A Record 562 GI's Are Killed

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—A record 562 U.S. servicemen were killed last week in the height of the Communist spring offensive, American spokesmen said today. In the same period 5,552 Communists were killed.

The toll of American dead last week passed by 19 the previous Vietnam war record, the 543 slain in the week ending Feb. 17 when the Communist Tet offensive was in progress.

Another 2,225 Americans were wounded last week, 1,153 of them needing hospital care. In the same period South Vietnamese forces suffered 675 men killed and 1,999 wounded, military spokesmen said.

Saigon Casualties High

The Communists launched their spring drive May 5 and in 10 days suffered more than 8,500 men killed—most of them last week. A large percentage of the U.S. casualties came in fighting in the Saigon area and 400 miles to the north, just below the North Vietnam border.

Military spokesmen said that last week the allied "kill ratio" —one yardstick used for judging how the war goes—4½ Communists were killed for every allied soldier slain in combat.

Communist losses in the February Tet offensive were greater than those they suffered in last week's drive. In the week ending Feb. 17, the period of the previous U.S casualty record, the Communists suffered 6,974 men killed.

Powerful Quake Hits Japan; 14 Persons Killed

By VIRGIL KRET

TOKYO (UPI)—The world's most powerful earthquake in four years rocked northern Japan today, smashing buildings, rupturing streets and triggering tidal waves that slapped 600 miles of coastline.

First reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 53 injured in what the U.S. National Earthquake Center in Rockville, Md., called the biggest quake since the Good Friday, 1964 tremor that killed 114 persons in Alaska.

Today's tremor centered its punch in the northern sector of the main island of Honshu and on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

For seven minutes northern Japan trembled. Tokyo's new 36-story skyscraper wobbled. A nation that suffered 142,802 persons killed in the 1923 Tokyo area quake and eight other major killer quakes since 1891 verged on panic for a moment.

Japanese scientists said the forces that produced today's quake may well produce more tremors soon. Dr. Chuji Tsuboi of Tokyo University said only half the stored up earthquake energy has been unleashed.

Today's blow fell heaviest near Aomori, a city of 800,000 at the northern tip of Honshu and 300 miles north of Tokyo. At the U.S. Air Force Base at Misawa, near Aomori, the control tower suffered minor injury, American spokesmen said.

In Aomori 81 buildings collapsed. Relatives dug for survivors and firemen battled flames leaping from ruins. The U.S. base at Misawa sent its firemen into Aomori to help.

Maritime officials said two 7,000-ton vessels were reported driven by the tidal waves against the coral reefs off Aomori. Dozens of smaller ships and boats reported trouble and skippers hurried toward port.

In Sapporo on Hokkaido a line of persons waiting for a bus were knocked flat. The television towers bent over.

In Aomori, where the tremors broke up streets and opened crevices in lots, a city official told UPI: "Most people, fearful of tidal waves, are still staying atop mountains and hills."

Arkansas Is Hardest Hit As 42 Are Killed

By ROBERT BENJAMIN
United Press International

A siege of tornadoes, one of the heaviest on record, struck a wide section of the nation's midlands Wednesday, leaving 68 persons dead and hundreds injured.

At least 68 were known dead. Forty-two were killed in Arkansas and 500 injured. At least 16 died in Iowa and hundreds hurt. Eight were killed in Illinois, one in Indiana and one in Nebraska — a youth who drowned while swimming when a twister struck near Omaha.

Six towns in northern Arkansas were ravaged. A twister roared up Arkansas 39 into Jonesboro, leveling almost every house along the highway and tumbling cars like toys, wrapping them around trees and poles. Some of Jonesboro area's 34 dead were found in the cars.

"It looks like a group of B52s had flown over and bombed it," Jonesboro Police Chief Jim Hanley said. Eleven persons also died at Oil Trough, three at Henderson and one at Tuckerman, Ark.

Buildings Destroyed

In Charles City, Iowa, where 11 died 18 blocks of Main Street were devastated and half its 10,000 population was made homeless. Three died at Oelwein, Iowa, population 8,500, where every building in the business district was destroyed or damaged.

One of the Charles City dead was a woman whose body was found a half-mile north of town.

A 3-year-old girl from Maynard, Iowa, just north of Oelwein also was killed. Two states away, a 28-year-old woman was killed at a trailer camp near Wabash, Ind.

The twisters bounced and skipped through Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Arkansas and Alabama as the cold front moved eastward.

At Jonesboro, the tornado smashed the McDaniel Oil Co., one mile southwest of town, sundering its gasoline drums and spewing 20,000 gallons of high-test gasoline into the screaming winds.

Manila, near Mississippi River, and Russell, Ark., also were hit.

Toll May Mount

At Oelwein, rescuers were sure the toll would mount. "There are people under houses and we don't know where the houses were," one said. Giant elm and maple trees were uprooted and used as battering rams to crash into living rooms. One man reported his neighbor's automobile was blown away—"he still can't find it"—and the neighbor's golden Labrador retriever was sucked out of his kennel.

Charles City Police Chief John Gordon looked at what had been Main Street, its structures destroyed or badly damaged for 18 blocks. A home for the aged, completed a month ago and

City Tax Board Hears Complaints

Eight or nine property owners appeared before the city tax equalization board this forenoon at its public hearing on property valuations for the 1968 tax year.

Those appearing before the board were owners of either real or personal property on which valuations for tax purposes had been increased by the city tax department.

The hearing opened at 9 a.m. before equalization board members George Scott, L. L. Sone and R. M. Samples. It was expected to continue through this afternoon.

Board members listened to testimony of the taxpayers and will make known their final decisions at a later date following study of the complaints.

Apartment House In London Falls To The Ground

LONDON (UPI)—The corner section of a new 22-story London apartment house split open today like a giant zipper, sending all 22 floors crashing from top to bottom.

Police found three bodies in a five-hour search that was halted because officials feared further collapse. Another nine of the 260 persons in the two month-old building were injured. Seven were missing.

Many persons were asleep in the reinforced concrete structure when it ripped apart down the lefthand corner. An explosion apparently was the cause.

Night watchman George McArthur was standing only 15 yards away when the corner holding floor after floor of bedrooms and living rooms toppled like a cardboard house.

"I heard and saw the explosion quite distinctly and saw a puff of smoke go up from the building," he said from a hospital bed where he was being treated for shock.

"At two minutes past six, when I was leaving my hut to make the tea, I saw the explosion and by seven minutes past six the building had come down . . .

"As I was running away I heard the building coming down with enormous cracks as floor after floor collapsed. It was not that the building was not strong. Nothing could have stood up to an explosion like that."

A fireman who entered the building said doors on the 18th floor were blown out, as if by an explosion, and there were flames in one apartment.

A woman in a nearby building said she looked out her bedroom window just as it fell and "it went like a pack of cards."

The building was completed only recently and officials said many of the tenants had moved in just a few weeks ago. It is located in a waterfront area of east London known as Dockland Canning Town, a large working class district.

Man Is Released In Slaying Probe

FORT WORTH (UPI)—A man being held for questioning in connection with the mass slayings near Del Rio last month was released Wednesday after a witness failed to identify him.

The witness, said to be a man in his 20's, was brought to Fort Worth from Del Rio by Texas Rangers. The witness was not identified since the killer was still being sought.

Milder Proposals Being Considered

Senate Rejects Outright Ban On Mail Order Sale Of Guns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today rejected the administration's appeal for an outright ban on mail order sales of all firearms, including rifles and shotguns.

The vote was 53 to 29.

Consideration of milder gun control proposals followed defeat of the tough plan sought by President Johnson.

Westerners and conservatives teamed up to defeat the legislation that Johnson has sought for years. It was sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the form of an amendment to the Senate's pending anti-crime package.

In addition to banning mail order sale of all firearms, the Kennedy amendment would have limited over-the-counter sales of handguns to residents of the state in which the purchase was made and restricted store sales of rifles and shotguns to persons over 18.

Kennedy along with Sens. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. and John O. Pastore, D-R.I., made final appeals for passage of the measure. Pastore and Dodd both pointed out that President John F. Kennedy was killed by rifle shots. Sen. Kennedy did not mention his late brother.

Dodd asked: "How many Presidents have to be assassinated, how many Dr. Martin Luther Kings have to be killed before we come to our senses?"

Pastore said it was "inconceivable and incongruous" to talk about stopping traffic in handguns when "a long barrel accounted for the assassination of a President in 1963."

Kennedy called strong gun control legislation one of the short-term approaches to help restore "peace, quiet, and

PPROA Hears Research Plan For Oil Recovery

A proposal to establish a state-wide research plan for secondary recovery of oil and gas in Texas was advanced at Wednesday afternoon's session of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association's 38th annual convention in Amarillo.

The plan was described by State Representatives William Barton of Borger and Ralph Wayne of Plainview. Both stated during a panel discussion that they intended to introduce a bill calling for the research plan at the next session of the state legislature.

At last night's closing banquet, Stanley Learned, vice president of Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., was the speaker. Learned called for higher prices to be paid for both oil and gas.

Said Learned:

"I am sure you agree that to supply the colossal energy needs of the future we shall need not only the added recovery from known reserves, but far more new reserves as well, and that the economic incentive to find these new reserves requires higher prices for both oil and gas."

Learned warned against too much reliance on foreign oil for the United States. Learned said the United States needs to "find and use domestic sources to help improve our balance of payments." He said, "Although I am a firm believer in investigating future substitute sources for oil and gas, it would be unwise and unfair to consumers in my opinion to depend to any great extent on such sources until they are economic."

Learned also asked the support of PPROA for passage of a statutory unitization law in Texas. He said, "The indicated additional reserves of more than 7.5 billion barrels of oil from known reservoirs can be produced for the benefit of our nation more cheaply by unitization and fluid injection than reserves from a like reservoir in a newly discovered field. I hope you will decide to resolutely support a statutory unitization law in Texas."

Six Miners, Thought Dead, Are Rescued From Flooded Mine

By ROBERT C. WELLING

HOMINY FALLS, W. Va. (UPI)—Six miners, given up for dead nearly 10 days ago after they were trapped deep inside a water-filled coal mine, were found alive and well today by fellow miners who had refused to give up the search for their lost comrades.

Four other miners were found dead. Fifteen had been rescued from the mine last Saturday.

The six brought to the surface about 4 a.m., EDT, told rescuers they survived by building a 100-foot-long 34-inch-high barricade with roof timbers and canvas against the water and by rationing the food in their lunch buckets and the batteries for their miners' lamps.

They drank mine water after using up the coffee, tea and milk in their vacuum bottles.

Rationed Food

They rationed their meager supply of food and batteries so well they still had two sandwiches left and two lamps still burning.

The six, encrusted with coal dust and mud and barely recognizable, were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in nearby Richwood and found to be in "good physical shape." They were fed hot cereal, toast and milk and detained for rest and treatment.

"We didn't have to give out a single pill," the miners' company physician said.

Larry B. Lynch, 28, one of the six, said the trapped men "held a prayer session every day."

"I said to the others, 'If the Lord has ever performed a miracle, let him do it now'," Lynch, who also is a minister, said he told the others shortly

AFL-CIO Boots Auto Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The AFL-CIO kicked the 1.3 million member United Auto Workers out of the labor organization today for refusing to pay dues.

The action, in the form of a suspension of the AFL-CIO's biggest member, was officially announced when the morning mail failed to bring a check from the UAW for at least $90,000, representing payment of one month of three month's back dues.

The separation apparently ends a strained 12-year marriage of convenience arranged by George Meany, head of the AFL, and Walter Reuther of the CIO. The two labor leaders have feuded for years.

Meany contended that the AFL-CIO would not be seriously hurt by the loss of the UAW membership.

Ambassador Harriman Says . . .

No Constructive Proposals From Hanoi

By STEWART HENSLEY

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said today Hanoi has made no constructive proposals so far that could lead to a Vietnam peace agreement. And new word came today from the Communists: No compromise.

"We are studying very carefully everything they say, but we have found nothing constructive up to now," Harriman told UPI as he left his Paris hotel to confer with aides at the U.S. Embassy.

Harriman refused comment on Hanoi's flat demand the United States end unconditionally all bombing and other acts of war against the North if it wants peace or even peace talks.

He said he could not comment whether this marked a toughening of the Communists' stand.

"But there is all this propaganda that has to be got out of the way and which we had expected," Harriman said. "But, as I said, we have found nothing constructive in it so far."

Saturday Meeting

"We have made constructive and serious suggestions, which we hope the other side will consider," Harriman said. He noted that the third meeting of his talks with Hanoi's chief envoy, Xuan Thuy, has been set for Saturday morning.

"We will just have to see what comes out of it," he said.

Even as Harriman talked to newsmen the Communists across town served blunt notice once again they will not even discuss peace until all bombing "and other acts of war" against the north have been ended unconditionally.

Nguyen Sao, a spokesman for the Hanoi delegation, told UPI his government is not prepared to compromise on this.

He was asked if Thuy, in a tough statement at the talks Wednesday, meant he would not talk peace until not only bombing but also flights by U.S. reconnaissance planes, naval shelling, artillery bombardment from across the Demilitarized Zone and dropping of agents is halted.

Stop Bombing

"Yes, 'absolutely'" Sao said. "The bombing and all other acts of war must be stopped unconditionally first. We will only consider other questions after the bombing has been stopped."

(The Soviet news agency Tass reported from Hanoi that an air alarm was sounded there today and that antiaircraft defenses opened up on an intruder.)

Sao was asked about the Hanoi delegation's reaction to five points suggested by Harriman at Wednesday's session on which agreement might be possible.

"The American delegation has tried to avoid the most important and most urgent problem which is the uncondi-

Employes from Midland, Odessa, Wichita Falls, Brownfield, Pampa and LeFors, and Hobbs, N. Mex., gathered in Midland for the Cities Service Awards program. Wives or husbands of the watch recipients were also in attendance.

J. P. Straight of Bartlesville, Okla., operations manager for the company's production division, made the featured talk at the ceremonies.

Pampa employees who received awards were James L. Brown, L. C. Isom, I. U. Bryant Arthur W. Griggs, M. D. Milligan, John L. Reece, W. R. Bonnell, Albert R. Degner, J.T. Prewitt and M. L. Cox, all of the Natural Gas Liquids group.

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., argued that only about 500 killings each year are with long guns and said that the nation's 15 million to 20 million hunters should not be "penalized."

Rabies Vaccine Program Slated

LEFORS (Spl) — A joint project by the Lefors City Council and the Volunteer Fire Department will get underway here Saturday, May 25.

Noting an increase in rabies incidents and the approach of summer, the two organizations are sponsoring a rabies vaccination program to help reduce the danger of rabies infections on pets in the area.

The program will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon with Dr. Kenneth Royse, Pampa veterinarian, to be on hand to give the vaccinations to pets. Fee for the vaccine injection will be reduced from the regular $3 to $2 per animal for the program, according to George Smith, Lefors city councilman.

Tomorrow afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m., registrations will be taken for the swim program to be held at City Pool. New Policeman Added To Force

Thomas J. Hill, 24, will assume duties today as a new member of the Pampa Police Department, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

Married and the father of one child, Hill is a native of Florida, where he had previous law enforcement training in an auxiliary sheriff's unit.

The addition of Hill to the force now brings the police department three short of its authorized personnel, according to Chief Conner.

● Tornado

housing 80 persons was partly wrecked.

Cars were wrapped around trees and power poles while some were blown into buildings, knocking down walls. The Air National Guard moved in with rifles to prevent looting, reported before midnight in the town. Guardsmen also patrolled Oelwein.

In the Folyd County Hospital at Charles City, there were 50 patients in the 89-bed hospital before the twisters struck. Afterward 300 injured jammed into the hospital.

"I stood in my office in city hall and the tornado was only 100 feet away," said police chief John Gordon. "It was ripping up the city two blocks wide and I could not get the door open to get to the basement. The windows started popping out all over. My house and two cars were completely demolished."

Bond Is Set On Driving Charge

Frank Moore Carter Jr., 30, who lives north of Pampa, was charged early this morning with driving while intoxicated. He was arrested in the 2600 block of Perryton Pkwy. Police said he was stopped after a patrolman noticed his erratic driving.

Bond was set at $500 by Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson.

● Miners

after they were trapped.

The six survivors and the four dead, and the 15 miners rescued last Saturday, were entombed in separate shafts deep inside the Gauley Coal and Coke Co. pit at noon May 6 when millions of gallons of water rushed in from an adjoining abandoned mine. The four found dead apparently drowned.

Lynch said it was his four-man cutting crew which broke into the abandoned workings. Maps had showed the abandoned mine to be 350 feet away, but the maps were wrong.

Unable To Stand

The 15-man group rescued Saturday were trapped for nearly five days in a 36-inch-high tunnel, unable to stand. They were always in contact with rescuers, however, and were well provided with food and other comforts dropped through a surface hole drilled the day after the accident.

From the start, state mine inspectors and mining officials had presumed the 10 men were drowned in the initial rush of waters. They were sure the 10 "didn't have a chance."

But fellow miners refused to give up the search, and they never slackened their efforts even after the 15 others were rescued.

Dr. Lee Todd, the Gauley company's physician, examined the six men immediately after they were brought to the surface and said all were "in good physical shape."

A supervisor at Sacred Heart Hospital said the six were "in as good spirits as the 15 men who were rescued Saturday."

The six, who had built their lifesaving barricade 4,600 feet from the mouth of the mine, were John Moore Jr., 46, of Buckeye, Joseph Fitzwater, 33, of Rupert, Jennings H. Lilly, 30, of Mt. Nebo, Edward Scarbro, 38, of Richwood, Gene Martin, 34, of Clintonville, and Lynch.

The dead were Ely Walkup, 37, of McRose, Claude R. Dodd Jr., 42, of Rainel, Renick McClung, 46, of Orient Hil, and William F. Burdette, 43, of Rainell.

Texan Sends $5 Gift To New Jersey

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)— The state of New Jersey received a mysterious $5 gift from Texas recently.

State Treasurer John L. Kervick received a plain white envelope in the mail containing a cashier's check for $5 from Robert L. Daniels of El Paso.

The check, dated Jan. 29, was made out to "Treasurer, State of New Jersey," and drawn on the State National Bank of El Paso.

A note written in green ink on a 5x7-inch index card read: "Enclosed is a gift to the great state of New Jersey and its fine citizens. Thank you, Robert L. Daniels."

The envelope was postmarked in El Paso May 11.

"Every once in a while we get something like this," Kervick said, adding that the check will be deposited in the state's general treasury.

Geological Survey Studies Recharging Water Supplies

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)— A study by the U.S. Geological Survey has begun in the Southern High Plains of Texas and New Mexico to determine the feasibility of recharging declining groundwater supplies of the Llano Estacado region.

Water has made West Texas rich, but the supply is dwindling fast and steps need to be taken to replenish what is used.

Clifton H. Chamberlain, the man in charge of official affairs of Water, Inc., said West Texas has to have a replenished water supply in at least the next 20 years or "we are going to be in economic difficulties."

Trigg Twichell, the survey's district chief in Austin, said at present it is necessary to import about seven million acre-feet of water annually into the High Plains region.

Twichell said "ground water pumped from the sand and gravel of this formation has been used for irrigation in this rich farming area. Use of this water has exceeded natural recharge from precipitation, and water levels have been declining for many years."

Twichell emphasized that "because surface reservoir sites in the area are inadequate to store the water between growing seasons, and because evaporation losses from a reservoir surface are high, it would be desirable for as much as one-half of the imported water to be stored underground.

"Although artificial recharge projects have been undertaken in other areas of the nation with varying degrees of success, recharge of such large volumes of water has never been attempted before," the YSGS spokesman said. "We hope to develop new techniques of injecting water into the ground; new methods of preventing sediment problems in recharge wells; and new analytical and sampling methods for predicting the movement of injected water. Extensive studies of significant changes in the chemical quality of injected and 'native' water will also be made."

Twichell said "techniques of artificial recharge might be economically feasible in many areas, and if methods can be adequately refined through research, management of water through the use of underground storage may be one of the most economically important techniques for water development and management to emerge in many years."

BOUT SCHEDULED

DALLAS (UPI) — Curtis Cokes, who successfully defended his world welterweight championship against Willie Ludick last month, will meet the South African again in a non-title bout at Salisbury, Rhodesia, June 29.

Prior to that engagement, Cokes also will engage in non-title fights in Paris, June 5, and Johannesburg, June 15.

Population Of Catholics In U.S. Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Catholic population of the United States increased by 603,423 in the past year, the 1968 edition of the Official Catholic Directory reported today.

COMFORTING each other in Vietnam, this puppy finds security in a GI's warm field jacket.

The directory listed the current total membership of the Catholic Church, including both Roman and Eastern rites, as 47,468,333, compared to 46,864,910 in 1967. This represents nearly 24 per cent of the nations population.

The directory noted an increase of 7.9 million in the U.S. Catholic population in the past decade. In 1958 Catholics made up 23.5 per cent of the total population.

Hurricane Beulah High-Powered Storm

By KENNETH R. CLARK

HARLINGEN (UPI) — Hurricane Beulah, the third biggest storm on record along the Texas coast, had a total power equivalent to 150 hydrogen bombs, an authority on the subject said.

J. F. Friedkin of the International Boundary and Water Commission discussed last September's storm before the Texas highway branch of Associated General Contractors.

The association soon will bid on the first $900,000 phase of a proposed new flood control system for the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

BEER FLOOD

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—A beer truck overturned in nearby Castellammare di Stabia Wednesday, flooding the town hall square with more than 1,300 gallons of the boaming brew. It took the town fire brigade three hours to wash away the bee and remove broken bottles.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The shrewdest television series are those that spend as much time on developing the audience's goodwill as on writing, acting and directing.

This is made crystal clear in CBS-TV's new fall schedule, in which a built-in trust for the nation's two top series, the Lucille Ball and Andy Griffith shows, make it possible for them to undergo format changes.

In Miss Ball's case, the goodwill between audience and star is so firm that she had had new formats several times and never lost her position as video's all-time favorite female.

Children Join Show

The tenative title of her series come fall is "Here's Lucy." any title will do. There was "I Love Lucy" and "The Lucy Show." CBS-TV's schedule, officially released Tuesday, confirms that in the new format she will play a widow with two children—her real-live offspring in fact, Lucie, 16, and Desi Arnaz Jr., 15. Gale Gordon, a Lucy regular, will return as her brother-in-law, who operates an employement agency.

Griffith's case is quite different from Miss Ball's. He's leaving his weekly series, which was No. 1 the past season. Yet the show built up such a reservoir of goodwill that the series replacing it is a direct offspring of his program, and in fact will feature him in a least four episodes.

The name of the replacement series is "Mayberry R.F.D.," and it stars Ken Berry as a farmer and town councilman in the same ficrional North Carolina setting as the Griffith show.

Characters Return

And, as CBS-TV says clearly, the new program also inherits the broadcast time and some of the familiar characters of the Griffith series. In addition, Griffith is an executive producer.

Like Miss Ball, Doris Day will play a wodow in her new half-hour series on CBS-TV. The network says that in the story she "returns to the family ranch with her two sons to begin a new life far different mfro the city life they have known." A sad coincidence is that Miss Day recently became a widow in real life. Her husband was her longtime manager, Martin Melcher.

CBS-TV also announced Tuesday that Danny Thomas will return to the network to do two specials next season.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Presently there are two major topics of speculation in capitol corridors:

1. When will Gov. John Connally call the legislature into special session?

2. Who will win the gubernatorial runoff race. . .Conservative Preston Smith or Liberal Don Yarborough?

As for Item No. 1, Governor Connally must call the lawmakers back to the capitol by mid-June at the latest to pass a 1969 budget and a new tax bill ranging in the $125,000,000 a year bracket. Congressional approval of the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge may drive the state tax requirement even higher. This because a reduction in income will affect the sales tax revenue in Texas.

Legislators mention June 4, June 10 and June 11 as probable starting dates. Rumors were widespread at last week's Legislative Budget Board meeting that Connally was considering calling the session before the June 1 runoff election.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith told reporters that he feels it will be "difficult" for the legislature to pass a major tax bill in a 30-day special session, starting cold.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman W. S. Heatly of Paducah noted that never before have lawmakers been called to pass a complete general appropriations bill in a bobtailed session. He said he would like to start his committee to work unofficially on budget proposals even before the session begins, in hope of meeting the deadline.

As if the legislature did not have its hands full with financial matters, liquor-by-the-drink advocates are urging Connally to submit that red hot issue to the special session. Passage of a May 4 referendum favoring mixed-drink-sales by a narrow margin added impetus for early consideration by legislators.

Smith and key lawmakers feel that the referendum was not conclusive enough numerically to be of any great benefit in winning legislative approval of mixed drink sales.

As for Item No. 2, Smith and Yarborough now are engaged in a runoff battle to determine who will be the Democratic candidate for governor of Texas.

Yarborough led by 36,000 votes in the first primary. But Smith quickly picked up the wholehearted endorsements of third place candidate Waggoner Carr and fifth place runner Eugene Locke.

Classic liberal- conservative lines are drawn in the Yarborough-Smith clash. Researchers contend that continuing disinterest and a light turnout on June 1 could prove disasterous to Smith.

Republican gubernatorial nominee Paul Eggers, who won hands down in a light-vote GOP primary, plans a serious, well-financed general election campaign against the winner of the Yarborough-Smith runoff.

Ben Barnes won the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor over two opponents, State Rep. Don Gladden and former Rep. Gene Smith, both of Fort Worth. Barnes' near-record majority (exceeding 76 per cent) means that he will be a key figure in the state government during the next two years.

District Judges Tom Reavley of Austin and Sears McGee of Housto nare new justices- elect of the State Supreme Court. They won Democratic nomination and are unopposed by Republicans.

VETERAN DPS CHIEF DIES —Col. Homer Garrison Jr., 66, Texas' top police officer and head of the vast Department of Public Safety for 30 years, died of cancer.

All of the state's highest officials joined in mourning his loss.

"He was one of the most capable and effective law enforcement administrators in America," said Gov. Connally. "Under his leadership, the Texas Department of Public Safety has become recognized throughout the nation as a symbol of law and order. Its reputation will live as a personal tribut to Colonel Garrison."

Wilson E. Speir is serving as acting director of DPS.

COURT SPEAKS — U.S. Supreme Court has postponed a suit which would require the State of Colorado to meet the obligations of downstream discharges from the Rio Grande as long as the state meets compact requirements for supplying water to Texas and New Mexico. Suit can be resumed any time Colorado fails to comply.

State Supreme Court upheld a $44,400 damage verdict favoring a Jefferson County woman who claimed she suffered back injuries when a 200-pound bill collector for a loan company pushed her against a wall by forcing open a door. Over-zealous collector came to collect a car note.

High Court set June 12 for review of an insurance company's claim that it is not obligated to pay on its bond covering a building contractor for concrete sold directly to the owner of a new apartment complex that is under construction.

Travis County 126th District Count continued its temporary injunction against the Liquor Control Board enforcing the ban on cash sales in private bottle clubs. Case will be heard in July.

NEW BAR OFFICERS —State Bar Association reports that Josiah Wheat, 39-year-old Woodville attorney, is the new president-elect of the State Bar of Texas. He defeated Bar Vice-president R. E. Schneider Jr, of George West in mail balloting among state lawyers. He'll assume the presidency July 1, 1969.

Elected to the Bar Board were Ralph Elliott of Sherman, Ed Fleming of Dallas, W. A. Keils Jr. of Teague, Louis R. Renfrow of Lufkin, George E. Pletcher of Houston, Jim Bowmer of Temple, Carl Cayton of Lamesa and John D. Logan of San Angelo. A vice-presidential runoff will be held between Morris Harrell of Dallas and C. M. Hudspeth of Houston.

Ralph Brite of San Antonio takes over the presidency at the Bar convention in Houston on July 3-6.

OIL-GAS LEASES SOLD — Sale of 34,368 acres of state oil and gas leases the first week in May brought $1,400,000 in new revenue to the state's coffers. So reports Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Biggest single bid was $211,235 for 640 acres in Ward County by Humble Oil and Refining Co. Bids on 1,590 acres of sulphur leases brought $155,267. Highest of these bids was by Duval Corp. for $76,918 on 40 acres in Culberson County.

KINDERGARTEN STANDARDS — For the first time, the State Board of Education has adopted professional standards for Texas kindergarten teachers This step could be in the direction of recent suggestions of public, state-supported kindergartens.

Board also took note of the state's desegregation problems by approving the appointment of two more staff members to the Texas Education Agency to work soley with local school districts in complying with federal law and court decisions on the subject.

Also getting the Board's endorsement was a preliminary plan to study how best to make use of Texas' educational manpower and to assess pupil needs. Study is being made in conjunction with the U.S. Office of Education to help TEA coordinate programs supported by some $129,000,000 in federal funds.

ATHENS (UPI)—The Greek government today issued a decree giving it wide powers to mobilize the civilian population "to face any anomalies that may obstruct or trouble the country's economic and social life."

Draft Calls Are Reduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) The Defense Department today sharply reduced draft calls both for June and July and announced that a low level of inductions cold be expected the rest of the year.

The July draft was set at only 15,000 men. This compares to 45,900 requested for May. The June quota previously set at 29,500 was reduced to 20,000.

The department said a reason for the lower draft is that more men than expected are reenlisting in the Army.

Whereas the Army had expected to lose 250,800 men during the first half of this year, the current estimate is that discharges will total 236,500.

The July draft quota is the lowest since April, 1967, when 11,400 were inducted. The draft peak was reached in October, 1966, with 49,200 and was approached in April this year with 48,000.

Cantaloupe Western Style

It's how you cut a melon that makes the difference. The attractive serrated half-of-a-cantaloupe is easy to do. Sketch a light pencil line around the center of the melon. With a sharp knife make triangle cuts which fall just above and below this line. Then pull the halves apart.

If you are to enjoy a delicious western cantaloupe, here is what you look for at the market. California vine ripened, sweet cantaloupes have a smooth indentation at the stem end with a heavy, cork-like net covering a beige background surface.

Western cantaloupes are in the markets from June through September.

The melon half is also supplying you with vitamins A and C and adding only 40 calories.

This delicious fruit-of-the-vine can be enjoyed morning, noon, night, and snack time, too. The seed cavity can be filled with ice cream, sherbet, berries, pudding, cereal, yogurt, or cottage cheese.

New Way To Serve Nectarines

"Nectarine Cocktail Supreme" is that rarity — an extremely simple, absolutely elegant recipe.

As first course or dessert, this combination of fresh California nectarines and green grapes in a tantalizing sauce will dazzle everyone with its beauty and refreshing flavor. Enjoy it several times during the California nectarine season which runs into September.

Nectarine Cocktail Supreme

- 2 or 3 fresh nectarines
- 1 cup seedless green grapes
- 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
- ¼ cup vodka or lime juice
- ¼ cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped candied ginger or ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger

Cut nectarines into wedges to make about 2 cups; put in bowl with grapes. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over fruits and toss gently. Cover bowl; chill about 2 hours, tossing lightly a few times. At serving time evenly divide nectarine wedges upright around sides in each of 4 chilled long-stemmed glasses or dessert dishes. Spoon grapes into glasses and pour sauce over. Makes 4 servings.

My, Oh, My—Coffee Sundae Pie

Is it a sundae? Is it a pie? Look again, and you'll see that it's both of these favorites in one wonderful new dessert. Fudgy, creamy, nutty and frosty, Coffee Sundae Pie will disappear almost as soon as it appears. This is a rare dessert that appeals to anyone at any time — as a cool interlude on a warm afternoon or with hot demitasse after dinner. The ingredients are practically all ready-to-use. The only thing you cook is the extra-rich fudge for a luscious layer over the ice cream filling.

Since Coffee Sundae Pie is a special dessert, enhance it with a special coffee like rich, dark demitasse. Brew demitasse with one Approved Coffee Measure (equal to two level measuring tablespoons) of coffee to each four ounces of water per serving.

Coffee Sundae Pie

- 18 cream-filled chocolate cookies
- ⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
- 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 small can (⅔ cup) evaporated milk
- 1 quart coffee ice cream
- 1 cup whipping cream
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Crush cookies to fine crumbs with rolling pin and add melted butter or margarine. Mix well. Press around sides and on bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Chill. Melt chocolate over hot water and stir in sugar and 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add evaporated milk slowly. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until thickened. Chill. Fill pie shell with ice cream and spread chocolate mixture over the top. Whip cream and spoon over surface of pie. Sprinkle with walnuts. Serve at once or store in freezer or freezing compartment of refrigerator until ready to serve. Makes six servings.

Oh—The Versatility Of Money-Saving Tuna!

Considering today's cost of living — let's take a new look at tuna. High-protein tuna is low in price and so versatile, you can serve it often. Whether in main-dishes, sandwiches, served hot or cold, indoors or out . . . tuna can easily turn up twice a week without repetition. For rainy days indoors, serve a hearty tuna skillet dish. No need to go out shopping—you probably have what it takes on hand. For sunny days outdoors, try a tasty tuna tower.

Tuna "Rainy-Day" Skillet Dish

- 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
- 1 cup diagonally sliced celery
- ½ green pepper, cut in strips
- 1 can (1 pound) seasoned stewed tomatoes
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- ½ teaspoon each, salt and Ac'cent
- 1 can (13½ or 20 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained

Drain vegetable oil from tuna into skillet. Add celery and green pepper. Cook over moderately high heat 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Drain ¼ cup of liquid from stewed tomatoes into cup; add cornstarch and blend well. Add to skillet with tomatoes and remaining liquid, seasonings, and mix well. Add tuna and drained pineapple. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Serve over hot cooked rice.

YIELD: 4 servings.

"Sunny-Day" Tuna Tower

You hardly need a recipe to build a Tuna Tower. The bottom half of a hamburger roll supplies the foundation, and lots of your favorite tuna mixture makes up the ground floor. Next comes a colorful slice of tomato, onion, and cucumber. The tower tapers off with half a hard-cooked egg, a stuffed olive, and is held together with a skewer or knitting needle. Fun to see — and so tasty!

Frozen Asset

Fudge Sundae Pie belongs in the category of do-it-ahead dishes so beloved by hostesses. But it has much more than that alone to recommend it. Family or guests will be delighted with this frozen concoction for it is highlighted by a chocolate-rich sauce that owes its especially smooth character to miniature marshmallows. Additional good news for the cook — there's no fussing with candy thermometers or carefully boiling to a specific stage; the only thing necessary for the sauce is to combine the milk, semi-sweet chocolate and the marshmallows and cook, stirring over medium heat until blended and thick.

Fudge Sundae Pie

- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 1 6-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Vanilla wafers
- 1 qt. vanilla ice cream
- Pecan halves

Combine milk, chocolate, marshmallows and salt. Stir over medium heat until marshmallows and chocolate melt and mixture thickens; cool. Line bottom and sides of a 9-inch plate (or two 1-quart refrigerator trays) with vanilla wafers. Fill with half of ice cream; cover with half the chocolate sauce. Repeat layers; garnish with pecans. Freeze.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers can make their selections from ample supplies of meat and poultry and good stocks of some fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to hold the spotlight as the most abundant meats. Bacon, ham, pork chops, and pork roasts are in the abundant class in most areas with Boston butts and smoked picnics in this category in some areas. Shoppers should also find ample displays of beef from which to make their choices, especially roasts and steaks. North Pacific halibut steaks and fish fillets are fish buys to watch for according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

- 2 eggs, separated

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reynolds & Co. voices the belief that many underinvested institutions will move into the market at higher levels although much of this sideline money was used during the April surge. It reiterates that "money is what makes stock prices go up" and there still "does not seem to be any shortage of funds earmarked for...the market."

C.B. Richard, Ellis & Co. says that while the market is showing signs of being "tired," it doesn't think the list has "completed its full course" upward. It suggests that investors use weakness to accumulate issues that could move to the forefront once market strength appears.

Oppenheimer, Newborg & Neu says the diminishing foreign trade surplus resulting from pressure on wage rates along with the strong prospect of higher federal, state and local taxes may induce more money to flow into the market. The analyst says it believes that after a short period of consolidation the market will resume its upward trend.

Alaskan Feels Fine With Five Bullets In Head

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An Alaskan bacteriologist was feeling fine Wednesday, despite five bullets in his head.

Dr. Ralph B. Williams, 57, Juneau, Alaska, was reported in good condition at St. Mary's Hospital, where he was taken after X-rays showed he had been shot during an incident he can't remember.

Williams didn't get to a doctor's office until 15 hours after he was waylaid while walking Sunday night from a movie theater to his hotel room through the city's crime-ridden tenderloin district.

Williams said he recalled being knocked to the ground, but not getting shot. He returned to his room and went to sleep. A hotel clerk told him the next day the ought to see a doctor because of his blackened eyes and puffed face.

Williams walked into the office of Dr. Dudley J. Fournier, who sent him to the hospital where -rays were taken. They disclosed the five bullets "and hundreds of particles" in his head.

"From the X-rays the bullets appear to be about .25 caliber," said Dr. Fournier. He said they might not be removed because the operation could be more dangerous than Williams' present condition.

The X-rays showed one bullet lodged next to the jugular vein, one inside the head in front of the right ear, one against the hard palate, one in the right temple lobe and one at the base of the skull.

Williams is director of laboratory services for the Alaska Department of Health and Welfare.

TAXI STRIKE

PARIS (UPI)—Paris taxi drivers went on a 24-hour strike Wednesday for a second time in a week to protest elimination of tough driving examinations. The drivers, estimated at about 14,000, fear dropping the exams will make it easier for others to join their ranks and cut down on their income.

Veterans Are Finding It Easier To Find Employment In Texas

By ROLAND LINDSEY

AUSTIN (UPI) — Veterans are finding it easier to get employment in Texas, resulting in a drop in the number of unemployed ex-servicemen in the state, the Texas Employment Commission has reported.

T. D. Kimbro, state veterans employment representative, said veterans of the Vietnam conflict are going to work "pretty rapidly" after getting out of the service.

"There may be exceptions in isolated cases," he said, "but generally they are finding work very fast."

Some 22,000 Jobless

Kimbro said as of April 25 there were 22,349 unemployed veterans in the state. He said this figure includes all veterans, and only a small percentage of the unemployed are Vietnam vets.

The April figure is a decline of almost 4,000 from the number of unemployed veterans as of March 25, and is down more than 1,000 from the same month a year ago.

Kimbro predicted the figure will continue to drop during the summer, but could rise slightly in the fall months.

On the national level, the Commerce Clearing House says veterans found jobs faster in 1967 than in any year since 1958 when the present veterans jobless pay program began.

Short Jobless Period

The clearing house report said the longest average period unemployment for returning veterans in 1967 was about 5.5 weeks, compared to an average unemployment of 5.9 weeks the year before, 7.1 weeks in 1965, and 7.9 weeks in 1964.

Reports from state employment security agencies in the nation indicate that servicemen leaving the military last year filed 222,300 claims for jobless pay.

Of these, about one-half actually drew at least one check, with the other half finding employment before drawing any compensation.

Only about 5 per cent drew all funds to which they were entitled before going to work.

Returning veterans in the United States drew a total of $46.3 million in benefits in 1967, second lowest year since the program opened.

Increase Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has been asked to vote an increase of $235 million a year in the compensation veterans receive for illnesses or injury suffered during active duty.

The House Veterans Affairs Committee approved a measure to that effect Tuesday, along with provisions to extend educational benefits to servicemen's widows and increase the federal share of the cost of treatment in state veterans' homes.

Jr. Rotarians Speak To Club

Pampa High School students who served as Junior Rotarians during the school year, provided the program at the Pampa Rotary Club's weekly luncheon meeting yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

In addition to Dwight Rogers, who acted as master of ceremonies, Beau Bond, D. D. Lofton, Gene Kincaid, Wendell Watson, Johnny Carlos, Greg Gunter and Tom Rose each gave a brief talk.

The students thanked the club for allowing them to be their guest for a month. They also told of their college preferences and the fields of study they plan to undertake in the Fall.

DOESN'T PAY

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Hockey fans in Pittsburgh probably will pay more to see the Penguins play next season to help make up a $260,000 deficit in the club's first year of operation.

Jack McGregor, president of the Penguins, said the club averaged 7,000 paid fans for 37 home games during its initial season in the National Hockey League, 2,000 under the break-even figure.

Japan's World Role

By Leon Daniel

TOKYO (UPI) —George W. Ball, new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, envisions Japan as a semi-superpower, but the Japanese show no particular enthusiasm for the role —especially if it involves assuming more military responsibility in Asia.

In his new book, "The Discipline of Power: Essentials of a Modern World Structure," Ball pictures a world in which the United States, the Soviet Union and Western Europe would be superpowers and Japan would be half a superpower.

Since World War II, however, Japan has shown no inclination to throw its weight around.

A Leading Role

Although booming economically, the nation has moved very gingerly toward assuming a leading role in Asia. It is beginning to open its purse, very carefully, to underdeveloped nations, but it still protects its neutrality.

Ball predicts there will be a growing effort on the part of the United States to persuade Japan to assume more military responsibility in the East; but he acknowledges that it may not be an "easy task."

Japan, the only nation to suffer atomic bombings, has what has been called a "nuclear allergy." A more descriptive phrase, and a stronger one, might be "nuclear neurosis."

The roots of pacifism in Japan, a nation whose constitution outlaws war, spring from the debris of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. After 23 years, they grow dep. Japanese are understandably sensitive on the subject of nuclear weapons.

Chinese Reds Call Pope Paul A 'Criminal'

HONG KONG (UPI)—Members of an Italian peace mission were held by police for 24 hours in Communist China and then expelled Wednesday on grounds their trip had been blessed by Pope Paul VI, "a criminal in the service of Western imperialist powers."

A member of the group, Alfredo Pieront, a journalist from Milan, said the Italians "lived in fear the whole night" in Canton following a day-long interrogation and before learning their fate would be expulsion to this British colony.

"We were asked to sign a declaration saying we came to bring the message of the Pope who we were told was regarded as a criminal in the service of Western imperialist powers," Maner Lualdi, a Milan art director and leader of the peace mission, said in an interview.

"I told them I would stay in China for life before signing such a thing.

"The atmosphere was tense and they were rude to us."

The Italians said the Pope had blessed their mission last December and told them to "spread his blessings for peace among the immense family of mankind." The group planned to wind up a five-month tour of Europe, the Middle East and Asia by presenting a bronze plaque to the Canton trade fair organizers during a four-day visit to China.

Lualdi said after a pleasant welcome in Canton Monday, "a man shook me out of bed at 8 a.m. Tuesday morning and rudely told me our people were not to leave the hotel."

At noon, he said, a uniformed policeman arrived and interrogated him and Milan businessman Uberto Corti separately for 2½ hours each while the other Italians were ordered to remain in their rooms. Telephone calls, visitors and even food were forbidden, Lualdi said.

MRS. SHRIVER ARRIVES

RELIVE PAST

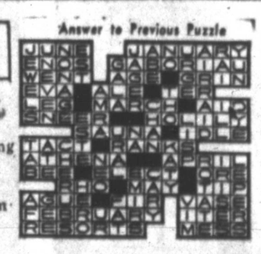

DOVER, England (UPI)—In a sight eerily reminiscent of World War II 16 German Messerschmitts swept across the English Channel and over the white cliffs of Dover Wednesday to participate in the filming of a movie titled "The Battle of Britain."

Let's Buy England

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite selling the Queen Mary, the Queen Elizabeth and the London Bridge to American interests, Great Britain continues in dire economic straits.

BIKINI-CLAD model could lure any sailor to shore. New suit features scallops and flowers for femininity.

The British pound fell this week to one of the lowest rates since devaluation and a prominent publisher said the nation was threatened with the greatest financial crisis in its history.

One hopes our cousins across the sea will not reach the point where they are forced to sell Westminister Abbey, or perhaps Lord Snowden, but the outlook is not bright.

Indeed, unless they find some way to solve the problem, we may some day pick up a newspaper and read an item along these lines:

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Hugh Bigthink, prominent southern California real estate developer, announced today he had purchased the United Kingdom.

Bigthink said he planned to move the U. K. to the United States and convert it into an amusement park.

"I've never seen the British Isles," he told a news conference, "but on the map they appear to be about the same size as Disneyland."

He said the U.K. would be taken apart piece by piece and reassembled in America in its original form. He said he was negotiating for a tract of land in the southwestern part of the United States to serve as a site for the park.

"This could become America's number one tourist attraction," Bigthink said. "Thousands of Americans cross the Atlantic every year to visit Britain. When the project is completed, they will be able to do that at home."

He added that moving the U.K. to America would make it unnecessary for the United States to adopt a tourist tax.

"We will do everything possible to keep it authentic," Bigthink said, "The British will continue to live as they do now and will help support themselves by selling native handcraft to the tourists."

Asked if he had thought of a name for the park, Bigthink said he had not reached a final decision but was considering calling it "Beatleland."

"Or maybe we'll run a contest and offer Big Ben as a prize to the person who submits the best name," he said.

After the United Kingdom has been transported, he said, the British Isles will be leased to West Germany for use as a parking lot.

A B C's OF Advertising

Start with an Audit

Advertising is a serious investment . . . art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service.

No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership.

"Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.

The Pampa Daily News

is a completely Family Newspaper Delivered Daily - - - paid for and Welcomed!

BUYING ON THIS BASIS IS SOUND!

Careful studies made regularly by an independent organization—the Audit Bureau of Circulations—shows advertisers exactly what they get in circulation and readership for their advertising investment.

For most subscribers the PAMPA NEWS is the family shopping guide, for it carries the advertising of practically all progressive Pampa stores, markets and services.

It is the ABC's of advertising the Audit Bureau of Circulation (ABC) is a cooperative, non-profit organization of advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers for the verification of circulation of newspaper members in the United States and Canada.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I go to a private school and share a room with a girl I'll call Mary. She is a lovely girl from a very good family. She started going with a boy who goes to a prep school near her. I guess you could call it "love at first sight." They saw an awful lot of each other. Too much, really.

Well, Mary finally broke down and told me she was "worried." She thinks she's pregnant. She hasn't gone to a doctor and won't go to one because she's afraid her folks will find out.

She won't tell her boy friend. I'm the only person she has told, and I promised her on my life I wouldn't say a word to anyone.

Abby, she is starving herself to keep thin and she cries all the time. What can I do to help her?

MARY'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Implore Mary to tell her mother at once. If you do nothing more in your young life than to persuade Mary that in time of trouble her parents are her best friends and stand ready to help her, no matter what her problem is, you will have earned a star in your crown. If you fail, please ask her to write to me.

DEAR ABBY: There is a new assistant clergyman at our church who seems to be very well liked by everyone — especially the young people. I was shocked and disappointed last Sunday to see him standing out in front of the church right after services smoking a cigaret.

This bothered me so much I wrote him a note telling him I thought he was setting a bad example for the young people, and if he had to have a smoke he should at least wait until he could do it behind closed doors. He telephoned me and told me that he wasn't "proud" of his smoking habit, but he had it bad, and he would be more ashamed sneaking a smoke in private than smoking in public. Wht is your opinion?

CHURCHGOER

DEAR CHURCHGOER: I admire the young clergyman's honesty but I deplore his weakness.

DEAR ABBY: The gals in our bridge club invite your opinion or comments about a person who sends a strange substitute in her place when she cannot attend without mentioning it to the hostess.

We have one member in our group who always does this. Afterwards she says that she owed "so and so" an invitation, and this is how she pays back her social obligation. We have never heard of this, and we all feel that if one of our members cannot come, we would prefer inviting our own substitute. (We all have friends to whom we "owe" an invitation.)

Several of us have gone to the door when we entertain the bridge club to meet a complete stranger who announces that she has come to substitute for "Frannie.'

What do you suggest?

BRIDGE GALS

DEAR GALS: I suggest that you "gals" get together and vote on the method for providing a substitute should a member be unable to attend. Then give Frannie the word, and if she doesn't observe the rules, give her the gate.

DEAR ABBY: I did what you advised the mother of a teenaged daughter to do. I gave up nagging at he. about her messy room and simply closed her bedroom door.

Today, my once-sloppy teenaged daughter is a married woman, and I can't believe what a terrific little housekeeper she has turned out to be.

When I visited her one day last week, I draped my sweater over a chair. She very indignantly said, "Mu-thurrr, please let me hang up your sweater—you are messing up my whole house-"

AMAZED MOM

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

World Causes Teens to 'Hang-Up'

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Talk with teen-agers and they spell out bluntly why they get their hang-ups.

"We deal with the world the adults gave us."

In those words, one teen-aged girl discusses the pressures that surround the growing generation. Pressures are on the teeners to make good grades, to get into college, to find time for all the activities of modern living, to find direction in a society of rapidly changing sex mores, to deal with parental ultimatums, even to adjust to the role of eldest child which puts on unique responsibilities.

And as potent as any of the homefront pressures is that of the war in Vietnam.

"We talk about that all the time," said Lynn Mogell, 16, a high school senior in Fanwood, N.J. "Many in our group are headed right from school into the service."

Some protest our role there. Some see no other course, no matter what the price.

But talking with thinking teens, leaders on many levels in their age group, puts the adult closer to bridging a generation gap — to understanding why some react to society with everything from beatnik appearance to drugs to complete freedom of sex.

One flaw is adults' attempts to generalize about teens—"that we are all fitted into one mold, all going to the dogs," said Jo Anne Gleason, 17, a high school senior in Greenwich, Conn.

The misses Mogell and Gleason were among four teen-aged Girl Scouts I met while they were at National Girl Scout headquarters planning a first-time summer arts program from which all 3.6 million members should benefit eventually. The other two were Ricki Fairtile, 17, a high school senior of Woodwide, N.Y., and Anne Crawford, 16, a high school junior, of Brooklyn.

The four are among the 640 Scouts from all over the United States who in July and August will participate in a "World of Arts" workshop at Pleasantville, N.Y.

POLLY'S POINTERS

King-Sized Blanket For King-Sized Bed

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY— We recently bought a king-sized bed and decided that an electric blanket would be cheaper than several blankets of that large size. After shopping around, we discovered that it would be less expensive to purchase two twin-sized electric blankets than one king-sized one. I sewed them together and we now have a king-sized blanket with dual controls.

MRS. J.M.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Our kitchen table used to stand close to the wall and as a result there are grease marks on the wood paneling. Perhaps someone knows how I can remove these stains.— Mrs. W. M. Sr.

DEAR POLLY— I enjoy reading the Pointers in your colunmn and have one you might like to pass on to your readers. An easy emergency ice pack is any package of frozen food taken from the freezer. Use it just as you would any ice pack —quick and no dripping.

—DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY — This is to answer the reader who has some old Caruso and Harry Lauder phonograph records. There are thousands of these around and only very certain ones are desired by collectors. Swarms of people buy these old records but pay little for them. Most old 78s are not worth anything except what you can get for them. Many junk shops sell them for about a dime each. Among all the accumulators, there are some actual collectors going after rare records and some of these rare ones do bring good prices. It is a needle-in-the-haystack affair and record collecting is so esoteric that there just cannot be any guidelines for the outsiders.

—WILLIAM

DEAR READERS — A large dealer in old records told me that Harry Lauder records do not sell. On the average, they pay about a quarter each for Caruso records. If one has a great quantity that could amount to something, you might look in the want ad sections of some antiques magazines. There is always the chance of an exception to a rule if one can find the person.

HERE ARE THE CONVICTIONS THAT LED TO

OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Open To Challenge

See last paragraph*

Before stating our belief in a universal single standard of right we want to make it clear that we invite questions on this belief. And, if we cannot answer without evasion or contradictions, we are not worthy of your confidence and will admit our error and change our belief.

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop, and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa Daily News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is — we believe that moral facts are no less concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atomic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts, which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

1. Water seeks its level.

2. Stealing is wrong.

It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.

The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law —only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its abolition.

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntaryism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality — a yardstick of ethics.

Thus we believe:

1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.

2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.

Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure, has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons — to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is the member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even, if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say, "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal" Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: ". . . I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a universal law?"

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual or group seeks to initiate force — that is, curtail the rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Socialism, New Dealism or New Frontierism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as "good political socialism," either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church, industry, business or profession if he does not choose to do so.

Two men out of a hundred have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club—and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group — we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority, or the individual.

We believe, therefore, in a voluntary supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual — not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

*Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fall into error. Our humility perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.

White Deer Senior Gets Scholarship

SKELLYTOWN (Spec.) —Shelia Ruth Berry of Skellytown, a basketball veteran of six years has received word from coach Ron Butler of Ranger Junior College that she has been awarded a two-year basketball scholarship. Shelia applied for a scholarship with the Rangeranns April 19.

Sevearal scholarship offers are available at Ranger. Workouts consisted of one on one and three on three practice drills, shooting and passing. Shelia 17, competed against 28 other Texas high school girls.

"I owe it all to Coach Arlen Kaiser and Roy Dykes for helping me to be able to continue my basketball career," the White Deer High School senior said.

The 6-foot, 144-pound guard, better known to Panhandle area opponents as 'Bruiser Berry," has been playing basketball for six years. She was a starting guard and forward for Skellytown Grade School in the seventh and eighth grades and was awarded the Miss Pantherette title.

All four years in high school she has spent on the White Deer A-team, playing both guard and forward.

Besides reigning as Basketball Queen this year, Shelia also served as co-captain for the Does. She has been named as an All-District guard for the past two years.

Shelia is the daughter of Fern Berry of Pampa and Mrs. Calvin Duncan of Odessa. Her plans in college are to major in elementary education and minor in physical education.

Stockton Defends Colonial Title

UPI Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Dave Stockton opened defense of his Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament 1967 title today apparently unawed by the prestige of the tournament and the toughness of the course.

It may be cosiderably harder task than a year ago when the 7,132-yard par 35-35—70 Colonial layout was as unfamiliar to him as he was unfamiliar to the gallery.

"The pressure of being champion is great, all right," the 25-year-old Californian said, "but I've got it figured out that the knowledge that I have done it before will at least offset that pressure.

SOCCER COMPETITION

MADRID (UPI)—Manchester United of England qualified to meet Benfica of Lisbon for the European Champions Soccer Cup by gaining a 3-3 tie with Real Madrid of Spain Wednesday night. Manchester had won the first leg 1-0 to advance on the basis of aggregate goals.

Benfica downed Juventus of Italy 1-0 at Turin, Italy, Wednesday night to win its semi-final by an aggregate 3-0. The Cup final is scheduled for May 29 at Wembley, England.

Giants Defeat Astros Second Straight Day

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Dick Nen's first hit in the National League came in 1963 and helped win a pennant for the Los Angeles Dodgers. His second—nearly five years later—served to blacken the memory.

Nen's first hit in the majors was a ninth inning game-tying homer against the St. Louis Cardinals on Sept. 19, 1963, in a game the Dodgers eventually won to complete a three-game sweep and virutally lock up the pennant. It marked Nen's final appearance in the National League until this season.

Returning to the National League as a member of the Chicago Cubs this season, Nen had gone hitless in 11 appearances until Wednefday night when he strode to the plate with the bases loaded and the score tied in the ninth inning and delivered a two-run single that helped the Cubs defeat the Dodgers 5-3.

Cards Top Pirates

In other NL action, St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 1-0, Cincinnati blanked New York 3-0 and San Francisco defeated Houston 7-3. Atlanta at Philadelphia was postponed because of rain.

Boston beat Washington 6-4, Baltimore outslugged Detroit 10-8, and California turned back Chicago 4-2 in American League games. Oakland at Minnesota was postponed because of rain and New York and Cleveland played to a 2-2 tie in a game halted at the end of 7½ innings because of rain.

Julian Javier's first homer of the year and Steve Carlton's second consecutive shutout enabled the league-leading Cardinals to hand the Pirates their second straight 1-0 setback. Carlton, who blanked the Mets in his last outing, won his fourth game against one loss while surrendering only four hits.

Culver Gets Shutout

Tommy Helms' first of three singles sparked a two-run second inning rally and George Culver hurled his first major league shutout as the Reds defeated the Mets.

Willie Mays hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Gaylor Perry, wih ninth inning relief help, won his fourth game as the Giants whipped the Astros for the second straight day.

Mays' homer, his seventh of the season, came after Ron Hunt had reached base on an error and helped hand lefty Denny Lemaster his fourth loss in seven decisions.

REGAINS TITLE

MANCHESTER, Eng. (UPI)—Alan Rudkin's combination punches were credited today with enabling the little Liverpool battler to win a razor-thin 15-round decision over Walter McGowan of Scotland and regain the British and Empire bantamweight championship.

Rudkin, who lost the title to McGowan 20 months ago, won referee Harry Gibbs' nod, 73½ points to 73 points, Monday night.

HELPING HAND

Forward Pass Named Winner

By GLEN CARPENTER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The 1968 Kentucky Derby can finally claim an official winner today, but Wednesday night's ruling by Churchill Down's stewards may have opened the way for a lengthy legal battle and it left the probable field for Saturday's Preakness Stakes up in the air.

The stewards, after three days of hearings, awarded the $122,600 winner's purse to Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, who finished second to Dancer's Image, and slapped Lo Cavalaris and Robert Barnard, the trainer and assistant trainer of Dancer's Image, with 30-day suspensions.

The stewards also elevated Francie's Hat into second place, with T.V. Commercial placed third and Kentucky Sherry, fourth. Dancer's Image was placed 14th and last.

The ruling officially opened the way for Dancer's Image to enter the Preakness and owner Peter Fuller indicated earlier Wednesday night that the horse would run in racing's second jewel of the Triple Crown. The deadline for entering a horse in the Preakness was 10:30 a.m. EDT today.

Fuller said last week, if any disciplinary action was taken by the stewards, he would appeal that decision to the Kentucky State Racing Commission. He could make further appeals to the Franklin Circuit Court in Frankfort, Ky. and higher courts of appeal.

Fuller also declared that Dancer's Image would not be entered in the Preakness unless Cavalaris was allowed to saddle the horse, but the stewards' decision will prohibit this. However, Cavalaris said Wednesday afternoon he was continuing efforts to change Fuller's mind. Cavalaris' suspension will last until June 13, thus making him also ineligible to saddle Dancer's Image for the Belmont Stakes June 1.

State Attorney General John C. Breckinridge, an observer during the three-day closed door hearings, made the suspension announcement for stewards Lewis Finley Jr., Leo O'Donnell and John G. Goode.

Although the stewards declined comment on the hearing proceedings, it became obvious that discussion centered primarily over the chemical test given the horse and the medical effects of phenylbutazone on his system.

The discovery of the painkiller, also known as butazolidin, in a urine sample taken after the Derby, resulted in the disqualification. According to state acing rules, the medication may not be administered to a horse within 48 hours of a race.

Sandies Edge Pampa In Final Game, 1-0

AMARILLO —Bruce Shepherd scored from second base on a single by Terry Hankins to give Amarillo High School a 1-0 win over Pampa in an eight inning contest closing the baseball season for the Harvesters Wednesday afternoon.

It was a snappy contest in sharp contrast to Tuesday's loss by Pampa, 9-1, at the hands of Palo Duro. Tuesday's game, which lasted 2:05, was slower than the extra-inning contest Wednesday which saw both teams play near-perfect baseball.

In fact, the only error credited to Pampa was the one by the usually reliable Pampa catcher, Eddie Hopkins, who let a brilliant outfield throw from Gary Parrish roll off his glove at home plate to allow the single tally in the fatal eighth.

Hal Clabaugh was credited with the loss. The righthander hurled well, however, along with southpaw Don Montgomery, who won the eight inning contest.

Clabaugh exhibited almost perfect control. He allowed only one walk and let only one man past second base until the final eighth inning.

Montgomery was equally effective for the Sandies in what may be considered as a near-classic pitcher's duel. The southpaw allowed three hits, walked one and was in complete control.

In fact, there was never more than one hit in any inning by either team and there were no extra base hits, only three singles by Pampa and six by Amarillo.

Pampa closed the baseball season with a 10-18 season mark. Its 3-AAAA district record was 6-14, finishing in 10th place.

Pampa left a total of four men stranded on the bases, while Amarillo had three left.

Boston Must Build Or Else

By DAVID M. MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI)—The NFL-AFL has issued an ultimatum to the city fathers of Boston: build a bigger stadium or kiss pro football goodbye!

It wasn't worded quite that bulntly. But the meaning was clear.

At Wednesday's session of the leagues' joint spring meeting, which will be completed today, the owners unanimously agreed to require by 1970, when the two leagues merge, that all teams must play in stadiums that seat "in the vicinity of 50,000"

That put the onus squarely on the Boston Patriots who now play in Fenway Park, home of the Red Sox. Fenway Park seats 37,216 for football—7,000 less than any other stadium in the NFL-AFL.

Effects of Devaluation

Editor's Note: "How will devaluation affect me" is the major question today. Following is a review of a booklet, authored by Dr. F. A. Harper, answering that question. The booklet is titled, "Defending Private Property." Dr. Harper is president of the Institute of Humane Studies Inc., 1134 Crane St., Menlo Park Calif. Copies may be ordered from the Institute at 50 cents each.

"How will devaluation affect me?"

With the gold rush of 1968 in full swing, devaluation, is just around the corner. The key to understanding what will take place is to understand what money is.

Money is like corn or wheat or any other commodity having value only in relation to some other commodity. A bushel of corn (commodity) is valued at (commodity). One bushel of wheat (commodity) is worth two bushels of corn (commodity).

Money acts, in a sense, like a commodity; it has a value only because people want it and it is scarce. Government can set any price on the commodity (money) but this may not reflect the value because value is set in the market place.

Several principles can apply to all commodities, including money:

1. The lower the price, the more will be wanted.

2. The lower the price, the less will be produced and offered for sale.

3. Freedom in the market place pulls the price toward the point where the amount wanted will equal the amount offered—at that price.

4. Prices pushed above the free market point cause "surplus;" prices pulled below the free market point cause "shortages."

5. At the free market price, the greatest quantity will be traded and the greatest prosperity will occur.

Devaluation of a currency is the arbitrary change by a government of the official ratio of its money to other money in an attempt to establish a "surplus" of the currency devaluated.

Devaluation can take either of two forms:

1. A change in the country's price of the commodity which underlies its own currency. For example, when the U. S. changed the price of gold from $20.67 an ounce to $35 an ounce in 1933, devaluation resulted.

2. A change by one country of its price for another country's currency. Britain's recent devaluation was of this type.

If the United States devalues the dollar, the action could be two types; with the second as the most probable:

1. The dollar could be devalued relative to the British pound.

2. The dollar could be devalued relative to gold from its current price of $35 an ounce to some higher figure.

There is no really accurate way to predict its effects since gold prices and foreign exchange rates have been controlled for so long no experience is available to draw conclusions from.

The effect of a world wide monetary devaluation — highly unlikely — would be these: Each unit of paper "money" would buy proportionately less gold; each ounce of gold would buy more paper "money" or other things until other prices, rose; gold mining would be stimulated; privately owned gold would be sold for industrial and monetary uses; bases for government issuance of paper money would be increased unless offset by curbs in paper "money" issuance and - or credit expansion; inflation would occur.

Facts to be taken under consideration if devaluation occurs are:

1. A higher gold price is inflationary of both money supply and prices.

2. During inflation "things" rise in price but paper dollars lose value.

3. Things easily traded, moved and cheaply stored will rise quicker and more in price than other things.

4. The borrower gains and the lender loses, in terms of buying power.

It must not be forgotten following major wars every country has suffered a serious deflation sooner or later. We have not yet had such an adjustment following World War II.

It is possible a sharp and possibly long term deflation may ocur although much of the rise in security prices, an anticipated result of devaluation, my already have occurred.

Congress Knuckles Under

Now that the House Ways and Means Committee has collapsed before the awesome might and threats of Lyndon B. Johnson, it appears that American tax payers are going to be stuck an additional 10 per cent in income taxes.

After President Johnson used the smear word "blackmail," the committee members broke from their previous solid front and approved, 17 to 6, an increase in taxes to equal $10 billion, either as a 10 per cent surtax or an increase in regular tax rates.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills had held out for a long time, demanding spending cuts equal to the amount of money in the tax increase. But the House writers of the tax bills are now agreed on a $4 billion reduction in expenditures.

Just which parts of the budget will be cut has not been disclosed, but the committee ruled out reductions in spending in "special Vietnam war costs, interest on the debt, veterans' benefits and Social Security trust funds."

While Johnson has claimed that Congress was to blame for inflation because it had not passed the tax increase he demanded, it must be pointed out that inflation is caused by continued government spending in excess of income, and that this deficit spending will continue, even with the tax increase. Thus, inflation will not be solved.

Perhaps it is time for Congress to reassert its prerogatives and to cut spending on its own, since the President has refused to agree to any more than a $4 billion spending cut. Two weeks ago the congressmen had said they were ready to go along with a tax increase if the administration would accept a $6 billion cut. But they were turned down coldly by LBJ.

President Johnson, when he announced he would not be a candidate for re-election, said the tax rise was absolutely necessary "together with expenditure controls that Congress may desire and dictate."

Therefore, if Congress wants to save the country's financial structure, it can, by refusing to authorize spending any more than the expected income.

Just One School

You may be interested in a hassle they had in Port Orchard Washington a few months back. Officials at the South Kitsap high School there let it be known that they were considering installing a fully automated cafeteria. That brought out the populace. The youngsters wouldn't get balanced meals they said: the lunch would be cold, and not the needed hot food and, heaven help us, the school would lose its federal lunchroom assistance payments.

But the officials went ahead. That federally assisted hot lunch program wasn't really a howling success anyway, since only about 20 percent of the 1,135 students used the lunchroom at noon. It took five cooks to prepare the meals, and even with federal assistance the losses were staggering. So what happened?

The school cafeteria looks and operates like an automat. There is a wide variety of food available far beyond anything possible under the federally assisted program:

Hot suop, pastries, ice cream, beverages, hot dogs and hamburgers as well as assorted cold sandwiches, freshly baked cookies and cake, and a daily special. Students pop a coin into a slot and take their choice, three times as many students use the cafeteria at lunch time. There's less waste and spilling in the cafeteria. The official lunch period has been shortened. Two cooks do what five used to do.

More important, school officials have found it worth while to keep the cafeteria open most of the day. Many pupils have breakfast in the cafeteria before the school day begins, and many others pop in for between classes snacks. When there are after-school activities, the cafeteria is a meeting place.

About the balanced meals—hear what the school's principal has to say on that: "You talk about balanced meals. We used to see the pupils eating part of their lunch and throwing the rest away. I think everyone likes to pick and choose from a variety. This way, the pupil picks what he likes and doesn't waste any."

Federal assistance?

Who needs it? Patronage is up 300 percent without it.

PINE TREE FEATURES

by Robert LeFevre

The Pontiac (Michigan) Press has come up with an interesting story about the future. Alton Blakeslee, who is science writer for the paper, was talking to Dr. Athelstan Spilhaus president of the Franklin Ins. in Philadelphia. Dr. Spilhaus is already on record as favoring the idea that a new avenue for the expenditure of vast federal funds is just around the corner.

Urban renewal? Too little and too late all that happens with urban renewal is that some old buildings are removed, creating new spaces into which new buiding will be put maybe.. No,, Dr.. Spilhaus has a better idea: Why not get the federal government to put up three or four billion dollars for the creation of a new model city which would be designed to house about 250,000 people? He wants about 800 such cities to be built each at about a cost of 3.5 billion. He contends that as we built them we could all move out of our existing cities and immediately get rid of all the problems that we presently have in all urban areas. urban areas.

It's a dandy idea and ought to fit right in with the idea that Walter Reuther expressed so graphically some years ago. It would provide us with a Soviet America by wiping out all private ownership of urban lands and urban developments. The federal government would simply be the new landlord. Of course, the plan that Dr. Spilhaus suggests would call for some help from private millionaires and industry, at least in the initial stages. After that there probably wouldn't be any millionaires, for all private urban buildings would be in the hands of what he is pleased to call a quasi-governmental experimental city.

I am beginning to wonder if the big problem really began to shape itself years ago, when science fiction was invented by Jules Verne. Not that there's anything wrong with science fiction as a literary form. But when we try to redesign human beings according to the dreams of fantasy writers, we might be well be advised to remember that human beings aren't guinea pigs and that the economic facts of life are rarely if ever considered by even the best of the science fiction fraternity.

Sure, a planned city sounds like a great thing Think of it. Everyone in his place and a place for everyone. Transportation all over town, FREE. Housing would conceivably be Free Food certainly should be FREE and so would clothing. The only trouble is that there isn't anything available in the real economic world that someone doesn't pay for. And when you talk about all the goodies you are going to get "free," you have to keep in mind that someone, someplace, is paying. Also, you'd better get used to the idea that the someone paying is going to be YOU and no one else. "Free" services, as they've been practiced, are just a cute way of deceiving you into thinking you're gettin something for nothing, which you aren't.

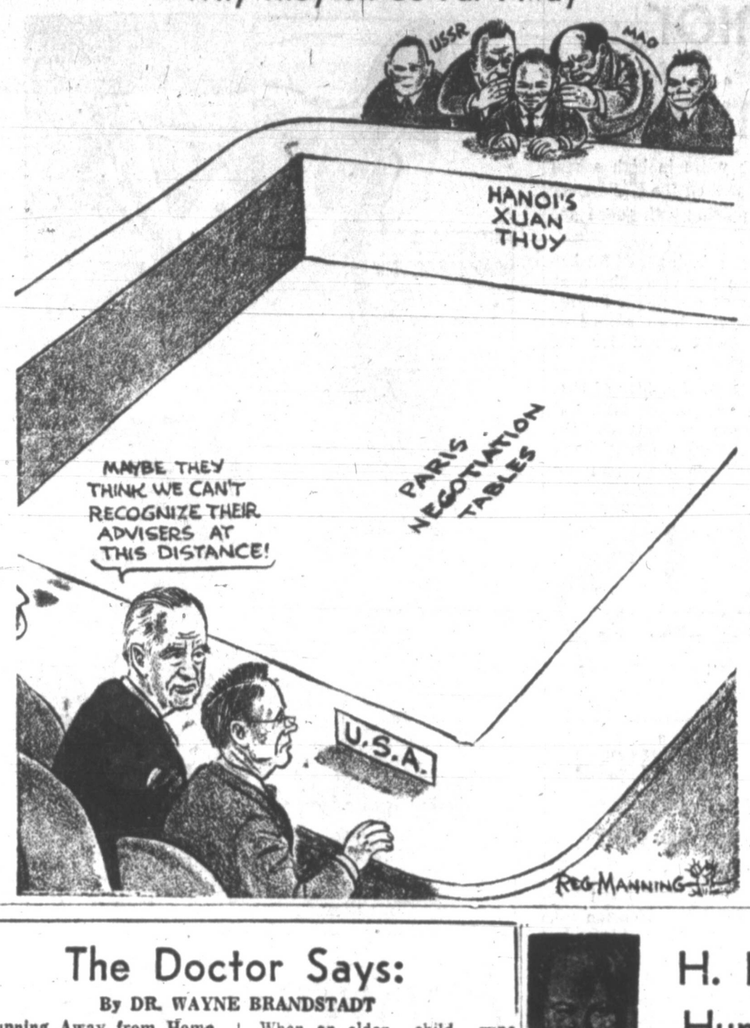

Jobs? Government would provide them, of course. And you'd work where the government told you to work at the work it assigned. You'd be paid at the rate the government thought best. No taxes, either, in all probability. You'd just have your pay cut to accommodate all the costs that you don't have to pay to convince you that everything is FREE.

Russia tried it, but they didn't have the advantage of our dynamic economy. So they are still trying it, although they have begun to modify their grand experiment along more practical lines. We're trying it a bit with our income tax, which is deducted before you get your pay check.

The big thing, if I understand Dr. Spilhaus correctly, is that these experimental cities would have solved the sewage disposal problem and the smog problem and the problem of a clean water supply. So we'd all live in our assigned cells like so many drones of the federal beehive. If I were a bee, I'd be buzzing with approval.

My problem is that I seem to keep remembering what queen bees do to reluctant drones or contrary workers.

Why They Sit So Far Away

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Running Away from Home Is Impulse to Explore

Children run away from home for different reasons. The preschool child who goes absent without leave is usually not running away but rather acting on an impulse to explore a little larger part of his surroundings than he has been accustomed to do He often finds his way back home by himself, and, when he doesn't, he is genuinely surprised at all the fuss over his escapade.

When an older child runs away the problem is not so simple. He often feels a crushing sense of helplessness in the face of parental restrictions no matter how reasonable and just they may be. He is rebelling against his own inability to control his environment and he is too immature to realize that running away will in no way help the situation.

A study was made of 42 runaways and 42 other children, referred to a child guidance clinic, who had not run away. The runaways were more likely than the others to complain of being picked on, falsely accused of misbehavior and ridiculed or humiliated by their parents.

This study points up the need for building up a feeling of mutual respect between parents and their children. A child will accept, even welcome, rigid ground rules when he is treated with love and respect and made to understand the basic principles behind the rules. There is usually no hope for improvement in a situation involving running away from home unless the parents, as well as the child, are willing to accept psychological counseling.

Q—Our son, 4, was found to have von Willebrand's disease. How severe is thhis? What restrictions should be placed on his activities?

A—This disease, also called pseudohemophilia, is a congenital condition in which there is profuse bleeding due to a prolonged bleeding time. It differs from true hemophilia in that in von Willebrand's disease the coagulation time is normal and it may occur in girls as well as boys.

As in the case of true hemophilia, every effort must be made to prevent injuries to the child. Contact sports are out. When bleeding occurs, local pressure is often all that is required to control it, but, if the bleeding is internal, the problem is serious. Surgical operations must be avoided if possible and, when they are necessary, special preparations to control the bleeding must be made.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I'm all for jogging, Winterbotham! But on your own time!"

H. L. Hunt Writes

SIEGE OF NATION'S CAPITAL

Nothing but great trouble can come from the announced intention by leaders of the so-called "Poor People's March" on Washington, D.C., to lay down a long siege of the nation's capital. The leader of the march, has said: "We will remain for days, months if necessary. We will demand answers. We are going to back up our words with the most militant non-violent direct action in the nation's history."

That is a threat of violence, not a promise of non-violence. Many members of Congress have declared firmly that they will not act under threats of violence. The President has said, in effect, that the marchers should present their demands and then return home. But the advocates of "militant direct action" say they will do nothing of the kind.

The demands leaders of the march placed before federal officials early this month would be impossible to meet even if they were desirable. It's estimated that what they asked for would cost U.S. taxpayers more than $25 billion a year. Demands include a guaranteed annual income for everybody, higher welfare payments, free food programs, instant creation by Congress of two million jobs —on and on.

The people of Washington are tense because of the recent riots there. They view with dismay and fear the prospect of an extended siege by people egged on by professional troublemakers. Senator Jennings Randolph, Democrat from West Virginia, told the U.S. Senate: "There are strong evidences of communist planning and participation in the forthcoming demonstrations."

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, May 16, the 137th day of 1968 with 229 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Mercury.

On this day in history:

In 1866 the Treasury Department was authorized to manufacture and place in circulation the first 5-cent piece.

In 1933 President Franklin D. Roosevelt called on all governments to adopt a series of nonaggression pacts.

In 1958 Air Force Capt. Walter Irwin flew a F-104 at an average speed of just over 1,404 miles an hour—a record.

In 1962 U.S. forces began landing in Thailand to bolster the Asian nation against any spread of fighting from neighboring Laos.

A thought for the day—Virgil said "Yield not to misfortune but press forward the more boldly in their face."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK J. MARKEY

William D. Hersey, the memory expert, recently flabbergasted the sales force of one of the nation's largest manufacturers by memorizing the entire contents of the current issue of three national magazines and then distributing copies to the salesmen. They in turn challenged him to tell them what was on each page, which he did accurately. Next, he revealed that shortly before the meeting he had memorized the names of 100 salesmen attending the meeting, the city they came from, and told them facts about themselves. Hersey frequently lectures to big business on the value of having a retentive memory. He says his incredible feats are no trick, but merely teaches to those who engage applied concentration which he his services.

Today's smile: A proud mother was telling a friend: "My twins are only three and they can spell their names backward. "Really,' said the friend, "and what are their names?" The proud mother replied: "Otto and Anna."

Horseshoes are considered to be lucky. In fact, Lord Nelson had such faith in that belief he had one nailed to the mast of his flagship "Victory." The belief stems from the legend that the devil once asked St. Dunstan to shoe his hooves. Dunstan recognized his customer and put the devil to such pain he begged for mercy. Dunstan released him o one condition he would never enter a place where he saw a horseshoe displayed.

Thoughts while shaving: A dog fancier tells us the largest of all dogs is the Irish wolfhou but the heaviest is the St. Bernard . . .Guess who said this: "The civil rights program, about which you have heard so much, is a farce and a sham, an effort to set up a police state in the guise of liberty. I am opposed to that program. I fought it in Congress." Well, brace yourselves, the speaker was Lyndon B Johnson speaking in Austin, Texas, on May 22, 1948. . .the blue sky above us only extends for about 12 miles. The astronauts have found it darkend to violet beyond that and at an altitude of 20 miles is jet black and you can see the stars. . .A Wisconsin reader tells us more than a billion pounds of cheese are produced in this country annually. He says most of it is "natual cheese" made directly from milk and dairy products and not the processed kind. . . Aspirin, the most wonderful of all wonder drugs, was discovered in 1853, but it was not used as a medicine until 1898 when it was prescribed to relieve the pain of arthrits. Now it is used for just about everything. . .We don't pretend to understand abstract paintings, but some who are authorities shouldn't either. Not too long ago, a work by Matisse hung upside down in New York's Museum of Modern Art for 47 days before the mistake was noticed. . .The New York TIMES reported in a story "The stock market has predicted nine of the last four recessions." Remarkable!

Country Editor speaking: "We've never understood why money is often called 'dough.' After all, dough sticks to your fingers."

"Gottum Beads, gottum locking-glass." About 150 years ago — I remember it well — The agents used to beller out this phrase to get the Injuns to come to Council so they could talk them out of their lands.

But today the merchants over and around the country are hawking "Gottum Beads, gottum looking-glass" to a new bunch of uneducated natives and making a killing.

I ain't saying the kids shouldn't wear love beads if they want. But when you see growed up men who are supposed to be intelligent, upright citizens hang a bunch of seeds arcund their necks it is a blow that would have killed father.

They are wearing them with something called a Nehru jacket, which is something that looks like the wearer had got caught in a mini-tepee and it shrunk. With a turtle —neck sweater and "gottum beads" slung around his neck he looks like a swinging fop.

Of course, some of these beads cost a pretty penny, I tell you. One set is made of 18 kt. gold chain and sells for $1,375. Another one has a whistle on it and is sold for $750. My grandma bought me a kid suit once with a whistle on it.

If I had knowed that strings of Injun corn was going to one day bring $5 each I would have saved ours and made a fortune. We had a whole crib full. And as for that kids whistle, I am searching through my junk for it right now.

Good Gravy Train, the fed gov't is surging so far ahead into a deficit it ain't got enough left to buy the red ink.

The yields of nearly 6 percents on medium-term gov't bonds are double the average return on stocks. It's a record and a troublemaker.

Fast rising cost of credit is about to choke off everybody.

The ridiculous wage rate demands are squeezing profits and forcing still higher prices for goods. Sharp wholesale price raises signal more inflation ahead.

Increase in imports from abroad is skyrocketing and weakening the U.S. forty- cent dollar. This is a Bad-Ead.

Claims against the U.S. dollar keep gettin higher as we are spending more abroad than we are earning.

Our gold stock is at its lowest level since 1936 and inflation is on a runaway boom—then bust. A real Bad-Bad.

Meanwhile, the smiling Hubert Humph is out preaching 'Happiness & Joy.'

Would any of you good people care to join me while I hang myself on a sagebrush?

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stanley Heller & Co. says the stock market is in the process of absorbing large amounts of idle investment reserves from both the institutions and the public, with the emphasis apparently heavily concentrated in high risk issues. In light of inflation fears and the "insatiable" desire for quick capital gains, the firm says it sees a "clearly excessive speculative atmosphere" developing over the coming months.

Diamond, Turk & Co. says that in view of the market's sharp runup since early April it is entitled to a "breather" for a while. Such a pause, the analyst says, should be regarded as a buying opportunity rather than a change inthe market's direction.

Bache & Co. views the underlying market supports as "widespread inflation," which dicatates purchase of common stocks as an inflation hedge, and the "huge" institutional money on the sidelines used during periods of decline. Against this background, the company expects a consolidation phase during this month to lay the groundwork for a summer rally.

PRINCE HOUSED

CAMBRIDGE, England (UPI)—Dormitory rules will be waived at Trinity College so Prince Charles can keep his room during his second year in school, Juniro Bursar R.H. Glauert said Wednesday.

Ordinarily, only scholars and senior students can live in the college building in their second year.

"The college has a special responsibility in the case of Prince Charles and the college has decided it can best be discharged if he remains in college," Glauert said.

PIRATES LOOT TOWN

MANILA (UPI)—A band of 60 pirates shot up the small town of Campo Uno in the southern Philippines, wounding four persons, and systematically looted 14 stores and 120 homes Monday, the Philippine News Service reported Wednesday. The agency said the raiders escaped in four speedboats with about $50,000 in cash and goods.

REUTHER ATTENDS

TURIN, Italy (UPI)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers of the United States, was a principal speaker in the 6th World Conference of Auto Workers opening today, representing workers in the Western Hemisphere, Europe and Asia.

LEE XL-100
THE FIRST-LINE* TIRE OF FULL 4-PLY NYLON CORD

New. The "task-master" is a first-line, full-dimension full 4-ply nylon tire, thanks to Lee of Conshohocken. It has all-new tread design and sidewall, narrow whitewalls. Built of nylon cord to resist heat, moisture, and severe road shock. And Cushyn rubber increases mileage by reducing tread wear. The X-L-100 gives you soft, comfortable rides with plenty of traction on turns.

*"First Line" is Lee's designation. No industry wide standards exist for "First Line" tires.
