The first Thanksgiving would be difficult to simulate today, because it came at the conclusion of a period of literal famine among the early-day Americans. What really made it unique was the fact that, once the famine was past, they remembered their earlier plight to the extent that they joined together to express their thanks to the Almighty. Most of the time, once the problem is removed, it is forgotten.

It is apparent today that many take for granted the maginficent resources of this country which started the custom of an annual "Thanksgiving." And they are particularly unimpressed with the fact that the nation reached its present state via toil. Some historians record that the Pilgrims had a rule that those who refused to work were not permitted to eat. This would be an unpopular rule in some quarters today when there is a move on to provide a "guaranteed annual income," when guaranteed profits to insurances companies in Texas are virtually an accomplished fact, and when most communities have their share of "freeloaders" who are anxious to capitalize upon the assets of the community but are unwilling to contirbute to the promotion and sustenance of these assets by supporting their churches, their industrial foundation, their United Fund, their Chamber of Commerce, etc.

But it is the true leadership for which communities express their thanks—those who are willing to work occasionally for the community and to support it with their own material gains. These are the type of people who expressed their thanks at the first Thanksgiving and they are the ones for whom we are thankful in our history books because they are the ones who are remembered.

This has been an unusually brisk season for books, especially those of particular interest in the Southwest. Following Lady Bird Johnson's diary and Lon Tinkle's "Mr. De" in the mails were review copies of Mrs. Warren Fargason's book of haiku poetry, "Ghostwood," and George Dolan's latest bit of humor in hard cover, titled "Come Quick, Rodger's Had a Fit." The latter has a Nov. 29 publication date listed.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Nov. 26, Thanksgiving Day. It is the 330th day of 1970. There are 35 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, President George Washington set the day aside as a day of national thanksgiving for the adoption of the U. S. Constitution.

On this date:

In 1832, the first street railway in the United States-a horse-drawn trolley-began service between New York's City Hall and 14th Street.

In 1857, the first Australian Parliament opened at Melbourne.

In 1925, Germany ratified the Locarno Treaty, pledging to guarantee the French frontier.

In 1940, the half million jews of Warsaw, Poland, were forced by the Nazis to live within a walled ghetto.

In 1941, two special Japanese envoys were in Washington conferring about the growing tension between the United States and Japan.

In 1944, in World War II, the U. S. Third Army split German defenses on the Maginot Line along the Saar Basin front.

Ten years ago: President Dwight D. Eisenhower denied a charge by Guinea that the U. S. was supporting enemies of African independence.

Five years ago: U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said there had been no indication from Communist North Vietnam that it was prepared for an unconditional discussion of a Vietnam peace settlement.

One year ago: The White House described the alleged My Lai massacre in Vietnam as abhorrent and pledged strict justice for any persons involved.

Nation Observes Thanksgiving Day

By LARRY SIMONBERG
Associated Press Writer

Thanksgiving Day has become for many Americans a time to extend a helping hand to their less fortunate countrymen.

In cities and towns across the nation, they worked to make today's feast of gratitude meaningful for those who might have reason to question the bounty of the land.

A dozen welfare recipients in Muskogee, Okla., will enjoy holiday turkeys because officials responded to their sit-in at county offices by providing each with a gobbler.

In Chicago, pupils at a Roman Catholic school in a poor, black section of the city collected 150 boxes of food for the needy in a "getting it together" drive their priest hailed for its selflessness.

Students at Glendale Community College in Arizona collected money and food to help 1,200 persons, mostly migrant workers and the elderly.

Two dozen Indiana University students gave up holidays at home to tour nursing homes in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Missouri, providing entertainment.

Five boys 9 to 13 collected old bottles and newspapers and did odd jobs so that a poor family in St. Louis could have a traditional dinner.

Government officials were busy doing their part, too.

President Nixon invited hospitalized servicemen in the Washington area to dig into six turkeys with his family at the White House.

Georgia's Gov. Lester Maddox gave early releases to 553 prisoners. Telling them he knew many wouldn't have turkeys, he declared: "But freedom means a lot more."

The 102 Green Berets who had a hand in the raid that attempted to free American prisoners in North Vietnam were back at Fort Bragg, N.C., for holiday reunions with their families.

Turkey, dressing and mince or pumpkin pie were served to 360,000 U.S. servicemen in South Vietnam, who celebrated a day early because of the time difference. Usually drab mess halls were spruced up in military installations around the world for the festive meal.

But those prisoners of the North Vietnamese were not forgotten. About 20 families of captured men planned a demonstration in Los Angeles, eating what they said was a typical meal for a prisoner of war—hog fat, pumpkin mush and rice.

Vice President Spiro T. Angew was guaranteed a jovial dinner as he and his family were asked to share the repast of comedian Bob Hope in Palm Springs, Calif.

In Plymouth, Mass., where it all began, the annual pageant of citizens dressed as Pilgrims was expected to draw thousands of onlookers.

A public buffet supper featuring authentic colonial dishes at a recreated Pilgrim village was planned as part of the 350th anniversary of the Pilgrims' arrival at Plymouth Rock. The first Thanksgiving was held in 1621 to signal the settlers' gratitude for making it through a rugged first year.

But descendants of the original inhabitants of the land—the Indians—who taught the Pilgrims how to survive in the wilderness were not happy.

Indians planned a demonstration at the Rock to demand return of land in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

"We mourn the fact ... that that nation which says it is a government of the people ignores and even rejects the people of the land," said an organizer.

More modern traditions were being observed, too. A horn of plenty of parades and football games were scheduled.

Getting to the scene of one's holiday pleasures was often difficult. There was the usual crush surrounding planes, trains and buses.

The roads, dangerous and crowded, formed an obstacle course. In one example of the vehicular explosion, the Baltimore-Washington Parkway was reported at one time Wednesday night to be clogged with bumper-to-bumper traffic for 30 miles in the northbound lanes between the District of Columbia line and the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel.

The National Safety Council estimated traffic deaths would total between 670 and 770 in the period from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnights Sunday. The record Thanksviving carnage was 764 in 1968. It was 686 last year.

Fireball Spotted In West Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A giant fireball—described by some as so brilliant it momentarily turned night into day—flashed across the sky early today, apparently centering its brilliance over West Texas.

Authorities who would comment attributed the phenomenon to a meteor.

"It was so bright it almost blinded me," said Dave Knapp, night managing editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, who witnessed the spectacle about 1:14 a.m. as he was driving home from work.

Knapp's newspaper reported the "celestial skyrocket," as one witness described it, burned out after a second or two and a long, threadlike trail of smoke streamed across the sky in its wake.

The Avalanche-Journal said the fireball, appearing toward the east or southeast, was visible across the breadth of Texas at Texarkana, in the state's northeast corner.

Federal aviation Administration personnel said pilots told of viewing the bright light also in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and near Albuquerque and Denver.

Sightings were noted also in South Texas around Beeville, Karnes City and San Antonio.

There were no reports of any airplanes in trouble and one or more meteorites apparently created the spectacle, an FAA employe said.

At Palinview, 50 miles north of Lubbock, motorist Billy Ray told policeman Frank Niblack a red ball appeared in the sky, turned blue as he watched and appeared to explode.

Ray said the fireball was moving very low in the sky toward the west-northwest "and it looked like burning pieces were falling off as it moved."

State police said they and other officers fielded excited inquiries from scores of residents in areas around Lubbock and Palinview, and some callers were convinced a plane had crashed close by.

Clyde Mason Service Set

Clyde Mason, 72, long-time resident of Hermleigh, died at his home there at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Mr. Mason was a native of Clyde and was a stock farmer.

Funeral service has been set for 2:30 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church in Hermleigh, with the Rev. Bob Creswell, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Pyron Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Mason is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Colleen Cole of Jacksboro; two sons, Donald Mason of Fort Worth and Perry Mason of Chicago; four brothers, John Mason of Snyder, Hugh and King Mason, both of Hermleigh, and Jack Mason of Sweetwater; and nine grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Homer Gannaway, Grant Groves, Fleet Anderson, Frank Nachlinger, Alfred Davis and Ivy Sturdivant.

Cyclone Toll Hit 175,103

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — The official toll in the East Pakistan cyclone 13 days ago has risen to 175,103 dead and 23,927 missing, authorities said today. They said final figures might be three times greater or even more.

East Pakistan's home secretary, Mujibul Huq, said Wednesday the burial of corpses is proceeding satisfactorily in many areas, "but not in all places."

Health officials said there are sporadic cases of cholera on the two biggest islands hit by the storm, Bhola and Sandwip.

Two Pakistani helicopters have reached Dacca to take part in relief operations, authorities said. Eighteen other helicopters, 10 of them from the United Staes, were carrying the relief supplies, and more helicopters were coming.

Bombings, Raid Stir Congress

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Could a proposed congressional salute to the daring prison-break volunteers be another Tonkin Gulf resolution? Just how did the North Vietnamese acknowledge the "understanding" that brought about an end to the bombing two years ago?

These and many other questions made for a flurry of activity in Congress Wednesday as senators and House members considered the weekend's brief resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam and the dramatic, vain attempt to free the vanished prisoners of Son Tay.

Besides broad-based support of both actions in the two chambers, there were these developments:

—Secretary of State William P. Rogers doubted before the House Foreign Affairs Committee that either event had any substantive effect on the Paris peace talks.

—Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., a presidential aspirant, was considering moving again to deny funds for the Indochina fighting.

—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, following Rogers into the same House forum, alluded to a substantial diversion for the break attempt, perhaps accounting for all the noise reported around Hanoi and said, in part, that the prison story had to be told in public because of the nature of U.S. society.

The resolution praising heroism of the volunteer Army-Air Force raiders was introduced by Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., but was blocked temporarily by Sen. J. W. Fulbright.

Earlier in the day, Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen the raid itself reminded him of the Tonkin Gulf incident of 1964.

"I don't think it's justified to say the rescue mission was contrived," Fulbright went on. "But it was a most peculiar mission." And, "One lone bullet fell on the deck of the (destroyer) Maddox. This time they said one American was nicked or hit in the leg. But they haven't produced the bullet"—presumably meaning full disclosure of raid details.

Fulbright did not question Dole's heroism resolution, asking only that it be put over until all senators have a chance to read it.

Rogers was pressed to assess effects the raids might have on the Paris talks with the North Vietnamese.

"What has happened is not in any way inconsistent with what we've been doing," Rogers said, referring to earlier "protective reaction" bombings. He granted that Congress should be consulted in "other policy areas," but called the breakout solely a humanitarian move.

"If we attempted to get congressional approval to rescue prisoners, we wouldn't be able to rescue prisoners," Rogers said.

The secretary said he sees a connection between the actions and Paris, but he discontinued it.

"I don't believe it would have any effect on negotiations at all ... If they ever decide to negotiate a settlement they'll do it because they think it's in their best interest ... not because they like us," Rogers said.

2nd Victim Of Crash Dies Here

A truck crash Monday afternoon south of Snyder claimed its second victim when Lonnie Ray Fisk, 22, died at 2:40 p.m. Wednesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Denton Helmstetler Jr., 28, was killed instantly in the crash. Fisk and another passenger in the truck, Raymond Rios, 22, had been in Cogdell Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries. Rios was reported in good condition.

The crash occurred on Texas Highway 208 about three miles south of Snyder.

A native of Olney, Ill., Lonnie Fisk was married on Nov. 7, 1968, in Snyder to June Pettijohn. She survives.

Also surviving are a daughter, Rhonda; a step-daughter, Angela Williams; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fisk of Snyder; four sisters, Rosemary Burleson, Tonya, Velma and Laura Ann Fisk, all of Snyder; three brothers, Ronnie and Russell Fisk, both of Snyder, and Donnie Fisk of Odessa.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Friday at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel. Bill Minick, minister of the East Side Church of Christ, will officiate.

Pope Leaves For Asia

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI left today for a 10-day journey to Asia and the Pacific amid criticism from many Roman Catholics and concern over whether he is well enough to go.

The Pope was smiling as he waved goodbye from his open limousine to an audience of about 500 persons in St. Peter's Square. But he was wan, and some witnesses felt his smile looked forced. There were dark circles under his eyes.

Wearing a white overcoat and a white skullcap, the Pope stood and waved as the crowd cried, "Happy journey!" A motorcade then sped him from Vatican City to the Rome airport, where a chartered airliner waited to carry him on his ninth and longest trip abroad.

At the airport, he once again rejected criticism of his trip and called it "an order of the Lord."

Morton Replaces Fired Hickel

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservationists who were horrified at the appointment of Walter J. Hickel as secretary of the interior two years ago were even more horrified Wednesday when President Nixon suddenly fired him.

The official White House explanation, after a half-hour meeting between the President and Hickel, was a lack of "mutual confidence."

Environment-minded observers in Congress and conservation groups put a more specific interpretation on it: Hickel took his job seriously, was too independent, and so became a maverick in the Nixon administration.

There was little comment, however, on the President's announced intention to appoint Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, R-Md., chairman of the Republican National Committee, to the Interior job.

Hickel, in a brief statement to newsmen, said, in effect, he found it impossible to play the White House kind of game.

"The President personally terminated me about two hours ago," Hickel said. "There is really nothing I can say at this time that would help the situation, and nothing I would say to hurt it.

"Given the hostility toward me when I first arrived, as you people know so well, and some of those incredible decisions I had to make immediately thereafter, trying to a job for the President and all Americans, and still somehow survive as an individual, I had to do it my way."

Five days after Hickel took office in January 1969 an oil well blew out in the Santa Barbara Channel off the coast of California. After a personal inspection of the area, where millions of gallons of oil were estimated to have leaked into the sea, he ordered all federally controlled wells in the channel shut down. Eventually, drilling rules underwent a major overhaul.

Just over a month ago, oilmen cheered when Hickel told them at a Houston meeting he was releasing federal oil and gas leases that he had frozen for sale since the Santa Barbara spill. Undersea tracts covering 593,000 acres off the Louisiana coast will be the first to be leased in a sale Dec. 15.

Almost unnoticed in the furor over Hickel's dismissal was the fact Morton would become the first secretary of the Interior from an Eastern state in the department's 121-year history—an indication of its modern evolution from a Western landlord to a nationwide resource manager.

Morton's nomination will go to the Senate early next year, said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Meanwhile, Undersecretary Fred J. Russell, a former industrialist, California real estate operator and—like Hickel—a self-made millionaire, is to serve as acting secretary of the Interior.

Morton's nomination can be expected to have smoother sailing through the Senate than Hickel's did.

Hickel, then governor of Alaska, was viewed with suspicion by conservationists when he arrived in Washington as Nixon's nominee to the Interior post in December 1968.

Widely viewed as a resource-exploiter and a pawn of oil interests," Hickel was grilled for days by the Senate Interior Committee and was the last Cabinet member confirmed.

But former foes have changed their minds and now express admiration for Hickel's efforts to protect the environment.

Hearing Postponed

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Insurance Board has postponed its hearing, originally scheduled for Monday, on proposed strict rules for health insurance advertising.

The board said the hearing would be held next month, at a date to be announced later.

Still on Monday's agenda s a hearing on rules on special participating policies.

"Correspondence, telephone calls and other communications have persuaded the board that a full consideration of both subjects is not praticable in a single hearing, and therefore this division is being announced," the board said.

Thompson Dies In Plane Crash

BOULDER CITY, Nev. (AP) — A downdraft that apparently sent a small plane diving into Lake Mead took the life of Atomic Energy Commissioner Theos Thompson, America's top man in nuclear weapons development and testing.

Thompson was killed along with two other passengers when the National Park Service plane crashed in 300 feet of water Wednesday. The pilot survived.

Bing Dowdy, a tour boat captain who witnessed the crash, said the single-engine plane was skimming the water at 50 or 60 feet when it suddenly nosed straight down into the water "as if a giant hand was pushing it."

An AEC spokesman said it appeared the plane hit a down draft in the 60 mile per hour winds whipping over the lake.

The Park Service said the plane was on a patrol flight over the Lake Mead National Recreation area and that Thompson was along to observe the lake and surrounding area in connection with weapons testing at the Nevada nuclear test site about 75 miles away.

The tour boat Echo pulled the pilot, Chuck Roland, from the water. He was taken to Boulder City Hospital, where doctors reported him in satisfactory condition.

The wreckage of the plane sank quickly, and a search by boats, planes and helicopters produced no sign of Thompson or the other men aboard.

Also killed were Jack Rosen, an aide traveling with Thompson, and Bill Smith, an employe of a private contractor at the Nevada nuclear test site.

Thompson, 52, had come to Las Vegas to visit the test site and speak at a meeting of state legislators about the need for continued nuclear testing.

His involvement in nuclear weapons went back almost two decades to the time when he worked at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Livermore, Calif., where prototypes of new nuclear weapons are manufactured.

GI Joe Faces Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — When GI Joe comes home from Vietnam, chances are he will find himself without a job—a victim of unemployment and war-induced inflation, a Senate labor subcommittee has been told.

In addition, witnesses testified, the stress of guerrilla warfare may have rendered the soldier at least temporarily incapable of finding his niche as a civilian.

Malcolm R. Lovell Jr., assistant secretary of labor told senators Wednesday the unemployment rate for returning veterans has leaped to at least 7 per cent, significantly higher than the jobless rate for the population as a whole.

And, he said, factors which lead to this situation "could tend to result in ex-servicemen being among those last to be hired and first to be unemployed."

"Each month some 80,000 servicemen—about 60 per cent of whom have seen Vietnam service—are being discharged into the civilian economy," said Sen. Alan Cranston who is chairing hearings of the veterans subcommittee.

"But these men enter an economy that isn't providing enough jobs for the people already there, and there is no evidence that the administration is doing very much to provide the special individualized help our veterans require and are entitled to in this trying situation," Cranston said.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

FOUR LEVEL SPLIT-LEVEL: This impressive looking home has a most attractive interior. Basement and storage level has access from the entrance level as well as from outside. There are seven rooms, two and a half baths, 11 closets, a two-car garage and a laundry room. For the living and bedroom levels 1,190 square feet is required. Plan HA673C was designed by Architect Lester Cohen, Room 704, 48 West 48 Street, New York, N.Y., 10036.

Here's How

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures writer

Plants can help beat pollution in the home, and it may be a good time to prepare the indoors for our survival—we'll be spending more time there in the future, says George Milstein, a retired dentist who is involved in the study of environmental sounds and plants.

We forget that plants need the carbon dioxide that we exhale and that we need the oxygen plants exhude, he points out. This natural combination assists the psychological, emotional and physiological well-being of humans and the continuing processes of plant life.

But there won't be much plant life left outdoors, if we continue to pour concrete over it, Milstein explains. Forest fires are wiping out plants and even in the great redwood forests, giant sequois, thousands of years old are killed by automobile pollution, he says.

"The environment we make indoors for plants—light, humidity, ventilation, proper temperature—is an ideal environment for man."

Dr. Milstein's interest in plants began as a hobby when he tried to trace the origin of a tropical plant given him by a patient. It led him to botanists at botanical gardens and to the Smithsonian Institution and to the study of the effects of sonic sounds on plant growth.

At the University of Ottawa, one of first to conduct such experiments, a faster growth of corn and wheat has been made possible when vibratory effects were applied to seeds, Milstein explains. And in India, a botanist has been conducting experiments concerning effective sound vibrations on flowers, claiming a 60 per cent increase in plant growth. Research is being conducted in many areas of the United States.

"The range used in such experiments is almost ultra-sonic, about 11,000 cycles, slightly above human hearing. Sound need not be heard. It may be felt as when a jet plane breaks the sound barrier."

And that is one snag in trying to interest farmers and others in the plant growth experiments they can't see it or touch it.

Milstein and his group—the Environmental Sound Control—introduced a recording of sonic vibrations, trying to interest homemakers to use it as an adjunct of light to encourage the growth of house plants. In one experiment with identical plants, one exposed to sound grew a two-year growth in five months, he says.

The ultimate idea is not to make flowers grow, but to increase the food crops of the world. The Pickwick International recording, "Music To Grow Plants By" is available to florists and department stores. If homemakers are persuaded it works it may be easier to interest farmers and research foundations, he says.

"The record begins with the whining vibration of sonics, but tone is added so people may enjoy it. We do not endorse gimmicky theories that certain music can help the growth of plants as some people would have us believe or that rock and roll music will wither a plant. And there are other strange theories—that praying and singing to plants will help them grow. If these things work, it may be because the plant caretaker is spending a great deal of time caring for the plant as he observes the oddities."

Of the 400 plants in his home, some are outdoor plants. The challenge was inspired by the thought that many outdoor plants will need to be rescued before they perish.

People can be affected by sounds. Divorces, sickness, fights are said to be more usual in noisy areas than in tranquil atmosphere, he explains.

"In my dental work, many patients preferred the pain of a tooth being drilled rather than the noise of the pain-deadening instrument."

Stories Reflect Peoples Lives

THE TALKING TREES AND OTHER STORIES. By Sean O'Faolain. Atlantic-Little, Brown. $6.95.

In these 11 short stories, O'Faolain's characters are Irish, and most of the settings are Irish, but the themes are as universal as human nature itself.

In several of these pieces the author deals with the eternal triangle, in a variety of aspects and situations. For example one story is about a married woman who makes a sacrifice for the husband she does not love; another is about a married woman who realizes she loves a priest. Two others, in entirely different ways, look back on the triangle from the perspective of many years afterward. There also is a story, full of pathos, about a frustrated 41-year-old spinster trying to have a fling in Italy.

Two narratives—one of which takes place in Cambridge, Mass., the other in Cork—are about old women haunted by the past. But youth also has its day. The title story portrays a group of adolescent boys trying to learn about sex. O'Faolain also displays his versatility by writing about the metamorphosis of a man's religious beliefs, and about an alcoholic portrait painter who almost creates a scandal.

These stories are created with deftness and skill—the art which conceals art—and their characters are real, live people.

CRANBERRY WINE SAUCE

Adding wine to cranberries results in delicious different flavor.

2 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup sugar
½ cup dry red wine
½ cup water

Into a 3-quart saucepan turn all the ingredients. Over moderate heat stir until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil; boil rapidly, uncovered, until berries pop—5 minutes or so. Mash any unpopped berries with a fork. Chill. Makes about 1 pint.

Plainview Has The Only Flame Sculptor

Editor's Note: Tom Warren is working in a special medium of art—flame sculpting of metal. There's one drawback—it gets pretty hot. Here's how he does it.

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Some of Tom Warren's best art is rusting under the ground.

For Warren is a flame sculptor—the only one as far as he knows. He starts with a great chunk of metal and works from that.

It wasn't always that way. He became a welder and worked on pipeline jobs. Warren spent spare moments working detail into steel pipe.

"In fact," he says, "some of my better work is aging and rusting underground."

As a boy, Tom related to Jerry Huddleston of Station KVOP, Plainview, he carried a chisel in his pocket at all times. As he walked, he would find stones and with the chisel, he carved busts of men from the soft rocks.

During his schooling in Plainview, a teacher sent a note home to the boy's father urging that the father enroll the boy in an art school to develop his creative drawing ability.

Says Tom, "But in 1933, money was tight and the thing my dad had in mind was not spending money to send me to some art school."

Tom turned to welding to make his living. He trained at the National Defense Welding School in Plainview.

In 1958, he took two pieces of steel plate...welded them together around the outside edge ...drilled holes on either side and then welded the inside to the other back plate. From this procedure he developed his first art model in steel.

Warren now spends hours at a drawing board working on sketches which will eventually be turned into real models of art.

After the drawing is complete, he buys a block of steel and cuts it into a rough form such as a man, bunkhouse scene or animal.

Heat is then applied to the full form in preparation for the detailed work which must be done by using small welding tips. The form must be kept white hot at all times so that the job can be done.

Assistance from a sharp pointed chisel is used sometimes to make a buttonhole or other minute mark on the statue, but nearly all of the task is accomplished with the torch.

"The initial cost of the steel is not the big thing," says this West Texas native. Warren estimates that about $100 worth of oxygen and acetylene go into the average model along with about 50 man-hours.

According to Warren, the big problem is heat. Acetylene contains carbon which when applied to the model form makes the model become hard. Constantly heating the object tempers the metal and each time it is allowed to cool, it takes that much more time to reheat it again.

It is for this reason that Warren allows so much time when he sets down to work. When a few hours of work have gone into the object it has to stand overnight to cool in most instances.

"I like to work in the winter in a metal shed. That way, I don't need a heater to keep me warm. On a summer day, I try to stay away from it, but when I have got to work, the work goes outside under a shade tree because with that sun beating down and that flame thrower in my hand, it sure makes you work up a lather."

In 10 years, Warren estimates he has made about 100 objects. Some he has given away to friends, others he has sold. The top price he has received for one of the items is $800 and the lowest $150.

Among customers have been actor Dale Robertson and Civil Appeals Court Judge James A. Joy of Amarillo. Joy is an art critic himself and says he is amazed at the ingenuity displayed by Warren.

Warren says: "I hope eventually to devote full time to working on these articles and selling them. Unlike some of the past masters of their arts, I sure would like to be famous before I die. I would like to see some of these things become collector's items."

Warren admits that he unconsciously molds the faces into people he has met in his life.

If there is a lesson to be learned there, it would have to be: Smile—you may want it preserved in steel. If you know Tom Warren, he may burn your face in art.

A Junior Editors Quiz About LANGUAGES

QUESTION: How did the U.S.A. decide what language to use?

* * *

ANSWER: To arrive at an understanding of how languages came to America from the old world, we have made a map of the first explorers, the men who claimed parts of the new continent on behalf of the older nations they represented. The Vikings landed on our shores around 1000 A.D., but since they did not make permanent settlements they don't come into our story. Christopher Columbus, trying to get to the riches of the East, thought he had succeeded when he landed in the West Indies in 1942(3). He claimed the land for Spain. Other Spanish explorers, landing in Mexico and Central America, established settlements. Since these people all spoke Spanish, it became the language of the Spanish part of America, even when the Spanish colonies broke away from Spain. In the same way, English and French both stand as official Canadian languages because the land was discovered by explorers from both countries, among others John and Sebastian Cabot (1) for England and Champlain (2, black arrow) for France. Settlements were made by both countries. England based her claims to the land further South, now the U.S.A., on the Cabots' voyages, and many settlements were made; so now we speak English.

Volcanoes Symbolize Love Affair

By JOHN PLATERO
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — About ten miles south of Mexico City on the road to Cuernavaca, Taxco and Acapulco are two inactive volcanoes—Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl - the legendary symbols of a beautiful love affair.

Leaving this capital city on Mex. 95, the road slowly bends through beautiful, greenery much like that of the northwestern United States, particularly that of Montana.

Flowers and trees are always in bloom while an occasional vaquero on a tired-looking burro plods along oblivious to late model automobiles passing him by.

Often, happy-faced little Mexican children with bright brown eyes cheerfully romp through fields or near the safety of their shack-like homes.

Soon the dwellings become less frequent and one begins to notice the skyline. It is then, off in the distance to the left that the two snowcapped volcanoes are spotted.

It is obvious that Ixtaccihuatl is the female because it resembles a sleeping woman. Off to the right proudly stands Popocatepetl—the warrior,

Legend says that Ixtaccihuatl was a beautiful young Indian princess who was in love with Popocatepetl—a warrior from a different tribe.

When she finally acquired courage enough to tell her father of her love and hopes to one day be Popocatepetl's bride—the Indian chief refused.

He then chose a young man from his own tribe to be her husband.

Saddened, she went to a little hill where she and her lover had met so many times before and sacrificed herself to the gods.

Later, Popocatepetl went to their secret rendezvous and found the lifeless Ixtaccihuatl.

According to legend, he decided that no one would ever molest her permanent sleep and so he stood an endless vigil by her side until he, too, met death.

The gods were kind to the young lovers and in time they were transformed into two volcanoes—an everlasting symbol of a true love.

Knowing the legend, one keeps looking back as the symbolic couple begins to disappear in the distance.

Anon, personal reflections will occupy one's mind until Curva De La Pera—a dangerous pear-shaped curve - is right ahead. Far below lies Cuernavaca "The City of Eternal Spring"—and the beginning of another adventure.

Plano Teacher Receives Honor

AUSTIN (AP) — Mrs. Betty Mischen of Plano, a senior English instructor, has been named 1971 Teacher of the Year in Texas.

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar disclosed the selection of the Plano High School English Department chairman, who will be Texas' nominee for National Teacher of the Year.

Residents Are Reluctant

MILTON KEYNES, England (AP) — Britain has spent millions of pounds since 1946 on building "new towns" for big-city slum dwellers but the prospective residents aren't turning up, says a report by the development council of Milton Keynes, one of the freshly constructed communities.

The atmosphere of new towns has been repeatedly criticized as cold. And now a research group is trying to pin down the precise reasons for the lack of prospective residents.

PARTICIPATE IN SEMINAR—Dr. L. W. Butler and wife, Becky, of Snyder are shown with Dr. J. W. Parker, center, president of Parker Chiropractic Research Foundation, in Fort Worth, after receiving an award for completing his GTO (grand tour organization), participating in the Seminars on Research of Chiropractic cases. Dr. Butler spoke to over 400 chiropractors on the results achieved in cases of headache, backaches, nervousness and other conditions frequently encountered in his daily practice. The sessions included improved methods of neurological and orthopedic examination, research and data regarding spinal misaligment, and a comprehensive report on posture and physical fitness. Dr. Parker said, "It is highly gratifying to see so many doctors put forth the effort to come here to fulfill their responsibilities to their patients by studying and learning the very latest research developments of our profession." Attending the seminar were doctors of chiropractic and their assistants representing most states, several provinces of Canada and Australia.

'Pink' Licenses Are Suggested

AUSTIN (AP)—Pink auto license plates for drunks and weekends in jail for persons caught driving without licenses were suggested in a semi-serious vein Wednesday to a legislative committee.

The Committee on Uninsured Motorists heard testimony from labor, lawyers and the insurance industry.

Sam Winters, Austin lawyer representing car insurance companies, said insurance rates and accidents could be reduced drastically if a small percentage of drivers could be removed from the road.

"Maybe a guy who is a habitual drinker, give him a pink license plate or something like that," Winters said with a tight lipped grin.

Sen. Chet Brooks, Pasadena, said there should be some evidence of financial responsibility, such as a liability policy, required when a driver buys his license plates.

"Of course, they could cancel their policies right afterwards," Winters said.

"What about putting them in jail if they are caught driving without a license?" Brooks later suggested.

Winters reminded him that previous attempts had failed in the legislature because of arguments that this would cause a hardship on families of persons who must drive to earn a living.

Brooks commented that Travis and Harris counties have programs where certain offenders spend every Saturday and Sunday in jail until they have served out their jail terms for certain violations.

H. S. "Hank" Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, predicted the percentage of uninsured drivers in Texas will jump from 35 per cent now to 50 per cent if a proposed 18.6 to 23 per cent car insurance increase takes effect.

He blamed insurance companies for the large numbers of uninsured drivers.

"In considering the question of the uninsured motorists, I recommend that you draw up legislation to stop insurance companies from cancelling policies arbitrarily," Brown said.

He accused insurors of practicing "racial discrimination" by denying coverage to a high percentage of Negroes and Mexicans.

Lightning generated by storms around the world strikes the earth 100 times each second.

When the United States inaugurated Rural Free Delivery in 1896, many farmers regarded the mailman as a federal interloper and complained that he deprived them of an excuse for going into town to exchange gossip at the county post office.

Readers give thanks for their blessings

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR READERS: Today is the day to reflect and give special thanks for our blessings. My personal blessings are many. May I share with you a few letters for which I am extremely thankful.

Happy Thanksgiving! ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Your short-lived "romance" is over. Your newly found sweetheart, Sol Shecter, died on August 3, prematurely, at the tender age of 86½. I say "tender age" because Sol was perennially young, and he argued and fought and made up and kissed like a young boy because he had his big two-cents in everything, nothing daunted him, and we loved him for his "joie-de-vivre."

So, why am I telling you this? Because I want you to know that in the short period you corresponded with him, I wish you could have seen the glow you brought to his eyes in the last stages of his terminal illness—how he chirped around with pride when he discovered [or was informed] that you had alluded to him [who else?] in one of your columns, and how we had to make extra copies of the correspondence that went on between you two, so he could show it around with a huff and a puff.

You brought this little, old, endearing, effervescent man a few extra hours of happiness, Abby, and surely just rewards must come to a person like yourself who, despite the pressures of your professional life, can take the time to respond to another human heart.

HELEN SCHAPS [MRS. S.]
PARK VIEW HOME, CHICAGO, ILL.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is to thank you for the two letters in today's Portland Oregonian, concerning the woman who wants to have her cat buried with her, and your replies to each.

At the present time, I am having "deep water" to go thru as I decided to remain with the husband I wrote you about two years ago. [I received from you a very heart-warming personal reply.]

Your column made me laugh aloud today—something I seldom do. Thank you for being you.

MRS. C. IN PORTLAND

DEAR ABBY: I am a 69-year-old man who has been around quite a bit and have always been able to take care of my own problems, so what am I writing to you for?

To say God bless you, and thank you from the bottom of my heart for your column in the Las Vegas Review-Journal yesterday.

You see, I have been a very sick man for the last three years. I had to give up all enjoyable activities, am on a very strict diet and I live in constant pain. I had not smiled or laughed for three years. Then I read your column [I never miss it] and two letters, one right after the other, struck me so funny, I burst right out laughing. I laughed for one hour—until the tears ran down my face, then I called up a friend and asked her to go dancing. And Abby, we went, and had a wonderful time.

She asked, "What happened to you? Did your doctor give you a new pain killer or what?" I said, "No, laughter is the best medicine and Dear Abby wrote the prescription." Then I showed her your column, and we both laughed for the rest of the evening.

How can I thank you? DICK SULMAN

DEAR DICK: You just did!

DEAR ABBY: This is a fan letter—the first I've ever written to anyone.

Of course, I have my problems, but who doesn't? I have a fat, lazy stepson who is 28, won't hold a job and thinks his Dad owes him a living. Then there's my daughter in law who thinks I'm made of money. I solved that by telling her to get lost.

I've just enjoyed your column in the Austin, Tex., evening paper so much I had to tell you.

How about that Italian lady with the Irish husband who put an ad in the paper saying, "Marie, Come Home, the Dog Misses You." What a wonderful sense of humor.

My husband is half Irish and that sounds like something he would do. And I'd love it.

Your column makes my day. Thanks for making my happy life happier. M. P. IN AUSTIN

Trolley cars following route 3-T, in Helsinki, Finland, have special charm for American tourists, according to National Geographic. Three-T makes a figure eight through the city, passing many points of interest such as the cathedral, the parliament house and several colorful markets. At each stop, a well modulated taped voice coming over the streetcar's sound system tells the traveler exactly what he is seeing—in English.

HOW MUCH TAX DEDUCTIBLE INTEREST DID YOU TAKE LAST YEAR ON YOUR TAX RETURN AS INTEREST ON YOUR AUTOMOBILE INSTALLMENT NOTE?

Let us prepare for you an Amortization Schedule, which we will compute under THE RULE OF THE 78's METHOD, inconfirmity with the Regulation Z, Truth in Lending Act. This will give you the greatest amount of Tax Deductible Interest.

The SCHEDULE will set out the following: FACE OF THE NOTE, MONTHLY PAYMENT, the INTEREST AND PRINCIPAL IN EACH PAYMENT, the PRINCIPAL BALANCE OF NOTE, the PAY-OFF BALANCE, the UNEARNED INTEREST, A TAB SETTING OUT THE TAX DEDUCTIBLE INTEREST FOR THE YEAR IN QUESTION ready for your 1970 Income Tax Return.

The Computerized Schedule is prima facia evidence for use by you or your tax man.

Send for the necessary ORDER FORM, or better still — send the Disclosure Statement or Contract given you by the dealer from whom you bought your automobile.

The cost to you is only $3.00 and should save you several times this amount in income tax savings by using the Rule of the 78's Method of computation.

Cooper, Holliday Meet For Regional Title

When Cooper's Pirates and Holliday's Eagles tangle in Tiger Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Friday, local grid fans will have an opportunity to see a predominantly passing team in action against a predominately running team.

Coach Pete Hurst's Lubbock Cooper Pirates have good balance and one of the best passers in the state in Jack White, a 155-pound senior quarterback. He has completed 102 of 198 passes this year. Nine of them have been for touchdowns. A three year starter, White definitely is All-State potential.

Two other outstanding boys in the Pirate attack are Gilbert Martinez, a 165-pound senior split end. He has caught 41 passes for 600 yards. The other standout is Gary Schaffner, 190-pound senior right guard. As a linebacker, Schaffner has averaged 18 tackles per game. Schaffner and Martinez also are three-year starters.

Coach Hurst admits that passing is the Pirates' strong point. He said lack of depth, size and speed are weaknesses.

Coach Milford Groves of Holliday also says his team lacks any real speed. But, he said the Eagles are strong defensively. The records bear out his statement for Holliday has shut out its last five foes..

Holliday has a good 1-2 punch in left halfback Ricky Allgood and right halfback Mike King. Allgood, a 150 pound junior, has gained 1,019 yards on 208 carries this season. Against Albany, he gained 141 yards on 28 trips. Ricky has scored 13 touchdowns this season. King, who has collected 10 TD's, has gained 869 yards on 184 carries. Against Albany, he gained 89 yards on 23 carries.

Both teams employ the Wishbone T offense. Defensively, Holliday goes with a 6-2 alignment while Cooper uses an Arkansas 5 or monster defense.

Holliday has a 9-2 record, having scored 238 points while yielding 42. Lubbock Cooper has a 10-1 record. The Pirates have scored 271 points and given up 93.

Aggies Are On Longhorn Menu

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas A&M, apparently without a wing or a prayer, is on the menu today for Texas' tough birds.

But the Aggies could be a real bellyache if the eyes of Texas are upon Arkansas.

Top-ranked Texas is supposed to have easy pickings with Texas A&M in their traditional Thanksgiving Day game, but you couldn't fault the Longhorns for looking ahead to Arkansas the week after.

The Dec. 5 meeting with the Razorbacks will determine the Southwest Conference champion and a place in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

The loaded Longhorns have trimmed 28 teams in a row and the Aggies have been easy prey for their opponents, winning two games all year. Last year, Texas creamed Texas A&M 49-12, but the Aggies are looking for a replay of their 1963 battle when they almost pulled off the upset of the year, succumbing by two points.

Houston meets Florida State at Tampa, Fla., Mississippi State plays at 10th-ranked Mississippi and Villanova is at Temple in other Thanksgiving Day rivalries which begin college football's last, big regular season weekend.

The Houston-Florida state affair will be televised nationally, starting at 7:30 p.m., EST, on ABC-TV.

Army plays Navy in Philadelphia Saturday in their annual service classic. Other games include fourth-ranked Notre Dame at Southern California, sixth-ranked Louisiana State at Tulane at night; Georgia Tech, the 16th-rated team, at Georgia, Alabama vs, 17th-ranked Auburn at Birmingham, Ala., and No. 7 Tennessee at Vanderbilt.

Houston and Florida State match a pair of high-powered offenses. Sure-handed Elmo Wright, who has caught 31 touchdown passes, leads Houston. Airminded Florida State counters with passing wizard Tommy Warren, who has thrown for 1,387 yards and nine TDs.

Shug Chambler, plugging the hole left by injured Archie Manning, leads Mississippi against defense-poor Mississippi State, led by quarterback Joe Reed.

Suit Caused Cage Break

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Memphis newspaper reported today the breakdown of merger talks between the rival major basketball leagues came because of a misunderstanding involving a lawsuit—not because of jumping of players from the older National Basketball Association.

The Commercial Appeal quoted American Basketball Association Commissioner Jack Dolph as saying, "It is a very discernible misunderstanding between the two leagues involving the terms of dismissal of an antitrust suit the ABA has filed.

"They were thinking we would disniss the suit sooner, and we say we did not say that. It is a matter between the merger committees.

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy announced the end of negotiations by saying his league had discontinued efforts to obtain legislation from congress which would permit the formation of a single league.

Arkansas State Retains Status

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas State retained its No. 1 ranking today in the Associated Press college division weekly football poll.

Now 10-0 after finishing its regular season with a 27-3 victory over Southern Illinois last week, State received seven first place ballots and 245 points in the voting by an AP panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Montana, which completed its season with a 10-0 mark, was second with three firsts and 207 points.

Arkansas State will play next on Dec. 12 when it plays Central Missouri in the Pecan Bowl at Arlington, Tex.

Tampa's first loss of the season after nine victories, 36-28 against Vanderbilt, dropped the Florida school one notch from fourth to fifth. North Dakota State remained third and Tennessee State, which beat Parsons 21-3, moved up one notch into the No. 4 spot.

Wofford, Texas A&I, Jacksonville State, Alcorn A&M and Southwest Louisiana complete the first 10 teams in that order.

The top twenty teams with first place votes in parenthesis and total points on a 20-18-16 through 1 formula:

1.	Arkansas State	(7) 245
2.	Montana	(3) 207
3.	North Dakota State	154
4.	Tennessee State	149
5.	Tampa	(1) 148
6.	Wofford	(2) 132
7.	Texas A&I	(1) 102
8.	Jacksonville State	94
9.	Alcorn A&M	88
10.	Southwest Louisiana	73

2nd Place Teams Seek Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Realignment has made second place an important spot for National Football League teams this year and three clubs which would like to finish second and one that wouldn't will be playing important games today.

Under the realignment plan adopted by the NFL this season, champions in each of six pro divisions-three in the National Conference and three in the American Conference—qualify for the playoffs along with the second place team with the best record from each conference.

So even though Green Bay and Dallas trail in their respective NFC Eastern and Central Division races, second place could be worth a playoff spot and that's what both teams have in mind right now.

The Packers and Cowboys will clash in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas as part of a Thanksgiving Day pro doubleheader. In the other half, Detroit, one game ahead of Green Bay in the race for second place in the Central Division, hosts Oakland. The Raiders, leaders in the AFC Western Division, shun any talk of second place. They want to finish on top.

The Cowboys, Packers and Lions would like that too, but the numbers don't favor them.

Dallas is tied with New York at 6-4 in the NFC's Eastern Division, 1½ games back of first place St. Louis with only four to play.

Green Bay is 5-5, a full game back of second place Detroit in the Central Division. The Lions at 6-4, are three behind Minnesota, which has all but clinched that title.

Oakland holds a one-game edge over Kansas City in the AFC West and that, of course, is how they'd like to keep it.

The Raiders will have to cope with a hot hand against Detroit. The Lions are expected to start Greg Landry at quarterback after his three-touchdown performance a week ago.

And the Lions will be facing the oldest and hottest toe in pro football in 43-year-old George Blanda, the kicker-quarterback, whose last-minute heroics are becoming routine.

Dallas gets a chance to shake its Green Bay jinx. The Cowboys have never beaten Green Bay in championship play, losing four regular season and two NFL title contests to the Packers.

Today's doubleheader gets the pro weekend off to an early start. On Sunday, it will be Los Angeles at San Francisco, San Diego at Kansas City, Minnesota at the New York Jets, Cleveland at Pittsburgh, Chicago at Baltimore, Denver at Houston, Philadelphia at St. Louis, the New York Giants at Washington, Boston at Buffalo and New Orleans at Cincinnati.

Monday's game has Miami at Atlanta.

AAA Has Top Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Class AAA starts its state football playoffs one week later than the other divisions but will make up for lost time tonight with first-rate showdowns at every turn.

Two of the biggest shootouts on the card will be in West Texas at Odessa and Brownwood.

Top-ranked Brownwood, the defending champion, heads down the same trail that led to the 1969 title against Lubbock Estacado. The other battle on the Plains is between fourth-ranked Monahans and seventh-rated Dumas.

Fifth-ranked Jacksonville tangles with ninth-rated Daingerfield and third-ranked Jasper plays 1969 finalist West Columbia in other key AAA games.

Most of the top games in Class AAAA are reserved for Saturday. Odessa Permian, conqueror of No. 1-ranked Wichita Falls in bi-district play last week, meets Arlington at Abilene Saturday. Third-ranked Port Arthur Jefferson tackles eighth-rated baytown Lee also on Saturday.

Tigers Open Home Slate Here Friday

The Snyder Tigers and the Andrews Mustangs both will be seeking their second victory of the season Friday night when they tangle in the Scurry County Coliseum in Snyder's basketball home opener.

Both teams are 1-0 after beginning their seasons Tuesday night.

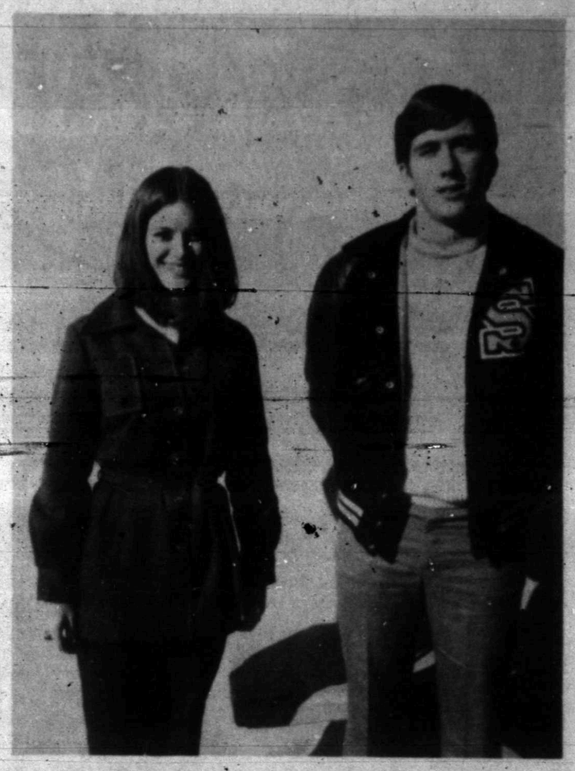

Andrews decisioned the Sweetwater Mustangs, 64-55, in the Andrews gym in its opener. The Tigers went to Levelland and edged the Lobos, 60-57, in what most observers labeled an upset.

The Tigers are performing this year with only one varsity letterman returning, Bid Cooper, a back court operative who saw considerable duty last season but who was not a starter.

Snyder school authorities have requested that elementary school children attend the basketball games only in the company of their parents and that they sit with their parents in the coliseum.

The Tigers are expected to go again with their starting lineup of Cooper, the only senior, Kent Horsley, Dubby Preston and David Thompson, juniors, and Tommy Washington, a sophomore.

The junior varsity, which also opened its season at Levelland with a victory, 49-33, will see action in the preliminary game at 6:15 p.m. Friday.

RAISE MONEY—The Snyder cheer leaders and the Fellowship of Christian athletes are selling tickets to the Robo Car Wash to raise funds to finance FCA projects during the year. From left, are Kathy Wellborn, head cheer leader, and Scott Morgan, president of the FCA. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wellborn, Jr., 2800 Thirty-eight Street. Scott is the son of Mrs. Eloise Morgan, 2709 Thirty-eighth Street. The tickets cost 75 cents and are good for one wash and wax job.

Big A, Big O Sparkle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRES

The Big A and Big O are earning their letters with Milwaukee ... and spelling success for the young Bucks.

Lew Alcindor and Oscar Robertson, a perfect parlay of scoring power and precision ballhandling, helped Milwaukee win its 16th game in row Wednesday night with a 113-87 National Basketball Association conquest of Detroit.

The Bucks' streak puts them two games shy of the NBA record held by the New York Knicks, whom they meet in a home-and-home series Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia beat Buffalo 99-92 in the first game of a doubleheader in Boston and the Celtics took the nightcap, beating Portland 122-115 Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New York turned back Atlanta 114-111; San Diego crushed Cincinnati 138-120 and San Francisco bounced Cleveland 108-99.

In the ABA, it was Pittsburgh 99, New York 96; Virginia 109, Indiana 100; Texas 113, Memphis 103; Kentucky 153, Denver 138 and Carolina 95, Utah 94.

Alcindor, the NBA's Super Soph, scored 31 points and veteran smoothie Robertson, in his first year with Milwaukee, scored 15 and propelled the Bucks with his backcourt play.

Otto Moore scored 17 points for Detroit, which lost its eighth game in the last ten after a spectacular 12-1 start.

Billy Cunningham scored 27 points and Hal Greer fired in 26 as Philadelphia wasted a 17-point lead, then pulled away in the final minutes of their opener at Boston Garden.

JoJo White scored 14 of his 23 points in the fourth period to break open the nightcap for Boston.

Willis Reed scored 35 points and took down 18 rebounds as New York whipped Atlanta for the second straight night. The Knicks beat the Hawks 128-119 in New York Tuesday night.

Elvin Hayes fired in 48 points and had 22 rebounds and Stu Lantz added 30 as San Diego ripped Cincinnati.

Jeff Mullins pocketed 25 points and Jerry Lucas added 21 as San Francisco handed Cleveland its 23rd loss in 24 starts.

Texans Lead At Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two Texans led the way into today's second round of the Mexican National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Tom Kite of Austin was the front runner with a two-under-par 70 Wednesday over the Club Campestre course, and Mike Jerome of Houston trailed him by a single stroke.

Fred Taylor Is Fired By TCU

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian fired head football coach Fred Taylor Wednesday, citing a "preponderant sentiment for a change and the best interests of the university."

Taylor, 50, concludes his fourth year as head coach Saturday when the Horned Frogs close out the season against rival Southern Methodist.

"I regret that this step had to be taken," said Dr. Earl Waldrop, senior vice chancellor at TCU, who cited the reasons for dismissal.

TCU is 3-6-1 for the season and 14-25-1 under Taylor, who succeeded Abe Martin when Martin moved up to athletic director.

Taylor was advised of the decision Wednesday morning. He informed the coaching staff and players before practice but otherwise had no immediate comment.

"I will have a post-game press conference after Saturday's game," he said. "At that time I will be glad to answer any questions regarding this situation, my past and my plans.

"But right now the main thing I want to worry about is winning this last game."

The university said in a statement that it is probable that Taylor will remain at TCU in another capacity. It said no action has been taken regarding a successor.

"I joined in this decision with great personal reluctance," said Chancellor James Moudy, "because Fred and I are friends of long standing. I have the greatest respect for his character and his long and competent service..."

Martin described Taylor as "an honest, sincere man, a good coach, a friend," and added, "I stand ready to back him in whatever endeavors he might wish to pursue in the future."

Taylor's dismissal followed by only a couple of weeks the resignation of Rice coach Bo Hagan, leaving two Southwest Conference berths to be filled.

Taylor, a tall, drawling Texan, graduated from TCU in 1948 and was named most valuable player on the 1946 Horned Frog team.

He coached at Lubbock High, Corpus Christi Miller and Victoria before joining TCU as a freshman coach in 1953.
