Traffic problems on College Avenue have been on the minds of some callers the past few days.

One complained of having to wait through two traffic light cycles before he was able to make a left turn at College and Thirty-seventh, and others reiterated previous concern about the difficulty in getting onto College Avenue from streets south of Thirty-seventh.

One suggested that perhaps not enough local drivers are aware of, and know how to use, the center lane on College Avenue from Thirtieth southward. The center lane is now marked off in yellow lines, designating it for use by motorists who wish to make left turns. That center lane is where you are supposed to wait for a break in the flow of opposing traffic, which often appears endless.

None of the intersecting streets on College Avenue qualified for a traffic signal in the surveys made by the Texas Highway Department earlier this year, officials reported. However, College Avenue itself had plenty.

Some of us still have a feeling that perhaps at least one of those intersecting streets--most likely Forty-second Street--would generate ample traffic to justify a traffic light is one should be installed. The way it is now, many people go to Thirty seventh and use the light to get on College, or else meander through Towle Memorial Park and hope the traffic has thinned toward the south end of College.

Also, it seems that the accident rate on College Avenue between Thirty-seventh and the south city limits, must be increasing.

To those who have inquired, we still have two more weeks before we get that hour back that we lost last spring when Daylight Saving Time began.

Clocks will revert to Standard Time on Sunday, Oct. 29.

The special legislative session in Austin has left something to be desired, just as most people feared. There has been too much indication of personal animosity on the part of some legislators and even the lieutenant governor.

And the governor did not help matters by opening up the session to such a wide variety of topics and "causes." You don't get much concentration on the principal objectives when the interest is fragmented by a "bag of worms."

There would have been a better chance, it seems to us, if the session had been limited to the prime topics--the insurance rates, the govenor's budgeting powers and the trailer brake law. A promise that some other topics might be permitted provided these were resolved possibly could have served as an incentive for the legislators to buckle down.

PRACTICE RUN—Mickey Nunley, Snyder Chamber of Commerce Manager, checks the weight of the first 1972 bale of cotton, which was contributed to the United Way campaign by the grower, Max von Roeder. Nunley had said he would push the bale around the Snyder square if Von Roeder donated it to the United Way. On hand to give Nunley some advice are Von Roeder, right, and Bill Gilliland, United Way campaign chairman. Nunley is scheduled to give the cotton bale a ride around the square Tuesday following the United Way kickoff luncheon.

United Way To Launch Its Campaign Tuesday

The Scurry County United Way officially launches its campaign Tuesday with a luncheon meeting of Snyder service clubs at the Scurry County Coliseum. Dr. John Stevens, president of Abilene Christian College, will be the featured speaker.

The first gift for 1972 already has been made. Max von Roeder, who had the first bale of cotton this year, has donated it to the United Fund.

Roy Carter, president of the United Fund, said the goal this year is $38,060. He listed the various participating agencies and their amounts as follows: Boys Club, $12,000; Boy Scouts, $7,000; Girl Scouts, $4,000; Mental Health, $350; USO, $350; Texas Rehabilitation Center, $500; Cerebral Palsy, $350; Red Cross, $3,600; Salvation Army, $3,400; Scurry County Day Care Center, $2,400; Texas Medical Research, $350; Southwest Diabetic Foundation Center, $350; Scurry County Commission on alcoholism-drug abuse, $350; Expense Fund, $3,000.

Carter said all of the participating agencies merit support, and he said he hopes everyone will support the drive this year so that the goal may be reached.

In an open letter to the citizens of Scurry County, Carter and Bill Gilliland, drive chairman,

Trio Arrested In Carson Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three persons have been arrested in connection with an attempt to extort "a large amount" of money from television entertainer Johnny Carson, police said today.

Police said threats against Carson and his family were made in a note found on Carson's property last Monday, but they refused to give many details of the incident.

The note demanded a sum of money and said the lives of Carson and his family would be in danger if it were not paid. No specific family members or relatives were mentioned, police said.

Carson and his second wife, Joanne, were divorced June 21 after nine years of marriage. They had no children. On Sept. 30, Carson was wed to actress Joanna Holland.

Authorities said without elaboration that an undisclosed amount of money was dropped "from the Carson vehicle" and that the money allegedly was found on one of the persons arrested.

Booked for investigation of extortion were Richard Culkin, 32, of North Hollywood; his wife, Linda Marie, 21; and Richard Dziabacinski, 26, of Sun Valley, Calif.

They were arrested Friday in suburban Van Nuys "after an extensive investigation," police said.

Carson said he had been advised by police not to comment on the case.

Detective Lt. Charles Higby said Culkin and Cziabachinski were hospitalized in the prison ward at the Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center where they were being treated for injuries suffered when they offered resistance to arrest.

Higby said police investigation of the plot stemmed from a note received at Carson's West Los Angeles home Oct. 9 in which threats were made against the late-night talk show host and unidentified members of his family.

No Survivors In Soviet AirCrash

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass reported today that an airliner on its way from Leningrad to Moscow crashed near Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport Friday night and all passengers and crew perished.

The Soviet news agency report came after some Western airline representatives said they had heard a report that an Aeroflot IL62 with 160 passengers aboard had exploded in the air and crashed, killing all on board.

The Tass report did not identify the airline or the type of plane, saying only that the crash occurred at 9:50 p.m. Moscow time and that a government commission had been appointed to investigate.

The report heard by Western airline representatives was that 50 Frenchmen were on board, but there was no confirmation and no indication in the Tass report that foreigners were on the plane.

A Western airline official said, however, that he understood there was but one French person aboard the flight, which originated in Paris. The French Embassy said it had received a similar report.

The Western airline official said he also understood there were 120 persons aboard, not 160.

The French Embassy said the fact that it had not been informed of the crash by Soviet authorities might indicate no French citizens were aboard the plane. The embassy was checking with all possible sources here and in Paris to determine whether any of the passengers were French.

The Soviet Union rarely announces disasters such as air crashes, but may have felt the magnitude of the disaster and the fact that rumors of it were circulating required a statement.

The reports that reached Western airline representatives by word of mouth said many Russians witnessed the explosion and crash about seven miles from the airport.

If a death toll of 160 is confirmed it would be the second deadliest commercial aviation disaster. A Japanese airliner crash in Japan last year cost 162 lives.

In August of this year an East German Interflug plane, a Soviet-built IL62, crashed shortly after takeoff from East Berlin and killed 156 on board.

Teachers To Gather Here

(See Section B)

Public school teachers and administration of the 12-county District XIV of the Texas State Teachers Association are due to begin arriving in Snyder Sunday for their annual district convention.

The first event on the program will be a reception from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday honoring Patsy Duncan, President of TSTA The district's house of delegates will hold its meeting Sunday evening at the Snyder High School Cafeteria.

The convention general session will be held Monday morning in the Scurry County Coliseum, with some 2,500 persons expected to be on hand.

US, Russia Ink Maritime Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union Saturday signed an agreement for shipping American wheat to grain-short Russia after what President Nixon called "very-hard negotiations."

The agreement was signed in private ceremonies by Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson and Soviet maritime fleet minister Timofey Borisovich who then went to Nixon's office to confer with the President and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Flanked by Peterson and the Soviet minister as photographers recorded the scene, Nixon said the two officials "have been discussing some very important matters."

"I know these men had some very hard negotiations," Nixon said. "I'm happy they have worked out an agreement."

Sources said the pact guarantees that U.S.-flag ships carry one-third of the 650 million bushels of the grain involved in the deal.

Sources said the agreement will also specify that another one-third of the $1 billion worth of grain will be carried on Soviet vessels, with the remaining cargo in other foreign-flag ships.

Liquor Vote Petition In

A liquor election in Justice Precinct No. 1 of Scurry County was virtually assured when it was announced that 781 signatures on a petition had been certified Saturday.

Ken Minyard, who was one of those circulating the petitions, said there were 1,045 signatures and that 771 were needed.

The petitions are due to go to the county commissioners court Monday. Precinct No. 1 includes the City of Snyder, plus rural voting precincts except for Fluvanna, Dermott, Hermleigh, Inadale, Ira and Knapp.

P O Blast Injures One

NEW YORK (AP) — An envelope exploded as a postal employe was sorting mail in a Bronx post office today, police reported, and a fragment of the explosive lodged in the man's hand.

They said William Figueroa, 26, of the Bronx, was taken to Fordham Hospital after the blast occurred at 10:10 a.m.

Police ordered the post office, located at 420 E. 189th St. in a busy street between Park and Webster Aves., closed after initial examination showed that similar-looking envelopes were in the batch of mail being handled.

There was no immediate word on the origin of the envelope or to whom it was addressed.

Sidewalk Sale Set Monday

The big event will begin at 2 p.m. and continue until closing time. During the sidewalk sale, stores throughout the city will have merchandise displayed on the sidewalks near their respective front doors, all of it specially priced to the sales event.

Good participation among the merchants has been assured, according to officials of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee, which is coordinating the event.

WTC Rodeo Performers Pick Up Points Friday

By BILL BALDWIN

WTC now has a slim chance to overtake the leaders of the Southwest Region, NIRA, Tarleton State College of Stephenville.

Before the start of the rodeo here Tarleton led with a good margin of 1,235 points over WTC's 846 followed closely by Eastern New Mexico Univeristy, 819.

The event that drew the most comment from cowboys and audience alike was the steer wrestling event. Like the night before, the cowboys were having a tough time getting those big mean steers down on the ground.

After watching cowboy after cowboy it seemed incredible to watch WTC Westerner Robert Crenshaw bring one down in 11.62 seconds. WTC's Tutt Garnett trailed with a 15.09, then ENMU's Bob Campbell with 13.52. Credit for persistence goes to Dee Perachbacher of Sul Ross who stood 43.46 seconds before downing his steer.

In the first event, bareback bronc riding, WTC again brought home the honors with Mike Cathey netting 66 points. Chuck Frazier was second with 63 and Mike Ferguson was third with 53.

Girls break away roping is an event WTC has never been strong in and Friday night was no exception. Alma Boyd, Texas Tech, pulled her loop in 5.9. NMSU's Kathy Greenwood followed close with a 9.93, and then by NMSU's Francis Gard with 14.12.

Howdy Huie, Scott Hudson, and Larry Christenson placed in that order for Calf roping. Their times, in order, were SESC 13.75, WTC 14.71, and ENMU 15.41.

Only two cowboys stuck with the saddle broncs long enough for a score. Pat Carriker led with 55 against Buzz Cooper's 54.

Ribbon roping is a high stepping event. A cowboy must rope a calf, dismount take a ribbon from the calves tail and then run back to the starting gate for a time. George Loya, SPC, came in first at 13.76, followed by SESC's Randy Currie at 14.22. Roper-runner Larry Christenson placed third for ENMU with 15.02.

WTC's Ann Miller dominated the Girl's goat tying event with a time of 13.60. Linda Boeshart clung close to second with 13.94 and third was TT's Viola Simms

The favorite for Friday night's barrel race was Janice Lisemby. However, she got a bad turn and placed far in the standings. Leading the way was another WTC girl, Cheryl Roan, with 18.80, followed by Collyn White ENMU at 18.84 and then another ENMU girl, Adana Cooper, with 19.15.

Alan Hennig may have pulled in the high score for Brahma bull riding. He tallied a 76 for a Friday night effort and team mate Bill Dickey received a 69 for his efforts to put EMNU high up in that event. Sul Ross's Dee Perschbacher settled for a 60 point score and third place.

Good riddance, hubby, but return the cook

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of a more or less happy marriage—mostly less—my husband ran off with our cook. I miss her terribly and cannot seem to replace her.

With your vast knowledge and experience in matters of this kind, will you please advise me how to get her back, leaving my husband where he is?

Don't tell me to have somebody bump him off because I don't have that kind of money.

FAY IN DAGUSCAHONDA, PA.

DEAR FAY: Place an ad in the classified section of your local newspaper, and make her an offer she can't refuse.

DEAR ABBY: Billy and I live next door to his parents, and that's my problem. You see, they own a couple acres of land, and they are letting us park our trailer on it free. In a way, it's helping us because Billy is going to college and we can't afford to live anywhere else.

Billy's mother is constantly over here checking up on my housekeeping. I have absolutely NO privacy, Abby. She barges in constantly. Also, she keeps bringing cakes and cookies and pies here for Billy when she knows I've been trying to keep him on a diet. [He is 60 pounds overweight.] She keeps telling me I am starving him to death, but I'm not. Billy's will power isn't worth a bean.

He is gaining and I am losing. I went from 130 pounds to 105 in three months, and I'm 5 feet 7.

Please help me before I lose my mind.

NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR WRECK: Tell that tower of Jello you are married to he had better tell his mother to respect your privacy. And if things don't improve, insist on parking your trailer somewhere else. In your present setup, your marriage isn't worth a bean.

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago I lost a beautiful 21-year-old daughter in a car accident. She was driving alone and the driver of the other car ran a red light and struck her car, killing her instantly. There were many witnesses, who all agreed on what happened. The man who hit her is quite well off.

I can be in a grocery store or anywhere in public and people I hardly know will come up to me and ask, "What did you get out of your daughter's accident?"

I reply, "The loss of a daughter."

This may be considered a rude answer, but I don't think it's anybody's business. If you agree with me, please print this in your column. Maybe they will see it and realize how cruel and heartless they are.

BROKENHEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yours was not a rude answer. I think it was very touching, and more than they deserved.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of my fiance's mother? I have been engaged to her son for two years, and she still refuses to meet me because she is being "loyal" to his ex-wife. Thanks for your opinion.

LOU IN LONG BEACH

DEAR LOU: Much would depend upon some facts which are unknown to me. Did you in any way contribute to her son's divorce? If not, his mother is grossly unfair, and you should consider yourself lucky you don't have to spend any time with her.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Explosion Kills Two, Injures 250

HONG KONG (AP) — An "extremely violent" gas explosion blew out the front of a Hong Kong department store today, hurling shoppers through plate glass windows.

First reports said at least two were killed and more than 250 hospitalized, many of them listed in poor or critical condition in two hospitals.

Fire officials on the scene said first reports spoke only of a gas leak on the mezzanine, then a small fire broke out.

Suddenly, the Fire Department reported there was "a major and extremely violent explosion, causing a great number of casualties."

Pedestrians passing the store at the peak of the afternoon shopping rush said they saw up to a half dozen persons blasted through the large front plate glass windows of the store.

Fire swept the mezzanine after the explosion, but was extinguished later. It was believed that all persons remaining in the building have been evacuated.

Officials at the scene and hospital authorities said probably 75 to 100 of the injured were slashed by flying glass or hit by debris as they walked along the front or the side of the store, which covers a half-block area in the crowded causeway bay area.

The blast was in the cosmetics department, through which the store's major gas supply line ran.

Windows of shops, offices, and upper floor apartments across the street were shattered from ground level to the sixth floor.

SKEGNESS, England (AP) — Lincolnshire police erred when five Indians were arrested on the suspicion of smuggling drugs into Britain. Idea Exchange On Museums Slated

ODESSA-Representatives of fourteen historical and science museums from throughout the Permian Basin will attend an Exchange-of-Ideas Conference October 19 at The Presidential Museum in Odessa.

Snyder's Scurry County Museum will be represented by Ernest W. Sears, president, who will attend the half-day conference sponsored by the Permian Historical Society and the Presidential Museum.

The idea exchange meeting was organized to provide information on museum operations to curators and directors of the many local and regional museums in the Basin area, according to Mrs. Grace King, president of the Permian Historical Society.

Experts on hand to conduct the conference will be Truett Latimer, Executive Director of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, and State Museum Consultant Daniel Traverso. Latimer and Traverso will instruct the group about services available and about procedures for obtaining local, state, and federal funds for support of their museums.

Their presentation will be followed by an informal question and answer period and by lunch at The Presidential Museum.

Mrs. King will extend the welcoming address at the meeting, and John Dunagan, vice-president of the historical society, will preside.

While in Odessa, the delegates to the museum conference will visit the offices and archives of the Permian Historical Society, which are housed at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin, permanent secretariat of the society.

Museum representatives will also make a private tour of the Permian Basin Oil Show in Odessa, on view at the Ector County Coliseum grounds October 18-21.

In addition to the Presidental Museum, area museums represented at the Exchange of Ideas Conference will include the Museum of the Big Bend in Alpine, the Andrews County Museum, Heritage Museum of Big Spring, the National Historic Site at Fort Davis, and Iraan's Archeological Museum.

Delegates will also attend from the Mendoza Trail Museum of McCamey, the Museum of the Southwest and the Petroleum Museum of Midland, the Meteorite Museum near Odessa, and Ozona's Crockett County Museum.

Congress Hands Nixon Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has refused to grant President Nixon's request for unfettered budget-cutting authority in a move that heightened uncertainty about the time of final congressional adjournment.

The defeat for Nixon came Friday night a few hours after Congress had given him a victory—final passage of the $30-billion five-year revenue-sharing bill he first proposed more than three years ago.

Both the House and Senate planned sessions today in an effort to wrap up final business, adjourn the 92nd Congress, and take off for campaigning in home districts.

Snarls on major legislation made the prospect of adjournment today—the legislators' target—an off-again-on-again situation.

The spending-ceiling bill was thrown into a House-Senate conference committee to resolve differences after the Senate-approved amendments restricting the authority Nixon sought.

The House had passed the measure in the form he requested.

By a 46-28 vote, the Senate approved exemptions and limitations to the authority Nixon had requested to hold federal spending to $250 billion in the current fiscal year.

UNITED WAY

"When someone nearby needs a helping hand I am responsible What we do for others is the rent we pay for the space we occupy here.

"I give a sum of money at one time to the United Way, but I don't really think about it as a gift to that fund. The way I like to see it, its 13 little debts I pay or contributions I make to the participating agencies that I am just as responsible for as anybody else.

"Take the Boys Club, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts for example. At just about any time of the year I'd be willing to give a few bucks to each of these groups. That's not really much, really, and the money has to be there to help in the organization of troops in every area of town and to keep the doors to the Boys' Club open. I never get to see the whole of that scope of that work, but it's really big. I have seen them work in relief following the recent flood and I have seen their continued activities involving youth in worthwhile projects throughout the year. It truly is worth my investment.

"Then I think of the Day Care Center where some 60 children will be provided with tender care and ample food while needy mothers are at work. I can never regret my share in providing for these children.

"When I know that the Salvation Army spent over 300 man hours, contributed 4,885 individual drink and food servings and over 14,000 individual articles of clothing, bedding, etc., in addition to the local unit's spending over $250 and the Red Cross helping 25 families and spending $3,000 on the recent Scurry Coutny flood I know I am right in making a worthy contribution of $5 or more to each of these organizations. I hope I never need their services, but it is nice to know that they stand ready to serve even me if disaster does come.

"I never regret contributing to the U.S.O. as I think of the help I received while serving my country. As I see citizens of Scurry County receiving the benefits of the Gonzales Rehabilitation Center, the Austin Cerebal Palsy and Mental Health Centers, and the Southwestern Diabetic Clinic at Gainesville I am pleased to aid in a small way. I am happy to contribute to the Houston Medical Research to further research in all areas of health concern in Texas...."

Loren Sullivan, head of the commercial division, said each employee will receive a letter, brochure and a card to return with their money or pledge on Tuesday. These will be collected from the employees by 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Fashion Show Planned At Tech Museum

LUBBOCK—More than 140 years of feminine fashions — from 1830 to the present — will go on parade at the "Flashes of Fashion" style show to be presented Monday at the Museum of Texas Tech University.

Two complete showings are scheduled at 10 a.m. and at 1 p.m., in the museum's main hall under direction of the Projects Committee of the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Association.

Ninety-four ensembles, all from the museum's historical costume collection are to be presented, including several garments that because of their fragility are only rarely offered in public showings. The selection is varied, featuring fashions for the boudoir and the business woman, for weddings, teatime, sports, graduation, inaugurations and other auspicious occasions. Forty-six models will appear in the show.

Also planned is a "collation," or light repast as it might have been called in great-grandmother's day.

Tickets are $5 each and may be purchased at the museum on a first come-first served basis. No tables are reserved.

Fewer Mosquitoes

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The government health department reported the mosquito population is down by 80 per cent on the city's south side since 1966 because of the use of light traps.

Antheneum Club Hears Mrs. Butler

Members of the Antheneum Club held their first meeting of the new year Oct. 10 at the Martha Ann Wma's Club.

Mrs. Leslie Butler presented an interseting book review entitled "Fascinating Woman"—an encounter with ourselves. The subject dealt with the other side of the coin of the Womens Lib Movement. A healthy discussion followed this new concept in human relations.

Ruth Sentell opened the business meeting with a report on Antheneum's 20th Aniversary celebration held Sept 19.

Beverly Corzine reported the results of the bake sale held Ranch Day. She commended the group for its cooperation in making this a successful project.

Jo Shaw gave each member a yearbook. She encouraged each one to join the Scurry Concert Association which presents many outstanding programs throughout the year.

All members were reminded of the Harvest Brunch featuring novelist Jane Gilmore Rushing. The brunch will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

On August 11, a $220 contribution was given to Western Texas College. Antheneum contributes to many worthwhile projects to benefit this community.

Members were reminded that dues for the Martha Ann Woman's Club and Antheneum were expected.

Altrurian Study Club invited the group to an international tea featuring the United Nations. The event will be held Oct. 20 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The meeting was concluded with a most delightful report dealing with Texas heritage. Mrs. Billy Don Huddleston informed the group of the folk festival held in San Antonio.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—We will be having a house built next spring. My wife can't make up her mind what kind of kitchen she wants; that is, what shape it should be. One woman friend of hers swears by the U-shape kitchen. Another says the L-shape is better. Our present kitchen is the one-wall type, and my wife says it doesn't have enough counter work space and storage. Can you advise us whether the U-or L-shape kitchen is better?

A.—Both are excellent, with the U-shape a little more popular where there is maximum space available. It is often used in connection with a family room, with one arm of the U as a room-dividing peninsula. The L shape arrangement has space for a breakfast area or dining room.

It would seem to me that whoever drew up the original plans for your forthcoming house can give you the best advice after you explain to him what your wife's needs are. In some floor plans, it is simply more practical to have the kitchen layout a particular way to prevent too many other changes in the over-all arrangement.

Q.—I want to build a bookcase. How much space should there be between shelves?

A.—That depends on the sizes of the books you intend to put in the bookcase. Most books will fit on shelves which have 10 inches of space between them. But if you have larger books, the space should be 12 inches. A compromise is to have one or two shelves spaced 12 inches apart, the remainder 10 inches.

Delderfield Chronicle Is Recommended

TO SERVE THEM ALL MY DAYS. By R. R. Delderfield. Simon and Schuster. 638 Pages. $8.95.

The hammock season has passed, but for those interested in stretching out on the couch and having a rousing good read, this latest, typically massive, Delderfield chronicle is highly recommended.

This time around Delderfield has departed from the prolific Swann family—who peopled his last two bulky novels—to tell the story of schoolmaster David Powlett-Jones, and, being Delderfield, the story of almost everything the reader ever wanted to know about England from World War I through World War II. The story, of course, belongs to Powlett-Jones—from his discharge as shell-shocked war veteran, to raw young teacher at Bamfylde, a private school, to the headmastership of that same school.

And, as Powlett-Jones's life spins out, the reader is taken on a tour through the events that shaped that life. On the larger scale, the Irish Troubles, the Great Depression, World War II, all the social ferments of the times. On the smaller, personal scale, Powlett-Jones' two marriages, his children, his love affairs and the school, always the school, of which he is both heart and head.

Delderfield, luckily, is a good enough storyteller to tie the large and small worlds into one tight knot. Points about the Irish Troubles are made through a young Irish boy who is a student at the school. A great mining strike is dramatized by Powlett-Jones himself, the son of a miner who died in the pits. The rise of the Nazis is foretold by Powlett-Jones's second wife, an ardent Socialist, politician and astute observer of the world scene.

Rich Get Best Shopping Service

FREDERICTON, N.B. (AP) — Rich girl, poor girl: which one gets the best service when she goes shopping?

Susan Tweedie and Connie Hansen, students at the University of New Brunswick here, tried to find out in an experiment they did for a psychology class.

Susan wore cheap, baggy slacks and oversized shirt, and carried a vulgar, showy purse for her "poor girl" role.

Connie wore a stylish new dress with matching white shoes and purse; her hair had been done and she was carefully made up.

The pair visited 29 local stores divided into four categories: shoe, jewelry, clothing, and other.

The result?

"I'd hate to be poor," said Susan.

"I felt really rejected at times. I didn't think people were that bad."

On their shopping excursion, the girls entered stores at the same time and stood close to each other while they handled articles to draw attention.

They then measured the length of time it took for each to be served, noted how they were addressed and the assistance each received.

Over-all, "rich" Connie received service first in 85 per cent of stores visited.

"they stood on their heads and spit wooden nickles for me, as the saying goes, but for Susan they pointed and said, 'There's the rack.'"

"Poor" Susan received the least service in jewelry stores, the girls said in their report.

Elsewhere, Susan was invited only twice to try things on; Connie was often encouraged to do so.

Susan said she was looked at with mistrust at many stores.

"I thought they were watching me for shoplifting," she said.

Planting By Moon Topic At Club Meet

The Twilight Garden Club met Oct. 12 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. Bob Dupree presiding. Mrs. J.O. McNew was hostess for the meeting.

The club discussed the planting of flowers, seeds and resetting during the four phases of the moon. Mrs. W.H. Scarborough, who was in charge of the program, suggested consulting Nard's Almanac found at Hall Drug.

The Twilight Garden Club Ranch Day booth, which received second place and a cash prize of $75, was also discussed. Members were thanked by Mrs. Scarborough for their participation and display of items shown.

Day Not A Total Loss

MURWILLUMBAH, Australia, (AP) — It was just one of those days for Eileen Piper, who lives in this town in northern New South Wales and works as a waitress.

Mrs. Piper was being driven to work when the auto was involved in a collision. She was unhurt but shaken.

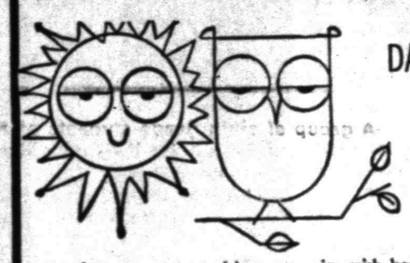

Mrs. Piper asked a truck driver from a nearby sawmill to drive her home. The truck crashed through her front fence and damaged a corner of her house.

Mrs. Piper decided to clean the stove. It "exploded"—a blow-back that threw her against the wall.

Mrs. Piper decided it was time to lie down. While taking her rest, her son, aged 2½, pulled a cupboard over on himself and fractured a leg.

Then came the good news: Mrs. Piper's boss would give her normal pay for the day.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Many persons quite adept at ordinary do-it-yourself projects steer clear of concrete and masonry work.

It's a rather foolish fear, especially since modern ready-mixed materials, requiring only the addition of water, make it fairly simple to obtain the proper mixture for whatever the purpose.

One way to get acquainted with masonry work is by installing a brick path or walkway that requires the use of a minimum amount of a wet mixture. The wet cement is used only for the curbing along the walkway. The bricks inside the curbing—that is, the path bricks—are laid in a dry mix.

The curbing is laid first after the walkway is dug to a depth of about 5 inches. Using what it called a "sand mix," place it in the excavation along the sides of the path to a depth of 2 inches. Bricks are then set on edge into this bed of wet cement.

The brick path is then placed inside the curbing, except that this time the base is 2 inches of a dry mix—one part of cement to five parts of sand. The bricks are installed in any design you wish or just simply one next to the other in simple order. See that each brick fits securely into the base and that the top of one brick is level with the top of the next.

When the walkway is completed, take some more of the dry mix and shovel it on rather generously over the tops of the bricks. Next, use a pushbroom to sweep the mix around until it settles between the bricks; that is, into the joints.

Take a garden hose and water the entire area. Use the spray setting on the nozzle. Sweep again, then spray again. Shovel on some more dry mix, then sweep. Two applications usually will fill the joints, but if they don't, add more dry mix, sweep and spray.

About the only time this type of walkway should not be attempted is when the soil is tightly packed and does not drain readily.

Laying bricks in a dry mix, with only the curbing set in a wet mix, will give you the confidence to tackle more ambitious projects in which the application of a completely wet mix is necessary.

In the United States there are about 600 kinds of butterflies and about 6,000 kinds of moths.

Miss America Hopes To Study Music And Drama

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When Miss America goes out to lunch, she's invited back to the kitchen to meet the waiters.

Terry Ann Meeuwsen, 23, newest in the 51-year lineup of beauties, graciously thanked the kitchen staff of a Madison Square Garden restaurant after a recent luncheon.

She had gone relatively unnoticed by men lunching around her, but the waiters knew a celebrity when they saw one.

Miss Meeuwsen has shiny brown hair swinging below her shoulders and big hazel eyes. A native of Depere, Wisc., she has been a professional entertainer and once sang with the New Christy Minstrels.

She says winning the pageant will help further her singing career with scholarships and personal appearance fees.

"What I'd like to do now," she said, "is come to New York after the year as Miss America, for a year of independent music and drama study with a private teacher.

"Of course, that year may modify my goals. But I want to see for myself what is involved in serious preparation for a singing career."

Terry feels that singing professionally as an individual may be a different thing from performing with a group or as part of a duo, which she has already done.

"The intense self-drive you'd have to have to be a success: I'm not sure I have it," she said. "I think it's more important to be able to sleep at night."

One of her first activities as Miss America was to condense contents of 16 pieces of luggage she brought to the pageant to two for traveling around the nation.

"I would have finished sooner if I hadn't started taking telephone calls," she said ruefully to her chaperone.

Terry will return to Atlantic City occasionally to renew or exchange one wardrobe item or another.

The new Miss America wears a silver bracelet engraved with the name of an American prisoner of war. She's worn it for about one year.

"I hope in traveling we get to Wyoming and meet his family," she said. "I have pictures of his children, and I've written them through VIVA, the POW wives organization. I've written the U.N. and Hanoi, too, but of course I haven't received any answers."

Terry hopes there will be no American men fighting in Vietnam next summer, when Miss America has traditionally visited the troops there.

"But if we do have to go, I hope we can go to Thailand too—I'm the 'adopted mother' of a child there. I help support him through a Christian aid program."

Already busy with a hectic schedule of personal appearances, Terry is a VIP as Miss America. She has a new wardrobe from New York designers, but no new hairdo. The Toni company, one of the pageant's sponsors, is evidently pleased with the way she looks now. She won't be hair-sprayed and teased into a different coiffure.

Terry will be very much "herself" during her reign as Miss America, and that pleases her.

"I really admire all the Miss Americas who have gone before, but it's still important to remain myself," Terry added. "I can say whatever I want, and I plan to do so."

She said, "It's very strange. One day, you can shout your head off about your own opinions on things and nobody listens. The next day, people demand your views on everything from women's lib to politics."

Murder Shakes Little Town

THE HUNTER'S MOON. By Nathaniel Benchley. Little, Brown. 244 Pages. $6.95.

Operating on two levels, this novel is both a satirical treatment of small town life and a grim narrative evoking that magic word "suspense."

A sex murder of a teen-age girl shakes up the little town of Pembroke so much that the jittery townspeople form a vigilante committee, on the ground that the tiny, inadequate police force is inadequate to protect the citizens.

Of course the amateurish attempts of the vigilantes, armed with a variety of makeshift weapons, create a great deal of confusion. All the inherent rivalries, meanness and backbiting of a gossipy little town blossom out as various individuals try to settle old scores.

On that level, the humor is rough hewn. There are some pretty bizaire characters depicted at their worst.

Meanwhile, on the suspense level, it becomes evident to the reader which character is the psychopathic killer, and the tension builds on the question of whether he will be unmasked. The climax is sharp and shattering.

As both suspense and satire, this novel digs deeper than most of Benchley's other novels, and has a more vivid impact.

National Energy Crisis Means Same In Texas

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The top spokesman for the Texas oil and gas industry says a national energy crisis can, indeed, be a Texas crisis.

Robert A. Buschman of San Antonio says the most dramatic change faced in this generation has been the switch from abundance to scarcity of energy fuels.

"This has a special relevance to Texans," says the president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"The threat of a nationwide shortage of energy has many implications for a state whose oil and gas wells provide one-fourth of the country's primary energy."

Texas Mid-Continent represents all phases of the state's oil and gas industry.

Buschman outlined his views on Texas and the energy crisis in an open letter he plans to send to every elected state official after the Nov. 7 general election.

"As a Texas public official, you will be dealing with petroleum related matters in a context quite different from that of your predecessors," the letter states.

"Bluntly stated, our nation, which looks to oil and gas for three-fourths of its fuel power, is no longer self-sufficient in energy. Our five principle domestic sources of energy are oil, gas, coal, water power, and nuclear power. None are of adequate supply to meet our needs."

In reading the letter at the association's annual meeting, Buschman said it is essential the industry make a commitment toward better communication with the public and with public officials.

The letter states that the lack of adequate domestic oil and gas reserves can be traced largely to a series of ill-advised—if not downright foolish—federal policies.

"It is clear our industry, as well as the Texas economy, is suffering from inadequate prices for oil and gas. While it is beyond the power of either the Texas petroleum industry or our state government to rectify this condition, we must recognize it is part of the trouble."

At a time when Texas producers are forced to sell gas for less than 20 cents per thousand cubic feet, Buschman adds, the shortage of supply is forcing acceptance of desperate plans for supplying imported and synthetic gas for approximately $1.50 per thousand.

"Under these conditions, Texas is subsidizing the fuel supply for a large part of the nation with low-priced gas," he says.

"Our best hope for a spirited revival of drilling and development in this country is through the restoration of market forces that will allow prices to function freely in adjusting supply and demand."

Texas is not only the nation's No. 1 producer of energy, he adds, it ranks close to the top as a consumer of energy.

"We are first in natural gas consumption," he continues. "We are second in gasoline consumption for transportation. We operate more farm equipment than any other state. About 98 per cent of our electricity is generated from gas energy. The primary energy source for virtually all our industry is petroleum, as are the feedstocks of our chemical and refining complexes. A national energy crisis can, indeed, be a Texas crisis."

The letter then outlines five examples of opportunities through which Buschman says state officials can help Texas adjust to the changing condition through leadership in the development of governmental policies.

Item 1: "It will take substantial improvement in oil and gas policies to revive a large scale drilling program, but assurance of a tax and regulatory climate that encourages exploration and development would be helpful."

Item 2: "Federal authorities should be urged to expedite the leasing of the Outer Continental Shelf area off Texas. While previous attempts off Texas have not been very rewarding—except to the U.S. Treasury—Texas should remove every obstacle for those who want to make the gamble. Billions of dollars of onshore activity in employment, services and equipment sales are required to sustain an extensive offshore development."

Item 3: "Texas can enlarge its capacity for processing hydrocarbons to become an even larger industrial gateway to much of the nation's market for petroleum products and chemicals. This means massive enlargement of port facilities and accelerated construction of refining and pipeline capacity. This new and modernized capacity will have to be added somewhere in the United States. Why not Texas:"

Item 4: "Texas-based construction, drilling, and service firms are providing equipment and technical know-how for oil development around the world. Let's help the decision-makers for these enterprises keep Texas their home base."

Item 5: "Another potential of vast promise for Texas is the recovery of billions of barrels of oil which can be produced through the application of more efficient production technology. Secondary and tertiary methods are available but are not being fully employed. An estimated 98 billion barrels of oil, which will not be recovered by primary methods, lie within Texas fields already defined. Production of even six percent of this reserve would exceed all the recoverable oil found in Texas during the last two decades. A change in our conservation laws is needed to make these projects feasible. We commend to your study efforts by the Texas Conservation Committee for Unitization to update our laws so our state can benefit from the billions of dollars worth of oil that otherwise will be abandoned."

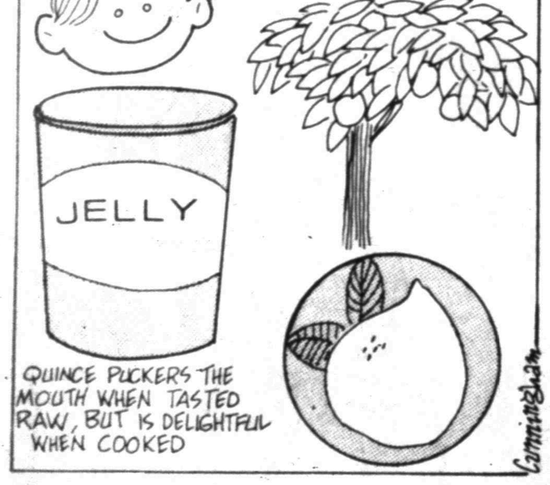

Breaks Tradition

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Marshall University's homecoming celebration next week will break from tradition to honor West Virginia's prisoners of war.

Working under the theme "A Homecoming for Those Who Can't Come Home," the annual event will not include the traditional queen contest and parade.

Instead, literature will be distributed on campus during the weekend about POWs and those missing in action.

Junior Editors' Quiz on QUINCE

QUESTION: What is a quince and how is it used?

* * *

ANSWER: The quince tree (or wide-spreading shrub) is a small crooked tree of the rose family, introduced from Central Asia to Europe and the United States. It is grown for its fruit which is golden yellow in color and shaped somewhat like a pear. It is closely related to the apple and pear. The quince tree is easy to cultivate and may be planted from cuttings. It has a beautiful pink or white blossom which appears in the late spring. The fruit is hard with an acid taste and has a fragrant smell. Quince jelly, preserves, jams and marmalade are the best-known of its products. Numerous syrups for the relief of colds contain quince. Many hand lotions have a quince base, and perfumes have been distilled from the blossoms.

The Japanese flowering quince, an ornamental shrub developed in Japan, is prized for its flowers in the early spring. It has a small, pale green fruit which can be used for jelly. The quince has been under cultivation for centuries and was one of the earliest of the garden fruits. The Greeks referred to the quince as the Golden Apple.

Tips On Starting Own Business

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: When visiting my parents I read an interesting column by you in the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram. I hope you can help me without printing my city of residence. I'm a 24-year-old male chemical engineer working in sales for a large corporation, and am unhappy with my present position. I will have about $25,000 within the next year and would like to use this money to buy a small business. My problem is that I don't have much idea what type of small business I should invest in.

My present requirements are (1) above average profit (2) require less than 50 hours per week of my time (3) have calm, low pressure atmosphere. My interests seem to lie in retail sales. Some businesses now under consideration are: package liquor, drug or camera store, dry cleaner, real estate agency, and cocktail lounge (high class). Where do I go for research? Organizations? Books? I thank you in advance for any assistance. – B.K.

(Topics suggested by readers come in cycles, and this seems to be the Year of the Self-employed. Small business questions – including mini-moneymakers at home – have always been numerous, but recently such queries have flooded in to reach a high of roughly 40 percent of reader mail. Reflecting growing interest, this and the following 2 columns give tips that apply to many types of retail and service businesses.)

GOING TO THE WELL. It's to your advantage to talk with operators, successful and less successful, about aspects of their businesses, pro and con, in every type of enterprise you are considering. Unfortunately, as those who have tried this know, there's frequently a rub to obtaining direct verbal research when your object is self-employment rather than salaried employment. The average small business operator will not be wild about taking you into his confidence if he fears you may be his future competitor. And, if he does "open up," he purposely may be pessimistic to discourage you. So, how can you overcome his natural reluctance to level with you?

IN SEVERAL WAYS. In your own community, you can cultivate the friendship of small business operators in your fields of interest, being honest about your intent and giving assurances (which you should honor) that you will not enter into a similar business in the friendly operator's geographic trade area. Ask for appointments at less busy hours, and an invitation to lunch or dinner could ease the conversation.

You can seek out individuals who have retired from the businesses in which you are interested – often they are more than willing to help a young person.

Another tactic is to use your weekend and vacation time to contact operators in other cities. Establish your credibility (in this case, sincerity and noncompetitive status) by writing or phoning ahead for appointments.

HOW CAN YOU GET LEADS? By making an advance trip during which you reconnoiter prospects for follow-up; by looking at newspaper ads from the city you plan to visit; and by contacting appropriate trade associations for names of members who may be willing to share their experiences with you. Chambers of Commerce may also be able to provide interview prospects.

Getting your information from "the horse's mouth" is hard riding, but it beats tough sledding later brought about by half-baked preparation.

NEXT – Guide to researching your own business

Meadows Admits More Murders, Clears Wife

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — "Here I sit, guilty of four murders," said Johnny Meadows with a touch of nervousness. "I want to get on down to the pen and get my time started."

The 34-year-old convict said in a frank interview with the Odessa American Friday that he has decided to plead guilty to killing three Odessa women and a Monahans motel owner because he fears the death penalty will be reactivated in Texas in a few years.

Already a convicted murder, Meadows testified for 10 minutes Friday before the Ector County grand jury about three unsolved murders. The jurors then filed into 70th District Court to report they had no indictments to return at that time.

Ward County Sheriff John Ashcraft said there were certain "discrepancies" in Meadows statement on the murder of Dorothy A. Smith on Nov. 5, 1968. Meadows admitted to her murder Thursday, linking his name with a total of four slayings.

Ashcraft said the Smith murder was still being investigated.

Meadows is confined in Ector County jail on a life sentence that he received in Fort Worth for the strangulation murder of Gloria Sue Nix Green, who was killed in Odessa, June 17, 1971. The case was transferred on a change of venue from Ector County, where feelings on the "lady killings" ran high.

Meadows pleaded guilty to that case and then began the series of statements about other West Texas murders. He first said he and his wife Deloris were involved in the strangulation deaths of Linda Cougart and Ruth Maynard of Odessa. No indictments were returned in the case of Mrs. Smith.

Later Meadows repudiated his original statements on the two murders.

Although he refused to go into any specifics in any of the deaths, Meadows said, "I am the one and same responsible party." Meadows said Friday he had decided to implicate his wife in his statements because he was upset when she filed divorce. "She's not guilty of anything," he said.

He has since signed other statements in which he absolves Mrs. Meadows of any blame. Ector County Dist. Atty. John Green said Meadows probably would testify to the jury that Mrs. Meadows had nothing to do with the two murders in which they are indicted.

Green said he would later present motions to dismiss indictments against Mrs. Meadows before District Court Judge C. V. Milburn.

Ashcraft said Friday that he wants to quiz Meadows further about the disposition of a wrist watch and a diamond ring which the killer is believed to have taken in the Smith murder.

"As I understand the statement, Meadows claims to have shot Mrs. Smith with a .32-caliber pistol. Actually she was shot with a .38. But officers tell me Meadows probably doesn't know the difference in the two calibers, which could very well explain it," Ashcraft said.

Meadows told the Odessa American Friday he had killed all four and is remorseful about the deaths. He said, "I live several lives. I have inner conflicts, drives and motivations. The next time I talk about it, I may be near tears. It depends on how my mood swings."

The grand jury will continue its investigation while Meadows waits in the county jail. Meanwhile, Ector County sheriff A. M. "Slim" Gabrel, who took Meadows' first confession, prepared to take his files on the Monahans case to Ward county authorities.

Looking Good Is Necessity

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Looking good is an economic necessity in today's business world, says a California plastic surgeon who tells women to try a face lift if they need it to get a job.

"You can have as many face lifts as you want," says Dr. Richard Aronsohn. "You just have to be in good physical shape and you have to be able to afford it."

Aronsohn was one of four beauty experts who told fashion designers and writers Friday about fashion's backbone—the beautiful woman.

Nutritionist Arnold Pike said food makes the woman; health spa owner Deborah Szekeley pushed for stringent exercise; and actress Polly Bergen came out in favor of flawless make-up.

Aronsohn drew the most comments with his opinions on why a woman should remake her face.

"Beauty colors our thinking when we meet people," he said. "It gets us jobs. It certainly elects our officials.

"In this country there's pervasive employment discrimination against ugly women, the real losers... No employers will admit it. What they want you to have is 30 years of experience and look like 25."

Men have known this for years, he said, and have quietly had cosmetic surgery.

"Men used to do this for economic reasons and women for romantic reasons," said Aronsohn. "Now it's all economic. More women want plastic surgery to get a good job than to rekindle a romance."

Bush Talks About UN

HOUSTON (AP) — U.N. Ambassador George Bush of the United States says an important issue facing the UN is negotiating a 25 per cent ceiling on the U.S. contribution for UN operating expenses instead of the present 31.2 per cent.

"We will remain supportive at higher levels for the major voluntary organizations, like the World Health Organization," Bush said.

Bush also said the UN must take real action on terrorism and hijacking by bringing "moral pressure to bear on ratifying anti-hijacking treaties and give strong support to putting teeth into anti-hijacking statutes in their own countries."

Bush said any effectiveness he has had in the UN was based on his support of President Nixon's foreign policy.

"The initiative the President took on his trips to China and Russia have been good for the climate inside the UN," he said. "Although the initiatives were taken outside the UN, they were inside the charter."

Miss James Is Released

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Blues singer Etta James was free on a writ of habeas corpus today and a man arrested with her was in jail on narcotics charges.

The Los Angeles nightclub entertainer, 34, and Artis D. Mills, 30, were taken into custody Friday afternoon at a local hotel, police said.

No formal charges were filed against Miss James, officials said.

She was released Friday night on a writ signed by District Court Judge James Onion.

Mills was remanded to jail in lieu of bonds totaling $25,000 after he was charged before a peace justice with possession of heroin, narcotics paraphernalia and marijuana.

Police felony squad officers said they seized one gram of heroin and a small amount of marijuana.

Miss James had been appearing at a club here for about the past four weeks.

Mills, who said he was a band manager, gave addresses in San Antonio, Dallas and Los Angeles.

Police Sgt. Bill Weilbacher, chief of the Felony squad, said he and two other officers arrested the two on warrants signed by a municipal court judge.

Joens, exploration drilling operations manager for Humble Oil & Refining Co. in Houston and a Distinguished Lecturer for the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME, will be the guest speaker at the October meeting of the Snyder Section of SPE. The meeting is scheduled for Monday, at 6:30 p.m. at the Scurry County Coliseum in Snyder.

Joens' speech, entitled "Commitment to Conservation," will focus on the need to preserve land, air and water quality, and the cost problems associated with concentrated efforts to protect the environment during petroleum exploration and production operations. Joens will discuss the need for the petroleum industry to adopt high operating standards, to employ trained and dedicated personnel, and to support research aimed at better understanding of the environment in order to achieve a total commitment to conservation.

ARTHUR E. JOENS

Joens has been with Humble since his graduation from Georgia Tech in 1948. In his present assignment with the company, he is responsible for Humble's exploration drilling operations throughout the United States. He previously served as western division environmental conservation manager and was responsible for preserving environmental quality in Humble's West Coast and Alaskan drilling and producing operations.

Joens is a past chairman of the Spindletop Section of the Society of Petroleum engineers.

Satellite Is Studying Clouds

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Clues to the origin of the stars are being gathered by an unmanned satellite orbiting 500 miles above the earth.

Called the Orbiting Astronomical Observatory, the satellite is studying the composition of interstellar clouds, believed by some to be the matter from which stars are formed.

"Scientists cannot study these gaseous clouds from the ground," said Dr. Lyman Spitzer of Princeton University, "since the ultraviolet light used to study them cannot penetrate the earth's atmosphere."

With an accuracy equivalent to focusing on the width of a pencil 10 miles away, a fine error sensor orients the satellite's telescope toward an object under investigation. The electronic system was designed and built by GTE Sylvania Inc.

Hill, Simpson Spark Buffalo

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Initially, the Buffalo Bills are as good as they come in the National Football League.

The intials, of course, belong to J.D. Hill and O.J. Simpson. And because of those two-letter names, the Bills are better off after only four games this season then they were after the entire 1971 campaign, when they managed just one victory in 14 games.

Thus far, they're 2-2 and locked in a three-way tie with the New York Jets and New England Patriots for second place in the American Conference East.

The Miami Dolphins, not surprisingly, are first, unbeaten in four games. Quite surprisingly, the Baltimore Colts are last at 1-3.

Hill is locked in a three-way tie of his own. He, Fred Biletnikoff of the Oakland Raiders and Otis Taylor of the Kansas City Chiefs, with 18 receptions apiece, are deadlocked for the AFC pass-catching lead.

And this Sunday, while Taylor and the Chiefs, leading the AFC West, battle Cincinnati's Central Division-leading Bengals—each with 3-1 records—Hill and Biletnikoff will go at it head to head in a Bills-Raiders clash in Oakland.

Sunday's other games have San Diego at Miami, Dallas at Baltimore, Washington at St. Louis, Los Angeles at Philadelphia, Houston at Pittsburgh, the Jets at New England, the New York Giants at San Francisco, Minnesota at Denver, Atlanta at New Orleans and Chicago at Cleveland. In Monday night's contest, Green Bay is at Detroit.

Like the Bills, the Raiders are second in their division, tied with San Diego at 2-1-1 behind the Chiefs in the West. Both are coming off victories. The Bills stunned New England 38-14 last Sunday, then the Raiders shellacked hapless Houston 34-0 Monday night.

Hill caught only two passes against the Patriots, but one of them covered 36 yards for a touchdown. And Simpson, fifth among AFC ground gainers, although held to 31 yards by New England, still managed to break loose for an 11-yard scoring scamper.

Just ahead of O.J. in conference rushing is Oakland's Marv Hubbard, who ripped through the Oilers' defense for 73 yards. And Biletnikoff hauled in six passes for 94 yards, including a 16-yarder for a touchdown.

At quarterback, though, there's a contrast. Oakland's Daryle Lamonica leads the AFC passers while Buffalo's Dennis Shaw is eighth. Both have thrown five touchdowns, but while Lamonica has had only one pass picked off, Shaw has had seven.

Mike Livingston, who has won all 11 of his starts as Kansas City's quarterback and threw three touchdown passes in beating Cleveland 31-7 last week, may give way to veteran Len Dawson. And Kansas City is expected to have running back Ed Podolak in the lineup. He sat out the Browns' game with an injured ankle.

The Bengals, who have won one of five games against the Chiefs, had gone more than two games without a touchdown before getting three in a 21-10 victory over Denver last Sunday.

The Dolphins will probably start wide receiver Howard Twilley again in place of hamstring-hampered Marlin Briscoe. Twilley had a touchdown catch in the 27-17 victory over the Jets. The Chargers have beaten Miami in four of five meetings.

It's a rematch of Super Bowl V in Baltimore where the Cowboys are hoping Calvin Hill can repeat his performance of a week ago, when he rushed for 108 yards, caught four passes for 27 more and threw a 55-yard game-winning touchdown pass in a 17-13 victory over Pittsburgh. The Colts, who beat Dallas in that Super Bowl, desperately need a victory to remain in contention for a playoff berth.

The Redskins, tied with Dallas for the National Conference East lead at 3-1, beat the Cardinals 24-10 three weeks ago on Billy Kilmer's two touchdown passes. But Sonny Jurgensen will be starting for Washington at quarterback this time while St. Louis will go with Gary Cuozzo instead of Tim Van Galder.

The Eagles have the league's top receiver in Harold Jackson and the NFC's No. 6 passer in rookie John Reaves—but they still haven't won a game. One reason is they're next-to-last in NFC team defense. Now they face the Rams, second-best in that department. Los Angeles leads the NFC West with a 2-1-1 mark.

Houston is last in both offense and defense in the AFC and almost anything the Oilers do in Pittsburgh will be an improvement over the dismal showing last Monday night.

Both the Jets and Patriots are hoping to stay within catch-up range of the Dolphins. The game is likely to be an aerial war between Joe Namath and New England's Jim Plunkett.

Norm Snead, the league's No. 1 passer leads the Giants against San Francisco and No. 4 NFC quarterback John Brodie, whose primary target, Gene Washington, is third in conference receiving.

Like the Colts, the Vikings are a playoff team from last year stumbling along with a 1-3 record, identical to Denver's mark. It's the first regular-season meeting between Minnesota and the Broncos. Both teams are strong on defense and better-than-average on offense but have been unable to retain late-game leads.

The Saints, like the Oilers, are last in both offense and defense in their conference, and are winless to boot. Now New Orleans must cope with the Falcons, who have the NFC's No. 2 passer in Bob Berry and No. 2 ground gainer in Art Malone. They are primary reasons why Atlanta leads the conference in total offense.

The Bears are also looking for their first victory and are counting on a pair of runners, Bobby Douglass and Jim Harrison, to give the Browns' shaky rush defense some trouble.

The NFC's Central Division lead is at stake Monday night. The Packers' John Brockington and Detroit's Steve Owens are just about even in conference rushing and the same goes for Green Bay's Scott Hunter and the Lions' Greg Landry in NFC passing.

Celtics Beat LA, 112-104

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics have always been contenders in the National Basketball Association. Coach Tommy Heinsohn says this year is no different.

The Celtics beat Los Angeles 112-104 in Boston Friday night, doing it the typical Celtic way with John Havlicek scoring 30 points and with team defense.

Part of that defense was holding the Lakers' high-scoring guard Jerry West to just four points for three quarters. Of course, West broke loose in the final period to score 17 points but by then it was too late for the Lakers.

"John Havlicek did a helluva job on West," said Heinsohn.

Boston used a seven-minute scoring burst in the second quarter to beat the Lakers, outscoring them 25-10. Don Nelson scored 10 of those points and Havlicek eight.

Dave Cowens tallied 26 points for Boston as well as grabbing 24 rebounds. West led the Lakers with 21 while Happy Hairston and Jim McMillian each had 20.

In other NBA games, Baltimore whipped Atlanta 115-98, Detroit topped Chicago 100-91, Buffalo trimmed Philadelphia 104-101, Houston edged Cleveland 109-108, Milwaukee thumped Phoenix 117-105 and Seattle downed Portland 92-84.

In the American Basketball Association, it was New York 114, Kentucky 96; Carolina 106, Indiana 88; and Denver 109, San Diego 100.

"Just a case of great defense," said Baltimore Coach Gene Shue after his team had held Atlanta under 100 points.

Stan Love and Phil Chenier sparked the Bullets' attack. Chenier got 24 points and Love 21 in just 18 minutes of playing time. Atlanta's Pete Maravich had 27 points and Lou Hudson 25.

Detroit ran off 10 straight points late in the second period to grab an eight-point halftime lead over Chicago. The Bulls pulled within four points four times in the second half but the Pistons held off the assault.

Bob Lanier scored 21 for Detroit while teammates Dave Bing and Willie Norwood had 18 each. Bob Love led the Bulls with 20 points.

Two Owls Are Out For Season

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Rice starters have been lost for the rest of the 1972 season with knee injuries.

Defensive tackle Larry Medford was injured against Clemson and flanker Bubba Berg received his knee injury in Rice's opener against Houston.

Doctors at first hoped the two might respond to treatment but that possibility was ruled out in both cases Friday.

The Owls also are without middle linebacker Rodrigo Barnes, who will miss four to six weeks with a kidney injury.

Odessa Upsets Cooper, 22-12

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Abilene Cooper, which knocked district rival San Angelo from the unbeaten ranks last week, was upset by unheralded Odessa Friday night in the highlight of Class 4A schoolboy football action.

Odessa beat Cooper, the third-ranked team in The Associated Press weekly high school poll, 22-12.

Two other teams in AP's 4A Top 10 were defeated. San Angelo, ninth-rated this week, failed to bounce back as it lost 38-26 to Midland Lee, and No. 10 North Mesquite, undefeated and unscored on previously, fell 35-14 to Denton.

The rest of the 4A elite that saw action Friday, including top-ranked San Antonio Lee, rolled to easy victories. Lee toppled San Antonio Roosevelt 41-10, No. 2 Odessa Permian shattered Abilene High 48-0, fourth-ranked Conroe blanked Houston St. Thomas 24-0, No. 5 Austin Reagan tripped Austin Crockett 21-0 and seventh-ranked Wichita Falls clobbered Fort Worth Castleberry 48-0. No. 6 Port Neches, Groves and No. 8 Hereford had open dates.

Class 3A action was marked by just one upset among the Top 10—Iowa Park's 31-20 triumph over ninth-rated Brownwood. Class kingpin Uvalde spoiled Pleasanton 46-3, No. 2 Brenham continued to roll up high offensive totals with a 77-24 victory over Crockett, third-ranked Ennis plastered Mexia 27-0, No. 4 Cuero edged San Antonio East Central 10-7, No. 5 Mount Pleasant humbled Jefferson 74-0, once-tied and sixth-rated Silsbee shut out Bridge City 26-0, No. 8 Kilgore outscored Gladewater 42-30 and 10th-ranked West Orange blanked Little Cypress 24-0. Seventh-ranked Monahans was idle.

Ranked teams in Class 2A had a loss-marred night as four of the eight clubs in action lost or were tied. Third-ranked Refugio was tied 14-14 by Palfurrias, No. 5 Hondo was edged 21-20 by Medina Valley, No. 7 Denver City was nipped 6-3 by Lubbock Cooper and Clyde shocked 10th-ranked Haskell 29-12. The top-ranked 2A squad, Childress, escaped with a 43-12 victory over Hamlin, while fourth-ranked Friendswood clipped Katy 42-14, No. 6 Rockwall smashed Wills Point 35-7 and No. 8 Tomball clubbed Willis 42-6. Second-ranked Jacksboro met Fort Worth Nolan Saturday and No. 9 Linden-Kildare was idle.

The No. 1 team in Class B, Rule, also had a free week, as did No. 4 Happy. No. 2 Big Sandy and No. 3 New Waverly, the only other Class B teams with first place votes, came through with easy triumphs. Big Sandy shut out Union Hill 47-7 and New Waverly laughed its way over Oakwood 57-7.

Ira Rips Buffs 54-6

IRA—Ira's Bulldogs pounded Fluvanna 54-6 in a Six-Man football game that was called in the third quarter under the 45 point rule.

Dale Wiggins gave the visitors a preview of things to come by running the kickoff back for a touchdown. The kick failed.

Donald Sellars and Kirby Sterling teamed up on a 60 yard pass and run play for Ira's second touchdown. Again, the kick failed.

Fluvanna scored its only touchdown on a 22-yard run on a dive play.

Late in the initial period, Dale Wiggins broke loose again, this time on a 40 yard touchdown run as the quarter ended with Ira ahead 18-6.

Richard Daves scored for Ira in the second quarter on a 30 yard run. The extra point kick made it 26-6. Later in the period Dale Wiggins shook loose on a 62 yard run and the bonus points boosted the count to 34-6.

Dale Wiggins scored again on a 60 yard run in the third quarter and the two-point kick made it 42-6. Wiggins also scored on a 30 yard run and Randy Sterling tallied on a two yard plunge in the third quarter.

Defensively, Coach Patrick Sadler was proud of the entire team, but he said Steve Sallee and Bobby Haddox, defensive ends, and Randy Sterling, nose guard, were outstanding.

Snyder's Dub Preston Is Top Poke Prospect

ABILENE—A squad of 19 players, including five returning lettermen, will greet Russell Berry Monday as he begins his first year as head basketball coach at Hardin-Simmons University.

Berry was named head coach and athletic director late last season after the death of Glen Whitis, and directed the Cowboys in their last two games, winning one and losing one.

And as he starts preparing the Cowboys for the tough schedule which begins Nov. 28, he'd like to think they can keep up the momentum they had going the final half of last season, when they won 9 out of 12.

He expects the squad to report in good physical condition. At least there are no serious injuries apparent now such as there were at this time last year when it already had become evident that two players would have to miss a season of play.

Those two, Tom Jahns, 6-6 junior from LaPorte, Ind., and Lyneal James, 6-5 junior from Colorado City, are back in shape and may well be the key to this year's success. They are expected to fill the big gap left by Ray Williams, H-SU's all-time scoring leader who finished his eligibility last year and now is on the coaching staff.

"Our record may depend on how well Jahns and James come around," Berry said in previewing the season.

"At any rate, we must do a lot of work. We look more experienced on paper than we really are. As a group, we haven't played much together. We need a lot of scrimmaging to better understand each other's movements and styles of play."

The prospective varsity roster includes three players who started much of last season, plus Jahns, who started as a sophomore until his knee was injured at mid-season in 1971.

Harvey Catchings, at 6-9½ the tallest man on the squad, returns after an impressive sophomore year, and could be destined for real stardom, his coaches believe.

Catchings ignored a 15-round draft call by Utah last year in order to play a couple more seasons for the Cowboys.

"Harvey could become one of the best players H-SU has ever had," Berry said. "He is quick and agile for a big man, and is a fine rebounder."

But what most people don't know about Harvey is that he has had only three years of organized competition—one in high school, one at Weatherford Junior College and last year at Hardin-Simmons.

Two guards who started most of last season are back. They are Gary Crowthers, 6-3 junior from Terre Haute, Ind., and Steve Loos, 6-1 senior from Sterling, Ill. Another regular, James Brown of Abilene High, was a scholastic casualty.

Strong contenders at guard include Donnie Wood, 6-0 sophomore from Coleman who led the freshman team in scoring last year; Ricky Flowers, 6-3 junior letterman from Clarksdale, Miss.; and Robert Mahoney, 6-1 sophomore from Fort Worth.

Vying with Jahns and James at forward will be Stedman Graham, 6-6 junior letterman from Whitesboro, N.J. whose experience may give him an inside track to a starting berth; Jeff Jamison, 6-4 sophomore from Odessa Permian; and James Mitchell, 6-2 sophomore from Jackson, Miss.

Berry, who came with Whitis as an assistant coach two years ago from Howard Payne, believes that attitude may be the biggest asset his team has.

"This group really wants to win," he said. "They've been great about staying in shape through the summer and appear to get along well together."

Offensively, Berry likes the fast-break, high-scoring type of basketball, but actually considers himself more of a defensive coach.

Coach Whitis made me responsible for the defense, and that may be what I'm strongest in," he said. "We're going to be a multiple type defensive team. Primary emphasis will be on man-to-man, but I'm still not ashmed to employ a zone when it suits our purpose."

Because the squad is small, Berry plans to work the entire unit together at first, with workouts scheduled in Rose Field House on the H-SU campus until Nov. 1. Then they'll move to Taylor County Coliseum, where all varsity games will be played this season.

Berry's chief aide is Preston Vice, former McMurry star who joined the staff last year after serving in the Marines. Williams is a graduate assistant and will work mainly with the junior varsity.

With only six freshmen on the squad, Berry chose to field a junior varsity team this year in order to give all players who aren't seeing varsity action some experience.

Under new rules, freshmen can play varsity ball if they're capable, and Berry may have a couple who can do it.

A top prospect is Dub Preston, 6-5 forward-guard from Snyder High School whose father was a Cowboy captain some 20 years ago. Ronald Skipper, 6-7 forward from Clarksdale, Miss., also shows promise.

Others slated for JV duty initially are Moore Matthews, 5-10 freshman from LaFeria; Perry Flowd, 5-11, from Van Horn; Virdie Montgomery, 6-0 freshman from Graham; Albert Merchant, 5-11 freshman from Abilene High; and Tommy Miller, 5-11 sophomore from Weinert.

The Cowboys open at home Nov. 28 against Central State College of Edmond, Okla. Then they head for the West Coast, playing Southern Cal on Dec. 1, Santa Barbara Dec. 2 and San Diego State, Dec. 4.

Next home action will be the Cowboy Classic Dec. 8-9, involving H-SU, McMurry, Idaho State and Dallas Baptist.

High Scoring

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (ap) — When it comes to high scoring football machines, you must mention the Golden Rams of West Chester. Over the last 10 seasons the Rams led the nation's college-division teams with a 32.5 points per game average.

"We're never afraid to take a chance," says new head coach John Furlow who assisted former coaches Jim Bonder and Bob Mitten. "We like to score quickly and usually go for the big play right away."

Tennessee State ranks second over the last 10 years with a 31.5 points per game average, according to the National Collegiate Sports Services who keep NCAA records.

Manager Billy Martin of the Detroit Tigers was the 1953 World Series star, hitting .500 for the New York Yankees.

Hermleigh Wins 64-13

FLOWER GROVE — Dale Peterson paced a steady touchdown parade here Friday night as the Hermleigh Cardinals walloped Flower Grove, 64-13, in six-man football action.

The Cardinals rolled to a 30-0 lead at half time and then coasted home with ease.

Charles Kuss hit pay dirt first for Hermleigh on a 5-yard scamper, and then Peterson turned in TD gallops of 37 yards and 72 yards, giving Hermleigh a 22-0 lead after Ronnie Roemisch kicked two conversions.

The Cardinals went to the air for the only score in the second period, with Tommy Vineyard passing to Joe Taylor on a play that covered 21 yards.

Peterson was off to another winning race in the third period, traveling 62 yards for his third touchdown of the evening. Joe Taylor then added six points on an end-around play that covered five yards.

Flower Grove scored both of its touchdowns in the third period, with Jimmy Ross accounting for both of them on runs of 75 yards and 12 yards.

In the fourth period, Ronnie Roemisch dashed 39 yards for another Hermleigh tally, and then Taylor passed to Jay Roemisch for a 50-yard scoring play to conclude the parade across the goal line.

Former Cleveland Indian pitching star Bob Lemon—now managing the Kansas City Royals—is the only pitcher who this year managed in the major leagues.

SWC Slates Golf Match

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwest Conference, for the first time in its 58-year history, will hold a nine-team golf championship this week.

The University of Houston makes its conference debut Thursday and Friday in the second annual conference Match Play Tournament at Oak Cliff Country Club in Dallas. Voted into the conference as the ninth member in April 1971, Houston competes in all championships except football and basketball this school year.

The addition of the Cougar golf team gives the league meet the appearance of being a preview of the NCAA finals. Houston has finished second to Texas in the national collegiate tournament the last two years after winning it 12 of the previous 14 years.

Practice rounds will be held Wednesday at the Oak Cliff course. Two 18-hole rounds will be held Thursday. The final 18 holes begin Friday morning. Championships will be awarded in team, four-ball, two-ball and medical play.

Texas swept last fall's inaugural match-play tournament behind two-year national collegiate medalist Ben Crenshaw, who returns this year as a junior. Texas won the team standings with 33 points to 30 for runner-up Southern Methodist, which defeated Texas in match play in that meet. The Texas team defeated SMU by two strokes in four-ball play; Crenshaw and Brent Buckman won two-ball by seven strokes over SMU's Mark Triggs and Mike Huebinger; and Crenshaw shot a six-under-par 207 to win medal by 16 strokes over Texas Christian's Eddie Vossler.

This week's tournament could see six schools in strong contention. In addition to Texas and Houston, strong foursomes are expected from SMU, TCU, Texas Tech and Texas A&M Baylor, Arkansas and Rice will also enter foursomes. SMU returns three of the four who took runnerup honors last year, TCU returns two members of its third-place team and Tech and A&M return top shotmakers.

Texas won the Tucker Collegiate Invitational in Albuquerque, N.M., last weekend, coming from eight strokes off the pace to register a one-stroke victory over Florida. Texas' Warren Chancellor tied for runner-up at 293, while Crenshaw was fourth at 294. Houston was seven strokes off Texas' winning total of 1192.

Among the favorites to challenge Crenshaw's medalist championship are Bill Rogers of Houston, the 1972 Southern Amateur champion who finished six strokes behind comedalists Crenshaw and teammate Tom Kite in 1972 NCAA individual play; Vossler and teammate Sal Omohundro, who tied for runnerup to Crenshaw in last spring's SWC individual championship; SMU's Mark Triggs, the other spring runnerup; Tech's Bucky Sheffield and A&M's Tommy Johnson and Steve Veriato.

BANNISTER STRESSES SPORTS FOR BRITONS

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON (AP) — Roger Bannister, the man who ran the first sub-four-minute mile, is trying to hustle Britain into being more sports conscious.

The famed runner, now 43 and chairman of the government-backed Sports Counsil, has launched a campaign called "Sport For All." In it he called for $735 million of British public funds to be spent on recreational facilities including sports, instead of $85.75-million spent at present.

Bannister makes these points:

—In Northwest England, a busy industrial area, a survey showed 60 per cent of the people would have liked to participate in sports but were frustrated by lack of facilities.

—Hamburg, West Germany, a city of 3 million people, has 280 sports centers. Birmingham, Britain's second largest city with just over 1 million people, has three.

—Britain has 150,000 acres of derelict land that could be turned into golf courses.

Bannister retired from active athletics soon after his historic 3 minutes 59.4 seconds mile run in 1954. But ever since then he has stayed in the limelight as a campaigner for better sports facilities.

He is now a doctor specializing in nervous diseases. He became chairman of the Sports Council, which has $8.5 million of state money to distribute to needy sports bodies each year, in 1971.

Bannister's own sports these days are golf and sailing.

He launched his new campaign just as the British were feeling disgruntled over the lack of success of their athletes at the Munich Olympics. But Bannister emphasized he was not primarily interested in winning more Olympic gold medals.

"I want to see more people participating in sport because it would make for a happier nation," he said. "And as a doctor I know that would mean a healthier nation too."

He said he hoped to see the day when it will be mandatory for every major new building, hotel, factory, apartment or office block to include sports facilities.

"They should be as usual and necessary as modern plumbing," Bannister said.

He said one of the Sports Council's main objects must be to persuade municipal and county authorities to spend more money on sports. At present, local authorities in Britain spend about $46.5 million a year.

Bannister wants to see school playing fields and swimming pools opened up for public use.

"No big swimming pool should be unused during the weekends or school vacations," he said.

"It is such a fantastic waste of money. You might as well stand by the Houses of Parliament and throw pound notes into the River Thames."

SophomoresRip Loraine, 32-16

LORAINE —The Snyder High School sophomore varisty belted Loraine 32-16 here Friday night.

The Snyder team took a 16-0 lead in the first quarter, but the Loraine varsity tied it up in the second period. A third and fourth quarter touchdown by the visitors sacked up the victory.

Ricky Howell plunged across right tackle from four yards out to climax a 75 yard drive by Snyder in the first quarter. Win Bunch passed to Eric Schrader for the two extra points.

Later in the period, Ricky Howell got loose on a 55 yard touchdown run up the middle. Bunch swept left end for the bonus points.

Loraine got back in the game on a 55 yard pass play in the second quarter. A successful run for two points on the conversion play left the hosts behind 16-8.

Just before halftime, Loraine intercepted a pass and scored on a 50 yard return. A pass for two extra points knotted the score at 16-16 at halftime.

Snyder came out in the third quarter and put on a determined 65 yard drive with the touchdown coming on a short pass from Win Bunch to Roy Lee Carter. Bunch passed to Davis Mayes for the two extra points as Snyder went ahead 24-16.

A third quarter run for 55 yards by Dennis Young was nullified by a penalty.

In the fourth period, Ricky Howell plunged across from three yards out to cap a 65 yard drive. Win Bunch ran across for the two bonus points.

Coach Milton Ham of the sophomores said the linebackers and secondary did an outstanding job on defense. Offensively, everyone contributed to the win, he said.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Yogi seldom struck out," general manager Bob Scheffing of the New York Mets recalled when talking about past World Series. That statement brought a check of the 1961 series between the Yankees and Cincinnati Reds.

In that clash—won in five games by the Yankees—Berra struck out leading off the fifth inning against Bob Purkey. It was Berra's first series strikeout in his last 105 at bats in series competition. Berra played left field in that series, batting fourth, fifth and sixth. Ellie Howard was the Yankee catcher.

Eight managers who finished the National League season formerly played the outfield.

Profit Jumps In Spotlight

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The flow of corporate earnings reports increased this past week, with many companies reporting sizeable profit jumps.

St. Regis Paper Co. announced a whopping 153 per cent gain in third-quarter profits to $10.6 million, and International Paper Co. said its net rose 78 per cent to $25 million. A year earlier, the companies said, profits were unusually depressed.

Another sharp jump was reported by Allied Chemical Corp., whose third-quarter profits rose 56 per cent to $14 million over 1971 levels.

Solid gains also were recorded by Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric and International Business Machines; but Polaroid — still bearing the development costs of its soon-to-be-introduced SX-70 camera — reported a 35 per cent earnings plunge.

Profits at Eastman Kodak rose 21 per cent to $152.6 million; at Westinghouse, 11.8 per cent to $49.7 million; at GE, 12 per cent to $127.8 million, and at IBM, 20.2 per cent to $320.9 million. Polaroid earnings dropped to $8.7 million.

In other corporate news, Gulf Oil Corp. announced that its directors had authorized the write-off of $250 million in marginal and unprofitable operations.

The huge write-off, amounting to about 2.5 per cent of the corporation's assets, will be taken off this year.

Also during the week, IBM failed in an attempt to delay until after the presidential election the Justice Department's first statement of goals in its antitrust suit against the computer giant.

An IBM spokesman said the company feared that political pressures might lead the Justice Department to give the company an ultimatum rather than a set of demands that could become the basis for an out-of-court settlement. Basically, the suit alleges that IBM crowded competitors out of the computer market with practices that violated the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Another important corporate development was the unveiling by Berkey Photo, Inc., of a new instant-picture camera, which challenges Polaroid's 23-year virtual monopoly of the $200-million market.

The new camera, with a built-in electronic flash, will become available around Thanksgiving, selling for about $80.

Zoo Gets Mountain Lion

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A 105-pound mountain lion, captured in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Friday was resting today at Gladys Porter Zoo here.

The male mountain lion, described as a "prime young male cat," was captured near the Arroyo Colorado between San Benito and Rio Hondo after Mark Wickes' dogs treed it during a coyote hunt.

Wickes and his brother, Buck, also of San Benito, called the zoo and Dr. Donald Farst, associate director, and Dave Thompson, associate curator, raced to the scene with a tranquilizer gun.

With a single shot, Farst was able to quiet the mountain lion who had been infuriated by Wickes' three hunting dogs.

The mountain lion climbed into a tree after being shot, but then fell to the ground and engaged in a brief, but violent fight with the dogs, injuring one slightly.

After loading the animal into a jeep with its paws tied with borrowed belts, Farst said "the main thing is to get him to the zoo before he wakes up."

Dr. Warrent Thomas, zoo director, said the cat was about two years old.

"In all likelihood, other mountain lions are still surviving in brush covered areas of Cameron County," Dr. Thomas said.

The final disposition of the animal will be up to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, but Dr. Thomas expressed hope the zoo would get to keep the animal as a mate to a female at the zoo.

Dr. Thomas said he was opposed to turning the animal lose in the wild, saying its life might be endangered by a hunter "not as thoughtful as Mark Wickes."

Lot Of Bull

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Two South American buyers bought two of the top Santa Gertrudis bulls at the annual King Ranch auction Friday for approximately $20,000 each.

The buyers were Guillermo Campos Sales of Sao Paulo and Luis Odilon Rodriguez of Rio Grande do Sud in Brazil.

The Ranch sold 14 bulls for a total of $146,000. The average price of $10,428.57 was the second highest in the 21-year history of the sale.

In the King Ranch quarterhorse auction Friday morning, 22 quarterhorses sold for an average of $3,125.

The top selling colt was purchased by the Dera Carl Ranch, Sonoita, Arizona for $4,500. The biggest price paid for a filly was $7,000 by Dennis Dennis and Koeph, Inc. of Cloverdale, Calif.

Cancel Parade

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The American Legion has canceled its traditional Veterans Day parade this fall for lack of interest.

"There hasn't been enough interest in a parade this year. We've even had trouble getting bands and military groups to participate," the Legion said Friday.

JD Eyes Dallas Bank Mergers

DALLAS (AP) — Possible violations of federal anti-trust laws in connection with recent bank mergers in Dallas County are being investigated by the Justice Department, it was learned here Friday.

The Dallas Times Herald, in an exclusive, copy-righted story; said letters had been sent by James F. Falco, assistant attorney general with the Justice Department, asking several banks for copies of annual reports to shareholders, financial statements and correspondence relating to stock ownership. Information was asked dating back to 1967.

The letter stated, according to the Times Herald: "We are currently conducting an inquiry into commercial banking in Dallas County, Texas, because of questions raised under the federal anti-trust law."

Apparently the anti-trust questions were prompted by the increasing number of bank holding companies through which major Texas banks are expanding.

Texas is a unit, non-branch, banking state, but federal banking laws passed in 1970 allow banks to establish holding companies through which the parent holding company can acquire other banks.

First National Bank of Dallas announced earlier this week the pending acquisition of three other banks in Dallas County. Houston also has a major bank holding company with subsidiaries in other Texas cities.

Among banks currently negotiating possible acquisition by holding companies headquartered elsewhere are Texas Bank & Trust, Exchange Bank & Trust, and National Bank of Commerce.

One Dallas bank president welcomed the government probe. Fred T. Brooks of Merchants State Bank was quoted as saying he thought the investigation would "clear the air as to what's going on."

Oil Spill Contained

MONUMENT VALLEY, Utah (AP) — Workmen who say they have contained an oil slick that oozed down the San Juan River now face the problem of getting the slick out of the water and disposing of it.

Already underway is the somewhat baffling task of cleaning traces of oil residue from nearly 200 miles of rocky riverbank in southern Utah.

Thousands of gallons drifted down the river from a pipeline which sprang a leak near Shiprock, N.M., early in the week.

The river snakes through some of the Southwest's most colorful landscape and marks the northern boundary for the Navajo Indian Reservation. Part of it flows through the unique redrock canyons of Glen Canyon National Recreation Area.

The effort to inspect and contain the oil nearly included tragedy Friday when a twin-engine light plane carrying officials of the Environmental Protection Agency crashed as it attempted to land on a dirt airstrip at a trading post and Indian mission hospital settlement here.

The three persons aboard escaped injury, but the plane was destroyed.

Some 20 air miles west, crews successfully strung a series of plastic and log "skimmers" across the San Juan as it flows into Lake Powell reservoir at an area known by native Navajos as Copper Canyon, which resembles the famed Painted Desert some 200 miles to the south.

Containment and successful disposal of the oil appears to insure little or no further damage to the unusual landscape.

Still unknown is the extent of damage to the remote river and the cliff walls through which it flows.

Crews of the Texas-New Mexico Pipeline Co. set out boats to burn any oil on the river's surface, the company said. The firm also said approval for this burning was received from appropriate government agencies.

NIJMEGEN, Netherlands (AP)—Premature twins born to Princess Irene, the second daughter of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard, are reported doing well.

The twins, a girl weighing only 3 lbs, 13 oz., and the boy, who weighed 4 lbs. 12 oz., were born Friday.

McGovern Plans Fourth Texas Trip

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern makes his fourth campaign trip to Texas Monday and Tuesday as he attempts to swing the state's 26 electoral votes into the Democratic column on Nov. 7.

A highlight of the busy journey back and forth will be an address to a joint session of the Texas Legislature at 3:30 p.m. Monday.

From Austin McGovern will go to Houston and San Antonio and then stop by Fort Worth on Tuesday.

McGovern visited Austin and former President Lyndon Johnson at LBJ ranch last Aug. 21. He was in Dallas and Houston Sept. 6 and 7, then made another visit to Houston Sept. 10. His running mate, Sargent Shriver, has made more than half a dozen trips to Texas.

McGovern has called Texas one of the half dozen so-called key states in order to win the presidential election.

President Nixon, who lost Texas by only 39,000 votes to Hubert Humphrey in 1968, visited Laredo, Rio Grande City, Harlingen, San Antonio and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's ranch at Floresville on Sept. 22. He had visited Connally's ranch earlier for a special dinner for Connally's friends and supporters.

The Texas Senate passed a resolution Friday inviting Nixon to address the current session also. The session is scheduled to end at midnight Tuesday.

The 3:30 p.m. speech to the legislature cancelled previous plans for a meeting with farm and ranch leaders in Waco followed by a public rally in downtown Waco.

The Democratic nominee will speak first at a barbecue and rally in Hermann Park in Houston late Monday, then attend a private party hosted by Bernard Rapoport, president of the American Income Life Insurance Co. of Waco.

He flys to San Antonio for a speech and rally in front of the Alamo at 8:30 p.m. Monday. Free beer, free tamales and entertainment will be featured.

McGovern and his party will spend the night in San Antonio and speak at 9 a.m. Tuesday at a breakfast for workers from Kelly Air Force Base.

From San Antonio he flys to Fort Worth for a noon rally at Burkburnett Park. After the rally he will continue his campaign outside the state.

Togetherness Not Talking Politics

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — Togetherness is not talking politics.

At least for Cathy Jones of DeSoto, Mo., and Debbie Svoboda of Hebron, Neb.

Grant Okayed For Brazos Planning

WASHINGTON— Congressman Omar Burleson announces approval of a $75,000 Environmental Protection Agency grant to the Brazos River Authority for the Water Quality Management Planning.

The purpose of the study is to develop a basin-wide water quality management plan for the Brazos Basin and adjoining coastal areas, comprising about one-sixth of the area of Texas. Scurry County is one of 68 in the Basin. The study is to be financed half by State and local funds and half by this Federal grant, under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

The desirability of having an effective plan throughout the basin is fully realized by all concerned. The urgency of developing such a plan has been emphasized by Federal regulations requiring that sewage systems built with Federal assistance in the future must be consistent with basin-wide water quality management plans; if such basin-wide plans are not in existence, the proposed sewage treatment facilities will not be eligible for Federal grants to assist in paying construction costs.

Congressman Burleson expressed gratification at the approval of the grant, having made personal contacts with the EPA Administrator in behalf of the Brazos River Authority request.

Eleanor McGovern Is Improved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eleanor McGovern, wife of Democratic presidential nomimee George McGovern, was reported rested comfortably today at a hospital where she went after suffering acute abdominal pains.

Initial tests showed nothing seriously wrong. Further tests were planned.

McGovern, in Seattle, said his wife suffered an intestinal spasm. He said what she really needs "is two days of relaxation."

State Legislators Facing Many Uncertainties

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — If you're confused about what's happening in the special legislative session, you've got plenty of company. Most senators and representatives, for instance.

They face all kinds of uncertainties — and even stomach-churning fears in some cases—when they return to work Monday for the final two days of the session.

Gov. Preston Smith, who called the session mainly on the issue of competitive rates for car and house insurance, is the source of most of the fear.

If unsatisfied with the outcome of the session, he could call another one—perhaps immediately. About 40 of the 181 legislators are involved in political races and fear they will lose ground if they can't stay home and campaign between now and Nov. 7, election day.

Four weeks of committee hearings and debate haven't added clarity to the competitive rate issue.

The big question remains:

Would Texans be better off if insurance companies price their product themselves instead of the current system of mandatory auto and house insurance rates set by a state government agency?

Nobody really knows for sure. State Insurance Board member Durwood Manford, who would lose considerable power if the board was stripped of its rate-making power, says rates would increase. Former board chairman Larry Teaver, now on Smith's staff, says most Texans would save money.

There are side issues, too.

Should rate competition take place beneath a maximum rate set by the board? What policyholder protections should be written into a rate competition bill? What kind of geographic rating territories—if any—should be allowed? How should policyholders be grouped into rate classifications? Should the bill include such other matters as group insurance and rules on policy cancellations?

The Senate last week quickly passed Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy's rate competition bill. Mauzy accepted just about any amendment that was offered. His bill would require the insurance board to set a yearly rate ceiling, permit group car insurance, outlaw higher rates for youthful drivers and require all rates to be written on a statewide basis.

In the House, Rep. Don Cavness backed an open competition bill, with the board setting "standard average rates" for use by consumers in comparison shopping for insurance.

But Thursday night, the House slapped on an amendment requiring the insurance board to set maximum rates and wiping out rate classifications based on age. Cavness failed twice Friday to remove the amendment, then fought his amended bill as a "piece of junk" and saw it defeated 57-77.

The House Insurance Committee then took the Senate bill, substituted the Cavness proposal for it, and approved it for floor debate.

Cavness needs a two-thirds vote to bring the bill up Monday. Failing that, it would be on Tuesday's calendar, he said. If his bill should pass then, a compromise with the Senate would have to be written, printed and voted on by both Houses before that midnight, the mandatory adjournment time for the session.

"I'm very doubtful we can pass a bill," Speaker Rayford Price said.

Smith's threat of another special session left lawmakers wondering what conditions they had to meet to avoid one.

Early in the week, he said all he wanted was a clearcut vote—up or down—on competitive rates.

But Thursday night he issued this obscure statement:

"I will want to see the final action of the legislature on the compromise competitive rating bill before I make a determination as to whether the question of competitive rating for property and casualty insurance has been fully considered and resolved or whether another special session might be needed to adequately serve this purpose and the best interests of the people."

Price said it "was not my understanding" Smith would call a new session if the bill is killed outright.

But others aren't so sure—and that's where Smith might hold the leverage he needs to put his wishes across.

GM, UAW Set Weekend Talks

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and United Auto Workers negotiators have scheduled lengthy weekend talks after strikes closed three GM plants and threatened four more next week.

The present and potential strikes deal with the same issue—one that could cause national strikes by the UAW when they negotiate their 1973 contracts with the automakers:

Long and bitter disputes over assembly line production standards —the number of workers on a line and how fast they work—caused 2,300 workers to walk out at Mansfield, Ohio; 8,500 at St. Louis, Mo., and 3,800 at Doraville, Ga., Friday.

But the strike at Mansfield could cause shutdowns and work reductions at most of the 23 GM assembly plants in the nation, company officials said, because the Mansfield workers make parts for every model car GM makes, except the Pontiac Firebird and the Chevrolet Camaro. They also make parts for GM production lines in Mexico and Canada, where the strike would also be felt strongly.

In addition, the UAW has a strike notice due to expire at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Ford Sterling Heights, Mich., plant, the only non-GM plant at which a strike is a possibility.

But, like Mansfield, the plant is a key one, making rear-end assemblies for the entire Ford production line. The UAW said if it shuts down, its effect will be felt throughout the Ford system.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock and Ken Bannnon, UAW vice president and director of the union's Ford Division, both told unionists at a Detroit meeting last month that working conditions — including production standards — will be negotiated in the next contract.

Both men emphasized if there is no other way to force the automakers to "humanize" the assembly lines, the UAW will strike nationally.

Aware of the UAW's plans, top officials from both Ford and GM publicly stated before last month's UAW meeting that working conditions are not negotiable and that no union has the right to tell a corporation how to run its business.

Woodcock said his union's current strikes against GM plants will be limited to "less than a week's duration."

He told the Los Angeles Times Friday that UAW strategy called for a number of shorter strikes in order to get "some honesty at the bargaining table."

Although GM officials won't say how long it would take for the Mansfield strike to force shutdowns and closings across the country, an industry source said that strike "could have a crippling effect within a week."
