

First Awards to Outstanding Musicians

Annual Spring Concert Will Present Two School Bands

The annual spring concert of the Wellington high school and junior high bands will be held Tuesday, May 20, featuring concert numbers, solos, and a final number presenting the combined bands.

Band director Doyle McElroy

will be in charge. Highlighting the evening will be the presentation of awards to the outstanding band member of the year, and the outstanding player of each section.

The students will not know until the time of presentation who will receive these, and it is the first time the awards have been given here.

The recipient from each section will receive a medal with a musical lyre on which is inscribed the year, while a trophy bearing the name of the winner and the year will be presented for the outstanding student of the band.

This trophy will remain the permanent property of the school, and it will be presented at the close of each school year for the next nine years.

McElroy said that it will be placed in the new trophy case in the north hall of the band department. This case was presented the department by the Band Parents Club and is hand made by Donald Curry, club president, and Sam Thompson.

Curry will present the awards to the outstanding students.

The program for the Tuesday evening event will include these concert numbers by the high school band: "Highlights from the 'King and I' by Richard Rodgers; Trumpeters Lullaby", Leroy Anderson; "In a Persian Garden", Albert W. Ketelbey; the Overture "Argentina", by Forrest L. Buchtel. Marches will be "Gate City", A. T. Weldon, and "Independencia", Hall.

Junior high students will play "Coronation", Skornicka; "Time Out for a Jam Session"; and "Three Gates of Gold", Frankischer.

There will be two trumpet solos. Tommy Akins, a sophomore, will play, "Bride of the Waves" by Clark, accompanied by Mrs. Kelly Figg, and Rebecca Carter, also a sophomore will give "Emerald Isle" by Frans. Her accompanist, will be Mr. McElroy.

The final number will be "Carnival of Roses", Olivadate, by the combined bands.

There will be a small admission charge for this concert, McElroy said, and the money will go into a fund for the advancement of instrumental music in the school.

The public is invited to the concert.

County Sells Used Equipment

The Commissioners Court in an all-day session Monday, May 12, sold two pieces of used county road equipment, met with representatives of the City Council regarding the surplus commodities program and authorized the purchase of $25,000 in government bonds with permanent school fund money.

The commissioners authorized the sale of one 9-year-old bulldozer to Charles Cason Jr., for $1,625 cash, and a Ford tractor with front end loader to Bill Tarter for $225. The court then requested Gene Jenkins, county road supervisor, to use the money to buy one or two dump trucks.

The court also approved the purchase of a used check safe for the county treasurer's office; increased the salary of Mrs. A. V. Lowrie, administrator of the surplus commodity program, from $64 to $80 per month; and approved 93 claims.

Members of the city council met with the commissioners to ask an explanation of the costs of the surplus commodities program.

A Parade on Saturday

Cub Scouts Schedule Circus Monday Evening

Dozens of Cub Scouts, 7 to 11 years old, will parade in downtown Wellington Saturday, May 17, advertising the Cub Circus to be held Monday night, May 19.

The parade is scheduled for 4 p. m. and the Cubs will be accompanied by the elementary school band under the direction of Doyle McElroy.

The youngsters will be wearing for the parade the same costumes they will wear in the Monday night circus — and there'll be Indians, hula dancers, and various sideshow characters. Most of the costumes were made by the boys themselves.

General plans for the circus are headed by Billy Hatch, Cubmaster, and he is assisted by Den mothers and Cub leaders.

The circus will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the community building. Events will include such sideshows as a fortune telling booth, a trip around the world, Indian dances in costume, throwing balls, jugglers, clowns, a swimming match, and hula dancers.

There will be a popcorn booth, and there will be displays of work they boys have done in their dens this year.

B. D. Burden Dies In Albuquerque, Funeral Here

The funeral also will be in Kelso Chapel, with the Rev. Russell Pogue, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in West Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Benjamin David Burden was born August 19, 1876, in Mississippi. He was married to Miss Cuma Graham at Paris, and after living there several years, they moved to Jackson county, Oklahoma, in 1906, making the trip in a covered wagon.

He had been a member of the Baptist Church since 1906 and his membership was in First Baptist Church here. He also was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Surviving Mr. Burden are a son and daughter, Lee Burden of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Joe Hopkins of Albuquerque. One brother also survives, Clarence Burden of Jenks, Oklahoma, along with 10 grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

C-C Announces Plans for Collingsworth County Fair

John Glasscock Heads Cancer Fund Drive

John Glasscock has been named chairman of the county Cancer Fund Drive, which opens here Friday, May 16, and will continue through the month.

A. F. Wischkaemper Jr., will be in charge of the drive for the north side of the county, including the Samnorwood, Dozier, Lutie, Lone Mound and Abra areas.

Mrs. Hugh Painter of Dodson will conduct the drive for that town and the surrounding area.

Herman Moseley, superintendent of schools, heads the work for Quail and the other communities of that school district.

The Rev. Russell Pogue, pastor of First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Frank Weir, pastor of First Methodist Church, will conduct the fund campaign in the Wellington business district.

Two women's groups are in charge in the residential section: the Business and Professional Women's Club, with Mrs. Billy Mac Sims, and the Wesleyan Guild of First Methodist Church, of which Mrs. G. B. Hopper is president.

Baccalaureate Service at Quail Set For Sunday Morning

Sixteen graduates of Quail high school will begin their commencement activities with the baccalaureate service Sunday, May 18.

The commencement will follow on Friday, May 23, with the seniors furnishing their own graduation program.

Unusual in this year's graduating class is the fact that there are only two girls, Edith Messer and Carolyn Wright. The fourteen boys who will receive diplomas are Dale Ratliff, Troy Harrison, Gano Wilson, Marion Tidwell, Billie Duckworth, Marvin Newman, Raymond Minatrea, Don McGill, Ronald Cummings, Dee Blasingame, Jerry DeBord, Loyd Langford, James Colson and Joel Young.

A Collingsworth county fair, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held this fall, the first here in more than two decades.

Dr. Chas. B. Jones was elected fair superintendent in the initial planning meeting of the C-C board of directors, and N. M. Higdon, chamber manager, was named assistant superintendent.

Committees to assist them will be named soon.

Dates of the fair will be Friday and Saturday, September 5 and 6, and it will be held at the National Guard Armory.

All plans are now tentative, the fair heads point out, but a series of other community events will be tied in with the fair, if present plans mature.

An old-settlers reunion, such as the county knew a few years ago; a rodeo, horse races; and possibly a flower show are entering into the plans, Higdon said.

The fair itself will feature Collingsworth grown produce — cotton, feeds, fruits and vegetables, a woman's division, junior division, poultry show. Livestock are definitely in the fair plans, but the sponsors point out that it is probable that the stock division of the first show will be small, since only a few animals are being prepared for the fall fair circuits.

Community-wide cooperation is being asked by the Fair sponsors.

Present plans are to finance the fair largely by selling booth space.

Fair plans are due to mature rapidly, and these will be announced as they are completed, Dr. Jones said.

Court Cases Scheduled

In a brief session of district court Monday, May 12, the civil jury docket was set for the Monday, August 19, with five cases slated for that time.

Heart Attack Fatal To Jimmy W. Cook At Perryton Friday

Jimmy Wayne Cook, 36, a Skyrocket star athlete of 20 years ago, died of a heart attack in a Perryton hospital Friday, May 9, at 5 a. m., shortly after he was stricken at his home. He has not suffered from a heart ailment previously, as far as is known.

He was a salesman for the H. C. Smith Tool Company, an oil field equipment company.

During his high school years, Cook was one of the most versatile athletes Wellington had. He also played basketball and boxed with the Wellington team. He was a high school class officer.

Get Rid of Frills in Schools, Dr. Milton Eisenhower Advises

Advocates of putting stress on fundamental subjects in the public schools have a strong ally in Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and younger brother of President Eisenhower. Speaking to a group of prominent Houstonians at the Rice Hotel, Dr. Eisenhower was critical of the trend which has filled the public school curriculum with frill subjects. Among those he mentioned were woodworking, driver education, social dancing, sewing and cooking.

Dr. Eisenhower suggested in his talk that if the parents, whom he blames for having the frills put into the curriculum, want their children to have these courses, the schools might arrange to have the classes after regular hours. This would leave the regular curriculum free for stress on the fundamental subjects like English, history, mathematics and languages.

The Houston school system already is moving in the direction suggested by Dr. Eisenhower. For example, some of its special music classes have been placed on the extracurricular list.

Dr. Eisenhower called for an increase in the academic load and said he doesn't see why students shouldn't carry five full academic subjects for 30 class hours a week. Heavier academic loads challenge the intellect of the students and result in a more serious attitude on the part of the student toward his work.

The Chronicle finds it gratifying to hear men of Dr. Eisenhower's stature espouse such a philosophy of education. For many years The Chronicle has been expressing a similar viewpoint in its editorials.—The Houston Chronicle.

Dear Editor:

I see where an Internal Revenue Service man got retired early here the other day, on account of what was called "mishandling" a few million dollars worth of used federal tax stamps.

My philosophical neighbor says he knew a fellow one time who mishandled a little business with the Internal Revenue men and they retired him, too. To Leavenworth. Says we all work for the Revenue, but it is much better to be on the payroll because if you happen to be retired for mishandling it is with a pension instead of a rock hammer.

I see where the U.S. Army is sad on account of one-fourth of the young men who get affiliated with this organization are only smart enough to make about second-rate KP specialists. Experts figure this is about the same ration of mental featherweights as among civilians, but my minus-IQ neighbor says it's a good thing.

Says if all horses were race horses, lots of plowing never would get done. And if it wasn't for us stupid one-fourth, who would dig the ditches, keep up the tail-out shirt business, and run for office?

I note that the Internal Revenue won't let a private power company deduct as advertising expense what it spends on printing the low-down on its main competitor—the federal power business.

My reasonable neighbor says, though, it don't seem hardly right to expect the federals to help pay the cost of advertising their own shortcomings.

But if this works to keep administration knockers shut-mouth, likely next they will start disallowing the $600 exemption per child any time we are caught raising one of them to be a Democrat.

My practical neighbor didn't pay hardly any income tax this year, since she took time to read over the rules and regulations regarding same.

On account of she deducted all costs and expenses such as food, clothing, beer, etc., which she was out for keeping her husband in working order.

Says this was legitimate deducting though, as the book says you can deduct all necessary expenses connected with the management of property held for the production of income.

My scientific-bent neighbor has been studying the unemployment problem and has come up with what may be one of the chief causes of same.

Says back in the days when women's clothes were shaped somewhat to fit, there must have been lots of different size ladies hired by the manufacturers to make up dress patterns on.

But now they have likely been laid off on account of the business has been mechanized and fashionable dresses can now be fitted on a refrigerator.

FORMER SENATOR KARL L. LOVELADY ANNOUNCES FOR STATE SENATE

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 30th SENATORIAL DISTRICT:

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the office of State Senator of the 30th Senatorial District in the forthcoming Democratic Primary. I make this announcement after careful and considered appraisal of the voiced opinions of the many persons who have come to me and that I have gone to see, who have insisted that I make this race based on my past record in the State Senate of Texas to keep the state out of debt and to vote a vote for all the people and not a vote for the chosen few.

I base my candidacy on the following platform:

HONESTY AND INTEGRITY—

The past few years have brought dark clouds of dishonesty and corruption in our state department, and I for one, if elected your State Senator, propose to do my part to see that the people of Texas shall once again have confidence in our government.

FARMING—

I believe in a broader "Farm-to-Market" road program, by trying to get an additional $50,000,000 per year to the amount now spent, for more farm roads.

I believe in a much broader rural electrification and rural telephone program so that every farmer will benefit.

I would like to see a state supported experimental farm, to be located in the heart of the vegetable growing district, for experimentation in the growing of vegetables.

I would support a program to conserve our surface water supply by the state expending money for the construction of dams on all rivers and draws where needed. (In doing this we would also have places for recreation right here in West Texas.)

I would amend the present employment law so that the TEXAS EMPLOYMENT COMMISSION would bring into any given area suitable labor to be used on the farm where said labor is not locally available at the time when this labor is most needed by the farmer.

I would vote for and support a stronger seed regulation law in order to put this state on a par with other states in seed regulation. I will always oppose any legislation to unionize farm labor.

SCHOOLS—

A stronger emphasis on the teaching of the basic subjects of reading, writing and arithmetic in the lower grades, and on mathematics and science in high school, so that we can better equip our students to preserve our leadership as a nation in the world.

Better pay for all school teachers, and more money for better school plants from the state. (I think teachers should receive salaries equal to other professions of similar education and training.)

I think we should have a state-supported Junior College near the center of the district so that buses can run from the various towns carrying students to said college.

BUSINESS—

I would abolish the State Store Tax, State tax levied on stores that sell cigarettes and charge the collection of all taxes and cosmetics, etc., now collected by the merchant to that of the manufacturer who makes them. (In fact I think the merchant, farmer and all retail businesses should be taken out of the business of collecting taxes for either the state or the federal government.) It is about time the small business man got a break in this government of ours.

The present "Hot Check" law should be amended so that when any person gives or passes a check whether for cash, to pay a bill or to receive merchandise, he or she may be handled by the proper court if said check is not honored at the bank for payment.

Any persons who makes a bill for groceries, clothing or drugs, same being necessities, the merchant should have stronger laws than we now have for the collection of said debts.

LOAN SHARKS—

I would vote and support a law to place all loan companies under the same regulations as the Banks are now under.

CITIES AND TOWNS—

I believe that all cities and towns in the state should be given aid from the state, based on population for use in building streets, alleys and for the purchase of highway rights-of-way through their cities and towns. (As you know all this expense is now carried by the property tax payer who already has all the burden he can carry.)

PROFESSIONS—

I believe that the present laws regulating the illegal and unethical practice of law, medicine and healing arts should be strengthened so that the public may be better protected, and any professional person or so-called professional person who, either in private, in public, or in print, willfully misleads the public to obtain a client or a patient should be prosecuted by law for so doing.

WELFARE—

I would give additional aid to all persons under the welfare program where need can be shown to exist. (Any increase in pension checks, etc., would help our economy because they spend their money on the necessities.)

OFFICIAL NOTICES AND CITATIONS—

I would vote for an amendment to the present law on official notices and publications to provide that all official notices and citations now posted at the court house door be published in a newspaper in the County so that the public will be properly informed, and that individual citizens affected will not be deprived of their just rights under our laws.

FREE PRESS—

Our laws should be amended so that all government records and all government meetings shall be open to the press so that the people may be informed on all happenings and acts of the government of state, county and political subdivisions.

TAXES—

The State Comptroller has estimated that by January 1, 1959, the State shall be about $100,000,000 in debt, thus the next session of the legislature will be faced with the duty of getting the state out of the "red". I think that this can best be done by the abolishing of needless jobs and the elimination of duplicate functions of various state agencies, none of which render any service to the tax payer. With times getting harder economy should start at Austin.

I would abolish the State Property taxes, as the property tax payer now has too great a burden to carry in supporting our school, cities and county governments.

I am not supported by any clique or clan, nor am I fighting any group or individual in this campaign, but if elected your State Senator, I will be your State Senator in fact and in truth, and the fighting that I will do will be on the floor of the State Senate, fighting for your interest. I implore that each person reading this announcement check my past record in the legislative halls of Texas, and as a public spirited citizen in the community in which I reside.

I am outspoken in my beliefs and never ride the fence on any issue. Trusting that you will take this announcement to your heart for the good and future prosperity of this district, and that we all go forward together with progress consistent with our times for the good of all of us.

SINCERELY,

auditorium, where the event was held, and among these was one of the bridesmaids at their wedding.

The children, who were hosts, were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Merida of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bennett of El Paso and Wade Bennett, who lives at home. Other relatives and friends joined them in the house party, and in serving guests from the table which was decorated with arrangements of yellow roses. A large "50" the figures outlined in carnations, centered the table.

The families of both Mr. and Mrs. Bennett were among the first to settle in this area, both coming before 1890.

She is the former Mable Claire Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott, who came from Texarkana in 1889, however, Mrs. Scott returned to that East Texas town for her daughter's birth.

Mr. Bennett is a native of Denton county, where he was born December 23, 1883. His family came in 1886 and during those early years lived first on the Texas side of the state boundary, then moved to Oklahoma.

Many of their earliest memories are tied in with the pioneer schools they attended.

"I walked nearly two miles to school, during snow and rain. My first teacher was Mrs. J. W. Peoples, and she walked that far, too," Mrs. Bennett remembered this week. "She always brought kindling from home to start the fire in the coal stove. The trustees furnished the coal, but once we ran out, and I remember my father putting coal in a wash boiler and putting that on a little red wagon for us children to pull to school so we could have fire."

"I never went to a school that had a desk. We all wrote on our laps," Mrs. Bennett added.

Mr. Bennett started to a school held in a dugout, and since much of the country was being put under fence at that time, the barbed wire spools were used as seats for the children.

There were many community events to provide fun as they grew older — preaching, singing schools, and such. "We nearly always walked to these, because the teams had to be worked in the fields during the week."

Mrs. Bennett well remembers their wedding day, May 10, 1908. They were married at her parents home, by the Rev. W. J. Johnson, a Baptist pastor. He came out in the morning, brought one of his children with him and stayed for dinner.

Her wedding dress was white Jap silk, made with a three-tiered skirt that swept to the floor, and the petticoat under it had rows and rows of insertion and tucks.

Three couples "stood up" with them, as they said at that period: Katie Wynn, now Mrs. George Gordon of Myles, who attended the golden wedding; Ivy Burk; Pearl Poe, and Albert Epley who later were married; Nellie Burk and Elmer Wynn. The latter five are dead.

The couple didn't go on a honeymoon, but to their own dugout to begin housekeeping. It was a special dugout, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett recalled, having two rooms, with part of it above the ground.

Mr. Scott had given his daughter $100 as a wedding present, and during the following summer they built their house, three rooms with a porch, and when it was finished it had cost them only $125.

A few years later they moved to the farm where they now live, and which was homesteaded by her grandfather, the late J. A. Scott.

Friends attended the golden wedding coming from Petersburg, Amarillo, Tulia, Plainview, Lockney, Panhandle, Liberal, Kansas; Albuquerque, N. M.; El Paso, Canyon, Wellington, Hereford, Childress, Brinkman, Okla.; Miles, Mountain View, Okla.; Dodson, Loco, Vinson, Lubbock, Quanah and Altus, Oklahoma.

"Comeback Farmer"

Farming Only 9 Years, Quail Man is Winner

London-born H. J. P. Fields had never farmed a day in his life until he and his wife came to Salt Fork Conservation District 9 years ago. Since then, by their own initiative, hard work and an unlimited eagerness to learn, they have become farmers and bought their farm. That they have been successful was proved when he was chosen the Region I comeback farmer for the state-wide Save the Soils and Save Texas Awards program.

He received a check for $100 in recognition of this honor at the annual awards dinner in Littlefield Thursday evening, May 8.

His progress is even more impressive when it is remembered that all except one of the years he has farmed has been during the worst drouth the Pathhandle has had in centuries.

Fields had visited English farms as a youth, but the conditions under which he had to learn farming here were the kind that he could not apply what he had previously observed from the beautiful English countryside.

The farm program has been carried out in co-operation with the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, and probably the SCD supervisors are best aware of both the great amount of practical farming he has learned, and also how much he and Mrs. Fields have done in bringing back to productivity a farm that long ago lost its fertility.

The couple first farmed in the Lutie community.

Because they were limited in the amount of money they could bring out of England, the couple had to depend on the profits they could make from farming rented land for whatever farm they might purchase.

In 1955, they found a quarter section with 121 acres in cultivation two miles west of Quail. Friends wondered if with so few years experience behind them, they could succeed. Even Soil Conservation Service rated the land as "worse than poor", Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist, has revealed.

Fields successfully planted rye in cotton for a cover crop, and in spite of high winds, the land did not blow. In brief, his cropping program includes cotton, feed and soil building crops.

Each year he carries out those practices that are good for his land," Squyres said.

Fields follows one practice not common in Salt Fork SCD. In the early fall, while cotton is still green, he uses the district inter-row seeder and plants rye and vetch or both in the cotton. Contrary to what might be expected, this doesn't hurt the cotton, and by the time the field is bare of cotton, there is a good green cover crop. When high winds come, this is one cotton field that does not blow.

Fields does not harvest this rye, but plows it under in the spring to put humus back in the soil.

He is probably the only farmer in Salt Fork SCD who has a farm compost pile, an idea he brought from England. Fields uses cotton burs for this and he didn't wait

SMOOTHING OUT A GULLY—A CONSERVATION JOB

Zook Thomas, a supervisor of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, and S. S. Coleman, farmer in the Swearingen area, look over the latter's farm, where a program to control erosion and revitalize this field is under way. This program is typical of those carried out on many Salt Fork SCD farms during recent years. Mr. Coleman recently had a soil analysis made and will treat this land according to its needs.

for the department of agriculture to approve payment before he started putting burrs on the land. He started using them as soon as the county was out from under the pink boll worm quarantine.

As fast as he can, Fields is buying cattle and he raises his own feed for them. This couple also raises much of their own food, having chickens, hogs, and both milk and beef cattle. They have a small orchard and a vineyard.

Fields is not a young man. He was almost 50 when he began to farm — an age when many farmers are beginning to think of retirement.

He was born in Deptford, a London suburb, and lived all his life in London until he came to Salt Fork SC. Mrs. Fields was born in near-by Greenwich.

They lived in London through World War II. During this period, his niece married a young Salt Fork SCD farmer, Bill Simpson, and it was they who sponsored the English couple in the United States. They reached the county that was to be their home Christmas eve, 1948.

They have entered into the life of both communities in which they have lived, and three years ago they received their naturalization papers and became citizens of the United States.

Fields' family had farmed for generations in Herefordshire, England, before his grandfather moved to London. Now H. J. P. Fields has come back to the work of his ancestors, but in a new world setting.

Christopher Columbus was trained by his father to be a weaver.

Let The Buyer Be Sure

Perhaps one of the most heartening signs of the forward march of civilization—and morality—may be seen in the changed relations between buyers and sellers of goods of all kinds.

In former times, only the seller of goods was protected by the law. The prevailing attitude then was expressed in the fiat: Caveat emptor—let the buyer beware.

Today—and happily so for both the buyer and the seller—the situation is very different. Thus, for example, when you make a purchase at your neighborhood pharmacy, you may do so with complete confidence. You may feel secure in the certain knowledge that a vast complex of agencies—including Medicine, Research, Government and Your Pharmacist — have combined to guarantee that the buyer may be sure.

named charter members of Lambda Pi Delta, newly formed men's social club on the WTSC campus.

George Slept Here...

He pulled off the highway and asked if he could take a little snooze.

We pride ourselves that Phillips 66 Stations are first-rate service stations. We're even glad to make them sleeping stations in an emergency. So George took his snooze.

Good thing he did because, dog-tired and drowsy, he might have fallen asleep at the wheel while driving.

This little incident suggests, in a small way, the hospitable attitude of Phillips 66 Service men generally. Ask any regular patron of Phillips 66 Stations and he'll tell you that Phillips Dealers go out of their way to treat you and your car right — perform many a service you wouldn't expect to get elsewhere.

Better yet, drive in and see for yourself what "Hospitality on the Highway" means.

Here's why Plymouth, America's favorite family wagon, is

TODAY'S BEST BUY-TOMORROW'S BEST TRADE

You get more wagon for your money today... more money for your wagon tomorrow!

Any way you look at it, you can't find a better wagon buy than Plymouth! So big—it carries more, does more, provides more room for family fun. So beautiful—just look at those long, years-ahead lines. So economical—Plymouth is priced right in the low-price "3", yet you can't buy a bigger wagon at any price. And further proof: Plymouth beat every car in the low-price class in the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run; Plymouth's second consecutive victory!

Get the biggest wagonload of value at a price far lower than you would expect. See your Plymouth dealer today.

FIVE BIG REASONS WHY YOUR NEXT WAGON SHOULD BE A PLYMOUTH

- 1. Biggest of the low-price "3". Big as wagons costing thousands of dollars more. You can't buy a bigger wagon at any price!
- 2. Holds so much more than the "other two". Over 7 cu. ft. extra passenger and cargo space. Optional "secret" luggage compartment available in 6-passenger models.
- 3. Rear-facing 3rd seat. Folds flush into floor. You don't store it outside when it's not in use. Easy to enter, has convenient back step.
- 4. Disappearing rear window. Rolls down into the one-piece tailgate. Doesn't jut out. Only on Plymouth wagons in the low-price "3".
- 5. Torsion-Aire Ride at no extra cost. Only Plymouth has it in the low-price "3". No sidesway on turns... no nose-dive on stops.

They don't come any bigger than Plymouth station wagons

CITY STATE BANK

IN OUR LAND LIES OUR FUTURE

Tomorrow's business in Salt Fork Soil Conservation District depends on what we do with our soil today

Frankly, this bank is looking ahead. It is to your interest and to our interest that every farmer and rancher is more prosperous. We believe that greater participation in soil conservation practices by every landowner is the answer to this.

Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, through its planned programs and the technical assistance it makes available through the Soil Conservation Service, has been an important factor in the success of our agricultural structure. Practice of sound conservation practices, with the help of Salt Fork SCD, and sound financial practices, with our help, spells out a brighter future.

Scout Council Tops in Region

The Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, recently received the distinction of being the Top Council in Region Nine. The judging was made on overall program and membership. Our Council is one of 35 councils in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, parts of Arizona and Arkansas. To be tops in such an area is a feat in which each person in the area of our Council can take equal pride.

In addition, for the first time in the Council history, we received one of the five Regional Chairman's Awards given to Councils showing proficiency in dropping fewer boys from the Scouting Program, adding new Scout units, and Boy's Life.

These awards were made at the Regional Conference which was held in Galveston recently. Several of the Scouters of our Council attended.

Through the earning of these distinctions we can easily see the dedication and the ability of our Scouters. They have done a truly wonderful job. At the same time we can look at the boys in our towns and communities who are not in the Scouting program and roll up our sleeves to do an even better job this year.

Dodson Classes To Dude Ranch

In Meeting Here

Cotton Farmers Hear Of Pest Control Work

Cotton farmers meeting here with two members of the Extension Service, heard what is new in methods of combating cotton pests, both plant and insect, and a discussion of results of cotton tests at the Lubbock Experiment Station.

The speakers were Fred C. Elliott, cotton work specialist, and H. A. Turney, also in cotton work at the Lubbock station. County agent Bob Lynch was in charge of the meeting.

Elliott recommended spot oiling for johnson grass control, estimating it will cut costs in half, and is faster and easier than hand hoeing. "One season will do it," he told the group.

He recommended the use of a jet gun sprayer, which a grower can work out with machine shops, using deisel oil and naphtha, applied at the base of the johnson grass stem.

Elliott recommended defoliating and machine harvesting, declaring it will cost approximately one-fourth of what it costs to hand pull a crop, with about the same grade.

"You will save a good $30 per bale", he said. But he also warned that farmers who irrigate must cut the water off around August 25, to harden off the plant and mature it before frost.

When it comes time to harvest the crop, Elliott told growers to use a blower on the stripper elevator to blow out trash, then haul in trailers with wire or slatted sides, and to haul without stomping or packing it in the trailer.

Turney discussed the methods of cotton insect control, without touching the economic value of these practices.

Pointing out that there are 2 main periods of cotton insect infestation, early and late season, he showed slides to help growers identify such pests as thrips, fleahoppers, etc., and to how the symptoms of infested cotton.

He recommended spraying when cotton is in the two to four leaf stage, with two or three applications used as needed.

Some thirty days after these pests have been taken care of, Turney told farmers to begin watching for boll worms, along with lygus bugs, cotton leaf worms and the cabbage leeper.

Tests at the Lubbock Experiment Station show that as much as a bale per acre is gained on cotton where proper control practices have been carried out, he said.

Turney recommended that farmers using nozzle equipment have one nozzle per row, with the equipment operating at about four miles per hour, under 60 pounds pressure.

"Dusting and spraying are equally effective if it is put on properly," he said.

Safety precautions were urged. "These poisons are highly toxic and should be handled with caution. Protective clothing such as rubber gloves and a respirator should be worn."

"Just remember, anything that will kill a bug will kill a man if he gets enough of it," he declared.

Cemetery Work At Needwood

On-the-Farm Work Set for Wheeler

Officials of Texas A & M College this week notified State Representative Grainger McIlhany that they will set up on-the-farm crop demonstrations in Wheeler county this year.

This program is designed to test the yield and growth characteristics of new varieties of crops with particular areas and also to demonstrate improved farming methods.

These demonstrations are authorized by legislation that was sponsored by Rep McIlhany. This program is currently being carried on in Collingsworth and Hall counties and has been highly successful.

The tests in Wheeler County will be under the supervision of County Agent Bryan Swaim. Key personnel from the A & M Extension and research service will hold a meeting within the County soon to work out details of the local program.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wall have been in Seattle, Washington, for several weeks, and plan to be there another month,

We are proud of each winner in the 1958 Save the Soil and Save Texas Awards Program, but we are especially proud of Walter Camp of Dodson, a member of our co-operative and formerly a director — a man who has helped shape the policy that enables this society to operate successfully.

We believe cotton is the most vital part of the farm economy of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, and that conservation is the most vital part of cotton farming.

This gin is ready to go all the way with the cotton farmer. Ginning is only the end of the year's work, for you and us. We urge you to begin by working with Salt Fork SCD on a sound conservation program. Then let us help you with your fertilizer needs and later the insecticides that are now a standard part of farming. It is only after this has been done that we will gin your crop and help you market it to the best advantage.

Conservation farming, as practiced by co-operators of Salt Fork SCD, and modern farm machinery, have brought a better way of life to folks in this community. Whether you are the man who plows the land, or the merchant who owns the store in an agricultural town like ours, farming and ranching is our bread and butter. It is our policy to work with Salt Fork Soil Conservation District in encouraging farmers to buy machinery best suited to conservation needs. Bring your equipment problems to us. The machinery you buy helps determine how well your conservation program works.

Pentagon Reorganization

The President's proposal to reorganize the Pentagon seems to be more controversial each day. Some are taking a position that it is being made into a political issue and that partisanship effects are beginning to show in the Armed Services Committee. The general agitation about the proposal was reflected by the sharp exchange that took place between a Texas newspaper reporter and the President in his recent news conference. The papers here played the story big. The paper which is considered to be the most conservative of the three Washington newspapers carried a rather extended story about the incident and referred to three other questions that appeared to have raised the President's ire. The incident about the Pentagon reorganization arose when a newspaper reporter, who is a woman representing a Texas newspaper, asked the President a question concerning the possibility of a "Prussian" type organization being created if his plan was adopted. The President shot back an answer in the nature of a question. He asked the newspaper woman "Have you read the law?" The reporter replied "Yes, sir." The President is then quoted as having said, "No you haven't, I don't think."

Another question put to the President by one reporter that was credited by the local newspapers as having raised his ire had to do with the President's recent suggestion that the people buy the chickens. The reporter, after getting the President to confirm that he had asked the people to buy, then asked the President if he would tell the reporters what he had thought. It was then that the President became obviously annoyed and said that he had not discussed the matter with his personal aide who took care of his buying needs. Another reporter, who asked some questions concerning the President's position on the unemployment benefits bill in the Congress, was cut off by a statement by the President that "he thought the reporter knew something about the matter."

All of this left many of the reporters wondering what the next news conference would produce and when it would be held.

When Is a Chicken Not a Chicken?

Hearings are now being held on a bill to amend the Interstate Commerce act as it concerns the right to haul agricultural products without being subject to regulations. The battle as to what is an agricultural product and what is not an agricultural product has been going on for some time. In recent years the question arose as to whether or not a chicken that had been killed and cut up or frozen was still a chicken that could be hauled under the agricultural exemption or if it became a manufactured product and had to be hauled in accordance with certain ICC regulations.

A case went to the Supreme Court involving this question and the Court held that the chickens retained their identity as chickens even after they were killed and could be shipped without the hauler complying with rules and regulations of the ICC. The Supreme Court in its decision said "A chicken that has been killed and dressed is still a chicken."

All of this was brought out in the hearings before the Interstate Commerce Committee of which I am a member. When the language of the Supreme Court was quoted by one witness, it brought to my mind the fact that a very serious situation could arise on this subject in Texas. I recall that while serving as District Attorney, we were investigating a man who was charged with chicken stealing. Under Texas law he could be sent to the penitentiary for this. However, he argued that he was not guilty of chicken stealing, although he had stolen the carcass of several chickens. At that time dressed chickens were selling for about 75 cents each. He had stolen three of these dead chickens. If the chickens had ceased to be chickens because they had been killed, the largest penalty that could be put upon the thief would be a fine, because the value of what he stole was less than $5; but if the chickens had continued to be chickens even though they had lost their lives, the theft of only one of them would have subjected the man to conviction of a felony for which he could have gone to the penitentiary for several years and would have lost his citizenship. It is my recollection that the Texas Courts have held that a dead chicken is no longer a chicken under the Chicken Law—the same as a cow is no longer a cow after it is slaughtered. This being the case, I am wondering what will happen in the future in view of the language of the Supreme Court in the frozen chicken case. If the Justice of the Supreme Court who wrote that opinion and used the language "A chicken that has been

Unless the present farm law is amended by Congress this session, the national cotton allotment will drop automatically from the present quota of 17,500,000 acres to about 14,200,000 acres in 1959. If your present allotment is 100 acres it will be cut to somewhere between 75 and 80 acres. The cotton industry is fighting to retain the 17,500,000 acreage allotment. It is also striving to give farmers a choice between planting higher acreage at lower price supports or lower acreage with higher price supports.

Louis Graham has recorded a series of most interesting interviews with early day settlers for use in his history classes in junior high school. You hear the actual voices of such people as Mrs. Hugh Longino, Mrs. R. S. Montague, Mrs. S. L. Coleman interviewed by her son John Coleman, Mrs. Palo Cummings formerly Lou Goodnight, Mrs. Carrie Henard Gray, Bessie Lowry and Z. T. Lowry, Grace and John Clement, Carrie McDowell. He plans to get others, many interesting things come to light. For instance, those earliest settlers received mail only two or three times a year, all supplies had to be freighted in from either Quana and later Memphis. Such recordings are bound to increase the students interest in the history of his own county.

It is worth taking an hour or two off to drive over town to see the flowers. Don't confine your journey to the paved streets although you can get an eye full driving over them. Get off on the dirt streets and see many more. The iris in the yards of Mrs. Elzie White, Mrs. Charlie Neese and Mrs. J. C. Whisenant are particularly impressive. A trip over the prairie land to see the wild flowers is also worthwhile.

Have received word from Mrs. Jeff Greer that Jeff died of a heart attack on April 22. They were living at Lake Charles, La., at the time. She says that they had just returned from a wonderful vacation when he was stricken and that he lived only ten days after the attack. Her son, Nubby, is now managing editor of the newspaper in Martinez, Calif., where she will make her home for the present. Jeff and Buddy made their home south of Wellington in the twenties and early thirties. He turned to art after leaving Wellington and worked under Gutzon Borglum on the Rushmore Memorial in the Black Hills. After serving in the Navy in World War II he resumed his art work most of which was in murals. I have lost far too many friends of his age from this cause in years and the rate seems to be increasing. All were in work to which considerable nervous strain is attached such as newspapers, medicine, art, etc. Jeff was a courageous, cheerful man with an understanding mind and heart and was one of the most gracious hosts I have ever known. He and I once started to create an illustrated book of children's stories. I was doing the writing and he was doing the paintings. He was doing beautiful work; but I ran out of soap on the stories and the project was abandoned. I have continued to treasure his friendship through the years.

PARTS OF A SUCCESSFUL FARM PROGRAM

Livestock farming is an important part of the farming program of Walter Camp, recently named third place state winner in the GI Farmer of the Year contest, sponsored by the Texas Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. This fine bull is typical of his herd, and one of the animals placed first in class in the Anxiety 4th Breeders Association judging this year. In the lower picture is the sand trap attached onto Camp's irrigation well, which drains out sand before the water goes into the sprinkler irrigation system.

Awards Climax Camps Conservation Program

Proof a Young Man Can Still Start Farming

It is generally believed that a young man can't get into farming any more. It costs too much money. But when Walter Camp last week received the plaque designating him as state third place winner in the GI Farmer of the Year contest, sponsored by the Department of Texas, Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was proof that a man can still start at the bottom and become successful within relatively few years.

Camp received the award at the regular meeting of the Glynn Moore Post, VFW, with Commander Jimmy Bowen making the presentation. This is one of two awards Camp received this spring for his farming program, carried out in cooperation with the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District. He was designated as the District's outstanding conservation farmer and received the annual Lion's Club plaque at the Save the Soil and Save Texas Awards banquet in Littlefield Thursday night, May 8.

Camp owned 80 acres when he came home from service. Now he owns 290 of good land and rents an additional 850, all in the Kelley community. The land he rents belongs to other members of his family but he treats it all as if it were his own.

Camp borrowed $2,000 to make his first crop in 1946. "That was a real bad year," he recalls. "We made three bales of cotton on 60 acres. It was sure dry and we didn't make any feed either, but then we didn't have any livestock except two gilts we accidentally bought."

These "accidentally bought" gilts are a story in themselves. Camp and his brother-in-law, Sam Thompson, then farming together, didn't intend to have any hogs at all. Then Camp's father, D. C. Camp, saw three gilts and bought them because he thought they were pretty. To take two of them off his hands, the younger man bought them.

"They made quite a record. The first time they farrowed, each had 8 pigs the same night in the same stall and raised every one of them. Next time they had 10 pigs, the same night, in the same stall and raised all of these. The third time they farrowed, the same night, they raised 24 of 26 pigs."

Camp and Thompson kept the gilts from the various litters and by 1949 had around two dozen sows. In two years, 1949 and 1950, the offspring of those two accidentally bought pigs brought in for them more than $25,000.

Camp still keeps hogs, although it hasn't always been easy. Once during the drouth, he had to buy planting seed, after planting season, for feed.

Camp also raises registered Herefords. A calf he bred won first in class at the Fat Stock Show in Amarillo last year and another was grandchampion of the Collingsworth County Youth Project Show. His bull took first place in class at the Anxiety 4th Hereford Breeders Sale in Amarillo early this year.

Camp also raises quarter horses. "You can just about name your price for them," he commented. His soil conservation program is

Rain Monday Measures 2.45, With 9.03 for Year

Rain measuring 2.45 inches fell here Monday night, May 12, the heaviest of any that has fallen at one time this year.

The fall varied over the county, growing lighter toward the Oklahoma line.

It is not yet known if much of the cotton and feed already in the ground will have to be replanted, for opinion two days after the rain is still varied.

There is more planting done now, however, than is usual for this time of year.

Rain fell during most of Monday night, but little washing of fields has been reported.

The 2.45 inches was measured by T. H. Franklin, official weather bureau reporter.

This brings the total fall for Wellington to 9.02 inches this year.

Monday night's rain measured more than two inches west of Quail, and dropped to around 1.25 east of that community. Around two inches also fell at Rolla. The moisture was measured at 1.7 to 1.8 inches mid-way between Wellington and Dodson, and 1.6 inches at Dodson. Approximately a quarter of an inch of this fell Tuesday night. Loco also measured 1.6 inches.

North of Salt Fork River, approximately 2 inches was reported from Lutie, 1.7 inches midway between there and Samnorwood, and 1.8 at Norwood.

The same amount was measured at Dozier, with no washing or runoff reported.

At the Fires Ranch, 12 miles east of Lutie, 1.10 inches was measured.

East of Wellington, two inches fell at the Reeves Store in Shiner community and 1.6 inches was received seven miles northwest of Vinson, Oklahoma.

During January, only .90 inch of moisture was measured here. February accounted for .36 inch; March 3.01 and April 2.46.

The May total is 2.65, with .05 falling on May 2 and .15 on May 3.

Cemetery Work Here Requested

All persons having lots in the Wellington Cemeteries are being called on to help with work in those two plots Monday and Tuesday, May 26 and 27, Zook Thomas, president of the Cemetery Association said this week.

"We are having to call on the public for help because we have not taken in enough money to pay for hiring additional help. At this time of year when the weeds are growing fastest, there is more work than one person can do," Thomas said.

All equipment available to the Cemetery Association will be working, and those coming are asked to bring hoes and rakes for the necessary hand work.

"We hope to get both cemeteries in shape for Memorial Day," Thomas said.

To Carry Current Work

City Council Approves Greenbelt Dam Levy

The Wellington city council in a meeting last week approved the assessment at the rate of 25c per meter to be paid by the city, as its part in bearing the expenses of the preliminary steps to the building of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority dam on Salt Fork River.

The action was taken after George Shadid, Wellington member of the board of directors of the Water Authority, met with the council to explain the expense involved.

These were outlined as follows: The salary of the man who picks up the water samples at the dam site daily will amount to $1080 for the year, plus approximately $450 back salary now owing him.

An additional $175, an approximate figure, will go to pay for the bonds of each of the seven directors of the Authority, and renewal of the application for water rights to the state board of Water Engineers will be approximately $275, Shadid explained.

Each of the 7 towns in the Authority has been requested by Dr. S. H. Townsend to pay the 25c per meter assessment, and Wellington's share of this will be approximately $320.

Later in the year, possibly this fall, there will be the additional expense of from $5,000 to $6,000 for core testing the dam site to determine how deep the base must be put.

Shadid told the city council the Authority is holding its expense down to the minimum.
