Western Tie Kept Intact In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Another staunch friend of the West held Thailand's government reins today following the death of Premier Sarit Thanarat.

The 55-year-old premier, one of America's closest friends in southeast Asia, died Sunday after a long illness. The Cabinet nominated Gen. Thanom Kittikachorn, the 52-year-old deputy premier and defense minister, to succeed him, and King Bhumbol Adulyadej appointed Thanom premier today.

With an eye on Communists who have been active in northeast Thailand, Interior Minister Praphas Charusathien warned the national police and provincial governors to be alert against "subversives who could be active with the death of the premier."

ON GUARD

Premier Thanom also ordered the armed forces to remain at their posts, on guard against any attempt to create disorder.

A medical bulletin said Sarit died of kidney and heart complications following aggravation of chronic liver trouble. He became ill Nov. 11 and the U.S. Army surgeon-general, Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton, had been attending him since his condition worsened Nov. 28.

An Army man since the age of 20, Sarit in 1947 joined in the coup that returned Field Marshal P. Pibulsonggram to the premiership. Ten years later, following the normal pattern for Thai politics, he led a coup that ousted Pibul and exiled him to Japan.

IN WASHINGTON

Shortly after, Sarit's cirrhotic liver sent him to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. Thanom, also an army career officer, headed the government in his absence.

Lyndon Aims At Possible Cut In Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's attention was focused today on the forthcoming federal budget—including a proposal to curb spending by eliminating some defense installations.

Johnson scheduled a morning meeting with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to go over some aspects of the military budget.

Top Budget Bureau officials, including Director Kermit Gordon, were summoned to review spending plans for the Justice and State departments, the Veterans Administration and the Federal Aviation Agency.

INSTALLATIONS

Johnson told a news conference Saturday that he and McNamara were making a study of defense installations to determine if any could be eliminated.

An aide said one of the matters to be taken up during the day would be the possible consolidation of some military assistance groups overseas.

Under a new Johnson decision the payrolls of these assistance groups will be slashed by 10 per cent within the next six months, even if none is eliminated.

Johnson worked in his office Sunday until about 7 p.m., when he took what has become a routine evening swim in the White House pool. Some of his late Sunday actions included:

INSURANCE

—An order that $234 million of GI insurance dividends be paid to 4.7 million policyholders next month to help buttress the economy. Normally, payments would have been strung out through the year. President Kennedy ordered similar speedups in 1962 and 1963.

—Johnson offered the Bolivian government any aid it may need in order to hunt and free four American government workers kidnaped by miners who hope to force the release of two union officials held on criminal charges. The offer was said to include military assistance, including the loan of military helicopters and crews.

LEHMAN RITES

The President discussed the Bolivian situation with Secretary of State Dean Rusk after returning from a flying visit to New York to attend funeral services for Herbert H. Lehman former New York governor and U.S. senator. While in New York Johnson paid a brief courtesy call on former President Herbert Hoover.

Johnson attended Sunday services at St. John's Episcopal Church, across Lafayette Park from the White House.

On Saturday night—Johnson's first in the White House — he took his wife, Lady Bird, out to dinner at the home of his longtime aide, Walter Jenkins. They stayed out until 10:45 p.m.

CONFERENCE

Earlier in the day, Johnson surprised newsmen by inviting them into his office for coffee —and a very informal news conference. Among the announcements made at this unusual session were these:

—Johnson has ordered the Defense Department to cut its civilian payroll by 25,000 workers —to 997,000 by July 1, 1965.

81 Killed As Big Jet Crashes In Maryland

There Were No Survivors

Shattered and splintered wreckage is all that's left of a jet airliner which exploded near Elkton, Md., Sunday night, killing all aboard. Death toll was fixed at 73 passengers and eight crew members. Debris fell on house at upper left where Mrs. Mae Grant and other members of her family said they saw the explosion and were showered with pieces of the plane when they went out to investigate. They were not hurt. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Plane Explodes, Falls In Storm

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—A four-engine jet airliner exploded and crashed Sunday night, killing all 81 persons aboard. Investigators looked for a cause today, as police searched for victims in a muddy cornfield.

The Boeing 707 of Pan American World Airways plunged to earth in fiery fragments from 5,000 feet during a thunderstorm. Witnesses said it was struck by lightning.

"It (lightning) could cause it," said B. R. Allen of the Civil Aeronautics Board, one of two federal officials heading the investigation.

"We really can't tell until we look at the wreckage."

TWO INFANTS

The plane, en route from Puerto Rico to Philadelphia with 73 passengers—two of them infants — and a crew of eight, came down in a stubbled cornfield about 15 miles southwest of Wilmington, Del., near U.S. 40 and the Maryland-Delaware line.

By good chance, about 65 persons had stepped safely off the plane during a stop in Baltimore only a few minutes earlier.

"It was a funny noise, a sound I had never heard before, unbelievable," said Mrs. Dean Wilmoth, who lives in the village of Meadow View near Elkton.

"We knew there would be no survivors out of it, because it was just a ball of fire."

FOUR MILES

The plane disintegrated in the air. Sheriff Edgar Startt said bits of wreckage fell over an area of four square miles. The cornfield was a rain-soaked jumble of burning bits of wreckage.

As officials met to plan their investigation of the tragedy, a skirmish-like line of state troopers and sailors from the nearby Bainbridge (Md.) Naval Base moved through the fields. The sailors were told to raise their hands when they found anything.

As hands began popping up, white-coated troopers answered each call, tagging the remains and returning them in plastic bags for transportation to a temporary morgue set up in the Elkton National Guard Armory.

No one could tell how many victims were being found. It was seldom that there was anything large enough to be identified at all.

The Federal Aviation Agency in Washington said the plane was on a holding pattern near the New Castle, Del., Airport at 8:58 p.m. (EST) awaiting clearance to approach Philadelphia International Airport.

LIKE SUN

Then, said Raymond Gregg of Elkton, "It was just like the sun was coming at me. It was so bright I couldn't look at it."

Another witness, Henry Lindell of Newark, Del., said it was apparent to him that lightning had blasted the plane from the air.

"There were two large arched streaks of lightning in the air," he said. "An instant afterward the sky was completely lit up by a bright orange. You could see the parts of the plane starting to fall then."

Early today, 11 Civil Aeronautics Board and 7 FAA officials arrived to start the investigation. The area was cordoned off and flares sent an eerie light over the torn, blasted and charred wreckage.

SMALL BITS

There were few large pieces of wreckage, although one big jet engine dug a hole 100 yards from the home of Gregg. Small bits of airplane parts fell on the farmhouse roof of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry.

Edwin R. Tully, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Baltimore, said the flight recorder, which is designed to survive crashes and tell investigators about the minutes preceding the disaster, had not been found.

Tully confirmed that several witnesses had said lightning struck the plane.

Pan Am said Flight 214 departed San Juan at 4:10 p.m. and arrived in Baltimore at 7:35 p.m., where the 71 passengers got off. It left Baltimore at 8:25 p.m. and was expected in Philadelphia at 8:45 p.m., 15 minutes behind schedule.

MESSAGE

The airline said the last known radio contact between the plane and ground was a terse, terrifying message:

"Going down in flames at 0158 Zebra" (8:58 p.m. EST).

The message reportedly was overheard by the ground control center in New Castle, Del., and at Dover, (Del.,) Air Force Base.

Witnesses said burning fragments spiraled lazily to the ground, then exploded into small fires despite a pelting rain.

Jerry Greenwald, 20, of Hockessin, Del., watched the crash from a window of the Merryland Roller Rink near Glasgow, Del.

BIG FLASH

"It looked like a bomb explosion," he said. "There was a big flash and a few seconds later you could see the wing torn off. You could actually see people falling out. The plane came down slowly and when it hit the ground it looked like it exploded again."

The wreckage was so disintegrated that no bodies were found immediately. A temporary morgue, set up in the basement of the National Guard Armory in Elkton, was empty.

Red Cross workers sadly turned away a handful of relatives who drove from Philadelphia. Some 40 or 45 state policemen planned to help the federal agents comb the wreckage.

The scene was one of anguished sorrow at Philadelphia International Airport, where relatives waited for the plane that never arrived.

Merchants Urge Check Office Aid

Nearly all merchants from the downtown area as well as a large number from shopping centers thronged the county commissioners court today to urge the commissioners to find a way to keep the hot check office of the sheriff's department in operation.

The group, which numbered 30, voiced high approval of the check department and the services it renders to their establishments, and pressed the county commissioners not to abolish it.

A HARDSHIP

Adolph Swartz, spokesman for the group, said it was the sentiment of all members of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which he is chairman, that to discontinue the check department would work a serious hardship on the businessmen and result in an increased number of uncollected worthless checks.

The action by the merchants resulted from announcement that the attorney general, responding to an inquiry by Wayne Burns, county attorney, had held that the check department now in the office of Miller Harris, sheriff, violated one provision of the penal code and is not an authorized operation. The county attorney had asked the ruling at the request of the county commissioners court.

Gil Jones, district attorney, appeared for the merchants. He said he did not agree with the ruling of the attorney general—but, he added, the ruling is effective because the attorney general has so held.

He said the law which the attorney general cited applies primarily only to sheriffs, justices of the peace and law enforcement officers and that in his opinion, two possible methods were open to continue the services of the department and stay within the law.

The best method, he said, was to transfer the whole operation intact from the sheriff's office to the office of the county attorney. The county attorney, the speaker said, is not named in the law; he is privileged to carry on the actions of the department and stay within the law. Jones suggested no change in the operation be made—that the only shift be in the supervisory feature. The county attorney would become responsible for the department and its functions, replacing the sheriff.

The other alternative, which Jones said he did not like at all would be to leave the department in the sheriff's office but to have it avoid handling any money — to require the worthless check writers to pay the merchants directly. At the present time, and under the system if it was placed in the office of the county attorney, bulk of the collections of worthless checks would be paid to the office and in turn transmitted to the merchants.

Jones said the department has been highly instrumental in reducing the hot check offenses in the county in the nearly two years it has functioned. He said he would regret very much to see the operation closed out and he heartily urged the commissioners to investigate the possibility of shifting the department to the county attorney's supervision.

Burns, as county attorney, said he would assume responsibility for the operation of the department if the commissioners so ordered, but he insisted that he be provided with the same personnel and facilities the sheriff's office has had. He pointed out that in the past, his office has filled the functions of the department as best possible. He said he and his secretary comprised his office force and that, naturally, the job could not be done as thoroughly as with the organization at the command of the sheriff.

Several of the merchants spoke out for the department and were high in the praise of the way Harris had handled the work. Sharp reduction in the number of worthless check operations and an even greater recovery of money paid out for bad checks was reported.

The commissioners took the matter under advisement.

Witness Sees Explosion, Fiery Crash Near House

EDITOR'S NOTE — Raymond Gregg a 36-year-old electrical repairman, lives about 50 yards from where a Pan American jet crashed Sunday night, killing 81 persons. His account follows.

By RAYMOND GREGG

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — I was sitting in my living room watching TV — I have a big picture window, and thunder was going on at the time—and just about as near as I can remember it was the third flash of lightning.

It flashed in the sky and I more and thought it was going to hit the house. An instant later it hit right alongside the garage. Then it exploded twice.

One explosion was out on the other side of the garage. The other explosion was in the road. And the first explosion threw fire all over the cornfield which was on the opposite side in front of the house.

Then I opened the door and saw flames all over and I oplooked out and I saw the explosion of the plane and it was coming toward the house and into the hill back of the house.

I jumped up and told my wife to get the kids and she said, "Do you want us in the cellar," and I said, "Yes, get there quickly." She grabbed the youngest, 15 months old, and hurried the other three ahead of her down into the cellar. I was watching the plane and it was just one big ball of fire coming toward us. It lit the ground up outside like 12 o'clock noon with the sun as bright as it could shine.

TO LEFT

Then I saw it veer off sharply to the left and come toward the house. At that time I was in the kitchen. I couldn't see any ened the cellar door and told my wife to get ready to get the kids out. I waited a few minutes, went outside and checked the house to see if it was burning. There was fire all around. It was raining hard. I think that was the only thing that saved the house.

BACK IN RAIN

I then came in and told the family to keep prepared to go. I went back out in the rain and I stayed there until I saw the state police and fire companies, civil defense and other officials.

I saw part of the plane all over the front yard, pieces of the plane in the breezeway between the house and the garage.

A wing and other parts were up back of the house. My neighbor's house had pieces of the plane all over his cars and in the front yard.

There were pieces all over and clothes strung up in the trees.

21 HOSTAGES HELD

Red-Led Miners Deliver Ultimatum To Bolivians

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Communist-led tin miners holding four Americans among 21 hostages today gave the government 24 hours to free two arrested Communists or "suffer the consequences."

The Federation of Mine Workers sent their word to the government by way of radio transmissions from their strongholds more than 150 miles south of this capital.

The miners, led by leftist Vice President Juan Lechin, defied a government troop buildup and an offer from President Johnson of full U.S. assistance to the government to win freedom for the hostages, held since Friday night.

UNION HEADS

The miners' broadcast said the union wanted the release of the two Communist union heads arrested by the government during the day Friday.

The leaders, Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar, were arrested on a court order in connection with union agitation against a government crackdown on union power in the operation of the mines, Bolivia's main source of income.

The broadcast said the union was giving the government the ultimatum to resolve "The problem of the detained union leaders, and if it does not do so, it will have to suffer the consequences."

NOT HARMED

The broadcasts did not spell out what the consequences would be, but sources here said they could mean a threat to the safety of the hostages. The miners originally promised the hostages would not be harmed.

The government has said that under no circumstances would it set the two Communists free.

President Victor Paz Estenssoro scheduled a Cabinet meeting, meanwhile, amid reports he will decree a state of siege.

One of the Americans, Thomas Martin, 21, of New York, a U.S. Information Service officer, contacted the U.S. Embassy Sunday night by radiotelephone for the second time since Saturday. He said he and the three other Americans were well. He said he was being held under strong military guard, but did not elaborate.

1,000 TROOPS

The government moved 1,000 troops into the region around Oruro, 30 miles north of Catavi, and said it would not give in to the miners' demand.

A White House statement Sunday night called the seizure of the Americans an indefensible act and said President Johnson's offer of assistance would include anything that might be required.

The statement said "the President has been assured through our ambassador in Bolivia by the president of Bolivia that every effort is being made to secure the prompt release of these United States officials."

The miners announced they would start a series of strikes today at the 25 mines run by the government.

Besides Martin, the other Americans are Michael A. Kristula of Cadillac, Mich., also a USIA information officer; Bernard Rifkin, 52, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., labor adviser for the U.S. Agency for International Development; and Robert Gergerstrom, a Peace Corps volunteer whose parents live in Honolulu.

They were seized after they went into the Catavi area to deliver a $15,000 U.S. government aid check toward the building of a school for miners' children.

The other captives were three Canadians, a Dutchman, and other unidentified foreigners and Bolivians. All apparently were mining technicians.

Interior Minister Jose Antonio Arez said the government would use every means at its disposal to win the release of the hostages. But he said "under no circumstances and under no pressure" would the government free the two union leaders, Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar.

Lightning May Claim First U.S. Air Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — If lightning caused Maryland's airliner crash Sunday night, it would be a first in U.S. commercial aviation records.

Witnesses said a bolt of lightning hit the Boeing 707 jet, Pan American World Airways Flight 214 bound from Puerto Rico to Philadelphia, and transformed it into a ball of fire that showered the area near Elkton with bits of burning wreckage. Eighty-one persons died.

Civil Aeronautics Board hearings into a May 12, 1959, crash at Chase, Md. — just 35 miles southwest of Sunday night's disaster — brought out that in 20 years no airliner of metal construction had been known to have been destroyed or even seriously damaged by lightning.

Ten witnesses claimed they saw lightning in the Chase area at the time a Capital Air Lines turboprop flying from New York to Atlanta crashed in flames with 31 persons aboard. Two witnesses said they saw lightning strike the craft.

But 12 others testified there was no lightning near the plane.

U. S. Intervention Issue Faces Morrison's Runoff

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Front-running deLesseps Morrison faced the issue of "federal intervention" today as he plunged into a bitter runoff for Louisiana's governorship.

"The people have demanded from the candidates their stand on federal intervention in state affairs," runnerup John McKeithen said.

McKeithen, 45, who had attacked the administration's civil rights program during the 10-man first Democratic primary, made it clear he would resume an anti-Washington campaign.

Such attacks halted with President John F. Kennedy's slaying.

deLESSEPS MORRISON
... a Kennedy ambassador

FOURTH, FIFTH

McKeithen, state public service commissioner, said the states rights issue was borne out by the fourth- and fifth-place finishes of two strong segregationists—former Gov. Robert F. Kennon and Shelby H. Jackson, state superintendent of education.

Morrison, 51, appointed to a diplomatic post by Kennedy, attempted to steer the runoff toward local topics. He said the issues were the need for a government cleanup and a positive boost-Louisiana program.

A LIBERAL

A former ambassador to the Organization of American States, Morrison for years has been regarded as a liberal in this Deep South state. Morrison had borne the brunt of stinging anti-Kennedy blasts.

How the losers' support is divided should tell the story of the Jan. 11 runoff.

Morrison, a former New Orleans mayor making his third try for the top state post, got 33 per cent of Saturday's primary vote, McKeithen 17 per cent.

Four years ago Morrison drew the same 33 per cent total but Jimmie H. Davis—who had 25 per cent of the first primary vote—picked up enough support from the eliminated candidates to score a 65,000-vote runoff victory.

RURAL NORTH

McKeithen, from tiny Columbia in the rural Protestant north section, is a Methodist. Morrison, from New Orleans in the urban Catholic south, would be, if he wins, the first elected Catholic governor since Samuel D. McEnery in 1884.

With 2,200 of the state's 2,219 precincts reporting, Morrison had 295,270 votes; McKeithen, 154,819; Rep. Gillis Long, distant cousin of U. S. Sen. Russell Long, 136,801; Kennon, 124,836; Jackson, 102,401; State Rep. Louis Michot, 37,708; and State Public Works Director Claude Kirkpatrick, 28,608.

The runoff winner faces Republican Charlton Lyons in the March 3 general election.

Lost Cargo Plane Sought

DENVER (AP)—Thirty Civil Air Patrol (CAP) planes joined the search today for a C46 cargo plane missing since Saturday night on a flight from here to Hill AFB at Ogden, Utah.

A forecast of snow spreading eastward across the state was expected to hamper searchers.

Other members of the CAP went on the ground to several points along the continental divide to await any word from pilots.

The missing craft belongs to the Zantop Co. of Detroit, and was under contract with the Air Force to haul freight.

Aboard were Joe Halsey of Hayward, Calif., Kurt Hugentobler of Ontario, Calif., and Arthur Fehr of Layton, Utah.

School Trustees Meet Tuesday

Earl Bruce, a representative of Pritchard and Abbott, evaluation engineers, has requested an audience with school trustees during a dinner meeting scheduled for 6 p.m. Tuesday at the Big Spring Country Club.

Pritchard and Abbott currently has a contract with the district. Since annexation of the Gay Hill and Center Point school districts, a new contract will be negotiated for the added services.

John Burgess, tax attorney for the school district, has requested an audience with the board.

Trustees will be asked to appoint a textbook committee to serve in selection of textbooks for the coming year. Also, trustees will be asked to appoint a census trustee. Dan Connally currently serves in that capacity.

Should time permit, other discussion will include continued study of a building for the schools. Resignations, approval for employment and routine reports round out the agenda.

Referendum Set Tuesday For Cotton, Rice Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cotton and rice farmers meet Tuesday to vote on another year's extension of federal marketing controls on these crops.

Approval by at least two-thirds of those voting is required to make the controls effective. Agriculture Department officials expected majorities far in excess of this level.

Controls have been in effect on upland cotton since 1954, on extra long staple cotton since 1954 and on rice since 1955. In similar referenda a year ago, marketing quotas on upland cotton were approved by 93.7 per cent, on extra long staple cotton by 81.9 per cent and on rice by 87.8 per cent.

The marketing quotas back up acreage limitations, which are supposed to prevent excessive production.

The two cotton and the rice referenda are similar to one held on wheat last May. Wheat growers soundly defeated the controls for their crop. No organized opposition has developed against the cotton and rice quotas. For wheat, the influential American Farm Bureau Federation and some other organized farm groups fought the plan on the grounds that it was too restrictive and would have imposed too much federal control over growers.

The department will tabulate returns Tuesday evening. Results are expected to be known before midnight.

Under the cotton program, 16 million acres will be allotted growers for planting cotton next year. This is the smallest allotment allowed by farm law. This allotment is divided among farms, largely on the basis of past production history. Generally speaking, a farm's marketing quota is the amount of the affected crop grown on its acreage allotment. This year's upland allotment was 16,250,000 acres.

The extra long staple cotton allotment has been set at 112,500 acres compared with 149,880 this year.

The 1964 rice allotment has been fixed at 1,818,166 acres, the same as this year.

DEAR ABBY

He Was No Diplomat!

DEAR ABBY: Well, my husband opened his big mouth again, and now half the neighborhood isn't speaking to us. The school is nine blocks from here. Our kids walk. A neighbor couldn't get her car started, so she ran over here all excited (my husband was eating his breakfast) and said if HE didn't drive a carload of kids to school, they'd all be late. Then my husband gave her a lecture on "how it would do them all good to walk, and the school was only nine blocks away, and that she and the other mothers in our neighborhood were spoiling the kids rotten by chauffeuring them a distance that could be walked in 15 minutes, blah, blah, blah." Well, that's not what she came over for, so I told him to shut his mouth and I drove the kids to school in our pick-up truck. My husband said I should have taken his side. Who was wrong?

AS PER REQUEST

"Sir: I wish you would more clearly state the objectives of your current articles against Baptists." This is from a recent letter; and the correspondent went on to indicate he thought I was "speaking evil against" the Baptists. So let me clarify things.

In reviewing a Baptist leaflet, I was not speaking evil against the Baptists. In fact the articles were not "against Baptists." I am not against Baptist people, or any people. The articles were against some of the teaching of Baptists; though not against all of that. Most of the critical parts of the articles were against the teaching of several denominations.

As a gospel preacher, I am under charge to "preach the word; . . . reprove, rebuke, exhort . . ." (II Tim. 4:2). This I did. This I also do in preaching to my own folk. This is not speaking against people. One does this because he loves people. He wants to help them. Such was my objective in the articles.

Sinatra's Son Kidnaped By Two Men At Gunpoint

STATELINE, Calif. (AP) — Frank Sinatra Jr., singing son of the famed crooner and film star, was abducted by two men at gunpoint Sunday night from his motel room just before he was to go on stage at a casino, sheriff's deputies reported.

Several hours later police radio broadcasts alerted all units to look for two men for questioning. They were identified as Joseph James Sorce, 23, and Thomas Patrick Keating, 21.

Officers available to newsmen gave no reason why the men were sought. Nor were they identified further.

Authorities said the FBI had been called in on the case.

ROADBLOCKS

Deputies immediately set up roadblocks on mountain roads in the Lake Tahoe area, already made difficult by three inches of snow.

Sheriff George Byers of Douglas County, Nev., said "we still think they are in the area," on the California - Nevada border. Sinatra is 19 years old.

Sinatra Sr. flew in his two-engine plane to the area early today from Palm Springs, Calif. He was to start work this morning at Warner Bros. studio in Los Angeles on the movie, "Robin and the Seven Hoods."

Only three months ago he announced he would divest himself of Nevada gambling interests estimated to be worth about $3.5 million.

REGULATIONS

He pulled out after the Nevada Gaming Control Board accused him of violating state regulations by entertaining Chicago underworld figure Sam Giancana at Sinatra's Cal-Neva Lodge on Lake Tahoe.

Ironically, young Sinatra was touring with a band, led by Sam Donahue, billed as the Tommy Dorsey Band. Sinatra Sr. rose to fame with that group, and in his act the younger Sinatra sang his father's old songs.

Also ironically, young Sinatra sang at Harrah's Lake Tahoe Casino, a competitor of his father's Cal-Neva Lodge.

Dragnet operations were directed by the El Dorado, Calif., County sheriff's office, because the abduction took place just within the California border. Stateline is 60 miles southwest of Reno.

EATING DINNER

Joe Foss, a trumpeter with the Dorsey band, told officers he and Sinatra Jr. were eating dinner in Sinatra's motel room. About 8:30 p.m., the telephone rang and Sinatra hung up after a brief conversation.

At about 9:30, Foss reported, there was a knock on the door and a shout of "room service." Two men, one armed with a small revolver, burst in, asking "Where's the money?" sheriff's deputies said Foss told them.

They took the small amount in the two men's wallets, then tied and gagged Foss with tape. Foss said they also taped Sinatra's hands.

Foss said a third man might have been standing outside. One man carried a package of some sort, he added.

After forcing Foss to lie on the floor, the men left with Sinatra. Tire tracks heading towards Reno were found later.

FIRST WIFE

Sinatra is one of the entertainer's three children. His mother is Sinatra Sr.'s first wife, the former Nancy Barbato, who was reported at her Hollywood home.

Gene Evans, spokesman for Harrah's Club on the south shore of Lake Tahoe, said young Sinatra's room was on the second floor of the two-story motel, separated by a parking lot from the casino. The motel is used exclusively for Harrah's guests.

Evans said there was no mention of any possible ransom during the motel room incident.

SACRAMENTO

One of the men was heard to say, "We've got him. We've got to get him to Sacramento."

Sacramento, the state capital of California, is 132 miles in the opposite direction from Reno where the tire tracks appeared to lead.

Sinatra Sr. arrived at Reno Airport early today and was met by Washoe County Dist. Atty. William Raggio, who drove the crooner-actor immediately to the sheriff's substation at Zephyr Cove on Lake Tahoe.

Sinatra had no comment for newsmen.

"As far as I am concerned, as an appointed official, this is satisfactory."

MRS. SMITH: Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., thinks Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine could whip both Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary.

"I am quite sure of that," Adenauer said. "I do not believe that he would let Khrushchev bluff him."

Invitation Surprises

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Johnson's disclosure that he intended to invite Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to Washington caught Mexico by surprise.

Foreign Minister Manuel Tello, in reply to newsmen's questions, said Sunday he knew only what had been published in newspapers here.

Tello said he first learned of the announcement from Mexico's ambassador in Washington, Antonio Carrillo Flores, who was attending a seminar at the University of Florida when Johnson made the announcement.

The White House called to tell Carrillo Flores what Johnson had said and the ambassador passed the information to the Foreign Ministry here.

Newspapers splashed the news on their front pages under eight-column headlines.

Ballots Cast During Cosden Duplicate Play

The regular Sunday afternoon duplicate session was held at the Cosden Country Club. At this time, balloting was begun for three new directors on the board of the Greater Permian Basin unit. Mrs. Ward Hall is conducting the balloting, which will be continued in other sessions this week.

Six tables were in play with Mrs. Lloyd G. Nalls and Mrs. Fern Durham placing first; Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Tom South, second; Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. Myrtle Lee, third; and Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Rodgers Hefley, fourth.

Review Has Place In Observance

Another in the series of Christmas observances was that held Saturday afternoon by the 1930 Hyperion Club. A book review and planning session was conducted, after which a dessert course was served by the hostesses, Mrs. E. V. Spence, Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Miss Clara Secrest.

Symbolizing the event, a creche was placed on a side table in the Blue Room of the Cosden Country Club. The porcelain and bisque figures were made and painted by Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach. The refreshment table featured a large holiday candle, baubles and blue grapes as its centerpiece. Twenty were served.

Red Festive At Dinner Scene

The traditionally festive holiday red dominated the decor at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday evening, scene of a festive dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Price.

Tables were covered in red cloths, and, centered in a grouping of Christmas greenery on each table was a red candle.

A focal point in the decorations was a white ceramic miniature Christmas tree, with branches upturned to hold small votive candles, and topped by a golden ball. It is the work of Mrs. Price.

The party arrangements touched off the gala decorations of the club room, which include a massive tree with red twinkling lights, lines of golden reindeer on the walls, with a profusion of designed wreaths in red and illuminated by candles.

The two hostesses were attired in red. Some 40 couples were seated at group tables after being served from a buffet. Many enjoyed games of cards and dominoes after the dinner.

Keep Guests Happy

Holiday guests will thank the thoughtful hostess who provides table napkins or cocktail napkins that don't shed lint on dark wool clothing. The secret is a light touch of starch to smooth down the surface fibres and prevent lint from shedding. To starch napkins and other table linens, whisk the freshly-washed, damp-dry linens with spray-on starch. Roll up, then unroll immediately and iron.

Wall Paper Answers One Budget Problem

Dear Folks:

Christmas is right around the corner. Most budgets are tight. At least mine is.

Wrappings for Christmas packages are a real expense. Some packages are cumbersome. Others take more than one sheet of paper to cover up what's inside! Plain paper takes lots of ribbon. That costs money too.

I found the answer last year to alleviate all these problems—

Wall paper! Yep, the stuff you ordinarily use on the walls of your home.

HELOISE

Don't laugh! Just go buy some. You'll see . . .

It's thick. and comes in beautiful patterns and designs. There is no answer to the number of colors one can buy . . . either in plain, felted, tone-on-tone, snow white, red, green or just plain cute kiddy designs (ordinarily used for a nursery) or designs for a man (used for bars, dens and club rooms.)

Stop into a wall paper house and just look them over.

The greatest part about using wall paper for wrapping gifts is that it's opaque (this means that you can't see through it!) and it's wide enough to really wrap just about anything without piecing it.

Most of all it's inexpensive.

Besides, it's real pretty. Just look at all those fancy packages under your tree. Then spot one wrapped in beautiful wall paper.

Takes less ribbon too. Doesn't need any. Just wrap the gift and use scotch tape, put the card in the middle of the box and presto, you got the prettiest package ever.

Another little hint that perhaps will make you happy and save some money is using foil. It wraps around small packages like a honey-pie. Fits snug too. Doesn't show mistakes (where you and I fold wrong the first time . . .) and shines under the tree.

If you are giving silver dollars (and, mom and pop, this is great for newphews and nieces and you can get them at any bank by exchanging a paper dollar for one—they just "ain't free" yet) then just wrap the silver dollar in foil and tie with the leftover ribbons from other packages and attach a hook (that is ordinarily used for a tree decoration) and pin it to the tree. Makes for more decorations. And just wait until your lights hit that shiny foil-covered silver dollar.

Remember, now, wall paper is wide, opaque and inexpensive. Broken rolls (this is, not a full roll) are even cheaper. Ask for them!

If you have any left over, save it to line shelves with. You will love it. Or that drawer. Looks clean, gives a bit of professional decor to any bedroom.

Love, Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Instead of pouring the wine directly on my fruit cakes, I dip cheesecloth into the liquor and wrap the cake in the soaked cheesecloth.

This not only keeps too much of the beverage from getting into one spot on your cake but you may lift the cheesecloth gently from the tin and the entire cake comes out instead of crumbling in your container.

—D. R.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

When addressing Christmas packages, if you are sending the package to a damp or wet territory . . . after addressing the package, take a wax candle and rub over the address. The ink will not be smeared when moisture hits it. — Florence Appleton

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Did you know that you could "paint" pine cones and attractive leaves for Christmas decorations with white shoe polish?

This leaves a nice dull finish.

One type of polish—which is very thick—covers holly leaves beautifully! I paint only the top side of the leaves and leave the red berries showing. The little bit of green left on the other side of the leaf makes a beautiful centerpiece for a dining room table.—Laura T.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

For those who are shoveling snow . . . could I suggest that they take their snow shovel in the house, melt a candle and let the wax drip over the shovel and smear the wax a bit . . . before they begin their hard work?

This paraffin will harden and will serve as a slide base and the snow will "go" much faster both when shoveling or emptying the scoop. It slides like cake!—David Brandon

Holiday Corner

A festive look is created with coordinated table setting and window treatment. Bright green cotton makes a floor-length cover for the small round table, seat covers and tree-shaped back cushions for the chair. It is suggested that you make a paper pattern of tree before cutting fabric. Trim cushions with contrasting fabric-covered buttons to simulate tree ornaments. Repeat tree motif on window shade. For sparkling accent, apply white upholstery fringe to hem of cloth with narrow zigzag stitch and also to shade border.

Employes Are Guests

Employes of McCann Butane Company were dinner guests Saturday evening at Coker's Restaurant. The annual company event attended by 26 employes and guests, was followed by a party and gift exchange.

The Rev. Frank Pollard, master of ceremonies, was there with his wife from Seagraves. They are former residents of Big Spring.

Employes from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mock, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Linenburger, all of Seminole, and Mr. and Mrs. Don McBeth of Andrews. Special guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Allen.

Following the dinner, a dessert course was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. McCann, 702 Highland. The refreshment table featured silver appointments and an arrangement of white holly on a white linen cloth.

PASO Urges Poll Tax Push

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—Delegates to the convention of the Political Association of Spanish-speaking Organizations were urged Sunday to concentrate on getting home town folk to pay poll taxes.

State PASO Chairman Albert Pena Jr. of San Antonio said: "The only way you are going to abolish the poll tax . . . is to get more poll taxes paid and get more people out to the polls to vote."

More than 350 persons from 23 counties registered for the convention.

The delegates unanimously adopted a formal constitution and bylaws for the group which will take precedence over a series of resolutions previously governing the body.

A proposal by Paul Montemayor of Nueces County to change PASO's name to the "Viva Kennedy Political Organization" was not put to a vote.

Delegates drafted two resolutions to be sent to President Johnson, commending him for stressing the civil rights bill and asking a veto of the bracero agreement recently passed by Congress.

A 1964 convention will be held in February at Waco. PASO will endorse political candidates at that gathering.

Prisoner For 43 Years Dies

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Antonio Ditardo, who lived in San Quentin Prison for 43 years and repeatedly turned down offers of parole, died in his sleep Sunday.

The native of Italy would have been 89 Jan. 17. Ditardo had served more time in the prison than any other man now there.

Ditardo was convicted of killing his wife in San Jose, Calif., Feb. 13, 1920, after a quarrel about money. Two months later, he began a life term, rejected by friends and family.

He was offered parole starting in 1945, but always turned it down. "Why I want to go out? I just want to stay here until the Big Boss calls," he told authorities.

Houston Stamp Sale Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sale of a special Sam Houston commemorative postage stamp has been postponed until January because the postmaster general thought its timing inappropriate.

The five-cent stamp shows a full length front view of the soldier-statesman painted by Texas artist Tom Lea. The stern-visaged Houston, first president of the Republic of Texas, holds a rifle in one hand.

An aide of Postmaster General John Gronouski said Sunday night that Gronouski decided it would not be appropriate to issue the stamp in Texas during the period of mourning for the late President Kennedy. The sale was to have begun next Friday in Houston.

Desegregation Method Problem For Schools

ATLANTA (AP) — Emphasis on school desegregation in the South has shifted from resistance, to problems of how court orders may be satisfied, reports Laurence W. Knowles, a legal advisor to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

"The prime issue today is: What does desegregation mean?" Knowles writes in the North Carolina Law Review's book-length symposium, "Civil Rights and the South."

Knowles, law professor at the University of Louisville, says the Supreme Court has yet to answer the questions of whether desegregation means simply purging school policies of any mention of race, or placing all Negro children in school with white children, or merely giving them the opportunity to attend white schools.

TWO TYPES

Two major types of desegregation plans are used, Knowles says.

They are free choice of schools and geographical zoning.

Knowles said the free choice plan "simply allows any child in the system to choose any school he wishes to attend." He said it works in theory but not in practice.

"In the large school systems of Louisville and Baltimore, Negro children living in large Negro residential areas must spend money and time to reach a biracial school; the systems do not furnish bus transportation."

WHITE STUDENT

Rarely he wrote, will a white student choose a desegregated Negro school.

As a result, Knowles said, in the larger cities the free choice plan has not brought about biracial school systems "but systems of all white, biracial and all Negro schools."

In rural areas, Negroes are reluctant to exercise rights under such a plan because of possible economic pressures and loss of jobs for Negro teachers, Knowles said.

The geographical zone theory under which pupils attend schools nearest them appears at first glance the best way to achieve desegregation, Knowles wrote.

But, he said, "the plan does lock Negro children living in the ghettos of Southern cities into Negro schools."

GEOGRAPHICAL

Knowles said optimum desegregation could be achieved by using the geographical attendance plan on the elementary level and a feeder system "whereby each elementary school feeds a certain high school."

There has been no teacher desegregation in the South, he reported, adding that the Negro teacher does not want to leave "the comfort and associations of the Negro school."

Knowles concluded that unless state and local officers begin acting to "secure the constitutional rights of Negro schooi children, then states rights may perish by holding its breath."

UF Trustees Meet

Final results of the 1963 United Fund Campaign will be reported during a meeting of the board of trustees called for 5 p.m. today at the Chamber of Commerce room. Dr. Lee O. Rogers will preside.

This year's drive did not attain its goal, but decreased expenses and interest are expected to bring the total up enough to distribute funds according to schedule. Distribution may be considered at the meeting.

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP)—Authorities have charged Ronald Strauss, 24, of Chicago with slaying an El Paso woman.

Farm Bureau Urges Fewer Crop Controls

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson was asked by a national farm leader today to take a new direction on farm policies with fewer agricultural controls.

The appeal was made by President Charles Shuman before the American Farm Bureau Federation convention.

"The new administration should carefully review the 30 years' experience with futile attempts to legislate prosperity into agriculture," he said.

Shuman, an Illinois farmer, said farmers want less government intervention in their affairs. He said this had been attested by the fact that the Farm Bureau had pushed its membership to a record high level in a year in which it had led a vigorous attack on farm control policies of the late President Kennedy.

President Johnson may reply Tuesday. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., speaks Tuesday. Sources close to the senator said he would bring a message from the new President to the Farm Bureau delegates.

Shuman appealed to Congress and the public to go slow in allowing emotionalism surrounding the recent assassination of President Kennedy to lead them

Servicemen Can't Duck State Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Servicemen who have been able to duck paying state and local taxes can dodge no longer.

It used to be that a man could get by without paying any such taxes because he moved from station to station.

But now the armed services have ordered officers and enlisted men to list a legal residence for tax purposes.

If a man fails to do so, he will leave himself open to being taxed by the state or community where he is stationed.

This action stems from a directive by the Budget Bureau aimed at getting civilian workers and military personnel alike to pay state or local taxes. The directive's impact is government - wide.

The Defense Department then reminded the Army, Navy and Air Force that government employes and members of the uniformed services "have an ethical responsibility to pay their just taxes, whether federal, state or local."

The Navy instructed that all Navy and Marine commanding officers notify their men that forms reporting their income will be furnished to state or other local taxing authorities who ask for it.

"It is the member's obligation to ascertain his legal residence and report it to his disbursing officer," the Navy notice said.

"If a member does not indicate a 'legal residence,' income information will be sent to state or other taxing authority where he is serving."

The Air Force circulated similar instructions to its bases and commanders.

Both services stipulated that men stationed overseas will be exempt from having their income reported to states and localities while they are outside the country.

Commissioners Meet Tuesday

W. H. Eyssen Jr. has requested the city to reappoint him judge of the Municipal Court. The request will be considered along with a number of other requests at a meeting of the City Commission, set for 7 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall.

John R. Coffee, a local attorney, took over the gavel in Municipal Court last Spring after Eyssen suffered a heart attack. Eyssen said he would like to terminate his leave of absence Jan. 1, 1964.

Commissioners also will consider engineering plans on the Eleventh Street project. The plans, drawn up by Clifton N. Bellamy, are for two different widths of roadway base and retention dams.

Commissioners are expected to act on zone change approvals recommended by the Planning and Zoning Board for property of Rendal Hamby, Marshall Fields and Mrs. Johnnie D. Winham.

Other items on the agenda: (1) ordinance adopting a Fire Prevention Code, (2) consideration of ordinance establishing perpetual care cemetery (third and final reading), (3) third and final reading of ordinances for zone change on two tracts of land owned by Hank McDaniel (southeast corner of Avondale and Wasson Road).

Fire Damages T&P Building

Fire swept through a Texas and Pacific Railway compressor building south of the 200 block of Northwest Second Street about 10:30 a.m. today.

The flames consumed several rubber lubricators that were stored in oil vats in the compressor room. The inside ceiling of the compressor room also was damaged by the fire.

Firemen answered the call with a pumper unit from the North Side Substation and a booster unit from the Central Station. They had the flames under control in about 15 minutes.

Smoke billowed from the top of the building until firemen went into the building with a hose. R. H. Blassingame, T&P supervisor, said the fire apparently was caused by a short in the electrical system.

Two Men Injured In Early Sunday Accident

John Wesley Patton, Howard County Deputy Sheriff, and Frank Lujan Rodriguez, 25, Colorado City, were injured early Sunday morning when their vehicles were in collision at the SH 350 and Northeast Twelfth intersection.

Damage to Patton's car was estimated at $1,500, and damage to the other vehicle was set at $600.

Police said Richard Lujan Delgado, 18, 511 NW 8th, escaped injury when his car skidded 231 feet off FM 700 near Cedar Drive early Sunday. The car rolled over, officers said. The accident occurred as Delgado was traveling south on FM 700. His car was demolished.

Air Force Helps Economy Drive

During the fiscal year 1963, the U. S. Air Force has accounted for more than half of the savings reported by the Department of Defense in a current economy drive, according to information received from Air Training Command headquarters.

The Air Force has set audited savings goals of $1.6 billion and $1.8 billion during the 1964 and 1965 fiscal years, respectively. Savings during the last fiscal period were estimated at more than $469 million through reduced requirements in repair operations, $67.3 million by reclamation of parts, and more than $40 million through competitive bidding.

Webb Air Force Base has participated in the cost reduction program for several months. Base monitor for the program is Col. George E. Franks, deputy commander for materiel.

Legion Auxiliary Makes Plans For Gift Shop

American Legion Auxiliary members from Big Spring and Crane this morning made preparations for the 1963 Christmas Gift Shop for patients of the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

The project is conducted each year at the hospital. Mrs. Leonard Barlow is heading the work. Patients at the hospital can get gifts free from the shop. Packages are gift-wrapped and mailed at no expense to the patient.

"Shopping" hours will begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday with patients from Ward 6 of the hospital selecting gifts. Ward 4 East is scheduled that afternoon. Wednesday, Wards 5 West and 4 West are scheduled and Wards 3 West and 3 East will shop Thursday. Also, Thursday afternoon and Friday patients who have been unable to visit the shop will be given the opportunity.

Hundreds of dollars worth of merchandise are donated each year by American Legion auxiliaries to insure that each patient will be able to provide Christmas presents for members of his family. This year the demand has grown so that the location was changed to the hospital director's conference room to provide additional space.

Studebaker Plans To Quit U.S. Cars

NEW YORK (AP) — Studebaker Corp. will quit auto production in the United States but continue to make cars in Canada, Dow Jones News Service said today in a copyrighted story.

Ending of operations at Studebaker's plant in South Bend, Ind., where the company has made cars for 50 years, will cut off employment for about 6,000 persons, including 5,000 hourly workers the story said.

The business news service said all auto production will be concentrated at Studebaker's Canadian car plant in Hamilton, Ont.

The announcement will be made at a news conference in New York Tuesday, it said.

Randolph H. Guthrie, Studebaker's board chairman and a New York attorney, confirmed that Studebaker will have an announcement then on its future plans.

Asked about car-making activity, Guthrie said, "we are continuing in the automobile business."

"At South Bend?" he was asked.

"I'm not going to get into all the details. Everything will be disclosed at the news conference," Guthrie replied.

Stubebaker's car business, once the sole reason for its existence but now accounting for about one-half sales value, has been losing money heavily.

Sales of the 1964 model introduced a few months ago lagged to the point where the South Bend operation was shut down last week — while competitors' assembly plants hummed — to keep already excessive inventories of Larks and Hawks from building higher.

Services Held For B. R. Rasco

Damage Suit Trial Begins

A jury was being selected Monday afternoon to try a $45,000 damage suit in 118th District Court.

The suit is that brought by Burton Lingo Lumber Company against the Acuff Gin Company. The litigation grew out of a fire last January which destroyed the Coahoma lumber yard operated by the plaintiff. The charge is made that the blaze originated from flaring particles which originated in the gin burr burner.

The case is No. 1 of five announced ready for trial in the court today. Judge Ralph Caton sounded the docket at 10 a.m. Other cases said to be ready are:

Virgil Jennings vs. Texas Auto Transport Inc., et al, damages; H. M. Moore vs. City of Big Spring, damages; W. T. Coates vs. City of Big Spring, damages; and Melba Seals vs. Arlie Suggs, damages.

Meeting Set With Ousted Dallas Tutor

DALLAS (AP)—Public school executives scheduled a meeting this afternoon with Mrs. Eleanor Cowan, a teacher who was suspended after writing a letter to a national magazine about the assassination of President Kennedy.

A spokesman for the Dallas chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union said meanwhile that organization was checking the circumstances of her suspension.

Supt. W. T. White suspended Mrs. Cowan Thursday after learning about her letter to Time magazine. It stated that "Dallas is as responsible as anyone, if not through action through apathy," for the slaying of the President.

FOURTH GRADE

Mrs. Cowan, a fourth grade teacher at the Robert L. Thornton Elementary School, declined to talk to newsmen Sunday.

She was due to meet today with White and Ewell Walker, personnel director of city schools.

Greg Olds, president of the ACLU chapter here, said a representative discussed Mrs. Cowan's suspension with her. Olds quoted her as saying White and Walker informed her their concern primarily was over the fact she identified herself as a teacher while expressing a personal opinion.

NO CONTRACT

Mrs. Cowan told the ACLU that to her knowledge she had violated no contract or school regulation, Olds said.

White said earlier that the suspension was effective until "an investigation into the letter is complete."

"We view with concern any abridgement of American constitutional guarantees such as freedom of speech," Olds said in a statement. "Preliminary reports indicate Mrs. Cowan is being reprimanded for mentioning her profession while expressing her own personal opinion."

Declaring any such objection was inconsequential, he added:

OPINION

"We trust the exercise of a constitutional guarantee — expression of opinion, any opinion —will not render a teacher unfit for service in the Dallas public schools merely because she identified herself as a teacher."

Mrs. Cowan's letter to the editor appeared in the Dec. 6 issue of Time. She wrote that no matter what President Kennedy had been for, the newspapers and many of the leaders of Dallas had been against it. She went on to say:

"As a teacher in Dallas I have tried to instill in my students a respect for the leaders of our country. How can they ever grow up to be good citizens when the newspapers, their parents, and the leaders of their own city preach dissension?"

North Winds Cover Texas

By The Associated Press

North winds which raked much of Texas the day before calmed and freezing weather covered the northern half of the state early Monday.

Dust which was whirled aloft by the icy gusts still was settling, however, from the lower Panhandle into Southeast Texas.

The mercury skidded to 17 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle before dawn but that still was considerably warmer than the 8-degree low in the same city Sunday.

Skies were mostly clear except for clouds across the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the lower Texas coast.

Forecasts called for increasing clouds over the state and a possibility of a little rain starting by late Monday night in the western edge of Northwest Texas. The moisture was expected to spread gradually toward the east Tuesday.

Slightly warmer weather was predicted for most sections Monday night and it was due to turn a little colder in Northwest and North Central Texas again Tuesday.

Funeral Scheduled For 11 In Family

MIDLAND CITY, Ala. (AP)—Mass funeral rites were scheduled today for 11 members of a Midland City family killed in a car-train crash Saturday.

Only one occupant of an old station wagon which pulled in front of a freight train survived — 1-year-old Margaret Ann Langford.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Langford, two sons and a daughter, six grandchildren and two daughters-in-law.

Witnesses said the station wagon apparently stalled on the tracks and was struck broadside by an Atlantic Coast Line freight train.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MON., DEC. 9, 1963

Jack Ruby's Watch Tight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Wearing white pocketless coveralls with C. J. stamped on them, and laceless slippers, Jack Ruby—the man who killed Lee Harvey Oswald—is kept alone in a three-man cell. C. J. stands for county jail.

Ruby has been isolated as much for his security as for minimizing trouble in the 960-prisoner jail.

The location of his cell is kept secret but it most certainly does not have a window facing on Dealey Plaza.

NUT WITH RIFLE

"What if some nut with a high-powered rifle decided he wanted to get Ruby and started shooting from the viaduct across the way at every window on this side," says a deputy in Sheriff Bill Decker's office.

Decker has consistently been plagued with questions about the treatment of Ruby. In quick succession he got two telephone calls. One caller said Ruby was being tormented under third-degree spotlight conditions. The other complained Ruby was getting red-carpet, kid-glove care.

"He gets what every other prisoner gets, and that's it," says Decker.

TO SHAVE

Ruby is permitted to shave himself and has pencil and paper to write letters, which are censored. His incoming mail also is examined. He got a sack of it Saturday.

He has limited use of the public telephone and receives newspapers.

Sunday night Deputy Sheriff Buddy Walther said, "You might say he has a jovial manner; no, I guess you'd best describe it as not depressed."

Walther indicated considerable caution is taken with everything pertaining to Ruby. Someone brought candy bars, for which Ruby reportedly has an inordinate fondness, but they were never given him.

AFFECT HIM

"It doesn't matter who brought them," Walther says. "We can't take the chance that something might be wrong with them that would affect him."

There is a hypothetical argument that if Ruby wanted he could attempt to get out on bail. It is legally possible—but highly improbable—that bail could be fixed and his release allowed by the court.

Tom Howard, Ruby's attorney, said in an off-hand moment that he thought he could "present a case that would be strong enough" perhaps to get Ruby released on bail. However, there is no move to do this at this time, nor apparently are there any plans to do so in the future.

Be Careful With Christmas Tree

Care should be used in the selection and handling of a Christmas tree to minimize the danger of fire, according to Fire Marshal A. D. Meador.

"The larger the tree, the greater the hazard," he said. He said the best natural (fir, spruce or pine) trees are fresh-looking and have firm needles.

The tree should be supported firmly in water until it leaves the house. Meador said the water level should be checked daily as the tree absorbs large quantities of water while it is indoors.

"Make sure the tree is well away from sources of heat—radiators, stoves and fireplaces," he continued. "Don't locate it where, upright or fallen, it might block escape in case of fire. Electrical, fueled or mechanical toys should not be operated under the tree. It may lead to an upset tree and possibly fire.

"Don't rely on chemical coatings or solutions to "flame-proof" a natural tree; none is completely effective.

"Keep the tree in the house for the shortest possible time. Removal on the day following Christmas is recommended."

The Fire Chief also said artificial trees need care in selection and handling. Plastic and metalized plastic trees can burn. Use the type clearly marked as made of slow-burning materials. Those with built in electrical systems should carry the Underwriters' Laboratories (UL) label. Metal trees are not a fire hazard but may be a shock hazard. Use only indirect lighting with them. If lighting strings are placed on a metal tree, it may become "charged" and dangerous.

A Devotional For The Day

We have beheld his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father. (John 1:14. RSV.)

PRAYER: O God, we praise Thee for all Thy gifts, but chiefly for Thine unspeakable gift in Jesus Christ Thy Son. We praise Thee with all our hearts because in Him Thou hast given us Thy very self that we might have redemption from our sins and have life eternal. In His name we praise Thee. Amen.

Nepal—Buffer Or Postponer

The Kingdom of Nepal — actually a constitutional monarchy—is as remote and inscrutable to the average American as is its neighbor, Tibet. Most Americans probably associate it vaguely with the final staging area for periodic assaults on Himalayan peaks by mountain climbers.

Yet Nepal is important to the defense of India, although their relations, particularly in recent years, have been tempestuous and piquant. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru became incensed when King Mahendra suppressed parliamentary democracy in 1960 — fundamental personal rights were restored a year later. For its part, Nepal was resentful of clandestine excursions by antiroyalists from their exiled sanctuary in India. Then in October, 1961, Mahendra signed a border agreement with India and followed that with signing an agreement with Red China to build a road across Nepal—this merely opened an old trade route, the king explained. Nehru did not think highly of this delicate balancing act.

With the invasion of India by Red China, however, India belatedly recognized the importance of a non-aligned—preferable friendly—Nepal. Anti-royalist excursions abruptly ceased. Nepal suddenly became, as the British weekly, The Economist, observed, another Yugoslavia of sorts and Mahendra another Tito.

Perhaps the long view of history is little changed by this neutralization of a far off little country which sits between two giants. But it does suggest that the art of diplomacy, which reached its Machiavellian best in the Orient, provides a useful vehicle for reducing (perhaps only postpoinig) military conflict. At the least the incident may indicate that Red China has not yet digested Tibet and may require some time before proceeding to extend its empire to match that of ancient Cathay.

A Legacy

Not much needs to be said as a memorial for J. H. (Jimmie) Green who served his community for a score of years as manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

On everyhand are the memorials he built himself — the VA Hospital, the Big Spring State Hospital, Webb AFB, Howard County Junior College, office buildings, homes, schools, and many others. It would be foolish to say that he alone secured these things, but he was in a peculiar position to do something about setting in motion the machinery and to keep it fueled and oiled until the job was finished.

Jimmie Greene was a hard worker and when he asked others to help they knew it was an invitation to labor together. More than that, he was a fighter. He didn't relish losing, and he fought hard to get what he went after. At the same time, he "ran scared" and took nothing for granted. He was equipped with a wealth of practical experience, yet he made mistakes. But when he did, like a seasoned player, he reacted quickly.

He sometimes became impatient with those who had less fire and determination, and he couldn't understand how any self-respecting individual could absorb the benefits of a Chamber of Commerce without supporting it.

Jimmie Greene did many things for Big Spring, many things which will influence his town for decades to come. Perhaps in nothing did he give us so much as this legacy: "You never know what you can do until you try." Big Spring will always owe him this much.

The President's Commission

WASHINGTON — Republicans are saying in guarded tones that President Johnson has made his first mistake. His appointment of a Federal Commission to supersede Congressional investigations into Mr. Kennedy's assassination is described as a blunder.

Johnson's plan is one that asks the federal establishment to investigate itself. The FBI and Secret Service were responsible for Mr. Kennedy's safety, and the failure ought to be deeply explored. But the idea that a presidentially - appointed group will ruthlessly affix even a well-deserved blame on one agency which represents the Justice Department or on another which represents the Treasury Department is not very plausible.

THEN, THERE'S the matter of U.S. foreign policy. Under Mr. Kennedy, and now under his successor, we are committed to cultivating Khrushchev and tolerating Castro. Would this commission fearlessly take a position athwart these lines of policy? Dare it reveal information that would queer the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty? Or clobber the Wheat Deal? And unless a commission on a matter of this solemnity has no inhibitions at all about uncovering the truth, what good is it?

CONSIDER SOME of the stories on the town. A reputable anti-Castro Cuban has one which attempts to explain Lee Harvey Oswald as a gunman for Fidel. The story is that Oswald attended a saboteur school near Minsk, but that the Russians considered him too erratic to be useful to them, whereupon he applied for a similar job with Castro, who can't afford to be choosy. Castro was worried because Russo-American plans for a detente call for replacing him with a Tito-type Communist in Cuba. Under this arrangement, the Western World would give aid and trade to Cuba, and the Soviets would be able to cut down their assistance to the failing Cuban economy. The implication is that Castro had a motive for wishing to remove the American President—and, in Oswald, had an accomplice.

THIS IS ONE of the many fantastic "explanations" of the Dallas tragedy which a Congressional committee would like to probe. Witnesses would be called, cross-questioned and their testimony evaluated. If the story has any veracity at all, it ought to be bared. If it has none, the story ought to be scotched. But Congressional hearings are the proper place for such work, and a Federal Commission is the wrong place. Congressional hearings often lend themselves to sensationalism, but seldom to suppression. Federal investigations are circumspect, but their history has frequently been one of quiet burial or ceremonious whitewash.

TWO OF THE commission's members are vulnerable to attack on their past records. Chief Justice Warren, the chairman, can hardly escape a charge of bias against the conservative wing which has tormented him ever since he took his high office. Allen Dulles was director of CIA when Castro captured Cuba and when we had the worst kind of intelligence that led to the disaster at the Bay of Pigs.

The President's motives are irreproachable. They certainly include a determination to repair our reputation in the eyes of the watching world, and to spare the feelings of Mr. Kennedy's family by giving this gruesome investigation a format of dignity.

But there is an unfortunate element of stage-management about the appointment of this commission.

I hear you talk about the "Freedom" of Christianity, but it seems to me that Christianity imposes many restrictions on a person. I know Christians who say, "Don't do this," and "you mustn't do that." How do you call this freedom? —K. L.

Freedom does not mean license. By this I mean: we are free within certain limits. It is what we might call "controlled freedom." Fritz Kriesler, the violinist, once said regarding freedom: "I have on my table a violin string. It is free to move in any direction I like. If I twist one end, it responds, it is free. But it is not free to sing; not free to fulfill its purpose. So, I take it and fix it into my violin. I bind it, and when it is bound, it is free for the first time to sing and make music."

God made us free. We can be limp and useless if we desire, but in doing that we will never fulfill our purpose; we are not free to sing. Prisons are full of men who used their freedom wrongly. But Christ takes us, if we allow Him, and binds us to Himself, and then we are free to serve, to share, to love, and to sing. Our freedom is positioning ourselves, yielding ourselves to One who can bring the best out of us, and help us to live useful and worthwhile lives. Christianity, however, is not negative. "Being then made free from sin, ye are the servants of righteousness."

Little Chance For Succession Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. McCormack, 71 - year - old speaker of the House, has just about put the finish on any chance of making it impossible for him to move up the the presidency.

If President Johnson should die then, under present law, next in line to succeed him are McCormack of Massachusetts and 86-year-old Carl Hayden of Arizona, president pro tempore of the Senate. Both are Democrats.

In American history there have been only three laws controlling succession to the presidency: The first in 1792, the next in 1886, the last in 1947.

THE FOUNDING fathers, when they put the Constitution together, ducked the problem of saying who should assume the powers of the presidency if the president and vice president died. They left it to Congress.

Congress passed its first act in this field in 1792. It put the Senate's president pro tempore and the speaker of the House next in succession behind the vice president.

It stayed that way undisturbed until President Garfield's assassination in 1881. At the time he was shot, it happened that the House had not chosen a speaker and the Senate had no president pro tempore. For five years there was discussion and debate changed the law, eliminating the two congressional officers and putting the president's cabinet in line of succession, starting with the secretary of state.

Another 59 years passed and in April 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt died. Vice President Harry S. Truman became president. If Truman had died then, under the 1886 law, his successor would have been Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr.

On June 19, 1945, eight days before he accepted Stettinius' resignation, Truman asked Congress to change the 1886 law. He wanted the Cabinet taken out of direct line of succession.

HE ARGUED that under the 1886 law a president, since he picks his own cabinet, could name his own successor. "I do not believe," he said, "that in a democracy this power should rest with the chief executive."

He said he thought that, as far as possible, the office of president should be filled by an elected officer, not an appointed one. So he asked Congress to abolish the 1886 act and return to the 1792 act, but with a switch.

Instead of making the Senate's president pro tempore next in line, Truman said the speaker of the House should come behind the vice president and then the Senate's president pro tempore.

THEN IN 1886 Congress TRUMAN said he considered this more democratic because the speaker of the House and all House members have to be elected every two years while senators face the voters only every six. Not everyone agreed with him.

For instance: Edward S. Corwin, the constitutional authority, wrote: "The caliber of our speakers, in the main, has been somewhat below what the presidency requires and deserves. If speakers are compared with our secretaries of state, the result is decidedly in favor of the secretaries."

There was some irony in what followed. Truman had made his request to a Congress run by his own Democrats. They ignored him. He didn't get action until the Republicans took control of Congress in 1947.

THEY CHANGED the law, making it a kind of combination of the 1886 and 1792 laws, for this was the result, still in effect:

Next in line behind the vice president are the speaker of the House, the Senate's president pro tempore, and the Cabinet, starting with the secretary of state.

This was doubly ironic, for when the Republicans passed this act, two Republicans were in line of succession to Democratic Truman if he died, since there was no vice president then: Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, president pro tempore of the Senate.

ON NOV. 27 the nation got a close-up glimpse of the two elderly men — McCormack and Hayden—who are in the line of presidential succession if Johnson dies. On that day Johnson addressed a joint session of Congress on television and McCormack and Hayden were sitting right behind him.

In the past week there was increased discussion about the presidential succession. And former President Eisenhower, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, suggested the 1947 law be changed back to the 1886 law.

In short, he thinks the secretary of state and the other Cabinet members should be directly behind the vice president, not the two congressional officers.

But over the weekend McCormack said he favors the present law "not because I'm in it but because I feel it's the best way of solving the problem."

In view of this statement Congress isn't likely to change the law to eliminate McCormack and Hayden, particularly the House and particularly McCormack.

He's been a member of the House 35 years. The Democrats who run the House elected him speaker. They're not likely to do anything which might be considered an affront to him.

Presents Cost Average Of $147

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Playing Santa Claus, the average U.S. family will spend $147 or more on Christmas presents. Also we will buy some $125 million in postage stamps.

The custom of exchanging gifts at the beginning of the New Year, started by the ancient Romans, is still popular in Europe and China. Giving gifts at Yuletime is largely an American tradition.

SPEAKING of holidays, I can't wait until 1965. In that year we'll have six three-day holiday weekends.

You may not be able to hold on to a buck any better, but dollar bills are actually lasting longer. Among other reasons, the wider use of credit cards and checking accounts has cut down on the use of paper currency.

Three out of every four traffic deaths take place within 25 miles of the driver's home.

Our quotable notables: "Inherited wealth is a big handicap to happiness. It is as certain death to ambition as cocaine is to morality"—William K. Vanderbilt.

PROBABLY the only lower paying field than poetry is painting. It has been estimated that the average artist earns only about $11 a week, or less than a laborer gets a day.

There are more than two million laws in force in the United States. If you learned them at the rate of 10 a day, it would take you nearly 550 years to be sure you were completely law-abiding. But by then probably two million more laws would would have been passed.

It has been figured that more than 60 per cent of the world's top achievements have been accomplished by people between 45 and 65.

WORTH remembering: "When things begin to blur, get stronger glasses — or weaker drinks"—Arnold H. Glasow.

In 630 B.C. in Nineveh, capital of Assyria, King Sennacherib had signs posted at intervals along one thoroughfare saying: "Royal road—let no man lessen it." Violators who parked their chariots were put to death.

It was Jonathan Swift who observed, "We have just enough religion to make us hate but not enough to make us love one another."

The Body Needs Only A Trace Of Iodine

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does iodine increase or decrease the metabolism rate? Does taking one nutritional iodine tablet harm the body?—MRS. A. G. B.

It may decrease the metabolism rate—or it may have no effect.

And I don't like the term, "nutritional iodine tablet," because it implies that a person needs such a tablet. This idea has been implanted by people who should and probably do know better—just as the "diet supplement" propaganda has fooled people into buying pills they don't need.

Indiscriminate taking of iodine can be harmful at times, and it is usually a waste of money.

True, the body needs a trace of iodine, certainly not a daily pill.

How much is a trace? It means .00004 per cent of the body's weight, and that works out, if you like arithmetic to about one one-thousandth of an ounce for an average adult. That's the total amount, not the amount required each day. The body tends to keep its trace of iodine and loses it slowly—except, of course, it rather quickly gets rid of iodine in excess of normal needs.

In the past we had geographical areas called "goiter belts," and some still exist in various parts of the world. In those areas (as is true around the Great Lakes) iodine has gradually been washed out of the soil and carried away by the rivers. Hence food grown there contains little or no iodine.

Psychoanalyzing Santa Claus

This and that:

Santa Claus, according to Dr. J. Victor Monke of San Francisco, is a product of man's deep but seldom expressed fear of impending death.

And he symbolizes man's eternal hope for immortality through the children who will live after he is gone.

UNSPOKEN, adds the doctor, is the irreversible fact that the children will live on after the adults have died. And unspoken is the hope adults have that their own spirits will live on in their children.

Santa is not a woman, according to Dr. Monke, because women—who give birth of their own flesh and blood—have no need to ritualize their relationship with succeeding generations. Mr. Claus is fat, the doctor added, probably because of the male envy of women's birth-giving ability.

SOME OF THE so-called cures for baldness only delay normal re-growth. So says Dr. Peter Borrie, a physician to the skin department in a London hospital.

Writing for a publication, he says: "There is, at the present time, no way whatsoever of making hair grow. Anyone who says there is, be he doctor, trichologist or any so-called hair specialist, is ignorant.

"ON THE OTHER hand, there are a number of conditions in which the loss of hair is only temporary and which spontaneous regrowth is the rule. It is the existence of such conditions which allows the charlatan to clam a spurious cure."

The doctor advises all those who are losing their hair to consult their own doctor to see what type of baldness they are suffering from, and what, if anything, can be done.

DR. BORRIE states that the regrowth of hair, if it is to take place, will occur more surely with a minimum of interference, massage, creams and the like. He adds that brushing and combing should be limited to keeping the hair tidy. Nylon brushes are not recommended for those with a hair problem, since hair clings more tightly to the nylon brush.

Dr. Borrie cited cases of a woman who went bald because of prolonged daily massage of her scalp (the hair grew again when she stopped) and a little girl who developed bald spots because her pony tail was tied too tight.

A Diplomat's Problems In France

The French — love them or leave them—are impossible because of their conviction that they are really the chosen people.

That is the conclusion of an American who was born in France, has spent considerable time there and believes the French are exasperating, pigheaded, maddeningly self-centered and altogether wonderful. He is Joseph Verner Reed, a rich, witty and amiable citizen who was born in Nice when his parents didn't quite make it back to the U.S.A. for the accouchement.

SOME OF HIS acute and always amusing observations about La Belle France and her capricious children are contained in his new book, "To the Embassy," subtitled, "Adventures of an Undiplomatic Diplomat in Paris." All in all, he has written the funniest book about the side effects and hazards of diplomacy since another diplomatic amateur, Stanton Griffis, wrote "Lying in State."

"The Republicans lost the national election in 1960 just in time to save my liver," Mr. Reed reminisced a few days ago. At that time he was attached to the American Embassy in Paris as special assistant to the American ambassador to France, Amory Houghton.

IN THE NOT too long ago many Americans believed that the chief function of our vice presidents was to "eat out" in the place of our Chief Executives, thereby saving the latter both time and bicarb. Likewise, so to speak, Mr. Reed, as special assistant to the American ambassador, did a great deal of eating out on behalf of Mr. Houghton.

"The 1960 election came along just in time to save me from those purple spots all Frenchmen eventually get on their faces through stern devotion to high living," Mr. Reed volunteered. "I was beginning to get them—"

ETCHED FOREVER in the Reed memory and liver is the week-long celebration of the Lafayette bicentennial when, in official capacity, he ate his way around France in place of the Ambassador.

"I treasure in particular a luncheon that began at 1:30 p.m. and lasted till 6 p.m.," he recalled. "There were seven wine glasses at my place when I sat down to table. I remember that about 5:45 p.m. I murmured, 'Lafayette, I am under the table.'" (The luncheon, by the way, was followed by an 8:30 p.m. dinner, above and beyond the call of duty, with only one less wine glass.)

MR. REED, who grew up in Denver after his debut in Nice, says of the French in 1963:

"Wonderful — impossible. They love to do everything the hard, complicated way, as in the past. One of the most wonderful things about the French is their love of France. No country has such pride in its history or its culture. They live in that past, unfortunately."

Throughout his life Mr. Reed has had the time, drive, taste and money to become a true culture - vulture. Somewhat to his surprise, after his fling at diplomacy, he discovered on his return home that he had inherited the annual American Shakespeare Festival at Stratford, Conn., one of the nation's most successful warm-weather theatrical ventures.

"TEN YEARS ago, when the Festival was started, I was interested, but I never dreamed I'd inherit the baby," said Reed, a tall, rangy man with a big nose anchored in a triangular face topped by a bulging forehead and concluded by a sharp, firm chin.

"And to think that we would up in the black last year!" he exclaimed in surprise. "I like actors, and I don't mind the temperamental ones. They are really not too difficult. But, then, remember I cut my teeth on the French!"

Hoover's Warning On Communism

WASHINGTON — Probably no man in the government of the United States is more familiar with the infiltration which the Communists are carrying on in this country than J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. When he makes a speech, therefore, on this activity, it may be inferred that something is going on under the surface to which public attention needs to be drawn.

MR. HOOVER, in an address just delivered here in connection with an achievement award given to him by the Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, described the Communist operations inside this country, and said:

"We are at war with communism and the sooner every red-blooded American realizes this the safer we will be.

"Here in the United States, the cause of international communism is represented by the Communist party, U.S.A.—A cunning and defiant subversive conspiracy which is financed, directed and controlled by the Kremlin. Its membership consists today of a hard core of revolutionary fanatics who are knowingly and eagerly subservient to the dictates of Moscow. The dupes, the dissidents and the faint of heart have long since been purged from the party's ranks."

MR. HOOVER urged Negro leaders in the United States to beware of the attempts by the Communists to infiltrate the movement for civil rights and warned them that the Soviets have tried and are still trying to take a hand behind the scenes in the civil rights movement. He added:

"Today, the Communists are engaged in a vigorous campaign to divide and weaken America from within. Foremost in this campaign are the party's efforts to exploit misunderstandings and capitalize upon areas of dissension and unrest wherever they exist. This is especially true in the intense civil rights movement, for America's 20 million Negroes and all others engaged in this struggle are a major target for Communist propaganda and subversion.

"IT WOULD BE absurd to suggest that the aspirations of Negroes for equality are Communist inspired. This is demonstrably not true. But what is demonstrable is that some individuals and groups exploit the tension for purposes not confined to the equality of human rights under the Constitution of the United States. The crusade should not become a vehicle for political radicalism or organized violence.

"Devotion to race must not supersede devotion to established institutions.

"IT WOULD BE useful if responsible Negro leaders themselves could make it clear to all who follow them that their interest is solely in racial equality . . . .

"Legitimate civil rights organizations must remain constantly alert to attempts by the Communists to influence their actions, take over their programs and corrupt their ranks."

Mr. Hoover pointed out that "Communism feeds upon ignorance, prejudice and sickness of the mind and soul," and said that "the cause of communism is well served by the hatemongers, the lunatic fringe and other rabble who preach a doctrine of malice and intolerance toward their fellow man." He continued:

"THESE VENOMOUS fanatics, whether they are extremists of the left or the right, are carriers of a highly infectious disease. They clutter the streets—and the mails—with their slanderous obscenities, urging impressionable teen - agers and unstable adults to acts of hate, terror and intimidation. They have brought forth the bombs and ignited the flames that have killed decent Americans and even innocent children and destroyed churches and other temples of worship. They are a national disgrace."

Typical Of Load Handled Efficiently

Texas and Pacific Railway handles this gargantuan steel smokestack weighing a hefty 82,000 pounds with comparative ease. It was 150 feet long and required three flatcars for its movement. This is one example of the flexibility of Texas & Pacific in meeting the hauling needs of its customers. No task is too large for this company, with its years of successful service standing behind each job.

Railroads Had A Hand In Nation's Growth

Since the turn of the century the industrial might of the United States has expanded steadily. Today, the productivity of the nation has soared to new heights.

Behind this consistent industrial growth—sparking the move to even greater output—stand the nation's railroads, symbols of efficient mass transportation, with their capacity to transport anything, any time, anywhere.

The Texas and Pacific, whose 1,800 - mile main line extends from New Orleans in southernmost Louisiana, through Big Spring, and on to El Paso, no load is too small, too tall, too long, too wide or too fragile.

LARGE MACHINES

Mammoth machines, now in use in many American industries, can be transported efficiently and speedily by rail. Hefty ladings are shipped by rail since the railroads are able to handle bulky shipments without damage or delay.

Furthering its capability to transport anything, any time, anywhere, Texas and Pacific Railway has pursued a policy of giving its shippers especially-designed equipment for the more efficient handling of their products. Generally, this new, custom-built rolling stock has been described as "cars which can be unloaded and loaded quickly, carry heavier loads, practically eliminate freight loss and damage, hold down freight rates and, in some cases, provide rate reductions."

SPECIAL CARS

T&P has a fair-sized fleet of these specialty cars in varying shapes and sizes. Popular with T&P customers are the all-steel insulated and air-tight boxcars—ideal for the movement of tinplate and canned goods; its DF (damage - free) boxcars with their complements of wooden cross-bars for secure bracing of boxed or packaged goods and other merchandise, and "compartmentized" cars whch hold merchandise safely and securely in individual compartments.

FLATCAR

Even the commonplace railway flatcar now is cast in a new role. The installation of sturdy bulkheads at each end of the car provide better support for such breakable cargoes as wallboard and fibre pipe. Other T&P flatcars now are used in the evergrowing and popular TOFC (trailer-on-flatcar) service.

Through the proper utilization of its fleet of specialized equipment, Texas and Pacific Railway can provide safe, efficient, dependable and economical rail transportation.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

In event you missed it, Big Spring's Jimmy Evans, now at Texas Western, has been drafted by the New York Jets of the American Football League. Evans played his final collegiate game against the University of Wyoming last Saturday.

That 13-0 defeat Texas Western handed West Texas recently was the first shutout experienced by a Joe Kerbel-coached West Texas club.

Texas Western's defense has been tougher than leather spaghetti in recent games. Texas Tech and West Texas managed to dent the Miners' defenses for an average of only 131.5 yards a game.

Texas Western, which has three other Big Spring boys on its varsity squad besides Evans, allowed only 28 pass completions up to the Wyoming game, and the opposition threw 90 aerials in that stretch of games.

* * *

The University of Oregon, which made a clear profit of $224,000 playing football in 1962 playing as an independent, wants to return to the Big Six Athletic Conference.

The champion of that league always goes to the Rose Bowl.

* * *

James Tidwell, one of Big Spring's better known football officials, sat in on that historic football game between San Antonio Lee and San Antonio Brackenridge, recently, the one that Lee won, 55-48.

He had been told that Brack's Warren McVea was quite a ball player, but had to be sold on the boy's merits.

Tidwell came away convinced not only that the Negro youth was all he was cracked up to be but that Warren is the finest high school footballer he's ever seen.

* * *

The scouts would probably be lined up from San Antonio to Austin trying to sign McVea, were it not for the fact that he's a so-so student. Too, the boy has a police record which isn't very flattering.

Still, a 'name' school in another section will probably sign the young man and get itself one of the all-time greats.

* * *

Curly Hays, the referee in that last Texas-Texas A&M football game, saw the AP picture of that much-discussed interception late in the game.

He doesn't think the picture told the story, that the Aggie catching the ball juggled the ball once more after the photo was made. By then, Hays says, he was out of bounds.

Whether or not the Aggies intercepted the ball in bounds will, no doubt, be argued a long, long time—and never settled.

* * *

Big Spring didn't play a very good football game against either Abilene team in 2-AAAA play the past season.

As a result, only one Big Spring player (Dick Irons) rated a spot on the all-district platoons the paper's representatives turned in.

Bob Milburn, the San Angelo scribe, picked Big Spring's Albert Fierro over his own quarterback, Ronnie Henson, as the best in the league but turned around and tabbed Henson as the most valuable back in the league.

Milburn picked five Big Spring players on his two units.

Where's The Handle On The Thing?

Jerry Barron of the Police Department football team bends low to pick up a football temporarily bobbled. The action occurred in the benefit game here Saturday night between the Police and the 331st FIS club of Webb AFB. No. 17 is Dwayne Thompson, quarterback; No. 37 J. W. Traylor, both of whom perform for the Police. The official is Johnny Berry. The Police won the game, 46-6. Barron scored two first half touchdowns for the winners. (Photo by Jimmy Townes)

Steelers Win The Big One

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Steelers, stopped on fourth down every time they've been close to the National Football League throne room, have faked their way into a winner-take-all battle at New York and a shot at grabbing their first Eastern Conference title.

The Steelers had the clock and the scoreboard stacked against them at Dallas Sunday, trailing 19-17 with only 3½ minutes to go while the Giants' 44-14 victory over Washington already had been posted. And the Steelers were locked on their own 16, fourth down and 14 to go.

Pittsburgh quarterback Ed Brown went back into punt formation, faked a kick, then whipped a 42-yard pass to Red Mack. The Steelers kept the drive going until Theron Sapp bolted 24 yards off right guard for the deciding touchdown with 1:53 left—his first TD as a Steeler.

The Steelers, unable to win a division crown since they entered the league in 1933, now are 7-3-3 to the Giants' 10-3. Pittsburgh must beat New York to win the title while the Giants can clinch their third straight Eastern championship with either a victory or a tie.

The situation is much the same in the West, where the Chicago Bears lead at 10-1-2 after avenging their only defeat by downing San Francisco 27-7. Green Bay is a half-step back at 9-2-1 following a 31-14 romp over Los Angeles in a Saturday game.

The Packers, seeking an unprecedented third consecutive NFL title, can win the Western title outright only if they win at San Francisco Saturday and Chicago loses. The Bears can clinch either with a tie or a victory against Detroit.

The Lions knocked Cleveland out of the Eastern race Sunday by rolling to a 38-10 victory that continued their hex over the Browns. And St. Louis, the only other Eastern team that went into action alive, was eliminated despite a 38-14 thumping of Philadelphia built on Charlie Johnson's four touchdown passes.

In the only game on the weekend program that did not have a bearing on the title races, Johnny Unitas had a field day in passing Baltimore to a 41-10 walloping of Minnesota.

Boston took over first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division with a 46-28 victory over Houston, Oakland kept its Western title hopes alive by drubbing first-place San Diego 41-27, Buffalo crushed New York 45-14 and Kansas City trounced Denver 52-21.

The Cowboys built a 19-17 lead after three quarters with Sam Baker kicking 53 and 46 yard field goals and Don Meredith scurrying short yardage for two touchdowns. Brown had kept the Steelers close with two touchdown passes, 55 yards to Buddy Dial and 28 to Preston Carpenter while Lou Michaels kicked a 24-yard field goal.

Y. A. Tittle tied his season record of 33 touchdown passes by hitting Frank Gifford with an eight-yarder and arching a 57-yarder to Joe Morrison, but it was the Giant defensive unit that turned in most of the scoring against the Redskins. Dick Lynch scored on a 42-yard run with an interception, Jim Katcavage returned a fumble 10 yards for a touchdown and Sam Huff rambled 36 yards with another interception.

The Bears, upset by the 49ers 20-14 for their only loss, moved ahead to stay this time on the first play from scrimmage as Willie Galimore raced 51 yards for a touchdown.

The Packers trailed the Rams 14-10 going into the third period, but Jim Taylor then swept 40 yards for a touchdown and Green Bay was never headed.

The Lions, winning their ninth in 10 games with the Browns, started quickly on Earl Morrall's 75-yard touchdown pass to Terry Barr. They built a 14-10 halftime lead, then broke it open with 17 points in the third quarter on Morrall's 29-yard pass to Gail Cogdill, Wayne Walker's field goal and a recovery of a Frank Ryan fumble in the end zone by Darris McCord.

Johnson passed for all but one of the Cardinals touchdowns, hitting Bobby Joe Conrad on plays covering 43 and 17 yards, combining with Joe Childress on a 78-yarder and connecting with Sonny Randle on a 58-yarder.

Unitas completed 17 of 21 passes for 344 yards and three touchdowns before relinquishing the Colt controls to rookie Gary Cuozzo in the fourth quarter. The touchdown passes went 61 and 21 yards to John Mackey and 24 yards to Ray Berry.

Defense Goes Good For 11s In Am. League

By The Associated Press

"This club is great on offense when us defensive players are in there."

Not eloquent. But accurate.

A Boston player said it, but it could have been an Oakland player or a Kansas City player. On Sunday's American Football League program, the only team that didn't need too much defensive help was Buffalo. They had Cookie Gilchrist.

Here's the way it went:

Oakland shattered San Diego's offense in the fourth quarter, capitalizing on two fumbles, a bad punt, a personal foul penalty and an interception for 31 points and a 41-27 victory that moved the Raiders to within one game of the Western Division leading Chargers.

Boston turned three fumble recoveries and two interceptions into 21 points in the second quarter, whipped Houston 46-28 and took over first place in the Eastern sector. The Patriots need only a tie or victory in their last game at Kansas City Saturday to clinch the title.

Kansas City's Chiefs, with only two previous victories, won their first game in two months as the defensive team scored one touchdown and set up three others with blocked punts and interceptions in a 52-21 walloping of Denver.

In the National League, New York took over first place in the East with a 44-14 victory over Washington, Chicago remained in first in the West by defeating San Francisco 27-7, Pittsburgh edged Dallas 24-19, Detroit belted Cleveland 38-10, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 38-14, Green Bay downed Los Angeles 31-14 and Baltimore overwhelmed Minnesota 41-10.

Navy Gunning For Bowl Win

. PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Navy is convinced it has the No. 1 college football team in the country—and can prove it in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on New Year's Day—but there are some folks up at West Point who need a little more persuasion.

"For the life of me, I don't see how this team beat Pittsburgh," said a bitterly disappointed Coach Paul Dietzel of Army after seeing the upset hopes of his Black Knights die with the clock on the Navy two-yard line last Saturday at Philadelphia Stadium.

So the Midshipmen came off with their fifth straight triumph over their service rivals 21-15 and a chance to play top-ranked, unbeaten Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

Coach Wayne Hardin of Navy refused to exult over the shaky, controversial triumph, but at the same time he refused to make any concessions to detractors of All-America quarterback Roger Staubach and company.

"We didn't play our best game against Army, and Army was tremendous—superb in every respect," Hardin said. "Nevertheless, we won and I still think these boys of mine are the best in the country."

Dietzel, so heartbroken over the loss that he couldn't talk for a half hour, refused to agree. He said he thought Pitt, which beat Army 28-0 and lost to Navy 24-12, was better.

"I wish we could have gotten off that one last play," the Army coach said. "Then, I would have felt better about it. They might have held us. We might have scored. Either way, we would have had a firm decision.

"Now it will always haunt us. We'll never be fully convinced that Navy beat us."

The tense game, played before a somber crowd of 102,000 in dedication to the late President John F. Kennedy, ended in a state of high excitement and confusion.

Trailing 21-7 in the final period, Army smashed to a second touchdown and then made a daring two-point conversion on a run by quarterback Carl Stichweh to make it 21-15.

With less than five minutes to play, the underdog Cadets recaptured possession of the ball on a perfectly executed on-side kick and then drove for what could have been the decisive touchdown.

The clock was ticking off the final seconds as the Cadets, led by the superb iron-man quarterback Stichweh, moved inside the five. Then, they had a final down with two yards to go.

Their time-outs exhausted, Stichweh motioned desperately to the officials to stop the clock until the noise subsided so that his players could hear the signals.

"We were running an automatic series," Dietzel lamented later. "When Stichweh asked the officials to wait for quiet, they should have stopped the clock, but they didn't.

Buccaneers Favorites

By The Associated Press

Corpus Christi Miller, Graham, Dalhart and Albany held favorite roles today as the Texas schoolboy football field squared off for its fourway semifinals.

That may be the kiss of death in view of what has been happening to the heralded teams of late.

San Angelo, pre-season favorite for the Class AAAA title, took its lumps last week as the Bobcats lost out to Amarillo Tascosa on penetrations in a 13-13 tie.

At the same time Garland threw fear into everybody with a 34-0 thrashing of Fort Worth Paschal.

Spring Branch stayed in the race with a victory over Pasadena on penetrations in a 14-14 tie and Miller branded itself the team to beat with a 21-19 triumph over a perfect record San Antonio Lee eleven.

The biggest crash came in Class AAA. Dumas, winner of 23 games in a row and a heavy favorite to take its third straight state title, was knocked out of the race 13-0 by Graham.

Now the most feared outfit in that class, Graham faces undefeated, untied Corsicana in the semifinals this week. Corsicana advanced with a 14-7 victory over McKinney.

LaMarque rolled on unbeaten and untied by whipping Conroe 21-14. It will meet Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, winner on first downs in a 20-20 tie with Gonzales.

The semifinal schedule:

Class AAAA—Amarillo Tascosa vs. Garland at Amarillo Saturday, 2 p.m.; Spring Branch vs. Corpus Christi Miller at Spring Branch Saturday, 2 p.m.

Class AAA—Graham vs. Corsicana at Arlington Saturday, 2:30 p.m.; LaMarque vs. Pharr-San Juan - Alamo at Corpus Christi Saturday 2:30 p.m..

Class AA—Dalhart vs. Rockwall at Vernon Saturday, 2 p.m.; Liberty vs. Missouri City Dulles at Pasadena Friday, 8 p.m.

Wilt Connects, Warriors Win

By The Associated Press

Johnny Kerr has collected his 10,000th point. Wilt Chamberlain has made two consecutive foul shots. And that's even more surprising.

Kerr's 10,000th point—he finished the game with 10,116—put Philadelphia ahead to stay en route to a 126-116 National Basketball Association victory over Cincinnati Sunday night.

Chamberlain, a notoriously poor foul shooter, clicked for two in succession with five seconds remaining, providing San Francisco with a 114-112 triumph over Los Angeles in the only other game scheduled.

Cats Forcing Rupp To Change Mind

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Adolph Rupp hasn't exactly changed his mind about his University of Kentucky basketball team that has won its first three games impressively, but he's wavering.

When his Wildcats were ranked ninth in the pre-season Associated Press college basketball poll the cagey Baron of the Blue Grass said he thought they were over-rated.

The veteran coach, who has a remarkable 687-134 won-lost career record said after his boys whipped Virginia and Texas Tech: "We may get hurt on many occasions due to the lack of a so-called big man. These next games should be important guides to our future chances."

Rupp was referring to the games with Northwestern and North Carolina. His boys trounced Northwestern 95-63 Saturday night for their third straight victory. The North Carolina test comes tonight at Lexington, Ky.

On the basis of their first three games, Rupp shouldn't have many sleepless nights. Cotton Nash and Ted Deeken starred against Northwestern just as they did against Virginia and Texas Tech. They combined for 56 points against the Big Ten club, Deeken with 29 and Nash 27.

Kentucky's turnabout from its so-so—for the Wildcats—16-9 record of last season has been the highlight so far of the new collegiate campaign. Chicago Loyola, No. 1, and NYU, No. 2, each have won twice, but the Ramblers and the Violets were hardly extended by North Dakota and Kent State and Cornell and Tulsa, respectively.

The Duke Blue Devils, ranked fourth, won the Centennial Classic at Morgantown, W.Va., by edging No. 7 Ohio State 76-75 and then coming from behind to defeat West Virginia 86-81 in Saturday's final.

Kansas' Jayhawks and the Sun Devils of Arizona State moved into a more prominent spot in the national picture with impressive victories over the third-ranked Cincinnati Bearcats and the fifth-ranked Wichita Wheatshockers.

Kansas ended a 90-game home winning streak for Cincinnati with its 51-47 triumph over the Bearcats on six free throws by Walt Wesley, George Unseld and Al Correll. Art Becker's 36 points led the sixth-ranked Sun Devils to their 93-87 conquest of Wichita, Dave Stallworth tossed in 43 points for the Shockers who lost their second straight.

Ohio State took the consolation prize in the Centennial Classic by nipping St. John's of New York 66-64. No. 8 Michigan was idle Saturday, but the Wolverines beat Tulane and Nebraska earlier in the week. Unbeaten Oregon State, No. 10, thumped Washington 91-60 for its fourth in a row.

Forsan Bisons Play Stanton

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes will be seeking to improve upon a 22-5 won-lost record in basketball competition this season.

The Bisons return to competition Tuesday night, at which time they host Stanton.

Forsan has two starters back from last season. They are Kenneth Soles, a senior standing 6-1; and Donnie Gooch, who also stands 6-1 and is a senior.

Coach James Blake has his work cut out for him, since seven of Forsan's first 11 boys last year were lost through graduation.

Probable starters on this year's ball club are Soles, Gooch, David Roberson, 6-0 junior; Ray McKinnon, 5-10 freshman; and either Kent Sheed, 5-11 junior; or Jim Alexander, 5-11 junior.

Other boys out on the squad include Tommy Chrane, 5-9 freshman; Jack Ellis, 5-6 freshman; Doug Franklin, 6-1 sophomore; Jackie Howard, 6-0 senior; Johnny Knapp, 6-1 senior; Charles Richardson, 5-9 junior; Bill Seal, 5-8 sophomore; Donnie Simpson, 5-6 junior; and Fred Willis, 5-8 freshman.

In six seasons, Blake has guided the team to 116 wins and 45 losses, this season excluded.

Last year, the Buffs lost in bi-district competition to Miles, 51-50.

Blake also coaches the Forsan girls' team, which won 31 and lost four and was a regional finalist last year. In two years time, the Buffalo Queens have won 53 games, lost only ten.

Blake has ten letter winners back from last season, five forwards and as many guards.

They are Bettye Conger, Jodie Dodd, Karen Lawson, Sandra Rister, Dena Parker, Judy Hughes, Pam McKinnon, Patsy Gooch, Jan Rutherford and Susan Elrod.

Other girls who are out for drills include Sara Findley, Linda Hodnett, Nona Prescott, Orveta Fryar, Joy Flynt, Paula Gordon, Mary Simpson, Nancy Anderson, Valynicia Conway, Wanda Albertson, Susan Heideman, Ann Harrell and Leah Johnson.

Bonnie Simpson and Lanell Overton were the girls lost via graduation.

Conger and Hughes are captains of this year's squad. Both won all-regional honors last year while Dodd and Gooch were all-district choices.

The Buffalo Queens won tournaments at Sands and Flower Grove.

The Forsan girls would like to compete in a tournament in the area the week of Dec. 20, Blake said, and both the boys and girls need a game Jan. 10.

The schedule:

Dec. 10—Stanton here.
Dec. 12-13-14—Sands Tournament.
Dec. 17—Stanton there.
Jan. 2-3-4—Big Lake tourna. (boys only).
Jan. 7—Coahoma here.
Jan. 10—To be filled.
Jan. 17—Bronte there (C).
Jan. 21—Garden City here (C).
Jan. 24—Water Valley here (C).
Jan. 28—Sterling City there (C).
Jan. 31—Robert Lee there (C).
Feb. 4—Bronte here (C).
Feb. 7—Garden City there (C).
Feb. 18—Robert Lee here (C).
(C)—denotes conference games.

Ponies Look To Sun Bowl

DALLAS (AP)—Coach Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist figures his football team is really making progress.

"Last year we won two games and I was named coach of the year," he said. "This year we win four and get into a bowl game."

It wasn't that he didn't think his team deserved to play in a bowl game—which it will do Dec. 31 at El Paso in the Sun Bowl against Oregon. But he did think it was unusual and a fine compliment to Southern Methodist.

"We played well with what we had," he said. And he pointed out that Southern Methodist has the distinction of holding victories over two bowl teams—Navy, which plays Texas in the Cotton Bowl, and Air Force Academy, which meets North Carolina in the Gator Bowl.

Also, Southern Methodist lost six games by a combined total of 51 points—an average of eight points per game. There was one by a five-points margin, three by seven, one by 11 and one by 14.

Hayden Fry Tabs Middies As Winners Over Steers

DALLAS (AP)—Well, mates, you are the choice to win the Cotton Bowl game over Texas and you have it from the coach of the team that played both you and your New Year's Day opponent.

Hayden Fry, whose Southern Methodist Mustangs beat Navy 32-28 in one of the big upsets of the collegiate football season, said today "if I had to pick a winner I would take Navy on the basis of what the two teams did against us."

This despite the fact that Texas beat Southern Methodist 17-12.

Fry explained that "we didn't give Navy 10 free points. Texas made one good drive against us. But then we lost the ball on an offensive mistake and Texas got a field goal then. A kick bounced into John Roderick and Texas recovered on the six-yard line and went in for a touchdown."

Fry started out by saying he figured Texas and Navy would be a tossup.

"Texas has the edge defensively—their big line is stronger and has more depth. Navy has the edge offensively—better balance, running and passing, and more speed.

"Texas has a more consistent offense in controlling the ball—it will need to do that against Navy."

Fry said that Navy had excellent running plus the outstanding quarterback in the nation. "In all-around ability I would have to go with Roger Staubach. He's the best I have seen."

Kansas Ends Cincy String

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati's 72-game home court winning streak was ended by Kansas and St. Louis lost at home to Kansas State Saturday, leaving Bradley and Drake as the only undefeated teams in Missouri Valley basketball.

Bradley scored an 85-78 victory at Murray State and Drake whipped Iowa State 81-67 at Des Moines. Bradley and Drake both stand 3-0, St. Louis, Cincinnati and North Texas all 2-1, Wichita 2-2 and Tulsa 1-2.

Powerful Arizona State beat Wichita 93-87 at Tempe, despite 43 points by Dave Stallworth, Shocker star. Tulsa followed its 99-77 loss at New York University, Friday with a 79-64 defeat at St. Bonaventure Saturday. North Texas won at home, 88-64 over Trinity.

Kansas held Cincy's Ron Bonham to 11 points and put the game away with a string of six straight free throws after the Bearcats pulled ahead 47-45 with 1:59 left. Walter Wesley, 6-foot-11 sophomore, hit 17 for the Jayhawks. George Wilson topped Cincy with 19 points.

Dayton was the last team to beat Cincy at home, on March 1, 1957.

K-State whipped St. Louis 68-67 with Willie Murrell putting in 28 points. The Wildcats trailed by as much as seven points in the last half before pulling ahead to stay, 64-63 with 4:24 left.

Not counting Louisville's 2-1, Valley teams now have a 15-7 won-lost record for the season against outside foes. This week's 12-game card is headed by the first league game, Bradley at Wichita Saturday.

Texas Faces Decision On Livestock Production

LUBBOCK — Texas must decide which way it wants to go as a livestock producing state, according to Dr. Williard F. Williams, head of Texas Tech's agricultural economics department.

"It is reasonable to assume," Dr. Williams says, "that Texas always will be an important livestock state. The more important questions are first, the relative importance of Texas among other states of the nation as a live stock producer and, second, the kind of a livestock state Texas likely will become. Will it remain primarily a producer of raw materials—cows, calves and feeder animals—or become a major producer of finished beef? At present Texas accounts for only about five per cent of the U. S. fed beef production."

Since 1957, however, fed beef production has trended upward sharply and already may have converged with in-state consumption. Fed beef marketings in Texas this year may reach one million head.

Industry faces the need to limit fed beef production to that quantity which can be consumed in Texas, plus the quantity that can be exported on a hit and miss basis, or take steps so that Texas will become a strong surplus area for fed beef, Dr. Williams said. By strong he referred to the ability of the industry in this state to compete with other surplus areas such as Colorado or the Corn Belt for markets.

Cancer Group Meets Tuesday

An organizational meeting to discuss plans for a Howard County Unit of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Building, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, temporary chairman, has announced.

"All citizens of Howard County interested in learning how they may join the fight against cancer are invited," he said.

A committee for nominating officers and directors, and another to draft by-laws, will probably be appointed, Lloyd said.

"We hope a large number will be present to help get the unit started in an effort to begin an educational program, and to take an active interest in the program."

P-TA Meets

ACKERLY — The Sands Parent-Teacher Association will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Sands High School auditorium. A Christmas program will be presented by students of the first six grades at the school.

Rigid Screen Guards LBJ In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the tightest security nets ever wrapped around a president greeted Lyndon B. Johnson Sunday in his first trip from Washington as chief executive.

About 5,000 policemen, detectives and Secret Service agents were deployed along the route that took Johnson from Idlewild Airport to the funeral of former New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and then to the Waldorf-Astoria Towers for a call on ex-President Herbert Hoover.

Not until Johnson reached Temple Emanu-El for the Lehman funeral did the Secret Service, on a half-hour's notice, inform New York police that the President would visit the ailing Hoover.

FOR MESSAGE

Johnson, the nation's 36th president, thanked Hoover, the 31st, for a message that latter had sent when Johnson assumed the office after the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22.

Hoover, a Republican, had messaged he was ready to help the new Democratic President "in any way I can," but he noted there was not much he could do at his age — 89.

In light of the Kennedy assassination, every conceivable precaution was taken to insure Johnson's safety during his 2-hour and 20-minute stay in New York.

CLOSED CAR

Thirty - five blue - helmeted motorcycle policemen formed a phalanx around the President's closed limousine in the 15-mile trip from the airport to the temple. Thousands of policemen and detectives were deployed along that unannounced route, some manning rooftops.

Secret Service agents with two submachine guns rode in an open car immediately behind the President's. Two police helicopters patroled overhead. Officers gazed suspiciously at open apartment windows, and the occupants inside shut them hastily at times.

At Temple Emanu-El, the largest Jewish house of worship in the world, 2,200 mourners and visitors were screened. Pocketbooks were inspected. Cameras were prohibited. A bundle of newspapers was required to be left outside.

Angel For A Minute

We all would like to know what goes on in the mind of a child. For Carolyn Shelchuk, 16-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shelchuk of Belmont, Calif., it might run something like this: (top photo) "Oh, what a pretty angel on the top of the Christmas tree! I sure would like to be an angel," (middle photo) "Well, I have the halo, but this angel business seems to carry a lot of responsibility." (lower photo) "Enough of this angel business, I was only fooling around. I'm a good girl, but no angel." (AP WIREPHOTO)

Linus Pauling In Oslo To Receive Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Linus Pauling, the American anti-nuclear bomb campaigner, is in Oslo to receive the delayed 1962 Nobel Peace Prize Tuesday.

"I think awarding me the prize will mean great encouragement to peace workers everywhere, but particularly in the United States, where there have been so many attacks upon the peace workers," Pauling said Sunday. Pauling won a Nobel Prize in chemistry in 1954.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Leonard Bernstein, musical director of the New York Philharmonic, says he has dedicated his Third Symphony, "Kaddish," to the memory of the late President Kennedy. ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ A J 9 5 3 ♡ 7 6 ◇ K 6 3 ♣ A K Q
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 3 ♣ | Pass |
| 3 ◇ | Pass | 4 ♠ | Pass |
| 5 ♠ | Pass | ? | |

What do you bid now?

A—It is evident from the bidding that partner's real concern is with the heart situation. Obviously, he does not have first round control or he would have mentioned it. And if he had second round control, he would have bid a slam himself. You are obliged to pass, because the loss of two heart tricks stares you in the face.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ 10 9 4 3 ♡ 5 2 ◇ A 9 3 2 ♣ K J 9
The bidding has proceeded:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 ♠ | Pass |
| 2 ♠ | Pass | 3 ♣ | Pass |
| ? | | | |

What do you bid now?

A—Your hand represents almost the maximum permitted for a single raise. It would, therefore, be highly improper for you to make a mere return to three spades, which would describe a mediocre raise. The suggested call is three diamonds, a temporizing bid. It may prove that partner is probing for big things and, if his next bid happens to be three hearts, we would suggest a four club bid to show the fit in that suit. After that, he should be on his own.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ J 3 ♡ K 4 3 ◇ Q 9 7 4 ♣ K 8 5 2
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South |
|---|---|---|
| 1 NT | Double | ? |

What do you bid?

A—Redouble. You have nine points, assuring your partnership of a minimum of 25, giving the adversaries a maximum of 15 points. You are therefore prepared to punish them when they escape at the two level, and if permitted to play one no trump redoubled you will of course score an easy game.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ A 9 4 ♡ K J 8 6 ◇ 6 2 ♣ 8 7 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♡ | 1 ♠ | 2 ♡ | 2 ♠ |
| 3 ♡ | Pass | ? | |

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. The full strength of your hand was shown on the first round by your free bid of two hearts. If this is all partner needed to produce a game he would have bid four hearts himself.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ 6 3 ♡ J 10 9 7 5 3 ◇ 2 ♣ A K 10 4
The bidding has proceeded:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 ♡ | Double |
| ? | | | |

What do you bid now?

A—Four hearts. The preemptive bid is suggested for two reasons. If partner has opened somewhat light in the third seat, the hand may easily belong to the opponents. In that case your jump bid will make it more difficult for them to get together. Furthermore if West should now bid four spades, you will be in an excellent position to decide on subsequent action. If partner doubles four spades you have adequate defensive values and, if he passes, you can bid five hearts with the assurance that the save will be inexpensive and you may even be able to fulfill an 11 trick contract.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ 6 ♡ 10 9 8 7 ◇ K Q 6 3 ♣ A 8 6 5
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 1 NT | Pass |
| 3 ♡ | Pass | ? | |

What do you bid now?

A—We recommend an ace showing bid of four clubs at this point. While it is true that partner may, for the time being, interpret this as showing a club suit, we intend to raise hearts at our next turn to bid. This will make it clear that we are looking for a slam. An alternate bid is an immediate leap to five hearts but this might not work out well if partner has a worthless doubleton in one of the minors.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ 5 ♡ Q 6 5 4 2 ◇ 10 8 6 3 ♣ J 9 4
The bidding has proceeded:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 1 NT | Pass |
| 2 ♣ | Double | Pass | ? |

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. To bid three hearts would be quite out of order. Partner has undertaken to defeat the contract of two spades by himself. It is not your position to act as a nursemaid to him.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ A ♡ A J 10 7 5 ◇ Q 8 6 2 ♣ 9 7 3
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 ♡ | 2 ◇ |
| 2 ♠ | Pass | ? | |

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You have opened third hand in the hope of obtaining a part score and should make no further move. Partner should have a self-sustaining spade suit to bid at this increased level.

TTA Surpasses 1962 Record

HOUSTON — On Nov. 21, Trans-Texas Airways' revenue passenger miles surpassed those for the year of 1962, according to Max A. King, vice president of traffic and sales.

On that day TTA recorded a total of 91,120,000 passenger miles, compared to 90,920,000 in 1962.

TTA carried 48,233 passengers during November, compared to 31,228 for the same month of 1962, an increase of 54.45 per cent. Revenue passenger miles for November of this year also climbed by 45.13 per cent, with a total of 10,665,585, compared to 7,348,869 for the same period last year.

SINK CALLS FOR HELP

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Rose Mancini summoned firemen Sunday when water began pouring through the ceiling of her grocery and apartment in downtown Syracuse.

Firemen and police went to an unoccupied apartment on the second floor.

There, police said, they found Sam Gary, 35, and Robert L. Chapman, 38, both of Syracuse, trying with wrenches to remove the kitchen sink. The men were jailed on third-degree burglary charges.

Why you should open a window before you close the door of a Volkswagen.

Don't laugh. Every now and then a new VW owner brings his car in to ask why the doors seem hard to close.

The reason is that the VW is practically airtight. With the windows up, the door meets a solid wall of trapped air. So it takes a little extra push to close it. Unless you open a window just a crack to let the air escape.

It happens because every last VW part fits just so. Which really isn't so surprising. When you've been making the same basic car as long as the VW people have, all the wrinkles get ironed out along the way. For good.

Even so, they still make it a point to inspect every operation all down the VW line. (There are 3,500 men who do nothing else.)

When you come in to drive a new VW, you might make this test:

(It's the very same one that the Volkswagen inspector makes during the final inspection of every finished Volkswagen.)

Crank up all the windows and try to close a door. Gently. If it doesn't work, you know the Volkswagen's perfect.
