Olton's Historical Issue Awarded Top Honor

Olton Enterprise's historical issue printed last summer captured the top prize in the special edition category of the Panhandle Press Association's annual newspaper contest. Presentation of the plaque was made at Saturday morning's awards breakfast during the PPA Spring Convention held in Amarillo.

Comments of the judge were as follows:

"The Olton Enterprise of July 28 with a reproduction of a painting by a local artist on a two-color bookpaper cover is awarded first place in the special edition contest for 1976.

"The issue reflects exhaustive research into all phases of Lamb County history and pictures of old time scenes and pioneer individuals and families add to the overall authenticity of the contents of the issue.

"Advertising is effectively tied in to the bicentennial and historical theme and color is used judiciously in all the sections. An excellent small town newspaper effort."

The Hart Beat special edition, published by the Enterprise staff, won third place in the special edition contest with second place going to the Plainview Daily Herald.

Serving the past two years as secretary of the Panhandle Press Association, Sue Cannon was re-elected to a third term. She had previously served on the PPA board of directors.

Attending the two-day convention were Mmes. Cannon, Lily May Silcott, Janis Chaney, Vicki Wood and Mozelle Trotter.

FIRST PLACE AWARD WINNERS -- The Olton Enterprise was presented a first place award plaque for "Best Special Edition" at the Panhandle Press Association's 68th annual convention, which was held in Amarillo last weekend. Certification Is Possible For Private Applicators

Lamb County producers will have opportunity to complete a training program leading to certification as private applicators at one of the following programs according to John Farris, County Extension Agent.

April 25 at 6:45 p.m. at the Lamb County Ag & Community Center, Littlefield.

April 28 at 6:45 p.m. at the Agriculture Building, Olton; and April 29 at 6:45 p.m. at the Earth Show Barns, Earth.

The Private Applicator Certification Training Program, one of the optional means of qualifying for certification as a private applicator of restricted-use pesticides, includes a discussion of laws, labels and labeling, pesticide safety, mixing and calibration and pests and pest damage identification. The program prepared by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service includes a review of certain questions relating to the information presented. The program will require approximately 3½ hours. Those attending and seeking certification as private applicators will have an opportunity to complete a Request for Private Applicator Certification which will be forwarded to the Texas Department of Agriculture for issuance of certification.

As an alternative to participation in a training program, an individual may qualify for certification as a private applicator by submitting a completed questionnaire to the Texas Department of Agriculture following a review of self-study materials. The self-study materials may be obtained at the county Extension office.

Thanks....for sure!

By Rex Boyles

This is a special town. One of the things that makes it such is a whole pile of young folks. They give a special touch to everything they do . . . whether they be lil' dribblers or little leaguers . . . cheerleaders or "one-act" players . . . boxers or "bookworms" . . . musicians or homemakers . . . Mustangs or Fillies. Their special touch has claimed several trophies and titles. But more than that, even when their efforts take no ribbon, they claim for themselves #1 in our place. Special young folks, having a special touch, making this a special town deserve a special thanks. "Thanks .... for sure!"

No special thanks is complete without thanking him who makes all things special . . . Jesus. Without his special touch there would be no joy . . . no peace . . . no love . . . no reason to say thank you. It would be well worth our time to consider that the "goodness of God" is meant to lead us to repent (Romans 2:4), to reconsider our place with the Lord. Let us all as a town think once again on just how good the Lord has been to us and then propose to our changed lives to say "thanks . . . for sure!"

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Dear Jeffrey Michael:

Welcome to the world, little one. Your entry Tuesday morning at 4:50 brought joy to so many.

Firstborn, you ended an eternity of anticipation for your parents. The telephone message of your birth also put an end to eager waiting of your grandparents, great-grandparents and a host of other loving folks.

Too many miles separate us, Wee One. So the impatient wait to see you and hold you will continue on for doting grandparents whose lives are just now enriched by their first grandson.

Just a few days short of being six months old, your little cousin Courtney already has blessed our lives as first grandchild. Our hearts, however, have lots of room for love and each of you are equally dear.

Wee One, time has hastened so quickly since we held our firstborn -- the baby who is now your Daddy, a baby beautiful just as he says you are.

The world you've arrived in, darling, is one beset with problems. Yet it is a world that holds limitless possibilities for you in future years. With your own incentive and hard work, you may become whatever you strive to be.

So many happy times await us as we proudly share the milestones of your babyhood -- the first smile, first tooth, first tottering step. And then the rapid changes as you grow in stature and wisdom.

It will happen so quickly. Too soon you'll grow so big you'll not want the kiss so eagerly bestowed by an adoring grandmother.

Meanwhile, Wee One, we'll cherish you and glow with pride in you. That's how it'll always be.

Loving you, we long for that first time we'll see you and hold you. Already, you've won our hearts.

We love you, Jeffrey Michael,

A little boy's grandparents

'Collecting' Traveler Loves Cooking

Travel is a favorite pursuit of C.T. and Janie Lokey. The two have visited extensively in the States and have toured numerous foreign lands. They have been to Australia, New Zealand, Canada, the South Pacific, Germany, Austria, Greece and Japan.

Visiting last year in the 49th state, the Lokeys enjoyed the beauty of Alaska but bad weather caused both to become sick.

Asked for their favorite vacation site, Janie quickly answers, "Tahiti," while C.T. says "Chile."

"I want to go back," Janie says of the South Pacific visit. She looks forward to a cruise of the 139 islands in the chain which includes Tahiti.

Although well traveled, Janie speaks just English except for a few words of French recalled from early school days in Louisiana. Moving to Texas from near Baton Rouge when she was almost 15 years old, she has lost most of her Cajun accent.

Janie still likes chicory coffee and remembers her father bringing her and her mother the genuine Cajun brew while they were still in bed. "Once I had my coffee, I knew it was time to get up." Chicory coffee, Louisiana style, is always served with hot cream, Janie says.

Collecting demitasse spoons is another of Janie's hobbies. She has them from "all over" and got one treasured one on a visit back to Louisiana. When the tarnished fifty cent special was cleaned, it proved to be a sterling spoon engraved with the state capitol and "1900."

Janie loves to cook. The Lokeys limit themselves to two meals daily with C.T. preparing breakfast and Janie fixing the evening meal. The recipe she shares are some which have won compliments from family and friends.

Sewing is another of Janie's hobbies and she also enjoys making fancy quilts. She finds pleasure is just about any handcraft.

The Lokeys have no granddaughters but four grandsons. Janie's son is H.T. Barnes of Prairie Village, a suburb of Kansas City. He and his wife and one of their three sons visited here last week. C.T.'s son Billy, the father of one son, lives in Fort Worth.

Manufacturers estimate that a 100-watt bulb used eight hours a day will pay for itself within a year, and the new bulbs will last over two and a half times as long as conventional bulbs, says Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Duckworth-James Twin Vows Read

Nuptial vows uniting Miss Linda James and Sonny Duckworth in marriage were exchanged in a double ring ceremony Saturday, Apr. 16 in First Baptist Church of Springlake. Vows were directed by the Rev. Glen Smith, pastor.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. J.B. James. The groom is son of Mrs. Sammy Thompson and Glen Duckworth, both of Amarillo.

The altar area was enhanced by flanking spiral candelabra, fitted with 30 lighted pink, blue, green, yellow and white tapers, and entwined with greenery and baby's breath. Fan shaped candelabra fitted with rainbow tapers and tied with satin bows and streamers of rainbow hues, centered the area.

Choir rails were draped with emerald and leather greenery and accented with rainbow tapers and bows.

Traditional nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Jerry Hoover at piano. Mrs. Sammy Parrish, with her own guitar accompaniment, sang "The Twelfth of Never", "Walk Through This World With Me", and "The Wedding Prayer".

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal length gown of white organza and Chantilly lace fashioned with a high neckline of scalloped lace, long fitted lace sleeves terminating in a ruffle at the wrist.

With an overlay of lace, the Empire bodice was accented with iridescent sequins. The A-line skirt swept to a chapel length train. A deep ruffle or organza edged in lace, formed the hemline of both skirt and train.

Wearing a large picture hat, she carried a cascading arrangement of carnations, gladoli and stephanotis, in soft spring colors. Streamers of rainbow satin ribbons were tied with love knots and lily of the valley.

Enroute to and from the altar, the bride presented long stemmed pink roses to both her own and the groom's mother.

Added to the "new" wedding attire, the bride carried as "something old" a white, wide-lace handkerchief having belonged to her late grandmother Bearden. She wore the traditional "blue" garter.

Mrs. Paul Bell of Amarillo served as her sister's matron of honor. Bridal attendants were Mmes. Jearl James of Earth, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Sam Allison of Clovis, N.M.

Feminine attendants wore formal length princess style dresses of dacron in soft shades of yellow, green and blue, respectively, with matching sheer floral capes. Wearing large picture hats of matching colors they each carried a nosegay in the bride's chosen rainbow of colors, accented by satin streamers.

Miss Suzanne Cain of Springlake, gowned in floor length pink dotted Swiss, served as flower girl. Kyle Bradley of Sunnyside, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. Candles were lighted by Jennifer Pellham, niece of the bride, and Clifford James, Earth, nephew of the bride.

David Snow of Amarillo served as best man. Groomsmen were Danny Duckworth, Fort Worth, brother of the groom and Jearl James, Earth, brother of the bride. Guests were seated by Paul Bell of Amarillo, brother-in-law of the bride, and Sammy Lee Duckworth of Amarillo, brother of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. James Selected a floor length gown of green knit with matching lace coat. The mother of the groom wore a salmon pink formal length gown with matching jacket. Each added a white ruffled gladioli corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Guests were registered by Miss La Cretia James of Earth, niece of the bride.

The bride's table was laid with a floor length white lace cloth with satin underlay. Centered with the bridal and attendant's bouquets, it featured a traditional four-tiered wedding cake accented with rainbow colored spring flowers. Reception punch, cake, mints and nuts were served using crystal and silver appointments. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Danny Duckworth and Mrs. Stephen Busby of Earth.

Rice bags were passed by Miss Shelley Duckworth of Fort Worth, niece of the groom.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. the bride chose a beige and brown pantsuit, with brown accessories.

The young couple will be at home near Springlake, after Apr. 20, where the groom is engaged in farming.

One hundred and fifty acres . . . over 93% of a quarter-section. That's how many acres you can reach with Lindsay's new Corner Pivot. The Zimmatic Corner Pivot rounds out the four corners of your field . . . adds them to your profit picture.

The Zimmatic Corner Pivot is self-contained . . . no wires are buried in the field to complicate your maintenance or trouble shooting. Ideal water break-up and the right droplet size are assured from both the mainline sprinklers and the Corner Pivot sprinklers . . . accomplished during corner watering by directing full water pressure to the Corner Pivot while the mainline sprinklers are shut down. Adequate water pressure means top sprinkler performance which provides efficient absorption and even water distribution across the entire field.

The same engineering and design concepts found on standard Zimmatics are used on the Corner Pivot. Lindsay's external collector ring transfers a sure flow of power to the Corner Pivot and standard, heavy-duty Zimmatic gearboxes provide years of reliable service. Most of the structural parts are identical to those on standard Zimmatics. Time-proven dependability, simplified maintenance and automatic operation make the Corner Pivot all Zimmatic.

Lindsay also offers a semi-automatic Corner Gun™ watering system. It irrigates fewer additional acres than the Corner Pivot but costs less initially. The Zimmatic Corner Gun may be the system you need.

For Safety

Toronado Tips Given

It was May 26, 1976 -- the height of the tornado season in Texas.

The National Weather Service had posted tornado warnings for Hill County and the sheriff's office, following standard procedure, alerted deputies out in the country. Sure enough, an ominous black twister appeared in the sky.

With sheriff's deputies tracking the twister by car and radioing in reports to a voluntary weather station, it was determined that the path of the storm would take it near a Presbyterian children's home were 75 youngsters lived.

Calling ahead in the nick of time, deputies warned of the oncoming tornado and the children were evacuated to the safety of a nearby basement before the storm destroyed the north end of the home.

This is just one story out of many incidents that demonstrated how advance warning and preparedness saved lives in Texas last year.

It has been going on ever since the NWS instituted a system of tornado spotting and warning in the 1950's.

Individual's Role

But it is just such preparedness and early warning -- through a nationwide system of weather professionals and trained spotters -- that have made too many people forget their own role in protecting themselves and their property against storms, says the Texas Insurance Information Center (TIIC) of the Insurance Information Institute.

Catastrophes don't always happen to the "other guy." Every year communities that have never before been struck by a tornado become a disaster area.

Last year Texas was far and away the leader in tornado incidents in the nation with between 176 and 201 tornadoes sighted. The discrepancy in figures is due to the system of recording used by two reporting agencies -- the National Weather Service (176) and the Department of Public Safety (201). There were, luckily, only two tornado-related deaths in the state in 1976.

Because this state is so susceptible to tornadoes, Texans should be especially aware of tornado safety rules. For this reason, the insurance industry, through TIIC (representing, for example, the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, a long-time leader in catastrophe planning), joins civil defense, weather service officials and interested organizations each year -- especially during peak months (April, May, June) -- to remind Texans of appropriate safety procedures in the event of a threatening storm.

Know Warnings

Two phrases that should be part of every Texan's vocabulary are "tornado watch" and "tornado warning."

A watch -- usually posted for broad areas spinning hundreds of miles -- is issued anytime a squall line develops which has the potential of spawning tornadoes. It is not uncommon for a city or town to be included in a watch dozens of times, without ever experiencing a tornado. For this reason, the TIIC says there is a danger of becoming complacent. No matter how often a watch is posted for a community, residents should monitor broadcasts and be generally aware of the potentially threatening weather.

Should a twister be spotted, a "tornado warning" is signaled.

Warnings are issued for much smaller areas and may mean that residents have only a few minutes to take shelter.

If a warning is issued, persons in the affected area should immediately watch for danger and be ready to take cover at a second's notice.

Stay Low

The key word in taking cover is "low." The lowest floor in any building is safest. Small rooms -- such as the bathroom -- or a closet in the central part of the structure offer the best protection. If this hideout isn't available, taking cover under heavy furniture such as a tipped-over, upholstered couch is advised.

Neither a mobile home nor buildings with wide, free-span roofs -- such as auditoriums -- are desirable shelters.

Most deaths associated with a tornado are caused by flying debris and most injuries are to the head or chest. For these reasons, care should be taken to protect the head and chest no matter where shelter is taken.

After the Storm

Immediately after a storm has passed stay put for a few minutes. Make sure there is no leaking gas in the area before striking matches. Remember, too, downed telephone and power lines are a hazard.

Whenever a community begins mopping up after a windstorm or tornado, insurance companies put into force pre-arranged catastrophe procedures to help a community recover from the disaster.

If warranted, additional claims people are called in to help expedite claims processing. As a general rule, hardship cases get first priority. The individual property owner can help by making temporary repairs to prevent further damage -- the cost of which is often covered by the insurance policy -- and by notifying the agent or company representative immediately upon discovery and estimation of potential loss.

Beware of unscrupulous, fly-by-night contractors who often follow the storm into town. Deal only with reputable contractors.

The message is an old one but worth repeating, especially this time of the year: proper action before and after a storm can save lives and property.

Tournament Planned In May

Kress Booster Club Volleyball Tournament, usually largest in the area, has been set for May 2-3, 5-7 according to spokesmen for the sponsoring club.

Some 60 teams are expected to vie for trophies. Four divisions will provide accomodations for men's teams, women's, couple's and high school student teams.

Interested teams in the area are asked to contact Ed Rogers by calling 684-2486 or writing Box 193, Kress, 79052 or Coach Al Mitts at high school. Entrance fee has been set at $10.

Mrs. Loveless Is President

Marcelle Loveless, owner-manager of Olton Credit Bureau, has just returned from Fort Worth where she attended the 1977 State Conference of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Texas, Credit Managers Association, Credit Women International and Retail Merchants Association. There were over 400 in attendance, held in the new Hilton Hotel.

CELEBRATION OF J.O.Y. SUNDAY, MAY 1, 1977

For Service

'Certificate Of Honor'

Garrett Bley has just returned from another trip to Hollis, Okla.

Bley has been making the drive to board meetings for Westview Boy's Home at Hollis at least four times each year, and on occasion two times per week when the need demanded it, during the past 17 years.

This, however, was a special meeting. It marked the dedication of a new cottage to house 15 more boys at the Home. The meeting also paid tribute to three retiring board members of long standing, Hubert Williams of Cordell, Okla., Curt Dickenson of Altus, and Bley.

The Boy's Home was only a year-and-one-half old when Bley was named to the board. It started with five acres of land and an old school building. Through the support of Churches of Christ and individual gifts, the project now includes several farms and adequate housing for 75 boys.

Dedicated Saturday was the fifth cottage on campus, named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Saunders of Altus who has served as president of the board from its beginning until January, 1977. Don Baucum of Quanah now heads the sixteen member board. Jack Sikes is superintendent.

The dedicatory service and retirement tributes followed a barbecue luncheon attended by some one thousand persons.

In presenting a Certificate of Honor plaque to Mr. Bley, Saunders stated that "..... through the years, he has been the most faithful board member in attendance, and has driven the greatest distance to be here."

In describing the home and its activities, Bley states that the boys attend public school at Arnett. They are active in 4-H and FFA. Not only do the boys raise swine and cattle, they actually do the farm work on nearby acreage.

Accompanying Mr. Bley to the Hollis event were his daughter and grandson, Mrs. Gary Lawson and Michael. Mrs. Bley was unable to be present as she had on many other occasions.

Bley also admits that although he is retiring from active board duties, he is still very concerned about the Home at Westview, and about boys who might need a home .... he will still use his influence to help in both instances.

RECOGNIZED FOR YEARS OF SERVICE -- G.H. Bley was given a plaque for his years of serving as a director on the board of Westview Boys' Home in Hollis, Okla. Bley served 17 years in that capacity.

MORE FREEDOMS DOWN THE DRAIN

If you become ill you now have several freedoms.

1. You can go to bed, take some vitamins, drink lots of liquid and get lots of rest.

2. You can go to the doctor of your choice.

3. Before, during or after your illness you could probably purchase health insurance. The insurance could cover almost everything, or hospitalization only, or catastrophies only.

Unless you have millions you should probably have at least insurance against catastrophic illnesses. The cost is low and the insurance readily available.

Most people of modest means have some form of health insurance. But they chose the company and/or plan they wanted.

Sometimes their employer chose the company. But, even then, the employees had something to say about it.

Your freedoms to choose the company that insures you, the plan of coverage, the premium that fits your budget, and the doctor who will treat you are all about to be taken from you.

You may still have the freedom to stay away from the doctor and treat yourself. But you'll have to pay for his services anyway.

Enjoy the freedoms you have now. You may not have them much longer.

Enjoy the right to keep your hard earned money and treat your own illness.

Enjoy the right to go to the doctor of your choice. The one you think is best for you. Or best for your pocketbook. Or who doesn't make you wait too long to see him.

Enjoy the right to choose how much you will spend on health insurance. And with which company.

Enjoy the fact that you can spend your money or not, as you alone decide. And that, if you decide to spend it, it goes directly to the one you choose. No bureaucrat gets his hands on it. No bureaucrat diverts it to some other use. No bureaucrat takes his salary out of it.

Enjoy the fact that you pay only for your own health care or the care of your family. You don't have to pay for the care of others when you make your health care decisions.

You can keep your freedoms only if you are willing to work for them.

Write, telegraph or call your political representatives. Tell them you don't want Compulsory National Health Insurance.

Call or write all your friends, neighbors and relatives. Convince them to do the same.

Or your freedoms and theirs will go down the drain. Socialized medicine, or socialism in any form, is incompatible with freedom.

We must dismantle the bureaucratic octopus, not add another tentacle to it.
