Christmas Observed In Prison

GRAY WALLS RESOUND WITH APPLAUSE AS GIRLS APPEAR

BY JOHN C. QUARRIER. (Associated Press Staff Writer) LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Dec. 23.—The long gray columns marched through the grim corridors of the federal penitentiary here, the feet of the marchers beating a tattoo on the stone floor. No voice relieved the monotonous rattle. Eyes straight ahead, faces inexpressive, the prisoners marched through the austere rotunda, where the green and red lights of a Christmas tree gleamed dimly on marble walls. To work; oh, no! Not on Sunday. To the auditorium. Another lecture of some sort. Maybe a band of hymn-singers. Single file into the seats, like a man drawing a straight line with a pencil. In a few moments more than 1,700 men had filled the prison theatre, each with a little white program in his hand. "Christmas festival program" — presented by the Kansas City chapter of the convicts' aid program stated. A kindly-appearing old man with a close-cropped white mustache and no teeth kept bobbing up and looking around the auditorium as he used to look for friends in the theatre. But most of the convicts sat sullenly and looked at the worn curtain. Mail robber, boot-legger, narcotic peddler, forger, counterfeiter, bank wrecker—they seemed to dare the entertainers to change their sullen mood. The prison chaplain said the invocation and Mrs. W. H. Wyley, chairman of the entertainment committee, wished the crowd a merry Christmas. Then Harry Kessell, popular Kansas

Two Hundred Fifty Guests Attend Square Dance Here

Cowboy Decorations Are Used At Gay Function At Hotel Lubbock Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sheffield entertained with a cowboy Christmas ball, featuring the old time square dance, Saturday night at the Hotel Lubbock. Two hundred fifty guests, including a number from neighboring towns, were present for the occasion.

Invitations to the dance were issued by Fred Spikes as secretary of the "Gully Jumpers", and closed with the words, "This is a private party in a public place. You are indeed lucky to be one of the number to receive a 'cordial invitation'."

Old-Time Steps.

The host and a number of the guests wore cowboy boots, and both young and old joined in dancing the "figure eight", "right-shoulder" "ocean wave", "right hand across and how do you do", and other old favorites interspersed with the waltz, two-step, and Scottishes.

J. A. Whittington and his orchestra from Tahoka furnished the music for the evening, including "Sally Gooden", "Tom and Jerry", "Wagoner", "Billy in the Low Ground", "Ladies' Fancy", and "Arkansas Traveler".

Cowboy Supper.

At 10 o'clock Mr. Sheffield called "Chuck! Come and get it or I'll throw it away," and all made a rush for the chuck wagon, where they were served cowboy style from tables covered with old cloth and with tin cups and plates. The meal included son-of-a-gun, onions, red beans, sour dough biscuits and black coffee.

Lanterns hanging from the ceiling and a campfire made a realistic scene.

The dances were directed by C. A. Sheffield, Fred Spikes, Walter M. Rick, George Bowles and Lem Chesher.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

No wonder parents hate to see their children grow up. For when they reach their middle or late teens they are so often bitten by the marriage bug, and then what to do, what to do?

Some parents combat this curse by forbidding their girls to have boy friends, innocently thinking that they are preventing them from having boy friends at all. And they keep their boy short of funds so he cannot take a girl out.

Both of which tactics are neatly defeated by the young folk, who see their friends unbeknownst to the parents. In fact, this course often leads directly to the evil they are trying to avoid — an early marriage and elopement at that.

You can talk over the economic aspects of the case until you are blue in the face, and it does no good. You can point out duties to parents, the desirability of first acquiring an education, the changes that are likely to take place in the youngsters' feelings and tastes in the next few years, and the fact that youth is short and marriage lasts for years and years, all to no purpose.

The two young heads turn for one another, and anything that keeps them apart is just too cruel.

What's the answer? The trial marriage, as advocated by Judge Ben Lindsey? I am not wise enough to say. I only know that if these head-strong youngsters want to be deterred from being themselves to the minister or the justice, and being made one, the only thing for parents to do is to accept the inevitable and continue to help and love the young people out of their love for one another, and that is the reason they discouraged the friendship. Wait until you are 18, at least, and then, if possible, until you are at least 21.

Probably your parents thought you two were getting too serious in your love for one another, and that is the reason they discouraged the friendship. Wait until you are 18, at least, and then, if possible, until you are at least 21.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: For the past two years I have gone with the same girl. I love her dearly. Her family has just moved away, and she has gotten into a crowd of the younger set of which I am a little 'whacky'. There is a young fellow down there three or four years her senior.

"I recently made a trip down there, and all I heard was this chap's name. Now, do you think she cares, or is she trying to make me jealous? What would you advise me to do, continue to care for her or just drop the subject altogether?"

"A CADET."

"I think I'd trust her a while longer. Cadet, and drop the subject with her. She may have a passing crush on this boy, or may like him in an entirely different way than she does you. Unless you have more reason than you state for doubting her love, I believe I would trust and continue to love her."

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I have been married for the past 10 years. After the first year of marriage my husband began treating me very badly, but for the past year he has been treating me very well.

"I am extremely nervous, and have the quarreling habit. Almost every week I have a big quarrel with my husband, practically over nothing at all, while under this nervous spell, I curse and chase him.

Psychologists would probably trace the habit back to an inferiority complex or jealousy of others when you were a child, which made you resort to quarrelsome behavior to gain attention. You probably heard your parents or others talk about your dreadful disposition, and unconsciously took pride in it.

Make yourself realize that it is a very undesirable trait, that it is more likely to be egotistical selfishness than nervousness, and that it may lose you your husband, as well as many friends. He will not always be ready to make up when you recover from an attack of temper. He will probably meet some woman who does not give way to emotional outbursts and curse and drive him away, and will leave you alone to repent at your leisure.

Get your mind off yourself. Get interested in others, and see what you can do for them and forget about your "quarreling habit."

FAITH: The only thing you can do, dear, is to treat the man as nicely as possible. Make him feel that you are his friend always, as you are if you really care for him. Even if he loves another girl, you wish him to be happy, don't you? You do if you care the right way.

It is quite possible that he is waiting until you have finished school, to show how very much interested in you he is. He certainly can't be indifferent, or he would not have asked for your picture. This is my advice: Be calm, be friendly, and live up to the name with which you signed your letter. Have faith.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I have been married for the past 10 years. After the first year of marriage my husband began treating me very badly, but for the past year he has been treating me very well.

Presbyterians To Have Pageant Here

Children of the primary, beginners, and Junior departments of the First Presbyterian church will hold a pageant, "If a Real Shepherd Were to Come," this evening at 7 o'clock in the church building. The public is invited to attend.

Santa Claus will appear on the scene immediately after the pageant, and a "White Christmas" will be observed. That is, gifts will be brought, rather than received, and later will be sent to the needy.

Mr. Joseph B. Jackson, chairman, is being assisted in directing the pageant by Mesdames H. A. Davidson, Ray George and W. E. Hopper. Other parts will be taken by Jeanne Cripp, John Robert Moody, Betty Alice Gordon, Johnny Davis, Lewis Ellis, Joe Jackson, Dorothy Jean Weiss, Annie Claire Hule, and Harold Parsons. They will be assisted by all pupils of the department.

The story is of a shepherd who is ignorant of the meaning of Christmas. On his way home from tending his flock he meets two children who when they learn of his ignorance bring other children who tell of Christmas through their readings and carols. The shepherd, in turn tells the story of the first Christmas.

Included on the program will be a song, "The Angels Came One Starry Night" by the program; a Christmas reading, Lewis Ellis; song, "I Think When I Read That Sweet Story," Annie Claire Hule and Harold Parsons; reading, "The Inn Was Full," Joe Jackson; reading, "That Night," Dorothy Jean Weiss.

Between the numbers members of the three departments will sing "Silent Night," "Angels from the Realms of Glory" and "Little Town of Bethlehem."

Tests may be required of men who are to make jumps in parachutes.

(By Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 23.—Comprehensive physical and mental tests for men who are to make parachute jumps may be required in the future, following the second death here within three weeks, caused by a parachute jumper failing to pull his rip cord...

The death of Lieut. Elmer R. Miller, Dord field flyer, Friday afternoon, and the death of Sergeant Louis J. Pillage, Brooks Field soldier on November 27 may tend to disprove theories long held by army parachute men to the effect that it is almost impossible for a person to fail to pull the rip cord after leaving the plane, Sergeant Nichols said.

I had supervised the jumping of 1,000 men up to the time that Sergeant Pillage was killed," Sergeant Nichols said, "and had never had a fatality. I and all other parachute men that I know, had come to the conclusion that even if a man was too dazed to know what he was doing after jumping that he would involuntarily pull the cord. It is placed over the heart, the most natural place about a man's body for him to clutch, even if he is unconscious or frightened.

"There have been only two or three fatalities as the result of failure to pull the cord in the history of the parachute, including the deaths here. Thousands of men jump each year, either for practice or as the result of an accident."

HIGH SCHOOL TITLE TO BE BETWEEN TWO

TEAMS HAVE PLAYED ENOUGH. SCHOOL OFFICIALS SAY

AUSTIN, Dec. 22.—There will not be a play-off between Port Arthur and Breckenridge for the high school title, school officials here today announced. The reason is the respective teams have met in a play-off game.

For 1929-30, Breckenridge athletic director, J. H. Henderson, said he would not think about playing an off-playoff, since both teams had been through a long hard season.

"The officials here are understanding before the game. In event of a tie it would not be determined on the 20-yard line," Henderson said.

PORT ARTHUR SCHOOL HEAD SAYS NO GAME

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 22.—(P)—Port Arthur will not meet the Breckenridge Ducks in a play-off game to settle the scores of the Saturday at Waco, superintendent of schools, G. M. Sims of Port Arthur said today.

"The school officials have decided the Yellow Jackets have had enough football for this season. The team has been allowed to break training and there will positively be no play-off game," Superintendent Sims said.

ARMY PLAYERS IN WEST FOR BATTLE

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 22.—The Army's gridiron warriors, with a retinue of 150 strong, were in San Francisco today, ready to begin intensive training for their battle New Year's day with Stanford University.

A special train of 12 cars, which the Cadets crossed the continent arrived here shortly before midnight. Several hundred Stanford students greeted the visitors, and Coach Glenn Warner was on hand to see they were given a welcome.

The entire delegation was taken immediately to Franner Hall, which has been prepared for their use until after the holidays.

A stiff workout, composed mostly of track work and signal practice to take the links out of train weary backs and legs, was planned for today by Coach Bluff Jones, of the Army. For the rest of the week, Jones said, his charges will demand privacy while they perfect their strategy.

Coach Warner's Cardinals will pursue the same routine.

FIVE CITIES TO GET LOOK AT CHARLES ARTHUR (THE GREAT) AND CHARLES ARTHUR TO GET $20,000 IN NEXT FEW DAYS

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Five cities in the east and middle-west will get a look at Charles Arthur (The Great) Shure—and Charles Arthur will get $20,000.

Far from being wrecked by his defeat by George Traffic, the pugilistic career of the Great One is just started, he says. He has signed for appearances in Detroit, New York, Buffalo, St. Paul, and Davenport, Ia., and plans to keep on fighting until about two weeks before the baseball training season opens.

Fields To Aid Him

Shure announced that Jackie Fields, world welterweight champion will aid him in preparing for the bouts.

The White Sox first baseman, back in perfect talking form, said he would be glad to favor Chicago with another appearance in the ring. If he wins four out of the five four-rounders on his scheduled tour, Shure's first date is at Buffalo December 26, January 1, he will fight in Detroit, and on January 2, he will engage in one of the preliminary bouts on the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson welterweight championship fight, card in Madison Square Garden, New York. He will show in St. Paul January 7, and two days later will appear before the fans of Davenport, Ia.

Boston may be treated to a look at Shure January 17. Promoter Eddie Mack is negotiating for a six-round meeting between the Great man and Al Sprober, Boston Brave catcher, who has served as a sparring partner for Tommy Loughran, retired light heavyweight champion.

PORKERS OUT FOR CAGE WIN

ARKANSAS QUINTETS HAVE MADE MANY RECORDS

PAYETTEVILLE, Dec. 22.—The University of Arkansas basketball team, now engaged in a difficult 22-game schedule, is set to keep the Razorback institution at the top of Southwest basketball, a position enjoyed the past four years. The 1929 Razorback pack, which includes seven members of last year's championship outfit, has a number of records established by the 1929 team to shoot at. They include:

Four consecutive conference championships, 1928, 1927, 1926, 1925.

Twenty-one straight victories in conference competition, including 12 straight in 1928 and nine in a row last year.

Holds Records

Highest total points in a conference game, 71 points scored against Baylor January 19, 1929. Also second highest total, 66 against Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, January 8, 1929.

Highest individual scoring in a single game, by Wear Schoonover, captain of this year's team, who totaled 26 points against Baylor January 18, 1929.

Best offensive team in conference last season, amassing 965 points in 12 conference games.

Best defensive team in conference last season, holding opponents to 291 points in 12 games.

Arkansas won its first basketball championship in 1926, with eleven victories and one defeat. In 1927, the Razorbacks annexed eight victories and dropped a pair of games. Texas was runner-up. In 1928, Arkansas came through the schedule undefeated, and in 1929 the Razorbacks won eleven conference games and lost a single game to Texas, the runner-up. In addition, last year's team won eight non-conference games.

SENSATIONAL YOUTH KEEPS UP WINNINGS

JOPLIN PRO FINISHES WITH 280, SIX DOWN ON NEAREST MAN

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 22.—Horton Smith, youngster from Joplin, Mo., today was the smiling possessor of another golf glory—the second annual Pasadena $1,000 open tournament.

Virtually unknown a year ago when he captured the Catalina Island annual tourney, the 21-year-old professional wound up his spectacular year's conquest of the golf course by turning in a card of 280 six strokes ahead of rival professionals.

For the 72 holes Smith was four under par. His worst efforts were two rounds of par golf. He won $1,000 cash as first prize.

The competition drew three professionals and one amateur into a tie for second place, but they were six strokes behind the leader with 276's each. The four were Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del.; Johnny Golden, Paterson, N. J.; Eddie Lee of Pasadena, Calif.; and George Von Elm, Detroit, amateur. Denny Shute, Columbus, Ohio, trailed into third place with a 287, and Leo Diegel, P. G. A. champion, and Johnny Perrell, tied with three others on the 288 mark.

Ball Player Wins Over Golfer In 18 Holes

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 22.—(P)—A baseball player, wielding his cowboy ball, played golf to break even at the turn. The baseball bat claimed the thirteenth hole to even up a loss on the 11th, and then the cowboy took the 14th and the lead.

Chase evented up on the next hole, but was stopped on the 18th by the cowboy-baseball bat combination. The golfer was unable to even up, and lost the match.

CHARKEY'S MAN MAY BE FOUND IN THIS WEEK'S BOUTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The opponent Madison Square Garden seeks for Jack Sharkey in the battle of the palms at Miami in February may be found no later than Friday of this week.

Gerald Ambrose (Tuffy) Griffith of Sioux City, Ia., better, may meet Sharkey at Miami Feb. 27 provided he can dispose of Johnny Risko, Cleveland boxer, at the Garden Friday night. That is no task for a novice, but there are plenty of experts who believe Griffith will bounce the Cleveland man to the floor in short order.

Bud Taylor, Terre Haute featherweight, takes on Earl Mastro of Chicago in the ten-round wind-up to a movie, with Hein Mueller, German heavyweight and Elmer Rieux of Canada swapping punches in another ten.

In a Christmas Day matinee show at the Philadelphia Arena, Lew Mosey, Philadelphia featherweight, meets Johnny Dutton, Cleveland Filipino, in the last of four ten-round bouts.

Pope Celebrates His Golden Mass

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 22.—(P)—Pope Pius XI Saturday celebrated his "Golden Mass" the fiftieth anniversary of his first mass to the day, before an immense congregation in St. Peter's nearly 70,000 persons were present, filling the cathedral.

The ceremony was much more elaborate and colorful than the mass the pontiff said yesterday in the Cathedral of St. John Lateran in Rome, when he was attended in a simple setting by a small group of invited ecclesiastics. The pope left Vatican state territory for the first time to go to St. John Lateran, thus ending the long period of self-imposed confinement of the pope.

"When I began taking Orgatone," Mr. Alderson continued, "my system seemed to be all run down. I had no appetite and couldn't eat much of anything and was getting weaker and losing my strength every day. I would have a puffed up, bloated feeling, and gas would bother me so bad at times, I could hardly get my breath. My nerves were simply shattered to pieces and I had awful headaches and was almost a complete physical wreck. I felt tired and worn out all the time and never had any energy. My liver was in a very bad condition and this caused pains in my back and sides. I had a bad case of constipation and had to take something most all the time.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says That Girl on Broadway says a necessity as anything the neighbors can have without arousing our envy.

A couple of The Plainsman's regular customers have come to the rescue today to help make this column more interesting.

Signed "Anonymous," the same law's suggested additions are as follows:

"Book agents may be shot between October 1 and September 1, 1930, between March 1 to June 1, Automobile accident demerits from January 1 to January 1, Road boys from April 1 to April 1, Amateur hunters from September 1 to February 1. No ground season on men who accept a paper for two years and then, when the bill is presented, say 'I never ordered it.' They should be killed on sight and shall be buried face downward in quick lime so as to destroy the germs and prevent spread of the infection."

After thinking the matter over carefully, The Plainsman has decided that it is unnecessary to change the laws of the land to permit the promiscuous shooting of people. The country has gotten to the point where a murder or two happens frequently in the best of families and there seems to be an unwritten law against doing anything about it.

Now for the other matter. The Plainsman is a little more impressed. The letter concerning it is signed by Dr. John C. Granbery, head of the department of history at Texas Tech, and reads as follows:

"What citizen of Lubbock has rendered the greatest public service during the year 1929? Why not take a vote? Then we might honor him in an appropriate way. Thus may we establish a custom and one may look upon such a distinction as the greatest honor which has ever come to him. We need to be reminded that there are some things better than all the honor to our public spirited citizens."

Personally, The Plainsman thinks the idea is a crackjack. Many cities follow it and this column believes the plan to be as practicable in Lubbock as in any city in the United States.

The writer has the opportunity to scan many newspapers. He has also had the opportunity of watching residents of other cities work for the public weal and never in his life has he ever seen a more unselfish group of men and women.

If there's a job to be done the citizens of Lubbock roll up their sleeves and do it. That's all there is to it—on the outside—but back of all is the spirit of service that prompts the leaders of this community, both men and women, to forget their own problems and do a job for the good of all.

It's The Plainsman's idea that one of the civic clubs should take this proposition over, appoint a committee to map out the plan of operation and see that, sooner or later, it is presented to the living. The only rule necessary is that the same person cannot be selected two years in succession. It would be a fine thing for the community. How about some action, Lions, Kiwanians and Rotarians?

That Man A Avenue Q says 'discretion is a polite word used to express the minimum temperature of the feet.'

It must be a fine feeling to be engaged in a business in one state for nearly a lifetime and have the admiration and respect of the persons to that profession. Not long ago a testimonial dinner was tendered George B. Dealey, publisher of the Dallas News, and The Plainsman was one of scores of editors who commented upon the affair.

The other day the following communication was received regarding it:

"My attention has just been called to the column of The Plainsman in your issue of November 27th, in which is contained some exceedingly kind re-

The Marines Seem To Be Doing A Good Job In Haiti, Is Dutcher's Comment As He Looks Over 1,000 Death List

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—For a good many years now our gallant U. S. marines have been killing those pesky Haitians for their own good.

Nowhere else in the world have our brave boys so convincingly demonstrated their superiority over a foreign populace. They have killed some 3500 Haitians, according to Haitians themselves, 1861, according to the secretary of the navy's report for 1929 and only about 1500 according to the report of a Senate investigating committee.

Only a dozen marines have been killed by Haitians and although that was enough to provoke sensational stories of atrocities and human sacrifices in this country the ratio of casualties shows what our leathernecks can do when fighting for their country.

Not So Common Now Of course there are those in Washington who think it wasn't necessary to kill so many Haitians—Senator King and senator Borah, for instance. But for all your correspondents has ever been able to get out of the State or Navy Department the killings were a blessed boon to Haiti.

They occurred in the carrying out of the American occupation beginning in 1915 and for the last ten years, until recently, few further killings have been necessary because of the thoroughness with which the Haitians were taught their lesson.

The immediate background is still a little vague. One cannot be quite sure about official claims that the Haitians love us and our occupation and regard Brig-Gen. John H. Russell, the American high commissioner, and so-called dictator, as Santa Claus himself.

Even if one is assured that the Haitian bandits are a bunch of bandits whom every 100 cent American should hate, it must be recalled that General Smedley Butler is reported as having explained in a Pittsburgh speech the other night that in Haiti the marines always formally branded as bandits those who opposed American policy. Even President Hoover declares solution of the Haitian problem "still obscure."

But the previous facts in the situation are well known. Marine killings and other tactics of subjugation robbed the Haitians of their traditional pastime of killing each other. There is plenty of debate as to whether occupation has done the island any great good, but it brought an unprecedented period of comparative tranquility. The incumbent Haitian president, Borno, has been kept in office by the American bayonets which gave him his job, but of the 25 Haitian presidents who preceded him 15 were driven from office and several were murdered. The mass of Haitians are about as backward as can be and there was a time when even a cannibal or two attained the presidency.

Strangely enough, however, the occupation coincided with attempts toward an American treaty which would have given up control of the country and allowed it to establish naval and military bases. Also, the Haitian constitution, which we promptly abolished, provided that no foreigners should hold land there despite the fact that there were some valuable plantations. The immediate pretext for the marine landing was the assassination and cutting to pieces of President, Sam, a bloodthirsty gent whose recent assassins had irritated his subjects.

Congress Was Fired The Americans disbanded the Haitian congress, abolished the constitution, installed a president of their own and took full fiscal and virtual political control of the

In New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Another year being just around the corner, the usual cry goes up for the best books, the best films, the best dramas—and all the rest.

Why the number ten was chosen in the first place, I have no idea. My own box score for the year has been something as follows: Books read or skimmed, 165; movies attended—far too many; plays witnessed, 53.

tended—far too many; plays witnessed little thus far in the talking pictures which caused me to become convinced that this is a "great new art"—and all the rest of the whoop-de-doo I have heard. "Hallelujah," which was King Vidor's fine audible film, is the one "talkie" which seemed to take anything like advantage of the new medium.

Vidor did not forget that, after all, the camera was there before sound arrived. I also liked "Bull Dog Drummond" and "Alibi."

As a whole, however, it has seemed to me that in the couple of brief years of their existence the talkies appear to have come to an impasse. Their musical productions have been little more than paraphrases of what the stage already offered. Their operettas have been nothing more than adaptations from the stage. Their reproductions of classic plays were mere processes of lifting something from the footlights and superimposing it upon the screen.

In the world of books, I would place at the head of the list for holiday selection, Elinor Wylie's last poems, "Angels and Earthly Creatures," a book which contains some of the loveliest sonnets in the language, and Sylvia Townsend Warner's "The True Heart," a most charmingly written tale.

Richard Hughes' "Innocent Voyage" seemed to me the surprise of the year and Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms," the most stirring of novels. Robert Nathan's "There Is Another Heaven" seemed the lightest of the satires. Bolitho's "Twelve Squares of the Gods" is an fervent essay-biography. Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Case of Sergeant Grisham" have seemed to me the best of the war books. "Problems of Insect Intelligence" by Prof. Hingston leads the naturalists. Ring Lardner's "Round-up" is the best book of short stories. Jim Thurber's "Is Sex Necessary?" amused me a bit more than most of the travesties. And "The Love of the Foolish Angel" struck me as the best fantasy.

As to the theater, "Journey's End" and "Street Scene" remain, in their second years, the finest plays in Manhattan. Of the newcomers, the head of the list should, perhaps, be occupied by "Berkeley Square," "June Moon" is an fervent superior travesty. "Strictly Dishonorable" is an outstanding farce hit. "Rope's End" is the most intelligent of the horror plays.

Miss Evelyn Laye is the loveliest lady that London ever sent to Broadway. And the notable performances are those of George Cohan in "Gambling"; Helen Morgan and Charlie Butterworth in "Sweet Adeline"; Jack Donaghy in "Sons of Guns"; Leslie Howard in "Berkeley Square"; Jack Lee in "Subway Express"; Jean Dixon in "June Moon" and Frank Crayen in "Salt Water."

LUBBOCK WINS—AND HOW Another link has been forged in the paved highway chain traversing the Plains country from north to south.

Lubbock county has voted approximately a million dollars in bonds for a major road construction program. Incidentally, it was the third time Lubbock county voters had been called to the polls to pass on a road improvement project, two previous bond issues having been defeated.

This feature of Tuesday's election, which carried by a 5 to 1 majority, shows the earnestness with which the good roads supporters kept at their work, as well as the effectiveness of their last campaign. The chamber of commerce, the press and the business men of Lubbock, Slaton, and other cities who sponsored the election, have won a significant victory and are to be congratulated.

One of the most important developments to result from the bond election will be the paving of Highway No. 9, although funds are provided for two other important routes. Number 9, being a highway running from South Texas to the Panhandle through West Texas, is one of the major routes serving all the Plains area. In this connection Lubbock's approval of bonds for surfacing this share of this route is a victory for all of West Texas, particularly the Panhandle and Plains country.

Supporters of Highway No. 9 and of good roads in general will now turn their attention to Dawson County's election on Saturday of this week, and will wish that county the same success that Lubbock achieved.—Amarillo Daily News.

A congressman is indicted for alleged use of the mails to defraud. When his trial comes, however, we'll doubtless discover that the suitcase really belonged to his brother.

Or, perhaps, it'll turn out that somebody was just objecting to the free garden seeds that he sent through the mails.

The National Congress of India adopts an independence resolution lifting much of its verbiage from the American Declaration of Independence. Those Indians had better be careful; we signed the thing 153 years ago, and now look at us.

marks concerning the testimonial dinner given to me by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce on November 26th and about me. Of course, it was an epoch in my life which I shall never forget, and one of the nearest things in conception therewith has been the very many generous things the Texas press has had to say about it.

"Thanking you very, very much, and with the compliments of the season, I am, "Very sincerely yours, "G. B. Dealey."

Mr. Dealey has made a lot of money in the newspaper business but his personal fortune, however large, equals in significance before the service which he has rendered to Dallas and Texas. Doubtless one of his dearest possessions is the respect in which he is held by members of the Fourth Estate under the Lone Star flag.

country. As a substitute for Congress, which was dissolved because it refused to adopt the new constitution which we handed it, we created an "executive council" of 21 members to elect and assist the president. At last reports 14 of the 21 were Borno's relatives. The marines staged a "national referendum" to put over the new constitution, in the effective manner which has been explained by General Butler and the official report on the vote showed 98,294 in favor and 763 against. Whether any marines were court-martialed for allowing these 769 votes is not known, but there have been many loud horse-laugh at the figures.

A few weeks ago President Borno, who is commonly supposed to take his orders from Russell, announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1930. Subsequent developments in Haiti are being explained in current dispatches.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters M.D. Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

PLAYTHINGS HAVE PART IN TRAINING

Christmas Toys Baby Molly eagerly clutched the gay dolly with the real hair wig, stopped crying and gurgled her delight. Her mother, relieved, turned to her work. But not for long, Molly was making such peculiar sounds!

Rushing back, the mother found her baby gasping and breathing; a bald dolly at her feet told the story. Fortunately, the wig, sticking in her throat, was not so far down that the mother was not able to reach it.

Wouldn't you think that all mothers would know the danger of giving small children toys that have detachable parts which can be swallowed? Apparently they don't, for otherwise there wouldn't be so many accidents from them.

The Christmas season means new toys, so I'll repeat the warnings I've given:

1. Toys must be safe. That means that for babies and young children who are too young to know that all things are not edible, the toys should be washable. And they should not have detachable parts that can be pulled off, for the same reason. If you have already bought such toys, see if you cannot, better yet, have the parts on so they won't pull off, and if you cannot, better discard them.

2. As toys have been proved by modern psychologists to have a definite part in character building, do not give those that create a spirit of destructiveness, such as guns and fireworks.

3. Get those that are adapted to the age and continued use of the child, so as not to foster extravagance and carelessness.

I had better tell you again what to do for the child who has swallowed some foreign object. If he is old enough to have cereals, give him some with bran, or agar added, to furnish a padding. Do not give physics.

If a child swallows something the wrong way, hold him upside down and clap his back; if he is too large to hold upside down, put him on the table with his head and body down over the sides. If the object isn't dislodged in this manner, you can try gently to get it out with a battery hook, being extremely careful not to push the object further down and not to tear the throat with the hook.

These are the only home remedies I can suggest while you are waiting for the physician.

Christmas time, above all other times, belongs to the children, and it should be the happiest time of the year, but unfortunately, too often it is a time of sorrow through preventable accidents. Take this matter of the Christmas tree lighted with candles, for instance; that's a dangerous thing. Another source of danger is the overeating of the Christmas candies and dainties. This is frequently followed by serious intestinal upsets, and sometimes by even more serious things. Our children are always showing an increasing number of children suffering from diabetes. Still another cause of illness among children in cold climates is getting up early, before the house is warm, to investigate their presents. This, too, is frequently followed by colds. Colds may lead to something more serious.

Of course, we cannot carry out the regular routine on holidays, especially on Christmas, but we must not depart so much from the normal course of life that we bring on colds. Colds may lead to something more serious.

Who's Who in Timely Views

WOMEN IN BUSINESS DISCUSSED BY LOUIS L. EMMERSON, Governor of Illinois

Louis Lincoln Emerson was born at Albion, Ill., Dec. 27, 1867. In 1893 he began in the mercantile business at Mt. Vernon, Ill. In 1901 he organized the Third National bank there. He was secretary of state of Illinois from 1916 to 1928. A Republican, he was elected governor of Illinois last fall.

Women in business have long been an accepted fact. From the stenographer's desk they graduated to executive positions, until today they are to be found in many of the great responsibilities in many of the country's largest corporations.

Such recognition was not achieved in a day. The road was long and the road was hard, but there was no backsliding. Step by step they overcame the prejudices of centuries and proved themselves worthy of the opportunities offered.

It was this success in the business world that finally opened the way of full citizenship for the women of America. And, just as they proved their aptitude for business, they also have shown their ability in affairs of state.

Extension of suffrage to women brought no revolution in politics or government. The women of Illinois very wisely started out to learn politics from the ground up, just as they had mastered the smaller tasks of business before aspiring to executive positions.

They have now covered the ground of government entirely upon their own ability to organize and upon the faithful performance of those whom they see fit to elevate to public office.

If for one has never felt it necessary to worry over the encroachment of women in the business and professional world. Nor can I see cause to deny them the privilege of public service. The example of the great majority of those women who have been publicly honored indicates clearly that they will measure up to their responsibilities.

It has been my pleasure during the past few months to extend to the women of Illinois a greater measure of public recognition than they have ever been accorded previously. I have done so knowing that they will meet the highest standards of public service.

There can be no progress in affairs of state without an intelligent, enlightened electorate. I feel that in helping to achieve this goal, the women of Illinois have had a unique opportunity to prove their worth in politics.

The "first robin" story is already at hand—from Ohio—and the only trouble is that it's impossible to figure out this particular bird's getting there ahead of time or just getting away late.

The sensation of the drug trade is this: a new, two-minute cold reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rum, and any other cold reliever they have ever tried.

To get rid of that cold, step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk the few cents for a bottle of the liquid cold remedy, and tell him to serve you two teaspoonful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes. You cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold any more. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite and expect you to try it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children. Aspirin is by far the best most effective, easiest to take and most agreeable cold remedy for children. It is a safe, reliable relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. A druggist can give you a guarantee. Aspirin, the largest selling liquid cold remedy in the world, (adv.)

COLD WEATHER

In New England and the northwest. The weather was milder in the central states, but the weather bureau forecast temperature low enough to hold the snow until after Christmas.

The snow melted fast in the south however, and the mercury was expected to climb in the lower Mississippi Valley where more than a foot of snow fell, leaving the master of a "White Christmas" for Dixie problematical.

GREGG COUNTY HAS RECORD COLD

LONGVIEW, Dec. 23. (AP)—Gregg county today experienced one of the coldest days in its history, government thermometers showing 1 3-4 degrees above zero. The 14-inch snow which fell last week has made farmers jubilant. They are of opinion good crops follow heavy snowfalls.

PRISON CHRISTMAS

City singer and master of ceremonies, asked the boys in a cheery voice to join him in silent night. They stood, but did not sing.

Then something happened. It began with a flurry of girls in dancing costumes, a flurry of white crepe and pink silk. A gasp swept the auditorium. "Boy! Boy!" A few girls went up. "Step it up, giffie! Is it all right, Mr. Warden?" "Quite all right," said Warden T. B. White, Christmas.

Miss Dorris Bickell, a red-headed girl, and sang her blues. "I Ain't Got Nobody."

Sullen faces wrone.

Sullen faces were remade with laughter. The prisoners held their knees. And when a contralto note tremoloed, lingered and sobbed, they groaned and laughed. The applause roared. Whoopee! Miss Louise McCue and Miss Jane Affalter sang popular songs, and the prisoners forgot they had guards. The warden smiled appreciatively at the high humor into which his boys had been thrown.

There was an hour of it. A boy with a frown looked transformed; the old man with the white mustache clasped and reclosed his withered hands, and said, "well, well."

And then the prison—the iron and stone and steel—resurrected itself.

The prison orchestra blared a march, and a straight captain of the guards paced to the front. He flicked his forefinger to the right. Five hundred men in the right section stood and marched out as one. He flicked the finger to the left. Five hundred more men rose and joined in lockstep. Four small gestures and 1,700 men were marching through the stone corridors.

Christmas in Leavenworth.

The baby was in her crib upstairs while other members of the family were eating breakfast. Neighbors rushed in to tell them the upper part of the house was in flames. Mrs. Orr and Taylor were burned trying to save the child.

WHEAT CROP REPORT MADE

WORLD CROP ESTIMATE IS 3,415,000,000 DURING YEAR

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The world wheat crop this year, outside Russia and China was placed by the department of agriculture at about 3,415,000,000 bushels, the "disappearance" for the season likely to be about 2,500,000,000 bushels.

On that basis, the department said, the world's carryover on Jan. 1 next would be reduced to about 215,000,000 and 295,000,000 bushels. World production last year was 343,000,000 bushels and the carryover on July 1 this year was 5,000,000 bushels.

Price May Be Lower

"Past supply and price relationship," the department indicated, "show the world supply as reported to date might be expected to place in British parcels prices for season averaging about 162 cents per bushel, on the basis of the price level. But the depression in stock market and reduction in cereal price level which has taken place are likely to cause prices average below what might be expected on the average. For the present we are assuming that prices average 5 per cent below what is expected, or around about 152 cents per bushel, as compared 128 for the past season."
