Huge Cut In Immigration Is Approved

Ninety Per Cent Reduction In All Immigration May Be Put Into Effect As Unemployment Legislation

Quotas Reduced

Date For Cutting Admissions Short Will Be July 1, 1932; Patriotic Societies Urging Act Passage

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17—A 90 per cent cut in all immigration, western hemisphere as well as old world, was approved today by the house immigration committee.

Urged as an unemployment measure, the restriction resolution by Representative Moore (D., Ky.), reducing all quotas to 10 per cent of their present status and putting Canada, Mexico, Central and South American countries on restricted quota bases, was voted by committee members.

Action Is Surprise

Deliberations on a score of exclusion bills, which Chairman Dickstein had predicted would consume the rest of the month, were thus cut short in the swift surprise action of a single morning's session.

Dickstein explained individual resolutions would provide for reuniting of families, aged parents and husbands of American citizens having already been reported favorably for non-quota status. A future bill, he said, would care for wives and children of aliens lawfully in the United States.

Visas Determine Number

Under the measure, the western hemisphere countries would be given an annual quota fixed by ascertaining the number of non-quota immigration visas issued to natives of the respective countries during the

Officers Are Doubling Back In Kidnaping

Clues In Abduction Case Are Being Retraced By Police In Effort To Find Tangible Theory In Crime

BY ROBERT J. CAVAGNARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 17.(AP) An indication that those working on the Lindbergh kidnaping case are going back over their investigating of the last 16 days in a search for clues they may have missed came from the famous flier's home today.

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of state police, was asked if cigarette butts had been found in the nursery from which the 20-month-old child was stolen.

Careful Check Made

"A careful check on everything in the nursery was made as soon as police arrived," he replied, "This has been rechecked several times to make sure nothing was missing. No cigarette butts were found."

State troopers also have been rechecking the Sourland countryside through which they searched the week of the abduction.

As far as is known from his statements, the only old angle of the investigation that has not been dropped is the checking of a story about two German servants who disappeared from their employer's home in Franklin Park, N. J., about 30 miles from here, the day after the kidnaping.

Mr. and Mrs. Leandro Lightfoot reported that the couple went for a 60-mile automobile ride the night the child was stolen, and that after they left suddenly the next day a

Phares Says 451 Injunctions On Trucks Have Been Served

AUSTIN, Mar. 17. (AP) — J. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, said today he had been served with 451 injunctions in recent weeks restraining him from enforcing certain provisions of the law regulating traffic of trucks on the highways.

"We have been severely criticized from some sources because we had not closed the roads to overload trucks," Phares said. "We have been restrained by district courts sitting in all parts of Texas from enforcing all provisions of house bill 336. That is the reason there are so many complaints of big trucks on the highways."

Republicans Of Area Hold Session Here

Opening Rally Of Campaign Is Held Last Night With 200 Party Members From District In Attendance

More than 200 Republicans from all sections of the South Plains attended the opening rally of that party last night in the district court room and listened to E. C. Toothman, director of organization, discuss the pre-convention political outlook and also heard him make suggestions on the organization for the coming campaign.

The meeting was planned for the court room on the second floor but before 8 o'clock, the time to meet, that room was seen to be too small to take care of the crowd so Dr. I. E. Barr, county chairman, arranged to move the meeting to the third floor. Following the meeting Mr. Toothman met personally a large number of the audience.

Enthusiasm Marks Meeting

Enthusiasm marked the meeting. Mr. Toothman and W. D. Girand, the chief speakers, were interrupted several times in their talks by applause. Presence of a large number of ladies marked the meeting.

Mrs. John L. Vaughan, associate member of the state committee from this district, presided in the absence of J. S. Edwards, Slaton, member, who was unable to be present. She introduced the speakers of the evening. Mr. Girand at the opening made a brief announcement of the purpose of the gathering and then introduced the presiding officer.

Sidney Mason, Sweetwater, connected with the internal revenue department, in a brief speech spoke of the evident "self interest" of the leaders of the Democratic party and said that it was evident they would "not permit the best man to be put forth."

Measure Would Take $50,000,000 From U. S. Workers

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—A bill expected to cut more than $50,000,000 from the pay of government workers is being prepared by the special house economy committee.

The bi-partisan group set up by the Democratic house has not yet agreed on details, but two methods of bringing about the reductions are under consideration.

Two Plans Presented

One calls for a flat 10 per cent reduction. The other is for a graduated reduction beginning with twenty per cent slashes on the $10,000 salaries of members of congress and all others receiving more than that, including cabinet officers.

Although the White House has not officially expressed its attitude, it is known President Hoover is opposed to any general slashes in the pay of federal workers.

He has said nothing save to intimate if the pay of certain classes were proved too high he would not object to a reduction in them. As for a general cut, however, he holds the position privately that even a sizeable reduction would save but little federal spending.

To Be Submitted

Nevertheless, the bill will be one of the first to be submitted by the group created by the house after it discarded President Hoover's request for authority to reorganize the government in the interest of economy.

Several hundred thousand employes are expected to be affected.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader, told the house the slashes would be necessary.

Party Filing To Be Tested

Mrs. Ida M. Darden Says She Will Take Case Before Supreme Court; Johnson Refuses Her Application

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 17.—A legal test of the state Democratic executive committee's authority to compel candidates for congressman at large to run for place 1, 2 or 3 became imminent today when Mrs. Ida M. Darden of Fort Worth announced she would take the matter to the state supreme court.

She said she probably would file suit tomorrow asking the court for a writ of mandamus compelling the committee to certify her name on the primary ballot without place designation.

Her application for a certification on the ballot was filed today with Albert Sidney Johnson, committee secretary, with the required $100. He informed her that the committee had ordered all candidates for the office to file for a definite place.

Johnson Refuses To Accept Undesignated Candidate

DALLAS, March 17. (AP)—Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary of the Democratic state executive committee, today refused to accept the application of Mrs. Ida M. Darden as a candidate for congressman-at-large without designation of place.

Johnson said he was directed to take this action in a long distance telephone conversation with W. O. Huggins of Houston, chairman of the committee, and refused to accept the filing fee tendered by Mrs. Darden.

New Government Faces Attacks

SHANGHAI, Friday, Mar. 18 (AP) —The Kuomin (Chinese) News agency reported today that 100,000 Chinese volunteers were marching on Mukden, Manchuria, from three directions.

The volunteers, the agency said, were destroying the flag of the new Manchurian government in all the villages along the way and were hoisting the Chinese national ensign.

The Japanese garrison at Mukden, the Kuomin dispatch said, had received information of the advance and had mounted guns in the outskirts of the city.

CITY IS CAPTURED

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Mar. 17. (AP)—News of another revolt against the new Manchurian government reached here today. A powerful force of Chinese insurgents, provided with artillery equipment, attacked and captured Fu-Yu, a city of 80,000 people, 100 miles southwest of Harbin, it was reported.

Scholar On Hunger Strike In Jobless Protest; Eats One Peanut In 18 Days

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP) One peanut in 18 days is all the food that has passed the lips of Dr. Fred F. Wolters, 57, scholar, since he began a hunger strike in protest against general unemployment and particularly his own inability to find "suitable work."

Dr. Wolters, a graduate of the University of New Zealand and holder of several post-graduate degrees, has essayed hunger strikes previously in this country and abroad. Before beginning the current abstinence, he submitted himself to alienists lest it be said he was insane. They held him sane but abnormal in certain respects.

Dr. Wolters insists he will starve himself unless given work.

Hurley Sees More Liberal Liquor Stand

Secretary Of War Foresees Adoption Of States Rights On Prohibition; Democrats Blamed For Its Passage

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 17.—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley said today he thought the Republican national convention next June would adopt a "more liberal" stand on the prohibition question.

PATRICK J. HURLEY

"A great many people are going to look for the wet candidates on the ballots next November," he said. "Eventually I think the prohibition question will be settled on the basis of state's rights, and the federal police power limited to preventing liquor traffic into states which wish to be dry."

Hurley in an interview described the prohibition amendment and the federal income tax as the "only two measures in the constitution which interfere with state's rights."

"The Democratic party put both of them there," he said, "during the Wilson administration, yet John Raskob calls those Republicans 'Judases' who come out against prohibition. It was a Democratic measure, sponsored by Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, an outstanding Democratic statesman. Yet the Democratic party claims a tradition of defending state's rights."

Denial Is Made Of Debt Revision

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—President Hoover and the state department hastened today to give assurance there is no immediate intention of reopening war debt negotiations either with Great Britain or other European nations.

The president spoke through Senator Reed, (R., Pa.), who gave this massage to the senate in the midst of a Democratic attack against revision of the British debt. It was inspired by a newspaper story appearing in today's Washington Post.

The story said Ambassador Mellon upon assuming his post in London shortly would open discussion looking toward modification of the British war debt owed America.

Inquiry Into Causes Of 1929 Stock Market Collapse Is Cause Of New Measure To Limit Speculation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17. —Far-reaching legislation to ban the use of federal reserve facilities in stock speculation and to speed payments to depositors in closed banks was approved today by a senate banking subcommittee.

Senator Glass (D., Va.), sponsor of the bill, then formally introduced it in the senate and it was referred immediately to the whole banking committee, which is expected to give it early approval.

Conclusion Of Year's Study

The 54-page measure represents the conclusion of more than a year of study by the senate sub-committee headed by Glass and proposed sweeping changes in the national banking system.

Establishment of a liquidating corporation with $200,000,000 in government capital and authority to issue securities for $800,000,000 more is proposed for the aid of depositors in closed institutions.

The bill seeks to encourage branch banking, to curb chain banking and to divorce affiliate corporations from national banking institutions. It also attempts to restrict brokers' loans from member banks, a reminder that these loans were more than $6,000,000,000 during the 1928-29 stock inflation. It seeks to put open market operations under jurisdiction of the reserve board.

The legislation, in fact, is an outgrowth of the inquiry into the causes leading up to the record increase in stock market prices preceding the 1929 collapse.

State To Award Highway Projects

AUSTIN, March 17. (AP)—Bids on road improvements estimated to cost $494,500 were asked today by the Texas highway department to be received April 5. Thirty six projects were included in the spring maintenance program and called for improvement of 325 miles.

Most of the work calls for double and single bituminous treatments and seal coating. Counties included in the program were Erath, Fannin, Hunt, Wise, Red River, Franklin, Winkler, Ward, Reeves, Stephens, Callahan, Harrison, Anderson, Rusk, Sabine, Colorado, Gonzales, Caldwell, Eastland, Hardin, Orange, Fort Bend, San Patricio, Ellis, Dallas, Bexar, Williamson, Blanco and Young.

BERLIN, March 17. (AP) — Headquarters of Adolf Hitler's national socialist party throughout Prussia were raided today by police acting on orders to smash what Prussian officials declared was a plot to plunge Germany into civil war and seize power by force of arms.

Adolf Hitler

In addition to visiting the offices of the party the police searched the homes of many Nazi leaders. They confiscated numerous files of correspondence and membership lists.

Prussian officials declared they had established that 500,000 Hitler "storm troops," including automobile and motorcycle detachments had been made ready for mobilization at various points throughout the state.

Code Message Alleged

A code message — "grandmother dead"—was to be broadcast throughout Prussia, these officials said, and it was to be the signal for each unit to march upon the nearest large city.

Hitler issued a press communique from his Munich headquarters tonight acknowledging a concentration order had gone out to his men.

Syracuse Youth Grows Weaker After 6 Months Under Artificial Respirator

(By The Associated Press)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 17. Smiling Clarence Hastings, 14, growing weaker, today started the 177th day of his battle for life. The blond youngster from Kings Ferry, kept alive for nearly half a year by the aid of a respirator in city hospital, where he was received September 20 last, underwent an operation day before yesterday for an abdominal obstruction. An attack of infantile paralysis left his respiratory organs paralyzed. Almost every day since he entered the hospital he has spent in the breathing apparatus.

The youngster's condition before the operation presented a problem to the physicians at the hospital. They were loath to remove him from the respirator, and yet the need of the operation was urgent.

Finally the respirator was wheeled into the operating room and twice during the operation he was returned to the apparatus.

Clarence through it all has kept the smile that has won him the sobriquet of "the gamest kid in America." Hundreds of persons in all parts of the United States, familiar with his condition, have watched the progress of his fight. He gets mail from many of them. When his battle was first brought to light, he received in one mail more than a sack full of correspondence.

King Carol Reported To Be Seeking Reconciliation With Divorced Queen

(By The Associated Press)

FLORENCE, Italy, March 17. King Carol of Rumania was reported here today to be trying to effect a reconciliation with his divorced former wife, Princess Helen, through a secret emissary, General Candesco.

The general left last night after spending two days here. His mission was understood to have been ostensibly to arrange a money allowance for the former queen, who recently arranged to buy a $60,000 villa but was obliged to cancel the arrangement when the Rumanian parliament rejected an appropriation proposed by King Carol.

From Paris, General Candesco recently was reported as trying to effect a reconciliation between Carol and his younger brother. Prince Nicholas, who was exiled from Rumania after the latter refused to accede to an annulment of his marriage with Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, a commoner.

These efforts were construed by courtiers as part of a plan to strengthen Carol's position by re-establishing the good relations of the entire royal family.

Lubbock Bridge Players Trailing Amarilloans In 100-Rubber Tilt

TRAILING 10,400 points at the end of the 53rd rubber, Mrs. Ross A. McWhorter and Mrs. Drury K. Bondurant, Lubbock contract bridge team, opened a brilliant rally which sliced the lead of Mesdames Gordon Inman and Harry Meyers of Amarillo to 5,080 points when the 59th rubber was finished here last night.

The Amarilloans, playing the so-called "official system," took the lead in the opening hands of the 100-rubber contest Wednesday and slowly added to it in sessions Thursday morning, afternoon and early last night. Advantage in play yesterday shifted as the cards fell; and when the Lubbock duo, who are followers of Culbertson, were dealt excellent hands late Thursday night they seized the opportunity for the spectacular comeback.

The play at the McWhorter home, 1808 Avenue Q, will be resumed Friday, with about 35 rubbers to play. It is planned to end the match tonight. Although a small and interested gallery is following the contest., the flicking of the cards is virtually all the noise in the room.

The present setto is a return engagement of one played last week in Amarillo, when Mesdames Bondurant and McWhorter won handily with a margin of 4,700 points.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

HOUSTON.—There is a lot of political talk around this hotel, the Rice, which displays a Garner headquarters sign across the front. Two men, one of whom was addressed as Doctor by waitresses and others in the lunch room, were involved in a deep discussion while we were eating. A wet or a dry was the question with these two and their talk came around to the younger generation.

Our role was not that of eavesdropping because their talk was loud enough to be heard ten feet and more away.

"We can't tell who to vote for, a wet or a dry," the doctor was exclaiming, "If saloons come back we can't be much worse off than we are now because people don't know where their boys and girls are going. Fathers and mothers are afraid of their children."

That was a reminder of Dorothy Dix's recent column in which she was bewailing the present day when the 17-year-old daughter and the 18-year-old son are bosses of the households, while fathers and mothers are puppets in their hands.

We hear a lot of this sort of talk, but unless my slant on things is pretty far off, there was a day when parents had some authority and in which they used it instead of sitting around talking about how afraid they were of their children.

NO TRAINS

HERE is something else you can believe or not but it happened. In driving from Lubbock to Houston we followed railroad tracks almost continuously and never saw a passenger train until we went to the Southern Pacific station this morning. That isn't all, we didn't see an interurban while following that line into Waco and in all that time we saw only three freight trains. Even towns were without trains when we passed through.

THE TOWN

THESE old weatherbeaten, shuttered houses down in here never fail to interest me. So many have cobbled third and fourth stories and I always wonder if anyone ever goes into those rooms. From the outside they seem filled with cobwebs and have the appearance of having been deserted for ages.

Entrance seems to lurk, too, behind those green shutters. Accustomed as we are to compact houses from which everything except the commonplace and new is swept each day, there is fascination in dwellings that have been perched down on little streets watching people come and go for these many years.

We passed two such houses today from which I expected story-book characters to step as we drove away. High, roomy houses, their windows gave no indication of what might occur behind them, but the numerous arms hanging between posts on first and second floor galleries spoke volumes to me of the women living there.

The roses are blooming here and a few other flowers. In some yards crates and boxes have been turned over plants to protect them from this recent cold and in others sheets have been pinned about shrubs that were too ambitious in displaying spring dresses.

There are large hot beds near many of the farm houses in this section, preparatory to early truck gardening. These are opened to the warm sunshine during the day but carefully coverd over at night to protect the tender plants from the cold that blows in with sunset.

20 YEARS OF ILL HEALTH

Then Mrs. Duke Discovered Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Of her own accord, Mrs. Duke sat down and wrote us a glowing tribute to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN:

"I have been constipated all my life, which has been about 20 years, up until last year when I started eating your ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating it, people tell me I am looking better, and I am sure that I feel a great deal better."—Mrs. L. W. Duke, 210 Hardin Ave., College Park, Ga.

Constipation is usually caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help give them tone. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides both of these dietary necessities, as well as iron for the blood.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much more natural it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—serious cases with every meal—for most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

All vocal entrants are asked to be in Room 207 of the school from 15 to 20 minutes before time for them to sing in order to draw places, Mrs. Von Tungeln said.

There will be a vocal ensemble program tonight beginning at 7:30 o'clock at the school which is open to the public. Those competing are asked to come in through the stage door. Trios, quartets and choruses will be heard.

Judges are to attend a 12:30 o'clock luncheon today at the Hilton hotel as the guests of the association and will attend a program by Kreutzberg and his dancers Saturday night at the school auditorium.

Theory contestants, violin and band instrument contestants will compete Saturday. The festival closes late in the afternoon.

Mrs. M. E. Ware is president of the association and Miss Mary Dunn is director of contests.

Pretty Trick, Eh?

It was a lucky day for that professional beach-comber, our cameraman. For not only did lovely Dorothy Lester of Chicago consent to pose charmingly as you see her here, but her pet police-dog begged to be allowed in the picture, too. The scene is Miami Beach, Fla.

Texas G. O. P. Chief Declares State Will Go To His Party

E. C. Toothman, Dallas, Chairman Says Party Leaders Are Confident Of Victory Again In Texas

Texans again will be in the Hoover column to aid in boosting the administration into certain victory, Texas Republican leaders are predicting. They also foresee a fight to a finish, with Franklin Roosevelt and Al Smith sharing the lead roles and John Garner without the slightest chance.

These statements were made by E. C. Toothman of Dallas, director of organization for the State Republican committee, who was in Lubbock Thursday to direct a regional mass meeting of GOP leaders last night at the courthouse.

Campaign Planned

"We expect to make one of the strongest campaigns in Texas this year in history," Mr. Toothman declared "We admit very frankly that without the support of the Democrats of this state we would have no chance whatsoever to send a Hoover-instructed delegation from this state. But we believe this support will be forthcoming, just as it was in the 1928 election.

"Democrats of Texas are reverting to the age-old tradition of establishing a mourner's bench. Leaders of that party are demanding that those members who voted Hoover in 1928 return to the fold with much weeping and wailing and asking forgiveness for their 'sins.' Those members have nothing to be sorry for; they have nothing for which to ask forgiveness and they will not encamp upon this so-called bench."

Texas' own favorite son, John N. Garner, of Uvalde, speaker of the house of representatives, has not the slightest chance to win the Democratic nomination, in the opinion of the Republican representative.

Garner Unfortunate

"John Garner is just unfortunate geographically," he explained. "The solid democracy of the South has no voice in national politics. Why? For the reason that the north and east demand the leadership. They point out that 'we furnish the money to keep the thing going, then why shouldn't we be allowed to run it, to select the nominee.'

"Personally I believe that John Garner is a very good man, one of the best the Democrats have in the party but the Democrats have a reputation for not selecting the best man as their nominee.

"The 1932 convention of Democrats will be thrown into a deadlock—every indication points to that fact. The race will be between Roosevelt and Smith with a smattering of favorite sons."

Asked what chance he considered Garner would have in a two-way fight with Hoover Toothman declared that the Texan would run in second place. "We have the man, the man to appeal to every thinking person, be they Republican, Democrat or any other. We make no fight against any other man, rather we will make our fight on the record of this administration and no Democrat of Texas who has spunk, life and ambition will wear the brass collar and allow himself to be led to a seat on the mourners' bench to cry out that they're sorry for their past actions. We have a hearty welcome awaiting them in our ranks, just as we always have had."

But what of present conditions, the depression, unemployment, etc., he was asked.

Defends President

"Our president has done everything humanly possible to alleviate the situation," he answered. "No one man has been responsible for these conditions, it was inevitable and bound to come. He has originated and fought for legislation for relief and never, as he often has been charged, has he claimed credit for passing this legislation through to a successful conclusion."

Pittsburgh Pirates Learn To Make Noise, At Least

"Silent Club" No Longer, Is Gibson's Tale

Former Pirate Player, Skipper Back To Install Ways, Means Of Winning To Pittsburgh Entry; Pleased So Far

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17. — Pittsburgh's Pirates may not turn up as formidable contenders for the 1932 National League pennant, but George Gibson, back at the helm of the club he once played for and later managed, is satisfied to take the season in stride, meanwhile building for the future.

One of the firebrands for the old school and a peppery catcher from 1905 to 1916, Manager Gibson has started to overhaul the Pittsburgh machine. The club that takes the field this season will directly contradict the old stock phrase that referred to the Pirates as "a silent team."

"Whooping It Up"

They whoop it up on the slightest provocation now. Gibson saw to that. Part of the training camp routine at Paso Robles included instruction in "talking it up."

The Pittsburgh pitching staff is a source of great satisfaction to the manager. He cannot see where it can be improved upon. Six veterans will shoulder the burden, provided that Henry Meine, star right-hander, decides to give up his "holdout" role. Otherwise, Ray Kremer, Larry French, Glenn Spencer, Ervin Braame and Steve Swetonic are on the job and ready to go.

Charlie Wood, in a slump last season, is a southpaw from whom Gibson expects much this year. Swift, Bivin, Niggeling and Harris are youngsters who will be given every chance.

The men behind the plate are suitable to Gibson. Hal Finney and Earl Grace will handle the bulk of the work unless Bill Brenzel, rookie from the Coast League, gets going in his first year up.

In "Pie" Traynor the Pirates have one of the best third basemen in baseball, and his punch at the plate leaves little to be asked for. Gus Suhr has no opposition at first base and although his hitting was disappointing last season, Gibson is confident the big fellow will come into his own this year.

Youngsters In Infield

Pittsburgh's keystone combination gives Gibson some concern with an ailing veteran, Tommy Thevenow, at short and somewhat unseasoned material at second base. Tony Piet and Howard Groskloss are youngsters battling for the second base berth. Piet was farmed out to Wichita part of last season and hit at a .400 clip, before being recalled. He and Groskloss played about an equal number of games for the Pirates last year and each shows promise. Thevenow, a splendid fielder, hurt his ankle in 1931.

The Waner brothers, Lloyd and Paul, have center and right field positions clinched. Lloyd is considered one of the best all-round performers in the circuit while Paul, league leading hitter a few seasons back, still is a capable workman. The scramble for left field is wide open as a result of Adam Comorosky's slump last year after a great 1930 batting season. The husky excoal miner holds a slight edge over three rivals, Forest Jensen, Dave Barbee, recruit from the coast league, and Gus Dugas, farmed out to Kansas City last year.

Six Chicago Cubs Turned Over To Los Angeles Club

LOS ANGELES, March 17 (AP) — Six players of the Chicago Cubs, three pitchers, a catcher, an outfielder and an infielder, were turned over to the Los Angeles baseball club of the coast league today.

Those released by Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cubs were Lester Sweetland, Leroye Herrmann and Archie Miller, pitchers; Clarence Blair, veteran infielder, Mike Kreevich, outfielder, and Bill Campbell, catcher.

New Scout Leadership Work To Be Offered In College

Information regarding a course in boy leadership training which is being offered at Texas Technological college during the spring term is contained in a Boy Scout bulletin over the signature of Dean J. M. Gordon of Texas Technological college. Dean Gordon is chairman of the leadership training committee of the local scout set-up.

Two hours' credit will be given college students for completion of the course, which will be held in room 214 in the administration building each Monday night at 7:30 o'clock starting March 28.

The course consists of a series of twenty lectures on subjects pertaining to the education of boys and men in the handling of boys. Faculty members already selected include: W. P. Clement, D. T. Jennings, J. M. Gordon, J. T. Shaver, A. H. Leidigh, A. W. Evans, Don L. Jones, K. N. Clapp, Dr. F. B. Malone, O. H. Cline, W. M. Craig, and J. O. Ellsworth. Dr. Ellsworth is to direct the school. A registration fee of $1.50 will be charged. It is not necessary to enroll in the college, unless the student desires to receive college credit.

DATED A DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES. — Fred M. Fish picked up the telephone, called a number, and tried to make a date. When he did, he made a date with Judge Neville's divorce court. The woman at the other end happened to be his wife.

Hack Wilson Hits Circuit Blow But Athletics Clout Three; Dodgers Lose, 9-7

Card Camp Worries About Gelbert And Hafey

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17. (AP)—Three home runs, two by Ed Coleman and one by Max Bishop, accounted for eight of the Athletics' runs as the American League champions defeated Brooklyn 9-7 today.

Coleman, Pacific Coast rookie, connected with his homers off Bill Clark while Bishop hit his circuit drive off Waite Hoyt.

Hack Wilson found the range for his second home run of the spring season in the fifth when Mahaffey was doing the pitching for the A's. Hack also poked out a double and a single.

ROOKIE HURLERS LOOK GOOD IN BEAUMONT CAMP

BEAUMONT, March 17. (AP) — Guy Green's team gave the Easterlings another 5-4 setback today in a training camp game among the Exporters. For six innings the Easterlings faced a shutout, so effectively did Rip Hinson of Lufkin and J. D. Hare of Beaumont, both rookie school graduates, perform. Hinson allowed no hits in three innings and Hare gave up only one in the same distance. Another practice game is scheduled for tomorrow before the Kansas City Blues arrive for two games over the week-end.

MAYBE CHICK AND CHARLES WON'T GET HOLDOUT DEMAND

BRADENTON, Fla., March 17. (AP)—The absence of Chick Hafey and Charles Gelbert from the Cardinal camp has given rise to a suspicion that Sam Breadon, head of the Red Bird organization is determined to let the players remain out of baseball rather than meet their demands.

"Anything new about Chick and Charles," the boys ask each evening and when they learn that Breadon is standing pat they shake their heads.

HOUSTON HANDS UP THIRD WIN IN CARDINAL FARM CAMP

HOUSTON, March 17. (AP)—Chasing over four runs in the 9th to knot the count at 5-all, the Houston Buffs continued the attack against Rochester pitching in the tenth to defeat the minor league champions, 8-5 here today. It was the third win for Houston in the round robin series with Columbus and Rochester.

Friday the Buffs will meet Columbus in another series contest. The teams are battling for the Branch Rickey trophy and the Cardinal farm system championship.

YANKS HAND BRAVES 5TH DEFEAT IN SPRING SERIES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17. (AP)—With George Pipgras and Walter Brown pitching a six-hit game, the New York Yankees handed the Boston Braves their fifth defeat of the spring exhibition season today. The score was 6-2.

GENE RYES BEAT DEL PRATTS IN GALVESTON SCRIMMAGE

GALVESTON, March 17. (AP)—A ninth inning barrage of base hits gave the Gene Ryes a 6-2 victory over the Del Pratts in the third of a series of intrasquad games being played in the Bucs camp here.

Lefty Darrow was the victim of the ninth inning attack with Bell, Rye and Molesworth getting triples and McGhee and Thormahlen getting singles off his delivery after two were down. The score was deadlocked at two-all until the ninth.

MANAGER HANK LECTURES BUT SPUDDERS WORK OUT

WICHITA FALLS, March 17. (AP) Skipper Hank Severeid knocked off at noon today to make a talk to the Rotarians but his boys kept at it down at the baseball park. The squad, still too bulky for camp games, was reduced by the outright release of Etherige Beshires, outfielder of Achilles, Okla.; Fred Harris, Dallas infielder, and John Gillespie, Mountain View, Okla., pitcher.

PANTHER REGULARS HAVE BIG INNING TO BEAT ROOKIES

FORT WORTH, March 17. (AP)—One big inning, a rarity indeed for the Panthers last season, was enough for the regulars to administer a beating to the Yannigans today in the first of a series of intrasquad games at La Grave Field. The regulars jumped on Aubrey Burgess, young southpaw, in the sixth and final inning for seven runs, breaking a 2-2 deadlock for a 9-3 victory.

Texas Jeanes, outfielder, purchased from Memphis, arrived today.

Westerners Meet Brownfield Here On Track Today

Coach Weldon Chapman's Lubbock High Westerner track and field team will meet the Brownfield High school team this afternoon on the Texas Tech track in the first dual meet of the year here. The contests are slated to start at 4 o'clock.

The Westerners have been working out for more than a month and have arrived at the stage where stop watches and measuring tapes can fairly well forecast the season's prospects. Coach Chapman probably will enter the following Westerners against Coach Marlin Hayhurst's Brownfield team:

Vester Ritchie, dashes and high jump, and javelin; Dalton Blagg, high jump and hurdles; Robert Stone Boulden Johnson, and Odell Blackwell, hurdles; Wimberlin Lynn and Charlie Long, half mile; Graham Stanfill and Haskell Spears, mile; George Janes, Harold Gaines, Gene Brown and Gene Barnett, shot put and discus and Junior Thompson, 440-yard dash.

WTGA Heads To Select Site For 1932 Tournament

Members of the executive board of the West Texas Golf association have been notified by President Allen Guinn of Mineral Wells of an annual meeting to be held at Abilene March 26, Charles Quails, director and champion of the W. T. G. A., announced here yesterday.

The site for the 1932 W. T. G. A. tournament will be decided at the meeting of the directors, President Guinn said in a letter received by Quails.

In a circular letter to the board members, President Guinn stated that the towns to be considered in picking the place for the 1932 tournament are the ones which asked for the tournament as last year's meeting held at Lubbock. The clubs asking for the tournament were Wichita Falls, Abilene, San Angelo and Lubbock.

Since the W. T. G. A. by-laws prohibit the holding of the tournament at the same course for two consecutive years, Lubbock is automatically out of the voting, since the 1931 joust was held over the Lubbock Country club layout, which leaves Wichita Falls, Abilene and San Angelo to be considered. If none of these towns are accepted, the tournament probably will be held over the River Crest course at Fort Worth, Quails said.

To Inspect Courses

The W. T. G. A. by-laws call for an inspection of the courses by a committee, the clubs to be rated on points as follows: greens, 100; fairways, 100; hazards, 100; distances, 100; clubhouse accommodations, 100; hotel accommodations, 100; making a total of 700 points.

Directors of the West Texas association are, in addition to President Guinn, J. Dick Slaughter of Lubbock, vice president; Charles Quails of Post, C. R. Pope of Abilene, D. L. Hunter of San Angelo and E. T. Daniels of Idalou.

Through fairly authoritative but unofficial sources it has been learned that the Wichita Falls Country club will not be in a position to accept the 1932 tournament, and San Angelo is unofficially considered the favorite site.

Charles Quails won the championship of the 1931 W. T. G. A. tournament by defeating Bobby Burns of Wichita Falls in the final match here last summer.

Gregory Mangin Beats Sidney Wood To Furnish Highlight In Quarterfinals Of National Net Go

Defeat Eliminates Wood From Davis Cup Prospects

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP) — Gregory Mangin, the blackhaired sure-shot from Newark, N. J., supplied the bulk of entertainment in the national indoor tennis tournament today with a decisive quarterfinal triumph over young Sidney Wood, jr., of New York.

Mangin, ranked No. 11 in 1931 turned back the Wimbledon champion about as he pleased by scores of 6-4, 6-2, to enter the semi-finals.

The defeat, his second in championship play since he returned from overseas, was regarded as virtually eliminating Wood from consideration as a member of the next Davis Cup squad. In the day's other singles matches, George Lott, Chicago veteran, disposed of Julius Seligson, chubby New Yorker, 9-7, 6-4 and Frank Shields of New York eliminated Frank Bowden of New York, 6-1 7-5.

Bell and Mangin teamed to enter the finals of doubles by defeating William Aydelotte of Schenectady and Perrine Rockafellow of New York in a hard-fought four-set match. The scores were 10-12, 6-3, 8-6, 6-3, and it took almost two hours to settle the issue.

Their opponents in the finals will be decided tomorrow, when Lott and Van Ryn, the famous Chicago-Philadelphia combination, meet Shields and Eugene McCauliff of New York in a semi-final.

Two American Steeds Among Favorites In Grand National Horse Chase Today

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 17 — Two American horses, one a son of the mighty Man O' War, tonight were the chief hopes for a United States victory in the 93rd running of the Grand National at Aintree tomorrow.

Heartbreak Hill, an Irish-bred jumper owned by Mrs. C. S. Bird, jr., was the betting favorite at odds of 17 to 2, while Sea Soldier, the only American bred horse in the race and owned by a syndicate of Chicago sportsmen, was the sentimental choice of Uncle Sam.

Eleven Others Entered

Eleven other American-owned horses were eligible to start the trying four and one-half mile journey with its 30 difficult obstacles of water, brush and stone, but only John Hay Whitney's dusty foot and R. K. Mellon's Glangesia, figured in the national betting at the Victoria club's final callover tonight. The others were rated as having very little chance of winning the purse of 9,000 pounds.

Heartbreak Hill forged to the front as the public choice when odds on C. R. Taylor's Grakle, winner of the race in record time last year, were lengthened to 9 to 1. Mrs. M. A. Gemmell's Regalach, high weight of the field with 175 pounds and winner in 1929, was the third choice at 13 to 1.

Phillips 66

"HIGHEST TEST" at the price of ordinary gasoline

Phillips 66 volatility is 69.6 per cent higher than the average of 28 competitive gasolines. Proved by unbiased laboratory tests based on distillation at 212 degrees.

Improvement in performance that is nothing short of sensational, is reported by motorist after motorist, when the tank is filled with Phillips 66 . . . the greater gasoline.

If the finer results were noted only in one make of car, or in two or three, you might reasonably doubt whether your motor would deliver similar improvement. But owners of four-cylinder Fords, and owners of Cadillacs with four times as many cylinders; all are enthusiastic about the added power, the faster get-away, the snappier pick-up, and longer mileage given by Phillips 66 gasoline.

They are unanimous, too, in praising its split-second starting speed on days of freezing cold. That's why it pays to get high test. And it pays doubly, if you stop at the Orange and Black 66 shield . . . because that's where you get higher test gasoline without higher price.

Leidigh, M. H. Duncan, Joe Bowman, Riley F. Huie, D. F. Eaton, W. O. Daniels, Durwood H. Bradley and Judge E. L. Pitts.

Hendricks and A. B. Taff. Executive sales will be under direction of Geo. A. Simmons, Homer D. Grant, S. C. Arnett, Spencer A. Wells, Alex McDonald and Dick White.

Following this session the women's hostess committee will meet at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with Paul Sherrod representing the general steering group of the show. Members will include representatives of the seven study clubs of the city and the county federation of women's clubs.

Two U. S. Officials To Be Here For Program

Their acceptance at first doubtful due to drastic economy measures instituted by the department of agriculture, announcement has been made by officials of the Panhandle-South Plains Meat show that two representatives of the national department will be here for the affair as judges.

K. F. Warner, animal husbandman in meat investigations of the department of agriculture will act as judge in the cured meats division, while Mrs. Ola Powell Malcolm, field representative for Southern states in the states relations department will judge in the canned meats division.

Designation of the judges was made possible through the aid of Congressmen Marvin Jones, Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally, officials here said. The local show is to be held next Thursday and Friday.

Show Is Given Much Publicity Over State

In addition to publicity given the Panhandle-South Plains Meat show in numerous community and sectional newspapers, editorial comment has also been given the exposition in Farm and Ranch, published in Dallas.

The magazine points out the three fold objective of the show, namely a desire to stimulate the raising and feeding of livestock; to encourage rural people to use home-produced meats in a live-at-home program, and to produce a surplus of standard home cured meat products and find a satisfactory market for them.

In urging farmers of all sections of the state to attend the affair, to be held here March 24 and 25, Farm and Ranch says: "To see the exhibition last March was worth a trip across the state. Prospects for the coming show are even better. It will cost you little to attend and you'll miss much if you stay away. Get some friends to join you and spend March 24 to 25 in Lubbock. We promise you won't regret it."

The detective presented the order for collection here, and it was forwarded to Washington.

"I'm going to use that two dollars for ammunition in this big anti-hoarding war," Snider said.

Freezing Weather Does Big Damage To Tomato Plants

CENTER, Tex., Mar. 17. (AP)—Officers of the Shelby County Truck Growers' association said more than 300,000 tomato plants were killed by the freezing weather of the past week. About 250,000 plants out of approximately 600,000 were saved.

Local truck growers declare that the tomato crop will be delayed from two to four weeks and much replanting of other crops will have to be done.

The freeze here seriously damaged the fruit crop of this section and the total loss is estimated at several thousand dollars.

Lubbock Kiwanians Are Told Of Cotton By Acuff Teacher

E. P. Reeves, Acuff school superintendent, in addressing Lubbock Kiwanians at Hotel Lubbock Thursday, paid tribute to Eli Whitney for his invention of the cotton gin and gave a detailed history of the cotton industry. R. S. Pace was in charge of the program.

Speaking on what is generally termed as a "dry" subject, Mr. Reeves gave an interesting and enlightening discussion of his subject, tracing the history of cotton from 400 years before Christ to the present time when it stands as one of the world's major industries. His talk was in connection with the club's observance of the anniversary of the invention of the first gin by Whitney. Cotton today holds a major place in industry, commerce and political life of the leading nations of the world and was responsible for the great rise of the United States as one of the great powers, he pointed out as he cited the extent of the growth of this plant which was known in Grecian times as "a tree with wool on it."

B. Sherrod and W. L. Stangel made short announcements to the club regarding the second annual calf pig and meat show to be held here next week.

Forty-two years ago, the Wayne Knitting Mills loaded onto a ship in Germany, the first battery of full fashioned knitting machines ever sent to America. On the same ship sailed some of the artisans who built the machines and ten German families trained to operate them. Besides exceptional craftsmanship, assuring beauty and long wear, it is logical that they have always been creators of hosiery fashions.

We cordially invite you down to inspect these fine stockings and also to see an educational hosiery exhibit in our window.

Singing In The Rain!

AMIABLE, agreeable Mr. E. C. Toothman, director of Republican organization in Texas, is not only an able politician but he is likewise schooled in what we sometimes call "whistling in the graveyard."

Here yesterday conferring with South Plains Republican chieftains, Mr. Toothman released an interview to Avalanche-Journal papers but we have a sneaking idea that he had his tongue in his cheek all the time he was talking with reporters.

"Texas will again go for Hoover," declared this Pollyanna-of-Politics, "that is practically certain. John Garner hasn't the slightest chance to secure the nomination."

Just where Mr. Toothman secured his information, we do not know, but we suspect he was forecasting what he hopes, rather than what he feels. Only a calamity within the Democratic party's ranks can keep Texas from getting back where she belongs and nobody, not even a Republican chieftain, knows exactly what Mr. Garner's chances for the nomination really are.

Our Republican friends, through local members of the party, have been kind to Lubbock during the past two or three administrations. They have granted our requests in several important regards and The Morning Avalanche is not at all ungrateful. We are happy to meet and greet our political rivals, when they come to town, and even furnish space for their remarks.

But when it comes to taking their forecasts seriously we must draw the line. Too often their wishes are father of their thoughts!

IT SOUNDS GOOD, ANYWAY

While The Morning Avalanche has made no particular study of the Civic Music association, a nation-wide organization to promote and foster fine musical programs throughout the land, it listens like a good proposition for cities like Lubbock. Operating upon an annual membership plan, the association does away with the personal guarantees to artists and removes the stumbling block of finance from the paths of those who seek to bring in artistic programs of the musical type.

Sponsoring musical programs has always been a dangerous business in Lubbock—as well as in many cities of the nation—due to the fact that it is only through a large turnout that the sponsor can "come out on the right side of the ledger." With a nation-wide association functioning as the Civic Music association is purported to do, it should be possible for many communities to enjoy uniformly good musical programs without any patron being forced to dig up a large deficit.

MAKE A WILL

Among educational campaigners being conducted under various auspices is one giving every man and every woman a reminder of the duty of making a will and of appointing competent and responsible executors. The importance of this should be plain, yet thousands die yearly without leaving wills. Under the circumstances, their property is disposed of according to state laws, which cannot undertake to deal with the families in accordance with individual requirements. Frequently injustice results with much suffering entailed. This emphasizes the duty of making a will. Men and women should realize that only in this way can their estates be distributed as they would wish.

The chief trouble, however, is simply neglect. Some who realize their duty to have their wills drawn keep putting off the discharge of it to "another time." But a fatal accident or a sudden illness affecting their minds and rendering them mentally incompetent to the end may occur and, obviously, make it impossible to repair the neglect. While the normal expectation of those in their prime is to live "to three score and ten" or more, it is only common sense and common prudence to recognize the uncertainty of life.

Although the drawing of a will naturally takes into consideration the certainty of the coming of death some time to the testator, it should constantly be kept uppermost that the whole purpose of the instrument is the service of life; the care of the "dear ones" of the decedent who remain behind or the cause of humanity in general.

The drawing of a will ought to be recognized as a thing not to be "put off."

The big economic argument for planting yams and peanuts with cotton in the South is that when cotton goes out of style it is still fashionable to eat.

Ups and downs of the British pound are due to the fact that nobody knows how much it really weighs in the financial scales.

Practical Health Problems

TRENCH MOUTH SHOWS RAPID INCREASE

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Helath Magazine

THERE is a well-defined impression among doctors and dentists that the condition known during the war as trench mouth, a form of infection of the mouth and gums, is definitely increasing in this country. In order to check this contention, Dr. I. Disraeli conducted a survey among public health officials, dental schools and individual dentists as to the frequency of the condition as seen in their practices.

Between 80 and 90 per cent of the persons questioned were convinced that the disease is difinitely on the increase. It is, of course, impossible to be certain that this opinion is correct, since the condition is not generally reportable to health authorities in the same way that measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria and similar infectious diseases are reportable.

It happens that the state of New York has made the condition reportable since 1922. Even though all of the cases are probably not reported to the health authorities such statistics as are available indicate that Vincent's angina or trench mouth has increased tenfold from 1922 through 1930.

In Illinois the disease was made reportable in 1930, but the ruling is not strictly enforced and few dentists or physicians realize that the disease is reportable.

There is a well-defined impression that this disease is spread by eating and drinking in restaurants and in other places where a considerable clientele is served and where precautions in the washing of dishes are not exceedingly strict. It is of course well known that the disease may be spread by direct contact such as occurs in kissing.

Control of Vincent's angina demands the utmost precaution on the part of the public generally and on the part of those who have the disease to make certain that they do not spread it.

It demands special care in the handling of dishes, glasses, towels and every other material that may come in contact with the infected individual.

In this disease, small patches, gray and ulcerating, appear around the teeth and gums, on the cheeks and even in the throat.

Some time ago it was shown that the disease is controllable through the use of an inexpensive substance called sodium perborate as a mouth wash.

Fails To See Necessity

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 17.—"There should be no increase at all in taxation," in the opinion of Senator Marvel M. Logan of Kentucky.

How, then, get the government "out of the red"—to a total now approaching $3,000,000,000?

"By genuine economics," answers the Kentuckian. "The United States did very well for a century and more," he continued, "with no department of agriculture, none of commerce, none of labor. Surely these three, at least, could be lopped off bodily, with an enormous saving.

Senator M. M. Logan

"That's just a single suggestion, to begin on."

"THE MOST DRASTIC reduction program which I hear mentioned," said the senator, "contemplates cuts aggregating about a billion, with higher taxes approximating a billion, to balance the federal budget.

"My own view is that reductions ought to foot a couple of billions, without the necessity for higher taxes.

"Failing adoption of the economical method of solving our budget problem, my personal judgment is that we are very close to the finish of the governmental system bequeathed to us by our revolutionary forefathers."

JUDGE LOGAN (the Kentucky lawmaker was a veteran of the Blue Grass state court of appeals when elected to the senate) tilted back in his office chair and considered the situation calmly. A placid, portly man, he predicts the most startling developments in a tone of unruffled philosophy.

"The other day," he related matter-of-factly, "an angry crowd forced its way into the executive mansion at the capital of my home commonwealth, to denounce new taxation just voted by the legislature. It was a very unceremonious invasion, according to the newspapers—an affair for upholders of the existing order to ponder mighty seriously.

"In one southern Kentucky county, I'm told, the citizenry has announced that this year it will not pay taxes; will not submit to its property's sale for delinquency, either. County officialdom won't attempt it; it wouldn't be healthy. Perhaps the state will insist on its share, but it may have to employ the national guard to collect it."

"AT THE PRESENT RATE," said the senator, "I foresee many more of these small rebellions—one out on the Pacific coast next, for example; then one in Florida, possibly; then, mayhap, in Maine and Arkansas and Michigan—more and more of them—probably suppressed here and there by the militia, but gradually multiplying and merging into one another.

"Finally chaos!

"And afterward? Oh, reconstruction.

"In what form? That's impossible to say. It will depend on the new leadership.

"Maybe there will be a resurrection on present national geographical lines. Maybe it will be piecemeal. Maybe a piecemeal resurrection will be followed by a re-amalgamation. Maybe not. There's no telling."

"THIS DEBACLE need not be anticipated as practically inevitable," agreed the Kentucky statesman, "if we could hope reasonably for real governmental economy. But can we? I doubt it.

"Quite likely we shall survive the crisis of today, but if we do it as we seem bent on doing—by increasing taxation and considerable fresh borrowing—we simply shall be postponing the ultimate crash. By how long? I can't say, of course. At a guess, a decade. I would call that a liberal calculation.

"Our position is peculiar—and ridiculous, if it were not so painful. We cannot start the wheels of industry once more a-turning until we re-establish our purchasing power; we cannot re-establish our purchasing power until industry's wheels are set again a-turning."

"OUR PAST DEPRESSIONS," observed the senator, "have been bad enough, but of 1893's, the worst in recent years, there was this to be said, anyway—money had been concentrated in too few hands and the average individual was penniless, but our debts were not heavy. Now, not only is our money gone, but our credit is exhausted. The end even of the federal government's is in sight."

Parenthetically, Senator William H. King of Utah, a veteran among members of the senate finance committee, puts national obligations, inclusive of Uncle Sam's, the states', counties' and municipalities' and of banks and big business generally, between 175 and 200 billions.

"Besides which," supplements Senator Logan, "due to the enhanced value of the dollar, each dollar borrowed a few years ago now represents nearly twice what it represented when it was borrowed.

"But for all that," he added, "I would back the average American to get down to frugal, thrifty living and work his way out of his difficulties somehow, if he had only himself to consider. His fatal weakness is that his various governments, from the one in Washington down to his board of township trustees, refuse to economize with him."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a salesgirl in Barclay's Department Store, works at night as a dance hall hostess at Dreamland. She lives with her extravagant mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE.

STEVEN BARCLAY, 57, and Ellen's employer, loves the girl but Ellen is in love with LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist, she has met at Dreamland. She loses her heart to him in spite of the fact that he is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWES, a debutante.

Ellen is unwilling to wound Barclay but when scandalous gossip is circulated at the store, she determines to see him no more. However, Molly Rossiter, anxious for Ellen to marry a rich husband, invites Barclay to dinner. Without Ellen's knowledge, Molly borrows money to make the apartment more attractive and to buy the most expensive food. When the girl learns this she is furious. She and Molly go to the kitchen to prepare dinner while Myra and BERT ARMSTED, Myra's fiance, entertain Barclay.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

The Rossiter ice-box was stuffed almost to the bursting point. Certainly Molly had stinted on nothing. There was pate, there was lobster, there were two plump, yellow ducks—and duck at $1.75 a pound. There were artichokes and avacados. There were all the things that should never have been included in a simple home dinner. But Ellen squared her jaw and flew about the heated kitchen, growing hotter and crosser each minute.

Perched at the kitchen table daintily shelling peas Molly looked cool and comfortable and maddeningly satisfied with herself. From time to time she would hum a little tune. Then, glimpsing her daughter's black face, she would halt and virtuously continue shelling the peas. Molly was convinced everything would work out for the best.

Except for decorative purposes the colored maid was entirely useless. She did set the table with a great flourish. She considered that with serving and washing the dishes she would have more than earned her $5 and said so. When Ellen, ignoring this disinclination toward real labor, suggested that she baste the ducks, the maid looked aggrieved and "allowed" she did only plain cooking.

"This is plain enough," said Ellen in exasperation. "You'll simply have to do it while my mother and I dress. Just open the oven every 10 minutes and ladle the drippings up with a spoon."

"All right, Miss, I'll do it. But you can't blame me if them ducks don't taste jjest right."

"We won't," snapped Ellen.

She grew cooler and more comfortable in the bedroom as she flung aside her business dress, went into the bathroom and cautiously bathed with due consideration for the fact that splashing water was audible in the living room. She returned to the bedroom and slipped into a clean, fresh, blue linen frock. She brushed her curling hair, powdered her flushed face and found the string of amber beads that went so well with her skin. She looked all right. The sleeveless dress, cheap as it was very kind to her slender youth.

"Ellen, honey," said her mother, entering, "will you fix my snaps, or are you stidd mad at me?"

Ellen's heart failed her. What was the use of anger, of threats, of reproaches? After a solemn talk, which took place as Ellen's fingers busied themselves with the snaps, Molly promised, as she had promised so often before, that there would be no more surprises. But she looked unusually sobered. By telling her of the gossip at the store Ellen had succeeded in frightening the harum-scarum, little Irish woman.

"They're just jealous," she declared. "If I were you I'd just tell that Mrs. Bondy that he was here for dinner tonight. That'd stop their mouths. I've half a notion to go down there and tell—"

"The best thing I can do," Ellen interrupted warningly, "is what I am doing—say nothing."

"Well—maybe you're right, but I'd like to give two or three of those girls a good shaking just the same!"

Together they went into the living room. Bert was engeged in a long and technical discussion of the comparative merits of the Yankees and the Giants. If Barclay were bored, his courteous, interested air concealed the fact. He stood up quickly as Ellen and Molly appeared.

"Well, dinner is almost ready— at last," Molly announced. "I hope you're not all starved. Where in the world do you suppose Mike is?"

"I'll go find him," offered Myra.

The room was breathlessly hot and every one was politely dissembling interest in the sharp, delicious odor of roasting duck.

"You haven't met the pride of the family," Ellen remarked smilingly to Barclay.

"Oh, yes I have. I met him in the hall," Barclay affirmed.

Ellen did not know what made her think that he looked guilty in a small-boy way, but she did think that. Could Mike have said something to him? Myra had started for the door when Ellen suddenly determined to learn what had occurred in the hall. She spoke hurriedly and definitely.

"You go wash up, Myra. I'll gather Mike in.

She was out the door and running down the stairs. When she reached the street she saw that practically all the youngsters in the neighborhood—and they were many—had gathered before the apartment door, almost blocking it. A few stared with wistful longing at the sleek, black limousine from which the alertly rigid chauffeur barred them. But the majority, screaming and vociferous, were peering up the lamp-lighted street.

"Have any of you seen Mike Rossiter?" she inquired, wondering just what new game they were playing.

"Sure," half a dozen voices chorused shrilly. She picked out from the resulant confusion the information that Mike was giving Peter Rafferty a ride on his new bicycle.

Just then she saw Mike. He was strutting along proudly beside a

Flour Mill To Be Expanded

Abernathy Plant To Have An Increase Capacity To 100 Barrels Soon; Installation Starts Soon

ABERNATHY, Mar. 17. (Special.) Flour mill machinery that will increase the output from thirty to 100 barrels of flour per day, has been ordered by O. A. Rea and his brother O. F. Rea, owners of the Rea Flour mills here, it is announced.

Installation is scheduled to start in about 30 days. It is not expected that the building in which the mill is now located, will be enlarged but in the event it is necessary, this will be done, O. A. Rea stated.

O. A. Rea came here in 1925 and opened the mill. He was joined by his brother in 1927 and the two men have kept adding employes until now ten men are regularly employed all the time and larger forces at seasonal rush periods. The regular force are all married men, representing families.

Two salesmen are kept on the road, covering a wide area and calling on retail grocers and jobbers. Besides patent or white flour, whole wheat flour and several kinds of breakfast food are manufactured and sold. Several lines of livestock and poultry feeds are made, all under the Rea brand. In all there are ten kinds of products.

Local grains are purchased for use in the mill.

By the time the 1932 wheat crop is ready for the market, the mill will be able to handle it at full capacity of 100 barrels daily. There is a large storage space available for wheat and other grains.

Mr. Barclay gave it to me," he plained in a hushed voice, caress- with his grubby hand the shin- mud-guards.

But, darling, we can't let you ep it," Ellen said faintly.

The blow struck. Mike's face turn- red; his blue eyes looked sur- ised, bewildered, confused, hurt d angry, in rapid succession. For moment he gazed at her in ap- lled silence; then burst into loud d frantic wails. So overwhelming s his grief and rage that Ellen s afraid it would result in his us- l upset stomach. She gathered in s shaking body, conscious that the tire juvenile population of the ck was watching.

I can't do anything," Mike sob- d. "I can't have anything. I prom- d all the other boys a ride. other'd let me have it. I'll be so od Ellen; I'll do everything you ll me."

But Mike—"

My bike, my bike!"

Ellen knew she was weak and at she should be firm; she knew at once she let Mike get the upper and her discipline would be gone, ut she could not stand out against is overwhelming grief. She relent- d.

When Ellen and Mike, the latter's ce pale and tear-stained, got the cycle up the stairs and into the ing room, the girl saw that the ews had preceded them. As they ade their awkward entrance, she d Myra exchanged an expressive lance. Myra, too, was troubled by arclay's munificence. But Molly, r small jaw set in stubborn lines, refully avoided Ellen's eye. That as not surprising. Ellen had ex- cted no help from that quarter.

There was an embarrassing si- nce.

Mike, childishly conscious that mething was wrong, conscious e he had somehow failed his sis- and by no means certain of his mate victory, deserted Ellen to sh to his mother. Molly stroked is hot little head buried in her lap d bent to whisper words of com- rt.

Bert, twiddling with the radio ials, considered the whole affair nworthy of a man's attention. He uld never understand what he rmed those "Rossiter" moods of fyra and her sister.

The most uncomfortable person in e room was the real culprit. Steven ad hoped Ellen would speak but when she did not he said anxiously: "Have I been thoughtless?"

Ellen, without comment, wheeled the bicycle into the crowded closet in the corner and shut the door with a rather sharp bang.

She did not know what to say. How could she tell Barclay that it was one thing to present a toy to the child of a millionaire and quite another to present that same toy to the child whose parents could not afford to give it to him? How could she tell him of the fierce and necessary pride of the poor?

"You've been extremely thoughtful," Molly was saying, with a timid glance at Myra. "Not one man in a thousand would know exactly what a boy of 10 wanted. Mike's been dying, simply dying, for a bicycle."

Mike shyly raised his head.

"I'm to keep it then?" he demanded eagerly. "Ellen said so if I'd be good."

At that moment the maid made a blessed interruption, an interruption which Ellen felt to be almost worth the $5 she was to receive. She clumped into the room to announce dinner was ready.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. (AP)—While trading in cotton was by no means active today, prices were rather steady and advanced in sympathy with the upswing in stocks following some erratic fluctuations during the morning. After gaining 4 to 5 points in the first hour owing to the lowering of the bank of England rates prices later eased off 5 to 6 points with weakness in stocks. In the afternoon prices recovered with an advance in the stock MARKET and gained 8 to 9 points from the lows, making new highs for the day at the end and closing steady showing net advances for the day of 6 to 8 points.

The market opened steady in sympathy with cables.

Although no great activity developed in the late trading prices continued to advance and made new highs for the session at 6.95 for May 7.11 for July and 7.31 for Oct. or 8 to 9 points above the lows of the morning. The close was at the top in sympathy with the firmness of stocks with the active positions showing net gains for the day of 7 to 8 points.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—A slight opening advance in cotton today was followed by reactions but prices firmed again during the afternoon on a renewal of trade buying and covering influenced by reports of continued small southern offerings and a stronger stock market.

After selling up to 6.93 early, May contracts reached to 6.97, then advanced to 6.95 and closed at 6.93. The general market closed steady at net advances of 2 to 5 points.

The further reduction in the Bank of England discount rate had a favorable effect on sentiment and probably contributed to the early gains.

Offerings increased somewhat at the advance and the market eased during the middle of the day, selling was not active however, and after working off to 7.76 for October, or about 3 points net lower, the market firmed up on a renewal of trade buying or covering. This was also stimulated by reports of a firm spot basis in the south.

Prices reached the highest figures of the day on the late bulge, with October advancing to 7.93 and closing quotations were within 2 or 3 points of the best on active positions.

Rumors Of Good News Stimulating To Stocks; Wednesday Losses Erased

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Rumors of good news, and the actual appearance of at least one item that could be so labelled gave stocks an upward push today and the market closed with gains which represented virtual cancellation of what had been lost yesterday.

After showing a much firmer undertone in the morning, prices were later stimulated by reports that reputed points of difference on policies to be followed in the matter of reconstruction finance corporation loans to railroads had been smoothed over. Coincidentally, the Chesapeake and Ohio released a favorable February earnings statement, and the combined effect to touch off a fair volume of short covering, especially in carrier stocks.

Wall Street has had some misgivings as to how much the railroad wage cute would help income because of the continued traffic decline. Therefore Chesapeake and Ohio's disclosure that February net income, $1,470,744, had substantially exceeded not only January's but also the total for February, 1931, was immediately deemed encouraging. Furthermore, it was said unofficially that Baltimore and Ohio had been helped by additional operating economies, hence the case for the railroads did not seem so gloomy and shorts hastened to make repurchases.

General Motors touched a new low at 18 1-4 in the morning but finished unchanged. Eastman and the Kreuger issues were stronger. Activity increased on the rally, the day's trades totaling 1,773,348 shares, about 300,000 larger than yesterday's turnover.

(By Staff Correspondent)

RALLS, March 17—Receiving of renditions for the 1932 tax roll of the city of Ralls will be started by William Betts, city secretary, collector and assessor, the latter part of March.

Valuations for 1931 were slightly over a million dollars. Mr. Betts said he anticipated very little change in totals.

Tax collections for the past year were good. The taxes become due in July, the colector said. He expects a good report this year.

Heaviness of the wheat market persisted notwithstanding authoritative denials that the Farm board might be forced to sell wheat, and despite positive statements that the board's wheat was amply margined and its accounts satisfactory to the banks making loans.

complished by the state party office in Dallas and urged his hearers to support it financially. He advised county and precinct chairmen to "get together and organize." He urged this action immediately and declared a swell organized staff in each county and precinct of the district was essential.

"I make this prediction — that Herbert Hoover will be nominated by the Republican party and that he will be reelected president of the United States by an overwhelming majority," Mr. Girand added. "I don't want to see Texas lose her rank."

The speaker scored any party for imposing a pledge of support of any candidate regardless and said he considered any man "a traitor to his country" who voted for any candidate who was not competent to assume the office."

Says Democracy Splitting

Mr. Toothman said in his opinion President Hoover's chances of a reelection were "far ahead" of his chances for election in 1928.

"Democracy is beginning to split now and a wider split is here than in 1928" he added, pointing out that "Democracy was successful" in the elections of 1928 and elected a majority in the house of representatives. "Garner hit the first rock when today's newspapers reported 50 Democrats deserted his leadership on the sales tax," went on, adding that "he will strike the second rock within the next week."

"I have yet to hear any considerable number of those who voted with us in 1928 really say they were sorry they came over with us," he said. "A majority of them say if they force us this year we will do it again."

Sees Setup In Texas

Mr. Toothman said he was not afraid of the results of the national contest and added, "the Democrats are trying to give us a ready made setup to elect a Republican governor in Texas." He spoke of the present situation between former-Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and Governor Ross Sterling and said all reports indicated they would be in the runoff. "The majority I have talked with seem to think that this is a Jim Ferguson year and this is the kind of a time that Jim Ferguson seems to thrive on. This gives us a good start for both the governorship and the presidency.

Referring to the national chances of Speaker John Garner Mr. Toothman said that "Texas will never be honored by the selection of a president or vice president by either party as long as it is considered a doubtful state. This is a doubtful state for the Democrats."

Organization methods for the campaign were outlined and each precinct chairman was urged to "get out the vote." He told of the work of the Dallas office of the party and of its many calls for political information about candidates. It is supported by voluntary contributions he explained and no forced gifts or those "with a string attached" will be asked.

Postmaster John L. Vaughan was the closing speaker of the program. He referred to the present political situation as very optimistic from the party point of view. "I was born in Texas and have always voted a Republican ticket" he declared. "I want to say tonight that I am long gone on the reelection of Herbert Hoover."

Mr. Toothman indicated he might spend a day or so more here, talking with party leaders. He met a number yesterday and preceding the meeting last night.

Postmaster Vaughan was host to a small dinner party at the Hotel Lubbock last night in honor of Mr. Toothman.

Kidnaping

chisel and wood similar to that used in making the kidnapers' ladder were missing.

Although Colonel Schwarzkopf said in his morning bulletin the Lightfoots had found their chisel and that "no suspicion" rested on the missing servants, his afternoon bulletin stated:

"The investigation of Mr. and Mrs. Thornburg (the missing couple) is continuing and nothing of importance has been reported as yet. These persons have not been located and every effort is being made to determine their whereabouts."

Colonel Lindbergh authorized the state police superintendent to deny a report he had employed a private detective agency to make an independent search for the kidnapers.

Dallas Police Attempting To Trace Mysterious Call

DALLAS, March 17 (AP)—Police attempted tonight to trace a telephone call made to Austin recently in an effort to throw light on a mysterious call to Hopewell, New Jersey, in which ransom for return of the Lindbergh baby was demanded.

Both calls were placed from a monuments works, the owner of which was unable to give information to investigators. He said the office had been closed at intervals of late and it would have been possible for anyone to telephone from it.

Austin Call In Code

Some time after a person had talked to a representative of the Lindberghs, a call to Austin was made, but the conversation in the latter instance was in code which police were unable to decipher. They had watched the place after a telephone operator had listened in on the conversation between Dallas and Hopewell.

In the call to Hopewell, Colonel Lindbergh was told that if he would fly over a Dallas cemetery and drop $50,000 he would receive his baby, safe and well, before he could fly back to Hopewell.

Police believed there was some connection between the two calls.

Cattlemen

Walter Negley, San Antonio, were the two men members added to the executive committee. The others were reelected.

The three outstanding resolutions adopted related to efforts that should be made to strengthen the federal intermediate credit bank and broaden the market for its debentures recommendations of a legislative act which will validate mineral rights on public school lands which have been purchased. Owners are willing to give the state one sixteenth interest in the minerals. Cattlemen said they thought the act passed at the last session of the legislature remedied the situation, but recent court decisions have made it uncertain. They now want an act which will carry no doubts.

Other resolutions adopted were: a congressional tax of ten cents a pound on oleomargarine not manufactured entirely from fats and oils produced within the boundaries of this country; product against any reduction of appropriations for continuing the work of eradicating predatory animals; removal of stock yards at Amarillo from the list of public markets so that stock cattle and not beef cattle rates can be applied; request that the interstate Commerce commission restore the market privilege on livestock moving through public markets; endorsement of a congressional measure which will authorize states to issue quarantine awaiting action by the secretary of agriculture; endorsement of the plan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to advertise meats; reduction of yardage and commission rates in view of low cattle prices; pledging cooperation to the American Cotton Cooperative association to remove discriminatory barriers to the free sale and use of oleomargarine, and urging the livestock commission to perfect machinery necessary to meet available federal aid in accreditation of tuberculosis free range cattle area.

Gin Is Burned At Wolfforth

Daniell's Gin Is Destroyed On Thursday; Loss Said To Be Between $20,000 And $25,000; Partly Insured

(Special To The Avalanche.)

WOLFFORTH, March 17.—Ruins of the Daniell gin, destroyed this afternoon by fire which caused a loss of $20,000 or more, still were smouldering early tonight. M. T. Daniell, co-owner, of Wolfforth estimated the loss was between $20,000 and $25,000, of which $14,500 was covered by insurance. R. D. Holmes of Lubbock is the other owner, Daniell said.

Origin of the conflagration, which began at the cotton house and spread rapidly to all parts of the plant, had not been determined. A bale of cotton was being unloaded and was caught in the cleaner, into which it was manipulated through an opening in the cotton house, when the cotton caught afire, Daniell reported. A spark struck from a stone or ignition of a stray match possibly caused the blaze, the gin operator said.

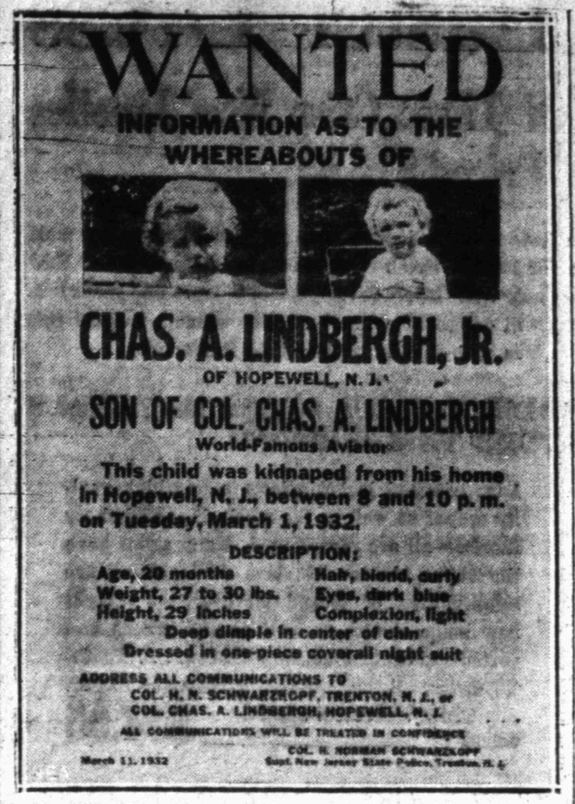

Saved Office and Home

Townsmen of this community without fire-fighting apparatus were attracted to the fire, which began at about 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, and soon turned their efforts to saving the gin office and Daniell's home, both adjacent to the gin. They succeeded in that. When the cotton became ignited, flames immediately swished through the cotton house and soon to other gin buildings, Daniell said. Heat of the fire cut short efforts to save any of the plant.

The Lubbock fire department was asked to aid in combating the fire and reported a run impractical, Daniell said. Wolfforth is about 10 miles southwest of Lubbock.

Thirty-seven bales of cotton were destroyed in the blaze, which retained considerable proportions for three hours. Five hours after it began, the fire had not died completely.

Money Just Too Strong For Bank

(By Staff Correspondent)

LEVELLAND, March 18.—Employes of the First National bank the other day were almost overcome by a strong odor when a customer opened a parcel he was carrying and deposited between $450 and $500 in bills with the cashier.

Investigation showed that the money was so permeated with moth balls that there was no getting rid of it. After the currency was kept in the vault over night and had almost transferred its condition to the rest of the bank's currency, President John Doyle found a way to get rid of it.

"Had a man who needed about that much in bills, so I cashed his check with the moth ball money," he said. "It was just too strong for words."

Zoning Case Being Retried

Litigation Over Setting Aside Restriction On Lots On College Avenue And Broadway Up In 99th Court

Retrial of the case of H. C. and L. R. Ragland against Dr. M. C. Overton, in which the question of restricting building on two lots here to residential construction is involved, was well underway in 99th district court when Judge Clark M. Mullican adjourned court late Thursday. Five of the plaintiffs' witnesses had been heard.

The lots involved are Nos. 13 and 14 in block 99 of Overton addition, plotted by the doctor about 1908, and are located at Broadway and College Avenue. Deeds to the lots contain a clause restricting use of the property to residential purposes and provides that if the property is used otherwise it shall revert to the grantor.

The Raglands cite establishment and growth of Texas Technological college in asking that the restrictions be set aside. An instructed verdict by Judge Mullican here last April was reversed by the court of civil appeals at Amarillo and the case sent back for retrial. Present trial probably will continue into Saturday.

as 40 of his comrades had been killed and thousands wounded in the past few weeks by "red savages."

Arms Uncovered Recently

German political police and espionage investigators, it was learned, recently uncovered stores of arms and ammunition declared by them to be the property of the Hitler followers.

Hitler ran a poor second to President Paul Von Hindenburg in the indecisive election last Monday. He already has announced that he will stand against the president in the "run off" election to be held April 10. Officials of his party declared in Munich that the series of raids was a political maneuver to strengthen the hand of the Von Hindenburg supporters in the April 10 balloting.

Today's raids were believed to be the largest concerted action ever taken by republican Germany against any party. Officers acted under instructions from Karl Severing, minister of the interior for the state of Prussia. The federal government denied that it had any hand in the raids.

Vote Campaign Now Underway

Junior C Of C Starts Drive To Muster 50,000,000 Votes In 1932; Texas Asked For A Big Increase

AUSTIN, Mar. 17. (AP)—The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, an organization representing 28,000,000 young men between the ages of 21 and 35, has started a campaign to muster 50,000,000 votes for the 1932 elections.

George Olmsted, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, has written Governor Sterling from Des Moines, Iowa, headquarters, advising him Texas' quota "toward this magnificent achievement" is 992,599 votes, or 40 per cent more than the vote cast in Texas at the 1928 presidential election.

Olmsted pointed out that the nation's total presidential vote at the November election in 1928 was 724,832. An increase of 40 per cent would mean 51,414,752 votes this year.

He urged "the greatest vote in the country's history in honor of George Washington."

Olmsted argued that there were in the United States, "at a conservative estimate," at least 80,000,000 qualified voters.

He said it was proposed to award a "suitable trophy" to the state which surpasses its 1928 vote next November by the highest percentage.

Ralls Business Women Are To Organize A Club Soon

RALLS, March 17.—The Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club is planning to assist local business women in the organization of a club here. Mrs. A. C. Hyatt, business manager of the Ralls Banner, says.

Mrs. Hyatt has been in correspondence with members of the Lubbock club and at a date in the near future, so far unannounced, the local women will invite the Lubbock women to come and talk over the formation of a club here.

It is thought, Mrs. Hyatt said, that about 15 or 20 women who are in business, can be secured, in addition to the school teachers. There are a large number who have asked about the formation of such a group

Lubbock Merchants To Unveil Spring Window Style Exhibits On Monday Eve

The spring season will be opened Monday night in a blaze of light when Lubbock merchants unveil their store windows. The unveiling is an annual custom.

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock practically all store fronts of the business section will be lighted to display in the windows the latest style creations. In former years thousands of persons have thronged the downtown section for these openings and the interest thus shown has prompted local merchants to make the affair an annual one.

As an added feature of the event two bands will parade the streets during the evening. The Texas Tech Matador band and the high school organization will keep the expected crowds entertained.

Those in charge of the event state that a large number of the stores are cooperating and success from the standpoint is practically assured. Every known article of attire for men, women and children will be on display to attract interest of the buying public.

W. R. Campbell Sells Store To W. E. Holder Of Lubbock

Ending eight years in the grocery business in Lubbock W. R. Campbell yesterday transferred his combination residence and grocery at 2132 19th street to W. E. Holder, a former grocer here. The stock and fixtures were sold for a cash consideration and the store building was traded even for Mr. Holder's residence at 1814 Avenue M, where Mr. Campbell now resides.

"I am engaged in no business now," Mr. Campbell stated, "but am devoting my entire time to my candidacy for the state legislature. I should like to thank my friends for their patronage and cooperation during the past eight years. My business has been successful and I attribute my success to my constant effort to operate under the golden rule."
