SOLUTION IS EXPECTED IN TAYLOR CASE

INFORMATION IN MURDER CASE IS BEING COMPILED

MABEL NORMAND WHOLLY EXONORATED IN CASE, OFFICIALS STATE

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Mar. 25.—The William Desmond Taylor murder case is gathering an ever-increasing mass of rumors, reports and new mysteries as the investigation moves across the country.

Los Angeles officials, here on their way home from an Eastern tour of inquiry, have spent most of their time denying the mounting flood rumors, confining their official utterances to unadorned statements that "Satisfactory progress" was being made in unraveling the mystery. But while Asa Keres, the district attorney of Los Angeles county, and Harold Davis, his assistant, were discounting stories of stolen documents, secret conferences with Chicago officials, and the shadowing of Chicagoans, a definite statement of new progress came from Los Angeles.

Valuable new information was supplied there by two men who hereafter had not been mentioned in connection with the slaying. Byron Fitts, chief deputy district attorney, who made the announcement, declined to divulge the names of the men but described one as a prominent real estate operator and other as a well-known actor. Their questioning resulted from information gathered in the East by Mr. Keres.

Keres also directed Fitts to issue the statement that Mabel Normand, who previously had been questioned, had "long since been completely exonerated of any connection with the matter," and that queries he planned to ask her upon his return to Los Angeles were "only of minor importance and of a general nature."

The Chicago Herald and Examiner today said that evidence so far uncovered had focused attention upon a woman well-known in Hollywood, not an actress, who previously had not been under suspicion. The newspaper account related that the woman was known to have owned a small automatic pistol, was reputed to be a good shot and was said to have made threats against Taylor.

Collins disappeared from the scene of the fight soon after the affray and has been hunted by West Texas officers since. It is presumed that he was enroute to the home of some of his people near Henderson, Texas, when apprehended in Kaufman county.

Sheriff Ellington of Terry county, was advised of the arrest of Collins by Lubbock county officers, and left immediately for the prisoner, arriving here from Brownfield.

A charge of murder in connection with the death of Howard has been filed, and a charge of assault with intent to kill has been filed in the case of Fisher, the advices stated. Collins will be held for action of the grand jury of Terry county, and he probably will be given an early trial. Howard died in the home of Fisher four or five hours after the affray as a result of knife wounds in his chest and about the head, and slight hope was held for the recovery of Fisher for a time, but latest reports indicate that he will now recover. The two were injured in an alleged altercation with Collins that is said to have arisen following a horse trade which Fisher and Collins were the principals.

Collins probably will make bond easily pending trial, local officers believe as he has relatives not only in East Texas but in this city, in addition to a large following of friends. Sheriff Ellington is expected to arrive in Brownfield with the prisoner some time tonight, or early tomorrow.

Man Wanted In Ropesville In Murder of Frank Howard Is Held In East Texas

J. C. Collins, of Ropesville, wanted in Terry county to answer to charges of murder and assault in connection with the fatal stabbing of Frank Howard at the home of Fisher near Brownfield late Wednesday of last week, was arrested by Kaufman county officers at Kemp yesterday morning, according to advices received at the office of Sheriff H. L. Johnston here late yesterday.

Collins disappeared from the scene of the fight soon after the affray and has been hunted by West Texas officers since. It is presumed that he was enroute to the home of some of his people near Henderson, Texas, when apprehended in Kaufman county. Sheriff Ellington of Terry county, was advised of the arrest of Collins by Lubbock county officers, and left immediately for the prisoner, arriving here from Brownfield.

WILLIAM STAYTON SELECTED AS WET SPOKESMAN FOR ARGUMENTS WHICH WILL START ON APRIL 5

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON MODIFICATION STEPS FROM WAY OF SENATE COMMITTEE AND GIVES LATTER FIRST CHANCE AT WET-DRY HEARINGS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—The house unofficial committee for modification of the Volstead act will give the senate judiciary committee first whack at testimony on prohibition and will defer its own hearing set for next Wednesday.

The committee will cooperate fully with the senate official body and in addition, has appointed a spokesman to present its views and those of modification senators to the committee, which will begin its sessions on April 5th.

Stayton is Spokesman
The spokesman is William M. Stayton, executive head of the Association against the prohibition amendment and Chairman of the joint legislative committee. He will be assisted by Julian Codman of Boston, who will discuss legal aspects of prohibition before the committee.
This action was decided upon at a conference last night of 54 representatives and eight senators in favor of modification, who met under the chairmanship of Representative Hill, Republican of Maryland. The representatives, Mr. Hill said, comprised all but five members of the unofficial modification committee of the house, of which he is the head. When the senate committee concludes its hearings on April 17 the House modificationists may decide to hold their hearings, Mr. Hill said, in the belief that "the time has come to unite on one specific method of modification of the prohibition law."

Discussion Not To Lag
In the meanwhile there is no indication that prohibition discussion in and out of Congress is to lag in anticipation of an exhaustive exposition at the senate hearing. The subject was linked with the next presidential election in a speech in the senate yesterday by Senator Bruce, Democrat of Maryland, one of the wets. He suggested that the Democratic ticket in 1928 be led by some one "like Alfred Smith of New York, or Albert Ritchie of Maryland, pledged to see that conditions of law observance, decency and respectability are restored in the United States."

That the idea did not set well with other Democrats was indicated by negative replies to the speaker's remarks.

Heavy Rains Drench Part of West Texas

ABILENE, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Rain, ranging from one-fourth to one and one-half inches, fell throughout this section of West Texas last night according to reports reaching here today. Telephone and telegraph lines were out to San Angelo and points West of here.

The precipitation here was 1.07 inches, the heaviest recorded in several months. To the South Ballinger received .87 inches. Winters one inch and Orval one inch. Reports from the North indicated a fall of .75 inch at Anson, North of that place the fall became lighter, very little rain being reported from Seymour.

Heavy rains began falling at Big Spring, Colorado, Sweetwater and other points at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, but no reports are available since that time.

Chair In Georgia Is Claimant of Slayer

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Mar. 25.—(AP)—Ted L. Coggeshall, Clayton, Ill., died in the electric chair here today for the murder a year ago of Professor W. C. Wright, superintendent of schools of Putnam county. The execution took place at 12:30 o'clock Eastern time.

Floyd McClelland, Brocton, N. Y., who confessed to participation in the same crime a few hours before his last to death at 12:45 p. m. Eastern time, Sam Scarborough, Tampa, Fla., third member of the group which took Professor Wright, turned state's evidence following his capture and said Coggeshall and McClelland struck the blows that killed Wright. Scarborough said robbery was the motive, the was given a life sentence.

Two Bandits Escape After Bank Robbery

WELLINGTON, Kans., Mar. 25.—(AP)—Two bandits early today blasted a hole in the vault of the Mayfield State Bank at Mayfield, eight miles west of here, and escaped with about $100 in tickets and pennies amid an exchange of shots with townsmen.

Mrs. Dora Oglesby, telephone operator, heard noises in the bank about 5 o'clock and summoned several men who armed themselves and ambushed near the building. When the bandits found they were surrounded, they exchanged shots with the hurriedly formed posse, ran to a motor car at the outskirts of the town and escaped.

OTHERS INJURED IN STORM WHICH HITS A VILLAGE

ORANGE COUNTY IN EDGE OF SEVERE WIND; SOME DAMAGE IS DONE

(By The Associated Press)

ORANGE, Mar. 25.—A tornado swooped down upon the Orange oil field and village near here this morning, resulting in the death of one person and several injured, blowing down 100 derricks in the oil fields.

Clara Koon, 24, a miller helper, was killed by a falling derrick, the back part of his leg being fractured. He died within ten minutes after reaching the hospital here. The injured were M. J. Tony, white, drifter, bruised about the head and shoulders; W. J. Davis, white, drifter, hipster, also bruised about head and shoulders; Varnie Sidney, 19 year old daughter of Minerva Sidney, colored, both legs broken; Minerva Sidney, her 13 months old child, injured about head; John Williams and George Bennett, negroes, bruised and cut about head and shoulders.

Barrier Style Show Draws Large Crowd

The Spring Style Pageant of Barrier Brothers was presented at the Palace Theater at 9 o'clock last evening before a large audience. A stage setting of unusual beauty, made more attractive through the use of changing lights, was used as a background for the models of spring wear, for women, children and men. Local models were used in the show which will be given again this evening. Musical specialties were given throughout the evening. M. A. Jones and R. A. Neils, of Dallas, entertainers who have been here several days, sang; the Home Brew quartette, composed of Ira Wilson, Tony G. Dyess, Lee Wendell and L. M. Brooks, sang.

Coats and suits, sport clothing, afternoon wear, evening costumes and children's clothing were shown. Models were Mrs. Frank Barclay, Field Smith, Mrs. Jimmie Harpham, Miss Jane Mast, Miss DeAnn Sammons, Miss Edith Easter, John Neale, Mrs. Elmer Stotts, Miss Eula Howard, Miss Mildred Street, Miss Ruth Benedict, Miss Violet Grayson, Miss Madelyn Jones, Miss Marjorie Leaverton, Miss Mildred Buckingham, Miss Almeda Murray, Chief of Police, T. E. May, Miss Evelyn Reed, Brock Brandon. Models for children's clothing were Layette Lindsey, Wanda Hunter, Neal Cowden, Jr., John Hoffer, Jr., Mary Sue Yarbrough and Maurice Hunter.

Mrs. G. Ford Leads Athenaeum Lesson

Mrs. Gus Ford was leader of the Athenaeum Club Tuesday afternoon in the regular meeting at the First Baptist Church with a program on Negro dialect and folklore. Mrs. W. G. Murray gave a sketch of the life and work of Sherwood Bonner and Erwin Russell. Mrs. Fred Snyder discussed the life of Joel Chandler "Shadows" (Edwards) was discussed by Mrs. J. F. Hankins. Mrs. O. E. Sears read an Uncle Remus selection from Joel Chandler Harris. Modern Paintings, a study course sent out from Texas University, will be studied by the club during the year of 1926-27. It was decided during a short business session.

SOUTH PLAINS MUSIC FESTIVAL OPENS WITH JOINT RECITAL BY FAMED ARTISTS ON WEDNESDAY

Mme. Louise Hubbard, soprano, and James Stanley, baritone, opened the South Plains Music Festival with a joint recital at the Tech pavilion Wednesday evening.

This was the first of a series of recitals to be given by noted artists. Edwin Hughes, pianist, will appear in recital this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the pavilion.

Contests opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the High School auditorium with part of the piano classifications and the girls chorus entrants being tried out. The contests will continue through tomorrow, starting at 1 o'clock in the morning.

South Plains Musicians Here
Musicians from over the South Plains have gathered here for the festival, many of them being entrants in the contests. Friends of these musicians have come from virtually every town and community in the district. The playing of Hughes, who is to appear this evening, is said to be characterized by compelling emotional warmth, sparkling brilliance an exquisite touch and a tone quality of singular beauty.

The singers of Wednesday evening gave encore numbers following each group of songs being called back to the stage several times by the applause of the audience. The program closed with duet selections by the two singers, after each had sung solo groups.

The singing of Stanley was characterized by a flexibility and beauty of tone. He opened the evening's program with "Come Raggio Di Sol" (Caldara), followed by "Les Trois Capitaines," an old French song, "Verborgeheit" (Wolf) and "Helmliche Aufforderung" (Strauss). His mellow voice and unusual range in singing won for him the hearty applause of the audience.

Miss Hubbard Sings
Mme. Hubbard opened her group with "Quelle Souffrance" (Lenormand). She showed unusual control of her lyrical voice during all of her singing, taking the extremely high notes with ease.

Max Polikoff, violinist, is to play Friday evening at the Tech, and winners in the contests are to appear on Saturday evening.

Judges for the contests are announced by Miss Mary Dunn, president of the South Plains Music Teachers Association, which is sponsoring the festival, are as follows: E. Clyde Whitlock, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Music Teachers Association, Ft. Worth, general critic; Miss Pauline Brigham, West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, piano; Mrs. Marsales Glenn, Amarillo, piano; Wallace R. 50 Exes To Attend A. and M. Meeting

About 50 ex-students of A. and M. college are expected to attend a banquet at the Tech cafeteria at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening when the South Plains A. and M. club meets in regular session.

A program has been arranged for the evening with Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Tech making an address on a subject of his own selection. F. J. Dahlberg, 23, will give an account of athletic events. Fish O'Neal Burroughs will talk on the track meet at Fort Worth and the Timid Trio, consisting of Glen Hunt, Kent Knox and Royce Waters, will sing. The president of the club, W. L. Starnes, will preside at the business session and make important announcements.

Mrs. Jones Delegate To District Meeting

Mrs. Hub Jones was chosen as the delegate from the Child Study Club to the meeting of the Seventh district of the State federation of women's clubs in Childers in April at a meeting of the club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. O. L. Peterman was elected alternate.

Mrs. D. K. Bondurant led the lesson on the value of myths. She was assisted by Mrs. Garland Woodward, Mrs. E. B. Wheelock and Mrs. C. E. Maedgen. Mrs. Dana Harmon read two enjoyable readings.

A committee was appointed to confer with Judge Charles Nordyke about securing bath houses for girls at the city park. Those appointed were Mrs. O. E. Sears, Mrs. H. L. Allen and Mrs. J. R. Dow. Mrs. A. V. Weaver reported that a list of picture shows for children has been compiled and that an attempt will be made to secure these pictures to be shown here. A social meeting is to be held late in May at the home of Mrs. Hub Jones, it was decided.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Grapefruit, cereal, thin cream, crisp toast, French omelet, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—New carrot puree, toasted crackers, fig custard, milk tea.
Dinner—Roast veal, boiled macaroni, beefs in orange sauce, head lettuce with Thousand Island dressing, prune whip, Graham bread, milk, coffee.

Macaroni which has been carefully cooked and blanched makes a delicious accompaniment for roast veal. The macaroni should be well seasoned with salt, pepper and butter just as potatoes would be. One or two tablespoons of grated cheese added during the reheating gives a certain richness to the dish. There should not be enough cheese to really taste, so the cheese must be grated to insure perfect blending.

New Carrot Puree
Two cups milk, 1/4 cup thin cream, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon onion juice, 1 cup grated raw carrot.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add cream, salt and pepper and onion juice. Bring again to the boiling point and add the grated raw carrot. Cook over hot water for ten minutes and serve.

The carrot must be grated, not finely chopped. If veal or chicken stock is available it can be used in place of the milk. The stock makes a rather better puree than the milk but is less nourishing.

COUNTY RALLY OF CLUB BOYS AND GIRLS PLANNED

A county-wide rally of club boys and girls is being planned to be held here on Saturday, April 3, when it is expected that approximately 300 boys and girls, active participants in the county club program under county agent David P. Eaton and Miss Hazel Hammer, home demonstration agent, will be present. It was announced Thursday by Mr. Eaton.

The meeting will be an all day session. The boys and girls will meet at the office of the county agents Saturday morning, and later in the day will be carried on an inspection trip of the Tech college here. Each one present, however, will be expected to arrange for lunch. Mr. Eaton said, as no plans have been made along this line.

During the day, plans for the years work will be discussed, prizes in different contests will be announced, and matters in general in connection with the work will be discussed. A program now in the course of preparation by Mr. Eaton and Miss Hammer, and it is expected that this will be completed by next Saturday.

Mr. Eaton plans a little later to hold a district rally here, when boys and girls from all over the South Plains will be present, and on this occasion, it is hoped to work out some manner of providing a luncheon. Definite plans have not been worked out on this, however.

Moonskinners in Oregon Did This

IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS ARE PRESENTED TO HOUSE IN CASE OF FEDERAL JUDGE G. ENGLISH

FIVE ARTICLES, CHARGING JURIST WITH A NUMBER OF MISDEMEANORS, ARE PRESENTED BY MEMBERS OF JUDICIARY COMMITTEE THURSDAY

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. (AP)—Formal articles of impeachment against Federal Judge George W. English of the Eastern Illinois district, were presented to the house today by its judiciary committee.

The articles were five in number, and were based on evidence presented at prolonged hearings. A minority of the committee held this evidence insufficient and recommended against impeachment.

Article 1 charged the jurist with abuse of the powers of his office, and with "tyranny and oppression, whereby he has brought the administration of justice into disrepute."

Article 2 charged that the judge was guilty of misbehavior in office in that he "corruptly extended partiality and favoritism to Mr. Thomas and by his conduct and partiality and favoritism."

Article 3 charged that in conjunction with Thomas, he "did corruptly and improperly handle and control the deposit of bankruptcy and other funds under his control" by depositing, transferring and using the funds for the "pecuniary benefit of himself" and Thomas.

Article 4 charged that Judge English at divers times and places repeatedly in his judicial capacity treated members of the bar in a "manner coarse, indecent, arbitrary and tyrannical," and in other ways "conducted himself in a manner unbecoming the high position which he holds."

Each article concluded with the statement that the jurist was and is guilty of misbehavior as judge and of a misdemeanor in office.

The house is expected to act on the committee's recommendation within a few days. If these recommendations are upheld by a majority of the house, Judge English will be tried before the senate, sitting as an impeachment court.

Representatives Yates, Republican, Illinois, a committee member, in separate views, announced he would vote against impeachment in the house. The testimony has not revealed sufficient evidence to warrant proceedings "that should be invoked only in case of extreme gravity," he said, adding that "an official cannot be impeached on general principles or simply because it is charged he is unfit."

Interesting Facts about Gasoline

Modern Refining The "Cracking" Process

To meet the growing demand for Gasoline, which has far outstripped the increase in crude petroleum production, the "Cracking Process" for refining was developed.

By subjecting heavy oils, such as gas and fuel, to high pressures and temperatures, they are converted into lighter hydrocarbons, and when this process is carried to a certain point, gasoline of a high quality is one of the products. This is called "cracking," by which is meant the splitting or breaking of a heavy oil molecule into many lighter ones. In this manner the yield of finished gasoline is increased from 25% to 30% over the old method of straight distillation.

In 1925, about one-third of the country's gasoline was refined by the "cracking" process.

Beaty's Service Station, 9th St and Ave. H.
Cadillac Garage, 919 Ave. I

At the Simms Refinery in Dallas, the natural gasoline content of the crude oil is distilled off in the usual way. In the same manner gas oil is taken from the crude oil. This gas oil is "cracked" by modern methods into gasoline. The natural gasoline and the "cracked" gasoline are then blended into a high-grade motor fuel.

Westerners Go Down Before Local All-Stars In First Exhibition Of Season At Merrill Park Wednesday

The hopefuls of Skipper Sled Allen, bid of the Lubbock high school for district and state baseball honors this year, went down to defeat before an all-star town selection also assembled by the veteran skipper at the Merrill park Wednesday afternoon in the first exhibition of the season, but the youngsters went down by a majority that left the game anybody's victory until the last inning. The final score was announced as 12 to 10.

Such men as "Emma" Guber, Ches Shepard, Old Jackson, "Red" Galtier, "Sniper" Conley, and "Skeet" Ratliff, all of whom have seen more or less professional experience, and with one exception went with the pennant winning Hubbers in amateur play last year opposed the high school nine, and the Skipper had a chance not only to look over his best prospects for the high school nine, but to see his veteran amateurs in action.

High School Battery Used
The all-stars were given the service of a high school battery, and these were shifted about in order that each candidate might have a chance to show what he might have. Overton Dillard, viewed as one of the best high school pitchers in this part of the state, opened the game for the Westerners, and held the all-stars scoreless during his mound performance. He was followed on the mound by Frank Wright, southpaw, and Ridge, who follows the style of Lee Meadows, of the major leagues in appearing on the field in spectacles. Amador Payne, brought over from last year, did the receiving, and acquitted himself admirably, showing considerable improvement over his performance of last season.

Manley, Caveness, and others did pitching duty for the all-stars, and showed signs of making some pitcher's hustle in making a regular place on the squad. Hill, a youngster who was chosen by Skipper Sled from the high school group to furnish some opposition to Payne, did the receiving for the all-stars, and although he showed the lack of seasoning, he exhibited good form, and with proper coaching, bids fair to develop into a good catcher.

Good In Hitting
In hitting, the Westerners crew promises to surpass anything yet shown in high school circles, for the pitching that they hit yesterday was a fair sample of the average found in high school circles, and the ball was driven to all parts of the lot.

Skipper Sled is now planning to engage the Tech College Matadors in an exhibition probably some time next week, and in the meantime may take on the Plainview Bulldogs, or Slaton Tigers. One of these clubs probably will appear here tomorrow afternoon. Following the resignation of Coach "Mule" Davis, who has been at the helm of sports in Lubbock high for the past two or three years, Coach Noles, who had charge of basketball, has assumed control of baseball, but will leave the coaching largely in the hands of Skipper Allen. Davis has resigned from the high school faculty to take a place with the Leaverton Construction company.

Two Star Cage Players

Two of the best players in the American Basketball League are Nat Hickey and "Honey" Russell of the Cleveland Rosenblums. Hickey is a forward while Russell plays guard. Their efforts have played no small part in putting the Cleveland club at the top of the heap in the second half of the season. Hickey is the one on the left in the accompanying photo.

TRAILING THE BIG LEAGUERS

BY BILLY EVANS
Stanley Harris Says Senators Can And Will Win Another Pennant Can Washington win its third successive American League pennant? Manager Stanley Harris believes it can and will. And I might mention that Mr. Harris is not inclined to boasting.

There are many who believe the Senators have passed the peak of their game and are due to crumble, as did the New York Yankees of 1924 after winning three straight.

"I see where some of the boys insist you will need plenty of glue to keep your team from falling apart this summer," was my greeting to Manager Harris.

"You would think most of my players used crutches, the way some of the experts are picking them to pieces," laughingly replied the boy boss.

"I read the other day where Walter Johnson had only one good leg; how Peckinbaugh's arm was bad; doubt as to whether my hand had recovered from last year's injury, and so on down the list of casualties."

"True, a few of my pitchers are a bit aged but no more the less valuable because of the experience thus gained."

MUST BEAT GRIFFS
"You can say for me that the club that beats Washington is going to come pretty close to winning the American League pennant. That ain't in the nature of a boast but a frank expression of opinion as to our prospects."

"I feel that I have a better ball club than last season. Southpaw Tom Zachary could only win 12 ball games for us. In his place I have Joe Bush, who should win at least a half dozen more."

"I used to lose a promising youngster in Ballou but had to go home in order to get Bush. Ballou is a good prospect, while Bush is a good pitcher. Realizing I must have better pitching to keep on top this year, I so gambled. "My club was good enough to win last season. It is practically the same club this year, except that it is better fortified in important spots."

THREE IN ROW
"An injury to Catcher Ruel will not seriously handicap the team because Tate, who has been with us for several years, is now ready to deliver and in addition I have the veteran Hank Severoid."

"As a substitute for Peckinbaugh at short I have "Buddy" Myer. He is one of the best youngsters to break into the majors in years."

"I have Johnny Tobin for right field, a great lead-off man and a smart base-runner. I have reserves for practically every position."

"I feel that my club is stronger by at least 15 per cent than last year, despite the general belief that most of my pitching staff reported on crutches."

"It looks like three in a row to me!"

8 Local Golfers Enter Play Today In City Tourney

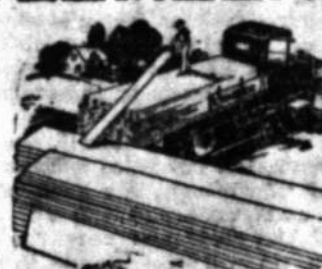

Eight local golfers, some of whom are recognized as among the best of the South Plains, afforded, survived the preliminary round of the tournament on the municipal course here Wednesday afternoon that will lead to decision of local champions who will meet "Scotty" Samson and Chas. Cuaill, of Post, in an inter-city exhibition some time in April.

Surviving entrants and pairings for play this afternoon are as follows: Henry McLarty and Spencer Wells, "Dude" Germany and J. O. Smith, Leo Duggan and Fred Joyce, and Herbert Stubbs and John Jarrott. These entered 18-hole play this afternoon when four more will be eliminated, and in play Friday it is probable that two more will be weeded out, leaving the two will meet the Post champions. Sixteen men entered the preliminary rounds Wednesday afternoon.

No definite date has yet been set for the inter-city tournament, but a great deal of interest is centering around the match, as Quail and Samson are recognized as just about the best in this part of the state. The date for the match probably will be arranged immediately following the close of the local tournament.

LONG FIGHT WITH FIRE ON SHIP IS ENDED

KEY WEST, Fla., Mar. 25 (AP)—After a 100 mile battle with a blaze which overpowered six firemen, and necessitated pouring more than two millions gallons of water into its hold, fire aboard the freight-steamer El Occident, was brought under control here early today.

Fire broke out aboard the freighter enroute from New York to Galveston when she was 100 miles off Key West yesterday.

Captain W. C. Campbell, seeing the blaze could not be controlled, put full steam ahead to this port. The crew fought the fire and were aided by city firemen when they arrived here. Six firemen were overcome by the dense smoke before the fire was brought under control.

BEAUMONT, Mar. 25 (AP)—The war on alligators in the marshy district of Cameron Parish, La., has been called off temporarily since it has been learned that a quantity of dynamite missing from the camp of oil prospectors making seismograph tests has been eaten by the "gators." A post mortem on one of the big lizards revealed several sticks in his stomach and trappers are apprehensive of the result should a bullet by chance come in contact with one of those choice morsels of alligator desert. The saurians are being killed off as a protection.

A FORWARD STEP

In securing for the cotton growers of the South Plains a breeding plant that will breed acclimated cotton of proven productivity and long staple, the farmers of Slaton and the Chamber of Commerce of that city, have taken a step that promises to be far reaching in its scope.

The breeding plant which has recently been located in Slaton will be in operation this year; some eighty farmers of that section have pledged their cooperative support in making the plant a success, and W. S. Galloway, nationally famous cotton breeder, is to have personal charge of the operation of the plant. To the farmers of this association, benefits will accrue from the returns on the certified cotton seed which they produce under the watchful eye of the State Department of Agriculture for the commercial market; but greater in-profit, by far, than through seed growing will be the increased revenue that will be theirs from the producing of long staple, early maturing cotton. They plan to sell their cotton in one hundred bale pools and will doubtless receive a handsome premium for their product.

Not only for the Slaton farmers, but for the farmers of the Plains who raise cotton, will this plant be beneficial, for it assures them of pure seed of Mebane cotton that has already been accustomed to this climate. To those who were far sighted enough to establish the first cotton breeding plant on the great Plains of West Texas, is due the deepest appreciation of every cotton grower above the cap-rock.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

SENATOR WALSH PUSHES THE WHEELER CASE INTO LIMELIGHT

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

How many among us (senators) will care to incur the displeasure of the Department of Justice if it may with impunity employ perjured testimony to wreak its vengeance upon those who thus dare? I propose to demonstrate that that is just what it did in the case of my colleague, Senator Wheeler.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, in the United States Senate, March 13.

WASHINGTON.—Strong language that.

It went with Senator Walsh's demand on Attorney General John G. Sargent to advise the Senate if he intends to make perjury charges against George B. Haynes, "surprise witness" against Senator Wheeler in the latter's trial in Montana on an accusation of improperly using his official position in a personal client's interest with the Department of the Interior.

It suggests that the Justice Department hasn't got the Wheeler case entirely off its hands yet.

It will be recalled that Wheeler was indicted while making things unpleasant for the then Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty. He and his friends declared it a frame up from the first.

The Senate investigated and gave Wheeler a clean bill of health.

Nevertheless he was tried in Montana. It was less even than a weak case, barring what Haynes had to say. The jury, however, didn't believe Haynes—whose story certainly did sound improbable, at best—and acquitted the senator on its first vote.

Your friends always play a very important part in any success that you may achieve. Did you ever hear of a hermit making an outstanding success in anything?

The man who is looking for trouble usually doesn't have to wander far from his own fireside.

The influence of the good citizen endures long after he has gone to the grave, and the same is true of the bad citizen.

Money has separated a lot more couples than it ever brought together.

A country man who had gone to London and had done very well invited a friend from his native place to spend a holiday with him.

On the first day he took him to dinner to his favorite restaurant. They went through the various courses, and when they had finished the host inquired:

"Well, what do you think of that for a dinner?"

"Great," replied the friend enthusiastically. "Now have one with me."

With Our Contemporaries

Some of the business men were complaining that the First Monday Trades day does not bring them much business. As an observer the News can readily see why. The merchants are not offering any special bargains to get people to come to town and to buy. People now want their dollars to go as far as possible and are looking for bargains, and they must have them if they buy. The News man does not mean by this that the Anson merchants do not have bargains, quite the contrary, but do mean that they must advertise them and let the people know what they have. — Anson News.

The matter of advertising when they have bargains has become second nature with the majority of business concerns. Advertising must be employed, if for no other reason, than to meet the competition of the mail order houses. Since business is a free-for-all contest and the winner of the race is the concern that has the widest appeal to the public, the home town merchants can therefore scarcely afford not to advertise. How is the public going to know what the bargains are unless they are advertised? Meeting the competition of the mail order house has become a considerable matter in many towns and one of the ways this can be met is through advertising. In the home town paper.—Abilene Reporter.

PROFANITY

The players at the Circle theatre are to be congratulated on the smooth manners in which they present "What Price Glory?" one of the frankest of the war plays. The lines contain profanity that may shock persons who are unaccustomed to hearing such expressions on the stage, but the rough passages are handled with a grace that eliminates the harshness of the words. If scenes from the trenches are to be presented to American audiences in a way that will give an authentic picture of the real conditions, profanity cannot be eliminated. If men ever swore it is certain they swore in the trenches. The playwrights cannot ignore this fact when they away to realism. Persons who do not care for such realism must be content to stay away from the theatre when war plays are presented. The city amusement censor may be criticised for permitting profanity on the Dallas stage, but such criticism will not be justified. — Dallas Times-Herald.

NON-WALKERS

He once sauntered across the country from coast to coast in a little over 104 days.

We moderns raise a howl if we have to walk a dozen blocks from home to the office.

We are rapidly becoming a nation of non-walkers—which doesn't promise very much for our future well-being.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Henry Rand, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

Janet Rand, his daughter, breaks her engagement with Barry Colman, because of the "disgrace."

Jimmy Rand, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is. The stub is traced to Olga Maynard, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with Mary Lowell. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder.

Mary, out with Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Jimmy, walking with Barry, suddenly sees Kid Divis, a known intimate of Jensen, boarding a street car. He runs in pursuit, swings aboard the car. When Divis gets off, at the end of the line, Jimmy follows him through lonely streets and dismal fog. He sees Divis enter a house, and after the door closes behind him, he approaches the house himself.

He is walking with Barry when he suddenly sees Kid Divis, a known intimate of Jensen's, board a street car. Jimmy follows him and trails him to a lonely house. He goes inside and from a darkened hallway sees Olga, Jensen and Divis in a room. Jensen goes upstairs to answer the telephone.

Then Jimmy, with a broken and iron that he has found in the hall, moves swiftly into the room. Jensen has just left.

Jensen sees him and draws a revolver, which Jimmy wrests from him and kicks down the stairs.

He betrays his presence, and there is a fight. Jensen corners him and, boasting, confesses to the murder of Henry Rand. In the struggle that follows Jimmy is slowly being overpowered when the stair rail gives way and Jensen goes crashing through.

Would she dare to pull the trigger if he should suddenly leap up at her? She shuddered. She would try—but she did not know.

Why had Jimmy left her to go upstairs—with Jensen up there? Why had he not first taken her out some place and then, if he chose, taken the pistol himself and gone upstairs? Even that was foolhardy enough, for Jensen was armed.

And she hadn't told Jimmy that. And she hadn't told Jimmy that. She had forgotten. She shivered, and with difficulty suppressed a scream.

Her ears ached as she strained them against the silence that had enveloped the whole house.

Then she heard footfalls—the heavy tread of Jensen crossing the room. And then voices, loud and angry.

Jensen had discovered him! In agony she waited for the sound of a shot. But it did not come. Instead, she heard something rattling down the stairs, then—it seemed ages later—the slamming of a door, another shuffle of feet and a deep, full-throated laugh that could only be Jensen's.

She was trembling violently now, the pistol shaking loosely in her grasp. She turned her head toward the door, as if that would somehow bring the sound nearer. And she knew somehow she didn't want to hear what was about to happen.

With a sudden start she turned back to the unconscious Divis. Suppose he had moved. Suppose he had come to and seen her with her head turned—and heard at her. . . . Desperately, she tightened her fingers on the pistol. Divis lay in death-like stillness, and blood slowly trickled from a gash behind his ear. She sickened.

Voices again. . . . A deep rumbling voice that was Jensen's. And then—thank God!—a low, steady voice that told her Jimmy was at least alive.

But what could they be doing? Her imagination conjured up a thousand fates for Jimmy—in that room with the torturing, bone-breaking Jensen. There flashed through her mind that Jensen might be saving Jimmy for some refined cruelty he might work at his lay a woman. Dull, confused remembrance was on him. . . . She had been here before the dark came—and someone else, too—Jensen. Where was Jensen? Had Jensen hit him? . . .

He crawled toward him, and from between her fingers he pulled a pistol he dimly remembered as having once belonged to him.

Jimmy was leaning over Jensen's voiceless, sprawling figure. He bent closer, and in the semi-darkness he could see that the man's head was twisted at an odd angle—as if it no longer were joined to his shoulders.

Dazed as he was with the shock—and still overcome with boiling, seething hate—Rand felt a sudden and odd revulsion.

Then he was beside the other man, listening at his chest. He raised his head slowly—Jensen wasn't breathing, even. He wondered, with a sharp hostility, whether the man was playing a trick on him. . . .

A shadow fell on the wall beside him and a man's voice said, thickly, "Damn you, Ike, why'd you hit me?"

And then he turned and saw Kid Divis' wavering figure silhouetted against the light from the open door, a pistol trembling in his faltering hand.

"Olga!" Jimmy cried—he had quite forgotten about her—and Divis' head reared sharply at the sound of his voice. The pistol slowly raised.

Divis took an uncertain step, still fumbling for support with his free hand. "Who—" he began—and then stood frozen, bathed in a sudden, glaring light.

The front door had swung open, quickly and soundlessly. Then there were voices, Jimmy heard a sharp command, and Divis, sliding down the wall, let the pistol clatter to the floor.

Barry Colvin's voice said, "Jim!" and a uniformed figure was bending over Divis with a flashlight.

"God, Jim, I'm glad we found you. What happened?" He glanced apprehensively at Jimmy's disarrayed clothing, his torn collar and tie.

Jimmy pointed. "Jensen. Tell you later," and with a bound was at the

She whispered a name that Jimmy barely managed to hear, and then fainted dead away.

leisure—playing with him, as a cat plays with a helpless mouse.

She listened and waited for what seemed ages—and the silence was broken only by the guttural voice of Jensen, and his laugh—that terrible, heartless laugh.

And again her nerves were screaming at her. She was tired to the point of utter exhaustion, and in her head—behind her eyes—was a pain such as she had never before experienced in her life.

Divis, she noted dully, was still lifeless, and beneath his head a little puddle of thickening blood had formed.

The voices upstairs suddenly had grown louder. She heard a door open violently, felt the house tremble beneath a rush of feet and shake as something hit against the wall. Then Jensen's taunting voice, sounding nearer, and the sound of deep, quickdrawn breaths.

A sharp exclamation, and then the cracking, splintering sound of breaking wood. A loud, prolonged crash and then a heavy thump on the stairs, and something rolling down.

Her senses reeled. "Jim!" she tried to scream, but her voice was only the faintest of whispers. Her head fell forward quite suddenly, and she rolled out of the chair and onto the floor, her fingers still loose around the handle of the pistol.

Long minutes passed during the interval between the confused awakening of Kid Divis and the opening of his eyes. Strange buzzing sounds were in his ears—then an unaccountable crashing noise.

He opened his eyes slowly, painfully and the room revolved mistily before them. His head throbbed with a thousand aches, and the fingers that he moved to it came away with blood on them.

He tried to stagger to his feet, and had to catch hold of the dizzy table for support. His knees refused to hold his weight and he leaned on the table heavily.

Before him, stretched on the floor, door of the room where Olga lay.

He was beside her, rubbing her wrists, Barry trying to help. . . .

"Cold water, Barry."

"This is better, Jim." Barry pulled a flask from his pocket. "Is this Olga Maynard, Jim?"

"Yes, God knows what she's been through."

Her eyelids slowly fluttered, then opened. She shuddered, and then the sight of Jimmy brought a faint smile.

The policeman had dragged Divis into the room. "What happened?" he asked

GOVERNOR URGES TEXAS TO AID IN CELEBRATION

AUSTIN, Mar. 25. (AP)—Calling on the people of Texas to render patriotic aid in behalf of the celebration of the nation's 150th anniversary, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson on Monday issued a proclamation urging the people to aid in the observance of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia. Governor Ferguson is a member of the council of governors.

The proclamation follows:

"The 48th Congress of the United States created a Commission known as the National Sesqui-Centennial Exposition Commission, composed of the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Commerce to represent the United States of America in the holding of an International Exposition at Philadelphia, Penn., in the year 1926 celebrating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There was also created the National Advisory Commission to the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition as a body to be composed of two citizens from each of the several states to be appointed by the President of the United States, and these appointments are entirely honorary and have been made. An executive meeting of the National Advisory Commission representing practically every state in America was recently held at Philadelphia within the sacred precinct of that world-wide historical independence Hall, dear to the hearts of all true liberty-loving loyal American citizens, where the wonderful thrilling tones of the great Liberty Bell were wafted through the blue dome of high Heaven nearly 150 years ago with its glorious message to all the world, proclaiming in no uncertain terms the creation of a new nation with a sacred sublime call upon the hearts and conscience of all mankind all over the world to stand together in a united front to defend the noble and incomparable Declaration of Independence which demanded and gave new standards of life and hope for the eternal liberties of man in reshaping, remodeling and refashioning the thought of the whole world. This matchless document was written by the peerless, powerful pen of the immortal Thomas Jefferson and has for nearly 150 years not only influenced the destinies of men but nations, kingdoms and empires.

"Our national government has recently appropriated more than two million dollars for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held at Philadelphia June 1st, to December 1st 1926. Every state in all America is now actively engaged in this great Sesqui-Centennial Exposition. Various foreign countries have made large appropriations to visualize to the millions of people who will attend the exposition, showing the progress and development along corresponding lines with America. We owe it as sacred duty to our noble martyrs who died that we might live, we owe it as a sacred duty to the unborn of our great nation who shall follow us in this great land of America that they shall be not ignorant of the noble impulses which prompted our hearts to rejoice and give thanks to God for 150 years of unequalled progress in our national and home life.

"Now, therefore, I, Miriam A. Ferguson, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of Texas, and as a member of the Council of Governors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, do hereby issue this proclamation as a special and urgent call upon the entire citizenship of our wonderful state to cooperate through your respective Chambers of Commerce with Colonel John T. Dickinson of Houston, Texas, and Judge William Edgeworth Davis of Glen Rose, Texas, members of the national advisory commission of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition recently appointed by the President of the United States, upon my recommendation as being preeminently qualified by birth, nature, education and otherwise to reflect credit upon our state and this nation in their official advisory capacity. Let us render our patriotic duty in behalf of this splendid and glorious celebration of our nation's 150th birthday, thereby manifesting our gratitude to God for the immeasurable blessings of life in this fair south land of America, where reigns peace and good will to all men in every clime."

MIRIAM A. FERGUSON

NEW PROFESSION IS BEING SOUGHT BY TEXAS WOMEN

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Mar. 25. (AP)—A new profession for Texas women called "dental hygienist" is to be sought by the State Dental Society which meets in annual convention here April 27-29.

The dental hygienist is one schooled in tooth cleaning and general care of the teeth. This work is now performed in many states by young women who have taken the prescribed courses and have been licensed by the state. Texas has no state licensing law covering this activity and the dentists are to consider legislation which will provide licensing.

In Texas a number of young women are engaged in this work in public schools and dentists' offices, but it is not yet a recognized profession. Licensing would give these young women a standing similar to that of the registered nurses, and according to the dentists would thus open a new field for women.

Dentists say they have found dental hygienists of great aid in office work, for they permit the dentist to devote more time to the highly technical and scientific dentistry.

Dr. Julian Smith of Dallas, who is handling publicity arrangements for the convention, said that the dental work done among public school children has had marvelous results, especially on backward children. Some apparently dull witted symptoms had been traced to bad teeth, he said.

These matters are among scientific discussions being arranged for the convention. Dr. Boyd S. Gardner of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., is to have a paper on "The Newer Extraction Technique: Value of Post Operative Radiogram and Laboratory Significance." Dr. K. W. Knapp of Minneapolis, Minn., is to discuss "Practical Demonstrations of Casting Technique: New Type Cavity; Lock Anchorage."

Dr. Polk E. Akers of Chicago is to have a paper on "Casting of Partial Dentures and Removable Bridges in the Piece Direct to Model." Other papers will be: "Technique of Full Denture Construction with Special Reference to Securing Balanced Occlusion," by Dr. J. M. McMillan of Dallas; "Pyorrhea: Its Scientific Treatment," by Dr. S. B. Riggs, San Antonio; "Dorsal Jacket Crown Technique," by Dr. Walter T. Newton, of Houston. The lecture and clinic course will be managed by Dr. L. E. Huff, Jr., of Wichita Falls. Most of the lectures and clinics will be in the First Baptist church. Dentists from Oklahoma and Louisiana are expected to attend.

The Texas State Dental Society, formerly the Texas Dental Association, was organized at Houston in 1880 with six members. It now has about 1,000 members and is a component of the American Dental Association.

SAN ANTONIO HAS TROUBLE OVER LIBRARY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Mar. 25. (AP)—More books for the Carnegie Library and a higher tax rate, or no extension of the library's service?

This question, which has been agitating San Antonians for some weeks, promises to keep to the front for several months, even though it has been temporarily quashed by the refusal of Mayor John W. Tobin and the city commission to allow the library more than a two-cent levy. The budget for the fiscal year ending May 31 was recently adopted finally by the municipal government, and any increase which the library may get in the future cannot come until next year's budget is drawn.

Under the 1925 budget, the city's tax rate is $1.74, an increase of two cents. The cost of administering the city's government is increased $308,000 to make a total of $2,598,840.

"Four cents of this levy is to pay interest and create a sinking fund for the $1,000,000 bond issue voted last December. Despite heavy pressure, Mayor Tobin stood firm in his refusal to allow the library more funds. Under the two-cent levy, the institution receives about $35,000 annually. The library board insisted that $50,000 was necessary to keep progress with the growth of the city.

Maury Maverick of the board waged a persistent fight for a four-cent rate. Virtually all of the luncheon and civic clubs rushed to his standard, but in vain so far as immediate aid for the library was concerned. Mayor Tobin made clear that he was not hostile to the library, but he felt that San Antonio had enough of a financial burden with paying interest on the million-dollar bond issue, which was voted by city improvement bonds, including paying of 25 miles of streets and to complete the $1,000,000 municipal auditorium.

But, although balked for the time being, Maverick and the organizations backing his mare working to put through their program for the library when next year's budget is made. Whether or not they will make more headway then is a matter of prime concern to many San Antonians.

OPTIMISM IS FELT OVER PROSPECTS OF DEMOCRATS

PORTLAND, Me., Mar. 25. (AP)—Not since the days of the Wilson administration have Democrats had a better chance to win control of congress than in the next election, Congressman William A. Chidfield, of Arkansas, told the delegates to the biennial Democratic Maine state convention here today.

"The people," he said, "are becoming sick of the present platonic administration with its unfulfilled promises and pledges. They are tired of seeking favors traded for big campaign contributions to the Republican party. They are disgusted with the do-nothing attitude and record of this administration and Congress."

"No longer is the public being misled by false claims of prosperity and economy which have been and are being disseminated by a veritable army of propagandists. Unrest and discontent are not confined to the Western states whose representatives recently were sent back home by the administration leaders and rebuked for having dared to come to Washington demanding fulfillment of the Republican campaign pledge of legislation to aid the farmer."

"The purchasing power of the farmer's dollar has decreased under Republican rule until it is worth only sixty-one cents, at least twenty cents lower than it has been at any time during the last 35 years. And the value of the average citizen dollar has decreased correspondingly."

KIMBRO IS HELD BY PRO OFFICIALS

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 25. (AP)—George Kimbro Jr., said to be former Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Houston, was arrested by prohibition agents here last night. Kimbro was said here to have been prominent in the organization of the Klan in Texas, and leader of the Klan's revolt against Colonel William Simmons, Imperial Wizard, in 1922.

Kimbro's arrest came when dry officers raided the Seaport Mercantile and Import company on Chartres St. Agents said that a quantity of alcohol and synthetic gin and apparatus for the manufacture and bottling of liquor were found in the place. Allan Sheppard, partner of Kimbro in the business, was in the place and was also arrested.

Dodge Charged With Liquor Deal Fraud

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. (AP)—A charge that Franklin L. Dodge, formerly an investigator of the department of justice, has attempted to dispose of $200,000 worth of liquor permits taken from George Remus, convicted Cincinnati bootlegger, was made in the house today by Representative LaGuardia, socialist, New York.

TEXAN FIGURES IN CONGRESS FUSS OVER PRO LAW

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. (AP)—Representative O'Connor, democrat, New York, today denounced in the house as a "lie" recent reported utterances on prohibition by Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. O'Connor referred to a press report quoting Dr. Wilson as saying that "the rum element" controlled Congress before prohibition and that the Sergeant at Arms in the House in pre-Prohibition days was kept busy in escorting drunks from the floor.

"It's a lie," asserted O'Connor. "It's a deliberate, dastardly canard."

Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, demanded that the House decide whether the remark should remain in the congressional record.

"I object to hearing a minister of the Gospel referred to in that way," said Blanton.

"He stands no higher in the government of this country than the greatest atheist," replied O'Connor. Other members crowded toward the speaker, Representative Chidfield, bloom, republican, Illinois, presiding, was preparing to have the House pass upon the language used by O'Connor, but Blanton withdrew the objection upon the request of Representative Madden, republican, Illinois.

PESSIMISM IS HELD OVER MEXICAN OIL LAW

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 25. (AP)—Pessimism prevails among the American oil men who came to Mexico in an endeavor to obtain satisfactory conditions regarding the regulation of the new Mexican petroleum law.

The Americans have made objections to Luis Morones, Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor, over the question whether lease holds acquired prior to 1917 shall be changed into fifty year leases under conditions which the Mexican government may prescribe. Thus far they have declined to accept the government's provisions and negotiations are at deadlock. It is considered probable that the dispute will be referred to President Calles. Although there is considerable secrecy both on the part of Senor Morones and the Americans, it is learned on reliable quarters that there is apprehensions on both sides that the conference may fail of its purpose. If President Calles rejects the American contentions, the Mexican government is expected to immediately promulgate the oil regulations, including the features which the Americans do not like. Dispatches from Vera Cruz say that the state government intends to sue the Sinclair, Transcontinental, Nordan, Arco and Corona Oil companies for 22,000,000 barrels of oil, on the ground that they have exploited lands in the Amatlan region which belongs to the state of Vera Cruz.

CHARGES APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. (AP)—Five articles of impeachment against Federal Judge George W. English of Illinois, were approved by the house judiciary committee.

LEGION BOLSTERS MEMBERSHIP BY OVER 100

The roster of Allen Bros. Post No.
148, local unit of the American Legion, has been augmented by more than 100 new members during the past two days and a half as a result of a membership campaign launched Tuesday morning following a peppy meeting Monday night when members present at the meeting were divided into two camps led by Chas. Whitacre and W.
T. Strange.

While accurate reports yet are unavailable as to the leader in the campaign, it was believed Thursday that Whitacre and his corps of helpers were slightly in the lead. Individual workers with both camps, however, report that they have received as many as 20 or more new members. New members are being added daily as workers continue the round-up.

The drive will continue through this week and next, by which time it is hoped that the Post membership will have passed the 200 mark, and the losers will be host to the opposing camp at a banquet. An earnest effort will be made to induce all members, new and old, to attend the banquet, and a special program is being arranged for the occasion. Ex-service men are urged to be in readiness with the $3.00 annual dues when "buddies" call upon them in solicitation work, for as the state convention meets the year in Amarillo it is the hope of officials to present a strong representation from Lubbock at the convention.

'STOOLPIGEON' HAS BEEN FOUND DEAD

CHICAGO, Mar. 25. (AP)—Robert Lafferty, 24, suspected of having revealed to police the hiding place of William J.
White and Thomas Shupe, identified as members of a robber band, was shot to death while he lay asleep early today.

The murder was committed by the two men who gained admittance to a basement apartment by posing as police men. A dozen bullets were fired into Lafferty's body.

Police are convinced the slaying removed an important witness against White and Shupe, who are under arrest. White has been identified as the slayer of a suburban motorcycle police man. A dozen bullets were fired into Lafferty's body.

Cotton Markets

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (AP)—Less favorable weather and relatively steady cables seemed responsible for active demand at the opening of the cotton market today. First prices were steady at an advance of five to eleven points.
Active months sold 15 to 18 points higher, after the call. May selling up to 17½c and October to 17½c on covering by recent sellers, New Orleans and local buying.

Liverpool also bought cotton here but after the first burst of demand had been supplied, the volume of business tapered off and prices showed reactions of a few points from the best at the end of the first hour.

With the immediate demand supplied on the opening advance, the market turned easier toward mid-day under liquidation and selling prompted by a report on boll weevil emergency. There was some confusion as to the interpretation of this report as received here in telegrams from New Orleans, but the figures were evidently construed as indicating a smaller emergency to March 16 than anticipated. May declined to 18½c and October to 17½c or 10 to 11 points from the high level of the morning, but the market held fairly steady at midday with prices about six to eight points net higher.

Consideration of the report on boll weevil emergency seemed to bring in some covering by mid-day sellers and the market was quiet, but steady during the afternoon. At 2 o'clock, May was selling at 18.70c and October 17.50c, or 11 to 13 points net higher.

NEW YORK FUTURES

December 16.92c.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 25. (AP)—
The cotton market opened fairly partly due to steady Liverpool cables, but mainly to the rainy weather in the belt. First trades showed gains of 11 to 13 points and prices continued to advance after the call on short coverings until May traded up to 18.65c, July to 17.90c and October to 16.90c or 19 to 21 points above yesterday's close. On the other hand, March opened two points down on a reported issue of final March notices, today being the last notice day of that month, it going out at noon.
March traded as low as 18.20c or 12 points down. After the first burst of buying subsided the market for active months eased off five to six points.

The market eased off during the morning, partly on the report of the government entomologists showing a small emergence of weevils to March 18, but mainly on the sudden weakness developed in the March option now in the last stages of liquidation.
Notices for about 2,500 bales of March deliveries were issued and the price of that shipment to 17.75c or 57 points down from the highs. The price afterwards rallied 17 points to 17.92c. All the later months eased off moderately, May dropping to 17.92c, July to 17.54c and October to 16.82c or 19 to 21 points down from the highs but still 7 to 9 points above yesterday's close. March went out at noon at 17.32c.

The market rallied somewhat steadier after the termination of trading in March at noon and although prices kept within the earlier range, they rallied 5 to 6 points from the noon levels, owing to the bad weather reports from the belt, particularly the Mississippi Valley and North Texas.
While trading was light the undertone was better on the weather news.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Mar. 25. (AP)—Wheat scored an early upturn today, influenced by unexpected strength of the Liverpool market and by a decided falling off in this week's estimated shipments from Argentina. Opening prices ½ to ¾ higher, May (new) $1.55½ to $1.55½ and July $1.35 to $1.35½, were followed by material further gains.

Corn and oats were easy. After opening unchanged to ¼c higher, May 72½, 72½, corn underwent a moderate sell-off.

Oats started unchanged to ¼c off,
May 35½ to 35½, but later rallied somewhat.

In line with hog values, provisions were steady.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (AP)—Confused price movements characterized the opening of today's stock market. Several high priced issues such as Mac Truck, Woolworth, Coca Cola and General Electric opened one to two points higher, while fresh liquidation took place in a number of motors and other speculative industrials. Hudson and Dodge Brothers each showed initial declines of one point. In view of yesterday's sharp reaction, which carried the industrial average to a new low level for the year, trading was of a nervous character.

Stock prices turned heavy again soon after the opening when weakened marginal accounts were liquidated in large volume. Most of the initial gains were materially reduced or wiped out.
New low prices for the year were established in the first few minutes of trading by Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, Fleischmann and Worthington Pump.

Crege Department Stores preferred, ordinarily inactive, broke 11 points to 80, also a new low. DePont extended its loss to 3 points. Allied Chemical to 2 and Ward Baking preferred, May Department Stores, Remington Typewriter and Gulf States Steel also eased a point or more. Hudson quickly sold down three points to 80, duplicating the year's lowest. Demand sterling ruled around $4.85 7-8 and French francs were again above $3.50 cents.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (AP)—Foreign exchange irregular. Great Britain demand 4.85½, cables 4.86½; sixty-day

STORY IS PLEASED HE TELLS MEN AT SLATON

(Special To The Journal)

SLATON, Mar. 25.—W. B. Story, president of the Santa Fe system lines, began his inspection trip of the Slaton division by turning his special train to inspect the Lamesa branch; when the train pulled into Slaton later in the day, in conversation with W. H.
McKinnis, vice president of the Slaton chamber of commerce, Mr. Story expressed himself as well pleased with the growth Slaton had enjoyed.

"When the Plains lines of the Santa Fe were constructed in 1911, I made a personal inspection tour relative to the location of our headquarters on the South Plains," said Mr. Story.
"Due to a number of causes, I chose the spot where the Slaton shops now stand and gave instructions to my men to begin construction, from that time forward I have watched with considerable interest while a broad expanse of prairie became a flourishing city. In the future, I believe that Slaton destiny will be one of no small importance in this section."

active gestures by some, including Blaine, of South Carolina, and Glass of Virginia, while the speaker was heckled at times by McKellar of Tennessee and Neely of West Virginia.

Says Law "Unenforceable"
Senator Bruce, who was replying to an address by Senator McKellar in favor of prohibition, declared the law is "absolutely unenforceable" and that the reason more liquor is not made in homes is "because it is cheaper and easier to buy bootleg liquor."

The stir created in the house yesterday by the statement of Representative LaGuardia, socialist, New York, that an attempt had been made to dispose of $200,000 in whiskey certificates which had belonged to George Bonum, convicted Cincinnati bootlegger, drew an echo last night from Matt Hinkel, Cleveland sportsman, named by Mr. LaGuardia as the agent through whom the transaction was to be made. Mr. Hinkel said he had handled the certificates as a broker and that such operations are recognized as legitimate transactions. He said he received the certificates through an attorney, while Mr. LaGuardia charged they were supplied by Franklin L. Dodge, former Department of Justice operative.

At Indianapolis, United States Marshal Linus P. Meredith made light of Mr. LaGuardia's statement that part of $250,000 liquor stock taken from Bonum in 1921 had disappeared from its store house, but nevertheless he announced that an inventory would begin at once.

Rangers Return To Austin After Case

AUSTIN, Mar. 25. (P)—Texas rangers A. P. Cummings and Charles N. Davis were withdrawn by Adjutant General Dallas J. Matthews, from Caldwell, Burleson county, where they were sent March 14 in connection with the fatal shooting there March 12 of Constable Garrett White, W. S. Houston, a special agent, is in the county jail at Belton, Bell county, in connection with the shooting. They reported upon returning to ranger headquarters here.

Another Disastrous Fire Visits Columbia

PANAMA, Mar. 25. (P)—Disasters from Cartagena report another disastrous fire at Manizales, Columbia, during which the cathedral is said to have been destroyed.

Manizales, a city of about 15,000 population was swept by fire last July. Thirty-two acres of buildings in the center of the city were destroyed with an estimated loss of $25,000,000. Six lives were lost, a number of persons were injured, and thousands were rendered homeless.

torment, which came from the North-west had faded away, were facing the highways of debris in order that traffic might be resumed. And in the meantime the injured were rushed to the hospital here where physicians started emergency work.

The moment the doors, and pumping, as well as down in the field, many of the off wells were turned loose. The result was that many of them were spouting the greasy fluid heavenward. Teams were brought in from the nearby and other places where they were being used and put to work digging heavy objects out of the way.

Trees of all sizes throughout the field and for a considerable distance outside the path of the tornado were uprooted. Many of the houses were wrecked without further damage. The Presbyterian manse, which joins the oil field was among those that lost a portion of its roof.

While estimates of the damage done could not be given due to the vast entanglement of derricks, drilling machinery, etc., some have estimated that it will run as high as a half million dollars. It is said that there was a wholesale reconstruction of derricks in order that the wells may be protected.

Majority Vote For Unseating Senator

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. (P)—A majority of the senate elections committee voted today to recommend the unseating of Senator Brookhart, republican, in favor of Daniel F. Steck, democrat.

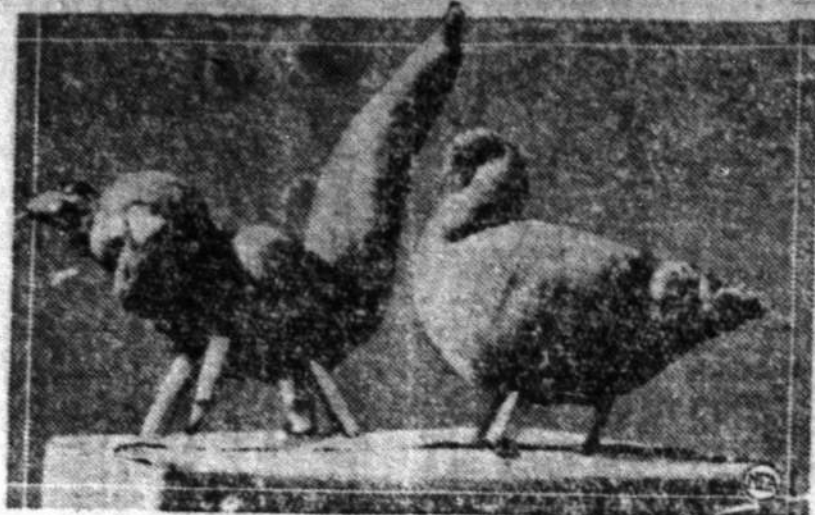

The minority report holding that Senator Brookhart is entitled to his seat has been prepared by Senator Stephens, democrat, Mississippi. The reports will be filed with the senate this week and the fight is expected to open on the senate floor next week with indications that it will extend over several days.

Repainting Job On Courthouse Finished

Painters who have been engaged in repainting the Lubbock county courthouse and jail buildings have completed their work and are now engaged in tearing away scaffolding in all departments of the building.

The county commissioners' court will meet this afternoon to pass upon the job, and it is probable that it will be accepted. County Judge Chas. Nordyke said Thursday. The two buildings have been thoroughly renovated and repainted inside and out, and present a much improved appearance.

SCHOOL MEN GET EQUIPMENT BIDS

Meeting Will Be Held During Which All Bids Will Be Received Tonight

The purchasing committee of the school board of the Lubbock Independent School district will meet tonight at the high school building when bids will be received for furniture and equipment to be used in the four new construction projects now under way here, and additional equipment for certain portions of the high school building. It was announced Thursday by A. C. Jackson, business manager and tax collector of the board.

The purchase will include more than 1,500 pieces, the bulk of which will be student's desks, and it is expected that at least a dozen supply houses will have representatives here for the meeting. Purchases will be made subject to summer delivery, to arrive here in plenty of time for installation before opening of the next term of school.

Equipment Outlined

Equipment to be bought, as outlined by the board is as follows: 416 No. 2 student's desks and 52 chairs; 298 No. 3 student's desks and 48 chairs; 20 No. 4 student's desks and 26 chairs; 23 4-drawer teachers' sanitary desks; ten bookkeeping desks; five typewriter tables; six biology desks; two chemistry tables; two sewing tables; 24 genuine Austrian bent wood chairs; four domestic science tables; 24 arm chairs for students; ten down primary chairs; and 177 window shades.

A great deal of the equipment except student's desks will be used in the high school building in preparation for additional work to be offered in the science department, and the typewriting and bookkeeping courses that will be added next term.

He's a Good Sized Boy

EL PASO GIANT IS HEFTY

From a Powerful State

(By the Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Mar. 25. (P)—Eight and a half feet of humanity under a wide spread Texas sunbather, unaided from a Rock Island limited today and stretched his huge frame as he grinned at the big crowd below.

He eyed ruefully the car where he had spent the night.

"Got plenty of cats," volunteered Jack Earl, twenty year old El Paso giant, "but that's no place to sleep." Regular berth, costing two small, perched porters finally cleared a space in the diner for him last night.

Used To Be Smaller
When he was 12 years old he was six and a half feet tall, Earl said, although his parents are of normal stature. He eats anything and everything where and when he can get it.

Earl drives his own automobile and has no trouble in folding himself into a taxi.

A gigantic green ring flashed from the modern Gulliver's finger.

"The largest Texas turquoise ever cut for a ring," he asserted.

Earl is on his way to New York to take up circus life.

Uniform H. S. Course Planned for County

A uniform course of study for all the high schools of Lubbock is to be adopted this spring, according to P. F. Brown, county superintendent. The instructors in the schools are being asked to turn in lists of studies they think should be included in the course. After they are all in the county superintendent, with a representative from the Tech, the superintendent of all the high schools in the county and the county board of trustees will meet and make out the required course.

Oil Field In Path Of Sweeping Flames

LONG BEACH, Calif., Mar. 25. (P)—Fire early today was eating its way through the Northwest extension of Signal Hill Oil field near here, having totally destroyed two derricks and four oil tanks and enveloped in flames three other rigs.

The damage already was estimated in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars.

Exile Ends

For thirty-six years Maj. E. A. Burke lived in Honduras, in exile. Now he is returning to his home in New Orleans at the age of 85. He was state treasurer of Louisiana in the late '30's, was indicted on a charge of re-issuing cancelled state bonds to the extent of $200,000, and fled to Honduras in 1890. Now the charges against him have been dropped.

SAFETY COUNCIL TO TAKE UP PROBE OF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. (P)—A complete draft of safety measures designed to reduce traffic accidents, which last year took a toll of 23,900 lives and approximately 600,000 injuries in the United States, was taken up yesterday at the first of a three-day session of the second national conference on street and highway safety.

Secretary Hoover, in opening the conference, attended by about 1,000 delegates, including representatives of governors of 43 states, sent at the request of President Coolidge, discussed the need of uniformity of laws as between the states and uniformity of traffic ordinances as between cities in the United States. The model motor vehicle code, as suggested by the committee on uniformity of laws and regulations, was endorsed by the secretary as "perhaps the outstanding concrete accomplishment of the two years' work of the conference."

He advocated drastic penalties for the deliberate law violator, declaring a belief that "much of the solution of the present high accident rate on our city streets and rural highways lies in the enforcement of the law by the police and by properly organized traffic courts."

Harry Buttenheim, editor of the American City Magazine, told the conference that a canvass of nearly 500 police chiefs showed them almost unanimously in favor of limiting the speed of automobiles to forty miles an hour.

Need For Museum In Texas Shown By Recent Report

Special To The Journal.

AUSTIN, Mar. 25. (P)—That Texas is greatly in need of a museum in which to preserve the valuable records of the state was again shown recently when information was received by the University of Texas that a fossil reptile, obtained in Baylor county, had been sent to Germany according to Dr. E. H. Sellards of the Bureau of Economic Geology. The reptile is said to be a lizard, Dr. Sellards stated, it is probably the great "ship" lizard, which is characterized by a high crest along the back which has been compared to the sail of a ship. They are very remarkable animals found no place in the world other than in Texas, he said.

This is not the first of the Texas fossils to be sent to foreign museums, according to Dr. Sellards. Numerous other Texas fossils have been sent to museums of eastern United States and to European museums. In the meantime, Texas remains without a state museum and without adequate provisions to preserve these rare specimens.

In order that steps might be taken to remedy this situation, there was recently organized a State Museum association, the object of which is to present the needs for a state museum in Texas in which shall be preserved the valuable records of the state, both geological and historical. Another large fossil sent from this state to a foreign country emphasizes the immediate need for such a museum, Dr. Sellards point out.

MELON DEFENDS U. S. WAR DEBT POLICIES

SETTLEMENTS ARE BASED ON SENSE, HE SAYS IN ADDRESS

(By Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Mar. 25.—The American government's war debt policy was defended here last night by Secretary Mellon shortly after it had been attacked in the British House of Commons by Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Philip Snowden, Laborite, and former chancellor.

While Secretary Mellon spoke before the Union League club, on the eve of consideration by the senate in Washington of the Italian settlement, said "our financial policies toward Europe are based not by sentiment, but by sense." Mr. Churchill and Mr. Snowden agreed that responsibility for the war debt difficulties rests on the United States for refusing to cancel the obligations.

He Describes Settlement.
Mellon, who prepared his address before the related remarks were made in the House of Commons, described the debt settlement terms as the most favorable which could be obtained, short of force, adding that the administration believed in help and not charity toward Europe. Mr. Snowden, however, viewed the war loans to the Allies through Great Britain as "America's gift as a sort of compensation for her late arrival on the battle fields of Europe."

Calling attention that settlement negotiations are pending with France, Greece and Yugoslavia, the only European nations which have not funded their debts, Secretary Mellon warned that Europe must balance its budget and fund its debt if it is to be reestablished on a sound basis. With that accomplished, with the assistance of American investments, he pointed out, Europe will offer to this nation a healthy and improved market. That market, he deemed necessary for disposal of exportable supplies.

Cotton Spinning Industry Data In February Given

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 25.—The Department of Commerce announced that according to preliminary figures 47,877,274 cotton spindles were in place in the United States on February 28, 1926, of which 32,622,966 were operated at some time during the month, compared with 32,503,156 for January, 23,000,874 for December, 22,892,824 for November, 22,425,206 for October, 21,551,539 for September and 23,358,798 for February, 1925.

The aggregate number of active spindle hours reported for the month was 8,092,544,968. During February the normal time of operation was 23 and 2-3 days (allowance being made for the observance of Washington's birthday in some localities) compared with 25 1-2 for January, 25 for December, 24 1-2 for November, 26 3-4 for October and 25 1-2 for September. Based on an activity of 8.75 hours per day the average number of spindles operated during February was 38,950,599 or at 102.5 per cent capacity on a single shift basis. This percentage compares with 98.7 for January, 99.5 for December, 96.0 for November, 93.4 for October, 92.4 for September and 100.5 for February, 1925. The average number of active spindle hours per spindle in place for the month was 214.

POLICE HUNT FOR MISSING TRIO

CHICAGO, Mar. 25. (P)—Two men and a pretty blonde actress were sought by authorities today to provide the sequel to a romance revolving around the Chicago wheat pit. A warrant charging embezzlement had been issued for Joseph Morrison, 32, paying teller for the Bankers State Bank, Chicago, whose accounts were found to be about $20,000 short. The other man, a broker's clerk, has disappeared with his accounts around $30,000 short.

Until about a week ago, all three lived at the same address, officers learned, and Morrison and the girl left at the same time. Investigators are wondering if the two men stole to elude each other in retaining the girl's affection, or to provide funds for tripartite market operations. Morrison, police were told, has a wife in Canada.

Caurauna Must Obey Laws, Officials Say

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 25. (P)—In consequence of speculation in newspapers with regard to the position of the most Rev. George Caurauna, an American citizen, recently appointed apostolic delegate to Mexico, the Department of the Interior has issued a statement saying that he will not be molested in Mexico if he obeys the provisions of the Mexican constitution. The statement adds, however, he will be deported if he violates the constitution. The Archbishop at present is in the United States.

Archbishop Caurauna was born on the island of Manila. He served as a chaplain in the American army during the Philippine campaign and in the Panama Canal Zone. In 1921, he became secretary of Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia.

REBELS IMPRISONED
PEKING, Mar. 25. (P)—Official telegrams stated Gen. Chang Kai-Shek, assisted by Dr. C. C. Wu and other prominent Chinese, has effected a coup d'etat in Canton, imprisoning Chinese and Russian Communists. Several Russians are reported to have been killed.

MEDICAL STUDENT SLAYS ACTRESS AND HIMSELF

BERLIN, Mar. 25. (P)—John B. Goodrich, a medical student from Monroe, N. H., early today shot and killed Miss Alice Fitzner of Cleveland, Ohio, a dancer at a theatre, and then took his own life. The tragedy occurred in an automobile. Jealously is presumed to have been the motive.

Goodrich, 23 year old student at the University of Berlin was the son of late Rev. George Goodrich of Laconia, N. H. He had been studying medicine in Germany for three years.

Miss Fitzner, 21 was a member of the cast of the Revue "Fuer Dich." She appeared in the ballet and sang several solos.

Living Standards of Farmer Show Changes

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. (P)—The living standards of the farmer, like that of almost everybody else, varies with his income. This is the net result of a long study by the Department of Agriculture covering 861 farm families in Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas.

Prosperous families owning their own homes were found to have spent $150 a year for social advancement and elevated their standard of living. Tenant farmers spent $51 for the same purpose and cropper families $21.

Chic Whim

An interesting whim of fashion is this masculine example of the new vestee. It is made of delicately barred flannel with two pockets. Buckle and band at the back regulate the fit.

Fail To Find Drugs In Bodies of Twins

AUSTIN, Mar. 25. (P)—No known poisonous substance was found in the viscera of either Jacob Ertle or his brother, Andrew Ertle, twins, who died suddenly March 12 at Edinburg, Hidalgo county. Dr. E. H. Golax, chemist and director of the food and drug division of the state health department reported today.
