HST Shuffles Aides, Merges Labor Posts

Patterson To Take War Job

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—President Truman continued his shuffling of top government posts today, naming:

1. Robert P. Patterson, New York Republican, as secretary of war, and

2. Senator Harold H. Burton, Ohio Republican, for the Supreme court.

He also announced he had received the resignations of John J. McCloy and Robert A. Lovett as assistant secretaries of war, but said he was not accepting them immediately.

Succeeds Republicans

Both Patterson and Burton succeed Republicans. Patterson moves up from undersecretary of war to succeed 77-year-old Henry L. Stimson, whose resignation the President accepted "very reluctantly." He described Stimson as "one of our great public servants."

The choice of Senator Burton for the court vacancy created by the retirements of Owen J. Roberts, came as somewhat of a surprise. His name had been mentioned in early speculation, but not lately. Many had thought Patterson would get the court post; others had talked of Sherman Minton of Indiana, former senator and now federal judge.

Roberts, who recently turned down a presidential offer to be America's member of the international military tribunal to try major European war criminals, has accepted the chairmanship of a committee to award medals of merit to civilians.

The personnel shifts were announced to a packed news conference.

Surplus Property Board

The President also disclosed he had signed earlier in the day a bill doing away with the three-man board to dispose of surplus property and providing for a single administrator. He picked the board's latest member, W. Stuart Symington St. Louis businessman, as this administrator. This leaves Robert H. Hurley, former Democratic governor of Connecticutt, and Lt. Col. Edward H. Heller, former California banker, without government connections.

The appointment of Patterson was Mr. Truman's seventh cabinet selection. Only three of the late President Roosevelt's appointees now remain—Interior Secretary Ickes, Navy Secretary Forrestal, and Commerce Secretary Wallace.

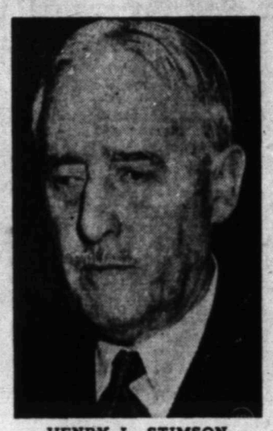

Stimson's resignation had been expected ever since the war ended. He told reporters only the other day that "this can't go on forever."

Stimson 78 Friday

A veteran lawyer, soldier and statesman, Stimson will be 78 next Friday. Son of a distinguished surgeon, he was born in New York City and attended Yale university and Harvard law school.

He has served in three cabinets.

Stronger Labor Policy Planned

By HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. — President Truman today merged three labor agencies into one and handed Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach broad powers to cope with postwar industrial strife.

Mr. Truman shifted the War Labor board and War Manpower commission to the Labor department.

He also wiped out the Office of Economic Stabilization from under William H. Davis, shaggy-headed New Dealer who had served previously as ar Labor board chairman. Davis' duties were handed over to Reconversion Director John W. Snyder.

Davis Is Silent

Davis made no immediate statement, but the President said he would have nothing to do henceforth. The implication was that Davis' long desire to resign would be fulfilled.

The President, at his news conference, disavowed a statement recently attributed to Davis, that the government had a program to increase wages 50 per cent while holding down prices. Mr. Truman said Davis was not speaking for the administration.

Davis has taken the position privately that the remarks attributed to him were a misinterpretation of what he said at a news seminar, but has issued no public denial.

Schwellenbach, genial, bespectacled former Senate colleague of the President's, was given unprecedented authority to speak for the government in future labor troubles.

Conciliation Service

His first act was to appoint 42-year-old Edgar L. Warren, chairman of the Chicago regional WLB, as head of the U. S. Conciliation service, which Schwellenbach will build to new stature. At present there are only 250 conciliation commissioners in the service.

Warren's first job will be to determine the government's role in the critical Detroit automotive situation, where strikes and threatened strikes are endangering reconversion of that industry.

The Labor secretary talked with WLB Chairman George W. Taylor and told a later news conference he was confident he and the board could work harmoniously for the remainder of the board's existence. It will not vanish from the industrial scene until after the labor-management conference in November, on which both President Truman and Schwellenbach are depending for a substitute for WLB.

Schwellenbach said his principal interest was in getting the authority to deal with disputes in any stage. Some disputes like the current one at the Kelsey-Hayes wheel plant in Detroit, which reportedly crippled production of

UAW Submits Proposal To Avert Strike

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Sept. 18—Officials of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) asserted tonight that the union plans to proceed with its demand for a 30 per cent general wage increase in the nation's automobile industry but that it would not refuse temporary increases at this time.

One union spokesman said temporary increases might provide a means of averting strikes in plants of major production. He pointed out that negotiation of an industry-wide 30 per cent increase probably would require months of conferences.

REFINERY SHUTS DOWN

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 18 (AP)—One refinery in this area is shutting down late tonight and another, employing 5,000 persons, will be struck at 8 a. m. tomorrow, Ray Andrus, member of the district oil workers strategy committee (CIO) announced tonight.

The Pure Oil company at Nederland, 10 miles north of here, is shutting down tonight, Andrus stated, and 5,000 employes of the Texas company refinery here will strike at 8 a. m. tomorrow. The Pure Oil refinery employes 800 persons.

No Minimum Specified

They emphasized that there had been no offer to the industry in connection with stop-gap increases and that they had mentioned no specific minimum as an acceptable temporary increase at this time.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice-president, said in a press conference last week that if any company were to grant a 10 per cent increase now and later agree to the full 30 per cent raise, the union would expect the additional 20 per cent to be made retroactive to the effective date of the initial increase.

No New Stoppages

With no new work stoppages reported in the Detroit area, those idled by strikes and shut-down remained at approximately 82,000, including the 50,000 workers sent home last week by the Ford Motor Co.

Developments today in the battle between the world's biggest labor union and the $4,500,000,000 automobile industry included:

1. R. J. Thomas and George F. Addes, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the UAW-CIO, said at Flint that local unions would accept any wage increase now offered by an automobile producer, but that nothing less than 30 per cent would be accepted as the final settlement.

Await Truman Attitude

2. The UAW-CIO international officers, ready to petition the National Labor Relations board for strike votes among the approximately 550,000 employes of the Ford Motor Co., General Motors and Chrysler corporations, awaited word as to President Truman's attitude and what changes were to be made in the department of labor.

3. Industry heads met in a regularly scheduled meeting of the automobile manufacturers' association. They withheld comment on the labor situation.

4. An official of the National Labor Relations board said that to take a strike vote among General Motors' 350,000 employes in 135 plants would cost about $150,000 and that special action by the controller general in Washington would be required.

Officers Elected By Pearl Harbor Group

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Congressional investigators of Pearl Harbor organized today by electing Senate Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) as chairman and Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn) as vice-chairman.

Barkley told reporteds after the initial meeting of the 10-member Senate-House committee that a decision on starting hearings would not be made until the members have selected a council and studied Army and Navy and other reports on the Japanese attack on the Hawaiian naval base.

CONTRACTS CANCELLED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The War department today cancelled contracts for 257,000,000 chocolate and candy bars intended for overseas.

Jap War List Growing; Nips Also Plan Trials

Emperor Said No Criminal

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Sept. 8—Premier Higashi-Kuni today told his first Allied press conference that the Japanese government contemplates establishing a committee to determine Japanese responsibility for starting the war.

He said the Nipponese government intended to try accused Japanese if General MacArthur approves.

The premier said the Japanese Army and Navy already had meted out some punishment for prison camp cruelties, but gave no details.

Emperor Said Deceived

Told that certain sections of Allied public opinion regarded the emperor as a war criminal, Higashi-Kuni replied:

"I believe firmly that the emperor is not a war criminal. He was deceived by the militarists who were close to him and wasn't told the truth."

The premier said that under the Japanese system, the cabinet and imperial general headquarters make such decision as starting the war and relay it to the emperor.

"According to custom here, if the cabinet decides, the emperor does not veto the decision."

Higashi-Kuni said he had no knowledge whether the emperor knew about the Pearl Harbor attack beforehand, but in response to a question he said he would ask specifically and report at another press conference, which will be held soon.

Didn't Know of Plan

The premier said he himself had no advance knowledge of the Pearl Harbor attack.

In a mass two-hour interview with Allied correspondents, he said details of the punishment the Japanese had meted for some prison camp cruelties would be made available as soon as he could obtain them.

Asked a second time whether

Tokyo Paper Is Suspended

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Wednesday, Sept. 19. —A new and "large" list of Japanese war criminals will be issued soon from General MacArthur's headquarters, Chief of American Counter Intelligence Brig. Gen. Elliot Thorpe announced today.

Thorpe, whose counter intelligence agents are responsible for placing most of Tojo's Pearl Harbor cabinet members under American custody said that if all the former premier's ministers were not on the present list "it was a clerical error and nothing more."

Thorpe said he had received no orders to arrest anyone connected with the vast Mitsui or Mitsubishi companies, two of the "big five" in Japanese industry.

Prisoner Mistreatment

He indicated the next list would cite a number of Japanese individuals charged with maltreatment of Allied prisoners of war and Allied civilians during the Japanese occupation of the Philippines.

Japan's premier told his first Allied press conference today that the Japanese government plans to have a committee determine who was responsible for starting the war and, if General MacArthur approves, intends to try the accused.

"I believe firmly that the emperor is not a war criminal,' said Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni, a cousin of the emperor.

"He was deceived by the militarists who were close to him and wasn't told the truth."

(At Washington, Senator Russell of Georgia introduced a resolution in Congress urging arrest and trial of the emperor as a war criminal.)

Newspaper Suspended

Tokyo's big newspaper Asahi was suspended today after it mocked U. S. orders to print atrocity stories by hinting they were designed to offset reports of American outrages in Japan.

While General MacArthur cracked the censorship whip, he showed his clemency by granting a partial restoration of Japan's grounded air transport.

MacArthurs headquarters was non-commital on reports from Washington that the State department was startled and concerned by his plan to cut the contemplated 400,000-man Army of occupation in half.

Nor was there comment on suggestions in Washington that Pres-

Truman Backs Plan For Jap Occupation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—President Truman today accepted and, by strong implication, endorsed General Douglas MacArthur's proposal to slash the Army of occupation in Japan down to 200,000 men.

The President's stand, taken at a news conference, was in marked contrast to the State department's consternation at the MacArthur plan.

Mr. Truman made known that although he had not been advised of the MacArthur proposal in advance, he was happy about it.

And So Can Germany

And he went further. He said at a news conference that if Japan can be occupied with fewer troops, so, too, probably, can Germany.

The House unanimously passed a bill designed to make American men want to be in the Army so that the "citizen" Army can disband, and quickly.

President Truman told his news conference the draft will not be continued any longer than absolutely necessary.

He said MacArthur previously had figured he would need 500,000 troops to nail down Japan, and the 200,000 estimate was all news to him.

Acheson Is Amazed

It was news to acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson too. His department had let it be known it was moving to investigate the MacArthur statement. Diplomatic officials, expressing amazement at the general's estimate of the troops needed, implied that it would weaken the United States' hand in the Pacific.

The measure passed unanimously by the House and sent to the Senate holds out incentives for enlisting.

Backers of the plan think it has so many inducements that a big enough force can be mustered from volunteers. The present peace-time legal size of the Army is 280,000. The bill would blow off this ceiling until the armed forces have shaken down their occupation duties to a point where a new fixed top can be set.

Some phases of the bill merely bring Army inducements up to those the Navy always has extended. Notable among these is the privilege of retiring after 20 years. The Army limit was 30 years.

Other Concessions

Other concessions to volunteers include:

1. Travel pay for 90-day furloughs for those who reenlist.

2. Free mailing privileges.

3. Continued 20 per cent extra pay for overseas service which heretofore has been allowed only in wartime.

Cash benefit also was provided. Up to now, those enlisted men of the three top grades who volunteer for additional hitches had been allowed $50 for each year of active duty since the last reenlistment date. Now this is extended to all grades under commissioned officers. The three lower grades had been allowed only $25 before.

Three B-29s Seek Non-Stop Mark In Hokkaido-Washington Flight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Army Air forces shot for a new world non-stop record today.

Three Boeing B-29 Superfortresses are attempting to fly 6,500 miles from northern Japan to Washington.

The huge superbombers, stripped of armament and armor to permit a fuel load of more than 9,000 gallons, left Mizutani airfield, near Sapporo, capital of Hokkaido, around 3 p. m., Central War Time, and are scheduled to complete the trip in 25 to 26 hours. This would bring them into Washington about 4:30 p. m. (CWT) Washington.

Contcat With Aleutians

The War department withheld announcement of the flight until the planes had made radio contact with bases in the Aleutians.

Lt. Gen. Barney M. Giles is in command of the flight and the lead plane, with Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay and Brig. Gen. Emmett (Rosy) O'Donnell in command of the other two planes. Each carry 12 crewmen.

If completed successfully, the flight will exceed by more than 200 miles the longest previously recorded non-stop effort.

The flight will take advantage of favorable prevailing winds, somewhere around 30,000 feet or more. It will follow the course the Japanese used in sending over incendiary - bearing balloons, which also were launched from Hokkaido, the northernmost of the Japanese main islands.

The announcement by the 20th Airforce said the flight was in-

Induction Prospects Allowed Schooling

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Boys who entered high school before reaching 18 will be allowed to postpone their induction until they graduate, or until they become 20, whichever is earlier.

This was announced tonight by Selective Service headquarters. However, if such a boy drops out of school or makes unsatisfactory marks he can be drafted immediately.

It was also announced that students who entered college before they were 18, and who are called for induction, may finish out a quarter or semester.

Britain Clamps Lid On Food Shipments

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Sir Ben Smith, minister of food, asserted today that British food stocks have been reduced to a minimum and no more may be used to supply continental Europe this winter.

"Europe's needs must now be met from the exporting countries," he said. "The limited stocks of food we now hold are only sufficient, with the expected imported supplies, to maintain our present standards."

Hirohito Arrest Sought In Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—The arrest and trial of Emperor Hirohito as a war criminal would be ordered by Congress if a resolution introduced by Senator Russell (D., Ga.) today is adopted.

Russell offered the resolution after taking the floor to denounce the Japanese ruler.

Assailing what he described as a "soft peace" for Japan, Senator Russell said the Mikado is a "power-seeking tyrant posing as a god" and, "one of the greatest aggressors of history."

"He is the god emperor," the Georgian declared. "In the direction of those imperial palaces, millions of Japanese faced and prostrated themselves in the dust in abject opology for their failure to kill enough Americans to win the war."

Fears Another War

If present policies are continued, Russell said, "we are headed for another war" in the Orient.

Shortly before Russell spoke, President Truman issued a statement saying the Japanese war lords are being removed from Korea.

"Such Japanese as may be temporarily retained," he said, "are being utilized as servants of the Korean people and of our occupying forces."

"The building of a great nation has now begun," he added, "with the assistance of the United States, China, Great Britain and the Soviet Union, who are agreed that Korea shall become free and independent."

Man Charged In Raping Of Child

SEMINOLE, Sept. 18 (Special) E. H. Savage, 32, Gaines county carbon black worker, was in an undisclosed jail today charged with raping his 13-year-old sister-in-law.

Savage has not asked bond, according to District Attorney Calloway Huffaker.

A complaint was filed Saturday in justice of peace court here after the girl was found the same day in Odessa following a disappearance of nearly two weeks.

Wandering On Streets

An officer discovered her wandering on the streets, exhausted and suffering from exposure and hunger. He took her to a hospital where she subsequently told of the alleged violation which, she said, had led her to run away.

She claimed the attack occurred on the morning of Sept. 3 at Savage's residence, where she and her father and brother had lived since Savage's wife died last spring. Her brother-in-law has three children all under the age of 5, and she and her folks had moved in to help take care of them.

In a statement to Huffaker, Gaines County Soon Birdwell, Deputy Tom Asher and Highway Patrolman Finis Carter, the girl revealed that after the purported attack, Savage went to milk and that while he was gone she packed her clothes and left the house.

The case will be investigated by a grand jury which will meet Nov. 5.

Battleship Texas To Hit Scrap Heap

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The fighting old battleship USS Texas appeared today to be headed for the scrap heap.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Naval Affairs committee, which will begin consideration Wednesday of legislation concerning the size of the peace-time Navy, said the USS Texas had become outmoded and properly should be declared obsolete.

"She's about 25 years old," Vinson told a reporter. "The proper thing to do with her is to declare her obsolete, set her aside or scrap her. It's not a proper ship now to keep. It's become out of date."

Although one of the oldest battleships in the Navy, the Texas performed an heroic role in the invasion of Europe.

Other ships of her age also probably will be declared obsolete and retired from the service, said Vinson. He declined to say which ones.

Shorter Supplies Of Sugar Are Forecast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Reflecting worldwide shortages, the American civilian supply of sugar for the October-December quarter will be 28 per cent smaller than the average for the first three quarters.

The civilian supply—for home, institutional and industrial users—was announced by the Agriculture department today as 982,000 tons. Normally, consumption is smaller in the last quarter than in any other quarter but not to the extent of the reduced allocation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—All controls over the distribution and use of graphite were removed today by the War Production board.

Government Lifts All Building Restrictions And Junks Price Ceilings On New Residences

Building Supplies Ceilings Planned

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The government today ordered all limits off new construction, including house building, on Oct. 15.

Despite the fears of OPA and other agencies of skyrocketing home prices, Reconversion Director John W. Snyder threw out the price ceiling on new dwellings along with the other wartime curbs on civilian construction.

Snyder said swift expansion of building activity offered "the greatest single additional source of jobs for our entire economy." He announced a six-point program to spur the expansion.

These prompt follow-up actions also were taken:

1. The War Production board revoked its hotly disputed order "L-41," effective Oct. 15, including its $8,000 price limit on permitted houses.

That action will permit unhampered construction of stores, theaters, dwellings, office, hotel and public buildings.

2. The OPA prepared to issue, probably tomorrow, strict dollars-and-cents price ceilings on nearly all building supplies.

But OPA Administrator Chester Bowles—just before Snyder acted—urged Congress to authorize price limits on completed homes, too. Otherwise the country faces the "biggest price boom ever,' he told a Senate Small Business subcommittee.

Snyder put his main reliance on a rapid increase in the supply of housing to offset soaring prices on a rapid increase in the supply of housing to offset soaring prices on the 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 new homes which is the country's estimated need.

However, the program to be steered by Snyder's Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion contains several plans to combat

Little Immediate Effect Seen Here

WHAT will the Oct. 15 lifting of all restrictions on construction of private homes and other buildings mean in Lubbock and on the South Plains?

In a word, nothing immediately.

The answer was obtained by The Morning Avalanche late Tuesday from contractors, lumber yards, plumbing supply houses, architects and others who fit into the building pattern.

Elaboration of the answer was equally as direct: There cannot be obtained, possibly for several months, necessary materials in quantity to start on the boom of post-war construction. And servicemen must be released before there will be adequate skilled and comman labor to take on the tremendous task.

Take the contractor. One of them here needed 30 bricklayers; he had one up to Tuesday. He would have welcomed 30 carpenters; he had only four.

"There is only one plasterer who has been doing the work here the last four or five months. Face brick and tile — those are just words, you might say. You seldom can get any. I could use carpenters, bricklayers, painters, paperhangers; I need material. It looks like it will be the first of the year, anyway, before much relief can be expected. What buildings I am working on necessarily are slowed by lack of something or other among materials that fails to show up for delivery."

What about the lumbermen? They have almost forgotten when they could specify what kind of lumber to be shipped to them. Just enough lumber is received to "sort of keep things going." Millwork, sash and doors, jobber stocks, hardware, weather stripping items, good flooring—all that is so scarce that lumber yards naturally hesitate to figure jobs. When the yard has to substitute,

Army Promises To Return 17,000 Doctors To Civilian Life By Jan. 1

By JAMES E. ROPER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 — The army promised today to return more than 17,000 doctors to civilian life by Jan. 1.

Col. W. Paul Holbrook, air surgeon now surveying military medical needs, told the Senate military affairs committee that even more doctors might be released as greater economies in staffing service medical facilities are effected.

Holbrook, now on detached service to make a survey of Army doctor needs, said the present ratio of one doctor for each 150 soldiers was based on "antiquated falacies" resulting in waste of manpower.

Can Release 17,000

The "first result" of his survey, Holbrook told the committee, was the finding that more than 17,000 doctors could be released this year.

"This was based on reduction of the present ratio and does not include any possible economies which might be effected in staffing various medical facilities," he said.

Marshall Testifies Thursday

Holbrook's testimony came as the committee investigated delays in releasing doctors from the service while it awaited Gen. George C. Marshall's over-all demobilization plan Thursday.

Holbrook testified that on V-E day, the armed forces had more than 60,000 doctors to care for about 8,000,000 personnel. He compared this ratio with the 90,000 doctors left to treat a civilian population of 120,000,000. The service doctors, he said, included more than 47,000 in the Army and more than 14,000 in the Navy.

"Obviously," he said, "community medical care got to an all-time low."

Would Declare Generals Surplus

At the same time, Rep. Franck Havenner, D., Calif., introduced a bill to declare "surplus" a large number of temporary generals whose retention, he charged, was slowing demobilization.

"The army today is keeping on an active status hundreds of general officers, from one to four-star rank, with a large number of corps and headquarters staffs, whose sole purpose and justification was combat duty," Havenner said.

Senate military affairs committee members also planned to question Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntyre, surgeon general of the Navy.

The Texas state capitol at Austin is second only to the capitol at Washington in size.

Two More Boys Are Freed From Prison Camps In Japan

Pfc. Cloyd Wade (Jack) Sumrow, a prisoner of the Japanese since 1942, is "well and happy," his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Sumrow of 2603 First, were advised Monday through a cablegram relayed here by the Canadian Marconi company of Toronto, Canada.

The good news, sent to them from Toronto as a result of cablegram transmitted "free of charge" from the Far East, was subsequently confirmed by the United States War department.

Young Sumrow was captured in the Philippines in 1942, but was first reported "missing in action," and it was not until April 30, 1943 that his parents here were officially notified by the War department that he was a prisoner of war. Later he was reported to be imprisoned at Osaka, Japan.

Without any recent news of his whereabouts until the Canadian cablegram arrived, Mr. and Mrs. Sumrow were mystified by the message not giving the location of the sender. The cablegram, instead, carried a French phrase meaning, "Without origin."

The Sumrows have another son, Harold S. Sumrow, serving with the 31st Division in the Philippines.

Pvt. Russell A. Gill Is Freed In Japan

Pvt. Russell A. Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gill of 2425 Twenty-second, has been liberated from a Japanese prison at Osaka, Japan, and is now under U. S. military control, a telegram from the War department informed his parents Tuesday morning. His liberation was made Sept. 9, the wire stated.

Pvt. Gill, a member of the regular army, was taken prisoner in the fall of Bataan. He was with the 7th Materiel squadron, 4th Air base, Clark field, Philippines. After being captured, he was interned at Camps 1 and 2 in the Philippines and was moved to Osaka sometime in 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Gill received a letter Sept. 7, only two days before their son's liberation, which he had written Jan. 28, 1945. Written on a sheet of Japanese stationery the size of typewriter paper, the letter was in his own handwriting. The letter told them that he was in good health and had received 65 letters from them. Another letter received Sept. 10, but it was written in May, 1944.

Pvt. Gill was graduated from high school at Stamford. He went into the regular army before his family moved to Lubbock to make their home, and was first stationed at March field, Calif. He had been in the Army a year when he was taken prisoner by the Japanese.

The telegram said that the liberated prisoner would be returned to the United States in the near future.

Tough Winter Ahead, Graves Are Readied

BERLIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—Shovel squads already are preparing the graves of Berliners expected to die from starvation or suicide during this winter's depressing months.

Told in the British controlled zone that the fuel wood shortake would not permit cremations or burial in coffins, the grave-diggers are excavating before the ground freezes.

Authorities in the American zone conceded today there will be a high winter death rate, but said they expected no mass deaths from starvation.

But the British, pointing to a present death rate of 61 per 1,000 —five times the pre-war toll— were not so optimistic.

Americans presently are bringing in 600 tons of food daily from the country districts in their zone.

Joyce Stakes Life On Citizenship Claim

LONDON, Sept. 18 (U.P.) — William Joyce, accused of high treason against the British crown for his wartime role as the Lord Haw Haw of radio Berlin, closed his defense without taking the witness stand today, staking his life on a claim to American citizenship.

The defense rested early this afternoon after calling only a few witnesses, including Joyce's younger brother, to bolster the accused traitor's claim that he was born in Brooklyn.

His lawyer asked again that the case be thrown out of court because the defendant was an American and hence owed no allegiance to Britain.

The lawyer produced as evidence a birth certificate showing that Joyce was born in Brooklyn at 1377 Herkimer street, April 24, 1906.

S 1/c Joe B. Brack of Lubbock was among the 63 Texas crewmen to receive awards in ceremonies aboard the U. S. S. Minneapolis. The Lone Star flag was hoisted on the ship, a veteran of Pacific battles while it lay in tropical waters, according to an Associated Press release Tuesday. The flag was presented to the crew by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Texas.

Promotions announced at Lubbock Army Air field elevated five Lubbock men stationed at the field to higher ranks. Two of the men were promoted to corporal and three to sergeant. New corporals are Robert E. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Scott, route 6 and James L. Stilwell, son of Mrs. Juanita N. Stilwell. Promoted from corporal to sergeant were John T. Dean, son of Mrs. Anna Myrtle Dean of 2211 Twentieth, Giles N. Glazener, and Roy S. Ramsey of 2017 Fourteenth.

Normally, from 20,000 to 35,000 board feet of lumber may be loaded into a boxcar, depending on weight, bulk and measurement.

Impartial Probe Is Asked Of Grand Jury

DALLAS, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—The special fall federal grand jury, called to consider alleged irregularities in the office of former United States Dist. Atty. Clyde O. Eastus, was cautioned to be impartial in a charge delivered by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

Twenty-one grand jurors out of the 32 summoned were chosen after all excuses for non-service were considered.

"Another matter which you are to consider," Judge Davidson said during his charge to the grand jurors, "is that pertaining to acts of the outgoing district attorney and his assistant, Joe H. Jones . . . they are public officials and their acts, as such, are matters of great public concern . . so great, in fact, that the Department of Justice, acting through the attorney general, has called this grand jury."

Judge Davidson told the grand jurors that it was their duty to consider the evidence and if it were sufficient, a bill should be returned, but if not, no indictment should be returned.

CENSORSHIP LIFTED

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Bolivian government announced today the termination of censorship restrictions on news and communications imposed during the war.

Five SPAAF Men Are Presented Decorations

As recognition for heroic achievements overseas awards have just been received by four enlisted men and one officer at South Plains Army Air field, Major Lloyd E. Arnold, commanding officer who made the presentation, has announced.

Capt. Paul S. Noble, T/Sgt. Clyde M. Fuqua, and S/Sgt. John H. Obert were awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross; and S/Sgt. Nathan J. Gery received the Air Medal. The fourth enlisted man, S/Sgt. Ralph R. Fisher; was the recipient of both the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal.

Many Airmen Saved By Underground Work

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—The Office of Strategic Services revealed today that more than 5,000 American airmen were returned to their units during the war by a worldwide rescue organization established behind enemy lines with the aid of underground forces.

The system was set up by OSS men who parachuted into enemy-held territory. They were aided by a similar British organization, Allied armed forces and particularly by underground units in enemy-occupied areas.

In Europe, the system included a network of secret airfields built by guerilla bands under OSS directions. American fliers forced down in hostile territory were met by the underground agents and whisked to the field. A secret radio notified the U. S. Air forces and planes were sent to pick up the stranded crewmen.

Teen-Age Pink-Cheeked Soldiers Not Bothered About Their Points

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HONOLULU—Step right this way, ladeez and gentlemen. Not one penny will it cost you to look at probably the only American soldiers in this part of the Pacific who are not counting their discharge points, do not expect to go home soon and are actually comparatively happy about the whole business.

Kenneth Dixon

If you listen closely you can hear what they're asking. It's "Where are we headed for?"

Why don't they care about points? Because they don't have any to speak of.

Why don't they expect to go home soon? Mostly because they just came from there.

Ready To Do Their Share

Why aren't they having hysterics in barracks about this business? They think it's only fair that they do their share over here and let the battle-weary boys go home.

You see, they're teen-age, pink-cheeked, eager replacements who are awaiting occupational reassignments here at the 13th replacement depot.

Mostly, they just feel (not without reason) that they're mighty lucky the shooting stopped before they started.

Pvt. Roland L. Ott, a 19-year-old five-pointer from Albion, Mich., explains why he and his buddies aren't nervous about their plight:

Should Relieve Veterans

"It's only fair that we young fellows relieve the veterans. There should be more than enough of us to send every man with a year's overseas duty home. It wouldn't be decent if we thought we shouldn't do the policing."

Besides that, with the feuding over now it may not be so bad, according to Pvt. James Metcalf, 18, from Philadelphia, his seven V points should entitle him to a respectful audience in this gang:

"For us younger fellows the occupation will be a chance to travel and see lots of interesting things, and have some unusual experiences—all mighty educational."

Education Troubles

That education business does trouble some of the boys, such as soft-spoken Michael Neiss, 19, from Bronx, N. Y., who admits that by the time he gets back to college he already could have had his degree in engineering.

However, Neiss is taking some Armed Forces institute courses in the meantime and thinks "we are fortunate our education was just interrupted, not cancelled entirely, like some."

Only 20 of Bermuda's 60 islands are inhabited.

Furr Food Buys El Paso Stores

Furr Food Stores have entered the wholesale and retail grocery fields of El Paso with the purchase there of the 20-year-old Yearwood Grocery Co., Ray Furr announced here late yesterday.

The El Paso purchase, with an involved consideration in the neighborhood of $200,000, includes seven retail stores and the wholesale organization previously operated by John Yearwood and associates.

Marvin Miller, manager of Furr's Lubbock No. 1 store for the past eight years, has been named manager of the El Paso chain. He is already in the Border city and will be joined there later by Mrs. Miller and their children. The Miller family residence here is at 2421 Twenty-eighth.

In 16 Cities

Acquisition of the El Paso properties increases Furr-operated stores to a total of 34 retail and three wholesale outlets, located in 16 West Texas and New Mexico cities. Owner and operated by Roy Furr, Lubbock; his father, C. W. Furr, Amarillo, and associates, the organization has five retail stores, a wholesale house and a meat packing concern in Lubbock; eight retail stores and a wholesale house in Amarillo; two retail stores in Levelland; and one each in Brownfield, Plainview, Childress, Shamrock, Pampa, Borger, Dumas, Hereford, Monohans and Dalhart, Tex., and one each in Tucumcari and Hobbs, N. M.

The company has no general offices, but divisional headquarters are maintained in Lubbock, El Paso and Amarillo.

Tire Rationing End Is Predicted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—Barring widespread strikes in the tire industry, the Office of Price Administration believes it may be possible to lift tire rationing by the end of the year.

Truck tires will come off rationing before passenger car tires; and industry has been producing a large number of truck tires for the armed forces and thus has no reconversion problem on the heavy tires. It will take some time to reconvert some plants to passenger tire production, however.

The demand for new automobile tires is far outstripping supply, according to OPA and the War Production board. Unfilled applications for passenger car tires totalled 517,715 at the end of July, and have been piling up so rapidly that they may reach 1,000,000 by the end of this month.

Guatemala is the northernmost of the Central American states.

Potter Ration Board Members To Remain

AMARILLO, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—Local ration board officials had voted today to remain on rationing boards as a body until they decided to quit and then all quit together.

They made no comment on whether they will quit when the Office of Price Administration is abolished or quit when they decide it's time for ration officials to resign.

There are 852,000 municipal employes in the cities and towns of the United States and they have a payroll of $122,000,000.

PICKETING THREATENED

FACTS about the FUR TAX

1. The Luxury Tax Law was passed as a temporary wartime emergency measure, to be continued at least SIX MONTHS AFTER the President has officially proclaimed the cessation of hostilities.

2. To date, no such official proclamation has been made. No one knows when it will come.

3. Even if the proclamation of the cessation of hostilities should come TODAY the tax would still be on for at least SIX MORE MONTHS — that is, until some time NEXT SPRING.

4. Remember, this tax is a law, like any other law. Only an Act of Congress can repeal it before the termination date now provided.

If you need a fur coat now, by all means, BUY IT NOW. It may be a long time before the war tax on furs "comes off".

In the meantime, Montgomery Ward offers you the finest fur values that money can buy. Because we are the nation's largest retailer of popular priced furs, it is possible for us to bring you an unusually large selection of prime quality furs, superior in workmanship and design, at LESS than you'd planned to spend.

YEARBOOKS, PLEASE

THE season for study clubs, music clubs, parent-teacher associations and flower clubs is well underway, yet in checking today the woman's department finds we have only a half dozen yearbooks in our files. We don't know whether or not your books are available; we know some of them are still at the printing office. But this is a call to let you know this desk wants the yearbooks as soon as possible.

OVERSEAS GIFTS

WE thought you might like to read once more the regulations for mailing Christmas boxes overseas. Gifts to the Pacific and China-Burma-India areas should be mailed by Oct. 1; deadline for the European theater is Oct. 15. Be sure the sizes—36 inches length and girth combined and the weight —5 pounds—are right; not more than one parcel per week per person; packages to be marked "Christmas package." Print address directly on wrapping paper, rather than trust a gummed label.

Why not cushion your packages with the colored "funnies" from your paper salvage? They'll brighten the box and make it look festive too. If you are wondering what to put in your boxes, just remember that the thing everyone wants most is the spirit of Christmas.

ASKS FOR CARDS

WITH many servicemen being transported across the country, Recreation Services, Inc., with headquarters in Washington, D. C., is asking for 50,000 decks of new playing cards or used ones that are in good condition. The decks may be sent to General Federation of Women's clubs Headquarters, 1734 N Street, N. W. Washington, which, in turn, will transmit them to Recreation Services.

The call for the cards was sent from the office of Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, president of the Women's organization.

STAY AT HOME

THE quickest way to see your son or husband being returned from overseas, to be discharged from the Army or Navy, is to remain at home. This sage advice is being offered by the services' headquarters to relatives who are anxious to welcome their "boys" coming back to the states for release.

In the first place, if relatives of Navy men travel to debarkation ports it is highly imporabable that they will even see their sailors because the Navy demobilizations plan calls for returning men to separation centers in their won naval districts. In consequence, men will not be free to visit their families at coastal ports, but will move without delay to their own districts.

Sesondly, travel by dependents will only crowd the already overcrowded transportation system and hamper the orderly operation of discharge.

Most important of all, living accomodations in coastal ports are not and will not be available.

DEVELOP TALENT

SELF-CONFIDENCE will help carry a teen-ager gracefully through the time that has been described as the awkward years. Learning to do one thing well will help bolster self-confidence. For example, an 18-year-old, Marilyn Day, is solo star on a mind reading show broadcast over a national network. She learned to sing well enough to get the job, having set her mind to get that job.

Perhaps you thing that is all right for Miss Day but you don't care about singing. Well, what about dancing? That builds self-confidence, makes you sought after and at the same time develops grace. One of the regrets of our life is that we didn't learn to dance and we're glad to see that so many young people care for that form of entertainment, although some of their antics on the dance floor seem a bit extreme.

Marilyn Day's tip to teensters is —take lessons with a group, whether swimming, skating, ping-pong or what have you. You will be stimulated to do better than some of your friends on the one hand and then again their discouragements will make you realize you are not alone in yours.

Chinese Celebrate Wildly As Their Nation Returns To Own Sovereignty

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18 — Dispatches from China were late today because in victory the Chinese were celebrating the 14th anniversary of the Mukden incident.

Chinese spirits ran particularly high in Shanghai, where General Ho Ying-Chin, chief of staff to the generalissimo, declared the entire city back under Chinese sovereignty. There is no more international settlement, no French concession, no special status for foreigners.

WHITE

A century ago the British forced the Chinese to grant trading rights and a concession on the mud banks of the Whangpoo river, and other powers claimed similar privileges. Shanghai was little more than a weed patch, but under foreign domination it grew into one of the world's busiest ports.

Under Chinese Authority

Now subject to Chinese law and police authority for the first time in their lives are several thousand British and French, and several hundred Americans. They are the merchants, missionaries, teachers and ther who failed to get away before the Japanese took over. Many wh got away expect to return.

T in Shanghai, Chinese administrators will meet their first test as authorities of a great power in the post-war world. As trade revives, the foreigners in their midst will be paying Chinese taxes —personal and corporate—and if an American's automobile runs down a Chinese in the crowded street he will face prosecution in a Chinese court, not an American co

Could Be Trouble

If foreigners do not receive justice, there will be trouble.

But it can be assumed that the Chinese will make serious efforts to deal fairly with foreigners—if for no other reason than because the revival of trade in Shanghai is one big key to China's recovery f war.

For some time, with American advice, the Chinese have been working over their legal code as it applies to foreigners, trying to bring it more into line with western practice.

No Special Privileges

But they make it clear they are going to run their own show, espcially in Shanghai which has been the symbol of foreign domination. General Ho emphasized that Chinese law would be the only law in Shanghai, with no special privileges for anyone.

At the same time the Chinese are preparing to hand back public utilities to their original American and British owners. The Japanese had taken them over.

The Chinese know they are back in Shanghai only because American transports flew them in. Their goodwill toward Americans appears to contrast to the measures taken regarding the British.

Man Who Sent Out Last Message From Corregidor Liberated

By RICHARD BERGHOLZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Sept. 18. — The boy from Brooklyn who was Carregidor's final link with America is free again.

From the depths of Malinta tunnel on the shell-battered fortress in Manila bay, as the weary, discouraged American garrison of Corregidor waited after Wainwright's surrender for the Japanese to arrive, the young radioman, Cpl. (now Sgt.) Irving Strobing, tapped out such messages as these:

"They are not here yet. We are waiting for God only knows what. How about a chocolate soda?"

Released From Prison

Strobing is in an Army barracks here now, released from a Japanese prison camp. He remembers how he tried to fill in his time before the Japanese came into Malinta tunnel on Corregidor three years ago, sending such unofficial messages as:

"They are breaking up the rifles.

"General Wainwright is a right guy. We are willing to go on for him."

The surrender had been signed at noon, May 6, 1942. Strobing had sent his last official message and was waiting for the Japanese.

"Shells Dropping All Night"

"A guy at the Army station in Honolulu wanted to know what things were like," he recalls. "I was telling him."

"Shells have been dropping all night. Shells . . . all night," he tapped out.

"I am sick at my stomach. They are bringing in the wounded. And the dead."

"Corregidor used to be a nice place. I know how a mouse feels in a trap."

Sent Message To Mother

"My name is Irving Strobing. Get this to my mother—Mrs. Minnie Strobing, 605 Barbey St., Brooklyn . . . give my love to Joe, Sue, Mac, Garry, Joy, Paul."

"God bless them all."

The message, Strobing says, was relayed.

He kept one other remembrance through his years in the foul prison at Bilibid and Cabanatuan in the Philippines, at Moji, Osaka and Omi in Japan. It was the ring his mother gave him when he was confirmed in the Jewish faith 12 years ago. It was greedily sought by the Japanese, and they beat him severely when he refused to give it to them. He cut it up, finally, and concealed the bits by piecing them into his dog-tag chain.

FILM CEILINGS SET

The ceilings will range from $1.38 tot $4.41 per 36 sheets on film in sizes from 2¼ to 3¼ inches to 5 by 7 inches. OPA said the over-age film is being or soon will be sold in various parts of the country.

Who's Going To Provide The Jobs?

U. S. Public Is Divided On Work 'Made' By Government

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—One of the most hotly debated topics in Washington today is the question of "full" or "high-level" employment.

Much of the problem revolves around the question: Can business achieve a high level of employment without the aid of the government—or must the government step in to help by providing those out of work with jobs?

The public appears to be as widely split on the issue as some of the debating senators.

When field reporters for the Institute talked with people in all parts of the country on the issue, one half of those with opinions said they think business can achieve high level employment without the government having to provide any work projects like the old WPB or PWA. The other half said they think the government is going to have to step in to lend a hand for at least some of the time.

GALLUP

The question used to measure sentiment on the issue:

"Do you think that business firms in this country will be able to provide enough jobs for nearly everyone during the next five years, or will the government have to step in and provide work like the WPA or PWA?"

The replies:

Business will be able to provide enough jobs	42%
Government will have to provide work	42
No opinion	16

The way a person feels on the issue varies sharply with his economic status as reflected by the kind of work he does and how far he happens to have gone in school.

The majority of persons with opinions who have not gone beyond grade school think the government will have to step in to help business provide jobs for almost everyone. A majority of those with opinions who have attended either high school or college believe that business can do the job itself.

Noses Are Counted

Again, among those with opinions, majorities of professional and business people, farmers and white collar workers think business will need no help from the government in providing jobs. Whereas among the manual workers who would suffer the greatest unemployment in a depression the opposite is true, a majority feeling the government will have to help if all workers are to have jobs.

This does not necessarily mean that there is any marked pessimism among the people as a whole about the future. In fact, replies to a second question, asked, only of those who said they think the government will have to help out, emphasizes a strong underlying note of optimism. The question:

"Do you think the government will have to provide work steadily during the next five years, or only part of the time?"

Steadily	13%
Part of the Time	25
Don't Know	4

Thus, only about one in every eight among the people questioned in the survey thinks the government aid will be needed all of the time.

Japan Making Obvious Effort To Hoodwink Americans In Occupation

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The United States is playing a dangerous game in Japan. So are the Japanese.

The danger is no longer physical. Gen. Douglas MacArthur summarized that phase of the occupation in his statement yesterday in which he said:

"Probably no greater gamble in history has been taken than the initial landings, in which our ground forces were outnumbered 1,000 to one, but the stakes were worth it."

Battle Of Wits Now

The prospects of renewed Japanese resistance hardly exists. Now it is a battle of wits.

The United States, on the one hand, is attempting the henceforth bloodless domination of a strong-willed alien people, seeking to change their way of thought and convert them from a feudalistic, war-like tradition centuries old into the democratic pattern of the new world.

The Japanese, on the other, are making an obvious effort to hoodwink the Americans, persuade them that a real change of heart has taken place, and bring about an early end of occupation so they can revert to their old philosophy.

Spread Anti-American Propaganda

Much of the news material which has been coming out of Japan is good evidence of the Japanese plan of action. Until MacArthur clamped down hard on the official news agency Domei and individual newspapers, the Japanese were insolently spreading anti-American propaganda, including false stories of rape and looting. The people were not told that they had lost the war, or even that they had surrendered. The point was hammered home that the war had been ended by the graciousness of the emperor The idea of a resurgent Japan was subtly stressed.

This propaganda was going over the air waves to the United States until MacArthur stopped it. At the same time, even some Allied correspondents unwittingly played the Japanese game by excessive enterprise in reporting for home consumption the whole-cloth viewpoint of prominent Japanese, including obvious war criminals.

Treacherous Nature Played Down

The result has been to confuse American opinion on how the Japanese are reacting to defeat, and what the real issues of occupation are. Not enough emphasis has been laid on the treacherous nature of Japan's leaders.

There was considerable criticism of MacArthur's procedure until he felt able to take somewhat sterner measures, and explained his position. MacArthur made it clear that he considers his job to be military and temporary; that the long-range disposition of Japan under physical control with about 200,000 regular Army troops within six months, he said significantly:

May Involve 20-Year Control

"The questions involved in this matter are entirely independent of the future Japanese politico-governmental structure on a national and international plane. This problem is one the ultimate solution whereof awaits completion of the military phases of surrender. It is one which unquestionably will be determined upon the highest diplomatic level of the United Nations."

It is evidently not MacArthur's job to undertake the future political reform of Japan, which may involve control for 20 years or more. The problem may be more difficult than that of Germany, whose western psychology the Allies understand better. Yet, regarding Germany, one of Britain's top political commentators, Veritas, had this to say after a visit to the reich:

"The Allies cannot hope to secure sanity in European affairs unless they face the unpalatable fact that they must continue to control Germany for at least 20 years . . . . If after a few years we lose interest and begin to withdraw, I can see no hope."

Heavy Slate Faces Grand Jury Here

It looked like the days of 1929 or thereabouts—the list of cases that will be investigated when a 99th district grand jury is recalled before Judge G. V. Pardue this morning.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks' records showed 44 formal charges on file with justices of peace for investigation.

And there were 84 witnesses listed to go before the grand jury.

"It probably will be safe to assume that not less than 100 witnesses will be called." Burks said.

Howard E. Hunt is grand jury foreman.

REPRESENTATIVE RESIGNS

AUSTIN, Sept. 18 (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today announced the resignation of Rep. Mervyn L. Ramsey of Beckville, Panola county. Ramsey gave no reason for his resignation, the governor said.

PRESENTS CREDENTIALS

CANBERRA, Sept. 18 (AP) — Cheng Ye-Tung, new Chinese minister to Australia, today presented his credentials to the governor general, the Duke of Gloucester, who was attended by Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley and other members of the cabinet.

News Briefs

Judge G. V. Pardue Tuesday afternoon denied application of Jessie Mae Stimpson, 18, a negro woman, for a writ of habeas corpus and remanded her to county jail. She had been sentenced to five years for murder. The woman's attorney, Grady West, excepted and gave notice of appeal to the court of civil appeals at Amarillo. District Attorney Burton S. Burks suggested that the appeal should be taken to the court of criminal appeals at Austin, but West, contending the woman is only 17 and thus a juvenil, says a civil court has jurisdiction, despite the fact that a 99th district court jury already had passed on her age.

A familiar figure on Broadway for years, A. Williams, 77-year-old salesman of novelties, was found dead about 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning in his room at Parrish rooms, 717½ Broadway. Funeral services had not been arranged last night, Sanders Funeral home reported. No relatives are known to reside in the United States. Investigators said William's savings totaled approximately $600. [illegible], operator of the rooming house, called Sanders ambulance and Williams was taken to West Texas hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The body of W. J. Blackwell, 69, of El Paso, who died of a heart ailment in West Texas hospital Monday afternoon, will be sent to El Paso today by Rix Funeral home. Services and burial will be held at El Paso probably Friday or Saturday, relatives said. The El Paso man was visiting his brother, George Blackwell of 1517 Ave. U, when he was stricken Aug. 4.

Funeral services for Samuel H. Gilbreath, 83, a Gaines county resident for 24 years who died Monday, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Assembly of God church at Seagraves, Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home announced. Burial will be at Seagraves.

HARRIS QUOTA SET

HOUSTON, Sept. 18 (U.P.)—The Harris county war chest today had set a goal of $1,785,964 in the coming victory campaign. The figure is $113,648 less than was raised last year. The goal was reduced because of the loss of gifts in war industries which closed with the end of the war, it was announced.

Housing Needs In City Said Critical

A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development, told Lubbock Lions, at their luncheon Tuesday in the Hilton hotel, that unless we can break this bottleneck in residence construction . . . unless we can get a lot of new residences built quick, Lubbock is going to suffer."

"Lots of firms and individuals are not coming to Lubbock now because of the housing problem," Davis declared. He cited the fact that a total of 2,764 new houses were built in Lubbock from 1938 through 1941 for an average of 691 per year but that from 1942 through July of this year only 632 new residences were built.

"From 1940 until now, the population of Lubbock has increased twelve to fifteen thousand, maybe more," he said. "The $64 question is: where are they living? One answer may be in the increase of rental units from 3,379 in 1942 to 7,750 this year.

Need Other Construction

"In addition to residences, we need office buildings, more hotel rooms, more warehouses and more store buildings," he continued, "two or three parties are considering building hotels and the Hilton people are studying the possibility of adding 200 more rooms to their present structure."

"But in addition to our need for residences, office buildings, hotel rooms, warehouses and store buildings, we are already several years behind on municipal improvements," Davis declared, "and with the increased growth already here and to come, we have tremendous problems. The need of an auditorium and coliseum is getting a lot of attention of late, but we have got to have an assured adequate water supply before we need anything else and that will cost approximately $1,500,000 alone.

"Then we've got to extend our water distribution system, our sanitary and storm sewers, maybe increase the sewage disposal plant, add street lights and expand our electrical distribution system . . . We've got to adopt a traffic dispersal system, and right here, let me say that plans worked out by the state highway department, if adopted will do more to stabilize business and business property values more than anything else we can do.

"We've got to enlarge our police station; we need another story on the City hall, two more fire stations; we need and the people are asking for a city library, a new courthouse; and then at Municipal airport where we have two airlines and another coming, we need a new administration building.

"We can do these things now at a reasonable cost and build a wonderful city if we will or pay bigger bills for bigger ills later on when Lubbock continues to grow regardless," Davis stated.

He had previously cited statistics showing the growth of Lubbock and the South Plains area. In these figures, it was revealed that 5,153,716 acres remain yet to be put under the plow of the 8,383,065 tillable acres in fifteen South Plains counties; that the population of the area of the trade area had increased from 111,707 in 1920 to 332,776 in 1943 and that bank deposits had climbed from $12,660,872.65 in 1940 to $48,518,690.25 in July of this year with postal receipts gaining from $237,614 in 1940 to $443,269 in 1944.

"Remember this gentlemen," Davis said, "Lubbock hasn't had a war boom or any big war industries to shut down, no big army installations to close. We hope that Lubbock Army Air field may be made a permanent installation, but its closing won't make a riffle on the retail business of Lubbock.

"If Lubbock citizens stay united and cooperate as they always have, Lubbock will grow bigger and faster . . . Gentlemen, let's build Lubbock," he concluded.

Davis was introduced by Howard Hunt, program chairman. Visitors at the luncheon included: Albert Vaughn of Ruidoso, N. M.; Harold W. Steinmeier of Ontario, Calif., Capt. Virgil Laren of Paris; Dr. Tom Prideaux Dr. A. T. Stewart, Jim Kimmel and H. C. Hazel.

Dawn Of Atomic Age In Everyday Life Said Due About Jan., 1958

By ROBERT L. FREY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 — The past performances of inventors who have harnessed basic sources of energy—steam, electricity and oil—indicate that the dawn of the atomic age in everyday life is due about January, 1958.

Already it has been announced that construction soon will begin of a railroad engine to be driven by atomic energy. Ralph Lucas, chief engineer of the United States Industrial Research and Development Co., said the energy will be utilized through a special type of turbine.

Need Atomic Engine

Atomic, or more accurately, nuclear energy, now is in the stage that steam energy was before the invention of the steam engine, electricity before the dynamo, oil before the internal combustion engine. We need an atomic engine to transform this new form of energy into power that can be controlled to run machines.

A look at the record shows that the time elapsed between the tapping of a new source of energy and invention of the means of harnessing it has decreased by half with each new power-discovery.

Revolution Changed Civilization

The new development of the steam engine up to 1781 when James Watt found a way to make it turn a rotary shaft and thus run machinery covered about 100 years. As every schoolboy knows, the industrial revolution which followed changed civilization.

In the case of electricity, 50 years elapsed between Michael Faraday's discovery in 1831 that electricity could be generated from magnetism and the invention of the modern type of dynamo.

Only 25 yeas passed between the discovery of oil in western Pennsylvania and the invention of the first high speed internal combustion engine that was to make the automobile and, eventually, the airplane possible.

Storehouse Opened Last July

The secret storehouse of energy in the atom finally was opened last July when a group of scientists watched the first atom bomb explode over a New Mexican desert.

The scale of diminishing periods between the discovery of an energy and the invention of its engine indicates that we may expect another halving of that time, a 12 and one-half year period of experimentation. The atomic age on this form chart should dawn about January, 1958.

Specialists in the field casting their own cautious predictions are in more or less general agreement that another decade or so will see nuclear energy peacefully performing some of man's bidding.

Development in 10 Years Seen

The chairman of the department of physics at Princeton, said in an official report on the atomic bomb that there is a good probability that nuclear power for special purposes could be developed within 10 years.

Dr. C. Guy Suits, vice president and director of the research laboratory at the General Electric company, directed research on the apparatus used in the production of U-235. He made this considered estimate on the extent to which atomic energy will reshape our lives in the years just ahead:

To Bring Many Changes

"I feel quite confident," Dr. Suits told the United Press, "that the applications of nuclear energy probably will bring us as many changes in everyday life during the next forty years as the use of electricity has during the last forty."

A group of editors of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company, publishers of scientific and industrial magazines and books, feel it perfectly safe to predict that atomic energy will find some commercial applications within the next five or ten years.

There are ifs and buts. Perhaps the biggest is this. The development of steam power, electric power and the gasoline engine all were carried on by individuals and corporations. Now for the first time in history, the government has absolute control of what some call the most important discovery since man learned to make fire. What effect this may have on the time table of its development none can forsee.

Rayon Cord Tire Said Made By Goodyear

AKRON, O., Sept. 18 (AP) — P. W. Litchfield, chairman of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., today announced "the most important development in tire-making since Goodyear developed the cord tire 32 years ago."

That development, he said, was the perfection of a tire built with rayon instead of cotton cords that "is capable of greatly increased mileage, rolls so much more freely that gasoline savings result, and brings into prospect a set of tires that will last longer than the usual period of a car's ownership by an individual."

MANAGER'S WIFE DIES

MARSHALL, Sept. 18 (U.P.) — Funeral services were being planned today for Mrs. Norma Graeser, wife of City Manager H. J. Graeser, who died in a Shreveport hospital following a month's illness. Mrs. Graeser, an active church and club worker, is survived by her husband, a son and a daughter.

Bronze Star Awarded To O'Donnell Soldier

WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY—For meritorious service in action in France and Germany, Pfc. Melvin H. Thompson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamp Thompson, O'Donnell, Tex., has been awarded the Bronze Star medal.

Pfc. Thompson was cited for his work as a telephone lineman in Alsace and southern Germany with the XXI Corps. The citation accompanying the award read in part: "His courage, devotion to duty, and willingness to work long hours were a constant source of inspiration to the men with whom he came in contact, and his aggressiveness, determination, and disregard for his own personal welfare and cooperation are worthy of the highest praise."

In addition to the Bronze Star medal, Thompson wears the European Theater of Operations ribbon with two battle participation stars.

Before his induction into the army in April of 1943, Pfc. Thompson attended the O'Donnell high school where he was a member of the football team. Following training at Fort Lewis, Wash., and Camp Bowie, Tex., he came overseas in the fall of 1944 and is now stationed in Germany.

Red Raiders Shape Attack For Saturday Night Opener

Texas Tech's Red Raiders knocked heads Tuesday afternoon as Dell Morgan, head ringmaster, sought to find a suitable combination to throw at the Southwestern Pirates here Saturday night in the season's opener for the local club.

Several boys were showing up well, and threatening to upset the chances of some likely starters. Among the most promising in this group are a couple of guards who have been making things lively around the practice field.

New Guards Shine

John Staewen, a product of San Antonio Tech, and Reeves Moren, a Graham product, were looking very impressive Tuesday afternoon in the workouts, as they alternated with other guards in the scrimmage.

One combination that was offering the railbirds plenty of talk about was much the same as the one that showed up well Monday afternoon, with only one change. R. W. Moyers, Lubbock High's offering, was stepping into the right wing position, and looking good. J. E. Branton of Leland, Mississippi, was showing up from the other end.

The rest of the line in this combination was Otis Turner at center, Floyd Lawhorn and Russell Birdwell at guards, and Joe Snodgrass and James Gimmell at tackles. Turner, Lawhorn and Snodgrass are lettermen, Gimmell a returning squadman ,and Birdwell a discharged veteran who was here in the spring of 1943. Moren was alternating at guard with this lineup.

All-Veteran Backs

Working behind this line was an all-veteran backfield of Gene Hardey, Arthur Shahan, Cecil Norris and Walter Schlinkman.

Jiggs Jackson, a squadman last season, was playing the quarterback slot with the other combination, with three newcomers working with him. The new boys, all of them looking good, were Dick Wiggins of Hobbs, N. M., Don Davis of Tulia and Jack Hinson of San Antonio. Benny Tidwell of Bowie, another newcomer, was alternating in this backfield at left half.

James Clecker of Wslaco was at center, Mac Weaver of Temple and Doug McSwain of San Angelo were at guards, Stanley Shaffer of Bowie and Harold Kiger Wichita Falls were at tackle, and three boys worked at ends. They were Billy Bob Harris of the Lubbock Westerners, Malcolm Mitchell of San Angelo and Frank Ottmers of Fredericksburg.

Two other lads going good in the line with this crew were Earl Burum from Panhandle and Charles Walsh from Graham, along with Staewen.

Morgan is finding it hard to settle on a starting lineup, and indicated Tuesday night that he probably would not know the starting lineup until just before the kickoff.

Westerners Get Rough Workout

The Lubbock Westerners started shaping their offense for Friday night, and Coaches Dixie White and George Philbrick put the boys through a lengthy session of head knocking under game conditions.

The offense and defense both looked ragged during the workout, but with spurts of looking like it might be ready to start paying off with yardage.

Wall Back At Guard

One promising factor seen at the practice session Tuesday afternoon was the return of Stoney Wall to the guard position, where he lettered last season. Wall had been shifted into the backfield earlier in the season, but no one could be found to plug the hole left by his removal from the line.

Wall at once stepped back into full stride at his guard post, and for the day, was perhaps the outstanding player on the field. Wall was making most of the tackles, and was causing havoc to the sputtering T offense of the second stringers.

Captain Charles Presley, a center converted into a fullback, and George Brewer, the expected one-two punch of the Westerners, looked up to par Tuesday afternoon, and both were ripping off some nice gains against the second stringers.

Speck Austin Shines

But it was little Don "Speck" Austin who had to come over to the first string lineup from the second, and show the boys how to score touchdowns.

It was Austin who climaxed the 91 yard scoring march of the Westerners last week at Odessa, by slicing nicely through the line for the only score of the Plainsmen. It was the same Austin Tuesday afternoon, who was covering lots of landscape with his running.

The second string lineup could never dent the big Westerner line with any degree of success during the Tuesday scrimmage, but there were times when at least two of them were showing great prospects.

Little Noel Sikes, the twinkle-toed halfback who has been out most of the year with an injured back, and the hard driving John Lanham were carrying the brunt of the attack for the "scrubs."

Another promising feature of Tuesday's scrimmage session was the defensive showing made by Robert Collier and Gerald Davis at the terminal spots. Both these lads were getting a full share of the tackles.

Another rough session is promised for today, then the club will taper off Thursday with a light drill before leaving for San Angelo.

Cardinals Nose By Chicubs, 3-2

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals surged to within two games of the league-leading Chicago Cubs tonight as they nipped the Bruins, 3-2, before 22,174 fans in the opener of a climatic three-game series.

Sturdy Charley (Red) Barrett, the unwanted Boston Braves' tosser, racked up his 22nd triumph of the season as he continued the amazing Cardinal jinx over the Cubs, who now have dropped 14 of 18 starts to the World Champions.

The triumph fanned the hopes of the Redbirds for a fourth straight National League pennant since both they and the Cubs still have 10 games to play.

In grabbing his fourth decision over the Cugs against no defeats, Barrett scattered seven hits while the Cardinals jolted Claude Passeau for 10 and came from behind with a pair of runs in the fifth inning to clinch the verdict.

Seminole, Lubbock Game At Seagraves

SEMINOLE, Sept. 18 (Special) The Seminole Indians will "borrow" a football field to play the Lubbock Westerner B team, it was announced here tonight by Coach John P. Burns, and the game will be played at Seagraves.

Because material could not be obtained in time to get the lights set up for the game with the Lubbock eleven, arrangements were made to play the game under the lights at Seagraves Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock.

The light should, however, be set up, and ready to go in time for the opening conference game here Oct. 5 with Denver City, defending champions.

Burns reported that his veteran ball club was coming along nicely, and would be ready to give a good account of themselves Thursday night.

Six-Man Grid Slate At Dickens Is Named

DICKENS, Sept. 18 (Special)—Six man football teams in the Dickens loop have adopted a conference schedule which will extend over three weeks, starting Sept. 28 and play a single round robin slate.

The conference is made up of four teams, Dickens, Patton Springs, McAdoo and Jayton. The schedule was adopted by Supt. V. F. Hickman of McAdoo, Supt. Woodrow Montgomery of Patton Springs, Supt. U. G. Herman of Jayton, and Jack D. Wester of Dickens.

The schedule for Sept. 28 will send Dickens to Patton Springs and McAdoo to Jayton. On Oct. 5, Patton Springs goes to McAdoo and Jayton plays at Dickens. The schedule will close Oct. 12, with Patton Springs playing at Jayton and Dickens at McAdoo.

Senators Slug Out Victory Over Tigers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP) — The Washington Senators pounded six assorted Detroit flingers for a 12 to 5 victory in the series finale at Griffith Stadium today and kept their pennant hopes flickering faintly.

The defeat reduced the Tiger's lead over the Nationals to a game and a half as they boarded a train for the West where they will wind up their campaign in eight games against Cleveland and the St. Browns. They open a two-game series in Cleveland tomorrow.

Despite today's setback, Manager Steve O'Neill's athletes still were very much in the driver's seat. Even should the Senators win all their remaining five games in the East, the Tigers could assure themselves no worse than a tie by taking five of their eight.

The final between the two pennant contenders left considerable to be desired in the way of baseball. A total of 35 players scrambled around at one time or other on the muddy field, which was soaked from a 24-hour rain and required much work before the contest could begin an hour behind schedule.

Horton Smith Leads Yanks In Golf Meet

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, Sept. 18. (AP)—Six U. S. Army golfers, headed by Captain Horton Smith, make America's first postwar overseas golf challenge in the 72-hole British P. G. A. tournament opening here tomorrow.

The five other Americans are Corporals Lloyd Mangrum, and George Nowak, both of Los Angeles; Lt. Mat Kowal, of Philadelphia; Sgt. Ronald Munday, of Santa Rosa, Calif.; and Cpl. Charles Wipperman, of Harrisburg, Pa.

The $6,300 tourney has drawn a field of 172 and will be played over the famous old St. Andrews par 73 course.

An attack of the flu has made Henry Cotton, Great Britain's leading professional, a doubtful starter, but all the other top-notchers are entered.

The field will play 36 holes of medal play tomorrow and Thursday with the low 50 qualifying for the final 36 holes on Friday.

Touch Footballers Open Season Today

Lubbock grade school touch footballers will blast the lid off a new season this afternoon with two games on the schedule today, and two more Thursday to send eight of the teams into action.

The Hunt Pioneers and Central Ward Silver Spuds get the nod first, along with the Dupre Doggies and the Wilson Wranglers. On the schedule for Thursday afternoon will be the K. Carter Coyotes and Bean Bronchos in one game, while the McWhorter Mustangs and Sanders Bulldoggers clash in the second.

All teams have been working out for several days, and some close battles appear in prospect for this season.

Tech Class Vote Names Gridmen

King football will rule the campus at Texas Tech this year, election returns from class balloting revealed Tuesday afternoon, and showed that one new comer to the grid squad and three lettermen had been named as presidents of their respective classes.

Walter Schlinkman, the Dumas Dynamiter, was elected as the leader of the senior class. Arthur Shahan, halfback star from Graham, will be president of the junior class. Gene Hardey, quarterback letterman from Hugoton, Kansas, was named president of the sophomore class. Jack Hinson of San Antonio, and a promising newcomer in the Tech backfield, was given the honors for the freshman class.

Old timers around the Tech campus looked back into the past, and could never find another year that showed football taking such a big lead in the campus elections.

Paul Richards Hard On Sens Rapid Play

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—Paul Richards, Detroit's catcher, is the chap that everybody is talking about in the Detroit-Washington American League pennant series.

The experts in the press box, fans and players agree that this 6 feet, 2 inch, 180 pound handsome Texan has been the No. 1 man in Detroit's all-but-pennant-clinching three victories in the first four games.

Cab drivers recognize him in civvies and talk about his rifle pegs. Kids at the ball park want to feel his muscle as he leaves the dressing room.

His deadly throwing stopped Washington's running game dead in its tracks.

Richards has been a firebrand as field general, keeping his teammates alert with a critical tongue.

And he let the Senators know early they couldn't get away with their customary base thievery, or convert bunts in front of the plate into base hits.

George Myatt, fleet Senators' second sacker trying for the league's base-stealing championship, tested Richards' arm twice in the second game. Richards nailed him both times.

When the Senators dumped bunt, Richards pounced on them and fired the ball to first without a glance. He taught himself to do that by practicing the throw over and over again in spring training.

Damage To Florida's Citrus 'Negligible'

LAKELAND, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—Preliminary survey of Florida's citrus crop has revealed the week-end storm struck the hardest in the vicinity of Lake Placid, to northeast of Lake Wales.

Citrus men, however, have termed the storm-loss as "almost negligible," not exceeding two or three per cent.

Lee county had a severe wind and there are unconfirmed reports of fruit losses, but not enough to change the state-wide picture.

Murl E. Pace, Orlando, general manager of the United Growers & Shippers association, said "reports reaching our office indicate the damage as negligible."

O'Donnell Plays Sundown Friday

O'DONNELL, Sept. 18. (Special)—A change in the schedule of the O'Donnell Eagles was announced here today, and will give District 6-A a total of three conference games for this weekend as the boys in this rather bulky district start playing for keeps.

The O'Donnell schedule called for Meadow to play here Friday, but the Meadow game has been cancelled, and the Eagles will tangle with Sundown in a conference battle.

It will be the season's opener for both teams, as well as the conference opener. Little is known of the strength of the two clubs.

Both are playing under new coaches, and with new systems, while Sundown is playing eleven man football for the first time, having long been a power in six-man football.

O'Donnell last year was very much in the district race, but was beaten out at the end of the stason by Denver City. However, only two starters from last year, and five reserve lettermen are back at O'Donnell this season.

Joe Harris, quarterback, and Larron Davis, fullback, are co-captains of the Eagles. G. W. Jones and Bob Clark are the other starting backs. In the line, the probable starters will be Carroll Jones at left end; Don Crutcher at left tackle; Jerry New at left guard; Gene Jones at center; Arvis Grogan at right guard; Sam Goad at right tackle, and J. C. Durham at right end.

Except for two big tackles, both better than 200 pounds, the Eagles have a light team.

The other two conference games in the district this week will find Post opening at Tahoka and Slaton at Seagraves.

Trial By Jury Waived By Eady

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 18. (Special)—Judge C. D. Russell of the 64th district court Wednesday will hear the burglary case against Rufus Eady of Lubbock, who has waived a jury trial.

Eady is under indictment in the burglary several weeks ago of Consumers wholesale oil and gas station in Abernathy.

Indicted in the same case, Virgil Johnson, of Lubbock, former convict, was assessed a seven-year term in the penitentiary Monday.

Illness Delays Two

Cases against Eugene Wear and Leroy Vaughn, Hale county young men, were postponed because of the illness of a State's witness, Sheriff Ted Andrews, who is ill in a Lubbock hospital.

Wear and Vaughn each are under indictment in two theft cases and one burglary. They are charged with theft of an automobile in Plainview and a pickup from Tom Terrell of west of Plainview, and burglary of the residence of W. P. Eason of west of Hale Center.

Johnson, Wear and Vaughn were among five persons who recently escaped from the Hale county jail. The trio re-arrested soon afterward.

Also charged in the Abernathy burglary are Jack Clark and Lil Crawford, both of Lubbock. They will be tried later, said District Attorney Harold LaFont.

Premier And War

the emperor knew in advance of Pearl Harbor, the premier replied "that was a great state secret and we still don't know now. It will be clear in due time, but I can't say now."

The premier was asked what measures would be taken to prevent the emperor from again being deceived and therefore permitting another war. He replied:

"We shall see to it that won't happen again. We shall tell the emperor the truth and assist him so that another war won't be brought about."

Informs Emperor Daily

He said he was informing the emperor daily of current developments throughout the world.

Higashi-Kuni, who was defense commander, "didn't know myself that Japan was so weak. Only a few militarists in headquarters knew the full situation. This was one of the greatest reasons for Japan's defeat in the war."

Higashi-Kuni denied he gave the order to execute the Doolittle fliers after the first American aerial strike against Tokyo in 1942.

He said he had charge of home defenses "up to the time the plane (one of the Doolittle attackers) was shot down, but thereafter what happened was beyond my province."

Stormy On Occasion

The interview grew stormy on occasion, as the premier declined or remained non-committal on some questions put to him by the crowd of correspondents.

The premier said Mamoru Shigemitsu, signer of the articles of surrender, resigned as foreign minister because "he was foreign minister during the war and now we are launched on building a new Japan."

The resignation, Higashi-Kuni added, when asked if the resignation had been forced, was "a matter of both sides coming together."

There was no time to consult General MacArthur before hand on the change of foreign ministers, the prince added.

The premier said he had heard that the Japanese military punished some of its members for cruelties at prisoner of war camps, and that this was handled through the Army and Navy ministers because the camps were under their jurisdiction.

Some "Still Working"

He said the Army and Navy ministers "are still working, although they are on the way to being demobilized."

They still exert authority, the premier said, because otherwise there would be considerable confusion arising from the return of troops from abroad.

The premier agreed to hold a press conference with the Allied correspondents twice a month. He said another conference would be called as soon as possible at which a detailed report of punishment handed out for war crimes would be presented.

Audie Murphy May Go Back Into Army

CORSICANA, Sept. 18 (AP)—Lt. Audie Murphy, the most decorated United States soldier of World war 2, said today he would go back into the service about Christmas if he isn't able to better adjust himself to civilian life before then.

"And I'm not very happy about going to Hollywood, either," said Lt. Murphy, the Farmersville, Tex., youth who recently received an honorable discharge from the service by virtue of holding the Congressional Medal of Honor.

He was here today to lead a parade opening the ninth annual Corsicana livestock and agricultural show and also spoke at a luncheon.

Murphy leaves this week for Hollywood at the invitation of James Cagney, actor and producer, who is interested in filming the story of the soldier's life.

inflation. It calls for:

1. Increasing the supply of scarce building materials, if necessary by granting priorities to the producers and—as in the case of bricks—by modest price increases to step up production.

2. Strengthening inventory control, the machinery by which WPB prevents over-buying and hoarding of scarce supplies.

3. Tightening of price controls over building materials.

4. Cooperation of the federal lending agencies to "discourage excessive and unsound lending on mortgages," and the enlistment of voluntary help from private lenders.

5. Calling of real estate men, building supply dealers and contractors to Washington, to lay out a voluntary program for holding down costs and increasing production of homes and materials.

6. Advisory service to home buyers, to be given by the National Housing agency.

Soviet Concessions May Go With Loan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Russia may have to make some trade concessions and open her financial books to get a loan from the United States.

That was the reaction of congressional leaders here today to reports Generalissimo Stalin had told a group of legislators visiting Moscow that the Soviets want a $6,000,000,000 loan.

There were some whistles in Congress at the amount involved.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance committee said any loan of that amount would have to be preceded with guarantees that this country would get "real consideration in the economic field" so far as Russian trade goes.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he had hoped the Russains could get along with a lot less.

"But," he said, "at least they are asking for a loan and not just an outright grant, as the British seem to be doing."

Stimson Resigns

In the Taft administration he was War secretary. He was President Hoover's secretary of state.

The late President Roosevelt picked him and the late Navy Secretary Frank Knox, both Republicans, for cabinet duty on July 10, 1940. Mr. Roosevelt made the selections, he explained, to "satisfy the sentiment of the nation for national solidarity in time of world crisis."

Governed Philippines

Just before taking up the secretaryship of state in 1929, Stimson ended a two-year term as governor general of the Philippines. In the first World war he commanded an artillery regiment in France.

Stimson's successor, Patterson, is a 54-year-old New Yorker who gave up a lifetime federal judgeship to become assistant secretary of war under Stimson. Six months later he became undersecretary and supervised the Army's far-flung supply services all through World War II.

Senator Burton is serving his first term in the Senate. His term would not have ended until January 3, 1947. A number of senators applauded his appointment, and confirmation was considered certain.

Demo Leaders Interested

Democratic politicians were as much interested in the appointment as Republicans. They pointed out that this leaves the way open for another Democratic senator inasmuch as the present governor of Ohio, Frank J. Lausche, is a Democrat. It will be up to him to name a successor to Burton. There was some talk in Capitol cloakrooms that Lausche might take the Senate seat himself.

Burton is a former mayor of Cleveland. He is 57 and was born in Jamaica Plains, Massachusetts, on June 22, 1888. He served in France and Belgium in the first World war.

As a legislator, he has taken a particular interest in foreign affairs. He was co-author of the so-called "B2H2" resolution favoring American participation in an international organization to keep the peace. Other authors were Senators Ball (R-Minn), Hatch (D-NM) and Hill (D-Ala).

perhaps can't find material even for substitution, he gets cagey.

The plumbing supplyman? He doesn't know when he will ever get another bathtub or other plumbing fixtures. "The factories can't take a chance on shipping to us at a loss," as one plumbing concern official said. "When the war was on they had to ship plumbing to us—now that the war is over they don't. It may be February or March before the situation will shape up to where increased costs can be leveled off so that plumbing goods can be made again at a fair profit. A contractor doesn't want to figure on a house if he can't depend on getting plumbing and plumbing fixtures in it. Only way he could do would be to figure on a when-and-if basis."

Not So Good As It Sounds

All talked with agreed that the Tuesday announcement "isn't so good as it sounds on paper." They agreed that attempting to start and finish a building now would be to invite one setback after another, a halt here for a critical material, another halt there for another necessary building item.

Added, in opinion of some talked with, is the problem of unskilled labor's slow adjustment to lowering wage scales. Persons who worked in war plants and made high wages find themselves in growing numbers having to face 75 cents an hour or less.

Not Reconciled To Wage

"And lots of those persons are not ready to reconcile themselves to that wage. They're looking around, job-shopping. They have not come to the point where they need a job bad enough to take 60 cents an hour."

All agree that there is a great building boom in sight, but whether the immediacy of it can be brought into sharp focus there was much dissent.

Much of the skilled labor is in the Seabees, some firms said. The other services have great numbers of such persons.

Until now, the longest non-stop flight has been that of the Russian fliers, M. Gronov, A. Yumachev and S. Danilin. Taking off from Moscow on July 12, 1937, they flew to San Jacinto, Calif., landing there on July 14, a distance of 6,296 miles.

Industrial Plan For East Texas Prepared

DALLAS, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—A master industrial plan for East Texas will be presented in ten towns in the next two months, John M. Guild, manager of the industrial department of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced today.

"Eastern industry is looking to the Southwest," Guild said. "We must take advantage of this decentralization to attract these concerns. We are not unmindful of our resources—mines, forests and agriculture."

Guild said presentation of the plan will be made for the first time Thursday in Sherman. Other towns to be visited are Paris, Temple, Lufkin, Beaumont, Conroe, Corsicana, Tyler, Bryan and Marshall.

ident Truman might have to define American occupation policy.

But despite the criticism at home and the flare-up in the Japanese press that put Asahi under a two-day suspension, the occupation was proceeding smoothly.

Shigeru Yoshida, career diplomat once jailed for opposing the war, met Emperor Hirohito Monday night and was given the foreign minister portfolio, Japanese sources said. He succeeded Mamoru Shigmitsu, signer of the articles of surrender and once the confidante of dictator Hideki Tojo.

Of Tojo's war-making 12-member cabinet, seven were in Yokohama prison facing charges as war criminals, an eighth was ill but in technical custody, two were suicides and the other two have not been listed as wanted.

The newspaper, with the rest of the press yesterday condemned the "regretful atrocities" committed by Japanese on helpless prisoners, and accused the military of starting the war.

Scoffed At Stories

But for three days previously, MacArthur's headquarters charged, it had been scoffing off the atrocity stories and accusing the United States itself of violating international law by unleashing the atomic bomb.

Asahi in one editorial said the atrocity report was put out to overshadow Japanese press reports of outrages "committed by some of the American soldiers in Japan."

It added that Japanese soldiers were such good fathers and sons at home that "it cannot be believed" they "committed such cruelties on the unarmed masses" in the Philippines and elsewhere.

The rest of the Tokyo newspapers yesterday lashed out at Tojo and other warmakers, accepted MacArthur's recent designation of Japan as a fourth-rate nation, and deplored atrocities and those responsible.

Yomiuri Hochi charged that the present government had taken no step toward fostering free speech, nor support of democratic political parties.

Rosy Days Are Ahead

Consumers Are Ready To Buy

IF YOU are one of those presons who has been marking time about purchasing a home or going into business because of "the uncertainty," you may be inclined to take "the boom" prediction of Dr. Emerson Schmidt, research director for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, with a grain of salt. But the signs are encouraging.

Speaking before the Senate Finance committee last week, Dr. Schmidt declared that "a great boom is pending" which will last "several years."

And Dr. Schmidt is not a man to talk loosely. Jealous of his reputation as a research expert, he would not knowingly make a false prediction, and there are numerous indications that his forecast has sound basis.

On the same day that Dr. Schmidt made his encouraging prediction, Stabilization Director William H. Davis announced that wage increases, which stimulate consumer buying, could be and would be achieved without the general price increases which reduce the total of consumer purchases.

President Harry Truman sounded a similar note, when in his message to Congress, he said:

"A vast backlog of orders may soon make possible the greatest peacetime industrial activity that we have ever seen."

At the same time the stock market has been booming. Yet there has been a definite slump in economic activity since war contracts were cancelled and war workers laid off, as the nation moves into reconversion. However, once the nation safely weathers the short reconversion period of uncertainty, plus resultant labor troubles, most students of business trends predict great economic activity as industry begins supplying the long deferred civilian demands.

What happened following the ending of World War I may also throw light on present-day conditions. For the first seven months after the end of the first World War, there was a slight slump in business. Then there was increased activity for fifteen months. The business slump following the Armistice of November, 1918, until industry became regeared to civilian production, was not serious.

The chances for prosperous conditions during the years immediately following the ending of hostilities are better now than they were in 1918, since the nation, diverted by completely from civilian production during the past three years, has a much greater backlog than it had then.

Millions of workers have saved up money and are waiting to buy. The nation's plants are re-tooling for civilian production. It should not be long until they will be humming. Good times should be on their way soon.

The Jap Situation Clears

IN DENYING that his policy toward Japan is soft, General Douglas MacArthur has taken occasion to explain that the first phase of the occupation was based on military consideration of "safety and security."

He pointed out that it was necessary to proceed cautiously in this manner as American troops were being deployed and prisoners liberated in order to avoid incidents that might endanger the lives of our men needlessly.

"Over half of the enemy's forces in Japan proper are now demobilized," he explained, and the disarming of the 3,000,000 or more soldiers in the empire's home army will be completed by mid-October.

That General MacArthur's occupational strategy is not all wrong is shown by the fact that no serious incidents have marred the gigantic task of seizing control of Japan's industrial and governmental framework. In Shanghai a hand grenade was thrown, apparently by Japanese and three or more Allied soldiers were injured. But this is one of the few incidents that are reported to have occurred.

There has also been criticism of the Army's policy in Korea, where Jap puppets have been permitted to remain in control for the present, but all indications are that this condition will not last long.

What to do about Korea is complicated by the fact that the country is supposed to be unprepared for self-government now. At the Cairo conference in November, 1943, Roosevelt, Churchill and Chiang Kai-Shek declared that Korea should become free and independent "in due course."

The occupation problem of Korea is also complicated by the fact that Americans are only in the southern part of the country, while the occupation force in the north is Russian.

While some commentators have expressed the opinion that China, in the recent Russo-Chinese agreement, gave Russia a free hand in Korea in return for Russia's suspiciously unconditional recognition of China's sovereignty over Manchuria, no evidence has come forth to substantiate such a theory.

DELANEY GETS CURIOUS

V

THE STORY: Dr. Hale decides to transfer the isolated X-999 to a farmhouse, well out of the city. There is danger of an explosion. When the substitute truck driver sees the armed guards, then the armed guards, then the little, heavy box he is to transport, he thinks the idea is silly. Carolyn is worried, but Robert assures her this method of moving it will excite less suspicion.

Unanswered questions in the mind of Mr. Spud Delaney, substitute driver for the Metropolitan Transit company, nagged at his curiosity for a full half hour while he edged his truck in and out of the city's traffic. Technically he should have taken the truck route down Commerce street, which would have been faster, but this was midnight and by going straight through town he could stop over by the furniture factory and have a late beer with his friend, Red Cragin.

It was past 1 when Spud left Red's bar, singing. He was not drunk—he was too smart to get drunk on any driving job—but he wasn't depressed, either. He had a good new cigar, on Red.

"Red, I got the nuttiest load I ever heard of," he declared sarcastically, before climbing up to his truck cab. 'Big as my two fists, settin' on cotton.

"Want to see it?" Spud opened a side door and climbed into the dark truck.

He had his cigar between his fingers and he gestured with it at the parcel. Red stepped up to see and Spud snapped on an interior light. Red pushed the thing tentatively with his foot.

"It's just tied," he observed.

The hint was enough. Arrogant Mr. Spud Delaney bit his cigar again and, puffing, untied the tiny parcel on the truck floor. Red watched.

"Hunh," Spud grunted. "Got a metal lid two inches thick or better. Wire handle."

"Lift it. Go on!"

The lid was heavy, and under that was a second lead case, tinier still. Spud eyed it.

"Couldn't be rocks," he ventured. "If the guy was shippin' diamonds, there'd be the steel car and guards. And it ain't a money box."

Spud lifted the second tight cover. There, in a center depression in the heavy lead, was what appeared to be some other kind of metal, a grayish whitish, blackish, elusive sort of substance, irregularly shaped, suggesting a marble-sized wad of tarnished tinfoil. It seemed vaguely to glow a little in the dim light here, but that could have been imagined.

'Hunh!' grunted Red, kneeling near the box with Spud.

Spud again removed his cigar to say something and idly gestured with it as he spoke.

A nob of red-hot cigar ash suddenly fell.

Carolyn sat on the edge of her bed with one knee hugged up under her chin. Staring unseeing at the floor, she reconstructed the past two days.

A new job, a sensational new job; an even more sensational new secret and the trust it involved. The responsibility assailed her, and the personality of Bob Hale was an influential thing.

She let her thoughts dwell on the strangely contradictory young scientist. This evening he had inadvertantly called her Carolyn. And then suddenly aware of the slip had profusely apologized. She hastened to assure him she preferred her first name—that "Miss Tyler" made her feel like an old maid. It was then he had asked her to call him Bob.

She was lost in this pleasant reverie when, abruptly, a not too distant roar and reverberation sounded.

Fear seized Carolyn and held her motionless for a moment. Then she literally snatched off pajamas and dressed again, meanwhile trying to explain to her mother that the blast sounded like an explosion and might be concerned with her work at the laboratory.

She paused only to telephone for a taxi and was on the sidewalk when it came.

* * *

"The explosion—to the Schoenfeld, Laboratory, driver. Please rush! I am so—"

"That's east, miss. The explosion was sout'west. You know a farmhouse out 30 miles? A—a deserted—a place with land around—"

Bob Hale was to have gone on to the farmhouse to receive the shipment of X-999 after driving her home that evening. But she now realized how inadequate her description was, how silly really.

Distress in her voice made the driver stare at her.

"Then let's go there!" she suddenly ordered. "Southwest, I mean."

They passed several other taxicabs going southwest, and then a police car with siren shrilling passed them. They had to pull over to let fire trucks go by. They knew now they had the right direction. If fire trucks were coming from this distance, an dthis long after the explosion, it must mean a second or even general alarm fire somewhere, the driver said. But no blaze was visible. Ambulances streaked by them twice.

"O-h-h!" That was involuntary, from Carolyn.

"What was it, miss? What busted?"

"I—don't know!"

He let it go at that. And 20 minutes later they had the answer before them.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

A NEW YORK bookseller says he is the reincarnation of Nostradamus, that famous sixteenth-century astrologer, and has produced affidavits that he acurately predicted the end of the war and the exact date of the Japanese surrender.

Now our reincarnated Nostradamus tells us that Hitler will be found alive this month, that there will be another war in 1999, and that the world will come to an end in 3770.

BRANDEIS

We may reasonably expect to be alive long enough to see whether his prediction about Hitler is correct.

I am sure I won't be here to check him on the next war — and I wouldn't want to go through another one—nor to be present at the end of the world 1825 years hence.

But even if his predictions are correct and I could be here to witness the events, I would much prefer not to know about them in advance.

It is a good thing for all of us that the future is shrouded in darkness.

What a sorry, hopeless world it would be if we knew today everything that will happen tomorrow or next year or in ten years from now!

Of all the human possessions one of the greatest is Hope.

We hope for the things we desire.

The sick hope for health, the poor for wealth, the single for husbands or wives, tomorrow's picnicker hopes for nice weather.

How terrible it would be if advance knowledge spoiled all your hopes.

Can you imagine how monotonous your life would be if you had no hope, and knew everything that was going to happen?

Sometimes I think that hoping for something is much more fun than getting the thing you hope for.

Hope opens the whole world to you. You can be a millionnaire without ever being one. You may throw away your crutches, sit on a throne, be the president of your firm, be married to the most beautiful girl in the world—by just hoping for it.

* * *

THE chances are a thousand to one—or a million to one, if you prefer—that you will be disappointed.

But if you hope strongly enough you may get more joy from anticipation than you might from realization.

"But isn't that a fool's dream?" you may ask.

Of course, it is.

But isn't it wonderful to be a fool, occasionally?

Life is a pretty prosaic thing for most of us—duty, routine, repetition.

And then, in the still of our mind, we hope for anything we want, and as we hope, we are everything we want to be.

Call me a fool—but don't tell me what tomorrow will bring.

Movies And Diplomacy

A New Field for Eric Johnston

WASHINGTON —
By Ray Tucker

ERIC A. Johnston, dynamic president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will soon become "ambassador at large" for the Hollywood motion picture empire under a contract that will pay him $100,000 annually for five years. He will replace Will Hays, veteran movie czar, who will be pensioned at $50,000 a year.

Mr. Johnston's first task will be to try to unite rival and squabbling groups of producers for development of postwar markets in this country and for the recapture of a fast-vanishing foreign trade. He has already undertaken this assignment at preliminary Hollywood conferences attended by the industry's top moguls, Mr. Hays and Donald B. Nelson, who has been engaged by the independents to look after their interests in forthcoming commercial battles.

TUCKER

The new diplomat of the screen world—for that is what his principal role is supposed to be—will establish headquarters in Washington, where he will work closely with the State department in seeking to break down restrictions which foreign nations, especially France, Russia and England, have imposed on the export of American films.

It is not certain whether Mr. Johnston will continue as head of the C. and C. after his present term expires next May. The directors may conclude that his new employment will not allow him sufficient time to handle their affairs, although he has been their finest salesman and window dresser in many years.

He was able to retain the friendship of the New Dealers in high office, including FDR, as well as ber—an asset that will serve him well in his new the regard of ultraconservatives within the Champost.

COMPATIBLE: Mr. Johnston will assume his new duties with a definite idea of the part which American movies can play in selling to a rebuilding world the American concept of democracy and way of life and her manufactured articles. His field will be economics rather than morals. He thinks that Hollywood films can contribute to a more stable economy and to peaceful relations throughout the world.

From his numerous trips abroad—to South America, England and Russia—he has seen at first hand the rise of two different ideologies. The one is statism as practiced in Russia and now sweeping through many sections of Europe. The other is the American system of free enterprise based on capitalism.

He believes that the two philosophies can live side by side, but they may clash some day in the social, economic and cultural realms, if not on the battlefield.

EDUCATIONAL: The masses of people in Europe, the Middle East and Far East rarely see an American newspaper, book or magazine; they cannot understand radio broadcasts.

Therefore, Johnston thinks that the screen can be used to best advantage to demonstrate that our system provides more comforts, education, freedom, luxuries and cultural advancement than any other. Foreign audiences, in his opinion, cannot escape the lesson of our modern homes, cars, utilities, cities, etc.

Other capitals, particularly London and Moscow, appear to entertain the same idea. Naturally, they mean to utilize the film to sell their own theories and goods.

Anyway, they have leveled quota and exchange barriers against Hollywood's products, and persuaded other countries to follow suit. Operating with and through various Federal agencies, it will be Mr. Johnston's biggest job to set up a world system of "free-trade" in this commodity for the purposes listed above.

PEARL HARBOR: Behind-the-scenes wrangling between rival Congressional factions over the scope and nature of the Pearl Harbor inquiry convinces old-time legislative hands that it will degenerate into a political fist fight. They doubt whether it will provide any more lasting lessons for a national defense program than did the investigations which have followed almost every war in our history.

Both sides are held responsible. The Democrats seek to clear the name of Franklin Roosevelt. More important, they want to demonstrate that their party had the patriotic attitude in the 10-year-old squabble over the isolationist-internationalist question. They are out to prove that the GOP's course would have resulted in disaster to the United States if it had been adopted by the Congress.

SECRECY: The minority, using the December 7, 1941, episode as merely a springboard, aims to convince the country that the Roosevelt administration's foreign policies forced war upon us and that at the same time proper preparations for a world conflict were not undertaken.

As if to make the inquiry even less productive, both the Army and Navy insist that all the truth cannot be brought out because it would disclose certain secrets that must still be kept dark. Fact is, they want to conceal the source of key information on Japan's plans. But, inasmuch as the Far Eastern empire is temporarily only a fifth-rate power, impartial legislators see no need for a hush-hush attitude at this late date.

Anyway, the betting on Capitol hill is that there will be fully as much Pearl Harbor smoke in the American people's eyes at the close of the examination as there is now!

BREATHING SPELL: A poverty-stricken Europe festering with commercial rivalries of the prewar variety will constitute a perennial threat to world peace and recovery. It would remove permanently any opportunity wor the export of American goods to what had been a rich and varied market.

It is not too much to say—in fact, our spokesmen have sail it in plain terms—that under such circumstances this area might again sink into a medileval state, leaving only the Unit ed States and Russia as surviving great powers.

In that event a clash at some future date might become inevitable. To paraphrase Canning when he godfathered the Monroe Doctrine, the U. S. needs Europe as a going concern—a buffer state—for the sake of a balanced universe.

London has already explained her obstacles to making it one. Seeking to preserve their world prestige while striving to rebuild the empire, the British would like to use our cash to pay off their external debt. They also balk at the suggestion that American accountants be permitted to make a periodical check on how the money is expended. But it is expected that these difficulties can be ironed out at the forthcoming conferences.

Washington will not insist on actual policing of loans. But it believes that, if it gets low or no interest, it has the right to a long—perhaps a permanent breathing spell—from European wars.

DIFFICULTIES: Modernization of the British industrial plant so that England can regain lost trade abroad would appear to be the ideal political program for the Attlee Labor government. But the fact is, as London has made clear to our representatives, that the proposal may embarrass the premier with his constituents only a few months after he has taken office.

Britain's foreign markets for textiles, coal and other key export commodities have dwindled steadily because the labor unions have opposed the introduction of modern machinery and refused to operate even existing equipment more than one shift a day. Naturally, the manufacturers are not inclined to invest in renovations if their plants remain idle two-thirds of the week.

Prime Minister Attlee may be able to sell his party chieftains the idea that it will be money in their pockets if they abandon their obsession against more current machinery and longer hours. But many a predecessor has tried it and failed.

These are a few of the unpublicized difficulties which beset the Anglo-American financiers and diplomats as they seek to patch up a sorely shattered world economy.

Democratic Extremists Kept From Bolting

The South "Sits On The Lid!"

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — If President Truman does not get what he has asked for from Congress—and his emergency unemployment benefit program is almost certainly gone — the blame can be fixed easily.

It will fall on a minority of his own party, the Southern Conservative bloc, the tail that has been wagging the Democratic dog in Congress for the last few years. Many of its members, themselves, represent a minority of their own districts because of restrictions on voting in the "white primary" and poll tax. This bloc has power far beyond its numerical strength in Congress because of the control of key places in the legislative organization and its ability to form coalitions frequently with Republicans on important domestic issues.

STOKES

The influence in Congress of this skillful minority becomes the most important factor in the Democratic situation in any survey of the re-opening of politics preparatory to next year's congressional elections and the 1948 Presidential election. It is something for the voters to watch in assessing what goes on here, and why.

Division Is Widening

With the coming of peace the Democratic party began to divide again into its conflicting and hostile elements—New Dealers, Progressives and Labor in one wing, the Southern and other Conservatives in another. The late President Roosevelt held these discordant elements together for a longer time than anybody had expected.

One reason was the wide popular appeal of his New Deal program which forced dissenters to go along. Another was the clever use of those practical weapons supplied by patronage and government favors of various sorts. He kept the party together sufficiently in Congress to get over his program by these inducements and by whipping up public support, when needed, to force recalcitrants in line.

BUT th Southern wing began to operate effectively against the late President even before the war when the Republicans increased their strength in Congress and became allies, the coalition beat back most administration domestic proposals all during the war years.

When President Roosevelt died he had all but lost control in so far as domestic measures were concerned. The emergence of a new figure in Harry Truman, a conciliatory figure, inaugurated an era of good feeling. It can't last much longer if he makes a real fight fo rthis program.

Franklin Roosevelt fought constantly. He named names. He went farthest in this direction in 1938 in the so-called "purge" when he tried to defeat several conservatives in his own party in the primaries, a unique venture for a President. He lost every contest except one, but he did dramatize the issue.

Watch The Truman Policy

The temporation of a President in the situation in which Harry Truman finds himself is to move cautiously, to try appeasement. But it is doubtful that appeasement will work with the Southern diehards. How the President handles them as he goes along, whether he continues pacification policy or whether he fights, is something to watch in the coming months.

The Democratic party can't become a truly progressive party until the power of the Southern Conservatives is broken. President Roosevelt did much to encourage progressivivism in the South, as elsewhere. Through the "purge" he sought to arouse the people to shake off reactionary elements by going to the polls and voting them out of office.

THROUGH various measures he sponsored—TVA, the Wage-Hour act, Farm Tenancy legislation and, chief of all in political effectiveness, the Wagner act which gave Labor a chance to organize—through all these he sought to break down the feudalistic and paternalistic system which is the basis of political reaction in the South.

Progressivism has increased in the South. More progressive men are being elected there, both locally and in Congress. They will gradually acquire more power in Congress. Georgia recently threw out her poll tax. Labor helped to defeat members of the Dies committee in the South last year.

Help from the national leadership of the party in drawing the issue, as Mr. Roosevelt did, might hasten this process. Up to date President Truman hasn't indicated he would undertake such a task.

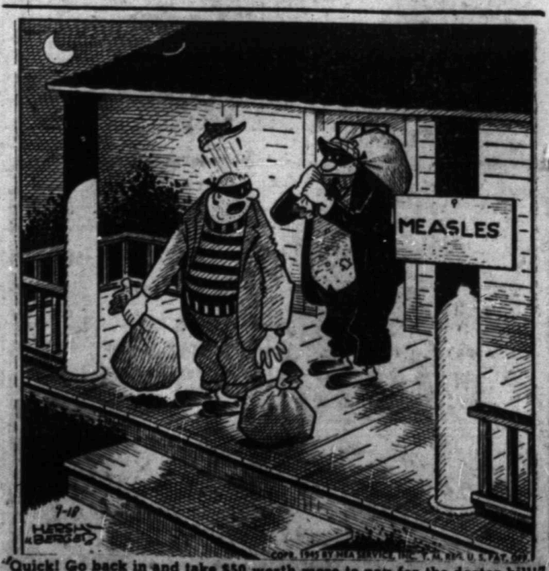

Lubbock's Iron Lung Is Returned To City

Returned from Muskogee, Okla., by plane Sunday afternoon Lubbock's iron lung is now back at Central Fire station awaiting emergency use by any South Plains resident.

The lung was brought to Lubbock by the personal plane of Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administrator, which had flown a lung from the East to replace the one out of order at the Veterans' hospital at Muskogee, where Leroy A. Clower, 25, of Lamesa, was flown in the Lubbock lung last Friday.

Clower had been kept alive in Lubbock General hospital since Aug. 20 and was flown to Muskogee for treatment in the hospital as he was a discharged paratrooper.

PRICES RALLY SHARPLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—A more hopeful view of the nation's labor disputes helped the stock market rally one to four points today although buying was on the moderate side throughout.

Reports the Detroit automotive unions might accept a compromise of wage demands, combined with word Washington would take a hand in settling widespread strikes and lay-offs seriously threatening reconversion, tended to revive bullish sentiment.

Volume reached 1,160,000 shares against 900,000 Monday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up 1.1 points at 69, best comeback since Aug. 23. The industrials rose 1.5, rails .9 and utilities .5.

"Thin" stocks such as Douglas Aircraft, Johns-Manille and Du Pont jumped more than four points each. Well in front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Studebaker, Goodyear, Goodrich, Southern Pacific, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric and Westinghouse.

Railway bonds stiffened.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP) — Substantial advances in all pits were recorded in today's grain futures trading. Rye was up sharply at the opening on reports of export allocations.

At the close wheat was ⅞ to 1½ higher than yesterday's close, September $1.68⅛. Corn was ⅛ to 1⅛ higher, December $1.16⅞. Oats were ⅞ to 1¼ higher, September 61⅝. Rye was 1⅜ to 3 cents higher, September $1.54⅛-$1.55¼. Barley was ½ to one cent higher, September $1.10⅛.

Floating Airfields And Highway Bridges Now Technically Possible

By HENRY B. JAMESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 18. (AP)—Floating airfields in mid-ocean, and even floating highway bridges across such waters as the English Channel, now are technically possible, the British Admiraltyq said tonight.

Scientists have found a method of floating landing strips and "bridges" on water like a carpet, the Admiralty said in releasing details of the first experimental ocean air base.

That such tests had been carried out successfully in secrecy by the United States and Britain was reported unofficially several weeks ago.

Ocean Bases Envisioned

Aviation experts long have invisioned mid-ocean landing bases as a boon to long distance travel.

This latest discovery of how to build an airfield with a tin can landing base brings these dreams within the realms of actuality, the Admiralty declared. "Man made islands" built to any shape and size might prove another outgrowth of the discovery, the statement added.

The experimental airstrip — called "Lily" because of its resemblance to lily leaves on a pond — consists of hundreds of buoyancy cans with hexagonal surfaces.

These are linked together so they give in a controlled manner to the motion of the sea from any direction, yet remain sufficiently rigid to take the weight of heavy aircraft.

Surface Flexible

The whole surface of "Lily" is flexible so that it will not break up. The flexibility is controlled by use of underwater dampers. At present the cans are only six feet across and 30 inches deep, but the Admiralty said their size could be scaled up to take a greatly increased weight.

Aircraft loaded with 9,000 pounds of freight have landed and have taken off from a test strip only 520 feet long and 60 feet wide.

Floating seadromes of this experimental size can be assembled by 40 men in an hour's time, the official statement said.

Their creator, identified by the Admiralty as R. M. Hamilton, a professional inventor who has been in the Navy since the outbreak of the war, says that "Lily" will remain flat in waves up to 36 feet from crest to crest.

ACCIDENTS REPORTED

AUSTIN, Sept. 18 (AP) — The State Department of Public Safety reported today a total of 1,216 traffic accidents for the month of July. This brings the year's total to 4,731 accidents which resulted in 661 dead and 3,430 injured.

OPA Office Here To Close On Sept. 20

Doors to the public will be closed Thursday, Sept. 20, by the Lubbock Office of Price administration, Earl Kerr, district director, has announced.

Kerr said the date was moved up from the original Sept. 28 for the purpose of assorting and packing files and records for transfer to the Fort Worth and San Antonio district offices. This change in district headquarters was announced some weeks ago.

Seven counties of the 71-county Lubbock district will be moved into the San Antonio office's jurisdiction and the remainder to Fort Worth. These seven are centered around El Paso.
