Hot Lunches For School Children Will Be Possible

"The State Department of Public Welfare is vitally interested in distributing surplus commodities to all undernourished children in Collingsworth County during the coming winter months," John E. Rowland, supervisor, said in Wellington Thursday.

Commodities are furnished by the Surplus Marketing Administration, formerly the Surplus Commodities Corporation.

"The Surplus Commodities Administration considers school luncheon projects or programs one of the most important phases of the Surplus Commodities program," Mr. Rowland said.

"There are 2910 children in school in Collingsworth County of school age now. This program is considered more of a health program than a relief program, in that all children in the schools who are undernourished may receive commodities.

"The interests of the parents, Parent Teachers Association, and other citizens are solicited.

"Statistics show that children who are undernourished do better school work, are healthier, and gain in weight when furnished with a hot noonday lunch," he added.

"All inquiries will be answered by your county judge, C. C. Bishop, county case worker, Mrs. Cleo Empton, or John E. Rowland, commodity supervisor, P. O. Box 719, Amarillo, Texas."

Heat, Dry Spell Break Last Week

Rains, which totaled a fraction of an inch, came Thursday and Friday night of last week to give temporary relief to drought and heat stricken Collingsworth County. Approximately six weeks had passed since the last rain. Report of the measurement was taken Wednesday morning from the gauge of J. M. Strong.

Slight showers also occurred early Wednesday morning of this week. However, the areas covered were reported to be scattered in both instances. Reports indicated that the rains of last week did not reach Loco community, but that there were good rains a short distance east of Wellington, and in Quail vicinity.

Kiwanians See Masten Pictures

At the regular Kiwanis Club meeting Friday, August 9, F. O. Masten entertained the group with motion pictures showing operations on his farm in Cochran County.

The farm contains 6,400 acres, 14 miles in circumference, and most of the rows on it are 2½ miles long. Two thousand three hundred fifty acres are in cotton, 1,500 acres in kaffir corn and he-gira, and the balance is planted in Sudan grass. The highly mechanized farm uses the latest equipment in existence. The farm has just received a 2½ inch rain.

Mr. Masten explained the motion pictures as they were shown. The pictures, taken over a period of eight months, showed the making of a crop from the preparing (Continued on Page Eight)

Cotton Yields For County Farms Prove Satisfactory

A higher per cent of producers are satisfied with the cotton yields this year than ever before, according to C. V. Griffin of the local AAA office.

Mr. Griffin said that this satisfaction is probably due to the fact that the yields were based on actual production this year for the first time.

Red Cross Quota Must Be In Soon

"All persons who have been sewing or knitting for the Red Cross in an effort to meet the quota given in May are asked to have the garments turned in by Aug. 20 if possible, and not later than Aug. 24 or 25," said Mrs. John W. Harper, chairman of sewing production.

"These garments must be packed and sent to national headquarters as soon as possible," Mrs. Harper added.

C. C. Camp and L. G. Allen contributed to the Red Cross fund the past week.

Home Folks Keep Same Intense Work

Phenomenal response to Deskins Wells' congressional campaign continues in every nook and corner of the Panhandle, becoming the most dynamic and enthusiastic movement for any candidate in years.

"The eagerness of these people in every one of the 28 counties of this district to work for me is beyond my most optimistic expectations. They want a man who speaks their language and knows their problems," Deck Wells says.

With the same untiring enthusiasm that is characteristic of the entire campaign, Deskins Wells and his crusade of friends will visit every section of the 18th district during the remaining days before the run-off election Saturday, August 24.

Funeral Services Held Monday For Mrs. J. W. Turner

Mrs. J. W. Turner, who had been a Collingsworth County resident for the past twenty-three years, died Sunday, August 11, at 1:00 o'clock p. m., in a Wellington hospital. Mrs. Turner's illness had come upon her suddenly.

Funeral services were conducted Monday, August 12, from the Methodist Church at Quail. Rev. J. R. Plant, Methodist circuit pastor, officiated, and he was assisted by Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, pastor of the Wellington Methodist Church.

Flower bearers were Beatrice Sells, Billie Walto Turner, Grace Tracy, Virginia Leigh Ferguson, Ollie Lewis and Edith Barnes.

Hymns included "Tell Mother I'll Be There," "O, Come, Angel Band," and "I Will Meet You In The Morning."

The daughter of Hugh and Catherine Carroll, Mrs. Turner, nee Mary Jane Carroll, was born September 14, 1870, at Springdale, Arkansas. She was married to James Woodson Turner on May 22, 1886. Twelve children were born to the couple, all of whom are now living with the exception of Hugh Sanford, who died on November 4, 1917. She professed religion when a child and joined the Methodist Church with her husband, and has been a faithful member since.

On May 22, 1936, Mr. and Mrs. Turner celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Wellington. Eleven children, 24 grandchildren and 2 great (Continued on Page Eight)

* Hundreds of individuals from Collingsworth County, as well as from many other points are out working, covering every section of the district. Most of these are working individually. Others are working as groups.

County officials and community leaders, from Deck Wells' home county, which he carried by 81 per cent of the total vote, have spoken in behalf of Deck Wells. Logan Cummings, county superintendent, and Judge C. C. Bishop, county judge, spoke before large and enthusiastic crowds in Quitaque, Silverton, Tulla, Dimmitt, Hereford and Canyon Saturday. Accompanying them was the Pete Chandler String Band, which has volunteered its services to Deck Wells' campaign.

On the same day, Miss Robbie Wells, sister of Deck Wells, and Glen Davis covered Hedley, Clarendon, Groom and McLean, accompanied by the Quail F.F.A. Band.

"We went for Deck Wells in the first primary and we'll do it again, stronger than ever," men and women in these towns, and in rural communities where they stopped briefly told these workers. "Deck's all right here," and "We're mighty glad to have Deck Wells' friends here, but if you need to work anywhere else, go ahead, we're already for him," others added.

Deskins Wells himself has covered many miles in his dawn to midnight campaign during the last week. In addition to contacting thousands of individual friends and supporters, he spoke before an eager crowd of workmen, business people, and farmers in Pampa Tuesday night. Early Wednesday he was back in the field.

"I deeply appreciate the splendid work the people of Collingsworth County are doing, and let me assure you that the same effective work you are doing is being repeated for Deskins Wells in every county of the 18th district. This is because the people know in their own minds that they need a practical business man to serve them in Washington," Deck Wells assured.

Gerald Mann To Speak At Rotary

Gerald C. Mann, who is making a month's tour over the State to render a report of his stewardship as Attorney General of Texas, will speak before the Wellington Rotary Club Thursday, August 22, at 12 o'clock, officers of the club announced this week.

Two small boys received broken bones Saturday, and were brought to Wellington for treatment within an hour of each other.

Kay Kinsner of Dallas, who was visiting with his aunt, Mrs. Beulah Hunsaker, of Dodson, collided with a car while he was riding his bicycle Saturday. His right collar bone was broken.

The other victim was Lysle Williams, son of Bob Williams, who fell out of a tree at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Williams, and broke his arm.

Both boys are recovering nicely, it was reported.

Annual Old Settlers Reunion Brings Hundreds Here

Event Proves To Be Pleasing As Old Settlers Meet

For the one day and night in all the year in which they can relive the pioneer days of Collingsworth County with their pioneer friends, approximately 500 old-timers and their families were present for the annual reunion Thursday night and Friday, Aug. 8 and 9. The reunion was held at the LaHue Grove east of Wellington.

General Chairman was Dave Thomas, who has worked with the reunion for a number of years. Everett Fain was chairman of the entertainment committee.

Rain failed to keep large crowds from the reunion Thursday evening, where old time dancing and visiting with friends filled the evening. Music for the dancing, both Thursday evening and Friday were the Pete Chandler string band, Alva Wood, and Mrs. Dulaney Ellis Davis. Mrs. Davis is the daughter of the late Bill Ellis, noted fiddlers of this county who played for dances held in the old court house. Mr. Ellis died earlier in the summer.

Thursday's program was informal in nature. Deskins Wells, a native of Wellington spoke briefly, paying tribute to the pioneers of this county. Continuing, he told these pioneers, many of whom had known him for all his life-time, the platform on which he is seeking election to Congress.

Elmore Dodson, who came to this county 56 years ago, also spoke in behalf of Deskins Wells. "On the way up I drove by the farm where Deskins Wells was born and where he used to work," he said, then added, "I knew Henry Wells and I

EVERY homemaker who uses an automatic electric range can face summertime cooking with a gay disregard for an old bugaboo—HEAT. The kitchen stays as cool as any other room in the house, whether you cook with oven or surface units. No one need be denied luscious fried chicken, corn-on-the-cob, and deep, juicy peach cobbler!

NO HEATED AIR ESCAPES FROM THE OVEN. There is no combustion to consume or rob oxygen from the kitchen air. Surface cooking is cool because every particle of heat from the calrod units is directed into the pans—not into the kitchen. Little or no water is necessary—there is no escaping steam to beat the kitchen or make a stench.

Before you buy any range, see the modern Electric Range. First compare—then choose!

CARDUI so often helps in such cases, for it sharpens appetite, boosts flow of gastric juices; so improves digestion, helps build physical resistance. CARDUI, taken a few days before and during "the time," is another way to help periodic distress. Used 50 years.

a nice thought would be to have a plaid dress like the one pictured at left. It has a box pleated skirt and side buttoned bodice. A charming appearance at a nominal cost is the reward of a gray kidskin coat. This is a Balmacaan model, center. Since the most important item in a woman's wardrobe is a fur coat, great care should be taken in picking it out. The chunky Fisher-dyed Guanaco jacket pictured at right can be selected for thrift as well as chic.

Producers Urged Insure Wheat Immediately

Since August 31 is the final day to make applications for wheat insurance, producers in this county should apply as soon as possible, said C. V. Griffin of the local AAA office this week.

"Producers must take out insurance before wheat is seeded to be eligible," Mr. Griffin said. "They are urged not to wait until the last day to take out insurance, due to the large number to be present. It would like to distribute the money only throughout the year."

Boyer Speaks Here Tuesday

Max Boyer of Ochiltree County, leading candidate for state senator, spoke before Wellington citizens at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the court house square.

Mr. Boyer, who polled 42 per cent of the vote in the first primary, and approximately 64 per cent of the vote outside the biggest city in the Panhandle, pointed out that he enters the final week of the run-off campaign with the active support of the rural area of the senatorial district. Boyer stated Monday of this week that his hundreds of friends who helped him to pile up a lead of nearly 2500 votes against his opponent were encouraging him to believe that he could increase the percentage of votes in the election Saturday, August 24.

Mr. Boyer told Wellington men and women of the platform on which he is seeking election to the state senate, and pointed to his past record of performance as a representative from his district.

He has been in Wellington several times this summer in interest of his campaign.

Hazlewood Will Speak Here Sat.

Grady Hazlewood, candidate for state senator, was laying plans for a busy week in the field.

"There are several towns I have not had a chance to visit, but I'm going to make them before it is over," he said.

"I have wanted to visit these places but, having to conduct a one-man campaign, and a poor man's campaign at that, has made this impossible so far. I want to visit several towns on the north plains the first of next week. This coming Saturday I will visit Wheeler, Shamrock, Wellington and Childress.

"The big foreign major natural gas companies, and certain big oil corporations are spending a lot of money to defeat me; but the people have taken up my banner in a grand way and I can never thank them enough. It looks like a case of these big gas and oil corporations against the average men and women everywhere. If you will but check the election returns, you will see that is exactly the case," Hazlewood said.

Is This The Kind Of Co-operation Gov. O'Daniel Wanted

The last session of the legislature ADJOURNED June 21, 1939.

While the legislature was working on revenue bills to pay OLD AGE PENSIONS, TEACHERS' RETIREMENT, AID TO THE BLIND, and other social security obligations, MAX BOYER'S record is as shown below:

(1) MAX BOYER voted on May 10, 1939, (immediately following his vote for S. J. R. 12) to ADJOURN the legislature. HE WAS THE ONLY ONE OF THE ENTIRE DELEGATION OF FIVE PANHANDLE REPRESENTATIVES VOTING FOR ADJOURNMENT. See Pages 3203-4, House Journal.

(2) MAX BOYER, on May 19, 1939, WROTE AND INTRODUCED a resolution himself, being House Concurrent Resolution No. 156, to ADJOURN the legislature without providing for the funds which Governor O'Daniel had requested. Again, MAX BOYER was the ONLY ONE of the entire delegation of five Panhandle representatives voting for ADJOURNMENT. See House Journal, Pages 3458-9.

(3) On June 1, 1939, another motion to ADJOURN the legislature was made, and those who wanted to work out the Social Security and Old Age Pension Problem voted to table the motion to ADJOURN. But MAX BOYER voted against tabling the motion, and by his vote again tried to ADJOURN the legislature at that time. See House Journal, Pages 3802-3.

(4) On June 5, 1939, MAX BOYER WROTE and INTRODUCED a resolution to ADJOURN the legislature. His motion failed, but he voted in favor of ADJOURNMENT. See pages 3861-2, House Journal.

Governor O'Daniel wrote everyone of the 94 representatives who at ANY TIME voted for S. J. R. 12, including MAX BOYER, a letter of thanks for their vote on ONE DAY (May 10) and stated: "If we CONTINUE to do all we can, etc." But, disregarding the governor's plea for continued work, MAX BOYER followed his vote in favor of S. J. R. 12 on May 10 with a vote to ADJOURN (H. J. 3203) the legislature, although the remainder of the five Panhandle representatives voted against him. The legislature did not adjourn until 42 days after Mr. Boyer's FIRST VOTE TO ADJOURN. During those 42 days, the remaining Panhandle delegation CONTINUED their work to pay social security obligations.

Could the legislature CONTINUE its efforts if adjourned?

WAS THIS THE KIND OF CO-OPERATION GOVERNOR O'DANIEL ASKED?

WHAT IS THE TROUBLE?

The contributors of this advertisement cordially invite you to inspect the above record as shown by the Official House Journal.

DEMAND FOR COINS

According to Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the United States Mint, never before has there been such a demand for small coins as at present. Although 768 million coins of various denominations were produced during the fiscal year which ended June 30, these were insufficient to keep up with the needs of the banks.

With its stock of coins virtually depleted, the coinage unit of the Mint of Philadelphia and Denver have been placed on a 24-hour a day basis, and that at San Francisco will operate 16 hours a day.

Several reasons are given for this unprecedented demand for "hard money," one being a somewhat improved condition of business generally. The growing use of slot machines is another, but the principal increase in the demand for pennies is attributed to new sales taxes and the "nuisance taxes" imposed by the Federal Government which became effective July 1.

Last year more than 440 million pennies were coined, along with 175 million nickles, 97 million dimes, 40 million quarters and 13 million half-dollars. This output was more than double that of the previous year, and it will no doubt be greatly exceeded during the present fiscal year.

But no one seems able to figure out what Uncle Sam is going to do with the hoard of more than 15 billion dollars in gold buried at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

DOGS FOR THE BLIND

A most interesting institution is known as the Seeing Eye, at Morristown, N. J., where dogs are trained to act as guides and companions for the blind. Some 300 blind persons own dogs which have been trained there and the number is being steadily increased.

The number of dogs trained is limited, as the institution does not go in for mass production, but rather devotes its facilities of providing animals of the highest quality, as the lives of their masters often depend on the intelligence and alertness of these canine guides, particularly in city traffic.

It is not only necessary to train the dogs, but their prospective owners must also be taught how to use them, which takes a month of study and practice under the supervision of instructors at Morristown.

Care is taken to avoid allowing the dogs to fall into the hands of any but persons who will show their affection and appreciation. In fact, good treatment of the animals is necessary in order to obtain satisfactory results from their use.

The Seeing Eye is supported largely by philanthropic persons who are also devoted to the wonderful dogs which perform such a valuable service for those afflicted with blindness.

While one of these dogs may be obtained for $150, it is said that the cost to the institution is about $900. Instructors at the Seeing Eye are highly expert in their line, and each can train about 20 dogs in a year.

BIG CITIES SHRINK

Offhand one would hardly think that some of the largest cities of the country could have lost population during the last 10 years, but such is the case, according to preliminary reports of the 1940 census. In fact, eight of the first 25 cities in respect to population showed losses—Philadelphia, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Pittsburgh, Newark and Rochester.

New York showed a gain of four and a half million, but Chicago barely held its own, showing a gain of only about 8,000. Jersey City and Portland, Ore., were crowded out of the list of largest 25. Jersey City dropped from 23 place to 30th, which isn't anything for Mayor-Dictator Hague to crow about. Houston and Denver got into the big 25 class for the first time, Houston jumping from 26th place to 21st.

Washington passed the half-million mark for the first time, now having 663,153 inhabitants, a gain of 176,284 in 10 years. This increase was due largely to the greater number of government payrolls in the nation's capital, which was almost exactly doubled, not to mention those who live nearby in the adjoining states of Virginia and Maryland, but work in Washington offices.

Smaller cities and towns nearby all showed increases in population, as did most rural communities. This is perhaps a healthy trend, as concentrations of people into small areas do not, as a rule, make for better or happier living conditions. The next decade is expected to show a still further decentralization of population.

Most persons will agree that it is "more blessed to give than to receive" advice.

One isn't a hopeless failure until he begins to hate his neighbors who have won success.

A scientist says the flight of time is an illusion. Tell that one to your banker when your note falls due.

Mrs. Lloyd Thomas of Holdenville, Okla., has been the first voter in ward in every primary and general election since 1920.

A naval expert says the U. S. Navy could blow the Japanese fleet out of existence in three weeks. Maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea.

Contry To Organize For National Draft

Washington. — Lights are burning late in Washington these nights as the War Department prepares to put into effect the first military service draft law in the peacetime history of the United States.

Basis of the organization is a prolonged study of the draft in the World War, first conscription law in the country since the Civil War. A joint committee of army and navy experts will function under a director of selective service to put the new measure into effect.

Assisting this committee will be more than 100 trained reserve officers and 350 national guard officers who will be called up to active service.

The compulsory training bill, affecting as it does every city and hamlet and farm in the nation, will require about 6500 local boards to conduct the registration and administer the draft. Each of the boards, to be named by the governors of the states, will be responsible for a geographical area containing an average of 30,000 persons.

The War Department also will name medical examiners to pass on the physical fitness of each man eligible for service under the age provisions of the act. Boards of appeal will adjudicate all disputes regarding exemptions from the draft.

The measure provides that men currently employed in industries vital to the national defense program, officials of the state and federal governments, clergymen, and those with bona fide moral scruples against serving in armed forces shall be exempt.

Army officials say never in peacetime will it be necessary to call up men with dependents.

First men to be drafted for the year's service provided for in the measure will range in age from 21 to 31. Initial contingent to start service this fall will be 400,000 men; during the first year about 1,500,000 will be drafted. Choice will be made by the traditional draft method—by lottery.

The War Department estimates 123,000 registration places will be required to enroll the 42,000,000 men. In the World War the draft law covered those from 18 to 45; 24,234,000 registered, and about one in eight saw actual service.

God's Care Of His People

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 18.

Text: Psalm 23.

There is not a purer gem in all literature than the 23rd Psalm. The six brief verses of our modern presentation have taken hold of human experience as perhaps no other single passage has done.

In part this is due to the beauty and simplicity of the Psalm itself; but still more it is because of the contrast the Psalm offers to so much that is in our daily life and in the experience of the world. For this is a Psalm of peace, a Psalm of refreshing. Its reading brings an atmosphere of peace when we are in trouble.

It is a good Psalm to read, even when people are in the midst of want and danger, as great multitudes of human beings are today. It reminds us that these sad and dark experiences are not all of human life, that they are not indeed of God's purpose and planning, that there is for man a life of peace and quiet, of faith and strength, that goodness and loving kindness have not departed from the universe.

And the Psalm strikes an even deeper note in its sense of security, even though one walk "through the valley of the shadow of death." There is in life something stronger than the forces of destruction and decay. We speak of this Psalm as the Psalm of David, because we think of David as a shepherd as well as a king. If David really wrote it, the contrast between the Psalm and much of his own life is very striking, for David was a man of blood and war and the Bible represents him as being forbidden to build the temple because of that fact.

But there was in David also something very fine and gentle as well as something strong and courageous. We see him first of all as the young shepherd boy, going out with great daring to kill Goliath. But there was a later passage in his life that revealed the quality of his spirit.

Hard pressed in battle, he had made a casual wish that he might have a drink of water from the well of Bethlehem. Valiant and loyal soldiers heard that wish and risked their lives to bring him a cuse of that water. But David would not use it to slake his thirst. Men had risked their life blood to bring it. It was something sacred, and he poured it out on the ground as an offering. It was a great act of faith and of worship which only a man who is essentially a poet could have conceived or performed. It was this quality in David that made him capable of writing such a Psalm.

It never grows old or worn out. Men have read it hundreds of times; yet it comes with vitality and freshness as a lesson still to be studied, but even more, to be enjoyed.

I SAW

By V. A. R.

Old, familiar faces and familiar places provide the real seasonings of life. Meeting and talking with the pioneers of Collingsworth County—the people who tilled the soil of the country—was one of the pleasures I SAW enjoyed upon attending the Old Settlers' Reunion. And out at Lahue Grove, I SAW:

Everett Fain acting as master of ceremonies over the dancing which included square dancing jigs and the smooth, old-fashioned waltzes.

Mrs. John Henard introducing her sister-in-law, Mrs. Car White, to a few people I did not know. Mrs. White now lives at Roswell, formerly lived here. I SAW, while still a girl riding to school on horseback, came to his home one day and told him that a cow had got into the water trough. Mr. Goodnight said that she went with him and helped him get the cow out.

Mrs. C. A. Kesler, upon being asked her name, saying that she would "trade" names with the person.

Mary C. Spinks of Austin and her sister, Bess Royal, enjoying talking to friends.

An Irish jig, in which young and old alike participated, and which created much enthusiasm in the audience. Taking part in it were George Richards, Dave Thomas, Claude Caperton, and several others.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lea thoroughly enjoying the opportunity of seeing old friends and mingling with the crowd.

Mrs. Mary Stall taking part in one of the square dances.

Back in town, again—Mrs. Rock Lowry painting her front porch in a very nice tile red color. Farther down the street Mr. Lowry was setting out grass in front of his office.

Sylvia Walker, who was apparently on her way home, carrying a fly swatter.

Eddie Jo Gilbert and Ida D. is of Angleton, Eddie Jo's roommate at TSCW, adopting a cat which they have named Johnnie. Last week they gave Johnnie a luxurious bath with mild soap and then used cologne as a finishing touch. They say Johnnie stands on the curb and meows plaintively when they start for a drive in the car.

During the afternoon softball games will be played for those interested in athletics, while singing and music will be held in the gymnasium for those preferring that form of entertainment.

In the softball contests, the high school boys will play the outsiders while the high school girls will play the older girls and women. The junior students in the high school will meet the juniors in the grade school.

In connection with the school work, Mr. Sanders announced that bus routes for the year will be practically the same as for last year, and in those instances where a change has been made, the individuals concerned will be notified.

Due to an increase in the number of scholastics in the district, and to an unusually large number of transfers from other surrounding districts, Mr. Sanders also stated that an additional teacher for mathematics and Spanish will be employed within the near future. In addition, journalism will be added to the high school curriculum and will be taught by Mrs. Osie B. Wilson, who heads the English department. Mrs. Wilson, a graduate of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, is now president of the Amarillo Pen Women's Club.

Other new teachers on the faculty for the coming year are Alvie Redden of Loraine, Texas, Mayme Ruth Clark of Wellington, Janice Kendrick of Moody, Mida Rice, and Mrs. Lola White, formerly of Lutie, all of whom are graduates of West Texas State College, and L. E. Breeding, formerly of Abilene.
