Whether this is true or not, we are not prepared to say, but some farmers declare that the slow and easy rain this week has wet the ground and soaked down further than the big snow and freeze of 1949.

One thing for sure, there has been no run off and that dry thirsty ground has soaked up every drop.

Silas Russ of O'Donnell says he has now seen everything. Now, he's seen it too wet to irrigate in West Texas. Before the recent rains, he was watering four rows at a setting. Last week end, he was able to increase this to 12 rows but the water would just run down the rows too fast and not soak in. So, he just shut off the well.

There are many needs around Tahoka, and one that is becoming obvious is that new four-lane highway that is soon to be started in Lynn County.

Within the past two weeks there have been at least three serious accidents north of Tahoka between Carter's Store and Wayside.

It's getting to the point in Tahoka where citizens hate to see certain other citizens coming, and no one is more aware of it than the later.

With this contribution and that contribution, this drive and that drive, seems like one check after another must be written.

No proof other than statistics are needed to show that our citizens are generous and sincerely desire to help various organizations and foundations with their work. It's just that it gets old.

What we are getting at, is that Tahoka badly needs a Community Chest so that one drive for all such projects can be made instead of varied and assorted ones, all of which hit the same time of year anyway.

The Chamber of Commerce has been thinking about such a Chest or United Fund, and many citizens are anxious that one be set up.

It was discovered this week that the Lynn County News and The Growl now have a competitor. The grade school has a newspaper entitled "The Bark." We understand that Jan Brown and Donna Copelin are the co-editors and are assisted by Diane Fails.

These young ladies apparently have a natural talent for report-

Advertising doesn't cost, it pays

Mist and showers for five days totaled .52 inch of water in the U. S. Government rain guage at Tahoka, bringing the total rainfall for the month to 1.58 inches and for the year to 1.76 inches.

Clouds continued cloudy Wednesday night, and more rain was possible.

This is the finest winter rains in January and February since 1949, when January and February moisture totaled 4.19 inches from snow and rain.

This month's moisture has come slow and easy, accompanied or followed by fog and mist, and almost every droy falling on farm and grassland has soaked in. Farmers declare most of the county in in better shape for moisture than any year since 1949.

January and February moisture means more toward making a crop, many times, than heavier spring and summer showers, for the winter moisture puts a deep season in the ground. As a result, not so much rain is necessary for growing crops in the summer.

Then, too, this winter has been unusually warm, and there have been practically no sandstorms—so far.

This last rain has been general over Texas and over the South Plains and Lynn county, with all the county receiving from a half to three-fourths of an inch.

The light rain was preceded by heavier precipitation on Feb. 6 and 7, when 1.06 inches was recorded in Tahoka. Most of the south half of the county received even more, ranging up to three inches in the Draw community and to two inches at New Lynn and other areas of the eastern section.

However, this rain grew lighter to the north, and practically no rain fell in the Petty, Lakeview, and New Home areas. Even in these areas, though, the rains have been a big help and will augment irrigation wells.

Although most people are skittish about predicting an end to the drouth, prospects are brighter than they have been in a long time.

Salvation Army Goal Surpassed

Tahoka slightly surpassed its goal in the first annual Salvation Army campaign which began here last week, with only a few more contributions yet to be tabulated.

At last count, Mrs. Florine McCracken, local treasurer, said that Tahoka had raised $1,026.96. The goal was $1,000.

Wilson and New Home are also in the local unit, but drives in the two communities are not yet underway. Each will set a goal for its campaign.

Wilson's campaign chairman will be H. G. Cook, who is also a member of the permanent committee. Mrs. Wilmer Smith is New Home's committee member, although a campaign chairman has not yet been named.

One-third of the money raised will be kept in Tahoka for use in emergency situations in either of the three communities. The other will be sent out for state use, with only one percent going out of Texas and only nine percent being spent for administrative purposes. The rest will be used for projects, such as camps, evangeline homes, homes for unwed mothers, etc., the services of which are available to local citizens.

W. T. Kidwell is chairman of the local committee and several other residents are members of the committee. Wynne Collier was Tahoka's campaign chairman.

Bill Balch underwent surgery Tuesday morning in Tahoka Hospital and was able to go home Wednesday.

City Welfare Board Is Named, Center Open On Wednesdays

Work is being started this week on the City Welfare Center to be located in the north room of the American Legion Hall, following the election of board and committee members here in a meeting held Monday night.

The Center will be open each Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of receiving used clothing and food, or other household supplies that might be used by needy families. Those who have such articles are asked to take them by on Wednesday afternoon or to call member of the custodian committee, who will see that such is picked up.

Grocery stores in the community are being asked to place a box in the store bearing the name of the center. Customers are asked to develop the habit of dropping articles of non-perishable food to the boxes occasionally.

However, families or individuals needing help through the center may receive articles at any time. Since many families will not ask for help, the citizens of Tahoka are asked to inform the center of any such need. Persons desiring aid may contact City Secretary Tom Bartley or any member of the investigating and distribution committee.

Many local civic organizations and churches were represented at the Monday night meeting when the Welfare Center was set up, and all are being urged to back the project in every way possible.

The group chose the mayor, who at present is Clint Walker, to be the chairman of the board. This is a job which will be passed on to each succeeding mayor. Members of the board are Walter Mathis, Mrs. H. W. Carter, J. B. Howell, Mrs. Skiles Thomas, Mrs. Jake Jacobs, and A. M. Bray. The board will meet when necessary to work out problems that arise.

A committee composed of Herman Heck, J. M. Uzzle and Albert Curry was selected for the purpose of cleaning up the storage room and building shelves and other equipment that will be needed. This is hoped to be completed in the near future.

The investigating and distribution committee composed of Mrs. Emma Halamicek, chairman, Mrs. Leighton Knox, Mrs. Jess Gurley, Mrs. Dub Kenley, Mrs. Roy Edwards and Mrs. Bill Biggerstaff, will have as its duties to check and visit the families that need aid and to distribute to them articles needed.

The custodian committee will actually be in charge of the storage room. It will be the duties of these members to sort and mend the articles of clothing that come in from time to time and to keep

Tahoka Loser In Close Game

The Tahoka cagers lost a heart breaking game to Post last Friday night by the slim margin of 66 to 64, while the girls were defeated 42 to 32.

The Bulldigs rallied in the third scoring 24 points to Post's 11 to gain control of the scoreboard 54 to 50. The Antelopes did not let down for long, however, and came back in the fourth to take the victory scoring 16 points to Tahoka's 10 points.

Howle, Gurley Team Captains

Co-captains for the 1956-'57 basketball squad have been named by the team mates here at the end of the season. Receiving the honors are junior student Jay Gurley and Haynes Howle, the only senior on the team.

The Tahoka cagers' season ended Tuesday night when the Bulldogs defeated Lockney there in conference play.

Record for the Varsity team is 15 wins and 11 games lost. However, only four were won in conference play while the team lost eight. Tahoka came out fifth in the district ahead of both Spur and Abernathy. Floydada took the district title with an undisputed record.

The girls team here won four games this year, and played several games in which they came close to winning.

Coach Jake Jacobs has hopes of fine teams next year, with most of his starters back. Jerry Brown and Jay Gurley have shown up very good this year with both hitting in double figures and Brown making over 20 and 30 points in many instances. Marlon Hawthorn, Jerry Adams and Karl Prohl have also put in some fine performances as well as others on the roster.

The girls team, also coached by Jacobs, will also have several starters back another year or so.

He says the boys and girls teams coached by Dean Wright, Bill Haralson and Ivan McWhirter look promising and will probably turn out some good material in the future.

Highest scorer for the Bulldog varsity team was Jerry Brown, who hit the basket for a total of 530 points, or an average of 20.4 points per game. Jay Gurley averaged 10.7 with a total of 278 points during the season. Marlon Hawthorne poured in 195 points for a 7.5 average and Karl Prohl averaged 6.4 on 166 points. These four boys were the only varsity players to participate in every one of the 26 games played.

Other totals include Haynes Howle with 77 points; Donald Williams, 39 points; Jackie Applewhite, 34; Jerry Adams, 61; Gaylon Tekell, 11; Billy Tomlinson, 8; and David Bray, 2.

Junior Teams Lose Three Close Games

Tahoka's junior teams lost three games to the Slaton teams Monday night here, all of which were close. Eighth grade boys score was 34 to 33; eighth grade girls, 30 to 27; and seventh grade boys, 33 to 31.

Frank Greathouse hit the basket for 16 points for Tahoka's eighth grade and Post's leading scorer made 17 points. Post led 16 to 12 at the half but Tahoka had a better third quarter and the game was all tied up 25 to 25 at the end of that period.

Eighth grade girls were spurred by Dixie Forsythe, who made 17 points to 16 for Post's top individual score. Tahoka led 14 to 12 at the half, but Post made 12 points to Tahoka's 4 in the third period to take the lead.

In the seventh grade game Fred Hegi took Tahoka's scoring honors with 12 points. Post's top scorer made 18. Tahoka was behind 16 to 14 at the end of the half, but outscored the Tigers in the third and led 19 to 17 going into the final period. However, the Tigers scored 16 points in the last quarter to Tahoka's 12 to win the ball game.

Although these junior teams have not won many games this year, their hustle and scoring ability, which speaks for itself, shows promise for the future varsity teams.

Junior Teams In Denver City Play

The seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys basketball teams are playing in the Denver City Tournament today and tomorrow.

These games will end the basketball season for Tahoka's teams.

MISS ALBERTA FLETCHER

Missionary Will Speak At Church

Miss Alberta Fletcher, missionary for the Church of the Nazarene in India, will speak at the Grassland Church of the Nazarene Tuesday, Feb. 26, at 7:15 p. m., according to Rev. Marshall Stewart, pastor.

Miss Fletcher has recently returned to the United States on furlough. She is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., and secured her nurses' training at the Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing, Napa, Idaho.

While in India, Miss Fletcher served as a nurse at the Reynolds Memorial Hospital in Basin, Akala District, Bombay State. She also was a supervisor of one of the hospital departments during this time and gave considerable time to teaching in the hospital's school of nursing for Indian nurses.

While Miss Fletcher is on furlough she will be traveling extensively for the Church of the Nazarene in deputation services, telling of her work in India and of the progress of the Christian church in her area of the country.

Rev. Stewart says that his church extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend.

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us. (Romans 8:18.)

One evening three of us patients were sitting and idly chatting. One was a communist, another a libertine, and I a Christian. As usual the talk came around to sickness. We had all been in this leprosium for many years. Besides, we were in the tuberculosis ward.

Up to a few days before, another of the patients seemed to be recovering, but he suddenly had a setback and died. On investigation it was discovered that he had somehow contracted meningitis. For some time we sat in silence, with bowed, heads. Each of us recognized the seriousness of life and death.

In Christ alone we can find peace of heart and the hope of eternal life. But what about my two friends? They did not know the joy of salvation or have the assurance of eternal life. I prayed that my friends might believe in Christ and know the grace of God in all its fulness.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the hope of salvation. What a magnificent salvation! Through the living Word may we be delivered from sin and the fear of death. Grant to us joy in the faith; through Jesus Christ, Thy Son. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Even though our sufferings be doubtless, we cannot be moved from our joy in Christ.—Nario Fukazawa (Japan)

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank the Lyntegar Electric office employees for the beautiful flowers sent me, for the visits, and for the beautiful cards while I was in Brownfield hospital with pneumonia. The Tahoka people are wonderful. We miss you very much.—Mrs. Frank Hyles.

Henry Jahnke, who underwent surgery on Saturday at Lamesa General Hospital, is recovering and will be able to come home the later part of this week.

Miss Jo Raindl of San Antonio spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Frank Raindl, Sr.

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NEWS

Miss Johnson's fifth grade room had three couples tied for championship in the dancing of the folk game, "Captain Jinks."

They were Billy Miller and Gailyn McMillan, Francisco and Marlo Rocha, Gary Grogan and Louella Tomlinson. After much deliberation Billy and Gailyn were chosen the final champions.

Bill Howell is a new pupil from Lubbock who entered our room last week.

EASTERN STAR MEETING

Regular meeting of the Eastern Star will be held Monday night, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p. m.

Helen Biggerstaff, W. M.
Tommy Oliver, secretary.

Melburn Hodge of Hobbs, N. M., grandson of Mrs. T. B. Burroughs visited here last week.

George Lightfoot Adds Colorful Story Of Cattle Drive Days

(By George Lightfoot)

I read a piece in last week's paper that made me think of R. E. Simpson (Old Bob, as we all knew him).

As any old time cowboy knows, a cowboy did not say much to a stranger, but Old Bob took the cake on that.

In the summer of 1901, we were coming up with a trail herd, had watered out at the old Moar's Draw tank, (on Grover Stewart's land now), had turned north going to Buffalo Springs on the Yellowhouse, when I saw a chuck wagon camp off to the west of the herd.

As our wagon was headed, I thought I would go by and get a cup of coffee.

I rode up as Bob was hunkered down putting sour dough biscuits in the oven. I got down and said, "Got any coffee?" Bob grunted and pointed to the pot, so I went to the chuck box, got a tin cup, got my coffee and sat there and drank it.

Bob still said nothing, so I put the cup back and got on my horse.

Just then I heard a cow bawl, and looked off south and saw a herd coming up from the south, so I said "an S herd is coming up." He said, "Yep."

I went on to our herd, and some years later I met Bob in the bank at Lamesa with some other fellows, and one of them said, "Bob don't say much, does he?" I told them "He is the outtalkingest fellow I ever saw. I talked to him one time for 30 minutes and all he said was 'Yep'."

But, anyway, all the old-timers miss Old Bob.

Lights Are Planned For Little League

Plans are being made here to raise a fund with which to install lights at the Tahoka Little League ball park.

The News is infromed that a committee will be set up to work on the project, and details will be announced at a later date.

Provisions must be made also at City Park for the Pony League which will operate this summer.

An accident is usually the only winner in the race against time.

Think twice, once for yourself and once for the other fellow.

Anti-Secrecy Legislation Introduced

Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez (left) of San Antonio and Rep. Don Kennard (right) of Fort Worth, discuss the "open meeting" bills they have introduced in the Legislature with the backing of the Texas Press Association. SB 88 and HB 69 are identical. They call for all meetings of official bodies of the State, City, County or other political subdivision of the State to be open to the public. "It is time for the State of Texas to join the other states in the immediate passage of an anti-secrecy bill," said the sponsors, "and we urge the public to join us in supporting our campaign for a full and public airing of all public matters."

Tahoka Couple's Son In Contest

The son of a Tahoka couple has been entered in the "New Mexico Young Farmer Contest" by the Tatum Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees.

He is Buddy Walker, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. "Eb" Walker of Tahoka. His father is associated with Ray Hopkins Buick, having recently moved here from Ralls.

Buddy farms 940 acres of grain sorghum and cotton near Tatum. He started farming at Ralls in 1946. He was elected as Lea county's candidate "because of his aggressiveness and ability in the field of agricultural production through planning, good management and efficient use of farming practices." He is described as "a pioneer in building soil fertility through crop rotation, the use of chemical and the planting of soil-building crops."

Mrs. N. M. Wyatt, who went to Houston for a check-up last week, will remain there for two weeks for X-ray treatments, according to Mrs. Louis Wyatt. She is staying with a sister there and receiving treatments at Anderson Clinic.

The Jubilee Jamboree next August near Sheffield, England will mark the centenary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, Chief Scout of the World and the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the Boy Scout program.

Librarians At State Meeting

A group of librarians from Tahoka High School left Wednesday for Galveston where they are attending the annual convention of Teen-Age Library Assistants, which is a state organization.

The group will make the Galvez Hotel its headquarters and tonight are expected to attend a supper and get acquainted party at Ball High School. The dining room of the Pleasure Pier is to be the scene of a dinner at Saturday noon.

Business will include the election of new state officers for the next school year.

The group will return home Sunday.

Mrs. Truett Smith is chairman of the custodian committee and members are Mrs. Pat Hines, Mrs. Maurice Small, Mrs. J. T. Brice, Mrs. J. B. Oliver and Mrs. Ivan Cathcart.

The members of the investigating and distrobution committee and custodian committee were submitted for an indefinite time. When the need arises for a replacement, the person resigning her position is responsible for securing another to take her place. The board recommends that such a person be selected from her organization or church which she represents, if possible. This name should then be reported to City Secretary Tom Bartley so that a record may be kept of the active workers.

However, workers are not limited to the committees alone and anyone interested in helping is urged to volunteer his or her services.

Louis McKay Hurt When Car Overturns

Louis McKay, 64 year old resident of route 2, Tahoka, was injured when his car collided with another car and then overturned about seven miles north of Tahoka Sunday afternoon at about 5:00 o'clock.

He was taken to Methodist Hospital where X-rays were still being made Wednesday. However, he has a broken back but doctors have been unable to determine whether it is an old or new break.

McKay, who was alone in his car, was going south when he collided with a car, also going south, driven by Oscar Murray of Odessa. McKay's car swerved off the highway and then he lost control of the car causing it to overturn.

However, officers said that the wet highway and muddy shoulders caused the accident. Murray and his wife and two children were not injured.

Weldon Bailey Is Named Outstanding Conservation Farmer Of The Year

Weldon Bailey of Route 1, Wilson, has been selected as outstanding conservation farmer in the Lynn County Soil Conservation District.

A tour was held by the Board of Supervisors, February 11, at which time a number of outstanding conservation farmers were considered for this honor.

Weldon, the son of G. L. Bailey of Woodrow, is a native West Texan. He was born in Lubbock County and attended high school at Cooper. In school at Cooper, Bailey was interested in agriculture and took all courses that were offered. After graduation, he attended Draughons Business College, studying "General Business Management," which he states has been helpful in keeping his records of farm operations. Weldon has been farming in partnership with his father since 1950.

Our outstanding farmer, by example and in contact with his neighbors, has done a great deal to show that soil and water conservation does pay! His progressive thinking and enthusiastic action is demonstrating the benefits of soil improving crops. Also his practice of new crops to an area where cotton is the cash crop must be admired. Bailey has cared for the land and conserved the rainfall and irrigation water by leveling his fields and the use of underground concrete pipelines in transporting the irrigation water. Other practices in use on this 220 acre farm include stubble mulching, improved water application, cover cropping and the utilization of crop residue.

Bailey served with the 132nd Field Artillery National Guard. He attends the Cooper Methodist Church where he was reared. He is also a member of the Cooper Agricultural Civic Club and the Farm Bureau.

Weldon is married to the former Betty Jean Carver of Longview. The couple both enjoy fishing and water sports as recreation. Weldon and Betty Jean are looking forward to enlarging and improving this farm. Bailey has a farm shop that is a credit to any farm many times its size.

All these qualities add to the fact that Weldon Bailey is deserving of this honor of outstanding conservation farmer.

Aerial Map of Texas Research Foundation's High Plains Station

The half section is bounded by U. S. Highway 70 on the north, with the cemetery making its east corner and the Baptist Church in Halfway, the north west corner.

The west quarter section has been purchased by the Green Machinery Co. and will be re-purchased by the Foundation at the original cost from funds being raised for the High Plains Station. The east quarter section has been purchased by the Harvest Queen Foundation and leased for 25 years at $1.00 per acre to the T. R. F. for the High Plains Station with option to lease for an additional 25 years.

In this picture the station has been divided according to soil characteristics as indicated by the Soil Conservation Service, who supplied the picture. The Key is:

1. This large section of the farm is deep, fine textured, slowly permeable Pullman clay loam soil with no to one per cent slop and no to one slight erosion.

2. These two areas of the site are the same as No. 1, except they have one to three per cent slope.

3. This small area on the west side of the half section, which includes the irrigation well, has deep medium textured, slowly permeable Amarillo clay loam soil with no to one percent slope and little or no erosion.

4. This area is the same as No. 3, except that the slope is one to three percent.

Research plots will be located in the area along Highway 70. Signs will indicate type of research being conducted.

The second irrigation well is to be located just south of the cemetery and it is planned to connect the two wells with underground pipe. Some dry land research will also be conducted.

A temporary office and a storage shed are located west of the Baptist Church on an acre that has been purchased by T. R. F. Permanent buildings, including an office building, processing and storage building, and a greenhouse are expected to be located just east of the Baptist Church along highway 70.

Car Inspection Deadline Nears

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, prevailed upon Texas automobile owners to "do their shopping early" this year in an effort to reduce the last minute burst for inspection stickers at the close of the 1957 moter vehicle inspection period. The dealdine is April 15.

On information received from George W. Busby, chief of the department's Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, the state police director said only one-third of the state's four million vehicle owners have obtained their 1957 inspection sticker to date. He urged motorist to have their cars and trucks inspected now, as a means of saving time for themselves and to avoid a last minute congestion at inspection stations throughout Texas.

Last year, as was true in most preceeding years, vehicles overcrowded inspection stations during the last week of the inspection period. More than a million automobiles were caught in the last minute rush, resulting in a loss of more millions of manhours for the owners of those vehicles.

Garrison called upon the motoring public to adopt a "shop early" policy in this year's inspection program as a means of saving time and to afford better convenience for the vehicle owners involved.

Cultivate a respect for safety rather than a fear of accidents.

Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, Sharlette and Eddy of Lefors visited Mr. and Mrs. Jake Jacobs and family over the week end. Mrs. H. E. Miller of Hereford and Mrs. Jed Miller and children of Lubbock were also visitors, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Mark McMillan and son of San Diego, Calif.

One-Nozzle Spray For Cotton Insects

College Station—Simple one-nozzle spray attachments will control cotton insects as effective as the more complex arrangements and often tend to produce higher yields, according to Agricultural Engineering Professors at Texas A. & M. College.

Tests conducted at the Brazos River Valley Laboratory with nozzle producing hollow cone patterns and others producing flat fan-shaped patterns favor the one-cone-nozzle-per-row treatment over a five-year period. No spray arrangement has shown a consistent advantage other than the simple operation and low initial cost of the one-nozzle-per-row system.

Tests were conducted with a six-row rear-mount tractor spray using detachable drops and arrangements varying from one to four nozzles per row. Spray solution was applied at the rate of 4.5 gallons per acre. More details on the tests are given in the Progress Report 1906 which is available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE . . .

Should include more than spiritual and monetary values . . . for we should include a plan for a way of life that fits our environment and our resources. Living beyond our tangible immediate resources often leads to an unhappy life, if not financial disaster.

Final Article Lists Food, Clothing Objectives of Program Committee

(Eighth in a series of articles on Lynn County Agriculture prepared by the County Building Committee and County Agent Bill Griffin.)

Foods

Problem: In Lynn county about 40 percent of the people are overweight. 1. The menus of the majority of the families do not meet the requirements of the Texas Food Standards. 2. The homemakers are not cooking food properly in order to retain as many nutrients as possible, especially vegetables.

Solution: 1. Place emphasis on the dangers of obesity in order to make people aware of their problem. 2. Conduct demonstration showing how easy it is to get the daily food requirements in our properly prepared diets.

Objectives: 1.To have 50 percent of the over weight people following recommended Texas Food Standards. 2. To have 80 percent of the homemakers changing to better food preparation methods.

Clothing

Problem: Seventy percent of the people of this county buy clothing for the family that is ready made. The other 30 percent buy some ready made clothing but mostly make their own. 1. The homemakers spend more money than is necessary because of poor planning and not recognizing values. 2. Those homemakers who buy material to be made need to request better and more informative labels.

Solution: 1. To have 60 percent of the homemakers keep an up to date inventory of the family wardrobe. 2. To have 40 percent of the people buying more wisely as a result of better planning.

4-H Club Work

Problem: 4-H Clubs in the county have only one leader per club at the present time. Active 4-H leaders have not received proper recognition. With the four communities having schools the county does not have an organized community club. 1. Insufficient adult and Junior leaders.2. Organized community clubs(none).

Solution: 1. Interest more adults in 4-H leadership and assist them to become efficient leaders. 2. Recognize active 4-H leaders at achievement programs. 3. Organize community 4-H Clubs.

Objectives: 1. To have two well trained leaders for each 4-H Club. 2 To have every parent of present 4-H members and potential 4-H members informed about the 4-H Club program. 3. To have organized community clubs in each community.

Evaluation and Review

The County Program Building Committee will meet twice a year to review, evaluate, and revise this county program to meet changing conditions.

Signatures of the County Program Building Committee.

Odds and Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

The other day, a Scotch Collie dog, a beautiful animal, who had made himself a voluntary slave to me, got run over by a car and killed. He wore some body's collar, I don't know whose, for there was no tag thereon to disclose the name or the residence of the owner. I never knew just when he came to my house. I just began to notice him among other dogs that have their habitat in the community. It must have been about the first chance that he had to introduce himself to me that I found him rushing to my back door and rearing up and slapping me in a most familiar and friendly sort of way on the front of my vesture and then whirling about and following me to town whether I walked or went in my car. He watched constantly and turned every corner that I turned. I have never had much trouble making friends of dogs, with a few vicious exceptions, but that Scotch Collie was beyond a doubt the friendliest friend among the canine tribe of animals I ever saw. And he seemed to have almost human intelligence, except in one respect. He had a mania for chasing cars, busses, trucks—anything on wheels. It made no difference how long the truck was nor how fast the car, the longer the truck and the faster the car, the harder he gave chase. I often wondered what he thought he could do with one of the things if he succeeded in catching it. And he continually watched my car or me while trying at the same time to chase from one to a half dozen others. So, one afternoon recently he got so many cars on his string going both ways up and down the Main street south of the traffic light that he could not watch them all and leap out of the way of all of them quick enough to avoid a collision. One of them struck and ran over him, leaving him lying in the street, unable to get up. When traffic lightened up, I made my way across the street to where he lay. He recognized me, raised his head and looked pitifully up to me as if begging me to help him, which I could not do. I had to leave him lying in the street, but later, with almost human intelligence, after another car ran over him without striking him, the operators of the Conoco Service station informed me, he dragged him self over against the curb of the Rose Theatre where passing cars could not strike him, and lay patiently there until I could call the Chief of Police to come and administer to him a merciful death.

Now, that incident reminded me that I never had written a single paragraph in these columns, about the best friend that man ever had, as Senator Vest once declared in a speech which he made to a jury in Missouri, while speaking in behalf of a client whose valued dog had been killed by a cruel dog-hater.

The World Book says that there are more than 200 breeds of dogs, and that the aborignes among the dog species dates fully as far back into the mists of antiquity as does the race of men.

No civilized race of men has been found in any age or any country that did not have its dogs. Most savage nations, even, have had their dogs.

It is true that in some civilized nations the dog has been regarded as a filthy, unclean, worthless animal, and has not been appreciated, trained, or used in such a way as to become a useful servant of man.

Take Palestine and the Holy Land, for instance. While the Bible in a very few places speaks of watch dogs for the houses of the people and in a few places as keepers of the flocks and herds of the people, yet in most places where they are mentioned they are spoken of in disgust and disdain.

"Am I a dog?" is a question often asked by kings, or princes, or would-be notables who feel that they have not been treated with the respect to which they are entitled. Shepherds are mentioned often, but Shepherd dogs never. The Gentiles are often mentioned with becoming respect but when a Jew wished to heap contempt upon the Gentiles he called them Gentile dogs.

This was probably due in large measures to the fact that under the Mosaic Law a dog, like a hog, was classified as an "unclean" animal.

Jesus spoke one parable in which he used the dog to illustrate the truth which he was seeking to drive home to the Pharisees, the Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus. The Rich Man dressed in fine apparel and fared sumptuously every day. He paid no attention to the poor afflicted beggar who lay at his gate and never offered to help him in any way, not even to have his sores dressed or to offer him a crumb to eat; but the dogs came and licked his sores. It would take a filthy dog to do a thing like that, even if he intended it as a menial service. Yet it possibly did show a friendly spirit toward the beggar, which the rich man had not done.

There is another incident recorded in the New Testament which clearly portrays the contempt in which the Gentiles were held by the Jews and which, on its face, seems to picture Jesus as regarding the Gentiles with contempt also. We refer to the case of the Syro-Phoenician, or Canaanitish, woman. She had a daughter, the Scripture says, who was "grievously vexed with a devil." In modern medical science, I guess that we would say that mentally she was off her balance. We would treat her as a psychopathic patient. This Canaanitish woman doubtless did have some Negro blood in her veins, as the Phoenicians did have. They were one of the greatest peoples of the ancient world just the same. Since this woman was called a Syro-Phenician woman and lived in the "coasts of Tyre and Sidon, the land of the Canaanites, there can be but little doubt that she had some degree of Negro blood in her veins. But she had heard of the prophet of Israel and doubtless she had heard also of the Jews' expected Messiah, and we are led to believe furthermore that she not only had faith in Jesus as a healer of physical and mental diseases but in him also as the world's Messiah, for she addressed him as "Lord, O Son of David." and cried to him piteously, but at first he "answered her not a word, and some of his disciples came and besought him to send her away, for she crieth after us." Up to that time he had only listened; but now instead of sending her away he said to her, "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel,"—a seemingly narrow and unworthy view for him to take of his mission into the world. But evidently he was not trying to insult her but was intent on showing to his disciples and others about him how great was her faith and how submissive and humble she was even under the fiery darts of insult and callousness. Sure enough, instead of making her resentful and angry, these seeming insults had the opposite effect, for them "she came and worshiped him, saying "Lord, help me." And then came the most unkindly cut of all. "It is not meet (or proper) to take the children's bread," he said, "and cast it to the dogs." My! How cutting that remark was calculated to be. Yet, that Syrophenician woman only winced, and said, "True, Lord; yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their master's table."

It was enough; In spite of his shocking rebuffs, he was still her Lord and Master. And he answered and said unto her, "O woman, grea is thy faith; let it be done unto thee even as thou wilt."

And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

How ashamed those disciples must have felt who wanted to hush her up and drive her away. We have no further record of her life, but we have the idea that she became one of Christ's most loyal and devoted disciples, willing to follow him unto death. And, in the eyes of Christ, this "Gentile Dog" must have out-shined even Paul as one of the Heroes of Faith.

Are you, too, losing
1 bale out of 7
needlessly?

If you are a typical cotton farmer, diseases are robbing you of one bale out of every seven!

Yet it needn't be... for if you plant red-tinted, Panogenized seed (seed that is treated with Panogen liquid seed disinfectant), you stop diseases like seed decay, anthracnose, and rhizoctonia damping-off (sore-shin) ... which cause serious losses.

Normally, you can expect that seed which has been treated with liquid PANOGEN will give you up to 15% more bales, but agricultural college tests show that during cold, rainy periods, Panogenized seed gives 5 to 10 times more plants than untreated seed ... and may mean the difference between a good stand and having to re-plant.

Cost is only a few cents an acre to have your seed Panogenized at your local custom seed processor's.

STORY NO. 10—in a series of articles on Duval County by Frederick Hodgson and Franz Rosenwald, New York newspaper and magazine writers who visited Duval County and wrote the series exclusively for Texas readers.

People Take Over in Duval County; County Government Has New Look

By--FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, Tex.--Things are different in Duval County.

No matter how brightly the lust for liberty burns, it takes a little know-how to jump in and operate a government according to the Constitution. Before the "clean-up," Duval County leaders had had their government run for them since before World War One, and unashamedly admitted they were rusty as the nails in the Ark. They obtained and circulated elementary textbooks on county government and read them like dime novels.

As a result, Duval County became a textbook on democracy. It would have made any county in the United States ashamed of itself to see Duval citizens religiously attending every meeting of the school boards and the commissioners court in such numbers that crowds had to stand out on the courthouse lawn.

This is the courthouse, here in San Diego, Texas, where Parr's non-supporters say they were never allowed to enter unless they were summoned. They never saw the inside of the district courtroom, they say, "unless we were being tried for something we did not do." The meetings of the commissioners court and school boards were always held in secret, if at all.

After "Operation Cleanup" an invisible line developed down the middle of the courtroom, dividing the Parr people from the non-Parrists. Many of the Parr people had relatives under indictment. Every day was a big day in court, with overflow crowds. One day the Duke himself appeared to answer an indictment. Another day a handful of school trustees arrived, with a motion to quash an indictment. The next day half a dozen lawyers tangled with District Attorney Sam Burris and the "State men." Now and then a Ranger stood up or shuffled his feet to remind the participants that "It's peaceful here, and we aim to keep it peaceful."

The courthouse is the Sanctum Sanctorum from which all but Parr's "Old Party" members were excluded. There are other places besides the courthouse that used to be rigidly off limits to Parr's opposition, but not any more. The San Diego Community Center, a public building, now is accessible to any group of citizens, no matter how they vote. And that's new in Duval County.

No sir, you wouldn't know the old Duchy with its new look. People stand around in the drug stores and talk about whatever they please without whispering, without looking over their shoulders to see who is near. This is maybe the biggest, the most striking change.

Business has picked up in the Duke's domain Manuel Marroquin, whose tortilla bakery was put out of business by Parr, started over again before he began publishing his newspaper, the New Duval. He had to set up his cafe across the line in Jim Wells County, just outside San Diego. But all the old customers who had quit trading with him on the Duke's orders came back They bought his tortillas and his milk, and now they read his newspaper

A lot of Duval residents are coming back home to work from the surrounding counties where they say Parr drove them by forbidding their employment in Duval. Some have been traveling 20 to 60 miles to their jobs in Oilton and Falfurrias and Alice because nobody would hire them in George Parr's county There are many in this category—exiles from sunup to sundown, six days a week Now they're coming home

Life, business, government, even love—they've all been haywire in this haywire county, and are getting back to normal. Boys and girls who couldn't date each other and fall in love because one family had Parr's blessing and another his curse, now can give Cupid a free rein. The invisible barriers of hatred are falling down. Romeo and Juliet have come into their own.

In the schoolrooms the distinction — the discrimination — between the kids of "Parr people" and others has pretty well vanished. You don't have to be the child of an "Old Party" family to go to the fair now and sell your 4-H Club calves and lambs. If you're poor, you don't have to be a Parr follower in order for your kids to get free milk at the school cafeteria. Giving milk to one child and withholding it from another , r reasons of politics is just one of the many quaint practices condemned by Duval County grand juries that have been looking into things since the State of Texas moved in on the stronghold of the Duke.

The changes in Duval County don't mean that Parr isn't still fighting. Those who know him best say he'll be fighting when the iron doors clang behind him. The men who hang around the courthouse, the ones who couldn't hang around there before, will tell you that George Parr's ghost will walk those dim halls fifty years after he has fought his last fight.

You don't get rid of 40 years of Parrism quickly. A whole generation of men and women in one Texas county have been born and brought up in a climate of fear, hatred and distrust. There are those who have always eaten at the public trough, always had the protection of a Big Boss, and always helped him elect his candidates, spy on his enemies, destroy his opposition. In Duval County there are still many of these, and they have children. Their Golden Age has passed away, and they will mourn for it because they, like the Duke of Duval, have been born in the wrong century. They are a part of feudalism, part of a day when little kings dominated a few hundred square miles of earth, overtaxed their impoverished serfs, and amused themselves with senseless wars.

But the rest of the people in Duval County have just come into their Golden Age. They have a new dignity. They have a new hope They have a County Auditor, an impartial grand jury, supervised elections, and police protection As one Duval rancher put it, the clouds have parted and the sun has broken through

To be sure, the sharp crack of legal conflict is still heard There is still tumult and shouting in Judge Woodrow Laughlin's district courtroom But the roar of the big legal artillery that has rattled the whole State of Texas for three years, while George Parr and his friends fought ditch by ditch to hold their fortress intact, has died out The final score has yet to be tallied, but the trend is clear The watchers in the grandstand are picking up their pennants and going home, and the boys in the press box already have written their copy for the morning edition.

What does the Duval story mean to the State of Texas?

My colleague, Franz Rosenwald, has seen more than one dictatorship rise, flourish, fizzle and die He says there are two things to remember about dictatorships

First, they don't just fizzle by themselves. They have to be helped along by people who are fed up with them Second, there's not much hope for people who get rid of one dictator and fail to lock the door against the next one. And there is always a next one

Under the Texas Constitution there's not likely to be a dictatorial governor, nor even a Legislature that gets too far out of line. The old state charter was written in 1875, when carpet-baggers were crawling all over the capital, and the men who wrote it made provisions against abuses of power on the state level. They made Texas counties relatively autonomous, letting them retain much authority which ordinarily belongs to a state. This is especially true of the criminal law.

This local autonomy is a good thing, provided you have safeguards against its misuse. But once a county boss learns enough law to take advantage of the loopholes, you've got a dictator on your hands This is the way former Attorney General John Ben Shepperd explains it

"By controlling elections through threats, bribery or the miscounting of the ballots, you control the sheriff, the county and district judges, and the county and district attorneys Your puppet district judge appoints the grand jury commissions, and they appoint the grand and petit juries. Since you control the offices, you can lock up or destroy the records, thus removing the evidence. You cannot be arrested, indicted, tried, convicted or sentenced. You are the law in your county."

If you steal or misapply the county funds, nobody will know it because you can just refuse to let them see the records. There are few penalties for such secretiveness. Besides, whether you are accused of hiding records or stealing money, or both, you have to be indicted in the county of the offense. And, remember, the grand jury is in your own pocket along with the judge and the prosecuting attorney.

In most cases you can't even be sued for the money you have scooped out of the till, because recovery suits can only be started with the permission of the governing body of the agency you have stolen from. When Shepperd's office and District Attorney Sam Burris filed a suit to recover money misapplied by the Duval County Commissioners Court, the Commissioners effectively stalled it by refusing to go along with it. It took a couple of dozen court hassles in three different counties and several changes in county commissioners to straighten the mess out.

Back to those secret records. There is no adequate law under which you can be removed from office for refusing to show them And you can always do as the county auditor of Duval County did. He stood on the Fifth Amendment and refused to say where his records were kept on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate him There's no law against that, either

Texas needs many new laws to protect its citizens against another "Duval County" Fifteen corrective measures have been introduced in the Legislature, by the Texas Press Association. Each of these "Better Government Bills" merits public support

Hubana or Madrid sweet clover may be planted from February fifteenth to April fifteenth. Hubana is an annual while Madrid is perrenial. Both have some seeding rates of six to eight pounds if planted with small grain, ten to twenty drilled alone and three to five pounds per acre planted in normal row widths. These are soil improving crops that may be planted ahead of regular farming operations. Either would furnish residue for acres to be retired to the Conservation Reserve part of the Soil Bank.

Urging Better Government Legislation

A Senator from the Panhandle and a West-Texas Representative have joined hands in sponsoring one of the 15 anti-secrecy bills requested of the Texas Legislature by the Texas Press Association. Measures advocated by the press stem from recent scandals in Duval County, the Land Office, and in a less spectacular way in several areas of the state. Pictured above are Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth (standing) and Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress (seated), as they confer on HB 167 and SB 224. Their companion bills require that suits be filed by county and district attorneys for the recovery of missappropriated or unlawfully expended monies belonging to a county, school district dr other political subdivision. Should those officials refuse to act, then the Attorney General is empowered to do so.

and K. F. Knight of San Angelo is his only son.

Mr. Knight came to Tahoka in 1916 when he and J. A. Brashear established the Knight & Brashear store, for which they built the building now occupied by Piggly Wiggly and Lankford Variety.

At that time, his was one of the biggest stores in the country and the firm handled just about everything from potatoes to wagons to sunbonnets. Their general merchandise line included groceries, dry goods, hardware, buggies, wagons, harness, feed, and coal. They had the first tractor dealership in Tahoka, and also at one time had an automobile agency.

Mrs. Knight died in December, 1955.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Howard of Crosbyton and Uris Howard of Lubbock visited Mr. and Mrs. Harley Henderson and the Frank Hills here Sunday.

Visitor Talks On European Trip

Ralph Wells of Lexington, near Boston, Mass., who attended Boston University two years and who has been in the Army stationed in England, told of a recent trip with his father over the continent of Europe at Tahoka Rotary Club last Thursday noon.

Ralph had been visiting the Calloway Huffakers about ten days, and had come to Texas to take home his sister, Rachell Wells, who attended Texas Tech the first two semesters. The Wells family members are friends of the Huffakers and the Dr. Emil Prohl family, whom they met through association in Rotary.

He gave a very interesting description of historic and scenic pots in England, France, Germany, Holland, Norway, and other countries he and his father visited.

He also told of visits to Rotary Clubs over there and customs of the peoples and of the clubs.

He declared England is virtually bankrupt. Tourist trade is the biggest industry, and the country is trying to capitalize on the tourists to come out of its depression.

He says there is no shortage of gasoline in England, but the commodity is priced so high the people can hardly use it. Britishers pay $1.00 to $1.50 for gasoline that was bought from the U. S. at 10 cents a gallon. Harbors are full of tankers filled with gasoline which can not unload because of lack of storage facilities. However, the American tourist does get one break. He can buy gasoline at a much cheaper rate than can the natives-at 59 cents per gallon.

Individually, he likes the English people very well, but as a nation they are slow and lazy. Unions have control of about everything, and are a detriment to progress. For instance, the bricklayers union prohibits a man laying more than 350 bricks a day. As a result, there is little building.

The country is too much steeped in tradition, he thinks. A family lives in the same houses his ancestors lived in, gets by with the same inconveniences, simply because "it was good enough for my grandfather and it should be good enough for me." A new house seems out of place over there in contrast to an old house being out of place over here.

He thinks England is 50 years behind us economically, 100 years behind us traditionally.

Individually, the English are lovable and cordial.

The Rotarians seemed to enjoy his talk very much. He was introduced by Ronald Sherill, one of the program chairmen for the month.

Lynn Strickland and Hilton Wood, Junior Rotarians for the month, were introduced, respectively, by Harold Green and Martin White.

...the safe way to dry your clothes—
IS WITH AN ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER

Clothes cost money and everything you can do to prolong their use is "money in the bank." Dust, snow, freezing weather and the harsh sun of our area all combine to lessen the life of your clothes. So keep your clothes safe — dry them electrically for longer life and a prettier one at that. An electric dryer dries clothes safely — keeps them looking prettier — longer.
