Local farmers lobby in capital

(Compiled from local and wire reports)
The Texas group of farmers is already beginning what they call lobbying activities in the nation's capital, according to Larry Shaw, Howard County farmer attending the American Agriculture Movement's meeting in Washington, D.C. "We had an 8 a.m. meeting with Texas' 19th District Representative George Mahan," said Shaw in a telephone interview with the Herald. "He advised us to form a small group to speak with President Carter or Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, and said that he would try to arrange the meeting.

"Mahan said he'd help us in any way possible, and later today we will meet with Congressman Omar Burleson; so far everyone we have spoken to has shown good support, and we have encountered no opposition yet," Shaw noted.

Shaw added that there had been no organization of the nationwide AAM representatives, but the Texas group had already made definite plans.

"A news conference will begin for the Texas delegation in a few minutes," Shaw said, just before 11 a.m. Washington time. "There is a tremendous crowd here—300 or so in our hotel.

"The tractorcade will begin in an hour or so, probably the first time most of the farmers from separate states will be getting together.

"Then," Shaw continued, "the Texas farmers will take time out for about a two-hour meeting with U.S. Department of Agriculture officials.

Hill pledges support for farmers' strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a room lined with Texas farmers and ranchers, Texas Attorney General John Hill called the farmers' situation "deadly serious" and assured his audience he was in the nation's capital to support the national farm strike. Hill, an announced gubernatorial candidate, was applauded at his news conference when he said, "I find it hard to explain why school children in government programs are served something other than USDA beef. I don't make that as a charge; I raise that as a question."

The attorney general, when asked if his trip here was more of a political move, said, "I don't have to undermine Dolph Briscoe's support in the rural areas of Texas. He's done a good job at that."

Following his news conference, Hill was to gather with thousands of farmers and ranchers for a rally on the Capitol steps. More than 2,500 farmers had already congregated outside the snow covered Capitol, braving near-freezing temperatures and carrying signs reading "Parity, not charity" and "Hell no, we won't grow."

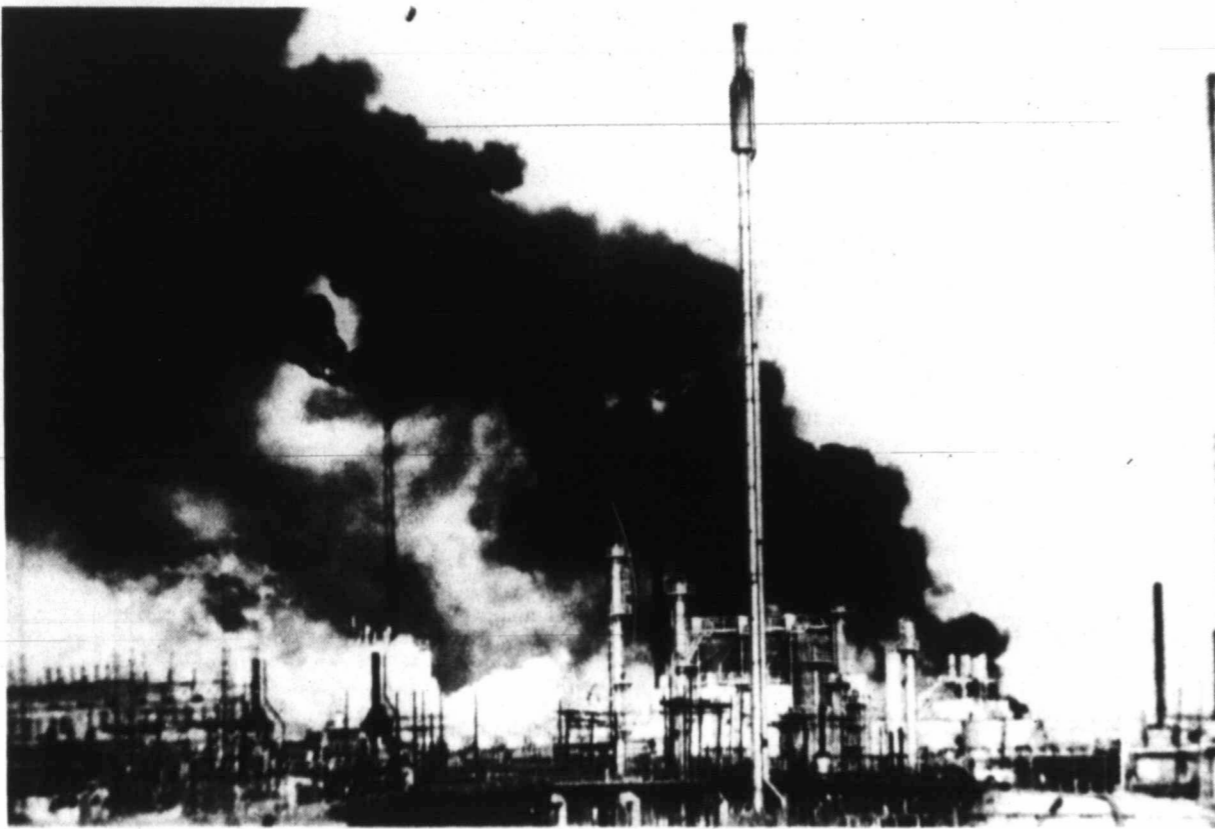

When asked to comment on the plight of the farmers and their demand for 100 percent parity, as compared with the regulated oil and gas situation in Texas, Hill said, "I haven't heard of any oil or gas people going broke because of the price controls but I am saying farmers can't go on like they have been because they will go broke. We can't expect them to plant again this spring if they know they are going to lose money."

The 20-25 farmers attending Hill's press conference greeted that statement with applause also, as they prepared to meet with other officials here throughout the week.

"We have a rally scheduled for Thursday on the steps of the Capitol and a tractor parade that includes at least one tractor from every state," added Watson.

The rally and parade are scheduled to coincide with the reconvening of Congress on Thursday.

"The days of a farmer sitting out there and keeping quiet — maybe not even voting — are long over," he continued. "If Congress will give us 100 percent parity, we'll put people back to work. This issue has more validity than anything that's come out of this town in a long time."

SMOKE BILLOWS — A flare line ruptured and a fire leaped on to the horizon at Cosden Refinery Tuesday afternoon, frightening to those who recalled the devastating 1976 fire at the same refinery. Fire fighters at the plant had the 49-foot flames under control within 20 minutes without calling for outside help.

Fire controlled at Cosden

By MARJ CARPENTER
A fire, which apparently began when a flare line ruptured, caused a flurry of firefighting activity and a lot of fear at Cosden Refinery Tuesday afternoon.

Both firefighters and Cosden officials immediately recalled the June, 1976 fire when Cosden was extensively damaged. Tuesday's fire, which began at 2:37 p.m., was brought under control in 20 minutes by the employees at Cosden.

The firefighting crew, headed by Jimmy Wood, have been trained in fighting this type of blaze. Wood reported that they immediately shut down the supply of gas, halting the blaze and then cooled down the vessel with water and chemicals.

The blaze burned as high as 40 feet when it first broke out in the vicinity of the Poly Icol Butalene processing unit. This unit processes a substance used as a base for engine lubricant and also used to insulate high voltage transformers. The fire was not within the unit itself, according to Ed Dennis of Cosden's public relations office. "The fire apparently began in the line from the PIB unit to the flare line."

Dennis said "There is no dollar estimate on damages yet, but most of the damage was limited to flare line piping. There is one vessel in the vicinity of the fire which may have sustained damage and we are checking this out today."

Dennis said that "Work may be halted temporarily in the immediate area of the rupture, it will not affect the operation of the plant to any large degree."

However, Dennis added that the refinery officials would be checking for possible damage in the area of the fire at the northeast corner of the plant.

The gas flares burned high when the rupture occurred and dwindled after the fire was brought under control.

Police blocked the road into the main gate, to cut down on sightseers, but there was no need to call in additional fire fighting units.

First reports indicated there were no injuries, but Dennis reported, "We had several minor injuries including a sprained ankle and other injuries which occurred from people scurrying around in a hurry to get out of the line of danger and to bring the fire under control."

TOTAL LOSS — Big Spring firefighter goes in low to avoid the heat and try to control the flames of a burning garage at 1506 Wood, 8 p.m. Tuesday. The flames did not spread to adjacent buildings, but the garage was described as a total loss.

Fire destroys large garage

A four-car garage serving two apartment buildings at 1506 Wood was described by Fire Chief Alvie Harrison as "a total loss" after it went up in flames, 8:06 p.m. Tuesday.

It took three firefighting units and 12 men a half hour to control the blaze, and keep it from spreading to adjacent buildings. No vehicles were inside the garage at the time of the fire.

The buildings are owned by Jimmy Ray Smith, 423 Edwards.

"It was pretty difficult. We had three other fires reported at about the same time," said the chief.

The other reports were minor ones including a grass fire just behind the Gregg Street Safeway Store; an overheated water-heater in the Northcrest Apartment that never became a fire; and a burning shack on the edge of the northside of the city.

Investigators will sift through the ashes of the garage fire today to try to determine the cause of the blaze. Cost of the damage has not been estimated at this time.

Israel foreign minister sent home

Egypt breaks off talks

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has ordered his foreign minister to break off talks with Israel in Jerusalem and return home, Egypt's information minister announced today.

His official statement said Foreign Minister Mohammed Kamel was ordered home because it "became apparent from the declarations of the prime minister of Israel and its foreign minister that Israel insists on presenting partial solutions that cannot lead to the establishment of a just and lasting peace."

The dramatic announcement, broadcast by Cairo radio, was made without warning. It said Kamel was to return "immediately."

Information minister Abdel Moneim el Sawy said Sadat took "this decisive decision" to avoid the talks "continuing in a vicious circle."

Sawy said the discussions in Jerusalem have been going "into side issues, moving from an issue whose examination had not been completed, to issues not up for discussion so as to make the negotiations become engrossed in obscure and vague questions not serving their aims."

The Israelis, he said, had kept the talks "fluid."

The minister said Sadat called for an emergency meeting Saturday of Egypt's parliament — the People's Assembly — "to place before the representatives of the people all the facts of the situation."

It was from the same rostrum that

Sadat offered to visit Jerusalem last November, beginning the historic peace initiative.

On Sunday night, when the Egyptian delegation left for Israel, an official spokesman said Sadat had cancelled all appointments for 10 days to follow developments in the peace talks as closely as possible.

A special committee was appointed under Vice President Hosni Mubarak to keep Sadat informed.

The Egyptian leader was at his Nile-side retreat, Barrages, 15 miles north of Cairo.

Offbeat: If dogs, why not horses?

TROY, Mich. (AP) — If dogs can walk on sidewalks, why not horses? That is the question being considered by the Troy City Council.

City Manager Frank Gerstenecker said current laws prohibit horses in parks or on private property, but say nothing about sidewalks.

James Myers wants that changed. He says neighbors ride their horses on the sidewalk in front of his home to spite him and that the horses' droppings create a health hazard.

The city's Animal Control Board has opposed the proposed law, noting that it is legal for dogs to walk on sidewalks.

The city animal board says horseback riders should be allowed to use sidewalks because there are no bridle paths in Troy, some roads have no shoulders and it's dangerous to ride in the streets.

In other recent stands, the animal board has ordered a couple to get rid of a pet bear, allowed a woman to keep a goat and told a man to reduce his pigeon flock to about 50 birds.

TV's best: Circus broadcast

Channel 7 has two special offerings for television viewers tonight as John Davidson and Brenda Vaccaro host the fourth annual Monte Carlo Circus at 7:30 p.m. Then, at 8:30 p.m. Jackie Gleason is joined by a host of stars on "Entertainer of the Year," the eighth annual awards presentation from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

MISS KITTY TALKS ABOUT 'CANCER' — Amanda Blake Gilbert, who played Miss Kitty for years in television's "Gunsmoke," talks about a little-known bout with cancer.

Kitty's cancer 'shocks'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Miss Kitty survived hundreds of episodes of frontier violence in "Gunsmoke." But none came close to the real-life terror Amanda Blake endured with cancer.

The tumor was in her mouth and the operation to remove it cut her throat.

"I worried about my face," said the 46-year-old actress. "I worried about never being able to talk again... I made my plans. If it had been extensive, I would just drop out of sight. No one would know."

Miss Blake noticed a sore under her tongue late in 1976. For three months, she avoided seeing a doctor about it, she said in an interview with the Phoenix Gazette.

She finally had a doctor examine the lesion in January 1977. "I could feel it in my bones that the tests would come back positive," she said.

The doctor confirmed that it was a malignant tumor.

"It was still a shock," she said. "It drains you. You feel as though you have no muscles. No bones." She was referred to the M.D. Anderson System Cancer Center Tumor Institute in Houston. Dr. Alando Ballantyne, a cancer specialist, confirmed the malignancy but said the tumor was not spreading.

In an eight-hour operation, he cut her throat from ear to ear, removed the bottom half of the tongue and the floor of the mouth. Thigh tissue was transplanted to her mouth.

Followup visits have shown no more cancer. Recuperation and therapy included teaching herself to speak again with her rebuilt tongue.

"There are still words I have trouble with, such as 'borrower,'" she said. "Sometimes I get a slight whistle on the 's' sounds, but that's getting better too."

Ballantyne said excessive smoking contributed to the cancer, so Miss Blake gave it up. She also has become an advocate for regular cancer checkups.

Knievel strikes out

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Daredevil Evel Knievel says he has problems, but a judge says prisoners are supposed to.

Superior Court Judge Edward Rafeedie ruled Tuesday that Knievel should serve the rest of his six-month jail term without chance of parole, and recommended that he not be allowed to take any more in a work-furlough program.

He said Knievel's "show business stunts" — like lining up limousines in front of the jail before leaving for work — had done "irreparable harm" to the program that allows inmates to hold jobs by day and return to jail at night.

Knievel, serving time for lambasting a former associate with a baseball bat, claimed that personal problems were responsible for his tardiness in returning one day, but the judge said, "Financial and personal problems are something you share with every inmate in the county jail... That's how it should be."

Lance takes TV job

ATLANTA (AP) — Bert Lance, who made news last year, will interpret it this year.

Lance, whose financial problems prompted his resignation as director of the Office of Management and Budget, announced Tuesday that he will be a news analyst and commentator for WXIA-TV, the ABC network affiliate in Atlanta, beginning Feb. 6.

"I'll be talking about national political issues, which I think I know something about," Lance told a news conference.

His 90-second commentary will be broadcast five nights a week, he said, and will often focus on financial matters.

Mitchell pay hike voted

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County Commissioners granted the county employees and elected officials a 10 per cent cost of living raise in their regular meeting Monday. The pay raise is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Approval of the rural fire contracts was also granted by the commission. They also set terms of court for the coming year.

Suit asks for $36,000

A lawsuit asking $36,000 damages was filed Tuesday in the District Clerk's office. The suit, filed by area farmers David Lynn Newton and Charles Ray, and naming Price Construction Co. defendant, alleged that herbicide sprayed by the company on its field of sudan grass drifted to nearby cotton acreage and damaged the farmers' crop.

According to the plaintiff's brief, Newton farms 221 acres of cotton and Ray 70 acres adjoining a Price Construction tract located five and one-half miles north of Big Spring on the Snyder Highway.

The brief alleges that an unknown herbicide sprayed during 1977 on the sudan grass drifted over to the cotton fields and damaged the plants there.

A grievance committee for the county was appointed including Glen Wilson, Gay Houston and Ruth Cooper with Louis Rees and Dale Byrd as alternates.

Judge Bill Carter commended Colorado City Police Chief Fred McWhorter for a report to the county. The judge also read a letter of appreciation sent to Robert Shamburger by the regional commander of the Department of Public Safety.

The letter was thanking Shamburger for his service as reserve sheriff's deputy. Shamburger was also awarded a plaque for meritorious service. He has been working Friday and Saturday nights with no pay to assist Officer Marvin Keenan.

Johnny Shackelford was appointed to the Ambulance Board. Holidays were set for the coming year including Good Friday, Memorial Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Veteran's Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's.

The county agreed to continue funding Kindercare in the amount of $1,521.75 and to enter into an interlocal agreement with Texas Employment Commission in reference to unemployment insurance.

The commissioners tabled a request by Mike Burt, tax assessor, that employees of over seven years be given a three-week vacation instead of two weeks.

The sheriff requested an increase in the board bill for prisoners. This was tabled for special study.

The sheriff's department also requested an additional car which was tabled for further study.

An optional retirement plan for county employees was approved. The court agreed to supplement Soil Conservation secretarial funds and to promote Linda Owens to first deputy clerk-typist.

The commissioners also decided to attend the state convention Feb. 8 and 9.

Spade teen hit with pot count

Jerry DeWayne May, 17, Spade, was charged Tuesday with felony possession of marijuana.

The charges were filed by Texas Highway Patrolman Dean Richardson in Justice of the Peace — Gus Ochotorena's office.

May and a juvenile were stopped Friday by Richardson as they drove through Howard County on I-20. May has been released on $5,000 bond. The juvenile, who was also charged with possession of a controlled substance, was sent home.

SHAKY SHEEP — Almost the worst part about being an animal participant in the Midland County Livestock Show's auction is being penned-in for 2 days. The worst part is the gnawing feeling that people will soon stop calling you "lamb" and start calling you "dinner."

Confidence in Carter dips

NEW YORK (AP) — Public confidence in President Carter's ability to deal with the economy has hit a new low, according to a poll conducted by The New York Times and CBS News.

According to the nationwide poll of 1,599 adults, 81 percent of those responding said they doubt Carter can control inflation; 74 percent doubt he can balance the federal budget; and 54 percent are skeptical about his chances of lessening unemployment.

The poll also showed a continued drop in Carter's overall job rating. From his inauguration, when 66 percent of the nation said they approved of the way he ran the country, his rating dropped to 55 percent in October and to 51 percent in the latest polling, conducted Jan. 8-12.

At the same time, 50 percent of those participating believe themselves worse off financially.

Six arrested on liquor raps

Six persons were arrested at Hilltop Lounge, 1710 W. 3rd St., in the early morning hours Monday and charged with violating liquor laws.

Five were charged with consuming after hours in a public place. One was charged with disorderly conduct.

Conducting the raid were Dan Hutchinson, of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, Lt. Arvin Henry and three local police officers.

Farm

Farabee outlines three things to help farmers

State Sen. Ray Farabee, who represents Howard County in Austin, expressed support for higher market prices for farmers and ranchers in a letter written to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture this week.

"Recent protests have brought public attention to what many of us have known for more than a decade. American farmers have been feeding this country and the world, and it is time for people in agriculture to get a fair share of the dollars spent for food and fiber," Farabee stated to Secretary Robert Bergland.

Howard County has an average annual income of $15 million dollars from agriculture. He continued, "When costs of production exceed that income, it not only hurts the people of Howard County, but it hurts Texas and America, and destroys the family farm which has been responsible for making this country the most productive in the world."

Although parity and higher target prices must come from an improved farm bill by our federal Congress, Farabee outlined three things which the Texas Legislature can and should do: Provide for taxation of agricultural land on the basis of productivity; increase the state inheritance tax exemption; increase state funding for agricultural research and rural development.

Pay trial postponed

The pay discrimination trial of two female Howard County deputies was postponed Tuesday afternoon by Abilene Federal District Judge Leo Brewster.

The trial, brought by Bernice Rachel Shaffer and Depuities Nail against Howard County, was postponed because Mrs. Nail could not appear at the trial due to illness.

According to County Attorney Harvey Hooser, Abilene attorney Malcolm Shultz who had been hired to represent the county in the trial indicated that this would send the procedure back to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (E.E.O.C.) for a rehearing.

"It is my understanding that this case will go back to the EEOC and Howard County will be named as a party of interest. If that happens, it would start the investigation procedure all over again," said the county attorney.

Attorney Gerald Lopez, who represents the deputies, disagreed. "It was my understanding that Judge Brewster intended the period between now and May for us to take the original petition back before the Commissioners Court and seek their approval. I don't think he intended us to take it to the EEOC; he knows the investigation procedure takes more than three months."

The deputies are filing the discrimination charge over the Commissioner's Court's refusal to raise the two deputies' salaries to a level comparable to the male deputies' $907 per month from the present $541.

Hooser and the Commissioner's Court and County Judge Bill Tune were going to Abilene today, along with subpoenaed witnesses Sheriff A.N. Standard, Deputy Paul Silva, Chief Deputy Bill Whitton, Attilie Barron, District Attorney Rick Hamby, former District Attorney Bob Moore, Jackie Olson, former deputy Sam Roberts, and Dorothy Love.

A bill for services to date from Attorney Malcolm Shultz listed the cost to the county for the lawyer's fees at $1,654.10.

HC trustees mull suit

College board members discussed a pending lawsuit in executive session with their attorneys Tuesday at the regular board meeting.

The $67,000 lawsuit filed by Mary Skalicky in federal court will be heard in Abilene Monday. Ms. Skalicky claimed that she was not allowed to be head of the music department because she was a woman.

The lawsuit is against the college, the board, Dr. Charles Hays and Dean Ben Johnson. The board and trustees conferred with R.H. Weaver and Jack Little, but made no announcements at the conclusion of the executive session.

In other action, the board heard Daryle Hohertz, architect, report that contractors now estimate that the coliseum may be complete by the end of February.

Hohertz said, however, "It may even be later because the floor people will not start until other things are completed in the big room." He pointed out that low temperatures halt both cement work and painting.

In other action, the board also officially called its trustee election for April 1 with deadline for filing on March 2.

The college election is different from other elections in that filing cannot begin immediately. Under the law, it cannot begin until Jan. 31.

All three incumbent board members whose terms expire indicate they will seek re-election. They include Dr. Charles Warren, James Barr and Don McKinney.

The board awarded the low bid on a utility bed for a college pickup to Downs and Clark of Odessa for $2,006.54. The second bid was from Fruehauf of Lubbock at $2,355.50.

The board also approved Howard College paying 20 per cent of the cost of an aerial survey in connection with updating records by the tax and appraisal office. Harold Davis made the report on this board.

Dr. Warren presided at the meeting Tuesday with board members present including Dr. P.W. Malone, K.H. McGibbon, Harold Davis, Jimmy Taylor, and Barr. Dr. Hays and other administrators were also present.

Ex-cons allowed to carry pistols

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The former director of the state private detectives board says the agency temporarily allowed 200 security guards to carry handguns last year while knowing that many previous applicants had criminal records.

Wayne Whatley, who resigned as director of the detective and security guard licensing board in April, testified Tuesday before a House subcommittee on state agency spending.

He said that when security guard training and criminal record checking procedures were in limbo, temporary commissions allowing guards to carry pistols made sense. But Whatley said he later urged the board to abolish the temporary certificates and pointed out that 34 per cent of the applicants were found to have criminal records.

"The industry association brought frequent pressure to bear on this subject which the director (Whatley), assistant director and the chief of the licensing division all strongly resisted and disapproved to the day we all resigned in disgust on April 29, 1977," he said.

On May 12, he said, the board abolished controls and "in effect sold blank temporary commission cards in large numbers to licensees for issuance to private security guards without proof of training or screening for criminal history."

Whatley said that before the rule was discontinued, 200 unqualified security officers were approved to carry pistols.

He also said the board worked hand-in-hand with the private detectives' lobby in legislative matters, detailing staff members — at state expense — to help the lobbyists.

Much of Whatley's testimony went unchallenged during the day-long hearing because he was placed at the end of the agenda while board officials spoke before him.

He said former chairman Joe Connally, an Odessa district judge, sent board investigator Jim Richards to Ruidoso, N. M., in August 1976 to look into activities of Jim McCuan, workers' representative on the industrial accident board.

"Connally later confirmed to me that the governor had personally requested the investigation. Subsequent events seem to indicate that it was requested by Mr. Cue Boykin, chairman of the industrial accident board," Whatley said.

He later told a reporter the "subsequent events" to which he referred were stories in the Austin American-Statesman saying that Boykin had ordered the Ruidoso investigation.

Told in advance that Whatley had the statement about Briscoe in his prepared text, Connally said, "If he says I told him that, he is a liar." "I didn't ever say anything like that to anybody. It was not requested by the governor. It came directly from the chief of the agency involved," Connally said.

The Dallas Cowboys did us all proud

Sometimes I think it would be better to watch a football game on television like the recent Superbowl game with the sound turned off, especially if you're hopelessly hooked on one team or another.

Play-by-play announcer Pat Summerall, the CBS expert, was objective and detached enough but his sidekick, Tom Brookshier, seemed to be Denver's biggest apologist.

And some of the football analysts like Howard Cosell who try to bisect such a contest and reduce it to its simplest equations would be better off taking the verbal insults of Muhammad Ali, as he so often has done in the past.

The so-called experts can put down the caliber of play of the two teams involved all they want but they can't take away the fact that the Cowboys won pro football's highest honor, the NFL championship game.

Some of the motermouths are saying the Dallas-Denver brouhaha wasn't an artistic success. What Texan cares? The championship of the world has been brought to Texas. I dare say the Colorado people would have accepted the same diadem and never questioned the Broncos' credentials, no matter how Denver came by it.

The hoopla surrounding the game has come to overshadow the game itself. The networks have to sell products. Host cities are busy doing the same thing. After all, does it really matter that Dallas or any other city wins an athletic championship? It's a boys' game they're playing out there. It's not war, despite what Brookshier is so fond of saying.

Let's revel in the victory for the time being and then get on to more serious things, like working with the farmers to solve their problems and trying to balance the payments on international markets.

Most everyone would agree that it's easy to wrestle with the grave problems after a team like Dallas performs in such a manner that makes us all proud. Those moments don't come around often in life, so they should be treasured.

No easy choice

Around the rim

Dusty Richard

Millions of Americans are faced with a difficult choice—whether to be opposed to or in favor of abortions.

For me, it is hard to decide. I suppose that if I had ever needed or wanted an abortion, I could say yes to abortions without thinking. Probably if I wanted to become pregnant and could not, I would say no to them. But I have been in neither situation and so the choice is not quite as easy.

ACCORDING TO THE National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL), the question is not if we should allow abortions to be performed, but how we are going to allow them to be performed; by quacks or qualified doctors?

Nearly a million women a year want abortions, and of that number, 70 percent will turn to deadly "home remedies" or kitchen-table butchers lacking other alternatives. The people who fight against abortions and call themselves "right-to-lifers" could surely not be taking this into account.

Nor could they realize that if abortion is not a viable alternative for women, over 300,000 women a year will resign themselves to having unwanted children, and unwanted children are twice as likely as wanted children to end up abused, delinquent, on welfare or with serious emotional problems. Right-to-life? I think not.

Also, tens of thousands of women a year will suffer serious medical problems from self-induced abortions, and as many as 250 women will die each year from complications from ill-performed abortions.

Today, the death rate from legal, first-trimester abortions is 1.7 per 100,000 abortions, compared to 14.6 pregnancy deaths per 100,000 live births.

And if you are one of the taxpayers who looks no further than your pocket, consider—the cost of medical care and public assistance for poor women who were denied abortions would skyrocket to over half a billion dollars a year, 10 times what the non-threatened Medicaid payments for abortions cost taxpayers in 1976.

Sure, I do not want to pay and pay for women to just have abortions every couple of months at their leisure; guidelines must be set up to keep that from happening.

BUT I DO NOT mind paying for an abortion for a poor girl who made a mistake and got pregnant—I do not mind insuring that her mistake does not escalate from an unwanted pregnancy to an unwanted child to a beaten child to a criminally-minded adult.

I do not mind paying for sex education in schools to insure that less and less of these unwanted pregnancies happen, for as our children are instructed as to the facts of intercourse and pregnancy and contraception, there will be fewer unwed mothers and unwanted children.

What really gets me is that the same people who scream about abortions are the ones who scream about sex education in schools and the use of contraceptives by unmarried people. They are the people who believe, "What our children don't know, won't hurt them."

Well, that theory is totally false. Just as capital punishment has been shown to be no deterrent to crime, ignorance of sexual facts and contraceptive methods is no deterrent to pre- and extramarital sex.

I'm not saying that you should take your daughter to the gynecologist in haste and get her a prescription for the "pill," or hand your son a package of prophylactics—however, it would not be a bad idea to set down and talk to them about the proverbial birds and bees and show them the listing for Planned Parenthood in the phone book.

Say, "We are not condoning any sexual activity in which you may be participating, but we feel that if you have decided that you are adult enough to engage in sex, you should also be adult enough to make sure that the consequence of your activity isn't anything that might affect your future life. In other words, we don't want you to get pregnant and have to get an abortion or have to get married (Or don't want you to get your girlfriend pregnant, as the case may be)."

If every parent would sit down and have a realistic talk with his or her son or daughter, there would be a lesser need for abortions.

SALT fallout

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON—Growing alarm among conservatives that increasingly probable Senate approval of the Panama Canal treaty would undermine the flight against a new strategic arms agreement (SALT II) is changing the nature of the anti-Panama campaign.

With chances now poor of getting the 34 Senators needed to defeat the treaty, the opposition is plotting a long-shot effort to delay the vote until after the Senate has disposed of the SALT treaty.

This means a merger of anti-Panama and anti-SALT forces has failed. One key to the failure is Sen. Henry M. Jackson, the Senate's most effective SALT critic. Jackson seems certain to support the Panama treaty, no matter what effect its approval might have on SALT.

ODDS FAVORING Senate approval of the Panama treaty have improved after recent political developments, the most important being the trip to Panama by Senate Republican leader Howard Baker. He strongly indicated support for the treaty if changes were made that Panamanian dictator Omar Torrijos is expected to accept.

The drumbeat of the Carter administration's campaign for the treaty also is having an effect. Opponents now count only 28 sure votes against the treaty. That omits several presumed anti-treaty stalwarts including Sens. Richard Stone, James Eastland and Herman Talmadge, who are rethinking their position.

Anti-treaty conservatives are fearful that losing the canal battle after one of the most intensive campaigns ever mounted by conservatives would inevitably undermine the anti-SALT battle. "We would have one helluva time cranking up another campaign and raising the money against SALT if we lose the canal," one anti-Panama strategist told us.

Sen. Jesse Helms will lead a filibuster and other opponents are boning up on Senate rules to throw up every conceivable parliamentary obstacle. But delaying the vote will not be easy.

A FOOTNOTE: Pressures against Baker's plan to accept the treaty with changes will climax Monday in his home state of Tennessee. The first stop on a cross-country anti-treaty tour will be Nashville. Ronald Reagan will join the tour in Denver.

GOP INFIGHTING
An attempted purge of the anti-Reagan head of the Republican party's women's division has fallen so far short that Ronald Reagan's operatives want a graceful exit before the Jan. 20 national committee vote in Washington.

Tart-tongued Mary Crisp has angered Reaganites as national vice chairman because of her injudicious remarks about Reagan as a divisive party influence. So Lyn Nofziger, longtime adviser-tractician for Reagan, concocted a purge plan. His candidate: Gloria Tootle, a black Ph.D. from Harlem who is liberal-to-moderate but backed Reagan for President against Gerald Ford in 1976.

The ply seemed foolproof. Conservatives would back Miss Tootle to punish Mrs. Crisp, liberals would support her because she is black. With Republican national chairman William Brock having indicated neutrality, the Reaganites licked their chops over giving Mrs. Crisp her come-uppance.

BUT BROCK did not stay neutral; he backed Mrs. Crisp. Many conservative national committeemen, while friendly to Reagan, were not prepared to buck the chairman. Although Reagan can control the committee on an issue such as the Panama Canal, he cannot successfully challenge Brock on a purely political question.

With Miss Tootle facing humiliating defeat, Reagan operatives are now seeking some way for an honorable withdrawal. Angered by defeat, however, they blame Brock for their self-inflicted embarrassment and shall not soon forget it.

Snowshovelers anonymous

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you give any advice for us guys who live in the "snow belt"? Every year I read about all the heart attacks that are predicted with every snowfall. I am active in the summer with golf, but snow shoveling is something different. How should we go about it, etc.? — L.L.

You bet it's different. "Someone has" estimated that a shovelful of snow weighs from 8 to 15 pounds. That's a lot different from swinging a nine iron at a golf ball.

As far as your (or anyone's) snow shoveling is concerned, the key factor is your present physical condition. Most heart attacks happen to people with unsuspected heart conditions. Under ordinary circumstances there is no problem. Sudden bursts of activity produce the danger signs. Sudden demands of the heart muscle for more blood produce symptoms of heart inefficiency. EKGs may not show this situation beforehand.

With strain, the heart chambers enlarge a bit to accommodate the increased pumping requirements. This in turn can narrow arteries ever so slightly, enough to limit circulation at some point.

Besides this, snow shoveling usually occurs in the cold, often with bitter winds blowing. More problems. If you are prone to angina (chest pain from existing arterial deficiency) these factors will aggravate matters.

So the first need is to gauge your present condition. The second is to allow for it. Don't try to shovel the whole walk in one session. Nervous people try to "get it all done" right away, and nervous people are usually the very ones who need measured activity. By the time they are ready for that needed break, they may need more—often hospitalization.

Each individual should be his or her own adviser in this matter. The best general advice is to dress warmly, but not too warmly, and take your time. If in doubt, find a neighborhood youngsters who'll be happy to earn the extra dollar while you look on from your living room window. Take it easy—push instead of lifting.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any cure for becoming impotent? I am 55 and had normal sex relations until a year ago. I quit drinking alcohol and cut down on cigarette smoking, but it hasn't helped me any. Are there vitamins or medicine I can take to cure this? — R.F.

It's not uncommon for men to have suddenly (usually temporary) problems of this kind. They are often emotion-based and depart as suddenly as they appear. Quite often they disappear as soon as the man is convinced there is nothing physically wrong with him.

Anxiety can set up a vicious circle—supposed impotency causing anxiety. Impotency feeds on anxiety, etc. I've seen cases of "impotency" solved by a thorough physical examination (which you may need, anyway, at your age). The relief of knowing one is in good health can be a tonic.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm 21 and am wondering if it's normal for me to be passing blood clots during my menstrual periods each month. — Mrs. B.W.

It's not unusual. A heavy flow is more apt to cause clotting. Changing your protection more often would reduce this tendency. If your flow is quite heavy, you should be checked for anemia. Menstrual blood does not clot until after leaving the uterus.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My married daughter is going on a fast to lose weight. I mean a fast—only water. What precaution should she be taking? — Mrs. R.W.

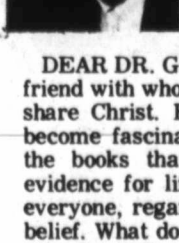

At least a multivitamin. Other than that, all I can suggest is that she have a convenient route to the hospital.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a mother has measles early in her pregnancy, will effects show up after the child is 18 years old? — A.C.M.

Probably not. The first trimester (first three months) of pregnancy is the danger period, when the effects of rubella are most prominent. If no effects have been noted by now, forget the matter.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have a friend with whom I am seeking to share Christ. However, she has become fascinated with some of the books that claim there is evidence for life after death for everyone, regardless of religious belief. What do you think of such ideas? — B.C.

DEAR B.C.: From your letter I gather that this woman is reading books that supposedly give evidence of life after death because of studies made on people who had some sort of vision just as they were dying. Such books have become very popular.

I do not believe that research of this type proves anything concrete about life after death. At best, all it can do is say that some people have some type of vision as they are dying. Their visions, however, may simply be wishful thinking. Some theologians have even suggested that such visions may be false hopes from satanic forces. It is interesting that some of the leading proponents of this is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: Reference Focalpoint, Action-Reaction in the Herald, 30 Dec. 1977 edition, pertaining to the mobile home parked in the downtown square. We at D&C Sales would like to take this opportunity to publicly apologize to the person or persons upset because we took up valuable space to park the mobile home. May we all at D&C beg that you accept our apology?

D&C Sales not only had a $15,000 mobile home tied up during this time that we could not sell, but it cost approximately $600 to pay for the insurance, delivery, set up and removed, return to sales lot, clean mobile home thoroughly throughout, build, carpet and deliver the walkway so that all people, regardless of age or handicapped could enter without any trouble or safety hazards.

We felt and still feel, that if the use of the mobile home helped only one person or in some way contact was made by the religious organizations using the mobile home, to help save one soul or bring one person to Christ, it was worth every dime it cost all of us at D&C Sales.

We stand ready to furnish another mobile home for any religious organization to use if it will help the work of the Lord.

We thank God we live in a country and city that will allow us the privilege of helping in this way. May we thank the Baptist Association and the many people who helped with the work load during the holidays.

We feel it also helped our downtown merchants and made Big Spring the first in Texas, to our knowledge, to have such a wonderful idea and fellowship.

Addicted to friends

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON—Those who scale the heights of government often bring along burdensome baggage—aides, cronies and hangers-on who load up on the largesse that their patrons are able to dispense.

This is the story of a clique who climbed to the top of the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) and immediately began sharing the benefits with friends and relations. Government contracts and fees were parceled out to close associates. And husbands began overseeing contractors who employed their wives. It was all very cozy.

NIDA's $260 million annual budget is supposed to be spent to help the nation's drug addicts kick the habit. But generous amounts have been awarded to contractors and consultants who had close ties to agency officials.

THE SUCCESS STORY of Lee Dogoloff, a stocky, self-confident official, is a case in point. For two years, he belonged to the tight little circle that ran NIDA. During the same period, his wife, Mary Lou, made thousands of dollars as a consultant to companies with NIDA contracts.

Dogoloff has now gone on to greater glory. He has moved over to the White House where he advises President Carter on drug policy. While he was still at NIDA, Mary Lou Dogoloff was paid at least $7,500 by a New York firm called BRX to work on a NIDA contract. A BRX spokesman solemnly insisted that she was hired under her maiden name. But other company officials told us they knew her only as Dogoloff's wife.

Mary Lou has also collected at least $7,200 on another NIDA contract. This one was granted to a Maryland firm called Marco Systems, Inc. But Lee Dogoloff swore he had nothing to do with her hiring. "I cannot control what contractors may do," he told our reporters Valerie Strauss and Howie Kurtz. "My wife is a respected professional independently."

In 1975, Dogoloff took his wife with him on an official trip to Thailand as a government-paid note taker. He paid his wife's plane ticket, but the taxpayers paid for everything else, including her salary.

Recently, Mrs. Dogoloff was almost hired directly by NIDA as a $140-a-day consultant. Her proposed assignment was to rewrite a report she had previously prepared for a contractor. "If the report was inadequate," grumbled one NIDA insider, "why should she be paid by the taxpayers to work on it a year later?" The complaints prevailed, and the $140-a-day offer was withdrawn.

THE ROMANCE OF Lee and Mary Lou Dogoloff, like their marriage, was rooted in their work. They met at a narcotics treatment center in Washington. The program was run by Robert DuPont, who is now the NIDA director. As he moved up in the drug abuse world, the Dogoloffs ascended with him.

The three of them were also close to Richard Katon, a nervous chain-smoking medical doctor. They did not forget one another as their paths branched out. DuPont and Dogoloff moved over to NIDA where they gained control of larger budgets. Katon formed a consulting firm, which wound up with several lucrative NIDA contracts. And Mary Lou joined Katon as a high-paid consultant.

Before the wedding bells tolled, Dogoloff supervised a Katon contract while his fiancée was on Katon's payroll. Even after they were married, Dogoloff conceded that he had signed a couple work orders for his wife.

Both Dogoloff and Katon claimed that Mary Lou resigned from the consulting firm soon afterward to avoid conflicts. Dogoloff also contended that his wife's name has never been used in competitive bidding at NIDA. But she helped write some NIDA contract proposals for Katon.

In 1974, Katon lost a $1 million contract when it came up for renewal. Dogoloff had been removed from the review committee because of complaints that he might favor his friend Katon. This didn't stop Katon from complaining to Dogoloff over the loss contract, our sources say.

THE CONTRACT had been awarded, meanwhile, to a firm called RPC. Under the terms, RPC was supposed to administer 100 drug programs. But curiously, the agency didn't assign any actual programs to RPC for several months. Dogoloff had already authorized Katon to go ahead with 13 drug programs.

Both Dogoloff and Katon insisted these programs were not taken from the 100 that RPC was supposed to handle. Yet RPC ended up working on only 87 programs, precisely 13 short of the 100 the firm should have been given.

A few months later, according to inside sources, an incensed Dogoloff tried to cancel RPC's contract altogether. NIDA officials had to tell him this would be illegal.

Dogoloff told us he was merely trying to improve the firm's work. "I never sought to cancel or reverse RPC's contract," he said. "I simply wanted RPC to do a better job."

As for Katon, the nervous doctor now has more than $1 million in NIDA contracts. Agency officials have sometimes seen him wandering around the contracts office where confidential information is closely guarded. One time, he was firmly asked to leave. But Katon declared: "I have never gone to the contracts office to get advance information."

Footnote: Reporters Strauss and Kurtz have spent several months on the NIDA investigation. More of their findings will be published in a future column.

Mrs. John Hill tours West Texas, stops here

By MARJ CARPENTER
"We are very pleased with the way the Governor's race is apparently going," Mrs. John (Bitsy) Hill, wife of a candidate for that post, subject to the Democratic Primary May 2.

Mrs. Hill was honored at a reception in the club room of Big Spring Savings and Loan here Tuesday.
"John has been very busy handling the Howard Hughes case as Attorney General, since the outcome of that case would mean so much to Texas," she continued.

"While he has only been able to campaign on nights and weekends, I have been making a swing through the Panhandle and West Texas," she said.

"We really feel at home in Big Spring because we have so many old friends here and because West Texans are wonderful people," she added.

When asked about the Attorney General's office sending out assistants near the end of 1977 to investigate the Santome shooting death in Glasscock County, Mrs. Hill said, "John had no intentions of interfering with the district attorney's investigation or the grand jury investigation. He had several calls on the matter and since two of his assistants were going to another West Texas city, he asked them to stop and offer their assistance."

Mrs. Hill was accompanied to Big Spring by Mrs. Austin McCleod, wife of the justice of the Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland.

Mrs. McCleod is the daughter of the late Frank Kelly of Colorado City, one-time president of the West Texas Chamber. She is very well-known in Big Spring.

She laughed and recalled,

FANS OF BIG SPRING — Mrs. John Hill, left, and Mrs. Austin McCleod, look over a brochure on Big Spring, Mrs. Hill, whose husband is running for Governor, has been campaigning throughout the Panhandle and West Texas. Like most who visit Big Spring, the two found Big Spring to be a warm and friendly bunch of people.

"I used to come here to the dentist, to eat Mexican food and to shop."

Mrs. McCleod and Mrs. Hill taught Sunday School in the same Methodist Church in Houston and became good friends.

Mrs. Hill is apparently a tireless campaigner and is expecting to be on the road a lot prior to the Democratic Primary.

Bob Miller, local attorney, was in charge of the reception here today. He is a friend of the Hills from Houston days.

He laughingly said, "Ironically, my brother as an attorney is working on the other side of the Howard Hughes case at this time. But John Hill is giving it full-fledged attention."

Mrs. Patterson reviews 'Onassis' for Hyperions

Mrs. Morris Patterson reviewed the book "Onassis" by Frank Brady at the Tuesday meeting of the 1930 Hyperion Club, which met at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Hostesses were Mrs. Elmo Wasson, Mrs. E.L. Powell and Mrs. Olan Key.

Eighteen members were present at the meeting, at which Mrs. Powell, president, appointed a nominating committee to report next month.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Marvin Miller and Mrs. G.R. Robinson.

The next meeting will be hosted by Mrs. Horace Garrett, Mrs. Adolph Swartz and Mrs. J.R. Farmer. It will be Feb. 11.

Dear Abby

Husband Wants 'Back' After Wanting 'Out'

DEAR ABBY: After 10 years of marriage, my husband, a successful attorney, suddenly announced that he was fed up with being married and he wanted to be "free." I was hurt and stunned because I thought Dick and I had a good marriage, but I gave him his freedom.

The day after our divorce became final, Dick married a pretty young woman who worked in his office. He told me that she was an orthodox Jew, and in order to marry her he had converted to Judaism and had had himself circumcised—at age 41, mind you!

After four months of marriage, Dick called, saying he must have been crazy, he never realized how much he loved me and the children, and could he come "home"? Abby, I never stopped loving Dick, but if I take him back I'm afraid of what my family and friends will think. What would YOU do?

M. IN MANHATTAN

DEAR M.: I'd take what's left of him back.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a terrific guy, but there seems to be a problem. Whenever his family has a celebration, such as a birthday or anniversary party, they leave me out. Today is his father's birthday and his family has planned a big dinner for him; I was not invited.

I feel hurt and insulted because I've never done anything to make his family dislike me. My family has always included my fiance in all of their celebrations, and he has accepted with pleasure.

Am I wrong to feel that I should be invited to his family parties? Or should I just accept being excluded and learn to live with it?

FEELING UNWANTED

DEAR FEELING: If your fiance's family is aware that you are engaged to marry this young man and they exclude you from their family celebrations they are guilty of gross social misconduct. But if your terrific guy is as terrific as you say he is, he'd see to it that you were invited.

Something is fishy here. Either your definition of "engaged to be married" doesn't jibe with your fiance's family's, or he lacks good manners, sensitivity and simple courage.

DEAR ABBY: There is a woman in our car pool who is a constant source of worry to all the other mothers. She picks up the children at school and then proceeds to do all her errands, such as grocery shopping, getting her things at the dry cleaners, etc.

Sometimes she doesn't bring the children home until dark, and we other mothers are on the phone calling each other, worried sick that she may have had an accident. How can we let her know that she should do her errands BEFORE she gets the youngsters?

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: The woman is thoughtless, but she's not a mind reader. For goodness' sakes, TELL her!

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Region No. 1 commander to make official visit

The Region No. 1 Convention to be held in El Paso in April was discussed at the Monday meeting of the Disabled American Veterans.

The organization met at 7:30 p.m. in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Silver Heels addition.

Club plans activities

Fourteen members attended the Jan. 11 meeting of the Sew and Chatter Club.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Ervin Daniel at 3 p.m.

Plans were discussed for future activities, mainly making quilt tops and tacking them.

These quilts are either sold and the money used for benevolent purposes, or donated to needy people.

Mrs. Daniel served refreshments after the meeting.

The next meeting will be Jan. 25 with Malinda Blackburn and Bernice Lightfoot, 1707 Benton.

Katie Spivey presided, and Margaret Caldwell called roll, with Clara Lewis answering.

Also discussed were the Christmas parties held in both nursing homes and the Veteran's Administration Hospital. The auxiliary and chapter also had a party and exchanged gifts.

It was announced that the Region No. 1 commander, Gladys Miller, will make her official visit at the next meeting, which will be at 6 p.m. Feb. 20. A pot luck supper will be held for the occasion.

All members are urged to attend.

Don't shortchange yourself, she warns Quality of life examined

Mrs. T.G. Adams and Mrs. S.R. Nobles presented a program entitled "Dreams for Better Health" at the Friday meeting of the Modern Woman's Forum.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Bert Affleck, and Mrs. Cass Hill, president, called the meeting to order.

Mrs. Adams discussed "How's Your Quality of Life?" She said that many retirees shortchange themselves by their life-styles.

A person should do more than base his existence on sleeping, eating, mowing the lawn, shopping and watching television, she said.

However, a person should not fill his life with an exhausting schedule from morning to night. It's neither the number of activities nor their repetition that counts.

What does matter is the leisurely participation in an assortment of cultural, recreational and social events that gives greater dimension, depth and satisfaction to a person's life, she concluded.

Mrs. Nobles discussed "New Hope after Illness," an article based on work done in the field of medical rehabilitation by Dr. Howard Rusk.

From the time Dr. Rusk began practicing medicine in the mid 20's, he has stressed the importance of treating the whole patient, dealing with both medical and non-medical factors.

Out of this has come his philosophy of rehabilitation which is, in a nutshell, taking the patient back to the best life possible after an illness such as stroke, heart attack, emphysema or arthritis.

Through Dr. Rusk's philosophy we learn that there can be advantage to the disadvantaged.

It was announced that the club would meet today with Mrs. Affleck to make yearly reports.

Dorothy Hull will represent the club at a January luncheon at Big Spring State Hospital.

An offering was made to be applied on a gift for the Headquarters Clubhouse in Austin from the Western District of Texas Federated Clubs.

Mrs. C.A. Holcomb will host the Jan. 27 meeting.

Hughes' lifestyle dramatized

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The deposition of another former personal aide to Howard Hughes will be read in Clark County District Court today as the trial to determine whether Hughes' penned the so-called Mormon Will continues into its third month.

Tuesday's court session was highlighted by testimony given in the form of a deposition by former Hughes employee Ron Kistler of Littleton, Colo. The deposition of former Hughes' aide Roy Crawford will be dramatized by attorneys on Wednesday. Portions of the five-volume deposition are to be played for the jury which will decide the case.

Kistler's dramatized testimony Tuesday focused on Hughes' eccentric, sometimes bizarre lifestyle. The trial pits Hughes' relatives against former Hughes advisor Noah Dietrich. The relatives claim the three-page, handwritten will is a forgery, while Dietrich and his attorney, Harold Rhoden, are seeking to have the document declared genuine. Rhoden is attempting to prove that the kidney disease which eventually took Hughes' life nearly two years ago also was responsible for Hughes' weird behavior and the crude handwriting in the will.

Kistler said he worked for Hughes Productions from mid-1956 through mid-1959, and came in personal contact with Hughes on many occasions. Kistler said the company had not produced a movie in about three years when he was hired and that it did not produce any movies that he knew off while he worked there.

He said the entire staff of Hughes Productions was devoted to Hughes' personal care. Kistler said he started as a guard, later moving up to be a driver, then head of the drivers' pool and eventually the projectionist who showed the movies Hughes loved to watch. Kistler is the author of the book, "I Caught Flies for Howard Hughes." During the Nossack period, Kistler also said Hughes told his then wife, Jean Peters, via telephone that he was in a hospital with some undisclosed disease.

'NOT SORRY' — Victor Periu and wife, Dolly, smile Tuesday after he accepted controversial "Courageous Citizen Award" from an area gun club. The award, a plaque, foreground, and check for $200, was for his action in wrestling a gun away during what police said was a holdup at his delicatessen in New York's Flatbush section, and wounding of three men involved. "I'm not sorry I did it; I'd gladly do it again," said the unrepentant Periu.

Job training opposition

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The new director of Cameron County's troubled Manpower program knows that even if he manages to pull the faltering $11 million project together, there will be opponents to the job training program.

"I'd like to give it a measure of respectability," John Barron, a college roommate of Lyndon Johnson's, said. "But with many people, even if it is running legally and correctly, it's not acceptable."

The 68-year-old retired San Benito school superintendent was picked by Cameron County commissioners to replace Andy Muniz. Muniz had served briefly as acting director and is now under two felony bribery indictments.

A county grand jury, sparked by testimony offered during a court of inquiry here, returned 20 manpower-related indictments last week.

"It may never be a credit to Cameron County because of the very nature of the program, but I'll try to make it a credit to the taxpayers by keeping an honest administration of the funds according to the purpose for which they were appropriated," he said.

Barron's new office is still decorated with Muniz momentos. The Manpower offices were under lock and key until Monday when Barron assumed control. State District Judge Darrell Hester, who convened the court of inquiry in December had ordered deputies to guard the offices until a new director was appointed.

But Barron's appointment is still being questioned. He got the $24,000 per year job on a 3-2 commissioners court vote. County Judge Ray Ramon has challenged the vote, saying the vacancy was never advertised.

Barron had not applied for the job but was recommended by Commissioner Adolph Thomea, a former member of the San Benito school board.

327-year-old Rembrandt stolen

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A 327-year-old Rembrandt etching valued by one art dealer at $25,000 has been stolen from the Kimbell Art Museum.

The etching, titled "Landscape with Cottage and Haybarn," was only 5½-by-13 inches.

"We surmise that he rolled it up and carried it off in his clothing," said Shirley Speckerman, a spokeswoman for the museum.

A second Rembrandt installed on the same easel was not removed.

"It was installed beneath a plexiglass sheet and mounted on an easel in the museum's north gallery. The thief removed the plexiglass and the window mat that was over the etching and hauled it from the paper backing," she added.

A security guard told police he saw the etching in its proper place at 3 p.m. Tuesday and then noticed it missing when he made a round 20 minutes later.

"We have strong hopes of its recovery because it is a well-known print by one of the greatest masters," said Dr. Richard F. Brown, director of the museum.

"It will be identifiable by museums, scholars and people in the art trade. The theft was possible only because of the etching's small size and portability," he said.

"We immediately frisked everyone in the museum, but they were clean," Brown said. "No one saw anything. We don't have any idea who took it."

He said it is one of the most valuable pieces owned by the Kimbell.

"It has many distinctive marks in the way of collective seals which show the etching's history," he added.

The museum purchased the Rembrandt from a European art dealer about four years ago. Rembrandt, who lived from 1606 to 1669, designed some 300 etchings during his lifetime.

"We will not put a dollar value on it," said Brown.

"We want the public to recognize this great piece for its aesthetic value, not for some monetary value."

Kennedy files jammed with 'tips'

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than a year after John F. Kennedy was assassinated, the FBI was still investigating hundreds of tips, rumors and letters from "cranks, mental cases and patriotic citizens," newly-released files showed today.

A half-ton of FBI documents recount the painstaking investigation prompted by the letters that poured in from spiritualists, convicts and average citizens who thought they might know something.

One sequence of memos tells of the detailed investigation touched off when the FBI learned that a man in Pasco, Wash., had sent a $6 spray of flowers to the funeral of Lee Harvey Oswald. He told agents he did it on impulse.

Buried in the 58,754 pages are documents reflecting the bitter reaction of the late J. Edgar Hoover to critics of the assassination investigation.

A note on one letter from Assistant Attorney General Herbert Miller to Hoover on Aug. 12, 1964, characterizes much of the file:

"We have received numerous complaints relating to individuals other than Lee Harvey Oswald. The complaints generally relate to remarks and threats allegedly made by individuals concerning their feelings about President Kennedy, other officials and the policies of the administration. The complaints are initiated by cranks, mental cases and patriotic citizens."

The documents, in cartons weighing 60 pounds apiece, were released under the Freedom of Information Act — at 10 cents a page.

One memo seems to account for the meticulous tracing of every tip, no matter how belated or far-fetched. A document on an anonymous memo says:

"Although the source of the note is unknown, it is believed U.S. Secret Service should be given the information, nebulous as it is, to avoid any possibility of criticism of the bureau at a future date."

So the inquiries were pursued, usually to deadends like the one described by a frustrated FBI agent who interviewed a tipster.

"Judging from the conversation . . . and the subject's remarks concerning flying saucers and magnetic machines, it is believed the subject is one of those individuals who is lacking of his five mental faculties. Recommendation: no action."

One man invented a story of the purchase of clothing by Oswald in Laredo, Tex. He got a lecture. Another, in New York City, made up a story of friendship with Oswald. After a detailed investigation, he was charged with providing false information to the FBI and was sent to a mental hospital for observation.

Another FBI inquiry involved an assertion that former President Gerald R. Ford, then a member of the House and of the Warren Commission, leaked Oswald's diary to Life Magazine. The bureau concluded that although Ford had contacts with the editor of Life, there was no evidence he had given the diary to the magazine.

BLOCKED — With just two seconds remaining in regulation play, and the score tied, Big Spring's Chippo Wright (center) blocks an inbound pass to thwart an Odessa game-winning attempt. Wright was injured on the play, but not seriously. The Steers won the overtime contest, 62-61.

Steers scrape Odessa

An injured but spunky crew of Big Spring Steers found the connecting line to the hoop Tuesday night and survived a case of "turn-overitis" to defeat the Odessa Broncs 62-61 in a thrilling District 5-4A overtime barnburner.

The Bovines capitalized on 90 per cent shooting in the second frame (nine out of 10 from the floor) and wound up shooting an uncharacteristic 50 per cent for the night.

"Our guys showed a lot of class," said Head Coach Tommy Collins. "They kept battling back from adversity all night." Adversity came in the form of 22 local turnovers and a thinned squad.

Ysa Rubio and Kenneth Coffey did not see action because of injury and sickness, and sparkplug Chippo Wright left the game on the last play of regulation with a back injury. The trainer will determine the extent of Wright's injury later today.

Mark Poss again led the Steers in scoring and rebounding. He totaled 26 points and eight caroms. Kenneth Perry was next in the backboard department, with seven, and Wright was next in points, with 16.

Del Poss was the other local roundballer in double figures. He popped in 11.

"Our turnovers kept Odessa in the game," Collins said. "And our defense won the game for us. We played a man on man combination defense which completely messed them up."

The Steers also found the mesh between the Odessa press and weren't threatened by it all night, despite the fact that they trailed by four at one stage.

Erving received 396,503 votes from a record 1,397,272 ballots cast by fans in the 22 league cities to earn a starting forward berth on the East squad. The fans elect the five starters while the six reserves will be chosen by the league coaches.

Blue deal still pends

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn knows that whatever decision he makes on the Vida Blue trade, "it's fairly predictable" that someone will scream bloody murder.

Kuhn's involvement in the deal has attracted the interest of the Cincinnati Reds, who think they've obtained the former Cy Young Award winning left-hander for minor league first baseman Dave Revering and $1.75 million. It has attracted New York Yankees' owner George Steinbrenner, who thought 19 months ago that he had purchased Blue for $1.5 million.

Interested also are Oakland A's owner Charles Finley — whose ears always seem to perk up when Kuhn's name is mentioned — and Marvin Miller, the executive director of the baseball players' association.

All gathered at Kuhn's midtown offices here Tuesday for a hearing which, they had hoped, would result in Kuhn's decision to approve or nullify the deal. But the conclave, which involved nearly six hours of sworn testimony from five witnesses, had no such outcome; so all parties agreed to come back at 10 a.m., EST, next Tuesday.

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys might be the kings of professional football right now, but their injury report is beginning to look like the casualty list at the Alamo.

Seven Cowboys, including Super Bowl heroes Roger Staubach, Butch Johnson and Randy Hughes, are scheduled for surgery in the next month.

And star-rookie running back Tony Dorsett is hobbling around with splints on his sprained knee. Sounds critical, right?

Not necessarily, says team spokesman Doug Todd.

"This is just a little more than normal for off-season operations," Todd said Tuesday. "We just announced them all at once this time. It sounds startling, because usually we space out those operations. Plus, we had those Super Bowl injuries."

The injury list was inflated by the vicious hitting Sunday in Super Bowl XII, said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. Dallas won the game 27-10 over Denver, but Staubach, Johnson and Dorsett were injured in the fray.

Surgery was planned today for Staubach, who suffered a broken bone and severed tendon in the index finger of his passing hand; and Johnson, who broke a bone behind his right thumb — before he made a spectacular leaping touchdown reception.

Cowboy officials said Dorsett's right knee has been put in splints and that a decision will be made on his status later in the week.

Hughes, who recovered two fumbles and intercepted a pass in the Super Bowl, will undergo surgery Friday or Saturday to repair a damaged nerve in the little toe on his right foot.

Cowboys officials did not say when Hughes suffered his injury, but it was believed to be before the Super Bowl.

Meanwhile, Cowboys center John Fitzgerald will have damaged cartilage removed from his right knee either Friday or Saturday.

Other Cowboys scheduled for surgery in early February include cornerback Benny Barnes for a bone spur in his right foot and ankle, defensive lineman Bill Gregory for damaged cartilage in his right knee and retiring offensive tackle Ralph Neely for a bone spur in his right knee.

Neely's surgery is scheduled Feb. 19.

All of the injured Cowboys are expected to be healthy by spring.

'Owls' are clowns' -- Lemons

The lowly Rice Owls, who substituted an incredible 99 times Tuesday night, belong under the Big Top instead of on the basketball court, says Texas Coach Abe Lemons.

"All they needed were the clowns to make it a circus," Lemons said after his 15th-ranked Longhorns easily squashed Rice 78-64 to maintain their lead in the Southwest Conference.

"There can't be a purpose to all that. It doesn't bother anybody, it just delays the game."

— football plays, that is.

"Emory Bellard (A&M football coach) could use two or three of the Aggies because they play like it's football," Sutton said after his sixth-ranked Hogs battered Texas A&M 84-68 in a game marred by a bench-clearing brawl.

With Arkansas leading only 21-18 midway through the first half, Texas A&M's Jarvis Williams and Arkansas' Sidney Moncrief exchanged elbow jabs and then punches.

Both benches cleared and when order was restored, Moncrief was assessed a personal foul and Williams got a technical foul.

But the inspired Razorbacks, with Ron Brewer hitting two field goals and a three-point play, bolted to a 32-21 lead and were on top 46-31 at the half. They led by as many as 25 in the second half.

"We lost on the field," said Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf. "It got their adrenaline flowing and didn't do anything for us."

"Williams was guarding me real close," said Moncrief. "He had been pushing me all night and that's when I got a little fed up with it. No doubt about it, A&M is the most physical team we have played. You can call it rough or you can call it dirty."

The Hogs upped their record to 3-1 in the SWC and 15-1 for the season.

Almost lost in the shuffle was Brewer's sensational 12-for-13 night from the field. He finished with 29 points to equal his career high.

Rice Coach Mike Schuler, whose team is only 1-4 in the SWC and 3-11 for the season, substituted 80 times in the second half alone, stopping the game to shuffle players whenever the Owls switched to offense or defense.

"The substitution scheme is done with a purpose," said Schuler, who also substituted 99 times earlier this season.

"We have offensive players and defensive players. We are just trying to get all our players involved and I think it helps."

"I guess he's trying to make the Guinness Book of World Records," snorted Lemons.

Meanwhile, Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton says he felt like the Texas Aggies ought to don pads and helmets and run a few plays

Super view record set

NEW YORK (AP) — More people watched the Super Bowl Sunday evening than any other program this season, A.C. Nielsen figures show.

An estimated 34.2 million homes tuned to the game between the Dallas Cowboys and the Denver Broncos, compared with 27.2 million for the season's previous most-watched show, the Muhammad Ali-Earnie Shavers championship fight Sept. 29.

The Dallas-Denver game had a rating of 46.9, compared with the previous record for a sports telecast of 44.4, set by the Super Bowl game a year ago between Oakland and Minnesota. Sunday's game was the first in the Super Bowl's 12-year history to be played in prime time.

The rating for the Super Bowl means 46.9 percent of all the homes in the country with television watched at least part of the game.

Dr. J gets top ballots

NEW YORK (AP) — Julius Erving, whose dazzling dunks earned him Most Valuable Player honors in last year's National Basketball Association All-Star Game, was the leading vote-getter for this year's edition, which will be played Feb. 5 in Atlanta.

The State National Bank

DIAL 267-2531

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE BANK

Erving received 396,503 votes from a record 1,397,272 ballots cast by fans in the 22 league cities to earn a starting forward berth on the East squad. The fans elect the five starters while the six reserves will be chosen by the league coaches.

The East, which holds a 17-10 lead in All-Star competition but will be seeking to avenge a 125-124 loss suffered last year at Milwaukee, will be coached by Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia, who took over for Gene Shue early this season and guided the 76ers to the best record in the Eastern Conference.

Jack Ramsay of Portland will coach the West squad and he'll have his two big men on hand — center Bill Walton and forward Maurice Lucas. The other West starters, as voted by the fans, will be forward Rick Barry of Golden State, who will be making his eighth appearance and sixth start in the mid-winter classic, and guards David Thompson of Denver and Paul Westphal of Phoenix.

Thompson was the West's leading vote-getter with 321,454.

Erving's runningmate at forward for the East will be a former teammate, Larry Kenon of San Antonio. Those two helped the New York Nets to an American Basketball Association championship in 1974.

In the closest race, Dave Cowens of Boston was voted the East's starting center with 222,109 votes to 214,834 for New York's Bob McAdoo. Pete Maravich of New Orleans, the league's leading scorer, and George Gervin of San Antonio will be the East's starting guards.

It will be the first starting assignment in an NBA all-star game for Kenon, Gervin, Lucas and Walton.

The most familiar name missing from the starting lineup is center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Los Angeles, who has been the NBA's Most Valuable Player five of the past seven years.

Nicklaus ready for Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus starts his trimmed-down schedule this week in cold, rain and sloop that has become synonymous with the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

Gervin is impressive

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Lenny Wilkins of Seattle is joining the growing ranks of National Basketball Association coaches applauding the scoring antics of San Antonio's George Gervin.

"Gervin showed he is a real all-star," said Wilkins. That came Tuesday night after Gervin burned the Supersonics for 36 points, including 16 in the third quarter. The Spurs won 119-113 to snap a seven-game winning streak by Seattle.

"He is one of the finest shooters around the league," Wilkins added.

Gervin was one of two players tapped for the starting unit of the East All-Star team on Monday. Larry Kenon was another, and he scored 21 points against Seattle. The Spurs, who led 60-55 at halftime, stretched the lead to 17 points during the third period.

"I was getting the ball in good position all night," said Gervin, who is the NBA's second leading scorer. He connected on 14 of 21 from the field.

Seattle rookie Jack Sikma led the Sonics with 26 points. The Sonics shot only 44 percent while the Spurs hit on 58 percent of their field goal attempts.

Grady teams defeated

GRADY — Greenwood swept a pair of games from the Grady varsity squads Tuesday night, capturing the boys contest 37-30, and the girls' game, 66-53.

Faye Welch led the Grady fems with 25. Tammy Nelson and Debbie Romine added eight apiece, and Ginger Madison and Tamara Williams popped in six and four, respectively. The girls are now 1-3 in district.

Jeannie Anderson scored 33 for Greenwood.

Jimmy Mitchell led the Wildcats with 10. Alex Perez hit eight, Mark Tate scored six, Ronald Chee added four and Roy Madison hit two. The boys are now 1-4 in district.

James Mobley and Mark Swafford led the 4-0 Greenwood boys with 10 each.

Stanton splits Plains games

STANTON — The Stanton boys dropped their opening district game to Plains Tuesday night, 58-43, while the Buff fems continued their blitzkrieg with a 79-17 trouncing of Plains.

Todd Smith led the SHS boys with 23 markers, while Rocky Bludworth added nine. The Buffs sport an overall record of 12-9.

Loretta Young was again tops for the fems with 31 points. Bonnie Bludworth added 20 and Mary Young was good for nine. The Stanton fems are riding the crest of a 21-2 season record.

Steer fems lost to OHS

ODESSA — The Big Spring Steer girls' basketball team dropped an 80-28 decision to Odessa Monday night.

Peggy Calhoun was tops with 17, while Susie Hernandez followed with six. Penny Ray had three and Jamie Hulan added two. Rose Magers is still on the injured list for the locals.

The JV's lost to OHS, 29-14. Pam Banks and Ester Rodriguez were top scorers with four each.

partners to the world's leading professionals, gets underway Thursday on three storm-lashed courses on the picturesque Monterey Peninsula with teenager Nathaniel Crosby sitting in as host for the week-long party that has come to be known as the "Crosby Clambake."

After the death of Bing Crosby on a golf course in Spain last year, his family decided to continue the event he founded and built into one of the game's most prestigious events. It will serve as a memorial to the golf enthusiast who started the tournament in the Great Depression as a get-together for the touring pros and some of his show business buddies.

It now offers $225,000 in prize money with an additional $30,000 to be distributed in the pro-am section of the event. The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by ABC-TV.

Among Nicklaus' chief opponents in the field that will play one round each over the Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point layouts, are Tom Watson and Lanny Wadkins, who won his PGA title over the craggy headlands that form the Pebble Beach links.

Watson kicked off his run to 1977 Player of the Year honors with an exuberant victory in the Crosby last season and opened the 1978 campaign with a winning performance at Tucson, Ariz.

Arnold Palmer is certain to draw the largest, most enthusiastic galleries. The 48-year-old Palmer, who had his best performance in recent history last week in the rain-delayed Phoenix Open, will play as the partner of former President Gerald Ford.

Other standouts include U.S. Open champ Hubert Green, Hale Irwin, Bruce Lietzke, Ray Floyd, Tom Weiskopf, Ben Crenshaw, Jerry Pate and Johnny Miller.

The only major absentee is Lee Trevino, who feared the cold and rain that has swept the peninsula for weeks would have an adverse effect on his back, still painful from a 1976 operation.

Bulldogs win over Ballinger

COAHOMA — The Coahoma varsity basketball squads overpowered Ballinger Tuesday night, with the boys taking a 74-66 win, and the girls' romping to a 62-39 victory.

Tim Greenfield paced the Bulldog attack with 26 points. Mike Ritchey popped in 15 and Dusty Douglass added seven.

Angela Dykes came alive for the CHS fems, hitting 29 for the night. Micki Schaefer added 12 more and Christie Hudgins scored seven.

Sands teams down Dawson

ACKERLY — The Sands High School roundball quintets took three games from visiting Dawson Tuesday night.

Frank Garfias led the 5-3 JV boys to a 76-45 triumph. Ricky Arismendez and Shane Wiggington added 16 and 10, respectively.

Jill Floyd's 34 markers led the varsity girls to an easy 74-40 win. Susan Martin and Jodie Kemper hit for 16 and 14, as well. Using the excellent defense of Susie Brasher, Tammy Nichols and Leslie Guitar, plus support from the bench, the Fillies improved their record to 24-2 overall, and 4-0 in district.

Doctors nix $3,000 kidney sale

PITTSBURGH (AP) — George Evans wants to sell a kidney for $3,000. Nettie Dymond wants to buy it for her son.

But doctors in Pittsburgh, where Evans lives, and St. Joseph, Mo., where Mrs. Dymond lives, say the sale is unethical and are refusing to perform the necessary operation.

"What should I do?" asked Evans, who wants the money to pay debts from a traffic accident. "Mug some old lady? Rob a store? This way I don't affect nobody but me, and I might even get to help somebody."

"Kidneys are not bought, period," said Dr. Thomas Hakla, director of Presbyterian University Hospital's renal division, where most Pittsburgh kidney transplants are performed.

Hakla noted that donors must be carefully matched to kidney recipients and said kidneys generally are taken from blood relatives or cadavers.

Evans said that no tests have been made to determine the characteristics of his kidneys.

"It's my kidney and I can do what I want with it," said Evans, 38, a welfare recipient. "There's nothing really wrong with it (his offer)."

Evans has had heavy response from his advertising in Pittsburgh newspapers. Callers have included curiosity seekers, doctors and a few, like Mrs.

Dymond, who want to buy. Evans had no auto insurance so he lost his driver's license after an accident. To get it back, he must pay $2,000 damages. He wants another $1,000 for a truck to start a home remodeling business.

Stanley Dymond, 38, has had dialysis treatment for eight months.

"I wanted to give him one of my kidneys but I have a heart condition," said his mother in a telephone interview before calling Evans.

Mrs. Dymond reported Tuesday that her doctor nixed the purchase.

"He said he wouldn't take it from anybody who would sell it," she said. "I should have kept my mouth shut and told him it was going to be donated."

In 1975, Robert Nuzum of Pittsburgh tried to sell his kidney after reading about a Kane, Pa., man who offered to sell an eye.

Nuzum found a buyer, but the prospective recipient's hospital declined to permit the operation on moral and legal grounds.

Donald Schloppy, who put his eye up for sale, said he received more than $8,000 in donations after his offer received national attention. He kept his eye.

He kept his eye.

$16,000 TV hook-up helps surgeon testify

NEW YORK (AP) — By using a $16,000 television hook-up, a heart surgeon has testified in a federal court case here while sitting in a room at a Houston hospital.

U.S. District Court Judge Jack Weinstein ordered the hook-up so Dr. Denton Cooley would not have to take time away from his surgical duties at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

"The time of this eminent heart surgeon is better spent treating patients than in flying to and from New York," Weinstein said Tuesday. "We cannot afford to deny the court system the benefits of 20th century technology."

Wearing a white hospital coat and green surgical garb, the physician testified for about 45 minutes while standing in the board room of St. Luke's, where he is senior surgeon.

Cooley was called to testify in a suit involving assertedly faulty valves he implanted in patients' hearts. Three of his patients sued when the valves deteriorated and had to be replaced.

He was originally named in the suits, but when the three suits were combined, the only defendant was Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., makers of the valve.

The plaintiffs charge that firm did not conduct enough tests on the valve before it was used on humans, and that recipients were not told it was still experimental.

No money and no constituency, Lopez quits governor's race

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Ricardo Lopez said Tuesday he will drop out of the governor's race because he had no money and "no constituency."

Lopez, 31, a native of Eagle Pass, said Nov. 1 he was quitting as a state employee to run for governor as an independent. He filed as his own campaign secretary but had never made the necessary declaration as an independent candidate.

He said he was presently unemployed.

Lopez, who said he had been a program analyst in the migrant affairs program of the Department of Community Affairs for three years, said the current investigations into migrant programs shows "a lot of abuse and connivance. The public trust has also been abused."

Ribbon cutting slated Monday

A new business will hold a grand opening and ribbon cutting on Monday, Jan. 23 at 1 p.m. It is Windmill Nutrition at 114 W. 2nd and is owned by Hank Pope.

Pope points out that the science of nutritional and dietary supplementation is daily becoming a major factor in the maintenance of human health and well-being.

The owner of the health food store said, coupled with this fact is the fact that the general public is becoming increasingly concerned with removal of nutrients during food processing and are demanding greater supplies of unprocessed foods."

Mr. and Mrs. Pope will operate the business which offers organically grown foods and a complete line of nutritional and dietary supplements. They also will handle a line of Thompson Vitamins, a product known to the public for 41 years.

Heroin used to pay killers of inmate?

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The slaying of an inmate of the Bexar County Jail last year is reportedly being investigated by state and federal authorities who believe the victim may have been targeted for death by someone outside the jail.

White said he understood "the heroin was smuggled into the jail and shot up by the prisoners."

The San Antonio News said Tuesday it learned from sources, who asked not to be identified, that the slaying was arranged by a man who delivered heroin to five inmates in exchange for killing the victim.

Investigators said Saenz was strangled and then hanged to make the death appear to be a suicide.

The newspaper also said its under investigation because the victim, Hugo E. Saenz, 22, was transferred to a cell holding his accused killers just before his death.

Saenz was found hanging by the neck in a shower stall at the jail last Sept. 17. District Attorney Bill White was quoted as saying the investigation had been conducted quietly and he would confirm only that the probe centered around the Saenz killing and that heroin had been used to pay off the

This time of year, it gets to be stock show circuit time. For those of you not interested in such things, this means nothing at all, but to the youths who participate and their parents, it's quite a big thing.

Last week there were junior livestock shows in Colorado City, Big Spring and Stanton and this week there is one in Lamesa — today as a matter of fact.

The work that goes into

Stock show time

with Marj Carpenter

getting ready for one of these events is tremendous to the FFA or 4-H boys or girls who are entering their projects.

They have already spent months feeding and caring for their animals. Then comes the time to enter them in competition.

And the grooming, and beautifying tops that of some women in the local beauty shops.

They bathe, curl, brush, curry and in general literally clean up and beautify those hogs, lambs and steers from head to toe.

I think, in my years of covering stock shows, one of the funniest I ever saw was one year it got so cold at Andrews that they were afraid to bathe the steers. But one kid was so determined that his steer was going to be clean that he took it down to the local car wash and cleaned it up for the show. That was Phil Brannan who later married a Colorado City girl and now works in Odessa.

KENT COOK JUDGES STEERS ...Sharlyn Holcomb showing project in Stanton

Over at Stanton last Saturday, the county agent's secretary was busy keeping track of all of the winners and her little son came up crying like his heart would break.

He had just had his first experience with an angry swine that did not want to be judged in the stock show. The pig had run at the small youth, who was right on a level with the pig and he was absolutely terrified.

I know the feeling. I had one hog chase me plumb out of a pen in Pecos one time and I was quite a bit taller than that hog. But when they are riled they are something to watch.

The Ackerly FFA youths were having quite a time washing a steer last Thursday prior to the local show. That steer stood all the way up on his hind legs trying to come out over the fence.

The youths also earn showmanship awards for their ability to keep a project calm while it is being shown in the arena.

The best showman I ever saw was young Dale Toone in Pecos, who was blind. He was so close to the hogs he would show. He would feel around them with his hands and bring them into the arena and they were the calmest I ever saw anywhere. It was almost as if they knew that their owner was handicapped and they were going to help him out.

A lot of the projects shown around in the area will now go to the big shows in Fort

One of the services Big Spring Cable TV offers its customers is a local weather station. This weather station information appears in digital form on the lower half of your television screen on channel 10. There are three temperatures shown on this presentation:

1. Temperature at our station — Now
2. Hi Temperature for 24 hours starting at midnight.
3. Lo Temperature for 24 hours starting at midnight.

The Cable TV temperature measuring instrument is located at 2066 South Birdwell Lane. It is some ten feet off the ground, partially shaded from the sun, exposed to the wind. Comparing temperature readings from this instrument and other thermometers in this general area is likely to be very confusing since temperature readings will vary widely with location and accuracy of the measuring instrument. A thermometer exposed to frost will read colder, longer than one not exposed to frost. Temperatures measured in the deep shade and compared to temperatures on the sunny side of a building may vary 26 degrees fahrenheit. Please call our office if you have a question about our weather station.
