Parade Sets Off Four-Day Rodeo

A colorful parade of contestants, headed by the famed Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo, staged the grand entry to open the American Business Club-Boys' club Rodeo last night as more than 5,000 fans turned out to witness opening night performances of the Beutler Brother's rodeo in the Panhandle-South Plains fair ground arena.

Monte Regan, arena secretary and announcer, introduced special guests and officials before the rodeo began. Cecil Cornish, trick rider, Boy Scout Troop 8, exhibiting two Indian dances with live snakes, and clowns White Heffnér and John Lindsey kept the crowd entertained between events.

Calf Roping

Pete Keeling of Plainview took top honors in the calf roping with a time of 17.1 seconds with Bob Mansfield, Big Spring, two seconds slower with 19.1. Euel Smith of Clovis, N. M., was third with a time of 19.4 seconds. Best time of the night was by Billy Breen of Tucumcari, N. M., at 15.5 seconds, but the calf did not remain tied, giving Breen a "no time" mark.

In the saddle bronc riding, Sylvester Roan of Ely City, Okla., Pat Coburn of Clovis, Eddie Curtis of Reno, Okla., Kid Fletcher, Marvell Rogers and John Rogers, the latter two negroes, all remained mounted during the time limit.

Dub Phillips took first in bull dogging, or steer wrestling, throwing his steer in 10.5 seconds. R. L. Bland was second with 16.5 seconds, and Barney Folsom of Comanche, Okla., was third with 17.8 seconds.

They Board Brahmas

Kid Fletcher, Hugo, Colo., Wart Bachman, Archer City, Bryan Lisenbee, and Marvell Rogers managed to stay aboard their Brahmas.

Final winners will be announced Saturday night when the rodeo closes. Top men in the riding events were not announced as to positions last night. Times count in calf roping and bull dogging. Daily prizes will be awarded and final prizes will be based on overall times. Starting time is 8:15 each night.

Buddy Roberts, first bronc buster out of the chute, suffered a lacerated face and mangled nose when thrown from his mount, B-29. He is expected to participate in tonight's events.

Most Restrictions Lifted From Lumber

Most restrictions have been removed from retail distribution of lumber, and the building material "again resumes its normal peacetime movement except for the lone restriction giving preference to a priority rating over an unrated order," S. Lamar Forrest, Lubbock lumber dealer and president of the National Retail Lumber Dealers association was advised by telegram Wednesday from C. T. Melander of the War Production board at Washington.

Forrest, also a member of the Industry Advisory committee of the War Production board's retail lumber distribution division, said, however, that WPB's L-41, which governs the amount of building that can be done, is still in full effect, although he was advised that revocation of this ban also is expected in the next few days.

One Clause Still Holds

Wednesday's action involved L-335, all but one clause of which was revoked. The telegram to Forrest read:

"All directions to L-335 revoked today except Direction 7, which says that any lumber supplier (sawmill concentration yard or distributor) may deliver lumber to any person on unrated orders provided it does not interfere with the filling of a rated order. Ratings held by you on your customers can be used, thereby giving these orders preference over unrated ones.

"Lumber again resumes its normal peacetime movement except for the lone restriction giving preference to a priority rating over an unrated order. This will allow for an orderly transition and should give buying preference to those who have unused priority ratings."

Bans Also Lifted On Holiday Trains

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 — Off comes the limit on home deliveries by grocer and butcher and department store. They can offer housewives full service after Nov. 1.

And the railroads have permission to run seasonal trains to vacation spots. This will be a help to Labor day throngs—if the railroads can find the cars.

One of the biggest irritants to housewives goes out Nov. 1—the limitation on home deliveries.

The ban had wiped out almost all Sunday deliveries and kept weekday deliveries down to two a week for almost all commodities except milk and other highly perishable items.

Its pending demise goes hand in hand with the end of gasoline rationing and better prospects for truck tires. ODT said the order saved "tens of millions" of gallons of gasoline.

And officials opened wider the peacetime throttle by:

1. Officially lifting the lid on pay raises for white collar workers.

2. Clearing the way for full free-

Atomics Taking Continuing Toll

(By The Associated Press)

Atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki killed or injured 280,000 persons and more are dying daily from burns and other "uncanny effects," Tokyo radio said in a broadcast Wednesday.

Two hundred thousand more were left homeless according to a recent damage survey, the broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press in New York, said.

"Even those who received minor burns looked quite healthy at first only to weaken after a few days from some unknown reason and frequently died," the broadcast continued.

Strikes Heart of City

The Hiroshima bomb, dropped Aug. 6, struck in the heart of the city during a crowded working period, killed 60,000, injured 100,000 and left 200,000 homeless, the broadcast said. The Nagasaki bomb dropped Aug. 9 caused 120,000 casualties. These were not broken down to dead and injured and no figure for Nagasaki's homeless was given.

Speculating on the delayed deaths, Associated Press science editor Howard W. Blakeslee said in New York they may have been caused by after-effects of gamma, or X-ray burns, familiar to physicians. These are always delayed burns, like sunburn.

The burns, and other delayed injuries, are caused by streams of concentrated neutrons. Blakeslee said animals exposed to neutron rays in experiments died in a few days because the rays had destroyed a lot of their white blood corpuscles.

Neutrons streaming from the bomb flash, he continued, struck particles of earth and caused them to emit their own stream of neutrons temporarily. If this secondary activity lasted as much as a day—which would be a long time for secondary activity—rescuers entering the affected area might have received serious neutron damage to their bodies from the earth.

Tokyo radio said that "since the

Troop Needs May Be Cut

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Depending upon the behavior of the Japanese, the Army may send only three to six combat divisions to General Douglas MacArthur for use in the occupation of Japan.

After the Japanese offered to surrender, it was learned today, General MacArthur advised the War department that he might require six divisions redeployed from Europe but hoped to get by with only three if things went well in Japan.

Two Already Processing

Two divisions, the 86th and 95th, already are in the process of moving to the Pacific. The 86th was last reported at a west coast embarkation point and the 95th is now organizing at Camp Shelby, Mississippi.

The Army has not disclosed which division is slated to go next, but there is speculation that it will be an airborne or armored outfit since both the 95th and 86th are infantry divisions.

Six divisions would represent possibly 90,000 to 100,000 men. At present, the Army has approximately 1,800,000 men in the Pacific theater.

1,850,000 Face Relief

If no more than six divisions are sent, this will mean that about 1,850,000 Yanks who originally might have gone to the Pacific will not now be sent. This estimate is based on the fact that the Army had expected to have a force of 3,750,000 in the Pacific by next June.

General MacArthur soon will be able to get an idea of the forces he will need for the occupation. He is expected to arrive in Tokyo next week for the final surrender negotiations.

Besides the 86th and 95th, the War department so far had publicly designated only nine other divisions for redeployment from Europe to the Pacific via the U. S. These, selected before the Japanese surrender, were the 97th, 104th, the 2nd, 4th, 5th, 8th, 44th and 87th Infantry divisions and the 13th Armored division.

De Gaulle Arrives For Truman Talks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP) — President Truman welcomed President Charles de Gaulle of the French provisional government today in a brief colorful ceremony on the south grounds of the White House.

After the greeting, the two Allied leaders, flanked by their diplomatic chiefs, went inside the executive mansion for tea and their first informal chat on Franco-American relations and France's future in the postwar world.

De Gaulle, who had arrived at the national airport at 3:54 p. m., ewt, reached the White House south portico at 4:22 p. m.

President Truman greeted the French leader warmly.

This Is West Texas' Golden Opportunity

Vote "No!" On Proposal No. 2!

If you had a man working for you and, over a period of more than a decade, he had refused, stubbornly, to do one of the most essential and important jobs you directed him to do, would you consider raising his pay by all the way from 300 to 450 per cent?

Not if you used good judgment.

Instead of raising his pay, you'd fire him.

Well, we of West Texas, in general, of Lubbock and the South Plains in particular, do not have the power to "fire" all those members of the legislature, past and present, who, since 1931 have opposed acting in accordance with the Constitution of Texas in the matter of legislative redistricting; who have violated their oaths of office in so refusing to act, for no reason other than pure selfishness. But we can register a stirring protest—and we can do it on Saturday of this week.

On August 25, voters of Texas will register approval or disapproval of four proposed amendments to the state Constitution.

Proposal No. 2 would pay each member of the state Senate and House of Representatives $3,650 per year—$10 per day during their terms of office, including Sundays, holidays and all the days they don't work at their jobs, in addition to the relatively few days they do work. That compares with an average yearly pay of about $750 now, which is set at: $10 for each of the first 120 days of a regular legislative session and $5 for each additional day; $10 per day for each of the first 30 days of a special session, and $5 for each additional day.

FURTHERMORE: If proposal No. 2 should carry, every member of the current legislature will start drawing $10 per day for EVERY DAY of the balance of his present term, EVEN THOUGH A MAJORITY OF THE MEMBERS OF BOTH HOUSE AND SENATE MAY NEVER SIT IN ANOTHER LEGISLATIVE MEETING!

Will you vote for this tremendous pay increase—and approve payment of salaries for services which may never be received—or will you vote against it?

The Morning Avalanche believes West Texans who take even a few minutes to consider the proposal will vote against it by an overwhelming majority—despite the fact that our local senators and representatives, past and present—as well as a few others—have worked with might and main to secure fair legislation covering redistricting.

THE House of Representatives district centering around Lubbock covers nine counties, with a population in excess of 131,000 people. This district would have four representatives, instead of the present one, had the most recent House Redistricting bill been passed, instead of being summarily tossed aside. Despite the fact that the district's population has more than doubled since 1930, we have no more representation now than we had then—all because the majority of members serving in successive legislatures have REFUSED TO GIVE US OUR DUE IN KEEPING WITH THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS.

The senatorial district centering around Lubbock, has a population in excess of 250,000 today; yet has no more representation than it had in 1924, when it had less than one-third the population. Had the most recent Senate Redistricting bill been passed, we should have had some relief—although not enough. The district would have been cut from 24 counties to 14. BUT SELFISHNESS RULED—we got NOTHING!

Our own section is not alone in being discriminated against by a majority of successive legislatures since publication of the 1930 census. Other areas chiefly injured are those of the Panhandle, the Rio Grande Valley and around Corpus Christi. In short, the newer, growing, more progressive areas of Texas have been held in legislative bondage in order that the older sections—many of which have lost population—could continue to have more representation than they either deserve, or can justify.

The people of all West Texas should have had at least 16 more representatives than they had in the most recent session of the legislature, perhaps 17.

But they didn't have them because members of successive legislatures since 1932 have refused to act in accordance with the Constitution and their individual oaths of office!

ON this next Saturday, we of West Texas shall have a golden opportunity to tell the legislature—in dollar language it can best understand—just what we think about the mistreatment accorded us.

We shall have the opportunity, too, of serving notice upon present and future legislatures that we aren't satisfied with their service to date; that we do not expect to be satisfied until we are FAIRLY AND JUSTLY TREATED by them, in accordance with the Constitution and the rules of decency.

In short, we can register our general belief that legislatures since 1932 haven't been worth to us what they've been paid—much less worth 400 per cent more.

VOTE "NO!" on PROPOSAL 2, Saturday!

Here Is What Japs Will Be Expected To Do . . .

MacArthur Timetable Announced

MANILA, Thursday, Aug. 23 (AP) In brief, here is General MacArthur's timetable for Japanese compliance with occupation and surrender orders:

Aug. 24, 6 p. m. (4 a. m., U. S. central war time)—All military and civilian aircraft to be grounded; naval and merchant shipping in Japanese home waters to remain at anchor; vessels at sea to throw overboard all explosives, report positions and head for designated ports; submarines to remain on surface, flying black flags, and proceed to specified ports; safety and well being of Allied prisoners of war and civilian internees to be preserved, their camps marked so that supplies may be dropped to them.

Aug. 25, 6 a. m. (4 p. m., Aug. 24, U. S. central war time)—Allied aircraft will drop supplies to prisoners of war and internee camps; Allied planes will start surveillance flights over Japan and Japanese-controlled areas; Allied naval forces will occupy Japanese and Japanese-controlled coastal waters.

Aug. 25, 6 p. m. (4 a. m., U. S. central war time)—All land, sea and air obstacles in Tokyo bay area to be removed; bay pilots ready with charts; all vessels in Tokyo bay immobilized and disarmed; all coast defense and anti-aircraft guns in Tokyo bay area rendered inoperative.

Aug. 26, 8 a. m. (6 p. m., Aug. 25, U. S. central war time)—Japanese ships will meet United States naval forces at sea and supply pilots to guide vessels into Sagami and Tokyo bays.

Aug. 27, 6 p. m. (4 a. m., U. S. central war time)—Prepare Yokosuka naval base on Tokyo bay for U. S. occupation and possible operation; evacuate all Japanese combat units from occupation area, leaving civil police and gendarmerie to prevent outbreaks.

Aug. 28 — Weather permitting, General MacArthur and airborne force will land at Atsugi airdrome, near Tokyo, and naval and Marine forces will land in vicinity of Yokosuka naval base.

Aug. 28, 6 a. m. (4 p. m., Aug. 27, U. S. central war time) — Members of Japanese imperial general staff must be available for conference with MacArthur's representatives at Atsugi airdrome; 125 local guides and interpreters must be at hand.

Aug. 31—Formal signing of the surrender pact, in Tokyo area.

Great Armada To Set Stage

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, Thursday, Aug. 23—Japan's surrender will be signed aboard the Battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay Aug. 31, General MacArthur announced today.

It was the first official word on the site of the signing. The 45,000-ton battleship participated with Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet last month in bombarding Japan.

Earlier MacArthur had confirmed Tokyo reports that he would arrive by plane in Japan Tuesday, weather permitting, with powerful Allied sea and air forces.

Detailed Instructions

The supreme Allied commander of occupation forces also announced details of the precise instructions sent the Japanese for evacuating key areas, disarming ships and coastal defenses and providing direct assistance to the landing forces.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

These other developments were reported from Pacific-Asiatic zones:

Russian airborne troops landed in the northern Kuriles.

The by-passed Japanese at MIN atoll, in the Marshalls, surrender to an American Navy captain.

Soviet parachute troops landed at Port Arthur.

The Soviets interned the Japanese puppet emperor of Manchuria.

Nippon surrender in China was to take place at Nanking.

Formal surrender at Singapore was scheduled for early September.

In his midnight announcement to correspondents, MacArthur said that members of the Japanese imperial general staff had been alerted to be on hand from 6 a. m. "D" day (5 p. m. Monday, U. S. eastern war time) to meet the Allied commander for immediate settlement of occupation problems.

MacArthur will accompany airborne forces which will land at Atsugi airdrome, 10 miles southwest of Tokyo, in a vast convoy of transport planes covered by fighters and bombers. The exact landing time was not announced.

Landing At Yokosuka

Simultaneously, landing craft such as have put thousands of fighting Americans ashore on many Pacific islands will land Marines and Bluejackets at the famous Yokosuka naval base, on Tokyo bay approximately 15 miles southeast of Atsugi airfield.

MacArthur said the American forces later will utilize this vital Japanese base, which the enemy has always closely guarded.

Rescue Efforts Move Swiftly

CHUNGKING, Aug. 22 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, U. S. hero of Corregidor, possibly was en route to Chungking tonight from a Manchurian prison camp while hundreds of other "liberated" American prisoners of war in Manchuria and China rested up for their return home.

America's flying mercy teams who parachuted into Japanese lines were caring for internees in almost all the scattered Japanese prison camps on the Asiatic mainland—but in Korea an unarmed, unescorted American rescue transport plane was ordered by the Japanese to leave Kiejo. The Japanese refused to allow the party to see Allied prisoners.

Off For Wainwright

A B-24 Liberator bomber took off yesterday afternoon from Russian-occupied Mukden for Hsian prison camp, 100 miles northwest of the former Manchurian capital, to fetch Gen. Wainwright.

Radiosd reports from Mukden said Wainwright would be flown to Chungking immediately after he was picked up, together with others of the 18 prisoners in the tiny, isolated camp. Eleven were said to need swift evacuation.

A mercy team which dropped at the Mukden prisoner of war camp reported to Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in China, that the first concern of a Russian mission arriving at the Mukden camp yesterday was for Gen. Wainwright.

The team radioed that the Russians took control of the Mukden camp, disarmed the Japanese and put Maj. Gen. George M. Parker, jr., senior American officer, in Jap Wriggling And Stalling Not Surprising Or Alarming To U. S.

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

Japanese efforts to wriggle off the hook of total defeat are neither surprising nor unduly alarming.

The enemy's stunned reaction to the plunge from the status of a great world power to the humiliation of unconditional surrender in the name of the divine emperor is only natural.

The stalling evidenced so far in arranging the formal surrender has not been serious, nor anything the Allies could put a finger on as deliberate obstruction. It can be explained rather as due to honest confusion among the Japanese themselves; to an attempt to salvage hurt pride by maintaining dignity and "face," and to an understandable effort to find out at the start how much Gen. Douglas MacArthur is likely to let them get away with.

Little Doubt Remains

MacArthur, coldly correct, is not leaving them in much doubt on that score. The real test may come when the Allied supreme commander lands on Japanese soil. Then it will be up to the Japanese to demonstrate that they have, as proclaimed, accepted the Potsdam terms "in all solemnity and good faith."

Tho Tokyo radio has warned that "unfortunate incidents" may occur if some of the "hotheads" among the officers of Japan's undefeated home army find the occupation and surrender "too much to bear." The same broadcast, however, said that the emperor's prestige and commands make it certain that "the greater part of the military will strictly obey the imperial will."

Seen As Advance Alibi

Such seeming double talk probably means that the Japanese are merely trying to alibi in advance any unforeseen outburst which they may be unable to control. Aside from that, they appear to be counting on peaceable surrender, of which the rapid capitulation of the vaunted Kwantung Army on the Asiatic mainland may be the pattern."

Otherwise, the doctrine of the emperor's authority, on which the Japanese are relying to hold the nation together and rebuild their shattered economy, would be a bursted bubble. MacArthur would have full justification for imposing a rigid control over Japanese internal affairs as has been applied to Germany—and which the Japanese have not yet been asked to bear.

The prospects therefore are that the occupation will be accomplished without further large-scale bloodshed or the necessity of oppressive military measures. That is not to say it will be smooth sailing and the Japanese people molded to a new pattern of life without many headaches for the victorious Allies.

Main Objective Gained

Nevertheless, the main American objective in the war has been achieved, possibly irrevocably. Japan is being made incapable of starting another war of aggression in the Pacific or East Asia. The ironclad assurance against it is three fold—strategic, economic and political.

Strategically, the Japanese Navy has been destroyed and will not be rebuilt. An island country without a Navy is helpless under present conditions of warfare. The air force similarly will disappear. If Japan is allowed even limited commercial aviation, under rigid control, it will be more than the Germans have. The Army will be disbanded and it is doubtful if even a skeleton military establishment for "preserving order" will be permitted. The island and mainland bases essential for any Japanese expansion have been forfeited.

Politically, a new China and victorious Russia will dominate the mainland, while the United States becomes the unchallenged mentor of the Pacific.

Economically, Japan will be permitted a generous level of subsistence within her home islands, but her position as an important industrial and trading nation will be lost for many years to come. Her heavy industries will be severely restricted. Her merchant fleet has almost vanished. Access to essential raw materials which Japan lacks will be permitted, but she will not be able for a long time to exploit them beyond the needs of her economy. China, on the other hand, if she attains political unity, may be able to usurp Japan's former place as the leading industrial nation of the Far East.

News Briefs

D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, ordered after hearing evidence and argument of counsel Wednesday in the case of Lewis B. Nickens against W. A. Austin that Nickens should recover triple damages for overcharged rent, plus $25 attorney fees. The case, filed June 25, hinged on Nickens' pleadings that under the emergency price control act of 1942, he had been overcharged $5 a month for the four and a half months he lived at 302 Ave. Q. The award, appealed from to county court, totaled $92.50.

Atom Is Subject Of Talk At Rotary Club

History of the atom and eventual development of atomic energy was given by Dr. C. C. Schmidt of the physics department of Texas Tech Wednesday at the Rotary club luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

The idea of the atom is several centuries old, but it has only been in the last 45 years that a study of the atom has been made, he pointed out. Dr. Schmidt expressed the belief that atomic power will not be substituted for light, coal, gasoline and other forms of energy for a long time.

The cost of atomic production and the elimination of industries now producing our present forms of power were given as reasons for the prevention of immediate atomic energy.

Arch King, presided at the luncheon in the absence of the president, Alex McDonald. The speaker was introduced by Winston Reeves.

Visiting Rotarians were Elton D. Cook of Richardson, Aubrey Lockett of Vernon, J. A. Anderson of Perryton, Fred Elliott of Gonzales and Bill Blakney of Abilene.

Volunteer Workers On Red Cross During July Total 290

Two hundred and ninety persons served as volunteers in carrying out the work of the Lubbock Chapter of the American Red Cross during July, contributing a total of 2,330 work hours, Mrs. Dorothy Erwin, chairman of the Volunteer special services committee of the chapter, reported today.

A report, telling the work done by volunteers of the local chapter during July, is being sent to all volunteer workers by Mrs. Erwin and Mrs. Marguerite B. Stiles, executive secretary.

The report for the various types of service are as follows:

Canteen service—170 volunteers gave 844 hours, served hamburgers, milk and other refreshments to 2,254 servicemen from July 1 to July 28.

Home service — 14 volunteers gave 384 hours, held 594 office interviews on problems of servicemen's families, made 78 home visits. The case load was the largest in the history of the chapter, being 714.

Camp and hospital service — 17 volunteers participated in three programs at the Lubbock Army Air Field hospital, giving 41 hours.

Motor corps service—18 volunteers contributed 127 hours, drove on 161 assignments, a total of 680 miles. The motor corps has proved itself invaluable in doing many odd services for the entire office force, the canteen corps and other committees, Mrs. Erwin explained.

Production service — 52 volunteers gave 734 hours of service, completed 39 garments and one quilt.

Staff assistance — 18 workers gave 200 hours of work as typists and receptionists, during which time a total of 650 callers were interviewed and hundreds of telephone calls and telegrams answered.

Home nursing—Mrs. Bill Mabry, registered nurse, completed a course in home nursing and contributed her fee, received for the work, to buy equipment needed for health work in the Negro and Mexican districts.

Mrs. Erwin concludes her report with this summary: "We are sure that you will be proud of this record, as we are, especially in view of the usual midsummer vacations, guests and home problems we have all had."

School Bonds To Be Sold Within 2 Weeks

A. C. Jackson, business manager of the Lubbock Independent School district has announced that the $1,500,000 in bonds, voted Tuesday for expansion of the school system, will go on sale within the next two weeks.

He said he was beginning arrangements immediately for advertising the bonds, and that construction would be started as soon as necessary preparations can be completed.

Houston Taxi Drivers Are Back At Work

HOUSTON, Aug. 22. (U.P.)—Three hundred Houston taxi drivers returned to their jobs today, ending a strike which started Monday afternoon and virtually left the city without cabs.

The drivers, members of local 349, Taxi Drivers union, AFL, returned to work after a conciliation meeting ended late yesterday.

The walkout was called by the union president because of a dispute over the hiring of Robert McCarkle as a taxi supervisor. His status at the end of the strike could not be learned definitely, and Julius Rosenstock, president of the Texas Transportation company, declined to say whether McCarkle was still on the payroll.

The walkout strated at 3 p. m., Monday afternoon and conciliation meetings were held yesterday afternoon.

According to officials of both the union and management, the dispute was settled amicably.

Shortage Of Popular Size Tires Is Noted; Conservation Urged

Lubbock auto owners with tire certificates are almost no better off than those without, a check of several local tire dealers shows.

William G. Williams, Office of Price Administration rationing executive, has said that the critical tire shortage has only been emphasized by the cancellation of gasoline rationing, and the emphatic "no" given by tire dealers to queries of common sized tires bears out the official's statement.

Size 6.00 by 16, the most common size for automobiles, was practically nowhere to be found. One local store had a "very few" while others have none. Other sizes, such as 6:50 and above, are in about the same class, although a few "freak" sized tires are available.

The local war price and rationing board now has between 1300 and 1400 applications on hand. This is a 20 percent increase since gasoline rationing ended.

Williams said that the supplement for Aug. 20 is the shortest ever made in the district. About 400 tires will be supplemented for passenger cars in the 72-board district. Fifty-eight boards have answered queries to their needs for tires and disclose that 7,944 tire certificates could be issued, if tires were available. Fourteen boards have not yet answered.

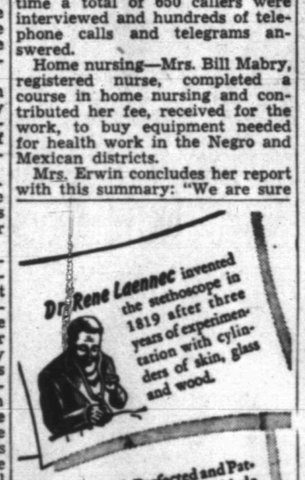

The rationing executive in the Lubbock district office said that the quota wil not satisfy the demand. "A" card holders have raced to tire boards since gas rationing ended, but Williams said the qualifications for tires remain the same. Only 5 per cent of the tire certificate quota wil go to A card holders, and the official said he feared that these tires would not be available.

A small reserve will be on hand September 1 to aid the 400-tire supplement, but this reserve is too short, Williams said. He saw no relief in the tire situation in the immediate future and could not predict, or guess, when the crisis would end.

Williams suggested that motorists stay at home and conserve their rubber. Many who have headed to the mountains and vacation resorts are now stranded and appeals are coming by phone daily asking for emergency certificates. Even when granted, tires are unavailable in most cases, Williams said.

In 1944 commercial hatcheries in the United States turned out 1¼ billion baby chicks and half a million turkeys, more than half of which were shipped to farms and broiler raisers in overnight or longer shipments, according to the Railway Express Agency.

Whooping cranes, looming large in the clear air of the prairies, sometimes have been mistaken for horses or antelopes.

Clark Recommends Rice As Judge And Sen. O'Daniel Very Unhappy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (U.P.)—Attorney General Tom C. Clark today recommended to President Truman that Ben H. Rice, jr., be appointed U. S. district Judge for the Western District of Texas.

Since 1940 Rice, 55, has been chief justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Waco. He would succeed the late Judge Walter A. Keeling of Austin.

Highly Recommended

In his letter of recommendation the President, Clark said:

"Judge Rice has an excellent reputation as to character and integrity, is a lawyer of unusual ability and distinction, possessed of judicial temperament, and I believe, from the experience he has had, is especially well qualified to perform the duties of a United States district judge."

Rice was born Dec. 12, 1889 at Marlin. After graduation from the University of Texas, he was admitted to the Texas bar in 1913.

From 1914 to 1917 he was assistant district attorney of Falls county. From 1920 to 1927 he was city attorney for Marlin and from 1927 to 1940 was a member of the firm of Bartlett, Carter and Rice at Waco.

O'DANIEL DISAPPOINTED AND SURPRISED AT ACTION

FORT WORTH, Aug. 22. (AP)—Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, advised here today that Attorney General Tom Clark had recommended the appointment of Chief Justice Ben H. Rice of the Waco Court of Civil Appeals to the Texas federal judgeship vacancy in the western district, commented that he was disappointed and a little surprised.

"Since Mr. Clark had asked me to make a recommendation—the first time that I have ever been asked to recommend an appointment— I felt hopeful that things were going to be a little different, but perhaps I was mistaken."

The senator said he was not interested personally in any appointments, but that he wanted to see the will of the people satisfied.

Commenting on the report that the Texas State Democratic Executive committee had asked President Truman and Attorney General Clark by resolution to avoid consultation about federal appointments with one who did not support the 1944 national ticket, O'Daniel agreed that such a move likely was aimed at him and any recommendations he might have to offer.

"It looks like the coat-tail riders who lost their coat-tail are trying to keep all of the appointments in the family," O'Daniel observed. "As far as I know, Judge Rice is a capable judge and a good man, but naturally he was born to the "royalty" since he is the brother of the other Texas senator's campaign manager."

SON OF LATE JUDGE, AND MARLIN NATIVE

WACO, Aug. 22. (AP) — Judge Ben H. Rice, recommended by the attorney general for appointment a federal judge for the Western District of Texas, is the son of the late Judge Ben H. Rice, sr., who was for 11 years associate member of the Third Court of Appeals at Austin.

He was born at Marlin, Dec. 12, 1889, obtained his law degree at the University of Texas, practiced at Marlin, and was assistant county attorney of Falls county, city attorney at Marlin, and a Marlin school board member before he was elected to his present post of chief justice of the Tenth Court of Civil Appeals.

Judge Rice was an Army Air forces pilot in the first World war. He has been a life long friend of Senator Tom Connally.

He is a brother of Percy Rice, Dallas lawyer, and of Lt. Col. James W. Rice of Austin.

More Red Points Due Institutional Users

Increases in red point allotment for the present period will be granted operators of cafes, asylums, penitentiaries, school lunch projects, etc., according to an announcement by the Lubbock District Office of Price Administration.

Groups 2, 3, 4 and 6 institutional users, whose net inventory of red points and meat, fats and oils on hand upon application is less than 25 per cent of the July-August allotment, may apply for a loan of points up to 25 per cent of original July-August allotments, Earl Kerr, district director, said.

An eligible institutional user who has received his September-October allotment is not to include those points in this inventory.

The application must be made in writing to war price and rations board not later than Aug. 31 and must show the number of points applied for, as well as meeting other requirements set forth above.

Applications For Road Work Being Heard

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (U.P.)—Texas Highway commissioners today began hearing road work applications from 26 counties after receiving bids yesterday on projects to cost $1,220,747.

The six projects included grading, drainage structures and material for 13½ miles of state highway 26 between Henderson and Mt. Enterprise. Low bidder was E. W. Hable & sons, Corsicana, at $420,904.

L. H. Lacy Co., Dallas, was low at $249,170 on six miles of proposed work on U. S. 77 northeast of Hillsboro.

M. E. Wyrell, Austin, bid $222,801 on bridges over south Concho river and Red Arroyo for U. S. highways 87 and 277, south of San Angelo.

Dudley R. Cloud, San Antonio, had the low bid of $241,150 for work on three miles of U. S. 87, beginning 10 miles southeast of Cuero and extending to Victoria county. The work includes one bridge at Price's creek and also an overpass at the T. & N. O. railway.

Wallace and Bowden, Dallas, were low on two new type jobs on U. S. highways 75 and 80 in Ellis, Navarro, Collin and Dallas counties. Total bid for both projects was $86,722. The work is injection of asphalt under concrete paving.

Nearly 22,000,000 helmets, involving the use of 33,000 tons of steel, have been supplied to combat units so far in the current war.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

GOOD manners, which suffered a four-year black-out in Lubbock are coming back. Yes sir, Lubbockites who went through four long years of being pushed, shoved, stepped on, ignored and insulted by waitresses, clerks, salespeople have found that peace means more than surrender of the Japanese. It means that clerks not only offer to wait on you; they follow you to the door and of all things we are again hearing that good old Texan expression, "Hurry back to see us!"

A young woman who decided to buy a pair of hose after experiencing the chill of August rains Wednesday was delighted to be waited on the minute she entered the store. Having become accustomed to being ignored by salesgirls who huddled in little groups to talk about "those gorgeous second lieutenants" and other newsy items, the girl almost forgot what she had gone in the store for but recovered to ask for a pair of hose.

"We have some 54-gage hose today," the girl volunteered with a smile. Did you get the picture? We said, "with a smile."

ANOTHER young woman, who had long since stopped asking for cigarettes in a certain store because she felt she was not a preferred customer, almost fainted the other morning when the cashier asked her if she didn't want a package, following that with "thank you, come back again."

And you Lubbockites, who have dreaded a shopping trip to town, because you would be insulted if you told the salespeople you were "just looking," come on down. According to the gals in the office who are out on hunts for early fall outfits, chances are that you will be told to go ahead and "we'll be gald to assist you if you need it."

IN THE PARADE

THE Avalanche-Journal had a personal interest in that parade Wednesday afternoon heralding the Boys' club benefit rodeo since two of those "full blooded Indians" were paper carriers. The boys, Malcolm and George Young, are sons of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Young, 2014 Fifteenth.

George was the boy wearing the rabbit skin and the brothers were covered with leg makeup. Shades of the days of the ancient Indians!

WILD WEST—After the parade Lubbock looked like Las Vegas, N. M., does on the day of the opening of the annual Cowboy reunion. Horses were tied in downtown alleys and cowboys wearing chaps and colorful ties and shirts were on the streets. The picture was typical of the one Eastern friends have in mind when they think of West Texas.

LOST BILLFOLD

MRS. HELEN BUFORD, who is on the staff at the First Methodist church, is distressed over loss of her billfold which occurred in Hannah-Pope's store Wednesday afternoon. In addition to all of her identification cards, drivers license, social security card, etc., the case contains clippings about her late husband, Lt. Buford Eagan.

Mrs. Buford is hoping that the person who picked up the billfold wil send it to her, or at least will mail her the contents.

JOYFUL NEWS

NUMBERED among the persons who are personally delighted that Lt. Robert Hite was one of the Doolittle fliers released early this week will be Maj. Ted Lawson who dedicated his famous book, "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," to Hite and the other crewmen "who didn't get back."

We recall that several years ago when Maj. Elmer Tarbox and his wife visited her father, a Methodist minister at Earth, Lt. Hite's hometown, Maj. Tarbox went over to see the lieutenant's mother. When he was telling us about it, we said it must have been an ordeal to talk with a mother who believed her son to have been executed by the Japs.

"No it wasn't," Maj. Tarbox disagreed. "She is a lovely, lovely lady and moreover she doesn't believe for one second that Bob is dead. She said she had faith in God and that she had prayed for her son's safe return from his mission. She expects him to return and doubts those awful stories.

Perhaps that is what Jesus meant when he talked about having faith as minutes as a mustard seed.

CLOCKWSE BEAUTY

IF the strain of the war or the summer sun has caused tiny lines under the eyes and wrinkles at the corners of the eyes, you need to massage in a clockwise motion, says a famous Hollywood expert. The lines form diagonals or counter-clockwise curves and that's why clockwise massage is recommended.

A medium-weight emollient cream is advised because a cream too heavy in consistency takes too much finger work in massaging and is apt to create more wrinkles than to eradicate those present.

Using the tips of one or two fingers, start your massage at the outer corner of the eye, following under and around the eye and over the eyelid to the starting point. Massage should be very light and gentle and should last only two or three minutes.

Instruction School Planned For Friday

Plans were made for a school of instruction to be held Friday night at the home of Mrs. H. B. Hamilton 2315 Twenty-ninth at a stated meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star at Masonic hall Tuesday night. The school will begin at 8 o'clock.

A study group will meet Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the home of the worthy matron, Mrs. R. A. Metcalfe, 2016 Tenth for orientation instruction in preparedness for the Friday session. The Thursday meeting will be for new members only, that is those who joined the order in the last year or two and are not familiar with the work of the organization.

Mrs. Metcalfe presided for the meeting and there was exemplification of degrees for two candidates.

Visiting OED members and officers were present from Crosbyton, Dallas and Lovington, N. M.

At a social hour, refreshments were served by a committee of members of the Lubbock chapter who live in Shallowater. Sixty-six were in attendance.

SOW Club Is Guest Of Mrs. L. H. Hobbs

Mrs. L. H. Hobbs, 2409 Twenty-second, was hostess to the S.O.W. club yesterday afternoon at her home. Members spent the afternoon making corsages for the Tuberculosis association with Mrs. J. C. Wilson instructing.

Next meeting will be next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. E. McClatchey when husbands will be entertained.

Present at the meeting were those mentioned and Mesdames Elmer East, E. C. Pool, Warren Henry, G. R. Severance, C. L. Boyd and J. L. Badley.

Discharged Veteran And Wife Visit Here

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Brown of Fort Worth are visiting his sister, Mrs. Carl Kight, 2314 Twenty-eighth. Mr. Brown received a medical discharge last week from Brooks convalescent hospital, Fort Sam Houston. He is a son of Mrs. Charles R. Taylor of Fort Worth, former Lubbock resident.

The young man enlisted in April 1942 and went overseas Oct. 1944 where he served with the 78th Lightning division of the First Army in France, Belgium and Germany. He was awarded the Purple Heart with 2 clusters and wore three combat stars on his ETO campaign ribbon. Recently he and Miss Ruth A. McNees of Greenville, Pa., were married in the chapel at Tarrant field, Fort Worth, with the chaplain officiating.

Two Speakers Address Parent-Teachers School Of Instruction Held Wednesday

The most important function of any generation is to give life to the next generation and guide it in the way it should go, Mrs. Justin L. Adams of Crosbyton, district president of the Parent-Teachers association, told more than 50 members of the organization at a school of instruction here yesterday. The school was held in the chapel of the First Methodist church.

"Let's face the unescapable fact—What does it matter if we gain the whole world and lose our souls as a nation," Mrs. Adams continued in discussing the theme of the P-TA's work for the year on the theme, "The Family Builds for the Future."

Floyd Honey, principal of Lubbock High school, spoke on how parents can cooperate with the school. He said, "An informed public will help to put over any far-reaching changes that the school attempts to make. Parent-Teacher associations can help by informing the public of what the schools are trying to do by interpreting the school to the community."

Workers from over the Lubbock district attended the instruction school.

Personals

Mrs. Edna Yager and daughter, Bobbie Jean, who have been visiting in the home of her brother, E. E. Key and Mrs. Key, 2119 Twentieth, are returning today to their home in El Paso.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pace and Mr. and Mrs. U. T. Rush of Acuff, are spending a two weeks vacation in Colorado Springs, Colo. Mrs. Rush is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pace. Miss Katie Pace is to spend six-weeks with her grandmother in Grandfield, Okla.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Trice, jr., formerly of Fort Worth, left Tuesday for Port Gibson, Miss., for a series of services after visiting here for two weeks in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trice, 2304 Ave. U. They will go from Port Gibson to Baton Rouge, La., where Rev. Trice is to begin duties as Baptist student leader at Louisiana State university.

Two Are Hostesses For Wednesday Club

Mrs. A. W. McKee was hostess to the Wednesday Needle club at her home, 1812 Fourteenth yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Smylie C. Wilson as assistant hostess. Members spent the afternoon sewing.

Members present were Mesdames Rosella B. Rushing, Frank Maddox, Charles Wagner, H. A. Davidson, Carrie Thomas, T. W. Thomas, J. B. Moxley, G. W. McLeary and the hostesses.

U. S. Hints Cancellation Of Over Half Of Lend-Lease Obligations

By R. H. SHACKFORD
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—All authoritative evidence indicated today that the United States may cancel well over half of the obligations incurred by Allied nations under the lend-lease program.

That is supported by statements of the late President Roosevelt and President Truman in their quarterly lend-lease reports to Congress, and by the statements of the Senate and House foreign relations committees in renewing the lend-lease act.

Final Settlement

President Truman's order halting lend-lease immediately focussed attention on one of the most difficult postwar jobs—a final lend-lease settlement. Procurement of supplies for Allies under lend-lease already has stopped; actual transfers will cease on the official V-J day.

The major problem now is to work out interim agreements so that Allied nations can continue to receive lend-lease materials now in stockpiles, in the transit "pipeline," or on order. Those nations will have to pay cash or make arrangemetns for credit if they still wish such equipment and materials.

Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley pointed out that the export-import bank was ready to consider applications for loans from any Allied nations that still want lend-lease supplies that are still in the works.

Large Loans Sought

Russia reportedly has been seeking a $6,000,000,000 (B) credit loan and Britain one of a similar amount.

Crowley pointed out that the export-import bank, with lending capacity of $3,500,000,000, does not have enough money to finance such big loans but that it does have enough to handle financing during the transitional period.

But the final settlement of the lend-lease accounts is the really tough, long-range problem. Officials estimate that it may be as long as two years before the lend-lease books can be completely shut.

Careful Scrutiny

Congress, too, will have something to say before lend-lease becomes a closed chapter. Chairman James M. Mead, D., N. Y., said his Senate War Investigating committee would put the entire lend-lease program under careful scrutiny.

"In line with mandates from the Senate to investigate costs of the war," he said, "the examination of the manner in which lend-lease has been handled and the manner in which future decisions are made concerning lend-lease will be one of the most important fields of inquiry which the committee can pursue."

Equality Of Sacrifice

Every official statement ever made on lend-lease settlements has contended that the final reckoning should not be a simple matter of dollars and cents but based on the principle of equality of sacrifice.

Equality of sacrifice among the Allies, according to American officials, means that each should contribute the same relative proportion of its warmaking resources, whether of manpower or wealth. A nation of 10,000,000 that furnished an Army of 1,000,000 would have made a sacrifice on that score equal to a nation of 100,000,000 with an army of 10,000,000 men. The same principle would be applied to war expenditures.

Japs Protest Chinese Rushing Into Areas

MANILA, Aug. 22. (AP) — A spokesman for the headquarters of American forces in the Pacific said today the Japanese protest against the rushing of Chinese troops into Japanese-controlled areas, and the request that general MacArthur's representatives investigate "actual conditions in China," had been forwarded to the Chinese central government.

Bottled Headaches Worth $15,000 Held In Legal Storage

There is $15,000 worth of bottled headaches stored in the basement of the county courthouse, liquor control board officials said Wednesday afternoon.

Engaged in labeling spirits, A. J. Hartson, deputy supervisor in charge of the Lubbock district of the control board, found that he and Inspectors Frank Mitchell and John Truly had 120 cases ready to be shipped to wet areas where the spirits can be sold at auction to package store proprietors, 104 other cases ready for labeling, 35 smuggled cases on which the state stamp had not been affixed, numerous part cases that need to be sorted, approximately 60 cases of beer, 25 cases of wine and odds and ends of other liquors in cases.

There are bottled eggnog, all sorts of fruit liquers, 25 cases of rum—some of which is labeled 25 years old and from Portugal and South America—gin and almost anything one ever heard of.

Whisky alone seized here is from Old Mexico, Canada and states so far away as California, Minnesota and Florida.

All the whisky and gin and rum has been seized in the last 12 months. The beer represents more recent confiscations, since state beer trucks run more regularly, Hartson said.

Missouri is known as the "Show Me" state.

UNRRA Votes Italy As Entitled To Relief

LONDON, Aug. 22. (AP) — The UNRRA council voted 29-1 today to classify Italy as a liberated area for full benefits of the relief and rehabilitation program. Yugoslavia objected.

A member of the secretariat said Russia voted affirmatively, as she did yesterday in committee. There were several abstainers, but no exact records were kept.

The UNRRA program in Italy would replace that now carried out by military authorities which, the delegates were told, will cease at the end of August.

Nikola Petrovic, Yugoslav delegate, said in opposing the plan that the present Italian government "has not broken with the past."

Motorized Legions Are Invading Scenic West

(By The Associated Press)

Motorized legions of long-thwarted vacationers are rolling daily along the highways of the scenic West in a peacetime invasion set loose by Japan's surrender.

Once again, after three years or more of being reluctant stay-at-homes, American families were off for the mountains or the seashores with full tanks of gasoline and tires they hoped would stand the gaff.

The rapidly unfolding panorama of touring America once more on the move looked like this in the Southwest:

A 200 per cent increase in travel to Mexico reported by the U. S. customs service at Hidalgo-Reynosa, near McAllen, Texas; Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico a mecca for thousands; travel into Arizona's Grand Canyon area booming, with at least one hotel restricting guests to seven days.

Detroit Tigers Hold Lead As Dizzy Trout Beats A's

DETROIT, Aug. 22—Detroit's hard pressed Tigers clung to their half game lead in the American League here today as Paul "Dizzy" Trout hurled seven hit ball for his fourth straight victory, a 4 to 1 win over the Philadelphia Athletics. It was Trout's 13th win of the season, compared with 11 losses.

The Tigers used their touted one-two punch, Hank Greenberg and Rudy York, to subdue the A's. Both drove in two runs, Greenberg getting his seventh home run since returning to the club from the Army, and York blasting a triple.

Bob Feller Set For Return Try

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—Chief Specialist Robert W. Feller, USNR, became Bob Feller, fireball pitcher for the Cleveland Indians, shortly after 4 p. m. today.

The major league strikeout star was released from the Navy to inactive duty at Navy Pier Separation center after serving since Dec. 10, 1941, including 29 months at sea in charge of a quadruple anti-aircraft machine gun unit aboard the battleship U.S.S. Alabama.

Feller said he would fly to Cleveland tonight with his wife, Virginia, to rejoin the Indians. He said he is ready to pitch against the American League leading Detroit Tigers in Cleveland Friday night.

"I'm in good shape," said Feller, who is 26 and weighs 180 pounds. "They might knock me out in the first inning but maybe I'll get by, although I haven't even looked at pitching under the lights in the Navy."

Feller telegraphed Will Harridge, American League president, formally asking for reinstatement to the players' active list. He said he had not had a chance to talk to Lou Boudreau, Cleveland manager, about a new contract. "But I'm not worrying about that."

John Bost Resigns As Brownfield Coach

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 22 (Special) John A. Bost, who has been connected with the athletic department in Brownfield High school for the past ten years, has tendered his resignation, it was announced today.

Bost came to Brownfield in 1935 as head coach, and held this position until 1938. In 1942, Brownfield was voted into District 1-AA, and Bost again became head coach.

During that season, Brownfield lost only two games, bowing to Pampa and Amarillo. Again in 1943, the Cubs labored under great handicaps, but turned in one of the season's best performances against the vaunted Amarillo club of that year, holding the Sandies in check until late in the final quarter.

For the present, Bost will continue to make his home in Brownfield, where he will be associated with a local grocery concern.

Former Tech Star To Coach Marine Team

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C., Aug. 22—Two native sons of Texas have been named co-coaches of the Camp Lejeune football squad this season. They are Major Lonnie D. McCurry of Lubbock and Captain James B. Higgins, jr., of Maypearl.

Major McCurry played football for Lubbock High school and later starred at Texas Tech. He captained the squad in 1940 and was named to the little All-American team in the same year.

The major is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. McCurry of Lubbock. His wife, Mrs. Mary A. McCurry, makes her home in Carbon.

Captain Higgins, a cousin of "Pinkey" Higgins, famous major league baseball player, played for Waxahachie High school and Trinity university. While playing at Trinity he made All-Conference tackle in 1940. The following year he played professional ball for the Chicago Cardinals in the National Football league.

The captain's wife is the former Miss Ioma Blocker of Palmer. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Higgins, sr., live in Maypearl.

Both officers are overseas veterans. Major McCurry served with the Third Marine Division and participated in the Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima engagements, while Captain Higgins saw action at Guadalcanal and Cape Gloucester with the famous First Marine Division.

The new mentors have promised the local gridiron fans a real Texas "razzle-dazzle" football club. Camp Lejeune will be operating against a tough schedule this fall but the co-coaches, filled with that well known Texas fighting spirit, have high hope for a successful season.

Favorites Stay In Golf Tourney Race

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 22. (AP)—Despite white-hot competition, including two extra-hole battles, all of the favorites stormed into the quarter-final round of the Women's Western Amateur golf tournament today.

Defending Champion Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia and Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Los Angeles, who staggered to a 20-hole conquest, paced the eight victors in the torrid second round session at trap-pocked Knollwood club.

Miss Germain caught fire on the second nine to bounce out Betty Jean Rucker, Spokane, Wash., 3 and 2, while Mrs. Zaharias squeezed past Peggy Kirk, Findlay, O., on the 20th hole, 1 up, after blowing a four-hole lead at the nine-hole turn.

In another 20-hole skirmish, Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., eliminated veteran Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles, 1 up, after trailing two holes at the turn.

Medalist Louise Suggs, Atlanta, Ga., who has shot many a practice round with immortal Bobby Jones, remained the ranking upper bracket contender as she nipped Carol (Babe) Freese, Portland, Ore., 3 and 2.

Houston Boyd Wins Men's Singles Title

Houston Boyd was crown as the new champion of the mens singles division of the citywide tennis tournament, sponsored by the City Recreation department, as he defeated Lt. Ed Reade in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2, Wednesday afternoon at Dupre courts.

GOLF TOURNEY SET

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 22 (U.P.)—Top-flight golfers of New Mexico were sharpening their shots today in preparation for the 31st annual state golf championship tournament which opens at the Albuquerque Country club Aug. 31 and runs through Sept. 3.

Edwards Ten Hands Jaycees First Loss

Edwards Food market's softball ten knocked the Junior Chamber of Commerce entry into the losers bracket and Ray's Grocery and Cummings grocery were eliminated from the tourney by SPAAF and Blue Bonnet laundry at Hubber park Wednesday night.

Maloney hurled three-hit ball for Edwards Food in the opening game, and the JCC's came out on the losing end of a 9-2 contest. The win left Edwards food one of three undefeated teams remaining in the tourney.

Both Maloney and Caldwell hurled one-hit ball until the fifth frame. Edwards pushed runs across the platter in the first and fifth innings for a 2-0 lead into the last of the sixth. Caldwell and Threadgill singled for JCC and scored on an error and two outfield flys. Edwards bunched four hits and three errors in the seventh to take a lead that the JCC's were unable to overcome in their half of the seventh.

Blue Bonnet laundry handed Cumming's food a 5-3 defeat in the middle contest. Pete Pace worked on the rubber for Blue Bonnet, giving up seven hits in the first three frames, but hurling hitless ball the remaining four. W. Sage limited Blue Bonnet to three safe blows, while errors accounted for most of the runs. The loss bowed Cummings from the tournament.

Behind the pitching of Hook, the SPAAF ten gathered three runs from Ray's grocery in the first frame, and added one in the third and fifth for a 5-0 shutout. The defeat cost the grocery teh their place in the tourney.

The Legion juniors garner three hits from the offerings of Hook while the winners gathered only four bingles from Ray Littrell's hurling. Repeatedly, as in past contests, the legality of Hook's delivery was questioned. No protest, however, was entered by H. J. McCabe, team manager.

Blue Bonnet laundry and SPAAF play in the 7:30 p. m. opener tonight. Economy Mills and Seagraves play the second game at 9 p. m. Two of the tourney's three unbeaten tens, O'Donnell and Postex Mills, clash in the finale.

Fish Poisoners At San Angelo Sought

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 22 (AP) — The West Texas Game and Fish association today posted a $100 reward for the arrest and conviction of persons who in recent weeks have poisoned fish in small lakes in Tom Green county.

District Game Warden Jim White estimated that 5,000 bass, crappie and other fish had been left to die by the poisoners. The catfish had been taken after they had been killed or paralyzed by poison solutions released at the heads of the lakes.

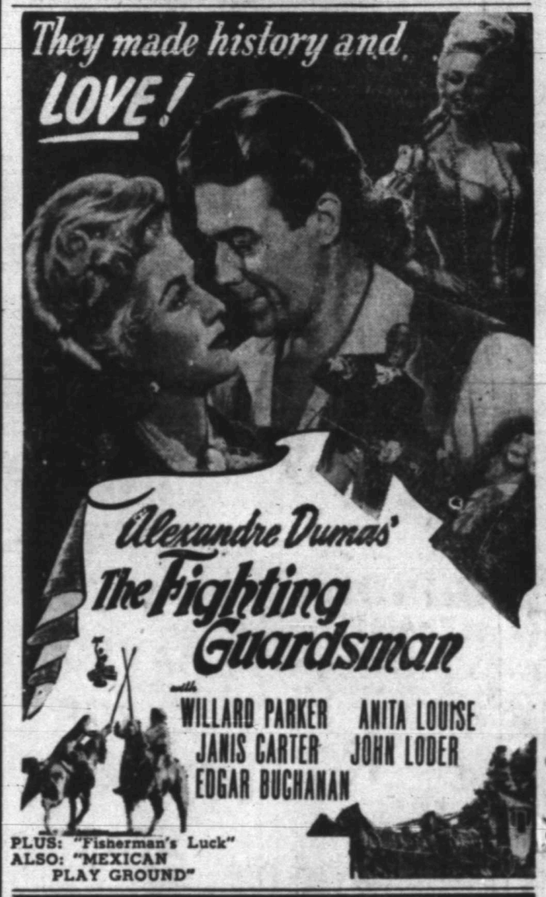

While buying and selling of all game fish is prohibited in this county, the poisoners evidently were after the large catfish, which have been bringing premium prices during the meat shortage, White said.

AAF Sets Plan For Discharges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP) — The Army Air forces, now 2,400,000 strong, will discharge more than 1,400,000 men within a year, Maj. Gen. Fred L. Anderson said tonight.

The assistant chief of air staff said in an ABC radio broadcast that the peak discharge rate for the AAF will be approximately 150,000 monthly.

He indicated an additional 300,000 will be released later by the AAF, saying that as world conditions permit the organization is contemplating scaling down to a strength of about 700,000.

Overseas Replacements

The AAF demobilization plan, he said, calls for high-point men overseas to be replaced by low-point men and by volunteers.

In keeping with this policy, he disclosed that beginning August 15 airforce units destined for overseas were stripped of enlisted men with more than 75 points and of WACs with more than 43 points.

In the future, he said, overseas shipments will be screened to eliminate enlisted men below 75 points and those 37 years old. At present, enlisted men are eligible for discharge if they have 85 discharge points or are 38 years of age or older.

Earlier the AAF disclosed that surplus officers with point scores ranging from 36 to 70, depending upon rank, are being discharged upon request.

The points necessary for discharge are 70 for captains and above; 58 for first lieutenants; 42 for second lieutenants; 36 for flight officers; and 65 for warrant officers.

All AAF officers who are 42, regardless of the points they have, will be released upon request.

Plainview Escapees Are Still At Large

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 22 (AP)—Still at large today were five prisoners of the Hale county jail who escaped last night by sawing the bars and descending to the ground on ropes from mattress ticks.

Sheriff Ted Andrews identified the men as Virgil Johnson, about 40, charged with burglary of an Abernathy business; Philcareo Roderiguez, being held for parole violation; and Eugene Ware, 17, Leroy Vaughn, 18, and Marvin Kisselberg, 30, all charged with burglary and car theft.

Lt. Hite Safe

son, 1st. Lt. Robert L. Hite, has been returned to military controls in China on Aug. 21, 1945, and is being returned to the U. S."

The telegram was signed by E. F. Witsell, of the adjutant generals' office.

This was the first word received from Lt. Hite since before he embarked on the famous Tokyo raid, made famous in both book and on the screen, and the first blow against the Japanese mainland of the war just completed. The raid was conducted under the leadership of then Lt. Col. Jimmy Doolittle, and struck over Tokyo on April 18, 1942.

Among Eight Downed

Lt. Hite was among eight members of that raiding party that was forced down in Japan. There was an unconfirmed report a year later that Lt. Hite was heard over a shortwave radio dispatch from Japan. But today's message was the first definite official word from him in more than 40 months.

A second telegram from the War department followed the first, inviting the sending of a message to Lt. Hite by his family. The message, not to exceed 25 words, will likely by sent tonight, Mrs. Hite said.

"I am so happy, I have more than 25 words to say. It will be hard to fit my feelings into so few words," Mrs. Hite said.

Grandest of News

During the course of a few minutes telephone conversation with reporters of the Avalanche-Journal in Lubbock, Mrs. Hite reminded them five times of how happy she was at this "grandest of news."

Lt. Hite has another brother in the service, Cadet Kenneth F. Hite, stationed at Roswell, N. M., Army Air field. During the months that Lt. Hite has been "missing" he has become an uncle, his mother reported, and his "little sister," now Mrs. C. J. Ricketts resides in Boston, Mass., where her husband is in the Navy Air corps, training in the school where Jimmy Doolittle first received his training for the Tokyo raid.

Awaiting His Return

"Needless to say, we are all looking forward to the results of that last sentence in the telegram today," Mrs. Hite finished. "That part of 'being returned to the U. S.'"

Others released with Hite were 1st Lt. Chas. J. Neilson, of Hurum, Utah; Sgt. Jacob D. DeShazer, of Madras, Ore., and 1st Lt. George Barr, of Dallas, whose sister, Mrs. William Maas, lives at Pittsburgh, Kas. Reports from the Office of Strategic Service at Chungking, said that Lt. Barr was hospitalized, and this led to the assumption in Washington that he is the one reported in a serious condition from beri beri.

Chicago's postoffice handles more domestic money orders and a larger number of parcels than any other city in the world.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Berner of Meadow on birth of a son weighing 8 pounds 2 ounces at 10:50 o'clock Wednesday night at West Texas hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Butts of McAdoo on birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 2 ounces at 8:50 o'clock Wednesday night at Lubbock General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tubbs of 2217 Twenty-first st. birth of a son weighing 7 pounds 2 ounces at 7 o'clock Wednesday night at St. Mary's hospital.

S 1-c and Mrs. Elmer L. Flatt of 1822 Ave. E on birth of a son weighing 7 pounds at 8:25 o'clock Wednesday night at St. Mary's hospital.

More Bans Lifted

dom in home and business building by Oct. 1.

The Office of Defense Transportation dropped its ban on "seasonal" passenger trains. The action will let railroads restore more than 50 pre-war seaside and resort trains.

ODT also will permit the operation of trains running less than 35 per cent full. These had been ruled off the tracks.

For the general public, this was the first big breach in travel restraints. Sports and convention trips already have been restored.

But ODT officials are by no means optimistic that railroads will have enough cars to spare to take advantage of the relaxation. The reason: Returning veterans.

The good news for the white collar workers was this:

The Internal Revenue bureau's stabilization unit in wartime had kept down to 1942 levels increases for people making $5,000 a year or more and for administrative and professional people who made less than $5,000 a year but were not represented by labor unions.

The War Labor board controlled the wages of all others up to $5,000. But last week the War Labor board announced the lid was off for those under its jurisdiction if raises for them did not mean price increases.

But there were three checks on raises in salaries or wages:

They must not cause an increase in price ceiling, or be an excuse for protest against a reduction in prices at some future time, nor can they be given if it means an added cost to the government.

Building Industry

The construction industry, backward child of the change-over to peace, got a needed and timely lift.

The WPB predicted that builders would have enough lumber within 30 days "to meet all kinds of construction requirements"—including houses for civilians.

As a starter, the agency eased its controls on lumber and announced it would end them entirely on Oct. 1.

The loosening of restraints on lumber — most important and scarcest building material—paved the way for scrapping of WPB's whole construction order. That will occur before Sept. 30, by all indications.

Along with this reconversion news came the complaint — from Republican quarters—that reconversion was going too slowly.

Some industries have expressed that view. But now it has become a political issue.

Weatherford Rites Are Still Pending

Funeral services for Mrs. J. H. Weatherford, 58, of 720 Ave. K, who died of a heart attack at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at her home, were still pending the arrival of relatives late last night, Sanders Funeral home reported.

Survivors are her husband; one daughter, Mrs. F. C. Daniels of Lubbock; two brothers, Charlie Burke of Lubbock, Frank Burke of Ozan, Ark.; two sisters, Mrs. W. N. Walden of Hope, Ark., Mrs. J. L. Pool of Lockesburg, Ark.; two grandsons, J. C. Daniels, a Marine stationed in the Pacific area, and F. C. Daniels, jr., of the Navy and stationed in the Pacific theater of war.

Jap Signing Set

troops probably would number 50,000 or 60,000.

(The agency reiterated a previous claim that the first Allied airborne landings at Atsugi airdrome would be made Sunday, as announced in Tuesday's Japanese imperial headquarters communique.

(Domei said that all local civil administration in the occupation area would remain in Japanese hands, and urged the Nipponese to remain calm. The agency significantly warned that the people must bear in mind the fact that the Allied force "will occupy our mainland fully equipped and armed.")

Fleet To Stand By

Great Allied fleet units will stand in Japanese waters bulwarking the landings while disarmed Nipponese ships remain immobilized, except for piloting or other guide craft.

The entire landing area will be cleared of all Japanese military personnel and the great coastal defense guns will be made harmless by having their breechlocks removed.

Nipponese civil police and gendarmerie remaining in the area will be equipped only with small arms and will be on duty to act in case of sniping or possible demonstrations by recalcitrant fanatics.

The American landing forces will be in full combat equipment and will be ready for any eventuality.

Entry into Tokyo was not mentioned in the instructions.

Rescue Efforts

charge. Parker was captured by the Japanese at Bataan.

Gen. Wedemeyer's headquarters meanwhile told the Associated Press that the name of Lt. Col. James Devereux, commander of the heroic Wake island garrison which in 1941 held out against the Japanese for 14 days, had not appeared on any list of names received from prison camps.

Names of a number of prisoners which have been received are being transmitted to Washington so relatives can be notified.

Reports meanwhile came in from other prisoner camps "liberated" by the flying teams. At the ancient Chinese capital of Peiping, all internees—117 Americans, Britons and Canadians and 133 Dutch and one Filipino—were being moved into city hotels.

The condition of the internees was described as good and medical arrangements "very satisfactory." Relations with the Japanese were smooth, but a call went out from the rescue team for cigarettes, clothes, food, vitamins, dressings and other medical supplies.

1,528 At Weihsien

At Weihsein in Shantung province, another team reported there were a total of 1,528 internees—756 males and 782 females, 187 over 60 years of age and 245 under 13. Their general health was said to be good.

But though the mercy team at Weihsein yesterday sent a message for at least 10 stretchers and medical equipment, it appeared the prisoners might have to wait until the formal signing of Japan's surrender Aug. 31.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—Cotton futures irregular in light trading today as the market appeared to await further clarification of the reconversion situation. Final prices were 60 cents a bale higher to 20 lower.

Mill buying against textile orders rallied the 1945 crop deliveries but the 1946 crop month, after showing early strength on short covering, sagged.

The government weekly weather report indicated the new cotton crop made generally good progress except for variable conditions in parts of the eastern belt. Some quarters were looking for an increase in the next government crop estimate due September 8th.

BULLS DRIVE PRICES UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—Bullish forces negotiated another recovery move in today's stock market although relative slackness of dealings on the comeback left cynical analysts unconvinced.

Rails, mail orders, aircrafts and assorted industrials with optimistic peacetime prospects made the best showing. Transfers of 76,000 shares compared with 1,160,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .5 of a point at 63.8.

Prominent among the day's gainers were Sears Roebuck (at a 1945 peak), Montgomery Ward, Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet, Boeing, Lockheed, Eastman Kodak, Goodrich and Westinghouse. On the offside were Consolidated Edison, North American, U. S. Rubber, Johns-Manville and U. S. Gypsum.

Child Is Crushed To Death By Pickup

Will L. Bowling, jr., four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William L Bowling, whose address is listed as 312 East Thirteenth, was killed about 6:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when a pickup truck driven by his father crushed him.

Details of the accident, which occured about about a mile and one-half east of Abernathy, were not known; but it was reported that the boy's father had stopped the truck, and later started up without knowing that the child had crawled under the vehicle.

The boy was rushed to West Texas hospital in a car driven by Clifford Howard, but was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Rix Funeral home said that no funeral arrangements had been made late last night.

The Future Looks Good

City, State In Strong Position

QUESTION as one will the ability of man to "pierce the walls of unborn time," there are many sound reasons to substantiate the belief that Lubbock faces a prosperous future as the nation prepares to shift into peacetime production.

Stimulated by the industrial expansion brought to the West and South by the war, Texas—along with other Southern states—is on the upward swing. Government statistics, just released, reveal that this trend started even before the war and was accelerated by the location of aircraft plants and other war industries in these areas.

The West gained 16.7 per cent in population between 1930 and 1940. The South gained 10.1 per cent during the same period. The North gained only 4.2 per cent.

Even in the 1929-1939 depression period, the value of manufactures decreased only 1.7 per cent in the South; 16.8 per cent in the West; and 22.8 per cent in the North. Of course, the South had less manufacturing, but these figures show that the decline was much less below the Mason-Dixon line. During this period, the amount of wages declined 2.6 per cent in the South; 18.6 per cent in the West; and 21.5 per cent in the North.

This ratio, if it prevails in the future, means that Texas has an excellent chance of weathering the critical "let down" period that may occur while the nation is making the shift from war to peacetime production.

Adding to this assurance is the fact that Texas is preparing to launch a gigantic reconversion program, involving an expenditure of $5,000,000,000 on public and private projects. Airport construction and new highways occupy an important place in the list of proposed improvements.

The Bell Telephone company alone plans to spend $20,000,000 in Texas.

Reclaiming desert land by irrigation, reclaiming of swamp land by drainage, rebuilding of soil of long-used sections—these are a part of the promising agricultural projects that will add to Texas' farm wealth. In this connection, it is interesting to note that the Blue Book of Southern Progress, in a survey made in 1943, reported that the South's property values increased 360 per cent from 1900 to 1943. In the same period, its manufactured products gained 600 per cent, rising from $1,564,183,000 to $11,190,269,918. Income from the South's farm products increased by 300 per cent during the same period, growing from $1,564,069,000 to $5,846,366,000.

These figures are significant. They point clearly to the fact that the New South is on the march industrially and agriculturally.

Lubbock—the "Hub of the Plains"—occupies a favored and strategic location between the revived South and the progressive West. Located at the cross-roads of progress, the outlook is promising.

Another Push Forward

AGAIN Lubbock voters have expressed themselves unmistakably in favor of better educational opportunities for the children of the community, and as favoring community progress, as well.

In approving the $1,500,000 bond issue, needed for expansion of the local school system—the vote was 40-to-1—the electors of the Lubbock Independent School district gave the city another push forward.

The cost to the individual taxpayer will be small as compared to the general good that will result. In addition to providing needed accomodatings for the education of the city's growing school population, the construction program will make jobs for workers and increase local property values.

Everybody, whether he has children or not, likes to live in a city of good schools.

Finale For Lend-Lease

IN ordering the lend-lease program terminated, President Truman has given another demonstration of good business.

Now that the war has been won, there is no sound reason why this nation should continue to pour millions of dollars worth of strategic materials into Allied countries, where such materials might be used in competition with our own factories.

Under the lend-lease, this nation poured $39,000,000,000 worth of war goods and civilian necessities into countries fighting the Axis. The President's prompt action in stopping this flow of needed goods and materials will meet with universal approval here at home.

"I see no point in talking when I have nothing to say," asserted a new Truman appointee. How did it happen that a non-politician received a political appointment?

One-Minute Sermon

Moreover as for me, God forbid that I should sin against the Lord in ceasing to pray for you: but I will teach you the good and the right way:

Only fear the Lord, and serve him in truth with all your heart: for consider how great things he hath done for you.

But if ye shall still do wickedly, ye shall be consumed, both ye and your king.—1. Samuel 12; 23 through 25.

THE STORY: Brock Kittridge, hero flyer, is coming home to Daverton. Thayer, the girl he had known for 10 days on his last leave and then married, nervously awaits his return.

"When I marry," Thayer had said once to Amy, "I'm going to be sure—and it's going to be for keeps."

But now there was Brock. "You're what I want, Thayer. Ten days, 10 years—what's the difference? When you know, you know; nothing changes that." Not laughing now; deeply in earnest.

"The difference is, Brock, do we know?" Everything within her pulling her toward him, even while the deep steadiness that was part of her counseled caution.

"You love me, don't you, Thayer?"

"I love you, Brock." Never more than now with his eyes serious and grave upon her. "It isn't that."

"Then what is it? I don't get it, Thayer. Things can't be half—not with us. You're my girl—it's as simple as that."

Hard to meet his eyes and go on saying the reasonable thing. "Brock, you want me now . . ."

"You bet I want you." Standing there not touching her, yet by refraining holding her to him with something stronger than physical contact, a new maturity in his forebearance that moved her as nothing else could have, sent her heart into a side-slip.

They had driven out to Drumhead Hill, a rounded wooded knoll on the outskirts. They had got out of the car, above them the clear blue April sky. A man and a girl, the weight of their future pressing in upon them.

"Brock . . ."

"Thayer, I want to marry you; now—today. I want to think of you with my name, I want to know that you belong to me. I know there's the chance of my not coming back, but never the chance of my coming back with any different feeling for you." His eyes were searching her; his hands came out in an odd little defenseless gesture. "Darling—it's for always, can't you see?"

She went into his arms then. He did not kiss her at first, he did not speak. He stood there holding her, his cheek pressed against her own, as if nothing mattered but her nearness. Then slowly he moved his cheek until her mouth lay beneath his own. It was a long kiss and it held a tenderness that made tears burn behind her lids. Then, suddenly, her arms went about his neck, her palms were against the back of his head, pressing his closer. He kissed her again; she heard him whisper her name in a sort of exultation.

He was for carrying her off, then and there. She shook her head. "We must let your mother know, Brock. I wouldn't feel right if we didn't."

"Darling, mothers always oppose sudden change just as a matter of principle." Then, caught by her gaze, he said a little huskily, "Oh, I know you're right, Thayer." He drew her closer. "Always be right—for me." He kissed her. "My girl, my own girl—how'd I ever do it?"

April, 1942. Gas unrationed, and within two hours the road to Las Vegas unrolling swiftly beneath their impatient wheels.

THE little bedroom clock said 2:30.

Her living with Brock's mother was his idea. They returned from their short honeymoon to lunch with Mrs. Kittridge, Judson Kittridge—Brock's uncle, and his wife Hildreth. Thayer had not met Hildreth before. The very antithesis of Brock's mother, she was tall and thin, possessed of penetrating hazel eyes in a strongly featured plain face.

"Well," she had said, "so you're Thayer." Her handclasp was firm, her gaze dazzling. "And you're very poor at description, Corinne," she added, to her sister-in-law.

"Why," fluttered Mrs. Kittridge charmingly, "I told you, Hildreth that Thayer was pretty, that she had brown eyes . . ."

"You told me none of the things I'm finding out for myself," retorted Hildreth crisply. "What do I care for prettiness and brown eyes?" A quick warm smile illumined her face and she took Thayer's arm. "My dear, we've no intention of dissecting you. When I'm pleased I forget my manners."

It was an odd meal. Fascinated, Thayer watched the play between Aunt Hildreth and Mrs. Kittridge. They don't like each other, she thought, and then involuntarily, I like Aunt Hildreth. She watched the sharp clever face, so in contrast to Mrs. Kittridge's gentle beauty, and then she was aware of something: Mrs. Kittridge's smile kindled to warmth only when it dwelt upon her son; her eyes caught no spark from it when they rested on anyone else. Only the tension of the moment enabled Thayer to have this discernment.

Afterward Brock and Thayer had driven out to Drumhead Hill, for tomorrow Brock would be leaving. Thayer had presented her views. "The war isn't going to last forever, Brock, and I'd rather be—on my own until you come back. I've told Miss Mary to hold my room."

"Hey," Brock said, pulling her over close to him. "I'm giving the orders. We Kittridges boss our women — all except Aunt Hildreth." He laughed, then sobered. "Why, Thayer, Mom's expecting you to stay. Didn't you see all the new chintz and stuff in the bedroom? She really went to town on it."

"Is it your room done over, Brock?"

"No, mine's next to Mom's; it could hardly hold me for all the junk I had in it."

"Brock, don't think me unreasonable, but I'd rather stay with Miss Mary."

His voice grew grave. "Look, honey, this is my town—our town, now. I think Miss Mary's a swell guy, but I want to think of you in my home. I want you and Mom to know each other. I want you to like my mother, Thayer."

"I want to, Brock; I want her to like me." But even as she spoke she was remembering that Mrs. Kittridge's eyes deep down had held no warmth.

"She's so lonesome in that big house," Brock went on. "She's not strong; I think it's her heart, though she'll never admit it. But If I know you're there with her . . ." He stopped suddenly. "Lord! I sound like 'the soldier's farewell' or something." Swiftly his mood changed. He walked two fingers up the side of her cheek, circled, came around to push un the corners of her mouth. "Smile," he ordered.

As she did he kissed her and in that kiss was swift breathless union that robbed her of everything but the wish to do what Brock desired. "There! It's all settled," he stated comfortably a moment later.

For a while they sat in silence. Brock's arms were holding her secure and in her happiness Thayer pushing away half-acknowledged fears. This present was all that mattered.

Brock straightened in the seat, looked at the green rounded knoll with its scattered oaks. "When I come back we'll build our home—right here."

"Here!"

He nodded. "My grandad gave me this. It semed so far from town then that I used to laugh about it, but now I know that if I come back I will live here—with you." Then as if ashamed of his seriousness he laughed and rumpled her hair. "Meanwhile, I gotta keep my women under one roof."

They drove back to the Kittridge house; there was a telegram for Brock. Within an hour he had left; they were not to have until tomorrow after all. In the numbness which followed their parting Thayer clung gratefully to one thought: she and Brock had said their real goodby back there on the green windy slope of Drumhead Hill.

(To Be Continued)

When Lt.-Gen. Patton's iron fisted Third Army made its spectacular drive down the Normandy peninsula and later rolled into Paris, some of the ordnance tanks covered more than 600 milesin two weeks—an average of over 40 miles a day. One tank column roared forward 96 miles in 24 hours, and another dashed more than 100 miles in 12 hours.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IN a recent talk at the Army Air Forces' Convalescent hospital in Pawling, N. Y., Henry Ford II, motor car manufacturer, said something which made a deep impression on me.

"The young men who are returning from combat," he said, "thought many thoughts and faced great responsibilities.

"Some of their ideas may never become more than ideas. But many of them are sound and need only the opportunity to become valuable to industry.

"This influx of new thought will be a good thing, for it will give industry a lift it might not otherwise receive."

There, in a few words, is a formula for that "brave, new world," which all of us may well apply to our lives.

Don't let us look upon them as problems and as cases.

We stayed at home. They went out and fought.

We remained in our own little four walls and our squirrel cages. They saw the world.

We read. They acted.

We worried. They thought.

* * *

I have talked to quite a few of these fellows who have returned from overseas.

BRANDEIS

They can't understand what all the worrying and fretting is about.

"For heaven's sake," said one of them to me, "if we could take care of the Nazis don't you think we'll be able to take care of our jobs and our homes and ourselves?"

I have a suspicion that the post-war world is not going to be shaped by the stay-at-homes but by the come-homes.

They have learned more in one battle of Bastogne or Okinawa than we have learned in the four years since Pearl Harbor.

They have been doing a lot of thinking in those foxholes and those tents and those barracks and on the marches and in their planes.

Men who have faced the danger they have faced aren't afraid of money problems and domestic problems and all those little things we prize so highly.

A man who has challenged death for twenty-four hours every day certainly needs no wet nurse to challenge life.

We handed him a pretty sorry mess.

He cleaned it up for us.

Now let us keep it clean—for him.

Reconversion Problems

There Is A Bright Side, Too

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE postwar picture of employment, production and maintenance of general prosperity conditions has both its bright and bad aspects, according to President Truman's staff of reconversion experts.

Whether the nation goes into an economic nose dive or remains strong, healthy and happy depends on the individual as much as it does on forthcoming federal policies and actions. It is generally admitted that we sink or swim together.

TUCKER

It is quite possible that seven or eight million people will be out of work by Christmas, including many returned members of the armed forces. But they will not be the same sort of apple-selling jobless that we had in 1931-1932.

Folks laid off because of discharges from the Army and cancellations of military contracts totaling more than 50 billion dollars will not be candidates for the poorhouse or a WPA shovel.

They will have enough money rattling in their jeans or piled up in Social Security or unemployment funds to tide them over pending their out-of-work period, or to permit them to retire in comparative comfort.

SAVINGS: Federal and private economists estimate that the business community and individuals have saved approximately $250,000,000,000 during the war. And this figure does not include the large amounts soldiers have sent home or invested in government securities.

Nor does this computation take into account the vast sum of almost nine billion which has been paid out of the Social Security fund, or of the $21,500,000,000 which has accumulated for future payments as of July 1, 1945.

It is also significant, as well as a hopeful factor, that of the $250,000,000,000 in nation-wide savings, $7 out of every $10 has been put aside for a rainy postwar day by individuals. It is up to them to decide, by their methods of spending this unprecedented accumulation, whether the U. S. shall continue to prosper or suffer a cycle of inflation.

In fact, they have so much purchasing power at their command that Uncle Sam is planning to step in and act as their financial adviser and controller.

ROOSEVELT: Oddly—or naturally—enough, the very "economic royalists" and the "members of well-stocked clubs" whom the late President Roosevelt often denounced for their opposition to his scheme of controlled economy, now favor stringent federal regulatin anent the outpouring of these billions of wartime savings.

If all this potential cash were permitted to swamp the market in a frantic scramble for automobiles, washing machines, homes, radios, rugs and other household furnishings, the deluge might sink the banks and the insurance companies.

Real and security values might rise for the moment, but under the pressure of inevitable inflation, they would collapse. The era which began with the Harding-Coolidge boom and then ended in the disastrous depression of 1929-1935 would be duplicated.

So, and the late Mr. Roosevelt would have chuckled had he lived to witness this strange development, his Wall Street enemies now bless him for his foresight—or hindsight. They want the government to protect them and their customers against themselves.

NEW: England faces the same problem, and popular realization of the manifold difficulties ahead partially accounts for the election of a Labor government pledged to the nationalization of the Bank of England and key industries.

Although Britain's standard of living and pay envelope do not approach America's, it is estimated that millions of Englishmen, including the lowest income classes, have each saved from $500 to $2500 during the six years of the war. They need peacetime goods, houses and repairs far more than we do, and purchasing over there may rise to a crescendo.

Thus, whether we live under a Truman, an Attlee, a de Gaulle or a Stalin form of government —Capitalistic, Laborite, Socialistic or Communistic, respectively—we shall be regulated and dictated to, for our own good perhaps, by the big political bosses. The controls will not be felt so vividly as the rationing of food, clothing and gasoline, but they will have more far-reaching effects.

In short, yesterday is dead and entombed as a result of the global war and the release of such strange machinery as atomic energy. The United States faces new horizons, social, economic and political, which not even the men who brought these forces into being can comprehend.

From both a cosmic and a bread-and-butter point of view, Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin, Hitler, Eisenhower, Zhukov, MacArthur, Chiang Kai-shek and all their associates were only blind servants of history.

OCCUPATION: American troops will get the cream occupational assignment under the tentative program for Allied control of the former Japanese empire. Save for token representation of other members of the United Nations forces, it is probable that Uncle Sam's soldiers will be stationed in the main islands of our recent foe.

Pending more detailed arrangements based on changing conditions, the Russians will move into Korea and the northerly portions of Manchuria. The section of China seized by the Japs will be occupied by Chiang Kai-shek's men in cooperation with the Chinese Communists. It is believed that Washington and Moscow will use their good offices to bring about a reconciliation between these factions.

The British and Dutch will, naturally, move back into areas on the mainland and the archipelago where they were supreme before they were ousted by the Japs immediately after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The Allied commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, is expected to establish his headquarters in Tokyo at the American embassy. Incidentally, one reason for selecting the Americans as policemen of Japan proper was the belief that their presence would not create so much domestic friction as would Russian, Chinese or British occupation. Our prewar relationship with Tokyo had a more historic and friendly basis than had the affiliations of the other powers vis-a-vis the Land of the Rising Sun.

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

UNFILLED offices are saving Texas some money.

Biggest unfilled jobs are those of assistants to the Adjutant General and to the Secretary of State.

The assistant Adjutant General's $4,200-a-year job has been left vacant since the death of the late Col. Neil Banister.

There has been no assistant secretary of state, a $4,000-a-year job, since former Secretary of State Sidney Latham was succeeded by his former assistant, Claude Isbell.

Both departments seem to be getting along all right without the additional office and expense.

For the same reason of saving the state money, it is possible that Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will act slowly about appointing a judge of the Eastland Court of Appeals, where a vacancy now exists.

The Courts of Appeals are in recess until October. So, the governor, who has been critical of court expenses and the number of courts, may save that $6,500 a year at least until October.

"The Manhunt And The Atom"

By JACK STINNETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — Behind the production of those airborne volcanoes known as atomic bombs is one of the strangest manhunts in history.

It was the search for nearly a quarter of a million persons to work in remote areas on a project so secret that thousands of them finished their tasks without ever knowing what they were doing.

In a couple of years two "cities" of approximately 50,000 workers each sprang up where only a desert whistle stop and a small town of 4,000 souls bloomed before. Each of these "cities" saw another 50,000 workers, many with their families, come and go.

Both were component parts of what was secretly named and now well known as "the Manhattan project." Both produced essential parts of the atomic bomb.

ONE IS near Clinton, Tenn. There, since the summer of 1943, the payrolls have listed 171,000 workers. There is some duplication in this figure, since none of the dozen employing contractors made any effort to check off those who had worked previously for others.

Peak employment at Clinton was around 55,000. The workers live in Oak Ridge, a brand new city of 75,000 persons—fifth largest in the state.

The other mushroom city popped up near the little town of Hanford, Wash.

Here, 81,000 workers have dumped their bedrolls or parked their trailers and gone to work somewhere in the 25-square-mile "plant" of the Hanford Engineer Co. (really our old Delaware neighbors, the DuPonts) or for the Olympic Commissary Co., which feeds and furnishes the crews.

The manhunt that produced Clinton was relatively simple, for it was in a surplus labor area. But its needs occasionally became acute and sent the manhunt off in full cry. The manhunt that produced Hanford was a labor of Hercules.

* * *

THE agency which was master of hounds at both these hunts was Paul V. McNutt's War Manpower Commission. In two years WMC turned up 33,000 candidates for jobs at Clinton, of whom 13,000 were hired, and 137,700 for Hanford, of whom 58,000 were hired.

WMC did all this without ever knowing just what it was hiring men for.

ACROSS the desks at WMC came such staggering orders as 2,000 electricians wanted at Hanford, Wash., in three weeks, 1,600 steamfitters needed immediately at Clinton, Tenn., 200 millwrights absolutely necessary by a week from Monday.

These orders, mind you, had the topmost priorities, backed by the signature of President Roosevelt himself—but since the early summer of 1943, labor has never been shorter in these United States.

WMC passed the orders on to directors of the 10 manpower districts outside those two in which the projects were located. Daily progress reports flowed back to Washington. In the critical periods those reports came in hourly on teletype machines over leased wires.

IMAGINE walking up to a man on the street and saying: "I'm with United States Employment Service (or WMC). What's your profession? Carpenter, huh? Are you an American citizen? Fine. Been to Europe in recent years? No. I'm not kidding. You haven't? Fine.

"Gotta job? Well, no matter. How'd you like a better job? Say up in Washington state. What kind of a job? Why, carpentering. Makin' what? Well, I can't tell you. I don't know. Now, listen, Brother, I'm NOT crazy. It's a wartime secret. The contractor needs you. Uncle Sam wants you. Mr. Roosevelt himself has told us we got to get you. Never mind about your selective service board. We'll fix that. Can you leave tonight?"

How many of you would take a job if approached like that?

By the time the Japs were probing the ghastly ruins of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Director Paul V. McNutt's labor scouts had referred nearly 173,000 persons to the contractors at Hanford and Clinton. They never told one what he was going to do—for the simple reason they didn't know themselves—and 71,433 of these men and women had been hired.

GETTING the workers there was almost as much of a problem. Given tickets and traveling expenses, they set out in good faith by train or bus or jalopies. However, WMC discovered soon that homesickness, drunken benders, gambling and sometimes just downright cussedness took their toll on the way. After that the new workers were sent by definite routes, and crews of WMC agents met them along the line to nurse them along.

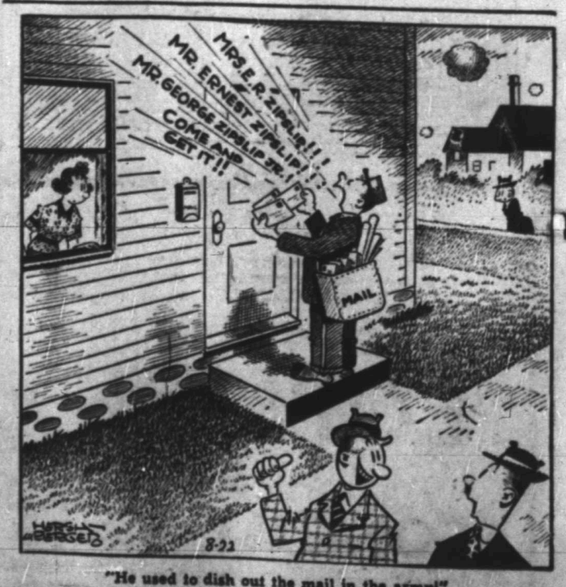

The homesick ones were cheered up; the drunks were sobered up; new tickets were given for lost ones; more traveling funds were provided for those with a weakness for race track, cards or ivories; and scores of lesser aids given to speed the workers along the trail to their mysterious jobs.

Like all boom towns, Oak Ridge in Tennessee and Richland Village, near Hanford, grew overnight to roaring little Helldorados. While some of the newcomers loved it, many of them lacked the spirit of the raw Old West. Complaints were numerous, and the labor turnover was terrific. This wasn't WMC's problem, but the Army invited it to sit in on the conferences that turned these modern Cripple Creeks and Deadwoods into tamed and peaceful industrial towns.

Ignominious Surrender By Vaunted Kwantung Army Bitter Anticlimax

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22 — To the Japanese, one of the great anticlimaxes of this war must be the ignominious surrender to the Russians of the mighty Kwantung Army in Manchuria.

This special garrison force existed for four years with the main purpose of fighting Russia. Its consciousness of that purpose was so keen that its trigger-happy troops got the empire into thousands of border incidents with Soviet border forces along the 2,000 mile frontier between Manchuria and Siberia.

It got the best men and weapons Japan had. It ran its own empire of nearly 40,000,000 people and frankly enjoyed the job. It staged the Mukden incident in 1931 which won Manchuria and its troops helped with the conquest of China in 1937.

Struggle On Exact Role

All along there was a struggle over its exact role between Tokyo and Tsinking, where the Kwantung commander in chief doubled as "ambassador" to the puppet state of Manchoukuo.

While Manchuria was used as a springboard for conquest in China, Kwantung officers usually were not allowed to reap much of the spoils.

Until the European war, the Kwantung Army's main energies were turned toward the "defense" of Manchuria, but behind that facade its staff mapped thoroughly the strategy it would follow in conquering eastern Siberia should the chance arise.

The Kwantung Army did not take part in the first of the two most serious border incidents with Soviet Russia. It was the Korean garrison force which fought a month at Changkufeng in 1938 before Tokyo could get it to pull back. But the Kwantung Army was waiting nearby, ready to spring. One of its intelligence officers told me exactly what the Kwantung Army would do—it would strike eastward across the Transiberian railway and cut off Vladivostok.

Japs Meet Surprise

The next summer, however, the Kwantung Army thought it saw its chance, and engaged in bloody fighting at Nomonhan on the border of Soviet-dominated Outer Mongolia. The Reds surprised the Japanese with their mechanized strength, and 18,000 Japanese soldiers died before an imperial prince flew in from Tokyo to order a settlement. The Kwantung chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Rensuke Isogai, was cashiered and entered oblivion until Tokyo, three years later, made him military governor of Hong Kong.

Fewer border incidents were reported after that, and the Kwantung Army settled down as an immense training organization for imperial troops needed in China and elsewhere.

Tokyo's policy changed. The neutrality pact was signed with Russia, and Japanese eyes turned to Southeast Asia and the Pacific. When Germany attacked Russian in 1941, the imperial command's influence was firmly enough established in Hsinking that the Kwantung Army did not jump on isolated Siberia as many expected it to.

Effects Now Plainer

How this was effected is becoming plainer as the Russians announce the names of the Kwantung Army commanders who are surrendering to them. They are all Tokyo boys, their loyalty to the throne proven on the field in China or at home.

The Russians have reported considerable fighting in their advance through Manchuria, but their progress has been so swift that it seems unlikely that the Kwantung Army resisted with anything like its real potential.

The emperor's orders apparently are being obeyed as promptly in Manchuria as anywhere, if not more so.

Even the injunction against "emotional outbursts" is being observed.

The Russians say there is little suicide among the Japanese—although much talk about it—as one crack Army after another lays down its arms to a foe it trained years to conquer.

Cost of raising a turkey in Washington in 1944 was $5.81, or 31.74 cents a pound, as compared to $4.61, or 25.2 cents a pound, in 1943.

Daladier Says FDR Urged France To Use Debt Payment To Arm

PARIS, Aug. 22. (AP)—Former Premier Edouard Daladier said in a speech yesterday that the late President Roosevelt declined payments on the old French war debt in 1938 and urged that France use the money for arms.

Speaking before the Radical socialist party convention, Daladier said Mr. Roosevelt told him by trans-Atlantic telephone:

"You must arm because the danger is growing daily, but I can do nothing for you because my country has not yet understood the danger."

Idalou School Opening Changed To Sept. 3

September 3 has been set as the opening date for Idalou schools, a change from previous announcements.

OUR COMPANY'S "HIGHLINE HIGHWAY"

Vital to Victory

From our power stations—over our Company's "Highline Highway"—from town to town—to war plants, encampments and other military installations, flows the electricity so vital to Victory. Without this huge generating capacity and many miles of highlines, we would have been unable to accomplish our important job of helping win the war.

And, to the homes and farms, stores and shops, this same dependable electric service is on the job 24 hours a day at a cost which is the lowest in the history of our company.
