Caprock Hospital to close temporarily

By Alice Gilroy

With pledges of help from Methodist Hospital and faced with a debt that will not get away without more borrowing, Caprock Hospital board members made the difficult but optimistic decision to close the hospital on a temporary basis.

A motion, made by board member Melba Vickers, stated, that the hospital, including the emergency room, ambulance service and lab, should close. The hospital should continue to operate the clinic until May 31st, when it would be turned over to the doctors who would have the option to pay the utilities, insurance, housekeeping, etc., until September 1, and then the clinic would be closed. The doctors would not be required to pay rent on the building.

Fred Thayer seconded the motion and all board members voted unanimously to close the hospital temporarily.

William Bertrand asked Hospital Administrator Terry Keltz to find out if the city or county would take over the ambulance service. The board members asked Keltz to make it clear that the hospital would pay their equal share of the costs. Keltz was also asked to check into putting the emergency phone number on call forwarding to the sheriff's dispatcher until the 911 number came into effect.

Before the decision was made Dan Griffis and Ron Reeves of Methodist Hospital Regional Services addressed the board members with recommendations and suggestions.

"We would suggest closing with a position of re-opening in six months," said Griffis.

"We are working hard with three physicians who are interested in the West Texas area. Two of them have strong interest in Floydada, but your decision can't be based on them. Even if they made a definite decision to come, they wouldn't be here before 90-100 days.

"I don't think it is a desperate situation. There are some prospects and we will get them here before the end of the year. Hospitals can close and re-open. Muleshoe and Aspermont are examples.

"Even though it is not easy it may be the best way. We will continue to pay Terry Keltz's salary and benefits for one year at no cost to the hospital. He is a great administrator and you will need him here to re-open.

"Methodist Hospital will also employ your key employees and pay them what they have made here. We will return those employees after you re-open.

"Methodist Hospital will also pay the costs to get a physician here. This includes the $20,000-$25,000 recruitment fee, moving fee, up front cash bonuses and a guaranteed first year salary. We will also help the doctor get his office set up, equipped and properly managed."

"The approach to this closing should be positive," said Ron Reeves. "Your key issues should be to restructure old debt, reduce expenses and collect what money is out there. Doctors will still come when they see you have plans to re-open.

"Make sure people know that you are cleaning up old debts and making sacrifices so we can re-open and be strong."

"Our first focus in closing," said Keltz, "is to accommodate the patients we have in the hospital. They will be given a week to be placed somewhere else. We will also need someone to work on an as needed basis to work account receivables and send out statements."

"This should be done in an orderly manner," said Bertrand, "and I think we should leave that up to the administrator."

"It is going to take money to close," said Keltz. "Medicare will need a cost report and audited financial statement. There will also be the expense of a final payroll."

Jerry Thompson, a newly elected board member who was attending the meeting, asked the board if the helicopter would still make emergency runs to the area if needed (Thompson has not been sworn in and was unable to vote).

"They will still come if called by a law enforcement officer or emergency personnel," said Vickers. "They can land almost anywhere."

In discussing the declining census, Keltz told the board, "We recently had a period of time where we went 19 days without one acute care patient being admitted. This situation is unfortunate because we have an outstanding facility and staff which has the capabilities of meeting the health care needs of our community, but we just aren't getting admissions to our hospital."

Keltz read a prepared statement to the board, which was approved by the board, concerning the closing of the hospital. In it Keltz said, "Due to declining census, the hospital board felt the best alternative would be to close the hospital until additional physicians are recruited. The closure will allow the hospital to collect outstanding receivables and service its debts.

"This process is not an unusual move. Other hospitals in our area have been in similar situations, such as Aspermont and Muleshoe, which have re-opened.

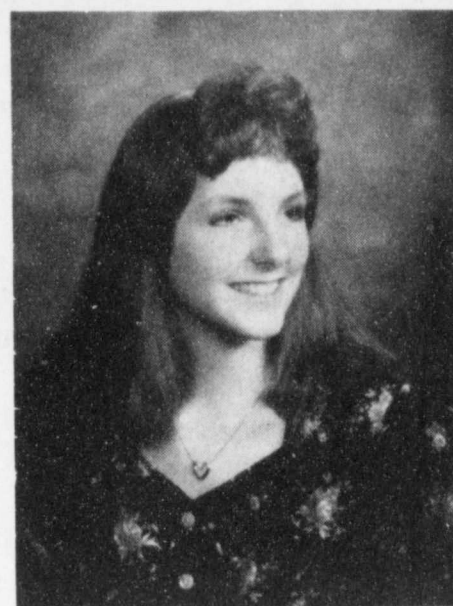

"Methodist Hospital stands ready to assist in helping the hospital and community during this period.

"The temporary closure of Caprock Hospital in no way relates to the dissolution of the hospital district, nor does it dissolve the district's obligation to satisfy its debts and exercise its taxing authority.

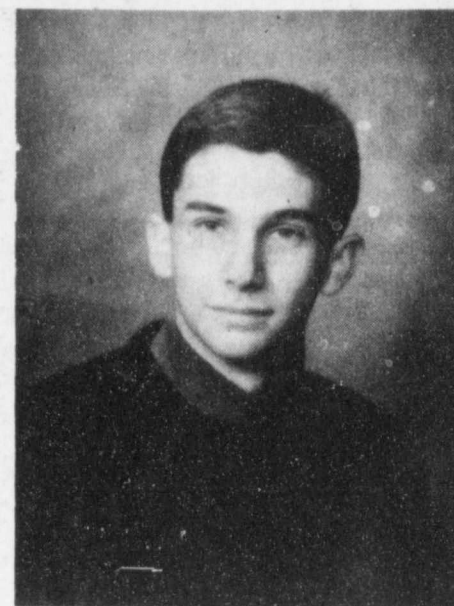

"It is the intent of the governing board of directors to facilitate the re-opening of Caprock Hospital as soon as additional physicians are acquired, its staff is restored and it is financially feasible."

After the board meeting the board members met with the staff of the hospital and informed them of the decision.

Those attending the meeting were board members: Fred Thayer, Kenneth Pitts, Joy Assiter, Melba Vickers, William Bertrand; Director of Nursing Molly Stringer, Terry Keltz, Dan Griffis, Ron Reeves, Jerry Thompson, Jim Word, and The Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Caprock Hospital voters choose two new members, return one incumbent

Voters in the financially plagued Caprock Hospital District elected two newcomers to the board on Saturday, May 4. They reelected one incumbent in the balloting which was held at Massie Activity Center for the first time. With eight candidates running for three at-large posts, the voter turnout placed at more than 400 by hospital administrator Terry Keltz, was heavier than in any other Floydada municipal race this spring, but extremely light when compared to the 1396 who voted in the tax rollback election last November.

Candidate Jerry Thompson was the recipient of 333 votes in his bid for election to the board. Incumbent Joy Assiter received the second highest vote total and was reelected with 200 votes. The third person to be voted into a position on the board was Jim Word. Word received a total of 146 votes in the balloting.

Incumbent Kenneth Pitts received 128 votes, but was not reelected to the board. Carmel Eastham received 127 votes. Sheree Cannon had 103 votes, Bob Ross finished with 93 votes and former hospital employee Patti Miller garnered 42 votes.

Three write-in votes were counted in the election, one each for D.M. Cogdell, William Bertrand and Casper Garza.

FLOYDADA CITY COUNCIL ELECTIONS HOLD NO SURPRISES

With four uncontested candidates, the May 4 Municipal Election held no surprises as Mayor Wayne Russell and two councilmen were returned to office while a new entry in the Floydada political arena was elected to a one year unexpired term at large. A total of 413 voters cast ballots in the election held for the first time at Massie Activity Center.

Russell garnered a total of 372 votes in the Saturday balloting. Councilman Leroy Burns of District 3 was returned to office with a total of 140 votes and Councilman Ruben Barrientos of District 2 received 90 votes to earn a second two year term in office.

The only at-large candidate, Clar Schacht received a total of 348 votes in his bid for election to the unexpired one year term on the ballot.

According to City Secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart, there were 11 write-in votes in the election, none of which were for the same person.

PIONEER REUNION PARADE TO STRESS PATRIOTIC THEME

The Floyd County Pioneer Reunion Association is encouraging county businesses and residents interested in entering floats in the Old Settler's Day Parade to use a patriotic theme this year.

Association president Virginia Taylor said, "It would be nice for those entering floats to ask a serviceman who is in town, a veteran or family members of a serviceman to ride on the float. We would also like spectators at the parade to wave little American flags in their honor."

Local businesses are encouraged to fly their flags for the day. Everyone is also asked to dress in red, white and blue for the day's festivities.

Among the categories which will receive parade prizes are the best junior cowboy and cowgirl, the best modern cowboy and cowgirl, the best sheriff's posse or riding club, bands in the parade, best decorated bicycle, oldest truck, best dressed oldtime cowgirl and cowboy, best antique auto, best commercial float, best pioneer float, best club float, oldest tractor, best shetland pony, best team drawn vehicle, the oldest man and oldest woman, the pioneer traveling the longest distance and the best future pioneers.

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

I felt like I had to say something about the hospital closing. I don't know what I can say to make anybody feel any better, except that it is not going to be a permanent closing.

It is hard not to despair over news like this, but there is a light at the end of the tunnel. People can make it through anything as long as they can see that light.

Methodist Hospital has made a very generous offer, and it will be just what the Hospital District needs to get back on its feet. If we all pull together and be patient, I feel confident that the Hospital will re-open and be a sound financial institution.

Don't think this was an easy decision for the board members. It has been a very emotional time among the board members and the staff at the hospital. But they are very sincere in their desire to put the hospital back on its feet and this is the ONLY way to do it. They, more than anybody, know the problems it will cause, but they had to make the decision and be held responsible. It was a courageous thing to do.

We have got to look at this as a positive step and be optimistic about our future.

When I was visiting with the administrator Terry Keltz about this, he made a statement that made me feel better and maybe it will help everyone else.

He said, "Alice, sometimes things have to die to be re-born."

I'm sure that all the workers of the Old Settler's Reunion will be glad when May 24th & 25th are over with. Virginia Taylor, the president of the association, walked in and out our front door three times in a matter of 45 seconds the other day. It reminded me of Columbus.

She kept thinking of things she wanted us to remember to put in the paper about Old Settlers. I know how she feels. We are getting that way around here too. From now until the end of May, we are swamped with pictures and stories. We've got to squeeze in every awards assembly, school pictures, graduation pictures and Old Settlers Day in the next few weeks.

We sure do appreciate our advertisers who make it all possible.

But back to Old Settlers—
The Old Settlers Association wants everyone to think patriotic for Old Settlers Day. If you are decorating a float try and make it a patriotic theme. We want to honor some veterans of past wars as well as returning servicemen from Saudi Arabia.

It would be nice if you have some veterans, servicemen or their families riding on your float. The businesses in town can cooperate by being sure to fly your flag on Saturday. Spectators of the parade are asked to bring a little flag and wave it during the parade. We will have more information later on where you can buy your flags.

On Friday, May 24, there are two biggies already planned. At 3:00 p.m., the time capsule will be buried on the courthouse lawn somewhere. So this is your last call. If you've got something you want to go in to it, you better hurry and get it to Judge Hardin at the courthouse.

Also on Friday, May 24, at 4:00 p.m. a reception will be held in honor of Margaret Collier, the county clerk, at the courthouse. The Old Settler's Association and the Commissioners Court is declaring May 24 as "Margaret Collier Day!" Margaret has worked for the county for 50 years! Be sure and mark this on your calendar and come out and show Margaret how much you appreciate her.

As I said before, things are really hectic around here. Of course, the busier we get, the more mistakes we make. I'm sure everyone in Lockney knows about the biggie mistake that we made last week. We left Bernie Ford's name off the list of candidates for the Lockney

School Board. At least we couldn't be blamed for him losing the position—since he won.

I know everyone knows about it because Neta Marble plastered signs all over town telling people we did it. It was very strange walking into Stricklands Friday afternoon for lunch and seeing a big sign on the door saying that The Hesperian-Beacon had made a mistake and left off the name of Bernie Ford, etc!!!

I wanted to turn around and go back to my car, but since it was a glass door everyone could already see me standing there reading the sign with my mouth open and wilting into my socks. Nothing like everyone in town knowing when you screw up.

There was one mistake that never made it to the paper—thanks to Carol Huggins back in the printing shop. Since everyone doesn't know about this one, I'll tell you about it.

I pasted up the page that had all the obituaries on it. After I had given the page to the printers and right before we left for lunch (around 2:30 p.m.), Carol came walking up and said, "I don't think you want this guy in the obituaries do you?"

I felt my spine start to crawl. I looked where she was pointing and read the "obituary". It was about some man (ex-Floydadian) who had received a prestigious award. He was very much alive. We even had his picture included in the obituaries.

I knew his mother would not have been pleased. Thank goodness Carol reads our paper—and before they print the pages. I owe her a big favor.

The incident reminded me of a cartoon we have hanging in our office. It is a "Born Loser" cartoon.

The "Born Loser" is calling the paper to complain. He is shouting into the phone and says, "This is Brutus P. Thornapple and you've got me listed in today's OBITUARIES!"

The voice on the other end pauses for a moment and then says, "er...just out of curiosity sir....Where are you calling from?"

Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor,

I must tell you how much I enjoyed your article on the Walker/Huffman Wedding Anniversary, even though I am very tardy in writing you.

What great memories it brought back. I wish I could remember what happened last week as vividly as I recall the time of their wedding. As a first grader in her class at the Lone Star School, I thought Miss Walker was beautiful and very kind (no wonder Herman Huffman remembers the day he met her).

Texas custom being as it was, some of the local young people decided to "chivari" the newly weds, unfortunately I was too young to participate, Ha! What I remember so well was Miss Walker days. The resolution is designed to allow the city to study the increase and the reasons for it prior to approving it. The motion for approval of the resolution came from Councilman Amado Morales with a second from Councilman Wayne Tipton. There was no opposition to the motion.

HOSPITAL REQUEST WITHDRAWN

Fred Thayer, Caprock Hospital Board member, met with the council to inform them of the decision earlier in the day to close the local hospital on a temporary basis. Thayer withdrew a previous request for financial assistance from the city.

Thayer and Rhonda Guthrie, a Floydada Emergency Medical Technician, asked that the city consider taking over the operation of the ambulance service either on their own or as a joint operation with the county. Guthrie asked that the matter be placed on the next meeting agenda so that it could be discussed prior to the actual closing of the hospital and the end of local ambulance service. The council agreed to discuss the matter at the May 20 regular session.

Votes canvassed from May 4 FISD trustee election

By Juanita Stepp

Votes from the May 4 Trustee Election were canvassed by FISD administrative assistant Jimmie Collins and school board members Michael Hinsley and Don Hardy at the May 6 regular session of the school board. Following their declaration of the results as official, reelected board members Cyndiann Williams and Andy Hale signed the pre-oath statements required by the state attorney general's office. The duo will be sworn in after the AG's office acknowledges receipt of the statements.

Officers for the coming year were then elected with Charlene Brown being reelected to the post of president by acclamation. Hinsley was returned to the office of vice president and Williams was reelected to the position of secretary.

RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED

The FISD Board of Trustees accepted resignations effective with the end of the school year this year. Motion for accepting the resignations came from Hinsley with a second by Hardy. The vote was unanimously in favor of the motion.

These resignations included Jan Beedy, kindergarten teacher at A. B. Duncan Elementary; Donna Baer, 5th grade teacher at R. C. Andrews Elementary; Doris McClain, Chapter I Reading teacher; Billie Jordan, High School and Duncan Elementary Nurse; Pam Lewis, High School English; Larry Baer, Junior High Principal; and Pauline McCormick, Library Aide at Junior High.

NEW PERSONNEL EMPLOYED

A motion by Hardy, seconded by Andy Hale and approved by unanimous vote, authorized the hiring of three employees effective with the 1991-92 school year. Those hired include Grant Hambright as curriculum director for the entire district, Penny Womack as school nurse at High School and Duncan Elementary, and Bruce Bramlett as the new Junior High principal.

1991-92 SCHOOL CALENDAR TO BE REVISED

Board members face the task of revising the school calendar to include the additional five days of school mandated by recent legislation. The school year will have five additional days for students attending school, but will eliminate teacher in-service days as students out of school days. In-services will be held throughout the year with substitutes taking the classes of those teachers attending.

Among the plans being considered by the FISD board are the shortening of either or both Christmas vacation and spring break, starting school as early as August 20 or continuing school into June. No action was taken on the matter at this time.

BASEBALL PROGRAM BEING CONSIDERED

FISD is considering the pros and cons of beginning a baseball program in the High School. Considerations presented to the board by Head Coach Dean Bates included the cost of getting the program up and running, the effect on other spring sports and the personnel necessary to staff the program.

Bates stated that he was concerned that students currently on the track, golf and tennis teams might opt to play baseball instead of their current sport, thus debilitating the current programs to begin the new baseball program. Bates passed out a list of "ball park figures" he estimates as the startup costs of a baseball program. The estimated total Bates sees as start up costs was approximately $13,000. These figures include the cost of uniforms, equipment, batting cage and batting tunnel and a pitching machine. No costs for a coach, field or travel was included.

These estimates are rough according to Bates and could be cut down with funding and assistance from various sources within the community as well as by constructing some of the items instead of purchasing them. Some ways to raise funds included admission fees for games, program sales, pennant sales and button sales as well as concession stand sales.

No action was taken on the subject, but two people were present to give their views on the subject. Edd Henderson Jr. told the board, "I am speaking from the viewpoint of a person who loves the game and would like to see it in our area. I believe there is good community support and that bringing the local ball field up to standard would benefit the community, the school and the students."

Gayle Noland told the group "Some children excel in baseball and will never be interested in football or basketball. These children should have the opportunity to play a sport they enjoy and are good at."

Henderson also told the board "Having been involved in the formation of a baseball program in Lubbock, I know that you can get a basic program up and running for three to five thousand dollars."

Among the drawbacks cited by Coach Bates was the fact that the Title 9 regulations require that sports programs be offered to students of both sexes. Stated Bates, "If we offer baseball to boys, we must also offer baseball to girls or allow them to play on the boy's team. According to Title 9, girls can play football with the boys and some schools already have girls on the football team."

The matter was not acted on at present. The board would like more information about the cost and more local input before taking further action.

SPONSOR BONUS INCREASES APPROVED

Trustees approved increasing bonus payments to sponsors of certain activities at school for the coming year. The High School cheerleader bonus was increased from $800 per year to $1200 per year. Bonus for the Junior High cheerleading sponsor was increased from $200 per year to $400 per year. Motion for the increases came from Hale and was seconded by Hinsley. The motion was approved by unanimous vote.

OTHER ACTION

The board approved the sale of a tax title lot to Joe Barrientos for $500. The lot, Lot 5, Block 25, in the Original Addition of Floydada, is located in the 300 block of West Georgia and will be sold if all other taxing entities involved approve the sale. Motion for the sale was made by John Campbell with a second by Billy Villarreal and approved unanimously.

Superintendent Jerry Cannon reported to the board that all seniors at FHS have now passed the exit level TEAMS and will graduate on schedule if they satisfactorily complete their course work at FHS.

100 percent of the juniors have passed the reading and writing sections of the test. He pointed out that one junior student was ill on mathematics test day and will have two more opportunities to take that portion of the test. This means that 99 percent of the juniors have passed the math section.

Cannon also passed out a proposed budget request from band director John Odom. The request was for $22,500 to purchase instruments for the sixth grade band. Odom's request is tied to the proposal that sixth grade band be made a mandatory class for all sixth graders.

Odom indicated in the proposal to Cannon that he felt students in the sixth grade who did not have the chance to take band were lost to band forever because they would not take it in Junior High if they had not been in sixth grade band classes. No action was taken on the proposal or the request.

Attending the evening session on Monday were superintendent Jerry Cannon, board members Charlene Brown, Michael Hinsley, Cyndiann Williams, John Campbell, Andy Hale, Don Hardy, Billy Villarreal, Andrews principal Ellen Enriquez, Coach Dean Bates, administrative assistant Jimmie Collins, Debra Fawver, Gayle Noland, Edd Henderson Jr., Joe Stepp and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

BEWARE OF NIELSON'S IMITATORS.

Great recipes are always copied, but seldom equalled. And, to date, no one in over 35 years has successfully duplicated the quality and taste of Nielson's authentic dishes.

Some say it's because no one has ever captured the magic of the secret way we blend our past and present menu with over 100 items to choose from.

Others say it's because no one has ever been willing to invest the time and effort required to re-create authentic, old-world recipes that taste as good as scratch.

But one thing everyone agrees on is that the old country traditional recipes of Nielson's are truly one of a kind. There is no shortcut to paradise. No corner-cutting backroom miracles. Just a quality in taste and good service to increase guest satisfaction in the front.

Thank you for your support for the past 5 years, and to tell you that you can expect the best from Nielson's in the many years to come.

The bride is the daughter of Carol Stearns of Irving and the late Grady Stearns. The groom is the son of Billie Jones of Floydada and the late Albert Jones.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ronnie Stearns of Irving, the bride wore a white satin dress with alencon lace insets on a fitted bodice, an antebellum waistline, Gibson point sleeves and a Sabrina neckline. The cathedral length train was edged in schiffli lace. She carried an arm bouquet of white calla lilies, roses and freesia, with heather and greenery. The bride wore an heirloom cameo necklace traditionally worn by all brides in the groom's mother's family. She also carried a handkerchief given to her by Ray Nell Bearden of Floydada.

Matron of honor was Vikki Morris of Irving, the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Leslie Candelaria of Dallas and Luisa Castillo of Fairfax, Virginia. They wore tea-length polished cotton dresses of hunter green with a small floral print. Flower girl was Kristin Lewis of Coppell.

Best man was Jonny Jones of Floydada, brother of the groom. Dale Kenemer of Wilmore, Kentucky, served as groomsman. Ushers were Frank Martin of Irving, and Michael Lewis and Jimmy Lewis, both of Coppell.

Vocal selections included "This Is The Day (A Wedding Song)", sung by Mr. Kenemer, and "Be With Us, Lord" and "A Common Love", sung by Vicki Stearns of Irving, sister-in-law of the bride, and Judy Orahoad of Allen.

A reception was held in the church's hospitality room following the ceremony.

The wedding and reception were carried out in the bride's chosen colors of hunter green, wine and mauve.

PRE-NUPTIAL COURTESIES

Pre-nuptial courtesies included a shower in the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Connie Bearden in Floydada.

The table was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of burgundy, mauve and green. The focal point was a basket of silk flowers that was presented to the bride along with a 15-piece set of Farberware cookware.

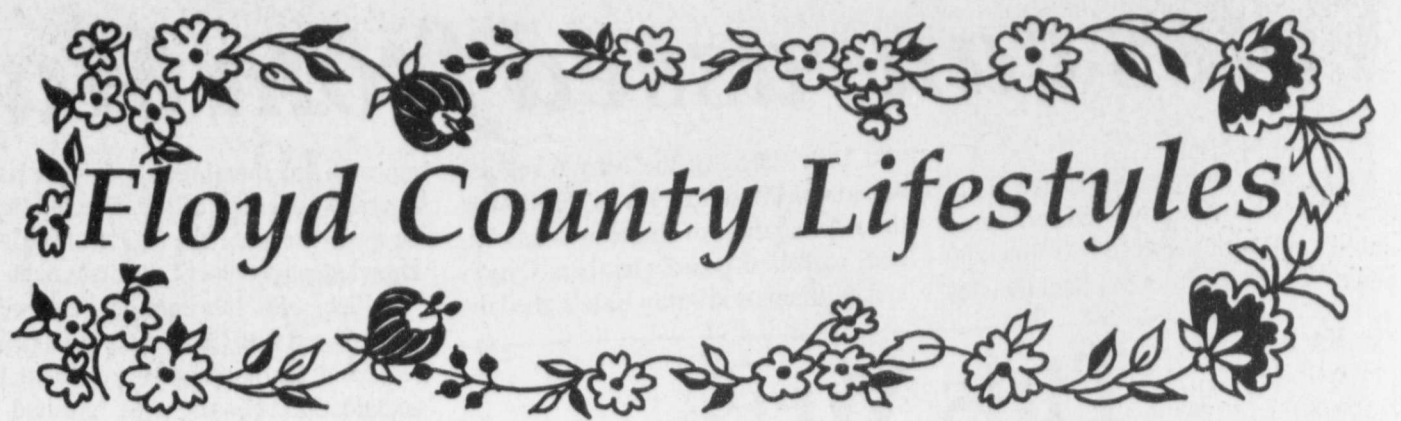

On one end of the table stood a fresh pineapple, embellished with maraschino cherries, pineapple chunks, and slices of apples and oranges. At the opposite end, coffee and spiced tea were poured from a golden tea service. Other refreshments included broiled bacon-wrapped olives, ham rollups, petite breakfast quiche and an assortment of fruit breads.

The hostesses, along with Ray Nell Bearden, included Joy Assiter, Betty Edwards, Faye Frye, Darlene Fulton, Joy Fulton, Barbara Jackson, Ann Reddy, Dona Reed, Belle Vinson, and Rilla Sue Woody.

Special guest was the honoree's mother, Carol Stearns of Irving. Other out-of-town guests attending were Delilah Harrol of Levelland, Mildred Knox and Carolyn Hacker of Hereford, Eugenia Rowland of Amarillo, Jill Fowler and Billie Crawford of Lubbock and Jacque James of Crosbyton and Jan Pugh, Kristi Roy, Jeannett Roy and Jo Roy of Lamesa.

Other courtesies included a shower given by the groom's father's family, a shower hosted by Mrs. Morris and Loren Evans of Irving, and a lingerie shower hosted by Misses Candelaria and Orahoad.

Following a wedding trip to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the couple is living in Irving.

Penny Hight feted with bridal courtesies

A bridal shower feted Miss Penny Hight was given Saturday morning in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church of Lockney.

Miss Hight and Michael Wilson will be married June 1 in Lubbock.

Special guests at the shower were the couple's mothers, Dahlia Hight of Lockney and Ann Wilson of Lubbock; the prospective groom's aunt, Von Crockett of Lubbock, and the bride-elect's sister-in-law, Jodie Hight of Spearman. The honoree and the mothers wore corsages of mauve silk flowers tied with blue ribbon.

Other out-of-town guests included Dorothy Hunt, Ellen Seales, Mary Oldham, Sue Nelson and Ruth Rankin, all of Lubbock; Kay Dean Smith, Peggy Wright and Barbie Hendricks, all of Floydada.

The serving table was laid with white lace over mauve. Centerpiece was an arrangement of mauve and blue silk flowers and ivy with mauve candles. It was a gift to the bride from Eleanor Schacht. Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve coffee, fruit punch and cookies.

Hostess gift was a vacuum. Sharing hostess duties were Margie Ferguson, Molly Huffman, Wanda Moats, Zeld sively toward earning this award, including a final project of electrical wiring at Camp Rio Blanco near Crosbyton. ## Students model clothing projects

Students of the Floydada CVAE Home Ec. classes modeled their clothing projects Friday, April 26, in the new vocational building classroom. Guests included teachers, administrators and counselors.

Students were from the Construction Trades classes, Auto Mechanics classes and from R.C. Andrews. The teacher, Mrs. Joyce Williams, briefly reviewed the semester's work based on jobs in the clothing industry.

They have completed individual color analysis; line and design study; a visit to Hale's Department Store for a fashion update; shopped at Perry's store for fabric, patterns and small sewing equipment and visited Mr. T's Dry Cleaners to learn about work there. A chart was displayed showing the price of alterations which the students learned to do in class by hand and on machine.

The classroom has a complete laundry unit and steam presser to familiarize them with commercial equipment. FHS members of the classes toured a clothing factory, the Joni Lynn Co., in Bronte, Texas, recently on their way to the state convention in San Antonio.

After the fashion show, guests were served cookies and iced fruit punch. A red cloth covered the serving table, an arrangement of red roses served as centerpiece. A crystal punch bowl and cups were used as guests were served by Misses Louisa Gomez and Mari Hill at the morning show. Afternoon guests were served by Yolanda Ledbetter. Cookie Gonzales gave a welcoming speech to the guests.

News from Caprock Hospital

By Molly Stringer

We observed National Nurses Day on Monday, May 6. The nurses were presented a pair of iris scissors from the hospital and were served a delicious chicken fried steak meal.

In honor of our nurses our column this week is devoted to describing a day in the life of a nurse at Caprock Hospital that was submitted to her 30 year class reunion scrapbook.

"A Day In the Life Of A Nurse"
What makes a day in the life of a nurse?

This particular day begins at 5:30 a.m. The radio on my bedside table comes on and I delay getting up for a few extra minutes in my warm snugly bed. Finally at 5:50 a.m. I manage to climb out of bed and start the daily ritual of making myself presentable to the public's eye. This takes a great deal of help from my wonder-working makeup, lipstick and eyeshadow.

There is no time for breakfast. I leave to travel the three blocks to my work. Sometimes I walk or ride my bike, but today I decide to take the car. I arrive at the hospital at 6:30 a.m.

I check the schedule to see how many staff I will have to care for the 15 patients we have today. I am the day supervisor and also the supervisor of surgery.

I returned to complete my education in nursing 10 years ago after my children were all in school. In my late thirties I finally accomplished my goal to become a registered nurse.

I quickly made assignments and received reports from the R.N. who is finishing her night shift. The night nurse agrees to stay and cover the floor for me until I can get back from surgery. We have two cases scheduled for this morning.

I go to the surgery suite and change into scrubs. I open the sterile packs, pull all of the instruments packs that will be needed for the first case. I make sure all of the surgery crew have arrived and ask them to begin their scrub. The anesthesiologist arrives.

I take the stretcher from the OR and to room 123 to pick up my first patient. She is a friend of mine. I was a babysitter for her daughters many times when I was in high school.

This surgery is a short case, I circulate, assist the anesthesiologist, fill out records and see the patient into the recovery room, where one of our staff and LVN will monitor her until she wakes up some and then will return her to her room.

Quickly I call housekeeping to clean the operating room and the scrub team assists me in pulling the sterile instruments and packs for the next case. I hurriedly open the packs and the scrub team starts their scrub. I return to the floor to room 119 to transport the patient back to the OR on a stretcher. We follow the same process as for the first patient except this patient is very heavy and difficult to handle.

All goes well and at 8:55 a.m. I return to supervisory duties on the floor to relieve a very tired R.N.

The doctors begin making their daily patient rounds. We have three physicians and I make rounds with each one. I spend the next hour or so transcribing orders and charting of the patients.

The emergency bell rings. I go to the emergency room, someone has been hurt in a cotton gin accident. The hand is very mangled. I call the physician for orders, x-rays are done. The fracture and repair necessary cannot be done by a general surgeon. The ambulance is summoned and arrangements are made for the patient to be transferred 50 miles to the orthopedic surgeon.

I return to the floor, check all of the patients, glance at my watch and see that it is time for lunch. First we serve the patients and assist those who cannot feed themselves and then attempt to eat our lunch in the midst of answering all lights, telephone and checking on patients.

We spend the next two hours doing routine nursing duties, charting and ordering supplies.

At 2:30 p.m. we clean the lounge and kitchen areas in our department and get ready for the on-coming shift. I give report to 3-11 R.N. and her staff.

I am free to go home for an hour or so. We have surgery scheduled for 5 p.m. I arrive back at the hospital at 4:15 p.m. There are three staff to help in surgery this evening. This is a major case. We expect to be here for three to four hours.

The patient is 33 years old and is in for a colostomy repair. The bowel has been leaking both inside and outside the abdomen for days.

After the usual preliminaries and we are set up in the operating room and ready to go, the surgeon makes the incision. We see infection has spread and there are abscesses all over the bowel.

The surgeon very carefully begins to clean, irrigate and wash the abdomen and bowel with normal saline. Time passes — I tell the LVN maybe we will be home by 8 p.m. — no, — maybe 9 p.m.

Two units of blood are given, time passes, the surgeon continues to work. Finally the bowel is back together again. We are so glad, no more leaking and foul smelling stool to clean up every few minutes. We leave the operating room at 9:50 p.m.

In the recovery room I cannot hear a blood pressure, the patient's pulse is very fast and weak. She is not responding. I say a silent prayer.

The two physicians, anesthesiologist, LVN and respiratory tech and I stand by—the patient responds some.

She nods her head, she opens her eyes. She's on the respirator, but she's alive! Her blood pressure is very faint. At 12:15 a.m. we move the patient back to her room.

I wearily change from my scrubs and go home to find a very sleepy husband waiting up for me.

I talk with him and watch TV for a few minutes to unwind, my eyelids grow heavy, 5:30 a.m. isn't far away, another day, another opportunity to help someone, another opportunity in minister in HIS name.

The day described above was an actual happening in the life of a nurse at Caprock Hospital.

The critical patient is alive and well and resides in Floydada.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi, once again from the residents and staff of the Floydada Nursing Home. Good to come and share with you once again.

Monday, I was gone to Crowell, as I attended the 100th year celebration and my class reunion. Must say that I had a wonderful time and it was good going home once again. The celebration was well attended. Bro. Bill Wright came and shared the word with you and Irene Wexler played the piano while Otis Johnson Grass lead the singing.

Tuesday, the residents had their morning coffee, juice and cookies. At 2 p.m. they had ceramics, they painted a piggy bank.

Wednesday was the usual Bingo day. Peggy Young had the first Bingo. Ruth Hammonds and Mary Alice Davis came and assisted the residents in playing.

Thursday, Cecil Pope, Calvary Baptist Church, came and read Psalm 103, thanks for sharing. Then in the evening, the residents had current events, popcorn and candy.

Friday, Lee Burton, First Baptist Church, gave us devotional taken from Romans 8 on "All things work for good for those who love." Love endures all things. Evelyn Latta played the piano for us and Otis Johnson lead the singing.

At 1:30 the residents went on a bus ride to Plainview. McDonald's treated them to some ice cream. Some went shopping at Wal-Mart.

May 6th was Nurses Day, we acknowledged them with roses and a pink carnation corsage. We appreciate the nurses very much, keep up the good work. Also want to wish Cheryl Ward, administrator, a very happy birthday Wednesday, May 8.

Next week we will acknowledge our senior citizens by inviting them to attend our Bingo on Wednesday, May 15, at 2 p.m. You'll come now to have some fun and laughter with us. Also National Nursing Home Week begins May 12-18, come and visit us.

Sims bestowed volunteer award

Elizabeth Sims of Floydada received the Outstanding Volunteer Award at the annual meeting of Caprock Girl Scout Council in Lubbock on April 27. This award was given in recognition of Elizabeth's administrative services to the Floydada Girl Scouts.

She has served as Service Unit Chair and Troop Organizer for the area for eight years, working to secure leaders and place girls in troops. She has served as area Cookie Chair for seven years as well. She has chaired numerous council events and has served as Crafts Consultant for Camp Rio Blanco near Crosbyton for several years. She also currently serves as a Trip Leader for the council group which will be taking a cruise to the Bahama Islands this summer.

Joyce Williams of Floydada received her 10 years of service pin at this meeting. This recognizes volunteer service as an adult, and does not count years of membership in Girl Scouts as a girl.

Howard returns from second war

At the young age of 20, Army Specialist Henry Howard has already been through two wars, Panama and Iraq. When it comes time to re-enlist, Howard says he will do it again.

The son of Al and Lisa Howard, Henry Howard was born in Floydada in 1970 and attended Floydada schools for 12 years. With many friends still in Floydada, Howard returned here April 22 to visit friends and to thank the community for their support while he was in Saudi Arabia.

Howard enlisted in the army July 1988, after graduating from Carthage High School. Stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., he arrived in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia on Aug. 22, 1990, as part of the 82nd Airborne.

"The 82nd Airborne were the first ground units to get there," said Howard. The Air Force was also already there.

"The odds didn't look good at times. At first we were the first against 2,500 tanks, but if Hussein was going to send troops across the border someone had to try and stop him. Someone had to go out there and it had to be us. Even if he had overrun us, we would have fought," said Howard.

Within two weeks, the 82nd was joined by the 24th Infantry Division. "They are mechanized and have armor," said Howard. When we saw them going down the road we felt better."

Howard was moved first onto a Saudi Arabian air defense base by a town called Safwah. Time was spent studying classes that familiarized the soldiers with Iraqi tanks, air weapons, chemical weapons capabilities and how to deal with the heat.

Later on defense positions were dug in to protect the port of Dhahran, in case the Iraqis crossed the border. "We then went into training out in the desert until about Nov. 1. Basically we sat and waited to see when the war was going to start."

Asked if the waiting was hard on him, Howard said, "It affects people different ways. I didn't mind it. Business has its own misery and I preferred waiting."

After the war started, Howard was flown to the Iraqi-Saudi Arabian border by a town called Rafha. Defensive positions were dug and once again the waiting started.

"We sat for a month waiting for the ground war to start," said Howard. "We could see hundreds and hundreds of aircraft flying over us constantly. It was heaviest at night. We could hear the rumbling at night of the B-52's heavy bombing."

When the ground war started and the waiting was over, Howard and the rest of the 82nd followed behind the French Foreign Legion and part of the French Army.

"We moved 100 miles north on the road to Baghdad to an Iraqi town called AAS Salomon. We were supposed to make the forces in Kuwait panic and think we were headed for Baghdad so they would pull out and start retreating."

"Then we cut 100 miles east to meet the Iraqis who were supposedly moving out of Kuwait and destroy the army between us and the allied troop who was pursuing them."

"But, since they surrendered we stopped close to the Euphrates and waited for 2-3 weeks."

Although the war ended early, the 82nd was left to make sure everything stayed quiet. "We stayed busy gathering up abandoned equipment and munitions and destroying them," said Howard.

"When we pulled out we were moved south of Nasiriya, Iraq. The Republican Guard were there fighting the rebels. The Guard was shooting women and children to break the will of those rebels fighting."

"We took medical doctors there and guarded the field hospitals that were built there. We also set up road blocks on the road to and from Nasiriya to search vehicles for weapons."

"We were relieved by the 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment at the end of March and sent back to Saudi Arabia. I arrived back home April 4."

Howard was one of several servicemen in Saudi Arabia who received The Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon. "I enjoyed getting the paper," said Howard. "It was nice to see the support we were getting and I found out my best friend, Tracy Warren, was over there."

"I want to thank everyone for their support and particularly Mike Bishop who was exceptionally supportive."

To Howard, the worst part about the war was the separation from his family.

"The chaplains did a real good job of helping us and we had each other to talk to. Being in Saudi Arabia brought back some real familiar feelings."

Besides remembering West Texas heat, some of those familiar feelings, for Howard, were his remembrances of fighting in Panama. "We flew out of Ft. Bragg on Dec. 19 to go to Panama. We parachuted in Dec. 20. We helicoptered out into a Panamanian Defense Force at a barracks called Tinajitas. A friend of mine was killed trying to get out of the helicopter to get to cover."

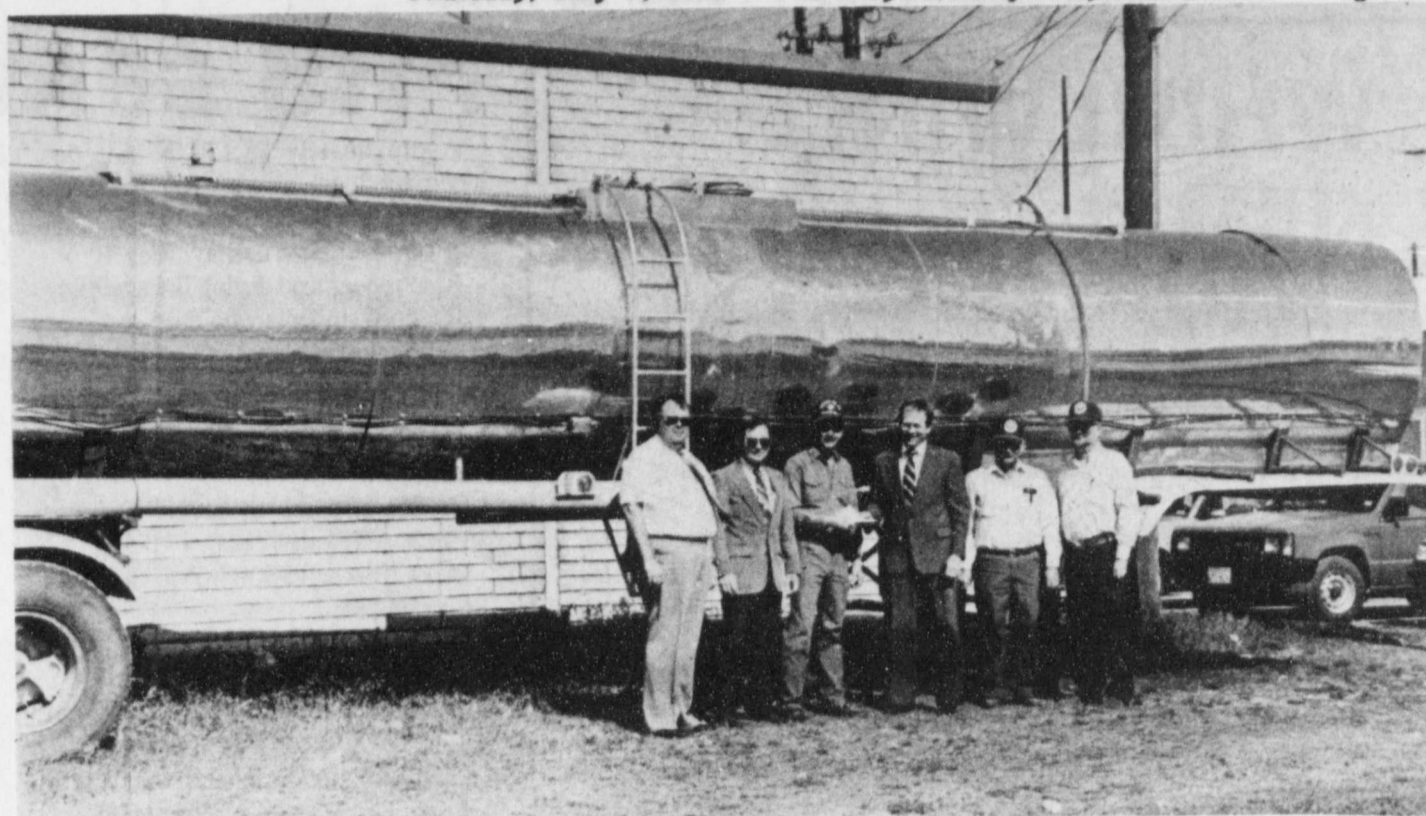

Howard will be ready for re-enlistment July 1992. "I want to stay in the army, but I want to change jobs. I had a high score in Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery and I should be able to pick a job."

"All my life I wanted to do exactly what I'm doing. I'm glad I got the experience and I'd do it all over again."

ARMY SPEC. HENRY HOWARD

There's no other like a MOTHER!
Happy Mother's Day from all of us.

TANKER DONATED—Steve Williams, Vice President of Claims, Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Co., announced the donation of this 5000 gallon tanker trailer to the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department. This is just another way that Texas Farm Bureau is trying to help the rural fire departments in an effort to lower the fire losses and premiums through better training and equipment for the volunteer fire departments. This tanker trailer will be used primarily in Floyd County. Texas Farm Bureau Insurance also makes payments to the volunteer fire departments for some fire calls in rural areas involving property insured by Texas Farm Bureau, and the Floyd County Farm Bureau and other county Farm Bureau organizations sponsor volunteer firemen at fire school each summer. # WHIRLWIND NEWS

Whirlwinds working hard thru off-season

By Bill Gray

There are no touchdowns scored in the weight rooms and training fields at Floydada High School; no Friday night heroes here! There are no game-saving tackles, key fumble recoveries or pass interceptions — only lots of hard and strenuous work on the part of the young men involved in Whirlwind athletics and the coaches who direct them.

It is the time of year that coaches' cars and pickups can be seen at odd hours at the FHS fieldhouse. They're either reviewing game films or evaluating the progress of each and every player-to-be for the coming year. A successful team just doesn't happen. It has to be carefully planned and developed.

The 1991 edition of the Floydada Whirlwinds will hit the practice fields for Fall drills in just three short months. The 'Winds report for two-a-days in August, with the Wester Field season-opener against Crane's Golden Cranes scheduled for September 6.

The planning process for 1991's grid fortunes began taking shape at the final horn of last November's Littlefield game. After turning in helmets and cleats, some footballers opted for basketball and then track. Those not participating in spring sports got somewhat of a head start over their teammates in strength and conditioning training. Now that the track campaign is complete, all who'll be donning pads in August are winding down another successful off-season program.

In its fourth full year of implementation, Floydada's off-season conditioning is as tough as any around, and the end results have been rewarding for the individual athletes as well as the overall team's strength and quickness. Although no points or laurels are gained by the participants, it doesn't mean that off-season isn't highly competitive. The goal to improve and move up the ladder in rankings in the various categories is shared by all.

FHA-HERO group hears state meeting report

By Rachel Riojas

Tuesday, April 30, at 1:45 p.m. the Bluebonnet Chapter of FHA-HERO met in the CVAE-Home Ec. classroom at Floydada High School. Rachel Mendoza conducted the opening service in the absence of the president Gracie Gonzalez who got to the meeting later.

Ruth Rocha led the club in saying the Club Creed. Rachel Riojas read the minutes of the previous meeting. The treasurer reported all our candy has been sold except three and a half boxes of the original 16 boxes.

During old business we talked about the ones who still owe for their candy. In new business we talked about setting up a refreshment stand during Old Settlers to sell cold drinks and the rest of our candy. Rachel Mendoza volunteered to be in charge.

Our program was the report of the delegates to the State FHA-HERO meeting in San Antonio April 12, 13 and 14. Our advisor, Mrs. Joyce Williams showed a poster board of pictures taken during our trip to San Antonio. Rachel Riojas told about each picture.

We went through the Joni Lynn clothing factory in Bronte, Texas. It is in a town smaller than Floydada and employs about 14 women. In Austin we toured the state capitol of Texas and got our pictures taken.

We stayed at the Menger Hotel in San Antonio, right across the street from the Alamo. The first morning it was raining so we got to ride in a taxi to the convention center.

We went to workshops on "Cinderella Doesn't Live Here Anymore". It told us only one girl out of ten will be a stay at home wife. The other nine will be on their feet working for the next 34 years outside the home. Half of the girls will be divorced and have to raise her kids alone. So we'd better get our education and get a good paying job. Prince Charming is not going to come along and rescue us, the speaker said.

We also went to a workshop about how to say no and keep our friends.

We went to the general assemblies Friday and Saturday. We ate at the sidewalk cafe, the Casa Rio, on the Riverwalk. We rode the little trolley to the Mexican market. Also we rode the river barges for nearly an hour. We went to the Alamo and the gift shop.

Each night when we got back to our hotel we went swimming. The hot tub felt so good on our tired feet. Sunday we came back through San Angelo. At the gas station our attendant said he was from Floydada. He was Rusty Galvan and knew some of our families.

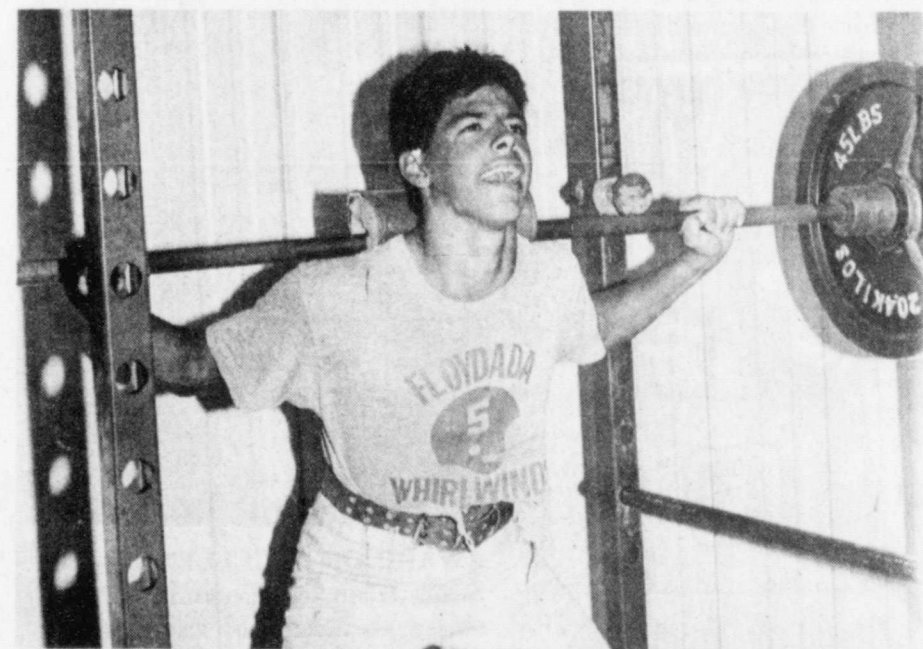

We ate lunch at a tortilla factory and watched the balls of dough being dropped in at the top and slowly it was rolled out and baked as it came through the other end of the machine.

We had a lot of fun on our trip. We all want to make good grades and go on the trip next year. Delegates were Yolanda Ledbetter, Rachel Riojas and Rosemary Gonzales.

Henry Howard, the Floydada soldier we wrote to in Saudi Arabia and made cookies and candy to mail to him, came to see us last week. He got home Sunday, April 21. He talked to all the CVAE-Home Ec. classes. We were glad to welcome him home.

The Red Cross has sent two speakers to tell us about the Women's Crisis Center in Plainview and other services available. We are visiting the Caprock Hospital and learning about jobs there. We voted to go on a skating party before school is out.

DOCTRINE OF SALVATION (Part 2)

Salvation by Grace Alone??
Sin alienates man from God (Isaiah 59:1-2) and can only be removed by the shedding of blood (not of animals - Hebrews 10:4) but the blood of Christ (1 Peter 1:18-19; Ephesians 1:7).
By God's unmerited favor (His grace) man's hopeless and helpless condition in sin has been remedied (Romans 5:6-10; 2 Corinthians 5:21).
But acknowledging the grace of God in salvation is a far cry from up-holding "salvation by grace alone." The Biblical fact of the matter is that God's grace has appeared unto all men, and Jesus tasted of death for every man (see Titus 2:11; Hebrews 2:9), but not all men will be saved:
- The five foolish virgins are shut out of the bridegroom's chamber due to un-preparedness (Matthew 25:1-13)
- The "broad way unto destruction" will be found by "many" (Matthew 7:13-14)
- Eternal destruction awaits those who "know not God and obey not the gospel" (2 Thessalonians 1:7-9)
Since God's saving grace is available to all men but some will be lost eternally, we must conclude that salvation cannot be by grace alone.

Lockney 1st grade students write and illustrate story books

By Terri Fortenberry

May 1 was just an ordinary Wednesday for most people, however; for nine students at Lockney Elementary School it was a day full of relief and a feeling of accomplishment. They had set a goal for themselves five weeks ago that for most adults would be unreachable.

These young students spent their recess and play time writing and illustrating their own childrens books. Just trying to fill 16 to 20 pages with words is a task itself but to compile a story that is sequenced and developed so that a reader would want to buy your story and then illustrate that story is another.

The contest these students entered could provide $5,000, $3,000 and $1,000 scholarships from Landmark Publications, Inc. The winner's will be notified in the fall and their books will be published and the royalties will be placed in a trust fund in the child's name.

The library at Lockney Elementary School has purchased the winning books for the last few years.

The students who submitted stories on May 1st held an autograph party for their parents, Mrs. Joyce Evans, elementary school principal; and several teachers who turned out to read the books.

The students who wrote books and entered them in the contest include the following:

Dane Arnold is seven years old. He is involved in tiger cubs and interested in cars and trucks. He also loves to draw. He wrote a story about a truck driver who drinks while he drives. He has an accident and ends up in the hospital.

First grader, Mary Lou Zavala, wrote a short story about memories shared from a grandmother to a granddaughter and how precious memories can be to each of them. Sharing memories is a way of creating memories that will go on and on forever.

Melanie Huggins is six years old and her story "The New Baby" is about three kittens and their mom and their baby sister. They go to different places like the Catspital, and to school, and to their grandma's and to Catsview, and to the swimming pool. They have fun just being a family.

Alana Gallaway wrote a story about "The Unexpected Visitor", which is an entertaining story about life on a farm. It has an unexpected ending. There is a lot of humor and excitement.

Jared Bonner Lambert also wrote a story about living on a farm. "How Early Do You Really Have To Get Up?" This is a story about a family who lives on a farm as told by the youngest member. He gives his view on what they have to do through the day before it gets dark.

Wade Miller likes to build forts and tunnels in the sand, hunt frogs and make things. He knows how important it is to stop pollution and his book tells how the Green Egg Patrol won a special award for the job they did in helping to save our planet.

Kacie Young has two pet dogs and she raises pigs to show in stock shows. She likes to read and the Care Bears are her favorite books. The book she has written is about Sam the Easter Bunny. He loves children and tells how he makes them happy.

Second grader Jeffrey Hunter has written about "My New House" and he states that moving may not be as bad as you think. The illustrations tell why. His favorite subject is art. This is the second book that he has written and he plans to write more.

Danny Huggins will be graduating in the year 2000. He likes to read about dinosaurs and his story is about the creatures that lived long ago. Some of their names are Tyrannosaurus Rex, Allosaurus, Brontosaurus, Stegosaurus and Triceratops. Danny is glad that they do not exist today. His book tells that if they did... WE WOULDN'T.

Lockney Brownies camp out

By Carol Huggins
The 1st and 2nd grade Brownie troops recently attended a "Brownie Come-Along" at Camp Rio Blanco, the Girl Scout camp near Crosbyton.

Sixteen girls attended the day long camp. They learned about tornadoes, soil erosion, temperature, and birds common in the area. They made bird feeders and terrariums.

Participating in these events enabled each girl to earn her "Earth and Sky Try-It" patch. They also learned new songs and enjoyed associating with other girls their age from around this area.

The girls were accompanied by camp by their leaders, Carol Huggins and Vicky Schaeffer and mothers, Kathy Rosales, Cindy Ford and Eva Bernal.

HE DID IT—Michelle Delgado (r) lifted Coach Cotham's arm in victory as he crossed the finish line after running four miles around the school track. Cotham had promised the students at Lockney Elementary School that he would run laps for the amount of time that they read books during the month. The students read 154,800 minutes and lined the track as he completed his run. The fire truck and ambulance were standing by in case they were needed. The fire hose was used to cool off the runners. ### Fair Board holds routine meeting

The Floyd County Fair Board held their regular meeting May 6. The meeting was mostly routine. There was a great deal of discussion about the air conditioners for the entertainment building to be purchased with money made from the auction, to be held on Friday night of the fair. No definite decision has been made regarding this. Board members are currently selling ads for the catalog. They will continue selling ads this week. If you have not been contacted and would like an ad, please call Carol Huggins. It was hoped that the quilt could be quilted by the ladies of the community, however, there was not enough interest shown, so the board members voted to have it professionally quilted. The board would like to give special thanks to those who did help to get the quilt started. Those who did stitch the quilt were: Annabel Bramlet, Carol Huggins, Kana Kennedy, Clementine Carthel, Molly Huffman, Leona Watson, Katherine Ball, Wynona Allison, Elfie Sherman and June Sherman. The "Design a Cover" contest is over and all entries were reviewed. The final decision on the winner will be made soon.

The catalog deadline is almost here. All events, chairmen, and assistants must be decided by Monday. There is a called meeting for Monday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the ag building. All catalog changes and ads must be turned in at that time or before. Suggestions are always welcome regarding any part of the fair. Please attend the board meetings and present your ideas.

CEMETERY MARKER INSTALLED--Elvis Parker of Floydada put the finishing sealer on the nameplates which are attached to a brick marker in the Della Plain Cemetery. # Monument erected at Della Plain Cemetery

By Gilianne Carter
Texas Tech Journalism Student
In March of 1991, the Floyd County Historical Museum raised a monument bearing the names of the people who were buried in the historic Della Plain cemetery.

According to Alma N. Holmes, author of "The Beginning of Settlement of Della Plain", Della Plain was located on Section Ten-Block T, one mile off the exact center of Floyd County.

In 1886, Tom J. Braidfoot of Baylor County brought his cattle to Floyd County in search of better grazing. Braidfoot conceived the idea of founding a town that would serve as the county seat.

In a partnership with Jim S. McLain and his cousin, John R. McLain, both of Seymour in Baylor County, they put Della Plain on the map.

The town was named in honor of Jim McLain's oldest daughter, Della, and, being located on the Plains, the full name became "Della Plain."

People began moving to Della Plain in 1888 and 1889 and a town formed. Meanwhile, newly founded towns Lockney and Floyd City (Floydada) began building momentum as a threat for the county seat.

On May 28, 1890, Floyd City became the county seat. By 1893, most Della Plain residents migrated to Lockney and Floyd City, and by that autumn, Della Plain ceased to exist.

"The historical marker commemorates this first settlement in Floyd County," James H. Word, member of the Floyd County Historical Commission wrote. "Della Plain made great contributions to the future of Floyd County and the marker will commemorate this part in Floyd County history."

"The Floyd County Historical Museum chose to honor the sacrifices made in Della Plain by commemorating all that is left of Della Plain, the cemetery," Word wrote.

The museum began by fencing off the cemetery, using an old survey map showing where the cemetery was located.

"Back then they probably used rocks and shells to mark the burials," Nancy Marble, chairman of exhibits and board member said. "We don't know if actual tombstones were there once but when we fenced the cemetery, there was no indication of markers."

"We didn't know grave locations so we had to put the names on one monument," Marble said.

The land was donated to the Floyd County Museum by the Snodgrass estate. The cemetery lies five miles north of Floydada on State Highway 207, directly behind the historical marker acknowledging Della Plain, dedicated on June 25, 1982.

"The cemetery marker roughly cost about $2,500 for total construction," Marble said. Contributions and the Floyd County Historical Museum helped pay for the marker.

Elvis Parker of Floydada built the foundation and set name plates in the slanted 6-foot long and 4-foot wide brick and cement marker. There are 16 bronze name plates, in four rows of four.

"We know names of 16 buried there and we left spaces for others that we may learn are buried there," Marble said.

Interred there are: Fannie Braidfoot, mother of T.J. Braidfoot; an elderly man named Bannister; Edwin O. McLain; Sol Bronson; a little girl named Bronson; Willie Collins; infant Sidney Byars; a baby named Worley; Mrs. J.A. Callahan; Mrs. Ella Mickey and infant girl; infant child Annie Mickey; Mrs. Georgia Mickey and baby; Zephaniah Mickey; a young man named Vanderslice; and Charles Hill.

"The original idea in 1982 was to get the cemetery fenced and the names placed," Marble added. "We placed the state historical marker, which sits off of the highway, directly in front of cemetery, to help the preservation efforts and to give added history."

Mrs. A.P. Barker Sr., 94, born in Della Plain, still resides in Lockney.

"Mrs. Barker Sr. is the only living person that was born at Della Plain that we know of," Marble added.

Edd V. Henderson, CPA firm successfully completes review

The Edd V. Henderson, CPA firm announced that it has successfully completed an independent peer review of its accounting and auditing practice. The reviewers concluded that the firm complies with the stringent quality control standards set by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the National Professional Organizations of CPAs.

Peer reviews are required for membership in AICPA'S division for CPA firms, according to Edd V. Henderson Sr., CPA. The division is a voluntary self-regulatory organization of firms established to foster quality performance. About half the CPAs in public practice are members of firms that have joined the division.

The peer review was conducted by a Lubbock firm, Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert and Moss, under guidelines established by American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The reviewers made an independent assessment of the firm's quality control policies and procedures and inspected the working papers and reports on a representative sample of accounting and auditing engagements. They also inspected the firm's administrative files and records and interviewed professional personnel. The reviewers' report has been accepted by the division for the public files maintained at the AICPA.

In evaluating a firm's quality controls, a peer reviewer considers, among other things, what the firm has done to ensure that it hires only qualified people, that it properly supervises them and provides them with professional training, that it advances them to responsibilities they are capable of handling, and that it provides them with necessary technical resources.

'Are farmers required to pay the new $4.25 minimum wage?'

Are farmers required to pay the new minimum wage of $4.25 an hour under the new Fair Labor Standards Act which goes into effect April 1, 1991?

As with any new government ruling more confusion is generally created. The "simple" booklets available to farmers from the U.S. Department of Labor explain in "not always so simple" detail who is and isn't exempt from the new minimum wage.

"As a general rule," said Farm Labor Specialist Darrell Krenk, "any farmer who did not use 500 man days, in agriculture labor, in any quarter in 1990, is not required to pay the minimum wage of $4.25 in 1991."

"As a rule of thumb, 7 full time hands working 13 weeks, makes up 500 man days."

"One person has to work at least one hour to be a man day. If he works only 30 minutes and it starts to rain, thereby halting the work, then he does not have to be paid for a man day. However if he works for 1 hour and it starts to rain, then it must be counted as a man day."

"The farmer or any member of his immediate family is not counted in man days."

"It is the farmers obligation to show he did not use 500 man days in a quarter. In 1991 they will check your 1990 records to see what you should be paying in 1991. Farmers should also be aware that primary agriculture is not required to pay overtime."

According to the booklet mailed out by the U.S. Department of Labor: "If the employer did not employ more than 500 man-days of agricultural labor in any quarter of the preceding calendar year, his agricultural employees are exempt from the minimum wage and overtime pay provisions of the Act for the entire following calendar year."

A calendar quarter consists of January-February-March; April-May-June; July-August-September; and October-November-December.

Since the 500 man-day proviso in this exemption must be considered each calendar year, it is possible for agricultural workers of an employer to be non-exempt one calendar year and exempt the following calendar year, should the size of the employer's farm operation change.

CREW LEADERS AND LABOR CONTRACTORS

A crew leader who merely assembles a crew and brings them to the farm to be supervised and paid directly by the farmer, and who does the same work and receives the same pay as the crew members, is an employee of the farmer, and both he and his crew are counted as such and paid accordingly if the farmer is not exempt under the 500-day test. The situation is not significantly different if under the same circumstances, the crew is hired at so much per acre for their work.

The situation is different where the farmer only establishes the general manner for the work to be done. Where this is the case, the labor contractor is the employer of the workers if he makes the day-to-day decisions regarding the work and has an opportunity for profit or loss through his supervision of the crew and its output.

As the employer, he has the authority to hire and fire the workers and direct them while working in the fields. Complaints by the farmer about the quality of quantity of the work or about a worker are made to the contractor or his representative, who takes whatever action he deems appropriate.

Even where it is clear that certain agricultural operations performed on a farm are performed for the farmer by an independent contractor, the farmer may still be responsible for compliance with the Act.

The courts have ruled that whether or not a labor contractor or crew leader is a bona fide independent contractor, his employees are considered to be jointly employed by him and the farmer who is using their labor if the farmer has the power to direct, control or supervise the work, or to determine the pay rates or method of payment of the workers.

In a joint employment situation, the man-days of agricultural labor rendered are counted toward the man-day count of each employer. Each employer is considered equally responsible for compliance with the Act. The employer who actually pays the employees is held primarily responsible for maintaining and preserving the payroll records.

BOARD, LODGING AND OTHER FACILITIES

Board and lodging is considered wages.

Wages include the reasonable cost or fair value, of board, lodging, and other facilities customarily furnished by the employer to his employees.

Reasonable cost is defined as actual cost to the employer. This would be the cost of operation and maintenance, including depreciation and interest.

CHILD LABOR

Sixteen years is the minimum age for employment in agriculture during school hours or employment at any time in an agricultural occupation declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor.

Fourteen is the minimum age for employment in a nonhazardous agricultural occupation outside school hours for the school district in which the minor is living while employed.

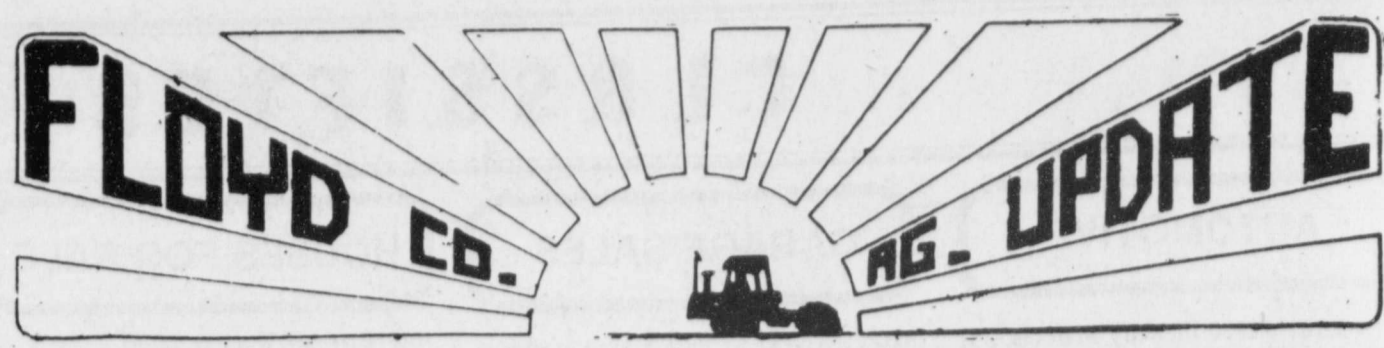

Twelve and thirteen year old minors may be employed on a farm outside school hours with written parental consent; or outside school hours on a farm where the minor's parent or person standing in place of the parent is also employed.

Minors of any age may be employed at any time in any occupation on a farm owned or operated by their parent or person standing in place of their parent.

RECORDKEEPING

Every employer must maintain records of earnings, hours, and other data for each employee. The regulations do not prescribe a special form of record nor are any reports necessary. They specify only the items which must be included and that the records be accurate.

The local wage and hour laws are enforced by Darrell Krenk. If anyone has any questions they may contact Krenk at the Lubbock office, 743-7666. The address is U.S. Department of Labor, Wage Hour Division, P.O. Box 2549, Lubbock, TX 79408.

Food safety to be discussed at meeting set for Crosbyton

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Food safety has emerged as a key issue for the 1990's. Recent headlines concerning pesticide residues on apples and grapes caused great controversy, as well as a loss of trust by the American public in the safety of their food supply. Just how safe is the food we eat?

A meeting has been planned for May 16, 7:00 p.m. at the Crosby County Library in Crosbyton (south of Pioneer Memorial Building) in order to provide Crosby-Floyd county residents with factual information concerning the risk of pesticides in the foods we eat. Another highly important aspect of food safety is the safe handling of foods in the home. This topic, and how to protect foods in hot weather - choosing foods for picnics, church suppers and the like — will also be discussed.

Speakers at this meeting will include Bob Badger, Tony Pardo and Dr. Pat Morrison. Bob Badger, with the Texas Department of Health, will discuss food safety and preparation in the home. Tony Pardo, Extension Agent-Pesticide Safety at Lubbock, will discuss the use and relative risks of agricultural pesticides. Dr. Pat Morrison, Extension entomologist at Lubbock, will provide information he presented in several Mediterranean countries, earlier this year, on behalf of the U.S. Wheat Growers Association. His presentation concerns the "US safety net", or the regulatory agencies responsible for monitoring the American food supply.

This program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. All Crosby-Floyd County residents are invited to attend this meeting.

Exemption allows use of Lorsban 4E

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

On April 19, the Texas Department of Agriculture exercised its Section 18 crisis exemption authority to allow the use of Lorsban 4E to control Russian wheat aphids in certain High Plains counties, including Floyd, but not Crosby County. The original Section 18 specific exemption submitted to EPA last month is still pending. If the specific exemption passes by EPA, Crosby County will be included as well. This crisis exemption is subject to the following conditions and restrictions.

1. All applicable directions, restrictions, and precautions on the EPA-registered label for Lorsban 4E must be followed.

2. The product may be applied with either aerial, ground, or sprinkler irrigation equipment at a maximum rate of 0.5 pounds active ingredient (1 pt. product) per acre. Two applications of product per crop growing season may be applied. The application schedule must allow for a 28 day pre-harvest interval.

3. Do not graze treated wheat fields within 14 days following an application of Lorsban 4E.

4. Due to the high toxicity of Lorsban 4E to bird species, end users of Lorsban 4E are obligated to monitor their wheat fields and report all noted incidents of bird mortality resulting from use of this product to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

5. Within the counties of Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Potter, Randall, and Swisher, do not apply Lorsban 4E by any method within one-mile radius of an active, wintering bald eagle roost area or within 1/4 mile of the margins of a lake or river being utilized as a foraging area for the bald eagle.

6. The Texas Department of Agriculture shall be immediately informed of any adverse effects resulting from the use of this pesticide in connection with this crisis exemption.

7. The Texas Department of Agriculture has already submitted to EPA an application for a specific exemption to authorize the above noted use of Lorsban 4E. This act will maintain the crisis exemption in effect until EPA renders a decision on the specific exemption application.

Rules are to be amended

The Cotton Research and Promotion Order's Rules and Regulations regarding penalties for failure to remit assessments to the Cotton Board promptly, and in full, will be amended by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), effective May 13, 1991.

The Cotton Board administers the producer-funded Cotton Research and Promotion Program for U.S. Upland cotton. The program is conducted by Cotton Incorporated.

Administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), Daniel D. Haley, said the amendments will:

allow notification of growers that their particular first buyers of cotton (also known as "collecting handlers") failed to remit assessments; establish procedures for publishing names of collecting handlers delinquent in remitting assessments to the Cotton Board; specify that interest charges be imposed on collecting handlers who are sent a second certified mail notice of past-due assessments in any one marketing year; and stipulate that interest and late payment charges be applied from the first working day on or following the 20th day of the month in which the assessments were due.

TEMIK LABEL CHANGE

Crops labeled for Temik use include: cotton, grain, sorghum, sugar beets, soybeans, and dry beans. There is no time restriction on rotating from one to another of these labeled crops. On the old label, all other crops, such as corn, wheat, and vegetables could be planted six months after a temik application. That time has now been extended to 12 months. This will pose a problem for producers planning to follow cotton with early spring vegetables or April planted corn if the cotton was planted in May of the previous year.

Citizens question potential danger

By Mike Mallett, CEA-Ag.

The use of fertilizers benefits mankind by increasing agricultural production. Fertilizers improve the yield and quality of food and fiber.

Because of the benefits and the simplicity of application, agricultural and urban users have come to rely on fertilizers. In the United States alone, applicators have increased the use of nitrogen fertilizers from 2 million tons in 1955 to today's 12 million tons. Such increased, wide-spread use indicates the benefits of fertilizers.

However, the increase in use forces citizens to question the potential danger to the environment. Runoff from rain or irrigation can concentrate the soluble nutrients from a large landscape at a smaller collection point where the concentrated chemicals can be leached into groundwater reserves. The continued, large use of chemicals could contaminate lakes, streams, ponds, wells, even the groundwater.

Half of the United States' population relies on groundwater for drinking water. Rural residents are even more dependent on an underground source of drinking water. More than 90 percent of rural drinking water is retrieved from a groundwater source. But of all the groundwater withdrawn each year, only a small amount is used strictly as drinking water.

The majority of groundwater (82 percent) is used to irrigate crops. This use also requires that water quality be high enough that crops and any water collection points do not become polluted. Some of this same water used for irrigation will re-enter the water cycle to replenish groundwater supplies. Because water is important to life, wise use of fertilizers around this resource must be practiced. New technologies and strategies to minimize the risk of contaminating vital water resources must be used.

Most soils lack adequate amounts of nitrogen to maintain the current levels of agricultural production. If applied too liberally to upgrade these soils, however, nitrogen can become a principal nutrient pollutant. Nitrogen can concentrate in bodies of water contaminated by sewage effluents of municipal treatment plants and rural sewer systems. Precipitation and animal waste may also contribute to the nitrogen reserve.

Commercial and natural nitrogen supplies have the potential of leaching into the groundwater by mixing with existing soil moisture. Nitrogen can also be transported with runoff, erosion or leaching from lawns or cropland.

High levels of nitrogen in water can be toxic to humans. One form of nitrogen, nitrite, can interfere with the blood to interfere with oxygen transport in the body.

Nitrogen added to soil or water may not be the direct cause of pollution, but when combined with existing levels could lead toward an environmental risk.

WEATHER

!!IT RAINED at Cedar last Thursday! A whole .03, almost! Actually we gave generous credit, it was really more like .028. It was wonderful, enjoyed so much; in fact it sent us perusing back through the calendar looking for the last rain we had. The date we found was Saturday, March 16, more than six weeks ago, and it was marked "R .04". Another date, scarcely worthy of note, was March 30, marked "Sno .01". True, our walks have been blackened a time or two in the interim but not enough to measure. !Not one day had the "R" mark during the whole month of April! April, traditionally the month of showers!

We were away from home when the rain fell Thursday, and that was caused by the high quality of an American product. Rarely do you find an item this day and time which is too good to be practical. After a few seasons of faithful service, the paper air-filter on the Listening Post garden-tiller failed to respond to the tapping out of dust and dirt which usually restored the tiller to peak performance. In mid-April the old filter finally plugged completely and a new one had to be installed. It worked beautifully for $3.84, but two weeks later it, too, shut off. !Absolutely quit! No amount of tapping, even banging, would remove the offending particles and restore it to service. A Jim Dandy good American product that was just too dog-gone good. !Incidentally the motor had used only $2.25 worth of gasoline during the time it was using up a $3.84 cent air filter!

So we will increase our efficiency at the Listening Post "if we can locate an old-fashioned, paper air filter that is not quite so good, but better."

That plagued filter cost another $4.00 in pickup gas, and had us in Floydada, the rain-belt of Floyd County, when the rains fell Thursday. There was a momentary torrent, estimate .50", and peazed hail was everywhere.

On the way back to Cedar Hill the rain soon fizzled out and the dirt roads looked fine. We turned east on the Old Huckabee Road two miles south of Liberty to indulge in one of our favorite pastimes, crop-watching. That was a mistake, the roads got muddier by the mile, and the mini-ruts made by Hope Warren an hour earlier made driving even more difficult. Don Warren's rain-gauge measured .50", seventeen times the amount received at Cedar. The rain-fall quickly diminished going northward past the Belden, Pete McDonald, and Langley sections.

Well, we got our air-filter, the last one like it they had in stock, and we got four piles of mud from "Liberty Farms" in our drive-way when the pickup fenders dumped their loads during the night.

Late report: It took a morning shower along with the afternoon effort but Edna Gilly also measured one half inch of rain Thursday.

Here it is, virtually May 10, and not one time has the temperature risen above 90 degrees. Some years hit 90 degrees once or twice in March, and April usually gives us several 90 degree days to boost soil temperature, but not 1991. Soil temperature still lingers in the low 60s; five degrees short of the recommended minimum for planting cotton. !'91 has been one of the coolest Springs ever!

CROP COMMENTS

WHEAT, on other dry years, has been grazed very short across the Texas Pan-handle; some cattlemen even accused, using exaggerated cowboy terms, of forcing their cattle to dig and eat the roots. Well the roots are still intact, but this year it is not just the miserly tightwad whose wheat fields have been scalp-grazed, it is everybody's fields. !The situation grows more desperate by the minute!

Many wheat growers are quickly agreeing with Federal Crop Insurance adjusters as to the potential yields of their fields, and allowing that estimated yield to become a part of their permanent yield record. This agreement satisfies the requirements of the insurance people and allows the grower to immediately turn cattle on his standing wheat.

Bleak reality has many cattlemen considering all the ins and outs of re-establishing themselves in the cattle business should worse change to worst and they be forced to completely disperse their herds.

A governmental decree declaring a county a disaster area would allow cattle owners within the disaster county, as well as cattle owners in all contiguous counties, a great measure of relief. Recent IRS rulings would allow these cattle "persons" to sell their cattle and defer the payment of income taxes resulting from that sale for a 24 month period provided the proceeds from that sale were used to purchase new cattle for the purpose of re-stocking. Should the ranges fail to make sufficient recovery for pasturing to resume at the end of the two year period the tax-deferral period could be extended.

COTTON that was planted in mid-April is up and shining down the rows in some Floyd County fields. Cedar Hill farmers have been a bit more conservative and Bud Taylor's start on Friday, May 3, is believed to the community's first planting. There is concern that some of the first ground that was watered has become too dry to germinate seed; a problem that a good slow inch of rain would really fix.

ONIONS, once they have been set in their final beds, spend an indefinite period of time establishing immense root systems; assuming a vertical position in case careless field-hands set them at an odd angle, or even left them fallen flat; putting forth new blades; and making steady but unimpressive growth. This, in effect, is a time of preparation when the plant sets itself in order, and conserves its energy, while it waits patiently for that mysterious signal which will trigger each plant into its final stage, a wild orgy of growth. Once that period of rapid growth arrives each plant may double in size each week until it approaches maturity.

This strange signal which launches the onion plant into uninhibited growth, scientists call it photo-synthesis, is generated by the relationship between a theoretical clock within each onion and the amount of light that clock receives from the sun each day. A row of onions may develop passively while the days grow longer and longer, then finally the lengthening days allow the sun to shine 14 hours for the first time, the onion's alarm clock goes off, and every onion in the field, with that particular clock, snaps awake and starts its race for the finish line.

In another row, 12 inches away, another variety of onions has been planted. These onions come equipped with different clocks and they completely ignore the frantic growth in the row only a foot away. This onion variety's clock will not sound off until the length of days reaches 15 hours. All onions with photo-synthetic controls similar to row #2 will delay possibly another two weeks before they start their rapid rush ## to maturity.

Set the onion out in February, set it out in May, the onion pays no mind. !When it comes to maturing, the onion takes its orders from the sun!

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

APPLES unlimited at harvest time was the vision we saw when the first petals began to fall, but now it is a puzzle where all the apples have gone. Instead of the clusters we expected it takes a bit of looking to locate one single apple. Until we learn different we will blame dry weather for the short crop, certainly there was not a freeze.

APRICOTS, growing amazingly fast, are now a little larger than quail eggs, but they are very difficult to see among the swaying branches even in a gentle wind. After the birds take their dozen off the top, it is doubtful if there will be any left for people.

CHERRIES, clinging tightly to their drought parched trees, are small and few in number. Usually the Listening Post birds harvest the cherry crop just before they get ripe enough to be of interest to humans.

PEACHES are turning into the surprise crop with great numbers the size of wild plums. They are being thinned by hand, leaving peaches a hand's breath apart, as recommended in the "A&M Peach Growers Manual". With branches and twigs already beginning to bend that seems to be the right thing to do. I know that I'll be sorry I thinned after that spring-hail come along and collects its share.

TOMATO plants were being set in their garden on May 5 at the Craig Gilly's. Edna Gilly became dissatisfied with her home-started tomatoes and bought potted plants for her wooden-barrel-garden. The okra Martha Taylor was so proud of a week ago got watered a little with a garden hose and is losing a plant now and then to the shank-rot that often claims young cotton when it turns wet and cold. Penny Taylor is just days away from table-ready radishes and her other plants show promise. Lindsey and Billie Ruth are moving slow in this year's garden, holding back until after the bad hail that is coming. Clint and Dara's roasting ear corn now has a few green specks poking through the surface, be a stand soon.

RATS, big husky rats, were digging up Listening Post peanut seed, same as a year ago, almost as fast as they could be planted. !This year we fought back!! We put out D-Con and steel traps! The rascally diggers carefully and meticulously removed every peanut placed around the triggers on the traps, and, ignoring the D-Con, they would take the one or two peanuts that were also placed in the poison boxes. Finally we put out, along with the steel traps, a fancy, new-fangled, rat trap. !And we struck pay-dirt! That big, husky rat turned out to be an over-sized field mouse. So we went in the house and trotted out our little wooden mouse traps and kept busy removing field mice and resetting mouse traps for a time. !Now the predation has ceased and I feel silly! Those field mice were so light one could have done a dance, and probably did while snitching those peanuts, on the trigger-pan of a steel trap without tripping it. !Just another mountain turned into a mole-hill!

!When there is a problem consult a professional, they'll make you feel sillier still! Jewell Busby, when told of the LP rat problem, had this to offer, "Rats and mice never bothered us. We put out cat-food for stray cats, preferably mother cats with large families. It costs very little, you put out just enough to keep them close but keep them hungry." !See, I told you you'd feel silly!

Then I remembered the good old days, back when rats were really rare! Tom Fortenberry and Gladys filled their outside cat-bowl daily, filling that bowl was a ritual. There were cats galore, fat-cats, overstuffed cats, but now and then those cats had to have some exercise so rats were scarce, very scarce. Now the cotton tail rabbits have formed a line, just waiting for the Listening Post peanuts to come up so they can "do their thing." Would appreciate your advice on cat-food, some brand formulated especially for stray mother-cats with large, hungry families.

THE LEANING CEDARS

May 6: Life at the J.D. Busby home assumed a brighter aspect on Wednesday, May 1, when J.D.'s sister, Mrs. Ruth Chandler of Tyler, Texas, arrived for a week's visit. With Mrs. Chandler in the home, Jewell Busby felt free to attend services at her church for the first time in months; a joy and a blessing. J.D. made a turn for the better while his sister was there; assuming a brighter outlook, walking with a firmer gait, and eating with a better appetite. He even gained some weight. Mrs. Chandler returned to Tyler Wednesday, May 8.

Sad news coming from the South Plains Community tells of the death of Sonja West, daughter of Dale and Bobbie Jane (Reue) West, now of Pampa. Miss West, a young college student, was working in support of a Methodist Missionary effort on the Island of Haiti, a few hundred miles south and east of Florida's southern tip, when she was claimed by an auto accident late last week. She was the granddaughter of J. K. and Madge West who moved from South Plains to Floydada a number of years ago.

THE HOPEFUL CEDARS

Hopeful relates to the chance for rain come Tuesday, May 7. Consider the following indicators: The weather man predicts rain Tuesday, but that carries little weight. Bobbie Kinnibrough's sister-in-law has brought rain the last seven times she has come to visit; she will arrive Tuesday. Our variable correspondent, Quicksilver Toby, has just witnessed his never-fail rain signal, he says the details are unmentionable, but the infallible signal points straight to Tuesday. It is a mite early for Max Yeary's cotton plant in rain to start, but maybe his is going to be a long wet spell. Pause and listen, right now as you read this column, you should hear the mating song of frogs singing along the lake-shore.

Apr. 28: Bobby Sue Damron, of Dimmitt, spent Sunday night visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. Ester Langley. Bobby Sue returned to the farm and the motel she and her husband operate in Dimmitt, Monday morning.

Apr. 30: While in Floydada Tuesday, Peat Kelley, the 87 year old winner of the Grand Prize at the Lighthouse Electric annual meeting made her final selection from the number of options made available to her. Mrs. Kelley made the old-fashioned, hardnose selection typical of a pioneer, she chose the cold, hard $200 credit to be applied to her 1991 billings. Mrs. Kelley's old propane operated refrigerator had to be replaced not long ago and she purchased a conventional electric box. Prior to getting the new refrigerator her monthly electric bill often ran less than $10.00. Even with the electric frig the $200 prize will pay her bill into 1992.

Apr. 30: Edna G. and Imogene F. shopped a garage sale in Floydada Tuesday, converting other people's junk into personal treasures.

OLD ABE SAID, "I DO NOT THINK MUCH OF A MAN WHO IS NOT WISER TODAY THAN HE WAS YESTERDAY!"

Plainview PCA honored for outstanding achievement

"Plainview PCA has been attentive to its financial position and developed a financially strong organization," he added, "and has exhibited the ability to control credit risk while maintaining a loan portfolio of the highest quality."

In accepting the award, Association Chairman H.L. Porter Jr. said, "We have always placed the best interest of our member borrowers first and that has been the foundation for our strength as a

PCA. "We will continue to abide by that philosophy, as we strive to meet the credit needs of farmers and ranchers in our area in the years to come," he added.

Directors of the locally-owned cooperative are H.L. Porter Jr. of Petersburg, chairman; Bill W. Carthel of Friona, vice chairman; Troy Christian of Farwell; Earl E. Harkins of Hereford; and Harley Wells of Plainview. President is Bill Black.

Plainview PCA has approximately $61 million in loans outstanding to approximately 800 farmers and ranchers in eight counties.

Kori Kellison recognized as outstanding sophomore

The fourth annual Texas Panhandle Hugh O'Brian Leadership Seminar was held April 26-28 at the Bishops Quarterman Conference Center in Amarillo. The seminar recognized Kori Kellison of Lockney High School, along with 100 other outstanding sophomore students from area high schools.

In 1958, Hugh O'Brian was inspired by Dr. Albert Schweitzer to establish the Youth Foundation believing that America's most valuable resource is its youth and the most important thing in education is to make young people think for themselves. Today, there are over 84 seminars in 11 countries to recognize the outstanding sophomore students and to bring them together with community and business leaders to discuss present and future issues, using an informal question and answer format. Media, agriculture, medicine, entrepreneurship, volunteerism and politics are examples of the areas in which students will face a panel of professionals in their respective fields and have the chance to share one-on-one critical and current issues, insights to their professions, and ideas often not learned from a book.

In addition to interacting with panelists, the seminars goals are to provide the opportunity to explore America's incentive system and our democratic process and to recognize leadership potential in high school sophomores.

'Horns run rule Indians

By Susy Smith

Andy Stapp proved to be the Horn of the hour as he hit a 3 run homer late in the 5th inning to put the Longhorns over the top and run rule the Morton Indians Friday night, May 3, by a score of 20-8.

This was the Longhorns second district game which puts them at 1-1, 4-4. The Longhorns had a great scoring game with every one scoring at least one run each. The Horns had good defense all night and were able to keep the Indians from scoring very many runs.

The Longhorns will face Abernathy on Friday at home. The game begins at 5:00 p.m. They will then travel to Morton and that game will begin at 5:00p.m.

LOCKNEY'S LITTLE LEAGUE PARK—Volunteers were busy over the weekend clearing fields, spreading dirt, laying sprinkler systems and building stands, etc., to create Lockney's new Little League Park. "It will be a 'By The Book, Little League Park'", said Randy Henderson. "We are building it according to Little League sanctions."

Volunteers will be working on the field at 9:00 a.m. Saturday. Everyone is welcome to participate. Anyone wishing to donate money to help defray the cost of materials can contact Danny Lambert at 652-3412 or Randy Henderson at 652-3737.
