

FARMER BIGGEST HAZARD AROUND FARM

Carelessness... negligence... A group of farmers contacted in a poll here this week agreed that these are the greatest causes of farm accidents in this area.

The spotlight is on farm accidents and prevention of accidents this week with Farm Safety Week set July 25-31.

Proclamations signed by President L. B. Johnson and Governor John Connally urge that all persons "recognize and vigorously attack the hazards and unsafe practices that cause farm and rural accidents."

Just what are these "hazards and practices"?

According to Olton farmers, the greatest hazard is the farmer himself.

A group of farmers, selected at random, were contacted this week and asked two questions:

A. What do you consider to be the greatest cause of accidents on farms here in this area?

B. What, in your opinion, is the best idea for or method of prevention of farm accidents?

And here are their answers, right from the farmer's mouth, one might say.

JOHNNY HODGES--A. Carelessness and neglect. Too many things to do.

B. That I don't know.

BILL COLLINS--A. Carelessness--that just about takes care of it.

B. No comment.

WILLIAM DE BERRY--A. Carelessness around machinery and thoughtlessness, that's usually it.

B. Be more cautious.

JIM BROWN--A. Carelessness... not following safety rules and keeping safety shield in repair.

B. Just be more careful and keep machinery up in good shape.

WILLIE GREEN--A. Carelessness... in the sense that we are thinking about one thing and doing another. Then, too, putting off repair to or the adding of safety devices.

B. Be alert, talk to your hired hand and get your signals worked out so there's no mistake as to what you intend to be done. Also you should discuss with him what to do in case of emergency.

J. L. SNIDER--A. Too many long hours... trying to "get over" without any thought to the actual job you are doing at the present time.

CLIFFORD CARLISLE--A. I'd say negligence and haste are the main things. I guess that about sums it up.

B. Slow down and think about what you're doing.

JACK EDWARDS--A. Carelessness. Accidents are not the fault of the machinery. They are caused by those using the machinery who are careless or don't use the machinery properly.

B. No comment.

DEWEY BALL--A. Carelessness and just not paying any attention to what you're doing. I never have had a hired hand to get hurt because I've always stressed to my help to be careful around machinery. One fellow got too close to a power belt that tore his britches off and from then on I didn't have to tell him to be careful around it.

B. No comment.

DON FRANKS--A. Two or three things--carelessness mostly I'd say and not keeping equipment up in good shape. Fatigue also has a great deal to do with it, I think.

B. Actually, the only way to prevent accidents is just to be more careful, because you don't know when it's going to happen to you.

HENRY MILLER--A. Carelessness. Everybody getting in a hurry causes accidents. When you get in a hurry, you can't get anything done.

B. There's two words in the English language that we don't need and they are 'worry and hurry'. If we could get rid of them, everybody will be better off.

LESLIE KENNEDY--A. Carelessness... making sure that your equipment is in good shape and being very careful around it.

B. Shut your equipment off before trying to fix something or stopping your equipment before getting off to check on a plow etc. taking time to do this would prevent many accidents.

JAMES COWART--A. I have an idea that boll pullers are involved in more accidents in this area... guys getting off and cleaning the stripping and getting their hand hung.

B. Shutting it off or throwing it out of gear before you get down to clean it would help prevent some accidents.

MELVIN BERRY--A. Carelessness around machinery. Most accidents are caused by just being careless and if we are careful, we won't be apt to have one.

JACK HYSINGER--A. Negligence---not watching what you're doing because you are too used to doing this work.

B. Watch what you're doing and have respect for the machine you're working with.

Record High For Coverage By Insurance

Residents of Lamb County began the current year with more protection in the form of life insurance than ever before. Their coverage, per family, has reached an all-time high.

Total holdings of life insurance in the local area are now placed at more than $85,218,000.

The facts and figures on the number of policy holders and on the amount of insurance in force are from data compiled for the forthcoming Life Insurance Fact Book and from other studies. They are detailed for the United States as a whole and for every state.

They show that the American people have over $900 billion in such insurance and that the trillion-dollar mark is well within sight. At the present rate it will be attained in 1967.

In the State of Texas, according to the figures, the amount in force totals $44,440,000,000.

For most families in the state, there is a direct relationship between their income and their insurance holdings. In the average family, the amount of insurance owned is equal to 25 months income, after taxes, it is found.

Applying this ratio to Lamb County residents and to their average income level, the estimated amount of life insurance locally is $12,200 per family.

It is more than elsewhere in the West South Central States, the average being $11,900.

For the 6,950 local households, the grand total is $85,218,000. Most of it is in the form of ordinary life insurance. Group insurance is second in point of volume.

This total is exclusive of certain Government-sponsored insurance and insurance provided by fraternal organizations.

In the past ten years, the reports show, ownership of life insurance has more than doubled in the United States.

MORE THAN $2,000

Big Prizes Set In Golf Tourney

More than $2,000 in prizes await the winners of Olton's annual invitational golf tournament, which begins Friday and continues through Sunday at Olton Recreation Center.

Golf Pro Fred Pendergrass said Wednesday he expects a field of 120 for the meet, including defending champion Howard Axtell of Lubbock.

The field will be divided into six 20-man flights which will play 54 holes of medal competition, 18 holes per day. Handicaps will be used in all flights except championship and net scores will be posted in each flight daily.

Back to contest Axtell for the 1966 crown will be Gene Boyd, Plainview, who carried the defending champion six extra holes last year before bowing out.

Others expected for championship flight play are Doug Ehle and T. C. Hamilton of Lubbock; Jack Williams, James Angel, Jimmy Farrell and Robert Payne, all of Plainview; Jim Fullingim of Petersburg, Bill Overall of San Marcos, Jerry Smith of Andrews and Housty Brewer of Amarillo.

SCHOOL STARTS HERE AUG. 29

Dust off the blackboards and bring out the chalk... School time is almost here again.

Exactly one month from tomorrow, the fall session will get underway here with regular classes scheduled to begin Monday Aug. 29.

Students will register the week prior to opening. Days and times of registration will be announced later.

Three Olton golfers--T. J. Roberson, Rusty Sherman and Louis Hair--may match strokes in the top flight, along with Roger Thompson and possibly Bobby Copeland.

Plans call for the fifth flight to tee off each day at 8 a. m., fourth at 9 a. m., third at 10 a. m., second at 12 noon, first at 1 p. m., and championship at 2 p. m.

Prizes include $400 in merchandise for each flight: a set of irons for first, a set of woods for second, golf bag for third and a pair of shoes for fourth, plus six golf balls per day to the medalist in each flight.

Low Of 53 Wins At ORC

Monday's pro-am here was won with a 53, which is 19 under par for the Olton course, by the team of T. C. Hamilton of Lubbock, Jimmy Harris of Kress, C. E. Barnes and Brian Evans, both of Borger.

Each member of the winning team received $36 in merchandise.

T. J. Roberson, on the second place team, was low amateur with a 68, worth $12.80 in merchandise.

Other members of the team, which came in with a 54, were Rusty Sherman, Basil Sherman and Deryl Machen. Each received $21.60 in merchandise as did Roberson.

Third place team, 56, was composed of Heath Nichols and Boots Nichols, both of Amarillo, and Frank Cornelius and Lec Carson. Each received $14.40 in merchandise.

Cucumber Harvest Going Full Speed

ONLY FIVE YEARS OLD... AND ALREADY A FARMER!
SHUCKS, SAYS CHUCK BALL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ball, I started learning to set irrigation tubes when I was only four! Chuck is the pride of his daddy and his granddaddy, Dewey Ball, who confirm that the youngster can set tubes as fast as

Mandrell Yield High

The long, hot summer may be hard on residents but it's good for cucumbers.

Cucumber picking is under way in the Olton area and full production in most of the fields is expected in the next week.

W.C. Gunter, representative of Brown-Miller Pickle Co., noted that "ideal conditions" for growing cucumbers have prevailed this year.

This he described as "mainly hot weather." Most residents would readily agree with this description of the weather which has been unusually hot and humid for this area.

"Top picking" for cucumbers, which are harvested twice a week for approximately six weeks, is usually the third or fourth picking.

Best production thus far has been on De Vern Mandrell's farm where three tons of cucumbers were taken from one acre.

Gunter noted that all the local cucumber fields are looking good and are bearing "huge crops so far."

Many farmers are predicting the biggest cucumber crop this area has ever known.

One new development in the crop is being tested here this year.

Gunter said a few acres of hybrid pickles that have no male blooms are being tried for the first time.

"It looks promising and like it might be a thing of the future," he added.

Local pickles are contracted to Brown-Miller and two field men have been assigned here.

Laborers working the fields are under the supervision of crew leaders, who are in charge of the actual gathering. The field men supervise the job and assign the crews to the fields at the proper time.

As Gunter described it: "All the farmer has to do is to raise them and, of course, look after his own interests."

Co-Op Sets Annual Meet

The third annual stockholders meeting of Olton Grain Co-op Inc. has been scheduled for Saturday at 8 p. m. at the school lunchroom.

An audit of the elevator's 1965-66 operations will be presented and dividend checks will be available.

A representative of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association will give the program.

Two new directors will be named to the board, succeeding Owen Jones and James Cowart, whose terms are expiring.

Nominees for the posts are Garland Rose, Jack Snider, T. J. Roberson and Floyd Light. Other nominations may be made from the floor at the business session.

NELSONS 'VERY PROUD' OF NEW HOME

Warm Atmosphere Is Parsonage Feature

BY SUE CANNON

The new Methodist parsonage recently completed here greets one with a warm, friendly atmosphere when one steps through the front door into the entrance hall.

The lovely, gold carpeted living room is to the left of the entrance hall. This spacious room is furnished simply with an oversized blue and gold figured couch, with large end tables and coffee table at the west end of the room.

Over the couch hang individual pictures of the four seasons done with flowers, evergreens, cattails, etc. on burlap. These were presented to Mrs. Tommy Nelson by a friend in Amarillo where the family resided before coming to Olton last month.

Luxurious full-length white drapes with gold trimmed valances are hung at the three panel picture window. Teardrop light fixtures enhance the decor of the room. Folding doors separate the living room and the family room to the north.

The den, or family room, is furnished with early American china closet, couch and chair and a dining table which sits in front of the window looking out to the north into the large fenced-in backyard. Pale yellow full-length drapes are hung at the window.

There is a built-in book shelf on the west wall. The walls of this room are paneled with plastic washable wallpaper used on the south wall and on into the hall.

The kitchen is to the east of the den and a snack bar divides the two rooms. The kitchen features ash cabinets with bronze-colored fixtures, complete with electric stove, double ovens, dishwasher and refrigerator. The dining table is set at the north end of the kitchen beneath a window also looking out onto the patio and the backyard. A telephone sits on the kitchen desk, located next to the table.

Just off the kitchen, to the east, is the utility room, which features white fixtures -- washer, dryer and upright freezer. Built-in cabinets of ash wood and a sink are at the north end of the room. The floor is covered in white tile floor covering with flecks of gold. At the east window are figured drapes, of white with gold and orange.

The master bedroom, to the right of the entrance hall, is furnished in Spanish decor. The beautiful king-size bed is covered with an aqua bedspread with drapes to match.

The same gold colored carpet covers this floor as well as the rest of the house. The interior of the house has off-white walls in all rooms except for the den which features wood paneling. The entire house is cooled by refrigerated air.

The master bedroom has a double closet and a bath just off the bedroom. The bath is in white and gold with aqua for accent, and features a beautiful dressing table and built-in linen closets.

In the guest room, which has an outside entrance from the front of the house, is a built-in desk of ash with overhead bookshelves. The drapes are white with flecks of beige and the bedspread is in white.

The guest bath adjoins the room on the north and it is done in white and gold. It features a shower and built-in linen closets.

The bedroom which Joel, 14, occupies has been furnished with white French provincial furniture and has figured drapes of white with three shades of turquoise and a deep turquoise bedspread covers the bed.

The younger boys, Eddie and Tim, 10 and 6 respectively, occupy the bedroom on the northwest. Early American furnishings were chosen for this room with twin beds and a double dresser. The room features triple closets. Bedspreads and drapes are pink.

The main bath, down the hall from the boys' bedrooms, is done in blue tile with white fixtures. The floor covering is blue and white mingled tile. There is one linen closet, one clothes closet and a closet with deep shelves for storage of winter blankets in the bathroom. A large dressing table with white tile and oval sink is the attraction in this bathroom.

A unique feature of the three baths in the new parsonage is an all-in-one unit control of heat, lights and ventilation. One dial regulates all.

A big double garage is just off the kitchen to the north.

Mrs. Nelson said she enjoyed showing the lovely new parsonage because as she put it "it belongs to the church and we are very proud of it."

The Nelsons have already come to call Olton home and said they "just love the friendly people around here."

GUEST ROOM of the new Methodist parsonage features this built-in bookshelf and desk, complete with typewriter for the convenience of fellow ministers, who are frequent visitors to the parsonage. This room also has an outside exit and adjoining bath.

Farm Safety Week

Day-to-day living seems to be a hazardous task these days. At least this would be a logical deduction from the accident death figures released by the National Safety Council indicating 107,000 persons lost their lives due to accidents during 1965. And during the same period, another 10,500,000 persons were victims of disabling injuries.

Accidents kill more than 8,000 farm residents each year, and an additional 700,000 or more are victims of disabling injuries.

This is an alarming situation, not only because of the grief to loved ones, the expense and the unnecessary suffering, but also because of the monetary loss to the nation.

It is for these reasons that President Lyndon B. Johnson has proclaimed July 24-

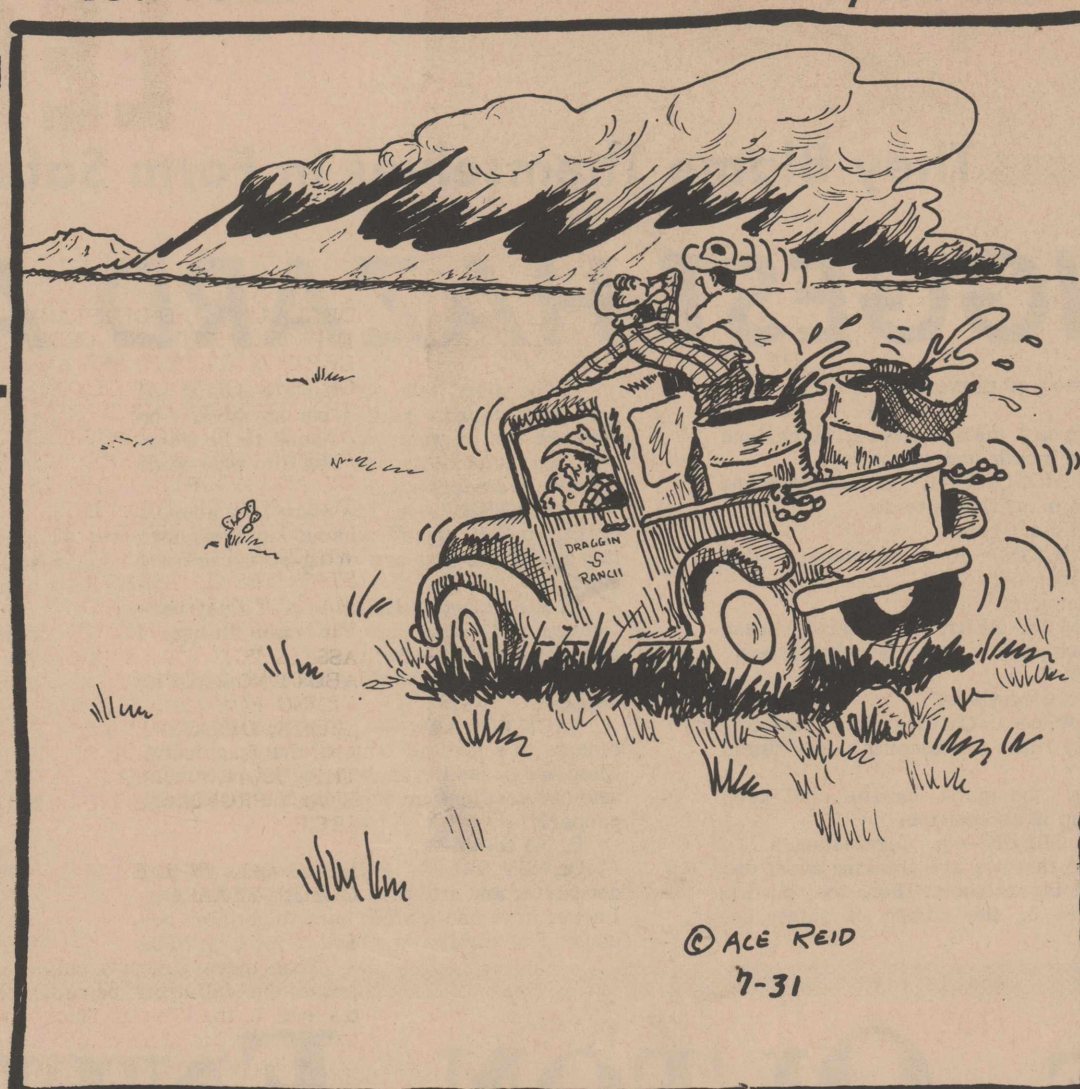

30 as National Farm Safety Week. The proclamation draws attention to farm safety for a period of one week but is intended to emphasize the importance of safety throughout the year.

The word "safety" has become a part of everyone's vocabulary, but it is now imperative that we do more than use it in conversation. We must put it into everyday practice before results can be expected. Farm Safety Week comes at a time of the year when farm people are actively involved in all phases of farm work, an ideal time to check the safety of the farm environment.

Practicing safety during National Farm Safety Week can create life saving habits throughout the year.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

HER "POLISH" IS SHOWING

Dear Amy:

I must have your advice as soon as possible. My lady-friend "dolls up" like no other lady I know. She uses colored nail polish to the point that I feel ridiculous when we are out socially.

On the Fourth of July, she polished her nails red, white and blue. On Christmas, they were red and green. On New Year's, gold and silver. I told her I can't stand this nonsense, but she doesn't think there's anything wrong in it.

How can I stop her from putting herself on exhibition? Len

Dear Len:

By telling her as far as you two are concerned, the future looks pretty 'black'.

(It's too bad that all the polish some girls have they wear on their fingernails!)

Dear Amy:

I have a very confusing problem and I desperately need your help or advice. I've been living with this problem and I fear it will be a part of me forever if something isn't done now.

I am 18 years old now, but five years ago, when I was 13, I fell in love with Richie — the perfect boy for any girl. But we had a falling out, and on the rebound, I met Ziggle. He was warm, gentle, affectionate, sweet and understanding. We fell in love.

For 5 years now Ziggle and I have been going together and our love has grown to the point that it would be a firm foundation for marriage. But recently I heard that Richie married, and the past came swooshing back to me pushing my love for Ziggle out of my mind. Now every time I hear his name, I start day-dreaming about what could have been between us. His sister is a close friend of mine, and just her presence triggers my mind back to my happy days with Richie.

Now I wonder if Richie will always be a shadow in my life with Ziggle... or any other man whom I might choose to marry?

Dear Diane:

Richie is part of your childhood and you only think of him now because you think of what 'could have been'... but never was. Every young woman has had a 'Richie' in her childhood but out-grows him — it's not really the person, but the feelings and emotions experienced at the tender age of 12 or 13 that remain very vivid in a person's mind. First loves always do!

But then we grow up and leave our childhood behind us!

Ziggle sounds like everything you want, need and desire. I would not tell him about Richie. It is something that you must conquer within yourself. If you cannot at present, you are not mature, nor are you ready for marriage.

Dear Amy:

My dilemma stems from a series of incidents. The very first disagreement was because my fiancé failed to call me at the time that he was supposed to call. I blew my top and told him to call the date off — and everything else.

The second incident was when I made the mistake of going out with a married couple that worked with me — and another guy. My fiancé was out by himself and he saw me... but I did not see him. Later our party decided to make another stop on the way home, and my fiancé was there, too, with a young lady and a group of others. I could not think of a decent thing to do so I walked over and caused a little scene.

When I came home, I told my mother what had happened, and she told me that I was wrong and that he had called earlier in the evening while I was working overtime.

Now I am sorry but don't know how to explain to him that I have grown up, that I care enough for him and want a second chance (without conveying the idea that I am chasing him).

Dear Confused:

Stop trying to beat around the bush. So what if it looks like you're chasing him! You were wrong so be honest with yourself and with him. Face up to it... he IS your fiancé!

II That it is hereby ordered that said named streets or avenues or portions thereof within the limits hereinabove described shall be improved by filling, grading, raising, and by constructing or reconstructing and realigning curbs and gutters and by widening where necessary so as to attain the width set out above from back of curb and by constructing necessary and proper appurtenances and incidentals to such improvements, including drains and culverts; such improvements to be made shall be of such nature and type of construction in each particular unit of improvement as will be shown in the plans and specifications of the City's Engineer, which plans and specifications shall be subject to the approval of the City Council of the City of Olton, Texas.

III That in providing for and in making the improvements hereby ordered, the City Council of the City of Olton, deems it advisable and hereby elects and determines to proceed under and by the exercise of the powers, terms and provisions contained in Chapter 106 of the Acts of the First Called Session of the 40th Legislature of the State of Texas, as amended, which is known as Article 1105b, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, which is hereby adopted by the City of Olton, for all purposes necessary or incidental to the construction of said improvements and to the levying of special assessments for the property owners' portion of the cost of such improvements as hereinafter delineated.

IV That the cost of said improvements in each unit as herein defined shall be paid for as follows, to-wit:

(a) Properties abutting on the streets and avenues or portions thereof within the limits and in the units above defined, and the real and true owners thereof shall have assessed against them in accordance with the Front Foot Plan or Rule (except as otherwise herein provided) not exceeding all of the cost of constructing and reconstructing of curbs and gutters and not exceeding nine-tenths (9/10) of the estimated cost of the remainder of such improvements in such units in which the streets or avenues or portions thereof abutted by such properties are situated, including the expense of engineering and other expenses incident to the construction of such improvements.

(b) The City of Olton shall pay all of the remainder of the cost of said improvements after deducting the amounts herein specified to be assessed against the abutting properties and the real and true owners thereof, all as set out in subsection (a) hereof.

(c) There is included within the meaning of the term "costs" of "Cost of the improvements" or "costs of the remaining improvements", when such terms are used herein, the engineering fees and all other costs and expenses incident to the construction of the improvements.

V The amount payable by the abutting properties and by the real and true owners thereof and assessed against such properties and the real and true owners thereof shall constitute a personal liability of the real and true owners of such property, and shall be secured by a first and prior lien upon such properties, which lien shall be prior to all other liens and claims except those securing the payment of State, City, School District and County Ad Valorem taxes; and shall be payable as follows, to-wit:

When the improvements have been completed and have been accepted by the City of Olton, in or as to a particular unit, as such units are above defined, the amounts payable by or assessed against the properties abutting on the streets or avenues or portions thereof in said unit and against the real and true owners thereof shall be and become due in five (5) equal (or as nearly equal as possible) installments as follows:

The first of said installments shall be due and payable on or before ten (10) days after the date the improvements have been accepted by the City in the unit in which the street, avenue or portion thereof which is abutted by the property assessed lies, and the four (4) remaining installments shall be due and payable on or before one (1), two (2), three (3) and four (4) years, respectively, from the date of such acceptance. Interest on each assessment shall run on the unpaid principal balance from the date of the acceptance of such improvements in the unit in which the street, avenue or portion thereof abutted by the property assessed lies at the rate of seven (7%) percent per annum, which interest shall be payable at the time the principal installments become due as above set out (or at the time of payment of such installments in the event of prepayment). Past due principal and interest shall bear interest at the rate of eight (8%) percent per annum. If default is made in the payment of any installment of principal or interest when due, then at the option of the holder of the special assessment certificate issued to evidence such assessment, the entire amount of such certificate shall be and become immediately due and payable, together with reasonable attorneys fees and court costs, if incurred.

VI No assessment shall in any case be made against any property or against the real and true owner or owners thereof in excess of the special benefits to accrue to such property in the enhanced value thereof resulting from said improvements. If the application of the Front Foot Rule or Plan would be in the opinion of the City Council in particular cases, result in injustices or irregularity, such costs shall be apportioned and assessed in a just and equitable manner as ordered by the City Council, having in view the special benefits and enhanced value to be received by such parcels of property and the owners thereof and the equities of such owners and the adjustment of such apportionment so as to produce a substantial equality of benefits received and burdens imposed.

VII That in the levying and making of said assessments, if the name of any owner be unknown, it shall be sufficient to so state the fact; and if the property be owned by an estate, or by any firm or corporation, it shall be sufficient to so state, and it shall not be necessary to give the correct name of any owner, and the real and true owner of the property assessed shall be liable and the assessment against the property shall be valid, whether such owner be correctly named or not.

Assessments against several parcels of property may be made in one assessment when owned by the same person, firm or corporation or estate, and property owned jointly by one or more persons, firms or corporations may be assessed jointly. If is hereby further provided that said improvements and the assessments levied thereon in any one unit are in no wise related to or connected with the improvements or assessments in any other units and in levying said assessments, the amounts so assessed and the validity of such assessment, in any one of said units, shall not be in anywise affected by any fact or matter connected with the improvements or the assessments thereon in any other unit; and the omission of part or all of said improvements in any unit shall in no wise affect or impair the improvements of, or the validity of the assessments thereon in any other unit. Further, the omission of said improvements in any particular unit in front of any parcel or parcels of property upon which a valid assessment lien may not be levied shall in no wise affect or impair the validity of the assessments against the other abutting properties in such unit.

The Contractor shall not be compelled to construct any street improvements on that portion of a street or avenue immediately abutting any properties against which the owners are unwilling to fix valid mechanic's liens, and upon which valid assessments may not be fixed or levied; but the Contractor shall be permitted to omit such improvements on any such street or avenue immediately abutting any such property. If, however, the owners of any such properties execute valid mechanic's lien contracts agreeing to pay the cost of such improvements and fixing a valid lien upon their property to secure such cost, then such improvements shall be constructed by the Contractor on the portion of the street or avenue abutting such property. Provided, however, that in any case where valid assessments may not be levied against any abutting property and the owner thereof, and the Contractor is unable to obtain the execution of a valid mechanic's lien contract by the owners of such property, or the payment of the cost properly chargeable against such owner in advance, or the deposit in escrow, until the completion and acceptance of such improvements by the City, of such owner's part of such costs, then the entire unit in which such property is situated may be deleted from the contract and all such improvements in such units may be eliminated from the project, at the option of the City. In the event such improvements are omitted abutting any particular properties the lien on said properties, fixed by the filing of notice of enactment of this ordinance, shall be released.

VIII The City does not guarantee the collection of the assessments levied against the owners of abutting properties and their properties, but will exercise and exhaust all of its lawful powers to aid in enforcing collection, and will hold for the Contractor, its assigns, any sums collected between the date of the acceptance of the improvements and the date of delivery of the certificates of special assessment to the Contractor or its assigns; as well as any sums which may thereafter be paid to said City as payment on, or of, such assessments.

IX The City's Engineer is directed to immediately prepare plans and specifications for the proposed improvements and is to submit them to the City Council at the earliest practicable time.

X The City Secretary is hereby directed to cause to be prepared a notice of the enactment of this ordinance and to file said notice with the County Clerk of Lamb County, Texas, for recording in the records of Mortgages or Deeds of Trust in said County.

UNANIMOUSLY PASSED AND ADOPTED on this the 25th day of July, 1966.

APPROVED AND AUTHENTICATED on this the 25th day of July, 1966.

KITCHEN KORNER

BY LELA GALLION

As I'm sure most of you are aware of the way your grocery bills are going up from month to month, you are trying to find ways of preparing the cheaper cuts of meat to be good to eat as well as acceptable. Here is a suggestion you might like. Buy a thin cut of round steak for this.

MOCK DUCK

Spread a thin slice of round steak with the following dressing and roll. Tie strips of salt pork or bacon to the outside. Place in a roasting pan and bake in a medium oven 1 1/2 hrs. or until done.

STUFFING:

1 qt. dry bread crumbs
1 small onion
2 T. butter
1 c. hot water
1 c. tomato sauce
1 t. salt
1/2 t. pepper

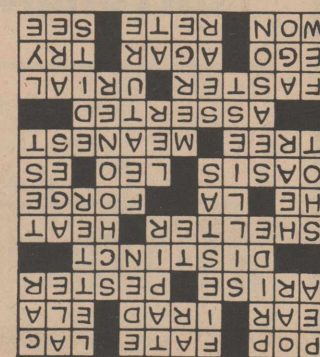

Since Hamburger is an inexpensive meat try these.

PORCUPINE BALLS

1 lb. hamburger
1 c. cornflakes or cracker crumbs
1 small onion
1 egg
1/2 c. milk
1/3 c. uncooked rice
2 c. tomato juice
pepper and salt to taste

Mix all ingredients except tomato juice. Shape into small balls. Brown in skillet all around. Place in casserole. Pour tomato juice over the balls and bake 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees.

Making a mistake is quite a bit like making a "home run." In six months or less "most everyone has forgotten it but you."

Piggly Wiggly

THE DUMMY turned out to be a real person and scared the daylight out of some shoppers at Piggly Wiggly last week, including Robbie Langford, who covered her face when the "dummy" suddenly stepped forward to shake her hand. The dummy was a professional, Bob Murry of Muleshoe, who has mastered the art of standing posed on a wooden block for more than two hours without moving a muscle, or batting an eye. He was made up to look like a wax figure, and he fooled most everyone who came in the store.

Fellow Needs A Friend...

Although volumes have been written about the teen-age marriage and the teen-age bride, little attention is given to the teen-age groom.

"It takes two to make a marriage, and many young couples discover that there is more to marriage than they had realized," says Mrs. Patsy Yates, Texas A&M University Extension specialist in family life education.

She points out that a West Coast counselor, Professor Ben Ard who teaches at San Francisco State College, advises the teen-age groom: "Now that you have married the girl, try to make friends with her."

Due to the youth of the couple and the speed of courtship, it isn't surprising that many young couples discover shortly after marriage that they love each other but they really don't like each other, Mrs. Yates says.

Friendships don't just happen. They are built over a period of time. Dr. Erich Fromm insists that mature love is built on respect, understanding, knowledge and caring for the other person.

"Knowledge and understanding, even of one's self, is difficult. The teen-age groom will do well to begin making friends with his wife by seeking knowledge and understanding of her as a person," Mrs. Yates says.

Human Error Big Factor In Accidents On Farm

Accidents are caused. Since they are caused, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, they can be prevented.

To focus attention on the farm and home safety problem, President Lyndon B. Johnson has proclaimed the week of July 24-30 as National Farm Safety Week and has asked all persons to recognize and vigorously attack the hazards and unsafe practices that cause farm and rural accidents.

Almost 2,300 persons died in non-transport accidents on United States farms in 1964. More than half of the deaths were caused by accidents involving machinery or drownings, reported the TFRSC.

In most cases, the cause of accidents involves both man and his environment. Man, explains the council, sets the accident stage by things he does or does not do; at the same time, certain environmental conditions exist, then and there, that bring on the accident.

Human error, believes the council, can be reduced through education and attention to accident prevention. Public acceptance of safety as a part of every activity in daily living could improve human performance and remove many environmental hazards often related to accidents, says the council.

The farm and home accident rate in Texas can be reduced, emphasizes the council, if rural families will make safety training a part of their daily operations. The big thing, explains the council, is for every family to have a constant awareness of the accident hazards that exist and to be mentally and physically alert at all times. Hazards which are removable should be eliminated and practices initiated to make the farm surroundings equal in safety to those found in manufacturing plants.

Because of the complications of modern farming, the council believes, training in safety methods and procedures will pay good dividends on every farm.

7 Farmers Demonstrating HPRF System Of Farming

The High Plains Foundation Farming System of interplanting row crops is being demonstrated by seven farmers on the High and South Plains in cooperation with the High Plains Research Foundation.

Lloyd Langford, associate agronomist on the Foundation staff, is working with these farmers in displaying the effectiveness of this farming system of two rows of cotton, a blank row and two rows of grain sorghum, forage sorghum or castorbeans. Each of the seven farms demonstrating the High Plains Foundation Farming System has a 4' x 8' sign identifying the farmer and the High Plains Research Foundation.

These demonstration areas of the High Plains Foundation Farming System are being observed by neighboring farmers. Data from these demonstrations will be reported on each farm operation in the 1966 Annual Research Report of the High Plains Research Foundation. The reports will include agronomic, quality and irrigation results achieved by each farmer.

The farmers cooperating with the Foundation in these tests are as follows: Ed Wuerfle, who farms northeast of Muleshoe in the Pleasant Valley Community, has cotton interplanted with grain sorghum; Carl Sanderson, north of Earth, has 75 acres of cotton interplanted with castorbeans; Eldon Gohlke, southeast of Littlefield has two different varieties of cotton interplanted with grain sorghum and cotton interplanted with forage sorghum. In this last system, the forage sorghum and blank rows can be used as diverted acres without penalty.

Neil Landrum has a 126 acre dryland interplanted field one half mile south of Whitharral. This is a demonstration of Paymaster III cotton and waxed Kaffir grain sorghum. Owen Benn, on highway 84 just north of Abernathy, has an interplanted field of cotton and grain sorghum. Ewald Quebe, at Cereal north of Aiken in Floyd County, has a 95 acre field of cotton interplanted with castorbeans. Delton Stone, two miles north of Heckville in Crosby County, has cotton and grain sorghum interplanted.

4. Disengage power-take-offs before dismounting from tractors.
5. Observe all rules of safe tractor operation, including the following:
 - Loads should be pulled with drawbar only.
 - Avoid sudden starts, sharp turns and excessive speeds or uneven ground.
 - Young children should be kept away from tractors, or other operating machinery.
 - Signal your intention of turning or stopping when traveling on public roads and highways.
