Army and Air Force personnel on duty with the ROTC to receive medals were: M/Sgt. Joe F. Mounsey, M/Sgt. Charles Kilpatrick, M/Sgt. Leroy E. Behren, M/Sgt Leslie J. Roper and T/Sgt. Billy Joe Mallard.

Electric Cooperative Meeting Opens Today

The annual membership meeting of the South Plains Electric cooperative, to be held here today at the Merchants building at the fair grounds, is expected to attract more than 1,000 people from a five-county area.

The session will mark the tenth anniversary of the cooperative, and the meeting will be on the theme "Ten Years of Progress," according to announcement by W. G. Newton, manager.

It is anticipated that six of the seven members of the board of directors under whom the organization was incorporated will be present. One, W. M. Ross, who was chairman of the board, died several years ago; another, C. Z. Fine, has moved to Bangs, but may return for the session; and the others are still active in the association.

The meeting is to feature displays and demonstrations of merchandise, and a barbecue at noon. It is to open at 10 o'clock and close at 3.

Lewis Claimed Violating Labor Law

Federal Move To End Meat Strike Is Near

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 8—President Truman indicated today that action will be taken soon to end the 24-day-old CIO meat strike.

He told a news conference that the Taft-Hartley act will be enforced to the letter in an effort to end the walkout.

A report that paves the way for the government to act was turned over to the President today.

29-Cent Hike Sought

The three-member inquiry board created by the President March 15 reported on issues of the CIO Packing House workers strike which has idled between 60,000 and 80,000 workers in 138 plants of major packers and independents.

The union is asking a wage increase of 29 cents an hour. About 150,000 AFL meat cutters who had recently received a 9-cent raise kept working. So did independent unions.

Under the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley act the board merely states the issues without recommendations. But the report is the first step in government action.

The government now may seek a court order halting the strike, as it has done in the atomic energy and coal disputes.

SOUTHERN COAL PRODUCERS BLAST LEWIS' STAND

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Southern coal producers accused John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers today of breaking the Taft-Hartley labor law by refusing to recognize their association for bargaining.

Their complaint, filed with the National Labor Relations board, came on top of the government's contempt of court action against Lewis and the UMW.

It coincided with a statement by President Truman at his news conference that the administration is going to enforce the Taft-Hartley law to the letter in an attempt to end the 25-day old walkout in

Rain, Hail Hit Parts Of State

Lubbock and the South Plains, along with a wide part of the rest of the state, could look forward to continued lower temperatures today after cool front moved in over West Texas and on downstate Thursday.

While other points over the state were reporting rain and hail, Lubbock and the immediate vicinity was treated to its usual spring-time diet—more dust, although to a lesser degree than the past few days.

High Is 102

Partly cloudy conditions also were forecast for today with warmer readings due Saturday, officials at the Weather bureau north of the city said at midnight.

Meanwhile, rain and hail fell in central Texas Thursday as the cool front moved as far as the Temple-Austin area, the Associated Press reported.

Waco was sweating in 93-degree weather at 3 p. m. before the cool front brought thunderclouds. Rain fell east of Waco at Mart and Groesbeck. Hail broke 15 windows at the Halleburg school, in southeast McLennan county, but there was little crop damage.

Readings in the 90's prevailed in sections outside those covered by the cool front. Presidio's 98 was the highest reading reported to the Dallas weather bureau Thursday.

A high of 102 degrees for the state was reported at Laredo the day before.

Warmer Weather Seen

The Dallas Weather bureau said the cool front probably would not move much past the Temple-Austin area. The forecast for Friday called for showers on the Texas coast, and in extreme south portions of East Texas, but no important temperature changes.

Somewhat warmer weather was expected in West Texas. Partly cloudy weather was forecast for all the state.

Thundershowers were forecast for the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

Jester To Announce Position On Uninstructed Texas Delegates

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 8—Gov. Beauford H. Jester promised today to clarify his views April 20 on sending an uninstructed Texas delegation to the National Democratic convention.

"I'll make my position clear when they hold the big barbecue at Fort Worth," Jester said.

The Fort Worth barbecue is being planned by the official state Democratic organization. A $5-per-plate affair, it will have competition from a Texas-for-Truman faction which is holding a free barbecue at Waco the same day.

Jester said he thinks the state executive committee should also make clear its stand on what will be expected of an uninstructed Texas delegation if one is sent to the national convention at Philadelphia.

He parried questions concerning what Texas should do if Truman is nominated.

"The people are asking that at the proper time, the Democratic Executive committee should make clear what it means by an uninstructed delegation," Jester commented.

He said his idea of an uninstructed delegation would be one

Woman Dies In Car Mishap Near Lorenzo

A California woman was killed, and five other persons narrowly escaped injury in a car accident three miles east of Lorenzo about 5:15 p. m. yesterday while returning home from a relative's funeral at Sayre, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Albert Wayland Hilliard, 39, of Lynwood, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles, died almost instantly when the automobile her husband was driving overturned following a blowout on a left rear tire. Hilliard and four other persons in the car suffered minor injuries.

Others Suffer Bruises

They were listed as the Hillards' daughter, Zan Rita, 20 months old, his sister, Mrs. C. H. Biter, of Hobbs, N. M., and her two daughters, Jean Charlotte, 5, and Donna Gale, 3. Mrs. Biter suffered a small cut on the right eye, and the others sustained scratches and bruises.

The group had been to Sayre to attend the funeral of Hilliard's and his sister's father, and were driving toward Lubbock when the accident occurred. After the blowout, the car was said to have skidded on a soft shoulder and then flipped over.

Victim Thrown From Car

The victim was thrown clear of the car. Her body was found at a position about 50 feet northwest of the car, and had apparently been hurled out the right door which was open and smashed.

The automobile was in an upright position headed north about 30 feet from the highway on the railroad right of way, an investigating officer said. The car, a late model Chevrolet coach, was heavily damaged, having been crumpled on the top and right side. It was reported that Hilliard had bought the car only 10 days ago.

Hilliard told officers that he was driving about 50 miles per hour when the tire blew out.

Marr Funeral home of Ralls took Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard to Lubbock Memorial hospital, where she was pronounced dead. She

Dewey-Taft Feud Flares In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, April 8 — The feud between the Dewey and Taft factions of the Republican party in Texas was taken to court today.

The Dewey group, outvoted seven to three on the headquarters committee, took the step.

It filed suit in 37th district court here seeking to restrain its opponents from appointing Republican county chairmen. A hearing was set for 9:30 a. m. April 13.

Papers Are Served

Papers were served during a stormy session of the headquarters committee at a downtown hotel. Deputy Sheriff N. R. Voelkel handed them to R. B. Creager of Brownsville and Eugene Nolte and Marrs McLean of San Antonio.

George C. Hopkins of Dallas, leader of the Dewey faction, filed the suit.

Mrs. Lena Gay Moore of Brownsville, national committeewoman, and Mrs. Carl Stearns of Houston also were named defendants, but they were not present when papers were served.

Filibuster Fails

Hopkins attempted to filibuster before the deputy sheriff arrived, but was unable to block a resolution giving the headquarters committee the power of the state executive committee pending the state convention at Corpus Christi in May.

Creager in an interview explained that the headquarters committee of ten, meeting here to pass resolutions is "vested with all the powers of the Texas Republican executive committee in the interim between meeting of the latter."

The Dewey faction on the committee consists of Hopkins, Colley Briggs of Paducah and Hobart K. McDowell of Dallas.

The minority group also was

Memorial Services To Be Held For Higgins Tornado Victims

HIGGINS, April 8 (AP)—Memorial services will be held here tomorrow, first anniversary of a tornado which claimed the lives of 42 persons.

Thousands of dollars in property damage were caused by the storm, which went on into Oklahoma to take a much heavier toll at Woodward. The Salvation army will conduct the services here.

Charles S. Boyd, chairman of the Higgins Salvation army service unit, said Salvation army officers from Dallas, Pampa, Lubbock, Beaumont, Houston, Lufkin and Austin would come here for the services.

He said Higgins city officials asked the Salvation army to direct the services in recognition of the prompt relief which the army provided.

'BABY HAS RIGHT NOT TO BE TREATED WORSE THAN DOG'

California Judge Bans Mother, Father Forever From Seeing Month-Old Son In Unusual Ruling

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 8 — A mother convicted of beating her two-year-old daughter to death was barred forever today from again seeing her month-old son.

The judge declared: "This baby has the right to grow up and not be treated worse than a cur dog."

The same ban, the judge ruled, applies to the baby's father.

Shaking with sobs, Mrs. Shirleen Kunin stole a last glance at the baby, Steven Dale, as she was led back to her cell, preparatory to transfer to California's institution for women at Tehachapi. She must serve a one to 10 year term for manslaughter in the death of her daughter, Denise.

The dramatic custody hearing was held in the Superior court of Juvenile Judge A. A. Scott, on the heels of Mrs. Kunin's sentencing to prison yesterday—her 25th birthday.

The baby's father, Lawrence Kunin, 27-year-old Beverly Hills salesman, made a request for custody, telling the court he could provide a good home. But the judge retorted:

"This is an unfit home by reason of neglect, cruelty and depravity of the parents. This court cannot sit idly by, in view of the testimony, and make plans whereby either parent ever has access to this youngster.

"He and his wife are not fit persons to have custody or contact. Personally, I am going to see that she doesn't have that opportunity."

Mrs. Kunin's trial on a murder charge was delayed a month for Steven Dale's birth March 7 in the prison ward of General hospital. She had not seen her son again until today's hearing.

The tot was held in the arms of a nearby woman deputy, who lifted the blanket so Mrs. Kunin could see Steven's face. She made no attempt to approach the child

Hearings Set On Draft Bill

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8 — A draft bill making men 19 through 25 liable for two years' service was whipped into shape in Congress today.

The legislation, which also requires registration of all men between 18 and 30, was prepared by the House Armed Services committee. Chairman Andrews (R-NY) said hearings will begin Monday.

The Senate Armed Services committee continued its hearings on the draft and universal military training but Chairman Gurney (R-SD) said demands for a bigger air force delayed things so much a bill might not be ready for a week or so.

Other moves on the preparedness front:

1. President Truman pressed Congress for quick cash to expand air power — $725,000,000. The House Appropriations committee called an immediate special meeting and said it would have a bill ready by next week.

2. Navy leaders predicted President Truman soon may more than double his demands for funds to build up the nations Merchant Marine.

3. Defense Secretary Forrestal cautioned Congress to keep the armed services balanced, and not balloon one unit, such as the Air Force out of proportion.

4. The White House ordered the

The winds, which struck late yesterday, killed three persons in Illinois and one each in Indiana and Kentucky. Two Kentuckians were killed by lightning and drowning.

Freezing weather was forecast for as far south as central Illinois and central Indiana by Friday morning. A low of 2 to 8 degrees was predicted for Minnesota.

Hardest hit by the tornadic winds were the Calumet City area on the south side of Chicago and the Hammond, Ind., area. Damage of $50,000 was caused at Calumet City. At Hammond, about 20 homes and business houses were unroofed.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 8—Proposals that this country build six atomic power plants and help weld a United States of Europe were voiced tonight by two major candidates in Nebraska's GOP presidential campaign.

Harold E. Stassen, plugging to pile a political victory in this state on top of his success in Wisconsin, broached the atomic power proposal.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, working the comeback trail after a bad walloping in Wisconsin, said a United States of Europe could be built into a "fortress for peace" to halt the spread of Communism.

Atomic Centers Urged

Both are running in a seven-man race in which Nebraska Republicans will decide next Tuesday what man they would like to see nominated for president by their party. The vote is not binding on the 15 uninstructed GOP convention delegates to be named the same day.

Stassen suggested in a speech at a rally at a veterans' housing project here that this country develop at least six major centers for the generation of atomic power for peaceful purposes.

He said two should be in the east, two in the midwest and two in the west, outside of city areas. He specified they should not be "substitutes for existing power."

Dewey Asks European Unity

"Timid fear of the power of atomic energy perverted to the purposes of destruction must not cause us to lose our vision of its potentialities for constructive purposes," he declared.

Speaking at the University of Nebraska coliseum here, Dewey said that there are now only two great powers in the world—the United States and Russia—which "confront each other across a devastated and divided Europe."

"What is needed," he declared

Reds Accused Of Attempting Stranglehold

BERLIN, April 8—Britain and the United States accused Russia tonight of trying to strangle trade between Berlin and the rest of Germany. The western powers threatened again to use fighter planes to keep open their air corridor to the west.

The last vestige of four-power administration in Berlin tottered perilously as some of the bitterest words in the history of the joint government of Berlin were exchanged between East and West.

The western powers, standing firm in Berlin but apparently resigned to the splitting up of Germany, hastened their efforts to merge the three western zones. French, British and American negotiators met in important conferences.

Red Charges Hurled

Soviet occupation authorities proceeded rapidly in laying the foundation for an eastern zone German government. An official Soviet announcement which will appear in newspapers tomorrow said the Soviets had approved finally creation of a Communist-controlled economic commission for the eastern zone.

The Russian-controlled German news agency accused the Americans and British tonight of repeated violations of air traffic rules over Berlin.

This charge apparently presaged Russian efforts to restrict western power use of the air corridor linking Berlin with western Germany. Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky had said that the Russians might take measures for "safeguarding air traffic over the Soviet occupation zone."

Bitter Words Exchanged

The news agency claimed that each month eight to 10 British and 12 or 13 American planes violate the prescribed air rules. It alleged that these included flights

Arab-Jew Truce Hopes Grow Dim

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — The Security Council move for a truce in Palestine appeared near collapse tonight because of unyielding Arab and Jewish demands.

Representatives of the Jewish agency for Palestine and the Arab higher committee dashed hopes for a truce to stop the Palestine fighting after their second informal talks with Dr. Alfonso Lopez, of Colombia, president of the United Nations Council.

Dr. Lopez told newsmen that the "prospect is not as favorable as I had anticipated."

Arabs Show Opposition

He said he would consult informally with other council delegates and would advise the Jewish and Arab representatives whether he would see them again Saturday.

The Arabs were the first to show their continued opposition to any truce except one of their conditions.

The positions of the contending groups were summed up in brief sentences given to newsmen at UN headquarters in Manhattan.

Jamal Husseini, vice chairman of the Arab higher committee for Palestine, declared:

"We cannot and never will recognize the Jewish agency for Palestine."

DEADLINE FOR FILING CLAIMS IN CASE NEAR

U. S. Government Faces Damages Suits Totaling More Than $90 Million From Texas City Blast

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, April 8—The United States government today faced over $90,000,000 in damage suits resulting from the Texas City disaster of April 16-17, 1947.

Eight suits totaling $55,208,446, including a $50,000,000 claim by the Monsanto Chemical company, were received here today by the federal district clerk for transfer to Galveston where trial of the cases is scheduled to begin in June.

Similar suits already on file at Galveston exceed $35,000,000 while an additional $1,068,450 is involved in suits filed yesterday in Fort Worth, Oklahoma City and St. Louis.

April 17 Deadline

Houston and Galveston attorneys today predicted the final figure may exceed the $100,000,000 mark by April 17, deadline for filing of the petitions under the 1946 Federal Tort Claims act.

This act permits liability claims to be filed against the government without its permission.

U. S. District Attorney Brian S. Odem, Houston, today said the suits probably will receive immediate attention with the opening of the June term of federal court in Galveston.

Government Charged

Primary allegation of the petitions is that the government is responsible for the disaster because the ammonium nitrate fertilizer compound which was the original source of the disaster's explosions and fires was manufactured in three U. S. ordnance plants.

Monsanto's suit filed today alleges the government "had knowledge of the potential hazards" of the ammonium nitrate but that it was packed and shipped from government plants while "innocently labeled fertilizer."

The claims seek damages for deaths, personal injuries, property damage, reimbursements for insurance payments, recovery of profits lost by plant destruction and damage and loss of services of technically-trained personnel killed in the disaster.

Insurance Firm Sues

Texas City officials list 512 persons as dead or missing from the disaster, with an estimated 3000 persons having received injuries.

Many of the approximately 70 cases now on file are joint petitions involving up to 200 individuals who seek damages for personal injury or for deaths of relatives.

Prior to today the largest claim filed was for $10,700,000, sought by the Liberty Mutual Insurance company, compensation underwriter for the Monsanto company, and some 200 survivors of Monsanto employes killed in the blast and employes injured.

The Texas City Terminal Railway company, operator of the disaster city's port facilities, seeks $8,000,000.

Losses Of Ships Claimed

Included in today's suits are claims for losses of the SS High Flyer, second ammonium nitrate-laden freighter to explode during the disaster, and the SS Wilson B. Keene, which sank when the High Flyer exploded.

The Lykes Brothers Steamship company asks $2,000,000 for loss of the High Flyer, and $640,000 for loss of the Wilson B. Keene.

The company's petition states that the High Flyer "completely ceased to exist" following the 1:10 a. m. explosion of April 17.

The main slip of the Texas City waterfront continues to hold the wrecked hull of the Wilson B. Keene.

Plaintiffs in other suits filed today include the Humble Oil and Refining company, asking $334,211 for loss of 180,988 barrels of oil; Humble Pipeline company, $739,235 for loss of 146,425 barrels of oil and property damage, and 26 parties of a consolidated claim seeking $1,500,000 in connection with deaths of 15 individuals and injuries of 11 others.

Family Watches As Flier's Plane Falls

THOMASTON, Me., April 8 (U.P.)—Air Force Sgt. Francis A. Haraden, 21, of Thomaston couldn't get home last night.

The best way to inform his 18-year-old wife, Dorothy, was to fly over the house where she and their 19-month-old son, Douglas, lived with her parents.

The young pilot, a wartime lieutenant who rejoined the air force as an enlisted man a month ago, was scheduled to make a training flight from his base at Dow field in Bangor yesterday.

Before taking off alone in his light training plane, he wrote a note to his wife. He placed it in a package and when he reached Thomaston he circled their home three times.

His wife, her parents and his uncle ran outside as he swept low over the lawn, waved and tossed out the package.

Mrs. Haraden retrieved it, tore it open to find a gift pair of booties for their son along with the note that read:

"I won't be able to get home tonight but will tomorrow. Love, Fran."

Sudden gasps from her relatives made her stare back into the sky where she saw her husband's plane plunge into a steep, roaring dive.

He was killed instantly when the plane crashed in an alder swamp three miles away.

'Optimistic' Nimitz Blames Small Group For World Crisis

LOS ANGELES, April 8 (U.P.) Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz blamed a small group for world crisis today but said he doubted it would resort to war.

"But I'm an optimist," the 62-year-old retired chief of naval operations added.

Nimitz did not identify the "small group," which he said was "seeking to take advantage of chaotic world conditions to further their own selfish ends."

Nimitz, who made an off-the-record talk here yesterday, believed Russia was doing "everything possible" to develop its submarine fleet. Submarines believed to be Russian have been sighted off the west coast.

"We know that the Soviet undersea force is perhaps the most effective arm of its Navy," Nimitz said. "The Russians had about 200 subs shortly after V-J day. They have acquired German building yards and we can presume they have taken into custody some of the former German U-boat specialists.

Czechs Flee To U. S. Territory

MUNICH, Germany, April 8 (AP)—Twenty non-Communist Czechs revolted Tuesday aboard a Czechoslovak National airline plane, took it over and flew it to the U. S. zone of Germany, it was revealed today.

"We wanted to get away from the Communist regime," one of the group said.

Seventeen passengers and three crewmen seized the transport, holding at gunpoint a fourth crewman who objected. Five other passengers were about but didn't fully realize what was going on. The plane carried 26 persons in all.

Operation Was Smooth

"It was all so smooth," one of the five said, "those of us who didn't want to come here didn't know about it."

The plane landed without warning at 6 p. m. Tuesday at the U. S. Air Force fighter base in Neubiberg, near Munich. It had left Prague on a regularly scheduled flight to Bratislava, Slovakia.

"The pilot said he knowingly brought the plane to the American zone and landed," a brief U. S. Air Force announcement said.

Acting Czech Consul Karer Dvorak said the plane's original pilot was forced at pistol point to leave the controls and was locked in the plane's toilet.

A former Czech pilot who once flew with the British Royal Air Force took over the controls. He turned the plane about and headed it for Germany.

When the plane landed at the U. S. Air Force's fighter base at Neubiberg the former RAF pilot asked which of the passengers and crew wanted to stay in the American zone.

Six persons, including the plane's original pilot and a woman, said they wanted to go back to Prague. Dvorak said he had issued visas for their return.

FEELING FINE NOW MRS. R. J. WEST GIVES RETONGA FULL CREDIT

Suffered Tortures From Acid Indigestion, Sour Stomach And Headaches, States Well-Known Resident In Discussing Her Own Case

"I did not ever think I would be so fortunate as to find a medicine that would bring me the gratifying relief that Retonga did in such a short time," happily states Mrs. R. J. West, well-known resident of 824 So. 7th St., Waco, Texas, in adding her name to the thousands who praise this famous stomachic medicine.

"During the past few years I have suffered torture from sour stomach and acid indigestion. I felt restless all the time and I could hardly ever get a good night's sleep. I didn't even want to look at food, my appetite was so poor. Everything I ate seemed to turn against me and cause such terrific gas pressure in my stomach I thought it would cut off my breath at times. Splitting headaches as a result of constipation caused me no end of misery.

"The relief Retonga gave me was indeed a happy surprise. I now feel better in so many ways. I sleep good and my appetite surprises even me. I no longer take strong laxatives to relieve sluggish bowels, any my headaches have been relieved along with sour stomach and acid indigestion. After what Retonga has done for me it will be a real pleasure to recommend this grand medicine to anyone."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. You can get Retonga at Mark Halsey Drug Stores and all other good drug stores. Adv.

California Seeks Way To Use Sun's Rays Against Drought

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 8, (U.P.)—Legislators in California, trying to find an answer to the state's drought situation, have suggested that water from the Pacific Ocean might be used if treated correctly.

In Bakersfield, Harry Armenta and S. C. Darrah are working on the same problem. They have visions of distilling ocean water for irrigation purposes through the use of the sun's rays.

They are the inventors of the "solar flash boiler."

The "solar flash boiler" uses no fuel except the heat from the sun. It consists of curved aluminum troughs, which trap the sunlight and reflect the rays into a copper tube containing water. The copper tube is smoked previous to installation with a blow torch so that it holds the heat. It is then surrounded with pyrex tubes which provide further insulation.

Scale Model Tested

The aluminum troughs, Darrah said, can be fitted with timing machinery, which will keep them slanted toward the sun.

The two experimenters claim to have tested successfully a small scale model of their sun machine. The model, they reported, built up 100 pounds of steam pressure under a moderate afternoon sun. It also proved capable of turning cold water into steam in from three to five minutes.

Armenta and Darrah have a variety of uses in mind for the "solar flash boiler," but the most prominent will be the conversion of salt water from the Pacific Ocean into pure water for irrigation.

Would Heat Homes

The inventors said their model is capable of providing heat for all purposes in a moderate size home. The model, they added, can be produced in volume for about $200.

Some day, Armenta and Darrah believe, the boiler will be used to distill salt water coming from oil wells, thus stopping the wasteful ruination of land surrounding the California oil fields.

Armenta pointed out that another use would be the actual creation of energy for generation of electricity or other purposes.

The two men are certain that their "solar flash" boiler is the answer to both the power shortage and water shortage that has hit California.

Lubbock To Have A Beautiful Memorial Park

An Austin corporation has purchased the 60-acre tract of land owned by N. A. Payne just five-minutes drive from city limits on the Levelland Highway west. This company has forgotten all about price in selecting for you the most beautiful laying land in Lubbock county. This property will be the future home of Tech Memorial Park, Inc., with offices at 207-210 Sanford Building, 1009½ Texas Avenue.

This Park will be the only completely modern Burial Estate in this part of Texas, which will be built on the popular garden plan. This means that its natural and developed beauty will never be marred by marble or granite monuments or other outworn symbols of death and sorrow. Tech Memorial Park, Inc. will not be just another cemetery in your midst, filled with broken-down monuments and unkept burial estates, but a beautiful burial estate filled with living and growing things such as trees, roses, shrubbery, and other flowers, with beautiful sodded lawns to add to its refinement.

Tech Memorial Park will be developed into an earthly paradise for those gone on before. You also will be protected by a Guaranteed Perpetual Care Fund which is set aside and legalized by the State of Texas to take care of your burial estate forever.

Be sure to look for our big ad in Sunday's paper. Adv.

Expert Contends That Sound Can Drown Out Various Odors

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 8. (U.P.)—If you don't like your wife's perfume, your best defense is to turn on the radio as loud as it will go—the sound will drown out the odor.

That advice comes from Ernest C. Crocker, who makes his living by sniffing out the truth about various odors.

"Sound, Cocker said, "is dominant over odor. It's nature's way of telling us that when danger threatens, we had better not bother sniffing for food."

Cocker works in the scientific laboratories of Arthur D. Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., and has spent the better part of 20 years with his nose in sniffing position over test tubes.

Party Line Gossip Takes Priority As House Is Burned

COMSTOCK, Mich. April 8. (U.P.)—Harvey Kik, 11, ran to the telephone to report that the Merritt Smith home was afire, but a pair of gossipers had the party line tied up.

Harvey tried three times to call the fire department, and each time the gossipers only said: "We'll call the fire department when we are through."

When Harvey finally got the operator, the Smith home had been destroyed.

Bees Nature's Outstanding Workers, Expert Explains

BOSTON, April 8 (U.P.)—Bees really are busy.

Take it from expert George De Clyver Curtis in his new book, "Bees' Ways," they are nature's outstanding workers.

Curtis says the average load of nectar carried by a single bee is only 20-1,000th of a pound. That means that 20,000 bees making one trip each would add one pound of honey to a hive.

However, Curtis estimates in a good season he removes 200 pounds of honey from one hive besides leaving plenty for the bees' own use. In addition, one-third of the nectar is lost due to evaporation of excess moisture.

"The whole thing seems incredible," he says

Busy Mother Finds Time To Handle Work In Two Colleges

CINCINNATI, O., April 8 (U.P.)—Going to college, for most students, is a full-time job. Taking care of a home, husband, and children is usually a full-time career, too.

Mrs. Sylvia Hirschfeld of Cincinnati not only fills the homemaker's role to perfection but is enrolled in two universities more than 100 miles apart.

Mrs. Hirshfeld is a student of child psychology in the University of Cincinnati's Evening college and a commuting candidate for the master's degree in social work at the University of Louisville.

Pollen Shots Will Relieve Hay Fever

DALLAS, April 8 (U.P.)—A Virginia allergist says pollen shots properly administered bring relief to 80 per cent of the patients.

Dr. Oscar Swineford, Jr., of the University of Virginia, was one of several speakers attending the Dallas Southern Clinical Society's 17th annual conference.

A great deal of all hay fever, Dr. Swineford said, is caused by sensitiveness to a special pollen, the invisible fertilizing dust which drifts through the air while a plant is going to seed.

Patients are given shots of the pollen or pollens to which they are allergic by mixing the pollen with a simple solution.

Dr. Swineford said "we don't just know why these shots relieve people with hay fever. We can't tell, except by trial methods with each individual, just how big a dose he should get, how often he should be shot or how long the treatment should continue."

Pollen hay fever is seasonal with individuals, the physician added, but collectively a year-round disease.

TALKING PARAKEET

DID you ever hear a parakeet talk? Mrs. W. E. Robinson, 2013 Ninth, has taught her nine-months old bird to say several words, including "Hello Bill" (that's to Mrs. Robinson's husband), "Hello Pat" and "goodbye."

The little bird's parents came from California. He is a small white bird.

Parakeets are about second cousins to parrots, according to an interpretation we made of the definition as found in Webster.

DIRECTOR OF MINT

THE public hears little of Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, who was elected governor of Wyoming to fill out the two unexpired years caused by the death of her husband in 1924 and who has been director of the U. S. Mint since she was first named to the post in 1933 by President Roosevelt. According to Jane Eads, Associated Press feature writer, Mrs. Ross thought homemaking was to be her lifelong career, but the death of her husband caused her to turn from a life as model wife and mother and charming hostess and to look to politics.

MRS. ROSS

The public hears little of Mrs. Ross. She neatly side-steps publicity, yet the U. S. Mint, which boasts the largest gold horde in the world, has done a colossal business under her direction. For instance, during the 15 years she has been director, the mint has produced more coin than in all the previous years since its organization in George Washington's time.

HER span of service has seen the government's stockpile of gold grow from $2,388,000,000 to well over 23 billions. All of this gold has gone through the melting pot and a large part has been refined. During the same period the amount of silver has grown from 28,000,000 ounces to 1,688,000,000 ounces. During the war the mint purchased coins from foreign nations all over the globe and made medals for all the armed forces of the United States. During the peak year, 1945, the mint made 9,000,000 medals.

With the exception of the Goddess of Liberty, Mrs. Ross is the only woman to have her likeness on a medal or coin produced by the U. S. Mint. She is the first woman to direct the mint and the first woman to have her name on the cornerstone of a federal building.

She lives alone in Washington in an old-fashioned nine-room apartment in the capitol. It is filled with antiques from all parts of the country.

REDUCING TECHNIQUE

HERE is a new approach to reducing, suggested for those overweights who have trouble because they haven't the will power to stay on them for any length of time. The advice is direct and to the point: Stop thinking in terms of long-range diets—try a day-by-day reducing plan instead!

All you have to do is to make a firm vow that you will eat your reducing menus for one day only—today! The psychological effect of knowing that your diet will last only 24 hours is a terrific morale builder. At the end of the day chances are you will tell yourself the diet wasn't so bad, after all. You will have more confidence for the next day and when tomorrow dawns, repeat the vow that you are going to eat to reduce for one day only.

If you keep dwelling on how much weight you need to take off, and how long it will take you to do so, you are apt to get discouraged and never begin. Making reducing a day-by-day project not only develops new eating habits but also helps to build your will power.

WANT A HEDGE?

A reader who wants to move the garage back, which will necessitate digging up a large and healthy hedge, thinks perhaps there are those who would like to have the plants for the digging of them. There is quite a bit of the hedge and it would be a break for a resident landscaping a new yard.

If you are interested, telephone 8075, or go three miles north of the last traffic light on Nineteenth on the Levelland road.

Move To Avert Gas Shortage In Midwest States Is Under Study

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Middle Western customers of the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline co. can look for an additional 40 million cubic feet of natural gas a day next February.

Panhandle said today it does not expect the first part of an expansion program to be completed before that. It blamed the delay on inability to get pipe.

The additional gas will amount to an increase of a little less than 10 per cent in the pipeline's present capacity. Later in 1949 the company hopes to increase its capacity another 50 million cubic feet a day.

Hope To Avert Shortages

The testimony was given at the opening of a power commission investigation aimed at preventing, or at least easing, any natural gas shortage in the Middle West next winter.

Examiner Edward B. Marsh said "the basic question is Panhandle's ability to serve its customers and the requirements of those customers."

The pipeline company serves customers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. It also is authorized to supply gas to Canada.

Agreement was reached to have Panhandle lead off with testimony about plans for expansion of its system and the demands on it. Then evidence will be presented by states.

Loop Lines Planned

Panhandle's first witness was C. H. M. Burnham of Kansas City, vice-president and chief engineer. He testified about the so-called "B" facilities which the commission authorized the company to build.

Burnham said enough loop lines are expected to be completed next February to add 40 million cubic feet to the system. Until then, he said, no additional gas will be available from the program.

Burnham said the design capacity of the system now is 425 million cubic feet a day but that during the past winter this was pushed up to 435 million by certain operating procedures.

The position of Panhandle on some of the major issues in the case was set forth earlier in a statement by John S. L. Yost, attorney for the company.

It is unwilling to continue taking 20 million feet of gas from the big inch line of Texas Eastern Transmission company unless customers will pay the price Texas Eastern charges. Panhandle said this is 40 per cent higher than its price.

Superbombers To Be Assigned To Units

WASHINGTON, April 8 (U.P.)—Air Force headquarters said today that one or two B-36 superbombers may be assigned to a tactical unit next month.

The first of the six-engine giants will join the 8th Air Force, which has headquarters at Fort Worth, Tex.

The B-36's are so large that only 18 will comprise a group, compared with 30 in a B-29 superfortress group. There will be six B-36's in a squadron.

At first, an Air Force spokesman said, the superbombers will be placed in B-29 units. Then as more are produced they will be formed into units of their own.

The Air Force has ordered 100 B-36's of which about four have been produced. The first two were for flight and static testing.

Illinois Judge Regrets No Remedy Against A Caitiff

CHICAGO, April 8 (U.P.) — The Illinois Appellate Court has ruled there is no legal way to deal with a "caitiff."

Judge George W. Bristow handed down the decision in the case of Henry Factly, Jr., who was accused of playing pranks on his mother to get her to leave the house she deeded him.

Factly agreed to allow his mother to stay on the farm when she deeded him the property in 1936. But later he changed his mind and sought ways to make her leave.

Among other things, he shut off the water, dug up his mother's flower garden, built an obstacle course in the front yard to make her stumble, and forced a bull to bellow to prevent her from sleeping.

Said the jurist: "There is no remedy in the court of law to deal with such a caitiff."

A caitiff, Webster says, is a "base, despicable person."

Wholesalers, Retailers Keep Smaller Slice Of Customer's Dollar Despite Record Sales

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 8—Wholesale and retail trade corporations are retaining less of a customer's dollar than they used to, even if they take more dollars than ever out of his pocket.

And they are finding the latter increasingly hard to do, two groups point out today. One is the President's Council of Economic Advisors, the other the Credit Policy commission of the American Bankers association.

The government's top economists report consumer resistance and competitive conditions increasingly noticeably.

Retail Sales Falling

The bankers, after a nation-wide survey of their members report retail sales falling off in many places and consumer resistance to high prices on the upswing.

As to the part of the customer's dollar the retailers and wholesalers are retaining, a study of their earnings statements by the National City Bank of New York shows that more of that dollar is now going to their suppliers and employes, and the government.

Their total sales are at record highs. But their net income, after expenses and taxes, is less than in 1946. And so is their margin of profit, as based on amount of sales.

Statistics Cited

Last year 177 trade corporations made $615,832,000 in net income, which was one per cent less than in 1946. But total sales were 21 per cent higher in 1947 than the previous year.

The margin of profit was 3.7 cents on the sales dollar, the National City bank reports. Yet in 1946 it was 4.5 cents on lower sales volume.

The bank asks how profit margins "would stand up in the face of adverse changes in any one or more of three factors—a recession in selling prices, or a further rise in costs."

Some Drop Noted

In each of the five divisions of trade, the same drop in profit margins is noted.

Food chains made 1.3 cents on the customers' dollar, compared with 1.6 cents the previous year. Other chains average 5 cents, compared with 6 cents in 1946; department stores 3.5 cents, against 4.8 cents; mail order houses 4.9 cents, against 5.6 cents; and wholesale and miscellaneous 3.3 cents, against 3.8 cents in 1946.

This contrasts with the manufacturing trend. Sales of 1,267 manufacturers aggregate $82.3 billion in 1946, or 41 per cent more than in 1946. Net income totals $5.8 billion, giving an average profit margin of 7.1 cents per sales dollar in that division. The year before it was 6 cents.

However, the bank adds, the 1947 profit margins were narrower than in other years of active business such as 1928-29, 1936-37 or 1940-41.

Mexican President Opposes Gambling Along U. S. Border

BENJAMIN HILL, SONORA, Mex., April 8 (U.P.) — President Miguel Aleman of Mexico said today he would always oppose moves to gambling along Mexico's United States border.

American gamblers' attempts to promote gambling houses in Lower California are a waste of time, the President said as he toured northern Mexico on the first train to travel over a new railway link bridging the last gap in through rail service between Los Angeles and Mexico City.

"Gambling will never be legalized in Lower California or in any border town," Aleman said. "It has never been considered and it never will be—at least during my term of office."

Aleman drove a golden spike with four blows of a sledge hammer that completed the line which is the only direct connection between Lower California and the rest of Mexico.

Truce In U. S.-Red Dispute Seen As Advantage To Soviet Aims

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Herbert Evatt of Australia has joined the ranks of those who advocate a sort of "desperation meeting" between Truman, Attlee and Stalin to seek a solution of the world crisis.

These advocates seem to be overlooking something.

A lot of the trouble with Russia traces directly to the completely cynical manner in which she uses agreements to further her own ends.

A truce in the cold war, such as some European observers profess to see in the offing, would be a most dangerous thing for the Western Democracies. The very nature of their systems causes them, at every respite from conflict, to slip back into complacency and unpreparedness. The revolutionary dynamics of the totalitarians would turn a truce into a period of further preparedness and further infiltration.

Communists' Word No Good

Despite all the war and pre-war propaganda, the word of the Kremlin—or of any Communists—is no good. A part of their creed is that the end justifies any means.

The 30-year trial of the revolutionary government in Moscow is marked with the bleached bones of broken agreements.

It goes back to the Bolshevist agreement that the component states of the Soviet Union should have certain rights of autonomy, including the right to secede. Millions of Soviet citizens have died in efforts to express those rights.

Treaties Are Violated

The Communists began violating the treaty by which the United States recognized them as a legal government the day after it was signed—by continuing their interference in our internal affairs through the comintern.

She had pre-1939 treaties of peace, non-aggression, mutual aid or alliance with Poland, Finland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Iran, Britain (with regard to Iran), and Japan. She has violated the Briand-Kellogg anti-war pact, the conventions of the League of Nations, the accords of the council of foreign ministers, the Yalta, Potsdam and Tehran agreements, the four-power Moscow declaration, the Atlantic Charter, the most recent European peace treaties and the charter of the United Nations with regard to both Korea and Greece.

President Benes of Czechoslovakia was assured personally by Stalin that, if he oriented his country toward Russia, Czech independence would be respected.

Ask Benes now.

The U. S. mint earns $35 million a year on the difference between the value of the metal going into coins and the value of the coins.

London of 515 Ave. Q were born on April 9. Jo Bob and Jo An, twins, were born on Billy's third birthday. Jo Bob London died while young. Jo An will be 17. Her brother, who is a wheat and flax farmer in Montana, will be 20.

LATIN HOLDS ITS OWN

CLINTON, N. Y. (U.P.)—Latin apparently isn't altogether a dead language. After using Latin on diplomas for 136 commencements, Hamilton College last year switched to English. But Class of 1948 graduates voted to resume the Latinized version. "It's more appropriate," they argued.

New Concrete Pipe May Boost Oil Output

ENID, Okla., April 8 (U.P.)—One of the greatest obstacles to increased petroleum production will be overcome soon through use of a new concrete pipe now in production, a wealthy oil field equipment inventor declared here today.

Charles E. Knox, Sr., head of the firm holding patents on the new pipe, said full scale production of the product would be underway within 60 days at the Los Angeles plant of American Pipe and Construction Co. The new tubing can withstand pressures which hereto-fore have required steel pipe, Knox said.

The pipe can be manufactured with only 10 per cent of the steel needed to make conventional oilfield pipe. Petroleum producers throughout the world list the shortage of pipe as the No. 1 bottleneck in increasing output to meet gasoline and fuel oil demands.

Knox disclosed that the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co., a world-wide outfit, has contracted to service the pipe. It must be placed in the ground and sealed at the joints with high-pressure pumps designed especially for the job.

Knox, who has oil interests in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, said he "farmed out" manufacturing licenses for the new pipe because the American Pipe and Construction Co. is the largest builder of high pressure pipe. The firm has another plant in Dallas which may convert to the new product.

War-Scattered Family Gets Together After Six Years

BOSTON, April 8 (U.P.)—It took six years to re-unite Joseph Prizo's family of four, which had been scattered from Massachusetts to Vermont by the housing shortage. Prizio is a Navy veteran.

The difficulty was solved when the 42-year-old Prizio was notified he was among the first to qualify for a new home under a $20,000,000 veteran housing project.

Until now, Prizio lived with a brother in Dorchester, Mass.

Robert, 10, a son, lived with friends in Jamaica Plains, Mass.

U. S. Experts Map Methods To Evacuate Cities If War Comes

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8 — If there should be another war, every United States City must be ready with an efficiently-organized plan for evacuation and for coping with war-borne disaster.

That is the opinion of Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, federal works administrator.

Fleming's public roads commission already is laying plans for building a system of urban streets, expressways and rural highways. They would facilitate evacuation and maintain supply routes if railroads and main highways should be knocked out by bombs.

Fleming favors bringing back the war-time office of civilian defense. In the defense department a new director of civilian defense planning has just started work on plans for a future civilian defense program.

Plan In Making

He is Russel J. Hopley, president of the Northwest Bell Telephone Co., Omaha, Neb. Hopely hopes to complete within six months a plan to protect American cities against possible military attack.

Hopley shares Fleming's view about the need for efficient local disaster organizations.

"Just as every American city needs a fire department, we must have a sound civilian defense organization on hand in case this country is attacked by an enemy," Hopley said.

He urged each U. S. city to start now to develop its own disaster relief organization. His job, he said, will be to co-relate various government reports outlining proposals for protection against atomic and other weapons and recommend "a workable system based on individual and community responsibility."

For Preparedness

Fleming believes every American should be versed in whatever methods exist for dealing with the disasters that would result from an atomic bomb, a guided missile or other weapons of a future war.

He recalled that "countless lives were lost needlessly" in Europe in World War II as a result of panic, ignorance and lack of organization. The same thing, he said, has happened in peace-time disasters in this country, such as the Texas City explosion and the Maine forest fires.

During the last war, the office of civilian defense made up a nation-wide network of voluntary civilian teams extending down to the smallest community. Members of the teams perched on church towers and skyscrapers as air raid spotters, issued gas masks and carried on blackout drills.

Traffic Plans Urged

In any future war, Fleming said, civilian teams must have worked out in advance a system of organized collection of people and property for evacuation. They must be able to direct traffic out of cities in an orderly fashion.

He believes that every bus, truck and automobile that would be available for civilian use in an emergency should have certain duties and passengers assigned to it in advance. Every car driver should be assigned a specific route he is to follow out of town.

Even if such advance arrangements never are called into use by a war disaster, Fleming said, they would be useful in coping with such peace-time emergencies as flood or fire.

Scientists have identified a third of a million kinds of plants.

Law To Limit Use Of Green, Red Lights Over State Studied

DALLAS, April 8 (U.P.) — The standard traffic colors of red and green would be eliminated from electric and other night signs if the committee on engineering of the governor's highway safety conference wins approval of the legislature.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester has established several committees in Texas, each working on problems relating to traffic control and safety. The committees met here and compared notes.

The committee on engineering, one of the most important, offered several recommendations which it said would promote safer driving and thereby save lives.

"It is recommended," the committee said, "that in its long-range plans the State Highway commission make a study of outdoor advertising along highways, with a view to the removal or the limitation of any and all features of same that in its opinion create or contribute to any traffic hazards detrimental to the safety of the traveling public.

"In conjunction with the municipalities, it is suggested that steps be taken looking toward the future elimination from electric and other night signs of the standard traffic colors of red and green."

Other committee recommendations urged that:

"The highway department be given endorsement to further emphasize the pavement markings of center lines, lane lines, and no-passing zones, and that signing of curves with safe speed indications be given a wide application as a means of promoting the safe movement of traffic.

"The State Highway department be requested to restore the sign, 'If you drink, don't drive. If you drive, don't drink,' on the state highway system.

Capacity Crowd Will Witness New York Giants-Cleveland Indians Clash Today

Dedicatory Services Will Be Held Before Game Time

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

This is the day that over 7,500 baseball fans have been awaiting somewhat impatiently over a period of weeks, the day of the exhibition game at Sam Rosenthal Field this afternoon at 3 between the New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians, with the accompanying panorama of Major League stars unveiled on the home diamond of the West Texas-New Mexico League champions.

And for the American League Indians, the starting pitcher will be Don Black, whose stirring comeback off the baseball junk heap last year was climaxed by a no-hit, no-run game against his former teammates, the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Giants had not announced their starting pitcher at a late hour last night.

Dedication Slated

Sam Rosenthal Field, formerly known as Hubber Park, named in memory of the late owner of the Hubbers and the guiding light to organized baseball in Lubbock, will be dedicated today. A short ceremony, lasting about five minutes, will be conducted at home plate just before the big game begins.

Radio Station KCBD will carry the New York Giants-Cleveland Indians baseball game in its entirety this afternoon from Rosenthal Field. Sportscaster Jim Black will do the play-by-play and the station will air the game directly from the press box beginning at 2:55 p. m.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will conduct the memorial and dedication of Rosenthal Field, one of the finest baseball parks in the nation, will follow.

The Giants will be the home team today, fielding first and batting last.

U. S. Weather bureau officials at their Plainview Highway office said last night that weather conditions for the game would be close to "ideal," with sunny skies, light breezes and temperatures in the low 70's.

Police Chief Louis Kittrell announced last night that he has arranged for the assignment of a special corps of officers from his department to handle traffic before, during and after the New York Giants-Cleveland Indians exhibition baseball game at Rosenthal field this afternoon. The officers will be on duty along North Second and College avenues shortly after noon today until traffic is cleared following the game. Lubbock county deputy sheriffs and Texas State Highway patrolmen are expected to assist police officers in handling the crowd.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for today's game will continue to be sold at the Hub Clothiers until 12 noon. If all tickets have not been sold, the remainder will be put on sale at 12:30 p. m. at the box office. After the last of the 7,500 tickets have been sold, no others will be made up and sold.

And at 3 p. m., when the last strains of the Star Spangled Banner have floated over Rosenthal Field, a star-studded galaxy of baseball players will take the field.

The Giants, taking the field first, will start one of their strongest teams, with Johnny Mize at first base the center of attention. Mize tied Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates for the home run crown in the National League last year, the big Indian nicking the pitchers for 51 fourmasters.

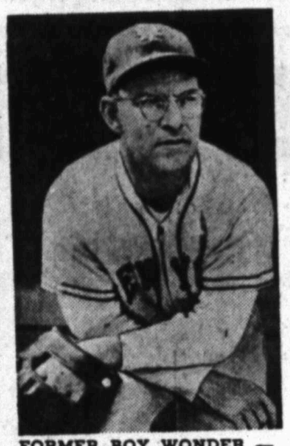

With him will be such established greats as Jack Lohrke, Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall, Walker Cooper, Mickey Livingston, Buddy Kerr and Bob Thomson.

Million-Dollar Infield

When the Indians take the field, fans will gaze over a million-dollar infield array of Ed Robinson, Joe "Flash" Gordon, Ken Keltner, Manager Lou Boudreau and Jim Hegan, while the outfield will supply the potent punch of Dale Mitchell, Hank Edwards and Walt Judnich.

On the Cleveland roster will be two natives of Texas, with another player who makes his home here during the winter. Ed Robinson, first baseman, was born in Paris, Tex., but makes his winter home in Cleveland, O.; Bob Muncrief, pitcher, a native of Madill, Okla., makes his home in Denison; and Thurman Tucker, outfielder, was born in Gordon and makes FORMER BOY WONDER — In the days when he was a 16-year-old star up from Memphis, Tenn., playing under tough old Manager John McGraw, Mel Ott was tagged with a title that has stuck ever since. His power hitting delighted Gotham fans and won him acclaim year after year. Today he is with the New York Giants as manager, doing his usual superlative job and emphasizing home run hitting.

Tribe Stars On Broadcast Here

Three members of the Cleveland Indian baseball team, Manager Lou Boudreau, Second Baseman Joe Gordon and Pitcher Bob Feller, will be interviewed this morning on a special sports broadcast over KFYO, with Sportscaster Wes Youngblood at the microphone.

The broadcast time will not be known for certain until after 9 a. m., but has been set tentatively for 11:45 a. m. It will be a fifteen-minute broadcast.

Invitation Accepted

The players, who will take part in the exhibition game this afternoon at 3 in Rosenthal Field park, are among the most outstanding diamond stars on the Indian roster. Feller is recognized as the American League's leading hurler. Gordon, a star with the New York Yankees, is the ace of second basemen. And Manager Boudreau long has been recognized as one of the finest shortstops in the game, as well as a fine manager.

The appearance of the diamond stars, who were scheduled to arrive here at 4 a. m. on the special train with the New York Giants, was made possible by Marsh Samuel of the Indians' front office. Youngblood wired Boudreau, who informed Samuel and he, in turn, wired acceptance for the players.

NEW ORLEANS, April 8. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox of the American league scored four runs in the last inning to break a 2-2 tie and defeat New Orleans of the Southern association 6 to 2 in an exhibition game here today.

Tech Competes In Track, Field Meet Here Today

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Lubbock tennis fans will have an opportunity to see the strong Texas Tech net squad in action this afternoon against the aces of three Abilene colleges and, if the Raider matches with Amarillo Junior college Wednesday are any guide, will feature some interesting, well-played clashes. The Tech team will have the "home court" advantage, but Hardin-Simmons and Abilene Christian college reportedly have some court hopefuls that will make a strong bid for individual honors.

Smooth-stroking Jake Broyles, former Lamesa schoolboy ace, will hold his regular lead spot on the Tech team, with veteran Glenn Ivy in the second post. Broyles, probably the best netter to wear the Raider colors in a decade, gives fans an exhibition of hard, fast tennis at its best every time he goes on the court. The two Tech stalwarts are aided by a group of steady-stroking teammates who have shown rapid improvement and, in fact, are well above the players of similar ranking at many other Southwestern colleges. The most discouraging fact, from the viewpoint of Border conference teams, is that all members of the Raider net squad except Ivy will be eligible for competition in 1949!

Some Lubbock track fans have been surprised by the relatively poor showing made by the Westerner mile relay team in meets this season, but there is a very simple explanation for the apparent decline. Primarily, the four boys who have filled the positions on the mile relay so far this year are not the same four boys that had been slated for the slots. Jim Johnson, ace 440-yard dash specialist, has run the anchor lap at every meet, but he is the only regular member to be available at all times. Jim Wilson, the speedy sophomore, was unable to compete in two meets because of illness, Edward Strickland is only now reaching peak condition and the two logical candidates for the fourth post have been used in the dashes and sprint relay instead of the mile relay.

An example of what the other Class AA teams can expect in the way of competition from the Westerner mile relay team if Coach Marlin Hayhurst can iron out the conflicts between events is shown by the following figures. Johnson ran a 52.1 second 440-dash last week end at Big Spring, Charley Williams turned in a 52.5 second time on a 440 in practice Thursday afternoon, Wilson was clocked in a 53 lap in the Southwestern Exposition meet at Fort Worth and Strickland has toured the oval in 54.5 this season. That is an aggregate time of 3 minutes, 32.1 seconds, from regular starts—not the faster running starts they get in an actual relay event. Since the Region 1 record is 3:33.7, it can be seen that the Lubbock schoolboys could give someone a rough tussle in the regional or state meets.

Five Schools To Vie For Honors

Abilene Christian college will be the favorite this afternoon when track teams from ACC, Hardin-Simmons and McMurry, all from Abilene, invade the Texas Tech campus for a five-way track and field meet.

A spokesman for West Texas Teachers college at Canyon advised Tech officials late yesterday that the school would send a small squad to compete in today's meet.

Brothers Will Compete

The squad probably will number about eight men, including Sprinter Jim Wilson, brother of Joe Wilson, Tech 440 specialist.

Both ACC and McMurry have sent word ahead of them that they have strong squads this year and will be after first place today. Hardin-Simmons has not yet competed on the cinders this season, while Tech finished fourth in the Fort Worth Exposition meet and gained only a tie for one fourth place spot in the Texas Relays.

Field events today will open the meet, with weightmen going to their positions at 1:30 p. m. Track events will not get underway until 2 this afternoon.

Raider Squad Untried

Coach Maxey McKnight does not know what the full Tech squad can do, but he does know that he lacks certain point winners in the field events. So far no outstanding man has come along in any of the weight events, while Ed Clepper in the high jump is the most reliable height man.

The Red Raiders will send 19 men into the quadrangular meet, the largest number of Raiders to appear in a track and field event this year. Most of the men are untried, but some are certain first place winners and others are good for scattered points.

Tech Point Winners

The Raider trackmen are headed by Charley Reynolds in the century and 220, Border Conference champion in these events, and by Earnest Hawkins, Border Conference half-mile champ. Clepper, Seth Murphey, James Muullins, Charles Pinnell and Joe Wilson are almost certain point winners.

Clepper in the broad jump and high jump, as well as the high hurdles; Pinnell in the high and low hurdles and pole vault; and Ike Stuver, D. J. Smith and Gerald "Dingy" Davis in the weight events carry the bulk of the Raider field hopes.

Raider Entries

Sprints: Reynolds, Murphey and Mullins.

440-yard dash: Costin Bufkin, Joe Wilson and George Worrell or Morris Akin.

880-yard run: Hawkins, Doug Barber and Duane Hill.

Mile: Edgar Hawkins and James Cruser.

High Hurdles: Clepper and Pinnell.

Low Hurdles: Pinnell.

Sprint Relay: Bufkin, Reynolds, Murphey and Mullins.

Mile Relay: Wilson, Butkin, Hawkins and Reynolds.

High Jump: Clepper, Ed Wilson and Joe Overton.

Pole Vault: Pinnell.

Weights: Stuver, Smith and Davis.

Raiders Will Clash Today With McMurry, Hardin-Simmons And ACC Golf, Net Crews

Tennis and golf teams from Texas Tech, with several matches under their belt of experience, will meet invading teams from Hardin-Simmons, Abilene Christian college and McMurry at 2 o'clock this afternoon in connection with the five-way track and field meet here.

The Red Raider net team, which has won six and lost only one match this season, will be favored to continue on their victory trail over the three visiting schools. Each of the Abilene schools will send two tennis players and Tech expects to use a six-man squad.

Tech Pair Favored

Jake Broyles, top-ranking player on the Tech squad, and Glenn Ivy, running him a close second, are expected to win their matches with little trouble. Both have displayed near brilliant form in winning this year. Both also are rated as favorites to cop the Border Conference individual titles.

Other men on the Raider squad will be Carl Schmidt, Shaff DeGaish, Ed Scudday and Joe Wheatley, all veterans of extensive play this season.

The golf team is looking forward to the coming visit by the Abilene schools, for they chased ACC across the finish line last week end in Abilene, at the same time finishing ahead of the Cowboys and Indians.

Locals Have Advantage

Carrying the brunt of the attack for the Raiders on the Country club course will be Elmer H. McKinney, top-ranking Tech linksman, and Jerry Stoltz, who is right behind him. The rest of the squad will have Chick Trout, jr., and E. C. Feagan completing the foursome for Tech.

In matches to date, the Raider golfmen have won two and lost six, while finishing second last week at Abilene. They will have a slight advantage on the home links and will be favored to win their first home match.

TRACK STAR—Ace of the invading ACC track and field squad today will be Bill Carter, Texas Conference champion on whom the Wildcats are counting heavily for a first place in the broad jump. Carter is the kingpin of a strong Wildcat squad that has not failed to place in every meet so far this year.

Orville Tuttle New OCU Coach

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8. (AP)—Orvile Tuttle, one time star tackle for Oklahoma City university, returned to his alma mater today to become head football coach.

Tuttie, who played several seasons for the pro New York Giants and last year helped Clipper Smith coach the Boston Yanks, was named yesterday by Dr. C. Q. Smith, O.C.U. president. He succeeds Bo Rowland, who resigned last week to take the head coaching job at Washington university.

O.C.U. also dipped into its alumni roster for a backfield coach, naming Joe Gutowsky, a backfield ace who played in the 1930's and later gained a lot of yardage for the pro Portsmouth Spartans and the Detroit Lions.

ACC Track, Net, Golf Crews Due

ABILENE, April 8 (Special)—The Abilene Christian college Wildcat track, tennis and golf teams will make the journey to Lubbock tomorrow with full squads for the matches with the host school, Texas Tech, and Hardin-Simmons and McMurry.

Coach Oliver Jackson will have 18 trackmen to throw into the five-way meet and will feature several individual champions of the Texas Conference. Bill Carter holds the broad jump record of 23 feet, 11 and three-quarter inches and will be the principal threat.

ACC Squads Named

Other outstanding trackmen include Johnny Mason and H. D. Terry in the 440-yard run; V. T. Smith in the javelin; the 440-yard relay team of Mason, Terry, Carter and Smith; and the mile relay team of Mason, Abe Wadley, Monty Wolford and Terry.

The ACC tennis duo probably will be Fred Waddell or Dudley Longacre, the latter a two-year letterman, or Bob Hunt or Russell Coffee. In net matches so far, the Wildcats have won four out of seven matches.

The golf team from ACC will include, Bobby Craig, Don Cullen, Donald Cranfil and Jamie Cheanult. In matches on the links to date, ACC, has won and lost one, with a victory last week over the other two Abilene schools and Texas Tech.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 8. (AP)—Early Wynn became the first Washington pitcher to hurl nine innings here today.

Chattanooga belted him for 14 hits but the Senators took an 11-10 decision in a hectic exhibition game.

WESTERNERS TO GET REST TODAY

Twenty-Five High School Teams Ready For Track Meet Saturday

Twenty-five schoolboy cinder path teams of the South Plains Thursday afternoon started tapering off drills for the District 2-AA and 4-A track and field meets here Saturday at Texas Tech's oval, but hard work still topped the program at Chapman field as Coach Marlin Hayhurst sent his Westerner sprinters and relay candidates through a lengthy slate of events.

Charley Williams, one of the three top Lubbock dash specialists, provided the feature performance of the session as he pressed ace quarter-miler Jim Johnson to the finish line on a practice 440 with a time of 52.5 seconds.

Williams Was In Lead

Williams held the lead for the first 440 yards, but Johnson, one of the top middle distance trackmen in the state, turned on a strong finishing kick to nose out Williams by approximately 18 inches. Johnson's time was 52.4 seconds compared favorably with his 52.1 first place at the Big Spring Relays last weekend.

The Westerner 880-relay quartet, which included Malcolm Young, Jim Johnson, Edward Strickland and Earl Hutcherson, turned the two laps in 1:37; while the sprint relay team, hampered by the absence of injured Don Decker, was clocked in 43 seconds.

Prelims Saturday Morning

The cinder path squad will get a holiday today, Coach Hayhurst said, so that the trackmen will get plenty of rest for the district meet tomorrow.

Class A preliminaries are slated at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, officials have announced, with finals in both divisions starting at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Texas Golf Association Tourney Slated At Houston June 17-20

HOUSTON, April 8 (AP)—The Texas Municipal Golf Association tournament will be held at Hermann Park here June 17-20. Sidney Van Ulm, association president, announced today.

Any golfer not connected with a country club is eligible to participate.

Van Ulm says 125 are expected to be in the tournament.

"There is no need for a golfer to register; he can just show up and start playing," says Van Ulm.

Big Spring Stops Hubber Winning Streak, 12 To 8

Locals Will Play Amarillo Gold Sox At Rosenthal Field Sunday

BIG SPRING, April 8 (Special)—Big Spring's Bronchos combined a nine-hit assault with seven Lubbock Hubber errors to hand the South Plains club its first defeat in five exhibition tilts, 12-8, here tonight before 600 chilled fans.

The wild game between the West Texas-New Mexico and Longhorn loop representatives was mercifully halted in the last half of the seventh because of cold weather, but for the Hubbers, apparently the victims of a severe attack of early season jitters, the tussle lasted too long.

Pitts Goes Route

Herbie Pitts, the Hubs' 18-year-old Indian hurler, went the route for the visitors, but he was touched for nine hits and seven walks along the way. The Lubbock crew collected an equal number of safe blows off the Bronchos' Juan Perez and Jerry Rodriquez, but failed to group the clouts and trailed throughout the tilt.

The Big Spring nine took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first stanza on a double, single and error by Hub Short Stop Al Smith, then added another run in the second frame. Ace Mendez, Broncho center fielder, blasted a home run in the third with the bases loaded to give the hom.. team a commanding margin. Pitts had set up the run-scoring spree by issuing George Sifft, Tony Traspusto and Manny Cadalso successive walks.

Relief hurler Jerry Rodriquez singled home the last two Broncho tallies in the sixth frame.

McAlexander Leads Hitting

Frank McAlexander, Hub veteran at the hot corner, provided most of the offensive fireworks for the Lubbock nine tonight as he smashed out three singles in five trips to the plate. Newt Secrest, who was responsible for three miscues while subbing for Manager Jackie Sullivan at second base, came through with two bingles.

The Hubbers' next exhibition clash is scheduled at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Rosenthal field, when the Amarillo Gold Sox invade Lubbock for the first meeting of the two West Texas-New Mexico circuit rivals this season.

SW Diamond Leaders Open Series Friday

(By The Associated Press)

Texas, tied with Southern Methodist for the lead in the Southwest conference baseball race, opens a two-game series at Austin Friday with Texas Christian.

The Longhorns will be expected to win both games and thus surge past SMU in the standings.

Southern Methodist plays only one game this week, meeting Baylor at Dallas Saturday.

Texas A. and M., which kicked highly-rated Baylor virtually out of the race by winning two games from the Bears Tuesday and Wednesday, plays Rice at Houston Saturday.

Twenty Teams Will Compete In Tomato Bowl Track, Field Meet

JACKSONVILLE, April 8 (AP)—Thirty high schools have filed entries in the third annual Tomato Bowl Track and Field meet to be held here Saturday.

More than 400 contestants are expected. Preliminaries begin at 10:30 a. m., and the finals will start at 7:30 p. m.

Ted Williams Might Undergo Operation

NEW ORLEANS, April 8 (AP)—Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox's hitting star, left here today for Boston where he will undergo observation for a possible appendicitis operation.

Williams, who led the American league in hitting last season, complained yesterday of pains in the abdomen. However, club officials thought the discomfort was caused by a case of intestinal influenza Williams suffered in Florida.

Manager Joe McCarthy and Traveling Secretary Tom Dowd decided to send the big slugger to Boston after Dr. Nicholas Chetta, New Orleans physician, recommended that he be sent back for an examination.

Rice And TCU Golf Squads Tie In Southwest Conference Match

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 8. (AP)—Three successive singles in the ninth inning enabled the Philadelphia Phillies to edge the Philadelphia Athletics 4-3 today in a spring training exhibition game.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 8. (AP)—Bunching five hits with a pair of errors for six runs in the third inning, the Detroit Tigers walloped the Atlanta Crackers of the southern association 8 to 3 here today in an exhibition baseball game that attracted only 1,113 fans.

ALBUQUERQUE, April 8. (AP)—Walker Cooper, Sid Gordon and Les Layton hit successive home runs in the ninth inning today as the New York Giants slugged past the Clevelland Indians, 8 to 4.

Tucker is no stranger to Lubbock, paying a visit here in January to a sister, Mrs. Bill Dennis of 1104 37th street. At that time he was with the Chicago White Sox, but shortly afterwards was traded to the Indians, where he is after an outfield berth.

The Giants also have their share of Texans, led by the fabulous Clint Hartung of Hondo, who earned a great record in the army and then, after the season was underway last year, changed from an outfielder to a pitcher. The only other Texan on the Giant roster is Jack Conway, a shortstop from Bryan, Tex., who last year was with the Cleveland Indians.

Since no programs will be sold at the stadium today, the starting lineup and reserves for both clubs, as printed below, will be the only guide to the players. Sport fans wishing to follow the game more closely should clip the rosters out of The Morning Avalanche.

Feller To Visit Sport Shop Here

This will be a great morning for the kids in Lubbock when, from 10 until 10:30 at the Sport Center, Cleveland Indian Pitcher Bob Feller and other diamond greats will be on hand to autograph balls, bats, gloves and other equipment purchased at the store.

And more than that, the American Legion Junior League Baseball program will be the direct gainer by the presence of the baseball stars, for all proceeds of equipment purchased will be turned over to the Legion's baseball program.

Joe Holmes, co-owner of the store with the Washington Senator's Sam West, made the appearance of Feller possible. Holmes is a member of the Legion's baseball committee and, knowing the expense of running the large program, dreamed up the appearance of the Cleveland star to aid the financial end of the program. Feller, always active in Legion Junior League baseball, readily consented to take part.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8. (AP)—The New York Yankees hammered Class A pitching for 13 hits in seven innings today as they downed their Augusta farm club, 10 to 1. The contest was cut short by rain.

Lloyd Mangrum Leads Augusta Tourney Field

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum, the year's leading money winner and a heavy favorite to win the 12th Annual Masters Golf tournament, got away to a one-stroke lead in today's opening round with a 69, three under par.

He was three under par on the first nine with a 33, and had an even-par 36 coming back.

Demaret Trails

Tied at 70 was Ben Hogan, Claude Harmon, Herman Keiser and Ed Furgol, three strokes in front of Jimmie Demaret, the defending champion. Hogan posted nines of 37-33, Harmon had 36-34, Keiser had 35-35, and Furgol shot 34-36.

Henry Cotton of London, and Bobby Locke of South Africa, two foreign entries, had 72 and 71, respectively. The latter played steadily to score 36-35, but Cotton was in trouble repeatedly.

A sudden wind and rain storm which blew itself out almost as quickly as it came up, soaked the tremendous gallery watching the $10,000 event on the 6,800-yard national country club course.

Scores Five Birdies

It affected the score of some of those still on the course at that time, notably Bob Hamilton, who had 72. He was out in 33 but the rain caught him at the 13th. There he three-putted from eight feet, taking a six, one over par.

Mangrum, who holds the course record of 64 which he set in the 1940 opening round, his first appearance here, had five birdies and eleven pars. He was over par on the other two holes.

Cleveland Releases Two Rookie Hurlers

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 8. (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians replaced two rookie pitchers today — Ed (Mike) Garcia and Cal Dorsett.

Garcia, fast-throwing Mexican, was optioned to Oklahoma City and Cal Dorsett, 31-year-old hopeful, was returned to that same Texas league club.

Jacobs' Ring Monopoly Defied

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—For the first time in 10 years, an outfit with real money behind it took dead aim at Mike Jacobs' boxing monopoly today.

Tournament of Champions, Inc., composed of eight New York business men with late model bank accounts, formally declared itself "in" on the lucrative business over which Jacobs has ruled as virtual dictator for a decade.

The occasion for the gauntlet-flinging was the official signing of Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale for a 15-round middleweight championship bout at Newark—just across the Hudson river—on June 9.

It wasn't so much the signing that served notice on "Uncle Mike" that he at least faces live competition as it was the manner in which the new group spread itself.

This was great stuff. Old-timers of the fight game grew misty-eyed at the sight of the hillocks of food and serried rows of bottled goods and said it took them back to the days of the late Tex Ricard, when a signing was something to be celebrated.

There was drama when Abe Greene, president of the national boxing association stood beside Graziano's chair and made a brilliant plea for tolerance toward the middleweight champion, who, he said had conducted himself properly since his dishonorable discharge from the army more than five years ago.

He told Rocky that his future was in his own hands, and that he was the bearer of a "great trust," and that in the future it should be possible for other dead-end kids to point to Rocky and say "there was a bad boy who came back" to lead a good life.

Farm Equipment Found In Lake

Plainview's Chief of Police Hoyt Curry reported to Lubbock police Thursday afternoon the abandonment of 10 pieces of farm equipment valued at possibly several thousand dollars in a Hale county lake.

Curry suggested that a check be made with South Plains farm operators to determine ownership of the property, which included two tractors, a binder, plows, a combine and a ditcher.

He indicated there was something "funny afoot" inasmuch as the equipment, first discovered Sunday in a lake bed, subsequently was removed to another dry lake.

List Is Announced

Curry gave this list of the property:

A 20-30 International tractor (old model).

A 10-20 Farmall tractor.

A John Deere broadcast binder.

An Avery five-foot combine (old style).

A shopmade ditcher for irrigation purposes.

An Avery one-way 10-foot plow.

Two slide go-devils with knives.

A 10-foot tandem disc (old model).

An Avery breaking plow with 14-inch bottom.

Much property has been reported stolen from South Plains farmers in recent months, but officials here did not recall losses that could fit with the description of property recovered in Hale county, it was said.

that would "pick out one (presidential nominee) who best conforms to the philosophy of the state Democratic party as expressed at the state convention."

That was as far as the governor would go in discussing the meaning of "uninstructed delegation."

He believed "a majrity of the people in Texas favor an uninstructed delegation." He based his opinion on comments of people who have talked to him or who have written letters.

"Most of the people who write in don't like the idea of this federal civil rights program," Jester said in response to questioning at his press conference.

The governor revealed he has turned down the request of a group of young state legislators for a special session to enact a so-called presidential preference primary law.

Rep. Frank Oltorf of Marlin and others who suggested such a law would give the people of Texas more voice in determining whom they want for president.

No Special Session

Jester said Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee, had advised him today 26 of 64 committee members queried on the proposition of holding a special seven-day session had replied.

Of the 26, 21 were against calling the special session for the purpose named. Two were for, and three were undecided. Jester said he did not know the names of the two who favored a special session.

The preference primary is used in several states. The Wisconsin election this week was an example of its operation, in which names of several prospective candidates for the presidential nomination are placed on the ballot and voters given an opportunity to express their choice.

Instructions to the Texas delegation come from precinct, county, and state conventions. The only time the people of Texas vote directly on the choice of a president is in the November general election.

"I do not think there is any bridge."

Dr. Lopez told a news conference that both parties are standing fast on their previous announced positions.

This would mean that the Arabs are refusing to talk about a truce until the United Nations drops the partition plan adopted by the UN Assembly last November; that the Jews will not talk about a truce unless it is discussed within the general framework of partition.

Lopez said the talks today were meant to develop as clearly as possible the positions of the Jews and the Arabs. He talked with them separately. He conferred with Husseini one hour and 55 minutes and with Shertok one hour and five minutes.

Paducah Officers Seek Two Men Who Slugged, Robbed Housewife

PADUCAH, April 8 (AP)—Officers are seeking two men a housewife said took $4,000 worth of diamond rings from her fingers after knocking her unconscious in her home here last night.

Clues to the men's identity were lacking. Mrs. Ruth Swaim told officers the two forced entry into her home last night, hit her on the back of the head, and while she was unconscious, stripped the rings from her fingers.

When she recovered consciousness her arms and legs were bound with wire and a rag was stuffed in her mouth, Mrs. Swaim said. She managed to work one arm free to use the phone and notify officers. She was not injured seriously.

Mrs. Swaim told officers the two men identified themselves as insurance adjustors when she answered their knock on the door about 8 p. m. She said she became suspicious, told them to come back the next day, and shut the door.

The men pushed open the door and chased Mrs. Swaim to the back part of the house, where she was hit on the head, she said.

Engineering Brigade Talked By Reserves

Plans for activating a logistics division or engineer special brigade were discussed at a meeting of the South Plains chapter of the Reserve Officers association, and members went on record favoring the engineer brigade.

The session was held in conjunction with the 469th Composite group at the courthouse with approximately 50 persons attending.

The brigade would be for reserve personnel of the South Plains. The matter was advanced by Robert Howard, legislative officer, who also reported passage of a reserve officers retirement bill in the House of Representatives.

The 469th heard a talk by Major Crockett, of the Veterans administration here, on military intelligence. In connection with the talk, Maj. Huddleston Wright related experiences while held in a Japanese prisoner of war camp.

Next meeting of the ROA will be May 13 in the engineering auditorium at Texas Technological college when demonstrations by the Tech ROTC will be featured. James Morris presided at last night's meeting.

Ruling On Child

as she was led away weeping. Kunin, grim but composed, accompanied her, trying to comfort her. Witnesses at the wife's trial testified that she frequently whipped Denise, once turned a garden hose in the baby's mouth, and several times left the child unattended. Today, she declared:

"I loved that baby. It wasn't unattended, as they said. I may have been impatient. But I have to live the rest of my life and remember this."

"I hope you'll never forget it," the judge replied.

Decision Warranted

The judge asked Deputy District Attorney Adolph Alexander, prosecutor of Mrs. Kunin, if the husband had been linked with mistreatment of the daughter.

Alexander replied that Kunin, according to testimony, had been present on some of the occasions. He added that a Beverly Hills police officer testified that the salesman told him "I beat the baby about a week before she died."

Commenting later on the severity of his decision, Judge Scott told reporters: "It is unusual, but very much warranted by the facts."

Deputy District Attorney William Ritzi, in charge of the juvenile matters, and other court attaches said they could not recall a previous court order under which both parents would be forever forbidden to see the child.

Another resolution adopted over the protest of Hopkins and Briggs appointed Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls to succeed the late Roy B. Jones of the state executive committee for the 23rd senatorial district.

Briggs termed the majority action "illegal, arbitrary and undemocratic."

"It is in line with your one-man control of the party," he told Creager.

The arrival of the deputy sheriff prevented the election of a long list of county chairmen.

The committee voted to recess until April 15, two days after the injunction hearing.

Lubbock GOP Leader Returns From Meetings Over State

M. D. Temple, president of the Lubbock County Republicans club, returned to Lubbock Thursday evening, after a six-day trip which took him to Fort Worth, Dallas and San Antonio on party business.

While in Fort Worth, he addressed the Fort Worth Republicans club on the subject of a two-party system in Texas.

From Fort Worth, he went to Dallas on Monday and on to San Antonio for a meeting of the Republican State Headquarters committee Thursday. Col. R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman, was present at the meeting, where the forthcoming presidential election was discussed.

the coal mines.

The southern producers, headed by Joseph E. Moody, said that the union yesterday and today had refused to recognize their association as a qualified negotiator in the pension dispute which brought on the walkout. This, they told the board, was an unfair labor practice that violated the law in that it meant:

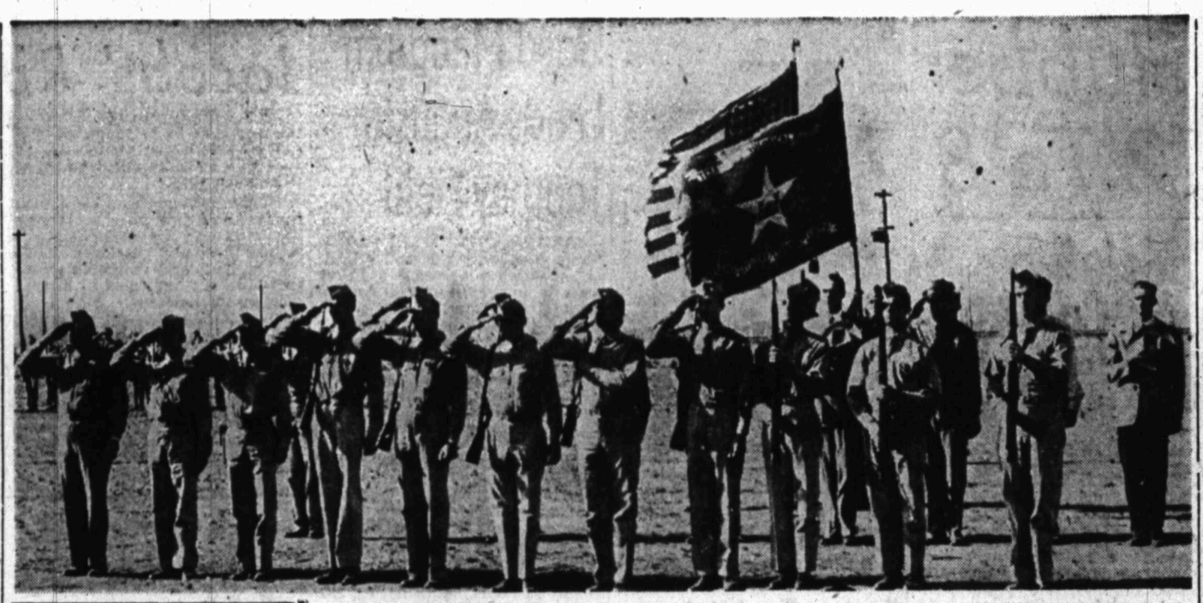

1. Refusal to bargain in a labor-management dispute.

2. Coercion of the operators in the choice of their bargaining representatives.

The NLRB national office accepted the papers here for delivery to the Baltimore regional office. If an investigation by that office warrants filing of a formal NLRB complaint alleging an unfair labor practice, a spokesman said, the complaint will be issued.

If one is issued, the board could ask for a court injunction requiring Lewis to recognize and deal with the southern producers. The union contends that the association is not qualified to negotiate because it did not sign the 1947 contract now in dispute. Association members did sign, however.

Berlin Rule Totters

over Soviet landing fields at "prohibitively low altitudes of 500 to 1,200 feet."

Russian restrictions already have crimped allied train traffic connecting Berlin with the west and thus far only air traffic has remained unimpeded.

"Slanderous," "disgusting" and "contemptible" were some of the words hurled by British and American deputies at the Russians during a 12-hour meeting of the allied Kommandantura, Berlin's only functioning four-power body.

Berlin Claimed Looted

Brig. E. R. Benson, British deputy commander in Berlin, answered Soviet charges that the west was looting Berlin by saying the capital had been pillaged only by the Russians—in 1945 when they captured it.

He cited a long list of factories taken from the British sector by the Russians. He asserted also that trade between Berlin and the west was virtually at a standstill because of Soviet restrictions.

W. T. Babcock, the American representative, endorsed Benson's charges as "a true and clear picture of the situation."

Col. Alexander Jelisarov, the Russian delegate at the meeting, replied with a 30-minute blast in which he repeated his charges of western looting, boasted that the Russian army alone liberated Europe and asked that if Britain were worried about Berlin industry, "why didn't the British get here first?"

Cheap Tirade Charged

When Jelisarov concluded, Benson termed his remarks "so disgusting they are beneath our notice to dispute." Babcock called the Russian's tirade "the cheapest sort of tirade I have ever heard in the Kommandantura."

The threat by Britain and the United States to use fighter escorts for passenger planes serving Berlin came after the Russians refused a British demand to put in writing safeguards for allied aircraft. The British asked the safeguards after Monday's collision of a British transport and a Soviet fighter which caused 15 deaths.

The American, British and French military governors met in long talks with Maurice Couve De Murville, political director of the French foreign office, to discuss the transformation of western Germany into "Trizonia" and bulwark the European recovery plan.

Merger Is Pushed

Concerning the tri-power merger proposal, an official American source said "we have made a little progress, but are not much farther along than we were at London some weeks ago."

The chief stumbling block, he said, was on how strong a western German government should be set up. The French are holding out for a loose federation of German states, he added.

A Russian-controlled newspaper, Tribune, confirmed reports that many Russian families were being sent home from Germany.

Oral Guarantee Given

The British spearheaded the contest with the Russians over the air traffic issue. The British and Americans first prepared to escort their planes into Berlin with fighters last Monday night after a Soviet Yak fighter and a British transport collided near British and Soviet airports.

The plans were canceled when Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, the British military governor, received oral guarantees from Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, the Soviet military governor, that allied air access to Berlin would be safe and unhindered.

Russian Reverses Stand

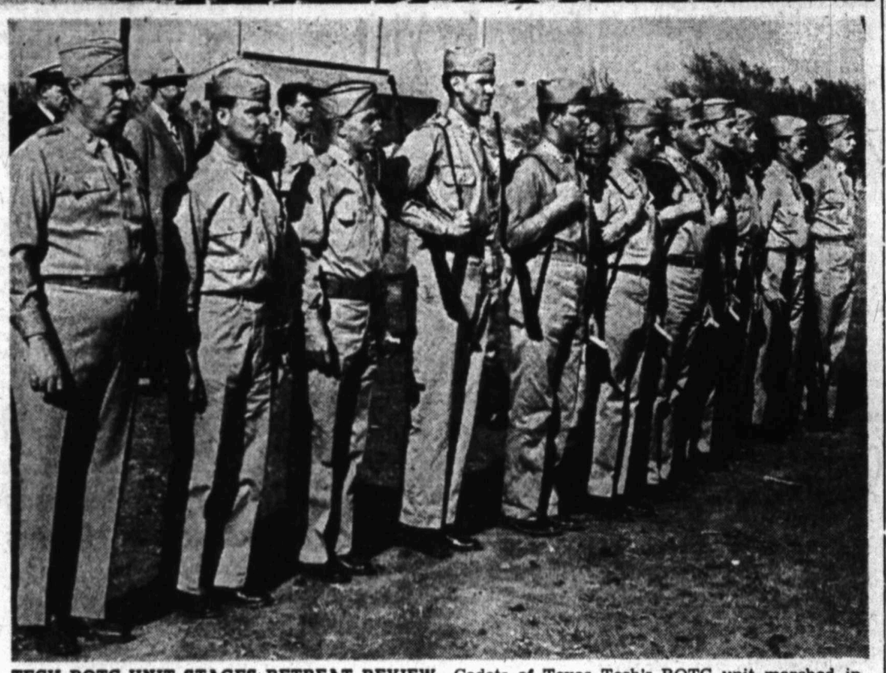

The British asked Sokolovsky to put that in writing.

Today, however, the Russian balked and performed an abrupt turnabout. The Russian marshal characterized as a "slander" the British charge that the Soviet fighter was to blame for the crash.

He said the British plane was at fault. He threatened to take measures of his own for "safeguarding air traffic over the Soviet occupation zone"—an implication that he might send up fighters of his own to police the corridor.

This reply made the British so angry that when an official spokesman was asked for comment, he first replied, "I cannot answer that. There are ladies present."

Then he said the British government "was again considering" the matter of fighter escort.

New City Officials Take Office Today

W. H. Rodgers, newly-elected mayor of Lubbock, will take office officially at a meeting of the city commission at 1 p. m. today.

Rodgers, along with Clarence Whiteside and E. K. Hufstedler, jr., new commission members, will take oath of office following a routine canvass of votes in Tuesday's biennial city election.

Although Thursday was the regular semi-monthly meeting date of the commission, lack of a quorum at that time forced postponement of the meeting until today.

This will be the first city commission meeting of the city's new fiscal year, the year starting on April 1.

W. B. Price and John Spikes are holdover members of the commission, with Fred Childress and J. Ray Dickey retiring in favor of Whiteside and Hufstedler.

Draft Hearings Set

War Assets administration to hold up final disposition of all unsold industrial plants, machine tools and production equipment.

Andrews said the draft bill is almost like the one recommended by Forrestal last week. The draft service ages were the same, but the registration limit was lowered from 45 years, as asked by Forrestal, to 30.

Veterans from 18 to 30 would be required to register, along with non-veterans. However, they would be exempt from the draft if they served a year or more during the World War 11.

Those with more than 90 days' service, but less than a year, would have to join the Army, Navy or Air Reserve to be exempt.

Defense Plants Held Up

Andrews said the bill would fix manpower ceilings for the three services. He said the limit for the Air Forces would permit it to build up to 70 combat groups in two years' time.

Deferments for dependency, occupation or schooling would be left to the President.

National Guard members would have to register, but would not be liable for service under the draft law.

The defense plant order was issued by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman after consulting with Forrestal, the National Security Resources board, the munitions board and WAA.

Its purpose, he said in a statement, was to permit the status of the plants to be reviewed the next 30 days.

Forrestal issued a statement warning that building up any one service without augmenting the "supporting sister services" can be dangerous. President Truman endorsed Forrestal's views at a news conference.

Nebraska Primary

in a prepared address, "is a third great peaceful power which will also be so strong that no despotic ruler of a totalitarian nation will think the cause of freedom so weak that he dares to wage war."

He said European unity should be a major objective of American foreign policy.

No Claims Made

Dewey reached Lincoln after a day of cross-roads campaigning. His followers said they were told that the New York governor and Stassen are among the top runners in next Tuesday's primary.

Stassen made no claims as he opened a drive aimed at repeating—at the expense of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and others—the shellacking he gave Dewey and Gen. Douglas MacArthur in last Tuesday's Wisconsin primary. MacArthur's name is entered in the contest here.

But Stassen indicated he will direct his campaign toward the farm and youth vote he credited with helping him to victory in Wisconsin.

Questioned at a stop in Omaha about reports that some of his backing there came from Democrats, Stassen told reporters:

"There are millions of young people and young veterans who never before voted, or never before voted Republican, who are giving us definite support in this campaign. We welcome them, not only for our own strength but the strength of the Republican party."

Unlike those in Wisconsin, Nebraska's voters can't cross party lines in a primary. It will be a Republican verdict in this state.

Stassen said he thinks it might be a better test if the voters were allowed to mark their choices for first and second place.

This was seized on by some of his political opponents as a sign that Stassen doesn't expect to finish first here, as he did in Wisconsin where he got 19 delegates and MacArthur eight.

Plenty Of Oil In Two Years Seen

BRADFORD, Pa., April 8. (AP)—An end to the nation's oil shortage within two years was predicted here today by Texas Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson.

Oil will then be in plentiful supply from new discoveries and new wells in older fields, he said in a speech before the Bradford Producers association.

Reviewing the rising production and discovery in Texas, the chairman of Texas' oil regulatory body declared:

Real Progress Claimed

"We are making real progress in finding oil, in spite of the shortage of steel.

"Our progress would have been even more pronounced had pipe been available in desired quantities."

"The solution to the oil shortage is more steel to drill with, and more steel for additional pipelines and tank cars, with assurance of a continued adequate price," he said.

"If price is let alone for free play and steel is made available, we will have plenty of oil from new discoveries. Then the supply will again bring the price down as it always has when the law of supply and demand was permitted to operate without artificial controls."

Alcoholics Plan

and more than 1,000,000 persons suffer from it, alcoholism is among the largest and most urgent public health problems. Yet, it is claimed, the problem has been left to fruitless propaganda.

The Yale Institute suggests that all diseases need prevention and treatment, that prevention and treatment need research and education.

Must Begin With Youths

Since many alcoholics get started on their drinking pattern at school age, alcohol education must begin with youths in public schools, the institute says. These needs, it says, are covered by the Yale Plan on Alcoholism, which was initiated in 1941 by the laboratory of Applied Physiology, Yale university. Effectiveness of the plan has won world-wide recognition.

As a strictly scientific approach, the Yale plan is not involved in the controversial issues of liquor control. Designed to serve all sections of the population, the plan is independent of any other organization.

Work Extended To Texas

Through cooperation with Texas Christian university and other institutions of higher learning, this work of the Yale plan is extended to Texas, and will be known as The Yale Institute of Alcohol Studies in the Southwest.

The proposal entails these Southwestern elements:

1. A research unit in the social sciences at Texas Christian university at Fort Worth.

2. A clinic for the rehabilitation of alcoholics in Dallas.

3. A Summer School of Alcohol Studies at Trinity university in San Antonio.

4. Informal educational activities throughout the state.

Broad Research Program

The clinic will engage in researches on the origin and treatment of alcoholism, such as: 1. Physiological sensitivity to alcohol; 2. Psychological factors contributing to alcoholism; 3. preventive mental hygiene; 4. Tests of new methods of treatments. The clinic researches will be carried out in cooperation with medical institutions, and cooperating institutions will receive research grants from the YIASSW. It will maintain in-patient as well as outpatient services. It will offer services in particular to the police courts in order to replace admittedly useless penal methods by clinical treatment.

Would Increase Utility

The summer school will increase the utility of the Yale university course, inasmuch as the summer school at Yale has not been able to accept more than a small fraction of applicants.

Informal education will speed knowledge of the problems of alcohol informally, by lectures, press and radio and other methods.

Administration of the YIASSW will be centered in Yale university, to assure tested experience and expertness in this field. The director of the Laboratory of Applied Physiology at Yale, Dr. Howard W. Haggard, and the co-director of the section on Alcohol Studies, Prof. Jellinek, will determine the broad policies with the aid of a Texas advisory board.

At least two Lubbock persons may be designated members of that advisory board after tonight's meeting, it was suggested here.

Paint brushes made from milk are now a reality. At a large research laboratory, casein fibers are being produced that compare favorably with natural bristles as paint-spreaders.

Floydada Man Named To Scout Committee

FORT WORTH, April 8 (AP)—An address by Amory Houghton, Corning, N. Y., president of the Boy Scouts of America, and presentation of six silver antelope awards, highlighted a banquet of Boy Scout Region 9, composed of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, here tonight.

Earlier in the day, W. Emmett Sampson, Houston, was named regional chairman to succeed Homer R. Mitchell, Dallas. Joe C. Carrington, Austin, named vice-chairman.

The silver antelope for "distinguished service to boyhood within the jurisdiction of Region 9," went to A. L. Shuman of Fort Worth, George R. Angell of El Reno, Okla., former resident of Fort Worth; E. B. Bullock, Artesia, N. M.; Joe Carrington, Austin; Dr. C. E. Williams, Woodward, Okla., and Chairman-Elect Sampson.

Scout leaders elected to serve on the regional committee included: H. E. Butt, Corpus Christi; Joe C. Carrington, Austin; Paul Harvey, El Paso; Edwin Mayer, San Angelo; W. D. Whalen, McAllen, and James M. Willson, Floydada, for one year terms.

Two year terms: A. G. Hopkins, Sherman, Tex.; Judge W. Dewey Lawrence, Tyler; Senator John S. Redditt, Lufkin, and Dr. T. H. Shelby, Austin.

Dallas Man Is Held On Forgery Charge

A Dallas man, Harding Collins 27, was being held in county jail last night in connection with a charge of forgery, records at the sheriff's office showed.

He allegedly wrote a $28 check to which he signed a Lubbock man's name and then cashed it at Fred's produce, at 1113 Ave. F.

Alvin Smith, negro of Littlefield, had been fined $25 for possession of a prohibited weapon, police reported.

Another negro, Charles B. Sims of Lubbock, was still being held in connection with an incident Wednesday night in which a negro woman suffered a head injury.

He was arrested after a patrolman said, he was holding a .45-caliber automatic in one hand and Margarete King, a negro woman, with the other.

The woman, police said, was found to have a bad wound on the back of her head. An ambulance was called, and emergency treatment was given at a hospital.

Police investigated when informed that the door to room 21 of Citizens National bank building was open, and found that the safe of the tenant, Claude B. Hurlbut, also was open.

Subsequent investigation failed to disclose that anything had been removed from the safe, police said.

Funds For Red River Sought

SHREVEPORT, La., April 8 (AP)—Congress is being asked by the Red River Valley Improvement association to appropriate funds for flood control and navigation along the valley as rapidly as the government engineers can use them efficiently.

The action was taken at the closing session of the 23rd annual convention of the association here yesterday.

In the election of officers Homer H. Harris, sr., of Alexandria was elected president; Val H. Murrell of Shreveport, treasurer, and L. Roy Matthias of Shreveport, executive secretary.

The association pointed out that the Red river valley is in constant danger of floods until adequate proposed flood control projects are completed.

Valley Authority Opposed

It also asserted that the proposed Overton lateral canal is vital to development of the valley and would form an important link in the nation's inland waterways system.

The canal is proposed as a shipping waterway paralleling the Red river from Shreveport to Alexandria.

The association expressed opposition to the creation of valley authorities or administrations for marketing power.

It urged appropriation of federal funds for building multiple-purpose dams. Under the associa- plan, power from these dams would be sold to "existing interconnecting utility systems" for sale at rates which would pass benefits on to the cusomers.

In other resolutions the association asked that a study be made of advisability of extending navigation above Shreveport "as far as possible," and extend its operations to include the entire Red river system.

Association Officers Named

Those reelected to the executive board were Murrell and Matthias of Shreveport; George O'Neal of Hugo, Okla.; W. T. Murphy, jr., of Texarkana, Ark.; and A. G. (Pat) Mayes, publisher of the Paris, Texas, News.

Elected to the posts of vice president representing their respective states in the association were:

New York Building Wizard Would Save Cities By Moving Rich Back To Area

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 8—William Zeckendorf awoke during the night with one of the fabulous dreams he makes come true with astounding regularity and grabbed for the telephone.

Nelson Rockefeller's sleepy voice answered.

"Tell me," snapped Zeckendorf, "have you got too much money or are you interested in making more?"

"I've got some money," Rockefeller admitted cautiously, "but I believe in free enterprise—so I'm always interested in making more."

"Good," said the real estate wizard who assembled the land for the United Nations site, "then listen to this."

Idea Goes Over

His crisp, enthusiastic voice crackled on and before the financier went back to sleep, Rockefeller had agreed to place a whole research unit of the Rockefeller organization on an idea which Zeckendorf believes will revolutionize one phase of industry.

Behind his desk as president of Webb & Knapp, Zeckendorf is working on plans for saving the nation's big cities from the bankruptcy he believes many face inevitably unless they find new sources of revenue.

"You have this sort of thing happening all over," he said. "A city grows up on a cow pasture layout and then the rich folks begin moving to the suburbs. In other words, you begin to lose your most taxable citizens and the burden of municipal services falls on the poor. Unless many cities extend their boundaries to increase income from tax sources, they may be forced to encourage emigration and depend on the centralization of commerce and industry within the city borders."

Dream City Projected

One of Zeckendorf's solutions is what he calls thinking in "vertical terms." For a New York example he projected a city within a city to be called "X-City." That was well under way on the drawing boards when he was persuaded to give up the site for the United Nations.

At a cost of $50,000,000, Zeckendorf was going to build four 40-story office buildings, three 30-story apartment buildings, a 6,000-room hotel, a garage for 5,000 automobiles, a helicopter airport, an opera house, a concert hall and several other buildings, including a night club. At peak occupancy, X-City would have had working or living accomodations for 100,000 people.

"Whatever the solution," he said, "big cities must plan right now for the needs of the years ahead."

Zeckendorf, a movie-style go-getter whose loud neckties beat down on a gathering paunch, is a self-made man whose partners are the socially elite John H. P. Gould and Henry Sears.

Starts As Collector

He started by collecting rents for an uncle and a few years later was consummating million-dollar deals by telephone. He became famous among realtors for reorganizing the tremendous Astor holdings in New York, adding $5,000,000 to their value.

At 42 he is a millionaire with a penthouse garden that provides him with his only exercise outside of hunting trips to Maine. He is one of the highest gardners in Manhattan.

Zeckendorf, whose family originated in Tucson, Ariz., is committed to city life and spends most of his time dreaming up such items as business centers in Houston, Denver, and Atlanta. Once he bought almost the entire waterfront of Hoboken, N. J.

The distance of airports from big cities is another of his pet concerns. Recently he mildly suggested to Mayor William O'Dwyer that New York might be well advised to build an airplane landing field 12 floors high covering 144 blocks of Manhattan. Cost: $3,000,000,000.

POULTRY BIG BUSINESS

PROVO, Utah (U.P.)—The largest farmer co-operative in Utah, long famed for its "co-ops," is the Utah Poultry and Farmers' Co-operative, which has an annual business of $20,000,000. It is the third largest poultry co-op in the country.

Houston Merchant Challenges City On Rolling Hatboxes

HOUSTON, April 8 (U.P.)—For 40 years Morris Mintz put empty boxes from his men's shop to the edge of the curb to be hauled away by the trash men.

Yesterday, Mintz landed in jail after placing boxes to be hauled away.

Officer E. R. Goodnight charged the 65-year-old Congress avenue merchant with throwing paper on the sidewalk.

Mintz raised a loud protest. He wasn't throwing paper, and besides they were hatboxes. Mintz told his story to everyone at city hall including the mayor's secretary and the city councilmen.

"I was piling up the hatboxes when the wind blew them in the street," Mintz said. "An officer came by and told me to pick them up, and I said I was picking them up.

"Next thing I knew a patrol wagon came by," he added. "Who do you think they were after? Me—Morris Mintz—the merchant who has been on Congress avenue for 40 years."

Mintz' dignity as a merchant was further offended when the officer wouldn't let him ride in the front seat of the patrol wagon.

"Morris Mintz in jail. I have never been in jail before. I was humiliated. I posted $10 bond and my trial comes up April 19," he said. "My son, Sam W. Mintz, a lawyer, will represent me."

Officer Goodnight had a different story. He said Mintz made no effort to pick up the hatboxes which were rolling around Congress avenue. Goodnight said drivers had to stop their cars and get the hatboxes loose from bumpers.

'Counter-Cominform' To Fight Growth Of Communism In Europe Proposed By Dulles

WASHINGTON, April 8 (U.P.)—John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy adviser, was reported today to have proposed that the western powers set up a "counter-cominform" to combat the growth of Communism in Europe.

Dulles was said to have talked over the project recently with Secretary of State George C. Marshall, Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas and other high State department officials. It would be the western reply to the Communist Information bureau recently established in Belgrade under Soviet auspices to foster the Red cause.

Proposal Under Study

Dulles' proposal, now under study by the State department, is understood to follow the general lines of the ones suggested recently by some members of congress.

One project under study in Congress calls for U. S. financial help for non-Communist underground groups in such satellite countries as Romania, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Some congressmen favor similar action in Communist-threatened France and Italy.

Anti-Communist measures of this type have been endorsed by Chairman Styles Bridges (R-NH), of the Senate Appropriations committee and Rep. John D. Lodge (R-Conn), among others.

Lodge proposed a peacetime version of the super-secret Office of Strategic Services. The OSS, during the war, was particularly useful in contacting underground workers and resistance forces behind enemy lines.

Such a program, Lodge said, is necessary now to assure the success of the multi-billion-dollar European Recovery program.

Under the congressional proposal, Marshall would be given a substantial fund not earmarked for any specific purpose. He would be free to use it for such activities as supplying non-Communist political parties with newsprint for their publications, and perhaps even for purchase of arms.

U. S. observers in Italy report that the Communists have large stocks of newsprint and ink for their political papers and posters. But the non-Communist forces, they say, are hard-pressed for these supplies and the shortage has curtailed their propaganda efforts in the current election campaign.

Several senators have expressed the opinion that an underground project would do far more to stop the spread of Communism than the repeated State department protests to Russia.

Bridges said this country should "encourage the underground behind the iron curtain," and should seek to "undermine Communist tyranny in areas already conquered."

Lodge said it is up to the U. S. to adopt effective counter-measures "to neutralize and roll back the subversive minority elements."

Highway Department Workmen Assemble Ferry For $25,000

HOUSTON, April 8 (U.P.) — The State Highway department felt today it was many thousands of dollars ahead as the result of the efforts of its maintenance men.

They built a ferry for $25,000 to relieve the traffic pressure at peak periods on the important cross-channel Highway 146 link between Baytown and La Porte.

Only one ferry was available at the crossing until highway department maintenance men got busy with a quantity of surplus Navy steel barges and heavy duty 150-horsepower engines.

Crewmen assembled the barges, welded them together, installed four engines, added a deck, wheelhouse, guard rails, bumpers, landing aprons, engine covers, controls and they had themselves a ferry.

The auxiliary ferry is 103 feet long, 48 feet wide and carries 22 cars. Had the highway department gone on the open market it probably would have had to pay as much as $250,000 for a ferry of similar size.

A fifteenth century divine recommended that ulcer sufferers wear rings made from solidified quicksilver during the conjunction of the moon with the planet Mercury.

SOVIETS' TOTAL IS HIGH

Communist Nations Get Major Share Of German Reparations

BERLIN, April 8 (AP)—Russia and her satellites have grabbed the lion's share of industrial reparations from the U. S. zone of Germany, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, said in his monthly report today.

The American military governor said the U.S.S.R. and Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland and Albania, have received 63 per cent of the reparations. He based his reckoning in monetary value.

Satellites' Take Listed

Clay said that in the first two years of the reparations program these countries received from American occupation zone factories 74,783,297 marks worth of equipment. The prewar mark was valued at 40 cents.

This was nearly twice as much as was delivered to 12 western Allied nations, which up to March 1 had received equipment with a combined value of 42,412,313 marks.

Russia alone collected about 30 per cent of the total—36,112,245 marks worth.

This is the way he listed value for the satellites: Poland, 8,845,672 marks; Yugoslavia, 22,232,942; Czechoslovakia, 7,003,285; Albania, 588,153.

Biggest receivers among the western nations were France, with 22,546,940 marks worth; Belgium, 4,629,411; Netherlands, 4,335,086; Britain, 2,847,397, and the United States, 174,659. The U. S. share was the smallest of any.

Russia has been getting factory equipment out of western Germany under an advance reparations account agreed to at Potsdam. This account is nearly complete. When it is closed the Russians will get no more until they agree to carry out the Potsdam provisions for Germany's unification, the U. S. has announced.

Under the Potsdam agreement, Russia and Poland were to receive 25 per cent of reparations removed from western Germany in addition to the huge Soviet take from their own eastern occupation zone. There, no limit was set.

Gunman Failed To Keep His Mind On Business In Holdup

INDIANAPOLIS, April 8 (U.P.)—Indianapolis police say no matter how smart a man thinks he is, he is bound to make a mistake when he commits a crime.

They cite the case of William Walden. Walden was held up by a gunman who took $90.

But the victim asked for his wallet back, after the robber got through rifling it. The bandit obliged and the men parted. Then Walden looked at the wallet, to discover that the robber had given him his own by mistake.

The wallet was turned over to police and the thief, whose name and picture were in it, was arrested.

Burial will be conducted in Englewood cemetery under direction of Williams Funeral home of Slaton. Brake was a resident of Slaton for 12 years prior to going to live with his daughter in Leonard.

Survivors include four sons, W. V and J. E. Brake, both of Slaton, W. P. Brake of Amherst and C. K. Brake of Clovis, N. M.; four daughters, Mrs. Dessie Simpson of Leonard, Mrs. Joe Row of Dallas, Mrs. J. B. Long, Abilene, and Mrs. Joe Hill, Clovis, N. M.; 24 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren. One grandson, W. M. Franklin of California, was reared by Blake, the family reported.

Laredo Newspaper Suggests Drafting Mrs. Eisenhower

LAREDO, Tex., April 8 (U.P.) — The Laredo Times suggests editorially that Republicans and Democrats join forces to draft an Eisenhower for the presidency—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, that is.

"It seems as though for the past 30 years we have elected male presidents and then their wives have run both them and their offices," the Times said. ". . . So, let's go at the problem directly and send Mrs. Eisenhower to Washington."

The Times remarked that "with his wife running the show, we could still have General Dwight Eisenhower working, and without pay, in order to keep the country from being thrown into the middle of the greatest disaster since the beginning of civilized government."

TEACHERS LEARN DRIVING

NEW PALTZ, N. Y. (U.P.) — A driver education program for high school teachers opens at New Paltz State Teachers College April 19. The week-long training program will be sponsored by the college and the Automobile Club of New York to train teachers to conduct driving courses in their high schools.

Every Seventh Bale Of Cotton In State Is Destroyed By Insects, Official Claims

DALLAS, April 8 (U.P.)—Insects take every seventh bale of Texas cotton on a year in and year out basis, says Eugene Butler, chairman of the Insect Control section of the Statewide Cotton committee of Texas.

Writing in the current issue of the Cotton Gin and Oil Mill press, Butler said:

"In 1947 the weather whipped cotton insects almost single-handed and it didn't need much help from farmers. But year in and year out, insects take every seventh Texas bale. And a seventh of the crop is only the average toll. In 1946—one of the worst on record for Texas—insects probably took one bale out of four.

Past Year Tops

Texas cotton farmers made a profit last year because of the high price and because they made a good acre yield. And, Butler added, "that good acre yield was largely due to light damage by insects." The year 1947 was the best cotton year for Texas farmers in a quarter of a century.

Butler said that in dollars and cents, the insect loss for the 10-year period 1937-47, was $35,182,000.

"That $35,000,000 plus would have bought a lot of college education for farm children and many other things farms and farm people need. During the same 10-year period, it is estimated that insects annually destroyed 210,043 tons of seed valued at $8,994,660. And that's a lot of money, too. Thus we have a total annual loss of better than $44,000,000."

Control Plans Offered

1. Joint recommendations for the control of cotton insects.
   A. Insecticides.
   B. Cultural.
2. Training farmers to make the most effective use of the recommendations.
3. Surveys to determine the location and extent of insect damage.
4. Organization in the county and community to put the recommendations into effect.

Butler added that "to measure the success of the Texas program, farmers must check their fields before and after applications of poison to determine their effect on the infestations; and they must leave check plots to show the effect of the program on the acre yield."

The egg-plant, probably a native of southern Asia, is closely related to the potato as a member of the nightshade family.

San Antonio Negro Sworn In As Member Of College Board

SAN ANTONIO, April 8. (AP)—G. J. Sutton, negro, declared victor over the incumbent, E. H. Keator by 27 votes, in Saturday's election, today had taken his seat on the San Antonio Union Junior college board.

Sutton was sworn in at a meeting of the board yesterday by James L. M. Miller, assistant Democratic county chairman, after the board officially canvassed returns and declared him elected.

Failure to record Keator's vote on one machine in one polling place made a difference of 36 votes in the final tally, and cut Sutton's lead from 62 to 27.

Order By Army Officer Claimed No Excuse For Soldier's Crime

NUERNBERG, April 8 (U.P.)—An American war crimes court trying 22 Nazi elite guard officers held today that an order by an Army officer is no excuse for a soldier committing a crime.

Judge Michael S. Musmanno of Pittsburgh ruled that "it is a fallacy of widespread consumption that a soldier is required to do everything his superior officer orders him to do."

Hits Nazi Defense

The ruling struck at the heart of one of the key defenses of most of the Nazis tried by war crimes courts. For the most part they insisted they were merely carrying out orders of their superiors.

The defendants in the case were 22 SS officers who carried out the Nazi campaign of extermination of persons regarded by the Nazis as "racially undesirable." Maj. Gen. Otto Ohlendorf and his 21 co-defendants were accused of murdering 1,000,000 persons under the Nazi terror rule.

Judgment in the case will be handed down tomorrow and the convicted defendants, assuming there will be some, will be sentenced Saturday.

All of the SS men fell back on the defense plea that they merely were carrying out orders issued by Adolf Hitler and handed down by Gestapo Chief Henrich Himmler. As soldiers of the Reich, they said, they were bound to obey such orders.

Can't Order Crime

The court held that the obedience of a soldier was not the obedience of an automaton, that a soldier is a "reasoning agent," that he does not respond and cannot be expected to resopnd like a piece of machinery.

"An officer may not demand of a soldier that he commit a crime," Judge Musmanno said. "The soldier is not bound to carry out such an order.

"If that were true, a sergeant could order a corporal to shoot a lieutenant, the lieutenant could order the sergeant to shoot a captain, the captain could order the lieutenant to shoot a colonel, and in each instance the executioner would be absolved of blame."

The test to be applied, he said, is whether the subordinate acted under coercion or whether he himself approved the principle involved in the order.

Each of the defendants knew, the court held, the nature of the Nazi anti-Semetic program, and "thus they could not plead surprise when they were called upon to shoot Jews."

The court held that had the defendants refused to shoot innocent persons, they would not have been seeking to avoid a military obligation but simply would have been asking that they not be made assassins.

Construction On Hereford Radio Station Will Begin

PLAINVIEW, April 8 (Special)—Marshall Formby, former publisher of the Plainview Tribune, has announced here that construction is to be started immediately on radio station KPAN, a 250-watt plant at Hereford, the station to be managed by Formby.

Formby, former county judge in Dickens county, and former state senator from the 30th district, is joined in the project by John Blake of Brownwood, operator of a printing establishment. Both are World war 2 veterans.

Original application called for the station to be located at Canyon, but applicants changed their petition to Hereford. The station will operate from a 270-foot tower, and is expected to be on the air in July, Formby said.

DIESEL STUDY PROMOTED

ITHACA, N. Y. (U.P.)—The College of engineering of Cornell University and the Diesel Engine Manufacturers' Association will conduct a week-long diesel engineering symposium here this summer. The program, scheduled for Aug. 30 to Sept. 4, is intended to promote more effective instruction in diesel engineering and closer relations between colleges and industry.

Seventeen Boys Flee State Reformatory

HELENA, Okla., April 8 (U.P.)—Seventeen boys have escaped from the state training school here in the two days since Superintendent Tom Forsythe resigned, the highway patrol reported today.

Four of the escapees have been captured and returned to the school, but the other 13 are still at large, the patrol said.

Meanwhile, the state board of affairs postponed naming a new successor to Forsythe, whose resignation was forced when the board accused him of "mismanagement." The accusation followed an audit report that the institution's accounts were more than $5,000 short. Forsythe was not accused of taking any of the money.

W. Russell Borgman, board chairman, said several persons are being considered for the $333-a-month job. One prospect, J. W. "Dub" Wheeler, Norman police chief, said he had not applied and would not accept the post if it were offered him.

The patrol said five boys left the school last night, but one was caught by attendants six miles west of Enid.

Four escaped Tuesday night, but three were recaptured by troopers who found them walking on a highway near Carrier, in Garfield county. Eight others disappeared at 1:30 today.

Movement Of House Does Not Interrupt Family's Chores

WAREHAM, Mass., April 8 (U.P.)—Ernest W. Briggs, house mover, is one of those practical New Englanders who believes nothing should interrupt daily chores.

So when the John W. Todd family asked him to move their house to a new location, Briggs decided to maintain their daily regime during the moving operation.

The problem wasn't simple. Though the house actually would be relocated only 90 feet from its original position, a 500-foot trip was involved because the new site was on a higher level.

Finally Briggs hitched up a long cable and a hose that solved the primary problems of electricity and water.

When moving day came, Mrs Todd was able to use her various electrical appliances, including a washing machine, and finish her household duties in time to wave from the kitchen window to neighbors as the house moved slowly down the street.

Documentary records of the English language extend back more than 1,200 years.

Tales Of Treasure Lure Gold Seekers

READING, PA., April 8 (U.P.)—Even "folklore treasure" lures seekers after easy wealth, backers of the Reading-Berks County Bicentennial have found.

Dr. Alfred L. Shoemaker, curator of the Historical Society of Berks County, prepared a series of widely published articles for the bicentennial on old Pennsylvania-Dutch folklore. One told of gold buried by pioneer farmers under barns, in wells and other places, then lost when the whole family passed away without confiding the secret hiding place. Many tales are spun hereabouts about such buried treasure.

Not long after first publication people began to appear throughout the country ransacking deserted buildings and digging under likely marker trees.

'One-Armed Bandits' Taken By Dallas Police After Pay-Off

DALLAS, April 8 (U.P.)—Bandits—the one-armed variety that present a player with a "fruit salad" more often than coin of the realm—went into hiding in Dallas today from slot machine-playing detectives out on the prowl.

Twelve super slot machines, representing $2,000 in capital, were held in the police property room today, awaiting a court order for their destruction. Although none of the machines were equipped with automatic pay-off devices, detectives played the machines until they had winning combinations, received their pay-off over the counter and then made their arrest.

Each machine represented an arrested tavern or cafe operator, police said.

Police said that a flood of the super machines, electrically operated to make things easy, moved into Dallas from other sections of the nation. The machines may be legally operated when played for amusement only.

91-Year-Old Abilene Man Dies In Blaze

ABILENE, April 8 (AP)—William Turner, 91, died about 11 a.m. today battling a blaze that destroyed a two-story frame rooming house until his escape was cut off.

Other occupants, most of them elderly men, were assisted from the blazing building by John Howard Fielde. and Bo'. Darnell, employes at a lumber yard across the street from the hotel.

Flames separated the rescuers from Turner, who has so engrossed in fighting the fire with buckets of water from a bath room that he did not heed shouts that he run to the end of the building so he could be rescued.

Newspaper PM To Continue Publication Another Week

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—The newspaper PM will continue publication for another week, to and including April 16.

Extension of the termination date of the daily paper was announced today by Louis S. Weiss, attorney for owner Marshall Field 3d. Field previously had announced publication would end tomorrow unless a purchaser was found.

Weiss said the extension was arranged at a conference with officials of the newspaper guild of New York to give prospective purchasers more time to complete their proposals.

Officials of the newspaper said within the last 48 hours proposals had been received from persons who had not made inquiry before.

Crippled Veteran Conducts Business From Hospital Bed

FARMINGTON, Mass., April 8 (U.P.)—A 32-year-old former GI who lost the use of both arms and legs in France is conducting an export-import business at Cushing Veterans' Administration hospital with the help of the Red Cross.

Although confined to bed or wheelchair, Press has started negotiations to import French perfumes for reshipment to Latin America and to move Shetland tweeds and other commodities. He does his work by correspondence after 2 p.m. daily when he finishes his hospital treatment.

New Oil Field In Canada Showing Up To Promise

LEDUC, Alta., Apail 8. (AP)—Canada's newest oil field is bubbling up to expectations.

When drillers spudded in the first well of the big Leduc field in November, 1946, they said: "It looks good."

The bits chewed into the ground on Feb. 13, 1947, the well kicked in its first supply.

From then on the drillers and riggers and tool men swarmed over the Leduc. They made it the start of the biggest oil exploration program in Canada's history.

Today there are 53 going wells in the Leduc field, located about 18 miles south of Edmonton in the western province of Alberta.

The 53 wells produce a daily average of 5,800 barrells. But the flow is held to 100 or 150 barrels a day under conservation measures. Canada imports 90 per cent of her oil and is taking no chances.

Estimates of the Leduc reserve run from 100,000,000 to 200,000,000 barrels.

WAA Warns Buyers Of Trailers That Property Almost Scrap

DALLAS, April 8. (AP)—Veterans or others who buy these war surplus house trailers can't say they weren't warned.

Advertising 40 trailers for sale at Houston, the War Assets administration here noted they are in "unusable condition, with roofs and sides caved in, floors rotted and structual members broken out in many places."

"Frankly," the ad continued, "they are literally scrap."

Veterans will get the first chance to bid on the trailers April 26. If any are left, bidding will be open to the public the next day.

New York Father, Son Keep Close Step In Achievements

TROY, N. Y., April 8 (U.P.)—Robert Dennison and Robert Dennison, Jr., have added another joint accomplishment to their "like father, like son" life.

The father received the highest mark in a New York State civil service examination. His son led him in the eligibility list because he is a disabled veteran, while the elder Dennison can claim only veteran's preference.

Both were engineering aides in the state public works department until they resigned to enter Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, where both are seniors.

Marine Vet And Son He Never Met In War To Have 'Reunion'

FORT SAM HOUSTON, April 8 (AP)—The Marine corps' youngest father and son combination, who fought three years in the Pacific and never met, will have a final meeting soon—beside an open grave in the national cemetery here.

Donald A. Hallman, Sr., former Texas newspaper man, will come here for the re-burial of his son, Donald, Jr., who died at the foot of Mt. Surabachi, Iwo Jima, two weeks after his 17th birthday.

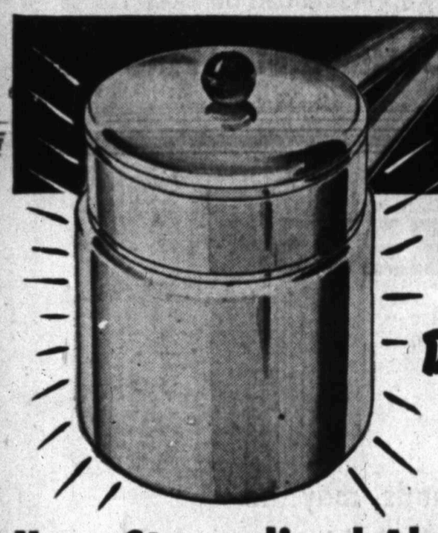

The younger Hallman's body arrived here this week. The date for the re-burial service has not yet been set.

Back in 1942, Hallman senior, then 35, quit his job on the New York Daily News to enlist in the Marines as a combat correspondent. As a master sergeant he landed on Guadalcanal, New Britain, Guam and Peleliu. He lost his left leg at bloody Nose ridge and won the Bronze Star medal.

Late the same year, Donald junior, then 15, quit Austin High school to enlist without his mother's knowledge. He landed with the Fourth Marine division in the Marshall islands. At the age of 17 he joined in the assaults on Saipan and Tinian.

His body was one of 5,000 recently removed from Iwo Jima for reburial in the states.

Also at the graveside will be Donald's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Hallman of Austin, assistant chief clerk of the House of Representatives, and his sister, Mrs. C. M. Dingler, Corpus Christi.

"Cold Facts" about Queen Strawberry for Locker or Home Freezer:

Select firm, ripe perfect berries, red all the way through. Freezing works no magic, so the fruit must be as good as the finished product you want.

Wash a quart or less at a time to avoid bruising. Handle lightly and wash thoroughly and quickly to prevent water soaking. Remove caps last and rinse once more. Drain, one layer deep, on a tray lined with paper toweling or cloths.

Sliced berries shrink less in thawing than whole ones. Slice berries directly into containers—glass jars, tubs with clip lids or boxes with cellophane liners. Slice in a layer of berries, sprinkle with a layer of sugar (about 1-3 to ½ cup to a pint of sliced berries) and repeat until container is filled to within 1 inch of top, shaking down to fill spaces.

For glass or tubs, wipe top and sides of containers and adjust lids. For cellophane liners, use both hands to grasp the cellophane at the top of berries and to press out the air all the way to the top. Fold edges over and seal by pressing with a warm iron, not a hot one. Place containers in home freezer at once. If they go to the locker, place in the refrigerator immediately and chill until all are finished.

APPLE PIE IN TECHNICOLOR

Mrs. J. W. Stoltie, McAlester, Okla., takes the cake ($10) with her blushing apple pie:

Add new color and taste to your favorite apple pie by sprinkling the fruit with ¼ cup cinnamon "red hots" before putting the top crust into place. They dissolve as the pie bakes, spreading their flavor throughout the filling.

Try your Postal Potluck. Mrs. Tucker pays $10 for each recipe, menu and home help printed. Send yours to Mrs. Tucker's Homemakers' Department, Sherman, Texas.

Now that you've frozen the strawberries . . . the best is yet to come—Strawberry Shortcake made with Mrs. Tucker's SMOOTH, CREAMY Shortening!

Television-Telescope Pictures Of Moon Shown For First Time

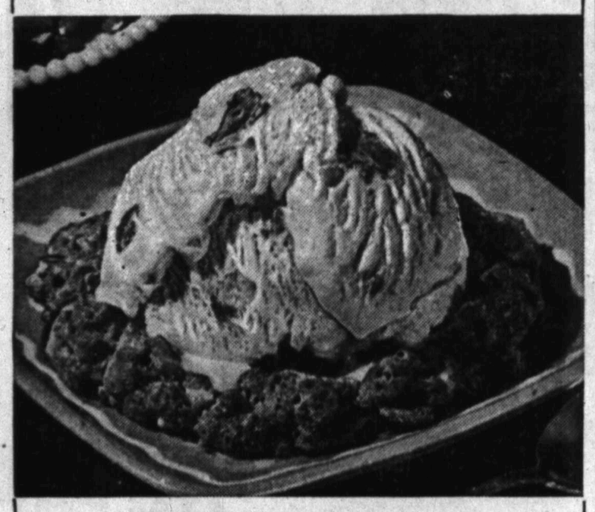

PHILADELPHIA, April 8 (U.P.)—The first of a series of television-telescope pictures of the moon has been broadcast from Franklin Institute.

Believed to be the first attempt to televise celestial bodies, the institute reported that a 100-power enlargement of the moon was broadcast over the National Broadcasting System's television network for 30 seconds.

The broadcast was performed by attaching an ordinary television camera to the institute's huge telescope. The enlargement was confined to 100-power so that the entire moon would appear in the picture.

Detailed pictures of portions of the moon will be televised in later broadcasts, the institute said.

Texas Horticulturist Loaned To American Greek Aid Mission

COLLEGE STATION, April 8. (U.P.)—Ernest Mortensen, horticulturist at Winter Haven for the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, has been loaned for the next three months to the American Mission for Aid to Greece.

Mortensen will assist the Greek government in fruit and truck crop training. This has been his specialty at the Winter Haven substation since 1929. After a few days in Washington, Mortensen will fly to Greece.

Early Phone Which Was Rival To Bell's Goes Into Museum

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 8 (U.P.)—An original telephone whose inventor lost a U. S. Supreme court patent fight with Alexander Graham Bell has been given to the Historical society of Dauphin county.

The telephone was donated by M. W. Jacobs, Jr., son of the attorney who represented Daniel Drawbaugh, the inventor.

Drawbaugh charged Bell with infringement of patent rights and carried the case to the Supreme court. The ruling was in favor of Bell.

Early Civilization Pre-Dating Christ Is Found In Panama

WASHINGTON, April 8 (U.P.)—Archaeologists believe they have found "an extremely early and primitive living site" in Panama.

If advance indications are borne out, the National Geographic Society reported, the site was developed well before the birth of Christ.

It appears to be "the first really early habitation area ever found in Central America." It may even be older than ancient sites discovered in recent years in Mexico.

Efforts to date the Panama habitation have been inconclusive so far. The earliest site thus far found in Mexico, in Chiapas state, was definitely pre-Christian.

Expedition Searching

Geological evidence indicates that human beings lived in Central American villages anywhere from 2,000 to 7,000 years ago.

A National Geographic-Smithsonian Institution expedition is making explorations in Panama near Parita, about 160 miles southwest of the Canal Zone.

In addition to the pre-Christian era site, the expedition has "uncovered two notable 'firsts'," the society said.

"It's scientists have found the first urn burials ever to be unearthed between Ecuador and the Southeastern United States," the National Geographic said. "They also have discovered the first group of man-made mounds to be located in Panama."

Rare Objects Found

Most of the objects found in those areas thus far "are believed to belong to the two centuries preceding the Spanish conquest of this area." They included, red, black, white and purple pottery of "one of the most sophisticated and attractive types made in aboriginal America."

It apparently was made in the 14th and 15th centuries.

In one burial urn the archaeologists made what the society called "an unusual find."

109 Surplus Army Chapels Are Distributed To Texas Groups

DALLAS, April 8 (U.P.)—Thirty-six military installations scattered throughout Texas have contributed surplus Army chapels to 109 religious groups, schools and veterans organizations throughout the state, the War Assets administration reveals.

The chapels, to be used for houses of worship, places of religious instruction or shrines or memorials to World War II dead, brought from $271 to $3,100 each, the WAA disclosed.

Abilene and Dallas received the largest shares, each getting six of the wartime chapels. Several cities had two or more organizations awarded the special structures.

Application Rush For 'Atomic' Trade Mark Has Dwindled Away

WASHINGTON, April 8 (U.P.)—Bombardment of the trade mark office has virtually ceased, Department of Commerce officials report.

Besieged since Hiroshima with applications requesting registration of trade marks using the word "atomic," the harried officials said they were glad the demands had "run their course."

Of 180 "atomic" applications, 54 have been registered, ranging from toys to medicines and horseshoes.

Officials said "atomic" applications were the most popular and confusing in their memory but added that "Shangri-la" did well and "Flying Saucers" hit their applications records soon after they were headlined.

East Texas State President Announces Building Plan

COMMERCE, Texas, April 8. (U.P.)—President James Gee of East Texas State Teachers' college has announced plans for an immediate expansion program at the school.

The building program, scheduled to proceed simultaneously with construction of a student union building, a cafeteria and 10 dormitory-apartment units for veterans, will include a dormitory for agricultural students conducting projects on the East Texas State experimental farm.

Presidential Primary Law In Texas Gains Solons' Backing

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 8—A movement to establish Texas as the 19th state with a presidential primary law is expected to see light in the 51st legislature next year.

Thirty legislators have asked Gov. Beauford H. Jester to call a special session of the Legislature for the express purpose of setting up a preferential primary law.

But regardless of what action is taken now, the next regular session is expected to face the issue.

Though the lawmakers gave no hint in their petition of the type of primary law they desired, it would in one form or another involve giving the people a voice in the selection of presidential candidates.

At one time, in 1915, a total of 34 states had some form of presidential primary.

However, the movement ground almost to a halt in 1916, and since then only two states have adopted the plan. They are Alabama and Arkansas. Eight states which once had preferential primaries have scrapped the idea.

Primary Forces Described

Of the 18 states which now have the law, it is optional in four, being left up to the state executive committee. Those states are Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Michigan.

The way the voters express their preference for a presidential candidate in the other 14 states takes a variety of forms.

The delegates from those states to a national party convention are bound to abide by the decision of the people.

For instance, a New Hampshire voter when he looks over several lists of delegates to the national convention will find after each candidate for delegate's name these words:

In four states, the people actually may express a preference for the presidential nomination twice—in voting for a nominee and in voting for a pledged delegate.

Wilson Supported Idea

That system operates in New Jersey, Oregon and Wisconsin.

In Ohio delegate candidates are required to indicate their first and second choice for the presidential nomination from their party. But sometimes the field may be limited because no preference vote may be expressed in that state without written consent of the candidate for presidential nomination.

The other states which have presidential primaries in one manner or another are New York, Maryland, Arkansas, Illinois, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

President Wilson would have made the national party convention simply a gathering of party leaders and nominees to rubber-stamp the verdict of the primaries and set up a platform.

The law was passed in 1913 and thrown out by the Texas Supreme court in 1916. The court declared that the expenses of the presidential primary were not incurred "for the public purpose."

One of them involves the reason why the idea died in Texas 32 years ago. It cost too much. The State Supreme court ruled that the state couldn't pay the cost, and apparently the party wouldn't.

The Republican pre-convention campaign of 1920, with work in various presidential primary states, cost Leonard Wood $1,773,303. That was $450,000 more than the entire Democratic party campaign fund for that year.

And the nomination that year went to Warren G. Harding who had presented his name in only three presidential primary states and carried only his home state of Ohio. He went on to win the presidency.

Primaries are held at different times in various states, and the results in one state often have an undue influence on the voting in other states.

Some of the strongest candidates may not enter the primaries in certain states, leaving the field to weaker candidates.

Plans Complete For Cotton Meet Here Saturday

Hundreds Of Farmers, Officials Expected To Attend Conference

Final plans were being completed here today for the South Plains cotton outlook meeting to be held at the Palace theater Saturday, when several hundred farmers and representatives of the cotton trade as a whole are expected.

The meeting starts at 10 o'clock, with J. D. Prewit, vice-director and state agent of the extension service, and chairman of the Cotton Production committee of the Statewide Cotton Committee of Texas, presiding.

GEO. A. SIMMONS

Good Crowd Seen

The session is one of several in different parts of the state, sponsored by the Cotton Production committee in the interest of cotton improvement.

Geo. A. Simmons, of the Lubbock Cotton Oil company, is chairman of the planning committee for the meeting here, and said he expected the theater would be filled to capacity.

Other members of the local committee are W. N. Williamson, district agent of the extension service; Zane Brewer and Thomas Neely, regional directors for vocational agriculture for veterans in the Lubbock area; W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, president of the Plains Ginners association; O. T. Ryan, area supervisor for vocational agriculture teachers; and J. N. Caviness of the cotton oil mill staff.

Jones To Speak

Principal speaker at the session will be Don. L Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock experiment station, who has probably done more research on cotton production and harvesting than any othe. individual in the Southwest. Jones is to give some facts and figures on Plains cotton, such as expansion of the industry, cultivation methods, types of cotton, staple lengths, and production costs.

Other speakers include C. B. Spencer, Dallas, agricultural director of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association, who is to speak on "Cotton, What It Means to West Texas;" and Fortenberry, who is to discuss "The Outlook for Cotton in 1948 from the Farmer's Viewpoint."

The meeting is the third similar session in the state, with others planned. Sinton was host to a similar session on March 19, and Taylor was site of the other on March 22. Others are being arranged for Greenville and Vernon.

Dr. Howze To Head Texas Baptist Group

HOUSTON, April 8 (AP)—Dr W. L. Howze of Fort Worth was reelected president of the Texas Baptist Sunday School convention today.

Dr. Howze is professor of theology at Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth.

Dr. Marshall Craig, pastor of the Gaston Avenue Baptist church, Dallas, delivered the closing sermon.

At a training workers' banquet last night wrist watches were presented to Dr. G. S. Hopkins, retiring executive secretary of the State Sunday School board, and Mrs. Hopkins.

Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor university, spoke at the banquet, attended by 1,000 workers.

Production Credit Leaders Are Named At Annual Meeting Here

The 14th annual meeting of the Lubbock Production Credit association was conducted Thursday in the Merchants' building on the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds, with more than 1,000 persons attending from nine South Plains counties.

The day's program was highlighted by an address by W. J. McNally of Houston, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank, annual election of officers and a big barbecue at noon.

Davis Is Reelected

E. R. Davis of Acuff was reelected president of the association for the fourteenth year. A. B. Roberts of the Oklahoma Flat community in Hockley county was named a director, succeeding A. M. Riley. Other directors were re-elected. They are: C. E. Hicks, Meadow, vice president for the ninth year; E. L. Carlisle, Ralls, and Fred McGinty, Tahoka.

Progress of the association in the 14 years was revealed in the secretary's report given by Derrell Henry, assistant secretary-treasurer, who appeared on the program in the absence of Lee York, secretary-treasurer, who is ill in a hospital. Production Credit corporation capital has decreased from $300,000 to $5,000 since 1934 and the amount of loans made from $201,189 in that year to $3,769,000 last year.

Leland Campbell of Houston, assistant to the vice president of the Production Credit corporation, also spoke on the morning program, which was called to order by President Davis at 10 o'clock.

Music was given by a Lynn county group during the program. The barbecue was prepared and served in the new livestock judging barn by Director Fred McGinty of Tahoka.

Farmers and their wives attended the meeting from Lubbock, Hockley, Lynn, Terry, Crosby, Lamb, Dawson, Garza, and Gaines counties.

City Is On New 'Skyway' Route

Announcement of official designation of a new federal "skyway," No. 17, through Lubbock was received by the chamber of commerce from the Civil Aeronautics administration in Washington Thursday.

The skyway, which is for private and non-scheduled flights, extends from Niagara Falls, N. Y., to El Paso, connecting there with Skyway 34 to San Diego, Calif.

The route consists of a 40-mile strip centered on Lubbock along which air marks visible from an altitude of 1,000 feet are to be placed for the guidance of air traffic.

Skyway 17 is routed through New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Negotiations are in progress with the Canadian government to extend it from Niagara Falls to Quebec via Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, the chamber of commerce was advised.

Dedication ceremonies at points along the route are scheduled April 24, the CAA said. The most elaborate will be in Oklahoma City in connection with a two-day air show in connection with the dedication of the CAA Aeronautical Center and International school. F. B. Lee, acting CAA administrator, is scheduled to be the principal speaker.

Snyder Sees Return To Deficit Spending

EL PASO, April 8. (AP)—A nation running into debt within the coming year was forecast in El Paso Thursday by Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, who flew here to address a Southwest Banker conference.

"Although we will have a national surplus of more than seven billion dollars for the year ending June 30, there will be deficit financing within the following 12 months," Snyder said. He has consistently opposed the income tax reduction and indicated Thursday he would support restoring limited surplus profits taxes.

Snyder, further said he had saw no immediate prospects for a recession in this country.

With our present backlog of orders, our short supply in many fields and the need of foreign countries, there certainly is nothing in sight now to indicate a recession, he said.

A corrective adjustment of high profits made by some businesses is possible, he added.

SECOND TRIAL EVIDENCE HEARD

Judge Orders Briefs Filed In Olton Courthouse Title Case

Judge G. V. Pardue of the 99th Judicial district of Lubbock county, sitting as special judge by appointment of the administrative judicial district, Thursday afternoon asked counsel on both sides to prepare briefs for submission to him by April 26, after hearing evidence in the second trial of G. T. Sides against Lamb county, in Littlefield.

The action, a trespass to try title as well as for damages caused, grew out of the removal of the Lamb county seat March 20, 1946, by an election, from Olton to Littlefield.

Claims Property Reverted

Sides claims to have bought block 65 of the Original Town of Olton under quitclaim deed of W. P. Soash, to whom, he maintains, the property reverted, together with a $25,000 two-story building that had been used as the courthouse, after the county "abandoned" the property. The dedication, he claimed, provided that the disputed property should revert to Soash, the original dedicator, if it ever ceased to be used for courthouse purposes.

Two intervenors, however, entered the suit, each seeking to prove that he, not Sides or Lamb county or the other intervenor is entitled to ownership by earlier deeds from Soash. They are Charles E. Keener and Margaret Covert Long, who is joined pro forma by her husband C. D. Long.

Filed Cross Action

Sides pleaded not guilty of wrongs and trespasses charged, denied generally the allegations in petitions in intervention, and filed a cross-action against the intervenors. In it, he asked for title and possession, a writ of restitution, for rents, damages and costs of the suit.

Sides and the intervenors each set up damages of $7,500 and alleged reasonable annual rental value of the land and premises at $1,200.

Keener seeks title and possession under a chain of title tracing from Soash to Charles M. Sarber, who, he alleges, became fee simple owner of an undivided one-third right to block 65. Sarber died and left the property to his wife, who died in 1944, leaving Keener as only heir at law, Keener pleads.

Mrs. Long claims Soash and his wife, Minnie Soash, deeded the disputed block to John R. Jones, who quitclaimed, to the late Charles C. Covert an undivided one-third interest in block 65. She is Covert's daughter.

Each Claims Title Clouded

Each intervenor says claims of the plaintiff, defendant and other intervenor cloud his title and that the same should be removed; ask judgment for title and possession; for writ of restitution and for rents, damages and costs of the suit.

At a former trial of the case, Lamb county was winner of judg-

Foot, Mouth Disease Research Legislation Approved By House

WASHINGTON, April 8 (U.P.) — The House today approved legislation to permit the Agriculture department to establish a research center to seek possible cures for foot and mouth disease.

The measure, approved by a voice vote, now goes to a conference committee to work out differences between the House and Senate bills.

House approval came after Chairman Clifford R. Hope, R., Kan., of the House Agriculture committee warned that presence of the disease in Mexico is a constant threat to this country's cattle herds and meat supply.

Island Laboratory Proposed

Before approving the bill, the House approved an amendment by Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, R., N. Y., to prevent construction of the proposed laboratory on any site connected to the United States mainland.

The Agriculture committee, because of the highly infectious nature of the disease, had ordered the center located on an offshore island.

Hope said Agriculture department experts felt the "tip end" of Long Island was the best location for the center. He said the area has no large livestock population, reducing chances of the disease spreading.

Long Fight Seen

The House voted down amendments to require the consent of the governor before the center could be located in any state and to require the offshore island finally selected to be at least a half-mile from the U. S. mainland.

A committee report on the bill said it is now apparent that the Mexican epidemic cannot be stamped out in the foreseeable future. Strict quarantine and other measures, it said, are necessary to keep the disease out of this country. The outbreak now is about 300 miles from the Texas border at its closest point.

The bill also would permit the government to hire up to five research experts at salaries ranging up to $15,000. The present salary ceiling is $10,000 a year.

Spike Jones Admits He Would like To Direct Symphony

By CHARLES H. HANSON
United Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, April 8. — Music-mauler Spike Jones confessed today that his fondest dream is to conduct a full symphony orchestra.

Jones, who has been committing genial murder on popular tunes for years said he is tired of wrecking havoc among the composers. He wants to thrust his lantern jaw over a dignified music rack instead of washboards and cow bells.

"I'm serious," he explained. "I'd conduct a full concert of heavy music like Bach and Sibelious, with some De Bussy for variety."

Spike's unorthodox music skyrocketed to fame before the war with his recording of "Der Fuehrer's Face," complete with Bronx cheer. Then he began minting money with his versions of "Cocktails For Two," "Chloe," and "The Glow Worm."

Not Difficult Job

Jones is confident that with his training there's nothing to conducting a symphony. During his "concerts" he has to worry about live pigs squealing out of a chute at the right time, doves escaping from the vocalist's hair on cue, and pigeons falling from the sky.

In the meantime he rides herd on his "City Slickers" while slamming out a vigorous accompaniment on battered tin pans and horns.

"But in a symphony," he said, "it's just notes you have to worry about."

Spike, who terms himself the "dandruff in long-haired music," dreams of striding to the conductor's stand in impeccable tails instead of his blinding plaid suit.

Program Is Described

He mounts the podium, casts an expert eye over the hundred-or-so piece orchestra, and taps sharply on the stand with his baton. The well-described musicians snap to attention.

He raises his baton, pauses, and the first rich chords of melody float out over the audience.

No guns, no kitchen sinks, no ear-splitting explosions. Only the roar of the tympani and the brilliant crash of the cymbals blending with the genile strings.

"Of course," the would-be conductor added, "the intermission would have to be long, so I could get my blood back to my face."

But with or without long-haired music, conservatism already has invaded the City Slickers' repertoire. Once the Jones genius made up with a particularly felonious assault of Cole Porter's "Night And Day."

"It was too brutal," he sighed. "We just didn't have the heart to do it."

Washington State Seeks To Salvage Its Unmined Coal

SEATTLE, April 8. (U.P.) — Research scientists at the University of Washington are trying to find out whether the state's estimated 60,000,000,000 tons of unmined coal are commercially usable in the form of gas.

Ralph W. Moulton, associate professor of chemistry in charge of the experiments, said it is possible that underground gas plants may be feasible. Under such a plan, steam and oxygen would be piped directly to the seams of coal. By partial combustion underground, an enriched "water gas" would be produced which would be let out of the mine in other pipes.

Moulton said the process has been tried in Russia and by the United States Bureau of Mines in Georgia, on an experimental basis.

Moulton said another possibility would be the mining of the coal and its treatment with steam and oxygen at a plant close to the mine mouth.

Former Solon Near Death After Attack

JOLIET, Ill., April 8 (AP)—A former state legislator, publisher of a newspaper with outspoken political views, was reported near death today from a vicious beating.

William R. McCabe, 65, one-time Will county state's attorney, was found unconscious last night on a road near his farm home two miles east of Lockport. His skull was fractured. Two legs and one arm were broken.

"Well, they finally got me," were McCabe's first words on regaining consciousness.

He did not elaborate on who "they" might be. Miss Amelia Zelko, his secretary for 18 years and first person to speak with the injured man, said he had been fighting editorially what he considered a corrupt political setup in the county since 1936.

McCabe, publisher of the weekly "Spectator," is a candidate for a committeeman of Joliet's 46th precinct. He is seeking to unseat the incumbent, Alfred E. Schupp, long a political foe.

UTAH HAS MONEY IN BANK

SALT LAKE CITY (U.P.)—Bank assets in Utah at the beginning of 1948 totaled $592,974,543, an all-time high. State Bank Commissioner J. Melvin Knapp reported that the assets showed a gain of more than $12,000,000 during 1947.

Wellesley Girls Earn Money Through 'Vil-Toting' Jobs

WELLESLEY, Mass., April 8 (U.P.) —To pick up spending money, students at Wellesley College have started a "vil-toting" service.

The name is a contraction of "village" and "toting," which merely means running errands

Vil-toters charge 25 cents a trip from the college to the shopping center, whether they bring back a package of cigarettes or an armload of groceries.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills. Adv

Opposition To Many Of HST's Proposals Is Claimed Unfair

By PETER EDSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 8 (NEA)—This beating that President Harry S. Truman gets is really something. But when you add up the crimes of which he is accused, they amount to simply this:

He has been opposed to a tax cut all along because he believes: (1) That the national debt should be reduced while national income is high. (2) That national defense is going to cost a lot more money which should come out of taxes, not from borrowing.

People who object to this policy are in a funny position. They used to criticize Roosevelt because he ran up the debt. Now they criticize Truman because he wants to pay it off as fast as posible.

The President thinks there ought to be a federal law against lynching people. He thinks the poll tax should be abolished as a requirement for voting in federal elections. Only seven of the 48 states still have poll taxes.

The President thinks there should be a Permanent Fair Employment Practices commission to prevent "unfair" discrimination. Not all discrimination—just "unfair" discrimination. He thinks Jim Crow should be eliminated on interstate transportation. He doesn't say on local buses and street cars—just those which cross state lines.

Other Proposals Opposed

For these four and six more general civil rights proposals like admitting Hawaii and Alaska to statehood, giving District of Columbia citizens the right to vote and admitting Orientals to citizenship in this great "melting pot" country that is now trying to save the rest of the world for democracy, the President is threatened by revolt from within his own party.

Truman's proposals for UMT and a temporary draft law to build up the armed forces and reserves are criticized with about the same degree of consistency. The President is panned by his opponents because he didn't ask for more air power. In any defense program, however, the first requirement is man power. There isn't any use ordering more planes or tanks or guns unless there is trained manpower to run them.

The President has now announced that he will send a special message to Congress on military preparedness. He has been criticized because he has proposed only economic aid for Western Europe—not military aid.

If the President now calls for a costly international rearmament program and it goes through along with economic aid, an additional strain will be put on U. S. resources of foods, raw materials and manufacturing capacity. Under such increased demand prices are apt to be forced still higher. Last November the President asked for authority to put emergency controls on prices where needed. His opposition said he wanted to set up a police state. His program has got no place. He has been lambasted all over the lot—for wanting to prevent further inflation.

Foreign Policy Under Fire

The President is also taking a shellacking on foreign policy, particularly on Palestine. There are plenty of reasons why the original Palestine policy should not have been adopted. Partition has never worked. It took guts to admit this policy wasn't working and that a mistake had been made. But is there any reason why a foreign policy shouldn't be abandoned if it isn't working?

While the Marshall Plan was criticized because it asked for too much aid, Truman's China policy was criticized because it didn't ask for enough.

There has admittedly been some confusion on just what American policy towards China has been or is. When General Marshall went to China as ambassador, it was to work for a coalition of Nationalists and Communists. When he came back as secretary of state it was with the feeling that coalition wouldn't work.

This position has now been clarified by statements from the President and Secretary Marshall. The U. S. does not favor the inclusion of Communists in the Chinese government. Whether they are included is for the Chinese government to decide.

All these shifts—if that's what they are—are criticized as the vacillating Truman foreign policy. But what is a man to do if he has made a mistake? Keep on making it? Or admit that he has been wrong and then try something different?

Harry Truman has his faults, as who hasn't? But when you add up the things for which he is now criticized the most, it's a little difficult to see how he deserves all the particular punishment now being heaped upon him.

Railroad Foreman Has Cozy Home In Mobile Box Cars

DALLAS, April 8 (U.P.)—The M. L. Harrell home has been moved more times than the former GI can remember but he and his wife enjoy the constant change of scenery.

Harrell is a road maintenance foreman for the Southern Pacific railroad. He has turned two box cars into a cozy home. They have traveled at least 5,000 miles over Southern Pacific lines since he took the job.

The Harrells have two small children.

They have electricity, plenty of water and kerosene stoves. "We have a nice little home," Mrs. Harrell said. "Our two box cars are so closely joined that we really have a four-room house."

When the Harrells want to move, they let a freight train conductor know. He ties their cars to a train and it's on to the next town.

German Youngster Longs For Home On Range, Cowboy Suit

ABILENE, April 8, (U.P.)—A letter addressed to "The Cowboy Band, State Texas, North America," has been received by Marion B. McClure, director of the Hardin-Simmons musicians. The letter came from Elbestrasse, Germany, and was written by a 12-year-old boy, Wolfgang Dauner.

Young Dauner "begs my worthy friends to send me a cowboy suit." McClure said he did not know how Wolfgang had learned about the cowboy band.

The request for a cowboy suit was written in German, necessitating a translation of the letter by Dr. Otto G. Watts, head of the chemistry department of the university.

The letter follows:

Dear Cowboy,

It has been my wish for a long time to be a cowboy. As there has been no possibility for me to come to America, I beg my worthy friends to send me a cowboy suit. I would be thankful to you for it. I am now 12 years old. If I had an opportunity, I would in the next week become a cowboy in Texas or Mexico.

Snaggle-Tooth Burglar Is Tracped By Bite Of Salami

EAST MILLINOCKET, Me., April 8 (U.P.)—Police Chief Edward Sheehan has a memory like a bear-trap. He looks at a criminal, soaks up the man's characteristics, and once he gets them he holds on.

Investigating the theft of salami at the grocery store of Dominique Moscone, Sheehan noticed the discarded butt of the sausage. The salami had been nibbled by a man with a broken tooth.

"Reckon that would be Wallace Tapley," Sheehan mused. "Recollect he's got a broken tooth would fit that bite just right."

IMPORTANT IMPORT FOR LITTLE GIRLS—This Czechoslovakian doll was brought to America by Josef Suchanek, secretary-general of the Czech Junior Red Cross, and given to the American Junior Red Cross. Its elaborate bridal costume excites the admiration of Phyllis Ann Wilbur, 8, of Fairfax, Va., and Diane Lee Forrest, 6, of Falls Church, Va.

The revenue system of the U. S. government is primarily based on six taxes: personal income, corporation income, liquor, tobacco, estates, and employment.

High School To Elect Officers

Senior High school students will elect student body officers for the school year opening next September in an assembly at 11:20 o'clock this morning at the school.

Voting will be by secret ballot. The list of candidates was approved Thursday morning by the student council.

Nominations Given

Those nominated were: Charles Galey and Jack King, for president; J. C. Chambers and Rossi Stiles, for vice president, and Kara Sam Dunn and Nancy Davis, for secretary.

Candidates for president and secretary are juniors and those for vice president, sophomores, as required by the student constitution. "C" average and attendance in Senior High school for at least one semester preceding the election also are required.

Each student had opportunity in preferential balloting to name one student as suggested candidate for each of the three offices. Senior members of the student council, meeting as a nominating committee, chose the list of candidates, considering those receiving the largest number of votes. The entire student council, meeting this morning, approved the list.

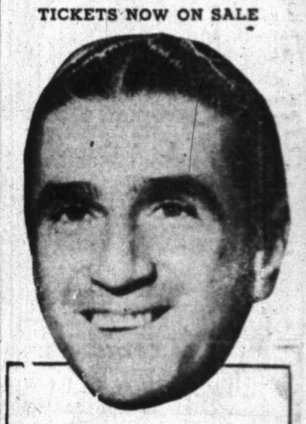

Candidates chose campaign managers, as follows: Jack Alderson, campaign manager for Charles Galey; Jerry Nislar and Dick Schmidt, for Jack King; Bert Nelson, for J. C. Chambers; Clarence Laws, for Rossi Stiles; Shelley Furr, for Kara Sam Dunn, and Chloe T. Dawson, for Nancy Davis.

Murder In The Air

BRITISH acceptance as "satisfactory" the Russian reply to protests following the air crash over Berlin Monday, cannot obscure the fact that the tragedy was wholly inexcusable and entirely unnecessary.

The facts in the case apparently are unquestioned. A Russian fighter plane "buzzed" a British transport—as Russian craft apparently have made a practice of doing lately. The fighter plane got out of control—as is likely to happen any time a plane is used for "buzzing." It crashed into the transport, killing the 14 persons aboard, as well as the Russian fighter pilot.

British authorities did not see fit to release the text of the Russian reply to protests. The public has no way of knowing what excuse, if any, was offered for the tragedy. The secrecy suggested the reply may not have been as "satisfactory" as British authorities pretended.

Subsequent events tend to confirm this supposition. If the Russians ever acknowledged any fault in the tragedy, which is doubtful, they now try brazenly to shift responsibility to the victim. Instead of giving any assurance they will put a stop to buzzing practices, they hint strongly of an intent to continue their deadly dangerous harassment of British and American planes which fly to Berlin.

If they do that, Britain and the U. S. apparently will have to choose between running out of Berlin, which they give no indication of doing, or of providing fighter escorts prepared for battle for transports sent into the danger zone.

The explosive dangers attending the use of escorts cannot and should not be minimized. It might lead to anything. But such a risk would be more honorable, and no more dangerous to peace, than to stand idly by while Russians commit deliberate murder in the air. The worst it could do would be to hasten the hostilities which the Russians would prove, by their actions, they are determined to have.

Be On The Qui Vive!

RECENT assurances doubtless can be accepted at face value that the Texas Water Conservation association will consult people above the Caprock in drafting revisions of state water control laws for submission to the regular session of the Legislature in January.

But the assurances do not mean that residents of the South and High Plains, or their legislative representation, should be less vigilant in respect to their own interests. They must do their own watching if they are to have the best chance of obtaining water laws of the type they want or, of more importance, of defeating those to which they are opposed.

If they are not vigilant, they will have themselves mostly to blame if legislation harmful to the area should get through the Legislature.

As Long As I Live

(THE STORY: Terror-stricken Ann Bancroft is convinced someone in her own household is trying to murder her and make it appear an accident. The household includes her husband Rush, a bacteriologist; Gay, Rush's attractive young lab assistant; Laurie, Ann's headstrong 19-year-old sister; Tommy, Laurie's fiance; and Rinda, Ann's old friend and houseguest. Ann has just narrowly escaped asphyxiation from the gas fireplace in her room during the night, thanks to Rinda. Next day she tries to get Rinda to tell her about it. But Rinda hedges.)

XIV

"I WONDER what woke you up,"

"It's usually so quiet out here in the country. Except for the crickets."

Rinda took off her gloves, opened her purse and got out cigarets. She lighted one, inhaled slowly, deliberately.

She's stalling! Ann thought, frantically. She wants to tell me and she doesn't want to. She's all mixed up. I've got to steer her—"Oh, probably nothing at all," Rinda said. "Maybe a night bird. If I hadn't got so wide awake I wouldn't have even thought about it. And then, of course, when I heard—" She stopped abruptly, her words hung in mid-air.

"When you heard . . . ?" Ann said gently.

"Ann, look darling, I didn't hear anything. Really." She looked at Ann earnestly. "Not a thing that amounted to anything."

"Don't you think." Ann said, still in the same gentle voice, "that you might let me be the judge of that?"

Rinda looked totally bewildered.

"Judge?" she said.

Ann took a deep breath.

"Look, Rinda, you may think I'm having mental aberrations, if you want to. You've known me fo a long time and better, perhaps, than anyone except Rush. I—"

She stopped, quite suddenly. The words were there, on the tip of her tongue, all of them; they'd formed sentences of their own without her volition. Do you think I'm a fool? they cried; do you think I'm crazy enough to go to sleep with that fireplace on? Do you think I don't care whether I live or die?

Rinda leaned forward and patted Ann's knee. Her face was anxious. "Now don't get all excited," she said. "I'll tell you. In fact, if I didn't tell you it would worry me. Because I think you should know." Her words came fast now, as though what she had to say was distasteful and she wanted to get them over. "I told you I couldn't sleep. I had a cigaret. It was late—after 1 o'clock — and I heard someone out in the hall. You'd said the maids didn't come home on Wednesday night and these sounds were—almost furtive. At least they sounded that way to me.

"So I went to see who it was. Not that I'm brave—if he'd said 'boo' I'd've fainted." She stopped and tossed her cigaret over the railing; it fell onto the grass and lay there, smoldering, a thin spiral of smoke weaving skyward.

"If who had said boo?"

Rinda said reluctantly: "Tommy."

"Tommy?" Ann knew her face and voice were blank; she had to get better control of herself.

"It was Tommy and he was trying had not to be heard. When I realized why—" She stopped again and Ann wanted to scream at her.

"If he weren't going to marry Laurie . . . " Rinda went on still reluctantly. "He had a bottle of whisky, Ann. He tried to hide it from me but I saw it."

THE porch was quiet. The summer day droned on. And Rinda waited for Ann to say something.

So she said: "It's all right, Rinda. You haven't told me anything I don't know. Rush and I have worried about Tommy's drinking ever since he came here."

Rinda looked relieved.

"We keep telling ourselves that it's a phase—readjustment—that his nerves are shot—"

"Social drinking is one thing," Rinda said slowly. "But there's something sort of—well, menacing—about sneaking a bottle to your bedroom."

"There certainly is. And I feel so responsible for Laurie. As though I had to be her mother and father—her whole family, all rolled into one. I am her guardian." She sighed. "It becomes a heavier responsibility every day. And then there's the will."

Rinda waited for Ann to go on.

"Laurie was 14 when Dad died. I was almost 24. Dad realized how different we were. It's odd that sisters, brought up in the same family, with the same surroundings and background, the same parents, can be so different, isn't it?"

"Odd maybe but certainly not unheard of. You do look alike."

Ann moved impatiently.

"I don't mean looks. I mean mannerisms. Habits. I'm neat—Laurie's careless— Well, the way things are set up Laurie comes into some money when she's 21 but not the bulk of it until she's 30—unless she marries."

"Which she will. Well, what's so difficult about that?"

"Nothing if that were all. But there's a catch to it. If Laurie decides to marry someone of whom I disapprove I can control her money until she's 30."

Rinda was aghast.

"That—why, Ann, that's mid-Victorian! You wouldn't—" and Ann said slowly, "Rinda, I didn't think I'd ever lift a finger to interfere with Laurie's happiness. Rush and I talked about it a lot and we were in complete accord about the will's being silly.

"And then Laurie decided to marry Tommy."

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

SPRING, as you know, started early this year—on March 20th.

But did you really have to look at your calendar to know that Spring has come?

Is Spring a matter of calendar and weather, or a state of mind?

BRANDEIS

When Spring arrived the snow was still on our ground. But we knew it was here. We had felt it coming for days and days.

Spring was in the air—and in our hearts.

When Spring is on the way we get restless. We can't sit still. We lose our interest in radio and in serious reading.

We go to the window. We step outside. We take little walks and come back into the house with muddy shoes. We look at road maps and make sure that the car is in good running order.

We feel jittery and fluttery and even if we are no longer the proverbial young men whose "fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," we know it's Spring.

Women love Spring too, of course. But to women Spring means other things besides daffodils and pussywillows.

It means housecleaning and changing clothes for the kids and for themselves. It means putting winter things away and getting ready for the hot summer days.

It means getting the husband to take down the storm windows and put up the screens.

But it's Spring anyway—with all the work and all the mud and all the bugs—it's hope and youth and anticipation.

THERE was Spring in the hearts of young William Lefkowitz and Jerry Schwartz, of Brooklyn.

They bought a rubber raft for $20 and planned a sailing trip up the Hudson to Albany and Governor Dewey.

They decided to go on their trip at Easter. They rigged up a mast made of an old length of two-by-four pine. For a sail they used a bedsheet. The rim of an auto wheel on a length of rope served for an anchor.

At 7:30 in the morning they inflated their craft and hoisted sail. At ten o'clock they had reached the entrance of the Bay across from Staten Island.

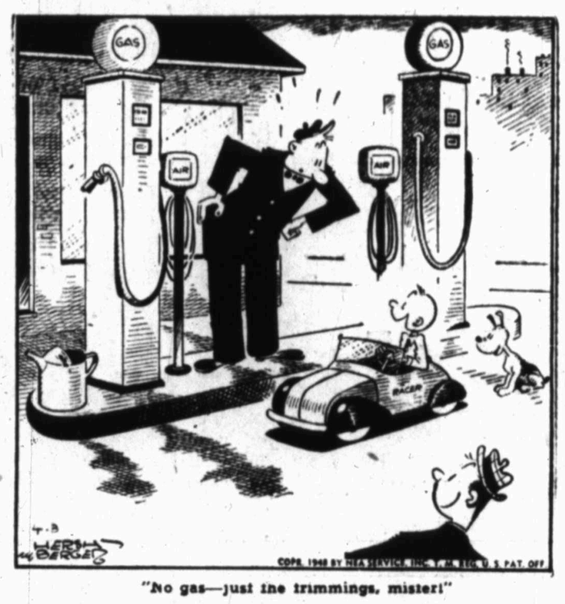

Then a gust of wind hit the bedsheet. The mast snapped and carried away the sail. They had a pair of oars and started to row. The tide became higher. At 11 a. m. one of the oars got away and they were adrift.

The tide carried them past Fort Hamilton close enough to the shore for passing motorists to hear their yells and notify the police.

At 1 p. m. a police launch had caught up with them. At 2 p. m. they had been towed ashore.

At 3 p. m. they were in conference with their parents, who refused to tell reporters what they told their sons about Spring.

GOP To Fire Blast

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Republican legislative leaders on Capitol Hill are framing a statement summarizing a list of Congresional achievements which will virtually serve as the pointing-with-pride portion of their 1948 presidential platform.

A partisan document, it will maintain that two years of G.O.P rule have wiped out many New Dealish evils and excesses and strengthened the nation's basic economic system. It will promise that the G.O.P will finish the job it given control of the executive arm of the government next November.

TUCKER

The party eulogists will headline their handling of the five major issues which have plagued the country since the end of World War II. In the order of their importance as now listed (there may be changes, depending upon happenings between now and June) they are national defense, foreign affairs, federal finances, labor and federal regimentation.

With the one exception of questions involving rearmament and the campaign to combat overseas expansion of Communism, the Vandenberg-Taft-Martin leadership will emphasize that they enacted this formidable batch of "constructive legislation" in the face of White House opposition from start to finish.

In an attempt to aggravate the division within the Democratic ranks, they will point out that they could not have fulfilled their 1946 campaign pledges without the support of from fifty to 100 members of the minority. That gratuitous reference will be a left jab at President Truman's inability to control his party representation in House and Senate.

RECOVERY: The Republicans will even attempt to deprive the Truman Administration of credit for the European Recovery Program and for the program of preparing the nation's armed forces for possible war with Russia.

The G.O.P. will argue that the original Marshall Plan was a loosely and hastily drawn outline which would have become nothing more than an international W.P.A. They will maintain that, as revised in committee and on the floor, it emerged as a sound, businesslike arrangement which makes this nation's welfare the guidin consideration in advancing aid to European and other countries.

The majority will also condemn what they will characterize as the Administration's "half-hearted and short-sighted" attempts to rebuild the national defense establishment.

They will charge that President Truman neglected such arms as aviation, the atom bomb, stockpiling of essential materials, the National Guard and Reserve units and scientific development, in his recent requests for military expansion. They expect to increase appropriations for these items far beyond his figures.

The G.O.P. operators figure that they must assume the offensive on this issue because of their prospective refusal to install universal military training, and their tentative decision to approve only a limited draft system.

VACILLATION: On the general question of checkmating Communism at home and abroad, the President's opposition will maintain that they took the initiative in terminating the policy of appeasing Josef Stalin, and in forcing Mr. Truman to agree to weed "Reds" from government employ.

On the broad question of foreign policy, they will make the charge of "vacillation," citing our attitude toward Palestine, China, Spain and the Scandinavian countries. They will argue that it was the Republican attitude which forced both President Truman and Secretary Marshall to adopt a firmer stand on these international issues.

They will, of course, mention such G.O.P.-ers as Senator Vandenberg, Representative Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey, Representative Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts Karl Mundt of South Dakota, James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of New York, John Foster Dulles and former Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, and exalt their contributions to the Administration's management of foreign affairs.

LABOR: The domestic issues on which the Republican platform makers will really try to go to the White House deal with their handling of labor and financial problems. Assuming that the world crisis quiets down during the campaign months, they figure that these bread-and-butter questions will command the voters' liveliest interest.

They will repudiate suggestions that the Taft-Hartley Act is a "slave" or "anti-labor" law. They will argue that it frees the average working man from the domination of professional union labor leaders more interested in keeping their jobs than in the welfare of the membership.

Depending upon the nation's industrial status in the interim, they will claim that its operation has lessened the number of strikes and work stoppages, including minor jurisdictional differences that rarely rate a headline but dent the workers' pocketbook.

Should springtime flareups in major industries appear to nullify such a conclusion, they will take the position that the legislation was too new and novel to become effective immediately. They may also charge that it failed because its administration was handled by unsympathetic officials at Washington.

SPENDING: The gilt-edged, vote-getting payoff will be the argument that the Republican-controlled Eightieth Congress gave the people their largest tax reduction since the lush, mid-twenty days of Calvin Coolidge and Andrew W. Mellon.

The G.O.P. will also "point with pride" to the fact that it has reversed the spending policies of the federal government for the first time in almost two decades. It will cap this declaration with a promise to reduce the annual budget to thirty billions or less within four years, always assuming that there will not be another global war.

As this preview suggests, the hungry exiles from the White House will not be bashful or backward in the forthcoming presidential campaign. And neither will the Democrats.

The way of the aggressor nation makes it hard on the non-aggressor tax payer.

Its hard to keep a private quarrel from being a public one.

Green rain recently fell in an Ohio city. It was the most colorful rain since the days of Noah.

You can tell when the nation has returned to normalcy. The candy bar will take on more weight.

You can tell a democratic country. It's one where minority groups enjoy fighting each other.

An eastern high school has started a course in beer brewing. There is nothing like acquiring a practical education.

VOTERS OPPOSE MILITARY MAN

Dewey Also Hit Blow By Vote

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The Wisconsin primary is usually a reliable crystal ball in a presidential election year. What happens there can make or break political careers, as it has.

The Wisconsin test this week definitely blasted the presidential chances of one contender for the Republican nomination, General Douglas MacArthur, just as it did those of the late Wendell Willkie four years ago when he was trying a come-back. It badly tarnished another candidate, up to now regarded as the leader, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who got his start nationally in a Wisconsin primary eight years ago and clinched his first-ballot nomination four years ago by a smashing victory in Wisconsin, followed a few days later by another in the Nebraska primary.

STOKES

And, last of all, on the positive side, the Wisconsin primary this year invigorated tremendously the candidacy of Harold Stassen, representing the younger and more progressive wing of the party.

Military Man Opposed

But, almost as important as these rather decisive personal political results, is the clue to the mood of voters this critical year, for Wisconsin is a representative state that may perhaps be taken as a fair sample.

For example, in the elimination of General MacArthur, the Wisconsin primary seemed to reveal that the public is not so susceptible to a glamorous military figure of his sort as some had feared, even though the hero of the Pacific was built up in an emotional campaign as a native son—though not born in the state—who was due a reward for military services. This was, all in all, the most encouraging and heartening thing about the Wisconsin primary. It was a refreshing note of sanity.

The Stassen victory also indicated an inclination among voters to newer, fresher, franker figures in public life who have a broad outlook upon the world. Despite his youth, Governor Dewey has become slightly shopworn, and is identified with the more purely political type of which the public obviously has grown weary. This he exemplified in his caution and his stand-offishness as contrasted with the frank discussion of issues by Mr. Stassen in his continuous campaign for nearly two years, in which he has shown himself to voters all over the country.

Governor Dewey's very poor showing in Wisconsin was admittedly a serious blow to his candidacy, particularly in view of two previous overwhelming triumphs in that state. While he cannot be read out, as can General MacArthur—for he may recoup to some extent in next week's Nebraska primary—nevertheless he suffered one of those psychological reverses which this political observer is ready to accept as the beginning of a downward trend from which he will not recover.

The governor has hitherto been the "champ" among Republican vote-getters. Now he has been "got at," in common parlance. He has shown vulnerability in this role, and in an area, the Middle West, where he previously has run so well. It was his popularity there, added to New York with its big convention and electoral vote, that made him so formidable a candidate. His Wisconsin failure will offer an excuse for desertion by some regular politicians, never too friendly, who stuck with him because he was the front-runner.

Stassen Major Threat

Harold Stassen was running on his home ground, so to speak, in a neighboring state. Had he run badly, he would have been counted out. But his surprising victory, and against two such highly-touted rivals, gives him enhanced prestige and might well be the beginning of one of those bursts in the stretch that would make him more of a contender than he heretofore has appeared.

His chances have been rated low chiefly because of the hostility of the old-guard GOP leadership, and the latter element had hardened its heart even more against a young, progressive type of candidate since the disintegration of the Democratic party which makes a Republican victory now look sure and easy. He might possibly break through if he could become a sort of "people's candidate" among Republican contenders.

At any rate, he has established a claim for the vice-presidential nomination. His victory has increased talk of a Vandenberg-Stassen ticket. Senator Vandenberg (Mich.) is now rated the most likely compromise candidate in the event of a Taft-Dewey deadlock. The Taft camp was encouraged by the poor Dewey showing in Wisconsin, since Governor Dewey is regarded as the senator's chief rival at the convention.

Any hard-and-fast calculations about the nomination, however, must await further primaries, beginning with that next week in Nebraska, the "free for all," in which all the candidates are entered.

Voters Strongly Support UMT And Draft, Latest Poll Shows

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., April 8—Voter sentiment throughout the nation strongly supports President Truman's urgent plea for both Universal Military Training legislation and a return to the draft in order to strengthen the nation's armed forces.

More voters favor adoption of U.M.T. today than at any point since the question has been seriously considered. Seventy-seven per cent approve of the step compared with 65 per cent three months ago.

Furthermore, more than six out of ten voters also approve re-enactment of The Selective Service Act.

The Senate Armed Services Committee this week has been considering a "package" bill combining the U.M.T., and hopes the measure will go to the floor for debate next week.

Immediately after the president's message to the joint session of Congress, field reporters for the American Institute of Public Opinion began testing public sentiment on the two controversial issues in every section of the country.

Thousands of representative citizens were asked the following question in regard to U.M.T.:

"Do you think Congress should or should not pass a law to require every able-bodied young man (who has not already been in the armed forces) to take military or naval training for one year?"

The same question has been asked over a period of years. The following table shows today's sentiment compared with the trend.

	Favor	Oppose	No opin.
Dec., 1942	66%	27%	7%
Nov., 1943	63	29	8
Dec., 1944	70	25	5
Nov., 1945	75	21	4
July, 1947	75	18	7
Jan., 1948	65	24	11
TODAY	77	16	7

Here is the voting by various population groups:

	Favor U.M.T.	Oppose U.M.T.	No opin.

Veterans	83	14	3
Sex
Men	79%	17%	4%
Women	75	16	9

Sentiment on the return to Selective Service was tested by this question:

"Do you think Congress should pass a law which would permit the government to draft young men to serve in the Armed Forces?"

The national answers:

Approve law	83%
Qualified Approval	7
Disapprove law	23
No Opinion	7

Among those who give only qualified approval to a new draft law the principal qualifications offered are: "only if veterans are not drafted;" "if only men 18-25 years old are drafted;" "if U.M.T. is not adopted;" and "if there is no other way."

A month prior to the adoption of the Selective Service Act of 1940, the Institute polled voters on the question of drafting men in the 18-32 year group. Seven out of ten voters approved such a draft a. this time.

The Administration's proposal for the draft would register all men between the ages of 18 and 44, and induct those between 20 and 25 years, excepting veterans, for two years' service in the armed forces. Under the government's plan for U.M.T. all youths 17 through 19 would register, and after their eighteenth birthday undergo a year's military training.

Scoutmaster's Round Table Organizes New Troop Unit

Summer scouting activities were discussed and a scout troop among scoutmasters was organized here at a scoutmaster's round table Wednesday night.

These activities include the camporee to be held in Mackenzie park here April 16 and 17, and participation by the boys in the bicycle safety lane program Monday and Tuesday.

The group was organized into a Scout troop, known as Troop O, for the purpose of training and interchange of ideas. Gene Quest was named scoutmaster.

Others chosen were Fred Widmoyer, assistant scoutmaster; Sam Henry, sr. patrol leader; and George Holman, scribe. Four patrols were set up. They were: Eagle patrol, composed of Melvin Hoelscher, Earl Dietering, and Holman; Rattlesnake patrol, Bill Sasser, Bob Reed, and Eber Neely; Owl patrol, Claude Brown, Frank Runkles, and Hank Long; Cobra patrol, Jack Alexander, Lawton Owen, and Marshall Ross.

Next round table is to be held May 12 at Scout park, when all commissioners and committeemen will be asked to attend.

LIGHTER LAWNMOWERS

TETERBORO, N. J. (U.P.)—Keeping the lawn trimmed won't be such a chore this spring if you push a 1948 model mower. Wheel and side frames for new models are being cast from magnesium and aluminum at the magnesium foundry division of Bendix Aviation Corp. here. The new mower will weigh about 28 to 30 pounds, or only about half as much as older types.

When place mats are used for dining their edge should be as near the edge of the table as practicable.

Clovis Group Gives Kiwanis Program

The program at Lubbock Kiwanis club luncheon Thursday at Hotel Lubbock was presented by a group from Clovis, including three musicians from the staff of radio station KICA. Fred Brookshear, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, and R. B. McAllister, former Lubbock resident who now is manager of the Clovis station.

McAllister introduced program numbers.

The musicians, with piano, base violin and steel guitar, rendered several numbers, including a specialty with table spoons, by Curly Carden.

Brookshear brought greetings from his city, and announced the first annual New Mexico cattle festival, to be held at Clovis April 23 and 24. He said he had been advised Gov. Jester of Texas planned to attend, and extended an invitation to residents here.

Jason Gordon, of the club's agriculture committee, announced that the May 6 meeting will be a barbecue at the pavilion at Texas Tech, when representatives of farm and ranch interests throughout the area will be guests. Staff members at the college are to explain the artificial insemination program, and other agricultural and ranch projects at the college.

The day's program was in charge of DeWitt Landis. Club President L. E. Davis was in the chair, with invocation by Rev. Alsie H. Carlton.

Weeds Believed To Be Greatest Menace To Farming Industry

CLEVELAND, April 8 (U.P.)—Dr. C. J. Willard of Ohio State University estimated that weeds cause a loss of $6,000,000,000 annually to agriculture.

He described how agricultural chemicals have come to the farmer's aid in helping to lick the weed problem.

What the nation pays each year for putting up with weeds on farms is greater than the estimated combined loss from insects, plant diseases and animal diseases, he said.

In one section of the country a few years ago, he noted, the infestation of weed seeds in wheat meant the loss of one bushel in every 14 sent to market.

CONTENTED FISH NO HELP

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (U.P.)—If the fish in your garden pond become too contented, you may have mosquito trouble this summer. Fish eat mosquito larvae but when they are overfed prepared food, Rutgers University scientists say, they ignore the less tasty mosquito wrigglers. A suggestion is to put up wire screens and use insecticides as needed, but don't overfeed the fish.

MARKET CONTINUES GAIN

NEW YORK, April 8. (AP)—The stock market today approached within a shade of its 1948 peak after absorbing a lot of profit cashing on the lengthy drive. The rail average made another high for 18 months.

Dealings, though slow at intervals, crossed the million-mark for the fourteenth session in three weeks. Volume was 1,060,000 shares against 1,160,000 yesterday.

Gains of fractions to 2 points or so predominated at the close.

Buying still was predicted mainly on the inflationary implications of rearmament, European relief spending and tax reduction. The coal mine impasse remained as a bearish influence.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .1 of a point at 65.9 where it was only .1 under the best level of the year. Of 1,018 issue registering, 440 rose and 319 fell. It was the ninth straight session without an overall decline.

Tops for 1948 or longer were touched by Superior Oil of Calif, International Paper, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Smelting, Continental Steel, and Erie Railroad.

On the offside were U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Texas Co., and Paramount Pictures.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Cotton futures advanced into new seasonal high ground in active dealings today. There was a good deal of mill covering in the old crop deliveries, influenced partly by sales of cotton textiles this week. Short covering and commission house buying was stimulated by the better export outlook and the tightening spot cotton situation. Hedge selling was active, reflecting sizable sales of spot cotton at the ten primary markets. Gains extended to better than $1 before the market reacted partially on profit taking.

Tech Professor Is Named To Post At Social Sciences Meet

Dr. J. William Davis, professor and head of the government department at Texas Technological college, was named chairman of the government section of the Southwestern Social Sciences association at a recent annual meeting in Dallas.

A former member of the resolutions committee, he was named to the executive board at the meeting. Davis said that the association had decided to depart from the practice of having the conference every year in Dallas, and the executive board will select another sight for the assembly in 1949.

Colleges and universities in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri and New Mexico hold memberships in the Southwestern association.

Seminole Building Program Is Boosted By New Construction

SEMINOLE, April 8 (Special)—The building program in Seminole is getting an added boost with the announcement by the Seminole Chamber of Commerce that several new buildings are planned in the city.

R. Barrier, who in the past has built several business houses, has announced that material is being assembled to construct a modern 50-foot store next to the Seminole State bank. He is erecting another building with a 40-foot front immediately north of the bank.

Barrier is starting construction on a 24-unit motor inn, beginning north of the First Methodist church parsonage and extending to and facing on U. S. Highway 180. The grounds will be landscaped, with shrubbery, garden sections and lawns throughout, Barrier said.
