School Board Awards Contract For $2 Million Building Project

By Becky Werhan

A $2 million-plus county-wide school building project has been awarded by the Aransas County School Board to A.&A. Construction of Victoria, the original low bidder.

A.&A.'s general contract amount totals to $2,945,747. This is a revision of their original bid of $2,960,000. Added to the figure is an "alternate" of $50,000 for parking at the new auditorium.

The award decision was made in a 40-minute meeting on Thursday night, May 14. The trustees of the ACISD met the previous Thursday to deliberate on the bids and hear recommendations from the architectural firm in charge, SWHC of Corpus Christi.

Bids on the project had been turned in on Thursday, April 30, but a final decision was held up during consultation with the construction company to find areas for possible cost reductions.

Dale Ruckstuhl, representative of SWHC, termed the contractor "very helpful" in finding areas to cut costs. However the project is still expected to go some $50,000 over budget since three alternate bid areas still in revision — kitchen equipment, stage equipment and auditorium seating — will have to be added.

According to County School Superintendent Joe Randow, the excess will be easily handled by interest on the bond election funds voted for the project last September. A figure of $3.5 million was voted on and some of that has been spent on repair of the high school roof.

TURNING THE CITY ON

Crewmen for Rockport's Central Power & Light company replace the line fuse that blew, cutting off power to parts of Rockport for about 10 minutes Monday morning, May 18. Joel Zapata, manager of CP&L's Rockport office, said the line fuse blew as the result of a bad transformer in the area of Jackson Marine. The transformer was replaced and workmen replaced the line fuse which was at the intersection of Cornwall and Magnolia streets. Power was cut off to the area around Jackson Marine including downtown Rockport and an area around the Yacht Basin Motel and H.E.B., Zapata said. Among the buildings temporarily without power were the Chamber of Commerce Building and the Rockport Pilot. [Pilot Photo by Pat Blair]

Wal-Mart Store Planned

Plans to open a 43,770 square foot Wal-Mart Discount City store in Rockport were announced last week by Wal-Mart's Chairman and Chief Executive Sam Walton, from the store's headquarters in Bentonville, Arkansas.

The store will be located on the west side of Highway 35 approximately two blocks north of the entrance to Harbor Oaks.

Jack Shewmaker, Wal-Mart president, said the Rockport store will employ approximately 60 area residents with additional help hired during the peak seasons.

Beginning date for construction of the store has not yet been announced.

Bill Bothwell of the company's real estate division, said in a long distance phone interview that the store's projected opening date is in spring of 1982.

Bothwell spoke of the choice of Rockport for a Wal-Mart, saying, "It's a good trade center, lots of people come through Rockport to fish and a lot more people are coming to live there. It doesn't really have any discount stores in the area, either. There's just a lot of things happening in Rockport."

The closest Wal-Mart store in this area, in Victoria, is the largest store in the country with 93,000 square feet.

There are other Wal-Mart stores throughout Texas, Alabama, Illinois, Arkansas, Kentucky, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Missouri and

Brown Named "Outstanding Citizen"

One of Rockport's most active citizens, James "Pat" Brown, was honored as the "Outstanding Citizen of the Year" during the Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet on Saturday, May 16, at the Sandollar Restaurant.

Brown, who coincidentally is the new president of the Chamber, was sponsored for the award by Rotary International. In a written nomination from the Rotary Club, Brown was described as "being the person in this area most deserving of said award because of his most laudable and generous contribution of his time and talent as a citizen. His services and gifts of his efforts far surpass any ordinary or normal persons activities and indeed should be classified as 'outstanding'."

Other citizens in nomination for the Chamber honor were Loyce Landrum, former Chamber Manager, sponsored by SeaFair; Bill and Wendy Aston, sponsored by Business and Professional Women; and Mary B. Burke, also sponsored by B&PW.

In order to insure objectivity, the judge for the honor, who wishes to remain anonymous, was not from the Rockport area.

One of the nominees, Mrs. Landrum, was honored later in the program. She received the Chamber's "Outstanding Service

RYSCO LAUNCHES ITS LARGEST

The largest boat launched to date from the Rockport Yacht & Supply Company [RYSCO] shipyards is shown, above, just moments before launching and below, as it hits the water. The boat was launched about 11:20 a.m. Sunday, May 17. The vessel is 180 feet long, 40 feet wide and 14 feet deep and was built for Billy Pugh Offshore Limited, 1981. RYSCO has built longer boats, according to Robert Konvicka in the company's personnel department, but the width and depth make this one the largest overall vessel. Konvicka said RYSCO is currently working on a second boat for Pugh that will be launched at a future date. The vessel launched Sunday is to be used as an offshore supply boat, he said. Chamber Musings

One of the best Chamber of Commerce Annual Banquets I have had the pleasure to attend (and I have made nearly every one in the 10 years I have lived here) entered into history on Saturday night, May 16.

Big crowd of interesting people, good food and fellowship. It was well mastered by Dale Rolland.

Donna Kay Knox, retiring president, gave a most interesting history of the last year's accomplishments. Someone has done a lot of work. It was great.

The program was good, well-mastered, short and snappy with some good awards being passed out. Of course, our retiring secretary Loyce Landrum was well-decorated as she should have been. She will be missed.

It was hot — most of us shed our coats.

This points out one project the Chamber could start: Find a builder for a good, up-to-date hotel with adequate party-rooms for Rockport. Pat Brown, new president, why don't you add this to your fine list of things for 1981-82?

I was quite disappointed when the Roll Call for City and County officials went unanswered. I thought that was what a C of C was — a putting into one dedicated body all business and political leaders in a community.

Mr. Bob Conwell, executive vice president of the Corpus Christi Area Convention & Tourist Bureau, made a good interesting talk on the Chamber of Commerce, its functions and what you have to do to make one function. He listed:

1. Cooperation of all phases of life in the community.

2. The dollars spent by our Winter Visitors should not be underestimated, and anything we could do to make them stay here and be happy must be done.

Pardon me, I must interrupt. I looked back over my two columns since 1977 and I find that I have mentioned this many times — and further we have not done one thing to improve fishing facilities for them.

New plans are being completed for a fishing pier at Fulton. That's great! I have pushed for this at least a dozen times.

I hope we all took some notes, both mental and on paper, from our speaker and go to work on these things.

I suggest a new name for our Chamber of Commerce, "THE ARANSAS COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE". Start the much-needed consolidation of all into a thing that functions County-wide. Pat, you can do it!

Tynes Brings 'Elegance' To Main Street

"Elegance" is the name of Patsy Tyne's new clothes shop at 103 South Austin and the name fits. Women shopping for stylish, good quality clothing know they're in the right place when then enter the tastefully decorated comfortable store.

A wide variety of clothing — from a complete casual sportswear line to formal wear for the holiday season can be found in "Elegance".

Patsy opened the store on March 13 and she says that business "has been very good."

She continues, "There's a need for my type of shop here. I myself have had trouble trying to find things in Corpus and it's a lot of trouble to run to Austin or Houston to shop."

Not all of Patsy's shoppers are from this area — "I have a lot of people in here from out of town. They're surprised to find this type of shop here. You know how women like to shop when they're on vacation."

Patsy likes to shop too — that's one of the reasons she opened the store. "I've always wanted to have a shop. I enjoy shopping and I enjoy clothes and I kind of tied to two together. It's so much easier to shop in a store this size than a large department store."

Patsy's shop may be small, but she offers brands like J.G. Hook, Diane Von Furstenburg, Charlotte Ford and others. She is also trying to find brands not as well know but with the same quality, that aren't seen everywhere.

"I've got everything from T-shirts, slacks and coverups to silk shirts and blouses. That includes lingerie, handbags, travel accessories and small gift items," says Tynes.

She has a few more items yet to come for her summer line. "I want to keep summer things through the summer," Patsy says. "The climate down here definitely affects your buying."

"A lot of people have the idea that everything here is really expensive," says Tynes. "It's not, I have a wide range of prices and good quality fashionable clothes."

So if you're looking for additions to your summer wardrobe, try "Elegance" for quality and style. As Patsy says, "I'm going to have what's fashionable."

Artist's Workshop Held In Rockport

It is a well-known fact that many artists live in and visit the Rockport area and can be seen at almost any time in various locations as they work with their paints and brushes recording the many beautiful locations in the area. But if you think you have been seeing more artists than you usually see around town it may be because of the artist workshop that is being held at the Aransas County Woman's Club.

Houston artists Polly Hammet and Virginia Cobb, nationally famous watercolor instructors have brought more than 50 students to Rockport to hold a month-long workshop.

Several of the students come from as far away as Marblehead, Massachusetts, Tennessee and Oklahoma. And they range from total beginners to very advanced artists who are interested in advance training in watercolor from Cobb and Hammett.

Cobb usually holds two- and three-day workshops around the country while Hammett teaches in Houston. Hammett is a refugee from the newspaper advertising business.

Cobb is a member of American Watercolor Society and an elected associate of the National Academy of Design. She is a nationally recognized artist whose works have won top honors in major juried exhibitions and her painting "Nesting" was purchased in 1978 by the Henry Ward Ranger Fund for the permanent collection of the National Academy.

Her work has been featured in articles in American Artist Magazine, Southwest Art Magazine, Today's Art and Northlight Book's.

Cobb is listed in Who's Who in American Art as well as other biographical collections.

Hammett has been involved in many phases of art including that of professional painter, teacher and illustrator. She is the originator of "The Art Experience" a workshop designed to develop the creative potential of educators, counselors and therapists.

Hammett has taught painting workshops in the Southwest since 1972.

The Albuquerque Art Museum purchased her figure painting, 'Black Silk, Red Roses' for their permanent collection. She has been double winner in eight juried exhibits and has won over 100 awards in regional and national exhibits.

Hammett is also listed in Who's Who in American Art, World Who's Who of Women and the dictionary of International Biographies.

Disabled Vets Unit To Visit Area

Disabled veterans can get straight answers, at no cost, when a veteran's expert from the Disabled American Veterans visits this area in the next few weeks.

The field service unit's schedule for this area includes a stop in Corpus Christi on May 27 at the Oak Park Shopping Center; one on May 22 in Port Lavaca's Viking Mall Shopping Center and one in Victoria on May 21 at the Town Plaza Shopping Mall.

Field Service unit office hours are generally from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with variations to suit local situations.

More than just answering questions, the DAV national service officer on board is fully trained and qualified to help vets and their families file claims forms and counsel them on the full range of benefits earned as a disabled veteran.

The DAV representative is a full time DAV employee, not a government employee, totally committed to helping obtain all the benefits vets are entitled to under the law.

His expertise includes claims for disability compensation, death and survivor payments, VA medical care and vocational rehabilitation, employment programs, education and Social Security benefits and more.

Veterans do not have to be a DAV member to take advantage of this service, The nonprofit, Congressionally chartered DAV has been providing free service to all disabled veterans and their families for more than 60 years.

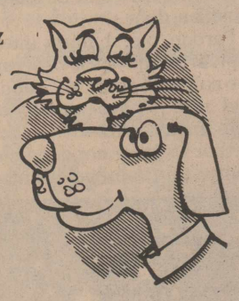

Veterans who visit the DAV Field Service Unit staffed by a disabled veteran like themselves should be sure to bring along their military discharge papers and VA Claim number of Social Security number.

And if circumstances prevent veterans from visiting the DAV Field Service Unit when it comes to town, they may phone, write or visit the DAV National Service Office: Disabled American Veterans, VA Contact Office, 307 Dwyer Avenue, San Antonio, TX 78285, Telephone (512) 229-6730.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Raising A Kitten The Right Way

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

I have heard it said you cannot train a kitten or a cat. I want to put that "old wives tale" to rest. You can train the felines. It requires time, repetition of commands — and patience.

It is easy to teach your kitten his name and to come when called. Just repeat his name often, and when he comes to you (even by accident) give him a tidbit. It won't take long.

If you reward him with praise and food, he will associate your call with a pleasant reward. Once he responds regularly, gradually stop the reward, but continue to praise and pet him.

Housebreaking: By nature, kittens are meticulously clean animals. So housebreaking is relatively easy. To help the kitten "learn the ropes" place him in his litter box after meals, first thing in the morning and last thing at night.

Move his paws in the litter material so he will get the feel of digging. If he makes a mistake, be firm, yet gentle; and place him back in the litter box.

Kittens do not respond to punishment. Don't allow him the run of the house until you are sure he uses his litter box regularly. I suggest you keep the box in a bathroom or a secluded part of the house away from general traffic.

Be sure to keep the box clean, and change the litter as needed. A kitten will not use a soiled pan repeatedly.

The Great Outdoors: Your kitten will enjoy being outdoors. He'll chase leaves, check out flowers, investigate insects and birds. Before you introduce him to this wonderful world, be sure he knows his name and comes when called.

Supervise him carefully. Be sure he doesn't get in the street or in other trouble. He will be most interested in birds — not because he's hungry — just for play. A bird doesn't have to worry about a small kitten, because kittens lack the stealth and cunning of a cat.

Whne your kitten becomes older and shows a tendency to go after birds, place a stretch collar with a bell around his neck. This will serve notice to the birds of his presence.

Save the Furniture: Kittens, as well as adult cats, like to sharpen and clean their claws. This is a basic instinct. If they are in the house, the objects they use are furniture, drapes and rugs.

The only sure way to correct this is to have a veterinarian remove the claws on the two front paws. This process is done under anesthesia. There is no pain. The results are very gratifying.

After surgery, the kitten is happy, you are happy, and the operation is not expensive. This surgery does not prevent the feline from climbing a tree or a fence, as well as a cat that has not had the surgery.

Trust me — if you have this done, you will be a happier family.

From your pet's best friend — the one with a warm heart for cold noses.

The Rev. C.J. Molmen, pastor of the church, officiating at the wedding ceremonies at 7 p.m.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of Austin.

The bride, a graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School and currently living in Austin, was given in marriage by her father.

Mr. And Mrs. Bryan Williams

She wore a floor-length "William Cahill" designed gown of white peau de soie under white chiffon organza addorned by white lace-and-bead flowers. The wide-cuffed sleeves were of white chiffon and the gown featured a lace-edged train falling from the waist.

The bride's Juliette-style veil was edged with lace and beads.

The bride's maid of honor, Brenda Hawes, and matron of honor, Carolyn Barre, both of Rockport, wore floor length "Gunne Sax" designed gowns of light yellow floral voile over yellow satin. Both carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies accented with babies' breath. The maid and matron of honor are cousins of the bride.

The groom's best man was David Boyde of Austin. Ushers were Bill Hawes and Alan Barre, both of Rockport and cousins of the bride, and the groomsman was Jerral Hawes of Rockport, the bride's brother.

The couple were married under an arch decorated with greenery, and altar decorations included two candelabrum and baskets of yellow and white daisies and yellow gladiolus on stands.

Some 80 guests attended the wedding and the reception in Calvary Baptist's Fellowship Hall. For the reception, the tables were covered with white satin cloths with yellow ribbon and lace. The bride's cake was three-tiered, decorated with yellow daisies and a waterfall on the white cake. The groom's table featured a candle centerpiece and chocolate cake.

Linda and Shirley Oliver presided at the bride's table and Betty Anthony and Charlotte Hinson at the groom's.

Following a wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will make their home in Austin where the bride is employed by Christner Insurance Company and the groom is a substation electrician's helper for the Lower Colorado Rivert Authority.

Utility bill total is less in EEA house, say Three Rivers homeowners

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Olenick of Three Rivers readily agree that they can recommend a home constucted to meet standards set for the Energy Efficiency Award (EEA) program sponsored by Central Power and Light Company.

That's because, as Mr. Olenick explains, "I can see what our energy bills are" in an EEA home as compared to those for older, less energy-efficient homes "with an equal or even smaller square footage."

In fact, the Olenicks' previous residence contained 1,500 square feet; their EEA house measures nearly 2,100 square feet. Yet the utility bills total less in the new home than in the old one.*

Like other houses meeting EEA specifications, the Olenick home incorporates many features that help householders keep energy costs down—including well insulated walls and ceiling, dual-pane windows, doors that seal tightly against outside air, and a high efficiency heat pump for both heating and air conditioning.

The thermostat in the Olenick home rarely is set above 68° in the winter and is kept at 77° or 78° in summer. Mrs. Olenick reports that the heat pump warms the house uniformly when the weather is cold, and both have noticed that the house is quieter and less dusty than their earlier home.

They advise people planning homes not to skimp on the features specifically designed for energy efficiency: it's easier to build those special areas into the home than to try to go back and do it later.

For more information about all-electric EEA homes, ask your architect, designer, builder or realtor—or call or come by your CPL office for a free booklet that describes the program.

Indians Get Scalped By Mariners

By Ted Norman

In Monday night Little League action the Mariners exploded in the top of the first to grab five runs then scored in every inning to take a 17-7 victory over the struggling Indians.

The Mariners started the game with the first two batters being unable to make it to first and with two outs Keith Rickman hit to center field for a single. Brad Gartman hit a drive past first for a single and Rickman made it to third and the Mariners had two runners on.

Ben Freible was hit by a pitch and the Mariners loaded the bases. On the first pitch to Roman Dingenary, Rickman came home for the first run of the game. Then on a 2-1 pitch Dingenary popped to third for a single, Gartman scored and the Mariners took a two run lead.

On the first pitch to Jon Gatlin the ball got away from the catcher and Freible came across the plate and it was 3-0, Gatlin drew a walk.

Curtis Lee hit to the short stop for a single and again the bases were loaded.

Steve Sbrusch hit the first pitch into shallow right field to drive in two runs and the Mariners took a 5-0 lead.

The next Mariner struck out and the Mariners stranded three runners on base.

Ricky Madina struck out swinging for the Indians followed by Tim Blackford who went down swinging. With two away Richard Martin drew a walk. Indian batter Johnny Nunez hit to right field for a triple and scored Martin for an Indian run.

On a 1-0 pitch to Mark Holcom the ball got loose and Nunez scored to take the game to 5-2. Holcum got a single, tried for second and was tagged between bases to retire the side.

The Mariners scored two in the top of the second Freible got on with a single then stole second and scored from third when Dingenary hit a line drive to center field for a single.

Gatlin swung at a 2-2 pitch, missed and the Mariners retired.

The Indians were scoreless in the bottom of the second and trailed 7-2.

In the top of the third Curtis Lee popped to the mound for the first out and Sbrusch hit to left for a single and made it to third on a series of bad plays by the Indian fielders.

With a runner on third Mariner batter Danny Adams hit to first base for the second out and Sbrusch held at third.

Jennings hit a line drive down first base line for a single, Sbrusch scores and on a bad throw to the plate Jennings took third base.

Gartman clobbered a pitch to right field for a single to drive Rickman to third. Freible puts a drive over short stop, Rickman scores and Freible is out steeling third. The Mariners lead 11-2.

The Indians go scoreless in the bottom of the third and the Mariners come back in the top of the fourth with four more runs to make it a 15-2 ball game.

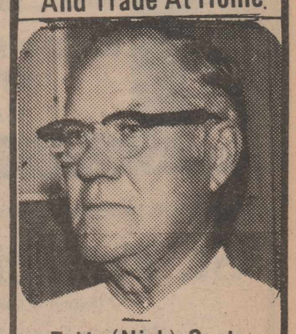

In the fifth inning both teams were scoreless.

The Mariners added two runs in the top of the sixth when Gartman drove in Jennings from second on a 2-1 pitch Lee hit a drive over the mound to move Gartman to third. Gartman then scored on a bad pitch to Sbrusch who drew a walk.

The Indians made a come from behind try in the bottom of the sixth with Thomas Murphy drew a walk followed by Paublo Garcia with another walk to give the Indians runners on first and second. Martin watched a 2-2 pitch go by for the first out then David Cordova lined one to second to score Murphy and Cordova ran it out for a triple.

Richard Cordova hit for a single and the Indians had runners on first and third. Who Knows What Evil Lurks...

By Ted Norman

A very kind man entered the Pilot office last week and after going through some formal and polite introductions asked me a simple but straightforward question — "Why do you always write about the Mariners in your Little League articles?"

When I admitted that I also had become aware of the situation after reading three past issues of the Pilot and had promised to allot myself some time to turn the situation over in my mind, the gentleman convinced me that I should look at the problem now and figure out why all the Little League reporting was about the Cubs and Mariners.

First let me rush to explain that I don't have a son on either team — I don't have a son at all on any team. Second I am writing this evaluation of the situation because it worries me that the Little League season hasn't been covered better.

The man in the office and I began to examine the situation and we looked at the Little League schedule in an effort to dissect the beast and come up with a prognostication of the situation.

My first article was on the Mariners and the Cubs and their meeting on Wednesday, April 29, and appearing in the Pilot Weekender of the following Friday, May 1.

The reason for that game was that it was the first game I covered after arriving at the Pilot and it was the only game scheduled that evening.

Because I have to write my baseball stories with a 10 a.m. Tuesday deadline, the following week I chose to cover the 6 p.m. game on Monday evening with the Mariners and Cubs meeting instead of the 8 p.m. game between the Astros and the Cardinals.

After 10 hours of work I selfishly chose to cover the earlier game so I could be home by eight, have dinner and write the story by 10 or 11 p.m.

If you read the sports page in last weekend's Pilot (May 17), you saw that we are well on the way to giving more and better coverage of all the games that are played in the area.

There are usually 10 games a week in Little League plus 20 games a week in Senior League and Little League Softball as well as a semi-pro game every week. Not to mention all the sandlot games and the one-on-one basketball in the area. There are golf tournaments and tennis tournaments and fishing and bowling and scholastic sports, all of which has to be covered somehow, and all of which will be on the sports pages of the Pilot soon.

Little League officials were providing weekly information as to the winners and losers and team standings but because of some new obligations on the officials, the information flow has stopped. Recently we established a new source that will again provide us with this information.

I am eager to cover all of the sports in the area but understandably I can't and this is where I ask for your help.

The Pilot is in the process of making forms that someone on each team can fill out and get to us and we will report the results of your game. We can't write a play-by-play account of each game but we can include scores and highlights such as who hit home runs, who made double plays and how teams are standing in the leagues.

Ideally I would like to have a copy of each play book of each game — we can copy them at the Pilot — but if play books are not available some information about the games would be welcomed.

If one of the many persons in the press box would the time to write down the score by innings and some highlights of the game and the teams' season record we could then keep a running account of how the teams stand, who is hitting the big runs and who is making double plays, etc.

The ultimate accomplishment would be to have enough information flowing in that we could run a weekly standing of all the leagues as well as some mention of every game played during the week and the highlights of some of the games.

It only takes about two minutes to write down the information and a small amount of effort to get it to the Pilot.

Hopefully each team in each league will designate someone to do this and then we can all know what is happening in sports in our area.

Checking my schedule for tonight I find I can either cover the 6 p.m. game between the Mariners and the Indians or the 8 p.m. game between the Cubs and the Giants.

See you at the game.

Dolphins, George Miller Tie Again At 3-3

For the second time this season the Dolphins and George Miller had to walk off the field with the two teams tied. In the first tie game the teams left the field at 8-8, Monday night they walked away with a 3-3 tie.

The Dolphins were held scoreless in the top of the first inning and George Miller took a one run lead in the botton of the first.

Both teams were held scoreless for the next three innings and in the top of the fifth the Dolphins managed to get two men around the bases for scores and took a 2-1 lead over George Miller.

George Miller was unable to score in the bottom of the fifth and it looked like the Dolphins had won a game.

In the top of the sixth the Dolphins came back with another run to go 3-1 over George Miller. But George Miller exploded in the bottom of the sixth inning and with two outs tied the game at 3-3.

Eddie Medina pitched for the Dolphins with George Miller pitcher Nava being relieved by Rudy Soliz.

Redden Shuts Out Sinton

Tim Redden treated home fans to some outstanding pitching Thursday night as the Pirates shut out the Sinton team 5-0 on Redden's three-hitter.

Redden gave up hits in the first and second inning and then shut the door tight on Sinton.

The Pirates staked Redden to a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first, giving the pitcher all he needed for a winning margin. Rudy Zavala opened the game with a blast out of the park for a solo homer.

Robert Flores got a hit, Eric Commander, and then Bill Jennings hit a ball which Sinton misplayed, and suddenly, the Pirates were out front, 3-0.

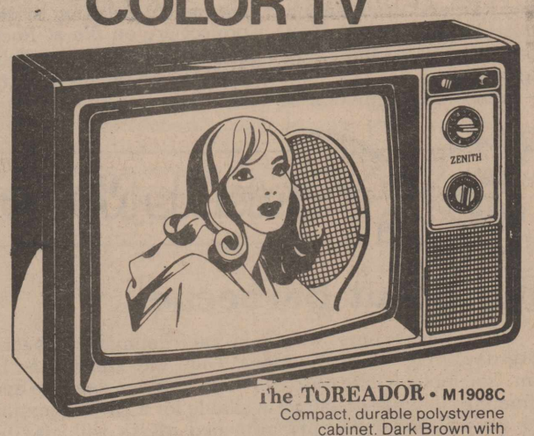

Dennis Hull hit a solo shot in the second to increase the Pirate lead to 4-0.

Closing out the scoring for the Pirate batters was Steve Berley who singled and then moved around, finally scoring on an error by Sinton's left fielder.

The win gives the Pirates a 4-3 mark in district play in the second round.

No Area Fishermen Involved

Union Endorses Redfish Protest

CORPUS CHRISTI — The Corpus Christi local of the National Maritime Union of America has added its support to commercial fishermen picketing the Intracoastal Waterway in protest over a ban on commercial fishing of redfish and speckled sea trout.

So far as is know, no Aransas County fishermen are involved in the demonstrations in the Intracoastal Waterway at Port Isabel, Corpus Christi, Seadrift and — for the first time Monday — Galveston Bay.

Maritime union agent Woodrow Nayer said the union's support of the protest is mainly symbolic. "We definitely sympathize with the fishermen's right to work, but that's about all we can do," he said.

Fishermen began the protest last week after the Senate approved a bill taking redfish and trout off the commercial market for two years. At the end of that period, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will study the matter and make a recommendation on whether to extend the ban.

John Null of Flour Bluff, president of the Corpus Christi chapter of PISCES said that organization is not behind the demonstrations, that "this is being done independently by the fishermen."

He said the fishermen have submitted a list of demands that includes the removal of Perry Bass as commissioner of the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department.

"We don't feel this guy (Bass) should be head of our commission," Null said.

Commercial fishermen also want Bob Kemp, current director of fisheries for the TP&W, to be replaced by Ernie Simmons — who has held the post previously. And they want "two people on the TP&W who can be affected by these proclamations" — commercial fisherman, Null said.

Cost Reduction Sought is $3,177,000.

Prior to the award Thursday night, Ruckstuhl presented the board with 18 points where the contractor had made possible cost reductions.

New board member Jerry Brundrett said repeatedly during the following discussion, "We don't want to cut out things people voted for in the bond election." With that in mind the board took out three of the cost reduction items.

The contractor had felt that money could be saved by omitting ceiling fans at the Junior High and Live Oak Elementary; omitting paneling at Rockport Elementary and changing the proposed air conditioning units to fan coil units with a condenser on the roof. The board vetoed these changes and kept them in the budget, while approving 15 other cost reductions.

Other approved reductions include changes to the handrails at the new auditorium; changing the new entrance doors at the Junior High to all-glass instead of half glass; using PVC for sewage piping and various other building material substitutions amounting to nearly $100,000 in savings.

Proposed City Sanitary Sewer Expansion Set For Review

Proposals for the expansion of Rockport's sanitary sewer facilities will be presented to interested citizens in a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 21, at Rockport's City Hall.

Purpose of the meeting is to present the plans to city residents and listen to any questions or comments.

The city is proposing to expand the existing sanitary sewage treatment plant from its present one million gallons per day capacity to two million gallons per day.

Such an expansion is necessary, officials say, to handle the increased demand on the system anticipated by the year 2000.

The feasibility study has been funded in part by a Step I federal grant administered through the Environmental Protection Agency.

Following completion of the study phase (Step II) of the project, the city will apply for a Step II federal grant to help pay for designing the proposed facility.

City officials then hope to obtain a Step III grant under the program to help pay for the costs of actual construction.

Under all three grants, the federal government pays for 75 percent of the costs and the city pays the remaining 25 percent.

Preliminary drafts of documents relating to the project are on file at Rockport's City Hall and will be available on the night of the hearing.

Award."

Following the buffet style meal new Chamber board members and officers for the 1981-82 year were introduced. In addition to Brown, Judy Guillet, new first vice president; Dick Lilly, new second vice president; and Cam Leonard, new treasurer, were introduced.

Donna Ray Knox, Chamber president during the 1980-81 year, spoke on "Highlights of 1980-81" and then Brown gave a speech on his "Goals for 1981-82."

Some of Brown's goals for the year to come include "searching and promoting non-polluting, light industry for this area," working on a float "that we can be proud to take to other towns," revamping the monthly Chamber newsletter and working on an information program for the prevention of burglary, shoplifting and theft presently harming local businesses.

Another of Brown's goals is to "try to work very closely" with the city council and county commissioners for better cohesion between those bodies and the Chamber.

Brown hopes to have a representative from the Chamber attending city council and county commissioners' meetings on a regular basis.

After Brown's speech, the 137 guests attending the dinner heard from special guest Bob Conwell, executive vice president of the Corpus Christi Area Convention and Tourist Bureau. Conwell spoke on the topic of Corpus Christi tourism and how it affects the Rockport area.
