DWIGHT ARMSTRONG

Hunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide search has been launched for four young men charged in the bombing of the Army Mathematics Research Center at Madison, Wis. One man died and three were injured in the blast.

One of the four charged in the Aug. 24 bombing was linked by the FBI to Students for a Democratic Society. Three had attended the University of Wisconsin where the research center was located. The fourth was identified as a high school dropout.

The FBI said fugitive warrants and charges of sabotage, destruction of government property and conspiracy have been filed against Karleton Lewis Armstrong, 22; his brother, Dwight Alan Armstrong, 19; David Sylvan Fine, 18, and Leo Frederick Burt, 22.

An FBI agent investigating the blast filed an affidavit Wednesday in Madison, saying the Armstrong brothers had told a friend they had a large cache of explosives and planned a series of bombings.

In the affidavit, agent George P. Baxtrum Jr. said the Armstrongs told the friend they were responsible for the Jan. 1 bombing of the Badger Army Ammunitions Plant. Authorities said an undetonated bomb was found on the grounds of the ammo plant.

BIG BANG

Karleton Armstrong rented a trailer and bought 100 gallons of gasoline Aug. 16, the agent quoted a Madison service station employe as saying. According to the document, another man reported the elder brother purchased 1,700 pounds of nitrogen fertilizer three days later.

Two Moon Flights Axed, Astros Sad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The decision to eliminate two Apollo moon missions confronted the National Aeronautics and Space Administration with a series of re-adjustments today. Four lunar flights remain.

First, NASA will mothball a couple of giant Saturn 5 moon rockets.

These launch vehicles, costing $185 million each, will become a part of "a national resource of heavy lift rocket capability," NASA administrator Thomas O. Paine told a news conference Wednesday.

VERY UNHAPPY

Secondly, some mighty disappointed astronauts—including six who would have taken a moon flight on the Apollo 15 and 19 missions, now cancelled for budgetary reason—will have to be re-assigned.

"The astronauts have been very unhappy, along with the scientific community, about the reductions in flights over the past several years," said Dale Myers, associate administrator for manned space flight.

"Many of these men have dedicated themselves to development of the space shuttle."

There are 49 on the astronaut rolls. The U.S. has launched 26 of its astronauts on space trips, some two or three times, and one, James Lovell, four times.

LANDING SITES

Astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden, Jr., and James B. Irwin had been assigned to Apollo 15, the mission now cancelled.

NASA also must now revise its list of moon landing sites.

"We still need to get to the lunar highlands, the rill areas, and we still must get a wide variety geologically to make sure of our passive seismic network," said Dr. John W. Findlay, chairman of the Lunar and Planetary Mission Board.

Instead of the Apollo 15 spacecraft with its limited lunar stay and lunar orbit capability, an advanced version including a lunar rover vehicle will be used, and thus another Apollo 15 site must be selected, Findlay said.

Paine said NASA intends to do everything possible to include a scientist astronaut on at least one mission.

SPIRIT OF '76

Myers said there are no plans to reduce the size of the astronaut team.

He said NASA is running some "master facilities" studies to detemine suitable locations for space shuttle work.

The space shuttle will be a vehicle that takes off rocket-like but returns to earth like an airplane. A part of the shuttle will separate from the launching craft, in orbit, to carry astronaut crews to and from the three-man orbiting Skylabs.

RAYMOND HAD A LITTLE PIGEON — Its feathers weren't white as snow, but the darn bird followed Raymond Lopez, 606 N. San Antonio, to school. His feathery friend wouldn't admit that summer was over and fluttered behind the Lopez car Tuesday as it carried Raymond to school. The pigeon finally spotted his master's classroom and settled on the window ledge. Impressed, Mrs. Jean Warren, seventh grade English instructor, admitted the pigeon to the class after Ricky was sent home to get a cage.

Trooper Hit By Bullet During Chase

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — A New Jersey state trooper was grazed in the head by a bullet early today in a brief exchange of gunfire during a 13-mile chase of a stolen truck containing four men and Black Panther literature.

Police said the four men, all captured after the truck overturned, refused to say whether they were Panthers but gave statements about attending a Panther meeting in Washington last month.

The wounded trooper was treated at a hospital and released. Police said the truck had been stolen from New York on Wednesday.

The shooting started after the trooper, Frederick David, 29, stopped the panel truck heading north toward New york on the New Jersey Turnpike because it appeared to be weaving.

David said three of the men got out of the truck, but none could produce a drivers license. He said two of the men suddenly stepped aside, the third man stepped from behind them and fired.

David said he raced for nearby woods and as he ran five more shots were fired. He said once in the woods he turned and returned four shots. The men sped off and the trooper radioed for help.

David, with the aid of a second trooper, pursued the truck and after a high-speed chase the truck rammed into a guard rail and over-turned. Three of the men were captured near the truck and a fourth in nearby woods.

Gov. Maddox Says Rioters Should Be Shot On Sight

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox says two Augusta policemen indicted in the shooting of two Negroes during racial disorders should have been praised instead of condemned.

Maddox said the indictments, returned by a federal grand jury Tuesday, encourage "more riots."

He made his comments Wednesday at a news conference at which he released the text of a letter he wrote President Nixon accusing the government of taking sides against the police.

"When some well-known criminal is slain our national government immediately grinds out more decisions, legislation, guidelines and directives to protect the civil rights of the thugs, murderers, criminals and anarchists," he said in the letter.

Police, Maddox said, should be allowed to "shoot on sight" any persons caught rioting or looting.

"When people are shooting at policemen they have forfeited their right to a trial," said Maddox, who is running for the Democractic nomination for lieutenant governor. He cannot succeed himself as governor.

Maddox said he was not surprised by the indictment of Augusta officers William Samuel Dennis, 33, and Louis C. Dinkins, 33.

Dennis is indicted in the fatal shooting of John W. Stokes during disorders that left six Negroes dead in Augusta last spring.

Dinkins is accused of wounding Louis Nelson Williams, one of more than 60 persons injured. Both officers are white.

The governor said their indictment amounts to "telling the rioters to come on and loot some more and the government will take care of the police."

Costly Haircut

AUSTIN (AP) — Three men have been fined $100 each after allegedly cutting a 15-year-old high school pupil's hair with garden shears. The men pleaded guilty.

The boy's mother said her child's hair was "not even collar length."

Thuy Joins Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce had his first session with North Vietnam's chief envoy in the Paris peace talks today and appealed for a conciliation to break the long deadlock.

But Xuan Thuy declared the only way the talks can progress is for the United States to renounce "its policy of prolonging and widening its war of aggression" and abandon what he called its neocolonialist aims in South Vietnam.

Fake 'Doc' Bounces Back

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — West Texas' phony but popular "Dr." Dalgleish, whose plane fare back to Australia was paid by his neighbors because he was believed to have only a few days to live, was in satisfactory condition in the Royal Brisbane Hospital today.

Francis William Dalgleish, 27, who arrived here Tuesday from McCamey, Tex., has kidneys that are functioning at 10 per cent normal but does not yet require an artificial kidney machine, doctors said.

They said they had only carried out preliminary investigations so far and could not yet say what his life expectancy was. He was not expected to survive his kidney ailment when he left the West Texas city of Odessa for Los Angeles and Brisbane Sunday.

Plane Runs Off Without Its Pilot

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A small private plane ran off without its pilot Wednesday night, and nearly two hours passed before the wrecked craft was found.

Owner Henry Lee Gravley of Dallas told officers the unoccupied Piper Tri-Pacer took off from the Gainesville airpot.

After the wreckage was located, .7 mile east of the field, however, police dispatcher Mike Wilson expressed doubt that the plane left the ground.

"From all the indications it smashed up without ever getting into the air," Wilson said.

Gravley was quoted as saying the battery was low and he tried to crank the engine by flipping the propeller. The engine started with a rush and the plane's mooring chain broke, he reported.

Agnew's Info About Asia Seems To Please Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has been briefed on the situation in Southeast Asia by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, and a vice presidential spokesman indicated Johnson was pleased with what he heard.

Agnew spent nearly three hours with the former president at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex., Wednesday evening before flying to Washington to end a 27,000-mile, five nation Asian journey.

HE'S HAPPY

Earlier in the day, Agnew addressed the American Legion convention in Portland, Ore.

"The President (Johnson) didn't indicate he was unhappy about anything, an Agnew spokesman said on the flight back to Washington. Newsmen were not permitted to cover the session at the LBJ Ranch.

Agnew meanwhile, was quoted as saying "the experience accumulated by presidents of the United States is a precious commodity. He was expected to convey Johnsons reaction on the briefing to President Nixon.

The vice president plans to go Ocean City, Md., later today for a weekend rest before launching political campaigning next Thursday in Casper, Wyo.

RANCH TOUR

Johnson, reportedly looking tanned and relaxed, greeted Agnew and other members of the vice president's party on arrival at the ranch airstrip after a flight from Bergstrom AFB near Austin.

After a 10 minute talk inside the main ranch house, Johnson and Agnew spent more than an hour driving about the ranch and discussing the impressions gathered by Agnew in South Korea, Nationalist China, Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand.

Later, the two chatted with other members of the vice presidential party. Agnew's spokesman said the former president described the session as pleasant and cordial and Agnew agreed.

MUTUAL RESPECT

The visit to the ranch was delayed by Agnew's trip to Portland, Ore., an assignment Nixon handed him only late Tuesday when the President decided against going himself. No announcement of the Portland visit was made until minutes before Agnew took off Wednesday morning from El Toro Marine Air Station, Calif.

He called for "mutual respect and mutual forbearance" as the cornerstone of a civilized society, and said "the real advocates of peace" are those who seek accommodation rather than confrontation.

Some 300 antiwar demonstrators, chanting slogans and carrying placards, circled in front of the main entrance of Memorial Coliseum while Agnew spoke. The 12,000-seat hall was only about one-third full, amid tight security, but the crowd enthusiastically applauded Agnew's speech.

Soviet Union, Eygpt Told To Quit Violating 'Deal'?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States reportedly today told the Soviet Union and Egypt to quit violating the Mideast standstill cease-fire agreement.

At the same time, U.S. officials were preparing a statement which would publicly acknowledge evidence of an anti-aircraft missile buildup on the Egyptian side of the Suez truce zone, contrary to the cease-fire terms.

BREAK DOWN

The U.S. aim is to prevent the cease-fire from breaking down and to promote the lagging Arab-Israeli peace talks.

Instructions to make representations to the Soviets and the Egyptians against truce violations were said to have been sent from Washington Wednesday night to Ambassador Jacob Beam in Moscow and to Minister Donald Bergus in Cairo.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco also met here late last night with Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin.

The Israelis, charging the Egyptians with cheating on the ceasefire deal, have kept their envoy to the U.S.-supervised peace talks home for a week while weighing what to do.

50 PHANTOMS

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird gave U.S. reassurance at a news conference Wednesday, that the United States will not allow the Mideast military balance to swing against Israel.

Laird also said U.S. arms shipments to Israel are continuing, and he indicated American willingness to supply Israel with replacements for F4 Phantoms that might be lost in future combat. A delivery of 50 Phantoms to Israel is just being completed.

The Israelis also were said to be pressing for a public U.S. statement admitting that intelligence has detected a buildup in Soviet-supplied missiles in the Egyptian truce zone.

WATCHDOG

The United States, as sponsor and watchdog of the peace plan, has been taking pictures from high-flying U2 planes. In an Aug. 19 statement, it said the evidence did not conclusively back Israel's initial allegations of Egyptian violations in the hours just after the truce began Aug. 8.

A Washington statement acknowledging the new findings, in the Israeli view, would bolster faith in the policing of the cease-fire.

White House and State Department spokesmen kept mum Wednesday about the new evidence, which was said to have been reviewed by President Nixon and his top advisors Tuesday at San Clemente, Calif.

FRIENDS RALLY TO BIBLE FUND

A great rally of support by friends in response to appeals that the Bible Fund was in deep trouble brought its second best day today with $378 reported. This pushed the total past the $3,000 mark. However, around $1,500 is needed to insure that the class will be operated for the full year.

Several churches took up collections, as did classes with churches. There was one large memorial gift. If you can join these, please send or bring yours to The Herald.

Broughton Is Drive Leader

The Chamber of Commerce Membership Drive has netted 72 members and $3,548 in additional pledges by this morning's count. A second surge is expected by the end of the day.

At a salesmanship report meeting at 4 p.m. Wednesday first membership and pledge totals were turned in by the salesmen, and G. C. Broughton Jr., was awarded the Top Salesman prize — a portable television. Other prizes will be awarded to salesmen in two weeks when a salesmanship appreciation dinner is held for the salesmen and their wives.

Dr. Black Will Preside At Meet

LAMESA (SC) — Dr. Douglas Black, member of the Lamesa City Council, will lead a local delegation of councilmen and city officials to the Region 3 meeting of the Texas League of Municipalities at the Villa Inn in Lubbock at 7:30 p.m. today. Dr. Black is president of the league's Region 3.

GI Forum To Meet Tonight

GI Forum chairman Camilio Chavez has set an important meeting of the Forum for 8 p.m. tonight at Gomez Hall, 508 NE 4th, for the election of new officers. All five offices will be filled at this time as the first step in the new election system that will have staggered terms of office. The over 100 members of the Forum chapter are urged to attend.

In Crusade

LAMESA (SC) — The Rev. L. M. Garcia, pastor of the East Side Baptist Church, left Tuesday for New York City where he will participate in a caravan crusade for three weeks. The crusade will be climaxed with a huge rally in Central Park.

City Budget To Go To Printers

City Manager Larry Crow is now shaping budget figures into a completed form to be sent to the printer so that copies of the budget will be available before the public hearing to be set toward the end of the month, possibly September 30.

Crow said he was completing changes in the various accounts requested by the city commissioners in recent informal budget sessions. He expects the commissioners to be able to fix the public hearing date soon, probably at their September 8 meeting.

Jerald Dermit Burgess, 3709 Connally reported at 11:55 p.m. Wednesday that he had struck a cow on the highway two and one-half miles west of Rock House Road. According to the sheriff's report, approximately $100 damage was done to Burgess' pickup in the accident.

Drugs-Business Said Way Of Life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Drug usage is so widespreaed among both white-and blue-collar workers that it does little good to fire them, two researchers say. Their replacements may have a similar problem.

"Drugs are often a way of life for young executives," Carol Kurtis, a New York drug expert, told a workshop for representatives of 90 San Francisco area firms.

She and Dr. Stephen Pittel of San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital, who has done three years of drug research in the Haight-Ashbury district, said companies must set up programs to help employes.

HIGH TURNOVER

Attending the seminar were representatives of such corporations as Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Bank of America, Pacific Telephone and Southern Pacific.

"Any company that hires a large number of young employes, and has a high turnover rate, will have this problem," Miss Kurtis said.

Miss Kurtis said her work in New York with 80 major corporations and further research throughout the eastern United States revealed a 20 per cent impairment of employe efficiency because of the use of such drugs as marijuana, LSD heroin, amphetamines and barbiturates as well as nicotine and alcohol.

CRUTCH

She is an editor and researcher for Research Institute of America, a New York consulting firm, and the author of "Drug Abuse as a Business Problem."

Pittel estimated 30 to 50 per cent of San Francisco business employes between the ages of 18 to 30 have tried marijuana.

He said drug usage is a crutch that often results in "permanent deferral of problems."

"It is a turning away instead of developing inner strength to handle problems," he said.

He suggested that each company department should have a "supervisor with good objective knowledge of drugs, whom people can come to, without fear, for help."

100,000 Persons Slated To Greet Nixon, Ordaz

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A big parade, pickets and a crowd officials predict will reach 100,000 are expected to greet President Nixon and Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz in this seaside city today.

The two presidents and 700 VIP guests including former President Lyndon B. Johnson were gathering for a White House-style state dinner Nixon is giving Diaz Ordaz tonight in a display of Mexican-American friendship.

BEAUTY QUEENS

Decorations, bleachers and welcoming signs were up and 65 marching units were poised for the parade, along with beauty queens and horse riders.

City officials have been working hard to make this a warm welcome with a big turnout and all the ceremonial trappings to celebrate California's bicentennial as well as the visit of the presidents.

Hundreds of free buses were put into service all over the county and down to the border town of Tijuana to bring visitors to this community of 16,000.

The normal 60-cent toll on the new $47 million Coronado Bay Bridge was cut to 10 cents or one peso for the day. Mexican currency was being accepted for the first time on the span that links San Diego and the Coronado Peninsula.

Nixon's bubbletop limousine was brought in for his 1½-mile motorcade, timed to follow the parade after noontime arrival ceremonies at North Island Naval Air Station.

WELFARE PLAN

Nixon planned to helicopter from the Western White House at San Clemente some 60 miles away after a morning meeting with the six members of the Senate Finance Committee.

He is seeking the committee's aid in moving his stalled family assistance welfare plan to a Senate vote and invited them to come out for the dinner at the 82-year-old, Victorian-style, 400-room Hotel del Coronado here.

Diaz Ordaz, with a party of 25, including his daughter, was flying in from Mexico City for a reunion with Nixon, whom he met at Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, two weeks ago.

Preparations were made for an elaborate four-course meal, with three wines to be served in the hotel's elegant Crown Room.

The U.S. Marine Band from Washington and the 56-member student "Grupo Folklorico" from the University of Guadalajara in Mexico were to entertain.

Members of an antiwar Mexican-American activist group and an organization of "Yippies" announced they planned to picket outside while the presidential guests dined.

City Disorderly Conduct Cases Reset For Friday

Corporation Court Judge John Burgess has reset hearings on the disorderly conduct charges stemming from the Skateland Roller Rink disturbance Saturday night, postponing them until 9 a.m. Friday, September 11.

The court will hear the minor misdemeanor cases, with county court to receive any major misdemeanor charges and district court to handle any felony charges if filed.

HCJC Enrollment Now At 1,165

Registrations continued to trickle in for Howard County Junior College with the head count rising to 1,165 today.

Included in the figure are 736 full-time students, approximately 10 per cent more than a year ago.

Most of the additions now are coming from students who are clearing previously-made registrations through the business office. Enrollments will be accepted to next Wednesday.

DEATHS

Henry Zweifel, Long-Time Cosden Associate, Dies

Last rites were said in the First Baptist Church of Granbury Wednesday afternoon for Henry W. Zweifel, 86, former president of Cosden Petroleum Corp. and a long-time power in Texas Republican politics. He died Monday in a Stephenville hospital.

Among his survivors was a granddaughter, Mrs. Johnny Hill, a long-time resident of Big Spring and now of Granbury. He leaves two daughters and a brother.

Mr. Zweifel, who had extensive farm ranching, oil and banking interests, was a self-made man. Reared in Granbury and a graduate of the college there, he worked from 1898-1906 as a boilermaker for Standard Oil at Beaumont, as well as in Kansas, Oklahoma and California. During that time, however, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1912. A life-long Republican, he had been named postmaster at Granbury by President Theodore Roosevelt, and in 1921 he was named federal district attorney for the Northern District of Texas, a position he resigned in 1927 to enter private practice.

He had moved to Fort Worth and it was there that he met the colorful Joshua Cosden and became his lawyer on several operations in Texas, and ultimately general council for Cosden Oil Company. Oil was no stranger to him, for Mr. Zweifel had drilled wells on his own account in Burkburnett, Ranger and Desdemona.

He was named receiver for Cosden Oil Nov. 8, 1930 and when it was reorganized March 28, 1933, he was made a director, then vice president, and finally president, April 12, 1938. He resigned June 6, 1940, yielding to R. L. Tollett, whom he had drafted to run the struggling Cosden Oil Corporation.

HENRY ZWEIFEL

Mr. Zweifel had been an incorporator of Glenmore Pipeline Company, which later was purchased by Cosden; had served as president of Cosden Oil of Arkansas, Cosden Pipeline Company, and J. S. Cosden Inc.

In politics he had been GOP national committeeman for Texas, managed the Hoover campaign in 1928, one of the Dewey campaigns, worked for Wendell Willkie. When he was unsuccessful in having his delegation seated for Sen. Robert Taft in 1952, he retired from active politics. After his wife's death, he returned to Granbury and to banking. He was a member of the Masonic bodies and a Baptist.

Dawson Farmer Rites Friday

LAMESA (SC) — Thomas Edgar Latimer, 74, retired Dawson County farmer, died in the Medical Arts Hospital here Tuesday at 7 a.m. after an illness of three days.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the chapel of the First Baptist Church, and the body will be taken to Roswell, N.M., for a 3 p.m. burial under the direction of Branon Funeral Home.

Mr. Latimer was born Nov. 23, 1895, in Paris, Tex., and he had lived in Dawson County for the past 18 years. He had been a Baptist since childhood and was a member of the Masonic lodge in Roswell.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Verl Latimer; two daughters, Mrs. Bryant Sisco, Mountain Air, N.M., and Mrs. Clarence L. Kassens, Albuquerque, N.M.; a son, Murray B. Latimer, Roswell, N.M.; three sisters, Miss Dorothy Latimer, and Mrs. Mas Roland, Paris, and Mrs. W. V. Seright, Lawton, Okla.; one brother, Joe Latimer, Wellington; six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Former Coahoma Resident Dies

Services will be held tomorrow in Chicago for Mrs. Faye Odgers who died there Wednesday. She went to school in Coahoma when she lived there with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Dennis. She lived in Detroit, Mich., when she married Den Odgers.

Mrs. Odgers is survived by two brothers, Weldon Dennis and Dee Dennis, Fort Worth, and four children. She also has several aunts and uncles living in Big Spring, Mrs. Thelma Neal, Mrs. Eva Wheeler, Mrs. Reba Thompson, Burrell Cramer, and R. D. Cramer.

Capt. Linden's Rites Pending

Arrangements were pending Thursday for Capt. Richard C. Linden, 31, assistant base operations officer at Webb AFB, victim of a shotgun accident at the base Wednesday.

Webb officials are conducting a detailed investigation of events surrounding the hunting accident.

Preliminary reports indicate that Capt. Linden was with three other Webb personnel in a routine hunting operation to eliminate small animals such as rabbits, etc., which attract hawks and other large birds that constitute a hazard to low-flying aircraft from the base. He appeared to have been separated from the others when the gun discharged.

A helicopter airlifted him from the accident scene on the west edge of the base at 10:45 a.m. to the hospital parking lot, but he was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Capt. Linden arrived at Webb last March 16 and listed Peru, Ill., as his home town. He and his family resided at 38-A Chanute in Webb Village. Surviving are his wife, Emily, and two children, Kirt and Christopher.

John Tucker Dies Today

John A. Tucker, 78, pioneer resident of Big Spring, died in a hospital here today at 5:45 a.m. He had been in ill health for a long time.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Friday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Leo Gee, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiating, assisted by his associate, the Rev. Elra Phillips. Burial will be in the Mount Olive Cemetery.

Mr. Tucker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Tucker, were among the earliest residents of Big Spring, and he, like other boys in the family, went to work for the Texas & Pacific shops as they approached manhood.

With the historic strike in 1922, he left the shops and established a plumbing business which he operated until 1960, when he retired. He was contractor on numerous buildings in this area.

Mr. Tucker was married to Miss Frankie Kent, also member of an early-day Big Spring family, Dec. 24, 1912, and she died July 4, 1961. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church and of the Knights of Pythias lodge.

Surviving him are one son, E. C. (Bud) Tucker, Big Spring, and four daughters, Mrs. Helen Wood, Big Spring, Mrs. Frances Andre, San Antonio, Charlene Tucker, Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Emma Thwing, Fort Worth. He also leaves six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Tom (Emma) Slaughter; and two brothers, Andy Tucker, Big Spring, and Jim Tucker, Fort Worth. One son, Sterling C. Tucker, was killed in action in World War II.

Jury Still Out On Child Case

COLORADO CITY — Jurors in the Monteith murder trial continued their deliberations this morning after getting the case Wednesday at 4 p.m. Members pondered until 10:15 p.m., then they resumed deliberations around 9:30 a.m. today.

Court officials were hopeful of a verdict in the case today.

Robert Monteith, 23, Abilene is on trial for murder in connection with the alleged beating death of his three-month-old daughter, Stephanie, in January.

Mrs. Judy Monteith, 18, was originally on trial with her husband but charges against her were dropped Tuesday because of "insufficient evidence."

In testimony Tuesday, Mrs. Monteith described incidents of the night of Jan. 10, when her daughter allegedly received the blows that caused her death. She testified that Montieth had slapped the child as he held her on his lap. When asked why her husband had struck Stephanie, Mrs. Monteith replied, 'She was crying." Mrs. Montieth added that she would have stopped her husband if she had thought that he was hitting the child hard enough to do damage.

Mrs. Monteith testified that the slaps administered by her husband were barely audible to her. Robert Monteith had referred to them as "taps" in earlier testimony, but was reminded of his grand jury testimony which said they were hard slaps.

After the testimony of final witnesses Wednesday, Judge Austin McCloud presented the charge to the jury. The attorneys then argued the case and the jurors began deliberation.

Final testimony concerned pictures taken of the infant after her admittance into the hospital. Dr. Walter Hofman, Dallas, was asked by Abilene District Attorney Ed Paynter to evaluate the child's condition from the pictures. Dr. Hofman testified that he could determine nothing from the pictures.

Thinks Film Pictures Her Husband, Missing In Viet

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — A small, scratchy piece of film has given a Lower Rio Grande Valley woman a faint glimmer of hope concerning her husband who has been missing in Vietnam for three and a half years.

"It could be him. I hope it's him," said Mrs. Elisabeth Wilburn of Linn, a small farming community north of Edinburg.

Mrs. Wilburn, a native of Germany who spent 18 months in a Nazi labor camp during World War II, has not heard from her husband, Air Force Lt. Col. Woodrow Wilburn since he was shot down Feb. 4, 1967.

Wilburn resided at Hondo, Tex., before he joined the Air Force.

EXCITED, NERVOUS

The defense department film, taken in North Vietnam, was shown on KGBT-TV, a Harlingen television station, Monday.

Although she watched the film when it was first shown, Mrs. Wilburn said, "I was so excited and nervous I couldn't tell anything for sure."

A close friend, Mrs. Sidney Miller, said she recognized Mrs. Wilburn's husband immediately. "I just know it's him," said Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Miller accompanied the anxious Mrs. Wilburn to Harlingen Wednesday where the women viewed a videotape of the scratchy film.

LOOKS LIKE HIM

Mrs. Wilburn intently watched the videotape several times. Then she compared a photograph of her husband with the film and a picture taken from the tape by photographer Manuel Garza. A faint smile crept across her anixous face.

"It sure looks like him," she said.

At the time her husband was shot down Mrs. Wilburn was living at Schwaeb-Hall, Germany, her home town. She purchased the farm near Linn in 1968 and said she has worked since then to prepare the farm for her husband when he returns home.

"I know he's going to come home," she said.

Mrs. Wilburn pointed out that her husband could have retired in 1966 when his unit was ordered to Vietnam from Chambley Air Force Base in France. She said her husband had been in the Air Force 28 years at the time he was shot down.

DON'T CRAWL

"My husband is one of those patriotic Americans and so am I," said Mrs. Wilburn as she explained that she became a naturalized U.S. citizen at Fort Worth about 18 years ago.

Mrs. Wilborn said she would never go to Paris, as several wives of missing airmen have done, to seek information about husband.

"My husband doesn't want me to go crawling on my knees to the enemy. He'd rather die first. I am sure of that," she said.

Although she was reluctant to discuss her past, Mrs. Wilburn said she spent 18 months in a labor camp in Germany during World War II. Her father, a Russian Jew, "was taken away and we never saw him again," she said.

First, he has to disengage 'Tickles,' his pet python, from his body (left) and then stuff the reptile into his suitcase (right). The snake will take up residency in the university's biology laboratory while Don takes up zoology.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Let every man be quick to hear, slow to speak, slow to anger. (James 1:19, RSV)

PRAYER: Father, forgive us that we are slow to hear and quick to speak and quick to bristle in anger. Teach us to listen to Thee and to our fellows and to act according to Thy spirit, Thy love. Amen.

Tech President Spells It Out

Most of us would give a cheer, even a quiet one, to President Grover E. Murray of Texas Tech, for his remarks to freshmen at the university orientation session this week.

As the saying goes, he laid it on the line. If you're not on the campus to learn, Dr. Murray told the young students, then go somewhere else. He continued:

"Our sole reason for existence is to provide for you an orderly process in which you can pursue learning and provide you with an education for the future. If you're not interested in learning, I don't think you'd be here. But if you are here for some other purpose, let's just go elsewhere and get it over with fast."

The militant liberals might call this extremism and suppression. We call it hard-nose common sense, and in the tradition that most people expect of their higher institutions of learning. The educational process should open all doors to the inquiring young mind, but when the process is not accompanied by the normal disciplines that any society must have, these doors swing in odd directions.

This may be over-simplification, but if more universities let it be known to students (and many faculty members) in advance what the administration attitude is to be, we might have much less havoc.

'We'll See You Tuesday'

"We'll see you Tuesday."

This is a new catch-phrase to add impact to the traditional appeal for safe driving over the long holiday weekend. Hopefully a catch-phrase might help because the Department of Public Safety, on the basis of experience, has predicted that as many as 49 Texans could meet death on the highways this coming Labor Day weekend.

Nearly every kind of appeal is employed, by public officials, safety organizations and responsible citizens, to move motorists to "drive friendly" and to "drive defensively."

A lot of things will be going to help in the safety campaign. Roadside rest stops will be in service (including one at Big Spring, sponsored by Jaycees and Five-Watters). Department of Public Safety officers will have maximum safety patrols in operation from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight next Monday. Governor Preston Smith said "DPS officers will be on duty to insure that motorists will have all the proper protection from irresponsible drivers, and those who do not drive like responsible citizens may expect firm treatment from these officers."

A motorist is urged to avoid these most frequent causes of accidents: Drunk driving, fatigue, running off the road, excessive speed, improper passing, failure to yield right-of-way.

Every one of these accident causes could be avoided by responsible friendly, defensive driving. It is up to the person behind the wheel. May it be said by everyone who drives a vehicle during the holiday weekend: "We'll see you Tuesday."

Complications In Women's Rights

WASHINGTON — "Equal rights for women" is a popular cause on Capitol Hill. But the House of Representatives has passed a proposed constitutional amendment which Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr., Democrat of North Carolina, thinks would invalidate many laws helpful to women and would "plunge society into constitutional and legal chaos."

Since Mr. Ervin was an associate justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court before he came to the U.S. Senate, it is likely that his words will be heeded as he submits a substitute proposal to protect women against discrimination.

THE SENATOR recommends that the "equal rights" amendment to the Constitution shall specifically exempt women from military service and shall allow the passage of any law "reasonably designed" to promote the health, safety privacy, education or economic welfare of women, or "to enable them to perform their duties as homemakers or mothers."

Both the federal government and the states will be able then to continue to introduce legislation on these subjects. Most of the discriminatory practices against women have arisen in the sphere of employment, and Congress — as well as the states — has enacted statutes to prevent this. Senator Ervin thinks there should be consideration given in lawmaking to the "differences between men and women." He says:

"IN CREATING them, God made physiological and functional differences between men and women. These differences confer upon men a greater capacity to perform arduous and hazardous physical tasks. Some wise people even profess the belief that there may be phychological differences between men and women. To justify their belief, they assert that women possess an intuitive power to distinguish between wisdom and folly, good and evil. To say these things is not to imply that either sex is superior to the other. It is simply to state the all important truth that men and women complement each other in the relationships and undertakings on which the existence and development of the race depend."

BLANKET DECLARATIONS of equality in a constitutional amendment, therefore, may be appealing, but they can set up legal obstacles to legislation which the states have passed and would wish to pass in order to allow discrimination in certain types of employment not suitable for women. It is feared also that laws would be impaired which permit discrimination in many states in the form of awards of alimony and property in favor of women who find it necessary to seek a divorce or in the granting of custody of the children to a divorced mother.

ANOTHER POINT emphasized by Senator Ervin is that, unless the new amendment clearly empowers the Federal government and the states to legislate discrimination in certain categories, the right of privacy could be left unprotected.

"If the House-passed equal rights amendment should be interpreted by the Supreme Court to forbid legal distinctions between men and women, It would annul all existing laws of this nature and rob Congress and the states of the constitutional power to enact any similar laws at any time in the future."

CHANCES OF approval of the amendment by the states would be greatly enhanced if the house version is changed to spell out the powers of congress and the states. The important factor is to safeguard the basic right of the female sex to receive certain legal favors — as, for instance, the long-recognized privileges with respect to motherhood.

Billy Graham

Dr. Graham, isn't it logical to believe that if there is a "someone", we may assume that there is a "somewhere?" Then, is it unfair for me to ask where God is? That is what I want to know: Where God dwells. Thank you. B.D.

A young boy was being questioned in a somewhat cynical vein about his faith in God. The older boy asked: "Tell me where God is and I'll give you a quarter."

The young lad replied, "I'll give you a quarter if you'll tell me where God is not."

You see, God is not limited in time and space as we are. He is what we call, Omnipresent, or present everywhere at the same time. He can be at the side of a wounded soldier in Vietnam, and at the same time be beside a young mother giving birth in Philadelphia. When He said, "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee", He was speaking to every person carrying burdens, racked with pain, or experiencing loneliness. It is difficult for us to understand this because the Bible says, "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." (Isa. 55:9.)

While I do not understand it, I know it is true. I have seen God work in this omnipresent way — and I'm sure you have too. Human beings are limited by time and space, but it is said of Him, "With God nothing is impossible."

LESS COSTLY THAN AMERICAN BLOOD

Hal Boyle

Mr. Burble's Bub-Bub-Bub

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember the time your sixth grade math teacher turned to ask you a question just as you were aiming a paper airplane at her?

We all have stories about our school years, about the time we painted founder's statue blue at old P.S. 32 or the absent-minded history professor we had at State U.

I have two I'm fond of.

The first involves a math teacher I had while a junior in high school. A methodical man who had taught trigonometry for 25 years, old Harry Burble, let's call him, was set in his ways. A down-Mainer he always preferred illustrating new material on the board more than giving lectures. Mr. Burble had a habit of making a low, rumbling sound before each of his infrequent bursts of speech.

"Bub-bub-bub," he would start. "Do Exercise 43 in Page 62 for tonight's homework."

And Harry Burble had rules. You didn't violate those rules because there was something about Harry Burble's reticence that inspired fear. One of the Burble cardinal rules was you showed how you arrived at answers on examination papers.

One day Burble handed back some examination papers and when Tyrone Tinker, a notorious cheater who somehow never got caught, saw his paper he let out a groan. Problem No. 2 was marked wrong, but Tyrone had the right answer.

"Mr. Burble," he cried, his hand waving vigorously in the air.

"Bub-bub-bub, yes, Tinker," Burble replied.

"I got the right answer and you marked me wrong," said Tinker, now standing and pointing to the large, black "X" on his paper.

"Bub-bub-bub," intoned Burble. "You don't show me how you got the answer. No credit."

"But Mr. Burble," whined Tinker, "I did it in my head."

"Bub-bub-bub," said Burble disdainfully, "Next time you do it in your head, write your name on your head, pass it in and I'll mark it."

The second story involves a political science professor I had in college. This guy, a brilliant lecturer, had trouble with his memory. Ocassionally he would forget where the door was and try to leave class via the closet.

A sampling of one his famous class announcements, which I remember word-for word today, will suffice:

"Class, I want you to pick up a book at the library and read it for background this semester," he began.

"The name of the book is 'Modern and Foreign Powers.' "

There was a pause and he ran his hand across his forehead.

"Wait a minute," he continued. "I got that wrong. The book is 'Powers, Foreign and Modern.' Hmmm. Or is it 'Modern Foreign Powers'?

"Oh well, if you can't find it under any of those titles, you'll find it under the author's name: William Charles.

"Or is it, Charles William?"

Cowboy Vs. Housewife

By JIM BRIGANCE
(Substituting for John Cunniff)

MADISONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — For decades he has been loved by children, lionized by historians and exploited by Hollywood. But the American cowboy today finds himself misunderstood by, of all people, the American housewife.

The showdown these two face won't be in the muddied streets of a Coffeyville, Laredo or Cheyenne but in supermarket aisles all over America.

The housewife will be the loner in this battle—facing the cowpoke, his boss, the computerized feed lots, the packer and the grocer.

Though beef prices have climbed dramatically in the 20 years since the Korean War, ranchers say their profits actually have dwindled.

All the others in the meat industry say, too, that they are not getting rich.

The Agriculture Department confirms that in 1951 the average paid for live beef was just over $35 per 100 pounds. Last December it was $30.

Bobby Samuel, 38, is head of the Samuel and Samuel Land and Cattle Co. — an operation which sprawls over five southeast Texas counties of loamy grassland and pine stands.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raiser's Association describes Samuel's ranch as a mirror of the industry found most anywhere in the country today.

"The three biggest expenses in beef-raising," he explains, "are interest, labor and feed. The three biggest headaches are management, the market and the weather. We're always at the mercy of weather."

"Everything around here is mortgaged," he said. "I plow everything I earn back into the ranch."

Samuel maintains an office downtown. According to his bookkeeping, it costs him on the average of $156.62 to produce a 460-pound calf.

"On the average, I sell that calf for $34.25 per 100 pounds or a total of $157.55. That leaves me an average 93 cents profit," he said.

Samuel figures it costs him $20 for feed for each calf, $15 for labor, $2.50 for gas, oil and grease for ranch machinery, $5 for fertilizer for the grass each calf consumes, $1.25 for weed spray, $4 for repairs to the equipment, $15 in depreciation on the bulls and cows, $30 for pasture lease, $18 in interest and the list goes on.

Samuel says the ranch has never lost money but the balancing act is precarious.

To Your Good Health

How Desensitization Works

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
(SECOND OF TWO ARTICLES)

Continuing where we left off yesterday, desensitization is useful for many kinds of allergies, but not for others — foods, primarily.

When your allergy balance is easily upset (which means having attacks; the first step is to find out exactly what bothers you. It isn't always easy, which is why I suggest going to a trained allergist.

A series of skin tests (not painful, except for a slight pricking sensation) may help, but there can be false responses, another reason why I urge that this be done by experts who know the pitfalls. Items that give a positive reaction may not actually bother you.

When one or more important materials have been identified, then very small amounts of the substance are given to help your system build up a tolerance to them.

Right now, with the hay fever season on us, it's a bit late to start such desensitization for that. Better to start late in fall or winter to build a tolerance for next year.

Sometimes a tolerance can be built so the treatments can be stopped. More likely, continued but less frequent shots (perhaps once a month) will be useful in keeping the tolerance high.

But even then, by all means avoid overexposure to the pollen or whatever your problem is. And it is best to keep in mind that no two patients will be just alike. The frequency of treatment, and the length it is continued, must be fitted to the patient's needs.

Now for cortisone, benadryl, and other such drugs. Their purpose is to relieve symptoms, not to "cure." Methylprednisolone, mentioned yesterday, is one of the cortisone family, and it is effective in various types of allergy.

Stop the treatment and the effect wears off, so the cortisone-type drugs are only used for temporary relief, in certain seasons of the year, or when a patient is suffering a particularly hard siege of trouble. If side effects develop, there is no choice but to stop the drug. The aim, of course, is to try to arrive at a dosage small enough to do the job but not cause side effects.

Among the big problems of treating allergy are the twin ones of the patient's becoming discouraged too soon, or the contrary, thinking that, because his allergies are relieved, he doesn't have to bother about staying away from pollens, certain foods, soaps, or other things that bother him.

Successful treatment of allergy consists of raising the patient's tolerance to offending materials, and then convincing him that he still has to see to it that he doen't expose himself to these materials so that his allergy balance is upset again and the whole process largely wasted.

One other point worth remembering — the allergy sufferer is usually sensitive, in varying degrees, to a number of substances. He should take pains to avoid all the things he knows he is allergic to, since the total number of allergies add up, in a sense.

Around The Rim

Avoid The Early Christmas Rush

Watch out, gang, the day of decision is coming — and no matter what it is, it's the wrong one. It's only 113 days until Christmas, and a lot of early shoppers are going to earn the respect and admiration of their fellow neighbors — and the enmity of the recipients of their early-chosen gifts.

I am one of those persons who will probably have to try to come up with several gifts early Christmas morning, although hopefully I will have finished most of my shopping by the time the stores close on Christmas Eve.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING is an art — and I never claimed to be very artistic. Fact is that no matter what you buy, for at least one person it will be the wrong choice. Junior, who wants an electric train in September, will probably end up desiring more than anything in the world to have a telescope under the tree on Christmas morning. Sis, who has decided now that she wants one more walking, talking doll, will change her mind in favor of a record player as school progresses this fall and she discovers her own music idol.

THIS GOES on and on — it's really not even safe to go ahead and buy that pipe for grandpa (he may quit smoking) or rocker for grandma (she may buy a trail bike and take off cross-country).

Therefore it is left up to last-minute-shoppers like me to buy the presents everyone really wants. That is, if they can be found between 6 and 7 p.m. Dec. 24.

STORE OWNERS don't cater to this mode of Christmas shopping, and soon they will start advertising Christmas specials and reminding shoppers to buy early.

Take heart and don't give up. Don't let anybody talk you into shopping early. The art of buying everything at the last minute is close to extinction, and it is up to us chosen few to keep everything in the proper perspective.

BESIDES, think of all the fun you have racing the Christmas Eve clock to get all those presents wrapped. Think of all the excitement of managing your checkbook so the sheriff won't be knocking on the door Christmas Day because of the rubber checks bouncing around town.

So, remember, 113 days until Christmas, and you've still got 112 days to relax.

Pollution A World-Wide Problem

Andrew Tully is on holiday. During his absence his column is being written by various national figures.

By SEN. WARREN G. MAGNUSON, D-WASH.

WASHINGTON—In a world torn by nationalism, it is not surprising that we have been slow to recognize the international dimensions of a problem that causes us major concern here in the United States: The problem of pollution.

THE FUTILITY of taking corrective environmental action only within a single country has been demonstrated recently in Sweden, for example. That nation was among the first to recognize the dangers of DDT and actually banned the use of DDT altogether. Yet Swedish scientists now report that concentrations of DDT in Northern Sweden are increasing, not decreasing as they expected. The explanation: DDT used in other countries drifts through the atmosphere and settles on Swedish soil — as well as on the soil of every other nation.

THE GLOBAL DDT problem is one of many that have forced scientists to take a world view of the environment. So have the 100 million tons of oil that are dumped into the world's oceans each year. So has the steady build-up of carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere. If these and other problems are to be dealt with, it is obvious that we will have to put aside national differences and begin to achieve international environmental cooperation.

There are many other reasons for undertaking an international effort to curb pollution. One of these is that most environmental problems are common to many nations and that cooperation between nations on such problems can lead to faster solutions for everyone.

TAKE THE MERCURY poisoning crisis. As long ago as 1953, Japan learned the hard way that mercury pollution can kill human beings and marine life. Sweden banned the use of mercury in the mid-1950s. Yet not until this year did the United States take action to deal with the mercury crisis — for the simple reason that few people in this country were familiar with the Japanese and Swedish experience.

Fortunately, most international organizations are now working to deal with the pollution problem. But these organizations are political in nature, do not include all nations of the world, and are limited in the scope of their environmental activity.

I HAVE introduced legislation in the United States Senate to fill this basic void in the international environmental effort. My bill aims at the creation of a World Environmental Institute, open to all nations of the world and totally non-political in nature. The Institute would serve as a clearinghouse on environmental data, gathering and disseminating such information to all nations. Institute scientists would also do research on global pollution problems, such as pollution of the oceans and the atmosphere.

SURELY THE TIME has come for the United States to take the lead and to propose creation of the World Environmental Institute to the nations of the world. The time has come for us to recognize that world leadership and world prestige are based on the power of ideas, not on the power of weapons. And the time has come for knowledge — that most precious of man's many resources — to be liberated from the confines of nationalism and the shackles of the Cold War.

Mother Nature's Last Will

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — The other night I was home reading a book when I received a telephone call that MOTHER NATURE was dying. I dressed hurriedly and rushed over to the hospital. A lot of people had gotten there before me and they were all sitting in the waiting room crying and wringing their hands. I searched out the doctors who were in another room having a heated argument as to how to save her. Each doctor seemed to have a different remedy.

ONE DOCTOR SAID, "We have to get her some fresh air. She can't breathe. We'll have to turn off the power plant because of the smoke."

"Are you out of your mind?" another doctor said. "We turn off the power, and she'll freeze to death."

"Perhaps we could keep all cars away from the hospital," a third doctor suggested. "That would relieve her breathing."

"Out of the question," a fourth doctor barked. "How would we get back and forth to work if we prohibited cars near the hospital?"

"GENTLEMEN," another doctor said, "I don't believe it's the air that is hurting her as much as the water. We have to find some water that's drinkable. Strong measures must be taken immediately against polluting the hospital water."

The director said, "Where would we get the money to support the hospital if we closed down the factories because they're polluting the streams?"

"We'd also have to give up detergents."

"Isn't anybody going to do anything?" I shouted.

THEY SAW ME for the first time and one of the doctors said angrily, "We're sorry, this is a medical conference for professionals only. Would you kindly leave?"

I walked out and down the hall. Suddenly I saw a closed room, which had the name MOTHER NATURE hand-printed on the door. Underneath it, in large red letters was another sign: NO VISITORS.

No one was in the hall, so I opened the door. There was MOTHER NATURE propped up on pillows. She looked old and tired and haggard. I couldn't believe anyone could have changed so much in 10 short years. But she seemed glad to see someone and smiled weakly.

"Hi, Ma," I said. "You're looking swell."

"YOU WOULDN'T kid a very sick lady would you," she said, gasping.

"No, I'm not kidding. You look wonderful.

"I've just been talking to the doctors and they say they'll have you on your feet in no time."

"Those quacks don't know anything," she said. "All they do is come in every few hours and take my temperature and give me something to relieve the pain. I think I've had it this time."

"I KEPT complaining of pain," she whispered, "but no one would pay attention to me. I said, 'If you keep doing what you're doing I'm going to die.' But everyone said, 'Ma you'll never die.' Why didn't they listen to me?"

"We're listening now, Ma. We're listening. We have the best doctors in the world. They're out there now, and they have a plan."

"I guess the real thing that hurts," she said, "is that my will won't be worth anything now. I left every person in the world clear water, pure air, green fields, brilliant sunsets and blue skies. It wasn't much, but it was everything I had."

MAN OF MANY MOODS
The late Vince Lombardi

Cancer Claims Famed Pro Football Coach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vince Lombardi, Washington Redskins coach and onetime ruler of a football dynasty with the Green Bay Packers, died today of cancer. He was 57.

A spokesman at Georgetown University Hospital said Lombardi succumbed at 7:12 a.m. EDT, his wife, Marie, at his side.

Also with him was his son, Vincent Jr., of St. Paul, Minn.

Lombardi, the only man in the history of the National Football League playoffs to win three straight championships, had undergone two operations within a month in his battle with the disease.

Mrs. Lombardi had confirmed Wednesday the gravity of the ailment. She said the cancer was "extraordinarily virulent."

His name became legendary for the feats he accomplished at Green Bay, a small city in Wisconsin.

'ONLY THING'

His motto: "Winning isn't a big thing. It's the only thing."

"He had a covenant with greatness, more than any man I have ever known," said Redskins President Edward Bennett Williams in a statement. "He was committed to excellence in everything he attempted. Because he was so committed, he was able to lead other men to commit and discipline themselves to reach heights of which they had never dreamed.

"Our country has lost one of its great men. The world of sport has lost its first citizen. The Washington Redskins have lost their leader. I personally have lost a beloved friend."

Bill Austin, interim Redskins coach, added in a statement:

"Words are inadequate to express my deep sorrow and regret at the passing of Coach Vince Lombardi, a great leader and a greater man."

The New York native arrived in Green Bay in 1959, one year after the Packers posted its worst record, 1-10-1. He forged a 7-5 season his first year, won the divisional championship in 1960, and then proceeded to capture NFL titles in 1961, 1962, 1965, 1966 and 1967.

His Packers won the first two Super Bowls which pitted the NFL against the AFL.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Hackers and golf pros have developed a jargon all their own, a language that might have been impossible to interpret had it been chiseled on the wall of some stone-encased cave like the Egyptian hieroglyphics and gone unnoticed for 40 centuries.

For instance, when a pro describes a course as "fair," he means it's easy. If he says he's moved the pins around during a tournament to offer a greater challenge, chances are he's had complaints from some of the entries that too many so-so players are running in putts.

If a tournament director insists "anyone can win," he means any one of five or six people — the others will be out killing snakes.

The golfer who laments he shanked a shot actually means he choked from thinking about all the loot he could have won from his fellow players simply by parring on in.

Is there a short course in the country that isn't regularly described as "sporty?"

Chances are the fellow who goes out and qualifies for a tournament with an 87 and then wins his flight by 10 strokes with a closing 69 was more "on" his game while qualifying than at any other time. Beware of the man who says his short irons were misbehaving and he couldn't sink a putt the first time around — he sometimes plans it that way.

Why is it a linkster will praise a course he conquers as "great, a real challenge" but complains a layout which eats him alive has too many doglegs, too many trees or too many traps on the wrong side of the fairways?

The fellow who boldly spanks a long putt and watches it roll 10 feet beyond the cup often is complimented with the remark "he believes in attacking — he plays to win" when sometimes he knows he's running out of gas and realizes he faces a rout if he doesn't gamble everything on the one shot.

The fellow who accepts his trophy as king of the hill at the end of a tournament and modestly says "I didn't deserve to win" sometimes means "if it had turned out any other way, I'd have demanded a recount and challenged the rules chairman's decision on a couple of my opponent's shots."

It's a great game but the player who hasn't mastered gamesmanship as well as all the shots will never be a winner. You psyche the opposition occasionally with a great recovery or a long putt but more often with a look, a word or complete silence.

Joe Means has been a head coach since 1957, the last three years at Odessa High School.

He's never before worked with a lefthanded quarterback. Now he has two. They are 6-1 Eddie Rhodes and 5-10 Richard Wortham.

Odessa is being downgraded in the polls but the Bronchos could and should lift a few eyebrows, especially if the rest of the team adapts to a navigator who operates from the portside.

The one-time Big Spring junior high coach, Jimmy Pope, almost wound up at Frenship before hiring on at Floydada as a coach. That was before another ex-Big Springer, Jack Tayrien, took over as head mentor at Frenship. Pope was at Mason last year and built quite a dynasty in basketball.

Before he departed Cisco College for Howard Payne, coach Kenneth Henson predicted that Cisco, South Plains, New Mexico Junior College and Amarillo would field the strongest teams in Region V junior college basketball circles.

Buddy Travis, the departed HCJC mentor, has 13 sophomores with whom to work at South Plains. Cisco has eight players back from last year and the Wranglers finished second to Christian College of the Southwest in the Region V meet.

Think there's not a lot of work connected with the job of trying to win the Heisman Trophy? The publicity departments of schools projecting a boy for the honor invariably work harder than the players themselves, let it be said.

The publicity director at Purdue was fired last year after Mike Phipps failed to win it.

Clovis Hale Optimistic About Club

Coach Clovis Hale asked for it Wednesday.

Addressing the Downtown Lions Club in its weekly meeting at the Settles, said he expects to win every game his football team plays.

"I guess you can say I'm asking for it," he declared, "but I hope I never coach in a town where the town doesn't expect the team to win. I don't want to coach a team that's satisfied with losing.

"I'm not a crier. I don't believe in spreading gloom for the kids; they might begin to believe it.

"Yes, we expect to win, and our boys are responding to this idea. They've worked as late as 9:30 p.m., and then had to get their lessons. It's hard, but they know when they come out for football that this is expected, that football is a plus effort."

One other thing Hale said he would like to see: A town that goes completely football nuts.

"That kind of enthusiasm spreads to the boys, he said.

The defensive unit, which admittedly will be green and perhaps a trifle light, will be basically the same except that "we will do more stunting, use more man-to-man coverage, and we hope, be a little meaner."

The offense this year will run off the Houston veer and use the option a lot. There will be substantially more passing. The presence of Dave Duncan and Mike Adams, both good passers, should provide depth, especially with back-up help by sophomores Alan Davis and Scott Carlile.

"One thing you've got to have," Hale told the Lions, "is some depth at quarterback."

The starting backfield will be veteran, and the linebackers are experienced. Otherwise, the line has to rely heavily on extra effort. The first scrimmage is Friday evening in Sweetwater, and Hale said:

"We'll know more after that."

Bruins, Mets Gain Ground On Pirates

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs and New York Mets have started taking a positive approach to the National League's East Division race —a most unhealthy situation for the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are still in a negative rut.

The Cubs and Mets both closed in on the first place Pirates by winning Wednesday while Montreal was tagging Pittsburgh with its seventh loss in the last eight starts.

Chicago exploded for a 17-2 romp over Philadelphia and moved within one game of the lead. The Cubs have won four of the last five.

SEAVER WINS

The second place Mets won their third straight over St. Louis with Tom Seaver ending a personal four-game losing streak 7-3. That moved New York within one-half game of the top.

The Pirates, meanwhile, frittered away a five-run lead, battled back to tie the score on Bob Robertson's pinch homer with two out in the ninth and finally bowed to Montreal 10-7 when John Boccabella unloaded a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth.

In other National League action, Atlanta topped Los Angeles 4-3, Cincinnati shut out San Francisco 2-0 and Houston shaded San Diego 2-1.

In the American League, New York nipped Baltimore 3-2, Washington tripped Cleveland 4-1, Detroit split a doubleheader with Boston, winning 6-4 before losing 10-1, Oakland topped Chicago 2-1 and California topped Kansas City 3-1. Minnesota's game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Joe Pepitone and Randy Hundley both poled three-hun homers and Cleon James and pitcher Milt Pappas also connected as the Cubs routed Philadelphia.

Pappas worked eight innings and ran his record to 11-6. He is 9-4 since coming over to the Cubs from Atlanta. Pepitone's homer was his 21st—seventh for Chicago after being unloaded by Houston.

Donn Clendenon and Cleon Jones drove in two runs apiece and the Mets, usually stingy with runs when Seaver is pitching, gave their ace right-hander plenty of offense to work with against St. Louis.

Clendenon, Jones, Joe Foy and Tommie Agee had two hits each, pacing an 11-hit Met attack against four Cardinal pitchers.

SEE HIM GO ENTERED

Rich Event Has Area Flavor

One of the 10 qualifiers for the 12th annual of the All-America Quarter Horse Futurity, the world's richest race to be run at Ruidoso Downs, N.M., Monday, is See Him Go, owned by Tom S. Neff of Colorado City.

See Him Go, a black colt, sired by Go Man Go out of Bright Barbee, qualified last weekend in the time of 20.26.

In 12 starts, See Him Go has won $60,608. Neff's entry is one of only two colts to qualify for all three Tres Coronas Futurities this year. He has won five times, run second on three occasions and placed third once.

C. W. (Bubba) Cascio is See Him Go's trainer. The speedy two-year-old finished second in both the Sunland Park and Texas Futurities this season to account for most of his winnings. At Ruidoso Downs, the colt also finished second in the Kansas Futurity to grab a large paycheck.

Other entries in the Futurity and their owners include:

Buddy Bid, Bunny Bid Syndicate, Chillicothe, Tex.; Boston Mac, Jerry Wells, Purcell, Okla. Rocket Wrangler, John R. Adams, Guymon, Okla.; Vennetta Creek, Windell R. and Meda Lively, Colcord, Okla.; Rebel Seeker, L. R. French, Odessa; Jet Charger, Bud Warren, Perry, Okla.; Mr. Salty Signal, Roy E. Kitchens, Greenwood, Tex.; Mr. Three Spot, Rulon Goodman, Oracle, Ariz.; and Tony B Deck, Anthony A. Buford, Caledonia, Mo.

Jet Charger, winner in six of 10 starts, has earnings totaling $106,835. Jet Charger's sire, Jet Deck, sired the winner of last year's Futurity winner, Easy Jet.

Perry Walker of Big Spring rode Jet Charger in the Futurity trials, at which time the chestnut colt was clocked in 20.2.

Total purse for the Futurity is $670,000, richest purse ever seen for any horse race in the world.

Itsmibet Wins Raton Event

D. P. White of Big Spring decided his Itsmibet was ready after a few days' rest and his hunch paid off in the tenth race at La Mesa track in Raton, N.M., last Friday.

Itsmibet won the mile and 1-16th event in 1:47.0, with R. Bickel in the irons. The payoff on Itsmibet was $3.80, $3.00 and $2.60.

Itsmibet's share of the purse was $480.

Sunland Park Opens Season On October 3

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Sunland Park's two main events for younger quarter horses have drawn many of the big names in the sport.

The 6th running of the Sunland Fall Quarter Horse Derby is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 15, while the 7th running of the Sunland Fall Quarter horse Futurity is slated for Sunday, Nov. 29.

Sunland Park launches its 1970-71 season Oct. 3. The 85-day meeting will continue through May 9.

Nominations for the Quarter Horse Derby and Futurity closed Aug. 17.

"The quality of the nominations is exceptional," Sunland Park general manager Art Johnson said.

Heading the list of 25 nominees for the Derby are Easy Jet, winner of last year's All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs, and Go Together, winner of the $117,297 Rainbow Derby as well as the $55,000 World's Quarter Horse Classic at Ruidoso Downs this year.

The winningest quarter horse of all-time, Easy Jet, also took home the top prize in the Sunland Spring Quarter Horse Futurity in 1969. He is owned by Walter Merrick of Sayre, Okla.

Go Together, owned by Harriet Peckham of Richmond, Tex., set a track record in beating such outstanding older horses as Cinder Leo in the World Classic. He raced the 440 yards in 21.7. The old mark was 21.8 set by Turf's Best.

The Sunland Derby also enticed the following, among others:

Miss Three Wars, owned by Paul H. Travis of San Angelo, Tex., and winner of the $85,000 Los Alamitos Derby.

Reller, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bunn Jr. of Sherman, Ill., and winner of the Oklahoma Derby.

Royal Doulton, owned by L. L. Tuck of Littleton, Colo., and winner of the 1970 Sunland Spring Derby.

This year's Sunland Fall Quarter Horse Futurity drew 57 nominees headed by Carlotta 2, Jet Charger, Rocket Wrangler, Full Moon Zestee and Bunny Bid.

Crushing Blows Are Dealt Local Eleven

Two crushing blows were delivered the Big Spring football team Wednesday when senior quarterback Dave Duncan and sophomore Alan Davis went into drydock.

Duncan learned he had bad tonsils which will be removed Friday morning. He'll likely be back for the second game of the season against Ysleta Bel Air.

Davis' physical problems will be more prolonged. A wrist that has been giving him trouble since last spring will be placed in a cast and he'll miss the entire season.

Davis suffered a small fracture in the arm in spring workouts. That particular bone has healed but another bone was effected and is losing its mobility.

His doctor said that by placing the member in a cast he hoped the ailing bone would knit back properly and be restored to full use.

Departure of Duncan means that junior Mike Adams, a 5-10, 170-pounder who throws the ball well, moves into the regular position.

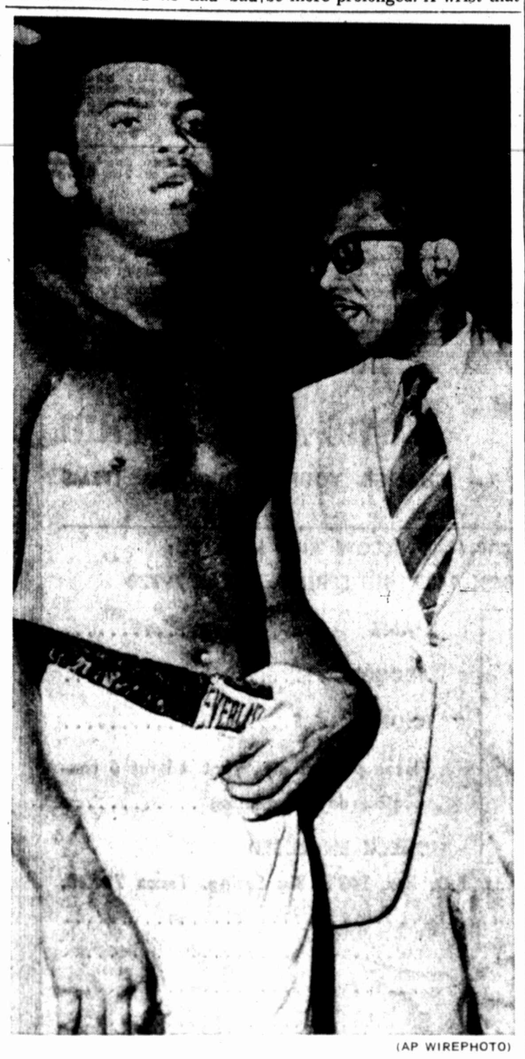

Adams has great physical talents. Coach Hale said there wasn't a doubt in his mind but that Mike could do the job. All Adams needs is experience and he'll begin to get it Friday night in a scrimmage at Sweetwater.

Scott Carlile will be readied to man the controls on the JV unit. He's a 5-11 soph. Vin McQuien, who has been at running back, is being moved to quarterback and likely will serve as navigator for the Soph club. He was used there briefly last spring.

Another sophomore quarterback, Gene Swenson, is in the hospital at Wbeb.

Senior Scott McLaughlin has been playing flanker for the locals but he divided time with Duncan at quarterback as a soph and could return in an emergency.

"The kids have taken this string in stride," Hale said this morning. "They have great confidence in Adams' ability. I have no doubt but that he can do it."

DEEP BREATHING AFTER EIGHT ROUNDS — Breathing deeply and tugging at the wasitband of his shorts, a perspiring Cassius Clay is visibly tired after eight rounds of exhibition boxing in Atlanta Wednesday evening. Clay, who entered the ring for the first time in three years against three opponents, was ten pounds over his normal fighting weight. Temperatures in the gymnasium ranged in the 90s.

Louisiana Draw Slated Sunday

Three big tournaments are booked at the Municipal golf course over the next two months.

A Louisiana Draw meet will be staged for Big Spring Golf Association members Sunday. Entry fee is $2 and merchandise awards will be made to winning teams.

Those not yet qualified for the BSGA's Oct. 17-25 "grand" tournament can use this meet in adding up their eligibility points.

The City championship is scheduled Sept. 19-Oct. 4. Golfers do not have to be members of the BSGA to compete in that particular meet, although the association will sponsor the tournament.

Entry fee has been raised from $5 to $7.50 and all of the money will be returned to the entries in the way of prizes.

Those competing for places in the championship flight must qualify. All others can enter by using their handicaps and post entry fees.

All matches will be determined in match play. The medalist will earn a dozen golf balls. Those shooting for medal honors must tour the course in company with another player.

Jerry Barron is the defending City titlist.

Deadline for entry in the City tournament is 6 p.m., Sept. 16.

* * *

Spokesmen for the BSGA reveal a committee representing that group will meet with city officials to discuss the new pricing policies adopted by the municipality regarding the course.

Some of the BSGA membership reportedly is distressed over the elimination of monthly rates for golfers.

Forsan Hosts LeFevre Team

FORSAN — Forsan and New Home scrimmage here at 4 o'clock today and for the New Home coach it will be a sort of homecoming.

Zay LeFevre, who tutors the Leopards, formerly coached on the junior high level at Forsan. He resigned several years ago to go to Tilden and has been at New Home the past year.

Forsan scrimmaged Grandfalls last week and coach Don Stevens said he was displeased with the results.

The Buffaloes launch their season Sept. 11 at home against Bronte.

Le Fevre guided New Home to its finest record in five years in 1969. The Leopards won seven of ten starts.

TWO TEAMS

Women Plan Links Play

Two women's teams will engage in golf competition at the Big Spring Country Club starting Sept. 8 and extending through Nov. 10. Entry fee will be $1 per person.

An entry in the unique competition can play any day she wants and as often as she wants.

Scoring rules dictate that bogie will count one point, pars two points, birdies three points and eagles four points.

Once a player reaches a green, she gets a point if she holes out with two putts and two points if she makes it in a single putt. Should she hole out from off the green, she will be awarded three points.

Persons playing nine holes will be awarded ten points and those completing 18 in one day get 20 points.

Group captains will be Mickey Marcum and Mauvis Jones.

At the end of competition, the losers buy the winners luncheon in the clubhouse.

Leads By Three

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins, who became a weekend golfer for something to do, slid through the Waverley Country Club course as smoothly as his southern drawl for a 3-under-par 67 Wednesday and a one-stroke lead in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Ticket Sales Still Slow

Sale of season football tickets here has slowed to a snail's pace.

The total is now 762, far short of the aggregate distributed last year, when 1,016 were distributed.

Some of the faithful may be waiting to see how the Longhorns fare in their opening game at Lubbock against Monterey. That game will be unreeled a week from tomorrow night.

The home opener for the Steers comes the following Friday (Sept. 18) against Ysleta Bel Air.

Don Green of the School Business Office said he had received 300 adult and 600 student ducats for the Monterey game.

The season ticket holders get first crack at the adult pasteboards. Priced at $2 each, they go on sale at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 9, at the School Business Office.

Those not distributed Wednesday will be made available to the general public at the same hour the following day. The tickets will remain on sale here until 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 11, the day of the game.

Green indicated he would order an extra 200 adult ducats for local consumption. The seat locations are good ones at Lubbock's Lowery Field, near the middle of the field on the east side. Fans driving to the game will be able to park near the entrance.

Game Set Jan. 23

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)— The American Basketball Association's 1971 all-star game has been awarded to Greensboro. It will be played Saturday, Jan. 23, in the Greensboro Coliseum, which is being enlarged to seat 15,500 for basketball.

Stanton Lions Learn About New Vocation Program

STANTON (SC) — A report on the coordinated vocational academic education was presented by Lewis McAnely, Austin, consultant for the Texas Education Agency, at the meeting of the Stanton Lions Club Tuesday. Stanton schools have adopted this program. President J. R. Dillard presided, and program chairman was Richard Payne. Russell McMeans, Stanton's school superintendent, introduced McAnely.

New business was discussed, and the Lions decided to sponsor Teachers Appreciation Night on Sept. 28. A report was presented by Paige Eiland about the possibility of having a Lions club carnival in October. Thirty-one members and three guests were present. Guests included Bill Burns, home from the Navy, son of Jess Burns, and Don Tollison, who will be new manager of the Texas Electric Service Company in Stanton.

McClure Receives Bandmaster Honor

ABILENE — Marion B. McClure, director of bands at Hardin-Simmons University and best known for his leadership of the school's widely traveled Cowboy Band, has been named "Bandmaster of the Year" by the Texas Bandmasters' Association.

McClure who has made five foreign tours with the Cowboy Band, will be given special recognition at the association's annual meeting next July in San Antonio when he will receive a plaque and other special mention.

McClure, who serves as Professor of Percussion and Music Education at Hardin-Simmons and who has been on the school's music faculty since 1934, was chosen from among the Texas Bandmasters' Association's 2,850 members for the honor for the 1970-71 year.

Boys Ranch Sets Roping Events

West Texas Boy's Ranch will hold its second annual team roping and calf roping Saturday, Sept. 26 at the Boys Ranch arena as a fund-raising event.

Ropers will compete for two go-rounds and the average. The roping will start at 3 p.m. and a barbecue supper ($1 a plate), at 6:30 p.m. A band from Tuscola, The Bluegrass Kinfolk, will entertain during the barbecue. The second go-rounds will follow the barbecue.

Entry fees in the team roping will be $36 a team and $36 for the calf roping. There will be a gate admission of $1 for adults (ropers included) and 50 cents for children 12 years and under.

CLEANUP AFTER HURRICANE — Turner and Ellen Lambert of Corpus Christi clean up around their demolished home after Hurricane Celia leveled it along with many other buildings. In the background is a newly arrived HUD trailer home.

AGONY OF REBUILDING

She Says: 'I Just Wish I Had A House To Clean'

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A month ago, Turner and Ellen Lambert lived in a new $28,000 brick home. Today, the young couple and their two children live beside a pile of shattered brick and wood.

"I used to worry about cleaning our house," says Ellen, a pretty 26-year old brunette. "Now I just wish I had a house to clean."

In only a few short hours the young family turned into refugees, dependent on friends for shelter and on the Red Cross for food and clothing.

Life for the young family since that day, says Mrs. Lambert, has been "terrible."

"We've stayed with different families," she said, standing beside her wrecked home, "and come over here every day to try and salvage something. The mosquitoes and the glass insulation (from inside the walls of the house) have made it pretty bad."

"The first two days," Mrs. Lambert added, "you could just look at me and I would cry. But after the shock was over, we had to start digging out."

Turner, a 27-year old pipefitter, said there wasn't much to salvage.

He dug their furniture out of the debris but found water had made it warp, split and peel. Bedding and clothes mildewed and began to rot before it could be dried.

NO TOYS

The Lambert children, Polly, 6, and Tracey, 3, "don't even have any toys," says their mother.

Turner got quick help from the Red Cross. He was given $56 for groceries and $44 for clothes. But he was unable to work for weeks because he needed to get his family settled.

Two nights he sat outside the ruins of house, guarding it with a .38 pistol.

"Cars would come up real slow, see me and then take off," he recalls.

But guarding the house seemed futile after he found everything was ruined.

Lambert applied for help from the federal government and the Department of Housing and Urban Development last week moved a trailer house into the Lambert backyard.

DESTROYED

Lambert said they face at least a year of trailer life.

"We can't even get a building contractor to start on a new house now. They're too busy," says Lambert. "The house has been totaled out (ruled totally destroyed) by the insurance company."

Even if the insurance company pays everything for replacing the house, which it won't, Lambert said the loss will still be heavy because the contents were not covered.

Mrs. Lambert said it'll be crowded, the four of them living in the trailer, but bearable. The children for a while yet must spend most of the day cooped up in the mobile home. Nail studded boards and tottering brick walls still make it too dangerous for the youngsters to play outdoors.

The Lambert house was the only one on their block destroyed. Others nearby, built of similar brick and architecture, escaped heavy damage.

Hurricane Celia's wind lifted the Lambert roof and sailed it 110 yards away where it smashed into a school. A 30-foot-high power transmission line at the back of the house was untouched.

"The roof just sailed right over it," says Lambert.

On the day Celia hit, friends had planned to ride out the storm in the Lamberts' new home.

"At the last minute, they called and asked us over to their place," says Mrs. Lambert. "They only lost a window and we ended up staying here for a week."

Although Lambert could find work elsewhere, he said his family will probably again face another hurricane.

"There is just something about Corpus," he says. "I just don't want to leave. Besides, if you move inland, you've got tornadoes to worry about."

What will you do that inevitable day when Corpus Christi again faces a hurricane, the Lamberts were asked. Will you run?

"You bet," Ellen Lambert answered quickly, but her husband was already shaking his head.

"Hell, no," he said. "We'll stay here and ride it out."

Killed In Action Totals Misleading

SAIGON (AP) — Sixty-three Americans were killed in action last week in Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced, but its total did not include 28 others killed when a helicopter was shot down last Wednesday.

The 63 dead were 11 more than the American battle death toll the week before. The command said American battlefield deaths for the past nine weeks total 623, the lowest for a nine-week period in 4½ years—since 621 U.S. troops were reported killed between Dec. 19, 1965, and Feb. 19, 1966.

Last week's toll included only three of the 31 Americans killed in the helicopter crash south of Da Nang because only three of the bodies had been identified by midnight last Saturday. Twelve more bodies have been identified this week and will be included in this week's toll, to be anounced next Thursday, and the other 16 will be added to the total of the week in which they are identified.

LITTLE FIGHTING

The casualty summary also said 585 U.S. troops were wounded in action last week, a considerable increase over the 358 wounded two weeks ago.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 264 of its troops were killed last week, up slightly from 247 the week before, and 537 were wounded. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,284 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, compared to 1,093 the week before.

From Phnom Penh, Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported that Cambodian troops launched a fresh counterattack to recapture the district headquarters at Srang and found that the North Vietnamese force which captured it five days ago had folded up its elaborate defenses and withdrawn.

To Take Back Ownership Of Six Hotels

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Jack Tar Management Co., a subsidiary of Sammons Enterprises of Dallas, will take back ownership of the six Jack Tar hotels sold to Osias Organization Inc. in June of last year.

No reason was given for the reversal and transaction.

Ron Larson, general manager of the Jack Tar Galveston would only say that the former owners will take back the properties on Oct. 31.

Included, in addition to the Galveston hotel, are the Jack Tar Orange House at Orange; the Francis Marion in Charleston, S.C.; the Fort Harrison in Clearwater, Fla.; the Grove Park Inn in Asheville, N.C.; and the Jack Tar Poinsett in Greenville, S.C.

Purchase price for the five motels originally acquired by Osias—all the aforementioned six except the Orange House which was still in negotiations when they announced the acquisition—was $8.65 million.

The headquarters of the hotel chain originally were in Galveston but were moved to Dallas in 1968 after retirement of Ed Leach of Galveston as president.

Under the Osias ownership, offices were in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The Galveston Jack Tar was begun in 1941 and became the base of the chain when it was purchased by Charles A. Sammons of Dallas in 1952.

Suit Testing Valuation Act

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston Endowment Inc., which owns the Houston Chronicle, filed a suit Tuesday challenging the valuation the City of Pasadena had put on a 540-acre tract it owns on the Houston Ship Channel.

The foundation lost a two-year legal fight this year to keep the city from annexing the land.

Pasadena set a value of $5.5 million on the non-profit organization's land. Houston Endowment rendered the market value at $4.3 million.

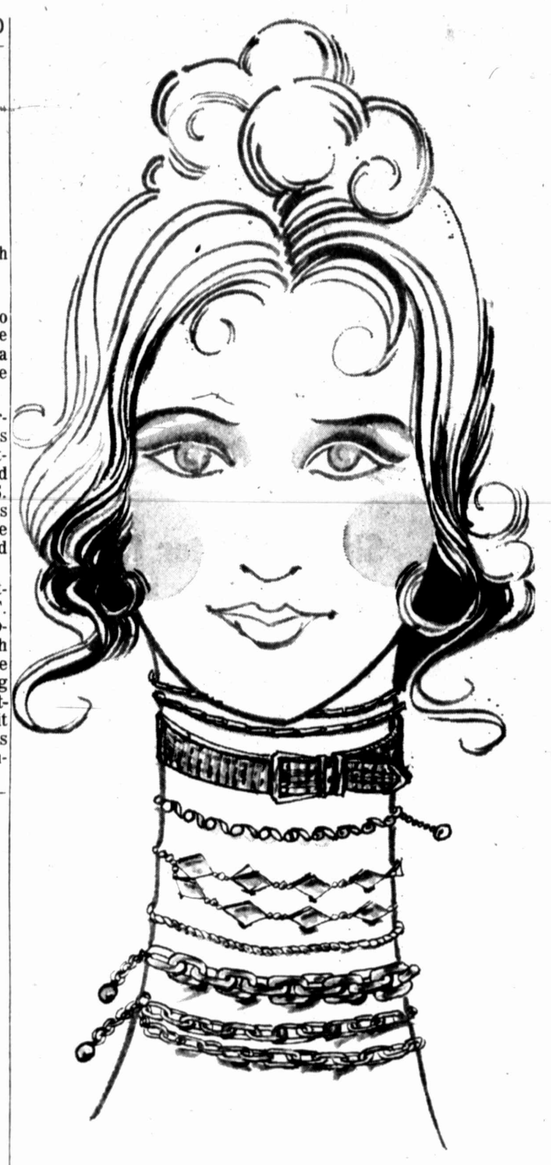

The foundation is seeking a court order to force Pasadena to accept the lower valuation.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

LONG HOURS AHEAD — UAW President Leonard Woodcock sips from a cup of coffee Wednesday after rejection of new contract offers from the Big Three automakers, who employ about 713,000 persons from the UAW ranks. Woodcock said that either GM or Chrysler, or both, would be struck at midnight Sept. 14 if an agreement is not reached. He also said the union had decided to exempt Ford Motor Co. from a strike threat because "We want to have at least one firm producing minicars to meet the competition from imports."

Ford Free Of Walkout This Year

DETROIT (AP) — The president of the United Auto Workers takes his union's new contract demands today to the Chrysler Corp.—designated along with General Motors as a strike target—after announcing Ford Motor Co. is free of a walkout threat this year.

President Leonard Woodcock said Wednesday the union will strike either GM or Chrysler—possibly both—unless a contract settlement is reached before current three-year pacts expire at midnight Sept. 14.

A strike at GM would give Ford a great marketing edge with its subcompact Pinto which goes on sale Sept. 11. The Chevrolet Vega goes on sale the day before, but a strike would quickly dry up the supply of some 25,000 GM subcompacts, perhaps within a day or two.

Woodcock said at a news conference one reason Ford—object of the last UAW strike in 1967—was excluded as a target was so that at least one American automaker would be building subcompacts in numbers to meet the challenge of imported cars. Chrysler does not presently produce a subcompact.

Woodcock said he would tell top Chrysler negotiators today that their contract offer—which included a wage hike the company claimed totaled 13.5 per cent over three years—was a virtual insult. Similar offers were made by GM and Ford.

Reporter Draws Praise In Death

NEWPORT BEACH Calif. (AP)—Mexican-American newsman Ruben Salazar, who covered the Mexican-American community and its problems for readers and television viewers, drew praise in death from President Nixon and numerous others.

Last rites were held Wednesday for the writer and television news director killed Saturday night during violence following an antiwar parade in East Los Angeles. Only a few days earlier, friends said, Salazar told them he felt the lot of the Chicano was looking up. Yet he added:

"Everything is going so good that something just has to go wrong."

Salazar, 42, worked as news director for Spanish-speaking television KMEX and wrote a column for the Los Angeles Times.

"He brought us all together," said Danny Villanueva, manager of KMEX and chairman of the California State Park Commission.

Nixon was represented at the funeral in a small mortuary at Pacific View by White House aide Robert Finch. The chapel was crowded to capacity by 170 mourners while about 2,000 others waited outside.

Sally Salazar, the newsman's widow, later received a letter from the President which expressed "deep sorrow at your husband's death."

Salazar died when a tear gas projectile fired by sheriff's deputies crashed into his head as he sat in a bar.

"Through all of the years I knew him and his work," wrote Nixon "Ruben Salazar exemplified the finest traditions of his craft. He was forthright, honorable and compassionate. . .

"His leadership earned the highest respect and he will be sorely missed."

FREE RIDES TO NEW ZEALAND

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Americans and West Europeans who want to immigrate to New Zealand can get free transportation under a new program to ease the island nation's labor shortage and attract settlers.

Immigration Minister John R. Marshall said the government will pay 75 per cent of each immigrant's fare and that his prospective employer will pay 25 per cent. The only charge to the immigrant will be a $24 fee if he is married.

The program went into effect last February for immigrants from Britain. The United States, Belgium, France, Italy, Switzerland and west Germany are now being added to the list, and similar programs are under discussion with the governments of Austria, Scandinavia and the Netherlands.

Valve Change-Out About Complete On T-38 Flock

Maintenance on the Northrop T-38s at Webb to replace the engine bleed valves which restricted the flying training here, is one full day ahead of schedule, according to Capt. Brian Minturn, maintenance control officer for the base.

"We had to wait for parts Monday and Tuesday, but now that they are in we should be completely finished with the remaining 44 aircraft by Thursday evening," he said.

"The job takes four hours to complete one plane with three men working on the aircraft. We estimate the total hours of direct labor will be somewhere around 1600-1800 man hours."

Flying operations in the command's entire fleet of 995 T-38 trainers were temporarily suspended Friday when defective bleed valves were found in some of the aircraft's engines.

After individual inspection, 400 of the command's T-38s were immediately returned to flying duties. By Tuesday, about 700 T-38s were repaired or unaffected with bleed valve problems.

The remainder will be operational by the end of this week after plastic rollers in the engine bleed valves are replaced with steel rollers, according to a headquarters spokesman.

The bleed valves in each of the two T-38 engines are designed to relieve compressed air pressure in the engines when they are operating at low power setting. The reverse is true when the engines are operating at high speeds. The bleed valves close, allowing more compressed air to be forced through the engine for maximum thrust.

Each bleed valve contains eight plastic rollers of various size which regulate the valve's opening and closing. Inspectors last week found some worn rollers in the valve cases which prevented the valves from closing completely, possibly resulting in the loss of some power.

Merv Griffin Show To Move

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Merv Griffin Show" will move permanently to Hollywood next week, where it will become less of a talk show and concentrate more on music and comedy.

Griffin had been pressing CBS for months to make the change in the hope that it would boost his late-night ratings against the front-running Johnny Carson on NBC. In most weeks Griffin is second and Dick Cavett of ABC third.

Griffin contended that he could put on a better show if he did not have to compete in the New York pool for talent against Carson, Cavett and David Frost's syndicated show.

CBS said Griffin will tape his first show from his new base for showing next Tuesday or Wednesday. It will be the first network late-night show to originate permanently from Hollywood since ABC replaced Joey Bishop with Cavett at the end of last year.

For Observation

Carl Everett Hostetter, 59, charged with the fatal shooting of his wife at Odessa Aug. 27, has been transferred to the Big Spring State Hospital for psychiatric observation. Mrs. Hostetter called police after she had been shot in the office of the motel she managed, and officers found him sitting on a couch when they arrived. She died several hours later.

Grand Jury Bills 20, Seven Are On Narcotic Counts

Howard County grand jurors handed down 20 indictments at 5:51 p.m. Wednesday, according to District Attorney Wayne Burns. Three of the indictments charged conspiracy against seven defendants in connection with narcotics violations.

James Reed, 23, of 1407 Park, and Gary Scott, 20, of 1212 E. 17th, were indicted on a charge of conspiracy to deliver dangerous drugs. Reed was also indicted for delivery of a dangerous drug, and Scott for possession of a narcotic drug.

Lloyd Nichols 23, of 431 Hillside; Donna Anderson, 19, of 1211 Lloyd; and Bruce Bright, 18, of 1606½ Scurry were indicted for conspiracy to possess a narcotic drug. Bright was indicted for a second conspiracy to possess a narcotic drug along with Dickey Wayne Gibson, 19, Star Rt., Burnet ; and Edgar Mack Payne, 18, of 2303 Lynn.

Indicted for possession of marijuana were Bright, two counts; Payne, Gibson, Nichols, and Miss Anderson.

Gomesindo Diaz, 19, of 610 NW 8th, Domingo C. Lemon, 22, Wyoming Hotel; and Albino Ortego, 39, Wyoming Hotel, were indicted on burglary charges.

Jim Bob Weatherford, 36, of 3150 Columbia; Clifton Ray Parker, 21, of 211 Beckman; and Jerry Weatherford, no address available, were indicted on theft over $50 charges.

Gary L. Ekenbarger, 34, Oakland, Calif., was indicted for attempting to pass a forged instrument and possession of a forged instrument.

James Oley Fuqua, 59, Rt. 1 Box 298, Sand Springs; and Malcolm Mercer Green, 63, of 2105 Johnson, were indicted for driving while intoxicated, second offense.

Ambulance Plan

HOUSTON (AP) — The City of Houston took the first step in assuming the responsibility of emergency ambulance service for Houston Wednesday.

The City Council approved the first reading of the ordinance which would turn such service over to the Houston Fire Department.

The plan was submitted earlier this year by the Harris County Medical Society. The service is now provided by private operators.

Barry Burk Moves Up In Bid For Calf Roping Title

DENVER, Colo. — Oklahoma's Barry Burk is making a charge to claim his first world calf roping championship, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here today.

Burk, 28, of Duncan the son of Dee Burk, a top calf roper in the 1940s, and the nephew of Clyde Burk, four-time world roping titlist, has been runner-up for the roping crown three times.

Burk looped $1,373 at rodeos which ended Sunday in Douglas, Wyo., and Pueblo, Colo. He has won about $4,000 in the last three weeks, bringing his calf roping earnings to $17,123.

The event leader is another Oklahoman and former world champion, Junior Garrison, of Marlow, with $19,032.

Another rodeo which ended over the weekend was at Bremerton, Wash., where the season's top money-winner, Larry Mahan, of Brooks, Ore., earned $1,058 in the three riding events. He has pocketed $33,147 this year.

The weekend's biggest money-winner was another calf roper Ronnye Sewalt, of Chico, Tex., who garnered $1,471 at Douglas and Pueblo.

Current event leaders are:

All-around-Mahan $33,147, and Bob Berger, Halstead, Kans., $26,246; saddle bronc — Dennis Reiners, Clara City, Minn. $22,046, and Mel Hyland, Surrey, B. C., $17,169; bareback bronc—Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, Tex., $20,347 and Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Iowa, $18,960; bull riding—Bob Berger $14,066, and Randy Magers, Fort Worth, Tex., $13 844; steer wrestling — John W. Jones, Moro Bay, Calif., $18,354, and Walt Linderman, Belfry, Mont., $15,054.

Pot Sniffers Put Smugglers Behind Bars

WASHINGTON (AP)—Specially trained dogs are proving a major weapon against smugglers of marijuana and hashish, the Customs Bureau reports.

Some of the animals already are on the job at Laredo and Hidalgo, Tex., and at Miami and San Francisco.

Their handlers have found the police dogs can sniff out in a minute marijuana and hashish so well hidden that skilled human beings may miss in a painstaking search.

"With expanded use of trained dogs I believe we can halt the entry of marijuana through the Mexican border," Customs Commissioner Myles J. Ambrose said Wednesday.

Twelve dogs and six handlers are being trained by the military dog facility at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

More classes are planned and eventually the dogs will be used wherever large volumes of packages of luggage pass through customs, a spokesman said.

The dogs have been tested successfully the past several years at Boston, Miami, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, San Antonio, Dallas, Laredo and Roma, Tex.

"Tens of thousands of packages were opened during the trial period," said Asst. Commissioner David C. Ellis. "In no case was any marijuana found in the packages which the dogs had passed free. Also, in no case did the dogs fail to detect control packages of illicit drugs planted among the mail parcels."

The bureau said one dog at Laredo turned up five pounds of marijuana hidden so cleverly behind an auto door panel that customs officers had found no indication of tampering.

In Miami, a dog found 20 pounds of hashish hidden inside a wooden table.

During a two-week trial, dogs found 18 illegal shipments of drugs, the bureau said.

Training takes two months. Before graduation dogs must pass tests which include finding marijuana concealed in foodstuffs and disguised by odor-making chemicals.

In one test dogs must find and dig up a fruit jar containing marijuana and buried in a gravel road.

GANG RAPE QUESTIONING

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Police held three young men for questioning today in the gang rape of a 17-year-old college freshman.

Officers said the girl, a student at Our Lady of the Lake College, told them she was raped by several youths Saturday night.

The youths held her 20-year-old date at knife point during the attack at Elmendorf Lake, she said.

Police arrested a 23-year-old man and a 19-year-old companion at a residence Tuesday. Another young man was arraigned in the case Tuesday afternoon.

Husband-Wife Team Now On Webb Hospital Staff

A hospital administrator and his wife, a nurse in the obstetrics department for the 3560th U.S. Air Force Hospital, arrived here recently.

Capt. Bruce P. Gregg Jr., and his wife Capt. Claire Gregg, came to Webb from Craig AFB, Ala., where he worked as a dispensary administrator and she in the obstetrics clinic.

Capt. Bruce Gregg, a native of Seguin, is a graduate of Southwest Texas State College in 1961 and was a distinguished graduate of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the school.

He entered the Air Force in 1962 and underwent medical services training at Gunter AFB, Ala., where he stayed for three years as an instructor.

While at Southwest Texas State, Capt. Gregg was active in athletics and was a center for the school baseketball team which won the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship. Capt. Gregg continued his basketball playing in the Air Force and was selected for the All-Armed Forces basketball team in 1963.

In 1964, he entered the University of Colorado under the auspices of the Air Force Institute of Technology for his masters degree in management, which he received in 1967 before going to Okinawa. After his overseas tour he went to Craig.

Capt. Claire Gregg is from Boston, Mass., where she completed her nursing studies at Lynn Hospital. She entered the Nurse Corp in 1967 and was stationed at Maxwell and later transferred to Craig.

The Captains Greggs' hobbies include a wide variety of sports with private flying on top of the list for him and skiing for her. The couple has no children.

MONKEY ON THEIR BACK

CHICAGO (AP) — Police who raided a Near North Side apartment looking for drugs wound up with a monkey on their back.

A quantity of drugs was found in the apartment officers said, but the only inhabitant appeared to be a monkey.

Only Democrats Can Speak For Texans, Bentsen Says

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, told a South Texas political rally Wednesday there is no Republican who can speak for the people of Texas like a Democrat can.

"You know and I know that it's the Democratic party, not the Republican party, that stands tall for Americans in all walks of life, of all ethnic groups, and of all economic circumstances," Bentsen told the rally in Jarvis Plaza.

'OLE! OLE!'

Close to 500 persons gathered in the heavily shaded downtown park to hear Bentsen.

"Ole! Ole!" they shouted in approval when he delivered a part of his speech in Spanish.

Bentsen's headquarters called the major political speech the opening of the "last lap of the campaign" before voters choose Nov. 3 between Bentsen and Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., 46, Houston, the Republican nominee.

Bentsen, 49, now a wealthy Houston businessman, heavily stressed the importance of his Democratic affiliation and his knowledge of South Texas as a native son of the area. He began his political career as Hidalgo County judge at the age of 25 years and later served as U.S. representative in 1948-54. He retired undefeated.

CHANGED TUNE

Bentsen said Sen. John Tower, R- Tex., said four years ago "it was important to elect a Republican to the Senate so Texas would have balanced representation: One Democrat senator and one Republican. Today Senator Tower and the other Republicans have changed their tune. They don't want just one Republican. They want two. And they're trying hard to forget what they said in 1966."

He said "It's the Democratic party that gave us 95 consecutive months of sustained prosperity. It's the Republican party that turned this economy around and produced a sorry record of inflationary recession; high interest rates, tight money, plummeting stock prices, business failures and mounting unemployment...They decided to sacrifice the security and well being of millions of workers and their families on the altar of what they call 'fiscal responsibility.'

TRAGEDY

"And the tragedy is they failed. A million and a half more people are out of work and inflation is higher than it ever was in the worst period of the Johnson administration," he said.

"So I think it is important that we have at least one Democratic senator representing the people of Texas. Most Texans are Democrats...It is inconceivable to me that Texas would ever have two Republican voices in the Senate...for the stand-pat, status quo Republican programs."

Class CO Leaves Base

Capt. James W. Jacobs Jr., class commander for Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 71-02 is leaving Webb Saturday one week ahead of his class.

He is going to Maxwell AFB, Ala., to attend the Squadron's Officer School and then to a possible overseas tour.

Capt. Jacobs entered the Air Force through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at Purdue University, LaFayette, Ind., in 1965 following his graduation from the university with a bachelor degree in education.

He reported to Webb for pilot training with class 67-D and a year later received his wings and was transferred to Fairchild AFB, Wash., for survival training. At Fairchild his orders were changed and he reported back to Webb as an instructor pilot in G-flight.

Class 71-02 is the second class the captain has completed training; however, this has been the first class he has commanded from the very beginning. His previous class was 70-06.

Capt. Jacbos said he wanted to return to a pilot training base because "education is my major interest, and I wanted to improve my flying abilities. I decided that I could fulfill my interest and improve my flying at a UPT base."

He and his wife, the former Miss Sharon Anne Berta have two children.

Church Furnishes Tutoring Service

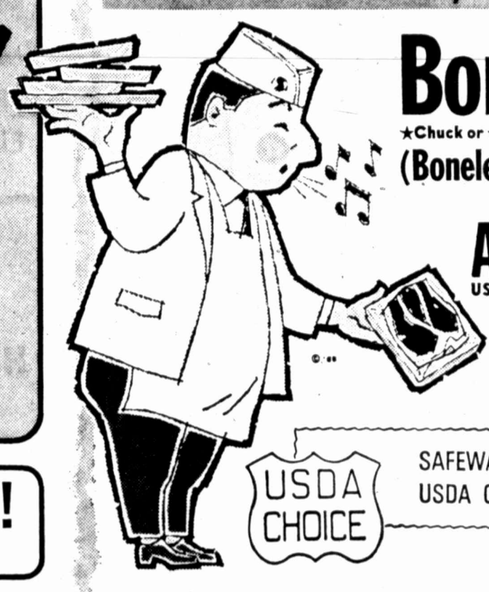

Rev. Apolonio Vega has announced a supplemental teaching project to be undertaken by the Northside United Methodist Church beginning Tuesday, Sept. 8, to help students from the third through ninth grades better understand their school work.

Mary Luevanos is the teacher who will hold tutoring sessions from 6:30 to 8:30 at the church, 600 N. Goliad. The purpose is to help any student get a better education regardless of need. It is free of charge.

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old daughter, Caroline, has started going with a guy named Angelo. He never takes her any place. He just comes over every night to watch television and wear out our sofa.

When Angelo comes over, the wife and I have to go sit in the kitchen so he and Caroline can have their privacy in the living room. I suppose we could go in our bedroom, but who wants to go to bed at 7 o'clock?

So, every night lately the wife and I sit in the kitchen like a couple of cockroaches trying to watch television on a dinky little portable.

The wife is so happy that Caroline finally has a boy friend she doesn't say a word. I am getting tired of this setup. What should I do? KITCHEN SITTER

DEAR SITTER: Send me a picture of Caroline and I'll tell you what to do.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have only one child, Ellen, who is now 7. Since we aren't able to have any more we have decided to adopt a child, but here is our problem. We want a little girl Ellen's age not so much for ourselves but for Ellen. She is a shy child and has never made friends easily. Being an only child, she's inclined to be a little spoiled and, therefore, not easy to get along with. We feel that if Ellen had a sister her age it would relieve her loneliness and give her someone to keep her company.

We've spoken to several adoption agencies and they haven't been very encouraging. They seem to think we should adopt a younger child, and possibly a boy. But Abby, what kind of a companion would that be for our lonely little daughter? Also, isn't it true that when a new baby comes into a home, the older child becomes jealous and resentful?

Can you give us some advice? ELLEN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You appear to be more concerned with the needs of your own child than with the needs of an adopted child. To foist a "twin" on Ellen in order to provide her with a companion and relieve her loneliness could be a sad mistake for all. Why not take a foster child for a while and see how it works out? Or perhaps the Lord in His infinite wisdom intended for you to have only one?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My gripe is my landlady. She had a key to my apartment, saying she needed it in case of an emergency.

I know for a fact that this landlady has gone into my apartment and looked through my drawers, closets and my desk.

I asked a friend of mine who is a private detective if my landlady had the right to go into my apartment without my permission, and he said absolutely not! He also said if I suspected that mine did, I had the right to change the lock on my door and refuse to give her the key. Well, this is exactly what I did. And I told her that in case of an emergency she could break the door down with an ax and I would pay for a new one. Needless to say, no emergency ever came up and I've been living there for two years. Of course when she sees me, she turns her head, but I like it better that way.

KNOWS MY RIGHTS

DEAR KNOWS: "Rights" differ in different buildings, cities and even states. It's amazing how few landlords know their rights. And even fewer tenants know theirs.

Grad Geology Course Due

Permian Basin Graduate Center has scheduled a course in advanced carbonate petrology (Geology 3562) from The University of Texas at El Paso. The course will offer three hours graduate credit and will be taught by Dr. Karl W. Klement, professor of geology at UTEP.

Dr. Klement, a native of Czechoslavakia, acquired all of his educational background in Germany and received his Ph. D from The University of Tuebingen in 1959. He and his family left Czechoslovakia in 1946, shortly before the Russian invasion. Since then his research has taken him to many countries.

Dr. Klement's advanced carbonate petrology course will cover application of new principles to specific stuides in the Permian Basin. Prerequisite for the course is a basic course in carbonate petrology or approval of the instructor. Fee for the course is $185, plus $15 to The University of Texas at El Paso. Classes will be held on Oct. 8-10; Nov. 12-14 and Dec. 3-5, (Thurs. 7:00 to 9:00 p.m,. Fri. 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 2:00 and 5:00 p.m., and Sat. 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.) at Midland High School.

Dr. William N. McAnulty, professor of geology and head of the department of geology, UTEP, also will conduct a course, Geology 3461 — economic geology (metallics) for three hours credit. The course will meet on eight alternate weekends beginning Sept. 18-19 at the University Lands Building. Registration for the course must be made at Permian Basin Graduate Center office, 105 Gulf Building, Midland, before Sept. 11, 1970.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣

Today's hand produced a significant swing when it was dealt recently in a team-of-four match. A final contract of three no trump was reached at both tables on an identical sequence of bids.

At one table, West opened the queen of diamonds and declarer had an easy time of it. East discarded a spade and South won the trick in his hand with the king. The ten of hearts was led for a finesse. East was in with the king of hearts, but he had no effective return since he had no diamonds and could not put his partner in to run the suit.

East shifted to a club. Declarer put up the ace and ran for cover with nine tricks—two spades, five hearts, one diamond and one club.

At the other table, West refrained from leading his suit. South was marked with the king of diamonds to warrant his bid of three no trump, and West wanted to get his partner in to make a diamond play thru the declarer. There was the further consideration that if East had only a singleton diamond, West would cut the line of communications between the two defenders if he opened the queen of diamonds.

West chose to open the deuce of clubs. East put up the king and declarer permitted him to hold the trick. The five of clubs was returned and South ducked again as West went in with the ten. West reasoned that his partner must be void of diamonds when he failed to shift to that suit at trick two, and inasmuch as West was in the lead for the last time, he cashed the ace of diamonds before returning the queen of clubs to dislodge South's ace.

South was now obliged to fall back on the heart finesse. When East turned up with the king, he cashed the jack of clubs for the setting trick.

Diggers Find Site Of 'Dixie' Fort?

SABINE PASS, Tex. (AP) — Diggers believe they have found the site of Ft. Manhassett, an important Confederate fortification. Artifacts discovered there are expected to spur more exploration.

The presumed site of the old fort, about seven miles west of Sabine Pass, just off Texas 87, was recently unearthed by W. T. Block, assistant postmaster of Nederland, a descendent of pioneers.

Thus far a number of cannon balls and many other artifacts have been unearthed, including a wooden wall bordering on a large, grassy knoll.

CANNON BALLS

Block believes the fort's weapons storeroom lies behind the wall. He said he hopes to find cannon, rifles and other arms and ammunition in the mound.

Almost 60 cannon balls weighing 32 pounds each plus multitudes of golf ball size cannon balls, old railroad piles, square nails and a mechanism used to aim a cannon in the proper direction have been unearthed.

According to Block's research, the fort is one of several built at the mouth of the Sabine River to protect the state from an invasion by Union forces during the Civil War.

QUIET HISTORY

One of these is Ft. Griffin where Dick Dowling held off an invasion fleet in September, 1863.

At present, amateur historians are working at the old Ft. Manhassett "destroying many of the artifacts in their frantic search for souvenirs," Block said.

The fort itself was object of a three-month search substantiated by 1836 maps of Sabine Pass. Since the fort was not the scene of any major battles, it has been described as a "quiet bit of history."

Ft. Manhassett is presumed to have received its name from an old coal ship en route to union troops who had run short of fuel. The ship sank during a storm near the site.

Simmons Is Named Water Consultant

AUSTIN (AP) — John Simmons, executive vice president and general manager of the Sabine River Authority was named special consultant for water affairs for Gov. Preston Smith.

Simmons, 59, will assume his new duties Sept. 4 on an interagency contract.

"Earlier this year I advocated a statewide water resources management system which will allow us to utilize effectively and efficiently the abundant capabilities we have in water resources here in Texas," Smith said. "Mr. Simmons will be working in this area as well as in the area of water reclamation.

Simmons is a native of Orange, where he still lives. He has been associated with the authority since 1949 and in his present position since 1956. He also was compact commissioner for the Sabine River Compact between Texas and Louisiana in 1950-51.

Mrs. Andy Wilson Prefers Casual Life Of Small Town

By MARILYN NEVELS

After moving four times in the past year, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Wilson have settled in Big Spring, at 627 Ridgelea, not far from their hometown of Coahoma. They have lived at their present address since June. Mrs. Wilson is glad to be back after living in Dallas and Houston, finding that she prefers the smaller city with old friends.

She and her husband attended Coahoma High School, where she was a cheerleader and he was in the band. He also played in the band group known as the "Border Brass."

Mrs. Wilson enjoyed her three years of home economics at Coahoma High School so much that she and several friends from school formed a Young Homemakers Club with Mrs. Johnny Justiss, Coahoma home economics teacher, as their advisor. Mrs. Wilson has been the club reporter for the past year.

"I loved home economics when I was at Coahoma," Mrs. Wilson said. "I wish they had offered four years of it when I was there. In the Homemakers Club, we have lots of guest speakers who teach us decoupage and how to make things like burlap flowers and Christmas decorations."

Cooking is one thing that Mrs. Wilson does not need to learn. She began helping prepare complete family suppers when she was in the fourth grade. Since both of her parents, the J. H. Epplers, worked, she and her sister, Brenda, were in charge of making supper. Her mother operates a beauty salon, "Chatteau de Coiffures" in Highland Center.

In spite of her long experience in cooking, Mrs. Wilson had to learn a few new recipes especially for her husband. His favorite dessert is Egg Custard Pie, which he says turns out as good as his mother's. Another Wilson family recipe Mrs. Wilson learned is Buttermilk Cake, a specialty from Wilson's aunt from Oklahoma.

"I like to fix desserts," said Mrs. Wilson. "In the winter I make a pie or something nearly every day. Andy's favorite meal is chicken fried steak and fried potatoes. I love fresh fruits and vegetables even better than meat, but Andy has to have fried potatoes with nearly every meal.

"For company I make green enchiladas or bake a ham. With Mexican dinners, I have a tossed salad, nachitos and always pie for dessert. We like to have card parties, and Andy has some friends over to play in the band."

Mrs. Wilson's days are filled with children, in addition to her infant son, Michael. She often cares for friends' toddlers and has as many as three at a time. Michael seems to be a music lover like his father and spends hours just listening to records according to his mother. Mrs. Wilson's other charges are not as easy to entertain.

"A little four-year-old boy I keep just follows me around all day," she said. He has just turned four and doesn't know how to play by himself yet, but he is a beautiful little boy. He minds me, because I use psychology on him and talk to him like an adult."

RECOMMENDED RECIPES From Mrs. Wilson

BUTTERMILK CAKE

2 cups sugar
1 cup shortening
4 eggs
1 cup buttermilk
½ tsp. soda
1 tsp. lemon flavoring
3 cups flour
½ tsp. salt

Cream sugar and shortening. Add one egg at a time, beating well after each addition. Add buttermilk, soda and lemon flavoring, then salt and flour and blend thoroughly. Bake one hour at 350 degrees in either a flat cake pan or bundt pan. Frost with lemon glaze immediately.

LEMON GLAZE

1½ cups powdered sugar
Juice of 2 lemons

Blend lemon juice and powdered sugar until smooth. Pour over cake as soon as it is taken from the oven.

CORN CHIP PIE

1 king size pkg. corn chips
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 medium onion
1 small can spiced tomatoes with chilies
8 ozs. longhorn or American cheese.

Mix chicken soup with ¾ cup water and can of tomatoes with chilies. Line bottom of casserole dish with corn chips followed by layer of thinly sliced cheese, then layer of thinly sliced onion. Pour over one-third of soup mixture, then repeat layers of corn chips, cheese, onion and soup. Top casserole with corn chips and bake at 400 degrees for one hour.

SEA FOAM SALAD

1 large pkg. lime gelatin
¾ cup chopped pecans
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 can crushed pineapple

Mix gelatin as directed, and chill until syrupy. Beat until foamy. Soften cream cheese, add nuts and pineapple and mix. Fold gently into whipped gelatin, and chill firmly.

TALERANI

1 lb. ground meat
1 large onion, chopped
1 can tomato sauce
1 small can English peas
½ box spaghetti
1 lb. processed cheese
Salt and pepper

Cook onions in little shortening until tender. Add meat and brown. Salt and pepper to taste. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Add spaghetti to meat, then add peas, tomato sauce and diced cheese, mix and serve hot.

EGG CUSTARD PIE
(Makes Two)

2 unbaked pie shells
6 eggs
2 cups sugar
2 tsps. flour
Pinch of salt
2 cups milk
1 can sweetened condensed milk
½ tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. vanilla

Beat eggs, sugar, flour and salt together for three minutes. Slowly add milk and sweetened condensed milk, nutmeg and vanilla, and blend. Pour into two unbaked pie shells. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake for 30 minutes.

LOBSTER QUICHE
Wins Compliments

Try Gourmet Specialty Quiche With Lobster

Curiosity sometimes makes a good cook When festivities call for fresh thoughts on food, she might, for instance, put an old favorite in a new form . . . a Lobster Quiche. This version puts lobster in the limelight subtly sauced with Gruyere, old-fashioned Cheddar cheese, and heavy cream, all dashed with cayenne. A serve-along: crisp green salad.

LOBSTER QUICHE
(Makes one 9-inch pie)

1 (9-inch) baked pastry shell
¼ cup Danish flavor margarine
3 tsbs flour
½ cup homogenized milk
1 cup (½ pint) heavy cream
Dash each nutmeg and cayenne pepper
¼ tsp. freshly ground black pepper
¾ (one-half 6 oz. package) pasteurized process Gruyere Cheese, shredded
1-¼ cups (one-half 8-oz. package) cheddar cheese, shredded
3 eggs, beaten
½ cup (5-oz. can) (or 1 cup fresh) lobster meat

Prepare pastry shell; set aside. In a medium-size saucepan, melt margarine over low heat; stir in flour. Cook until smooth; stir constantly. Gradually stir in milk and heavy cream, then seasonings. Stir in shredded cheese. Cook over low heat until mixture is smooth and cheese is melted; stir constantly. Slowly stir cheese mixture into beaten eggs. Add lobster pieces; mix well. Turn mixture into prepared pastry shell. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees F.) oven 35 minutes, or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean and top is light, golden brown. Serve piping hot.

Cocoa And Cream Frost Angelfood

An always popular dessert.

FROSTED ANGEL CAKE

Baked 10-inch angelfood cake
1-pint container (2 cups) heavy cream
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
½ cup unsweetened cocoa
2 tsps. vanilla

With a long serrated knife, but the angelfood cake into three layers. In a medium mixing bowl beat together the cream, sugar, cocoa and vanilla until stiff. Put cake layers together with a fairly small amount of the cream mixture; frost top and sides of cake with remaining mixture. Refrigerate.

Hot Consomme Delights Dieter

There's hearty, satisfying flavor in this hot broth.

1 can (10½ ozs.) beef consomme, undiluted

Custard Is 'Foolproof'

A foolproof way to prepare four baked custards.

PERFECT BAKED CUSTARD

2 cups milk
3 large eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla
Nutmeg

In a small saucepan heat milk until tiny bubbles form around edge. In a small mixing bowl, beat eggs just until yolks and whites are combined; add sugar and salt; beat briefly to blend. Stirring vigorously and constantly, gradually add scalding-hot milk, then vanilla. Turn into four six ounce ungreased custard cups; sprinkle with nutmeg.

Place cups in a square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches); add enough cold water to the pan to reach about as high as custard mixture. Bake in preheated 325-degree oven until a silver knife inserted close to edge of one of the custards comes out clean, about one hour.

Quickly cool custards in a pan of cold water. Chill. Unmold at serving time. Run a small spatula round edge and to bottom of custard; invert each on a dessert plate and turn out. Serve with thawed frozen peaches. Makes four servings. Any custards not used should be kept, tightly covered with plastic wrap, in refrigerator. They will hold up for several days.

Orange Gelatin Is Refreshing

Serve a sweet cookie with this refreshing gelatin dessert.

MOLDED ORANGE JELLY

2 cups orange juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup sugar
1 orange

In a medium mixing bowl, sprinkle the gelatin over one cup of the orange juice and allow to soften. Heat the remaining one cup of orange juice until very hot; pour over gelatin mixture; add sugar; stir to dissolve gelatin and sugar. Turn into five one-half cup molds.

Chill until set. Unmold. Peel orange so no white membrane remains; cut away ends and then cut into five round slices; use as garnish for orange jelly. Makes five servings.

NO-EFFORT COFFEE CAKE
Is made in a jiffy

Bake Simple Kolache, Use Refrigerator Rolls

Nothing's easier than coffee cake and Kolache — when refrigerated rolls and biscuits are teamed with delicious, convenient preserves. Both are quick-to-fix, requiring just minutes in the oven. Try them our way first — then be creative and substitute your favorite preserves — you've a rainbow from which to choose.

APRICOT COFFEE CAKE

1 can (8-oz.) refrigerated sesame twist dinner rolls
½ cup apricot preserves

Unwind dough carefully keeping dough in one piece (do not separate strips). Spread with preserves. Rewind. Place roll of dough on greased baking sheet. Separate top strip of dough slightly. Bake in 375 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes.

JIFFY-MADE KOLACHE

1 can (8-oz.)) refrigerated biscuits
⅓ cup plum preserves
¾ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tsb soft butter
1 to 2 tsps milk

Place biscuits on ungreased baking sheet, one inch apart. Make deep indentations in center of each and fill with preserves. Bake in 425 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Top with remaining preserves. Combine confectioners' sugar and butter. Add milk to make spreading consistency. Spread over warm kolache.

Give Cake Gifts

Bake parts of your fruit cakes in round tins such as pork and beans come in. They are the right size for gifts for small families, and later they can be stored or mailed in the same tins. Decorate them with aluminum foil and a gay ribbon and they make a very attractive gift.

Skillet Chicken Is Easy, Tasty

A skillet dish easily made with chicken breasts.

CHICKEN WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

3 large chicken breasts
2 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. butter
¼ cup water
1 can (10½ ozs.) condensed golden mushroom soup
1 can (6 ozs.) whole mushroom crowns, drained

Cut away any free fat from underside of chicken. Coat chicken with flour. In a 10 inch skillet, heat butter; add chicken and brown thoroughly. Add water to skillet; simmer until chicken is cooked through about 20 minutes. Remove chicken and keep warm. Add undiluted soup and mushrooms to drippings in skillet; heat to boiling, stirring occasionally. (If flavor is stronger than you like, add a little water and reheat.) Pour sauce around chicken. Makes six servings.

Season Sausage

Give sausage a new flavor by sprinkling lightly with allspice when frying.

PART OF ARGUMENT IN DESEGREGATION CASE

Harm To Precollege Program

By The Associated Press

Port Arthur school officials said Wednesday that adoption of either of two government-proposed integration plans would probably destroy the school district's college preparatory program.

The officials said that those who would suffer most would be white pupils—some 60 to 70 per cent at Thomas Jefferson High School who plan to attend college. Least affected would be Negro pupils since only 10 to 15 per cent at all-black Lincoln High School plan to attend college, said George Thompson, assistant superintendent for instruction.

The testimony came Wednesday in the first day of desegregation hearings before U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Fisher. Justice Department attorneys are seeking to desegregate Port Arthur schools.

MORE BUSES

School officials said they would be required to add from 10 to 27 more buses for pupil transportation if the government plans are adopted.

The school district said that under its freedom-of-choice proposal only; 2,953 pupils are eligible for busing within the district. Yet, one integration plan submitted by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) would make 4,423 pupils eligible for busing under a geographic zoning desegregation program. A second government plan, if adopted, would require busing of 5,540 pupils, according to Alexander Kurth, assistant superintendent for administration.

The government desegregation proposals would "greatly handicap" if not wreck altogether the school district's pilot program of non-graded teaching and college pre-entry courses found primarily in a white high school, Thompson said.

TOO SMALL

"The college-related courses would probably have to be done away with because classes, if divided between two schools, would be too small to justify offering at each high school," he said.

Judge Fisher was asked by government lawyers to deny the district's freedom-of-choice proposal since similar plans had been turned down in two other districts.

Classes opened Wednesday at nearby South Park school district but were short some 1,600 expected pupils.

Officials said they didn't know if the drop was due to inclement weather or the school integration controversey.

There were 11,357 pupils in class Wednesday whereas 12,948 were expected.

South Park officials said that 91 Blanchette Elementary School fifth graders will be sent in equal numbers to predominantly white Caldwood, Curtis and Howell Elementary Schools.

Some pupils will have to be bused as many as 14 miles a day.

Testimony was to continue Thursday at Victoria in the Corpus Christi School District hearing.

Most of Wednesday's testimony was concerned with the ethnic balances of pupils and the possibility of changing elementary school boundaries.

Government lawyers were granted additional time Wednesday at Houston to take depositions in the desegregation suits against the Katy, Klein and Madisonville districts.

U. S. Dist. Judge James Noel ordered testimony to begin Friday.

A certificate from the U. S. attorney general's office charged that school children are being denied their rights because of unequal segregated schools.

The districts named in the suits asked for the names of those parents who had complained. The districts said that a parent in El Paso, for example, had little relevance in the cases against the defendant districts.

The Justice Department said, however, that the government doesn't have to prove the certificate.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Prepare for the coming long weekend by discussing plans with compatible companions who may share it, or may be able to give suggestions for your enjoyment. The evening is excellent for romance, entertaining, being entertained, or starting a jaunt.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Meeting with associates and explaining plans in full can bring success. Be more thoughtful of others. By helping them you help yourself.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Occupy yourself with making your environment more attractive and smoother-running. Give attention to wardrobe in p.m. Get OK of co-workers for some plan. Cooperate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Dress as attractively as possible, then go out socially with worthwhile persons. Avoid being repetitious.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning favors improving the appearance of the home and making it more harmonious. Entertain at home in the evening — or just take it easy. Politeness with others is the keynote.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan early for the weekend activities and be sure to count the cost, figure the time element, and take care of other details. Have a delightful time with close ties in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Starting in p.m., figure the cost of the many invitations you have for the weekend before accepting any. Discuss with one who is an expert in finances. Find out how to make your dollars stretch.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The planets are with you today and you can accomplish just about anything you decide upon, so get busy early. Dress in good taste, and you get excellent results with everyone. Forget about going off on tangents.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are splendid advantages all around, but you have to study them well to know which are the best. Happiness can come from romance in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Contact devoted friends early about helping you with your most cherished desires. Let others know of your desires, aims.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) The right day to contact that bigwig who can open the door to greater success for you, especially in some new project that interests you now. Labor conscientiously at your work and you will make headway.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This is the right time to take that trip you have been planning, so do not procrastinate. Make arrangements now. Find right answers to matters that have been perplexing in the past.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Listen to your intuition and you will be guided into right action for improvement in all your affairs. Don't go off on tangents. Improve your image with the public in general.

Couple Will Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moseley will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary at a reception Sunday given by their eight children and their grandchildren. The reception will be held from 2 to 5 p.m., for friends of the couple at First Federal Community Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Moseley were married Sept. 7, 1920, in the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Lawdermilk, now of Bowie, who formerly lived in Big Spring. The Rev. J. F. Killman of Bowie, performed the marriage ceremony.

Moseley was born Oct. 21, 1896, in Dallas County, and Mrs. Moseley was born March 8, 1900, in Coryelle County. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Lawdermilk of Big Spring.

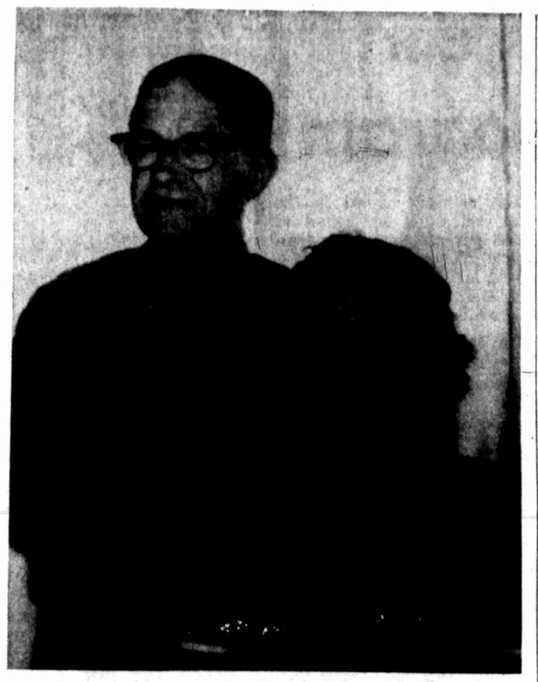

Moseley, a veteran of World War I, farmed near Clyde for two years then moved to Big Spring Dec. 1, 1922. During his military service he learned to be a baker and was employed as such in Big Spring by the Morning Glory Bakeries, formerly located at Main and Second St.; Jim Currie Bakery, Darby's Bakery; and Vaughn's Sweetshop. He also was maintenance man for Boydstun Elementary School until his retirement in 1965. Mr. and Mrs. Moseley are members of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church and have lived at 509 Owens since 1929.

Their eight children are Don Moseley, now serving with the Army; Mrs. Bobby Barrett, Mrs. Larlus Barber and Terry Moseley, all of Odessa; Mrs. James Caughron, Perryton; Mrs. Kenney Arnold, Enid, Okla.; Mrs. C. E. Robinson, Midland; and Mrs. H. A. Rogers, Jonesboro Road. They have 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Moseley will be presented with a gold rosebud corsage during the reception. The refreshment table will be centered with an arrangement of gold roses and gold tapers in crystal holders encircled with white rosebuds. White satin, overlaid with ecru lace, will cover the table, and crystal appointments with silver coffee service will be used. The white anniversary cake will be topped with gold wedding bells.

Granddaughters will serve at the refreshment table and guest registry. The registry table will be centered with a gold bud vase holding a white rosebud upon a white lace runner.

Out-of-town guests are expected from Houston, Abilene, Elgin, Quail and Lakewood, Colo.

MR. AND MRS. J. B. MOSELEY

BSP Group Told Rules Of Etiquette

Proper etiquette of introductions and invitations was explained by Mrs. D. L. Owens in a program given Tuesday for Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Coahoma. Mrs. Roe Fulgham, Sand Springs, was hostess.

"Social introductions and invitations to events began in the middle ages," said Mrs. Owens. "In early days, the first form of invitation was the ringing of church bells to invite the populance to weddings." She noted that informal invitations should be hand written, never typed, unless the person is unable to write legibly. Formal invitations are always printed.

As she detailed introductions, Mrs. Owens said young people are always introduced to older persons, a man is introduced to a woman, and no woman should be presented to a man unless he is president of the United States.

Informal introductions should begin with "May I introduce", and formal introductions start with "May I present."

Mrs. Jack Owens presided for the business session, and Mrs. Joe Smith led a discussion on rush activities. The first event will be a Coke party Sept. 29, at First Federal Community Room. The chapter also slated an ice cream party at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 13 in Birdwell Park for members and their families.

A guest, Leon Miller of the Veterans Administration Hospital, spoke briefly in expressing appreciation to the women for their assistance in the volunteer program. He invited them to an orientation and free luncheon at the hospital Sept. 15. Mrs. Don Cunningham and Mrs. Jack Parrot served refreshments at the hospital Wednesday.

An announcement was made of the area convention, "Highland Fling," which will be held Oct. 9-11 at Marfa.

Mrs. Betty Cox will host the Sept. 15 meeting when the program will be presented by Mrs. Jerry Myrick.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:

I was visiting a friend recently whose husband had just bought her a beautiful new ebony organ with umpteen pedals. (Ol' George was pretty nice to dear Louise, eh?)

As she was working the various pedals, I happened to notice the rung beneath the bench (that visitors usually put their foot on and scar all up with their shoes).

Lo and behold, if that tricky little gal hadn't removed the plastic cover from the right pedal (which she says she never uses) and put it across the rung — for just that very purpose! It fits exactly. Did you-all know that?

These plastic covers can be bought extra anyplace they sell organs. I have a chord organ and they even fit on my rung bar. Why should we let an expensive piece of equipment get ruined when we can prevent it? . . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Here's a suggestion for older people who find it hard to give themselves a pedicure.

I do one foot at a time . . . and skip a few days in between feet.

I soak one foot only, clip the nails and pay attention to corns and calluses.

Less tiring that way. . . . Connie

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Here's a little idea that might be useful to young mothers:

While eating, my 7-month-old daughter loved to look at the pictures of the babies on the jars, so I got a marvelous idea . . .

I removed the labels on several jars and cut out the baby pictures. I then placed them on her highchair and completely covered the tray with clear adhesive-backed plastic so I could wash right over it.

She now can enjoy looking at and "talking" to the babies anytime she's eating. . . . Nelda Williams

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I've read where many women sew (or snap) weights on a curtain. Why?

Just run a length of metal bead chain (like the chain used for sink stoppers through the hem.

It weights evenly, no sewing at all . . . and just thread it out and in for cleaning or washing. . . . Courtenay Austin

* * *

Dear Heloise:

When we were stationed overseas and had the opportunity to purchase a complete set of glassware (all 146 pieces), I did so. However, I was unable to display and use them for lack of space that was low enough to be convenient.

When shopping, the prices for the china cupboards alone were anywhere from $200 to $400. By chance I noticed a glass-fronted bookcase priced at $29.95. I asked my husband if he could brace one bookcase on top of the other and he said he could.

So for approximately $60 we have an attractive four-shelf china cupboard that may in the future be two separate bookcases if necessary. . . . Louisa DeGiovanni

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I am on a diet and exercise regularly.

To keep my exercise rhythmic, I count.

Now, here is the senational part:

My 3-year-old son counts with me while I am exercising. So while I am becoming physically fit, my son is learning his numbers at the same time! . . . Phyllis Van Pelt.

LGA LUNCHEON IS POSTPONED

Due to the Labor Day Golf Tournament at Big Spring Country Club, the regular Ladies Golf Association luncheon will not be held Friday. The luncheon has been postponed until Sept. 11 when hostesses will be Mrs. Roy Hughes, Mrs. Jasper Atkins, Mrs. Arnold Marshall and Mrs. Charles Tuttle.

Big Spring Garden Club Views Bridal Fashions

Big Spring Garden Club opened the club year Wednesday with a luncheon at Big Spring Country Club during which a style show was presented by Miss Royale bridal shop. Hostesses were the social committee members, Mrs. Robert Stripling, chairman; Mrs. Garner McAdams and Mrs. Norman Picquet. Mrs. J. I. Balch was in charge of the program.

Fashions for the bride and her wedding party, including mothers and grandmothers, were modeled. Costumes for pre-nuptial occasions were shown including a paisley hostess gown with jeweled belt; black vinyl pantsuit; and apricot Saki dress and coat with jeweled collar; black after-five dress that converted from midi and mini length via a detachable skirt; and a black flare-legged pantsuit with fitted jacket flaring for a skirt effect.

Mrs. Jack Berry narrated, and Mrs. Jim Ryals was pianist. Models were Mrs. Dan Shorties, Mrs. Joe Stocks, Mrs. Roger Taylor, Mrs. R. F. Marks, Mrs. Jim Aldrich, Mrs. Jack Magee, Mrs. William Baron and Mrs. Jerry Iden.

Mrs. J. C. Pickle presided at the business session, and Mrs. Balch announced the program theme for the year, "The Ecstacy of Flowers." Mrs. Julian Patterson was welcomed as a new member. Guests were Mrs. James Kreimeyer, and Mrs. H. K. Butler.

Luncheon tables were decorated with fall leaves and the head table was centered with an arrangement of gladioli and chrysanthemums in fall colors. The next meeting will be Oct. 7 at Inland Port 213 followed by a tour of Roy Peet's garden.

Society Will Sell Christmas Cards

Mrs. A. N. Rutherford presided Tuesday for the Altar Society of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. Prayers were worded by Mrs. Rutherford and Mrs. Bob Anderson. Members will begin selling Christmas cards as a fund-raising project. They also are selling tickets to the fall festival to be held Sept. 19-20.

Altar committee members appointed for September are Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Bob Anderson, Mrs. Dan Maestas and Mrs. Fred Mercier. The Diocean Council of Catholic Women will meet Oct. 6 in Brownwood.

A guest at the meeting was Mrs. Rutherford's sister, Mrs. Josephine Cox, Boston, Mass. Hostess Tuesday was Mrs. C. C. Choate, who served refreshments. Mrs. Frank Hamblin won the attendance prize.

Dinner Held For Howard Hartzell

The employes of Forsan Oil Well Service honored Howard Hartzell with a retirement dinner party last week in the Hartzell home at 2207 Alabama.

Hartzell, who retired recently, was presented a 22-year service plaque by one of the company owners, C. V. Wash. Fellow employes gifted him with a money tree.

Charles Burnseds Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burnsed, 2501 Rebecca, announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Tamara Jo, Aug. 31 in Medical Center Memorial Hospital, weighing 8 pounds, 11 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Burnsed, Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Redman, Vincent. Great-grandmothers are Mrs. H. Sanders, Abilene, and Mrs. Tabitha Cunningham, 1609 State.

HD Council Meet

Due to the Labor Day holiday, the Howard County Home Demonstration Club Council will meet at 9 a.m., Friday, at the extension agent's office in the courthouse.

Airport HD Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Billy Gaskins was elected president of Airport Home Demonstration Club at the Tuesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Leon Stockton, 608 Taylor. Mrs. Gaskins will take office in January with Mrs. Stockton as vice president; Mrs. Vern Vigar, secretary; Mrs. Fred Jones, treasurer; and Mrs. Raymond Key, council delegate.

Members planned activities and projects for the year. Mrs. Lonny Stockton was welcomed as a new member. The next meeting will be Sept. 15 in the home of Mrs. Henry Tubb, 601 State.

Hears Report On Area Workshop

Mrs. Elton Carlile presided at the TOPS Pound Rebels meeting Tuesday at the YMCA and reported on the area workshop held Saturday in Ropesville. The area TOPS rally will be held in Hereford Oct. 3. The theme for the rally will be "Let's Make America Beautiful." Mrs. Berva Kirby will give the program at the next meeting Tuesday.

Highway Officer Speaks To Club

Jack White of the Texas Department of Public Safety was guest speaker for the TOPS Slender Benders Tuesday at Midway School. He described new highway safety laws and rules for stopping for school buses. The fruit prize was shared by Mrs. Bill Bates and Mrs. Pat Wilson. The program was arranged by Mrs. Joe Rogers. The next meeting will be Tuesday when a new co-leader will be elected.

LVN's Elect New Slate Of Officers

Mrs. Paul Camp was elected president of the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association during Tuesday's meeting in Malone-Hogan Clinic. Serving with her will be Mrs. Huey Rogers, first vice president; Mrs. Rufus Tuckness, second vice president; Mrs. A. R. Jones, secretary; and Mrs. Fred Winn, treasurer. The group voted on state officers. The next meeting will be Oct. 6.
