Rescue Crew Groping In Bowels Of Earth Today For Mine Blast Victims

TWO LIVES ALREADY LOST AND 17 OTHER MEN FEARED DEAD; ONLY TWO ABLE TO ESCAPE

(By The Associated Press)

LOGAN, W. Va., Mar. 12.—Rescue crews groped through smoke, gas and dust two miles back in a mine today, seeking 17 men they feared dead in an explosion that already had taken two lives.

CLUSTER OF BODIES

LOGAN, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—Rescue workers in the Macbeth mine flashed word to the mouth today they had reached "a cluster of bodies."

"Send in all the available stretchers and about 20 men, we can't bring them out," Garland Skaggs, mine engineer, said the rescuers asked.

The blast, second in ten months at the Macbeth mine of the Hutchinson Coal company, tore through the shaft last night a few hours after the night shift entered the mine.

The rescuers, 1,500 feet from the center of the explosion just before dawn, reported they expected to reach the trapped men today or tonight.

It took 40 hours to recover the bodies of 10 men killed in the explosion there last September.

E. L. Carlyle, member of a rescue crew, on his last trip to the surface today said there was "no hope" for the 17.

"There is no air back where they are," he added.

NORRIS URGING COURT REFORM

CLAIMS COURT NOT IN STEP WITH TIMES

NO STAND IS TAKEN ON PROPOSALS BY THE PRESIDENT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12—Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) urged congress today to try both legislative remedies and constitutional amendments to relieve what he called "the present intolerable situation" in the courts.

If those opposing limitations on the power of the courts persisted, he told the senate, it would result "in the pendulum swinging farther to the other side than progressive, thinking men and women are advocating at this time."

Methods Are Listed

Without committing himself on President Roosevelt's court bill, Norris listed that and seven other legislative methods for curbing the courts without a constitutional change.

He also listed a series of possible constitutional amendments, any one of which he indicated he would support.

"Our judiciary has not kept pace with human progress," he asserted.

"Our judges too often have stood upon the highways of human progress and held aloft 'stop' signs that have impeded civilization in its triumphant march.

Living In Past Age

"With due respect to the ability, the honesty, and the wisdom of our judges, I believe it can truthfully be said that many of them are living in an age that is past, and are continuing to construe our fundamental law in a light that has failed, rather than in the sunlight of an electric age."

Much of the senator's speech was devoted to a legal argument that congress by law could require more than a mere majority decision of the court to invalidate legislation.

"It does not seem logical, it does not seem fair," he said, "that a law passed by the congress, composed of more than 500 men, the representatives of the people, and approved by the president, elected by all the people, should be set aside by a bare majority of one, in a court holding unlimited power for life and not responsible in any way directly or indirectly to the people of the country."

Talks Of Lower Courts

Norris directed much of his attention to the lower courts, where he said "the greatest evils in our judicial system" arise. He proposed that a party applying for an in-

STAGE SHOW AND MERCHANTS' BALL ALSO ARE PLANNED; CAPACITY CROWD BEING EXPECTED

"Finishing touches" were applied to the Spring Fashion Picture, the Wes-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing Market association's style revue, at the final rehearsal held last night. The revue will be presented in the east ballroom of the Lubbock hotel at 8 o'clock tonight as one of the features of the association's 14th semi-annual market event.

The market event, with 43 wholesale merchants from manufacturing centers of several states participating, officially started Thursday morning when sample rooms on the second, third and fourth floors of the hotel were opened.

Eighteen trained mannequins will model merchandise here on sale for retail merchants of ladies' ready-to-wear, men's clothing, and other general lines in West Texas and New Mexico.

A stage show under direction of Lewis Walker and Jack Fuller will be presented at the revue with features, novelties, and song and dance numbers presented between showings of merchandise. J. H. Brock is director of the style event.

A capacity crowd of 350 persons is expected to attend with about 270 reservations already having been made by out-of-town retail merchants, their buyers and parties, Brock said.

After an opening number by Larrymore and his orchestra, street wear will be modeled. Merchandise on display will be by R. B. Manufacturing Co., of Dallas, ready-to-wear; and M. B. Hat Manufacturing Co., of Dallas, millinery.

Other Items Shown

Suits and coats will be shown in the second division with H. T. Poindexter and Sons Merchandise Co., of Kansas City showing ready-to-wear and D. M. Stern Wholesale Co., of Dallas millinery.

AGED WOMAN AND HER SON ARE KILLED IN RANCH AFFRAY

(By The Associated Press)

RANKIN, Mar. 12—Mrs. Mary Bell, 71, and her son, Wiley Bell, 46, were dead at their ranch home 12 miles northwest of here this morning and Cody Bell, 42, of Christoval, and Russell Bell, 39, of Fort Worth were in hospitals at Texon and San Angelo seriously wounded as the result of a shooting which took place at the ranch at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Officers surrounded the ranch house at daybreak today after Jim Horton, employe at the ranch, had taken Cody Bell to the Texon hospital and telephoned Sheriff Bill Fowler about the shooting.

Warning Is Given

He warned Fowler that Russell was heavily armed and would shoot it out with the officers. Fowler and three deputies arrested Russell in his mother's bedroom. He had been shot and could not move.

Sheriff Fowler and District Attorney Alan Fraser of Alpine were to question Cody Bell this afternoon. Sheriff Fowler telephoned Sheriff Hez Lowe at San Angelo and requested a guard be placed at the hospital where Bell is confined.

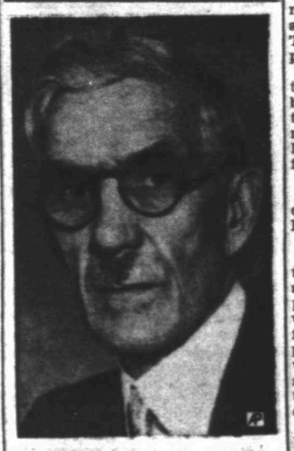

Bodies of Mrs. Bell and Wiley were taken to Midland this after-

LAWYER FLAYS FDR CRITICS

DECLARES HE SPEAKS FOR RANK AND FILE OF THE NATION

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—John P. Devaney, president of the newly formed National Lawyers Guild, asserted today many critics of the Roosevelt court bill fear that new justices "will be sufficiently independent to interpret the constitution as it was written rather than torture it to their own desires."

He made the statement while testifying at the third day of hearings before the senate judiciary committee.

Closely Questioned

The former chief justice of the Minnesota supreme court was closely questioned by committee members about his organization after he had claimed to speak for "the rank and file lawyers" of the nation, and suggested that members of the American Bar association shared "the prejudices of their clients."

Devaney urged enactment of the president's court bill as "the most conservative remedy available" to make possible "progressive legislation now imperatively needed."

Respect At Low Ebb

He told the committee respect for the courts was now at a "low ebb" and added:

"If any group in the country stands in real danger of being taken to the whipping post, it is the lawyers, and if the lawyer and his

PENSION HEAD ALSO DRAWS BIG FINE

STATEMENT TO PRESS IS ISSUED TODAY AFTER RULING

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension leader, received a sentence of 30 days in jail and a fine of $100 for contempt of the house of representatives.

When sentence was pronounced by U. S. District Judge Peyton Gordon, the tall gray Californian said "thank you, sir." His attorney announced the case would be appealed. Justice Gordon continued Townsend's $1,000 bond, pending the appeal.

Statement Is Issued

Later Townsend issued a statement to the press defending his pension plan and saying "try as they can to imprison me, they can't imprison that idea."

The pension advocate was convicted recently by a district federal court jury on one of two counts resulting from his walking out of a house committee hearing on the Townsend $200-a-month pension plan last July.

Elisha Hanson, Townsend's attorney, had asked for a new trial, but Justice Gordon denied the motion today. He imposed the minimum sentence and explained the law required both a jail term and a fine.

Release Is Opposed

Townsend's release on bond was opposed by U. S. District Attorney Leslie C. Garnett.

In his statement, Townsend said: "I stand convicted before a United States district court of violating an act of congress in failing to appear before a committee before which I did appear. However . . . I feel certain that before the bar of public opinion I am guiltless of any wrong doing . . . I would do the same thing again tomorrow should the occasion arise, under similar circumstances."

"The tide is definitely turning," he added, "and my crackpot idea is becoming the idea which will save America from economic serfdom and will bring happiness and prosperity to our people."

He also attacked the congressional investigation as "persecution."

Two of Townsend's aides, John B. Kiefer of Chicago, and Clinton B. Wunder of New York, pleaded guilty to the same contempt charge of which Townsend was convicted but were given suspended sentences after apologizing to the house.

FARMING RISK BEING CUT

INSURANCE FOR WHEAT FARMERS IS BEING ASKED THIS YEAR

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The administration, seeking new solutions for the farm problems of the nation, has put forward a five-point program. This second in a series of three articles deals with two closely-related recommendations — crop insurance and the "ever normal granary.")

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 12 — Government farm experts are seeking to cut down the risks of farming, which they consider the greatest gamble in the world.

Senate agricultural leaders hope to send to the floor next week a measure setting up a $100,000,000 corporation to insure wheat farmers against the loss of their crops in bad years.

To Aid Other Crops

Insurance will be extended later, they predict, to cotton, corn, tobacco and other major crops.

Such insurance is one part of a dual program to protect the producer against the hazards of nature and to stabilize both price and supply. The other part is the "ever normal granary."

Government farm experts suggested premiums be paid in grain during bumper years to guarantee the farmer a fixed portion of his normal crop in bad years.

The statisticians figured the average farmer could afford to pay in one third to two thirds of all his wheat yield above normal in good

Notre Dame Coach Killed In Mishap

CHICAGO, Mar. 12. (AP)—John J. "One Play" O'Brien, 31, assistant football and track coach at Notre Dame university, was killed early today when his automobile crashed into a railway viaduct pillar.

O'Brien was en route to his South Bend, Ind., home after a speaking engagement at Harvard, Ill.

He earned the sobriquet "One Play" in 1928 against the Army by catching a 40 yard touchdown pass on his first play of the game to upset the Cadets 12 to 7. The late Coach Knute Rockne pulled him out immediately after the feat.

Man Being Held As Result Of Mishap

One man was charged with drunkenness in Justice of the Peace Walter Davies court this morning as a result of an automobile-truck collision on the highway one mile south of Woodrow about 4:30 o'clock this morning.

Highway Patrolman Weldon Lawson, who investigated the mishap, said the man charged was driver of a coupe which was in a head-on collision with a truck operated by J. A. Mayfield of Amarillo.

Both vehicles were damaged extensively, Highway Patrolman Lawson said.

The man arrested after the mishap suffered a laceration on his right elbow. He remained in county jail this morning pending arraignment.

TEXARKANA, March 12 — J. C. Hartsfield, escaped negro prisoner from Jefferson, where Sheriff Alex Brown was slain early Wednesday, was captured last night at Carbondale near here.

Hartsfield gave his captor, Henry Brooks, sheriff of Bowie county, a statement detailing his activities since the escape with another prisoner, Charley Brooks, a week ago.

Sheriff Brooks was holding him in the county jail at Boston while the statement was being checked.

Hartsfield was nabbed on a large farm where more than 500 negroes were employed.

Brown was killed by a shot through a window as he undressed for bed.

Officers investigating the slaying were checking the escape of the two prisoners.

Hartsfield had been held on a chicken theft charge and Charley Brooks, another negro, on a robbery from person charge.

REPEAL PLANS ARE DELAYED

EFFORTS ARE MADE TO FORCE HEARING ON WAGERING BILL

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 12—An effort to force an early hearing on repeal of legalized horse race betting in Texas failed at least temporarily in the senate today.

After a flurry of debate over rules, a resolution by Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur, under which the senate would consider next Tuesday in committee of the whole several repeal measures now in the criminal jurisprudence committee, was laid aside.

Back To Committee

The senate two days ago sent back to the criminal jurisprudence committee a repeal bill it had passed to third reading on the plea opponents had not been given a public hearing.

Repeal proponents, reported to be concentrating on a repeal measure already passed by the house of representatives and also in the committee, want as early a hearing as possible to expedite floor action.

Allred Wants Action

Governor James V. Allred, who has set repeal of the law which in 1933 legalized the certificate system of betting on horse racing as one of the major parts of his legislative program, likewise has urged an early hearing.

Senator Weaver Moore of Houston, temporarily presiding, did not rule directly on a point of order that the Woodruff resolution could not be considered immediately, but indicated he would so rule if the proposal was pressed, whereupon Woodruff deferred the matter.

The senate then took up an appropriation bill.

Retail Sales Over Nation Go Higher

NEW YORK, Mar. 12. (AP)—The recent wave of pay increases and pressing Easter requirements released additional buying forces during the week which enabled most key cities to report retail sales at a new high for the year, Dun & Bradstreet said today in the review of trade and business.

"Belated spring commitments and more replacement orders from the flood areas brought a fresh impetus to buying in wholesale markets," the agency said. "A more fortified advance spread to most industries, despite the appearance of turbulent labor disputes in some divisions."

Flowered Material Fills Dress Racks

Dress manufacturers are throwing bouquets at spring styles and are expecting feminine buyers to like it.

Dresses of flowered materials fill the racks in wholesalers' rooms at the Wes-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing market.

"No woman's wardrobe is complete without a spring dress," stylists have said.

Madame Public will not have difficulty in finding solid colors, however to fill the remainder of her wardrobe.

Sheer dark dresses, with corsages and feminine touches of white material, and scores of dresses in gay solid colored spring materials are being shown to retail merchants of this section when they visit the market.

Outstanding Shades

Red Earth, honey, gold, chartreuse, thistle powder blue, biege, grey and coronation blue are among shades expected to entice the feminine buyer.

Thistle, a new spring shade, is expected to be extremely popular. The Romans might have a substitute name for it, but wholesalers admit they don't. It's "between a wine and orchid color," a "rose shade," was one description.

Polka dots of white may be seen on black, navy, red, green, and brown, and shirtwaist is a popular pattern. "Pin dots" may be seen.

Black Also Popular

A large number of black and navy dresses is being shown.

"Marquisette will be the rage," opined wholesalers. Silk marquisettes in afternoon and evening dresses, and cotton marquisette in popular priced sport dresses are being displayed. Nets, crepes, and chiffons are popular. Wholesalers are showing chiffons with woven dots.

"Topper" coats, which are short with loose backs, predominate in coats and offer that swing style popular in dresses.

"Swishing, swirling styles" for the young miss are featured by one wholesaler. Princess and shirtwaist styles predominate. They are ankle length and are shown in white, pink, blue, maize, nile, peach and orchid.

The masculine buyer may express the spring mood in plaids, said one wholesaler. Sun-ray backs, "not quite so fancy as those shown last year," and minus yokes in the back, were seen.

New Developments Herald Amazing Changes In Homes

A new type of interior decoration promises to come into vogue with the adoption of glass masonry to take the place of windows. Note in this living room above, for instance, how all furniture is kept low, to prevent blocking light, and the arrangement of furniture permitted through absence of windows.

By NEA Service

NEW YORK. — In the years to come you're likely to hear a lot about "health walls." Which is why you'd better get acquainted with what they are right now. First thing you know the architect you consult about remodeling your home will be suggesting that you ought to put "health walls" in it.

Technically, they are known as translucent masonry. In other words, walls made of glass blocks. And they are touted as relentless enemies of dust, din and darkness because they not only take the place of windows (entrances of dust as well as light) but let in a maximum of light while affording privacy and are practically soundproof.

They've already found extensive adoption by interior decorators, being used in living rooms, sunporches, dining nooks, at the heads of stairways and in the kitchen. And great boon—they admit adequate light to bathrooms without sacrificing privacy.

There probably will have to be an extensive change in the decor of "health wall" homes, for furniture is strikingly accented against a background of glass blocks.

In the dining room of one such home, the table and chairs were placed in the center near the wall; then, on either side and touching the wall, was a tall potted plant that almost reached the ceiling. Lounging or reading furniture and gadgets in the living room were correctly and conveniently used near the glass side.

Also worthy of consideration for remodelling the home is the new unit kitchen with standardized, prefabricated and inter-changeable units which will fit any kitchen plan.

The unit kitchen may be adapted to one-wall, L-shaped or U-shaped kitchens, and it is extremely flexible so that as many sections as desired may be ordered to fit any space.

There are six basic sections — range, dishwasher, sink, refrigerator, base cabinet and a corner section. Each section has four divisions—top storage cabinets, lighting strips or molding, back splash wall panel and base units of drawers or appliances. Other cabinet sections also may be added where desired.

They keynote of the unit kitchen is standardization. Each section—either a base cabinet section or an appliance section—is 24 inches wide. The maximum height of a complete section is 88 1-2 inches. Work surfaces are all one height, and the top storage cabinets are all one size. The wall panels, which are 18 inches high, are made to finish the wall area between the back splash and the storage cabinets.

Saturday Girl Scout Rally Celebrates Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Of Society

Twenty-five years ago an American woman, Mrs. Juliette Lowe, began an organization that was the forerunner of one of the outstanding character building societies for young girls — the Girl Scouts. The observance here marks the fifth year of the organization in Lubbock.

There are four scout troops composed of 150 girls from the ages of 10 to 18, and three Brownie Packs of girls between the ages of 7 and 10 years. Mrs. C. C. Mansell is leader of Troop 1, with Miss Mary Anne Davis as lieutenant; Mrs. S. C. Newman is leader of Troop 2, with Miss Tina Mae Wright as lieutenant; Miss Doris Hopping is captain of troop 3 with Miss Juanita Price as lieutenant. Troop 4 is composed of Mexican children under the supervision of two Catholic catechists. They also direct a Brownie Pack and Miss Mary Margaret Carter and Mrs. R. F. Kennedy are leaders of two other such groups.

Council And Board

A council of adults governs the Girl Scout organizations, which is under an advisory board. Both are chosen from civic, welfare, educational and church interests in the community.

In observance of National Girl Scout week, March 8-14, the local troops have placed an exhibit in Levine's window with a miniature setting of a Girl Scout camp. A rally has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the American Legion hall with Mrs. Newman's troop in charge. Each girl is to bring a book to establish a bookshelf.

The activity of the year centers around a day camping project to be held during the summer in a city park under trained leaders. There also will be a week of camping, probably at Palo Duro canyon.

On The Council

Council members are Mrs. H. F. Godeke, commissioner, and Mesdames W. D. Wilson, A. B. Cunningham, M. C. Overton, George Finberg, Dan A. Blair, Albert Barnett, N. H. Holt, T. C. Delaney, R. F. Hinchey, R. S. Rodgers, T. W. Whigham, Kennedy and G. O. Walker and Miss Margaret Weeks.

Mrs. Wood has followed her own formula, is a successful business executive after years devoted to raising a family of five boys and one girl.

She was a grandmother and past the social security retirement age when she got her first job. Now a dyed-in-the-wool "career woman" she looks back on 15 years of daily nine-to-five routine. Europe Ponders With Anxiety On Selection Of Next Premier Of Britain

LEADERS TAKE SPOTLIGHT

THREE MEN MENTIONED IF BALDWIN QUITS BRITISH POST

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE
(AP) Foreign Specialist

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Europe is wondering with some anxiety who will be the next premier of England. Reports that the rock-ribbed conservative, Stanley Baldwin, will retire and accept an earldom have brought the names of three outstanding possibilities to the fore:

1—The heir apparent, Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain.

2—The colorful First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Samuel Hoare.

3—The legal-minded Minister for Coordination of National Defense, Sir Thomas Inskip.

Chamberlain The Austere

Chancellor Chamberlain, Baldwin's chief standby, is considered first. Austere and coldly analytical, Chamberlain is credited with having done more than any other individual to steer Britain through the depression.

British political experts say this 69-year-old conservative is the logical choice.

Then there is Inskip, who was drafted from the position of Attorney General less than a year ago to the new post of Minister for Coordination of National Defense.

There was a raising of political eyebrows when Baldwin made a military expert out of one of England's foremost lawyers, but Inskip has been receiving public commendation for the way he has tackled this job which means so much to England.

Also under the microscope is Sir Samuel Hoare, 57, a big figure despite his part in the sensational Anglo-French peace project for Ethiopia in 1935. What happened was this:

Tears In His Eyes

As Foreign Secretary he, with Premier Laval of France, formed a scheme to end the Ethiopian war by giving Mussolini part of the territory he was after. This plan aroused violent protests in France and England. Baldwin's government was shaken. There was only one way to save the government, and Hoare deliberately made himself the scapegoat.

He tendered his resignation and took sole responsibility for the muddle. Baldwin agreed to this with tears in his eyes. Hoare wept as he fled from the House after his brief speech which, so far as he knew, spelled his political end.

Mussolini took not only those portions of Ethiopia which the Anglo-French scheme projected, but the entire country.

Then last June Baldwin made the startling move of calling Hoare back to become First Lord of the Admiralty. Was the Premier making amends? Anyway, Hoare is credited with having done a workmanlike job.

"Dapper Sam Hoare" is a member of the "governing class" by birth, and inherited his title from his father. His greatest claim to fame rests in his having put civil aviation on its feet and established a great network of Empire air lines. When Baldwin named him Air Secretary in 1922, die-hard tories were amazed. Hoare answered them by flying 50,000 miles his first year in office, thereby doing much to popularize flying.

Hoare is efficient and has boundless self-confidence. When he was Secretary for India he appeared before the Committee on Indian Reform during 1933-34. He was in the witness chair for 83 hours and had quick answers for more than 15,000 questions.

Hoare was the man behind the government bill which granted India limited autonomy and his success with this great measure made him Foreign Secretary in 1935.

HOUSECLEANING

GOES PREPARED
Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister of Defense, generally carries a soft seat with him.

HEIR PRESUMPTIVE

TESTED STEEL
On thin ice or thick, at St. Moritz or in cabinet conferences, Sir Samuel Hoare always is urbane.

They Should Fight Pests In A Garden

STILLWATER, Okla., March 12 (AP)—Floriculturalist Franklin J. Reudel of Oklahoma A. and M. college believes belligerent statesmen should use their energies fighting garden pests.

"If a dictator finds himself impelled to override some lowly people," Ruedel insists, "he would do much for the betterment of the world if he stepped instead on a cutworm."

There are 1,100 kinds of animals and insects in the world, with thousands of varieties of each, it is estimated.

LONG FLIGHTS ARE PLANNED

SOUTH SEAS WILL BE GOAL; AMELIA TO LEAVE MONDAY

OAKLAND, Calif., March 12 (AP)—Two simultaneous aerial dashes to the South Seas appeared in the making today, with Amelia Earhart passing her first blind flying test preparatory to her projected world flight, and Pan American Airways disclosing plans to dispatch a big clipper plane to New Zealand.

Miss Earhart planned to get away for Honolulu by next Monday.

Flights To Differ

Pan American said it would start a clipper plane for the Antipodes within the next three days. Pan-American officials said the flights differed as to their objectives and would not follow the same route.

Miss Earhart, who has flown both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans alone, took her $80,000 "flying laboratory" through an hour of "instrument flying" accompanied by commerce department Inspector R. D. Bedinger.

The aviatrix said the plane would not be taken up again until she started the world flight. She expressed a desire to spare the motor as much as possible until then.

In contrast with her previous ocean flights, the forthcoming adventure will call for some navigational sharpshooting to hit the tiny islands on her route.

Accuracy Required

The first hop, 2,400 miles to Honolulu, calls for a degree of accuracy, but the second flight leg is even more difficult. It involves precision steering toward tiny Howland island, 1,900 watery miles across an untried skyway.

From Howland Miss Earhart expects to fly to British New Guinea, Australia, India, Africa, across the South Atlantic to Brazil and homeward via Panama and Mexico. The course zig-zags across the equator four times.

Pan American's clipper is to head almost straight southward from Hawaii to Kingman Reef, Samoa and New Zealand, with the idea of pioneering regular commercial service to the Antipodes.

GERMAN PROBE IS SOUGHT

DICKSTEIN SAYS THAT HITLER IS TRYING TO START WAR

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The house rules committee heard Rep. Dickstein (D-NY) assert today that "Mr. Hitler is trying to create a world war" and that men in America are drilling in uniform under the swastika flag of Germany.

Dickstein, who is chairman of the immigration committee, said he could name 100 spies who are attempting to set up a "fascist government" in this country.

Building Up Army

Producing pictures and literature he described as propaganda, Dickstein added that the nazis were trying to build up an army in the United States.

"Two hundred thousand are organized now," he shouted, "and there will be a million before the year is up."

He said organizations in 14 states, including New York, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Ohio specificially, were training men in uniform.

Proof Is Held

Dickstein said he had documentary proof that the leader of nazi forces in the United States is Fritz Kuhn, a Ford Motor company chemist.

He urged action on a resolution for a house investigation of groups or individuals distributing "slanderous or libelous unamerican propaganda of religious, racial, or subversive political prejudices which tends to incite to the use of force and violence."

The committee deferred action pending further hearings.

LOCAL RESIDENTS ARE BEING MOVED

H. L. Allen, general manager of the Texas-New Mexico Utilities company, announced yesterday that half a dozen Lubbock residents, employes of the company, will move to Plainview about April 1 to make that city their future homes in a concentration of departments at the Texas headquarters.

Those to be moved, include: L. C. McClurkin, general sales manager; H. B. Earthman, merchandise sales manager; W. L. (Pete) Pearson, power sales engineer; Alden Coffey, advertising manager; S. M. Cole, sales supervisor, and Miss Anna Bell Hickman, field economist and demonstration specialist.

Building Being Remodeled

What is known as the "road building department," of the company, handling the business in New Mexico, Central Texas and the South Plains, is to be concentrated in Plainview. A building there is being remodeled and will be ready by the last of the month.

Plainview is headquarters for the company in the state. R. G. Tabor is chief operating officer and vice president, with offices at Plainview; A. A. Chamberlain is assistant secretary and treasurer. A. J. Whiting, Clovis, N. M., is a vice president looking after the New Mexico properties and Mr. Allen heads the Lubbock office.

Several months ago the New Mexico and the Texas companies were consolidated under one group, with general headquarters at Plainview for the operating department.

In addition to the department heads, several clerks and other employes will be moved. Last fall Glen Chase was transferred there.

HE'D LIKE TO GET HER NUMBER AND ADDRESS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 12 (AP)—"Have you ever committed a crime involving moral turpitude?" Attorney J. Q. A. Harrod asked a federal court witness.

The witness pondered solemnly, then inquired, "Who's she?"

Cecil Casey Named City Fire Marshal

City commission Thursday afternoon named Cecil aCsey, assistant fire chief, City fire marshal.

The new marshal will continue his duties as assistant head of the fire department. His salary was increased $10 monthly.

After examining 20 applications for building inspector and after hearing a recommendation by City Manager W. H. Rodgers that D. J. Schlagg be named inspector, the commission decided to make a further study before making an appointment.

Schlagg is acting inspector, having taken over duties of D. A. Forbess, recently removed as inspector and fire marshal by the commission. Manager Rodgers suggested an assistant to Schlagg be named if the latter is named inspector.

Appointment of Casey was recommended by the manager. Casey was not an applicant for the place.

PROJECT SOON WILL START

FEDERAL FUNDS WILL BE RELEASED FOR CONSTRUCTION

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The Public Works administration announced today it would release immediately a $1,600,000 grant to start construction of a $5,000,000 irrigation project in Willacy county, Texas.

Aides of Secretary Ickes said the PWA administrator had signed a requisition authorizing that allocation be made available to the Willacy county water control and improvement district number one for a project which was approved originally in December, 1933.

PWA officials said the program contemplated lifting water from the Rio Grande at a new pumping station, carrying it across a pipe system to the district's customers.

Contracts Ready

They said two-thirds of the construction contracts for the first part of the work probably would be completed in 90 days.

The PWA was almost ready to release funds from an original allotment of $4,853,000 in 1934 when it decided to investigate reports that a group of contractors, material producers and others were combining to defraud the government. A federal jury here indicted seven men on charges of conspiracy to defraud but another panel acquitted them last June.

PWA officials said that since that time the irrigation district had submitted new plans which they said "are in very fine shape" and had met a PWA requirement that all outstanding bonds of the district be subordinated to the PWA obligations.

JUMPING JEHOSOPHAT! NOW YOU ARE NOT EVEN SURE FROGGIES ARE GREEN

NOT A PAINTING

Although this looks like an artist's vision, it is a photograph of real frogs—albinos. And they have an extensive family of white tadpoles. C. C. Moler, of Hagerstown, Md., raises them.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 12 (AP)—It was news in the scientific world a year or so back when the American Museum of Natural History acquired a live albino frog.

"Rarer than human quintuplets," commented Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, famed herpetologist.

"One in a million," agreed Dr. G. Kingsley Noble, curator of herpetology at the museum.

Now comes C. C. Moler of this city, an electrical engineer by profession, but fish and frog fancier at heart. One albino frog? Forsooth! Moler has a whole colony—23 white frogs, all alive, fat and bulgingly pink eyed.

Just By Chance

Moler's adventure in albinism began five years ago at Lilypons, Md., the town famed for its goldfish and the fact it is named for Lily Pons, the opera star. When Moler's story opens, the breeding ponds had been drained to harvest the year's goldfish crop.

Along with the goldfish, the nets gather thousands of round-bodied tadpoles. These are almost indispensable in the best goldfish ponds. Acting as scavengers, they correct the usual error of overfeeding the fish.

Among the thousands of this particular harvest, someone noticed a few tadpoles of peculiar paleness; saffron-colored instead of the usual mottled brown. They were shipped out, however, and several dealers eventually complained they had received "sick" tadpoles.

Thus, a rare find slipped by.

Pickled In Alcohol

A year later Moler chanced to be at Lilypons and heard of the white tadpoles. Realizing they must have been albinos, he traced them down. Only one, he learned, had achieved frogdom and that one was pickled in alcohol.

In the next harvest, however, he found three albinos. Through inexperience he lost two, but the third matured into a male. During the next year's harvest, only one—luckily a female—was found.

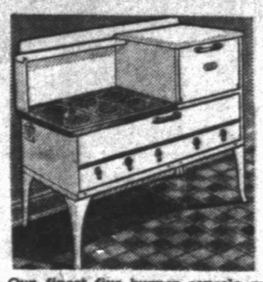

Today, Moler's froggy Adam and Eve are still alive—believed to be the world's first known pair of albino frogs. And they are contributing nobly to the amateur scientist's effort to create a new frog race.

Extreme care is necessary in rearing the frogs, especially since their albinism—a complete absence of pigmentation or color in the skin or coat—renders them extremely sensitive. One thing that especially must be avoided is fright. A good scare may cause the white frog to go on a hunger strike and waste away.

Accidents on the new auto highways and county roads of Germany increased 28 per cent in the year ending in October.

HIGH TEST

makes cold motors purr-r-r-r

Listen in... PHILLIPS POLY FOLLIES ... Columbia Network ... Every Tuesday Evening

HOW can you tell what power, pep, and speed, your motor will actually develop, until you have given it a real chance to "do its stuff" by filling up with high test gasoline?

Make the test with Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

It costs no more than ordinary low test motor fuels. Yet scientific laboratory tests made day in and day out, all winter long, have proved that the effective high test of Phillips 66 is unsurpassed by any other gasoline—even those selling at a higher price.

You will notice that your motor starts much faster . . . warms up quicker . . . that it literally purrs along at any speed from a snail's pace in traffic to a streamlined sprint on the out-of-town concrete.

You will also feel the added power which comes from the extra energy units supplied by the patented POLYmerization process.

You get these two-fold economies of extra high test and extra power . . . without extra price . . . because of Phillips resources as world's largest producer of natural high test gasoline . . . because of Phillips progressiveness and initiative as an Independent Organization.

So make it a point to get your next tankful of gas at the Orange and Black 66 Shield. You'll enjoy that difference in performance as well as the saving in money.

Marketing Of Fur Crop Is Completed

SAN ANGELO, March 12 (AP) — Marketing a fur crop having an estimated value of $250,000, the largest in nearly a decade, has been completed in this section. Prices ranged more than 30 per cent higher than in the 1935-36 season for much of the trapping period, but toward the end dropped more than 15 per cent, dealers say.

This was attributed more to decline in the quality of pelts than to over-supply.

Many ranchmen and farmers who had not trapped in recent years entered the field this year. M. C. Couch, buyer at Ozona, says more than $25,000 was paid to trappers in Crockett county.

Rain And Hail Are Seen In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 11. (AP) —Rain and hail beat down on parts of Oklahoma Thursday.

Hail heralded a downpour of rain at Holdenville, in east central Oklahoma. The rain measured unofficially 2.55 inches.

Gly-Cas Gives Best Health In Years

Indigestion, Sleeplessness Eliminated; Every Ache And Pain Gone Since Mr. Monget Gave Gly-Cas The Opportunity To Help Him

"For nine years before I learned of Gly-Cas, my stomach, liver and kidneys had caused me distress and it seemed each day they were growing worse," said Mr. Frank Monget, 1138 North Boulevard, Baton Rouge, La. "I had always enjoyed excellent health until constipation allowed my system to become clogged with poisons and my liver did not seem to function at all. Later my kidneys began to cause me lots of trouble at night. My sleep and rest was broken continually and I was always tired and worn-out. After eating most any foods I was sure to suffer with indigestion. Bloated, heart burned and often spit up foods after eating. I could not find anything to help me until I was finally persuaded to give this new Gly-Cas a trial."

"Gly-Cas was the very medicine I should have had years before," he continued. "It actually surprised me how quickly this new remedy took hold of my stubborn case. My stomach and kidneys were regulated almost at once. All those complications of indigestion, gas, heart palpitation and sleeplessness have left me entirely. I wake up in the morning full of energy and ready for my full days hard work. I am now enjoying my first well days in years and cannot laud this new Gly-Cas half enough for what it has accomplished for me."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

RECREATION FOR TEXANS IS GIVEN

AUSTIN, March 12 (AP)—A study shows that outdoor areas affording bathing facilities are the most largely used by Texans, indicating that the people of this state prefer swimming to other types of recreation, says the national park service.

The information obtained was helpful to the state parks board in developing plans to assure to recreation-seekers what they want, says a statement by the park service. A program was drawn to include swimming areas and bath houses at some of the state parks where the CCC is working under joint technical supervision of the national park service and the state parks board. Some of these areas have been completed and others are being developed, the statement says.

State parks in readiness for the coming swimming season include: Bonham; Corpus Christi; Garner, near Con Can; Bastrop; Balmorhea; McKenzie, at Lubbock; Meridian; Stephenville; Grayson county, near Denison; and Goose Island in the bay near Corpus Christi.

At Garner park swimming is in the Frio river where a beach has been provided. There are pools at Bastrop and McKenzie state parks, and lakes at Bonham, Corpus Christi, Meridan, and Stephenville. McKenzie pool was built by the City of Lubbock prior to development of the park being taken over by the CCC. The pool at Balmorhea has two lanes, each 75 feet wide and 250 long, leading into a central area. One of the lanes is a wading pool for children.

Landlords Will Be After New Tenants

DES MOINES, Ia., March 12 (AP)—B. H. Ribbard, University of Wisconsin economist, told a group of farm owners here he believed the recent small gain in the number of owner-operated farms in some sections of the country is "only incidental and temporary."

His theory is that the farm owners moved back from town to the country because their usual landlord's income has been depleted. He thinks that with better times they will be looking for tenants again.

KEEPS UP WORK

WEATHERFORD, Okla., March 12 (AP)—Nine-year-old Reuben Wetherby, who lost both legs near the hips last year when he fell into cotton gin machinery, has not missed a day of school since the term began in September. He rides between classrooms in a small wagon that he propels by turning a crank.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Rehearsal

KANSAS CITY — The motorist was ordered to the curb for driving past a safety zone.

"I was wrong," readily admitted the Rev. Russell B. Briney, "was too busy talking to my wife about safety and you are right officer. In fact, we approve heartily of your safety campaign. An officer is going to talk about it at my church."

Surprise spread over Patrolman Barney Mahoney's face.

"I'm that officer," he said.

Off they went to church together.

Shell Game

ASHTABULA, O. — Raymond Herrman may be the man who coined the saying that a pedestrian is just a motorist looking for his car. He reported theft of his machine to the police. Then he found it and asked officers to cancel the theft report.

When he went back to get the car, it had disappeared again.

Needlework

DENVER—Ten-year old Modelle Carlson told her mother a story and got stuck with it.

Her story was that she swallowed a needle. But physicians couldn't find it. Later the child admitted: "I told a story, mama. I swallowed three needles."

She was rushed back to the hospital where physicians found and removed three needles.

Claim Department

ADELAIDE, Australia — Mrs. J. B. Curry, 90, has a new black dress. Back in 1867 Mrs. Curry was the first customer in a newly opened department store. The management presented her with an outfit of clothing and told her if she came back when she was 90 they would give her another gown.

They kept their promise.

Breath Of Life

PLACERVILLE, Calif. — Frank Coster has a recipe for longevity —but its users won't be popular at kissing games.

His advice is to eat frequently and fully of garlic and onions. He gives these odoriferous vegetables credit for his 101 years, as well as for the ripe old age reached by his father, now dead.

"Pop ate onions and garlic all the time," Coster said, and died at the age of 127.

Oatmeal Nut Bread Is Delicious Treat

Is yours a husband who bemoans the passing of the things "Mother used to bake?" If so, you can put a stop to that refrain by surprising him some noon or evening with a loaf of Oatmeal Nut Bread. This delicious bread brightens up any luncheon or dinner, and makes a grand "between meals" snack.

2 cups Quaker Oats — 2 tsps. salt
2 cups boiling water
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup lukewarm water
1 tbsp. melted fat — 2 yeast cakes
4 cups flour — 2 cups chopped nuts

Pour the boiling water over the oats, cover and let stand until lukewarm. Dissolve yeast cakes in the warm water, add sugar and fat and stir into the oatmeal. Add 1¼ cups flour, beat well, cover and set aside to rise for one hour, or until light. Then add salt, nuts and the rest of the flour, or enough to make a dough. Turn out on a floured board and knead until smooth. Place in a greased bowl, cover and let stand again in a warm place until doubled in bulk, which will be about 1½ hours. Shape into two small loaves, put into well greased pans, filling them a little more than half full. Let rise to the top of the pan and bake 45 minutes in a hot oven—400 degrees.

PROPER DIET FACTOR IN DIONNE QUINS' HEALTH

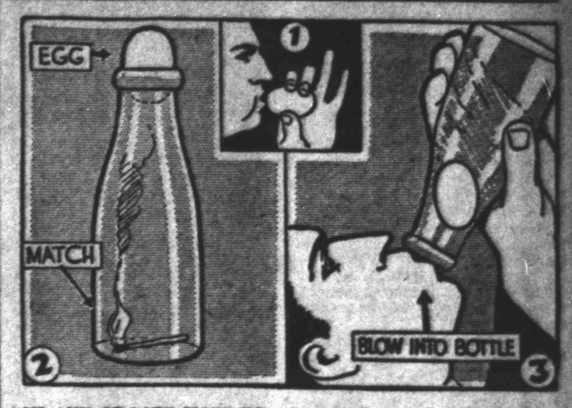

These robust World-Wonders, the Dionne Quins, are splendid examples of the value of scientific child-raising methods. Since birth, they have been under the constant care of the best medical experts that the government of Ontario, Canada, could provide, and these experts have shown remarkable familiarity with the most recent scientific findings, particularly in the matter of the youngsters' diets.

They have, for example, seen to it that the Quins have a bowl of oatmeal every day. Because in oatmeal is a rich supply of one of Nature's most precious food elements—Vitamin B, that helps brace-up nerves, digestion, appetite, when these are in poor condition due to lack of Vitamin B in the diet. In addition, oatmeal with milk is also a fine source of the minerals, protein, carbohydrates that help put weight and height on children.

Indirectly, then, the Dionne Quins' specialists have set an example for mothers everywhere by choosing Quaker Oats for the famous Canadian babies.

ERECTION OF SIGNS ON CITY STREETS IS AUTHORIZED

Erection of 2,732 name plates on 101 different streets and avenues was authorized by City commission yesterday.

The City will furnish materials and Works Progress administration will pay labor costs.

City Manager W. H. Rodgers estimated total cost to the municipality would approximate $3,000.

Many complaints have been made because of insufficient marking of thoroughfares.

Work Starts Immediately

The work will be started immediately. Forms already are under construction.

City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley was instructed to notify Farmers Refining company, Fourth street and Avenue O, that 177 residents of the north side of the City had complained the plant was creating a nuisance through refinery odors. If "such nuisance" is not ended, Bradley was instructed to file suit to enjoin the company from operating.

The petitioners set out that health of students in K. Carter school was endangered, as well as the health and comfort of residents of the section.

Two of three signal lights on Nineteenth street near Lubbock High and Dupre schools will be removed and three large, removable stop signs will be placed there. The stop signs will be taken from the streets after school hours and in the summer vacation period.

The action was taken after a traffic committee of the High school student body had suggested closing of Avenue U from Eighteenth to Nineteenth street and re-arrangement of the traffic lights. Closing of the avenue was not considered wise by the commission.

Co-operation of school officials in controlling pedestrian traffic will be invited.

A plan of disability insurance, for City employes, outlined by L. E. Hunt, will be considered later when all commissioners are present, it was decided. Commissioner W. G. McMillan did not attend the meeting.

With a view of controlling smoke from the disposal ground southeast of the City, the commission instructed Manager Rodgers and City Engineer Marlin R. Smith, jr., to prepare a plat of land near the present grounds. Possibility of erecting an incinerator, with a tall smokestack, was discussed. The commissioners will consider the question further at the next meeting.

Opinion of City Attorney Bradley on water rights in Yellowhouse canyon was presented.

Commissioner A. J. Richardson, at Austin this week, had protested granting of an application of Buffalo Springs owners, among them City Manager Rodgers, to erect a dam impounding 640 acre feet of water.

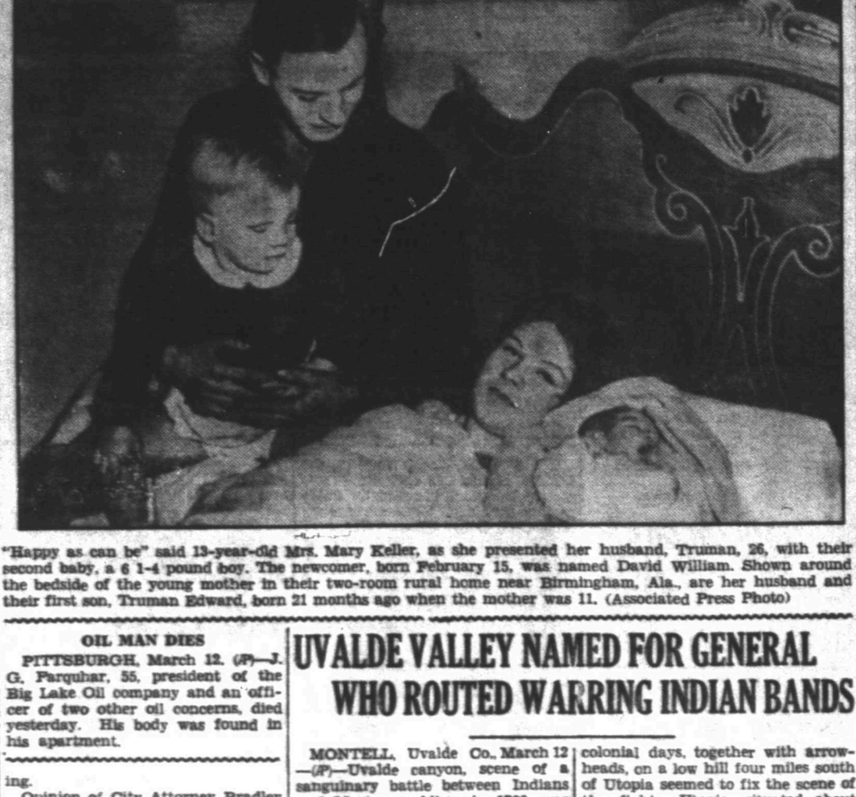

City Attorney Bradley explained the City had prior water rights in the canyon and that the proposed Buffalo Springs improvement would in no wise jeopardize the rights of the City to any water.

Contractors bonds of Claude Martin, E. R. Little, R. E. McCurdy, J. J. Rozzell, W. L. Cone, and M. G. Bowles were approved.

Appropriation of $1,000 to City-County Welfare association, to be used with $2,000 already appropriated by County commissioners court, was authorized.

UVALDE VALLEY NAMED FOR GENERAL WHO ROUTED WARRING INDIAN BANDS

MONTELL, Uvalde Co., March 12 —(AP)—Uvalde canyon, scene of a sanguinary battle between Indians and Mexican soldiers in 1786, was named for Gen. Juan de Ugalde, governor of Coahuila in 1778.

Old records show the Apaches and Comanches were raiding ranches near the Mexican border, but their speedy retreat to central area canyons baffled efforts to subdue them. Governor Ugalde, appointed commandante of arms in 1786, pursued one of the raiding bands and overtook it in the canyon that later bore a modified spelling of his name.

Indians Were Routed

The Indians were completely routed and abandoned the region. Some historians identify the Indians as Apaches, but A. J. Sowell, who studied and wrote an account of the fight, named the Comanches as Ugalde's antagonists. The Mexican force was less than 700 and the available force of the Indians has been estimated at 1,000.

The site of the battle long was in doubt, but discovery of bullets similar to those used by Mexicans in colonial days, together with arrowheads, on a low hill four miles south of Utopia seemed to fix the scene of the fight. Utopia, situated about midway of the valley, once was called Montana.

Pursued Into Divide

General Ugalde pursued the Indians into the rocky divide along the brakes of the Llano. At that time the Apaches lived in a stronghold around the Bandera pass in the Medina valley. A force from San Antonio under General Bandera drove them away, records show.

Uvalde canyon is about 90 miles north of west from San Antonio, part of it being in Uvalde and part in Bandera counties. It is about 25 miles long and from three to eight miles wide. The Sabinal river runs through it and nourishes pecan, cypress, cedar, and other trees. Numerous mounds and stone arrowheads identify the Comanches as early residents of the region.

Approximately 70,000 radio receiving sets have been registered in China during the last two years.

EXPEDITION OFF ON EXPLORATION

A party of Lubbock men and Texas Technological college students left this morning for Val Verde county to excavate a cave in attempt to find evidences of primitive man. The expedition was headed by Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the West Texas Museum association and acting head of the Tech history department.

Dr. C. J. Wagner and W. L. Pearson and the following Tech students were to leave this morning: Henry Clay Bailey, from Clarksville; Gordon Moore, Lubbock; Barney C. McCasland, jr., Tulia; James Huffman, Grapevine; Clifford Gibbs, Ropesville.

Mayor Ross Edwards, W. G. McMillan, and Winston Reeves, editor of the Tech yearbook, will leave Saturday to join the party. Reeves will make photographs. H. L. Allen, president of the West Texas Museum association, and others possibly will join the group.

Equipment for excavating an ash heap 11 feet thick in the mouth of a cave on the Pecos river in Val Verde county will be taken. Wheel barrows, material for sifting ashes, and other equipment will be taken.

Doctor Holden and McMillan visited the place about a year ago. The heap showed evidences of being built up over a long period of time.

Any evidences of primitive man found will be placed in the museum on the Tech campus.

Quaker Oats Will Open Local Drive

A comprehensive campaign by Quaker Oats in Lubbock and The Journal is scheduled to start soon.

Grocers appreciate the value of an established brand name—they know that their customers appreciate the privilege of calling for a nationally advertised brand of goods knowing that it means they will receive the quality they expect.

When a large concern decides to use local newspapers for advertising service, it means increased sales for the local merchant.

When the Quaker Oats advertisement appears in The Journal it will contain the names of all dealers in the Lubbock trade territory.

In addition to this, The Journal will distribute the handsome "Trick Book" to each person who brings the Quaker cut from a large package of oats, or two Quakers from the smaller packages. The Trick Book contains simple tricks which any boy or girl can perform for the entertainment of themselves and others.

The leaders will co-operate in the campaign by using special displays in their store and by adding to their advertisements a section calling attention to Quaker Oats sold by them.

Keeps them out in front...this FRIENDLY STIMULATION

JOANNA DE TUSCAN, American fencing champion, says, "After a long, tiring bout, a cup of Maxwell House Coffee is just the thing to put you back on your feet!"

WITH A SONG IN HER HEART! LUCILLE MANNERS, star of the Cities Service Radio Hour, says, "I can't enthuse too much about Maxwell House Coffee! Its friendly stimulation is so delightfully refreshing. And it's the one coffee that I am sure about! I know it is always roaster-fresh!"

THE PRESSES ROLL! JOE WILLIAMS, dynamic sports editor of the New York World-Telegram, is one of the men who keeps them rolling! "That friendly stimulation is page 1 stuff with me, too!" says Joe. "And let me add that of all the coffees I've ever tasted—and I've tasted plenty—that rich, mellow Maxwell House flavor wins the blue ribbon hands down!"

GOOD TO THE LAST DROP

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER—ALWAYS!

REMEMBER this when you buy your next pound of coffee: If you can smell that tempting coffee aroma, it means that the container is not protecting the coffee properly. It is permitting flavor to escape. You never smell the fragrant aroma of Maxwell House until you open the can. For Maxwell House is packed in the super-vacuum Vita-Fresh can you open with a key. And this is the only way science knows to bring you coffee without loss of flavor—coffee always roaster-fresh.

SUSPECT HELD FOR SLAYING

MAN REVEALS STORY OF DODGING COPS FOR FIVE YEARS

OGDEN, Utah, March 12 (AP)—When Sergeant C. K. Keeter took Harris C. Stone, 40, alias C. C. Williams into custody for being drunk today, the man poured out a story of how he for five years dodged Georgia peace officers seeking him on a charge of murder, Keeter said. He strongly denied he was guilty of the murder charge.

As a result Sheriff T. W. Andrews of Franklin county, Georgia, is en route to Ogden to return the man to face trial for the shotgun killing of Joe Jones in Carnesville, Georgia, in August, 1932.

Had Worried Him

"I don't know whether I should tell you or not, but it's been worrying me for so long," Keeter quoted the man as saying after he had been brought to police headquarters.

Keeter said Stone told him his only connection with the crime, in which Jones was found dead, a cruel shotgun blast having carried part of his body away, was that he was seen with two others leaving the region in which the body was found.

However, in response to a telegram from Keeter, the Georgia sheriff wired, "hold Stone. Will come for him."

The man has been living in Ogden, eking out a living through odd jobs, for the past two years, Keeter said.

"I heard the sheriff wanted me for Jones' murder a few days after the crime was committed, and rather than become mixed up with the law, I pulled out," Keeter quoted Stone as saying.

Two Are Convicted In Kidnaping Case

NEW YORK, Mar. 12. (AP)—Two of five men accused of kidnaping Paul H. Wendel and torturing him into a false "confession" to the Lindbergh baby abduction were convicted late Thursday in a Brooklyn jury's speedy verdict.

Wendel is a former Trenton, N. J., attorney.

The jury deliberated 52 minutes on the case of Martin Schlossman and Harry Weiss.

The end of the affair of Wendel, a fantastic offshoot to the Lindbergh crime, is still to come however.

Weiss, Schlossman and Murray Bleefeld, who pleaded guilty at the first trial, are yet to be sentenced.

The two men pictured by both defense and prosecution as the central figures of Wendel's abduction—Ellis Parker, a Burlington county, N. J., detective, and his son, Ellis, jr. have not been brought to trial here because Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey refused to permit their extradition.

TWO INDICTED FOR THREATS

MEN BEING HELD IN FEDERAL PRISON FACE CHARGES

FORT WORTH, Mar. 12. (AP)—Two men now in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., were indicted by a federal grand jury here today on charges of attempting to extort $1,000 from H. B. Allen, manager of the Bluebonnet hotel at Sweetwater, under threat of bombing the establishment.

The two, J. H. Williams and Roy Lee White, were convicted at San Angelo in May of 1935 of attempting to extort $1,000 from John D. Jones, theater owner on threat of blowing up the Texas theater at San Angelo.

Are Serving Terms

Williams and White are serving three year sentences and must pay fines of $2,500 each.

The new indictment charged that on May 19, 1935 Williams and White began writing Allen a series of threatening letters demanding $1,000 and that the letter writing continued until late in the fall of 1936.

Early in 1936 Williams and White were captured as they attempted to obtain a tobacco can containing $1,000 which Jones had placed under a culvert on the San Angelo-Coleman road.

U. S. Attorney Clyde Eastus said the Sweetwater case against Williams and White would be transferred to Abilene for trial and that he will obtain a writ for return of the defendants from the penitentiary to face the new charges.

Placard Passes To Legislators Given

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 12. (AP)—The manager of an Oklahoma City theater (State) distributed yellow passes—placard size—to members of the Oklahoma house of representatives and an argument broke immediately over whether the legislators had asked for them.

"They did," said T. B. Noble, theater manager.

"We didn't" chorused members of the house.

A page distributed 117 passes, 8 by 10 inches on substantial cardboard, in the house chamber.

Transports Again Will Ply Savannah

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 12 (AP)—Transport boats again will ply the historic Savannah river route soon from Augusta to Savannah.

The $1,780,000 lock and dam project at New Savannah bluff, 12 miles below Augusta, is nearing completion. It will assure a six-foot river channel the year around.

The lock, 360 feet long and 56 feet wide, is designed to accommodate a vessel drawing 14 feet.

Slaton Drubs College Outfit 35-25 In City

SPORTOMETER

by COLLIER PARRIS

Copyright, 1937

THE GOLF AND BASEBALL bags came out of hiding, as you might expect with the kind of weather we've been having, and it looks like a double epidemic sure enough.

As we were saying, sort of to ourself, after the opponent had conceded a putt for a par—the only one on 18 holes—yesterday, "Boy, what a day for golf—and baseball. Bet the boys over at Amherst are getting out them red pants right now."

As it happened, a couple of letters were on the desk, grand prizes after being taken apart by Jo Dick Slaughter and his wrecking crew, and one of them was from old Hurchel Tapley, business manager of the Amherst club. The letter speaks for itself:

Dear Parris:

It's about to be baseball season again, and time for me to start bothering you. (Editor's note: Wish you'd bother us every day like that, Tap).

I have read everything you have written the past season, and I am sure every baseball fan appreciates the enthusiasm you have in trying to create more interest in the game. It looks like we may have more good teams on the Plains this year.

We have our club organized and the boys are working out now. We will be ready to match some games with somebody soon. Expect to be ready to play ball by the first of April.

Keep up the good work and let me hear from you when you are ready to start the ball rolling.

Yours very truly,
Hurchel Tapley.

The other letter comes from our good friend, a red hot sports fan and baseball enthusiast, Doc Cook, of Wilson. Doc's communication does not deal primarily with baseball, but we knew he couldn't get by without mentioning the game. He's one of the hottest baseball men we ever knew, and he'll turn up again this year with a baseball club. Just wait and see. And try to beat him.

Cook sort of takes us to task, and rightly so, for an error of omission. But let him tell it—and note the reference to baseball:

Dear Collier:

As you may suspect when you get a letter from me, I must be complaining about something. Well, I am, and not only am I complaining, but the whole town of Wilson and community.

Since the basketball team of Slaton, the Oilers, have three men on their roster who were born and raised in Wilson, and another who is coaching in our local high school, Wilson has never been mentioned in the publicity of the team, at all. The four men in question are the three Crews brothers and Mr. Jack Miller.

Of course we, the citizens of Wilson, are grateful to the Slaton sponsors of the team for giving our boys an opportunity to play with them, but we are registering a complaint because Wilson has never been mentioned when there are four of her sons on the Southwest's best basketball team.

We are also justly proud of Lubbock and Texas Tech, as any one else should be, but we do not think they should be given all the credit for developing and presenting these four men, three of whom starred on Wilson teams before going to Tech. Won't you please give us some mention due to these facts?

We are not jealous publicity seekers; we are just proud of our boys and want to see them go farther, but since we are the only town with four CHAMPIONS on the same team, shouldn't we be mentioned?

When better ball players are produced, we'll take notice of them. When four members of the Southwestern champions come from our town, I sincerely think the citizens should be proud and demand that at least some attention be taken of WILSON, TEXAS.

Now that's off my chest.

You remember Gyles Shaw, the little man who played shortstop for us the last two seasons in baseball? Well, my prediction has come true. He has a contract with Monroe, La., and already is in spring training. I surely hope he is on his way to fortune and glory.

All in all, I think Wilson has done herself proud in producing good athletes.

Your friend,
M. Doc Cook.

Doc, you're right, and you're also a noble citizen. Please convey our regrets to the Wilson people for this department's failure to recognize the home town of the boys we've been writing about. We figured everybody who kept up with this bureau knew that the boys in question—Alvin, Leroy and Olin Crews, and Coach Jack Miller—were natives, by birth or adoption, of the Lynn county town which is our good neighbor, and we felt that it was needless repetition to be recalling that fact in every story. Everybody knows where the Crews boys hail from, and we think everybody gives Wilson and its atmosphere a lot of credit. The Crews boys have helped put Wilson on the map, and they rate such recognition in sports circles over the Plains that it is hardly necessary to mention their home town whenever they are mentioned.

But your civic pride is something of which you and your friends may well be proud, and this department does not hesitate to give credit where credit is due.

The one thing that rankles us today is the thought of that crowd which turned out last night to see a real basketball classic. You could have knocked us over with a toothpick when we gazed out on so many vacant seats. College basketball has attracted good crowds here. Choice seats went early throughout the season, but last night it was terrific! We thought everybody would want to see that game.

Well, you missed a lot by staying away. The Stephen F. Austin club is one of the best college cage aggregations ever to visit our city. The East Texas folks must have formed a fine opinion of us when but 400 persons turned out to see what may logically be called the championship game of Texas.

Give that Slaton bunch time to practice together, and there's not a college team anywhere that can beat it, and very few independent or amateur clubs. It may not go far in the National A.A.U. at Denver, because there are some mighty tough clubs there, clubs made up of boys who have been playing together for years, or at least all of this year. The Slaton team has had no chance to work out. Some of its members are new to the club and to each other. But they're plenty potent. Let Jim Neely, Alvin Crews, Wilson Gilmore, Hugh Snodgrass and Gene McCollum work out together for a couple of weeks, and there's not an amateur team that can beat them—very badly.

After riding the same bicycle to work for 26 years, John E. Teter, Hutchinson, Kas., ice man, was obliged to walk when his old-fashioned, high-wheeled bike was stolen.

LEAGUE IS TO BE FORMED

FINAL ACTION TO BE TAKEN AT MIDLAND MEETING SUNDAY

MIDLAND, Mar. 12. (AP)—Final organization of the West Texas class D baseball league will be effected here Sunday afternoon. The meeting has been called for 2 o'clock at the Scharbauer hotel by the new president, Milton Price of Dallas, who also is secretary to J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league. Gardner also will attend the meeting.

Six clubs already have secured franchises, Roswell and Hobbs, in New Mexico and Wink, Odessa, Monahans and Midland. Two other towns may be added at the meeting as representatives of Big Spring and San Angelo will be present.

To Establish Offices

Bill Collyns, for three years president of the Permian basin semi-pro league, is vice-president and will establish offices here.

The Detroit Tigers have made an agreement with Roswell, Dallas with Monahans and San Antonio will effect one with one of the other clubs.

Tentative schedule calls for the league to open play on May 1 and finish on Aug. 29.

DEAN CLAIMS HE IS ALL THROUGH

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Mar. 12. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals will prepare to go through the season without Dizzy Dean, Sam Breadon, president of the club, announced after a series of contract conferences yesterday failed to shake the pitcher's demand for a $50,000 salary.

As he left for his Bradenton, Fla., home, Dean declared he was retiring from baseball and entering other business.

Breadon said he had offered Dean a salary equal to last year's $22,500 with a "little more money" to be added if certain contract clauses were eliminated. These clauses promised higher pay, if home attendance reached 500,000 and if the Cards won the pennant.

"Old Diz" hinted he might think of some sort of compromise, if the compromise figure were a big one, but Breadon said there would be no compromise.

Plainview Still In Hillsboro Tourney

HILLSBORO, Mar. 12. (AP)—Pairings for today's quarter final basketball games in the state A. A. U. girls' tournament were:

Plainview and Allison; Mobeetie and Empry; Celeste and Abbott; Bullard and Irene.

The Plainview cagers eliminated Garrett 60 to 22, in yesterday's round. Allison defeated Walnut Springs 62 to 22, Mobeetie eased out Newsome 47 to 45 in an overtime contest and Celeste was a point better than Frenship, 57 to 56.

ATHLETICS' INFIELD TAKES SHAPE

In Connie Mack's program to rebuild his Philadelphia Athletics, this pair is shaping up for the starting infield of 1937. At the left, Bill Werber, with the Boston Red Sox last year, comes in for an easy one. He's slated for hot-corner duty with the A's. At the right, sizzlin' high ones are duck soup for Alfred "Chubby" Dean, agile first baseman.

OLD SUE IS QUITE A CHARACTER IN HER OWN WAY AND SHE'LL GIVE THE ARMY AND NAVY A TERRIFIC BATTLE

BY EDDIE GILMORE

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—From the fountain of American fishery came a tale today big enough to drown all others.

"As the supreme judge of stories for the Hook, Line and Sinker club," explained Charles E. Jackson, deputy commissioner of the bureau of fisheries, "I figured I ought to give the members something to cast at."

Jackson's story concerns a Potomac river tug captain named Jake and a giant sturgeon named Sue, who used to push the master's boat upstream, when the tide was tough.

To show his appreciation, Captain Jake threw her a steak a day for months, but this whetted her appetite.

One day, the story goes, Sue sighted cattle in a nearby field. She churned up a great wave, and riding its crest into the pasture, gobbled up four Jerseys.

Behavior Has Grown Worse

Since then her behavior steadily has grown worse. She has swallowed the first mate Zeke, flicked muddy foam on Mount Vernon, and generally ruined river fishing.

"With the help of Captain Jake," said Jackson, "I have worked out a plan which I hope will take old Sue."

It calls for:

A cable tied to the Lincoln memorial, stretched to the Washington monument, welded to a battleship, anchor for a hook, and baited with six horses and five cows.

If she gets hooked, the coast guard would swoop down with planes and a blimp and raise her while the army and navy shell her from the river bank.

Ralls Tournament Starts Wednesday

RALLS, March 12. (Special) — Ralls' second annual "sweater and medal" basketball tournament starts Wednesday night of next week, it was announced yesterday. Pairings will be made Tuesday night, March 16.

Officials have announced that no team will be required to play every night. The schedule will be arranged to give each club at least one off night.

Sweaters and medals will be the awards.

All games will be played at night, starting at 7 o'clock, in the Ralls gymnasium. Eight men will be allowed on each club.

All independent cage teams of the section are invited to compete. Those interested are asked to communicate with McElroy or Red Cannon at Ralls.

PREVIEW HELD OF NATIONAL AAU JOUSTS

OLD FOES TEAMED UP FOR BIG VICTORY ON TECH COURT

Their college days feud forgotten, or at least suspended, former crack cage artists of Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons got together on the Tech court last night as members of the Slaton Oilers, undefeated independent team No. 1 of Texas, to drub the Lone Star conference standard bearers, Stephen F. Austin's Lumberjacks from Nacogdoches, 35 to 25, in a preview of the National A.A.U. tournament.

Jim Neely and Gene McCollum, ex-Cowboy stars, and Wilson Gilmore and Alvin Crews, who played against them in college days, with the help of two other ex-Texas Tech captains and stars, Leroy Crews and Hugh Snodgrass, plus the fine support of a former North Texas Teachers ace, Jack Miller, now coach at Wilson, largely composed the team which settled, for all practical purposes, the senior basketball championship of Texas. The 'Jacks are recognized as probably the outstanding college club. The Oilers, by winning the Southwestern A.A.U. tourney last week, stand out as the leading independent team.

The disappointing crowd of less than 500 persons was certainly not disappointed in the ball game, which rates as one of the best played here this season and altogether the most humorous, from a tricky, fancy playing style standpoint.

Like Old Times

Wilson Gilmore, a former Tech cage captain and grid player, arrived late from his coaching job at Vernon, but entered the game in the first half. Alvin Crews, also a former captain and team mate of Gilmore back in Tech's championship days; little brother Leroy, Tech captain elect last year and regular this past season; Hugh Snodgrass, captain of the 1937 team and all-Border conference player; Jim Neely, former Hardin-Simmons star, now coach at Slaton, and Jack Miller, former North Texas Teachers ace, now coach at Wilson, were holding things down pretty well before Gilmore entered the game.

The fun started, however, with the advent of Gilmore. His tricky passing and dribbling, improved over college days, combined with that of Snodgrass, gave the folks something to see—if they could see fast enough—and something to cheer and laugh about.

The towering collegians from East Texas were somewhat nonplussed by the fancy passing and shooting, and by the continuous stream of talk that featured the Oilers' play.

First half of the game was a de-

Dizzy Finds A Way To Get His $50,000

PITCHES QUARTERS WITH THE BOYS AND WINS EIGHT BUCKS; LOU GEHRIG IS STILL OUT

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 12. (AP)—On the way to Daytona Beach to talk things over with the Cards yesterday, Dizzy Dean stopped off at the filling station at Bradenton and in 15 minutes won $8 pitching quarters with the boys. . . . "Looks like I can pick up that $50,000 per year right here at home," commented Dizzy as he pocketed the dough . . . Loneliest training camp in Florida is Detroit's because of Mickey Cochrane's "no wives allowed" edict . . .

The Yankees haven't given up on Lou Gehrig yet . . . They recall the last time Lou was a hold-out, he and Col. Ruppert rode south on the same train. . . . Not a word has been heard here from Joe DiMaggio . . . Baseball men, who can't imagine a Yankee exhibition tour through the south and southwest without Gehrig to draw the customers, believe Lou will get his $40,000 if he waits long enough, but one and all say Col. Ruppert is just stubborn enough to let DiMaggio sit at home a year before paying the $25,000 he demands.

Jimmy Hamilton of Nashville predicts Cincinnati will win the pennant in two years . . . "If Dressen was a football coach," said Hamilton "you would say he has 'em three deep." . . . The Paul Waner holdout begins to look like the real thing . . . Everybody down here says Major Bob Neyland's Tennessee football team will be loaded for bear this season.

GOOD FISHING IS ASSURED

GALVESTON TO PLANT FISH FOR FDR IF HE COOPERATES

GALVESTON, Mar. 12. (AP)—Rather than endure Miami's experience in 1933, ardent Galveston boosters are ready to "plant" fish in the gulf coast for President Roosevelt to catch—if he'll cooperate.

Veteran fishermen looking forward to the chief executive's proposed fishing trip to these waters the latter part of April said there was virtually no chance of Mr. Roosevelt failing to catch his quota.

But, just in case, they vowed to keep their fingers crossed until his visit was ended.

Had Poor Luck

When the president-elect fished off Miami in February, 1933, the press widely detailed his poor luck. Connie Costabile, oldtime Galveston fisherman, recalled: "When the president went fishing off Miami in 1933 he failed to get a tarpon or sailfish. And was Miami's face red?

"We're not going to take any chances like that. We'll round up a few and put them in likely spots if the president will let us know exactly where he's going to fish.

"Anyway, I'm going to dig out my rabbit foot the latter part of April and get all my friends to do the same."

Maxie Rosenbloom Wins Over Beaupre

DALLAS, Mar. 12. (AP)—Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom today held a 10-round decision over Dallas' ambitious young heavyweight, Tom Beaupre.

The former headman of the light-heavies, 189 pounds to Beaupre's 194, mixed enough stiff punching with his cuffing and pawing to win nine rounds. Beaupre found little chance to fire his potent punches at the bobbing, weaving Slapsie.

INSIDE TRACK BEING HELD BY JACOBS

RUMORS FLYING THICK AND FAST REGARDING PLANS OF GARDEN

(This is the second of a series of stories on the inside workings of the boxing business, with special reference to the current heavyweight scramble).

BY ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP) — They're all trying to grab the brass ring on the heavyweight merry-go-round, with Chicago, Berlin and New York rating contending positions in that order. One of the few identifiable facts is that the old collar and cuff man, Michael Strauss Jacobs, has the next heavyweight champion of the world in his grasp.

Even if Champion Jim Braddock is kept from fighting Joe Louis in Chicago and forced to meet Max Schmeling either in New York or Berlin this summer, Mike Jacobs still will hold the strings. He has Louis and Schmeling both under contract, and has an option on Braddock's services if the champion beats Louis at Chicago.

One Remote Chance

The Garden's one and apparently remote chance of keeping any strings at all on the title situation is to force Braddock to go through with the contract to fight Schmeling here on June 3. This the champion has not the slightest intention of doing.

Along cauliflower alley you can hear talk (a) that all this shadow boxing is preliminary to a "deal" between Jacobs and the Garden, heretofore long time allies in the ticket business; (b) that each side is fearful the other will blow the lid off certain fistic practices, past or present, and (c) that the Garden seriously is considering "washing its hands" of the entire boxing business in disgust or disillusionment.

All direct evidence, however, indicates both the Garden and the 20th Century sporting club — Mike Jacobs, Inc. — intend to remain in the fistic field.

The Garden had survived intermittent splurges of opposition. The current Garden matchmaker, Jimmy Johnston, once was so annoying as a rival promoter that he was finally taken into the fold.

Letters Are Given To Basketball Men

The Texas Tech athletic council, acting upon the suggestion of Coach Beri Huffman, voted to award letters to nine players and a student manager of Texas Tech's 1936-37 basketball squad.

Five of the letter men have concluded their collegiate athletic careers in basketball. They are Captain Hugh Snodgrass, Curly Wilkinson, Wayne Wilkins, Leroy Crews, Arthur Howard Garrett, and Bob Case. Other letter men are Paul Morris, Elmer Tarbox, Maurice Wiginton and Student Manager Milt Coffey.

Letter sweaters will be awarded provided the players pass the required amount of scholastic work, Huffman said.

At least two of the veterans, Snodgrass and Crews, are to compete in the National A. A. U. basketball tournament starting Sunday at Denver. They are regulars on the Slaton Oilers club, which played the Stephen F. Austin college Lumberjacks here last night.

The first road sheet asphalt pavement in America was laid in Newark, N. J., in 1870, by Prof. E. J. Smedt, a Belgian chemist.

BUSINESS FOR AREA GOOD

VOLUME OF WHOLESALE MOVEMENT HIGHER THAN YEAR AGO

DALLAS, March 12 (AP)—The volume of merchandise distribution at wholesale in January exceeded that of the corresponding month last year by 14 per cent, says the monthly business review of the federal reserve bank of Dallas issued today. Although the volume was less than the usual increase from December to January, due to "the deterrent effects of advise weather," the review says "general business activity in the eleventh district during the month was substantially higher than in the opening month of 1936."

Retail trade, as reflected by sales of department stores in larger cities, the review says, decreased 56 per cent from the large December volume, but registered a gain of 12 per cent over January last year when there was an additional shopping day. Bank debits at 18 cities, which were seasonally six per cent smaller than in December, reflected an increase of 19 per cent over the same month last year.

Construction Heavy

The valuation of construction contracts awarded in the eleventh district, as reported by the F. W. Dodge corporation, rose four per cent from December to January, but fell 13 per cent under the total for January, 1936. Residential contracts awarded had a value 11 per cent higher than in December, and 25 per cent higher than a year ago. The January valuation of building permits issued at 14 cities reporting, although 10 per cent below the previous month, was 20 per cent above the aggregate for the same month last year.

The review says weather conditions in January were unfavorable for the agricultural and livestock industries. "Farmers have made poor to only fair progress with winter plowing," the review says, "and land preparation is very backward with the spring planting season close at hand. Small grains continue in fair to good condition, but to stimulate plant growth rain is needed in the western portion of the district and sunshine in other areas.

Ranges Show Decline

"Ranges reflected a general decline during the month and livestock showed some shrinkages, yet conditions in most sections remained above the average. The department of agriculture reported that prospects for spring grazing are good and the outlook for the industry in most sections is favorable."

Reserve balances of member banks in the district, the review says, after reaching a record total of $173,905,000 in mid-January, decreased approximately $13,000,000 in the next two weeks, but by Feb. 15 had risen to $169,061,000. At the weekly reporting, loans and investments of member banks in leading cities declined $28,094,000 in the four weeks ending Feb. 10. This reflected a net reduction of $11,822,000 in investments and a contraction of $16,272,000 in loans.

As compared with Feb. 12, 1936, the review says, there was an expansion of $23,589,000 in loans and an increase of $32,501,000 in investments. The daily average of combined gross demand and time deposits of member banks was $14,657,000 lower in January than in December, but exceeded the average of a year ago by $173,082,000.

Suggests Overalls For Diplomats

Rep. Vincent F. Harrington of Iowa is exhibiting a sample of overalls he suggested for the diplmatic corps following the presidential order against knee pants or any costume unauthorized by congress. "An All-American outfit like that would be pretty impressive," he said, adding that some "who saw the shiny brass buttons would think they were medals." (Associated Press Photo)

FLORAL CALENDAR FOR EAST TEXAS

BEAUMONT, March 12 (AP)—Mrs. Jennie B. Wallace, who moved to Kirbyville from Ohio more than a half century ago, has prepared a floral calendar for East Texas, including many familiar and some not so familiar flowers:

January—Bluets, wood sorrel.

February—Blue violets, wild onion.

March—Blue star grass, small evening primrose, dogbane, false indigo.

April—Tickseed, hairy Penstemon, skull cap.

May—Wine cup, sensitive briar.

June—Button bush, butterfly pea, false dragonhead.

July—Blue waterleaf, swamp milkweed.

August—Goldenrod, smartweed.

September—Small figworts.

October — Indian pipe, ladies' tresses.

November—Closed gentian.

December — Shepherd's purse, chickweed.

"In the order of their flowering, the wild plants of a locality observe a certain loose regularity, a rhythmic inexactitude subject to the caprices of nature," Mrs. Wallace says, "but on the whole, a given flower will open on an average at nearly the same date each year."

Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 12.—Not in the script:

Charles Boyer: "I don't like 'stage English'; it sounds affected. Errol Flynn and Ronald Colman have the best screen diction, to my mind. Of actresses, I like the voices of Ruth Chatterton and Lynn Fontanne best. Me—I am French, but I try to speak American."

Jack Benny: "All my life my one ambition has been to travel. But now that I've got the money I haven't got the time."

Astrid Allwyn: "Hollywood is the best place in the world to develop a swelled head. It's no wonder so few people wear hats."

Adolphe Menjou: "We finish shooting today, and then I'm off for a vacation in Belgium, Holland and France. I need it; this is my fourth picture since last June. When I get back, I have to do a couple called for in an old, unfulfilled contract—and doggone it, the contract was signed when I was making a lot less money than I am now."

W. C. Fields: "You've got to be crazy to be a comedian, but I know a lot of crazy people that ain't a darned bit funny."

Hiking Now

Doris Nolan: "I've given up horseback riding. It develops me in the wrong places. Now I walk a couple of miles a day. That reduces me in the right places."

Director George Cukor: "Athletic women have more beauty and personality than most of the willowy females who are trying to get ahead in the movies. Pretty soon you'll notice a big decrease in clinging-vine types. The public is tired of 'em."

Director John M. Stahl: "I never said that an actor and actress should be in love with each other to play a love scene. But a player will do better if he or she is in love with somebody."

Gloria Swanson: "Actors, writers—all creative people—ought to be made to get out of Hollywood for a while between every picture."

Too Many Romances

Tyrone Power: "Unless I snub every girl I meet, I'm written up in all the gossip columns as being in a new romance. It's getting on my nerves."

Adrian, fashion designer: "A girl always looks more helpless in white than she does in any color. It's funny that more of them don't realize that."

Reginald Owen: "I've always been my own best audience. I just can't help laughing at how silly I look on the screen."

Boris Karloff: "I'm anxious to do away with the word 'horror' in connection with my roles. But horr—that is, odd or strange characterizations really are much more interesting to play."

Director Sidney Lanfield: "Audiences are developing an appreciation of subtlety, but they still want plenty of the old flash. We had what we thought was a wow finish for 'Sing, Baby, Sing'—a shot of Menjou spouting Shakespeare into a microphone. But exhibitors who saw it said, 'Well, what you gonta have for the ending? When you gonta finish the picture?'"

Good Old Days

Helen Broderick: "I'm saving my money because they're likely to catch on to me any time now. Haven't had any fun since I left the chorus; those were the irresponsible, joyous days."

Freddie Bartholomew: "I'm afraid I shall have to be an actor when I grow up because, you see, I haven't had any other sort of training."

Writer Harold Buchman: "A gag man is a guy who scratches a platitude until it purrs like an epigram."

Director Frank Capra: "There's a lot of talk about Academy awards for the best performances of the year. But more honor ought to be paid to supporting players—the seasoned actors and actresses in secondary roles who day after day contribute skillful work to the pictures in which stars are made."

Famous Leading Man, making out his income tax report: "I wish the government could learn to live within my salary."

PLAINSMAN OUT OF CITY
Due to the fact that The Plainsman was called out of the city today, his regular column is being omitted from this issue. He will be back in usual fashion on Monday, however.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

SYNOPSIS, In two weeks Eve Mannersfield and Denny Carter, a slim, proud southerner, will be honeymooning their way around the world, no longer on the payroll of Herndon's advertising company. Denny has just landed a publicity job with the Southern Star Line. Eve has already resigned her job. In gay spirits, they go to lunch and "plan like the devil." Denny suggests throwing a party tonight to "tell the world our secret." As they start to list their guests, Eve finds her unopened mail in her bag.

* * *

Chapter Two
Getting Up The Party

Reading the first letter, Eve made a little annoyed sound.

"Oh, dear, two of my precious free days before I go gone to glory!"

"Matter, sweet? They want you to stay and break in a new girl?"

"Mercy, no, they're taking Miss Hare on again, and she knows all the ropes. It's the tenant of the old Connecticut house, Mrs. Jennings. You remember, I told you. She fell from heaven after Aunt Lina died, and wanted to carry on the business. So, Mrs. Morton, the real estate agent, stored my furniture in the attic for me, and Mrs. Jennings put hers in and home-baked. She paid the taxes and a little over. And now she's walked off to keep house for a widowed brother in Idaho, with her furntiure in a trailer. Mrs. Morton says the place is in a state."

"Oh, tell her to hire cleaners or plow it under, or something. Or I'll tell you what, we'll take the old rattletrap and drive out Saturday. Then I won't miss a day of you."

"Swell."

She dismissed that, and they went on planning the party until Eve cried: "Heaven, Den, it's two o'clock! We don't want to leave a bad impression even if we are both quitting. . . . Have you told them?"

He shook his head. "I knew if we both resigned at once they'd smell a mouse about our getting married, and we'd be ragged to death. A week's enough for them to take up a collection for the wedding present."

"Bright boy!"

They hurried the waiter and hurried out, laughing at nothing at all; the sharp bright March air tingling on their faces as they came up from the smoky room.

"Where'll we have the party?"

"Oh, my place—it's bigger," Eve said, "and then I can get Ellen down to help me with the canapes."

"All right. I'll get Bill Gregory to come with his guitar."

They were a couple of eager children planning the first of a long series of good times together. Eve dived into her cubicle and went to work again with a magnificient verve made of black coffee and happiness. She worked till one of the errand-girls put in her head to say that it was after closing time.

She came out to find only one light going: that of stout eyeglassed Dillard Betz. He was lingering at his desk; working at another futile play, probably.

It was said that he had once had a play on Broadway for a week; it was true that ever since then he had gone around in an atmosphere of slightly alcoholic self-pity.

Moved by sudden sympathy for him, she stopped and said: "Den and I got up a party today. Want to come? My place this evening around nine."

He peered through his thick lenses and began, "Half-promised Kit Cornell I'd drop in—"

Oh dear—she'd forgotten how Den hated that line—half camouflage and half insistence on being coaxed, he called it. If it wasn't Kit Cornell, it was Lynn Fontanne or Noel Coward when plausible, according to Denny. But Denny wouldn't mind tonight, they were both too happy. It was pitiful, having to pretend like that.

"You're that popular!" she told Dillard gently. "Well, if you find you can get our party in also, do."

He puffed up. "I'll make a special effort, Eve."

"See that you do—round nine. I'm asking Mitzi and the Bassets and the Randolphs."

Swifft and bright she hurried out past the oblivious grayish cleaning women, counting over guests and purchases as she went.

She made most of her purchases quickly at her favorite delicatessen by the uptown subway exit. She was going to be economical, in spite of Denny's southern hospitality.

"Fifteen cents worth of liverwurst, can of mayonnaise, three quarts of milk, garlic, American cheese." She looked at her list again. Eve was proud of her ability to get up clever suppers for not much money. She had learned that from Aunt Lina. "If you haven't money to spend, spend your brains." Aunt Lina used to say. Dear, serious Aunt Lina, with her sayings and her unashamed proverbs about everything! Aunt Lina was on her mind tonight. She would have been glad about Denny.

"Yes, Miss Mannersfield; anything else?" Tall, thin, stooped Benny always waited on her, he was almost as good at remembering party necessaries as she was herself. "Crackers? Coffee?"

"Oh, yes, both—and two heads of lettuce—and Italian bread."

Between them they got everything together. She was a little dismayed, as always, at the sum-total. But after all she and Den didn't have engagement parties every night, and this was a ridiculously inexpensive one compared with most people's.

"They'll be up in 10 minutes. Before you git there."

Jack, the elevator man, at sight of her bundles, said amiably: "Going to have a party?"

"Just a little old post-depression party," she said gaily. She would miss Jack! "Let them all up without ringing me. Will you tell Gladys, Jack?"

Once inside her doll's house she went swiftly to work. Milly-by-the-hour went at 2 p. m. unless you told her ahead of time. Eve dashed up the tiny stairs to get her bedroom ready; the yellow rayon spread and bureau cover; the powder and ash trays on the bureau; guest towels in the tiny tiled bathroom, more ash trays everywhere. If you spread enough around sometimes you could have a party without anything getting holes burned in it.

She would wear something pretty this night, no matter if the girls scolded her for outdressing them. The violet taffeta with the ruff that fastened behind, the flared epaulettes, the unexpected backlessness, the swirling skirt. It had come from Union Square like all Eve's formal frocks, and nobody ever believed it. Eve loved being slim and smart and able to make cheap clothes look expensive because her lines were good. Denny loved it too. She tied her long yellow cocktail apron over all, put on a last brush of lipstick, ran a damp comb through the top of her waves, and attacked the tiny shiny kitchenette. She loved it. She loved all of the place; she had lived there three years. But she would love the new one more, the one she and Denny would mess around in together.

Half past six now. She'd have to hurry. She perched on her living-room table by the telephone with her address book on her knee, took a long breath, and went at her telephoning. Ben was let in and piled the food on the sinkboard. She went back, refreshed by the break, and telephoned again, whistling softly as she looked up numbers in between, swinging on long silver-slippered foot.

Something goes wrong for Denny, Monday.

LET'S HELP THE LEGION

On or about March 24 Allen Brothers post of the American Legion plans to launch its highway safety drive in conjunction with a national movement to preserve lives and avoid accidents.

The campaign will take definite form through use of motion pictures, automobile stickers, window posters and special advertising. These methods will be employed to make drivers of automobiles think. But they will be a waste of effort, a mere flag-waving gesture unless the citizens of Lubbock give their cooperation.

Activities in Lubbock's schools are planned to make the children "safety conscious." The drive will reach throughout Lubbock county and include Texas Technological college. An effort will be made to make the people realize the necessity of knowing and enforcing traffic laws.

O. B. Conley, chairman of the Legion's safety committee, has appealed to everyone to offer his support in this worthy undertaking. "If we can avoid even one death, our goal will be realized," he said.

The Evening Journal would impress upon the minds of its readers the great truth in Mr. Conley's statement.

However great the effort, whatever the bit of annoyance or sacrifice of our own pleasure or convenience—"if one life is saved, our goal will be realized."

U.S. BOMBERS SPEED WORK

COUNTER RAIDS ARE DEEMED AS BEST FOR DEFENSE

BY SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer

HAMILTON, Field, Cal., March 12—Bombing practice is being geared up to 16 hours a day by the first wing of the army's general headquarters air force. More craters are being blasted in the California desert and more splashes raised in the calm Pacific than ever before.

Flyers at Hamilton field, across the bay from San Francisco, are raining 9,000 bombs a year on land and sea targets, and at least as many are being dropped by their comrades at March field, near Los Angeles.

The "G. H. Q. Air force" is Uncle Sam's aerial striking unit, organized in 1935 and quite separate from planes attached to ground troops.

Sights Kept Under Cover

Considerable secrecy attends the maneuvers. The explosions and shell craters are photographed by batteries of cameras that cost up to $7,000 apiece and no one except the technical staff sees the pictures. By rigid order, the sights with which the airmen aim their bombs are hidden under canvas before the planes touch ground.

Although both fields are on a war footing, their full forces ready to move in 24 hours, the intensive maneuvers do not mean that the army expects war. It merely is racing to keep abreast of aviation developments.

Increasing efficiency of aerial killing has forced home the conviction that there's no way to stop a bombing raid. Your best bet is to stage one yourself.

Madrid's Case

"We teach that when a bombing attack once is launched it cannot be intercepted," says Major Clarence P. Talbot, a Hamilton Field executive. "That is the teaching in all countries. I believe. It is the reason planes are able to keep on bombing Madrid, even though the defenders know with certainty the raids are coming.

"The military problem of charting the approach of an attacking airfleet has been worked out. It requires a phone and operator every eight miles over a band 100 miles wide.

"Anti-aircraft guns can be effective but there are not enough of them. I recently worked out a theoretical defense of San Francisco against an air raid. It took more anti-aircraft guns than there are in the whole world."

The United States has developed bombers that will carry one 2,000-pound bomb or multiples of smaller bombs at nearly 200 miles an hour. Such aircraft—the giant Martins now in commission—have two motors developing 750 horsepower each.

Greater claims are made for the four-motor Boeings now being turned out, and another company (North American Aviation) has a 10-passenger, two-motor craft, with engines rated at 1,250 horsepower each, ready for the army competition at Dayton next March.

The army believes "the best protection against aircraft is aircraft."

In line with this principle, the G. H. Q. air force has pursuit planes that can do up to 250 miles an hour and use machine guns on big opponents. But bullets won't stop a bomber unless they make a direct hit on the pilot, motors or—by sheer luck—a control wire.

France Tests 'Trailer'

Time bombs dropped into an attacking air fleet are being experimented with. France is testing an aerial mine, dragged by a plane as a sort of trailer.

A third major group of striking planes is the attack division, carrying machine guns and small bombs and directed against anti-aircraft guns and ground troops.

Army airmen are prepared to see the next war start with amazing suddenness in the air.

"International law requires that the world at large must be notified before one country starts hostilities against another," says Major Talbot. "All right, what's to prevent a nation starting several waves of bombardment planes toward another's border and then declaring war by radio broadcast, just five seconds before the first wave crosses?"

Old Key Is Being Used In Jail Door

GALENA, Mo., March 12 (AP)—Sheriff I. H. Coin, who returned to office in January after a "vacation" of more than 20 years, again is using a key that he made for the jail door 24 years ago.

He filed the key out of the spindle of a buggy axle when one of the big keys to the jail was lost during his previous term. It was in use every day during the time he was out of office.

Don't Be Silly!

Administration Plans To Cut PWA Rolls Down But Harry Hopkins Has No Idea How It Can Be Done, Dutcher Finds

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—President Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins and the Budget bureau are about to grapple with the relief problem again, prior to recommending to Congress an appropriation of somewhere between one and two billion dollars for the next fiscal year.

Dutcher

Six governors of populous states recently obtained an appointment with Roosevelt to protest WPA reductions.

There is no assurance yet that the President can work out a permanent program for unemployment relief. Nevertheless, as Roosevelt once laughingly said, in reply to the question when he would balance the budget: "Hope springs eternal."

Meanwhile, the most encouraging news concerning reduction of WPA rolls and the expense of maintaining them is this:

For the first time in four years, the number of persons on WPA or federal relief rolls has remained practically the same throughout January and February. In 1933, 1934 and 1935 the curve rose sharply during those two months. There were 2,162,000 on WPA lists in the latter part of February, as compared with 2,188,000 in December. In February, 1936, the number was 3,039,000.

Will Cut Down Rolls

The present official plan is to cut the rolls down to 1,600,000 heads of families and single persons by the end of the fiscal year, June 30. That's what Congress provided for when it gave WPA a deficiency appropriation of $650,000,000 for this year. State administrators have been given their quotas for the months from now until July. The total scheduled cuts for the country call for a drop of 50,000 in March, 150,000 in April, 200,000 in May and 200,000 more in June.

Yet, Hopkins insists no one in actual need be cut off WPA. The state administrators are receiving that order, too. There are to be no arbitrary cuts and quotas will be subject to review.

State WPA administrators in private reports to Washington are almost unanimous in asserting WPA is inadequately handling its supposed share of the relief load. Few officials believe anything like 600,000 will be cut off the rolls, although Hopkins gave conditioned assurances to that effect.

The curtailment program was predicated upon an absorption by private industry of roughly 300,000 WPA workers; on continued recovery; on a good agricultural year; upon contribution of more money to projects by localities affected; and on the possibility the rolls could be kept from expanding during January, February and March. Except in the last instance, it is still too early to tell how many of these possibilities will come true. In the meantime, there have been disastrous floods which may keep the WPA figures up. It is conededly impossible to cut WPA rolls at a time when local relief lists are growing.

A report just in from an area of 12 southern states lists a March quota of 402,000 WPA workers, 405,000 actually on the rolls and 118,000 "certified cases awaiting assignment or reassignment." The last figure, representing unemployed employable persons eligible for WPA, probably is too high. But secret WPA estimates place the number of the country's employables trying to get on WPA rolls at between 300,000 and 500,000.

That is one reason why continued industrial improvement does not mean proportionate cuts in WPA rolls. When a man leaves the rolls to get a private job, there are nearly always others, certified as eligible, seeking to take his place.

Although there are 875,000 fewer persons on WPA than a year ago, maintenance of the reduced figure is only possible through refusal to take on needy persons. Difficulty in getting back on the rolls is said to be the chief reason WPA employes avoid taking temporary jobs.

Hopkins doesn't know how he will get to July, if the $650,000,000 doesn't hold out. But that doesn't worry him. He never has known how much money he could have, from one month to another.

Good Lighting Pays Eye Health Dividends

By Jean Prentice

Eye protection need never be sacrificed to the decorative scheme. The lamp shown here—one of the Better Sight type—provides plenty of well-diffused, glareless light, yet blends perfectly with the room furnishings.

FRINGED shades, bare lamp bulbs, and pools of light are as out of date as plumed hats and projecting petticoats. Modernity demands good taste in lighting, and good taste is always based on sound principles. In home lighting today, these principles involve portable lamps and lighting fixtures designed not only for decorative harmony, but for lighting results and seeing effectiveness as well.

It has been estimated that today we are using our eyes for severe visual tasks 30 per cent more than was common a generation ago. Yet in comparatively few homes does the lighting meet present-day requirements.

Lighting Neglect Harmful

It is sad but true that in many homes where much thought and money has been given to furnishings, there is often the least consideration given to lighting. Light bulbs of wrong type have been put into fixtures incorrectly designed in the first place, then placed where they do little good, if not actual harm.

When the eyes are punished by poor lighting, they pass along their afflictions to the nervous and physical systems. The action of the heart, for example, is definitely slower under smaller amounts of light. The focusing muscles of the eye become three times as tired under one footcandle of light as under one hundred footcandles. (A footcandle is the amount of light a candle casts on a surface one foot away). Young eyes mistreated by insufficient or improper light become a handicap to good scholarship. Poor lighting makes for restlessness, inattention and fatigue. Actual scientific research has demonstrated this fact.

Bulbs Should Be Checked

Wouldn't it be a good idea to check the bulbs in the reading lamps you use constantly? In a single socket lamp, use a 100-watt bulb. In a double socket lamp, use two 60-watt bulbs. In a triple socket lamp, three 40-watt bulbs are recommended.

If you will refuse to read very fine print for long periods of time, if you will have your eyes examined regularly, and if you will make certain that there is abundant glareless light whenever you do close eye work, you can in some measure compensate for the burdens imposed upon our eyes by modern civilization.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Early timid buying support in selected issues failed to stem further backslides in today's stock market.

Declines of fractions to 3 or more points predominated near the fourth hour. Volume picked up after a slow morning.

A deadlock in automobile strike adjustments, nervousness of recently soaring commodities, selling for income tax funds, a lower drift in bonds and indications Washington might take a hand to put the brakes on a possible inflationary boom tended to chill the ardor of speculative forces.

Stocks that acted well for a time included Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, International Paper preferred, Ohio Oil, Newport Industries, National Dairy, American Hide & Leather, U. S. Leather and International. Mercantile - Marine. Some of these retreated later.

On the offside were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, S. Rubber, Goodrich, Consolidated Edison, Standard Gas, American Water Works, Anaconda, American Smelting, St. Joseph Lead, Texas Corp., Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Briggs Mfg., and Proctor & Gamble.

Rails lagged despite a more than seasonal upturn in last week's carloadings.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 4 to 16 lower in response to lower Liverpool cables and liquidation. March 14.24; May 13.78; July 13.60; Oct. 13.06; Dec. 13.00; Jan. 13.00.

The selling orders came from many sources including the far east, Liverpool and the continent as well as the south and commission houses.

Reactionary sentiment stemmed from a feeling the advance had been too rapid and reports the recent sharp rise in commodity prices had come in for more or less official attention at Washington and London.

Opening declines attracted good trade buying and after the call foreign buying orders developed in the new crop positions causing prices to recover promptly from early losses.

May advanced from 13.74 to 13.78 and after the first half hour was selling at 13.77 with prices generally 7 to 12 points net lower. March liquidations were influenced by the issuance of notices against 2000 bales.

The New York cotton exchange service estimated domestic consumption during February at 655,000 bales compared with 678,000 in January and 516,000 in February last year. The census bureau consumption report will be issued at the opening tomorrow.

Liverpool declined under realizing largely for Bombay account.

The market recovered later in the morning on renewed trade and commission house buying while offerings were less plentiful. May sold up to 13.94 but encountered further realizing and by midday was selling at 13.87 when prices generally were 1 point net lower to 2 higher. March was erratic rallying from 14.15 to 14.43 on covering but reacted to 14.27 in response to a few orders.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 12. (AP)—Pressure in the form of selling from the trade and commission house liquidation forced cotton down 5 to 11 points at the start of trading today.

Losses were general in both old and new crops with the later positions showing the larger losses.

Lower cables were a depressing factor early. The English market reported considerable selling by longs who took profits on the current advance. The trade and some buying from Bombay absorbed the options on the way down.

At New Orleans May opened at 13.69, July at 13.54, Oct. at 13.05 and Dec. at 13.08. March was inactive, but a price of 14.04 was offered for the option at the first call.

Although speculative interests showed little inclination to buy cotton at the opening there also was no tendency on their part to sell the staple.

A quieter market prevailed for cotton during the morning trading. With prices slightly lower there was less inclination to participate than was observed when the market was working into new high ground for the season.

By the mid-way mark in dealings active positions were trading listlessly 5 to 9 points under the previous close, with new crop months showing the widest decline.

The weather map showed that dry weather prevailed over most of the belt last night with temperatures ranging from normal to a few degrees above. Showers in West Texas were considered favorable for the new crop.

Cloth markets were reported firm with considerable activity in the market.

A report that the Memphis cotton exchange had urged an investigation of alleged underclassing by the American Cotton Cooperative association caused some comment around the ring.

Boy Is Urged To Return Lost Tools

Will the father of the boy who got away with a hammer and a saw from 705 Broadway, the J. R. Ross fruit stand, see that they are returned to the place at once.

This was the statement Friday of J. A. McClanahan, a carpenter, whose tools were taken Thursday night by a small boy. The hammer, an old one, is a keepsake, he said. The saw is a small, new one.

"No questions will be asked," the carpenter added. "We saw the boy who got the tools and we know who he is. Probably the father does not know he got them."

Drainage Projects Will Be Complete

By April 27 drainage structures on highway 86 from Tulia west to the Castro county line will be complete, according to Ben Jordan and W. E. Burke, of the district Works Progress administration office here, who made an inspection trip to that and other projects in Hale, Lamb, Castro and Swisher counties yesterday.

Laborers, furnished by the federal agency, probably will complete drainage structures and grading by the latter part of April. With completion of the project, highway 86 will afford a cross-county road east and west through Swisher county.

Other projects visited by the WPA supervisors were farm-to-market roads in Lamb and Castro county and street paving projects in Plainview.

Only 41 cattle in 12 herds were found infected with tick in the Webb county, Tex., eradication program. There were 91,280 cattle dipped.

Liquor Gains New Ground In South

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Mar. 12. (AP)—Repeal of Alabama's 23-year-old "bone-dry" laws gave liquor another entering wedge in the south today and prospects of border cases furnished a new talking point for repealists in the state's dry neighbors—Tennessee and Georgia.

Twenty four of the state's 67 counties, on the basis of virtually complete unofficial tabulations, legalized sale of wine and liquor by state stores, and beer by private dealers.

The state-wide vote total has no effect on the county option results.

The election makes legal in all counties the possession of liquor bought in the state stores, to be established only in counties with wet majorities.

MINE BLAST

40 and 45 men were in the mine at the time of the explosion. Only two escaped from the section where the 17 were trapped and two were killed.

The bodies of Joe Frye, mine motorman, and his brakeman, Troy McCoy were carried out within four hours after the blast.

The two who escaped were John Bodner and George Matthews. Both were burned.

The cause of the explosion had not been determined, but N. P. Rinehart, chief of the state department of mines, said it apparently had started from a collection of gas.

Wives and children of the trapped men stood throughout the night at the mine opening.

As dawn approached, tension increased. Only Engineer H. H. Clendening was hopeful.

"There is a slight chance," he said, "that they were not killed by the force of the explosion and were able to barricade themselves."

The merchants' ball will be held immediately after the style show. Larrymore and his orchestra will play for it.

junction be required by law to post bond to protect the defendant from damages.

Turning to the president's bill, Norris said there was "no shadow of doubt" about its constitutionality, but "there may be serious question as to the wisdom of such a course."

Among proposals for constitutional amendments, Norris said one limiting terms of judges "seems to me to be very desirable."

The Nebraskan also suggested an amendment giving congress power to deal with wages and hours as "a practical necessity." Another of his proposals was an amendment to permit congress to handle agricultural problems.

Federal Loans Are To Halt March 31

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12. (AP)—Congressional leaders and housing officials disclosed today the Federal Housing administration would cease guaranteeing home modernization and repair loans after March 31.

That is the expiration date, officials said, of the section of the federal housing act, containing authority for guaranteeing modernization loans.

Negro's Hand Torn Off In Feed Mill

His left hand torn off just above the wrist and his left arm broken below the shoulder, Effis Lee Rainey, 17-year-old negro, was admitted to Lubbock sanitarium shortly before noon today.

The youth was injured when he was caught in the belt of a feed grinding mill at the Wes Anthony farm 8 miles south of Ralls.

Rainey was carried here by Jack McCandless and was accompanied by his father, William Rainey. The arm was being amputated at noon.

Item In Newspaper Reveals An Uncle

Mrs. W. P. Winton, Birmingham, Ala., who asked Mayor Ross Edwards for information concerning her uncle W. S. (Scott) McClanahan, "or any of the McClanahans that used to be around your town," will get in touch with an uncle, J. A. McClanahan, probably Saturday.

"I saw the item in the Journal Thursday and I wrote her at once," he said. "Her father was my older brother. We had lost track of him a number of years ago."

Mr. McClanahan said he wrote his niece soon after the paper appeared, and mailed the letter that night.

He's A Handy Man To Have With You

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 12. (AP)—Leo Menten, secretary of the Oklahoma City health department, is a handy man to have around when there's an addition to the family.

Menten says he has at tongue-tip 65,000 names to supply when a father comes to his office to have a birth certificate filled out.

Smuggling Reaches Underground Stage

GLEIWITZ, Mar. 12. (AP)—Smuggling across the German-Polish border in the mining district of upper-Silesia has reached the underground stage.

For weeks customs officials noticed the appearance of large quantities of smuggled goods without being able to discover how the goods were transported.

Concerted action by Polish and German authorities finally revealed an abandoned mine on the German side of the frontier with galleries running into Polish territory.

Miners had built new entrances and used the passages to smuggle silver ware, rubber goods and clocks.

RANCH AFFRAY

noon for burial.

Officers said they found several cases of canned goods in Russell's car which was parked in front of the ranch home but said he gave no explanation for the food. He told officers he arrived at the ranch about 12:30 o'clock this morning and had been in his mother's bedroom and in the kitchen to get something to eat when the shooting began. It was believed the mother was first killed and that Wiley, whose body was found on a bed on the sleeping porch was the next shot.

Held For Questioning

A man was arrested in Texon on instructions from Sheriff Fowler and was being held for questioning. Officers had gone to Texon to question Cody Bell who was said to be able to talk. No further questioning of Russell was planned today.

Cody Bell has been at liberty on bond in a sheep theft case. He was indicted in Upton county but his case had never been called for trial.

The Bells have lived in Upton county for more than 25 years and were well known ranch people. Wiley Bell was not married and lived at the ranch with his mother. Cody Bell also lived at the ranch but is married. It was said that he had recently leased a place he owns near Christoval and moved to the ranch.

Family At Fort Worth

Russell Bell is married and has a wife and two children at Fort Worth.

Sheriff Fowler found two pistols, a shotgun and a rifle at the ranch. He said he believed that all the guns, except the rifle, were used in the shooting. There was also a large quantity of ammunition found at the ranch.

SENATE HEARING

courts are taken to the whipping post a long pent-up resentment against them insures that they won't be let off as easily as even the banker during the depression."

Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz) was forced to rap for order during a long cross examination of Devaney by Senator King (D-Utah). Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) had amused the big audience by snapping a rubber band at regular intervals creating a disturbance that echoed through the room.

Agreement Is Given

King drew from Devaney agreement that the supreme court had upheld most of the New Deal cases presented to it, and had not attempted to limit the administration's spending for relief, or other purposes.

"The people believe in an independent judiciary?" King asked.

"I believe so," Devaney replied.

"One that is not packed, not controlled?"

"They surely want a judiciary that is not controlled or subservient to anyone," the witness agreed.

"Because decisions may not meet with the approval of a large number of the people is no reason for packing the supreme court is it?"

"It might be construed as unpacking as well as packing," Devaney replied.

Park Inspection Is Held On Thursday

A. R. Thompson, forester of Washington, D. C., and Regional Forester Wirt of the third region of the Emergency Conservation work, of Oklahoma City, inspected the planting of trees and shrubs at Mackenzie State park Thursday.

The two foresters were particularly interested, they said, in the transplanting of large trees from the grove near the lagoon to several picnic units in the park area. They said they approved a tree-moving apparatus invented and constructed by the park supervisory personnel. Forty large trees already have been moved.

The work is sponsored by the National Park service and the Texas State Parks board.

Her First Effort Likely To Be Best

COLUMBIA FALLS, Mont., Mar. 12. (AP)—The first effort of a pullet belonging to a Bad Rock farmer probably will be her best.

Cackling loudly, the pullet attracted the farmer who found she had laid her first egg, weighing six ounces and measuring 7 1-2 inches in circumference around the middle and 2 1-4 inches the oval way.

John E. Hearn, Texas state game warden in the Laredo area, has caught 90 Mexican lions in the past four years.

Taking The Heat For A Thrill

The only things that shivered were the burning timbers—and some of the spectators. Although the stunt had him up in the air some of the time, "Flash" came through without a scratch.

Jail Romance

Besides figuring out how Lucille Turner, 17, top photo, escaped from the women's detention rooms to keep a jail cell rendezvous with Dayton Dean, confessed Black Legion gunman, lower photo, Detroit police searched for the answer to several other riddles. They wondered how the girl remained several hours with Dean before she was discovered; how Dean rated a bed, two tables, a radio, shower, reading matter, soft drinks and extra food. The girl said she was interested in Dean because she too was a member of the Black Legion.

ANGELO STUDENT IS PROM QUEEN

Lillian Heard, junior speech student from San Angelo, was named queen of the junior prom, to be conducted in Texas Technological college gymnasium, April 10.

Other candidates will be members of the queen's court at the prom. They are Hermione Holcomb of Quanah, Marian Hurmence of Lubbock, and Maxine Fry of Floydada.

The prom honors graduating students each year. George Carrithers of Brady is president of the class. Miss Heard was selected by Howard Chandler Christy as one of eight most beautiful girls in Tech last year, and Governor James V. Allred last fall appointed her Texas queen of the National Dairy show in Dallas.

Billy Rose today is viewing motion pictures of Miss Heard and fourteen other Tech beauties, from whom he will select eight to occupy pages in La Ventana, college yearbook.

BASKETBALL

fensive battle, each side making splendid stand-offs, each using the man-to-man system. Time after time legal—and sometimes illegal—blocks and knockdowns prevented the ball from hitting the hoop. Neely, the Crews boys and Snodgrass worked under the Lumberjack basket to kill numerous scoring threats.

The Oilers got away to a 3-0 lead, stayed ahead and led at the half, 14-8.

Gene McCollum Stars

Gene McCollum, of the famous Hardin-Simmons McCollums who have been seen in athletic action against Tech many times, teamed up with the Oilers in the second half, and the new combination got going. Not, however, until after the Lumberjacks had tied the score at 16-all early in the period. The 'Jacks never got ahead, but the shooting of the lanky Massey, center, and the consistent firing at the basket of Crenshaw and Clayton were constant threats.

Passes from Neely to McCollum resulted in two nice field goals by the latter. Gilmore and Crews cooperated with the ex-Cowboy stars to make life rather miserable for the East Texans. Neely, with 8 points, and McCollum with 7, led the Oilers, Alvin Crews and Gilmore had 6 apiece.

"ALL-BRAN SAVED ME FROM A LIFETIME OF SUFFERING"

"I had suffered from constipation for three years. My condition was becoming really serious, when I read of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"I bought a package. Within two weeks, my bowels were regular, and I began to enjoy living again. It has saved me from a lifetime of suffering."—Mrs. Lloyd Baird, 384 S. Bannock St., Denver, Colo.

Try ALL-BRAN yourself. It corrects the common type of constipation. Within the body, it absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Three times daily in severe cases. As a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes.

Isn't it better to eat this wholesome food than to take pills and drugs that may be harmful and often lose their effect? ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
