NEW GAS RATE SCHEDULES PRESENTED

PLAN WILL BE STUDIED BY CITY DADS

FIFTY CENT GAS FOR NORMAL USERS SEEN UNDER PROPOSALS

City commission members took under advisement proposed changes in gas rates for Lubbock after officials of the West Texas Gas company had presented a request to institute one of two new trial schedules at a called meeting at City hall this morning.

"Fifty-cent gas within reach of all customers using gas in normal quantities" was a promise included in the company's request for a one-year-customer-optional trial of the new schedules.

Ask City's Permission

Gas company officials requested permission of the commission to institute one of the schedules for a period of one year and authority to sign consumers on optional contracts.

Commission members took no action on the request other than to pass it for further consideration and to request copies of the optional consumer contract to be signed under the new rate setup from the company.

Geo. Dupree, local attorney, and Ray F. Hinchey, vice president and general manager, represented the company in the hearing. R. E. Wertz of Amarillo, executive of the affiliated company, and his assistant, George Baird, were also present.

Mr. Dupree termed the new schedules as "merely an experiment designed in any way to [illegible] our present plans or policy," was possibly referring to the city's PWA application for a loan and grant to construct a municipal system, but made no indication of that in his statement).

"We only ask privilege to institute one of these new rates in the hope of providing better satisfaction to customers and at the same time increase volume of gas sales to maintain our costs," he explained.

Mr. Hinchey exhibited charts showing comparisons of gas rates in various towns in Texas and explaining that under the new setup of the company's optional trial rate No. 19, there will be approximately 40 towns in the state with lower rates and they are all in close proximity to gas fields.

In a statement to the commission, Mr. Hinchey outlined in brief the proposed new trial rates.

They were as follows:

Babes Get Appetites From Rum

CORBEIL, Ont., June 7. —(AP)—There was more noise—and hope—about the little Dionne farm home today, for the quintuplets whose health the world is watching have developed healthy appetites.

Meal times comes around pretty often, every two hours, but not too often to suit the five little sisters.

"They were wide awake and yelling at their last meal," said Dr. A. R. DaFoe. "They are getting to know when it's dinner time."

Rum in minute amounts is being given the children to stimulate them and they seem to enjoy it, the physician made known.

"Brandy is the usual thing but I didn't have any so I used rum," he explained. "The main thing is the alcohol, which stimulates. They seem to enjoy it. They stick out their tongues when the rum and feeding time appears."

AID PROMISED VICTIMS OF CALAMITY

LONG-RANGE PLANNING TO CURB CRUELTIES OF NATURE URGED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 7 — Red blotches denoting blight covered a large part of the map behind President Roosevelt's desk today as the government struggled with the drouth in two ways:

1. More food, more money, more clothing were promised victims of the calamity.

2. Long-range planning to soften such cruelties of nature was declared necessary.

Major Disaster Feared

The president feels the drouth is approaching the proportions of a major disaster. A survey by the agriculture department said it would "materially affect the national food supply" but did not mean a shortage.

Secretary Wallace, speaking at Bismark, North Dakota, last night, answered critics who said nature had shown the futility of man-made control.

He said he could not see "how any one who has gone through this drouth area can say a kind word for nature's method of crop reduction." Man's methods, though imperfect, are "perfection itself by comparison with the occasional crudeness, the ruthlessness, and the uncertainties of nature," he declared.

Calling for permanent, long-range planning, he said production control would not be abandoned because of the drouth.

Bronx Murder Syndicate Will Sit Down To Death For Slaying A Derelict

BY DALE HARRISON

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—At Sing Sing tonight, in the little room with the horrible chair, the Bronx murder syndicate will sit down to death.

One by one—the undertaker Frank Pasqua, the speakeasy operator Anthony Marino, the bartender Joseph Murphy, and the fruit dealer Daniel Kreisberger—they will die. For the sum of $600 a man will throw a switch, killing currents of electricity will pour from tightly fastened electrodes, and the state of New York will have avenged the strangest murder in its history.

The murder victim was Mike Malloy, a nobody; a derelict of grog houses with a cast-iron constitution. Afterwards he was to be called "Iron Man" Malloy, he was so hard to kill.

The murder syndicate sought half a dozen times to slay him, and failed. At last, in a desperate combination of gin and gas, they got him.

Mike Malloy was not a fellow who would ordinarily be marked for murder. He had nothing, neither money nor enemies. He asked little of the world, and offered little.

To the undertaker, the speakeasy man, the bartender and the fruit dealer, however, Mike Malloy held possibilities of money. If his life—it was worthless anyway, wasn't it?—could be insured, and then he should die, who would be the wiser? The quartet could collect the insurance, $2,000.

The plan was carried out right down to the point of the murder. It was then the plotters began having their troubles. Malloy wouldn't die! He wasn't putting up an deliberate resistance. So far as he

NEW CHAIRMAN TAKES OVER HIS DUTIES

FLETCHER SAYS THAT NATION SHOULD BE TOLD OF EVENTS

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 7 — Henry P. Fletcher, new national chairman of the Republican national committee, met its members today and told them the country must "put on the brakes."

"We've got to bring realization to the people of what is happening in Washington," Fletcher declared as he appeared before the committee.

"We've got to make them realize what's going to happen to them unless the brakes are put on."

Fletcher praised the committee for the new statement of party policy which it announced yesterday.

Predicts Victory

"Under that banner we can win the fall elections and every other election," he declared. "You have united the party and made it possible for us all to go into the fight thinking we are going to win."

Fletcher came to launch the party's campaign to regain prestige in the fall congressional elections, and said he could not discuss plans until he had met with the 21 members of the executive committee.

Tall, erect and affable, Fletcher was escorted to the committee's meeting room in a downtown hotel by Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, vice chairman, and George Keim of New Jersey, its secretary.

Hoover Lauds Platform

Herbert Hoover, former president, sent a telegram to the national committee, praising the new "platform" adopted yesterday.

The titular head of the party, although not taking an active part in the committee's meeting, Hoover urged the Republican leaders to give "due representation to youth."

He congratulated Fletcher, to whom he addressed his message, and also the committee, on Fletcher's selection as chairman, terming the

Roosevelt Signs Bankruptcy Bill

ACT TO HELP RELEASE MANY CORPORATIONS FROM RECEIVERS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 7.—At the stroke of noon, President Roosevelt today signed into law a bankruptcy bill to facilitate the release of numerous corporations from the hands of receivers.

The bill was signed just when the clock showed 12 so that applicants for its benefits could get off to an even start, with no preference for those "in the know."

Act Binds Creditors

The act binds all creditors to a court-approved reorganization plan to which holders of two-thirds of the total amount of claims have agreed.

A petition for reorganization may be filed by any creditor or stockholder if it has been approved by holders of 25 per cent in amount of each class of claims and 10 per cent of the total.

If the company is not actually insolvent but merely unable to meet maturing debt, shareholders representing 10 per cent of each class of stock and 5 per cent of the total must agree to such petition.

A debtor company may file the petition without such approval.

Agreement Required

Favorable court action on a composition plan must be accompanied by written agreement by the holders of two-thirds of the total claims. If the company is not held actually insolvent, approval by stockholders representing majority holdings also is required.

Throughout the country there are situations where holders of large amounts of claims have agreed to plans of settlement, but where action has been held up by minority creditors' objections.

Heretofore, it has been necessary for bondholders' committees to go through foreclosure proceedings which required cash payment for

STEEL STRIKE "IMMINENT"

THREAT MORE OMINOUS DESPITE EFFORTS OF HUGH S. JOHNSON

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 7.—The threat of a paralyzing strike in the steel industry grew more ominous today as union leaders and company executives, shouting new defiance back and forth, became waged in a tighter deadlock despite efforts of Hugh S. Johnson to make peace.

Union spokesmen, their demands rejected by directors of the American Iron and Steel institute, issued a new ultimatum. The strike is inevitable, they said, unless their grievances receive consideration. More than 100,000 workers are ready to walk out June 16, they asserted.

"Closed Shop" Opposed

The institute directors, meeting here yesterday, put down a firm foot on any proposal for a "closed shop" and took no action on Johnson's personally-presented plan for a special labor board to smooth the troubles. The plan already has been rejected by steel labor.

The NRA chief made a flying trip from Washington to plead with the steel executives for more than two hours. There was no indication of the reception given Johnson's suggestion other than an announcement it had not been rejected.

The directors' flat refusal to consider the demands of the Amalgamated association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers brought the following statement from officials of the group:

"Our entire membership of 100,800 will go on strike the morning of June 16. And we will be joined by those other workers not members of our union."

LEADERS WILL ANALYZE NRA

FIFTY OR MORE WILL MEET PRIVATELY TO COMPARE NOTES

BY J. R. BRACKETT

(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Fifty or more of the country's most prominent businessmen and industrialists are planning to put their heads together within the next ten days to compare notes on their experience with NRA.

Such figures as Gerard Swope, Myron C. Taylor, Pierre S. Dupont, and Walter C. Teagle are among those expected to gather at Hot Springs, Virginia, June 16 to draw out of analysis and criticism a number of suggestions for changes in the recovery unit's methods.

Meeting To Be Private

Discussion will be free and frank, no publicity has attended the call for the gathering and an attempt will be made, in accordance with present plans, to keep it private.

Many of the executives have served on NRA's advisory board, which was set up by General Johnson, NRA administrator, with labor and consumer boards, to advise him in the development of NRA's codes and administration.

These leaders, most of them members of the business and advisory council, have a semi-permanent position in advising on governmental affairs. The council, as conceived by Secretary Roper, was to give business a quasi-official organization through which it could study the government and speak with more authority than outside organizations.

The council will meet here at the end of this month and it has announced it expects to present recommendations for NRA. These recommendations will be largely based on the Hot Springs discussions.

Some of the other leaders expect-

NRA AGAINST ALL PRICE FIXING IN CODES EXCEPT IN EMERGENCIES, NEW POLICY ANNOUNCED TODAY DECLARES

BY JAMES COPE

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—The NRA committed itself today against all price fixing in codes except in clear cut emergencies.

The new policy also sharply modifies the bases for price selections in all codes, negotiation instead of compulsion to be used to get coded industries to revise such sections on the revised bases.

This was the first definite pronouncement by the Recovery administration on the controverted pricing question, and followed months of study. It will govern all future codes, and industries already coded are to be approached at once with the request for voluntary amendments to conform with the new policy.

The purpose is to obviate destructive price cutting while reducing to a minimum opportunities for artificial maintenance of high prices, and similar developments which have caused complaint.

The arrangement will permit open price provisions in codes where desired by an industry, but on the condition that prices be reported to a confidential disinterested agency for distribution to all members of the industry and customers willing to pay for the service.

Such posted price may not be revised upward within 48 hours but may be reduced without time limit. The prices posted will represent actual transactions or offers and there will be no waiting period during which competitors may make arrangement for a uniform price.

The new policy also encourages adoption by industries of model cost finding and accounting provisions but expressly provides that no accounting methods may be forced on any company by the code authority or other firms.

OIL INDUSTRY IN COMEBACK

DRILLING OPERATIONS ARE ON INCREASE IN PANHANDLE FIELD

PAMPA, June 7 (AP)—The oil industry is staging a comeback in the Panhandle field, if drilling operations are an indication.

There were 192 drilling wells in the field the last week in May, compared with 61 a year ago, an increase of more than 200 per cent. Ninety seven were located in Gray county and 55 in the comparatively new Wheeler county field. May locations alone were greater than the number of drilling wells a year ago.

In Present "Hot Spot"

A majority of the active wells are located in the present "hot spot" of the field, located in eastern Gray county and western Wheeler county, about 20 miles northwest of Shamrock. These counties had 17 of the 20 locations announced for the third week in May.

New pools, deepened wells and explorations have featured activities since the first of the year. At this time two deep tests are going down to determine what lies in the yet unexplored lower formations. One of these is Wilson No. 2 in northwest Moore county, which the Phillips Oil and Gas company, aided by other major companies, will drill to a depth of 8,500 feet. The other is a wildcat of the Humble company in northwest Childress county, about 18 miles east of Memphis.

TWO MURALS PAINTED BY PANHANDLE ARTISTS ARE IN MUSEUM AT CANYON

CANYON, June 7 (AP)—The Panhandle Plains Historical society museum here has received two murals painted by Panhandle artists, Ben Carlton Mead of Amarillo and Harold Bugbee of Clarendon. They were planned and executed under the direction of Dr. John Andeney of Dallas.

Mead's painting represents Coronado's party at the critical moment when its members decided that the Indian called the Turk was deliberately misleading them and intended to leave them to die of starvation and thirst. The brilliant colors of the canyon at midday, the richly caparisoned mount of Coronado, the vivid green of the cedars and masses of cloud make the picture of compelling interest.

Col. Goodnight Pictured

On the opposite wall hangs Bugbee's conception of the entrance of Colonel Charles Goodnight and his herd of 1600 cattle into the Palo Duro canyon that day in 1876, so significant to Panhandle history. A surprise of the picture is the brand on the cattle. The "JA" so long associated with Goodnight and Adair is expected, but instead is seen "Pat." Dave McCormick of San Antonio, the only man living who entered the canyon with Goodnight, and other intimates of the pioneer soon after he came to this part of Texas, vouch for the correctness of the brand. It is not known whose brand it was except that it was a Colorado owner.

Sixteen cattle are shown in the picture, or one for each 100 head in the herd.

In the lead is Old Maude, a cow about which many tales are told. Henry Taylor of Clarendon says she was the mother of 27 calves.

Three men, Colonel Goodnight in the prime of manhood, Jud Campbell and Dave McCormick, are depicted on the canvas.

The two murals are the first of a series of six which gave a pictorial representation of significant and dramatic events of each era of Panhandle history.

The amount of capital from other countries invested in Canada exceeds $7,000,000,000.

Don't give up!

I DO NOT want to give up... but why do I tire so easily... why can't I 'carry on'... and how is it that I do not feel like myself?"

It may be that as the result of colds... indoor or over work... worry and the like... the strength of your blood has been weakened—that is, the red-blood-cells and hemo-glo-bin reduced... and Spring finds you with that "worn-out" and "let-down-feeling."

For such cases try that time-tested tonic S.S.S.—not just a so-called tonic, but a tonic specially designed to restore body strength by its action on the blood.

S.S.S. value has been proven by generations of use, as well as by modern scientific appraisal. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick-up in your appetite ..your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy. © The S.S.S. Co.

IMPORTANT FIELD FOR ARCHAEOLOGICAL EXPLORATION IS OPENED IN MEXICO

BY C. G. LEE
Associated Press Writer

PAPANTLA, Veracruz, Mexico, June 7 (AP)—A new and important field for archeological exploration has been opened a few miles from this city as a result of discoveries of monuments of an advanced pre-Hispanic Indian civiliation.

While several other structures built by the Totonaca Indians had been uncovered in the region of El Tajin, three and a half miles from here, the new finds are considered notable in that they may prove that this semi-tropical section was once inhabited by a conglomeration of Indian races, including the highly civilized Mayans, the Huastecans, who still live in the states of Veracruz, San Luis Potosi and Tamaulipas, the Quiches and the Olmecas.

Surprises Promised

So enthusiastic was Professor Enrique Juan Palacios, government archeologist, over the discoveries that in announcing them he made the statement "in its archeological and monumental aspects Mexico still reserves numerous surprises for the inevstigators, hiding jewels which only await the hand which will lift the veil of centuries of dust which covers them."

Palacios was a member of a group of archeologists engaged in reconstructing a beautiful and ornate five-story pyramid previously found at El Tajin. While he and other members of the party were exploring in the surrounding jungle-like vegetation they made the new discoveries, most important of which are another similar pyramid, a court for playing the ball game known as tlachtli, a statue which apparently represented the rain god Tlaloc, and a number of artistically carved stone cylinders the use of which is uncertain.

Stone Structures Uncovered

Also uncovered nearby were a group of several hundred stone structures six feet high and about five wide, built in a line extending more than 650 yards. Although these resemble tombs of other Indian races, Palacios believes they served some other purpose since no traces of human skeletons were found.

The heavy growth of centuries of vegetation has prevented any extensive work in uncovering or restoring the ruins. Palacios thinks that the ball court may prove the most important find from a scientific standpoint since it appears like those built hundreds of miles away in Yucatan and hundreds of years ago by the Mayans.

If this likeness is definitely proved it may furnish evidence that the Mayans travelled across the Gulf of Mexico by boat to what is now the state of Veracruz, or even possibly afford a clue to the origin of that mysterious race.

The ball court measures slightly over a hundred yards square and is bounded by five levels of monolithic blocks probably used as seats for spectators. At the north is a structure resembling those found at Chichen Itza and other Mayan centers.

Other Courts Found

Although no hoops, which were used as goals, were found, Palacios said he was sure the structure was a ball court. He pointed out that Professor Franz Bloom of Tulane university has proved that in some cases these hoops were made of wood and were portable, being carried to the court only when games were in progress. Two other structures previously believed to be ball courts were actually used for ceremonials, Palacios thinks.

On several stones fallen from the newly found pyramid are carved hieroglyphics, which experts will try to decipher.

Another interesting scientific announcement was made recently by C. H. Griffith, long a resident of Mexico, on his return from a fourth month's study of the various tribes and languages in the southern state of Oaxaca. Griffith said he found a tribe with a language startingly similar to Chinese, and has customs directly related to those of the far eastern people.

Other authorities on Indian languages stated, however, that while many Mexican Indian tongues greatly resemble Chinese in inflection, the likeness ceases there and that this similarity cannot be accepted as proof of the theory that the Mexican Indian races migrated from Asia.

SANTA FE AUDITOR SEES LUBBOCK AS RAIL METROPOLIS

The South Plains is in excellent condition and is growing steadily on a sure foundation, A. E. Meyer, Amarillo, auditor of the Santa Fe Western lines, who was in Lubbock Wednesday, said. He predicted that Lubbock would become the metropolis of the Santa Fe lines in West Texas.

Watches Development

Mr. Meyer, who has been with the Santa Fe at Amarillo for over a quarter of a century, said he had watched with keen interest the development of the South Plains territory. He recalled inspecting the Lamesa branch from Slaton to Lamesa shortly after it was built, in company with the then operating vice-president of the Santa Fe system in Chicago.

"He told me that, in his opinion after looking over the line, the expense was not justified," Mr. Meyer recalled. "I told him I thought it would be. Now that same line traverses some of the best cotton producing sections of Texas.

Produces More Cotton

"As a matter of fact, the Panhandle and Santa Fe territory here on the South Plains and in West Texas, produces more cotton than the entire Gulf Coast lines of the Santa Fe in the state. This territory also produces more wheat than any other Santa Fe territory in Texas."

Mr. Meyer, here for a railroad stockholder's meeting, was optimistic over prospects for this section and for the railroad. "Our business is steadily improving and is definitely better than a year ago," he added. "Of course, it is not what it was five or six years ago. But, last fall we began to notice a change and a turn for the better. Improvement has been steady ever since."

The Nicest LAXATIVE for Busy People

Just as autos have replaced horses, science has developed and proven a new, more thorough and prompt-acting laxative called Feen-a-mint. Feen-a-mint is the delicious chewing gum laxative. It contains a laxative ingredient regularly prescribed by physicians. Feen-a-mint is better than old-fashioned laxatives, because chewing distributes the laxative uniformly into the system, thus insuring a "full" action without shock or irritation to even the delicate digestive organs of children. The prompt, gentle but complete action of Feen-a-mint does not interfere with usual duties. Rid your system of constipation's headaches and sluggishness. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists everywhere.

Stockholders Name Stock Depository

Stockholders in the now defunct American Commonwealth Power Corporation have been advised that the First National bank of Lubbock has been named depository for the stock, according to B. C. Dickinson, executive secretary of the South Plains protective league.

A plan whereby American Commonwealth stock will be exchanged for stock in the Texas Utilities company had been previously announced by the protective league.

The plan as discussed at a meeting on May 11 has been printed and will be sent to all stockholders. John Spikes, of Lubbock, is chairman of the league for this territory.

Swimming School Students Register

About 50 persons registered yesterday for the annual Avalanche-Journal swimming school which will be conducted starting June 11, R. C. Douglas, manager of City pool, said.

The school is arranged for persons who do not know how to swim. Classes for advanced swimmers will be announced later.

Douglas said calisthenics would be included in routine for the women's classes. This feature was not included last year. The instruction period has been shortened from an hour to 45 minutes, resulting in more strenuous training periods, Douglas explained.

Toothbrushes and handkerchiefs have figured among the tokens of valor presented by Chinese generals to the troops under their command.

RUSSELL SAYS STATE "DRY"

CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE OF GOVERNOR VISITS HERE WEDNESDAY

Making his second swing into this section, Edward K. Russell, dry gubernatorial candidate from Red River county, visited in Lubbock Wednesday.

After visiting all sections of Texas, Mr. Russell reported that Texas is preponderantly dry "despite the hue and cry being raised by the liquor interests."

Two Urge Repeal

"There are two candidates in this race who are urging repeal," Mr. Russell declared during his visit here. "All the other candidates are fence straddlers on this issue except myself, and I am prone to believe they have adopted their stand on liquor solely for the political convenience it offers, and not because of any sincere personal convictions."

Mr. Russell said he classed Lubbock as one of the important political centers of the state and would not make a talk here until later in the campaign when he will make a swing of the larger centers of the state.

He is an uncle of Mrs. John Mitchell of 1920-B Twenty-fourth street.

Expedition Planned In Big Bend Sector

SAN ANTONIO, June 7 (AP)—An expedition from San Antonio to delve into the secrets of the basketmakers is being led into the Big Bend country by George C. Martin, president of the Southwest Archaeological society.

The party will explore the dry cave shelters of the Mariscal mountains and seek additional relics of the basketmaker civilization for the Witte museum here.

The expedition is accompanied by George C. Nalle, son-in-law of Governor Ferguson, and his son, George Nalle, jr.

Leaders of the expedition hope to uncover evidence connecting the basketmakers with the peoples of the classic era in New Mexico and Arizona.

Raquel Torres doesn't want to be boss. She'll leave that to Stephen Ames, says the petite Mexican actress, who recently married the New York broker, ex-mate of Adrienne Ames of the films. They're shown here in a recent Hollywood picture. A $22,000 auto of foreign make was Raquel's betrothal gift from Ames.

FOR EACH HUNDRED PEOPLE IN TEXAS ONE HAS ATTENDED STATE UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, June 7. (AP)—For each 100 people in Texas one has attended its state university, and for each 300 one has received a degree.

Reviewing 51 years of the University of Texas' existence Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president, said 60,000 people were listed as ex-students and 20,000 as holders of degrees from the institution. The state spent, he calculated, $700 for each degree awarded from 1883 and 1917, and $50 more for each one in the last 17 years.

Arts and sciences degrees were the most popular. Seven thousand five hundred received sheepskins in that classification. Law degrees ranked next with 2,800, topping 2,500 graduate degrees; 1,700 in medicine, 1,400 in engineering, 600 in pharmacy and 600 in nursing.

Enrollment in the state's largest college has risen from 200 in 1883 to approximately 7,000 this year, of whom one-tenth received degrees this June.

Value of the university's physical properties was estimated at $13,000,000 in Austin; $2,000,000 in Galveston, location of its medical branch, and $200,000 in Mount Locke, its observatory site in Jeff Davis county. Included in its endowment fund is a $16,000,000 reserve derived from oil production on lands in West Texas.

LEARN ABOUT THE HANDS IN NEXT SUNDAY'S PAPER

HERE'S ONE REASON WHY LONG DISTANCE CALLS are fast

Vast network of long distance trunk lines, operated by A. T. & T., parent organization of the Bell System, makes possible split-second journeys for your voice.

● This company, like each of the 24 Bell System associated companies, operates its own long distance system within its own boundaries, (shown by shaded area on map). But A. T. & T. trunk lines link these 24 separate systems into a nation-wide unit, over which your voice can flash almost with the speed of a local call to the remote reaches of the country.

● With thousands of miles of wire at their finger tips, operators at widely separated switchboards along these trunk lines must use perfect teamwork in sending your voice on its split-second journeys.

Working with equipment tested to the same high standards, these girls do the job in the same way, wherever they may be. In the last decade, they have reduced the average time needed to complete a call to any part of the land from 10 to a little less than two minutes.

● At intervals of 50 or 100 miles throughout this vast system of voice-highways, skilled attendants keep constant vigil in telephone "repeater" stations. Here, powerful tubes similar to the tubes in your radio infuse new life into failing voice currents. Without the "boosts" given by these repeaters, your voice would dwindle and die within the space of a few score of miles.

FOR YOU . . . Good Service at Fair Cost

Nation-wide telephone service would be virtually impossible without equipment built from the same designs and used in the same way . . . without operators trained in the same methods . . . without, in short, a nation-wide organization behind it.

How effectively the Bell System meets this need is shown by the fact that long distance today is as clear as a local call; by the fact that 9 out of 10 long distance calls go through while you hold the line; by the constant pushing back of the frontiers of the voice, until 92 per cent of the world's telephones are now within your reach; by four reductions in long distance rates, made voluntarily in recent years.

Here you may see the workings of a fundamental Bell System policy...to give you constantly improving telephone service, at low cost to the user.

This policy has been adopted because we believe it is a policy that works. In an organization planned like the telephone service for the long pull, we feel that what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the course that will bring us the sounder, more certain success.

NATIONAL OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT TO GET UNDER WAY TODAY

BY BOB CAVAGNARO
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 6 (AP)—Johnny Goodman stepped down from his throne today to answer the challenge of one of the most avid armies of crack professionals and amateurs in 19 years of National Open golf championship tournaments.

The 25-year-old Nebraska amateur took his position in the ranks of 149 title hopefuls with the betting odds 15 to 1 against his repeating and duplicating the trick turned by Bob Jones in 1930. Indeed, Goodman was cast much in the same "dark horse" role that he occupied last year at Chicago.

Champion Comfident

Held to two days of practice, Goodman wasn't quite able to bring his game up to championship pitch. He responded to the tocsin, however, brimful of confidence and with characteristic confidence.

Because this severely trapped 6,694-yard, par 70 course of the Merion Cricket club requires accuracy more than it does distance, sharp-shooting Paul Runyan, big money winner around the professional winter barnstorming circuit, started out in the position of top favorite at 6 to 1.

With the exception of the long second and fourth holes, Merion appears to be made to order for the slender White Plains, N. Y., links marksman. On those holes Paul may require three shots to reach the greens.

Former Champs Entered

Bunched behind Runyan, and with plenty of takers at 10 to 1, was a triumvirate of golf's old guard—Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour, all former titleholders. Ky Laffoon, the tireless Denver shotmaker, elbowed his way into this select group because of his sparkling practice rounds as well as his performances on the winter tour.

They do not by any means complete the list of contenders or those with an outside chance to crash through the field. There are Denny Shute, British open champion who has a habit of letting his shotmaking speak for itself, Bill Burke and Phil Perkins of the Cleveland delegation, Craig Wood, the long-hitting Jersey pro who completed his workouts yesterday with a 68; McDonald Smith, Bobby Cruickshank, Horton Smith, Olin Dutra, Wiffy Cox, Johnny Revolta and Willie Hunter, the former British amateur who has projected himself into the front rank of the professional sharpshooters.

Amateurs Offer Threat

The amateur cause has the support of a crack brigade, including William Lawson Little, jr., the new British amateur champion; Gus Moreland, the always dangerous Texan; towering Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, and Howard Creel, left-handed Denver ace.

There was one thing the rival forces generally agreed on—that out of what appears to be one of the hottest championship fights in years will emerge a new scoring record for the 72-hole test. Gene Sarazen and Chick Evans, veteran Chicago amateur, jointly hold the present mark of 286.

PHILLIPS SETS MOUND PACE

WINS NINTH GAME FOR BEAUMONT; HAS BUT A SINGLE LOSS

(By The Associated Press)

"Red" Phillips, tall Beaumont right-hander, went to the front last night as the Texas league's leading pitcher in games won and lost when he limited the Dallas Steers to three hits and beat them, 5 to 3.

Phillips has won nine and lost one. He barely got under the wire a winner over the Steers, not that he did not pitch well enough to win but because his mates committed five crucial errors that accounted for all of Dallas' runs. Phillips easily had the best of little Sal Gliatto for mound honors.

Oilers Coast Home

The second place Tulsa Oilers pulled within a game of the pace setting Steers by trouncing Oklahoma City, 10 to 4. The Oilers knocked across six runs in the fourth inning, then coasted home.

Art McHenry dropped a Texas leaguer into right field in the eighth inning to give Fort Worth a 3 to 1 victory over Houston. The timely bingle enabled the Cats to score two runs. George Anderson followed with a double to bring McHenry home with the winning run.

Making the loop for three runs in the third and one in the eighth, the San Antonio Missions defeated Galveston, 4 to 2. The Missions whipped the pitching of Gumbert and McAdams for ten wallops. The Buccaneers got four hits off Fieber and Hillin.

Mrs. Helen King, of Sandridge, England, is recovering from the effects of swallowing a bottle which contained pills she was advised to take.

HURLER GIVES UP ONE HIT BUT LOSES

BOB WEILAND MISSES FAME AND GAME BY SINGLE BINGLE

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It is a baseball custom to say that a pitcher who allows only one hit has just missed the "hall of fame," a place reserved for the no-hit hurlers. Bob Weiland, the big southpaw who went to the Cleveland Indians in the deal with Boston for Wes Ferrell, has missed more than that—he not only pitched a one-hit game, but he lost it.

Weiland gave the Detroit Tigers just one single in yesterday's mound duel with Lyn Rowe. It came off Charley Gehringer's bat in the sixth after Goose Goslin and Gerald Walker had drawn walks and drove in the first run of the game. A force-out brought Walker home with the second. The final count was 2 to 1 after Weiland had been lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Mel Harder finished.

Hit Streak Halted

The Indians' only satisfaction was that he halted Goslin's hitting streak after 29 consecutive games.

Detroit's triumph, the tenth in 13 games, carried the Tigers into first place and presented a brand new pair of league leaders to the fans. At the same time the New York Giants climbed back to the National league lead with a 6 to 2 decision over Boston, gained when they bunched five of their seven hits for five runs in the first inning.

The Tiger advance was aided by the failure of the New York Yankees, erstwhile leaders, to get more than an even break with the Boston Red Sox.

The Yanks slugged Mose Grove and Henry Johnson for 25 hits and a 15 to 3 triumph in the opener, but Boston came back to win the second 7 to 4.

Cubs Trim Cards

The Chicago Cubs helped out the Giants by going 13 long innings to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 12 to 6. Twelve innings of battling wound up when Frank Frisch, Cardinal manager, was chased for an argument with Umpire Rigler. In the thirteenth the Cubs landed on Tex Carleton and Jim Lindsey and doubled their score with five hits.

Pittsburgh improved its fourth place considerably by taking two games from the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1 and 5 to 1, behind the fine hurling of Bill Swift and Ralph Birkofer.

In the other games the Phillies made it four victories in a row by taking a 12 to 4 decision from Brooklyn, slugging out all their runs in three big innings, and the Browns turned back Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2, when a pair of Chicago errors in the fourth gave St. Louis all its runs.

Philadelphia's Athletics and the Washington Senators were rained out.

GOLF TOURNEY IS PLANNED

TRANS - MISSISSIPPI IS SLATED AT DALLAS JUNE 26-JULY 1

DALLAS, June 7. (AP)—The official program for the holding of the thirty-fourth annual tournament and meeting of the Trans-Mississippi Golf association was announced here today. The tournament will be held on the links of the local Brook Hollow Golf and Country club June 26 to July 1, inclusive.

Gus Moreland of this city will be defending champion. The board of directors admitted they expected a starting field of approximately 350 players. Special invitations have been issued to such stars as Johnny Goodman, National Open champion; Lawson Little, Johnny Fisher, George Dunlap, jr., National Amateur champion, Howard Creel, Denver's sensational southpaw; Chick Evans, and to the pair of Dawsons, Johnny and George.

So The Oaf is a 3 to 5 favorite to paddle The Baer when they are unleashed in the Madison Square Garden bowl next week.

Which means that if you like Max and if you have no scruples regarding the wagering laws, you may forward a fin to Jack Doyle, Broadway's foremost betting commissioner, and he will put up seven bucks against it. If, on the other hand, you like The Oaf, Mr. Doyle will match your "V" with only three iron men.

Those are the prevailing odds as this is written. By now, The Baer may have more of his color back, the winds of the training camp having tanned the hide which grew pale and pallid under the glare of night club spotlights during the winter, and the odds may have shifted. Odds are like that.

The Baer's physical condition is all that's worrying the wagering commissioners and Maxie's friends. They know the man-mountain is in good shape, probably the best in his life, and that he's taking this fight more seriously than any preceding scrap. The Baer, on the other hand, may have spent too much time building up a Hollywood career. His road work for the past many months has consisted largely of mincing steps on polished floors of cabarets, and if he has any wind for the fight credit should go. It is presumed, to his night club crooning and his yapping about how bad he'll beat The Oaf.

Max is the people's choice, but the wise birds are chirping that The Baer will never go over The Mountain. Not unless he's a genius at recovering physical endurance.

Had Max stayed with his trade after bowling over Schmeling a year ago, he would have been a long favorite to beat Primo now. Instead, he took a vacation, and it's taking all that Jack Dempsey can do to get him in shape. Dempsey, in his prime, could have knocked out Baer and Primo in consecutive rounds on the same night. It must be with a taste of disgust that the former king of champions watches developments in what is to pass as the world's heavyweight championship fight.

SHORT SUBJECTS: Lawson Little, new British amateur champ, learned his golf in China . . . . among the hobbies of professional baseball players add that of Gus Suhr, Pirate first sacker. He records the names of every Pullman car on which he rides from one game to another . . . . Walcott Langford, former middleweight scourge of boxing, is a blind newsie in Chicago . . . he is a familiar figure around the Chicago stadium on fight nights with a lot of customers . . . who remember . . . A baseball oddity: two bases were stolen in a game between the White Sox and the Yankees—one by Babe Ruth, one of the game's slowest runners, and another by Evar Swanson, probably the game's fastest foot-racer.

Barney Ross has fought in the same pair of tights ever since he won the Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight title in 1929 . . . The Brooklyn Dodgers have socked Carl Hubbell for wins in 20 out of 29 times the Giant ace has faced them. . . . . Kiki Cuyler busts more bats than any player in the majors . . . an average of 50 clubs per season. . . . Trainer Andy Lotshaw of the Cubs estimates he uses nearly nine miles of gauze and adhesive tape each season in treating the players. . . .

All went well until she reached the lake at the last hole . . . . then the Texas Women's Golf association player, who had been buzzing along with a 10 here and a 12 there, got into trouble . . . in her patient effort to fill the lake with balls she topped one after another into the water . . . . at last she cleared the hazard—for an official score of 22 on the hole . . . turning smilingly to the large gallery, she said: "You folks thought I wouldn't make it, didn't you?" . . .

And a woman is responsible for this one . . . . in a recent American association game, a certain infielder had made two very wild pegs toward first . . . . as he made his third stop and got ready to make the throw to first again, a woman seated in the box seats back of first jumped up and screamed: "Everybody duck! He's got the ball again."

BABE RUTH BENCHES HIMSELF UNTIL WOUNDED PRIDE HEALS; IS OWN BOSS

BOSTON, June 7. (AP)—These reports that his Yankee teammates consider him a drag anchor have so upset the usually phlegmatic Babe Ruth that he has benched himself until his bruised feelings heal.

The Babe, hitting over .300 and fielding in his customary flawless fashion, despite an ailing ankle, is his own boss, says Manager Joe McCarthy.

"Me bench Ruth?" demanded McCarthy. "Why, I did no such thing. You may say for me that he is a regular member of my club. He plays when he feels like it and rests when he wants to."

Although several of his Yankee friends have assured him that the desire to have him out of the lineup is far from general, Ruth is deeply hurt that anyone would wish to see him benched.

"I don't think that is the way to treat a fellow who has given as much to baseball as I have," complained the Babe. "I have been having some trouble with my ankle but I don't think I am washed up yet. This is going to be my last season as a player, but if I thought I was hindering the Yankees by playing, I could not throw off the uniform fast enough."

When the Babe decided to see the doubleheader with the Red Sox from the bench yesterday, McCarthy sent 24-year-old Myril Hoag to left field and this Newark-trained product amazed the 21,000 cash customers, most of whom paid to see Ruth perform, by hitting safely the first seven of his 11 times at bat.

HILL DEFEATS IRISHMAN IN MAT BOUT

McSHAIN LOSES LAST TWO FALLS AFTER WINNING FIRST

Don Hill, slick-haired, fungus-eared champion of Pacific coast middleweights, quelled the self-approving Irishman, Danny McShain, of Seattle, to win two out of three falls of a melodramatic main struggle at the Auditorium last night.

It was Hill's second victory over McShain in a series of three matches, and he knew what to look for. With an Indian death lock and a "figure 4" scissors, respectively, he pinned the wild one in the second and third falls.

McShain won the first fall in 13 minutes with a series of terrific slams and a body smother. Rising from his tumbled foe like a bull gorilla after the kill, McShain was met at the ringside by his "keepers" and hustled off to the cage before frenzied fans could reach his curly locks.

Hill started butting McShain around quite considerably as soon as the opening gong sounded, and the wild Irishman lost a lot of his fire. They rolled off the mat and kept up the battle under the ring, a fan getting his kady smashed in the mixup. Back on the canvas, McShain applied the finishing touches.

Four "Death Locks"

Things that happened in the second fall will be mysterious to the fans for some time, at least until they learn the true meaning of the cruel Indian death lock, or stake hold. McShain applied what looked like this hold three times in rapid order, and each time Hill broke away. Three times in the first four minutes Danny almost got the hold, but could never complete it, never get full leverage.

Suddenly there was a muffled howl from McShain, and he was moaning on the floor. Hill, changing his attack, managed to fix the death lock, and fix it right! It was all over at the end of six minutes.

They were well winded when the third fall began, and it was milder by comparison. Hill went to work on the figure 4 scissors. Twice McShain broke it, but the third time it held, and Hill won in nine minutes.

Last night's was a well-balanced card. The prelim and semi-go provided all the action anticipated. That super-showman, Sheik Ben Ali Mar-Allah, sun-tanned barefoot boy of old Persia, about the fastest thing on two legs that ever performed before a local audience, tangled with the Teuton torso-twister, Joe Bauer, and what followed was much easier on the spectators than on the principals.

Bauer Gets Better

To Bauer's credit, let it be recorded that it was his best exhibition here. He was in fine shape, and had a yen to win. He knew he was being played against the favorite, and he gave nor asked no quarter.

The Sheik played Bauer around like a sailfish part of the time, dodging, slipping and slewing, but pecking away with a lightning-like blow at the midriff or any other practical point when the opportunity presented itself. At other times, if he didn't have his big toe in Bauer's mouth (it was illegal for Joe to twist said toe) he was yanking Joe's head around with gill hold that must have loosened the German's jawbones.

Part of the time, they wrestled, and when they did, Joe was all but a match for the slippery Sheik. Both had to be warned consistently by Referee George Twilly, who must be given credit of trying to enforce the most obvious of rules. He's one of the best officials that ever worked here.

While toe-twisting was against the rules, there apparently is nothing in the book against tickling, and Joe took advantage of this loophole, all of which provided much comedy to the ringsiders. Once Mar-Allah fixed a toe-hold on Joe, and sought to tie him up by hooking his (Bauer's) toe in part of his own uniform. The garment apparently had survived many a hard fall, but it snapped last night, and came off, leaving the Teuton in an embarrassing situation.

Kodrick In Draw

When he recovered, the Sheik tumbled him out of the ring, helped him back in, slammed him three times, then a final time with a crotch hold, and fell on Joe's immovable body for the fall, all in 28 minutes, two minutes short of the limit.

"Little Jeem Londos" Kodrick came back to the local ring last night and teamed with Don Carver of New Mexico to put on a pleasing and comical prelim. There was more wrestling in those 20 minutes than in all the rest of the program. It went the limit, to a draw.

More than 550,000 persons were employed in the production of beer in Germany during 1933, the breweries in that country numbering 4,500.

Max Baer Seeks Delay In Fight

CHALLENGER SAYS HE WANTS TO GET INTO BETTER CONDITION

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 7. —(AP)—This heavyweight title duel of Max Baer and Primo Carnera has taken on a comic opera aspect—and pretty low comedy at that, if you ask the huge Italian champion.

The date has been set for months—one week from tonight, fifteen rounds in Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island. The fighters have been training for almost two months. And now Baer, the challenger, to the consternation of the Garden and the champion, asks for a week's postponement so that he may get in better condition.

Baer had his manager, Ancil Hoffman, and his advisor, Jack Dempsey, will appear at the New York State Athletic commission offices Friday to plead for the delay, with Carnera and his handlers, the Garden and possibly a few legal lights objecting just as strenuously.

"Then Or Never"

"Either we fight June 14 or we do not fight at all," stormed Carnera in his training camp. The monster man is in such perfect condition right now, browned a light chocolate and weighing only 258 pounds, that any delay would wreck his training.

"It's a larcenous attempt on the part of the Baer people to keep Carnera working another week and bring him into the ring stale so they'll win the championship," screamed Jimmy Johnston, boxing manager at the Garden. "They won't get away with it. We'll fight 'em tooth and nail. Baer's been down there in Asbury park six weeks and he's in good shape. It's a trick."

"We can't do that," said Col. John R. Kilpatrick, a trifle aghast. "All the people have arranged so that they could be there that night."

But placidly down in Asbury park spoke William Harrison Dempsey, who has a 7 1-2 per cent interest in Baer and learned about ballyhoo from the master, Tex Rickard:

"Baer Not Ready"

"Baer has seven days left to get in shape and that's not enough. The public is entitled to plenty of action for their money and they should see both men at their best. Carnera is ready; Baer isn't."

There have been rumors for several days that someone would ask a postponement because of fear that the gate receipts would be affected adversely by such close proximity to the spectacular Barney Ross-Jimmy McLarnin battle only a little more than a week ago. The Garden vehemently denied any intent to seek delay.

If the request for postponement is a ballyhoo stunt to lift a gate present estimates put at $350,000, it marks the queerest twist in the history of modern heavyweight fights. Never before has a warrior sought to attract the patronage of the faithful by publicly admitting his unfitness for battle.

PLOT TO SLAY ZAMORA TOLD

PRESIDENT OF SPAIN IS UNDER GUARD; STRIKE FLARES

BY REX SMITH
Associated Press Foreign Staff

MADRID, June 7 (AP)—Guards surround the home of President Niceto Alcala Zamora today as a precaution against an alleged plot to assassinate him while sanguinary disorders, reddened by a farm strike, exploded Spain.

A newspaper was fined after publishing a report that rightists were implicated in an uprising and planned to kidnap the president, but authorities took extraordinary precautions at the executive mansion against any attempt on his life.

Ten Deaths Reported

The assassination of General Fernando Berenguer, brother of a former monarchist premier, and at least ten deaths and scores of injuries in the farm strike spread fears of an uprising.

It was believed the assassins of Berenguer had mistaken him for his brother, General Damaso Berenguer, who served as premier under former King Alfonso. The slaying took place at San Sebastian.

"My brother was killed approaching our villa," said a third brother, Hernani Damaso Berenguer. "As my two brothers and sister walked toward the house several men hidden behind shrubbery in the darkness opened fire."

Farm Strike Continues

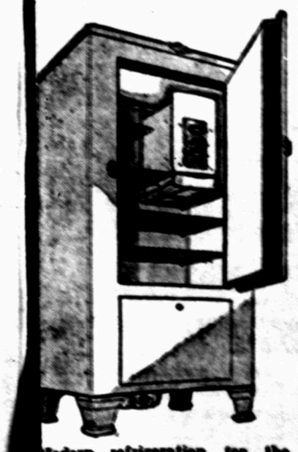

As the farm strike entered its third day, governors of most provinces declared the harvest was progressing normally. Extremists called the strike in protest of law forbidding farm workers to rove from one section to another. It was designed to protect farm labor.

Two persons were killed and several were hurt at Valladolid when civil guards broke up a demonstration by striking laborers. The incident was not directly connected with the farm strike.

County's Contract Totals Are Okehed

Lubbock county's cotton contracts totals have been accepted by the state board of review and a certificate of tabulations is expected to arrive here today, P. T. Montfort, county agent, was advised yesterday in a telegram from the board at College Station.

"Just as soon as we can complete our rechecking of the totals and tabulations, we will mail the contracts to Washington," Mr. Montfort added. "We hope the contracts can be mailed Friday night."

Only contracts of farmers who accepted the changes made by community and the county committee will be mailed to Washington. Contracts where either the landlord or tenant have not "initialed" the acceptance will not be sent to Washington.

"Those landlords or tenants who have not accepted the contracts as changed, should come in as soon as they can and sign up," Mr. Montfort added. "The longer they are not accepted, the longer the delay in receiving checks."

Allred Speaks To Crowd At Lamesa

LAMESA, June 7. (Special)—Attacking the present system of pardons and declaring himself in favor of a full-powered board, James V. Allred, candidate for governor, addressed a crowd of more than 500 people here Wednesday.

Allred, now attorney general of Texas, said the state needed to free itself of lobbying and hiring senators and representatives who refuse to tell for whom they are working. He was to speak at Big Spring tonight.

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Rep. West (D-Tex) yesterday introduced a bill calling for payment of $5,000 to the widow and children of the late Harry Sexton, customs collector for the San Antonio, Tex., district killed recently in an airplane crash near El Paso, Tex. West said departmental officials reported Sexton had died in line of duty.

Got An Eyeful

OAKLAND, Calif.— William Biehl, 68, winked and a flattened 38-calibre bullet came out of his right eye.

Physicians looked up Biehl's hospital record and learned he had been treated for an accidental bullet wound three years ago. The bullet was not found at the time.

Had An Earful

BEND, Ore.—Larry Shattuck, 13, was confident he had lost all his baby teeth many years ago, but a physician convinced him he hadn't, producing a baby tooth from the boy's ear for proof. It is believed the tooth was in the ear for six or seven years.

Changes His Mind

PHILADELPHIA — "I'd like very much to go to jail if you don't mind," said Jack Smith as he stepped up to Police Sergeant Kelley. "I'm one of the guys you're looking for in that $17,000 mail truck holdup in Conshohocken last week."

At the police station Smith changed his mind.

"My wife got mad at me and I decided I'd rather be in jail," he explained.

The magistrate decided he should be, fixing bail at $5,000 for further hearing.

Blind Man Leads

ATLANTA—A blind man was the only student to graduate "with honor" in Georgia Tech's department of general science. Clifford M. Wichter, blind since infancy, had been an outstanding student since entering the institute four years ago and last April was awarded the Phi Beta Kappa scholarship cup for attaining the highest average among seniors.

CRESSON, Pa.—Francis Miller's path to a high school education was approximately 7,200 miles long.

The youth, who lives at Wildwood Springs, five miles from Cresson, walked to and from school each day. He has just received his diploma.

Drouth Humor

LADYSMITH, Wis.—Wisconsin dairymen are adding dry humor to the products of the drouth. Moving their cattle from parched areas to cut-over land near here, they have given their hastily established camps such names as "Eighteenth Amendment camp," so called because it is the result of a long dry spell; "Wood Tick camp," "Long Drouth camp" and "Big Mosquito camp."

Groom Attended

ONEONTA, N. Y.—When Mrs. Bertha Black decided to get married again she called on her daughter, Mrs. Burt Pringle, to take charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Pringle did. The ceremony was performed at her home, and the wedding march was played by Pauline Pringle, 15-year-old granddaughter of the bride. William H. Harrison of West Oneonta was the bridegroom.

Not Interested

PHILADELPHIA—Romeo Riccardi, sculptor, dropped three nickels into a pay telephone and didn't even get a wrong number for his money. He tore out the phone and was taken before Magistrate James Medway.

"I told the druggist about the three nickels, the hot booth and no service, and he said he wasn't interested," Riccardi explained.

"Neither am I," said the magistrate. "Discharged."

Pupils completing their public school education in London this year will total 65,000, or 25,000 more than in 1933.

Wheat Prospect In Crosby Area Good

Wheat prospects in the immediate vicinity of Crosbyton are good and show a decided improvement over conditions three weeks ago, E. A. Watson, attorney, said here this morning.

"We will make twice as much wheat as it looked like we would three weeks ago," he said. "I believe the average will be 15 bushels per acre. Many yields of 25 and 30 bushels will "be had."

Some wheat has been combined, but harvesting will not begin in earnest until next week. Carl Swanholm, a farmer living 10 miles south of Crosbyton, has the best wheat Mr. Watson said he had seen this year. One field of 40 acres on the Swanholm farm will average around 40 bushels to the acre, he said.

ALL of us, when chasing learning in school, heard of the early civilization of the ancient Greeks. We were told, over and over again, how those old boys surpassed us in many of the arts, in athletics and in government. We didn't think much about it then but we would think more of it now were we to run over our history books again.

For instance, the Greeks not only had a word for 'it' but they had a method of dealing with undesirables.

They had what they called the law of ostracism which made it possible for the government to exile, for a time, any person whose activities might be adjudged to be to the detriment of the nation.

That's something for us to think over.

WITH a national crisis during the past several years and the fact that many sections of our country are not yet 'over the hump', Congress might take time off from its lessons on the alphabet to look into that old Grecian custom and put something like it to work here.

To use the jargon of the drawingroom and the gas house, the country is lousy with people who mean it no good and whose taking a forced vacation in Timbuctoo would be a great thing for the rest of us.

Personally, The Plainsman would like to see a lot of our vicious, professional agitators kicked out of the country for good but if that couldn't be arranged a forced vacation of 99 years would do in a pinch.

Just when the government began to make some speed in its drive against kidnaping the darndest thing popped up.

Some guy kidnapped a girl in West Virginia, held her captive for a few years and then married her.

Now every bachelor girl in the country who is seeking a husband will try to get kidnaped.

There just ain't no justice.

That Man on Avenue Q says the best way to get out of debt is to do without the play-pretties until you've got the cash to pay for 'em.

The 14-year old Chicago boy who chased six bandits out of his father's store and admits being afraid of girls is plenty smart. He knows where heroism ends and discretion begins!

EDWARD K. RUSSELL, from Red River county, was in The Plainsman's office yesterday talking politics.

In case you haven't heard, Mr Russell is running for governor on the Democratic ticket and while he isn't running very fast he has got some good ideas.

Long a successful business man, a leader in his section of the state and a pretty wise, as well as a thoroughly honest old owl, Mr. Russell thinks the next governor should not be a politician nor should he be indebted to any group of politicians.

He is right, of course, in theory.

But in practice — ah, friends, there's the color of another horse.

No matter who is elected governor—and it's at least what the sure-shot boys would call a fair bet that it won't be Mr. Russell—he will be indebted to certain groups, cliques and machines.

That, of course, is not the fault of the next governor nor of any of the candidates, but of the great common pee-pul, of which you and The Plainsman are a couple.

We have built up our methods of choosing officials—or at least we have given our tacit approval to the methods—and that's that.

Until we change the system we're going to have politicians in office from Maine to California and from Florida to Washington.

NOT long ago The Plainsman spent a little time among the backward and downtrodden Yaqui Indians who are living in a tucked-away desert of Mexico just like their great, great, great-grandfathers lived.

They elect chiefs, sub-chiefs, warchiefs and other officials once a year but that's where their system parts from ours.

In Yaquia, where the people are supposed to be so much behind us that it's not even funny, the office seeks the man and no Indian would think of pushing himself for an office, because it isn't done.

We might take a tip from the Yaquis there, although there's not a chance that we ever will or could get by with it if we wanted to!

Another Industrial Menace

Black And White Give Best Color Effects In The Movies; Using Brilliant Hues In Scenes Is Termed Wasted Effort

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 7.—Hollywood has been wasting its time all these years paying attention to color, according to Karl Struss, one of filmdom's leading cameramen and former instructor of photography at Columbia University.

"Art directors and costume designers not only have been wasting their time on color effects, but they have been complicating the already involved problems of cameramen," Struss declares.

"I often have wondered if art directors or gown designers know how various colors will photograph. From some of the sets and costumes I have seen, I doubt it.

"It is true that colors photograph to a certain extent according to their brilliance. That is, a touch of gold or silver will lend a flash to a scene. But the ideal photographic effect can be obtained from monotones ranging from black to white. That's all we get on the screen, anyway.

"Until color comes to the screen generally, the picture industry would get far better results by forgetting its color schemes. When we get a satisfactory color film, which we will eventually, then it will be time for us to worry about color in sets and costumes."

Producer Is "It"

Speaking of what should or shouldn't be done in the movie racket, Bernard Hyman, M-G-M executive, ventures the opinion that all studio officials should remain completely in the background.

"Our work is of a very intangible nature," he declared. "A producer's job is to bring about co-operation among writers, players and a director that will result in a salable product. In the final sense of the word, the producer is to be credited or blamed for everything that goes on the screen, as he has the last word in everything.

"He often has arguments with the director, players, and writers working under him, but unless they can convince him that he is wrong, things are done his way.

"An executive doesn't have to sell himself. He is manufacturing a product and it will do all the talking necessary for him—whether good or bad."

Now He'll Eat

For a year and a half Dan Templin, former Las Vegas, Nev., newspaperman, tried to interest a studio in making a picture with a Boulder Dam background. During that time he worked very irregularly and didn't always eat three times a day, either.

But he was convinced that he had a great screen idea and wouldn't give it up. He was right. Warners bought his story, "The Cinch," for Jimmy Cagney, and engaged Templin to write the screen treatment.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

THE FOOLISHNESS OF FOOLING

James V. Allred, attorney-general and candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, loaned ammunition to his enemies in his speech here the other night by "expressing hope that he would be nominated without the necessity of the commotion of a second primary".

In making that crack General Allred gave vent to some rickety judgment which his opponents claim will be duplicated, to the detriment of the state, should the Wichita Falls man be elected to the governorship.

General Allred probably has the best personality of any man in the governor's race, with the possible exception of Maury Hughes, who likewise possesses more than the average share of personal magnetism. The attorney-general, as even most of his opponents will agree, is a highly likeable young fellow, a good vote-getter and a pleasing speaker. But when he plays his listeners for a "bunch of chumps" he is doing rather more than putting his foot into a buzz-saw.

Every man, woman and child in Texas who can count up to two knows good and well that there will be a run-off in the governor's race.

General Allred knows it, too, and for him to attempt, through inuendo, to ram home the point that he is going to run away from a closely bunched field in the first primary is so much monkey-business.

If he's going to set out to fool all of the people all of the time it won't take long for him to find out that he can't make the grade. And he'll turn out to be his own worst political enemy.

The national policies of this country are being determined by a group of men who are not in sympathy with much that we hold sacred to our capitalistic system. I don't believe that the two plans can live side by side.—George H. Houston, locomotive executive.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

(Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Mortgage interests, chiefly the building and loan boys, will scuttle the new housing program in Congress if they can.

They have two reasons:

1. They don't want new housing until they have unloaded the mortgages which piled up on them during the depression.

2. The government's new plan for mortgage financing means competition from interest rates much lower than they've been charging.

The same interests have licked every real housing effort here since 1930, so it may be a question of how badly Roosevelt wants this one to go through.

Of course the big idea of the renovation-construction program is to get money back into the mortgage market to stimulate construction and production of goods needed for it.

Home-building borrowers would save from 10 to 30 per cent through elimination of high interest and other charges assessed under the old system of high rates to borrowers and no security to lenders.

Second mortgages, which used to cost from 15 to 25 per cent by the time the home owner paid all the charges, would be eliminated, along with the old-fashioned gyppings.

New mortgage money should sell for 5 per cent in the east and 6 per cent in sections where money is scarce and rates are high, the bill's sponsors believe.

The proposed insurance fund to cover risks on the 20-year amortization loans would make such low rates safe.

F. R. Calls One Man "Chief"

Only one man get the thrill of being addressed as "Chief" by Roosevelt himself.

That's Josephus Daniels, ambassador to Mexico, who has been here lately.

When Daniels was secretary of the navy, Roosevelt was an assistant secretary. For years he called the older man "Chief." Now he sometimes lapses back into it and Daniels tells him he has to get over that.

Spend More, U. S. Urged

Roosevelt has been advised to spend money even more liberally than he already has. The advice came from none other than John Maynard Keynes, outstanding British economist, who is in this country quietly looking over the New Deal and who paid an unostentatious visit to the White House.

Keynes thinks the administration's financial policy has been conservative rather than radical. He is enthusiastic over the New Deal, but insistent that it should not hesitate to expend more money, without worrying about the raising of the necessary cash.

That may sound funny, but Keynes is convinced that money is something about which people have many illusions and that we are far from the limit of the government's credit.

He spoke enthusiastically of the pending home renovation-construction bill and reported to Roosevelt that nothing had been more helpful in England's recovery than construction of thousands of new middle-class homes.

Nation-wide removal of grade crossings, he thought, would be a valuable public works program, because it would spread all over the country.

NRA Still in Turmoil

NRA isn't quite the madhouse it was when it started nearly a year ago, but it displays just as much essential confusion.

After the order creating a nine-man board to pass on codes, representing industry, labor, and consumers, the staffs of the Industrial, Labor and Consumers' Advisory Boards became badly demoralized by rumors that they were about to be wiped out.

The Labor Board's vigorous public attack on the Darrow report arose from that confusion.

Member Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, had bawled out the Darrow board, accusing it of listening to chiselers and sweat-shoppers. His blast was carefully called to Johnson's attention.

Then Member John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, came out of Johnson's office to tell Hillman how pleased the general was and how much more he'd be pleased if the LAB itself would attack the Darrow outfit.

The board met and decided it would be good policy to line up with Johnson. Afterward it asked and received assurance from Johnson that it would continue to exist and operate as is. (Probably there never was any intention to abolish the advisory boards.)

An intellectual is no more desirable to society than a good craftsman, a good mechanic, or a competent farmer.—Prof. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale.

Week-end MURDER

by GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

BEGIN HERE TODAY

AMOS PEABODY, elderly cousin of LINDA AVERILL, falls to his death from the second floor balcony of the Averills' Long Island home. Linda reaches him just before he dies, in time to hear him gasp, "He pushed me—!"

Linda, realizing her cousin had tried to tell her he was murdered, rushes upstairs to the balcony. Someone steps behind her, tries to strangle her and she falls in a faint. Her husband, TOM, sees her fall and rushes to her. There are four guests in the house and they all appear. The guests are: MR. STATLANDER, business associate of Tom's; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian; MARVIN PRATT, former suitor of Linda's; and LIAN SHAUGHNESSEY, Irish writer. Each of them have quarreled with Cousin Amos.

DR. PARSONS takes charge. It is assumed Cousin Amos' death was accidental and that Linda fainted from shock. When she is finally able to tell Tom what happened she persuades him that they must keep the four guests with them until they discover who is the murderer. They are unexpectedly aided in this plan when DR. BOYLE, official medical examiner, sends word that everyone in the house must remain until he has questioned them. Boyle is on a fishing trip and can not return for several hours.

Tom and Linda discuss the situation. Tom says Pratt is the only one against whom they have definite accusations. Linda says, "Oh, yes, we have. Against one other man!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

Tom showed his surprise. "What do you mean?" he asked.

"Don't you remember what you told me about Mr. Shaughnessey!" Linda was deadly in earnest now. "Tom, why should he be up then, much less prowling around? An hour before you'd helped him up the stairs—drunk!"

"Well, not exactly drunk, Binks."

"Near enough! Did you see him start to undress?"

"No. I didn't need to stay. I was tired myself and he was able to navigate all right. Gosh, it seems a month ago instead of this very morning!"

"I was thinking—he'd been drinking, Tom, and he was quarrelsome, even the little I could see. Of course they all had trouble with Cousin Amos but Mr. Shaughnessey had been snubbed outrageously and he's proud as Lucifer. No matter how he hid it he'd never forgive the way Cousin Amos talked to him that night at dinner. He probably could have gotten into the house somehow."

Tom's frown of concentration stopped her. "You know, Linda, I can't remember locking that door last night."

"The front door when we came in? I didn't see—oh, of course, you came up later after you took him over."

"Yes. I was hot and tired and pretty well jangled as to nerves by our delightful guests. Wanted to get my clothes off and get to bed—"

"You don't usually forget."

"I may not have. Just can't remember doing it. One of the ordinary bits of routine that simply doesn't register either way."

"You said you didn't see him to bed."

"You mean he could have followed me?"

"No, not exactly. But I was thinking that he might have watched you from the window. He could have noticed that—if you'd just hurried in and left the door open."

Tom made a gesture of weariness and distaste.

"Well, granting he got into the house and threw the old man over the balcony, how could he choke you and then show up on the terrace as I came up?"

"He could—that's just what I was figuring." Her voice was excited, her eyes bright. "Look, Tom, you were climbing on the raft—you saw me wave and a man behind me—and you dove. While you were in the air or under water he could step over me, run across the little balcony and into the nursery. It's empty and the nursery casement opens at a touch. By the time you were swimming in—"

"I see what you mean. You think Pratt came across the hall afterwards. But then, Binks, wouldn't Shaughnessey have been caught in the nursery?"

"Not at all. It's right opposite the door to the service stairs. He could slip across the hall, down them, through the pantry and kitchen—the girls weren't stirring then—out the side door and come around on the front lawn and meet you, cool as a cucumber—"

"And surprised to see me there! Yes, you're right—in point of time anyhow, he certainly could." Tom whistled softly. "But, Binks—why not simply go back to the garage?"

Her face fell, then lightened. "Bravado, as you said of Marvin. And the Irish do love to show off."

"You certainly do dislike that man' don't you, Binks?"

"I don't like any of them any too well. And now about the other two?"

"Yess—either of them—"

"You said they both came into the room? Did you notice where they came from?"

"Where—oh, I see! If the one who did it escaped by way of the nursery he'd come from that end of the hall. But Statlander is down at this end already. That would be a give-away only if it were DeVos."

"I know. I just thought you might have noticed the direction from which they each came."

"Never thought of it. To busy with you—and besides, my back was to the door. They just appeared after I reached the room but before we brought you here."

For the last moment or two he had spoken vaguely, as if his thoughts were elsewhere. Now he broke the short silence hesitatingly.

"Linda—I can't exactly place it—but there's something—"

"Something you saw?"

"Yes, from the float. There was something about that man—"

"When you saw him standing behind me?"

"It was only a second, you know. But I have a queer hazy feeling there was something not quite right about his looks. Just the effect as he stood there."

"Oh, Tom, try to think!"

"I am trying but it doesn't come."

She waited hopefully. He shook his head. "Sorry! Can't get it."

"It'll come when you least expect it," said Linda comfortingly, little guessing how long deferred—how very nearly too long—that sudden memory would be. "We can settle that later. Now we must fix our stories so that they agree on the accident and what happened after. We must know exactly what we're going to say—about every single point."

"Linda, have you thought of this? Cousin Amos spoke to you. The man was overhead and might have heard. In that case he'd see through the whole yarn. We'd give ourselves away completely."

EEK VOTE ON BONUS BILL

ADVOCATES WILL TRY TO FORCE ACTION IN THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, June 7. —(AP)— Advocates of the Patman soldier bonus bill said today they would try to force a senate vote on the issue despite an adverse report submitted by the final committee.

"We think we will get a vote, but just how we don't know yet," said Senator Long (D-La.), who was instrumental in getting the committee to consider the house-approved measure.

Reported Favorably

The bill, authorizing issuance of new currency to pay immediately the estimated $2,200,000,000 face value of World war veterans' adjusted service certificates, was reported unfavorably by Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the finance committee.

The roll call was not made public since the canvass of committee members was incomplete, but Harrison said of the ones counted all but a few urged an adverse report. Two or three, he added, wanted it reported "without recommendation."

Harrison predicted if it came to a vote the senate would reject the bill as it did similar measures twice before this session "due to the extreme demands being made upon the treasury for relief purposes."

"The president," he said, "has expressed himself unequivocably against the passage of this legislation at this time, and for the senate to pass it would be ineffective, because everybody appreciates the impossibility of passing it over a veto. A large majority of the committee is opposed to the legislation, but feel that it might be reported out favorably so it would have its place on the calendar for disposition."

BRONX MURDER

drew—this happy-go-lucky Mike Malloy—the four men were his friends, his pals; reg'lar fellas.

First the murderers tried to kill Malloy through his stomach. They served him oysters pickled in poison alcohol. He ate them with relish and lived. They served him food mixed with ground tin. He never even knew it. They gave him tainted sardines. He would not die.

They launched a plot to kill him with wood alcohol, letting him have all he wanted, anytime. He had a capacity. He always came back, asking more of "that good likker."

Desperate, the plotters abandoned such lethal niceties as ground glass and poisoned oysters. A scheme to shoot him down failed when a woman glanced from a nearby window, unwittingly foiling the plot before it could be executed.

Then, most amazing of all, they stupefied Malloy with liquor and put him, unconscious, to a little traveled roadway. They laid him in the street, and ran an automobile over him—back and forth.

It didn't kill Mike Malloy. He was picked up by a passing car, and soon was back to see his pals once more, licking his lips at the prospects of more free drinks.

Finally, they got him to a furnished room, filled him again with drinks to the point of stupefaction, and then turned on the gas.

The gas did it.

Tonight, at Sing Sing, in another furnished room, electricity will do it.

interest of dissenters. Even though a company's assets were bid in at a low figure, it has frequently been difficult to arrange for this financing.

In the past, many receiverships have been long-drawn out because protective committees have endeavored to obtain deposit of a much higher percentage of claims to avoid a large payment. Courts have been unwilling to authorize the sale of assets at low prices when a substantial minority failed to join in a reorganization.

Under the new law, no cash will be necessary. If a majority agrees to accept new securities in lieu of their claims, on court approval, the minority has to accept them also.

In many cases, under existing conditions, foreclosure and sale of the company's property would leave nothing after the satisfaction of secured claims or senior bonds. The new law makes it much easier to deal with stockholders and junior claimants, with what might be termed semi-values of "recovery value," while giving secured claims the preference due them.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Cotton opened barely steady, 2 higher to 3 lower on steady cables which were offset by realizing and foreign selling. Jly 11.96; Oct 12.17; Dec 12.29; Jan 12.34; Mch 12.45; May 12.53.

There was a little scattered selling by the south as well as further profit-taking and continued near month liquidation, but the initial offerings were fairly well taken by trade and commission house buying. Brokers with Japanese connections were also credited with buying but the bulges met further liquidation and the market was barely steady at the end of the first half hour with active months ruling about 2 to 3 points net lower, with October selling around 12.15.

A mid-morning rally in the wheat market and the forecast for continued showers in the eastern belt seemed to bring in a little more buying. The market held steady later in the morning. October contracts, which sold off from 12.18 to 12.14, held around 12.22 at midday with active months showing net advances of 2 to 5 points. A private report was issued estimating the acreage under cultivation at 28,854,000 acres and placing the condition of the crop on June 1 at 71.9 per cent.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 7 (AP)—Cotton had a quiet but steady opening today. Cables were better than due and sterling was somewhat firmer.

First trades showed gains of two points, which was hardly a full response to the strength of cables. Prices eased off slightly after the start in sympathy with an easier opening of stocks, losing three to five points from the opening figures. July went to 11.90, October to 12.11 and December to 12.24, or one to three points below yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first half hour of trading prices recovered one point from the lows on a little trade buying.

The market was comparatively quiet during the morning with erratic but narrow price fluctuations.

After easing off in early trading in weakness in wheat to 11.89 for July 12.10 for October and 12.22 for December, or three to four points below yesterday's close, the market rallied.

This improvement was in sympathy with a recovery in stocks and unfavorable weather reports from the eastern belt. July traded up to 11.98, October to 12.18 and December to 12.19, or four to five points above yesterday's close.

Near midsession, prices eased off one to five points from the highs to levels net unchanged to three points above yesterday's close.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Labor clouds continued to hover over the financial markets today and prices in most categories backed and filled in a highly indecisive manner.

Firmness of metal issues was the only feature of extremely listless trading in stocks. The oils quieted down after their spurt of yesterday.

Equities found little assistance from grains. Wheat dropped more than a cent a bushel and the other cereals eased as further rain reports came from some of the drouth-stricken crop districts. Cotton, rubber and silver were barely steady. Bonds were again quiet but fairly firm. The dollar displayed rallying tendencies in most foreign exchange transactions.

Shares of U. S. Smelting got up 3 points. Homestake Mining advanced 14 on a single sale. American Smelting, Noranda, McIntyre Porcupine, Dome and Alaska Juneau were fractions to a point or more higher. Such issues as Monsanto Chemical, International Business Machines, Schenley, National Distillers, Cerro de Pasco, Howe Sound and J. C. Penney improved. The moderate losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, National Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Westinghouse, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, General Electric, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Union Pacific, Montgomery Ward, Amerada and Eastman Kodak.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 7 (AP)—Virtual breaking of the drouth in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Montana brought about decidedly lower prices for wheat today.

Practically every station reporting to the United States weather bureau from the four states named sent word of rains. Drouth and high temperatures in southwestern states, however, continued, and caused reports of premature ripening of wheat.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 1-8 to 1 7-8 under yesterday's finish, July 97 3-8 to 1-2, corn 3-8 to 1 cent advanced, oats 5-8 to 77-8 down, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents up.

Wheat, No. 2 mixed 98 1-2; corn, No. 2 mixed 56; No. 2 yellow 57; No. 3 white 59 3-4; oats, No. 2 white 44; No. 4 white 41 3-4; no rye; barley 55-1.00; timothy seed 7.75-8.25 cwt; clover seed 10.25-14.00 cwt.

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 7. (AP)—Demand for grain was fair at Fort Worth today with receipts a little heavier, consisting of: wheat 36 cars; corn 9; oats 2 and sorghums 4.

Prices quoted by the grain committee of the Fort Worth Grain and Cotton exchange, based on bids, offers and actual sales to midday ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to delivery point:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard 98 1-2 to 100 1-2. Barley No. 2 nominally 54-56; No. 3 nominally 53-55. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.17 to 1.18; No. 3 milo nominally 115-116. No. 2 kafir nominally 108-110; No. 3 nominally 106-108.

Delivered Texas common points or group three—corn No. 2 white 77 3-4 to 78 3-4; No. 2 yellow 73 3-4 to 74 3-4. Oats No. 2 red 43 1-2 to 44 1-2; No. 3 red 42 1-2 to 43 1-2.

DROUTH RELIEF

enable the government to guarantee sufficient food by storing grain on farms.

Extending over 30 states, the drouth was described as having these effects:

"Greatly reduced" wheat, feed grain, and hay crops.

"The most serious forage shortage" ever experienced.

Early crops in "bad" condition.

Livestock in the worst areas "too weak to stand shipment."

Death losses in livestock "mounting steadily."

Marketing of livestock 21 to 36 per cent above a year ago.

Reduced production forecast for dairy products, eggs and poultry.

Water supplies in irrigation sections cut in half.

To combat these condtions the farm, farm credit, and relief administrations proceeded along these lines:

Boosting second wheat benefit payments to 9 cents per bushel, an increase of $3,500,000, and hurrying a total of $30,000,000 in benefit checks to farmers.

Speeding corn-hog benefit checks.

Reducing freight rates in the drouth area by 33 to 50 per cent.

More than 200 federal inspectors working on the cattle purchase program.

Enlargement of the work relief program.

Refinement of plans to purchase and store 15,000,000 bushels of spring wheat, 40,000,000 bushels of oats, and 10,000,000 bushels of barley for seed.

Leaders in congress reiterated that the relief appropriation, expected to call for $525,000,000, would go through in record time after President Roosevelt sends his message asking for it.

The weather bureau offered little hope for more than partial relief. It predicted scattered, light showers in the Dakotas, western and southern Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, and the Ohio valley.

GAS RATES

$1.50 per M.

Next 40 M per consumer per month 50 cents per M.

Next 50 M per consumer per month 30 cents per M.

Minimum bill and payment provision: same as present rate.

Note: This rate applies to both residential and commercial service.

Proposed Optional Trial Rate No. 25

Application of Schedule: This schedule is applicable for gas service in residences, individual family apartments, or flats, for lighting, cooking, heating stoves, house heating furnaces and other domestic uses. Hotels, apartment houses, restaurants, tourist camps and recognized boarding and rooming houses will not be served under this rate, but will continue to be served under the present commercial rate of the company.

Rate: Combination Flat and Meter: Flat rate of 20 cents per room per month with no residence being billed on less than 4 or more than 8 rooms, and a meter rate of:

First 2 M per room per month 50 cents per M.

Next 1 M per room per month 45 cents per M.

Excess 40 cents per M.

Net Minimum Monthly Bill: The flat rate portion of the above stated rate, but not less than 80 cents net.

Payment Provisions: Same as present rate.

Rooms—Classification: All rooms will be counted except hallways (not including hallways used as living rooms), alcoves, closets, pantries, lavatories, bathrooms, unfinished attics and basements, trunk rooms, front and rear porches and sleeping porches not permanently enclosed. Garages will not be counted, but servant's room or living quarters, therein will, if connected, be counted.

Not Asking For Change

"We wish to make it cleaf to the commission that we are not asking for a change in our present rates," the statement said. We only ask that you permit us to establish one or other of these propose rates as an optional rate, base on individual contracts for not less than one year."

"We believe that either of these propose rates will meet the approval of our customers," the statement continued, "because they are optional and the customers who choose to use these rates will, naturally, be convinced that they are benefiting thereby. Either rate will benefit the majority of the annual residential bills in Lubbock, and will make a material reduction in the present rate and develop a substantial saving in the annual bills of all customers having an average, or better than an average, gas consumption.

"Either rate will place 50-cent gas within reach of all customers using gas in normal quantities, and make it economically possible and feasible for the larger homes to use gas in furnaces, and the small homes to attain much more desirable convenient heating service through the use of circulating heaters or floor furnaces.

"Our operating cost, excluding cost of gas, gas loss, bad accounts and fixed charges, was $1.41 per meter per month in the city of Lubbock for the year of 1933. Of this amount, approximately 22 cents is represented in taxes, which was collected and passed on to the proper tax authorities, leaving a net of $1.19 operating cost per meter per month. The commission will readily see from these figures that under the present rates the small gas consumer is far below the cost of service.

"In our business, we lose many gas consumers during the summer months; as an example, during the month of May, 1934, 211 consumers disconnected from our system. This month of June will probably see 200 more disconnections. These customers will not be back to use our commodity and service until the cold weather returns next fall; thus, you can see that our Company experiences a great loss in business during the summer months of each year, at which time the company does not make operating costs.

"Our company started delivering gas to Lubbock in October, 1927, and had only two full years' business until the financial crash in October, 1929. Our rates, however, have always compared favorably with the gas rates in other towns in the State of Texas. Under our present rate, there are approximately 543 towns in this State with gas rates equal to, or higher than, ours. Under our Proposed Optional Trial Rate No. 19, there will be approximately 40 towns in the State of Texas with a lower gas rate. Many of these towns are located in the Panhandle gas field, or in close proximity to other gas fields in the state. We are not asking the commission to revise or change our present rate, nor to change your policies or plans in any manner. We are only asking that you permit us to pass a substantial saving on to our gas consumers, in the hope that this optional rate will increase our volume of gas sales and thus, to an extent, compensate for the additional loss in revenue that we are proposing to pass on to our customers."

All members of the commission were present at the meeting and took part in questioning of the gas officials regarding the new rates.

Commissioner A. J. Richardson voiced an objection to the $1.50 minimum rate for the first thousand cubic feet in the No. 19 rate but Mr. Hinchey explained that no customer would sign one of the contracts if he could get gas for less on the old rate.

The meeting opened at 9:30 and continued until noon.

THOUSANDS WHO LAUGHED OVER JOKES OF T. W. JACKSON MOURN HIS DEATH

MINERAL WELLS, June 7. (AP)—Thousands throughout the United States who chuckled over jokes contained in the thirteen booklets Thomas W. Jackson wrote and published, mourned the death of the "railroad" humorist today.

His body, a bullet wound in his temple, was found on the bathroom floor of his home here yesterday by Mrs. Jackson. No official verdict was given by the coroner, who said it was unnecessary since Jackson died 30 minutes after the shooting in a local hospital.

The author of the famous "A Slow Train Through Arkansas" and 12 other booklets, was known and liked for his rural works in every community of the country. His works sold mostly on trains. He was the "train butchers" joy.

His most famous joke concerns a clean-shaven passenger on that "slow train through Arkansas." After stopping for several cows on the track and conversations between the train crew and farmers, the passenger had grown a lengthy beard. He complained of the slow service.

"If you don't like it, why don't you get out and walk?" the conductor snapped.

"I can't, my family's waiting for me. They don't expect me until the train gets in," the passenger replied.

His last joke was:

"So long, old pal", said a friend to a man. "I'm off to Africa to hunt big game."

"Well, drop me a lion," retorted the friend.

REPUBLICANS

Pennsylvanian "most experienced and courageous."

"The firm declaration by the committee of Republicans but the whole country," Mr. Hoover said.

Debate Importance Cited

"For even those who disagree with us will realize the vital importance of scrutiny and constructive debate of all proposals, and opposition to those which hurt the progressive welfare of the country.

"In order to accomplish this service to the nation vigorous party organization is essential and it is indeed imperative to the proper functioning of all popular government."

Chosen Unanimously

Fletcher, one time Roosevelt rough rider, former ambassador to Italy and a close personal friend of Herbert Hoover, was the unanimously choice of the Republican national committee to direct the campaign against the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration and the "new deal."

The statement, adopted as the beacon of the Republicans, used temperate words but a firm tone in condemning some of the policies of the administration. It told in general terms what the Republicans believe should be done "to rebuild the nation and repair damage done by the depression."

"Up To Convention"

Political strategists pointed out that two facts probably governed the tone of the statement: First, that it is the function of the national convention, not the national committee, to write the party platform on specific issues; second, that denunciation of specific acts of the Roosevelt administration would embarass many Republican congressmen seeking reelection this fall, who on the plea of national emergency, voted for many such measures.

ALL BELGIUM REJOICES OVER BIRTH OF HEIR

BRUSSELS, June 7. (AP)—Belgium, plunged into sorrow three months ago by the death of King Albert, rejoiced today at the birth of his grandson, probably to be named Albert.

The child was born last night to Queen Astrid and King Leopold III in the royal castle at Laeken. Her majesty and the infant son were reported to be well.

All Brussels was awakened at 6 a. m. by the boom of 101 guns announcing the joyful event and the news was communicated officially by Burgomaster Max.

The newest member of the royal family was born during a crisis in the government, several hours after the cabinet headed by Count Charles de Broqueville resigned.

Count de Broqueville is expected to return to office shortly with virtually the same ministers, however.

King Leopold and Princess Astrid, married in 1926, have two other children: Josephine Charlotte, 6, and Baudoin, 3, heir-apparent to the throne. Princess Astrid is a member of the Swedish royal family.

MITCHELL FINED

Charged with possession for sale of cigarets not carrying state tax stamps, F. K. Mitchell, a local drug-store proprietor, this morning pleaded guilty in county court before Judge E. L. Pitts, who fined him $10 and costs.

The complaint, prepared by Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney, was filed in county court. W. R. Cornelius, attached to the state comptroller's office, of Amarillo was complainant.

Cornelius, employed by Comptroller George H. Sheppard, said an intensive campaign was being waged to reduce violations of the cigaret tax law. He explained that in nine months, between May 1 and Feb. 1, funds from this tax had increased $654,000 as compared with the same period the previous years.

Rivals for Alabama Governorship

Because neither won a majority in Alabama's recent primary election, former Governor Bibb Graves of Montgomery, and Frank M. Dixon, Birmingham lawyer, will contest for the Democratic nomination for governor in a run-off primary June 12. Graves ran ahead of Dixon in the first primary, which eliminated the third candidate, Leon McCord of Montgomery. The Democratic nomination is regarded as tantamount to election.

Se pondered this.

"I don't think there was a chance of that. Cousin Amos barely whispered. It was all I could do to hear, with my ear right down to his mouth. I did gasp his name—that gave away that I was there but anyone two feet away wouldn't have known he spoke. No, I think that's all right. I can bluff that through. Now, how does this sound for my story?

"I had come down from this room, hurrying after you, and the body hit the terrace just as I came out. I dashed forward and called him but he was dead—"

"In that case, you should have stayed there till help came."

"I couldn't be sure he was dead. He might have been unconscious. And at that time in the morning help doesn't just come—you have to go get it. I rushed in to—to telephone—"

"The telephone's downstairs in the hall. You would have stopped there."

"Yes. Well, my first aid supplies are up here. I dashed up for—for spirits of ammonia and bandages and anything I could lay my hands on.

"Then how did you get into his room?"

She thought that over. "Force of habit. We used to have it before we moved in here and I was so rattled that I went there without thinking."

"That's not very strong, Binks."

"Hysterical women do things lots queerer than that. Well, to go back, I dashed in—saw the balcony rail torn away and dropped in a dead faint."

"No mention of the thing around your neck?"

"No. But that's dangerous, too—I couldn't help feeling that."

"There's another weak spot. Why not say you felt as if you were choking—"

"Yes—and I'll describe it as if I imagined something went around my neck—"

Their eyes met.

"We're taking an awful chance, Binks."

"Why, Tom? You said yourself that a man like that was—was quite all right after he had the—the explosion. And if none of them has the sense of being suspected or watched, the one that did it won't become irritated all over again."

"Ye-es. But, Binks, promise me this. Don't stir from the place alone with one. Don't fall for any suggestion to go off in the boat, or through the trees to the club, or anywhere out of reach—instant reach. On the lawn or in the house, you're in calling distance of a lot of people but if you go any further be sure at least two of them are with you—then you know it can't be both!"

"I see. You think there's still danger."

"I know it. Want to back out, Binks? It isn't too late."

She shook her head.

"We're in for it, and we can do it. You're to talk business with Mr. Statlander after luncheon? Then he's your first victim. If Mr. DeVos is going right over to the Stoners either Marvin or the Irishman will be mine. We'll have tea on the lawn at 4:30 and can then probably shift partners, talk to them separately again, and you and I can meet and compare notes while we dress for dinner. They all expect to have dinner here, don't they?"

"Yes. My guess is that Boyle will arrive between 6 and 7 and lay matters. Then, if you want, we don't know how long he'll de- you can suggest they carry out the former plans for the evening."

"We'll do that when the time comes. It all depends now on what happens this afternoon. Let's go down, Tom. The time is short enough at best and we can't begin our work too soon!"

Denies They're "Test Tube Twins"

Revelations by Dr. Frances Seymour, New York physician, of bringing synthetic chidlren into the world, brought a denial from one of her patients, Mrs. Lillian Lauricella, that her twin daughters Marilyn and Victoria were "test tube" progeny. Mrs. Lauricella and her children are shown here at their Lawrence, Long Island, home.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

WHAT A TIRE! WHAT A TIRE!

See it here! Goodyear test drivers burned out brakes—wracked cars—pounded the roads night and day—and it kept its grip twice as long as other tires!

IF YOU think the non-skid tread on your present tires wore out too soon—you're right!

Ordinary treads can't stand the strain of modern driving.

But come in today and see a tire that will!

The new "G-3" All-Weather! It has a wider tread—flatter tread—more rubber in the tread—more non-skid blocks in the center of the tread—and gives 43% longer non-skid mileage than the best previous Goodyear All-Weather.

No matter what car you drive—no matter how you drive—this tire will give you more miles of safety—AT NO EXTRA COST!

WARNING!

Watch the rest of the industry try to copy this amazing tire. Watch them try to duplicate Goodyear's claims. But, remember, you have to have "non-skid" before you can have "non-skid mileage." And to have "non-skid," you have to have GRIP where you see it here—GRIP in the center of the tread—the place where it counts, because it's the spot where the tire contacts the road. Look at the grip on this Goodyear Tire and ask yourself why buy any tire that lacks this safety? And keep in mind that you cannot successfully build this type of non-skid tire without the extra-durability of Supertwist cords.
