Death Toll To 39 In Powder Plant Blast, May Go Higher

Officers Are Re-elected By Loan Assn.

Members of "Big Spring's largest corporation" Thursday re-elected two directors for three-year terms and heard a financial statement which showed only 9 per cent of delinquencies out of 524 loans made through the Big Spring National Farm Loan association.

More than 200 association stockholders and guests participated in the session at the Queen theatre, re-named Walter Robinson and C. B. Edwards to the board. At the directors' parley following, Arthur Woodall was re-elected president, Robinson vice-president, and Ira J. Driver was returned to his office as secretary-treasurer of the unit for a sixth year.

A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank at Houston, through which the association's long-time land mortgage loans are handled, addressed the gathering, and narrated while films of European farming methods were shown. He was introduced by Garland A. Woodward, assistant land bank general counsel and formerly of this city, who said that the association was the "largest Big Spring corporation."

The financial statement exhibited by Driver showed the local association with assets of $96,078, including $13,136 in bonds, $76,490 in land bank stock, and $4,500 in deferred credits. Surplus was listed at $12,658 and reserve at $4,500. Total delinquencies amounted to only $3,731 (it was only $231 in June). As of Aug. 31, the association showed $1,538,120 in land bank loans and $369,108 in commission.

KENVIL, N. J., Sept. 13 (AP)—The death list mounted to 39 today as rescue workers searched for additional bodies in the cooling ruins of the Hercules powder company's plant which was levelled by a series of terrific explosions.

Dr. H. Raymond Mitchell, Morris county physician, set the death toll at 39 and said an unestimated number of bodies were still in the wreckage.

Plant officials and state police earlier expressed belief the toll might reach 45 or 50 in the wake of yesterday's blast, one of the worst powder plant disasters in the nation's history.

William C. Hunt, Wilmington, Del., in charge of the company's explosive department, said that not more than four or five additional bodies would be recovered.

"It is highly likely we'll never be able to determine the cause of the explosion," Hunt added. "The men immediately concerned are lost."

He said the death toll was 30 before Dr. Mitchell's announcement. The county physician said the revised list comprised bodies taken from the ruins and men who died in Dover General hospital.

Today Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were investigating possibilities of sabotage. In the last three months the company had received $40,000,000 in contracts from the federal government.

The blast was of such intensity that reverberations were felt as far away as Danbury, Conn., 123 miles to the east.

The powder exploded in two terrific blasts and was followed by a series of lesser explosions and a fire which raced through the ruins and surrounding woodlands. The flames hampered rescue efforts and for a time threatened an underground magazine.

Twelve hours later another explosion sent shivers through Kenvil residents but it was minor in character.

Hunt said eight tons of powder in a solvent recovery plant blew up in the first two blasts.

The blasts crumpled brick and concrete walls of nearly a score of plant structures like card-board. Trees were denuded and around the area was a scene of burned, blackened and smoking wreckage.

Hunt said the company was at a loss to explain either the fire or explosions.

Need Of Speed Is Stressed On Defense

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt sent congress today, with his endorsement, a defense bill which had for its basic theme that "speed of delivery on all items of the defense program is essential."

"This means," the commission said, "that orders should be placed to insure 'the most efficient use of each particular facility from the point of view of the program as a whole,' that proper consideration should be given to contributor industries, such as the machine tool industry to 'avoid creating underlying bottlenecks,' and that once delivery dates are fixed 'assurance be given that they will be met by the supplier.'"

Accompanying the list of general principles was a statement of labor requirements the commission adopted Aug. 31 as a guide for contractors.

"Proper quality is also of prime importance," it said.

"Price, while not the sole consideration, is of outstanding significance, and every effort must be made to secure a fair price."

"Due regard to the necessity of protecting civilian needs and morale, is needed as is also 'consideration to possible off-season production in order to dovetail the military program into production for civilian requirements.'"

Trio Hurt In Road Crash

Three men escaped serious injury early Friday when a gasoline truck and a car piled up near Fairview, eight miles north of here.

Johnny Lee Turner, 20, driver of the car, and a hitchhiker who gave the name of Brown, suffered only minor hurts. Turner resides on the Glen Rose route at Cleburne.

J. B. Dollison, 33, 925 Lillus street, Abilene, who was driving a truck for B. W. Stewart of Abilene, had a slight back injury but was dismissed after treatment at the Big Spring hospital.

Both machines were northbound when the car apparently pulled over to stop. The truck and trailer, loaded with gasoline, collided with the rear of the car, investigating officers said. The injured were brought to the hospital in an Eberley ambulance.

RETIRED MINISTER, UNCLE OF LOCAL MAN, SUCCUMBS

CLARENDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Funeral services for the Rev. S. G. Hardy, 78, retired Methodist minister, will be held this afternoon. He will be buried at Sweetwater tomorrow.

The Rev. Mr. Hardy came from Kentucky more than 30 years ago and for 45 years was prominent in West Texas church affairs. He was president of Clarendon College in 1904.

As a pioneer elder he used to have the largest conference district in Texas, making the rounds with horse and buggy on a circuit that required weeks.

Rev. G. S. Hardy was the uncle of Dr. W. B. Hardy of Big Spring, and a brother of Rev. Ben Hardy of Tahoka, another pioneer Methodist minister of this area. Dr. W. B. Hardy will attend the funeral services in Sweetwater.

Hot Battle Developing In Africa

Italian Offensive On Egypt Appears Imminent

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 13 (AP)—British patrols were reported today to be fighting hard against large Italian forces on a 200-mile front in Kenya colony, hundreds of miles south of the Libyan-Egyptian border area where Italy's main offensive is believed imminent.

The significance of this development, first mentioned in a British communique last night, was not at once apparent in the light of Italy's new troop concentrations on the Egyptian frontier in far north Africa.

In Kenya the Italians apparently were trying to reach Nairobi, the capital.

British regulars and Kenya troops were reported inflicting heavy losses on the attackers.

The situation in the north was tense.

Italy massed troops—reportedly 250,000 strong—along the Libyan-Egyptian frontier and border artillery roared as British and Egyptian troops prepared to meet the long-expected Italian thrust to the east.

(In Rome, unofficial reports said an Italian offensive against Egypt already was under way. The daily high command communique, however, mentioned no major land operations although it reported heavy day and night air bombardments of British positions such as might be the prelude of a drive. London official quarters said there was no confirmation of the beginning of an offensive.)

Military observers in Cairo predicted the fascist drive would come within a week and coincide with Adolf Hitler's projected attempt to invade England, just as Italy's entrance into the war was timed with Germany's full-scale offensive into France and as Soviet Russia's advance from the east squeezed Poland at the critical moment during the Nazi invasion a year ago.

Firing between British and Italian advance units echoed ominously last night as British reconnaissance fliers reported movements of fresh troops from the interior of Libya to the port of Bardia, only 30 miles from the Egyptian border.

Buckingham Palace Struck; More Casualties In London

German Raiders Swarm Like Bees In Longest Daylight Raid Of War

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—German raiders hit Buckingham Palace and its inner courts with five bombs today, missing King George and Queen Elizabeth in a shelter there, and showered incendiary explosives on Downing street, where Prime Minister Churchill and other cabinet ministers have their offices.

Officials said no damage was done in Downing street, but the palace chapel was wrecked, and heavy pieces of masonry were hurled far and wide by explosions which shot bursts of smoke through the chapel roof.

Three plumbers working at the palace were slightly injured.

Nearly all the palace windows on the south side of the inner quadrangle were broken.

There were a number of casualties when three bombs screamed to earth in a busy nearby street before hundreds of people could dash to cover. They came before the alarm sirens had sounded.

One bomb started a large fire. Hundreds of girl workers were removed to safety as London's air raid precautions workers concentrated in the area to fight the blaze.

The attacks were made during the longest and most determined daylight raid London has experienced in the war, with the raiders dodging in and out of the clouds like bees swarming in a tree. Observers could see them over all parts of London.

The city was under an air raid alarm, second of the day, for four hours and nine minutes during this attack.

An hour and 35 minutes later, the third daylight alarm was signalled at 3:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m. CST), and explosions in the central city indicated the attack was being pressed home again.

The alarm lasted only 38 minutes.

During the attack two screaming bombs plunged in central London. Columns of smoke arose.

An air ministry communique said the Germans "deliberately bombed a number of conspicuous buildings" and other British sources said they apparently made a particular effort to hit London's most prized edifices.

"It is feared that the enemy has succeeded in killing and injuring a number of civilians," said the communique.

One bomb hit a large building adjoining a hotel in the central part of the city, but caused only minor damage.

Observers said some massive bombers which had a course set toward the broad avenue on which government buildings are clustered, were harried by fighters until they were forced to turn away.

Several of the raiders were reported shot down. One was seen trailing smoke over southwest London, and parachutes were seen floating down over central parts of the city.

Today was the second damage done to the royal residence. A delayed-action bomb, dropped Sunday, exploded last Tuesday and demolished a corner of the palace, including the swimming pool, and broke windows in the king's study and the queen's sitting room.

The damage today was described by the ministry of information as slight.

Essen, Site Of Gun Works, Is Attacked

Berlin Claims Bombers Hitting Enemy Objectives

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—English planes bombed Germany's principal industrial city of Essen, seat of the Krupp munitions works, last night, authorized sources said today, as German bombers were reported to be hitting London's docks and factories with "extraordinary accuracy."

But the British bombs missed their industrial targets, these sources said, and hit a workers' residential quarter on the outskirts of the city.

Casualties and damage were not reported.

It was the first report from German sources of a British bombing of the great sprawling industrial city. (The British communique has reported numerous attacks on Essen.)

The German airforce augmented its already powerful blows in the siege of London in daylight attacks.

Although Berliners slept through the night without air raid alarms, authorized sources said these "retaliatory" attacks on London and other parts of England would continue without let-up.

Another foray against southern England was said to have put one airplane factory out of production. The high command reported that during the night nine fires and explosions were set off in London and the western port of Liverpool and heavy damage inflicted on Beshill, Brighton, Scarborough and other places in southern England.

Light British naval forces attempted to shell Boulogne, in German-held France, during the night, but were driven off by naval coastal batteries without damage, its communique said.

It admitted that British night raiders swept over northern and western Germany and dropped bombs on residential sections and one village, but declared they failed to reach their real goals.

Hans Reichenberg, right-hand man of Economics Minister Walter Funk and participant in several of the Nazi raids on London, described Essen's dock section as a "scene of horror."

"Ordered fire in the British capital is well-nigh impossible," declared Reichenberg, who left his economics ministry post first to become a parachutist and later a gunner in bombers and in attacking planes.

In an wartime today's communique reported a lone German U-boat had sunk six British armed merchantmen totalling 37,400 tons, including one 7,000-ton steamer already reported. Another 8,000-ton freighter was said to have been damaged severely southwest of the Isle of Man.

Draft Bill May Be Completed Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Congressional leaders confidently predicted today that peacetime conscription legislation would be on its way to the White House by nightfall to become the law of the land.

In both senate and house the plan was to obtain quick action on the compromise version of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill worked out by a joint conference committee.

The day's big question was how long it would take congress to conclude action on the precedent-making bill which orders the registration of 16,500,000 men from the ages of 21 through 35 for possible military service. Some said it would be only a few hours.

The compromise version caused some expressions of dissatisfaction—chiefly from legislators who fought for the narrower 21-to-31 age limit, and the 60-day postponement in starting conscription. There were no signs, however, of attempts to stymie action.

One potential source of major dissension was believed largely eliminated by a committee change in the language of a provision authorizing the president to take over or a rental basis such assets of industries as fail to cooperate with the defense program.

Originally, the provision limited the presidential power to times when "imminent emergency" and "danger" existed.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) of the senate conference group said the amendment was modified because "the committee felt it was too extreme, requiring too much of an emergency to snare the president to take over plants."

Population Shift Is Revealed In California Gain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Evidence of a major shift in American population during the drought and repression years of the '30s came today in a census report that California's residents increased 1,196,437 in the decade.

The report showed California's population increased from 5,677,251 in 1930 to 6,873,688 this year.

Where many of these people came from was indicated by census figures that five mid-west states—South Dakota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska—had 300,830 fewer residents than 10 years ago.

LICENSE PUT ON AIRCRAFT SUPPLIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt clamped license requirements today on the export of certain planes and supplies for aircraft, in order to "further strengthen the national defense."

The presidential proclamation, made public at his press conference, added to the export license list equipment used for producing aviation motor fuel and tetraethyl lead or any plans or specifications used in the design, construction, or operation of such equipment; and plans, specifications and descriptive or technical information of any kind setting forth the design or construction of aircraft or aircraft engines.

These items are in addition to those covered in a proclamation last July placing export controls on tetraethyl lead and iron and steel scrap under license for export.

A proclamation of May 1, 1937, requires that exports of aircraft and aircraft engines be licensed.

Story Of War: Nine Hours In Raid Shelter

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The all-clear shrieked through the cold, wet dawn in the populous and poverty-stricken East End, a district which in the words of its own citizens has been bombed "like a ruddy naval base" these past two weeks.

I came out of the shelter, stiff-jointed and bleary-eyed as were the 41 other persons who had been down there with me during a nine-hour Nazi air raid.

Down the street they straggled through the rain, some carrying mattresses balanced on their heads, others with bedclothes bundled under their arms.

"That makes 12 nights we been in there, Ma," a barefoot youngster called. The mother nodded wearily.

The men were restless. They'd put in nine hard hours side by side, going out between naps to gaze at the sky.

I went out with one of them, an ex of a man about 55.

We lit our pipes and watched the anti-aircraft shells bursting. Bombs came screaming down.

"There's a noise I don't like," he said. "It fair gives you the shivers. I was at Mons. I thought I'd never get 'windy' again but, Lord, that gets me."

The guns broke out into a more

PRESS SEARCH FOR SLAYERS OF DEPUTY

PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Charges of murder were filed today naming Turner Moss Fowler and Charles (Buddy) Acker as the slayers of Deputy Sheriff George Robertson, abducted when he tried to arrest two men here Tuesday.

PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff George Robertson of Laramie county, victim of two young desperadoes who abducted him when he arrested them, will be buried here today while scores of officers search the Red river bottoms for his slayers.

Robertson's body, shot, slashed and beaten, was found in an automobile near Powderly, Texas, north of here, Wednesday night, more than 24 hours after he was kidnapped.

Captain M. P. Gonzales of the Texas rangers said "the rangers are going to stay on the job until the men guilty are apprehended."

The fleeing desperadoes were believed to have three revolvers, including one taken from Robertson.

House Of Lords Damaged In Raids

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The house of lords has been damaged in recent air raids, it was disclosed officially tonight.

An incendiary bomb that hit the house, in one wing of the houses of parliament, was quickly extinguished.

HAROLD BETHELL SUFFERS SLIGHT ARM INJURY

Although he will be out of practice for the next few days, Harold (Lefty) Bethell's arm injury—received in scrimmage at John Tarleton—is not serious, his father, E. E. Bethell, was advised Friday.

Lefty, ace of the Big Spring Steer backfield last season and a freshman at Tarleton, suffered a fracture of a small bone in his right forearm. The arm is in a cast, and is mending nicely.

German-Held Harbor Bombed

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—British bombers struck heavily last night at Le Havre, on the German-held French coast, where the Nazi army has been reported concentrating some of its most powerful units for an invasion of Britain, the air ministry announced tonight.

A German tanker and a supply ship were hit at Le Havre, the ministry said.

It also reported that a British balloon barrage had snared a German plane early today.

PLANE LANDING FIELDS PLANNED ALONG HIGHWAYS

AUSTIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—Narrow airplane landing fields may some day parallel many Texas highways as part of the national defense program.

Congressional authorization for state highway departments to acquire "flight strips" is contained in federal highway aid allotments for fiscal 1942 and 1943, the state highway department has been informed.

These narrow strips, long enough for planes to land and take off in, presumably would be useful in a military way. Because they would border highways, serving of planes would be facilitated. Joint use of planes and trucks in troop movements also might be speeded.

Child Welfare Is Discussed At A Night Meet

Speaking on what a child welfare unit is composed of and streamlining the need for establishing such a unit here, Miss Lydia Cane of Austin of the division of child welfare spoke to a group Thursday night at the parish house of St. Mary's Episcopal church in the third of a series of meetings being held here.

Representatives from the Mexican school, county and city commissioners, service clubs and public welfare departments attended.

Mrs. W. J. McDams gave a resume of the discussions so far and Miss Cane then spoke of the chief problems in Howard county. She pointed out that exploitation and neglect of children here and a great amount of dependency were the two chief problems. She told that 233 children from 94 families at the time of her survey were cases in need of help.

The child unit worker would be a trained and experienced worker paid by the state. Above her salary an amount of some $200 is necessary to pay for a stenographer, equipment and funds to maintain the children. This sum may be supplied either by the city or county or private donations or by any combination of them.

All funds are handled through an administrative board which is composed of seven local men and women who direct all activities.

New Member Initiated In The J. F. F. Club

A special meeting to welcome and initiate a new member, Toka Williams, was held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Opal Martin by the J. F. F. club.

An entertainment, the club members prepared refreshments of pineapple cake and ice cream. Present were Mrs. N. Carpenter, Tinka Collier, Opal Martin, Anita Cate, Norma Rogers, Mina Johnson and the new member.

MISS LANE'S NOTES

By Mary Whaley

Boo! It's Friday the 13th and we just wondered if anybody was scared. This is the day that everything is supposed to happen but then everyday is a busy day with us so we scorn the idea.

This is the day when some 4,000 superstitions will make folks walk wary. There are the black cats, broken mirrors and ladders that effect some folks every day and will be doubly important today.

As for us, our only belief is crossing fingers and we have gone through half our life with ours crossed and nothing has happened.

Even gotten ambidextrous about doing our work in this fashion. So for our part, we will just keep 'em crossed today and not worry.

Come to think of it though, we might leave all our mirrors at home—in fact maybe we better—and we haven't seen any black cats very recently. But in case we do, we shall just go around the block or change our mind and go the other way. As for walking under ladders guess we better avoid them for today anyway. And as long as we are thinking about it, we will look out for a horse shoe or two.

But what is this anyway? We started out to tell you about how we didn't believe in all this sort of thing. Now we have got ourselves so worked up that maybe we better call off working today and go home and go to bed.

After all, it is Friday the 13th and who are we to court bad luck?

The Crocus Is A Fall Blooming Flower Of Several Varieties

By CLAIRE NORTON

Author of "Spring Flowers From Bulbs"

Meet the fall-blooming crocus. It's only recently that she's become widely known in America, but she's well worthwhile.

Like spring's jaunty little crocuses that peep from a sparkling blanket of snow crystals, the fallaffron, which isn't a true crocus of the Mediterranean family but which has crocus-like flowers.

The colchicum may be purchased from the seed house in late summer and brought into the house to bloom without soil or moisture.

Then it may be planted in the yard to flower, henceforth outdoors, each autumn.

Or it may be planted outside in August to bloom almost immediately.

Lives From Year To Year

The colchicum lives from year to year and multiplies, while autumnal crocuses usually do well for only a season or two.

Colchicum does well in most any soil, will bloom indoors without moisture or soil for one season.

Out-of-doors it should be planted two to three inches deep, the plants about three inches apart.

Autumnal crocus, Crocus sativus, is planted three to four inches deep.

Everyone knows the opulent, gaudy little Dutch crocuses that bloom in March and April. They may be spotted here and there about lawns or used as edging for a flower bed in a thin, unbending line.

If you have stayed with the Dutch varieties and never tried other kinds, you have missed an adventure in color.

Use Of Wild Varieties

There are wild ones that may be naturalized and a gardener possessed of grounds large enough to include half-wild slopes among deciduous trees has made-to-order landscape for these.

They should be scattered by the hundreds, in autumn, so that when springtime comes the sturdy trunks of the leafless trees will rise from a carpet of widespread chalice blooms.

In such planting it is well to walk over a chosen line, tossing bulbs at random with a free hand. Then go over the ground again, lifting the sod and slipping the bulbs under it at the spots where each fell. Thus a natural appearance will be obtained and the bright little crocus cups will appear singly here, in groups of six or a dozen there, with great splashes of color near the dark tree trunks or with patches of serene brown turf showing between the clusters. Such a planting pattern accentuates the coloring of the crocuses.

For artistic results the number of colors employed should be held down and those used should blend and harmonize.

Plan Outcroppings

In smaller quarters the crocus may be used in rock gardens or to make drifts of lavender, white and deep purple in shrubbery borders. They make a picture never to be forgotten if there are occasional outcroppings of the main drift into the long grass dividing shrubbery and lawn.

They also may be used in broad, informal ribbons in the foreground of the hardy border or scattered among sedum album for edging paths and borders. Plant about three inches deep in most any type of soil.

Tomorrow: Some fall flower gardening demanding immediate attention.

Mountaineers Invade Steer Pastures In Debut Tonight

B'SPRING PROSPECTS GET PRE-DIST. TEST

Tonight at 8 o'clock Coach Pat Murphy's Big Spring high school Steers will open their bid for honors during the 1940 season when they meet the Mineral Wells Mountaineers here. The showing tonight, since it is with the district-visiting Mountaineers, will be in the nature of a test flight before the circuit race starts.

Coach Cy Perkins, in a pre-game report, stated that he had the lightest team in the history of the Mineral Wells school but had a fair degree of speed to compensate for the lack of bulk.

Judging from the statistics, Big Spring is slated to make up for the 7 to 6 defeat they suffered at the hands of Mineral Wells in the opener last year. The attitude of the players appears to be of the best and the team as a whole has been clicking satisfactorily in the execution of ground gaining maneuvers.

Breaks played a large part in the final score when the Steers tried to travel over the Mountaineers in their last engagement. At that time, Bobby Martin became confused because of a mistaken down marker and tossed an incomplete fourth down pass to pave the way to ultimate defeat.

Big Spring will be without the punting of Lefty Bethell but should be able to handle the kicking department with a fair amount of accuracy, although they might be shy on range.

Mineral Wells will be able to put eight lettermen in the fray tonight. Gregory Ware, 150-pounder in the quarterback position, is a veteran who last year gave the Steers a great deal of difficulty. Jack Vaughn, 180-pound tackle for the Mountaineers, will return to take up where he left off last year.

Murphy's starting lineup will include six veterans. Owen Brummet, 155-pound left half will be on deck again, as will be Tabor Rowe, veteran quarterback. The rest of the backfield, both new men, includes Pete Fresley, fullback, and Horace Bostick, right half.

'Unknown' In Spotlight At Mamaroneck

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—Warrington Bannerman McCullough, Jr., a semi-bald young blue-blood from Philadelphia, still was in there slugging toe-to-toe with the tough competitors of amateur golf when the national championships forged into the semi-final round at the Winged Foot club today.

Early yesterday McCullough generally was conceded to have gone further than he belonged. But Warrington got obstinate and knocked the ears off such a couple of young men as Willie Turnesa and Johnny Fischer, both former champions.

None knew quite what to make of McCullough. The best he ever did before was to lose to Lawson Little in the fifth round at Cleveland in 1935. He beat Turnesa 3 and 2 and Fischer 5 and 4.

The other three semi-finalists "belonged." Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, who was assigned the task of trying to stop McCullough in one of today's two 36-holeers, eliminated the defender, Bud Ward of Seattle, Wash., 4 and 3, yesterday.

In the other bracket were Wilford Wehrle and Dick Chapman. Wehrle, out of Chicago, has been batting at the door for several years, so has Chapman.

Their feature battle today figures to be close and hard fought. Chapman, six under par for the 20 holes he needed to beat two opponents yesterday, had a little better medal record of the two. Wehrle was only two under par the same distance. But some thought that Wehrle's fighting qualities more than balanced the score.

Forsan Meets 1940 Champs

Forsan meets Westbrook, last year's titleholder of district 12 of the six-man football bracket, for the opening gridiron engagement of the 1940 season. A pair of games were split between the Buffalo sextet and Westbrook last year.

Coach Cagle Hunt will put a Forsan aggregation on the field that will include four lettermen from last season. Starters are as follows: James Craig, veteran 170-pound center; Floyd, 160-pound left end who wore the Buff's colors last fall; J. R. Smith, right end on the Forsan starting lineup who tips the scales at 180; James Gardner, 129-pounder who won his spurs last year will fill the quarter position; Russell Wilson, another 120-pound Buff who has yet to win his letter will be in the halfback slot; Kenneth Cousley, 162-pound letterman will be in charge of the fullback position.

Other games to be played today in the circuit are: Sterling City at Courtney, Garden City at Water Valley and Garner at Coahoma.

TCU Frog's Future Is Black For '40

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13 (AP)—The cold truth about Texas Christian's football future can be told only when Kyle Gillespie's knee stops wobbling.

Just now there is little hope that the great tailback, a boy who seemed destined for the same glory as Slingin' Sam Baugh and Davey O'Brien, two of his illustrious predecessors, will be a regular performer this season.

Two days ago the brilliant passer, runner and kicker broke loose in scrimmage and hurried 35 yards downfield before a second stringer pounced on him. He tumbled down, his left leg tucked beneath him.

He didn't move for several seconds. The knee he carefully nursed through several months of recuperation after a delicate operation early in the year started stiffening, swelling.

So went an estimated one-third of Texas Christian's offensive punch.

Gillespie, who played brilliantly last season between bouts with the unruly knee, may play some football this season. But he won't, can't, be a regular fixture. Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer will take no more gambles with the lad.

No more this season will Gillespie scrimmage. He will participate only in dummy drills; play in regular games only in the spots he is needed. Meyer isn't convinced that Gillespie can't come back, and refuses to count him out entirely.

But there's a chesty little fellow of 160 pounds still around—and all isn't lost at T. C. U. Dean Bagley hasn't been injured—and isn't likely to be. Dean Bagley is exceedingly durable.

The squat sophomore who totaled 279 points to lead the nation's scorers in 1938 while a member of the San Saba high school team, is about the neatest thing in the way of a running back T. C. U. has had in many seasons. He can pass in a pinch, but not like Gillespie.

"Smart, agile and a very capable runner as a sophomore," admitted Meyer. "He'll be a very valuable man to us. Frankly, our entire running game will be greatly improved. I'd say the entire ball club will be improved. But the uncertainty about Gillespie makes it hard to tell."

Bagley is the skidding, irritating type of runner who finds his holes, ducks through and has "six points" fairly sticking out on him if he gets into the secondary. He is the talk of the T. C. U. drills.

With him in the backfield will be Nolan Sparks, a 203-pound junior who missed lettering by only 15 minutes last year when hit by a hurt; co-captain Logan Ware, the veteran tackle slasher at 181 pounds; fullback Frank Krings, 195-pound junior letterman who looked very sturdy in spots last season and is driving now.

Capable replacements are around in Rusty Cowart, letterman tailback; Bill Ramsey, a sophomore

Slaton Cats, Lamesa In 1940 Debut

The Slaton Tigers will invade the home grounds of the Golden Tornadoes of Lamesa high school tonight in the first in the opening football game of the season by both camps.

For seventeen years the Tornadoes and the Tigers have been engaging each other in gridiron conflicts, splitting about even on the record. This game will not be a conference one because Lamesa is now in the AA bracket while Slaton is in the A division.

Coach F. T. McCollum's proteges have suffered nothing but superficial injuries during the getting-in-shape period. McCollum announces that his team is light, hitting between 140 to 160 pounds as a general thing and with a few 170-pounders.

The backfield labors will be carried on by Foy Futrell, Donald Reeves, Obie Cates, Russell Calhoun and Allen Barnard. Kent Morgan, lineman, is the only three-year letterman for the Tornadoes. Co-captain Gus White, Jr., and L. Z. Oswald are men with one year of regular service behind them.

Friday night's probable starting lineup includes Cecil Blair and White, ends; Jack McBride and Morgan, tackles; Verneal Roberts and Oswald, guards; Barnard, quarter; Reeves and Futrell, halfbacks; Cates or Calhoun, fullback; Dale Carmichael or Earl Merritt, center.

Santone, Okla. City In Shaky Loop Lead

San Antonio and Oklahoma City remained in the running for the Texas league championship today but one misallip will spell oblivion for each.

The Missions tied Beaumont 8-8 yesterday to stave off elimination while Oklahoma City bettered their chances with a 3-2 decision over Houston last night. Beaumont has a two-up advantage and Houston has Oklahoma City down two games to one.

San Antonio and Beaumont clash again at Beaumont today with Boyd Soelle due to toe the mound for the Missions and Virgil (Fire) Trucks working for Beaumont.

Dewey Adkins was Manager Rogers Hornsby's choice for twirling duty against Houston tonight at Oklahoma City. Sam Nahem, who pitched the Buffs to victory in the opener, or Hank Nowak, will go to the hill for Houston.

Darkness halted play in the Beaumont-San Antonio stalemate yesterday after the two teams had required two hours and forty-five minutes to get in nine innings.

Yanks Clawed In Tiger Tilt

By JUDSON BAILEY

It's too early to say the New York Yankees are stopped. They are what is known as "sloved to a standstill."

When the western clubs were in the east the world champions acquired a case of pennant fever by winning 10 out of 11 and they got the idea they could do the same thing against the same clubs away from home.

Now they are finding out that the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians are stubborn about letting a Johnny-come-lately get into their private feud.

After splitting a doubleheader at Cleveland Wednesday the Yankees folded before the Tigers yesterday 6-3 while the Indians fattened on the Boston Red Sox 8-1.

From New York's standpoint the most disheartening feature of the Yanks' second straight loss was that victory was so close. Atty Donald was winning 3-2 going into the last half of the eighth. Then Joe Gordon threw a doubleplay ball into the dugout and the Tigers tallied four unearned runs on four singles.

Yesterday's results left Cleveland half a game behind Detroit and 1 1/2 ahead of New York, but that wasn't all. It let the surprising Chicago White Sox catch up with Boston for a fourth place tie, six games back of the lead.

The White Sox raided the Philadelphia Athletics in two games 1-0 and 4-3 with Bill Dietrich pitching four-hit ball in the first and Lefty Ed Smith scattering five in the second.

The Washington Senators squelched the St. Louis Browns 7-2 with rookie Arnold Anderson doing a six-hit mound chore.

Cincinnati eliminated the New York Giants mathematically from the pennant picture by pounding out a 9-4 decision for Gene Thompson's 15th victory of the year.

Hugh Casey won both halves of a doubleheader for the Brooklyn Dodgers against the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 and 7-4. He went the route in the first game in a three-hit show and then went to the relief of Luke Hamlin with the score tied in the seventh inning of the nightcap and got credit for the victory.

The once-punchless Boston Bees shelled the St. Louis Cardinals 17-6 and 6-1, getting 36 hits in the

STEVE BELLOISE WHIPS GARCIA

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Steve Belloise, the kid who began his fighting at a family picnic and who does fancy needle work for fun, gets a crack at the world middleweight championship on Nov. 1. By outpointing the veteran ex-titholder, Ceferino Garcia, in ten rounds before a crowd of 10,869 in Madison Square Garden last night, the Bronx youngster not only scored his 25th straight victory, but also was signed immediately by Promoter Mike Jacobs to tangle with Ken Overlin, the Virginia boxing "cutie." Overlin holds that portion of the title recognized in California and New York.

Borger Gassers Lack Only Single Game To Take Title

LUBBOCK, Sept. 13, (AP)—The Lubbock Hubbers had their backs to the wall today as they returned home to contest the Borger Gassers in the sixth game of the West Texas-New Mexico league playoff. Borger needed a single victory to win the championship.

Last night the Gassers defeated Lubbock 14-13 with a magnificent rally in the ninth to take their third straight and gain a three-game-to-two edge.

In hanging up their third victory, Borger had to ring up eight runs in the last inning.

TYLER, Sept. 13. The Tyler-Marshall play-off series for the East Texas league championship is just what the fans ordered. The teams were all-square again today as they moved here for the fifth game.

Tyler won last night 9-6, the Tiger infield coming apart to help the Trojans take the decision in the final innings.

Tonight Outfielder Nick Gregory of Tyler will be married in a ceremony at home plate before the game starts.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Jack Douglas

Tonight's the night
When we'll see, with the help of the lights
If the local Steers can talk or fight

Pawdun us folks, but we couldn't help it.

Coach Pat Murphy will chase his boys out on the field at 8 o'clock tonight for the gratification and approval of the paying customers. After it is all over, maybe the customers will chase Murphy up the hollow—but let's hope not.

The Big Spring Steers seem to be in the best frame of mind that they have had for some time, according to one of the members of the coaching staff. Of course, we don't know what the attitude of Cy Perkins' Mineral Wells Resorters might be, but from all appearances of the Bovines the Mineral Wells delegation is going to need to be pugnaciously inclined to an uncommon degree if they have any intentions of publicly bullying and buffooning the Longhorns. In other words, we don't believe the Resorters are going to be capable of giving the Big Spring aggregation a wallowing.

This six-man football is a rather speedy little ruckus. It seems to be all offensive play and very little defensive. In reality, it is a mixture of basketball and regulation football, with just a dash of playground touch football and a bit of track events to spice it.

This afternoon Forsan will run up against Westbrook in the curtain-raiser for both teams. Westbrook is the titleholder in the number 12 loop of the six-man game. The defending champions very likely have the edge on the contenders.

About the Yank-Indian-Tiger mix up; don't ask us—we have just lost our crystal ball and have no intention of getting an eight ball to replace it.

A prayer that the Big Spring Steers can use tonight:—"Lady Luck, we know you don't pick sides, but if you do—be you on our side."

Editorial

From now until December Big Spring can be assured of one thing—that a group of unpaid high school kids will be working their very hearts out in an effort to bring honor to their school through their conduct on the football field.

For no other reason, Big Spring ought to rally to the support of these youngsters in an measure of appreciation for their fine spirit. And the first opportunity to respond occurs this evening when Big Spring meets Mineral Wells on the local gridiron.

It is a failing of older folk that they sometimes are prone to make light of the efforts of well intentioned youths, to find fault when boys fall short of a level of perfection adults themselves never achieve.

Youngsters can't understand this sort of thing. They understand only the friendly counsel of their elders, well directed praise, a pat on the back even if things are not going so good. Perhaps hallyhoo and the old school spirit are developed out of proportion in some instances, but it is surprising the effect a generous amount of fine community support can have upon a group of high school football players.

Washington Daybook

By STYLES BRIDGES

U. S. Senator from New Hampshire

WASHINGTON—The eight years of the Roosevelt administration will go down in American history as the era of futility, or as something even worse.

That futility will give way to tragedy, should Mr. Roosevelt succeed in achieving his third term ambitions, is my sincere conviction. War would, in that event, appear inevitable. And no hurried appropriations of billions will suffice to repair in time our long neglected defenses.

To attempt to detail the New Deal record of failure in the space here allotted to me is, of course, manifestly impossible. I can only point out some of the consequences, actual and potential, from the New Deal's mistakes, bungling and ineptitude, results that will be with us for many years.

But even the New Deal's sins of omission and commission in its handling of the domestic economy; its sometimes concealed, sometimes openly provocative, foreign policies; its unbridled waste and extravagance; its unwarranted attacks on legitimate business; the piling up of a national debt of inconceivable proportions; the failure to solve the unemployment problem, or to provide adequately for the nation's defense, all these, and other faults equally grievous, are less evil in their potential consequences than the continuous usurpation of power by the executive.

This steady encroachment by Mr. Roosevelt upon the constitutional prerogatives of the legislative and judicial branches of the government is the real menace of the New Deal and the gravest danger confronting the republic.

Temporarily stopped by the defeat of the Supreme Court packing bill from the creation of a high court completely under the executive domination, resignations and deaths of members of the court, enabled the president, by the power of appointment, to accomplish his purpose in the end.

The congress, in control of the New Dealers, has largely ceased in its function of exercising a restraining influence.

Lump sums of billions of dollars are placed at the president's disposal to do with as he wills, and taxes are then levied, or the debt limit raised, to procure the money to be expended.

In the hands of the executive has been placed

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—A couple of newspapermen named Herman Allen and Rader Winget left the office the other afternoon about five, turned up their coat collars to avoid the rain, and strolled across to 52nd street on their way to catch an 8th avenue subway.

Pausing to rest in front of the Club 18, they were momentarily startled out of their wits to hear a big fog horn voice right behind them boom: "Stick 'em up!"

They whirled around, hands raised, to find themselves confronted by a big cop. He hadn't drawn his gun but he had slipped the holster around in front and he had his hand on the trigger.

"What you got your hands in your pockets for?" he cried nervously. "You got a gun?" Allen didn't, or couldn't, answer that one. "No, he hasn't got a gun," said Winget.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—It is a favorite generality around here that one stage flop necessarily embitters an actor against the footlights, but John Garfield is at least one exception.

Young Garfield knew his share of stage flops before he became a movie star. In that light his flop in "Heavenly Express," his latest stage venture had little more significance to him than a flop of pre-movie days.

That goes for all the movie lights who have returned to the stage—for Frederic March who picked a bad one before he picked a good one in "The American Way"; for Frances Farmer who did all right in "Golden Boy" but not so well in "Thunder Rock"; for Katherine Hepburn who took a merciless roasting for "The Lake" but made her critics eat their words when she picked "Philadelphia Story." It goes, too, for the catastrophe "Romeo and Juliet" of Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier.

All a Broadway flop means for a movie star—aside from the hurt and temporary loss of prestige—is that the particular star in the particular play he selected was not acceptable. It does not follow that the star is doomed to failure forever, nor that he must be "cured" (as if a real ham could ever be cured) for all time.

Another conclusion to which we often jump is that Hollywood always is stupid because so many potential stars are passed up here and later grabbed because of their Broadway fame. This happens time and again, and who am I to say

The Football Season

And after all, they are due this measure of applause. They go through a week's intense labor in preparation for one weekly appearance in a game. They exert their every fibre in an effort to win or give a good account of themselves and the team. They aim for honor to the school and community, and not to seek individual praise.

These lads are learning life's lessons in an American way, asking no quarter nor giving none, playing hard and clean. They put on a bang-up show, together with colorful bandmen and pep squad members, and give more than value received in entertainment.

They are carrying the brunt of the school's entire athletic program, realizing that they must function commendably in order that other sports may be financed without necessity of dipping into the taxpayers' money. And for all this they ask nothing in return but a chance to play again.

Surely Big Spring can realize what a splendid investment it has in its football boys, in its hand, pep squad and in its school. Surely Big Spring can show that it is a city proud of its youngsters and ready to lend a helping hand if by no further means than showing up at tonight's and all other home games this season.

The New Deal (GOP View)

complete control over the monetary system of the country.

Thus neither the congress nor the Supreme Court longer serves as a serious check to the carrying out of any mandate that may issue from the White House.

Sworn to uphold the constitution, the executive has again and again flouted its provisions and has expressed views that he considers the document outmoded and outworn.

Instead of the representative government our forefathers handed down to us, we have government carried on through the creation of innumerable bureaucracies, each sufficient unto itself, possessing arbitrary powers over both individuals and property, responsible only to the executive, subject to no court review.

Already the abridgment of many individual liberties has resulted, and we have been carried a long way toward adopting the alien concept of totalitarian government in force under the European dictatorships.

The ultimate result of a continuance of these trends can only mean the destruction of democracy by our own hands, rather than by any threat emanating from a foreign power.

The New Deal must, then, be judged not only by the record it has already made but by what its clear intent and purpose should be continued in power.

Thus far in the present campaign there has been no effort to explain, or to defend, the waste and extravagance that has brought the nation near to bankruptcy; there has been no excuse offered for the proven political use of relief money; no adequate explanation has been given as to what has been obtained for approximately six billions appropriated for defense purposes, prior to the president's recent emergency messages.

No promise has been given of the curtailment of the ordinary expenses of government to help defray the extraordinary appropriations now required for armaments.

There is, in short, no reason for the people to believe that the New Deal has learned anything from its mistakes, or that it intends to correct them.

There is only the insatiable ambition of one man to be continued in office, cost the American people what it may, in dollars, lives or liberties.

"How do you know he hasn't?" the cop wanted to know. "I gotta frisk you boys."

Wherefore and with no further loss of time, Allen and Winget got a good going over.

"Okay," said the cop, after identities had been established, "but you boys shouldn't stand around with your hands in your coat pockets."

Seems that a couple of days before a man had been standing on that same piece of sidewalk when a cop asked him what he was doing. The man, a nervous, jittery individual, whipped out a gun and shot the cop six times.

This cop was taking no chances.

"I admit I was sure at first," Winget explained later, "but after I got home and had a look at myself in the mirror I didn't blame him much. I had on a brown summer suit, and you know what they look like when they get wet. After another peep into the mirror I took the suit off and threw it away."

The Herald's Serial Story

Chapter 14

HOMECOMING

Constance thought of Min's Tim's car as she drove her own coupe out of the city garage. She patted the steering wheel as though to encourage it on, into the maelstrom of early evening traffic. Queer she'd never before noticed the noise and confusion.

Ahead of her lay The Family, and explanations. She'd worry about both when she faced them. The first thing she saw, upon driving into the grounds, was the resplendent roadster which had belonged, after a fashion, to Don Cabrillo.

"Now what?" she wondered. Lamson's face lighted with joy, then clouded. His eyebrows arching, his eyes rolled toward the ceiling and his shoulders seemed intent upon following.

"Lammy! what on . . . my word, are we having a funeral?" The foyer was a mass of flowers, great baskets of blossoms filled the air with a heady fragrance. "Your bag is in your car, Miss Constance?" he inquired, and nodded to a trim maid who was hurrying towards them.

"Of course, but—" Lamson was gone and the maid was insisting that Constance follow her.

"Will you please attend to your duties," Constance said. "I'm quite capable of finding my way about this house."

The maid disappeared and Constance tiptoed down the hall. Flowers everywhere. Heavenly Day, they'd had the living room done over again. And now the dining room, three long tables, exquisitely appointed, a new footman hovering over one.

Constance nearly ran into Lamson as he hurried into the house with her bag. "A wedding?" she demanded.

Lamson lost control of his nerves. "It's a dinner to 'out-dinner' all dinners," he moaned.

"Listen," she grabbed him by the sleeve, "gentlemen don't visit ladies in their boudoirs, but I'm not feeling like a lady just now, so come on."

Lamson followed her upstairs and when she had closed the door behind him, she handed him a cigarette. "Light up, Lammy, and start spilling. What's happened since I went away?"

Lamson balanced gingerly on the edge of a chair. "Conchita," he began, and stopped short.

Constance controlled her smile. She hadn't heard him call her that since she returned from her first boarding school. "That's all right. I like to hear you say Conchita. Now, go on."

Instead he reached into a pocket and drew forth a clipping.

Constance read it, slipped it—

CARRILLOS TO SELL FAMOUS RANCHO, the heading advised her.

A second caption, elucidated: "Fabulous Price To Be Paid For El Cabrillo Rancho."

The clipping contained an interview with the Cabrillo family. Excerpts from it burned into the heart of the girl who read.

"—the days of the cattle barons are gone—"

"Out of the mouths of babes," quoted Constance.

"—find it advisable to dispose of extensive holdings as times have changed and resident managers can no longer be trusted to give honest attention to the interests of absentee owners—"

Constance read the eulogy on Cabrillo's past and present, through anger-dulled eyes. This then, was the thanks the Taylors were to receive: public condemnation.

Fine slits of sapphire shone

Memory Of The Moon

By Jeanne Bowman

"Better go down now before anyone starts asking questions."

She locked the door behind him, then went to her desk, put the clipping to one side and drew note paper before her. Swiftly she wrote:—

"I know the newspaper stories released by my family will reach you. Please let me apologize for them. They spoke in ignorance of true conditions. As Juliana says, never has El Cabrillo had an efficient management."

"As soon as possible I will refute the printed statements and give you credit for your fine work—"

Constance slipped the letter into her bag, after addressing it to Peter Taylor, Senior, then turned out her light and went to the window to look down on the arriving guests.

Lights threw a luster on top hats and white shirtfronts, on folds of velvet, satin and furs. White eyes of limousines streamed up the driveway, and red tail lights blinked as they wheeled down again.

Once a cab stopped to deposit a tall, squarely-built figure, and Constance leaned close to the pane to look down and whisper— "Why . . . why, John?"

He had become real again. He'd stepped out of the background, where he'd been pushed by the more vivid life at El Cabrillo, and for a moment it seemed to Constance that only with the sight of him had she actually returned from the ranch.

She turned away then to study her position. One thing, the Cabrillo's headlong fling into debt substantiated her claim that the fifty thousand dollars wouldn't last long, once it was in their hands.

"Oh," she thought bitterly, "I wish this were Old England where they had a debtors' prison. Maybe that would teach this family the lesson they must learn some day."

"And why do I assume the burden? I'm not responsible for their actions? I'm not even bound by a promise to my father, as Lamson is."

"Why don't I let them sell the place and step out, start living my own life, let them sell—" she stopped with a sob. "I can't. I may as well be honest. I love El Cabrillo. I'm really saving it because I love it more than I love them."

The last car departed and comparative quiet reigned in the hall below. Assured the guests were all at dinner, Constance descended the stairs. "Going out to mail a letter," she whispered to Lamson.

Outrigger.

The green maw of the post-box accepted the envelope. Constance drove on, trying to blind herself to the course of that missive. Someone would go down to the highway for the mail pouch. It would be brought to Peter Senior's table. He'd cough, rumble, and finally throw it across to Pedro.

"Please, God," whispered Constance seeking a glimpse of stars through the naked limbs of the park trees, "please make them understand that the story was given in thoughtlessness."

She couldn't drive all night so she returned home, worried her way through the driveway and, leaving the car before the garage, started back to the house. She stopped before the lighted windows of the solrium.

Somewhere an orchestra played discreetly. Couples danced through from the hall, down the tiled floors and back into the hall through another doorway.

There was her mother, radiant in amber velvet, looking at that moment only half the age of the daughter who scowled at her from the darkness of the terrace.

Constance scowled because she couldn't picture Nadine Cabrillo at the ranch. She belonged here; here in this exotic setting.

Don strode through, sleek and handsome. The girl in his arms adjusted her steps to his with a pained, adoring smile. Don would never adjust his steps to another's.

And then came Donna, exotic as a tropical blossom, in a frock that seemed a swirl of living blossoms; one scarlet flower in the high coils of her blue-black hair.

Donna and Constance straightened. Donna and John Rask-thorne engaged in a deeply serious conversation. Constance wondered if her feeling of alarm was jealousy, and then she saw Donna

Memory Of The MOON

jeck from John's arms, stomp tiny scarlet shoes and snap her fingers before John's patrician nose.

"Okay, sister!"

A hand closed on Constance's arm with the words, and simultaneously a flashlight blazed her.

"What's the business?" demanded the voice.

"Let go of my arm," warned
Constance.

"Come on, come on, what are you up to?" droned the superior person beyond the flashlight.

"I'm Constance Cabrillo and I—"

"Yeah? Well, I'm old Don Cabrillo's ghost," chuckled the studow. "Tera, Ed, you go through her bag."

Constance fought the hand that grasped her. "You touch that bag and you'll be sorry," she promised.

"Who are you?"

"We're private detectives, sister, put here to catch little blue-eyed snitchers. Want me to take you into the Cabrillos?"

"No," cried Constance. "But please look in my bag; you'll find my driver's license there, and if you can't believe what you read, call Lamson, the butler, he'll identify me."

"Pat chance," breathed the shadowy Ed. "You girls always work with someone on the inside.
Let's take her down to the station for the night, the Cabrillos can come in tomorrow."

HUMBLE OFFERS TO EXPLOSIVE STUFF, SYNTHETIC RUBBER

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Humble Oil & Refining Co., of Texas, a Standard Oil of N. J. affiliate, has offered to arrange with the U. S. government to produce raw materials for explosives, it was disclosed today in "The Lamp," house organ of Sonj.

The offer was made on the basis of successful results achieved by engineers and chemists of Sonj and affiliates in actual plant operations.

"A subsidiary operating company recently delivered for testing purposes," said the magazine, "two tank cars, or 20,000 gallons of nitration grade toluene produced synthetically and the new product has proved entirely satisfactory."

Large scale synthetic rubber production plans are being carried to a point where plant construction can be begun immediately in the event the government asks any of the companies to go into this work,
"The Lamp" added.

Williams, Wm. E. Smith, Jr., Wm. E. Smith, Sr., Wm. E. Phillips, Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Edith K. Fisher, Max S. Jacobs, owners of property abutting on that portion of Runnels Street lying between the South line of Tenth Street extended across Runnels Street to the North line of Eighteenth Street extended across Runnels Street, as to all other persons owning property abutting on said portion of said street:

Whereas, on the 27th day of August, 1940, the City Commission of the City of Big Spring by ordinance passed on said date, ordered that portion of Runnels Street lying between the South line of Tenth Street extended across Runnels Street to the North line of Eighteenth Street extended across Runnels Street, to be improved to the extent in the manner follows:

Such street improvements to consist of two courses inverted penetration asphalt pavement, one seal coat on six inch caliche base, and construction of twenty-four inch concrete curbs and gutters;

Whereas, the City Commission caused an estimate to be made of the cost of said street improvements, and said estimate shows that the total cost of such improvement will be $16,354.40 and that the cost per front foot of all properties abutting on portion of said street lying between the South line of Tenth Street extended across Kunnels Street to the North line of Eleventh Place extended across Runnels Street to the North line of Eighteenth Street extended across Runnels Street will be $3.54 for a forty-foot paving; and

Whereas, the City Commission has determined to assess a portion of the cost of said improvements to the extent of $1.30 per front foot against the owners of property abutting on said portion of said street and the owners of property abutting between Tenth Street and Eleventh Place, and against such property, and to the extent of $1.77 against the owners of property abutting on said portion of said street lying between Eleventh Place and Eighteenth Street, and against such property; and ordered that a hearing of such owners of abutting property and other interested persons to be held on the 31th day of September, 1940, and further ordered that notice be given to the owners of abutting property on such portion of said street proposed to be improved, by advertisement in the Big Spring Daily Herald to be inserted at least three times, such notice to be given by the Mayor and attested by the City Secretary,

You, and each of you, are, therefore, hereby notified that improvements of the nature above described are proposed to be made to the portion of said street, above named, and you are further notified that a hearing will be held by the City Commission in the Corporation Court room in the City Hall in Big Spring on the 24th day of September, 1940, at 7:30 o'clock P. M. at which time and place the owners of property abutting on said portion of said street and all persons interested therein will be heard as to all matters pertaining to said improvements and assessments proposed to be made against the owners of property abutting on said portion of said street and against such property, and you are further notified that the City Commission proposes to assess against the owners of property abutting on said portion of said street and against such property the sum of $1.40 per front foot for that portion lying between Tenth Street and Eleventh Place, and the sum of $1.77 for that portion lying between Eleventh Place and Eighteenth Street, and to assess to the owners the amounts against the owners and property as shown by the following schedule:

Over A Fourth Of State Under Oil-Gas Lease

DALLAS, Sept. 13 — More than one-fourth of Texas is now under lease for oil and gas development, a statewide survey just completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association shows.

Out of a total area of 169,130,716 acres in Texas, Texas oilmen have under lease 45,402,656 acres, the association found. This is nearly 27 per cent of all the land in Texas. The figures were compiled from county tax records, company reports and ownership maps of individual counties.

Lease and royalty payments on this acreage to Texas farmers and ranchers totaled over $125,000,000 in 1939, the association reported. This extra cash income for Texas farmers and stockmen represented an additional 27 cents from the oilman for each dollar of cash farm income, exclusive of government benefit payments. Including such payments, it represented 22 cents additional for each dollar of cash agricultural income in Texas last year.

In total return to the state, however, petroleum has exceeded all agricultural products. Expenditures of the oil and gas industry in Texas in 1939 were approximately $750,000,000, or nearly $200,000,000 more than the $567,596,000.

ST. JOSEPH ASPIRIN

THE CHASE TO 'ERASE'—England-bound is this Dornier DC215, a German source states. Hitler's recent threat to "erase" English cities may put bombers like these into action.

Texas farm and ranch income from all crops, livestock and government benefits, well over one-third of petroleum's total expenditures go to Texas workers who receive $272,000,000 a year in wages and salaries.

All but three counties out of the state's 254 now have acreage leased for oil and gas exploration or production. The exceptions are Rockwall, Mason and Llano.

Chile is divided into 24 provinces. Customs duties in Salvador are payable in United States dollars.

Makes First Visit To City Since 1907

C. R. Gambrell, an old-time U. S. marshal turned minister, paid Big Spring his first visit since 1907 Thursday.

Thirty-three years ago the Rev. Mr. Gambrell was serving as deputy U. S. marshal at Abilene and frequently visited Big Spring, which he remembered as just a "little bit of a town." He was, of course, amazed at the growth. Since 1909 when he was ordained as a Missionary Baptist pastor, he has been serving as preacher and evangelist. His home is in Salisbury, Okla., where "I live with my Mexican terrier and Maltese tomcat." He proudly owns to bachelorhood and can show marks of his overseas service with the Rain-bow division. After his ordination he attended three colleges and said that he thought he learned so much then he's afraid to go back to school.

FORMER RESIDENT VISITOR IN CITY

Visitors in Big Spring Friday were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Breniman and small daughter. Breniman, now associated with the Civil Aeronautics Authority at Kansas City, formerly was with the weather bureau here, and assisted in setting up the old airways station in the city park.

HELEN RETURNING TO RUMANIA

FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 13 (AP)—Princess Helen of Greece started back to Rumania today to be queen mother for a second time after 10 years of exile by her divorced husband Carol.

She left Florence by train en route to Bucharest to be met at the Rumanian frontier, dispatches said, by her son, young King Mihai.

PERSHING OBSERVES HIS 80TH BIRTHDAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Twenty-two years and 3,000 miles removed from his greatest military triumphs, General John J. Pershing today observed his 80th birthday in the quiet seclusion of his hotel apartment.

Over 800 congratulatory messages piled up in his ornate, old-fashioned office in the state department building, which is labelled with the title that he alone bears among American military men, "General of the Armies."

CONTRACTOR KILLED IN TRAFFIC CRASH

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 13 (AP)—E. P. Stromman, about 55, marine and bridge contractor, was killed almost instantly early today when his sedan was in a head-on collision with a car driven by Jose Sanchez of Taft two miles east of Sinton on the Sinton-Taft highway. Sanchez is in a serious condition in a Taft hospital.

Stromman was en route to Victoria, where headquarters of his company are maintained.

Montgomery And Jenkins Fight Monday Night

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13 (AP)—A little known negro lad is going to step through the ropes at Shibe park Monday night to swap punches in a non-title bout with one of the hardest-hitting lightweights the game has ever known, champion Lou Jenkins.

The youngster is Robert Montgomery, 21, of Philadelphia, who stands about 5 foot 6 inches and weighs around 137 pounds.

The strangest thing about Montgomery is that he is currently a 7 to 5 favorite among the betting fraternity to stop the Texan, who carries a knockout punch in each hand.

This unique situation had "Howling" Hymie Caplan, Jenkins' manager, so "worried," he asked the state boxing commission for an outside referee, which he didn't get. But it's no worry to Pilot Frankie Thomas who is already planning to have the pair rematched for the title.

deafening iron clamor. "Listen at 'em," he beamed admiringly. "We're giving them what for tonight. Feels a little better with them guns firing though they do make a lot of noise."

He peered at the dripping skies for a moment in silence. "We can't all sleep on them mattresses, ain't room," explained one man. "So we let the women and tykes have them."

When I saw the surface of the shelter from the outside it looked imposingly solid. The concrete floor and brick walls appeared able to stop anything. Once inside, with the roar of German planes overhead, I realized how ridiculously thin the roof was, how fragile the construction of the wains.

You always feel that way in a raid, no matter where you are. The air inside was damp. The rain splattered outside. The women and children seemed to sleep soundly. When the guns awoke the youngest, the mothers would cuddle them in their arms reassuringly and hush their cries.

It was a quarter to six. We'd been in the shelter since nine last night, a motley conglomeration of women, children and men—mostly dock workers and their families—and a few oldsters of both sexes.

"My mother won't come in here," one woman said. "She says if she's going to die she wants to die in bed like a Christian. She's that stubborn. I don't mind though, for it's fair cold out there."

MARKETS

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Baffled by the inconclusive status of the war for England, traders generally stood aside in today's stock market, permitting leaders to drift either way by fractions.

Only about 250,000 shares changed hands during the entire session.

The day opened, as has been customary of late, with a bit of a buying flurry, but the earliest advances soon faded to a humdrum state of affairs in which anything could happen—and didn't.

The lack of activity depressed early gains, and long before the close was reached, plus and minus signs were about equal.

Coat-Of-Arms Of The Range

Six of Texas' most significant cattle brands, described by J. Frank Dobie, University of Texas professor, writer and folklorist, as "the heraldry of the range":

1. "Running W"—created by Richard King on his million-acre ranch in Southeastern Texas, the largest in the world.
2. "Bow and Arrow"—owned by Mrs. John Rabb, "Cattle Queen of Texas," whose two-story stone house near Austin is a historic landmark of Texas.
3. "Pitchfork"—used by Oliver Loving, with Charles Goodnight, to blaze the New Mexico cattle trail that bears their names.
4. "LFD"—owned by the Littlefield Cattle company, headed by Major George W. Littlefield, banker and philanthropist whose benefactions to the University of Texas totaled more than $1,000,000.
5. The "Lone Star"—created by legislative act, for the Texas State Prison System, which holds for the state 73,000 acres of land in Houston, Madison, Walker and Harris counties.
6. The "Four Sixes"—originated by S. S. (Burr) Burnett, who registered it in King, Carson and Wichita counties in 1871. According to tradition he chose this brand, four sixes, because of a lucky poker hand he once held that won him the ranch which became the nucleus of his fortune.

No Bueno Por Nada, Seguro Que Si; And That Means A New Formation

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 13

(AP)—Gridiron opponents of New Mexico university's Lobos are going to have to carry Spanish dictionaries onto the field if they expect to fathom Coach "Red" Shipkey's new assortment of Lobo defensive signals this fall.

"No, this isn't a gag," said Shipkey, grinning broadly. "It's just a new strategy in keeping with ten defensive formations, in which line-men and backs shift to offset the opposition's blocking."

"No bueno por nada, seguro que si," he added gravely.

"Beg pardon?" inquired the reporter politely.

"That's a simple signal—which would mean our tackles pull out on defense to cover the ends while the guards run the play in the opposition backfield," Shipkey explained.

"We'll have ten different Spanish phrases to match our defensive punts, over shifted line, rushing the punter, and defenses calling for five to seven men in our line. Professor F. M. Kercheville (head of the university's language department) has agreed to conduct Spanish classes for the boys."

The fact that other Border conference teams might also have Spanish-speaking players left Shipkey unperturbed.

"I doubt if they'll be able to figure out what we're doing," he said.

Probably the Albuquerque accent will throw them.

The season opener, a non-conference game, is against Wyoming university at Laramie, September 15, giving Shipkey plenty of time to polish up his Spanish and his 36 squadmen.

Farm Loan

Wills explained colored motion pictures he made on a trip to England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland and Germany last summer with a group of Texas A. & M. honor students studying the cotton industry.

His pre-war discussions were interesting as well as his narrations on farming methods in the various countries. Intensive cultivation, meticulous soil conservation and building account for incomes from farms of very small acreage, he said. Typical is the 25-acre or less in 90 per cent of the Norwegian farms, he said.

Farm cooperative organization reached its peak in Denmark, according to Williams, who also told of visiting a Copenhagen livestock show with only red Danish dual purpose cattle and Danish white bacon hogs being exhibited. German farmers, he said, were thrifty and raised good standard crops, using college boys as laborers during harvest and leaving agriculture largely to oldsters the rest of the year.

TAX EQUALIZATION WORK COMPLETED

Board of equalization work for the City of Big Spring and the Big Spring Independent School district was finished Friday morning after little more than two days of operation.

A total of 94 persons registered to appear before the board and all but a few were on hand for an interview. Conclusion of the work will permit both city and school staffs to complete the current rolls which become due as of Oct. 1.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Herr Hitler's proposed invasion of England remained in the mysterious "if" class on this Friday the Thirteenth, but overnight developments tended to strengthen indications that should he see a favorable opening he will once more gamble on the opportunist's luck which has served him so well heretofore.

The new writing on the wall this morning involves the Rome report that the Italian offensive against Egypt has started, the widespread bombing of Britain and the dropping of incendiary bombs by the Germans over northern Ireland. All of these might fit into the picture of an impending attempt at invasion.

It's well-nigh a certainty that Mussolini would undertake a major operation in Africa to support Hitler's assault on England. This strategy would be calculated to prevent the British from withdrawing warships and airplanes from the Mediterranean area for defense of the mother country.

Extensive bombing of the British Isles would be an essential preliminary to invasion. The attack on northern Ireland obviously was for the purpose of causing destructive fires, and this might mean either that the Nazis contemplated landings on the Emerald Isle, or intended to land on the west coast of Britain and wanted to forestall interference from Ulster.

This isn't the time for a man to bet his only shirt that an attempt at invasion is a foregone conclusion. We mustn't forget that while Mussolini's move is essential to the success of an invasion of England, a threat of invasion would by the same token aid the fascist chief.

Hitler's weakness—and it is a dangerous one—remains his lack of control of the air.

Along the English shores attacking forces would encounter shallow waters strewn with mines. On land there will be 3,000,000 troops ready to fight with the desperation of men battling for their homes and families.

It is a grim chance which Hitler will take.

But loss of life won't stop the Germans.

If and when the Hitlerian barges put out to sea, they will carry with them the will to suicide squads.

McDonald Must Be Certified

DALLAS, Sept. 13 (AP)—High officials of the state democratic party said today that Texas election laws make mandatory certification of the name of J. E. McDonald as the democratic nominee for state commissioner of agriculture regardless of McDonald's views on the presidential election.

John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, permanent chairman of the state democratic convention held in Mineral Wells this week, declared he would be required by law to sign the certification.

State Democratic Chairman E. B. Germany also said he believed the statutes compelled the convention and its officers to certify McDonald's name.

Smith added he received a reply yesterday to a telegram he sent McDonald demanding that the latter state whether he intended to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt or Wendell Willkie for president as ordered by the convention.

McDonald replied he would support the state democratic nominee and after due deliberation decided which presidential candidate offered the soundest agricultural program, Smith said.

At Amarillo, where Willkie will speak next Tuesday, it was announced a telegram of acceptance to meet with Willkie had been sent by McDonald to Joe Bailey of Dallas, president of the Texas for Willkie clubs.

TABULATION SHOWS COMACHO 5-1 EDGE OVER ALMAZAN

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13 (AP)—A congressional tabulation of the presidential election vote July 7 gave General Juan Andreu Almazan, independent who claims victory, only 151,101 votes, to 2,476,641 for General Manuel Avila Camacho, the administration party candidate.

Avila Camacho was formally proclaimed president-elect by the chamber of deputies yesterday in a session marked by cheering at every mention of the name of the stocky army general.

Almazan is now in the United States on vacation.

Both Avila Camacho and Almazan have said they would take office Dec. 1.

Bloodhounds Used To Hunt Slayed Of Two Women

DEL RIO, Sept. 13 (AP)—Bloodhounds were being used today by Sheriff A. E. Steinmetz in the search for the slayer of Antonia and Marguerita Gomez, whose bullet-riddled bodies were found six miles from here on highway 85.

Steinmetz, assisted by border patrolmen, was scouring the country southeast of Del Rio for a suspect.

Bodies of the two women were found yesterday morning. They were lying in the grass beside the highway. Antonia had been shot three times and her sister twice.

A .38 pistol was found in a coupe parked nearby. The pistol had been fired five times.

Antonia, a San Felipe high school teacher, attended a parent-teachers association meeting in San Felipe Wednesday night, then went with Marguerita, a registered nurse, to take her father, Aurelio Gomez, to the railroad station where he left for San Saba, relatives said.

The women were not seen again alive.

Deaths by accident in the United States in 1939 were estimated at 93,000.

DERAILED TANK CARS BURN AND EXPLODE

PINE CITY, Minn., Sept. 13 (AP)—Four tank cars of gasoline, one of fuel oil and three cars of coal were derailed at the Northern Pacific railway depot here early today, touching off a fire and explosion that destroyed all but one car and the depot.

Fifteen persons were injured, none seriously, as the flaming gasoline and oil roared through the depot after it had been smashed when one of the cars rolled into it.
