William Heirens

Heirens Given Three Life Terms

CHICAGO — (AP) — The bloody and vicious crime career of young William Heirens was ended Friday as the state prepared to put him in prison to begin serving three consecutive life sentences.

The 17-year-old college student escaped death in the electric chair for his brutal crimes but the three life sentences and an assortment of other penalties ranging from one year to life for more than a score of burglaries and assaults indicated he will remain in prison until he is nearly 80 years old.

Heirens, under Illinois laws, can not be freed for at least 61 years, probably 63 years.

The former University of Chicago sophomore appeared unmoved as he was summoned before Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal Court for sentence last Thursday. "Have you anything to say before sentence is pronounced?" Judge Ward asked the husky, black-haired youth.

Fidgeting nervously for a moment, Heirens inched closer to the judicial bench and speaking in low tones, said:

Sorry For His Acts

"I wish to express by deep humbleness, I'm sorry for the acts I committed. I'm still very bewildered by some of this, but everything seems to have worked out all right."

Judge Ward, eyeing the youth sharply for a moment, picked up several sheets of paper and began reading.

"The sentence for the murder of Suzanne Degnan is imprisonment for the rest of your natural life." For the next five minutes the chief justice read off the sentences for the crimes of which Heirens was convicted—the lipstick slaying of Frances Brown, 32-year-old former WAVE, and the murder of Mrs. Josephine Ross, 43-year-old widow, 24 burglary charges, and two assault charges.

As deputy sheriffs handcuffed Heirens and led him from the court, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Heirens, rushed from her seat in the crowded courtroom, crying, "I want my Bill, I want my Bill!" She collapsed into the arms of Chief Defense Counsel John Coghlan. Heirens' father, George, rushed to his wife's aid.

Seaboard Wildcat In Lubbock Area Cores Oil Signs

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 J. D. Jenkins, North-Central Lubbock County wildcat, in the Monroe township, found six feet of Tubb-Perrin lime with fair to good porosity and bleeding oil in the bottom of a 10-foot core at 6,014-24 feet, and was coring ahead below 6,024 feet.

Operator reported that top of saturation was at 6,018 feet. The formation from there to 6,024 feet cut at the rate of a foot each 20 minutes.

This project is 1,980 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 27, block D, LS&V survey, and about two miles southeast of same company's No. 1 Cravens, the discovery well in the field of the same name, and so far the only producer in that area.

High on Structure
No. 1 Jenkins is reported to be structurally high to the Cravens discovery and its future progress will be watched with widespread interest and concern.

Ballard and Cody No. 1 Talley, Central Hockley County prospector, about one mile northeast of nearest producer in the Levelland field and approximately the same distance northwest of the town of Levelland, was reported to have swabbed at the rate of about four barrels of oil, and no water per hour, following a 2,000-gallon acid treatment in the pay at 4,760-4,845 feet.

It was understood that operators planned to inject another acid treatment. The well is in southwest corner of labor 17, league 773, State Capital Lands survey.

Strike Ties Up US Shipping As Seamen Establish Picket Lines

Maritime Commission Reports 705 Ships Of All Nations Are Stranded On Three Coasts

By The Associated Press

The greatest maritime strike in history spread through the nation's coastal ports Friday, freezing the port of New York, the country's busiest harbor into "complete paralysis," the U. S. Maritime Commission announced.

The commission's statement came about three hours after the striking AFL Seafarers International Union and the Sailors Union of the Pacific established picket lines along the extensive waterfront.

AFL Picket Lines Paralyze Ports In Texas Gulf Coast

By The Associated Press

The ports of Houston and Galveston were paralyzed Friday by picketing of members of two seamen's unions back a nationwide maritime strike.

Not a ship was working in the Port of Houston as the Seafarers International Union (AFL) threw a picket cordon around the ship channel. Members of the International Longshoremen Association (CIO) and the National Maritime Union said they would observe picket lines. About 3,000 men were idle in Houston.

Galveston's waterfront was picketed by the Seamen's International Union and the Seamen's Union of the Pacific. Crewmen of 11 dry cargo vessels walked off their ships Thursday night. Strike Committee Chairman A. J. Hall said.

About 1,000 seamen and 50 ships will be affected in Galveston. Members of the CIO National Maritime Union refused to cross picket lines, throwing several thousand more men out of work.

Wharf policemen and shipyard maintenance men and licensed seamen who will serve as skeleton crews were issued special passes to cross the picket lines.

Pickets were stationed in Houston at the Ordnance Depot, Brown Shipbuilding Company, North Side Docks, Long Reach, Manchester and Sprunt.

Crowds of longshoremen, seamen and onlookers were packed behind picket lines but there were no disorders.

The number of ships at Houston has not been determined, but there are four in the turning basin, three at Long Reach, two at Manchester.

Railroad officials said the shipping embargo ordered Thursday by the American Association of Railroads will prevent congestion at the port. There is no big accumulation of goods at Houston.

The strike became effective shortly after midnight and spread rapidly.

AFL seamen in Corpus Christi were reported ready to strike at the same time as those in other Texas ports.

PROWLER REPORTED

A prowler was reported on North Main Street Thursday evening, city police said.

The prowler fled before police arrived.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

PARIS — (AP) — French officials criticized Friday Secretary of State Byrnes' speech in Stuttgart as an "open bid for popularity with the Germans, and can only lead to competition, in this respect, with Russia" and said "it is not as practical, in terms of the Ruhr and the Rhineland, as the proposals advanced nearly a year ago by France."

LONDON — (AP) — The British government, openly concerned at the cost of rehabilitating Germany, studied with apparent satisfaction Friday the Stuttgart speech of Secretary of State Byrnes. London newspapers reported the speech at length under banner headlines such as "United States of Germany Is American Plan" and "U. S. will Stay In Germany."

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Diplomatic authorities Friday called the Stuttgart address by Secretary of State Byrnes a bold attempt to sell the German people an American-type political system as an attractive alternative to both Nazism and Communism.

PARIS — (AP) — An American official said the Foreign Ministers Council decided Friday to recommend a postponement of the United Nations general assembly scheduled for September 23 in New York.

PRE-WEDDING PACT

OMAHA, NEB. — (AP) — A young man and woman at the Marriage License Bureau spent some time reading a document before requesting their marriage license.

Then they asked a clerk to witness the document, under which:

1. The groom could get a divorce at the end of one year if it appeared to him the marriage was not "sincere".

2. The woman was to pay the expenses for the divorce.

After the document was witnessed, the prospective groom paid $2 for the license.

Britain To Recall Province Pact If Slavs Get Trieste

PARIS — (AP) — Great Britain warned the peace conference Friday that she would withdraw from the Big Four agreement on division of Venezia Giulia if Trieste is not given a genuine "international" status as a free territory.

Charging that Yugoslavia is claiming "a very special position" in the administration of the disputed Adriatic port, British Delegate Hector McNeill said Britain would "reconsider the whole agreement" if Trieste's independence is impaired.

France, too, lined up with Britain in opposing Yugoslav claims to domination of Trieste, though in less unequivocal language.

Maurice Couve de Murville, the French delegate, said his nation would "insist on a free territory as the core of the whole situation."

McNeill warned flatly that "we'll honor our bargain but if the statute is so changed as to impair the conception of a free territory we will have to reconsider our whole agreement."

This was the first notice that any of the four-power Foreign Ministers Council might not stand by their accords hammered out in 11 months of negotiations.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov has insisted again and again throughout the five-week peace conference that the four powers resist unanimously any attempt to change agreed sections of the treaty drafts and the council reaffirmed this solidarity again last week.

Only Thursday the Soviet Deputy Andrei Vishinsky supported the Trieste agreement although he said it was a "minimum" of justice for Yugoslavia.

She was born in Wisconsin and later went to Kansas and Oklahoma. Her husband died in 1938 in Ada where he was an instructor at East Central College. He was an educator in Oklahoma for many years.

Virginia Democrats Nominate Robertson

RICHMOND, VA. — (AP) — Absalom Willis Robertson, 59-year-old tax expert and wildlife conservationist, is the nominee of the Democratic Party to succeed the late United States Senator Carter Glass from Virginia.

Robertson, who lives in Lexington, Va., and has represented the Seventh Congressional District in the House of Representatives since 1932, was nominated by acclamation on the third ballot in the state convention Thursday night.

The unexpired term for which he was nominated runs through 1948.

Robertson will be opposed in the general election by Robert H. Woods, a Republican.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The War Department has notified relatives that Capt. Clarence O. Vore, whose wife is Mrs. Marjorie L. Vore, 1108 Keeler, San Angelo, Texas, is among the 11 Army officers and men missing on a flight of a B-17 bomber from Frankfurt, Germany, to Casablanca, Morocco. The plane has been missing six days.

Chinese Reds Say Government Troops Strafed And Bombed U.S. Truce Team

PEIPING — (AP) — A rescue crew prepared Friday to fly into central Jehol Province in search of a ceasefire team reported by Communist sources to have been strafed and bombed by government planes August 31 while retreating with Communist troops from Chengteh. (A Communist broadcast from Yenai headquarters Friday morning reported that three Americans were wounded, four Communists were killed and 13 other truce team members were injured in the bombing. The broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press at San Francisco, said the wounded Americans were a wireless operator, whose "hair was burnt away" and who was "wounded all over his body," an interpreter and a radio technician. No names were given.

The broadcast added: "This tragedy of American-made planes bombing truce field team personnel and Americans is a direct fruit of U. S. government policy of encouraging Chiang Kai-shek' civil war rampage. Bombs, gasoline and planes were supplied by the United States government."

Col. J. H. Rustemeyer of Leavenworth, Kan., is chairman of the truce team.

The attack on the team was said to have occurred 67 miles north of Chengteh, capital of Jehol, which government troops captured from Communists August 29.

OPA Announces Cut In Retail Prices Of Meats Under New Ceiling Law

WASHINGTON — (AP) — OPA Friday announced new retail ceilings for most meats amounting to an overall average increase of about 3 3/4 cents a pound above June 30 ceilings, but below present prices.

At the same time the price agency said the retail meat ceilings will not apply until Tuesday. They had been scheduled to take effect Monday in more than 1,000,000 butcher shops and meat counters throughout the nation.

The new retail ceilings for lamb, canned meat and shortening, however, will apply Monday as previously scheduled.

OPA said the new beef ceilings average about three cents a pound higher for all retail beef cuts on the average.

The agency reporter that lamb cuts will average ten cents a pound higher and mutton cuts about four cents higher.

The new pork ceilings average seven to eight cents higher on more than half of all pork cuts, with a general average increase of four cents a pound.

Lard ceilings will be up five and one-half cents a pound.

Veal cuts and sausage items remain unchanged from the June 30 ceilings.

OPA said the additional one-day delay in imposition of the new retail meat ceilings is needed to complete distribution of price list posters to retail butchers.

The increases in beef ceilings are confined to most cuts in the two top grades, AA and A.

OPA said that 95 per cent of lamb and mutton cuts are increased and 58 per cent of the total weight of all pork cuts.

Rejects French Claim To Ruhr And Rhineland

Would Give France
Saar—Unify Reich

STUTTGART — (AP) —

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes urged Friday the early establishment of a centralized German government, rejected France's claim to the Rhineland and Ruhr and warned Russia that the United States does not consider Germany's eastern boundary fixed on the Oder.

In an unprecedented speech regarded as the most important American foreign policy pronouncement since the end of the war, Byrnes outlined a broad plan for eventual unification of the German people under a nation council which, he said, should be charged with drafting a federal constitution for a "United States of Germany."

At the same time Byrnes made plain the intention of the United States to continue indefinitely her interest in European affairs and emphasized the "security forces" probably will have to remain in Germany for a long period.

"I want no misunderstanding," Byrnes said. "We will not shirk our duty. We are not withdrawing. As long as an occupation force is required in Germany, the Army of the United States will be part of that occupation force."

The secretary addressed an audience of German and Allied leaders in this seat of the German provisional government for the American zone. The city was gaily decorated with flags. For security reasons, the military police detachment was strengthened to four times the normal size.

Boundaries Are Provisional
On the subject of boundaries, Byrnes asserted territories now occupied by Poland and Russia were "provisionally assigned" at Potsdam and "the protocol of the Potsdam conference makes clear the heads of government did not agree to support at the peace settlement the cession of any particular area."

In urging the early establishment of a central German government, Byrnes declared that the four-power Allied Control Council "so far as many vital questions are concerned, is neither governing Germany nor allowing Germany to govern herself."

"All that the Allied governments can and should do is lay down the rules under which Germany can govern itself," he said. "The Allied occupation forces should be limited to the number of sufficient to see that these rules are obeyed x x x."

"It is the view of the American government that the provisional government should not be hand-picked by other governments, but should be a German national council composed of democratically responsible minister-presidents or other chief officials of the several states or provinces which have been established in each of the four zones."

The secretary said that the leaders and minions of the ruthless Nazi dictatorship had to go, and added:

"But it never was the intention of the American government to deny to the German people the right to manage their own internal affairs as soon as they were able to do so in a democratic way, with genuine respect for human and fundamental freedoms."

Byrnes emphasized that the United States would stand by her agreements to support Soviet claims to Koenigsberg in East Prussia and Polish requests for revision of her northern and western frontiers.

He asserted, however, that Silesia and other Eastern German areas had been allotted to Poland before the Potsdam meeting "for administrative purposes" only, and that Britain, Russia and the United States did not agree to support at the peace settlement the cession of any particular area.

Saar To France
Byrnes said France had a right to the Saar, but he opposed the French plan for internationalizing the Ruhr and the Rhineland.

The secretary was especially critical of the Allied Control Council because of its failure to achieve economic unification of Germany in accordance with the Potsdam agreement.

He noted that of the other three occupying powers, only the British had accepted an American proposal for merging economically the various occupation zones in Germany.

"The time has come when the (Continued on Page 2)

zonal boundaries should be regarded as defining only the areas to be occupied for security purposes by the armed forces of the occupying powers, and not as self-contained economic or political units," he said.

"That was the course of development envisaged by the Potsdam Agreement, and that is the course of development which the American government intends to follow to the full limit of its authority."

Byrnes said "millions of German people should not be forced to live in doubt as to their fate."

He said there was an urgent need for "fully coordinated measures" to develop a common financial policy; common transportation, communication and postal services; and a centrally administered agency for industry and foreign trade, to avoid turning Germany "into a poor-house."

Byrnes said security forces probably would have to remain in Germany for a long period, "but that the American government does not believe that large armies of alien soldiers and of alien bureaucrats, however well motivated and disciplined, are in the long run the most reliable guardians of another country's democracy."

He added, however, that the United States would continue to support measures necessary to denazify and demilitarize Germany.

"From now on," he said, "the thoughtful people of the world will judge Allied actions in Germany not by Allied promises but by Allied performances."

southeast corner of section 56, block 5, H&GN survey, and approximately one mile northwest of the discovery for Ellenburger production in the Polar area, ran a one-hour drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 7,850-7,925 feet. Recovery was 990 feet of sulphur water. No shows of oil or gas were reported.

Top of the formation was picked at 7,775 feet, on an elevation of 2,271 feet. According to some geologists that put it 61 feet low on the Polar field discovery.

At last report the project was shutdown for orders. It is presumed that it will be abandoned and plugged.

Making New Hole

Pacific Western Oil Company No. 1 E. P. Cowden, in southwest corner of section 4, block A-55, psi survey, and about three-quarters of a mile northwest of the nearest producer from the Devonian in the Dollar Hide field, in Southwest Andrews County, was making new hole below 7,291 feet, in line.

It was reported that all the junk iron, left from a fishing job, had been eliminated and that operator expects drilling to proceed to around 8,200 feet, without further delay.

Rowan Drilling Company No. 1 Parker, in the northwest quarter of section 40, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, and a stepout from production on the southeast side of the TXL-Devonian field, in West Ector County was drilling ahead below 7,434 feet in line, after a drillstem test for two hours at 7,285-7,388 feet, in the lower Permian.

Recovery was 900 feet of gas cut drilling mud and 450 feet of salt water cut with oil.

Sun Oil Company No. 1-B McKinley, East Lea County, New Mexico wildcat, to 8,000 feet, on the north side of the Hobbs field, was taking a drillstem test at 4,810-4,855 feet, in the lower San Andres. That zone had shown some porosity and oil stain.

The well is now shut in to prepare for taking potential test.

MIDLAND COUNTY CHILDREN INVITED TO ATTEND STORY HOUR

All children of Midland County are invited to be present for the Story Hour to be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday on the courthouse lawn to hear the story of "Greylock and the Robins" written by Tom Robinson which will be told by Mrs. Paul Klatt.

This story is about Greylock, a pampered, well-fed house cat who had an eye for any "extra delicious" morsel he could find. The particular morsel in this story is a young robin who is learning to fly. Mrs. Klatt reports that the robin will fascinate the listener as much as he did Greylock, only in a different manner.

Greylock schemes to bring an early doom to Robin Junior, but the little bird is saved by the courage and intelligence of Mrs. Robin. These story hours are held at 10:30 a. m. each Saturday under the sponsorship of the Midland County Library.

Brown Appointed Safety Chairman

Alton Brown of Midland, district manager of Texas Employers Insurance Association, has been appointed chairman of the financial committee of the Texas Safety Association to organize Midland for the personal solicitations of membership. The announcement was made by A. F. Allen, president of the association.

"In the field of traffic control alone, thinking men concede that traffic accidents have become Texas' number one civic problem," said Allen.

If the present trend continues, Allen predicted that during the next five years 10,000 Texans will lose their lives, 500,000 others will suffer injuries and the people of Texas will pay an economic loss of 500 million dollars.

To meet the demands of an enlarged program for traffic control, the finance committee of the Texas Safety Association is seeking a broader base of support from Texas industry and business.

Mead Says May Must Testify In Capital

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Senate War Investigating Committee made it plain Friday it will insist that Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) tell at a full dress hearing about his activities in connection with war contracts obtained by the Garsson munitions combine.

In a letter to May, Chairman Mead (D-NY) asserted that the Kentucky congressman's statement disclaiming any profit from his connection with the Cumberland Lumber Company, a Garsson affiliate, "does not give adequate information" and "is not satisfactory to the committee."

Mead ruled out, too, any subcommittee excursion to question May at the latter's Prestonburg, Ky., home. Brushing off that possibility, he asked that May advise the committee "when it may be expected that your physical condition will be such as to allow you to appear and testify before the committee in Washington."

May was taken ill on the eve of his scheduled testimony to the committee last July. In a statement Thursday, he said he was now able to be out of bed for a short time each day and would "be very happy to meet with a subcommittee here in Prestonburg."

GOP Says PAC Stacked Boxscore On Voting

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, asserted Friday that the CIO's "Political Action Committee" "stacked" its boxscore on congressional voting in an effort to cast in an unfavorable light GOP legislators seeking reelection.

He questioned the CIO-PAC's selection of subjects when it compiled the tabulation it is circulating of how lawmakers voted on a dozen issues.

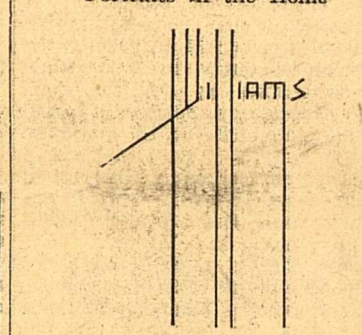

The GOP chairman commented that the compilation omitted votes on veterans legislation, on "moves to curtail government extravagance," and on legislation to aid farmers. He added:

"It was obvious that the selection was made on a basis designed to present Republican members in the most unfavorable light possible—from the viewpoint of the PAC."

Board Recommends Pay Boost For Conductors

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A Presidential emergency board recommended Friday a $44.40 monthly increase for Pullman conductors. The action was taken in a split decision which one member said "unlocks the doors" of anti-inflation controls.

The White House made public the recommendation of the board, appointed by President Truman August 2 to investigate the dispute between the Pullman Company and employees represented by the Order of Railway Conductors.

Mutual Opportunity

Thousands of pathetic Jewish war victims now seek the refuge from European suffering and hardship they so desperately need. They seek it primarily in Palestine. But they cannot find it there.

Thousands of miles from Palestine, another nation struggles with a critical situation. South Africa so desperately needs immigrants that it is appealing to people all over the world to migrate there. And its efforts, too, thus far have met largely with failure.

The South African crisis is none the less real for the fact that until very recently it has been little known.
Development of Free State gold deposits, extension and diversification of manufacturing, and a period of unprecedented economic growth for which the plans have long been completed all are forestalled by a labor shortage of staggering proportions.

The Pretoria government apparently desires and can accommodate almost an unlimited number of immigrants.
It needs workers of virtually every category and degree of skill. It needs them so immediately that it is preparing a series of handbooks in many languages to be given the widest possible distribution in an effort to interest people all over the world in the opportunities South Africa has to offer.

"The shortage of manpower is becoming increasingly insistent and obtrusive," said Field Marshal Jan C. Smuts recently. And he went on to add that "every kind of good and useful immigrant would be welcome" and that "we want good Europeans. We can get hundreds of thousands, millions of them. We want a strong flow to supplement our human resources."

While Jewish refugees look in vain for a home, then,
the Union of South Africa looks in vain for immigrants.
The two problems, considered as a unit, could readily be solved. The Jewish wanderers, offered the refuge they seek in South Africa, would provide South Africa with the manpower it seeks.

South Africa has what perhaps no other nation on earth has at present—a labor shortage and the resources necessary to support the immigrants who can relieve that shortage. It can, therefore, afford the Jewish refugees the genuine opportunity they seek.

The Jewish refugees, on the other hand, have something equally valuable to offer South Africa. They are industrious, intelligent, energetic—and they are available in tremendous numbers. The very industry which inspires such violent opposition to their admittance to Palestine among the nomadic Arabs renders them ideal for the African purpose.

Why does not South Africa extend its immigration invitation specifically to the Jewish refugees—and, in so doing, convert mutual need into mutual opportunity?

Husbands Aplenty

There still are more single men of marriageable age in this country than women of like situation. In the age group 20-to-30 alone there is a surplus of a million and a half men.

The reporter who obtained this information from the Census Bureau must have been a man. In his presentation it is easy to detect a feeling that he is bringing good news to the nation's maidenhood which, he assumes, has been worrying over a presumed shortage of husband material. Maybe he's right.

Cooking is the art of interior decorating in which the cook should know what is good taste.

UN Prepares Report For General Assembly

NEW YORK —(AP)—The United Nations Security Council meets here late Friday in secret session after two days of heated debate over the Soviet Ukraine's complaints against Greece and Great Britain.

Public discussion of the Ukraine charges that Greece was stirring up incidents on the Albanian frontier with British troops in the background was put over until 3 p. m. Monday, when the delegates will return to the UN interim headquarters at Lake Success.

The closed session was called for discussion of the council's report to the September 23 meeting of the General Assembly in New York. The secretariat has asked the council to expedite its report, which will include statements on the handling of the unsettled Russian-Iranian, Spanish and Ukrainian cases, all of which were brought before the council since the assembly meeting in London last winter.

Great Britain strongly indicated in debate on the Ukrainian charges at Lake Success Thursday that she will press for dismissal of the Ukrainian charges on the contention that they amount to no more than propaganda.

Face Murder Charges

FORT STOCKTON —(AP)—Ralph Johnson, 45, Pecos County ranchman, and Nino Granado, 22, ranch hand, have been indicted by an 83rd District Court grand jury on charges of murder in connection with the fatal shooting on August 18 of Jack Hall, 53. Hall was an employee on the Johnson ranch.

Johnson and Granado were released Thursday under bond of $5,000 each.

Brazilians Hail Torch Lit At FDR's Grave

RIO DE JANEIRO —(AP)—A blazing torch lit weeks ago at the grave of Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., is near the end of its long journey through many hands to Porto Alegre, capital of the southernmost state of Brazil.

This is the "symbolic torch" carried proudly each year across Brazilian jungles, rivers, cities, towns and villages to Porto Alegre in progressive celebration of the nation's independence. Its journey is timed to arrive at Porto Alegre Saturday, national independence day.

British Release Schmeling From Jail

HAMBURG, GERMANY —(AP)—Max Schmeling, the former world heavyweight champion, is out of jail after serving three months on a charge he continued building a new home after an order halting all such construction.

He was also fined 10,000 marks, and his partially built house was confiscated by British authorities.

HEARING SET FOR CO-OP GAS INJECTION EXPERIMENT

AUSTIN —(AP)—The Railroad Commission has scheduled a hearing October 1 on the application of the Texas, Stanolind Oil and Gas, and Texwell Oil Companies to conduct a cooperative gas injection experiment.

The experiment would be for six months, using gas from the same leases on which it is to be injected, in the McConnell area of the Panhandle field.

Packers Predict Meat Shortages

DALLAS —(AP)—Dallas meat packers and retailers have predicted that next week will find Dallas once again facing meat scarce days, while in Fort Worth officials of Armour and Company have announced the laying off of 575 workers during the last ten days.

H. J. Nelson, acting manager of the Fort Worth plant of Swifts, said his firm had made somewhat less drastic reductions than those reported at Armour but added that the situation was serious.

Armour officials said the lay off action followed a decrease in live-stock receipts.

TRUMAN DOESN'T EXPECT PORTER TO RESIGN POST

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Truman said Thursday he expects Paul Porter to continue in his post as OPA administrator.

Porter had battled for reimposition of price ceilings at the levels of June 30, when the old OPA law expired. However, Secretary of Agriculture directed that meat ceilings be increased above the June 30 levels, but still held below the prices that prevailed during the no-control period.

Hargrove Automotive in its new location at 208 South Main Street in Midland has attractive displays of the parts it stocks. And it stocks the best.

The business moved about a month and a half ago from 200 South Main Street. The building in which it now is located offers much more space and allows more display.

W. D. Hargrove, owner-manager of Hargrove Automotive, has had many years of experience in the business. He has been in Midland about a year and a half but has been in the automotive parts business 20 years.

He was service manager for a motor company here before going into business. He knows a car inside and out and what it needs and the type of parts he must stock.

Wholesale and Retail. Although parts are difficult to get, Hargrove Automotive will stock them as available. They make an effort to keep stocked with the products motorists and car owners want.

Hargrove Automotive sells both wholesale and retail.

It will repair brake shoes and turn drums for customers and will do this also for other garages and service firms.

O. D. Apperson, an employee, is an experienced man.

A person visiting Hargrove Automotive will find the shelves and displays full of name brands that mean something to the customer.

There are Toledo Steel products. There are Gates belts, Lockheed brake fluid, Casite and Marvel Oil. There are Delco-Remy switches. There are AC fuel pumps. There are American Hammered piston rings and Steel-Flex rings. There are Plumb and OTC tools. There are Farm products and Ace field coils.

Hargrove Automotive has tools, jacks, and all kinds of parts. It has accessories and fuels and gas-kets. It has the parts you need and when you need them.

Scoring On Cuff

RICHMOND, VA.—(P)—A "game register" worn on the wrist like a watch has been patented by Arthur W. Dew, of Richmond, and Alexandria, for those who like golf and tennis and don't like to keep score. Mr. Dew's wife was his patent attorney, although he himself is attorney for the War Department's bureau of ordinance in the Pentagon Building.

In its new and modern building at a new location, 317 North Colorado Street, the Midland Studio and Camera Shop has an excellent photo supplies department shown here. It endeavors to stock all photo supplies wanted by customers of Midland. The departmentized studio is one of the best equipped in West Texas. And it offers 24-hour service on kodak print development.

Assignment From Ike

RIO DE JANEIRO—(P)—During a press conference here, General Eisenhower asked Brazilian newspapermen to undertake the writing of the history of Brazil's expeditionary force which fought in Italy. He said the story of that expedition, from its training in Europe to the day of the Allied victory in Italy, would make an important contribution to Brazilian and American history.

The age of man has been placed at 16,000,000 years by a new comparison of blood serums of man-kind and ape.

Delivery Service Is Feature Of Westland Grocery And Market

It is a trait of American people they do not appreciate something until it is taken away—like grocery delivery for instance.

The war came along and groceries could not be delivered for awhile. Now the war is over and Johnny and Lige are back and their business, the Westland Grocery and Market, delivers.

Owners Are Veterans
Johnny Carter and Lige Midkiff are veterans and they came back to Midland to establish a business, which was one of the first to offer grocery delivery again.

And this delivery service is appreciated by their customers. It brings groceries to the kitchen of the housewives in a jiffy. Grocery ordering is as close as the telephones.

And that telephone number is 2129.

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER

By Alice M. Laverick

Copyright, 1946,
NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Charlotte's health improves and she and Colin plan their long-delayed picnic. When they go down to the boat house to take out the canoe, they find Colin Fitzgerald there ahead of them.

"CHARLOTTE stopped still and her face flushed.

Colin looked to his feet and threw away his cigarette.

"Ah, there you are," he said. "I've been waiting and waiting. It's high time you two got here. I almost left without you. Now, if you'll step this way, please. Hold your own ticket, everybody, hold your own ticket, please. No pushing or crowding. Please, I ask you, no pushing or crowding. There's plenty of room for one and all."

"Colin," said Miss Charlotte, still not moving, "you're not coming with us. We—we—Colin and I have planned this for a long time—or just the two of us."

"I have seldom been so vexed so easily by such a beautiful woman," said Colin. "In fact, you tempt me mightily. Yes, just this once I will go. Don't ask me again, though, because I am an exceedingly busy man. I have but-terflies to catch and birds' nests to be locked into. Come, my lady, step right in the middle, now. That's it. Come on, Saint Cecilia."

And after a moment, Charlotte moved him to take her hand and help her into the canoe, though she still did not smile at him.

He placed us side by side facing the back rest, arranging the pillows and urging us to make ourselves comfortable. Then, having settled us, he took the paddle at one end and we began to glide down the little river.

"This is really very pushing of you, Colin," Miss Charlotte said severely, still looking displeased. "Weren't you brought up not to go to parties when you weren't invited?"

"But, darling," he said, "I knew you were dying to ask me, only you both were too shy. Now don't give it another thought. I make a splendid gondolier. There is none better. I always tell myself, Ah, is there anything, after all, to compare with Venice?" He sniffed the air as we went along and began pointing out objects of interest along the canal.

He whipped out his handkerchief and tied it on his head jauntily just above one eye and smiled an exaggerated smile showing all his white teeth. And immediately he became a handsome brown Italian instead of a black Irishman.

"Ah, Signora," he sighed, "is it not beautiful here? The moon, is there another moon anywhere like the moon over Venice? I go further. I ask you, is there another man in the moon like the man in the moon in the moon over Venice?" And was struck at once with the idea that here was the makings of a lyric for a popular song. And, carried away with this fancy, he took his paddle out of the water and made a guitar of it. He played and sang "O Sole Mio" and "Santa Lucia" with much dramatic fervor.

"Signora," he said then sadly, "can you not give me one little smile?"

"Oh, Colin, you are an awful fool," Miss Charlotte said, but she did smile at last, and his eyes showed his triumph.

"Let's keep going, the three of us," he said, dropping the Italian accent. "I'll take you all over the world. I'll show you the hula-hula girls in Denmark, the gypsies in Switzerland, the snake charmers in Scotland, and the cannibals in Siberia."

"And what about Ireland?" Charlotte wanted to know.

"Ah, there I shall take you to my birthplace, Castle Shawsheen."

home of the Fitzgeralds for centuries and centuries, complete with moat and drawbridge, and there I'll set you up in the castle as my queen—my queen—" His voice died away. He was looking at her oddly, and I think he hardly realized that he had stopped speaking.

I trailed my fingers in the water and pretended not to notice the color that swept over her face, and there was a moment's silence before she said quickly, "You're more than half serious about wanting to go away again, aren't you, Colin?"

He collected himself with an effort. But he was immediately gay once more.

"Indeed," he said, "I'm afraid you're right. I think it's light shoes I have."

"Light shoes?" Miss Charlotte's voice was puzzled.

"To be sure, like the man in— who's is it? Patrick Kelly's poem by that name. You haven't heard it? Oh—let's see—he says, 'The curse of the crows on all who fail to follow the road for fun.'"

"Well, I'm sure neither Colin nor I want to have the curse of the crows fall upon us, do we, Celia? It sounds infinitely worse than even the widow's curse. Do you know any more of the poem?"

"Ah-h." He thought for a moment. "It's something to do with cutting one's stick even if one's shoes do weigh a ton—then kissing the girl's goodbye and round the world for fun."

"Your shoes will never weigh a ton, Colin," said Miss Charlotte. "And I think it's little that would make you cut your stick, again."

"Sometimes men want to wander, Charlotte," he told her seriously, "when there's nothing to keep them at home. Nothing they can have, I mean. Ah, here we are. A lightning change of mood. 'Do my eyes deceive me or is that land?'"

He was shielding his eyes from the sun and pointing to the dim distance about six feet away, where a circle of huge nut trees cast a deep shadow on a mossy slope. Cool it looked and inviting. A perfect spot for a picnic.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

America's Card Authority

You will enjoy S. J. Simon's book, "Why You Lose at Bridge," not only because it points out many of the mistakes made by the average player, and even by the expert, but also because of Mr. Simon's interesting style.

In connection with the hand shown today, he says, "I have been a confirmed ducker of aces for many years; and the number of cases in which it has lost me a contract or even a trick are very few. It will not always yield two tricks in return, but at any rate the ducked trick almost invariably comes back. So start ducking with your aces. But do not consider yourself graduated until you have successfully ducked with an ace in such a position as to defeat a small slam contract."

Today's hand is studied two ways. First, South plays it at four hearts. West opens the jack of clubs. South wins, then plays the ace of hearts, looking annoyed when the suit does not split. Now he plays the spade towards dummy. Obviously West will not go up with the spade ace because declarer then could discard two losing diamonds on the king and queen of spades. If West ducks, declarer loses no spade tricks, but must lose a heart, two diamonds and a club.

Next Mr. Simon assumes that North is the declarer at four hearts. East opens the king of clubs and play continues as before. Not many players, even experts, would refuse to go in with the ace of spades in this case, yet it is exactly the same situation as before.

MOOSE ANTLERS

Bull moose shed their antlers just after the autumn rutting season, with the new set becoming full-grown about four months later.

GOVERNMENT SAYS SUGAR PRICES WILL GO HIGHER

WASHINGTON —(P)— Government officials said Friday that sugar ceiling prices must go higher. Although they shied away from estimating the exact increases, they mentioned that a boost of one cent a pound at retail levels would add about $80,000,000 a year to consumer costs.

Detroit Hands Bob Feller Worst Defeat Of Career

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Time is rapidly running out on Bobby Feller's hopes of setting a new major league strikeout record as the Cleveland Indians' great pitcher wallows in the worst slump of his baseball career.

The speedy righthander, who was figured a good bet to become the first pitcher since Dizzy Dean of 12 years ago to notch 30 victories when he registered his 20th win last July 31, has hit an amazing decline since then, losing six of his next eight starts, including his last three.

Feller's sudden reversal of form not only has killed all his hopes of winning 30 games, but also has practically ruined his chance of overtaking Rube Waddell's 42-year-old listed record of 343 strikeouts.

In his last eight starts, Feller has whiffed only 40 batters to increase his season's total to 293. He is expected to make five more starts which means he must average 10 strikeouts per game to equal Waddell's mark.

Bullet Bob suffered his most humiliating defeat Thursday at Detroit at the hands of the Tigers who clubbed him for eight runs in the fourth inning, the most runs ever scored against Feller in one frame since he joined the majors in 1936.

In all Feller was tagged for nine runs and 11 hits in the three and one third innings he worked with the Tigers beating him for the third straight time, 10-0. Fred Hutchinson hurled the shutout for the Tigers.

Cards and Brooks Win
The heated National League pennant race continues unabated as the front-running St. Louis Cardinals and runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers both won, the Cards shelving the Chicago Cubs in a night game at St. Louis, 10-1, and the Brooks shading the Braves in Boston, 1-0. The Cards retained their two-game bulge over the Dodgers, with 22 games remaining on each team's schedule.

Jim Bagby moved the Boston Red Sox to within four games of clinching the American league pennant, scattering nine hits to defeat the Senators 1-0 in Washington at night.

The Yankees protected their two-game margin over the Tigers by defeating the Athletics in Philadelphia, 6-2.

Nelson Semi-Retires From Golf Tourneys

DALLAS—(P)—Byron Nelson, the man who started out as a caddy and wound up as one of the greatest of all golfers, says he isn't getting any younger and that he's settling down on his 630-acre Denton County farm to raise white-faced cattle.

A back ailment, complicated by a touch of neuritis, has led Nelson to his decision to quit his annual swing of tournaments and to say, "I want to get away from golf."

If his ailments permit, Nelson said he would carry through an agreement to play a Chicago exhibition next Saturday and Sunday with Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum and Herman Barron.

He said he would attend some tournaments as a spectator and will retain affiliations with golf manufacturing companies.

He indicated he would make only two or three playing appearances annually.

Jack Mashburn, one of the Midland coaches, has returned to the city to take up duties, and has no place to live.

Rice Will Have Best Team In Owl History

HOUSTON — (P)—The finest squad in a decade—possibly in history—has Rice football fandom beating on the stadium gates. Usually four Jess Neely is quite volatile about it—that is, valuable for Jess, a man who never says in two words what he can express with the twitch of an eye brow.

The Rice coach, starting his seventh season here, looked back over 22 years of tutoring college teams and declared it was the best squad he ever has had. "I will have my best team but it may not win a game," he said, explaining the somewhat startling statement like this: "Everybody also is going to have a great team, too."

Half of the 33 college lettermen with whom Neely has to work are pre-war variety—men who were stars in the seasons just prior to and immediately following Pearl Harbor before the draft started its raids on the athletes. If Neely cared to he could field a team made up entirely of 1942 players—the best team he has had at Rice before this one.

Brown Plays Parker In Quarter Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—(P)—Tom Brown, Jr., the ex-GI from San Francisco who flared suddenly across the tennis firmament at Wimbledon a few months back, gets his big chance Friday when he faces Frankie Parker, the well known mechanical man, in the quarter final of the national championships.

If he should trim the defending champion, Brown would find himself in the same exalted atmosphere with long Bob Falkenberg, the collegiate champ who Thursday ousted Billy Talbert, Jr., in five strange sets.

Friday's other quarter-final will pit Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, third-seeded star, against Pancho Segura of Ecuador, the game little Latin with the two-fisted forehead.

Camp Hood Soldiers Held In Kidnapping

FARMVILLE, VA.—(P)—Ruth Teague, the attractive 18-year-old Texas blonde who told Farmville police that she was forced to drive two soldiers at gunpoint from Texarkana, Texas, to Virginia, admitted that she "was scared to death" late Wednesday when a series of rapid events made possible her escape.

Miss Teague, none the worse for her experiences, had regained her composure as she awaited questioning by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents Thursday night.

She is being held as a material witness against the two youthful service men whom state troopers caught after a wild chase near Richmond.

At Richmond, a hearing for the soldiers was continued to September 10 after police said they wished to make further investigations and await the arrival of detainees from Texarkana.

The public relations officer at Camp Hood, Texas, said the two
