All Evening Open House Will Herald Christmas

Plus Holiday Dollar Day Family Shopping Night

Three special events starting with an evening open house will mark Colorado City's Christmas shopping season.

The pre-holiday program, the most pronounced for local business firms within a decade, has been mapped by the Chamber of Commerce retail committee.

Inaugural activity for the Christmas shopping season will be a Nov. 27 open house combined with the season's first visit by Santa Claus and a "mystery shopper" handing out valuable gift certificates to lucky shoppers.

Unique feature of the open house will be the silencing of all store cash registers because no sales will be made during the event.

Following the Nov. 27 open house will be Christmas Dollar Day Dec. 3 and Family Christmas Shopping Night Dec. 13.

"We believe the merchants of Colorado City will join together in these 3 special events to make this the finest Christmas shopping ever for all our citizens," said Jeff Taylor, chairman of the Chamber's retail committee.

Data concerning the 3-event program already has been provided Chamber of Commerce members. Final plans will be formulated quickly, according to Taylor.

The Nov. 27 open house will be from 7 p. m. until 9 p. m. the night the city's Christmas street lighting will be illuminated.

Christmas music will be played in the downtown area and Santa Claus will be at a central position on E. Second St. to talk to children and give away candy to the children.

All citizens will be invited to visit local stores participating in the open house to view the Christmas displays, see the newest merchandise arriving for the holiday period.

There will be no sales during the 2-hour period — to emphasize the open house idea and to create the atmosphere for just friendly West Texas visiting.

A "mystery shopper" — whose identity will be kept secret will be among the open house crowd visiting the stores and will hand out special envelopes between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m.

At least 15 of these envelopes will contain free gift certificates — good for free merchandise gifts at designated Colorado City stores.

Local stores are being encouraged to plan their own special Christmas open house features — refreshments, special events, displays, prizes in addition to the "mystery shopper."

SECOND LAKE?

Sun Oil and CRMWD In Waterflood Plan

Monday in Big Spring, a meeting of considerable importance to the Colorado City area was held by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to proceed with a final draft of an agreement to supply water to Sun Oil Co. for a northern Coke County waterflood project.

When concluded the agreement would provide for the district to deliver salt and raw lake water to Sun. The salt water would be the normal extension of the Colorado River flow of the Colorado River which the district intercepts in channel dams.

Charles Perry of Odessa is chairman of CRMWD directors. The directors went on record in this week's Big Spring session as not opposing a four-month extension of the ban on pit disposal of oil fields brines in the Sharon Ridge field. They will strongly oppose, Perry said, a six-month extension.

A six-month extension of the Railroad Commission's order banning disposal of salt water in open unlined pits after Dec. 7, 1962, has been sought by a group of oil operators in Sharon Ridge field.

E. V. Spence, general manager for CRMWD, explained the proposal to furnish water for Sun Oil of Silver. This way the district could deliver salt water intercepted on the upper Colorado. This would be diluted with water from Lake J. B. Thomas in quantities sufficient to meet contraction demands.

The contract, if and when signed, will entail building of a 17-mile pipeline.

The district has a conditional permit to impound a second lake if and when it can demonstrate that salt water pollution of the rivershed is being brought under control.

CITY HALL SHELTER

Council Re-Zones Fuller Properties

City Council here granted the re-zoning of a site near the corner of 17th St. and Interstate 20 this week.

Les Fuller, property owner who make application for the rezoning a number of weeks ago, expects to build a bulk petroleum plant, a small manufacturing plant, a truck stop and repair shop.

Fuller also plans he told council members, a motel and a restaurant adjacent to the re-zoned plot.

Council members also approved a contract with the United States government permitting the use of the basement in City Hall as an emergency fallout shelter.

Other council actions were the sale of 115 feet of alley for $200, near Interstate 20 and Hickory St. intersection. City manager Ford Merritt (pro-tem) said that a service station will be built at the site.

A street near Hickory and 17th intersection was closed on order of council at the request of Central Baptist Church members. The church plans a new building on an adjoining lot, and ceded to the city 10 feet of right of way along 17th St.

City officials propose to pay Dell Barber $900 per year for use of garbage dump site on the Barber Ranch. City attorney John M. Worrell was instructed by council in session to draw up a contract with Barber detailing the proposal.

Worrell told council members that a law designed to prevent peddling in town after dark would, in his opinion, "not stand up in court . . . you're getting into the field of personal liberties."

IN WOLF STADIUM

Wolves-Snyder Tangle Friday

Colorado City High Wolves, who caught fire offensively in the last half against Lake View last week, move against another touchdown District 3-AAA team Friday.

Their opponents will be the Snyder High Tigers, a club mired in the cellar with the Wolves, but who lost only 0-3 last week to undefeated Sweetwater.

Game time will be 7:30 p. m. in Colorado City Stadium.

The Tigers, by virtue of their overall season record and their close scores even in loss to the district leaders, Sweetwater, Lamesa and Brownfield will be favored over the Wolves.

But Snyder eagerly anticipating to break into the district win column for first time this season may have over done their pre-game warm-up.

FROM CRANE COUNTY

New Gas Pipeline To Morgan Creek

A new gas pipeline from the Sand Hills area in Crane County to the Morgan Creek Power Plant of Texas Electric Service Company near Colorado City in Mitchell County was assured with the signing today in Fort Worth of a fuel supply contract by Texas Electric Service Company with the Odessa Natural Gasoline Company.

Announcement of the contract was made jointly today by W. D. Noel, President of Odessa Natural Gasoline Company, and Beeman Fisher, President of Texas Electric Service Company.

The pipeline to be constructed by Odessa Natural Gasoline Company will be of 20-inch and 16-inch pipe and will be 120 miles in length. It will be routed to points near Odessa and Big Spring.

Principal source of gas for the line will be purchased by by Odessa Natural Gasoline Company from the Warren Petroleum Corporation acting as agents for the Gulf Oil Corporation.

The Morgan Creek steam electric power plant near Colorado City is at this time the largest plant on the power system of Texas Electric Service Company. In addition to supplying fuel gas for the power plant, the new pipeline will supply additional gas to present lines serving companies in the petrochemical complex at Odessa.

It will also have a connection with lines of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company in the vicinity of Odessa and Big Spring. The additional gas supply to be purchased by Pioneer Natural Gas at Big Spring will supplement its present supply serving the Cosden Refinery and associated industries in the Cosden Complex.

Noel said that engineering and design work will start immediately and that the line will be in full operation so it can meet the contract requirements to serve gas for the boilers of the Texas Electric plant at Colorado City starting on April 1, 1964. Portions of the line to serve other users will be completed prior to that time, however.

DISCUSSION BY MRS. NEWT MILLER

"Temptation" Is Maranatha Topic

"Where we find human life, we will find temptation;" Mrs. Newt Miller told members of the Maranatha Study Club at their recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Wilfred Fox, 943 E. 2nd St.

Theme for the study program was "Temptation —The Challenge and the Choice." She told the members that temptation travels with those who ride in royal coaches, and walks with the peasants.

"Temptation slights no race, skips no generation," she continued. "One phrase of the model prayer says, 'Lead us not into temptation.' Does that mean that temptation is a part of the divine plan? If so, is it right for us to pray to escape something that fits into his divine scheme?

"Many believe that this prayer means 'Do not let us be exposed to situations in which we are likely to sin; give us wisdom and insight to discern areas and situations which would cause us to stumble and lead us to avoid them."

Mrs. Miller told the members of the ways Satan tried to tempt Jesus, and the ways that Jesus resisted the temptations.

She listed some of the ways that we are tempted and said: "We can overcome temptation just as Jesus did, if we will use the same means that he did — the Word of God. If we resist temptation the first time, we are strong enough to resist the second, then by the third time, we are in command, and can say, 'Get Thee behind me."

Mrs. Elmer Martin presented the history of the club. Officers for this year were recognized.

President of the club is Mrs. Fox. Vice president is Mrs. P. H. Pace. Mrs. Sam Bullock is secretary and Mrs. Wayne Shawn is treasurer. Mrs. Martin is historian and reporter and Mrs. Miller is parliamentarian.

Next meeting will be Thursday, (today) in the home of Mrs. R. M. Reed, 723 Locust St. Mrs. Elmer Martin will be leader and Mrs. R. S. Crabtree will be program chairman.

We Like Books

Theme for Children's Book Week, Nov. 11-17, "We Like Books", comes to life with the visit of children's groups to Federation Library. Mrs. Boyd Dozier, center, federation librarian, introduces Mike Pritchett, left, and Jerrye Lynn Hertenberger to some of the bound treasures of the library. The two children were presidents of the fifth-grade classes who visited the library this week.

Hutchinson's Fifth Grades Visit Library

The fifth-grade classes of Hutchinson Elementary School taught by Mrs. Bill Everett and Mrs. Jack McKenney observed Children's Book Week by a visit to the Federation Library.

The 52 students made the tour of the library accompanied by their teachers and Weldon Moore, Hutchinson School principal.

Each class presented a donation to purchase a new book for the library and each class presented a booklet they had made. The booklet contained drawings made by the class members that were suitable for use on posters and a list of the students' names.

Making the presentations from Mrs. McKenney's class were the class president, Mike Pritchett; class secretary, Paula Wright and class vice president, Linda Banks.

Presenting the donation and booklet from Mrs. Everett's class were the class president, Jerrye Lynn Hertenberger and class secretary, Ann Crawford.

Mrs. Boyd Dozier, federation librarian, extended an invitation to all children's groups in the area to visit the library during Children's Book Week, Nov. 11-17.

AT HESPERIAN CLUB MEET

Mrs. Halbert Discusses Ballads

"A ballad is a short poem that tells the story of some heroic deed, romance or event in history or roman legend," Mrs. Lynn Halbert told members of the Hesperian Study Club at their Friday meeting in the home of Mrs. J. A. Sadler, 508 E. 9th St.

Mrs. Halbert presented the program for the meeting on the subject, "Texas' Rich Heritage in Folklore."

She told the members that ballads originate among the common people and that no one knows who wrote them.

"Ballads arise among people who have shared the same habits and ideas for generations," she said. "Perhaps one person makes a simple poem in memory of some event, such as a marriage or death. Other persons add to or change the lines and hand them on to the next generation. People remember them but do not write them down."

Mrs. Halbert closed her program by placing and singing several ballads, including "Barbara Allen," "The Ship That Never Returned" and "The Lone Star Trail."

Mrs. Bennett Directs Club Program

Mrs. Lily Bennett, fine arts chairman for the Loraine Atheneum Study Club of Loraine, directed the program for the club's recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Bruce Johnson.

"Southwestern Artists" was the theme of Mrs. Bennett's program. She displayed a brochure in color of art in the White House, where many portraits of famous persons are displayed.

Mrs. Bennett also presented a sketch on the life of Peter Hurd, southwest artist. She showed prints of his work.

She introduced local artists, Mrs. Glen Coón and Mrs. Doyle Hester, who displayed a number of their own paintings, both oil and water colors. Still life, nature scenes and copies of the old masters were included in their collection.

The Atheneum Club arranged the display in the Federation Library showcase for the month of November. The display is a collection of foreign dolls, especially arranged to complement Children's Book Week.

Mrs. K. L. Taylor presented music for the meeting. Refreshments of coffee, tea, iced salads and cake were served to the fourteen members present.

Warden Says No "Does"

Rogis Tucker, game warden, warned hunters here this week that there will be no doe hunting allowed in Mitchell County this season.

Deer season opens Nov. 16 and runs through Dec. 31. No doe permits will be issued in this county, Tucker said.

"A count of deer proved that there are not enough in this area to permit killing any does at all, this season," Tucker said. Violaters will be penalized, he added in his statement of "Hunters Beware!"

SAYS MRS. DICK GREGORY

Encourage Art In Children

"It is important to encourage art talent in young children," Mrs. Dick Gregory told members of the Primary Parent-Teachers Association Tuesday afternoon at their regular meeting at the school.

Mrs. Gregory was speaker for the meeting on the subject, "Art." She had asked all the children to draw a picture of something they were thankful for and the best Thanksgiving pictures were shown to the group by the student artists.

Murals were shown by some of the teachers. The classroom under the direction of Mrs. Ace McShan displayed a mural of a pilgrim scene. Mrs. C. C. Burt's room displayed a mural depicting the first Thanksgiving. The room taught by Mrs. J. F. Merritt drew a mural on the composition of the "Star Spangled Banner."

The executive board of the PTA met just preceding the general meeting.

Mrs. Charles Snider, PTA president, opened the meeting. Mrs. Gregory was introduced by Mrs. Elden Mahon.

Mrs. M. J. Dawson's room was recognized for having the most representatives present.

Mrs. Jimmy Williams, Halloween Carnival chairman, reported that the organization had made a profit of $117.28 on this year's carnival.

It was announced that Mrs. V. V. Shropshire's room was first-place winner in the campaign for more PTA membership. Mrs. B. R. Headstream's room was second and grade taught by Mrs. Brooks Teague and Mrs. M. J. Dawson tied for third.

The organization will be guests Dec. 11 for the Hutchinson PTA meeting at that school.

WOLVES—

Four students from Snyder High journeyed to Colorado City Wednesday night and prematurely burned the Wolves bonfire (scheduled for Thursday night's pep rally).

They added insult to injury, so to speak, and burned the initials SHS into the turf at Wolf Stadium, then painted sidewalks and windows at Colorado High.

The quartet and student leaders from Snyder visited Colorado High Thursday and apologized for the pre-game mischief — including the mistake of applying rubber base paint that was thought to be water base.

But the soft words didn't exactly atone for the havoc as far as Colorado High students were concerned a fact that might upgrade C-City's effort on the field Friday night.

Snyder's coaches haven't been exactly complimentary of the Wolves this week, either, as they briefed the Tigers on C-City's 24-56 loss last week in Lake View.

Before the Snyder Quarterback Club the Snyder coaches referred to some of the Wolves' defensive tactics as "crazy" and described the Wolves as a club capable of being taught but usually falling apart after a one quarter spurt.

The Wolves have dropped 3-AAA encounters to Brownfield and Sweetwater in addition to Lake View. They have won 1 game over the entire season route compared to 2 for Snyder.

Winner of the Friday night contest will climb upward leaving the losers in undisputed possession of last place.

Strengthened in aggressiveness by several sophomores up from the B-team, the Wolves came to life in the second half against Lake View and scored 24 points.

Charlie Houston, the hefty tailback, took over passing duties, too, and put versatility into the Wolf attack by completing 8 of 12 tosses.

However, a 32 point deficit — scored in the first half by Lake View — put C-City too far behind.

Hutchinson P-TA Conducts Pageant

The Hutchinson Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association will meet Tuesday at 3 p. m. for the annual Thanksgiving Pageant.

Mrs. Burnis Porter was elected as the class shut-in.

Mrs. Thomas presented the devotion. Her subject was "A Woman's Thanksgiving Prayer."

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Moore, to the guest, Mrs. Thomas, and to the following members present: Mmes. Miller, Porter, A. C. Benson, John Bell, Magill and Bill Love.

PEGGY'S

Paragraphs

By PEGGY BELVIN

DIDN'T KNOW that the local Business and Professional Women's Club members were so much fun!

Was guest this week at their annual Thanksgiving dinner, and haven't had so much fun in ages.

My official hostess for the affair was one of our town's sweetest and most busy women, MRS. J. ED RICHARDSON.

VISITED FEDERATION LIBRARY recently, and it looked like an art museum combined with garden show.

Plus the art exhibit still displayed by the West Texas Art Association around the walls, MRS. J. W. WATSON had furnished an autumn arrangement centered around a dried piece of driftwood with an upward movement and motion to the right.

ARRANGED WITH THE WOOD were various sprays of dried grain, leaves and such odds and ends as seeds and cockleburrs.

And surveying the quiet coolness of the room were two miniature squirrels, perched atop the driftwood.

MRS. BOYD DOZIER, librarian, informed me that MRS. H. E. LOCKHART AND MRS. JOHN BROWN are other frequent contributers of floral beauty to the library.

ONE THING that makes this chilly weather more bearable is the beauty of the season.

Vegetation is changing colors and the landscape is splashed with hues of brown and orange and red and gold.

LOOKS AS IF SOMEONE turned a giant paint bucket over and let the colors spill where they may.

If there's anything more beautiful, it must be the terrain in the dead of winter, when the whole horizon wears a white cape of soft snow and the eaves hang thick with icicles and the air is crisp and cold and smells of a world washed with frozen drops of rain.

But . . . is anything more beautiful than springtime, when the buds and flowers peep out into a welcoming world of green and surprises await you at every turn of the road as the meadows turn over a new leaf and burst into bloom.

Or can any of these scenes rival the breath-taking atmosphere of a walk along a country road with the hot summer sun receiving its own reflection from a water hole where fat and lazy cows waste the day away?

TO A WORLD OF MONOTONY, the seasons' change offers us a chance to watch a part of nature turn brown white blanket of snow, awaken and live again in a springtime world of fantasy and laze away its last days in the in an autumn chill, sleep the winter away under a heavy heady heat of the summer sun.

But, to watch this revolution is to realize the essence of our being and to learn the age-old lesson that this world is not OURS, we just live here.

Miss Miller Honored At Birthday Party

Miss Gladys Miller was honored on her birthday Tuesday by a surprise party hosted by members of the Philathea Sunday School Class of First Methodist Church.

CONVERSATION CORNER

EVERYBODY, says a writer for Today's Health magazine, published by the American Medical Association, is influenced in mood by color.

Colors, the article says, can change emotions. Can even cause actual physical changes. The writer holds that black and gray are the most depressing colors, therefore people are more prone to be depressed when the weather turns dreary, cloudy, wintery.

* * *

DON'T YOU believe it! Some people fairly bloom when it rains! Some people like to write a new sonnet, cook up a storm, and read that continued mystery tale they've been saving in six issues of the Post, when the weather obligingly turns dreary.

There are people in this world who cherish the sound of thunder, admire the crackle of lightning, sparkle at the sight of snow, and come alive like thirsty fields of hegari with each new drop of rain!

* * *

AS USUAL, the little woman comes in for her special share of The Great AMA's analysis. "All people are more subject to depression in bad weather," the article sez right here.

And then, "This applies particularly to women, who are known to be more affected by color than men are." Period.

* * *

MAYBE SO. But if so, how come most women feel so ultra-elegant wearing black?

Black anything a-tall from that slinky black nylon nightie to the good little suit and dinner dress does NOT depress most women. It impresses 'em! It gives 'em a lift right next-door to a shampoo color rinse. Or false eyelashes.

* * *

MEN, in our unbiased opinion, are the suckers for responding to color. Men are so aware of the power of color that they invented, long ago, a bunch of moods to fit each color.

When a man feels healthy he's "in the pink."
When a man feels angry, he "sees red."
When he feels like kicking over the chairs, he's "purple with rage."

When he admits to cowardly instincts he's "just yellow," or has a "yellow streak," at least.

* * *

WHEN a man goes in for one of his heavier thinking sessions, he's "in a brown study."

When he's jealous or envious, he's "green with jealousy —or envy."

On top of all of that, he's entirely capable of getting "just blue."

* * *

WOMEN, Lord love 'em, hardly ever get "just blue." They get aqua or violet or periwinkle or powder blue or royal or Alice blue or turquoise or navy or marine blue.

The same is true about seeing red. Women see scarlet, crimson, cerise, hot pink, apple red, maroon, burgundy, holly, Fifth-avenue-red, certainly-red, love-that-red, camellia, pango peach, or geranium.

* * *

ONLY A MAN, poor thing, would be so lacking in imagination as to just see red.

Women see this season's shades of red. But then as the medical writer said, "Women are known to be more affected by color than men are."

LOCAL SEEN LATELYS: Saw Jane Majors (Mrs. Sam L. Jr. Buzz) looking mightly pretty, as usual . . . Dick Gregory Jr. and his little lassie of the buttercup yellow pony tail . . . Helen May, glamorous high schooler, dining out with parents Bob and Hilda.

Saw Mrs. J. Ed Richardson and Annie Dixon headed for Civic House the day of the B&PW anniversary party . . . Nice Mrs. Harold Maniss, post officing . . . And Corley Bozeman there at the stamp window . . . Plus one of the nicest men in C. City Guy Burson.

* * *

* * *

SAW Mrs. Frank Lupton getting beautified . . . The Bill Dosses lunching in the Colorado Room . . . Cute Kack McClellan (Mrs. Fred) banking . . . And Emily Barry (Mrs. Tom) saying son Pat has been busy as copy desk editor of the Daily Texan, campus paper of University of Texas where our Pat's a senior journalism and English major.

* * *

THE RATLIFFS, Harry and Isabel, were entertaining a handsome couple at lunch in the Baker. It was the Guy Smiths of New Orleans who'd come to Texas to admire a new grandchild in Midland. The Eugene Smiths of El Paso met the visitors from Louisiana and the C. City Ratliffs in Midland for a Sunday family party. Guy and Gene are brothers of Isabel, of course.

Saw the little Don Butler family "eating out," too . . . Plus Dr. David Bridgford . . . And back to color, spied Mrs. Clay Smith in a most becoming red dress. Tile red, that is.

ABOVE & BEYOND . . .

A Colorado City child, desperately ill . . . within hours was receiving medical attention a Galveston hospital could provide.

A local businessman made an important conference hundreds of miles away, then hurried back home the same day.

Each trip was made speedily, safely in a specially chartered plane piloted by Frank Derigibus.

These are not isolated cases. Both came in recent days. And both emphasize the valuable service Frank unhesitantly provides our community in addition to his new car dealership. Above and beyond the usual, wouldn't you say?

Wildcats Win At Basketball

The Wallace Wildcats rounded the scores on the Floydada Hornets 84-42 in the Wallace gym Friday night basketball game.

The game was never close as Frank Biggers, Oscar Amos, Jesse Burton, and Sylvester Williams continued to make points throughout the runaway contest.

Wallace started fast as Frank Biggers shot four field goals though the hoop in leading the Wildcats to a 23-4 first quarter score. Frank Biggers made eight more points in the second quarter as Wallace took a commanding 42-10 half-time lead.

'Sharpshooter' Frank Biggers led the Wildcats on offense with 25 points. Robert Contee made 19 for the losers. Others seeing action for the Wildcats were Oscar Amos, Jesse Burton, Sylvester Williams, Eddy Campbell, Willie Hill, Charles Belvin, Curtis Taylor, and Emerson Henderson.

The Wallace girls lost to the Floydada girls 24-65.

The Wallace boys and girls traveled to Coleman Tuesday. The next game in C-City will be played against Hamlin Friday.

Hall Guests

Tuesday guests of Mrs. R. L. Hall and Wetonia were Mrs. Billy Phipps and sons and Mrs. Sue Phipps and children and Mrs. Janet Green and family all of Snyder.

GAS makes every pot automatic

You're in luck with a new GAS range! They're on sale and they're wonderful!

Take Burner-with-a-brain for example. It manages the flame to hold exactly the temperature you set. Lets you turn your back on the most delicate sauces, the most critical simmering. And never a boil-over nor a scorch!

But that's just one lucky charm about new GAS ranges. They also give you the coolest, cleanest cooking you can find. You broil smokelessly (with the broiler door closed). You avoid "hangover heat" on the top burners, because "off" means "off" with GAS!

Beautiful design, more automatic features, unbeatable economy . . . they're all yours in the new GAS ranges. (Luckiest of all, they're on sale! So buy now.)

Cuban Reaction Shows Democracy Action

The Soviet Union's sudden and clandestine emplacement in Cuba of long range missiles and bombers capable of carrying nuclear destruction to most of the United States and many countries of South America, and this country's sudden counter move of instituting a Naval blockade to prevent further build-up of such offensive weapons, again brought the nations of the world face to face with the immediate possibility of nuclear destruction. Certainly no one can now predict with certainty what might have happened had a different course been followed, nor foresee the outcome or eventual repercussions of the present Cuban situation.

Some critics of the administration have felt that the Soviet Union's arrogant consolidation of her position in Cuba went beyond the point of danger to the United States a long time ago and that we should have risked military action to stop it before now. Others believe that, with good evidence as a great nation leaning backwards from the stigma of aggression, we acted with forebearance and wisdom in delaying action.

Whatever the cross currents, one single fact stands out—that this country finally moved with courage and decisiveness in countering a sudden and intolerable threat to our own and the world's security—the presence of long-range nuclear missiles on the island of Cuba just 90 miles off of our shore.

International power politics, always a dangerous game for all participants, is being played today on a scale never before matched in history. The destructive power available to the opposing military establishments, if unleashed, can saturate much of the earths surface and bring survival itself into question. Short of war the winner of this power struggle might gain commercial and ideological leadership of the world and move ahead into space itself.

Those in a position to know generally agree that this is a long range "game" which not even Russia wishes to terminate with the mutually destructive fire of World War III. The reaction of the American people in this election year, and of the free world generally, demonstrates the Wests greatest asset. It is the determination which stiffens the will of free men and women arriving at their own conclusions and acting on them. This is the strength of the United States and the power behind the steel of President Kennedy's words.

Big Bargain In Safety

For parents, school administrators and others who may have taken a dim view of driver education as a worthwhile high school course, we have some startling figures that should settle all doubts.

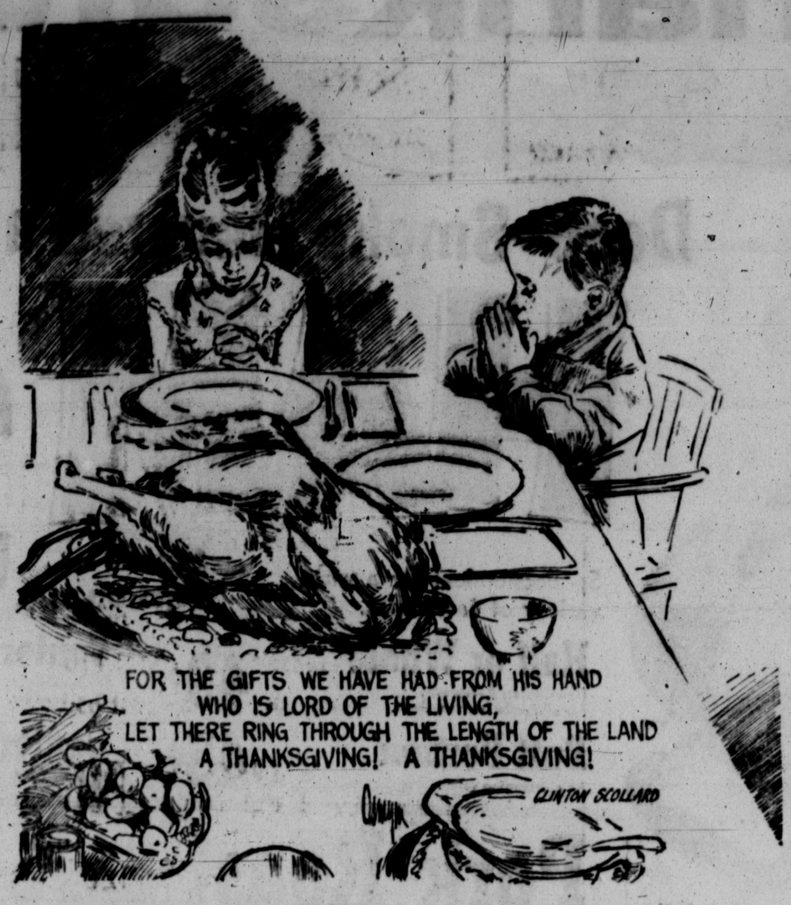
During the 1960-61 school year more than one million male public high school students reached legal driving age. Of these, only 39 percent could take advantage of driver education courses meeting national standards. The lack of such training is costing the remaining 61 per cent (or their parents) an extra $7.7 million a year in automobile liability premiums. Furthermore, their failure to qualify for the usual ten per cent premium discount given those young males who pass the recognized courses, will cost each of the 61 per cent from $90 to $151.85 in extra premiums by the time he is 25. The cost of standard high school driver education ranges from $40.10 to $60 per pupil—across the nation, but even less here in Colorado City.

These are the highlights of a nationwide study just released by the Insurance Information Institute which points out that: "If the availability of drivers education courses continues at the present inadequate level for that nine-year span (from 16 to 25), that group and the new thousands who reach legal driving age through 1970 will pay an extra $369,495,687 in premiums—all for want of standard driver education facilities.

"But," continues the study—perhaps for the benefit of those who are urging that this "unnecessary frill" be dropped from the high school curriculum—"consider this: If no driver education courses were offered in any high school for the next nine years, it would add "$12,636,664 in the first year to the liability insurance premiums of young male drivers and the accumulated total for the nine-year span would be a staggering $605,730,553!"

Nor should it be overlooked that the insurance people—who are very statistical-minded—have good reason to extend this ten per cent premium discount to qualified young drivers. Their 30 hours of classroom study and six hours of behind-the-wheel training by a certified driver-education teacher pay off handsomely in dry hardboiled study of highway injuries, death and destruction.

No community can afford to be without high school driver-training—whether we keep score in death or dollars.



STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Cox Stamps 2-Party Label on State Despite Losing Campaign

Republicans have turned Texas into a two-party state.

The heavy vote for Jack Cox against John Connally, election of two members to the national House of Representatives and seven members to the Texas House, plus substantial Republican votes in nearly all areas, are being interpreted by many State Capitol observers as meaning that never again will the Democratic nomination be "tantamount to election."

Dallas County elected every Republican candidate for county and legislative office they had on their ballot, and gave Cox a 25,000-vote lead over Connally. Tarrant and Harris were close. Bexar, El Paso, Travis and Nueces, the next four of the big counties, went Democratic.

Unofficial and incomplete returns indicate that Connally carried 204 counties and Cox carried 50. But it was the substantial Cox votes in the 204 counties he lost which makes this election significant.

Connally is conferring with legislators and with state boards and commissions. He will not make complete budget recommendations, since outgoing Gov. Price Daniel is required under the Constitution, to make budget recommendations to the Legisla-ture in January.

But Connally will make his own budget proposals in his message to the Legislature.

Industrialization, tourism, higher education and water conservaion are the areas of state activity which Connally stressed most in his campaign. He will propose the creation of a Bureau of Commerce to take over tourist and industry-attracting.

The new governor, with a 120,000-vote margin of victory under his belt, said he holds no ill will toward areas which voted against him, that he will be governor for Republicans as well as Democrats.

Main areas where the Republicans ran strong were in the oil areas of West and East Texas, in the major cities, and in the Panhandle. They elected local officials in Midland, Ector, Smith, Dallas, Kerr, Bexar, Pecos, Hutchinson, Zavala and Randall Counties.

CAMPAIGNS TOO LONG

After the longest political campaign in Texas history there is a desire on the part of many candidates, newspaper reporters who travel with the candidates, and the voting public — to return to the shorter campaign periods.

The old late-in-July, late-in-August and early-in-November voting months were far less strenuous than the present early-in-May, early-in-June and early-in-November dates.

Campaigning in the heat of the summer now is very much preferred over the cold winter months and the long, tedious battle period that extends from December to November.

Don't be surprised if there is a big demand to return to the old election dates. They consumed only about 120 days compared with this year's long, drawn-out, pace-killing, man-killing, more-than-300-day battle.

Governor-Elect John Connally has been quoted as saying he would favor moving the primary elections to August or September, as they are in most two-party

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

Texas has seen a very interesting election this year. For the first time the Republicans were a threat to some Democratic office holders. This is indeed democracy in action.

The results have been announced and it will be Governor Connally this coming January. Runnels County was pretty well even on the governor's race. This is all good to vote as each person sees fit—it is very good. While the race has not been decided it is good for each and everyone to support the one of their choice.

There is another side to this too. When the votes are in and the people have decided, then is the time to stop, accept the decision, and join with the winner and work for the good of the state and country. It is not good to keep on and on; it is not good to work against the winner good to work against the winner just because one did not just because one did not vote for them.

It is important that every Texan and Runnels County resident remember that when Mr. Connally takes office that he is Texas' Governor; he is the governor of each of us; he is the governor of all those whom did not vote for him too. He will need all our help.

—THE BALLINGER LEDGER

What is the image of Ralph Yarborough as a Senator?

His friends might reply that he is "liberal," whatever that is. His enemies would say "ultra liberal" if they were in a charitable mood, otherwise he might be described as a socialist or even a communist.

What is the image of Lyndon Johnson as a Senator? His friends would say "conservative." Some would say "moderate", and some of his liberal enemies might say "reactionary."

The facts are, when both men were in the U. S. Senate they voted together about 90 per cent of the time. In fact they voted together more often than many Senators who are tagged as "conservative" or "liberal."

Why would two men with such similar voting records have such divergent images in the minds of the people?

It's because so many people have been brainwashed. So many let the newspapers and the commentators form their opinions for them. The papers have been yelling "liberal" in connection with Yarborough and "conservative" in connection with Johnson for so long that people assume that it is so.

THE MANY CAUSES OF SHOULDER PAIN

I can speak from personal experience when I say that what often seems to be a simple pain in the shoulder can prove to be one of the most difficult ailments to diagnose. This is because there are so many structures crowded into the neck and shoulders. This part of our body contains many blood vessels, nerves, muscles, bursas and bones; and many times trouble elsewhere in the body can send what doctors call "referred pain" to the shoulder area.

A few months ago I saw a man who complained of a vague aching in his left shoulder. However, xray examination of his neck and shoulder and laboratory tests were normal. Since neither his family doctor nor I could immediately find a reason for his pain, we had nothing to offer except pain-killing drugs to relieve his distress temporarily.

We spent weeks searching for a new clue to this man's ailment and it finally appeared; his upper eyelid began to droop and the pupil became constricted. From the symptoms we knew that the man was developing an elusive malignancy known as Pancoast's tumor.

This particular tumor originates at the top of the lungs where it is hidden from x-ray examination. It escapes detection until it presses upon neighboring structures. In this man's case, it had begun to press upon a certain nerve in the neck which makes connections with the involved eye.

Shoulder pain can also be caused by injuries to the neck vertebrae, coronary thrombosis and irritation of the diaphragm. Since none of these ailments are caused by a problem within the shoulder, the physician must search beyond the shoulder area to find the actual trouble spot.

Arthritis and bursitis are the most common local causes of shoulder pain. Both these ailments are usually detected with x-ray examination of the involved shoulder.

The hormones, hydrocortisone and prednisolone, and physical therapy have been most helpful in the treatment of sore shoulders from these latter causes. X-ray therapy is also useful in the treatment of bursitis.

SPOTLIGHT ON BUSINESS

Promotion Often Lacks Sales Push

BY MADGE BELL
Record Staff Writer

"Advertising is salesmanship in print . . ."

If this brief definition of advertising is followed literally, much of the material which passes as advertising should not qualify. Too often, essential elements of salesmanship are not included in promotional efforts.

Selling is done only when a business offers a prospect a real and unique benefit. It is purely incidental when a sample listing of name and telephone number brings business to a store.

Compare the headlines from advertisements of two Chicago markets.

Market A: "U. S. Graded Choice, Naturally Aged Sirloin Steaks — 89c lb."

Market B: "See Us For Quality Steaks."

The first headline tells the consumer specifically what he can get and how much it will cost. It offers direct, tangible benefits. It could be expected to bring pre-sold customers to the market.

The second headline does not sell. It provides no concrete information. It promises no benefits — an essential of good salesmanship. If the advertiser was disappointed in results, the blame could be placed on faulty use of advertising space.

Newspaper advertisers have no reason for using incomplete salesmanship. The large space available on the newspaper page provides ample room for supplying full shopping information to a mass audience.

In other words, newspaper advertising is the most interesting of advertising because it is bonafide news.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Weather Needs "At Home" Look

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosophér on the Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek drops international affairs and discusses the weather this week.

* * *

Dear editor:

Some people don't think the world makes any progress, but it does.

For example, take weather forecasting. A while back a little shower caught me out in the open without a raincoat and I got soaking wet. What I was doing was changing the props from the north side to the south side on a fence of mine. You'd think a fence would lean in the same direction all the time but mine leans one way a while then leans the other, and it keeps a man pretty busy sightinb down it to see which side to put the props on.

At any rate, the day had been clear and sunny until I suddenly looked up to discover a cloud had turned up and rain was pouring down.

After I got home and dried out I pulled out a newspaper I'd been saving for a rainy day which is a lot easier than cash and read a long article on a new experiment in weather forecastinp.

Accordinv to it, the government is experimentinb with more community forecasting stations. It's one thing, it said, to get the weather report for a general area covering a fourth of the state, but what farmers need is a station that'll forecast the weather right at home.

This will be a great improvement and a sample of progress. I don't mean to say the local station will be any more accurate than the big-city station. When you're living on a globe that's traveling through space as fast and far as this one is every 24 hours, it's possible to predict what the weather ought to be tomorrow but a lot easer to tell what it was yesterday and a man is still going to get caught in a rain, but the progress comes in being able to pinpoint the blame.

There's very little satisfaction in getting mad at an anonymous weather bureau in a nearby city, but when somebody living in your own community says it's going to be clear tomorrow on your own farm and it rains, you've got something to go on. You can call the bureaucrat up and tell him what you think.

In many cases, forecasting the weather is like predicting who's going to win a football game or an election. People read it, but the best way to find out is to wait and see, with the assurance that whatever it is, half the people are going to be disappointed.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Right now is the time to make your deer hunt sucessful.

Many a hunter will go into the woods this fall with a gun he's never seen before. He may not know how it will shoot or even whether it will shoot.

Up will jump a buck. He'll shoot . . . and miss. Or worse still, inflict a wound from which it may die later, without benefit to anyone.

Hunting big game with a big bore gun, without first getting acquainted with it, is one of the most senseless things a hunter can do.

Plain talk you say? That's what it's intended to be.

* * *

It's fun to get in a little practice shooting. And that's what we're trying to encourage. Practice Shooting not only improves your hunting skills and keeps the ammunition manufacturers in business, but it also provides the 11 per cent excise tax from which you derive better hunting.

Fortunately most deer hunters own their guns. But a lot of hunters neglect them from year to year.

On the other hand there is the spontaneous hunter, the fellow who decides all of a sudden to go hunting. He borrows or leases a gun for the occasion gets a few cartridges, goes out and misses a few shots, then gripes about it the rest of his life.

* * *

One man I know won't lend a deer rifle for just that reason. He has several guns. In fact, gun collecting is one of his hobbies. He says if a man wants to hunt he should have enough interest to have a gun available that he knows something about.

Another hunter I know had a good deer rifle — in fact several of them — until his boys grew up. Then they took them over. For the last 20 or more years he's borrowed a gun each year to hunt with and always gets his buck. But he knows guns, and he's well acquainted with the guns he borrows.

It is getting progressively easier for a hunter to get acquainted with his rifle. Scattered over the state are literally hundreds of rifle ranges where a person can shoot in the gun. Many gun stores have a place where you can sight-in your rifle or take a few practice shots.

A little dry firing in your own home also is helpful. Here you get the practice of throwing the gun to your shoulder. You get the feel of it. And you learn how to line up the sights.

* * *

Deer rifles now are divided into categories.

First there is the lever action short barrel rifle usually is used with open sights. These are particularly well adapted to the brush country and the hill country. Basically .30/.30 caliber, they are adequate for the white-tailed deer. They are easy to handle and almost fool proof.

Then there is the bolt action rifle, usually equipped with the telescopic sight. Herein lies one of the problems. Despite the ruggedness of the sight or the mount, it is easier for this gun to get out of alignment. It should be shot in before the season opens, then properly cased so the sight will not get out of alignment.

Last fall a man we know shot in his gun, a new model 70 Winchester in the powerful .264 caliber. He had it equipped with one of the best variable scopes money could buy. On a hunting trip he stored it in a cloth case which he packed into the crowded luggage compartment of a small plane. When he got to Colorado he missed his first shot, at a big buck, by six feet.

This year he vows he'll pack the gun differently and check it out when he gets into camp.

Between the lever and bolt action rifles are the semi-automatic and the pump. But the same general principles can be applied to them. Check them over thoroughly.

Also this year there will be a great many hunters, especially in the thick brush of East Texas, who'll be using shotguns with slugs.

With these new slug cartridges a shotgun now can be very effective and accurate for deer hunting up to 100 yards. But here again, they should be tested out first, particularly if you plan to use the old scatter barrels without the sighting arrangement necessary for extreme accuracy.

Most of the gun manufacturers today have developed slug barrels for their guns. Some of them are only 20 inches long. They have front and rear sights and can be shot with great accuracy up to and even beyond 100 yards.

These barrels, bored especially for slugs, also are excellent for bird shooting. They are about equivalent to improved cylinders.

* * *

So if you want to get your deer this fall, begin now with your practice. Use regulation targets. Start at 25 yards. If you can knock out the "X" at 25 yards, move the target out to 100. If you hit the same spot at this distance you're ready for the field.

Generally speaking this is a good basic way of sighting-in a rifle.

Because of the trajectory, if you have it on at 25 or 30 yards, it will be on at 100. There will be sight variations, according to the size and speed of the bullet, but not a great deal.

Anyway, it will be within working tolerance and from there you can zero it in to hit exactly where you want it.

What is your Question?

QUESTION: "What is your life?"

Newspapers report daily of those who have departed this life. Some have a sudden illness, some have a heart attack and others die from accidents. Truly, life hangs by a thread. Each time we travel the highways we risk the chance that one slight mistake by a sleepy or drinking driver may terminate our lives in a grinding headon crash. Add to this the recurrent world crises with the possibilty of atomic warfare. If this occurs multiplied millions of people will suddenly be annihilated.

For anyone to face these facts and yet feel that "this couldn't happen to me," is sheer folly. The hazards of illness and sudden death are a very real part of every day living. In view of this, thousands of people are extremely uneasy. While trying to ignore the frightening hazards of this age they engage in frantic activity and become engrossed in social and material affairs. They work hard at being "happy," but underneath it all they realize that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth" (Luke 12:15).

The wise person faces the facts. Instead of burdening himself with useless anxieties, he plans for the future; his future includes this life and death and the life to come. Only the faithful Christian can face the future with confidence. He has obeyed his Lord. His sins have been forgiven, and he is living the Christian life . . . with the assurance of life eternal.*

In meeting the problems of life, the Christian realizes that "it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jeremiah 10:23). He therefore avails himself of the rich resources of God's word to guide his steps. He is not unduly concerned with material values since he has learned of the true riches that are eternal (Matthew 6:19, 20). He is not promised freedom from illness or tragedy but he does have the promise that "all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose" (Romans 8:28). Regardless of what may happen or when, he is prepared. His soul is safe in God's keeping and cannot be harmed by accidents, illness, or atomic blasts. Truly, he has "the peace of God which passeth all understanding" (Philippians 4:7).

Are you a Christian? Jesus said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28). Indeed, Christianity offers the solutions to all the problems of life.

"Whereas you know not what shall be on the morrow. What is your life? For ye are a vapor that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away" (James 4:14).

Are you a Christian?

*He believes in Jesus as the Son of God (John 3:16).

He repented of his sins (Acts 2:38).

He confessed Christ's name before men (Romans 10:9,10).

He was immersed for the remission of sins (Acts 22:16; Romans 6:3, 4).

He is living a faithful Christian life (Revelation 2:10).

That's a fine idea for Colorado City to celebrate the opening of Interstate 20 freeway route around the town.

I'm sure a few other cities have had similar observances. But the event still is unusual—especially for communities the size and population of C-City.

The celebration doesn't deny there will be problems of readjustment to the freeway routing. Not the least.

But it is a forward step . . . a look to the positive approach . . . the marking of making the best of the situation.

And when you have a town like that . . . you just like to be a part of it . . . do business within it . . . and be friends with its citizens.

Library News

The following is a list of new books just received at the Federation Library. This week, in observation of Children's Book Week, books for children are being displayed at the library and are available by request from Mrs. Boyd Dozier, librarian.

The following books are recommended for children up through junior high school age.

"THE BLACK FAWN," Jim Kjelgaard. Soon after Bud Sloan had been sent to live at Bennett's Farm, he came upon a black fawn in the nearby woods, and from that moment the metamophosis began that turned a frightened city bred orphan into a dedicated young farmer, whose whole being is wrapped up in the life and lore of the fields and woods of Dishnoe County.

"THE FIGHTING SOUTHPAW," Whitey Ford and Jack Lang (Citadel.) Red Norton's inability to control his temper caused him to be sent down to the farm club from the major league. Here he finds that a young pitcher needs more than talent to succeed, and this realization helps him work his way back to the top. With tips for young pitchers by Whitey Ford and the southpaw pitchers' Hall of Fame.

"NAVY STYLE," Helen Orlob. Twelve absorbing tales of significant, little-known incidents of valor; ingenuity highlights varied functions of the U. S. Navy in peace and war; its far-flung, exciting history from Revolutionary times to atomic age.

"FIRST WOMAN AMBULANCE SURGEON: EMILY BARRINGER," Iris Noble. The inspiring, engrossing biography of a dedicated, valiant woman (1876-1961) who withstood backbreaking ordeals, heartbreaking disappointments to win her place in a profession new to women. Moving romance in a true story of courage, determination, fortitude.

"TIME OF STARTING OUT: STORIES OF GIRLS ON THEIR FIRST JOBS," Helen Ferris. Fourteen exceptional, stimulating stories of girls on their first jobs offer valuable aids to learning about oneself, others, various kinds of work from baby-sitting to being a policewoman. General as well as vocational appeal.

"ROBERT GODDARD, SPACE PIONEER," Anne Perkins Dewey: The timely biography of a great American physicist (1882-1945) whose early patents covered basic principles on which all rockets are based. Engrossing account of perseverance against many obstacles. Clear explanations of complex scientific material. Photographs.

"THE PILGRIMS AND PLYMOUTH COLONY," Feenie Ziner with George F. Willison. "The history of the Pilgrim Fathers from the time of the Reformation when the sect was born to the end of Plymouth Colony in 1692. In a compact text which reveals the character and contributions of the Pilgrims, the main events of the Pilgrim story are traced and shown in historical perspective. Frequent quotations from the writings of Pilgrim leaders and many paintings, maps, and prints from the period document an account which is more comprehansive in coverage then others available to children."

"SHASTA AND GIMMERY," Olaf Baker, author of "Shasta and the Wolves." To a frontier cabin in the far, lonely reaches of the great Northwest crept an Indian squaw, pursued by the ramping braves of the dreaded Snake tribe. When she slipped back into the forest, to whatever savage fate awaited her at the hands of her enemies, she left behind her, on the cabin doorstep, her half-Indian, half-white baby.

And so Gimmery came to the Taggarts, and grew up in the white settlement, in ignorance of his redskin heritage. Eventually the boy made the acquaintance of the old Indian woman, Sequoia, and defended her against the suspicious enmity of the community. Through her he met the fabled wolf man, Shasta.

"OUR FEDERAL GOVERNMENT: HOW IT WORKS," Patricia C. Acheson, author of "America's Colonial Heritage." The founders of our federal government who drew up the Constitution would hardly recognize the enormous and complicated organization which has grown out of their extraordinary document to service our citizens today. This book is designed to give a brief introduction to the structure of our government and the ways in which it works.
