Moro's new center-left government.

The four parties involved in the government—the Christian Democrats, Socialists, Social Democrats and Republicans—already are balanced on the brink of disagreement. It took all of Moro's diplomatic efforts, combined with compromise, to weld them closely enough together to form a new cabinet.

Question Of Candidate
Since there is no clear-cut candidate for the presidency, it seems likely that the left wing would present its man, while the right wing also would offer a candidate. Chances are the middle group would put forth Giovanni Leone, a man of political experience who has served as premier and was a long-time president of the Chamber of Deputies.

The trouble is that a real battle for the presidency would pull off left-wing members of the Socialist party and right-wing members of the Christian Democrats. Since both these factions already are balanced on the thin edge of a complete break with Moro, such a parliamentary squabble would be the straw that broke the camel's back.

Notes Earlier Battle

When Segni was elected for a seven-year term in 1962 there was a battle royal in parliament. The see-saw fight between Segni and Social Democratic leader Giuseppe Saragat went on for nine votes before the Sardinian professor won.

If Saragat, currently serving as foreign minister under Moro, decided he wanted to try again chances are it would upset the delicate political balance of the government and cause it to topple. Saragat is left enough to keep the Socialists happy while also keeping the right wing from complaining with his pro-NATO, pro-American attitude.

It would be difficult to find another man to take on that job if he resigned to run for the presidency.

Thirty to 40 per cent of the safflower oil produced in the U.S. during 1962 was used in paint manufacture.

By LYLE WILSON

United Press International
Sen. Barry M. Goldwater's most effective appeal for farm votes in this presidential election would be an all-out denunciation of the Supreme Court's order on legislative reapportionment. The court has ordered the states to reshape their legislatures to a constitutional pattern just discovered in that venerable document.

It can be argued that no such pattern actually exists; that Chief Justice Earl Warren and his associates amended the Constitution by judicial decree when they ordered the reapportionment.

That was part of the argument of Associate Justice John M. Harlan who dissented from Warren's majority opinion.

"Nothing less than an exercise of the amending power by this court," wrote Harlan of the reapportionment order. "The court's elaboration of its new constitutional doctrine indicates how far — and how unwisely — it has strayed from the appropriate bounds of its authority."

Cut Authority

It is also argued that this Supreme Court amendment of the Constitution will deprive rural citizens of large authority over their own lives and increase the power of city dwellers over themselves and their country cousins. The country cousins do not like that. They are beginning to be heard from.

Farm organizations uniformly are protesting the court's imposition of the federal judiciary as the overlord of state political systems. The protests will develop increasing heat as the campaign progresses. If an associate justice can accuse his court brethren of amending the Constitution by judicial process there is not much limit to what an angry country cousin or political campaigner might say.

The Republicans are moving in Congress and will continue to move on the political stump to take the Supreme Court out of the business of amending the Constitution with respect to the composition of state legislatures.

James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, seems to be alone among political agriculturists in support of the court. That is not news strictly speaking. It would be news if Patton were on the other side of the question. Patton plays left field in anybody's league. When the chips are down anywhere in the United States any time, you expect to find Patton's stack of blues nuzzling alongside the chips of the CIO's Walter P. Reuther.

Welcomed Order

And so it is today. The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) welcomed the court's reapportionment order in many words, including these that the order meant: "Curtains for rural dominated horse-and-buggy state governments unresponsive to the needs of the increasingly urban nation."

Writing in the Farm Journal, staff correspondent Claude W. Gifford opposed the AFL-CIO philosophy. He wrote this: "Another view is that farmers represent an independent spirit, stable social qualities, desirable moral virtues and unique economic interests (and)... these qualities of farm people balance off city political action which is more impulsive, more reliant on central government and more inclined to organize into political machines run by bosses."

The rural areas where Goldwater should reap votes on this issue are not limited to the Midwest bread basket. There is a big farm vote, too, in such states as New York, Pennsylvania, California and Texas.

New Soviet Space Flight Looms Near

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet astronauts Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich said their "stand-bys" are ready for space flights, Moscow radio says.

The radio report came as speculation mounted in Russia and Western Europe that a new Soviet space launching was imminent.

Soviet scientists, the two astronauts added, are planning new experiments in space exploration, Moscow Radio said. "The Soviet Union has designed systems for putting two automatic stations in different orbits with the help of a single rocket," the broadcast said.

It said means of maneuvering in space have been worked out.

Nikolayev and Popovich made the world's first twin space flight, when they blasted into orbit in August, 1962, with separate rockets.

The "stand-bys" were not identified, but presumably were the men who were tagged for the flights should experts decide that Nikolayev and Popovich were unfit for the historic feat.

The report followed reports from European monitoring stations of signals and voices on the audio wave length generally used by the Soviets during launches.

In Stockholm, Swedish radio monitors reported new activity today on the 19,998-kilocycle radio frequency — used by the Russians in space launches.

The Swedish Radio Institute and the Enköping radio station reported traffic on that frequency beginning at 4 a.m.

Similar activity was noted on the same frequency in Russia Wednesday between 4 a.m. and 10 a.m. EDT.

Reports have been circulating in Moscow that the Russians are preparing a new space launch, possibly involving up to three persons.

Pre-registration Scheduled for Clarendon J.C.

The registrar's office of Clarendon Junior College has announced that pre-registration will be held from Aug. 17-26. Office hours will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. The purpose of pre-registration is to allow those students who have indicated their intention of attending Clarendon Junior College to register, to have ample time for consultation, and to complete their schedules prior to the regular time of registration.

Such an arrangement is an advantageous one, particularly for the freshman who often feels bewildered and frustrated with his first experience of registration in college, and who might find classes which he wishes to take already filled and consequently closed.

Weldon Day, dean of the college, advises those students who are eligible for pre-registration to take advantage of this convenience offered by Clarendon Junior College.

IPAA Fires Another Round at Government

WASHINGTON (Sp.) — The Independent Petroleum Association of America fired another round last week in its battle with the Department of Defense over what it considers excessive military oil purchases abroad and unnecessary military imports of light petroleum products.

L. Dan Jones, IPAA general counsel, acknowledged as "encouraging" DOD recognition that "diversion to the U. S. of foreign military oil purchases would benefit the domestic oil industry and help improve our international balance of payments, and the department's assurance that such diversion will be made "whenever and wherever practicable."

However, Jones said this recognition and assurance by the department "seem to be circumscribed, to a discouraging degree, by other equally important factors" set forth by Assistant Defense Secretary Paul H. Riley in a letter to the president of IPAA, H. A. True Jr., Casper, Wyo.

Because of continued economic deterioration in the domestic oil industry, Jones wrote Riley, "these other factors" must be carefully weighed against the overriding national oil policy, as recognized in the Mandatory Import program, of maintaining a healthy domestic petroleum industry."

Riley had cited logistical problems in foreign areas as a consideration of DOD, but Jones observed that such logistical problems "by no means explain the continued importation by the daily of light petroleum products which are in over-supply military of some 35,000 barrels in the U.S."

Gas Industry to Spend $7 Billion On Construction

NEW YORK (Sp.) — The nation's gas industry will spend $7.2 billion on construction in the next four years, Ed Parkes, president of the American Gas Association, announced today.

"In 1964 alone, gas utilities and pipeline companies throughout the United States expect to spend $1.8 billion on new construction," he said in announcing the results of a survey conducted by A. G. A.'s Bureau of Statistics.

"These expenditures for new plant facilities and equipment are needed not only to better serve the nation's 36 million gas customers," Mr. Parkes declared, "but are necessary to help meet the country's continually expanding energy requirements."

Total plant value of the nation's sixth largest industry climbed to $26 billion in 1963, when construction outlays reached $1,558 million, according to AGA findings.

NEW OFFICIAL — Lone Star Gas Company directors have elected S. D. (Sam) Liles vice president in charge of the company's exploration and gas supply division. He succeeds the late Carl M. Hill. Liles started his Lone Star career as a part-time laborer, working during the summers of 1937-38 in the Long Lake field near Palestine in Anderson County.

8 of 9 Wells Prove To Be Nonproductive

NEW YORK (Sp.) — Eight of every nine wells drilled during 1963 in areas where no oil or gas had ever before been found turned out to be dry holes, OIL FACTS reports.

This ratio has been fairly constant in recent years.

The publication says 6,568 such wells, called new-field wildcats, were drilled last year. Of these, 789 found some oil or gas and 5,779 were dry, a ratio of one producer for every 8.54 wells drilled in wildcat territory. The average well, dry hole or producer, cost $55,000 to drill.

The 789 producing wells are considered "technical successes," it usually takes several years to determine whether they will eventually become "commercial successes," OIL FACTS notes.

Of the 8,436 new-field wildcat wells drilled in 1956, for example, 847 were reported to be technically successful. A six-year analysis of these wells, however, found that only 159 — less than 2 per cent of all the wildcats drilled that year — were eventually listed as commercially successful. The remaining wells were either dry from the outset or were "technical successes" that later were abandoned because they found too little oil or gas.

Through the years the chances of finding commercial quantities of oil or gas have been about three in 100.

The American Association of Petroleum Geologists, which maintains records on wildcat wells, says a well must discover reserves of at least 1 million barrels of oil or 6 billion cubic feet of natural gas to be considered a commercial success.

Wrapped with corrosion-resistant material, a section of new 26-inch gas pipeline is readied for lowering into a ditch near Tonganoxie, Kans., as part of Cities Service Gas Company's $14 million construction program for 1964. The new pipe, made of quarter-inch steel and weighing nearly 70 pounds per foot, replaces a smaller pipeline and increases the capacity of the gas company's system serving northeast Kansas.

Additional Crude Expected in Ector

BARTLESVILLE (Sp.) — An estimated additional 13 1/2 million barrels of crude oil are expected to be produced from a unitized waterflood project which became effective on July 1 and is now being operated by Phillips Petroleum Company in Ector County.

The Goldsmith Adobe Unit consisting of approximately 7,880 acres, in which Phillips owns an interest of 37 per cent, is producing from the 5,600-foot Clearfork formation. Average net pay thickness of the formation is 32 feet.

Rig Not Expected To Find Oil, Gas

NEW YORK (Sp.) — There's one drilling rig in Texas that will never find any oil or gas. What's more, according to OIL FACTS, no one cares.

The rig is located at an oil company's field research laboratory and its only purpose is to help find ways to reduce the cost of drilling wells. The petroleum industry drills some 40,000 wells a year at a cost of about $2.4 billion.

Despite its size — it stands 160 feet tall and weighs 50 tons — the rig is "just another piece of laboratory equipment" to the scientists who man it.

The Chinese invented the first true paper in 105 A.D. Bananas make up 57 per cent of Ecuador's exports.

HIGHER EDUCATION..... VIA A NEWSPAPER ROUTE

Why do educators frequently encourage youngsters to apply for a newspaper route? And why are more and more schools giving "credit" for newspaper route experience?

Because the attitude of a boy towards higher education frequently changes, when, as a Little Merchant newspaperboy, in business for himself, he begins to understand the value of book learning combined with practical experience.

He buys at wholesale—sells at retail—makes his own deliveries and collections—learns simple book-keeping—and often develops into a surprisingly good salesman.

And the money he banks while a newspaperboy frequently makes it possible for him to attend the college of his choice.

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit from newspaperboy experience, have him come in and talk to us.

Surely the strangest trade in the history of professional sports took place Thursday when the Houston Oilers "loaned" quarterback Jack Lee to Denver for two years.

The Oilers will receive tackle Bud McFadin and the Broncos' first draft choice in the next draft.

Lee has played behind George Blanda at Houston but will probably be Denver's starting quarterback, as he could be with several teams in the league. The trade will help Lee and Denver but cannot help the Oilers. Houston now has only Don Trull, a rookie, to back up the aging, fragile Blanda. An injury to Blanda would put an untested freshman in the role of leader of the team that is hoping to resume its domination of the eastern division of the AFL this season. Just the thought must be giving Sammy Baugh fits.

Lee did not enjoy his position in Houston. He may have the best passing arm in the league and is experienced enough to lead the Oilers if they would support him. But in a Sports Illustrated article this week, an Oiler vet is quoted as saying that the team wouldn't play for Lee like it did for Blanda. There was just something missing in the relationship.

What is missing now is Lee. Several interesting thoughts arise from the situation. What if Lee is injured while playing for Denver? Will the Oilers still want him back?

What if Lee suddenly blossoms into the best quarterback in the league and beats the Oilers every time? It's not impossible.

What if Blanda does get hurt? Trull is the greatest pro quarterback prospect in many years but, despite his pro-style training at Baylor, he is green.

What will probably happen is that Lee will never return to Houston.

He refused to sign a 1966 contract with the Oilers before he left for Denver. This indicates he is eager to get away from the Oilers and, if Blanda retires, will hold them up for quite a nice contract before he returns to help them. If Blanda hasn't retired by 1966, Lee will almost definitely not return to the Oilers.

Lee had a peculiar relationship with the Houston fans. When Blanda would be doing poorly the paying customers would set up a chant for Lee. Quite often Lee would come in and drive the team to a touchdown.

Then, when Lee would bog down later in the same game, the fans would start yelling for the coach to put Blanda back in. Several times Lee has thrown a touchdown pass on his first play in the game to spark an Oiler rally.

I remember one time in particular. The Oiler defense had stopped bitter rival San Diego on the two-yard line and Lee was sent into the game to replace a Blanda frustrated by the Chargers' charges.

Instead of going for the first down to get some running room, Lee tossed a bomb to Willard Deweall for 98 yards on the first play. This was in the rain, as I remember. Seems like all the Oiler games I've seen have been in the rain.

Lee also threw a 92-yard scoring pass to Bill Groman against Denver in 1960.

Thus he has two of the seven longest scoring passes in AFL history. Blanda is not represented in this group.

Denver got a good deal.

McKinley Thinks Open Play Would Harm Tennis

By SANDY PADWE

NEW YORK (NEA) — Bringing up the subject of open tennis at an eastern grass court tournament is like forgetting your club tie — unthinkable.

It upsets the amateurs, even the best ones like Chuck McKinley who is pretty opinionated about the matter.

On this particularly fine summer day, McKinley, as usual, was enjoying the little things that go along with being on top.

All the deeply tanned kids with the sun-bleached hair had been clamoring behind him, Pied Piper style, as he spoke with their chic and proper parents about backhands, his health and the World's Fair.

At the same time, all the officials from the United States Lawn Tennis Assn. were after him for a few moments of private conversation about "our cup" chances while aggressive club members whose tournaments were coming up sought the one word that would send them home free of worries about a gate attraction.

Then someone had to mention open tennis. Chuck McKinley's smile faded and the deep seriousness showed.

"If you open the game," he said, "all you'll have is pro tennis. Just look at golf.

"In tennis, the amateur game is in control and that's why the pro players don't like it. It was their decision to turn pro. They turned for the money. Now they say that anyone who isn't for open tournaments isn't for the game."

"Just let them get as many tournaments as the amateurs and let them draw as well. Then I might say open it up. But until then, the pros have to prove themselves."

"I don't feel open tennis is the secret. What will happen to a lot of these amateurs who couldn't hope to compete with the professionals... what would they do?"

McKinley has been approached by the pros twice to join their tour. His answer has been the same both times.

"They offered me $50,000 for three years," he said, "and it's the type of thing where winnings work against the guarantee."

"I turned it down because I don't think they're making that much money. Sure, I would like to play against them, but I've given it a lot of thought and right now I feel it's more important to get into business.

"It's hard to keep the pace they do. I know because I've been traveling so much this year. Since we won the Davis Cup, I've been invited to a number of banquets and personal appearances.

"I want to continue playing amateur tennis and I'm pointing for Forest Hills and the Davis Cup. After that, though, it's business and just the major tournaments. So you see, I couldn't really afford to become a pro."

With that explanation, McKinley finished a glass of iced tea and headed for the court. He warmed up for a few minutes and soon the stands were full.

It is always like that when Chuck McKinley is on center court, no matter if it's Wimbledon, Forest Hills, Merion, Newport or Boston.

In a way you can't blame him for his feelings, because Pancho Gonzales and the rest of the pros have trouble drawing 500 people at some of their stops.

Longhorns' Tom Nobis Top Flight

By DAVID ANDERSON

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — "He starts smiling when he plays football," says Pat Culpepper, assistant football coach at the University of Texas. "His eyes squint and his freckles pop out all over."

Longhorn fans hope to see freckles all over Memorial Stadium this fall, because the man who wears them is "The Rancher" — Tommy Nobis, the defending national champion's top All-America candidate at offensive guard and linebacker.

Nobis, 20, practically made a forgotten man of 1962 All-American Johnny Treadwell last season when he stepped into Treadwell's shoes and promptly made All-Southwest Conference as a sophomore.

Texas coaches hope Nobis this year will also be able to take up the slack left by the graduation of the Longhorns' 1963 unanimous All-American, Scott Appleton.

Nobis looks more like a cowboy than a guard. He is slim-hipped, bow-legged and broad-shouldered. He has a proclivity for cowboy boots and looks 30 pounds lighter.

Like Appleton, Nobis makes football a way of life. As a freshman, he passed up a vacation trip home to get in condition for spring training. At the end of spring training this year, Longhorn head coach Darrell Royal said "Nobis is probably the only one who's sorry to see it end."

This summer Nobis and about 20 other Longhorns hold jobs in Austin and work out daily in preparation for the beginning of fall practice.

Nobis attracted notice last year with his wide-ranging line-backing performances against Navy and Oklahoma, but Texas offensive line coach Jim Pittman calls him "the best blocking guard I've ever coached."

Nobis was a star blocking end and linebacker at San Antonio Jefferson High School, and apparently learned his prep lessons well.

"I don't think we've taught him much," Culpepper said. "You can't say he's progressed, because he's always played well. He knows he can play good football. He has the attitude of an artist. Anything less than his best really gets to him."

Minnesota Twins Flop After Two Good Years

By BOB MARTEL

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (UPI) — Minnesota Twins' manager Sam Mele, whose gray-speckled hair is quickly becoming a solid mass of white, isn't attributing his team's tailspin to any individual.

The Twins, picked by many to battle for the American League pennant this season, have plunged out of the flag race into second division with possibilities of finishing as low as eighth.

"When a team is going bad, everything seems to happen to it," Mele said. "When we make a mistake the opposing club jumps all over us. I've never seen as many unearned runs in my life like the ones that have been scored against us recently."

Mele, a resident of Quincy, Mass., and a former basketball star at New York University, took over the Twins June 23, 1961, when the club was in ninth place and Cookie Lavagetto was fired.

Finish in First Division Under Mele, the club played near .500 ball the rest of the season.

Jackie's Golf Cart Highly Unusual

MIAMI, Fla. (NEA) — Television comedian and part-time golfer Jackie Gleason, who will do all his shows from Miami the coming season, will be presented with the most unusual golf cart ever designed.

On it will be a portable bar, a television set and a walkie-talkie for contact with Gleason's office. A special chime will ring "How sweet it is!" when the portly one hits a good drive or sinks a nice putt. A bad shot will provoke "A way we go!" from the chimes.

The caddy who will have charge of the cart had been selected not only for his ability at retrieving balls, but for his skill as a bartender as well.

The cart was designed and will be presented by Alfred L. Kaskel, a golf buff, and his son, Howard, a ranking amateur, who owns the resort at which Gleason will headquarter.

Longhorns Choice to Win SWC

The Texas Longhorns have been given the kiss of death by 100 sportswriters and broadcasters in Texas and Arkansas voting in TCU's annual pre-season poll.

Forty-three of the number tabbed the defending Southwest Conference and national champions to again take the SWC crown. Another 11 voters picked the "Horns to tie for the title and no one rated them lower than third.

This gives Texas one of the lowest scores in recent years—166 (points are scored one for a first-place vote, two for a second-place vote, etc.).

Rice was a distant second with 225½, followed by Arkansas 334½, Baylor 416½, SMU 562½, Texas Tech 612½, TCU 625 and Texas A&M 638½.

Rice received 25 first-place votes and another 10 for a tie for the top. Arkansas had 10 outright and two tie votes. Baylor had eight first-place votes, SMU two and TCU one. In addition, one writer picked a three-way tie for first between Texas, Arkansas and TCU.

The poll has picked the champion correctly just six times in 30 years. Last year Arkansas was the pre-season choice over Texas by one-half point.

Only Texas Tech did not receive a first or a second-place vote.

Texas has been picked in 10 of the previous 30 polls and came through four times. TCU is the only other team to vindicate the experts, having proven them right in 1938 and 1958.

If Darrell Royal's boys come through again this year it will be Texas' fourth straight title, a feat never before accomplished in the well-balanced SWC.

NAMED AS ALL-STAR

BUFFALO (UPI) — Buffalo Bills hurler Sherman (Roadblock) Jones was named to the International League All-Star team Wednesday to replace Richmond's Mel Stottlemyre, recently recalled by the New York Yankees.

Bowling

By GIL BURGUND

I'll have to really dig for news this week, since almost all summer leagues are but a memory of banquets, trophy awards and summer fun. After a delicious barbecue dinner at the Harvester Pit Barbecue, Roy Ray presented the Jack's Ditching team, composed of Betty and Bill Jack and Wylene and Pat Patrick, with enough trophies to start a trophy store. I'll almost bet that Bill Jack will put that Sponsor trophy on the front of his tractor as a radiator ornament.

The summer leagues went all out for some beautiful trophies this year and at an early morning meeting the Morning Glory League winners, The Rick Racks, Paulette Gilbert, Connie Williams, Ann Stone and Sherrill Grady also had a truck load of beauties. The Lady Bugs of the Bantams, Ann Corley, Frankie La Rue and Beverly Hackley starting to garner trophies at an early age and are mighty proud, too. Thursday at a coffee and donut session, the Sunset League presented awards to its winners, The Dairy Queens, Rita Stedum, Jane Groff, Florence Mounce, Florence Ironmonger and Wylene Patrick.

The newly elected president of the Morning Glory League, Alene Coker, showed her deep appreciation of the honor by bowling a 93, while Rita Stedum, a teammate bowled a 204.

Pat Patrick really fired away the other nite to protect his high average. Tied almost to the pin with Johnny Pierce, he rolled a 231-573 series and with only one more nite of bowling he feels secure. John Snuggs again rolled a nice series, 209-201-170—580 but teammate Norm Siske didn't fare so well with a 112 and a 179.

Here are a couple of interesting statistics—more candy bars, beer, cigarettes and sodas are sold at bowling centers, than all the ball-parks, beaches and ski lodges combined. There are over 30 million bowlers with more than 8 million bowling in leagues. This is still less than 5 per cent of the total population in the nation—so let's dig up another million bowlers from Pampa.

Marlene Fox, whose picture as a career girl appeared in the Pampa News, listed bowling as her favorite sport. Thanks for the plug, Marlene, and let's all start talking bowling.

A real oddity happened in open bowling the other nite. Lonnie Harmon nearly fainted when he threw an almost perfect strike and his ball didn't even get into the pit. I happened to see it, too, but I couldn't say if it hit and bounced back out again or not but it certainly was rolling around on the pin deck. Also in open play, the little girl who has been crying about her lousy bowling had the following three-game series—197-206-225, a 628 series. Had Vesta Parker done that in league—Wow! Johnny Carson had seven in a row and a real game going and up popped an 8-10 in the last frame. Jimmy Weatherly, one of Pampa's finest young bowlers, home on leave from the U.S.S. Memphis, tells me he made the Navy bowling team, quite an honor.

Everyone bowled quite well this week. Dwayne Snyder 193-200, Doug Hilburn 205, Rita Stedum 204, Ann Stone 187-510. That's almost everyone. Evelyn Boyd had a rousing 381, and Carleta Poulton was trying to sell her ball after her 95 game. The Juniors did all right too, in a new Peterson Point Doubles league with Billy Davis starting out with high game and series 182-484. Richard Parker a 178 and Don Snapp 178.

Some of these up and coming Juniors and beginner bowlers deliver the ball like the smoothest of professionals — Randy Watkins and Randall Stewart are two wonderful examples.

Want to have fun? Come out and watch the kids for the time of your life, as they have the time of their lives.

That's the tenth frame for now, see you all signing up for fall leagues soon.

Doubles Champs To Defend Title

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox, the Mexican Davis Cup team which has won the Colonial National Invitation tennis doubles title the past two years, will be back to defend its title, Colonial officials announced Saturday.

Osuna and Palafox, who have not lost a set in sweeping the first two Colonial crowns, could retire the trophy by winning this year.

Both also will compete in the 24-man singles field, which already has signed such other international stars as Mike Sangster of Great Britain and Pierre Darmon of France, both top-ranked in their country.

Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, who won the singles title last year, also is expected to return, but his entry has not been received.

King Football Arrives For Most Schoolboys

By United Press International
Texas' far-flung high school football campaign starts officially Monday with the opening day of practice for 799 of the 944 schools which take part in the Texas Interscholastic League program.

The other 145 schools—those making up Class AAAA—can't start practice until Aug. 28, but when they do join in it will mean rigorous training will be under way for approximately 48,000 schoolboys in the Class AAAA, AAA, AA and A divisions which play to a championship.

Counting the Class B, six-man and eight-man teams as well as the organized junior high programs, more than 100,000 Texas boys are estimated to be involved in the fall pastime in all white and integrated schools. Another 400 Negro high schools also play football.

New TIL rules forbid contact equipment or contact workouts for the first seven days in Class B, six-man and eight-man divisions.

Colt Officials Rap Purchase

HOUSTON (UPI)—Officials of the Houston Colts said Saturday that if the Columbia Broadcasting System completes its purchase of the New York Yankees "it will be a darker day for baseball than the Black Sox scandal."

Colts' owner Judge Roy Hofheinz said the deal would allow CBS to flood the nation with Yankee games and constrict growth of other teams and other sports throughout the country.

He called the deal "highly inappropriate and unethical." Paul Richards, general manager of the Colts, sat with Hofheinz during a news conference and said he subscribed to Hofheinz' views.

Hofheinz estimated the effect would be to cost each baseball club from a half-million dollars to $1 million in lost revenue in 1965.

Giants Rally

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Duke Snider's pinch single in the eighth inning scored Jim Hart with the tie-breaking run Saturday to give the San Francisco Giants an 8-7 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves spotted San Francisco to a six-run lead, came back to go in front 7-6, only to lose on the Giants' extra base power.

George Archer Leads St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—George Archer, top candidate for rookie of the Year honors in the PGA tour, held a one-stroke lead Saturday after three rounds of the $65,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament.

Archer, who lives on a Gilroy, Calif., ranch, shot a one-under-par 70 at Keller Golf Course for a 54-hole eight-under-par 205.

One stroke behind were Chuck Courtney, another tour rookie from La Jolla, Calif., and Howie Johnson, Palm Springs, Calif.

Archer had three birdies and a bogey on the front nine to make the turn with a two-under-par 34. His birdies came on putts of four, three and 10 feet.

Gridders Get Kicks--2,137

EL PASO (UPI)—It took the Deming, N. M., High School football team 4 hours and 51 minutes Saturday to kick a football 44 miles in what probably rates as the world's record for booting a pigskin.

The schoolboys kicked the football exactly 2,137 times. There was still air in it at the finish.

The 11-man team moved the ball from Mesilla Dam, N. M., to the new Sun Bowl Stadium. Their reason for such antics was publicity. They wanted the world to know that the Sun Bowl has just as outstanding a year-end bowl game as anybody else.

El Paso YMCA members furnished little competition for the New Mexico schoolboys. They, too, booted the ball 44 miles, but it took them much longer than the Deming squad and they quit counting after they got over 4,000 kicks.

Under the rules of the contest, each player had to kick the ball at least 10 times before turning it over to another kicker. The ball was kicked from the spot where it was retrieved.

Station wagons trailed the players and provided rest, food and drink.

The Southwestern Sun Carnival, sponsors of the annual Sun Bowl game, said the contest will be played Dec. 31. You don't have to be able to kick a football to come.

Tech Tickets Going

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Texas Tech officials said Saturday they expect to set three new football records this season.

Ticket sales are so brisk it appears fans will set new records for total number of season tickets, overall home game attendance and attendance at a single game.

Season tickets are selling faster than last year when 8,000 were sold and the Raiders drew a total of 194,000 for six games.

The one-game attendance mark of 42,000 is expected to fall Sept. 26 when Tech hosts national champion Texas, which figures in the old record set two years ago.

Tech Stadium seats 41,500, but fans also sit on the grassy slopes in the North end zone.

Tennis Tournament Slated in Amarillo

Entries are being accepted for the Tri-State Tennis Tournament in Amarillo to be held Sept. 5-7.

There will be 26 divisions, if six entries are received in each class, ranging from boys and girls 12 and under to senior veterans 45 and over. A player can enter a higher division but not a lower one, with the exception of the veteran classes.

Interested players should contact Ed White, 3515 Bryan St., Amarillo.

GENTLE NUDGE—Lester Piggott, right, on Royal Desire seems determined to nudge jockey A. Beasley out of his seat on Early Bid in a race at Brighton, England.

CBS Says Purchase In Baseball's Interest

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) Saturday ruled out both pay television and the proposed Monday night baseball "spectacular" as motives for its purchase of the New York Yankees.

William S. Paley, CBS chairman, and Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS president, insisted in a joint statement that "lending constructive interest to the game and to the Yankees" was the "sole purpose" of the network's acquisition of the club.

In the wake of CBS' purchase of 80 per cent of the Yankee stock for $11.2 million, which was officially confirmed Friday, questions had been raised about CBS' position on such matters as the future of pay television in baseball, and in bidding for the Monday night series of games.

There had been speculation that the network, as the owner of a team fully entitled to sit in baseball's inner councils and vote on the awards of various television contracts, would be in a favored position.

White Sox Lose

BOSTON (UPI)—Young Dave Morehead and reliever Dave Radatz combined to check the second-place White Sox on five hits Saturday for a 5-2 streak-breaking Red Sox victory.

The Boston victory, only its fourth in 17 games with Chicago, snapped a five-game Red Sox losing string and cost the White Sox valuable ground in their three way struggle with Baltimore and New York for American League leadership.

Drought Costs Farmers Millions; Causes Drinking Water Shortage

By PRESTON MCGRAW

DALLAS (UPI) — The Southwest is in the grip of a drought that has cost farmers unestimated millions of dollars, caused widespread drinking water shortages and forced ranchers to sell thousands of cattle.

Along with the dry weather, particularly in Texas, has come near record temperatures to compound the misery. The current drought is two or three years old. Texas, Colorado and Oklahoma are the hardest-hit states.

Observing that dry weather in the Southwest runs in cycles, some authorities fear that the current drought may be the forerunner of some like the drought of the 1950s that lasted seven or eight years.

It has been a long time since the Southwest has had a general rain. There have been spotty rains, in parts of Texas, Arkansas and Missouri that have helped specific sections.

This is the drought picture in the Southwest, state-by-state:

Texas — Drought is general over Texas, although rains have eased the problem here and there. The estimated cotton crop is down 167,000 bales. An aide of agricultural commissioners John C. White said most of the loss could be attributed to the drought. The aide declined to estimate the total loss to Texas but said the cotton loss alone is several millions of dollars. He noted that pastures and grain sorghum were hurt as well as cotton. East Texas, which frequently has water when other sections of Texas do not—is bone dry. Some towns and cities have had to ration water. Tropical storm Abby brought temporary relief in South Texas and good showers have been reported recently on the High Plains. But generally a drought two or three years old continues.

Arkansas — The western third of the state has been very dry. Critical water shortages cropped up in towns around Fort Smith.

Colorado — Agriculture Commissioner Paul W. Swisher estimates Colorado farmers will lose at least $50 million. Most of the loss will be in wheat and cattle but sugar beet and corn production also will be down.

Kansas — Most of the state needs moisture. A recent crop report said corn and sorghum were heavily damaged in the southern and central areas of Kansas.

Louisiana — The northwest section of the state has had almost no rain for two months. County agents estimate a crop loss as high as $3 million. Rainfall is 10 inches below average and subsoil moisture about gone.

Missouri — Mid-July rains relieved dry conditions in the Bootheel area but not before crops had suffered considerable damage. Since the mid-July rains, rainfall has been spotty and temperatures high.

Oklahoma — Oklahoma has had the hottest and driest summer in 10 years and it is the second year of drought. Of the state's 77 counties, 31 have been declared disaster areas with some sort of rationing or restriction on water use.

New Mexico — New Mexico has been in the grip of drought since last summer. It caused the loss of the wheat crop in eastern New Mexico. Irrigation water is short this summer as it was last summer in the normally lush Rio Grande Valley. Five New Mexico counties have been declared disaster areas. Dry weather in summer is nothing new in New Mexico. But when it comes after a dry winter—as it did this year—it aggravates the situation.

Wheat Forecast up 3 Million Bushels

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture's 1964 winter wheat outlook for Texas became some 3 million bushels brighter Tuesday. The department forecast a total crop of 61,848,000 bushels—about 3 million above the estimate made last month and more than 21 million bushels above last year's crop of 40,618,000.

The national crop, the USDA said, should run to near 1.3 billion bushels. The department said Texas production would be about 20.5 bushels per acre under the new estimate.

FAIR ENTRY — Lynn Taylor, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor, is shown practicing the pole bending event which she plans to complete in during the Tri-State Fair Junior Horse Show. The show will be held on Sept. 26, 1964. This is the first year of the Junior Horse Show and is open to all 4-H and FFA members under 18 years of age. Deadline for entries is Sept. 14.

Commodity Credit to Take Titles on '63 Cotton Crops

"The Commodity Credit Corporation has given notice that it will take title to all 1963-crop loan cotton on which loans were not repaid by close of business July 31, 1964," reports Charles Cox of the Altus Classification Office of the Cotton Division.

Change Sought In Beef Grading System by USDA

A revision of U.S. quality standards for beef has been proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in line with recent recommendations of the National Advisory Committee on cattle and several state and national cattlemen's organizations. De-emphasis of maturity as a grading factor in young beef is the major proposed change, says Frank A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

This revision would result in some reduction of marbling requirements for prime, choice, good and standard grades and would reduce the number of maturity classifications in these grades from three to two, Orts points out. It would also eliminate the two marbling degrees in excess of that now classified as "abundant" in determining quality grade. The other revision, he said, is that all carcasses must be ribbed to be graded; that is, the hindquarter and forequarter must be separated between the 12th and 13th rib so the ribeye is visible to the grader.

At the time of writing this column no official approval has come from the Washington D.C. level on the grazing of Soil Bank and Diverted Acres. One authority has it we will have approval by the early part of this week. You will be notified at once when the local A.S.C. office gets the O.K. As mentioned earlier it is doubtful if the program will be of great benefit because very little land in the Pampa vicinity is in the Soil Bank.

Prussic Acid Poisoning
Severe losses of cattle have been reported in Wheeler County as a result of Prussic Acid poisoning. One owner lost 40 head of cattle. Johnson grass in a droughted out stage is one of the most likely plants to cause this condition. The best bet is to have a good veterinarian standing by when you turn in on a new piece of sorghum.

Midland Bermudagrass
Another rancher lost 25 cows as a result of turning them in on Midland Bermudagrass too soon after fertilizing and watering. This is something new as far as irrigated pastures are concerned. Tests can be run to determine the probability of the danger. Check with us if you are having trouble. We can give you some other details.

Corn Ear Worms
This is one of the biggest pests in this area when you are trying to grow roasting ears. Roy Kretzmeier called a few days back and asked what you could do about them. We have a small leaflet that gives 3 methods of controlling them.

Cattle Prices
We heard of one bunch of calves that moved in the McLean vicinity about one week ago. Unconfirmed price was 20 cents on heifers and 22 cents on the steers. We might add however, the cattle were of top quality and were going to a Nebraska feeder for the purpose of feeding a carload lot for one of the shows.

Most ranchers have not reached any panic stage and are very persistent in their asking price. The weekend rain should give cattle prices a moderate jump.

4-H Records Due
Junitta Channell, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent and Jerry Harland, Assistant Agricultural Agent, report that 29 4-H boys and girls turned in records, for the annual judging. Deadline was last Friday.

THE HACKNEYED PHASE

Hackney ponies and American saddlebred pleasure horses have been added to the five and three - gaited saddle horses, fine harness horses, walking and roadster horses and Shetland ponies that will perform in the 1964 State Fair of Texas Horse Show at Dallas, Oct. 9-13.

Irrigation
Stan Kretzmeier is staking 70 acres for irrigation land leveling on his farm west of Pampa. Rex McAnelly is leveling 70 acres on Moody Farms east of Pampa. Turner Kirby has started leveling 80 acres on his farm east of Groom. Eakin Brothers recently installed 920 feet of irrigation pipeline on their farm southwest of Pampa. Irrigation pipeline and land leveling will improve irrigation water distribution.

Terraces
George Ingram recently completed a diversion terrace on his farm east of Pampa. Bill Crisp completed four miles of standard terraces on his farm north of Alanreed. Terrace will break up large concentrations of run off water and carry it to safe outlets.

Cost-share assistance is available for most conservation work through the Agricultural Conservation Program and the Great Plains Conservation Program. For further information, contact your local Soil Conservation Service.

Group Discusses Parking Meters And Promotions

Promotions, parking meters and several other items of importance were discussed by directors of the Downtown Business Association Thursday afternoon in the Kon-Tiki Room of the Pampa Hotel.

According to J. C. Roberts, president of the group, general plans were formulated for additional promotion of the downtown area. He said that the group was well-pleased with the results of its back-to-school promotion.

Further discussion was given the parking meter situation and a special committee headed by Kirk Duncan was named to go to Lawton, Okla., to study that city's parking setup. Roberts said that Lawton's mayor had extended them an invitation, and added that Lawton had eliminated parking meters in the downtown area.

Roberts urged all members to do everything possible to improve downtown Pampa. The next board meeting will be held Aug. 27.

The overskirt, which had side panels trimmed with lace, had small gathers across the back which fell from a shaped midriff into a sweeping chapel train. Her bouffant candlelight elbow-length veil of imported silk English illusion fell from an open crown pill box fashioned of matching alencon lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Here's Yarn About Dylan Thomas', Late Welsh Poet, Favorite Sweater

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Here's a yarn about a sweater—a heather green, wool, pullover sweater purported to be Dylan Thomas' favorite.

The sweater has crossed the Atlantic seven times and almost made it to the stage of the Plymouth Theatre in New York as part of a costume for Alec Guinness.

It is now being shunted back and forth between two Dylan Thomas buffs.

Sweaters, you see, were a favorite piece of wearing apparel for Thomas, the late Welsh poet, whose turbulent life has been turned into the drama, "Dylan," by Sidney Michaels, with Sir Alec playing the poet.

His favorite was said to be the bulky knit green one that he carried back and forth between the U.S.A. and Wales on each of three trips.

After his death in 1953, his wife Caitlin gave it to her sister, Brigit Marnier, who kept it until 1960. In that year, a friend was visiting her.

The friend, Jo McDonald, a writer, had just come from Malibu, Calif., and wasn't prepared for the chilling British weather. Mrs. Marnier pulled out the sweater.

It warmed Miss McDonald that winter. She took it with her when she returned to the United States.

In 1963, she needed cash and placed an ad in a Greenwich Village paper. It read: "Dylan Thomas' favorite sweater. Must sell."

It was sold for $100 to Mara Lane and Esther Turnbull, fans of Dylan Thomas since their 1412 Washington Blvd., Abilene, where Shewmaker is employed as an insurance adjuster for Floyd West and Co., of Dallas.

days at Lake Erie College. Esther was a budding poet and Mara a starting actress.

The two devised a system which would give each fair access to the sweater. Each girl would have it for three months. They kept to the system until they read that "Dylan" was to be produced.

They wrote to Sir Alec, told him of their prize, and asked if he wanted to see it. He saw it and asked if he could borrow it. The girls agreed.

Sir Alec showed it to costume designer Ruth Morley.

Miss Morley liked the color and decided the one used in the play should be much like it.

When Sir Alec told the girls of Miss Morley's decision, they offered the actual sweater to be used on stage.

But Sir Alec declined, saying it meant too much to Esther and Mara.

So Dylan Thomas' favorite sweater did not become a stage costume. Instead it's back on its three-month shuttle between two girls who cherish it. And there's no sign it's about to wear out.

Altrusa Club Hears Miss Pat Ludeman

Pat Ludeman, representative to Girls' State from Pampa High School was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of Altrusa Club held Aug. 10 in Coronado Inn. Emily Coston, president, presided. In addition to the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. Martin F. Ludeman and Mrs. Mark Arrington of Miami, daughter of Lorene O. Locke, were introduced.

During the usual business session routine committee reports were heard. Marian Jameson, treasurer, gave a resume of the annual audit. Jewel Dean Lewis, finance chairman, presented the budget for 1964-65, which was adopted.

Miss Ludeman, who was sponsored by Altrusa Club, American Legion Auxiliary and Varieties Club to Girls' State, held in Austin June 17-26, was introduced by Leah Behrman, public affairs chairman, and gave an interesting report. "The purpose of Girls' State," she said, "is to teach the girls to be good citizens by their learning at first hand the procedures of proposing and passing laws."

The 400 girl representatives from over Texas were divided equally into two parties. Nationalists and Federalists. Pat, who was vice-chairman of the Federalists, explained how laws were introduced, argued upon and passed or defeated. She distinguished herself by being named one of the seven outstanding citizens (chosen by the girls themselves) at this session. Also by being elected second - alternate to Girls' Nation, held in Washington, D. C., July 26-Aug. 1. Only two delegates from each state were elected.

She closed her talk by giving this illuminating definition, "Girls' State is an ordinary experience made extraordinary by giving of yourself to others and to your country."

Next meeting will be a salad supper held in Thelma Bray's backyard at 7 p.m., Aug. 24.

Dear Abby.... Teen-Ager Gives Parents Food For Thought

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 15 and I think I know why kids end up in parked cars doing what they shouldn't.

Boys have started coming to my house along with girls, and my Dad is already complaining about the noise, and not having any privacy any more. I have always brought my girl friends to my house to watch television or just to talk, or to make lemonade and stuff, but this year it's different. Sometimes I think Dad hates to see me grow up.

I'd rather have a boy come to my house than go out on a date with one and I should think my Dad would prefer that, too. But if he keeps grumbling about the TV program we're watching instead of going to watch the other TV, he'll make my friends self-conscious and they won't come back, and I won't want to stay home evenings either.

We live in a small town and except for movies, where can we go that doesn't cost a lot more than kids our age have to spend? Most of my friends have the same trouble with their folks. They say we make too much noise, our dances are silly, our ideas are kooky. They criticize our hair, and clothes and our choice of friends. No wonder kids want cars! They want to get as far away from home as possible.

I really don't want to go off in a car with a boy. I just want a place where my friends can come and have fun and act like teen-agers without feeling guilty about being one. To my way of thinking, it's better to have room to move around, play games, and make fudge than to run off some place in a car because, if you keep driving, you get to speeding just for fun, and if you park somewhere, you might just go too far if you are not careful.

I wonder how many kids who end up in trouble had these same thoughts and fears? I wish you would tell parents, Abby, that we kids aren't bad. We just want to get together, and home is our favorite spot, if only we were made to feel welcome.

SPEAKING FOR TEENS

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old boy who is very mature for my age and look much older. There is a divorced lady who lives on the corner near me. Every time she sees me she tells me what a nice looking young fellow I am and she asks me when I am coming over to visit her. She says she is lonesome. Should I tell my father?

SONNY
DEAR SONNY: No. Tell your mother.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in regard to the letter signed "DISAPPOINTED IN DOCTORS." The writer claimed her mother was ill and was ordered to bed by her doctor. When the mother worsened, the daughter phoned the doctor, who said, "There is nothing I can do. What do you expect from a 73-year-old woman?" He refused to make a house call and the mother died the next day.

This is hard to believe. What probably happened was this: When the doctor first saw the patient, he advised the daughter to put her in a hospital for a thorough examination and tests. The daughter refused and attempted to care for her mother at home. When the mother grew worse, the daughter called the doctor and he probably said, "Since you did not let me give her a thorough examination, what do you expect from a 73-year-old woman who has not

Four-Step Plan For Pretty Feet

Summer-pretty feet, on view on the beach and in colorful sandals, call for special grooming attention. To put your best foot forward this summer, follow this four-step schedule:

Every day, pay extra attention to your feet as you bathe or shower. Scrub soles, heels and toes with a stiff brush. Then, using a little soap, rub soles and heels with a pumice stone. Use a circular motion and rub gently. After your bath, dry feet thoroughly and apply a hand lotion.

Every night, give your feet a thorough creaming and hand massage. Using a good, rich night cream, massage each toe vigorously. Knead and massage the soles of the feet until they tingle. Remove excess cream with a Kleenex tissue, making sure a little cream remains to do its beauty work as you sleep.

Once a week, give yourself a complete pedicure. Toenails should be filed fairly straight, with only slight shaping. Pay special attention to the cuticle, working with an orangewood stick dipped in oily-based cuticle remover. In the nail enamel department, try a natural polish if you're not daring enough for brighter shades. To apply polish without smearing, fold Kleenex tissues into one-inch squares. Place tissue square between toes to separate them. Don't remove tissues until the polish is dry.

At the beach, walk barefoot in the sand. It's wonderful exercise for flexing and strengthening foot muscles as you show off your pretty feet.

How many suits are needed for the well-dressed man? Well, the Duke of Buckingham owned 1,625 suits, said Ron Postal of the National Council of Men's Fashions. "But," he added, "I've met plenty of men with only 10 or 12 suits who easily qualified as well dressed."

Evans-Lewis Wedding Rites Read in Church Ceremony

Mrs. Albert Murry Lewis
... nee Jacqueline Anne Evans

Miss Jacqueline Anne Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Evans, 2100 Charles, became the bride of Albert Murry (Pete) Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lewis, 329 N. Nelson, at 7 p.m. Aug. 14.

Dr. Richard Crews, San Antonio, read the double-ring vows in the First Christian Church amid a setting of baskets of white gladioli flanked by cathedral tapers and emerald palms.

BRIDE

With the "her mother and I avowed," the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of white silk peau de soie designed with a molded bodice veiled with imported re-broidered alencon lace traced with tiny seed pearls and crystal beads. The decollete neckline was edged with scallops of lace and the long fitted sleeves extended to petal points over the hands. Tiny self-covered buttons fastened the back of the gown enhanced by a self-rose. The controlled bouffant bell-shaped skirt of side and back pleated fullness swept to a wide chapel-length train. Her veil of white silk illusion fell in a double pouff to below the shoulders from a crown of jeweled alencon lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a white cattleya orchid with purple throat.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Betty Enright attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Sheri Walker and Miss Carol Bloom of Omaha, Neb. The attendants were dressed identically in floor-length gowns of Paris blue silk crepe and wore headpieces of Paris blue velvet with matching short illusion pouff veils. They carried cascade bouquets of white gladioli.

Best man to the bridegroom was Henry Harnly and groomsmen were Grover W. Lewis, Midland, bridegroom's brother, and Don C. Evans, brother of the bride. Serving as ushers were Bobby A. Jones, Amarillo, bridegroom's brother-in-law, Earl Leith and Jerry Nichols.

Organist, Mrs. Dannie King, presented traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Ronnie Gray as she sang "One Hand One Heart."

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Evans, chose a blue silk suit dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Lewis selected a pink linen sheath dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages fashioned of odon'ts glossum orchids.

RECEPTION

Scene of the reception, which followed the ceremony, was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evans. The bride's table, covered with a white organdy and Irish linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and roses. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Barney McMullan and Mrs. Lacy D. Terrell Jr. served the four-tiered wedding cake. Attending the guest register was Mrs. Bobby A. Jones, Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom.

For a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev. and other points of interest enroute to Port Huene-me, Calif., where the couple will make their home, Mrs. Lewis chose a navy blue raw silk suit with white blouse complemented with navy blue accessories. She lifted the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Pampa High School, attended Texas Christian University, Fort Worth. A graduate of Pampa High School, the bridegroom is a radioman second class in the United States Navy. He has served three years in the Navy and will report to Port Huene-me, Calif. to complete his tour of duty.

PRE-NUP TIAL COURTESIES

Among the pre-nuptial courtesies honoring the bride was a coffee given by Mrs. Raymond Harrah; miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. Billy Davis, Mrs. James Leve-rich and Miss Janie Leverich; patio kitchen shower given by Mrs. Barney McMullan and Miss Martha McMullan; luncheon given by Mrs. Travis Live-ly, Mrs. Robert Duket and daughter of Amarillo; linen shower hosted by the brides-maids, Miss Betty Enright and Miss Sheri Walker.

Mrs. Clinton Evans and Mrs. Allen Evans, Borge, were hostess to a bridesmaids luncheon and a dinner party honoring the bride couple was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Lacy D. Terrell Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, parents of the bridegroom, honored the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner at 8 p.m. Thursday at Lewis Buffetaria.

PEROXIDE AS HEALER

NEW YORK (UPI)—An old-time household first aid for wound infections, hydrogen peroxide, now is being used at a Texas medical center to accelerate healing of stubborn wounds.

The peroxide works when it is pumped through blood vessels in the area of the wound, Baylor University Medical Center physicians reported in "Medical World News," a journal for doctors. The procedure, according to the investigators, sharply increases the amount of oxygen utilized by healing tissue.

Take It From Kathy

By KATHY PETERSON
Dear Kathy: I would like advice about a "Dear Jane" letter. This is my second year at college and my high school steady won't get her diploma until next June.

Things were fine until late last spring; this summer was a real drag. Her friends are in-fantile and all they talk about is rock 'n roll jerks and fixing their hair and how to hook some guy, like me. I want out but our families are close and this doesn't help. "Jane" insists I'm her property. What can I do?

—Hogtied
Dear Hogtied: Yours is a perfect refutation of the old saw that absence makes the heart grow fonder.

You are living in a campus swirl that your high school sweetheart hasn't caught up with. I agree it is time to cut the ties that don't seem to bind, but do it gently. Persuade "Jane" that you want her to be free to make the most of her senior activities and that you won't be home for parties and dances she should go to. If she takes the hint, she won't refuse other dates that will get you off the "steady" hook. The cruel thing is to keep silent.

Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Old-Fashioned Soap Still Best for Ivy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—That one-time household standby, yellow laundry soap, still offers the most effective first aid against the inflammation of poison ivy, says the U.S. Public Health Service (USPH).

But it should be used quickly after contact to remove irritating oil before it can penetrate into the skin. Lather the exposed area several times, rinsing after each application, advises the USPH.

If further treatment is needed, wet compresses with a boric acid solution composed of one level teaspoon of crystals to every two glasses of pure water, can be helpful in mild cases. The cloth used should be clean but does not have to be sterile. Calamine lotion also may bring relief. In severe cases, see a doctor.

The Doctor Says:

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Most babies grow like weeds. Knowing this, parents show great alarm if their baby either fails to thrive or suddenly appears to stop growing.

Although a tendency to slow growth may be an inherited trait, it may also be a sign of disease.

Temporary loss of weight is to be expected with attacks of vomiting, diarrhea or acute infections. Emotional disturbances may also be a cause. When there is a persistent failure to grow, however, your doctor may have to conduct an all-out campaign to track down the cause.

Such things as prematurity and prenatal complications (maternal bleeding, injury of infection) must be considered as well as cystic fibrosis and diseases of the glands of internal secretion, lungs, brain, liver or kidneys.

Prompt recognition of the cause is the key to successful treatment. Although many babies who get a poor start in life have made it up in later years, they are the exceptions. Life is hard enough at best in the first year, so anything you do to remove an added handicap for your baby will pay off in his future health.

Q—My son has what our doctor calls Osgood-Schlatter's disease. What is it? Will he outgrow it? And what is the treatment?

A—This is a disease of the centers of bony growth in children between 5 and 15 years of age. The cause is unknown. It most commonly involves the bones of the foot, leg and thigh. The chief complaint is pain in the foot, knee or hip. A plaster cast or some sort of support to prevent weight bearing is recommended. If this is done the victim will outgrow the disease completely during puberty.

Q—My 4-year-old granddaughter got an infected ear and the doctor punctured the ear drum. Was that necessary? The ear was still running five days later. Will the punctured drum cause her to be hard of hearing?

A—When the middle ear (the part just inside the drum) is infected, pus accumulates under pressure and causes great pain. When the doctor punctures the ear drum this relieves the pain, establishes drainage and insures better healing than if the drum is allowed to rupture.

Antibiotics help to shorten the acute stage which might otherwise last a week or two. The drug is usually given until the drainage stops. The drum then heals and is as good as ever. Defective hearing from this cause is rare and is due to some complication.

School Girls Should Ask-- Are You Going Young Lady?

ENSBURG, Mo. (UPI) — All girls of high school age who aren't sold on the idea of study now — for later.

They agree that you don't want to be a sheepskin to do the laundry, shopping and dress while raising children.

The greatest educators at Central State College here, are urging ladies now in high school to ask themselves the following question: "Are you going, young lady?"

By that title, the school is scolding a lot of the young ladies who are giving high school education a realistic view for the typical female.

Some of the points the school girls are urged to consider before turning thumbs higher education:

One in the United States out of every four women who graduate from high school goes to college. It is startling in face of the great need for teachers, school instructors, nurses, writers, doctors, dentists, nurses, other health workers, and well-homemakers.

Today encourages women to use their minds to the highest level of individuality — as students, workers, teachers, writers, professionals, skilled tradesmen, and so on.

One out of every four women who graduate from high school goes to college. It is startling in face of the great need for teachers, school instructors, nurses, writers, doctors, dentists, nurses, other health workers, and well-homemakers.

Women control the budget, raise the children, make many important decisions.

Women need to be educated. The woman who belongs to the profession of homemaking in her hands the future. She is a chief factor in the future of the nation, the way of life, the customs from generation to generation.

Her mind must be rich and flexible to cope successfully with these family responsibilities.

You will work — though married. You can expect to work at intervals outside your home for a total of about 25 years. You probably will work a few years after you get out of high school or college and until your first child is born. Then, when you are in your middle or late thirties and all your children are in school, you probably will return to work. The more education you have, the better prepared you will be and the better position you will get.

Men are quick to admit that a college-trained wife is important to a husband who is advancing in his business or profession. A wife whose education is below his or that of his associates and friends tends to be a hindrance to her husband's career. College-trained men, the ones filling important positions in business, the trades and the professions seldom select wives who do not have a college education.

The best time for you to obtain a college education is during the normal college age years," the educators said. "It is easier to continue study habits and build on what is still fresh in your mind. In addition, your classmates at college are nearer your own age, making it easier to continue your social education than when there is a wide age difference."

As a final answer to the question — "Where are you going, young lady?" — the educators urge high school girls to chew on this morsel:

"Your personal objectives as a woman should be to know yourself, value yourself, improve yourself and share yourself with others."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rogers

Double-ring vows were exchanged at 7:30 p.m. July 25, by Miss Virginia Gail Vance and Lewis Rogers of Miami. Dr. E. Douglas Carver read the wedding ceremony in First Baptist Church before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude G. Vance, 621 N. Frost. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jewel Rogers, Miami, and the late Mr. Dick Rogers.

Miss Beryl Nash, organist, presented appropriate nuptial selections and accompanied vocalist, Mrs. Mary Cambern, as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride was gown in a chapel-length gown of white peau de soie and Brussels lace designed with a sabrina neckline, short sleeves and controlled skirt which extended into a chapel train. She wore an elbow-length veil of white illusion secured by a crown of seed pearls and carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis atop a white Bible centered with a cattleya orchid.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Myrna Haiduk, Amarillo, and Mrs. Carolyn Rogers, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, attended as bridesmaid. Dinner Party Picnic Gives Special Touch To Cookout Season

If you'd like to make this year's cookout season something special, give a dinner party picnic. The setting can be patio or park, and the dinner can be as elegant as you wish.

For a table setting, combine the ease of a picnic with the elegance of a dining room dinner. Leave the checked "cookout" tablecloth at home and use one in immaculate white or pretty pastel.

Attention to details can be the key to the elegant look you want. For example, make a centerpiece of fresh spring flowers, arranged as carefully as for an indoor dinner party. Use unbreakable plastic plates and at each place stand large Kleenex dinner napkins folded into cones. Table favors could be miniature bouquets of spring flowers.

The freshness of a late summer evening outdoors has been known to double appetites, so plan a menu that is picnic-hearty, but party-elegant.

You might serve filet mignon with a wine and mushroom sauce. Prepare the sauce at home and reheat it as you cook the meat. Filets should be sautéed over the fire in a heavy skillet. If you like, substitute good, thick steaks; but whatever you choose, the sauce will make the difference between picnic fare and gourmet dish.

Big baked potatoes, scooped out and re-filled with the potato mixed with cheese or sour cream and chives will complement the main dish. Do this earlier in the day. Wrap the potatoes in foil and reheat at the picnic.

A salad, a festive desert, and your favorite party punch will complete the menu.

Frenchwoman Perfumer Sniffs Sweet Smell of Success

By LeROY POPE
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — All the merchandising skill in the world won't sell a perfume unless the fragrance is unique and in some subtle way deeply satisfying to the soul.

This is the word from Suzanne Thierry, the French woman who created a fragrance which in the last 10 years has been climbing among the leaders of fine and expensive perfumes — the $30 an ounce kind — on the world market.

The perfume is Ondine, the first important Parisian fragrance to be "discovered" by a woman since Gabrielle Chanel brought out her famous "No. 5" about 30 years ago.

Most "noses," as the French call the creators of new scents, belong to men.

During a visit to the United States, Mlle. Thierry said she couldn't figure why. "But it is the same with the wine and brandy tasters of France—they are all males. I never heard of a lady wine taster in the trade."

Mlle. Thierry, a native of Orleans, the city of Joan of Arc, studied chemistry in college but she is not a professional chemist. She got into perfume manufacturing from the retail side. Soon after World War II she opened a small perfume shop near the opera in Paris—"there are no shops of that kind in the United States," she said.

"I wanted to create a new perfume, partly that is the way to make money, and partly because I was fascinated with the idea," she said.

So she bought a supply of oils, hired a chemist as a consultant and went to work. It took several years and assorted combinations from 5,000 different oils before she found a fragrance that satisfied her.

The formula for the perfume is a company secret, but Mlle. Thierry said it had 49 oils, two of which are rose and jasmine.

When she decided to market it in the United States, she sought — and received advice from Edouard Courmand, the head of Lanvin, New York, who is regarded as a wizard of the perfume business.

She put it first in one Fifth Avenue quality store. And as she gradually expanded sales, set up an American distribution subsidiary with headquarters in Miami Beach, again with Courmand's advice.

Now, she said, she has 300-plus outlets in America and has established the perfume in the European market.

Mlle. Thierry said that in her many trips to the United States she has concluded that American women tend to buy too many different scents.

HOW TO TAKE A BITTER MEDICINE

Most medicines today are so pleasantly flavored that they really taste good. Children's medicines are so well liked, as a rule, that they must be stored out of their reach, otherwise the kids will take too much.

But, there are a few whose taste may not please you. Then, just take an ice cube and rub it gently on your tongue for about a minute. Like magic, your sense of taste will be temporarily lessened and even the bitterest of medicines will not be unpleasant.

Homemaking Has Many Rewards, Don't Knock It

The job of housewife isn't the snap a lot of men profess to think it is — but it does have a good many fringe benefits.

The full-time homemaker, unlike most women who work outside the home, can pretty well set her own working hours, taking as many coffee breaks during the day as she likes.

The homemaker is her own boss. In those rare cases where the husband rules the roost, the wife can at least talk back to the boss, if she feels like it.

The homemaker doesn't get a definite salary, but she has something better — a share of the "profits."

Whereas it is up to the wage earner to please the boss, the housewife is a full partner who expects to be pleased as well as to please.

The housewife, if she puts her mind to it, can continually improve her working conditions and lighten her work load.

The housewife can make day-to-day decisions without consulting anybody.

The housewife can move about freely, instead of being stuck at a desk, behind a counter, or at a machine, the way so many women are confined to a small area.

The housewife has endless opportunities to exercise her creative talents and managerial abilities.

The housewife usually gets far more appreciation for her efforts than women who spend their lives in any other kind of job.

These are all benefits that those who pity the suburban housewife in her split-level "prison" seem to overlook.

Fortunately a lot of happy housewives are well aware of them, and wouldn't trade the job of full-time homemaker for any job in the world.

To remove hot, moist air from sink, dishwasher, range and dining areas install a multiple switch controlled forced exhaust system. A fan with a capacity higher than is needed to change the air in the kitchen every three minutes is the most effective.

Carolyn Woodward Becomes Bride of Larry Marlar in Home Wedding Rites

Mrs. Larry Marlar

nee Carolyn Woodward

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Miss Carolyn Woodward became the bride of Larry Marlar when they exchanged double-ring vows at 8 p.m. Aug. 4, in the home of the bride's mother, Rev. Arthur Dresbach of Berger, former pastor of Skellytown Community Church, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Clara B. Woodward is the mother of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of R. S.

Marlar Sr. Both are residents of Skellytown.

For her wedding the bride chose a street-length dress of pale green complemented by white accessories and carried a white Bible belonging to her grandmother.

Bridal attendants were the bride's sisters, Miss Connie Woodward, maid of honor, and Miss Billie Woodward, bridesmaid. They wore street-length dresses of pink chiffon with matching accessories.

Serving his brother as best man was Vernon Marlar.

Mrs. Woodward, mother of the bride, selected a black and white dress, complemented by white accessories.

A reception, held in the home of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Covered with a white lace cloth over blue, the bride's table was centered with an arrangement of red roses. Misses Connie and Billie Woodward presided at the cake and punch service.

Following a short wedding trip to Amarillo, the newlyweds will make their home in Skellytown. Both are seniors at White Deer High School where they plan to resume their educations this fall.

Illuminating Facts Help Prepare Scene for Proper Study Habits

NEW YORK (UPI) — Help your children get into the mood for study by setting the stage for same.

One of the best incentives to learning is a permanent study area with a quiet atmosphere, proper equipment for work and good lighting.

Researchers for the Murine Co. suggest the room be decorated in light colors to reflect illumination. In addition to the study lamp, other lights in the room should be turned on to eliminate any harsh shadows or high brightness differences.

Other tips:

— Choose a study desk or table large enough so that books and papers need not be crowded. About two-by-four feet is a good size. The surface should be a light to medium color which will prevent a too sharp contrast with the lighted book. If a dark table is the only one available, cover it with a pastel-colored blotter.

— Roll-down or drop-shelf desks usually do not provide enough study space. Also, they generally require the use of a floor lamp, making adjustment for proper lighting more difficult.

— For lighting, two lamps of the pin-up type can be used, placed on the wall at either side of the desk. Each should have a diffusing bowl or disc beneath a 100-watt lamp. As an alternative, a larger table lamp may be used. It should be placed on the left side of the desk for a right-handed person, and on the right side for a left-handed person.

— Your eye level should be at least 14 inches above the top of the desk, for comfortable seeing. During study periods, short breaks of a few seconds to rest the eyes are advisable.

Proper length and size of nylon hose mean better appearance, greater comfort and better wear, reports Mrs. Mae Barton, Pennsylvania State extension clothing specialist. Once you find the brand of stockings that fit your legs satisfactorily, ask for them each time you buy.

Nuptial Vows Read in Hobart Baptist Church

(Photo, Quail's Studio)

Mrs. James Minor Trice
... nee Norma Joyce Brown

At 8 p.m., July 25, in Hobart Baptist Church, Miss Norma Joyce Brown became the bride of Airman James Minor Trice. Double-ring vows were officiated by Rev. A. G. Purvis amid a setting of baskets of white gladioli and candelabra.

Miss Veletha Oliver presented traditional wedding music at the piano.

BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," was groomed in a street-length gown of white lace over taffeta designed with a square neckline, long fitted sleeves extending over the wrists and bouffant lace overskirt. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion fell from a crown covered with seed pearls. Carrying out the tradition of something, old, new, borrowed and blue and wearing a penny in her shoe, the bride carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations atop a white Bible.

Top Interior Designers Often Mix Periods in Furnishings

Although the art of interior decoration is one of the most delightful and rewarding of all activities, some women lose much of the pleasure through unnecessary timidity.

This shows itself in a number of ways. For instance, a woman will fall in love with a single

Serenity Added By Use of Bamboo

One of the enchanting by-products of this modern era of rapid communication is the enrichment of home decoration by the fashion products of other countries. For instance, there was a time when that exotic material, bamboo, was the romantic symbol of far away places, utterly unattainable to most of us, says the interior design consultant of the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for home building and decorating information.

Not too many years ago travelers would return from long voyages to Asia and China with fascinating tales of new interesting ways of life, and home decoration.

Travel also brought gifts such as baskets, small figures, decorative accessories such as screens and shades made of bamboo. These were highly prized as decorations.

Interior designers could visualize the new beauty resulting when the oriental charm of bamboo was mixed with traditional styling. Since then bamboo has won the hearts of decorators and made so wide a place for itself that it is now regarded as a contemporary material. It is used in furniture, wall hangings, wicker chairs and tables, decorative baskets, boxes, figurines, and window blinds.

The oriental motif has been captured for today's floors in the form of resilient flooring, with a new exotic styling in solid vinyl planks, Kentile Bamboo. As designers often do, they have improved on nature by producing a bamboo design not only in the shade grown by nature, "Natural," but in shades that give a new touch of distinction to bamboo. These are: Chinese Black etched in red, Tawny, which is a warm beige etched in black, and another rare effect called Silver Bamboo, a cool white on black.

The harmony with which such a modern bamboo flooring design blends into any style decor provides an unusual elasticity and freedom to a woman engaged in beautifying a family room, bedroom, or recreation room, since one of these tones will superbly fit in with her present furnishings regardless of type. Once she has the bamboo floor down, she can change the furniture and still retain an integrated, lovely mood.

In effect this performs a happy marriage between the best in East and West design.

A new toothbrush cleans between the teeth, on the surface and gently massages gums — all at the same time, the manufacturer reports. It's the "first new development in a non-automatic toothbrush since nylon was used as a replacement for natural bristles 25 years ago," the manufacturer added.

piece of furniture from a specific period or style such as Early American or French Provincial, and in order to have it will reluctantly furnish the entire room in that style, thinking a properly designed room must reflect one style only.

Other women react to the desire for a single period piece with fear that, if set in the midst of other styles, it will seem absurd to decor-wise visitors, and so they limit their choices to modern pieces only. The fact is that periods and styles may be mixed. Top interior designers mix everything from French Provincial and Modern, to Eastern and Western motifs. Feminine bedrooms may include wrought iron and glass furniture, often thought of as suitable only for outdoors, and primitive and sophisticated pieces may live in beautiful harmony in one room.

With a few simple tips to guide her, a woman's taste may range freely over the whole realm of traditional and contemporary design in search of pieces that express her personality. For example she shouldn't do all her buying at once, but plan her background and color scheme, then proceed slowly, selecting one piece of furniture at a time.

Top interior designers solve the problem of uniting pieces of varied periods by selecting a floor design which will blend into every style and period. Many of the new resilient tile floors created for family room and bedroom use are designed with exactly such a decorating advantage in mind.

Painful Tootsies Draw Complaints From American Women

SOUTH HADLEY FALLS, Mass. (UPI) — In a word — "ouch." That's what a lot of American women say about their feet.

A study of shoe gripes found that women mention lack of comfort more often than any other complaint. Next was lack of durability of their footwear and in that of their children's.

The study was made by a firm, Texon, which makes an innersole for shoes. Polled by questionnaire were 1,315 women's editors, reporters, columnists and radio and television commentators across the country. Eighteen per cent, or 273, answered.

Sixty-two per cent mentioned lack of comfort as the number one gripe — attributing it to a variety of causes including pointed toes, spindly heels, thin soles, poor back construction and difficulty of fitting unusual sizes.

Thirty-eight per cent griped that women's shoes don't last; 30 per cent complained children's shoes don't last. Specific gripes ranged from scuffed toes, heel breakage and lifts that fall off heels to cracking leather and premature loss of shape.

KNIT-IT-YOURSELF — Great for travel is this handsome dress (left) for knit-it-yourself fans to make. Knit on simple lines with its jewel neckline and deep-cuffed push-up sleeves, the dress can change its manners according to the accessories and the occasions. It is knit in a pattern stitch to simulate a textured look. Handsome dress and jacket (center) is worked in an easy-to-do pattern.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The girl who has an eye for smart clothes would do well to keep her fingers on her knitting needles.

Handmade knits offer the individuality she seeks in the way she dresses.

Designers of fashion to knit yourself have come up with many clever patterns. These designs run the gamut from suits, separates and dresses to coats and jackets —many of which will go from daylight straight through into the late hours.

Always versatile, the dress and jacket costume turns up for knitters in different guises this year. A slim little slip of a dress can go out sight-seeing under cover of its own cardigan jacket, while alone it takes to white gloves and pearls for an evening out.

Other dresses feature skirts with a hint of flare or with simulated pleats. They are usually knit in a combination of stockinette and pattern stitch, with the pattern stitch sometimes repeated in the brief little covering jacket.

For the accomplished knitter there are dresses to be worn with their own full-length coats, the dress worked in a light weight yarn, the coat in a bulky wool yarn.

There are suits in the manner of Chanel, with casual cardigan jackets, their border knit to simulate braid trim. Other Chanelisms adopted for hand knitters are tiered skirts and jackets attractively ornamented with brass buttons.

The luscious colors of the various weights of wool yarn will tempt many to become members of the knit and purl club. So if you want a wardrobe tailored just for you, knit it yourself and weave a harvest of usefulness.

Muted Colors Gain

Favor in Decorating
LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Muted colors are gaining favor in room decorating because they create an atmosphere of richness and a light, spacious feeling, reports Magdalene Pfister, University of Nebraska home furnishing specialist.

She suggested that homemakers study color schemes used in pictures and fabrics. When a decision is made to decorate, she suggested these guides.

— Walls and floors are the largest areas and provide background for furnishings.

— When walls are dark the furnishings should be light.

— A room seems unified and larger if walls and furnishings are about the same intensity in color, light or dark.

— A little bright color goes a long way. Limit its use to accents.

— The most pleasing color harmonies are accomplished by using colors that are dulled.

— A room done in cool colors such as blues, blue-green and grays will need a warm accent such as orange, red or yellow green.

— If rooms are done in warm colors, the cool colors should be used for accent.

Medical Advice Aids Persons Who Greet Seasons With Sneezes

For persons who greet the change in season with a sneeze, modern medical advice is to stay home, get plenty of rest in bed and eat a well-rounded diet that includes plenty of liquids. To avoid spreading the cold to the rest of the family, make sure used Kleenex tissues are deposited at once in a paper bag that can be burned. A child will enjoy using a brightly colored bag, available at specialty and gift shops, which can be decorated with his name.

Many Juvenile Delinquents Often Display Symptoms at Early Age

CHICAGO (UPI) — Juvenile delinquents often display symptoms of delinquency as early as the pre-school years, an Illinois physician says.

Consequently, the pediatrician can save many children from becoming delinquents if he helps correct anti-social behavior when it is first detected, said Dr. James B. Gillespie, chief of the Department of Pediatrics at Carle Clinic and Memorial Hospital, Urbana, Ill.

Gillespie, writing in the Illinois Medical Journal, said five social factors in the life of the pre-school child that may help determine whether a boy becomes a delinquent include: discipline of the boy by the father; supervision of the boy by the mother; affection of the father for the boy; affection of the mother for the boy; and cohesiveness of the family.

Gillespie cited a research project in which one-half of the delinquents studied were less than eight years old when anti-social tendencies first became prominent.

In the same project, nine out of 10 of the delinquents were less than 11 when such tendencies appeared.

"The treatment of a vulnerable child and the delinquent is more effective if it is given before or at the beginning of puberty," Gillespie said. "At such times the child is not confronted with the additional problems of normal adolescence."

"Eradication of delinquency cannot be relegated to law enforcement agencies alone."

Gerald C. Johnson Weds Miss Ona Lee Hedrick

Miss Ona Lee Hedrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hedrick, 40 Pantex, Phillips, and Gerald C. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson, Phillips Pampa Camp, were united in marriage at 8:30 p.m. July 31, in the study of the First Baptist Church, Phillips. The Rev. Norris Onstead, pastor, read the double-ring service.

The bride wore a white lace suit with matching pillbox. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Johnson, Lubbock, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. H. C. Johnson was best man for his son.

The new Mrs. Johnson is a June graduate of Baylor University, where she majored in math and education, and was president of Pi Alpha Lambda Sorority. She will be employed this fall by the Stinnett Independent School District.

Johnson is a January graduate of Texas Technological College, where he earned his degree in industrial engineering. He is employed by Phillips Petroleum Company.

The couple will be at home at 1407 Boyd, Apartment D., Borger.

Scores Child Surgery

NEW YORK (UPI) — An "appalling lag" in coping adequately with the surgical requirements of infants and children has been cited by Dr. Robert E. Gross, professor of Children's Surgery at Harvard.

In a report in "Medical Tribune," a publication for doctors, Gross blames the inadequacies first on the tendency of general surgeons to feel they are competent to handle any sort of surgical problem, regardless of the age or size of the patient.

Also, he says, there is a general disregard for and study of infant surgery. As one example, Gross said a surgeon operating on a 10-pound infant must use instruments made for use on adults.

QUICKIE VALANCE

NEW YORK (UPI) — A short-cut to window treatments is a new shade topper, a ready-made valance designed to blend or contrast with regular or laminated shades. The valance is installed on curtain rods. Shade toppers come in a variety of mix-match combination, including choice of shaped hemlines and trimmings, and in room-darkening or translucent shade cloths, reports the Window Shade Manufacturers Association.

Watch direction of the nozzle when putting the finishing touches on a coiffure, suggest Murine researchers. If spray does get in the eyes, wash them with plain water immediately. If irritation still results, try an eye wash.

Songwriter, Mate Together Again After Separation

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Broadway songwriter Alan Jay Lerner and his "Fair Lady," Micheline, were making sweet music again last week following their reconciliation.

Lerner is the heir to the Lerner department store fortune and lyricist for such Broadway hits as "My Fair Lady," "Camelot," "Gigi," "Brigadoon" and "Paint Your Wagon."

The couple and their 5-year-old son, Michel, took over a cottage in the swank Beverly Hills Hotel.

"Yes, we are reconciled," Mrs. Lerner confirmed Thursday, but added, "I can't give you any comment."

Lerner, she said, was not at the hotel, but was expected to return over the weekend.

The couple separated last May 15 when Micheline, a former Parisian attorney, locked her 45-year-old husband out of their $500,000 19-room mansion in New York.

In her separation plea, Mrs. Lerner accused her husband of treating her cruelly and inhumanly. She claimed he humiliated her, chopped off her credit at various New York shops and stores and abandoned her and their son "except for brief periods" since August of 1963.

Lerner, whose catchy lyrics have earned him millions of dollars, took Micheline Muzelli Pozzo di Borgo as his fourth wife in 1957.

Survivors of Bataan March Plan Dinner

CHICAGO (Sp) — The Maywood Veterans Council is trying to locate survivors of the infamous Bataan Death March to attend a testimonial dinner in their honor at Chicago's O'Hare Inn, Sept. 12.

The council is the official organization to note Bataan Day nationally.

According to Council Pres. Delbert W. Wilson, "There are according to our information, only 638 survivors of the Bataan Death March, and it would be proper to have all of them in attendance Sept. 12 at the testimonial dinner at O'Hare Inn."

Wilson indicated that the Maywood Veterans Council also is seeking aid to "underwrite the cost of transportation and lodging for those men who personally cannot afford to come to Chicago for this observance."

Bataan Day observances have traditionally been held the first Sunday after Labor Day since 1942. Thirty-eight of the 93 men from Maywood and surrounding Chicago suburbs who were captured April 9, 1942, still survive.

Wilson asked that survivors of the Bataan Death March get in touch with him by writing the Maywood Veterans Council, P.O. Box 57, Maywood, Ill.

Plans for the observance include the testimonial dinner and a parade down Sunday, Sept. 13.

More than 1,000 people including military and government officials and entertainment personalities are expected to attend the dinner.

Manhunt on for Members of Old 83rd Division

DAYTON, Ohio (Sp) — The 83rd Infantry Division — the famed Thunderbolt Division of World War II, is conducting the greatest manhunt in history.

They are seeking some 30,000 of their former members. That is the number of men on their roster who have not been contacted since the end of the war.

These men are scattered all over the nation.

At the close of the war, an 83rd Infantry Division Association was formed and an annual reunion has been held every year. This year the 18th annual meeting will be staged in Providence, R.I., Aug. 20, 21, and 22nd, at the Hotel Sheraton, Baltimore. All former members of the old 83rd are urged to contact the national secretary, Harry Lockwood, 43 Oakland Ave., Jersey City 6, N.J.

Desert Survival No Tea Party for Young Astronauts

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Looking around at the sagebrush and blazing sun of the Nevada desert, a young astronaut summed it up for his companions.

"I," he said, "would just as soon put on my pants and go home."

But he and his 13 companions — in their long underwear and Arab-style robes — faced two hot and lean days of surviving on what the desert provides. At mealtimes this meant rabbits, lizards, and maybe even snakes.

The men are members of the Project Gemini team being trained for orbital flights in two-man space ships. Since Monday the astronauts had been attending classroom and field lectures on how to use their meager equipment to survive desert temperatures, forage for food and signal for help.

Wednesday, their survival instructors turned them into the desert to "go it alone" for 48 to 50 hours, practicing for the day when they might have to land a space ship in a desert.

Temperatures on the desert range from 160 degrees on the sand to 91 at six feet above the surface. The sage brush in the distance appears to bend and sway in the heat waves.

"If you want an interview you'll have to clear it with the people back on earth," cracked Russell Schweickart of Sea Girt, N.J., as he surveyed the forbidding landscape.

Schweickart and David Scott of La Jolla, Calif., were relaxing in their shelter — Schweickart with a paperback book titled "Honest to God," and Scott with "The Agony and the Ecstasy."

The men were given two quarts of water each and no food when they were taken to their desert camps. Besides searching for the desert creatures that will sustain them, they must put to practice at night their new knowledge about navigating in the dark, using their signal equipment and protecting themselves from snakes, scorpions and other dangerous night-wanderers.

Salinger Approved To Replace Engle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, with only a murmur of dissent, Thursday formally installed former presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger as the successor to the late Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif.

Salinger was seated "without prejudice" last week, pending a determination by the Senate Rules Committee on his qualifications. The committee reported a favorable resolution on which the Senate acted.

YMCA Program Aids College Aspirants

By CARLTON WILSON

DALLAS (UPI) — This fall six youngsters from the wrong side of the tracks will be in college, and more will follow them through a tutoring program sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA) that involves hundreds of volunteers who already have most of the advantages of life.

In some ways the system of helping underprivileged teenagers is like plans encouraged by the federal anti-poverty program. But this Texas effort is financed through private contributions to cover such relatively small costs as transportation for the participants.

The big contribution comes from college students who give their time at least once a week to help less fortunate boys and girls who live in slum areas of South and West Dallas.

During the school year 150 college students participate in the tutoring. This summer a smaller scale program aimed primarily at reading and cultural motivation of the youngsters enlisted 85 college volunteers and helped 1000 of the ambitious junior and high schoolers — including those from Anglo-American, Negro and Indian families.

Busy Schedule

Typical activities included visits to museums, concerts, libraries, a college campus and even trips to the zoo for the eager youngsters from poor neighborhoods. Each was assigned to a college student who volunteered to spend spare time on the project.

The entire group scheduled a social at Southern Methodist University tonight to climax the program.

Its director is Charles Schraeder, a theology student at SMU who lined up the volunteers for tutoring through churches of all denominations.

Students who needed help were located through social centers by the YMCA. Costs were paid by a $2,000 grant from the Hogg Foundation.

The college students were home in Dallas for the summer from 28 different schools, ranging from Harvard to UCLA. About an equal number of coeds volunteered to help coach girls this summer, and YMCA sponsors said as a rule the girls were helped more than the boys.

Good Results Noted
Results of the year-round program that can be measured immediately include six youngsters who were helped enough to go on to college, with the aid of scholarships lined up through the YMCA on the basis of the promise shown through the tutoring project.

John Willis, a staff member at the YMCA, said the goal is to have 500 college volunteers helping promising students.

Negro students from Bishop College and Volunteers from SMU all said they got a lot out of helping the younger students. A few comments assembled by Willis from the tutors:

"This experience is invaluable to me not only in learning to associate with problems and living conditions foreign to me, but also in giving me a constant review in my studies in many various subjects."

"I feel that perhaps I have given a little help to someone who needs it. . . I may have made him feel that someone outside his own environment is interested in him."

Taken for Granted

"Most of us take for granted our educational opportunities, not realizing that not all of those who are interested have such an opportunity."

"Most important in my mind was the breaking of barriers from our different backgrounds, and the closeness brought from working toward a common project."

"A real eye opener for me . . . particularly a feeling of understanding of the Negro and the personal good feeling of helping someone else."

"These children definitely needed someone to take new interest into their very limited environment."

Pilot's Death Warned Of Commie Ambush

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — A U. S. Army helicopter pilot's death from anti-aircraft fire served as a warning that may have saved hundreds of other lives, American officers said today.

The pilot was identified as 1st Lt. Harold L. McNeil of Mt. Pleasant, Tex.

A 50-caliber bullet from a Communist Viet Cong machine-gun emplacement hit him in the chest during Wednesday's 96-helicopter assault on a concentration of Communist soldiers at Ap Bo Cang village.

McNeil's HU1B helicopter was bombarding a Communist-held landing zone into which troop-carrying choppers were about to disembark Vietnamese paratroopers.

The heavy ground fire that cost McNeil his life also caused an abrupt switch in plans. The landing was diverted to an alternate area three miles away which was not so heavily defended.

The Viet Cong melted away into the underbrush. The battle was declared over Friday.

However, examination of the primary landing zone where McNeil was killed showed that the Communists had surrounded it with a network of trenches and fox holes. A total of 18 machinegun nests had been set up.

Officers said the death toll among Americans and Vietnamese might have run into the hundreds if the landings had actually been carried out there.

Oil Firm Presents Quintuplets Home

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (UPI) — The 11-month-old Prieto quintuplets, with their parents and their brothers and sisters, are moving to a $29,000 home in suburban Tamare which was given to the family by the Creole Petroleum Company, a Standard Oil subsidiary.

Efren Prieto Cuervo, father of the quintuplets, is a Creole employee.

Polecats are confined to the northern hemisphere, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

WHO'S WALKING WHOM?—Despite the strength of purpose exhibited by Mark Merrifield of suburban Pittsburg, Kan., Graf, his 3-year-old Great Dane companion, runs the show when it comes to taking walks. Graf stands 36 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds.

Failed to Recognize His 'Master's Voice'

By MICHAEL POSNER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Casey was watching a strawberry blonde as the telephone rang on.

Casey is a loyal Democrat who works at the Capitol and the last thing he would do would be to keep his leader waiting. But Casey did just that and as a result he does not want his real name made public.

The incident occurred Wednesday evening in the caucus room of the old House office building. Casey was a guest, as he often is, at one of the numerous cocktail parties held there.

This was a typically intimate Washington affair: 300 persons were invited to honor the appointment of John P. White of Winchester, Mass., as a deputy assistant secretary of state. About 500 showed up.

Hard To Hear

Because of the chin-to-chin chatter the telephone ringing behind the horseshoe-shaped committee table was hardly heard.

As the story is told by reliable, but red-eyed, veterans of the capital cocktail circuit, the telephone sounded for at least 15 minutes before Casey stopped ogling the blonde, put down a wilting cracker and anchovy, and lifted the receiver.

Caucus room veterans said this was unusual since no one bothers to pick up ringing telephones during a party.

Casey says that the caller asked, "Is Larry O'Brien of the White House there?" O'Brien is the White House congressional liaison man.

Casey glanced at the shoulder-to-shoulder crowd, sighed and agreed to take a look.

Returns To Phone

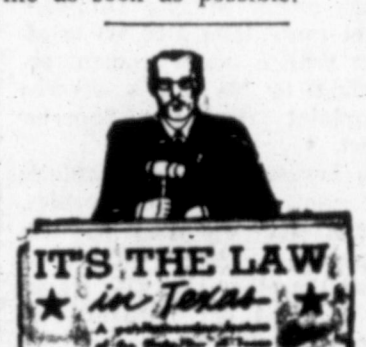

After curling a precarious trail past jutting cigarettes, bucking elbows and falling canapes, Casey returned to the telephone.

"Sorry, I can't find him," Casey said.

He said the caller was patient, telling him, "The switchboard has been trying to get through and no one's been answering the phone. Have Larry call me as soon as possible."

"Well, who is this?" Casey asked.

"This is the President," Casey was told. "Have Larry call me as soon as possible."

JURY DUTY

Jury duty is an experience everybody ought to have.

In a criminal case twelve jurors have a duty to do justice as each one sees it, and yet be unanimous. In most trials both sides have much to say, and the evidence is conflicting.

The twelve jurors vary in their ability, temperament, character, education, and their experience in the world, and in the question at stake.

Yet a jury made up of both sexes, with wide age and educational differences, jobs and origins must all come up with the same verdict. Upon their verdict much depends — the life or liberty of others, and the public good. So it may take them days of talking among themselves, all to agree.

Jury duty calls for insight, common sense, courage, tact, fair-mindedness, patience, (especially toward the jurors who disagree with you), good humor, tolerance, balance, willingness to hear others out and change one's mind, readiness to go over the facts to find something to bring agreement. In short, jury duty demands a "decent respect for the opinions" of others.

More and more women share civic duties, especially as jurors.

Time was in Texas when women could not serve on juries. They still cannot in four states. A jury finds facts. It hears and weighs evidence and then comes to a verdict. It does not make the law — the legislature does; and the judge "charges" or instructs the jury concerning the law applicable to the particular case it is considering.

The judge will tell you not to find the accused guilty until he is proved so under strict rules of evidence. If you have any "reasonable doubt," — not imaginary or far-fetched — acquit the accused.

Civil cases do not demand a moral certainty, merely the "preponderance" of what you regard as reliable and believable evidence.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Retail Sales Rise In Dallas District

DALLAS (UPI) — Department store sales increased 11 per cent in the 11th Federal Reserve District for the week ended Aug. 8 compared to a similar period in 1963.

Houston led the increase in sales with a jump of 13 per cent, followed by Dallas' 10 per cent, San Antonio's 6 per cent, and El Paso's 1 per cent.
