America Celebrates 200th Anniversary Sunday

HONOR AMERICA — JULY 4

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

Rodeo Association Pays $8600 Purse

The 1976 Bogata Rodeo attracted a crowd of 7500 and paid a purse to the competing cowboys of $8600, according to Rodeo Association officers. Competing cowboys, including some of the top IRA names, totaled 225.

Total gate for the three night performance, one of the biggest in Northeast Texas, was $10,096.

The rodeo was kicked off Thursday with the annual Rodeo Parade, in which 143 horses and riders participated. Paula Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harvey of Clarksville was crowned Bogata Rodeo Queen for 1977, and will represent the Bogata Rodeo Association this year. First runner-up was Janice Bivins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pop Bivins of the Maple Community. Other contestants in the queen's race were Jo Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fleming of Winfield; Cathi Fonville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fonville of Deport; and Elisha Dugger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dugger, Jr. of Fulbright. The queen was selected on the basis of horsemanship, personality, and a knowledge of rodeo and western attire.

Benny Jordan of Smithville, Oklahoma, was first in the bareback event with 77 points. Butch Stewart of Lake Charles and Wayne Hanson of Muskogee split second and third place with a tie of 71 points.

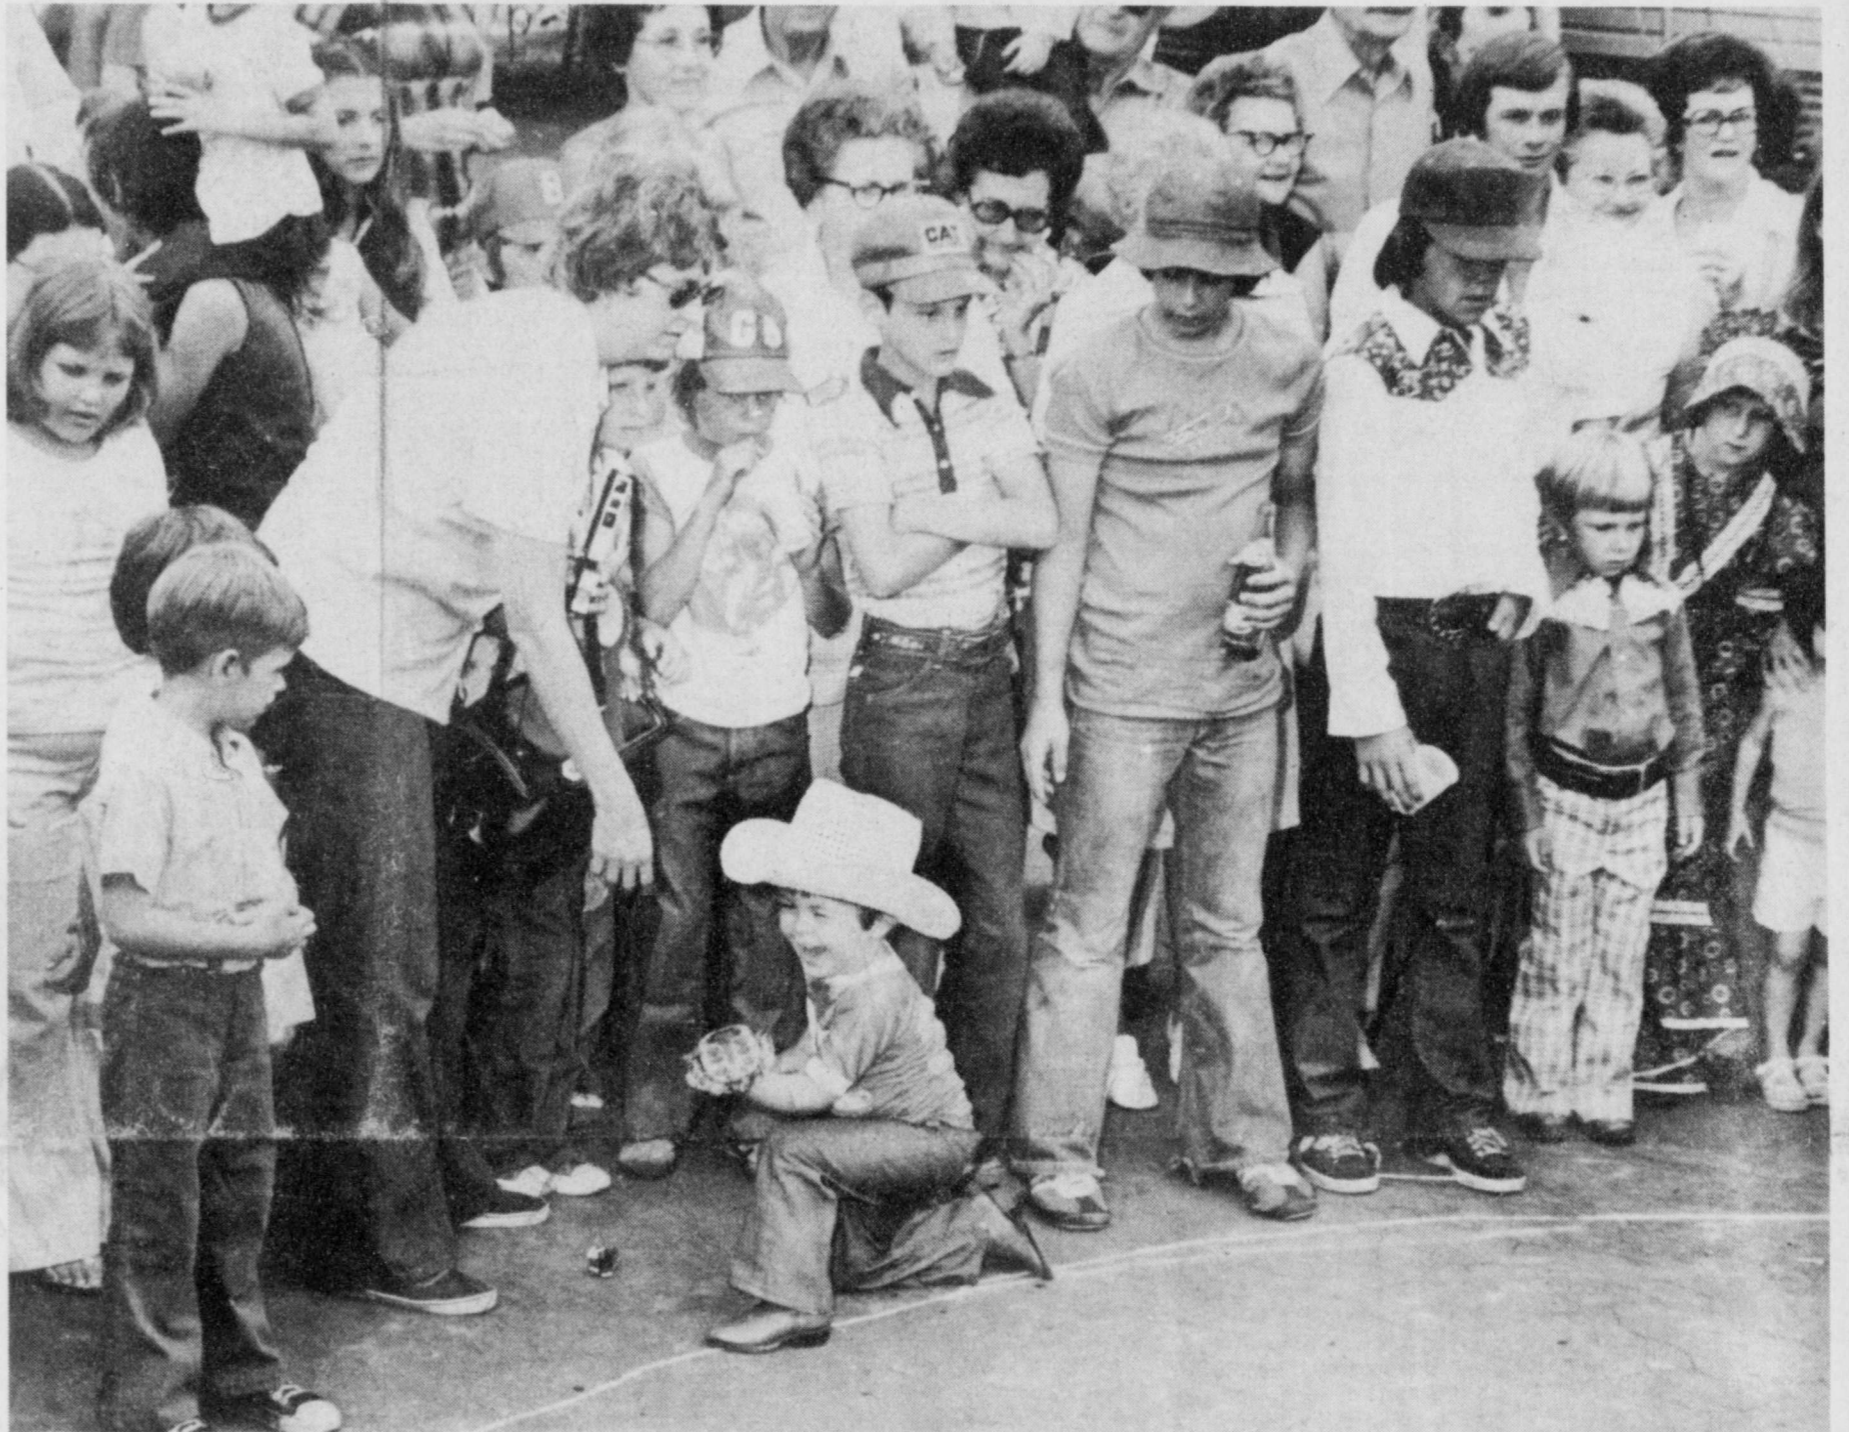

Dexter Bailey was first in calf roping with a time of 8.5, followed by Danny Hamilton of Pittsburg, Oklahoma, with a time of 8.6. Don West of Tulsa was third with 8.8.

Ray Early of Bogata and Butch Couch of Houston tied at 71 points each to split first and second prize money in the saddle bronc event. Marvin Holmes of Pickens, Oklahoma, and Aaron Russell of McKinney split third and fourth prize money with a tie of 69 points.

David Huddleston of Talihina, Oklahoma, won first place in steer wrestling with a time of 4.1, followed by Leonard Armstrong of Talihina with 4.2. Keith Luna of Hugo was third with 4.9.

Karen McCalley of Cypress, Texas won the barrel racing with a time of 16.0. Regina See RODEO Page 4

Dear Readers,

I've gone through paper after paper trying to write a suitable thank you note for this newspaper to print to those who had a part in the first "Frontier Days" celebration in Bogata. It's impossible!! There are too many to name and even if space permitted someone would be left out. From the bottom of my heart I say "thank you" and this is so inadequate. You that had a part in the celebration did one thing for sure. You showed yourself and the rest of the community you cared enough to give your every effort. Perhaps there are some who did not consider it a success. I cannot imagine who it would be for never in my wildest dreams did I anticipate everyone having such a great time. It was work, yes. But more, much more than work, it was something for our town and our people young and old. We learn by our mistakes and there were some, but I assure you, we have seen only the first of hopefully many more frontier days in Bogata.

Thank you for making it a very special day in my life.

May God Bless You
James Wood

Dear Pat,

Just a line or two to let you know how much we enjoyed the Bogata Frontier Days celebration on Saturday and how much we appreciate the nice folks of Bogata letting us participate in all the fun.

I think everyone organizing the festivities did a fine job and I know all their work and effort was appreciated by all.

I really hope you make the Frontier Days an annual affair; we all need more good clean fun like we had this weekend. Keep up the good work and thanks again.

Sincerely, Johnnie Parsons
(No. 2 Goat Milking Trainer and disqualified Turtle Racer)

PAULA HARVEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harvey of Clarksville, was named Bogata Rodeo Queen for 1977. The contestants were

Months of planning and preparation turned into a day of laughter and fun Saturday as Bogata's Frontier Day dawned under overcast skies. Scheduled events and unscheduled mayhem entertained local residents and visitors totaling up to 1000 persons from as far away as Florida. Only one shower served to cool the crowd in mid-afternoon on an otherwise perfect day in Bogata.

Kenneth Jeffery, Galen

Legate, Bobby Moore, and Charlie Lewis with the Bogata Area Chamber of Commerce, and George Nelson, manager of Sambo's in Paris served 370 plates of pancakes with butter, coffee and Blackburn's syrup to the early risers, who watched the arrival of a decorated car from Bedford, Texas, with Wallace Jeffery, Marilyn Rainey, and "Hot To Trot," the super stocker turtle. Ms. Rainey won the goat milking contest, but "Hot To Trot" froze at the starting gate and didn't make it to the finals. "Hatchet," a turtle coached by Johnnie Parsons and Little Lu Lu Baker, also of Bedford and employees of Bell Helicopter, was entered in the same heat with "Hot To Trot," but was disqualified for being fed "turtlespeed" an illegal drug which cultivates quickness on the track.

The stage was set for the turtle race by Bogata Mayor Clifford Barnard, who appeared with John Parrish with a tub of hybrid turtles which had been trained in Cuthand Bottom for the last two weeks. The turtles boasted long blood lines and were registered quarter turtles, throughturtles, and appalosa turtles. Parrish said some of the turtles had been clocked doing the 100 in nine flat. That's 100 inches in nine minutes.

"Hot To Trot" was named the Best Decorated Turtle by the contest chairman, Dr. Jack Trout. Titles for quickness went to turtles belonging to Aaron Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Robinson, who tied for first place with Brian Harville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bo Harville. Second place winners also tied, and drew for places, with Travis Foster drawing second place and Kelly Jeffery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jeffery, winning third place.

In the terrapin division, first place went to Bea White, second place to Joe Hall, and third place to D'Ann Stephenson. A total of 50 terrapins and turtles were entered in the race.

The champion goat milker from Bedford, Marilyn Rainey, won the title in Bogata, with Little Lu Lu Baker coming in a close second.

Cash drawing prizes went to Roy Marris, Mrs. Jessie Kidd,

Mrs. Gilbert Huddleston and Mrs. Blanch Childres for $10 each, and Mrs. J. N. Childres See FRONTIER Page 4

E.O. Frye Retires From Talco Well Service

E. O. Frye Sr. retired from Talco Well Service July 1, 1976 with approximately 12 years service.

He is a native of Oklahoma and attended schools at Howe and Glendale.

Frye was a coal miner at Howe, Oklahoma, Russellville, Arkansas, and was at Rock Springs, Wyoming before coming to Talco in 1944. He was employed by Byrd Frost Inc. until they sold out to Three States Natural Gas. He worked for Three States until they sold out to Delhi-Taylor Oil Co. then he was employed as gang pusher for Talco Well Service. For the past five years he had been manager. The veteran employee married the former Dora Lewis, a native of Hamilton, Alabama, and they have two sons, Edward Frye, Jr. of Denton and Robert Paul who is employed with Halaburton in Chad, Africa and England. They have five grandchildren. He plans to do some work around his place and wants to include some traveling and fishing in the retirement years.

Texas Traffic Deaths Projected At 42

AUSTIN—The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said today indications are that some 42 persons will be killed in Texas traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend, and called upon Texas drivers to "prove our estimate is too high."

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects "unusually heavy traffic" throughout the state, especially around recreational areas and where Bicentennial celebrations are scheduled.

He said the estimate covers a 78-hour period which starts at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Monday, July 5.

During a comparable period last year, the department estimated that 54 persons would be killed during the holiday period. At the conclusion of the July 4 holiday last year, statewide statistics indicated 44 lives lost and rose to 49 with late reports.

In a concerted effort to keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in an all-out effort to make the streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty, Speir indicated, and they will be especially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be working with the news media in a special public education program termed "Operation Motorcide" which focuses public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday period.

THESE ARE THE GOOD GUYS?—Somebody in central casting will catch it for this, but playing the parts of the good guys in the Bogata Bank Robbery were Kenneth Jeffery, Donnie Strain, Charlie Lewis and Galen Legate. (Staff Photo).

Screwworms Found In Red River

MISSION, Screwworms have been found in both Red River and Smith counties of northeast Texas this week, bringing threat of this parasite to animals in a large area, says a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) spokesman.

Dr. M. E. (Cotton) Meadows, Jr., is director of USDA's Screwworm Eradication Program. Operated for USDA by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), this Program works to slow, or stop, spread of this live flesh eating pest.

Female screwworm flies deposit eggs on wounds in warm blooded animals. They have been known to fly as far as 180 miles in search of a wound. As eggs hatch the tiny screwworms enter the wound to feed on live flesh.

Control of screwworms depends on rancher care of livestock and prompt submission of samples of all worms found infesting wounds. Lab identification of worm samples is the only way the Program can know where to direct its efforts, explains Meadows.

Female screwworm flies usually mate only once in their lifetimes. When a wild population is located, sterile flies, produced in the APHIS insectary, are released to mate with the fertile flies. Eggs produced as a result of a sterile to fertile mating will not hatch—ending the life cycle. Lee Perkins collected the Red River County case from a calf three and a half miles northwest of Clarksville on June 22. It was delivered to the lab June 25.

C. L. Lane found screwworms in a dehorning wound in a bovine four miles northwest of Landale on June 21. The Smith County sample was identified June 24.

Meadows urges livestock owners to carefully watch animals for signs of worm infestation in wounds. Samples of all worms found in wounds should be sent to the laboratory for identification. Free sample kits are available from County Agents, veterinarians, or livestock inspectors.

Waddell Named To 4.0 Honor Roll

DENTON—Dr. Miles Anderson, vice-president for academic affairs, ad interim, at North Texas State University, has named 1,334 students to the spring semester honor roll.

The Battle of Bentonville was one of the biggest and last of the Civil War. Four days of combat in March, 1865, left 4,000 men dead or wounded.

Some 331 students earned all "A's" to make the 4.0 honor list, and 1,003 achieved the 3.5 listing, which includes those students whose grade average is midway between an "A" and a "B."

Named to the 4.0 honor roll was Deborah Hall Waddell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dured Hall, Talco.

Happy Birthday, America!

Who would have dreamed 200 years ago that in our bicentennial year we'd be sitting in comfortable, air conditioned homes . . . walking into a room and switching on the lights . . . turning on the radio or television for news and entertainment . . . putting our dishes into an automatic dishwasher . . . throwing dirty clothes into electric washers and dryers . . . cooking foods in just minutes? We have many comforts most people would have thought impossible in 1776. And because America continues to feed minds and encourage new ideas, things fantastic to us now will be commonplace in our tricentennial year. At Community Public Service Company we are continually cooperating in areas of energy research and development. # Erosion Worst In Urban Area

Converting land from agricultural to urban use in the United States is taking place at a rate of approximately one million acres per year, according to Charles VanDeaver, local district conservatist at Clarksville, Texas. These changing acres are sites for new homes, schools, shopping centers, highways, airports and other urbanization varying with our changing industrialization and shifting population.

Studies made on rate of erosion on these sites show that it is about 10 times greater than on land in row crops, 200 times greater than land in pasture, and 2000 times greater than land in timber, according to VanDeaver. This erosion is a source of much of the sediment that pollutes streams, rivers, and fills lakes.

Erosion takes place during construction at the construction site, but areas below are affected also, says VanDeaver.

SOILS that shrink and swell cause damage. Soil surveys show the location of such soils.

Land Management Threat Eased

FORT WORTH—A vast land-management program planned by the Forest Service of USDA has been averted, thanks to vigorous opposition by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. Under the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974, the Forest Service had announced its intention to project management procedures for all privately owned lands as well as public lands.

David Witts, attorney for the Association, attacked this program in statements to Earl Butz, secretary of Agriculture, and John R. McGuire, chief of the Forest Service, pointing out that the Act passed by Congress specifically stated "federal lands" and not privately owned lands were to be included in this management program.

After reconsideration, the Forest Service altered its plan to an "assessment...of the nation's forests and rangelands" in the proposed study, rather than outright management regulations. In a letter to Don C. King, secretary-general manager of the TSCRA, John R. McGuire stated: "We recognize that there has been some misunderstanding of the intent and scope of the Resources Planning Act with respect to non-federal lands. The legislation provides that an assessment would be made of the Nation's forests and rangelands. This assessment is not a commitment to do specific things, but an analysis of the present situation, of how things came to be as they are, and what the outlook is and where the present course will take the nation."

Land management laws are popular methods of government meddling in the affairs of private citizens, according to Witts. "This is a prime example of bureaucrats overstepping their boundaries," he said, "to go beyond the intent of Congress. We must

These below the site areas may erode more after construction is completed because of rapid runoff from paved streets, parking lots, and buildings. Erosion damages to stream channels below construction are enormous at times. A sediment filled stream may cause stream bank erosion and cause the channel to meander. This sediment is the greatest pollutant of streams, rivers, lakes, and ponds. It lowers the quality of water for municipal and industrial use and for boating, swimming, and other water-based recreation. Sediment also damages the areas where it is deposited, such as lawns, fills ditches, culverts and drains.

As the acreage needed for urban use increases during future years the likelihood of erosion and sedimentation will be greater if effective and practical measures for controlling erosion are not adopted and used, cautions VanDeaver. Developers, builders, planners, architects, public officials and people responsible for controlling erosion in their community need to take the lead in developing an effective erosion control program. Today's conservation problems on urban land follows by nearly four decades of soil and water conservation work on farm-land. This information and experience can serve urban areas equally well if properly interpreted and basic principles of soil and water conservation are applied. Soil surveys and interpretations for urban use are available from the Soil Conservation Service.

keep a constant vigil against this kind of encroachment if land owners wish to retain their freedom to manage their possessions as they desire."

Witts added that the steady monitoring of government action by TSCRA is to be credited for averting this potentially disastrous situation for farmers and ranchers before it gathered enough momentum to become unstoppable.

Innoculation Program To Be Organized

Governor Dolph Briscoe announced that the First Lady's Volunteer Program, Office of the Governor, will be responsible for all statewide volunteer recruiting and placement during the upcoming swine influenza inoculation campaign, as a cooperative project with the Texas Department of Health Resources.

"Over 10 million Texans are to be immunized against the killer swine influenza virus in a ninety-day period this fall. Because of the ambitiousness of the campaign and the large number of citizens to be protected, the cost of delivering the flu vaccine would be prohibitive without the unselfish support of thousands of volunteers in every community," Governor Briscoe said.

"The First Lady's Volunteer Program, through its 24 appointed regional volunteer coordinators, will select a volunteer chairman in each of the state's 254 counties, and they in turn will activate local committees to plan and meet the volunteer needs of that local area during the swine flu immunization effort," Governor Briscoe added.

"Never in our history has such a health effort been attempted, and never before has the opportunity for volunteer participation been so great. I encourage every Texan to help by contacting the First Lady's Volunteer Program of my office and offering to be a volunteer," Governor Briscoe concluded.

It is the responsibility of the steering committee to develop a comprehensive plan for volunteer utilization across the state in an effort to insure that every Texan knows of the drive and has the opportunity to receive the free immunizations.

New Fescue Grass To Be Highlighted

Renner—A new Fescue grass, not yet released to the public, which provided 202 days of continuous grazing last winter under extreme drought conditions, will be highlighted July 8, at the Texas A&M University Research & Extension Center.

The occasion marks the annual summer meeting for members and guests of the Blackland Income Growth Program, according to J. G. Dobbs, Chairman, Grandview. Yield tests of more than 60 varieties of grain sorghum will be on exhibit and the production of narrow row cotton will be featured.

The B.I.G. program will begin at 9:30 a.m. with registration and end at 2:30 p.m. following a dutch treat luncheon.

"It has been said by several soils experts that the producer who learns to use nitrogen fertilizer to the best advantage in relationship to timing amounts and placement on his crops in the Texas Blacklands will be the one who makes money," Dobbs said.

"These practices will be discussed," Dobbs added. Hybrid bermuda grasses including Callie will be shown. Dobbs pointed out that these new hybrids are more highly digestible than many of the more commonly used bermudas including Coastal. Heading the list of speakers will be Dr. Dan Pfannstiel, Director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Dr. Jarvis E. Miller, Director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Another feature on the program will be a report by Dr. Karl Mattil, Director, Food Protein Research & Development Center, Texas A&M University. This feature will highlight recent innovations in production of protein for human consumption from Blackland cotton crops. The Blackland Growth Program is dedicated to improving farming and livestock production through a 30-county area in North Central Texas and it is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dana Jean And Randy Anderson Exchange Vows

Dana Jean of Johntown and Randy Derrick Anderson of Cunningham repeated their double-ring wedding vows in a semi-formal ceremony Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Johntown Missionary Baptist Church. The Rev. J. Calvin Hancock, pastor, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lee Jean of Johntown and Mrs. Nina Anderson of Cunningham and C. W. Anderson of Greenville.

Prior to the entrance of the wedding party, the bride's mother accompanied Drue Pirtle as he sang "Always." Piano solos were presented by Mrs. Jean who played "Sweet Memories" and Miss Janet Hancock who played "Let It Be Me." Mrs. Billy Ray Oats of Cunningham accompanied herself at the organ as she sang "More." Mrs. Oats also played the traditional wedding marches.

The ceremony was performed before an altar centered with an arch decorated with blue satin roses and a prie dieu. Tapers flanked the center arrangement.

When the bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a gown of dacron organza and rose Chantilace. The molded bodice featured a scooped neckline outlined with a lace ruffle. The sheer leg o'mutton sleeves were banded with a wide lace cuff and lace motifs defined the natural waistline.

The full skirt of lace extended to form a chapel-length train and was accented with an overlay of organza bordered with a lace ruffle. Matching lace ruffles edged the train's hemline. The bride's tiered, elbow-length veiling of illusion fell from a self-lace bandeau and was bordered with lace matching that of her gown. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses and white carnations.

Miss Teresa Allums of Bogata was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Tonya House and Miss Judy Bivins of Maple.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of blue knit fashioned with an empire waistline and lace cape sleeves. Each wore a garden hat trimmed in blue and each carried a single, long-stemmed red rose.

Miss Darla Jean, sister of the bride, and Miss Tracy Smith were flower girls.

T. L. Ladd of Paris was the best man. Serving as groomsmen were Donald Jean, brother of the bride, and Danny Malone of Paris.

Ushers were Vance Pirtle of Mount Pleasant and Ricky Anderson, brother of the bridegroom.
